'Statism' Label Favored In GOP As A Battle-Cry

Some Republicans Want Fight On Social Welfare State Basic Vote Issue

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—Republicans are picking up the word "statism" as the party's unofficial battle-cry against the Democratic "Fair Deal" program.

Some Republicans want their party to make the fight against "statism"—or a social welfare state—the basic issue in all major elections.

Other Republicans agreed with Wherry. But Democratic leaders hooted at the idea that "statism" can be made a political campaign issue.

President Truman in a speech last Monday called the cry of "statism" one of several "trumped up slogans" fostered by those who would frighten people in higher income groups.

Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois said: "It's just another slogan. The Republicans originate a new one every campaign. But they can't win on a slogan. The people want something constructive as we have given them."

Charges of "statism"—generally hurled as an epithet at the Democratic administration—are creeping more and more into public speeches by prominent people.

James F. Byrnes, former Democratic Secretary of State, first used the word last spring when he warned against the growing power of the federal government.

Republicans gleefully picked up the word in attacking the Democratic administration.

Recently Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University, lashed out against "statism" in a speech which some Democrats thought sounded very much like Republican political talk.

And only yesterday Senator Dulles (R-N.Y.) said the threat of statism will be the major issue in the New York senatorial campaign this fall.

Dulles is expected to receive the Republican nomination to oppose former Governor Herbert Lehman, the likely Democratic choice.

Three Railroads Threatened With Possible Strike

By The Associated Press Three of the nation's railroads were threatened with strikes today making possible the idling of more than 130,000 rail and steel workers.

Some 30,000 workers are set to quit their jobs on the Missouri Pacific Railroad at 3 p. m. (EST) tomorrow.

Union officials, who rejected an arbitration proposal yesterday, went ahead with strike plans in the dispute over some 282 unsettled claims involving about $5,000,000.

In Pittsburgh, rail brotherhood officials have called strikes on two inter-plant connection carriers which serve scores of plants, principally in the steel industry.

One walkout is set for Saturday and the second for next Tuesday. The work stoppages on the lines would make idle some 100,000 steelworkers.

Definition Reversed

Fixed Ideas Which We Hold One Day Go Up In Smoke; Confusion That Has Arisen Over New Use Of Word 'Statism'; How Other Words Have Been Mis-Applied

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

These certainly are fast moving times in which we live—so fast, in fact, that frequently fixed ideas which we hold one day go up in smoke with the morrow's dawn.

What set your columnist off on this melancholy thought is the confusion that has arisen as a result of a new definition of the word "statism"—a subject which has drawn complaints recently in the writings of several political observers.

Most of us were brought up on the definition which is given in my unabridged Webster:

"Belief in a state government, as in a republic, in contrast with belief in communism or a Soviet government."

Now, without much warning, we find this definition reversed by many folk, because of its comparatively recent usage in restricted but prominent circles.

Some of our diplomats in Washington have been using it, and the president of Columbia University (General Eisenhower, that is) has employed it at least twice in recent speeches.

Faced with two definitions I turned to the dictionary department of Funk and Wagnalls here in New York for light on the subject. I was told that the new definition has indeed come into use and that the house's "New College Standard Dictionary" defines statism as follows:

Report Unemployment Dip In August; 59,947,000 Jobs

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—The number of jobholders hit a 1949 peak of 59,947,000 in August, while the total of idle workers dropped more than 400,000, the census bureau said today.

The bureau's report showed that unemployment dipped to 3,689,000. It had risen in July to 4,095,000, the highest level since 1942.

The report, eagerly awaited as a clue to improvement in economic conditions, revealed a marked increase in factory and non-farm employment.

Secretary of commerce Sawyer saw in the figures "evidence of a leveling-off of the recent downward adjustment in our economy." He added in a statement:

"We are in a fundamentally sound condition for continuing our economic advance."

The rise in non-farm employment amounted to 1,368,000. Agricultural employment, on the other hand, declined by a like amount as farming operations entered the normal mid-summer slack period.

The total increase in civilian employment, therefore, was comparatively slight—277,000 workers.

The drop in the number of jobless was attributed by the bureau partly to the fact that many job hunting youngsters either found work or left the labor market.

A further drop in unemployment is expected for September, on which census figures will not be available until next month.

The normal trend of both unemployment and employment is downward from August to September, as large numbers of younger workers and job seekers drop out of the labor force to return to school.

The August report was expected on Tuesday but was delayed from day to day. One commerce department official said it is "being checked and rechecked." He would not divulge the reason for the unusual care.

The anticipated improvement in the employment picture, even though laid mainly to seasonal factors such as harvest hiring, would strengthen the already considerable evidence of a firming of business conditions.

Late yesterday the federal reserve board reported another optimistic sign. Business loans of member banks increased for the fourth successive week, after a seven-month slump.

The volume of business and industrial loans in leading cities rose $21,000,000, the board announced, to a total of $12,963,000,000.

Yugoslavia Believed To Have Approval On Loan

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today they understood the export-import bank approved a multimillion dollar loan to Yugoslavia.

The amount was reported to be around $20,000,000 the money would be used mainly to buy machinery and equipment needed by Yugoslavia.

The credit would be the first direct American loan to the Yugoslav government since Marshal Tito broke with Moscow about 15 months ago.

Yugoslavia has been pressing an application for a loan for about three weeks.

Secretary of State Acheson is known to have strongly supported the application. He argued that it was a "calculated risk" necessary to bolster Yugoslavia's economy and strengthen Tito as a symbol of independence from Moscow's orders.

The Yugoslav government also has applied to the World Bank for a loan. A bank mission has just completed an on-the-spot survey of economic conditions preliminary to making a recommendation to the bank's board of directors.

Diplomatic officials said Tito turned to the Export-Import Bank, United States agency, when it became clear the World Bank could not be expected to act quickly enough on his request. He asked for a $25,000,000 credit.

Yugoslavia proposes to repay the loan with dollars earned through shipments of lead, zinc, and copper to the United States.

Pitts Protests Robbery Charge

Charlotte, Sept. 8 (AP)—The "man without fingerprints" today protested that he was not guilty.

"I'm ready and willing to go to South Carolina to face trial," well-dressed Robert J. Pitts told reporters in an interview.

"I can prove to them I was in Charlotte when that robbery was pulled."

The slender, blond ex-convict was referring to the $41,500 hold-up of a storekeeper at Salem Crossroads, S. C.

He was arrested in Hickory yesterday on a charge that he took part in the robbery.

Pactolus Road Is Scene Accidents

Two automobile accidents have occurred this week on the Greenville Pactolus highway, according to a report today from the local highway patrol office.

Last night about 7:30 a coupe driven by D. Williams of Ayden route two was involved in a wreck about one-half mile from Pactolus with a car driven by Leroy Sutton of Greenville route five.

According to Patrolman Paul Whitley who investigated the accident, Sutton's car was moving east on highway 30 and was running out of gas, but had not pulled to the side of the road and stopped.

Whitley said the car operated by Williams ran into the rear of Sutton's car when Williams was blinded by lights from an oncoming vehicle and could not see the slow-moving car. Damage to the two automobiles was estimated at $425.

The other accident reported on the Pactolus highway this week occurred when a car driven by H. Sheppard of 404 Charlotte Street, Washington, collided with a car driven by Ada Backman Warren of Greenville R. five.

The highway patrol report said the two cars collided when Sheppard attempted to pass the car driven by Warren, and Warren attempted to make a left hand turn. Damage to the two automobiles was estimated at $225.

May Okay Rural Phone Co-Op

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 8 (AP)—The State Rural Electrification Authority today may place its stamp of approval on North Carolina's second rural telephone co-operative.

Sponsors of the cooperative—formed by more than 400 residents of the Summerfield and Oak Ridge communities in Guilford county—satiated to present their application to REA chairman Gwyn B. Price.

Scott Resumes C-of-C Attacks

Raleigh, Sept. 8 (AP)—Declaring the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has fought every measure to help the southern farmer, Governor Scott yesterday fired a broadside at the group for its opposition to the Brannan farm plan.

Although he admitted being "not too familiar" with the Brannan plan, Scott declared that "if it had to be one position or the Chamber of Commerce position, I'd risk the Brannan plan without even studying it."

Plans Produce Low-Cost Homes

New Albany, Ind., Sept. 8 (AP)—Gunnison Homes, Inc., has announced plans for mass production of homes designed to fit the poor man's pocketbook.

They will sell for $6,300 or less, including the land, and can be paid for at the rate of $35 a month and $350 down payment. The monthly payments extend over a 25-year period.

A spokesman for the company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, said the pre-fabricated plywood houses can be financed through the federal housing administration.

Heavy Rainfall

More than an inch and a half of rain fell in Greenville yesterday afternoon and last night, and that's a lot of water to be scattered over the countryside in such a short time.

Weather Bureau records show.

Highest temperature yesterday was 85 degrees; lowest last night was 75 and at 8 a. m. today it was 65, and it was cloudy.

Start Emergency Polio Fund Drive

Goal Set At $14,500,000; Expect Total Of 40,000 Cases

New York, Sept. 8 (AP)—With the United States in the grip of one of the most severe polio epidemics in its history, an emergency drive opened today for funds to cope with an expected total of 40,000 cases.

This is nearly double the number reported so far.

The U. S. Postoffice Department is working with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the week-long emergency drive, with the goal set at $14,500,000.

Announcing the appeal over the Columbia Broadcasting System last night, Foundation President Basil O'Connor said the agency has just about run out of funds to care for victims of the disease.

He said all signs are that the epidemic is just about half over, although the Public Health Service in Washington reported a downturn in incidence of the disease for the second successive week.

With all states but Illinois reporting, the week ended Sept. 3 had 2,915 cases. Officials said that, after the Illinois figure is in, the total still probably will be less than the 3,214 new cases reported for the week ended Aug. 31.

So far, the largest number of new cases reported was in the week ended Aug. 24, when 3,422 were struck.

This is the first time the foundation has ever called for contributions in addition to those obtained in its annual "March of Dimes" campaign.

O'Connor said the foundation funds now are being spent at the rate of $100,000 a day to fight the epidemic, and at this rate, there is only enough money to last about 11 more days.

Tokyo Rose Says Kept In Japan Against Her Will

San Francisco, Sept. 8 (AP)—Picture a young American girl in the strange country of Japan, unable to read the language and unable to return home after the war started.

That was the self portrait begun yesterday by Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino before federal jurors trying her for treason as "Tokyo Rose."

The 33-year-old American of Japanese descent testified it was an errand of mercy that took her to Japan before the war and red tape that kept her there against her will.

Dressed in a tailored suit she was worn through most of the nine weeks of trial, the slight defendant calmly told a chapter of her life story up to the beginning of her wartime experiences.

Garmisch Partenkirchen, Germany, Sept. 8 (AP)—Richard Strauss, one of the world's greatest contemporary composers, died today. He was 85.

His genius ran the gamut of musical expression from simple songs and chamber music to symphonic poems, symphonies and operas. "Der Rosenkavalier" and his impressionistic opera "Salome" are among his most popular works.

He was a musical prodigy at the age of four and began composing when he was six. At 12 his opus No. 1, a "Festmarsch" for orchestra was before the public.

Great Composer Richard Strauss Dies In Germany

Impressionistic expressions in tone from which Strauss composed in middle life were the subject of critical debate. He lived to see many of his innovations become almost commonplace musical devices.

His tone poems, "Til Eulenspiegel," "Don Quixote," and "Don Juan" are popular with symphonic audiences throughout the world. He composed "Salome" in 1904 and produced the opera "Elektra" three years later. Both works are widely known in America.

"Tod Und Verklarung," (Death and Transfiguration) a tone poem written in 1889 is regarded by many critics as one of his greatest works.

Big Hurricane Edges Past Bermuda; Winds Heavy

Miami, Fla., Sept. 8 (AP)—The center of a huge Atlantic hurricane edged past Bermuda today, missing those Honeymoon Isles just enough to spare them a fearful beating by winds up to 140 miles an hour.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at Miami, said the great tropical storm's center was 60 miles east of Bermuda at 9 a. m. (EST).

"This places the islands on the weaker west side of the storm," said Norton. "Heaviest winds reach only 40 miles from the center on that side. Therefore Bermuda should be receiving only heavy gales with gusts somewhat higher, and high tides."

Morton said the storm hung nearly stationary for three days in a war of nerves with Bermuda was now on the move and speeding up its forward pace.

"It should threaten no more land unless there is a change in course," said the storm forecaster.

Most Ambitious Entertainment Program Series

College Program Includes Lauritz Melchior, Eugene List And Marine Band

Lauritz Melchior, tenor, Eugene List, pianist, and the United States Marine band will be among the leading entertainers to appear in Greenville during the next eight months under the sponsorship of the College Entertainment Series.

Charles A. White, chairman of the season ticket sales for the entertainment series, said a $9,000 program has been planned for the five presentations of the entertainment series this season.

Although the series of entertainments planned for this year is the most ambitious ever undertaken by the College Entertainment Committee, White said, season ticket sales have lagged far behind the sales in previous years.

"We think the sales are behind this year because the series began two months earlier this year than in previous years," White commented. This year the first performance of the entertainment series will be presented in September. In previous years, the programs have begun in November.

A goal of 500 season tickets has been set by the ticket sales committee.

The first program of the entertainment series will be a concert by the United States Marine band on September 20. Eugene List, pianist, will present a concert here November 9. Lauritz Melchior tenor, and Iva Kitchell, dance satirist, will appear February 16. The fifth program of the series will be presented next spring when a nationally known orchestra will play for a concert and dance. The name of the band has not yet been released by the entertainment series committee.

The season tickets for the entertainment series are $6 and mail orders should be sent to the ECTC Entertainment Committee, White said. The committee will begin next week reserving seats for the performance of the United States Marine band on September 20, he said.

Feeder Calf Sale Planned Sept. 15

What is believed to be the first Feeder Calf Sale ever to be held in eastern North Carolina will be held at Worsley's Stock Yard in Rocky Mount Thursday, September 15, Pitt County Agent S. C. Winchester of the North Carolina Extension Service disclosed this morning.

The sale will enable eastern North Carolina 4-H boys and girls wishing to raise calves for club projects to get them near home without having to travel to the West Jefferson, Asheville sales, or sales at other distant points.

The sale is sponsored jointly by the North Carolina Extension Service and the Rocky Mount Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Some 150 steers are expected to be available for purchase at the auction. Blount Harveys, of Greenville, is expected to send eight steers, the county agent said.

Winchester pointed out that not only 4-Hers but anyone would be able to buy calves at the sale. He said a number of Pitt County farmers have expressed the intention to

Replying to a question by a reporter about a rumor that plans were being considered for keeping the ABC stores open Saturday nights until 9 o'clock, Chairman McLawhorn said the board had not had any request for keeping open later on Saturdays and that at this time the board did not plan to extend the Saturday hours.

Heavy Cotton Crop Predicted

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's cotton crop at 14,943,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This estimate is 138,000 bales more than the 14,805,000 bales predicted a month ago.

It compares with 14,868,000 bales produced last year and with a ten-year (1938-47) average of 11,306,000 bales.

Executive Runs Amuck; Killed

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—A New York advertising executive who was medically discharged from the Marines, was shot and killed early today when he ran amuck in a restaurant. Three persons were injured.

Lee Graves, 39, formerly with J. Walter Thompson Co. and other firms was shot and killed by Police Lt. William A. Crouse, police said.

Dead Soldier On Steps Of Church

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 8 (AP)—A soldier stationed at Camp Gordon was found shot to death on the steps of a Catholic church in downtown Augusta yesterday.

Brig. Gen. Truman Thorson, commanding general of the army post, identified the soldier as Pvt. Frederick R. Ryan, 20, son of Mrs. Maud Ryan of Albany, N.Y.

The official army investigation of the death has not been completed.

Study Division Road Revenues

Raleigh, Sept. 8 (AP)—A special commission studying the question of division of highway revenues with cities and towns will meet at Charlotte tomorrow and Saturday.

The first session will be held at the Hotel Charlotte tomorrow at 9 a. m. The commission is studying the question of a just sharing of highway funds with the municipalities. It will make its report to the next legislature.

Six Road Petitions For Pitt Approved

County Commissioners Okay Projects And Forward Petitions For Road Work To State Highway Body For Action

Six petitions for work on roads of Pitt county have been approved by the county commissioners this month and forwarded to the state highway commission for action.

Of the six petitions approved by the commissions, three were for roads in Belvoir township, two were for roads in Chocowinity township, and one for a road in Ayden township.

Five of the petitions requested the hard surfacing of roads, and one requested a road be added to the system and be worked regularly by state crews.

A petition was filed for the hard surfacing of the road in Ayden township which runs from Snow Hill street in Ayden to Little Creek and the Greene county line, known as the old Ayden-Snow Hill road.

From Belvoir township were petitions for hard surfacing the road which runs from Bell's Crossroads to Flax Ford and intersecting the Penny Hill-Bethel road via Hollands; and for the hard surfacing the road which runs from highway 11 at the section house five miles to a place called Pine Tree, and intersecting the new road paved from Bell's Crossroads to highway 11 via the prison camp.

ABC Stores To Lengthen Hours

The Pitt County ABC stores will remain open evenings until 7 o'clock instead of 6:30, starting Friday, September 9. Extension of the closing hour was ordered for the convenience of the public, Chairman R. H. McLawhorn stated today.

"Many business places and some construction and farm workers do not finish the day until 6:30. Closing of the ABC stores at 7 o'clock will provide additional convenience for the public," McLawhorn said.

Two ABC stores are in Greenville, one at Bethel, Grimesland, Farmville, Ayden, Fountain, Grifton and Falkland.

Replying to a question by a reporter about a rumor that plans were being considered for keeping the ABC stores open Saturday nights until 9 o'clock, Chairman McLawhorn said the board had not had any request for keeping open later on Saturdays and that at this time the board did not plan to extend the Saturday hours.

Pitt Liquor Stores To Remain Open Half-Hour Longer

The official name of the hospital was unanimously adopted by the commissioners.

The members of the board of trustees of the county hospital requested the commissioners to consider the adoption of a name for the hospital at the regular September meeting. The name of Pitt County Memorial Hospital was suggested by the board of trustees of the hospital, and also by several members of the county board of commissioners.

The unanimity of opinion of the commissioners on the name suggested for the hospital was such that there was little discussion of the name before it was officially adopted.

Ask Cooperation In Enforcing Law

Winston-Salem, Sept. 8 (AP)—Police Chief John Gold today called upon citizens to help the police if they sincerely wish to clamp down on bootlegging, lottery-racketeering and other law-breaking.

The police department isn't asking the people to do its work for it, Chief Gold said, but it is asking public-spirited citizens to give police whatever information they have about bootlegging, lottery or other rackets in Winston-Salem.

Survivors Return

Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Sept. 8 (AP)—Eight Navy men—survivors of a double submarine tragedy in Arctic waters August 26—arrived here today aboard a military air transport.

Howard Unruh Case

Sent To Hospital For Examination Of His Sanity; Psychiatrists Call Him A Paranoid On Basis Of What They Have Read Of His Case; Basis Of Conclusions

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—Howard Unruh, the 27-year-old veteran who slaughtered 13 people with his pistol in Camden, N. J., has been sent to the State insane hospital for two weeks, at least.

Psychiatrists who have been examining him haven't reported yet whether they think he's insane or knew what he was doing when he killed the 13 people.

If he's found sane, Jersey officials say, he'll be tried for murder.

But two top Washington psychiatrists, with nothing more to go on than the newspaper accounts they read, flatly say Unruh is insane. They base their opinions on two main points in the newspaper stories:

1. His excessive interest in the Bible. He was reported to have walked along the streets, reading it.

2. His own statement that he was sore at some of the people he killed because he felt they were against him.

The psychiatrists give this explanation: Unruh is paranoid. Which means he has a serious mental illness. He had delusions of being persecuted. Example: He thought his neighbors were against him.

But how do such delusions start? The Washington psychiatrists couldn't say what started them in Unruh, since they hadn't been able

Cripps Focuses Virtually Whole Case For American Aid On Request To Enlarge Opportunities Of 'Earning' Dollars; Devaluation Not Mentioned

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—Britain confronted the United States today with an urgent appeal to enlarge American markets for British goods.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer and his country's spokesman in the three-power economic talks underway here on Britain's economic crisis, did not specify how this might be accomplished.

Presumably he has in mind drastic tariff reductions as a long range step by the United States to help Britain earn the dollars that are necessary to enable it to pay its own way in the world again.

Cripps focused virtually his whole case for American aid in stabilizing Britain's finances on his request to "enlarge our opportunities of earning" dollars.

He made the same appeal to Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, backing up Cripps' request for readjustments in basic American economic policy, declared that "Canada stands ready to do what it can in the present world situation."

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, the American spokesman, promised "sympathetic consideration" to suggestions made by Cripps and Abbott for arresting the drain on Britain's dollar reserves and seeking to balance Britain's world trade.

At the same time Snyder renewed his emphasis on the American position that Marshall Plan aid must end in 1952 and that Britain's major need is to become self-sufficient by that time.

Cripps, Abbott, and Snyder set forth the basic positions of their governments at the second session of the three-power British economic talks which opened here yesterday.

All dealt in fairly general terms. None mentioned the question, much discussed publicly, whether the British pound sterling should or would be devalued.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
September 5, 1909

Prosperity could travel better if we had good roads.

October will be a month to test Greenville's reputation for hospitality, but our people can be depended upon to meet every requirement in this particular. On October 5 the East Carolina Teachers Training School will open to be followed by the inauguration of Prof. Robert H. Wright as president of that institution on the 7. Of course this will bring many visitors.

Altrusa Club Holds First Fall Meeting

The Altrusa club held its first meeting of the fall on Tuesday at Quinerly Manor with President Johnetta Spilman presiding.

An invitation was read from the Richmond Altrusa club inviting all members to attend the 20th annual convention of the second district to be held in Richmond October 27-30. The program includes a season at Williamsburg, sightseeing tour, parade of projects, address from Ruth Kramer, international president, and from Miss Helen Kirkpatrick, voice of America. Mrs. Margaret Boykin was elected as a delegate from the Greenville club with Mrs. Mary McCrary and Mrs. Margaret Cone as alternates.

The projects committee, Miss Mamie Chandler, Dr. Malene Irons and Miss Frances Wahl, made a report on several projects that the committee had investigated. This group will make further investigations and a project will be voted upon at the October meeting.

Pre-Nuptial Party Given To Honor Miss McLawhorn

One of the loveliest of the pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Mamie Barnhill McLawhorn, bride-elect, was that given by Mrs. R. H. McLawhorn, Sr., and Mrs. A. C. Fletcher at the home of the former.

The reception hall, living rooms and dining room where tables for bridge were placed were most artistically decorated with pink gladioli, pink roses, asters, tuberoses and ribbon with pink tapers. The mantels were especially attractive with their arrangements of pink candles, roses and ribbons.

Upon arrival the guests were served pink molded bridal loaves and cakes, nuts and mints. At the end of progressions lime ice punch was served. Assisting in serving were Misses Denyse and Joanne McLawhorn and Miss Jan Pettis of Edison, Georgia.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. D. T. McLawhorn, and her grandmother, Mrs. C. J. Jenkins of Edison, Georgia, were each remembered with corsages of white asters and tuberoses. Miss McLawhorn also received china in her pattern. For scoring high Mrs. Nelson Hunsucker received an antique plate. Mrs. John R. Carroll was presented plastic coasters as runner-up, while Miss Alice Graves Hunsucker received powder as consolation prize.

Mrs. R. W. King Holds Open House

Mrs. R. W. King held open house on Monday evening at her home on Country Club Drive to honor Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Charles M. King, who have just returned from a wedding trip to Bermuda.

The house throughout was attractively decorated with colorful late summer flowers except in the dining room where a bridal note of green and white was observed.

The callers were greeted at the sun room door by Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Gaylor and Mr. Richard King and presented to the receiving line by Mr. and Mrs. Reid Perkins. Receiving with the hostess and the bridal couple were Miss Virginia Perkins, Miss Virginia Gaylor, W. M. Scales, Jr., Ensign and Mrs. Sidney Dunn, W. O. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hadley, Miss Perkins, Mr. Moore and Mr. Hadley were attendants in Comdr. and Mrs. King's wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hannah and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Galbreath, of Kinston received at the door of the dining room. In the dining room, the table was covered with an exquisite white cloth and was centered with a lovely arrangement of white carnations and tube roses. Candelabras holding white candles flanked the centerpiece. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Edwards of Rocky Mount and Tom Galbreath, Jr., of Kinston assisted in serving lime ice punch, chicken salad sandwiches, potato chips, cheese biscuits, cakes, nuts and mints.

Not Getting Far In Navy Inquiry

Washington, Sept. 5—(AP)—Navy investigators conceded today they are not getting far in their search for additional people who may have had a part in the famous, discredited "B-36 memo." This is the document that charged the Air Force bomber program was infested with fraud.

The investigators have stirred up a bit of a tempest on the side. Undersecretary of the Navy Dan A. Kimball and a pair of top admirals have told widely different versions of whether the Office of Naval Intelligence was asked to find out who wrote the memo.

Auctioneer Sold Sale Proceeds

Granham, Eng., Sept. 5—(AP)—The auctioneer sacrificed a kitchen table, last item of his sale, for five shillings (41).

The buyer, a Nottingham second-hand dealer, loaded it into his truck and carted it away. In his shop, he found 200 lbs. ($1.160) in a drawer. The auctioneer had sold the table in which his clerks kept the proceeds of the sale.

Sonja Henie To Wed Next Week

New York, Sept. 8—(AP)—Sonja Henie, blonde skating star, and Winthrop Gardiner, Jr., Socialite and Aviation executive, plan to be married a week from today.

It will be the second marriage for Miss Henie, and the fourth for Gardiner. Each is 36 years old.

The temperature of the sun's core has been computed to be 25,700,000 degrees centigrade.

R. Flake Shaw To Address Pitt Bureau Meeting

R. Flake Shaw, executive vice-president and secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, will deliver the main address Tuesday night at a dinner meeting of the Pitt Bureau in the Rotary Building here. W. A. Allen, president, announced this morning.

The meeting will begin at seven o'clock but the Board of Directors of the local organization are to assemble at 6:30 to go over several matters of importance, officials said. Certain members of the bureau were sent letters today stating that it is imperative that they be present at the meeting. Plans for the annual farm bureau membership drive will be made, it was reported.

Faculty Members Of College Return From Meeting At Catawba

Dr. Paul Murray and Dr. Meredith N. Posey of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty have returned to Greenville after attending a conference for local leaders and state committees of the North Carolina Education Association at Catawba College, Salisbury. The conference held from Friday through Sunday, Sept. 2-4, was attended by teachers prominent in NCEA activities throughout the state.

Dr. Murray, official representative of East Carolina Teachers College attended in place of Dr. Allan H. Hurlburt, president of the college unit, who was unable to be present. Dr. Posey, member of the editorial board of "North Carolina Education," served at the conference as chairman and discussion leader of the group dealing with publications of the state teachers' organization.

Warn Of Civil War In Korea If Tension Goes On

Lake Success, Sept. 8—(AP)—The United Nations Korean Commission said today a "barbarous civil war" might explode in Korea any day as a result of the "hardening" relations between north and south.

The commission frankly told the general assembly that two years of UN efforts had failed to ease the conflict between the Communist-dominated northern zone and the Republican government in the south.

In its 34-page annual report it said: "The embittered propaganda and hostile activities which now mark relations between the two parts of Korea render the prospect of unification more and more remote."

On the contrary, the commission said, the two zones are engaged in a bitter arms race and "there is much military posturing on both sides" of the 38th parallel, which separates the two zones.

Farmville Girl Joins In Pre-School Meet

Greensboro, Sept. 8—A caucus of 80 student leaders opened at Woman's College Wednesday morning for the annual pre-school conference. Firemen reported today that work crews from the Water and Light plant repaired the damage done by the fire, and that service in the area was restored soon after.

Piney Grove News

Folks of Piney Grove will have a time tomorrow when they meet at the church to clean up the lawn and the church. All these preparations are for the all day services 'Sunday. There'll be Sunday school at 10 o'clock and services at 11. Dinner will be served at 12:30. After dinner we will go back in the church for the afternoon service which will consist of several special numbers by outstanding local singing groups and I'm sure everyone will enjoy the singing by the congregation. A committee of Mr. Clarence Little, Mrs. Elvy Forrest and Mr. Aaron Case have the program in charge.

The ladies are asked to bring the tea and the senior Ladies Auxiliary will furnish the ice and cups.

DEEP ROOTS
 During the past summer, large portions of the East suffered severely from the drought. Grass turned brown, flowers dropped, valuable crops withered and died. For farmers and gardeners everywhere in the affected area, it was a disturbing and distressing period.

As the drought continued, it was instructive to note which plants were affected most, and which least of all. In general, the grass and the shallow-rooted crops and flowers were the first to suffer. The larger trees reaching deep in the earth to the damp subterranean soil survived with little damage.

Deep-rootedness makes for endurance, in humans as well as in vegetation. Those whose faith and beliefs extend down to bedrock can survive the tribulations which come sooner or later to almost everyone. Deep-rootedness takes time. The things which produce it—worship, friendship, love, family life, hard work, responsibility, service to the community—do not spring up overnight.

Modern life, with its hectic changes, and high-pressure appeals tends away from slow, steady growth. But do not be fooled. The grass grows quickly, but dies soon. The tree matures more slowly growing down as well as up, but lives on to greater worth and beauty.

FIRST A DIAGNOSIS

An economic conference is going on in Washington, with Britain, Canada and the United States sitting down together to attempt working out a plan to meet Britain's dollar shortage and impending financial collapse.

The complicated muddle could end in disaster for the closest friend America has ever had in the family of nations. When a friend is in trouble you help him if you can. The United States has extended help in Britain in the past, but the root of the difficulty was not recognized and dealt with. While temporary relief was afforded, the underlying causes persisted and the patient is once again in dire straits.

Economists have offered any number of suggestions as to the root of Britain's economic disease but are yet undecided as to which diagnosis is the correct one.

Perhaps the most ominous view lies in a recent statement by former Secretary of the Treasury, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., who said that Britain's basic trouble is that "American industry has achieved such a phenomenal peak of efficiency and productivity" that no country in western Europe can compete with it.

If "Doctor" Morgenthau's diagnosis is correct, then Britain and all of western Europe has a more difficult road lying before them than even the most gloomy prophets have yet foretold.

For the present we see little hope in discussing economic cures until such time as the source or cause of the ailment has been positively identified. When that is accomplished, there will be something to work on.

Around Capitol Square

SAFETY—The captains, lieutenants and sergeants of the state highway patrol, thirty-six in number, assembled in the capitol building Wednesday to discuss methods of reducing the tragic accident and death rate on the highways. Called by Col. Tony Toler, patrol commander, as direct result of the traffic toll over the Labor Day weekend, the officers devoted most of the day to serious consideration of numerous suggestions for improvement.

GOVERNOR—Governor Scott led off with an informal talk to the group in which he commended them for past work and urged greater efforts in the future. He said the officers could be firm without being discourteous. Admitting that they must spend a good deal of time waiting around courthouses for cases in which they were witnesses, he warned against loitering at the sheriff's office and participating in local off-highway law enforcement ventures.

EXHAUSTION—The governor listed drunken driving and speeding among principal causes of highway accidents, but observed that over-exhaustion of drivers was more largely responsible than many people realize. He didn't like the easy device of blaming all accidents on drinking. As if to emphasize his comment about exhaustion he turned as he left the hall to quip: "Don't work over twenty-four hours a day."

INSPECTION—Governor Scott voiced the hope the next general assembly would restore mechanical inspection requirements, and said he felt the last session made a mistake in discontinuing it. During the session, however, he did not exercise any pressure for its retention. In fact, it was noted that leaders in the fight for repeal of the inspection law were among the most active supporters of the road bond issue, which was the governor's main legislative objective.

MACHINERY—S. C. Austin, state highway equipment engineer, went to Tarboro Wednesday to supervise unloading and servicing of the first shipment of road machinery to be paid for out of proceeds of the road bond issue. Austin had been notified that seventeen carloads of machinery had arrived at Tarboro. The

Somebody Told Me ...
 By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

It's amazing how we take the movies. We can sit on a hard seat and weep, tingle with excitement, or almost fall out of the seat laughing. Fortunately, we seldom stop to think of the technicalities behind shooting a movie, which would kill the story for us. A professor at Carolina once told me that he refused to go to the movies because they are made for people with minds of ten-year-olds. My exclamation was that I have the mind of a ten-year-old. Think of the entertainment ten-year-olds get from movies.

We always hope that a movie has us too carried away with the story to stop to wonder how the shot was made. But if you do happen to wonder you'll find it interesting to know the methods of tricking the audience.

One of the oldest tricks is moving an automobile off the railroad a split second before the 5:15 speeds by. The studio slips the engineer of a train chugging through Hollywood a few dollars to encourage him to slow down to 10 miles an hour. The car is moved, even more slowly, off the tracks, and when the movie is run the speed is stepped up to an exciting rate.

Running a film backwards is a much-used device for making trick shots. For example, the camera can shoot a fast train coming from a one-way tunnel. Then an old jalopy can chug in. On screen the action is reversed so the jalopy appears to be doomed. Remember those shots of two men in a fist fight on the wings of a flying plane? Those shots were made from an airplane strung between two poles on top of a hill. The cameraman, with camera mounted on a cart, raced up and down a greased slide on the hill. When the film was run backward, it appeared that the plane was moving. The background was cut out and an aerial view of a city cut in.

In the early days the movies couldn't afford to pay enough extras to supply a mob scene, so the task of filming a fight on top of a building, for example, had to be a trick job. One of the cameraman's assistants would almost fall out of a window of a high building to attract attention. The camera would catch the crowd gawking into the air. The fight would be filmed at the studio and superimposed over the building shot.

Throwing knives is a slick trick. The knives are simply stuck in a wall, yanked out by thin wires, and the film is run backwards. Thus, it appears that knives are missing the hero's ears by a hair. The tricks of the trade all lend to the excitement of the movies, for those of us who are fortunate enough to have "minds of a ten-year-old."

And I thank you.

There are a lot of files in his office, cluttered with old-out-of-date records. When he asked permission to destroy these papers, his superior officer replied that it would be all right to destroy them—but to make five copies of each document first.

PIILING—This business of filing government documents is a bigger job than most people realize. Vital statistics data must be permanently kept by the health department, for example. The law requires that state warehouse receipts on every bale of cotton be kept for five years. Several large warehouses are needed to store the selective service records of two world wars. Many other illustrations could be given of the vast amount of time and space involved in maintaining adequate files.

Is Your Child the "One in Five"?

One school child in five is retarded because his vision is defective. Poor vision is a great handicap to a child. It forces him to work harder to master his studies; handicaps him in his relationships with other children and grown-ups, too. It tends to warp his personality—and generally sets him back in his struggle to get ahead and make his mark.

Make sure your child's vision is right! Don't handicap him!

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
 New York—(P)Once upon a time there was a great scientist named Dr. Alfonso Cortez.

No kind like his had ever entered the world before.

The day he was born he asked the nurse if he could borrow the hospital's microscope. He wouldn't take his afternoon nap unless his mother sang him a lullaby from an algebra book.

By the time he was five he could recite the Encyclopedia Britannica from memory, forward or backward, including the index. He graduated from college at 7—before he could play hopscotch well.

At 10 he competed in a radio giveaway quiz contest. They couldn't think up a question he couldn't answer. The network finally paid him $5,000,000 to quit—it was the only way to keep from going bankrupt. With that nest egg the young scientist bought himself his first pair of long pants and dedicated the rest of his life to science.

In time every branch of human knowledge was illuminated by his brilliance. His inventions enabled men to live forty years longer, drink all night without getting a hangover, get by on half-an-hour's sleep, and earn all they wanted by working one hour a day.

The fame of Dr. Cortez was world wide. His name was a household word—in households where people could read. But in his old age the great scientist was unhappy.

"There is still evil in the world," he said. "I must solve the problem of right and wrong."

So he went into his laboratory and stayed there for five years. Then he emerged. He summoned the world's leading statesmen, bankers, clergymen, industrial leaders, Generals, Admirals and educators to his laboratory. When they were all assembled, he walked into the room carrying a large box.

"Gentlemen," he said, "in this box I have 3,604,385 mosquitoes. I have bred, and cross-bred them for five years to breed out their vicious instincts. I have read to them from the Bible, the Koran, the Talmud and passages from the philosophers. They have been taught not to sting anyone who is wholly good. They are the only trained moral mosquitoes ever reared.

"See!"

And with that he opened the box, and out swarmed the mosquitoes.

"Don't be alarmed," smiled Dr. Cortez. "They know right from wrong."

The mosquitoes began settling on his uneasy guests. For a moment there was a sudden silence, a vast squirming, and then—

"Ouch!"

"Ouch!"

"Ouch!!!"

The famous people, slapping at their faces, ran en masse from the laboratory, all except a stubborn General. He walked out, brushing the mosquitoes from his cheek—and his medals.

Dr. Cortez looked sadly around his deserted laboratory.

"There must be some wholly good person in the world," he said. "All my mosquitoes can't be wrong."

Just then he felt something on his neck.

"Ouch!" cried the scientist.

Moral: Never trust an educated insect.

Full coordination of the muscles of the eyes is not believed to be attained in children until their fifth year.

Electrical Current Used By Brain In Remembering

Denver, Sept. 8—(AP)—When you try to remember something, little spurts of electricity from your brain along the flesh of your temples. They emerge through your skull.

The discovery of this electrical force in memory was reported to the American Psychological Association today by Doctors John L. Kennedy and Robert M. Gottsacker of Tufts College, Medford, Mass.

This discovery fits exactly with findings of brain surgeons that memory is electrical. The surgeons during operations that exposed the brain, caused patients to remember things long forgotten. This they did by touching the grey matter with a slight electrical current.

The Tufts psychologists find that the electrical spurts that come out of them a second.

They don't appear all the time. With your mind a blank none show, unless a stray thought, probably some memory, crosses your brain. Then there is a brief electrical wiggle.

The electrical memory tabs reported by Dr. Kennedy are a new type of brain waves. Such waves are slight electrical surges which are picked up by pasting metal discs, or electrodes on the scalp, and amplifying the electrical current they pick up.

To get the memory waves the electrodes are fastened in front of the top corner of each ear. These new waves are traced by a pen on moving paper, where they form little spindles, lying in a horizontal position. There are eight to twelve

Unemployment Fund Is Growing

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 8—(AP)—North Carolina's unemployment fund just keeps right on rising.

The fund which acts as a safeguard against unemployment now stands at over $154,000,000, the Unemployment Security Commission revealed yesterday in its monthly report.

Since the fund was established 13 years ago, payments by employers and interest have totaled $211,155,232.37. From this $56,625,246.60 has been paid to jobless workers.

Greenville Guide Book Now Ready

"Your Guide to Greenville, North Carolina" is the title of a 28-page pamphlet just issued by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of this publication is to provide the kind of information most people want to know about Greenville. It has an attractive two-color cover, carrying in addition to the title, an air view of part of the business district and a general outline of its contents, as well as a road map of the eastern part of the country and a table giving mileage distances between Greenville and selected cities.

The index lists the contents by page number and includes, general historical information; general statistical information; a directory of officials, including the city government, schools, civic clubs, their officers, when and where they meet; East Carolina Teachers College; commercial organizations; county of Pitt, its officials; the federal government; its agencies located in Greenville; the state government; its agencies located in Greenville; veterans' organizations, their officers, when and where they meet; a directory of churches, with names of ministers; a map of the city, and a roster of the membership of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce classified according to business or profession.

Distribution will be to all students and faculty at East Carolina Teachers College, and newcomers and visitors to the city, by the Greenville Utilities Commission, member hotels, service stations, restaurants and the offices of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Guide is also available to any citizen of the city free of charge who calls at the chamber's office located at Five Points. Chamber of Commerce officials believe that this publication will provide most of the wanted information about Greenville that folks desire to know more about.

Test Validity Of Blue Laws

Raleigh, Sept. 8—(AP)—The State Supreme Court was slated to hear arguments today in an Asheville grocer's case testing the validity of the Mountain City's Sunday blue laws.

Constitutionality of a part of the city code dealing with Sabbath sales is being challenged by Roy Trantham in a test case. He appealed the case to the Supreme Court after his conviction in Buncombe Superior Court last June on charges of selling $1.42 worth of groceries on Sunday to an Asheville policeman.

Trantham was fined $10 and costs by the lower court.

Vaccination Of Swine Required

All hogs entered in the purebred swine show and sale to be held here during Fair Week must have been vaccinated by a veterinarian or state approved vocational teacher at least 30 days before the sale, officials of the Pitt County Purebred Swine Association reminded local hog producers today.

Officials urge farmers who plan to enter swine in the fair show and sale to have their animals vaccinated immediately since only a few days remain before the required 30-day period will be begun. The fair will be held October 2-8 with the sale coming on the last day.

The vaccination stipulation was among those made at a meeting of the Purebred Swine organization this week. The by-laws made at the meeting will be presented to the membership of the club Monday night at the Agricultural Building.

C. J. Goodman, assistant county agent and FSA official announced yesterday.

The Association mailed invitations to growers all over the county this week to attend the Monday night meeting. It will be the last meeting of the Swine Association before the fair and will be of vast importance and interest to hog producers, officials say.

According to the by-laws drawn up at the last meeting, the sale will be under the direction of the Sales Committee. Only Pitt County animals may be entered unless outsiders are invited by the board of directors of the organization.

The Sales Committee has authority to govern the number of entries, the selection of an auctioneer and may reject any animal which is proven by examination to not be in good health.

Try Again For Wightman Cup

Philadelphia, Sept. 2—(AP)—Britain will try again tomorrow and Saturday to break America's near-stranglehold on the Wightman Cup.

Not since 1930 has the historic tennis mug rested in Merrie England. And only four times since the International women's matches were inaugurated 21 years ago have John Bull's daughters sailed the Atlantic with the cup in their possession.

Asserts Murder Story Was Hoax

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 2—(AP)—A convict has admitted that his story of slaying a woman and her daughter eight years ago and burying the bodies near here was a hoax.

Daniel Webster 22, of Wilmington, declared in a written statement yesterday that he told the "fantastic lie" to get out of the Florida state penitentiary, where he said he was cruelly treated.

He was brought here from Florida after he said he would lead officers to the bodies of Mrs. Lillia Bryan and her four-year-old daughter. But his statement said the only thing he knew about the disappearance was what he read in a feature story in the Wilmington Star-News last March.

He will be taken back to Florida to finish a six year sentence for forgery. He was picked up in Florida three months ago after escaping from a North Carolina prison camp near here where he was serving seven years for storebreaking, robbery and receiving.

Roads Passable In Monroe After Sudden Flood

Monroe, N.C., Sept. 2—(AP)—All roads were reported passable in Monroe this morning as waters from a flash flood yesterday retreated.

The city had treaded water for several hours yesterday when the Bear Skin Creek and other streams poured tons of water into streets and roads. It was virtually impossible to get into or out of town as water rose as much as five feet above street level in some places. On the Charlotte-Monroe Highway 74, water reached the floor of a concrete overpass.

The rushing water sucked a four-year-old boy, Cam Miller III, into a storm sewer and carried him about 300 yards through a 24-inch concrete drain pipe. The youngster was saved when two Negroes caught him at the other end of the drain and revived him by artificial respiration.

Set Hearing On Newspaper And Express Rates

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 2—(AP)—A hearing on Oct. 20 has been set for discussion of a uniform policy and standard rates for newspapers and express parcels transported on passenger buses.

The Utilities commission which will hold the hearing explained that at present rates and policy for such shipments vary greatly. It added that some lines refuse to guarantee delivery, others decline to accept packages and some even will not agree to transfer newspapers and packages to other bus lines.

The commission will propose at the hearing that bus companies adopt uniform rates schedules, that they be made to guarantee deliveries and agree to transfer express parcels to other lines.

Wholesale Food Index Advances

New York, Sept. 2—(AP)—The Dun and Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week advanced to $5.82 from $5.78 a week ago, but was 15.2 per cent lower than the year-ago level of $6.86.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 21 foods in general use.

TWO HOLES IN ONE
Meridian, Miss., Sept. 2—(AP)—Seventeen-year-old Eddie Merrina, Meridian high school student, shot two holes-in-one on the same round yesterday at the Northwood Country Club. They gave him an 18-hole total of 65, two under the course record.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin from the Rector Kitchens

A Tasty Quickie—Wilson's Certified Corned Beef Hash is the kind you can depend on just as it comes from the can. Merely heat it. Because it is so VERY FINE it is also worth your while to dress it up for company.

And Variety, Too—Panfried or baked in muffin cups with eggs on top; moistened and baked in casserole; broiled with onion, tomato or cheese slices; fried or baked as croquettes or served with a superb sauce such as today's Onion Sauce, Wilson's Certified Corned Beef Hash wins friends.

Wilson's "meaty and mighty good" Corned Beef Hash is so "gently" seasoned all you have to do is stir, heat and eat. It's THAT good!

Then when you want something totally different—a surprise for your family or when company comes—try heating rounds of "meaty and mighty good" hash in French Onion Sauce or serve the sauce on fried rounds.

The "magic" meat extract, B-V, really lifts the Onion Sauce to flavor heights.

HASH WITH A FRENCH ACCENT

Open both ends of can, push out hash and cut into 8 equal slices:
- 1 can Wilson's CERTIFIED Corned Beef Hash

Either brown the hash slices and serve with French Onion Sauce OR bake in casseroles with sauce between two layers of cold hash—see picture.

TO MAKE FRENCH ONION SAUCE: Cook until golden brown:
3 tablespoons CLEARBROOK butter, 1 medium-sized onion, sliced.
Remove onions and set aside. Stir into the butter left in the skillet:
2 tablespoons flour

When smooth gradually stir in:
1 cup water, 1 teaspoon Wilson's B-V
1/4 teaspoon each of Worcestershire Sauce, prepared mustard and vinegar
1/2 teaspoon paprika and 1/32 teaspoon of pinch pepper

Cook and stir to gravy thickness. Then add onion rings, heat through and stir in 1/4 to 1 cup sour cream

Serve hot with hash, or, if to be baked, bake at 325°F. about 25 minutes.

Plan Workshop Series Starting On September 9

A series of six workshops for white county supervisors in public schools of Eastern North Carolina will be initiated at East Carolina Teachers College Friday, September 9. The meeting will take place in the Graham building, formerly the Education building, from 4:30 to 7:00 p.m. There will be no tuition fees.

The five other workshops at East Carolina Teachers College have been scheduled for Friday of each succeeding week through October 14. The hour and the place of meeting will be the same for each workshop in the series.

Under the direction of Dr. J. Henry Highsmith of the state Department of Public Instruction, a state program of workshops for white supervisors to be conducted in nine teacher-training institutions of North Carolina during the present school year has been arranged. Work designed to aid supervisors in the public schools, especially those newly appointed, will be offered.

Other institutions participating in the workshop program, in addition to East Carolina, are the University of North Carolina, the Woman's College of the UNC, Appalachian Western Carolina, Catawba, Duke, Lenoir-Rhyne, and Meredith.

Dr. Allan H. Hurlburt, director of the department of education and school administration at East Carolina, and Dr. Harold Jones of the department of science will conduct the workshop to be held here Friday of this week. "The Use of Audio-Visual Materials" will be the

Other subjects and the dates of the workshops at which they will be discussed at East Carolina are: "Remedial Reading and Speech," September 16; "Curriculum," September 23; "Testing," October 7; and "Principles and Technique of Supervision," October 14. Faculty members of the college here who will serve as instructors and participants in the workshops include Dean Leo W. Jenkins; Dr. J. L. Opeit, director of the Bureau of Student Teaching and Placement; Frank Fuller, Dr. Hazel Taylor, and Mrs. Dorothy W. Perkins, all of the department of education; Dr. Carl L. Adams, director of the department of psychology; Dr. Hurlburt, and Dr. Jones.

Will Extradite Robert J. Pitts

Charlotte, Sept. 8 (AP)—Arrangements were being made today to extradite Robert J. Pitts, "the man without fingerprints," to Fairfield County, S. C.

The 36-year-old ex-convict is wanted in South Carolina for the $41,500 armed robbery of a general store at Salem Crossroads, Aug. 19. He was captured yesterday at Murphy and brought here pending extradition to South Carolina. Pitts were still hunting today his accomplice in the robbery, Harry Russell, 34.

Ridicule Search For Noah's Ark

Moscow, Sept. 8 (AP)—"Where has Noah's Ark disappeared to?" asked Pravda today in an article ridiculing efforts of an American expedition to find traces of the famed vessel on Mount Ararat.

The Communist party organ declared the American expedition—which it claimed is made up of "spies"—had eliminated competition from the Dutch and English expeditions by ordering the Turkish government to refuse the others passes into the border zone.

Pravda commented that "Grandfather Noah, as representatives of the American press can affirm, has not demonstrated the necessary loyalty, since he has hidden from the curious eyes of Mr. Smith (head of the U. S. expedition) the remnants of his nonexistent ark. But for that the ark has clearly shown the purposes of American intelligence officers who are continuing their petty intrigues on the Soviet Turkish border."

Mrs. Roosevelt Visits Site Of Husband's Death

Atlanta, Sept. 8 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt here for a speech before a group of church women returned yesterday to Warm Springs, Ga., where her husband died in his beloved Little White House.

The former First Lady will speak in Atlanta tonight on "The Declaration of Human Rights and the Community" before a statewide conference of church women. The conference is sponsored by the Southern Regional Council, composed of business, professional, labor and church people of both races in 13 Southern states.

The visit to Warm Springs was Mrs. Roosevelt's first since the late President died there April 12, 1945. The Little White House, nestled in the rolling hills of west-central Georgia, was Roosevelt's favorite hideaway from officialdom.

Resourceful

Pittsburgh, Sept. 8 (AP)—Resourcefulness paid off for City Detective Edward Scanlon.

He was asked by Youngstown, Ohio police to pick up a man named Ronald Curry, believed to be aboard a Pittsburgh bound train. He was charged with passing bad checks.

At the train depot, Scanlon was stumped. He had no description of Curry. So he called out: "Hey, Curry."

The wanted man stepped up and was promptly trundled off to jail.

Paul Robeson Is Burned In Effigy

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 8 (AP)—Paul Robeson, the Negro singer, was burned in effigy last night by a small group of robed but unmasked Klansmen.

It was the first public demonstration by the Klan in the Birmingham district since 18 men were indicted on flogging and related charges here several weeks ago.

A dummy bearing a placard, "Welcome Paul Robeson," was strung from one arm of a 20-foot cross. Another dummy with a large question marked pinned on it was hung from the other arm.

E. E. Campbell, exalted Cyclops of the Robert E. Lee Klavern, told reporters the burning of the cross and dummies symbolized the welcome Robeson would receive if he came to Birmingham.

He said the other dummy represented "Communist elements which are trying to sneak into the South." The cross was burned atop a hill several hundred yards north of the city limits by about 15 white-robed men.

CHARGE AURORA MAN WITH RECKLESS DRIVING HERE

Police yesterday arrested Joseph G. Rutledge of Aurora and charged him with careless and reckless driving and speeding. They also charged Rutledge with resisting an officer when he attempted to flee. Rutledge will be tried in Police Court Friday.

Fishermen's Bait Gave Out; Caught Over 100 Trout

Fishing was good in Swan Quarter Bay yesterday and a party of Greenville fishermen, in Capt. C. L. Sawyer's boat, made a big haul, including 111 trout, many blue fish, sea mullet, hogfish and others. The fishermen quit fishing when their supply of bait gave out.

Those in the party were Capt. Johnny Mobley; his son, T-Sgt. Ray Mobley, U.S. Air Force, Tampa Fla.; Haywood Willis, Joe Galloway and Luke Mills.

Sgt. Mobley is vacationing here with his father. He will leave shortly for a Pacific coast port and then go to Japan for duty there. He has been in the Air Force many years.

Bug Diet Safe

Berkeley, Calif., Sept. 8 (AP)—Don't worry about bugs you may eat in fruit or salads. They're often very nourishing, E. O. Essig, University of California entomologist, said today.

Men have eaten insects for food for thousands of years. Essig said examples are locusts, water bugs in tropical Asia and white caterpillars in Mexico City.

Insects and carbohydrates, fats, protein and nitrogen to your diet but aren't reliable as a source of vitamins.

FAST POTENTIANT DIES

Pittsburgh, Sept. 8 (AP)—Earl Karl Hammers, past Imperial Potentiate of North American Shrines, died today in his Pittsburgh home. He was 64.

'Back To School' For Patrolmen

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 8 (AP)—It's back to school, too, for members of the State Highway Patrol.

er, said yesterday that all patrolmen "from colonel on down" will be required to take a refresher course at Chapel Hill beginning Sept. 21. He said the patrolmen would go to Chapel Hill in groups of 50 each Wednesday and remain through Saturday. The school will be operated by the Institute of Government.

Pirates Can Look To Break Last Year's Gridiron Jinx

By EUGENE PRICE

East Carolina Teachers College's Pirates, the mystery team of the 1949 North State football conference, could field a good football team and still lose a lot of ball games, a look at their season schedule promises.

The observation coincided with the predictions of Pirate Mentor Bill Dole who says very guardedly, "We might win one or two games but will need more time to get a good team going."

Dole is at the helm of a team which last year suffered defeat on every field it appeared. He is having to rebuild a team with almost entirely freshman material. This season promises to be a better one for East Carolina, but will probably be looked back upon as one of the lean years in the football history of the battling Buccaneers.

A look at the Buccaneers schedule shows some mighty formidable North State opposition teams like Lenoir-Rhyne, West Carolina, Appalachian and High Point. Then there is Hampton-Sydney.

The Pirates' greatest hopes of breaking their last season's jinx of no wins comes in such scheduled opposition as the Cherry Point Marines which play here September 14, Elon, Apprentice School, the Edenton Flyers, and perhaps Atlantic Christian College. All these teams, with the exception of Edenton, defeated the locals last season. Cherry Point beat the Bucs by one touchdown last year but this season under the guidance of Dole and with the added strength of a year's experience and some new material, the Pirates might turn the tables on the Marines. Cherry Point, however, is expected to be a powerful opponent. They walloped Edenton 30-0 last week.

September 24 when the Bucs tangle with Lenoir-Rhyne, a team which they beat severely last year, they will be up against what promises to be one of the more powerful 1949 North State gridiron squads. Advance information shows the Bears are loaded with 21 lettermen including a number of boys who won North State honors last year.

Coach Clarence Stasavich says his Lenoir-Rhyne crew will probably be more powerful than last year's third place squad. It will take a good team to beat them. They are expected to be one of East Carolina's most powerful foes this season.

Elon eked out a six to nothing win over the locals last year and had to stop the Bucs with goal line stands on a number of occasions. The fighting Christians could be one of the teams Coach Dole had in mind when he said the Bucs might win a couple.

Last year's West Carolina game was one local fans would like very much to forget. They handed the Bucs one of their worst defeats of the year. Even an unimproved WCTC squad would offer the 1949 edition of the Pirates a mighty hard way to go. Coach Dole probably did not have West Carolina in mind when he mentioned the possible wins.

Apprentice School, one of East Carolina's main hopes for victory last year, beat the Teachers by around two touchdowns. No advance data was available on the Virginia outfit but they are not expected to be of the same calibre as the more powerful North State teams. The Apprentice school game should be a good one.

From their showing against the Marines, the Edenton Flyers evidently are in for a few lickings this year. According to early reports, the Marines are having to break in a lot of freshman material, and the Cherry Point boys fashioned a masterful 30-0 win over Edenton last week. The Edenton outfit probably will be much more powerful by the time it plays East Carolina here October 28, but they probably will feel the sting of defeat at the hands of coach Dole's boys.

Should they beat the Flyers, however, the Pirates' elation probably will be short-lived. They have to face a packed and potent Appalachian State Teachers Aggregation here the following week. Appalachian is expected to be no less powerful than it was in 1948. East Carolina will be in for a rough evening.

The High Point game at High Point the following week (November 12) is also expected to be one of the Bucs 1949 headaches.

Finally comes the Atlantic Christian game and the seasonal battle for the Bo-Hunk Bucket. AC downed the Pirates 6-0 last year in one of the muddiest football games ever seen here. In the Bulldogs, the East Carolina team found its most equal opposition of the 1948 season. Like East Carolina, AC is expected to boast a number of improvements. In addition, the Bulldogs will feature the services of an all conference guard, Ned Ligon, and an outstanding punter named Harry Helmer.

The 1949 Bo-Hunk battle should be THE game of the season for the Buccaneers of East Carolina.

Ray Goodmon, president of the Coastal Plain League, announced yesterday that money collected by Greenville baseball fans to pay a fine levied against Pappy Williams would go, instead, to some worthwhile charity here in Greenville. The fine—$5.00—was placed last month Greenville fans, during a pass-the-hat session, collected $43 to pay off the fine. But Goodmon says he cannot allow that sort of thing. So the money goes to charity and Williams still will have to pay the fine.

The appearance of the Greenville Greensies in post-season games this year marks the sixth time that they have played since the formation of the Coastal Plain League in 1934. They have copped the league pennant on two occasions and the post-season title once.

During the first year of the Coastal Plain in 1934 when only six teams constituted the circuit, the Greensies finished in second place and defeated Kinston for the title four games out of six.

In 1938 the Greensies copped the pennant by winding up in first place only to lose out in the semi-finals to the Arden Aces three out of five games. In 1939 the Greensies finished in second place and lost out for the second straight year to the Arden Aces three games out of four. In 1937 and 1938 the Greensies finished in the second division, winding up in seventh place in 1937 and in fifth place in 1938.

The Greensies came back in 1939 to cop the pennant by finishing in first place only to lose out in the semi-finals to Kinston four games out of six. In 1940 the Greensies found themselves again in the second division, finishing in seventh place, but came back in 1941 to take second place honors. They defeated the New Bern Bears in semi-finals play four out of six games, but lost in the finals series to Wilson four out of six games.

The Coastal Plain League did not operate during the war years, 1942-1945, and since that time have wound up in the second division. In 1946 they finished in sixth place and in 1947 and 1948 finished in the cellar.

Starting in this column tomorrow will be the first in a series on the record of the Greensies for the past season.

Pirates Lose 7 Squad Members; Six Are Laid Up

By FRANK HOGG

Coach Bill Dole's East Carolina "Pirates" held a limited practice session in the heavy rain here this afternoon. With the opening game only a week away Coach Dole has been driving his squad hard in preparation for their encounter with the strong Cherry Point Marines on Sept. 15. A new headache greeted Coach Dole today when two squad members became lost for the season and six others were on the injured list.

Ed Brandt, 240 pound tackle, and Abb Williams, 165 pound halfback, will not be with the "Pirates" this year. Brandt lacked a unit of high school credit and became ineligible according to college standards. Williams, a senior, had conflicting schedule and laboratory courses he needs for graduation which will keep him from practice sessions. Coach Dole's only comment was, "It can't be helped. College rules and college work come first." The popular grid mentor did admit he would like to have both boys on the squad.

Six "Pirates" are on the injured list. Cecil Winslow, 165 pound end, and Doug Bryant, 160 pound halfback, both missed practice today and are expected to be sidelined for the remainder of the week. Winslow has a deep cut over his eye and Bryant has a leg injury. Four other squad members worked out lightly today as a result of injuries. Reggie Byrd, 195 pound guard, Mike Kovach, 170 pound halfback, reported to practice for the first time since being forced to the sidelines. Byrd had a slight stomach disorder and Kovach a pulled leg muscle. Dennis Smith, 185 pound end, and Paul Trotman, 175 pound guard, were suffering from a strained leg muscle and shoulder muscle respectively.

One bright spot appeared today as Keith Kilpatrick, 200 pound tackle from Kinston, reported for practice. Kilpatrick is a three-year letterman for the "Pirates" and will add much needed strength to the line.

Joe Page Is 'Man Of The Hour' For Embattled New York Yanks

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Smoky Joe Page is the man of the hour for the embattled New York Yankees.

Hero in 1947, but a failure in 1948, the strong-armed fireman from the bullpen is a leading candidate for the most valuable player in the American League.

Page never was better than he was last night as he struck out four of the five men he faced in the Yanks' important 5-2 victory over Boston.

Called to the rescue of Allie Reynolds after Bobby Doerr tripled with the potential tying run in the eighth, Page blazed his fast ball past the Red Sox in a sizzling performance that dampened their pennant hopes.

Now 2½ games behind the Yanks, who never have been out of first place since opening day, the Sox must win the final two games of the Yankee Stadium series to remain within striking distance.

Boston took an early lead on Reynolds' wildness, but the Yanks struck back to go ahead, 3-2, on Bill Johnson's second triple and a costly error by Vern Stephens before Page appeared on the scene.

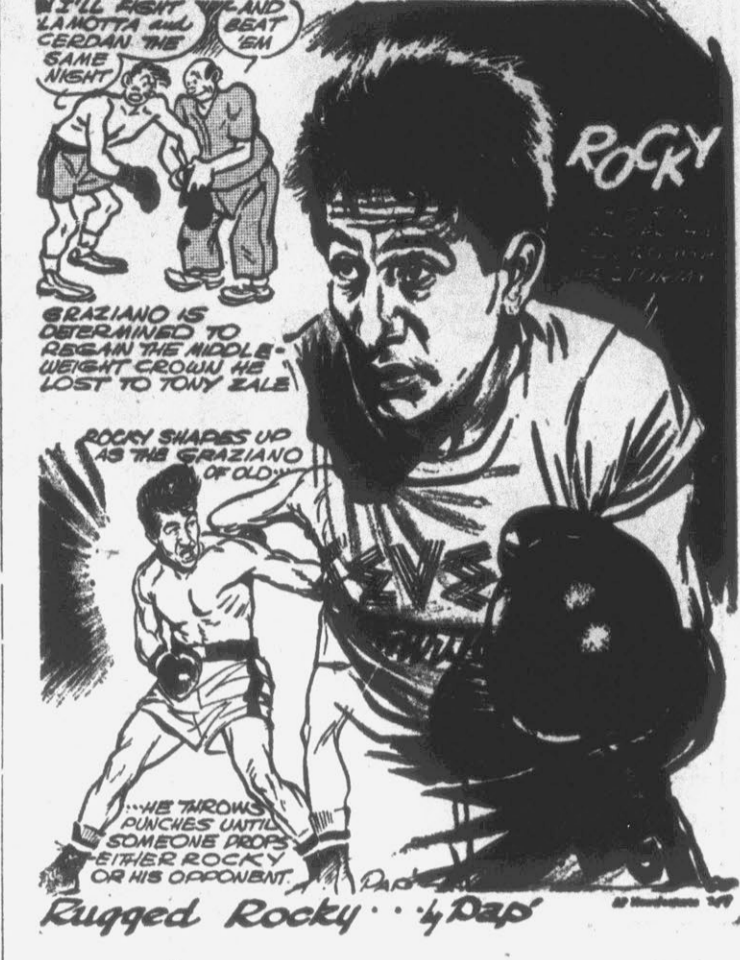

After Doerr tripled to put the tying run on third, Manager Casey Stengel waved in Page. Al Zarilla he relied on one pitch. Then he fanned Billy Goodman to end the inning.

Bobby Brown's homer following Phil Rizzuto's bunt single made it 5-2 in the eighth, but Page never let up. He whiffed Birdie Tebbets, pinch hitter Matt Batts and Dom DiMaggio to end the game.

It's a discouraging uphill struggle now for Boston which sends Ellis Kiner out to oppose Eddie Lopat

In today's game. The Sox are five runs down on the all-important losing compared to 24 for the Yanks.

Deacs Most Optimistic In Southern Conference

By the Associated Press

With exactly one full week of practice behind the 16 football squads in the Southern Conference, Wake Forest's Deacons today (Thursday) appeared the circuit's most optimistic outfit.

As late as yesterday, the Deacons second team, mind you, ripped off three quick touchdowns against a fourth-team defensive setup. Eight sophomores were included on the Wake Forest eleven which put on the offensive display.

Coach D. C. (Peahead) Walker was pleased with the defense set up by his third team.

There was considerable joy at Williams and Mary, too. For Head Coach R. N. (Rube) McCray took time out between moans to praise three seniors and 25 sophomores.

The seniors which have taken McCray's eye are Fullback Jack (Flying) Cloud, who apparently is in the best condition of his college career; Tackle Lou Creekmur and Guard George Hughes.

Gloom still prevailed over the camp of the University of North Carolina despite the return to action today of Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, the Tar Heels' All-America halfback. Justice had been out with a virus infection.

Coach Carl Snively described North Carolina's offense as "ineffective." The Tar Heels' best forces available were unable to gain much yardage. Snively said his squad has "a long way to go."

Ray Goodmon, president of the Coastal Plain League, announced yesterday that money collected by Greenville baseball fans to pay a fine levied against Pappy Williams would go, instead, to some worthwhile charity here in Greenville. The fine—$5.00—was placed last month Greenville fans, during a pass-the-hat session, collected $43 to pay off the fine. But Goodmon says he cannot allow that sort of thing. So the money goes to charity and Williams still will have to pay the fine.

Navy Pilot Says Prospects Rosy

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 8—(AP)—Football fans who think Navy committed gridiron suicide in laying out its 1949 schedule will get little support from head coach George Sauer.

The young pilot believes his mid-dies are capable of winning at least half their games this year, which is indeed a rosy prospect for a club which mustered a tie with Army as its only creditable 1948 showing.

Sauer told a news conference yesterday Navy should be an even bet against Princeton, Duke, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Columbia.

He admitted his boys should be long shots against Southern California, Notre Dame, Tulane and Army.

Even at that, he feels that, "This year we won't be so far outclassed as we were last year."

The above pre-season forecast was Sauer's only mention of a schedule which would strike terror in the heart of a less optimistic coach.

He reasons that his team is better in aerial maneuvers—both offensive and defensive—than last year. Also, "Our running game will be about the same and perhaps we'll be a little looser."

Coach Sauer puts his backfield in the "very small, but very fast" category. It now shapes up with Bill Earl of Arlington, Va., at quarter, Frank Huff of St. Louis, Mo., and Bill Powers of Bryan, Tex., at the halves, and Roger Drew of Kenilworth, Ill., at full.

Huff, a standout on last year's unbeaten plebes, is the only varsity newcomer.

The appearance of the Greenville Greensies in post-season games this year marks the sixth time that they have played since the formation of the Coastal Plain League in 1934. They have copped the league pennant on two occasions and the post-season title once.

During the first year of the Coastal Plain in 1934 when only six teams constituted the circuit, the Greensies finished in second place and defeated Kinston for the title four games out of six.

Kansas City, Sept. 8—(AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the National Open champion, says he operates on the theory that it's just as tough winning secondary golf tournaments as it is the big ones.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

THEY WERE LOOKING FOR A SEA SIDE DREAM CASTLE BUILT TO LAST FOR AGES—

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 29
The tall lights of the cab standing in front of number Eight Lilac Street glowed dully red in the darkness as Hald came to a stop behind it. Shutting off his motor, he slid from behind the wheel and walked around the back of the car. In the darkness, he had caught a glimpse of Holway standing on the sidewalk.

Holway saw him and led the way up the steps. Switching on the hall lights, he took Hald's coat. There was no sign of any of the servants, the house was as silent as a tomb. "Any new developments?" he asked, as Holway led the way to the study.

"Nothing much. That's why I wanted to talk to you tonight."

"What's on your mind?" Hald finally asked, as he seated himself in the chair beside the desk, a little to the left of Holway. Holway didn't answer immediately, but eyed the other speculatively.

Hald fought down a vague uneasiness. There was something about Holway tonight that worried him. "Were you ever any good at nursery school?" came the sudden question.

"Why?" Hald countered with mounting tension.

"I believe there was one about a spider and a fly," the other replied softly. "Maybe you remember it?"

"Should I?" Hald's question matched the softness of the other's tone. "It's getting late, Holway, so get to the point."

"You should have known better, Hald, than to try a double game with me. You're not smart enough. Holway's tone was mocking now.

With a sudden motion Hald started to rise from his chair. Holway's hand made a quick darting movement toward the half open drawer of the desk. When he withdrew it, he held an ugly-looking 38. There was not the slightest tremor as he pointed it at Hald.

"I said once before, get to the point," Hald spoke coldly. "Don't carry this joke too far."

"I'm afraid you don't quite understand your position," Holway's tone matched his expressionless features. "You're a bungler, Hald, and a fool, and unfortunately for you, you'll never have an opportunity to correct your mistakes. I admit that for a while you had me fooled. With the recommendation from Chicago that you brought me, it was practically a lead-pipe cinch that I'd take you on. You covered up your back trail all right, but you weren't quite careful enough. He laughed girlishly, as though he were laughing at a child.

"You thought not to have met me before that day in the bar, and then later, running to me with her suspicions. She practically warned me against you. He shook his head. "You should never have taken her to Connecticut, Hald. That tipped your hand. No one else in the gang would have dared to do that, or would have had any reason to."

Hald made no answer, and Holway continued.

"Probably it's given you some satisfaction that you've wrecked the organization. By tomorrow I'll be a long way from here—but I keep forgetting. Tonight, I balance the books, and what I do tomorrow can't possibly be of interest to you."

"Holway—" Hald's voice was very quiet—"why was Cherry killed?"

A flash of emotion crossed the other's features, causing the hard mask to drop for a second.

"Did you kill her?" Hald pursued relentlessly. "Or was it done on orders from higher up?"

Holway looked at him strangely. "No, I didn't kill her. If I ever thought—" He seemed suddenly afraid of what he had almost said. He went on hurriedly:

"I don't know what you're talking about."

"I think you do, Holway," Hald continued. "I'd give it some thought if I were you. I think you'll find it fits."

Hald had accomplished what he had hoped for. He had put a doubt in the other's mind. Holway was no longer so sure of himself. The gun still pointed in Hald's direction, but Holway's mind was no longer occupied solely with the target.

Slowly and carefully Hald began to gather himself together. There was no use in waiting any longer! He realized that he had less than one chance in ten to jump the gun, but at least it was a chance.

For the fraction of an instant, Holway was off guard. At the same time Hald lunged forward. As Holway saw him coming, he jerked the gun and fired point-blank. Nothing happened. It misfired! Frantically he perked the trigger again. The roar of the gun going off filled the room, but it was too late. The full force of Hald's body struck Holway, throwing him off balance. They went over in a heap of twisting, tearing arms and legs. The force of his elbow striking the floor jerked the gun out of Holway's hand. Something glinted in Holway's hand. Hald could see the wicked curve of the paper knife that he had previously noticed on the desk. Doubling his arms in a short stabbing movement, he aimed it at Hald. There was a ripping sound as it tore through the cloth of a pocket. Before Holway could untangle it, Hald, with a terrific wrench, pulled his hand free. Holway's body almost touched the muzzle of the gun as Hald fired. With a ludicrous look of surprise on his face, Holway remained standing. Then, as if in slow motion, he sank to the floor.

A quick examination made it evident that Holway had not long to live.

"Got anything to tell me, Holway?" Hald bent closer. "You haven't got long."

"I think you were right about Cherry," Holway managed with an effort. "He played me for a fool—like all the rest." A spasm of coughing seized him.

"He'll be at Jake's, Hald," he whispered, clutching at the other's arm. "It's up to you now. Mark it 'account rendered' for me."

Gravely Hald stood for a moment looking down at the dead man. Then, picking up the phone from the desk, he dialed a number.

Auto License Examiner Warns Few Are Taking Tests Before Deadline

By CHESTER WALSH
The state law requiring motor vehicle operators to pass examinations for renewal of drivers licenses provides a heavy penalty in fines or imprisonment, or both, for failure to comply with the law. Harry L. Martin, examiner for the State Highway Safety Division, on the third floor of the City Hall said today.

The law requires all motor vehicle operators whose names start with L and M to take the examinations between July 1 and December 1. Very few persons are now applying for the examinations and renewals of their licenses. The examiner reminded today that there will be a big rush the latter part of December, during the Christmas holidays. He urged those in the Ls and Ms to take the examinations as soon as possible.

There are 25 questions on the blanks which the applicant must answer in writing and there is a short road test for the applicant for renewal of his license. The questions represent ordinary common sense. They are easy to answer if a person has even driven a car. But many, very many—fall in the simplest questions of safety on the streets and highways.

For instance, a few days ago, a middle-aged man applied for a license renewal and took the examination. He said he had never read the Highway Patrol's safety booklets. "But I know all of the answers," he asserted.

This man missed 12 of the 25 simple questions about ordinary driving. The examiner gave him a book of rules. He read it, came back the next day, and answered the questions satisfactorily and secured a renewal of his license.

Another interesting incident in the life of the license examiner was when he gave road tests to five persons—one man, two boys and two women. Each of them passed through red signal lights and failed to stop at plainly visible "stop" signs, the examiner stated.

ABC Officers Raid Big Still

ABC officers raided and destroyed a 90-gallon "moonshine" whiskey still yesterday afternoon in the Clark's Neck section of Pitt County, and arrested Jesse Lee Crandall, 18-year-old Negro, after a spirited chase through the low grounds. The raid was made during the heavy rainstorm and the officers and their prisoner came out of the swamp soaking wet.

The officers destroyed a 90-gallon drum type distillery while in full operation, 200 gallons of fermented cornmeal and sugar mash, one gallon of freshly made spirits and a quantity of distilling equipment.

ABC officers participating in the raid were Pitt County ABC Officers J. M. Ward and Claude Manning and Beaufort County ABC Officers Clyde Stubbs and Francis Eddings. Crandall was given a preliminary hearing before the U. S. commissioner at Washington yesterday afternoon. He was bound over to federal court in October under $200 bond.

ing, or even something like reading the Bible—he's open to question about his mental condition.

But, when in Unruh this excess was coupled with statements to his family that he had a grudge against his neighbors and that he thought they were against him—the signs of his illness were pretty clear.

If someone had been able to recognize the signs and gotten Unruh to a doctor, the shooting probably never would have happened.

Lloyd L. Anderson Funeral On Friday

Lloyd L. Anderson, 34, was accidentally killed by a falling limb while logging in a swamp near Grifton at about 9:15 o'clock this morning. Funeral services will be conducted at Juniper Chapel Free Will Baptist Church near Vanceboro Friday afternoon at four o'clock and burial will be in the churchyard.

Anderson was born, reared, and spent all his life in the Vanceboro community. He attended Juniper Chapel School near Vanceboro and Farm Life School in Vanceboro.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of near Vanceboro; four brothers; Levi, Elwood, Woodrow and Wendley Lee Anderson; and a sister, Mrs. Wilbert Anderson, all of near Vanceboro; a half brother, Dalton Anderson; and three half sisters; Mrs. Stephen Smith Mrs. Willie Keel, and Mrs. Maggie Keel, all of near Vanceboro; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of near Vanceboro.

(Continued from page one) international position. He thus touched on several points which American and British officials have thus far preferred to discuss mostly in private.

Some top officials of both countries, for example, are known to believe that unless the U. S. eventually adopts by action of Congress a tariff policy encouraging the import of British goods against American competition, Britain will find it virtually impossible to earn the dollars she needs.

R. B. Kittrell Rites To Be Held Friday

Roy B. Kittrell, 64, died in Pitt General Hospital Thursday morning at 1:30 o'clock. He suffered a heart attack about a month ago and had been critically ill since that time. Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home Friday afternoon at four o'clock by his pastor, the Rev. H. G. Haney, and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Kittrell, son of the late Allen B. and Annie Elizabeth Cox Kittrell was born and reared in Pitt County. He served three years in the United States Army, and after his discharge, he was employed in a general store at Ballard's Crossroads. He later came to Greenville and was employed in Napper Brown's Clothing Store, purchasing the business some time later. He was married to Miss Maggie Savage in 1911, who died August 3, 1936. He was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church and was well-known in Pitt County.

Surviving are four sons, Dr. Belmont A. Kittrell of Dunn, Jack S. L. Earl, and Bob Kittrell, all of Greenville; two brothers, Burney S. Kittrell of Pinetops and Marvin L. Kittrell of near Greenville; and three sisters, Mrs. Charles Smith of Kittrell, Miss Annie Ree Kittrell of Tarboro, and Mrs. Minnie Lee Heath of near Ayden.

Active pall bearers will be J. Ludlow Williams, Mack Smith, B. D. Johnson, J. B. Kittrell, Spruill Spain, Frank Bendall, Carey Joyner, and Ralph Tucker.

Howard Unruh . . .

(Continued from page one) strangers on the street, children and people in passing autos. New Jersey officials said they didn't ask Unruh about that.

But both psychiatrists say one of the tragedies in Unruh's case was this: His mental illness should have been spotted before he ever tore loose with his gun.

Why? Because, they say, the evidence of his mental illness already was clear. His insanity, they say, didn't suddenly come on him in a day or a week but had been building up.

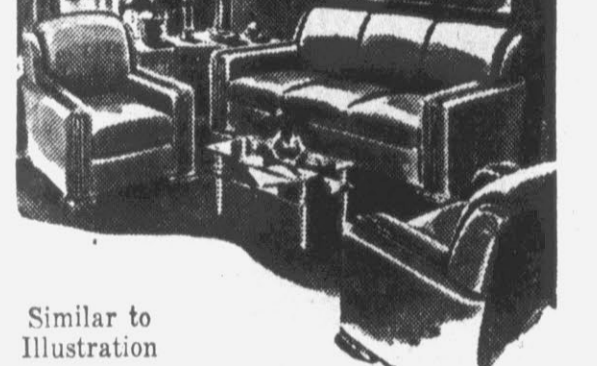

(In New Jersey Unruh was quoted as saying he had been building up a grudge against his neighbors for two years since he returned from the army.)

How could such insanity have been recognized? This was the explanation for that:

When a person goes to excess in anything—whether it's eating, drink-

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 8—(AP)—A timid rally toward the close gave the grain market a steady appearance today. Prior to the late advance the market had moved about without getting anywhere.

Wheat closed 1/4% higher, September $2.05 1/4, corn was 1/4-1/2% higher, September $1.26 1/4, oats were 1/4 to 1 cent higher, September 69 1/2, rye was 1 to 1 1/2 higher, September $1.45 1/2, soybeans were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, November $2.34 1/2-$2.34, and lard was 5 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $12.25.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 8—(AP)—An early advance in the stock market stalled in late trading today. At the final bell price changes were thoroughly scrambled. Many morning gains were either trimmed or converted into small losses. Few prices moved more than a point up or down. Turnover was at the rate of about 900,000 shares for the full session.
