Paths Of Truman, Dulles May Cross

President Indicates Possible Campaigning In New York Senatorial Race; Dulles Says He's Flattered; Little Outside Help Wanted

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Truman may find Senator Dulles (R-NY) busily waging a crossroads, hand shaking, stump speaking campaign if he goes into New York to ask for the election of a Democratic Senator this fall.

Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday that if things come around to the point where he thinks he can be of some help in regaining a Democratic seat now held by a Republican appointee he probably will make some speeches in New York.

Former Gov. Herbert Lehman is expected to be the Democratic nominee to fill out the unexpired term of Senator F. Wagner, Democrat who resigned. There is little doubt that Dulles, appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, will carry the Republican standard.

Dulles told a reporter that the prospect a President might be campaigning against him didn't disturb him.

"I feel flattered that the President feels Mr. Lehman needs his help," the New York Senator said.

Presidents haven't been too successful in the past in trying to elect Senators of their choosing. President Roosevelt tried it in 1938 under somewhat different circumstances, since he was turning his fire on members of his own party. Roosevelt failed to bag a single Senator, although he was credited with knocking off one Democratic House member in New York.

Politicians generally think that outside help is more likely to be a liability than an asset.

For that reason Dulles is expected to depend largely on Senator Ives, his Republican colleague, and the New York team developed by Gov. Dewey for aid in his campaign.

A possible exception may be Senator Vandenberg, Dulles' good friend and long associate in tackling international programs.

Vandenberg may make a single speech for Dulles, limiting himself to reporting on the record of his old friend and not trying to dictate to New Yorkers how they should vote.

Ives said he expects to spend most of October campaigning for his colleague. Dewey will be in there pitching, too, in a battle that may shed some light on the outcome of the 1950 struggle between the parties for control of Congress.

But Dulles, a novice at political campaigning, made it clear he expected to carry a major share of the load himself, going up the forks of the creeks in northern New York, where the Republican strength lies.

Dulles and his friends concede they have an uphill battle.

The Authority yesterday gave the Oak Ridge-Stokesdale-Summerfield Telephone Membership Corporation permission to incorporate. It was organized to serve 458 customers in Guilford, Forsyth, Rockingham, and Stokes Counties. Its main office will be at Summerfield.

The co-op plans to get proposed federal aid for a system.

Cure Is "Guesswork," Britain's Ailment Described As Inherent Weakness

Which Was Bound To Result In Economic Upheaval; Two Wars Speeded Up Chain Of Events; Analysis

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The cure for England's economic illness is a matter of guess-work, but there need be no doubt as to the basic cause of the malady, for it is deep-seated and had its inception long ago.

The fact is that Britain is suffering from an inherent weakness which was bound to result in an economic upheaval in due course.

What has happened is that two World Wars have so speeded up events that this crisis has developed before its time. This knowledge would be of much assistance to the doctors who now are holding the economic clinic in Washington, but it will have to be taken into consideration.

Suffice it to hark back to the beginning of this century. Britain was at the peak of her imperial greatness, boasting an empire upon which the sun never set.

Rebellious China Province Joins Chiang In Fight

Reds Dealt Stiff Political And Military Blows In Nationalist Rally

Canton, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Nationalists today dealt the Chinese Communists stiff blows on both the military and political fronts, official accounts said.

The official Central Daily News said rebellious Yunnan province in southwest China had decided to fight the Reds.

Gov. Lu Han last week proclaimed his independence of the Nationalists and sought to stay out of the civil war. His move seriously threatened government plans to make a redoubt of Chungking, the old war-time capital in Szechwan province just north of Yunnan.

Lu met at Chungking with Chiang Kai-shek, who is trying to rally what remains of Nationalist China for a last stand. He then returned to Kunming, his Yunnan capital. Chiang may return to Canton tomorrow.

The Daily News said Lu had pledged to fight the Reds to the end. The newspaper accused Gen. Lung Yun, ousted governor of Yunnan, of plotting the revolt. It styled him a shameless tool of the Reds.

On the military front, the Nationalists broadened their attacks on the front north of Canton, the ministry of national defense said.

Chinese press reports asserted the Nationalists had recaptured Jacheng, strong point 170 miles north of Canton. From here the Reds had been aiming attacks toward the railway from Canton to Hengyang, Nationalist base 265 miles north of Canton.

Hold Suspect In Robbery Of Bank

Youngville Bank Held Up; Youth Is Apprehended

Youngville, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A tall thin young bandit held up the bank here today, and a short while later a man answering his description was arrested at Raleigh.

The young bandit entered the Youngville branch of the Durham Bank and Trust Company at about 10:40 a. m. He threw a gun on the teller, Mrs. Ada W. Ward, who was alone in the building at the time.

When she hesitated after he demanded that she turn over the money in the window, he said: "I mean hand it over, or I'll blow your brains out."

She described him as tall, about six feet, slender and sunburned and said he was wearing a brown shirt and blue trousers.

At 11:45, Sheriff Robert J. Pleasant of Wake county and Deputy G. C. Massey said they saw a man answering the bandit's description at a filling station at Raleigh. They arrested him, and took $5,040 which they found in the glove compartment of his car.

The arrested man gave his name as Ginnada Whelious, 29, of Inspiration, Ariz.

Whelious couldn't begin to feed himself, because she didn't have the acres, and so had to import a major portion of her foodstuffs. She lacked most of the raw materials for her manufacturers.

How then did Britain achieve her industrial greatness? The answer: By the very simple expedient of importing raw materials from undeveloped countries, fabricating the materials, and then selling the manufactured products back to those countries.

She sold steel to America and many other nations. British woolen goods were world famous. India's millions clothed themselves in cotton goods woven in Manchester from raw cotton bought in the United States and other cotton producing countries.

Vacationists In Fire Trap Fight Flames, Survive

Hotel Resort Surrounded By Forest Fire; Forty Guests Reported Safe

King City, Calif., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Forty vacationists, turned fire fighters when trapped at beautiful Tassara hot springs resort, were safe today but still surrounded by uncontrolled flames.

The wind-blown fire last night periled inhabitants of the scenic mountain valley 20 miles west of here and destroyed a two story stone hotel building and about 15 of the 35 cabins.

Several hours after a caretaker reported the flames yesterday, the fate of the hotel occupants had been in doubt.

Late last night Forest Ranger Henry Branagh and Jack Curran, a U.S. fire control officer, reached the resort. They drove through half a mile of still burning woodland. Stopped at a burned out bridge, they walked the rest of the way through smoldering brush and reported by radio all were safe.

Curran said Actor Phil Terry, owner of the resort, had organized vacationists into a volunteer brigade to fight the flames. He said none was hurt and all were calm.

Curran found Terry's car abandoned on the road leading into the resort. The actor, away when the fire started, apparently walked to the scene from the car.

The vacationists may have to remain at the hot springs until late today. Curran said the kitchen had not burned and could be used to feed them and hundreds of others being brought to battle the flames.

Evacuation of some of the guests may be attempted by helicopter today. A helicopter was being trucked from Palo Alto, Calif., to the resort area last night.

With Terry—former husband of Joan Crawford, Oscar-winning movie actress—were his wife, the former Helen Myers, and her three children, two sons and a daughter.

The flames had blackened some 1200 acres in the Los Padres National Forest. The scene is between King City and the Pacific, about 100 miles south of San Francisco.

Western Beauty Entries In Lead

West - of - Mississippi Belles Win Most Of Preliminaries

Atlantic City, N.J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Are girls from west of the Mississippi prettier than eastern or southern belles?

Preliminary results of the 1949 Miss America pageant seem to point that way. All of the preliminary winners announced in the talent and bathing suit divisions are from the wide open spaces with one exception—Miss Canada.

Tonight's third and final preliminary contest may give the westerners the upper hand in the finals tomorrow night, but no one will know until the 15 finalists are announced then.

Sylvia Canaday, an 18-year-old eyelet from Denver, "Miss Colorado," took first honors in the bathing suit preliminary last night. The night before "Miss Arizona," Jacqueline Mercer of Litchfield, and June Ann Pederson of Santa Rosa, "Miss California," tied for the classy class award.

A demure Canadian miss, Margaret Lynne Munn of Toronto, pulled down the top spot in the rendition last night with a rendition of "Sempre Libera" from the opera "La Traviata." And another west-of-the-Mississippi beauty won the talent contest last night—"Miss Minnesota," Gloria Yvonne Burkhardt of Minneapolis.

But eastern and southern girls may make up for their losses in the personality and evening gown divisions, in which nightly preliminary winners are not announced.

Expect Drop In Jobless Figures

Economists Optimistic Over Prospects Of September Report On Employment And Production When Figures Are In

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Further improvement in the unemployment picture is expected this month. This would reinforce August's 400,000 decline in the number of jobless men and women.

Officials predicted also that the July setback in industrial production will be wiped out completely when the Federal Reserve Board issues its August index.

Government economists were cautiously optimistic in appraising yesterday's report of the Census Bureau. It showed that civilian employment rose to 59,947,000 last month.

That was tops for 1949, although almost 1,300,000 below the record total of a year ago.

The tally of jobless meantime dropped to 3,689,000 as mills, mines, stores and business houses absorbed workers. In July unemployment was 4,095,000, highest since 1942.

One highly placed economist said the significance of this showing "should not be exaggerated, but we have certainly pulled away from the downward spiral" which has prevailed since last fall.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer agreed, in guarded language; he saw evidence of a "leveling-off," and declared: "We are in a fundamentally sound condition for continuing our economic advance."

Democratic and Republican spokesmen in the Senate disagreed with each other. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) the majority leader, proclaimed there is "now no reason to fear a further recession."

The GOP floor leader, Senator Wherry (Nebr.), felt that the 400,000 drop in unemployment was "too small to be regarded as a reliable index."

"I think the general situation remains about the same," Wherry told a reporter.

"There probably has been some slight improvement as a result of government expenditures. But I don't think anyone can tell yet whether it will last."

Lucas had no reservations. "The great consumer buying power of the country again is making its way forward," he said, adding: "Industries which hesitated to go ahead on a declining market now realize that the leveling-off process has taken place, and they are beginning to produce more or replenish their inventories."

It was learned, meanwhile, that Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, told President Truman yesterday that the business outlook will be clearer a month from now.

While Nourse found the August pick-up reassuring, he is understood to have reported that the pending negotiation of fourth-round wage demands may have high importance in the economic outlook.

Proposes Chiefs Of Staff Handle China Arms Aid

Wherry Says Military Leaders Should Have Say On Extent Of Arms Aid

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A Republican leader proposed today that Congress give the U.S. joint chiefs of staff full control of military aid for non-Communist China.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, Republican floor leader, said the military leaders—and not President Truman—should have the say about giving arms aid to the Chinese in their fight against the Red armies.

Wherry's proposal came as a 25-man Senate group was called behind closed doors to begin final committee arguments on the President's $1,450,000,000 arms program.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee hoped to place a finished arms bill before the Senate early next week.

Two major disputes had to be settled before the bill is completed. One amendment by Senator George (D-Ga.) would slash the program for North Atlantic pact nations from $1,000,000,000 to $300,000,000 in the first year.

A second amendment—the hottest issue of all—would give arms aid to Chinese leaders who are fighting the Red armies.

Connally is ready to agree to a fund of 50 to 75 million dollars for anti-Communist aid in Asia—but without any specific sum being set aside for China. It would be spent wherever the President decides it would do the most good.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) and others are fighting to have China specifically included in the arms bill.

"The bill lists Atlantic pact nations, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Korea and the Philippines for direct aid," Knowland said. "If China is not named in the bill—it will be another let-down by the Administration for those fighting communism over there."

Admiral Oscar C. Badger, recent commander of U.S. naval forces in the Far East, proposed to the committee yesterday a fund of $75,000,000 to check the spread of communism in China and the Far East.

Extend Hope To Typhoid Recluse

'Carrier' Who Had Lived Alone Now In Hospital Care

Southern Pines, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A 60-year-old man was reported today to be "doing nicely" at the Moore County Hospital, following an operation which may return him to normal living after more than 10 years of isolation in his rural home.

The operation is a serious one with a high mortality rate. However, he chose to gamble with death on the chance it would remove from his bloodstream the bacilli which made him a menace to other humans.

Dr. J. W. Wilcox, county health officer, said the man was discovered to be a typhoid carrier some years ago, when several cases of the disease were traced to him. On this discovery he retired into voluntary quarantine, seeing 72 one except the capital.

Members of his immediate family and of the staff of the county health department, who made regular checkups to see if perchance the bacilli were lessening. They never did, and it was believed he faced a lifetime of isolation.

His identity has been carefully concealed, and nothing was publicly known of the case until, in an article in The Pilot, local weekly, Dr. Wilcox praised him for his voluntary cooperation, calling him an "unsung hero."

The article caught the eye of hospital authorities. Some new drugs are being used, they said which might effect a cure. The patient was brought to the hospital for treatment.

Life Term For Killing Germans

Stuttgart, Germany, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Recruit Russell Jones, of Fall River, Mass., was sentenced to life imprisonment today for killing three Germans in a drunken foray last May 1.

The U.S. military court spared Jones from death by finding he committed the killings without premeditation.

At the same time the court rejected a defense plea that the 22-year-old soldier was insane when he shot a German girl and two German men while careening around Stuttgart in a jeep.

Police Warn Of Check Forger In Eastern Carolina

Took Two Greenville Firms Saturday; Checks Drawn On Warehouse

By CHESTER WALSH

Greenville police have warned authorities in other Eastern Carolina towns and cities to be on the lookout for an unusually clever check forger who operated here last Saturday and made a rich haul from two stores with bogus tobacco warehouse checks.

Authorities said the man, identity unknown, bought a breakfast room suite from the VanDyke Furniture Store, proffered a check on the Victory Warehouse for $189.50 and received $107.50 in change. He said he would call for the furniture when he failed to show up Saturday. The VanDyke store either deposited or cashed his check.

Police said the man bought $18 worth of clothing at Efrid's Department Store, gave a check on the same warehouse for $234.16 and received $216.16 in change.

Chief Page said the forger must have been familiar with conditions in the office of the Victory Warehouse; that he used the office dating stamp on the old and discarded blank checks with the warehouse's imprint on them, and that he also used the warehouse perforator to secure the sums for which the checks were written.

The checks were of a different color than those now being used by the warehouse, and they were drawn on the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company instead of the Dickinson Avenue Branch of that bank. Police records show. The check flasher forged Gus Forbes' name on both checks.

Detective M. E. Corbett and Capt. S. B. Dorsey described the check flasher as being about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds, with wavy light hair, a low complexion and a small reddish mustache, and narrow features. They said he wore light gray pants sport shoes and a dress shirt with open collar.

A clerk at Efrid's told police he observed that the insignia on the check flasher's belt started with the letter "W" and ended with "boro." The clothing the man bought included tan or gray gabardine trousers with Welsh seams and saddle stitching, a tan shirt and an unusually colorful necktie.

Believe Russia To Set Up Red German Gov't

Berlin, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Russia plans to give eastern Germany a Communist government and lead it into her coniform of Soviet satellites within six months, responsible informants said today.

Non-Communist political leaders in eastern Berlin report the "German people's democracy" will be built around the Socialist Unity (Communist) party in the five east German provinces with Berlin as the capital.

Informants disagreed as to the exact timing of the step. Some said it would be sprung during the New York meeting of the big four foreign ministers this month.

Others believed it would be held off until Soviet zone elections tentatively set for October or November.

Stockpiling By U. S.

Subject Is Cropping Up In Conference On British Dollar Crisis; Background; How It Fits Into British Crisis; Buying From Abroad In U. S. Dollars Helps Them

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—One of the things you don't hear much about is stockpiling.

Now talk of it is cropping up in the conference here between American, British and Canadian officials about the British dollar crisis.

Long Range Aid Appears Slow In Developing; Steps Under Study Believed Will Halt Drain On Britain's Gold, Dollar Reserves

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Britain appeared assured today of limited American help in meeting its current dollar crisis. Long-range aid, however, seemed likely to be slow in developing and to require congressional action on several major proposals.

As the American-British-Canadian economic conference entered its third day, American officials were reported reasonably confident that measures now under study will block the drain on Britain's gold and dollar reserves by the end of the year.

On the long-term problem of boosting Britain's sales to this country to a point where the island nation can become self-sufficient there is, however, considerably less certainty. It is possible the conference may end next week without decisive agreement on specific steps to be taken in this field.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, was scheduled to make a new statement on his government's attitude toward its plight in a speech at the National Press Club here today. He was expected to stress the line he has already taken in the three-power talks—that a permanent solution of Britain's long-time dollar shortage must be found in increasing sales of its goods to dollars.

On specific measures of early aid to Britain, American negotiators in the conference have indicated full cooperation with the British in several ways: in trying to approve the marketing appeal of their goods in this country, in doing all possible to speed government purchasing of strategic materials, in helping British exporters iron out their difficulties with American customs and in recognizing Britain's need to buy as much as she can in areas where dollars are not necessary.

A policy of encouraging Export-Import Bank loans to India and other countries where an outpouring of dollars would help Britain is also being considered by American officials.

Such steps, together with Britain's belt-tightening cutbacks in dollar spending and its efforts to stimulate exports to this country and Canada, are expected to check the drain on the British reserves before they sink to the $1,000,000,000 mark.

Among long-term aids which have been suggested authorities say several would require congressional action and others almost certainly would. That means they would be months in the making, even if the Administration definitely decided to go through with them. Such measures include:

- 1. A substantial further reduction in American tariffs. The subject is one which provokes a hard fight among the legislators.
- 2. Modification of the 1946 British-American loan agreement.
- 3. An increase in Export-Import Bank loan funds.
- 4. Revision of customs procedures.
- 5. Greater freedom for Britain in spending ECA funds.

Postal Receipts In Ayden Decline

Postmaster J. Knot Proctor today issued his monthly report of the postal receipts at the Greenville Post Office for the month of August.

Total receipts for August were $12,410.95 as compared with $8,019.96 for the same month last year. July of this year $11,883.38 was taken in at the Post Office through postal receipts, Proctor said.

ed by the President, and three high civilian officials of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The board decides what materials must be stockpiled and then passes the word on to the federal bureau of supply which does the actual buying with money voted by Congress.

The goal now is to build up a stockpile worth about $2,000,000,000. Half the goal—or $1,000,000,000 worth of the materials—may be stockpiled by next June.

The munitions board has put 60 items on its list of needed stuff. Here are some of them, with some of the countries from which they're bought.

Manganese (for steelmaking) from the African gold coast, Brazil, Chile, Cuba, Mexico; tin, from the Belgian Congo, Bolivia, the Netherlands East Indies; Bauxite (for making aluminum) from British Guiana and the Netherlands East Indies.

But how does all this fit into the British crisis? This way: The U. S. spends in dollars. When it buys abroad, it pays in dollars. When it sells abroad, it wants to be paid in dollars.

Two Clubs enjoyed joint meeting—the Sweet Gum Grove and Stoke Clubs held their regular summer picnic at the Sweet Gum Grove Club house. The picnic was an outdoor chicken stew with rolls, salad, home made cake, iced tea. Mrs. D. N. Nobles, Jr. welcomed everyone and the response was given by J. A. Tyson. D. N. Program for September

The program for the September Home Demonstration Club meeting in Pitt County is "The Selection of Suits and Coats for the Fall Wardrobe." The Home Agents discussed fall fashions, colors, and suits and coats for the different figure types. The clothing leaders are assisting by having on display good and poor buys in suits and coats. Club members in the future should plan and buy more wisely for their wardrobes after this demonstration.

Farmville Man Killed In Wreck

Farmville.—A young Farmville man was killed this week in an automobile collision on the Wilson-Clayton highway about 20 miles from Wilson.
Authorities say David C. Quinn, 30, died shortly after he was brought to the Woodard-Herring Hospital following the wreck, which is reported to have taken place early Sunday night.
Mrs. Quinn was hospitalized but the Quinns' small son escaped injury.
Funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning at the Baptist church in Farmville.

Mrs. Quentin R. Avery

Avery-Ricks
Miss Elizabeth Eames Ricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Ricks of Greenville, and Quentin R. Avery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Avery of Winterville, were married at the home of the bride's parents September 4th. Dr. H. G. Haney of the Eighth Street Christian Church officiated.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar of banked evergreens and white cathedral candles. A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. E. S. Hamric, pianist, and Mrs. E. L. Skinner, soloist. Mrs. Skinner, aunt of the bride, sang "Because" by D'Hardelot, and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond. Traditional wedding marches were used and "Romance" by Reubenstein was played during the ceremony.

Mr. Mitchell Avery attended his brother as best man.
Miss Helen Russell of Kinston was the maid of honor. She wore a copper-colored satin dress, with a garland of yellow roses in her hair, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ice blue moire taffeta afternoon dress with Queen Elizabeth collar and circular skirt. Her matching hat was a broken egg shell cloche with rhinestone ornaments. Her rhinestone necklace was a gift of the groom. She wore blue lace mitts and carried a bouquet of white roses.
For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ricks wore an aqua lace dress, with a corsage of white asters. Mrs. Avery, mother of the groom, wore a black crepe dress, and her flowers were lavender asters.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at an informal reception. Following the reception the bridal couple left for their wedding trip. For travel, the bride wore a grey faille suit. Her accessories were dark green, and she wore a corsage lifted from her wedding bouquet.

The bride received her education at Greenville High School, attended East Carolina Teachers College one year, and graduated from Woman's College U. N. C., in May. She was a member of Alpha Kappa Delta and Phi Beta Kappa.

The bridegroom attended Winterville High School, East Carolina Teachers College, and Biarriz University in France. He served a year and a half in Germany in World War II.

The couple will be at home in Nashville, Tenn., where the groom will attend Nashville Technical College.

After the rehearsal Saturday night, Mrs. Ernest Skinner of Kinston and Miss Esther Ricks of Dunn honored Miss Ricks and Mr. Avery at a cake cutting at the home of the bride. A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the house decorations. Mrs. Avery, mother of the bridegroom, served at the punch bowl. After the bridal couple cut the first slice, the wedding cake was served by Mrs. Ricks. Miss Helen Russell of Kinston and Mr. Jesse Ray Faulkner of Winterville presided at the register. Mrs. Skinner entertained at the piano with popular music, while the young couples danced on the front porch.

Among the pre-nuptial courtesies extended Miss Ricks and Mr. Avery, was the wedding breakfast given by Mrs. Guy C. Evans and Mrs. D. H. Conley at the home of Mrs. Conley on Sunday morning. At the bridal table Mrs. Reuben Avery, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Paul Ricks, mother of the bride, served a tempting breakfast. The hostesses prepared Miss Ricks and Mr. Avery with silver in their chosen pattern. The guests included the wedding party, out-of-town guests, and members of the families of the bride and groom.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Skinner and daughter, Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ricks, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Russell, Mr. John Russell of Kinston, Miss Esther Ricks of Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leggett, Jr., of Washington, N. C., Miss Sadie Green, of Wilson, Miss Revalene Smith of Greensboro, Miss Caroline Andrews of Mount Olive, Mrs. Reuben Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Holton Avery and daughter, Sandra, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Avery, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pilgreen, Jesse Ray Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dell and Mr. Lee Arnold Hooks, of Winterville.

'Skyliners' Sing For Local Dance

Featured with Ray Anthony and his orchestra which will appear in person at the Wright building on September 17, are the Skyliners with Pat Baldwin. Called the finest vocal group now featured with a name band, the youthful combination have been drawing rave notices wherever they have appeared. It was always their hope to be featured with a name orchestra. Despite their youth, the foursome have met with better than fair success as radio artists, having been featured on radio station WLW in Cincinnati.

Pat Baldwin, Ralph McGrew, Larry Marker and Joe Glock are their names. All except Glock were born in Cincinnati. Joe hails from Dayton, Ohio. They all sang in school and had done some quartette work before getting together in Cincinnati.

Their big break came when Ray Anthony and his band were in the Queen City for an engagement. Ray and his manager heard one of their broadcasts and invited them over for a chat. It took only ten minutes to sign the contracts and cut the ties with WLW.

Heard on Capitol Records, the Skyliners are featured on "When You Danced By" and "Velos," both hit platters. They have also been featured with the band on all four major radio networks.

Arrangements for the group are done by Charley Shirley and Ralph McGrew.

Jesus Quoted From the Psalms

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 8:2; 22:1, 16-18; 91:9-12; 103:8-13; 110:1; 118:22-23; Matt. 21:15-16, 28-29; 22:41-45; Luke 24:44.

David, in his distress cried, like Jesus on the cross, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me? why art Thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?"

In the 22nd psalm, David cried to God, "They pierced my hands and my feet. They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture," even as they did to Jesus.

When Jesus was tempted in the wilderness, Satan told Him to cast Himself down from the top of the temple, "for He (God) shall give His angels charge over Thee," that no harm come.

Just before Jesus' ascension, He told His disciples, "These are the words that are written in the law of Moses, in the prophets and psalms concerning Me."

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 105:4.

Jesus Quoted From the Psalms

THE LORD FOUND STRENGTH IN SCRIPTURES

Scripture—Psalms 8:2; 22:1, 16-18; 91:9-12; 103:8-13; 110:1; 118:22-23; Matt. 21:15-16, 28-29; 22:41-45; Luke 24:44.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
HOW MANY millions of people in the world rely upon our Bible as a source of strength in their problems and griefs? That is one reason we are given these lessons from the Psalms. They are not only beautiful as literature, but the words we read now in Sunday school will come back in some of our dark hours and comfort us.

Also, in our joyous hours, when we are contemplating the glories of nature, we will quote from the Psalms: "How marvelous are Thy words through all the earth." And again: "The heavens declare the glory of the Lord, and the firmament showeth His handiwork."

Jesus knew the scriptures by heart. He amazed the high priests by His knowledge of the law, and they were often abashed when He said to them, "Read ye not in the scriptures?" quoting to them—who were supposed to be experts on Hebrew law—what was so familiar to Him.

Today's lesson shows how the

In Psalm 118:22-23, we read: "The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner. This is Jehovah's doing; it is marvelous in our eyes."

Jesus quoted this in telling the story of the man, who leased his vineyard to husbandmen who, when the harvest was due, killed the man's servants whom he sent to collect, and even slew his son. "Did ye never read in the scriptures," He asked, quoting the above?

"The corner-stone binding the walls together was a most important part of the structure. A large and strong stone was needed for the purpose. It is mentioned along with the foundation of which it formed a part; and so possibly the meaning here is 'the chief corner-stone' of the foundation. But the 'head of the corner' is more naturally explained to be the top-stone, not only bounding the walls together, but completing the building." We quote this to make the meaning of the expression clear.

MEMORY VERSE

"Seek ye Jehovah and His strength; Seek His face evermore." Psalm 105:4.

Lord Jesus quoted Psalms in His teachings to the people, and how He relied on them—drawing strength from the words of the prophets and seers of old.

When Jesus rode in triumph into Jerusalem, the children in the temple shouted "Hosannas to the son of David," which annoyed the elders of the church. They said to Him, "Hearst Thou what these are saying?" Jesus answered them from Psalm 8:2, "Yea, He said, did ye never read, Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou perfected praise?"

Jesus always presented Jehovah to the people as a just but loving father. From Psalm 103:8, we quote: "Jehovah is merciful and gracious. Slow to anger, and abundant in loving kindness. He will not always chide; neither will He keep His anger forever. He hath not dealt with us after our sins, nor rewarded us after our iniquities, for, as the heavens are high above the earth, so great is His loving kindness toward them that fear Him."

"Like as a father pitieth His children, so Jehovah pitieth them that fear Him."

Singing Convention At Black Jack On Sunday

The second semi-annual session of the Pitt County singing convention will convene at Black Jack Sunday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

It will be an undenominational meeting. Among the ten or twelve groups almost every denomination in the county will be represented. Coming from out of the county as guests will be the Craven Male Quartet, the Paragon Quartet and the Silver Bell Trio, all of whom the people of Eastern Carolina have heard on the air; they are well known throughout this section.

The people at Black Jack are contemplating more people than the house will accommodate and have arranged for a public address system to be installed. They also ask all group going prepared to sing to inform the registers at the door.

Due to inadequate telephone lines no part of the program will be broadcast as it was when it met in Farmville. However, the Free Union Choir will substitute for the King's Crossroads Choir at the radio station from 1:30 to 2:00 p.m. and then go on to the convention.

This is no contest and no prizes are offered. Its purpose is good fellowship.

Some of the older people, when informed of the talent expected, say they never recall when so much trained talent was assembled in this section before.

County Alerted In Hunt For Man

Asheville, N.C., Sept. 9—(AP)—Buncombe County residents were alerted today in the continuing search for Tom Rowland Jr., Asheville real estate man.

Police Chief Eric Hall, who put out the countywide call for all persons to be on the lookout for the missing man, said he had no clues to Rowland's disappearance Wednesday.

Hall discounted, however, the possibility of foul play. Investigating officers said Rowland was last seen by a maid in the basement of his home. The maid told officers there was blood on Rowland when she saw him about noon Wednesday after going to the basement to investigate a noise.

Rowland left the house in his car shortly after, police said. A bloody shirt and several other articles, including a short handled axe, were found in the basement, officers said.

Decline In N. C. Cotton Outlook Seen In Report

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 9—(AP)—A considerable decline in North Carolina cotton prospects during August has been reported by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

This year's production, on the basis of Sept. 1 conditions, was forecast at 540,000 bales, down 30,000 from the Aug. 1 prospects. The prospective yield of 319 pounds of lint per acre is 128 pounds below the average production last year.

Weather conditions in August mostly were unfavorable for cotton production, the report said. Cotton is beginning to open in southeastern counties and ginning is in process, but wet weather is delaying harvesting.

Chaingang Head Admits Murder

Columbia, S.C., Sept. 9—(AP)—A Richland County chaingang captain admitted last night, Sheriff T. Alex Heise and Acting Chief J. P. Strom of the state constabulary announced, that he killed H. C. Carter, 59-year-old Columbia insurance man.

Andrew Roberts, 46, confessed orally to them, Heise and Strom said. Arrested Monday, he is being held at the state penitentiary.

Carter disappeared Aug. 17 while making insurance collections in the Eastover section of the county. His automobile was found abandoned. After several days' search, part of Carter's skeleton was found Aug. 28 four or five miles from the spot his automobile was located. The bones were identified from some of his clothing, his wallet and papers that lay nearby.

The upper part of the skeleton, including the head, was missing and still has not been found.

Roberts, a former convict, was quoted by Heise and Strom as saying he killed Carter after an argument and altercation. He accused Carter, they said, of too much familiarity about Roberts' home.

He shot Carter, the officers continued, once in the head and once in the chest.

Strength FOR THE DAY. EMPHASIZES THE POSITIVE. We are always emphasizing the things by which Christians are divided. Let us stop and begin emphasizing the things which unite all branches of the Christian Church. There will always be an honest difference of opinion as to what the revelation of God has taught men, and because of this, there will always be different groups of Christians in the world. But all Christians believe in God, all accept Christ as Saviour, all believe in the presence and power of the Holy Spirit and the affairs of men. There is a disagreement over certain doctrine, but on things which are essential, Christians everywhere are united. There is vast unity among Christians than we are accustomed to believe, and the things which unite us are more important than the things which divide us. And in this day of impending danger, let us be very sure that all Christians stand united against atheism, against communistic tyranny, against racial discrimination, and against tolerance. Differences among Christians? Yes, and if we ever believe that the day will arrive when even on matters of eternal destiny all men will think alike, we are deceiving ourselves and indulging in wishful thinking. Differences there will always be, but there is one Lord, one faith, one baptism; and this is all that matters among Christian believers. A CLEAN SWEEP. Although most housewives emphasize the cleaning of the family house in the spring and the fall, a good clean-up job on anything, no matter when it comes, usually pays its dividends in better looks and generally better surroundings. Mayor W. S. Stafford of Greenville has called on the citizens of the city to take part in a city-wide clean-up campaign next week to improve the appearance of Greenville. The city has undertaken the task of cleaning the streets, the alleys and public grounds, and Mayor Stafford has requested the citizens to clean their private property. On the whole, Greenville has a fairly clean appearance day-by-day, but a good clean-up campaign can greatly improve the appearance of the city. The clean-up campaign can be a success however, only with the cooperation of all the people of Greenville.

PUBLIC FORUM. Discussing problems of interest to this community. In all cases names must accompany any communication. To the People of Greenville, Pitt County and Surrounding Area: We wish to thank each of you who has contributed to making our new home possible. We are grateful to each individual, to each civic group and to each business concern for every bit of help and effort, be it time, money or material. We are happy to know there are so many people who care and who do for others. It is comforting to know that God's workers are many and are busy in the world where the devil is striving. Everyone can learn to win with God and to lose with the devil. Thanks again and again. MRS VIRGINIA O'NEAL and MRS MARY O'NEAL.

Can He Shake It Off?

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE. New York (AP)—Six years ago today Italy was surprised by the greatest tourist influx in its history. A number of German visitors were already there. And they weren't surprised. They were on the beaches—waiting. The reaction that followed is known as the battle of Salerno. It is one of the real milestones of the second World War, marking the first joint British-American landing on the continent of Europe. It opened a disheartening campaign that became a long bleeding wound for the troops who fought in this "forgotten war." And the keynote was set at the moment of landing. American Navy vessels had withheld their softening fire against land targets, hoping thereby the assault troops would catch the Germans unaware. But an enemy reconnaissance plane had sighted allied convoys the day before. When the infantry waded ashore through mine belts the Nazi 16th Panzer division was in position, all guns firing. The Germans quickly massed four other divisions around the beachhead. And for five stubborn days of around-the-clock fighting the Allies fought to keep from being thrown back into the sea. And there were many high officers among them—who thought that would happen. Wise men slept with their clothes on. I landed with a group of airforce engineers whose job was to follow quickly after the first infantry groups and build an airstrip for American fighter bombers. We came from Sicily aboard a British tank landing ship. As we approached the shore I could see bright orange flashes from British artillery pieces on the sands. "Why have they got the artillery still on the beaches?" asked a soldier new to battle. "That's as far as they can get," said the ship captain. We camped behind a British battery. That night German counter battery fire landed in our position and killed some men. The next night we bunked in an apple orchard. A German plane found us with flares and put a bomb in the middle of our orchard. But by the next day the airstrip was built. Then the long march up the mountainous peninsula began. It was like a war between quarrelling ants on the backbone of a dinosaur. Thousands of men became disillusioned for life about Italy's famous sunny climate. It rained and stormed, and high winds blew down hospital tents on the wounded. If it wasn't rocky underfoot it was muddy. And the army moved like a sluggish measuring worm. For weeks progress was in yards rather than miles. The Germans seemed to have a hill for every soldier, and it took a million dollars worth of artillery—and some blood—to take each hill. Naples fell, and its hollow-eyed people held out their hands for food, crying "mangiare! mangiare!" and "pan pane!" The water mains were blown, the streets ankle deep in filth. In hospitals there were no bandages, and the sick died on mattresses laid in rows along the candlelit floors. Then came the siege of Cassino, Anzio and the breakthrough to Rome. But the next day a vast force hit the beaches of Normandy, and the eyes of the world turned to France, the portal that led to Germany. For the rest of the war the troops in Italy wore their hearts out against the endless mountains on that forgotten front. And today they remember the campaign with little pleasure. For when peace came the Germans still hadn't run out of mountains. The starfish attaches itself to an oyster, secretes a fluid which narco-tizes its victim and then feeds on the oyster meat by inserting its stomach between the shells. The north central states of the United States have an unusual number of cases of goiter because the soil and water there is deficient in iodine.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS. Washington — In Ecuador the earthquake came. Many of the children were killed. Their teachers were killed, their schoolhouses demolished. But the things they had so eagerly made for the exhibit had already been finished and sent off for Washington. It would be a fine exhibit and through it, they had been told, the children of this country would get to know their better. The Children's Trailer Museum of Washington, where the exhibit is to be shown, received boxes daily from the stricken country. Boxes of beautiful dolls representing different Indian tribes of Ecuador, all correct in detail. Boxes of hand-woven baskets, woven bags, samples of mineral products, paintings and handiwork in every form. The children's museum had planned to open the exhibit free to everybody, as it always does when it shows something new and unusual for the children of the capital. But this time it will be different. Fees will be charged, and Miss Matilda Young, the director, is pulling together a special program of native Ecuadorian songs, and dances and films about Ecuador and its outcome to bring in more money. This fund will be the nucleus of a sum raised by the children of Washington to help care for, clothe and feed the 300,000 Ecuadorian earthquake survivors. Some of the Ecuadorian things have already been shown on a local television program. Miss Young did the explaining, and there were talks by Ana Castro 16 and Oswald Castro Jr., 17, children of Dr. Castro, Ecuadorian member of the UN Food and Agriculture Organization. The children's museum was started here by Miss Young in 1942 and until 1945 it was housed in its own fine home. When the building was sold and the museum was unable to find a home, some folks came forth with the trailer in which it is now sheltered. The museum has been featuring international exhibits of interest to children since May 1947. The first things it showed were from Canada, England, France and Poland. This exhibit was "trailed" cross-country. Then there was an exhibit from Mexico, which featured fiesta things—dolls, dancers, masques, toys, all made by children. "Now the countries are trying to outdo each other," Miss Young says. "The response has been tremendous, especially that from little Ecuador." The scarlet ibis, one of the most spectacular birds in the Western Hemisphere, have been reduced from once extensive flocks to a few scattered specimens in South America. In 1840, the U. The origin of coffee is uncertain but one story is that it was first made in Abyssinia about 875 A.D.

EPISODE — The very modern $150,000 plant of the Wayne Dairy Cooperative at Goldsboro was formally opened Wednesday night. There was band music, free milk and ice cream, and a good speech by L. Y. Bailett, state commissioner of agriculture. A terrific rainstorm held anticipated attendance of 2,000 down to about 200. This occasion was neither the beginning nor the culmination of a project. It was just one episode in a long chain of events. The plant was conceived several years ago, began operation last month though not yet fully equipped, and has a bright future of prospective service ahead. CO-OPERATION—Emphasis was on co-operation. Some 20 owners of about 350 dairy cows in Wayne county found themselves without adequate marketing facilities for milk. They formed the nucleus for the co-operative association which built the plant. They had help from Goldsboro business men who made up the civic clubs and chambers of commerce. More than a dozen representatives of various organizations — the Grange, Farm Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, Home Demonstrations, Rotary, Kiwanis and other civic groups—were introduced as having contributed to achievements to date. The milk processing plant is very obviously result of cordial cooperation. FUTURE—Indirect references by several speakers and sideline conversations with participants in the ceremonies clearly prove continued co-operation will be necessary to make the venture succeed on sound business principles. Already there are suggestions of price cutting wars with other milk distributors in the area. Competition is the life of trade, but competition that offers a product at less than cost of producing and processing can result only in disaster. SIGNIFICANT — Consensus of Commissioner Bailett and several business men around Goldsboro, as well as incorporators of the dairy cooperative, is this venture is more than just another milk processing plant in North Carolina. Significance lies in the fact it is located in an area that has been for many years woefully deficient in milk production. It represents a

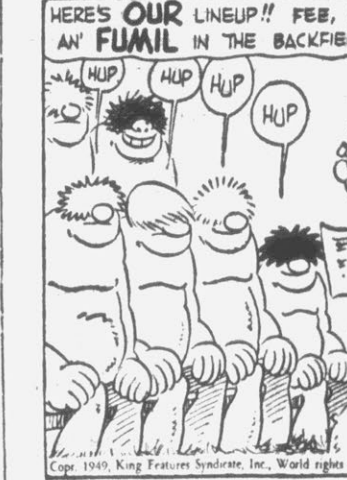

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR. Life is too short for too much excitement. It's hard on the blood pressure, disposition, and falling hair. Most of all, falling hair. Last night I lost at least ten strands on account of one unwelcome roomer in our apartment — a mouse. My barber, Elbert Hudson at the Stokes and Hudson Shop on the corner of Fifth and Cotanche, tells me that I'll never be bald. Elbert knows that he has my business as long as I have hair, so naturally he's hoping that I'll have it for many years to come. Also, he realizes what answer was desired when I asked him about falling hair. One day I asked him what would stop it. His classical remark, "The floor." Elbert is so popular that he'd never miss my business. But if he ever should need it, he'd better come around to 1102A Dickinson Avenue and set a better mouse trap than we have. It might have been 12 strands that I lost last night instead of 10. Last year when Wife Rachel and I were living in Chapel Hill we had our first experience with mice. Getting rid of them was a cinch. We set the trap six times, lost the cheese the first two times, caught mice the other four times. After we had caught the mice I said to Rachel triumphantly, "Now that we have all the children, we'll catch the mother and daddy." "What do you mean by that?" she asked. "Shall I draw you a picture?" was my reply. "Now that we have caught all of the mice we can catch the mice's parents, the rats." Ever since last Christmas Rachel and I have been trying to convince her, without success, that mice aren't rat's children. I keep telling her that I've been knowing they were since childhood. She keeps trying to get me to look it up in an encyclopedia. But why waste the time? For some reason encyclopedias never mention whose children animals are. And it's so obvious that they are rat's children. They look the same, except that they are smaller. But that mouse last night seemed to lack the guidance of parents. Any rat could have told him to keep out of our house. He just seemed to be aching for excitement. When Rachel turned on the light our friend raced across the kitchen floor in nothing flat. Rachel is disgustingly brave. Instead of being a normal woman, jumping up on a chair and screaming, she walked into the living room and announced nonchalantly that there was a mouse in the house. At this point I was drooped over the typewriter aching for a column topic, so the news was indeed welcome. A few seconds later the chase was on. It went from one end of the house to the other. At the conclusion of the house, the broom, and the husband were a wreck and the mouse is still at large. From this point on he'll have to stumble into a trap if he wants to get caught. And I thank you.

Marine Band Concert To Usher In Season Program

The United States Marine band, scheduled to appear here Tuesday evening, September 30, will usher in the 1949-50 Entertainment Series at East Carolina Teachers College. A group of five concerts, presenting some of this country's foremost artists and musical organizations, has been announced for the present school year by Ellen Rion Caldwell, chairman of the college Entertainment Committee.

Conducted by its leader, Major William F. Santelmann, "The President's Own" Band will appear here at the college in the course of a public concert tour recently approved by President Truman. Their itinerary will carry the famous scarlet-and-blue-clad musicians into twenty-one states.

Laurits Melchior, one of the world's greatest dramatic tenors and for years leading Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be a chief attraction on the program. Widely known through his appearance in movies and his recordings, Melchior is one of the most popular and distinguished artists ever to be scheduled for an appearance in Greenville. His concert will take place Monday, January 9.

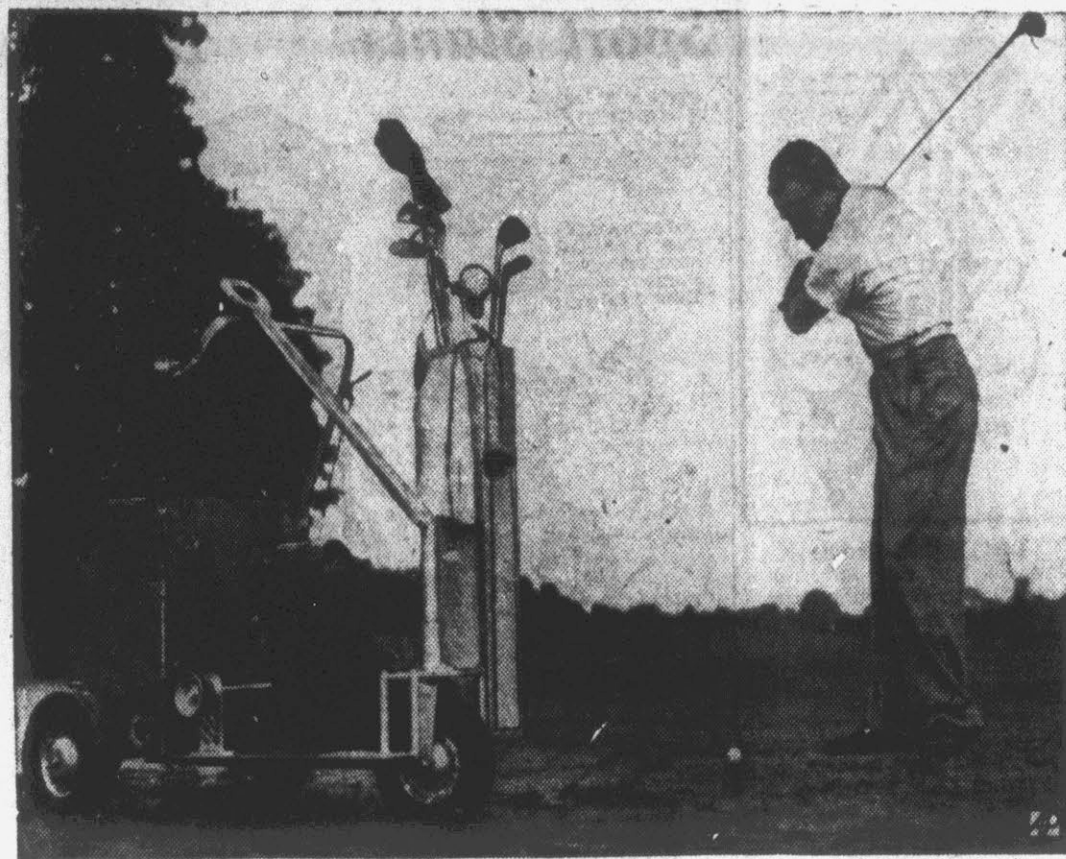

Others on the series and the dates of their appearances are Eugene List, pianist, November 3; Iva Kittell, dance satirist and comedienne, February 16; and a concert and dance by a nationally known orchestra during the spring quarter. All programs will be held in the Wright auditorium on the campus at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. Season tickets are now on sale at the college. The program to be offered patrons of the series in Greenville and other localities in Eastern Carolina has been arranged by the college Entertainment Committee, headed by Miss Caldwell. Charles A. White of Greenville is in charge of the sale of tickets off the campus. Other faculty and student members of the Entertainment Committee are Herbert L. Carter of the department of music, Jack Howard of North Wilkesboro, Richard Palmer of Montclair, N.J., Bernard Ham of Portsmouth, Va., Christine Radford of Kenly, Elizabeth Manning of Williamston, Roger Thrift of Carrboro, Patricia Davis of Manteo, Jeanette Riggs of Cove City, and Lucy Hannafoord of Greenville.

Czechoslovakia Birth Rate Up

Prague (AP) The newspaper "Svobodne Slovo" (Free Word) reports that the Czechoslovak birth rate is increasing steadily since the war and straining school facilities.

It reports that Prague's total of children of school age has increased to 50,000, requiring double shifts in numerous elementary schools. "Svobodne Slovo" predicts that in 1953, end of the present national five year plan, the capital will have 70,000 school children. It calls the rising birth rate "another proof of better living standard in our country."

Organize Civil Air Patrol Here

A Civil Air Patrol unit was organized Wednesday night, with the Greenville-Washington Aero club sponsoring it. The meeting was held at Reespess place on the Bethel highway.

Col. George D. Washburn of Shelby, wing commander of the North Carolina State Civil Air Patrol, and Airforce Capt. H. A. McKee, based in Charlotte, were speakers. Lynwood Rouse, president of the Greenville-Washington Aero club, presided.

Col. Washburn and Capt. McKee outlined plans for organizing the Civil Air Patrol unit here. Boys from 15 to 18 years of age are eligible for membership. Members will be taught the fundamentals of flying, including meteorology and navigation and aircraft structure.

After the local Civil Air Patrol unit becomes active outstanding students will have opportunity of attending without cost a two weeks aviation training course at either Robbins Field, Augusta, Ga., or Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala. Tommy Sellers, president of Greenville Aviation, Inc., operator of the Pitt-Greenville airfield and a flying school there, said the outstanding cadet in the local unit of the civil Air Patrol will have a chance to be chosen to go to England, France and Switzerland next summer on a good will mission.

Billy Briley and Vernon Tyndall, high school students, have already joined the unit. Other boys desiring to join should contact Billy Briley.

Gadgets Check On How Heat Affects Cattle

Davis, Calif.—(AP)—Cows, too, have trouble with the heat. University of California scientists are studying the problem. They have constructed two miniature weather stations to find out how hot it gets in corrals in the Imperial Valley.

The idea is to find out how much shade and moisture can help cattle under extreme heat. Cattle in the valley feed normally in the morning during hot weather. But when the sun begins to get hot they seek shade until driven out to forage by hunger.

Prof. F. A. Brooks of the College of Agriculture Experiment Station says the new weather recording gadgets weigh less than 100 pounds. They will record air temperature, relative humidity, air velocity, soil temperature and rate of evaporation.

Plant 'Extinct' Trees On Coast

Berkeley, Calif.—(AP)—Thousands of seeds of a tree once supposed to have been extinct for 20 million years have been planted on the west coast. The tree is the Dawn Redwood.

Many fossil specimens of the tree have been found in the West. It is thought it is the ancestor of the modern California Redwoods. Last year Dr. Ralph W. Chaney went to China and found the Dawn Redwood growing there. He brought back four seedlings and thousands of seeds.

In a trip up and down the coast this year Chaney planted many of the seeds in areas where the same type of tree grew millions of years ago.

New Zealand Tax Rate Increases

Auckland, New Zealand—(AP)—Each person in New Zealand will pay almost $290 in taxes this year, says Walter Nash, taxation finance minister. This compares with about $95 in 1939.

The only way to reduce taxes, Nash says, is to cut social services and reduce the number of civil servants. This, he says, the government will not do.

Commenting on his statement, the "New Zealand Herald" said the army of controllers, inspectors and formfilling clerks will remain.

Offer A 'Major' In Art Education

East Carolina Teachers College is offering this fall for the first time a major in art education.

Designed to train students at the college as teachers of art in the public schools, the new major carries the requirement of 45 quarter hours in art, study in a field of minor interest, and such courses in general education as are required of all students taking teacher-training work at the college.

The art department at the college is headed by Miss Cora Orlot of Moss Point, Mississippi, who became a member of the East Carolina faculty in the fall of 1948.

The art department is the second at the college to offer a major this year for the first time. The department of industrial arts now offers a major to students preparing to teach. Dr. Kenneth Bing of Girardeau, Missouri, joined the faculty this fall as director of work in this department.

Pirates Stress Workout On 'T'

Work on T-formation plays held the spotlight at East Carolina Teachers College as Coach Bill Dole readied his squad for their opening game against Cherry Point Marines. Timing and blocking was stressed as Coach Dole worked his squad on offense. Dole consistently juggled his line-up looking for a combination that could execute the T-plays for yardage they are designed to gain. Coach Dole will field eleven men for the Marine game but just who they will be he doesn't know. Chances are the starting line-up for the "Pirates" will not be decided until the day before the game. Dole will have at least four more practice sessions before the game to look over his boys and pick the starting eleven.

Coach Dole lost two men for the season yesterday and had six others on the injured list. At the close of practice today two more squad members were placed on the mounting casualty list. Guards Raz Autry and Max Kinlaw were sidelined. Autry has a badly sprained thumb and wrist and Kinlaw a bruised back. Both are expected to be out for the rest of the week.

Moye's Squad Looked Strong In Hard Scrimmage

Farmville High School's football eleven which last year revived its gridiron activities with a 5-4 record may be the team to beat this year in the recently organized Coastal football conference.

With only one week's practice under Coach Elbert Moye, the Farmville squad looked amazingly strong yesterday in scrimmage with a highly favored Greenville High School outfit.

Even the blond, youthful-looking Farmville High mentor admits that things look pretty bright. He was greeted by 15 letters this year and though his boys did not make a sensational record last year, the experienced boys should provide some mighty good competition for Coastal Conference foes this season.

The Farmville squad will be heavier than small school teams usually weigh. Coach Moye says his backfield will probably average some 155 pounds while the forward wall will probably come to around 165 pounds.

His first line of experienced backs will probably be sparked this year by Harry Albright, a husky fullback who drives hard on offense and plays a bang up game as backer up on defense. Claude Tyson, a big left halfback who has speed to match his massiveness, will probably be one of the Farmville school's greatest ground gainers on offense. He plays a good game defensively too.

George Wooten, one of the big reasons why Greenville high school could not gain ground through the tackle positions in yesterday's scrimmage, probably will be the big man in the Farmville forward wall this year.

Bobby Fulford, who handles the other tackle post very capably, is also expected to produce some outstanding line play this year.

Henry Tyson, a guard, showed up well in yesterday's scrimmage session. The center slot is handled by the capable and experienced Ernest Morgan, a senior.

Taking in consideration that his boys had only been practicing little better than a week, Coach Moye said yesterday that they "looked pretty good." He added that his team appears much improved over last year.

Moye's outfit does not open until September 30 when they tangle with Coach Daniel Drew's Vanceboro eleven. He reserved comment on the opener but maintained that his outfit this year would give any opponent in the conference a tough scrap.

Kinston Defeats New Bern By 4-3

Kinston, Sept. 9.—Six New Bern errors helped pave the way for a 4-3 Kinston victory here last night as the two clubs launched their semifinal playoff series in the Coastal Plain League. A crowd estimated in excess of 4,000 attended.

Two runs in the fourth provided the necessary margin. R. W. Hepler was safe on Spec Padgett's error and Jerry Frye, attempting to sacrifice, was safe on Jake Daniel's error. Len Romankowski singled in to centerfield for one run. When the centerfielder booted the ball, Frye also scored.

Two runs in the second by Kinston were scored when Harry Soufas walked, Rosenwinkle grounded out, and Hepler pounded out a 375-foot four bagger. All three New Bern runs came in the seventh. Joe Wheeler and Art Frieberger doubled in succession off Claude (Diz) Voiselle for one run and then Joe Anthony socked a 370-foot homer.

Kinston went up to the sixth inning without an assist. From then on, however, the Eagles piled up seven.

22 Candidates For Ayden Team

Ayden, September 9.—Football practice which began here August 22, is in full swing today with 22 candidates battling for starting berths.

There are eight starters back this year including the entire 1948 backfield and two tackles, a guard and a center.

Among the candidates are a number of green boys but according to Coach Tripp some of the boys are good prospects for positions left vacant by the graduating class of last year.

The team as a whole is "looking fine," reports from Ayden say, and the squad is rapidly rounding in shape for its opener.

A schedule and roster of the Ayden squad will be released shortly.

Phantoms Live Up To Coach Farley's Expectations

Coach Bo Farley was neither surprised nor disappointed yesterday at the showing his Greenville High School Phantoms made in a scrimmage session with the Farmville High School eleven at Farmville.

"They did just about what I expected," Farley said this morning as he reviewed the team's weaknesses, most of which were confined to the tackle positions.

The Greenville High coach said this afternoon's practice would be devoted to correcting mistakes seen in the scrimmage game yesterday pointing out that the tackles were in for particularly heavy work.

The Greenville backs, paced by a big boy named Paul Conway and smooth operating quarterback Jimmy Cox, got off at least three touchdowns. Perry at halfback looked practically good on end sweeps.

Through the line, the Phantoms were stopped cold, bearing out Farley's predictions of a weak forward wall. The tackle plays could never gain any ground.

The second string forward wall showed up the first stringers on defense. Led by a 13-year-old kid named Onra' Joseph, the younger linemen looked particularly impressive. Coach Farley explained today, however, that yesterday was the first time the first string boys had been on defense all year. They have been stressing plays and offensive work since the season drills began, he said.

Nelson, who looked good at end yesterday, may be moved in to strengthen the tackle positions, the Greenville coach said today. A ninth grader, Moore, also looked impressive at end.

Farley was satisfied with the pass defense of the Phantoms. Not more than three passes were completed all afternoon on the locals and only one for any sizeable gain.

Heavily Favored To Beat British In Wightman Play

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The United States is a top-heavy favorite to beat England for the 13th straight time in Wightman Cup tennis matches starting today at the Merion Cricket Club.

Two singles and one doubles will be played today starting at 1 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). Three singles and one doubles are to be played tomorrow, with the cup going to the nation copping four matches.

Today's programs call for Doris Hart, U.S., to meet Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith, in the No. 3 singles. This will be followed by a match between the No. 1 players, Mrs. Margaret DuPont and Mrs. Betty Hilton of England.

For the second night in a row rain halted the playoffs between the Rocky Mount Leafs and the Greenville Greenies over in Rocky Mount last night. Just as the PA announcer finished giving the lineups and the players had taken the field there came a heavy downpour of rain which caused the postponement of the game. There will NOT be any game played between the Rocky Mount Leafs and the Greenies over in Rocky Mount tonight due to a scheduled high school football game at the Municipal Stadium there. However, there will be a game between Kinston and New Bern to be played at New Bern. The Greenies and the Leafs will try to reel off the first game in the series on Saturday night, weather permitting. Should the game be played in Rocky Mount Saturday night this will mean that the two teams will meet here on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

L. D. Hines, president of the Roanoke Rapids Jays, yesterday announced the sale of First Baseman Val Gonzales to the Durham Bulls of the Class B Carolina League for an undisclosed sum of money. This was a straight cash transaction with no other players involved.

Gonzales, a left-handed hitter, was Coastal Plain League batting champion for the 1948 season with a .377 average. His average with the Jays during the past season was .302.

Below is the first in a series of the records of the Greenies during the 1949 season you might like to mull over. In general the locals did right well for themselves and most of the statistics speak favorably for the Greenville Baseball Club.

The Greenies ended the 1949 season with a record of 71 wins as against 67 losses for a percentage of .515. They finished seven and one-half games out of top position, three games from second place and one and one-half games out of third place.

The record of the Greenies with the other clubs in the league for the past season is as follows: In the lost column they dropped 13 to Tarboro; 12 to New Bern; ten each to Kinston and Goldsboro; eight each to Roanoke Rapids and Wilson; and 6 to the Rocky Mount Leafs.

In the win column they defeated Rocky Mount 14 times; Roanoke Rapids and Wilson 12 times each; Kinston 10 times; Goldsboro and New Bern 8 times each; and Tarboro 7 times.

During the current season the Greenies have won 40 home games and have lost 28 games at home. They have won 31 games away from home and lost 39 away from home.

In the win column they have won 8 games by a one-run margin; 11 by two runs; 10 by three runs; 6 by four runs; 12 by five runs; 7 by six runs; 4 by seven runs; 3 by eight runs; 4 by nine runs; 3 by ten runs; one by eleven runs; one by twelve runs; one by sixteen runs; and one by a twenty-one run margin.

In the lost column they have lost 18 by one run; 12 by two runs; nine by three runs; 7 by four runs; 9 by five runs; 2 by six runs; 4 by seven runs; 4 by nine runs; one by eleven runs and one by an eighteen run margin.

A total of ten extra inning games have been played by the Greenies this past season. The Greenies have won two of these contests and lost eight. They won a 10-inning game from Rocky Mount, 3-2, and also

Detroit Apparently Eliminates Indians

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Red Rolfe's Detroit Tigers, hottest club in baseball with a steaming 16-out-of-18 fever, today seemed to have delivered the kayo wallop to the world champion Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe still has a mathematical chance at the American League pennant. So do the Tigers, but it's only a fleeting hope — one that would require a minor miracle to come true.

Detroit vaulted into a near tie with Cleveland for third place by sweeping a day-night doubleheader yesterday on the pitching of Hal Newhouser and Ted Gray. Both are six games behind the idle New York Yankees, but the Indians hold third by an .002 margin.

Despite the Tigers' sizzling drive and their eight-game win streak, the schedule is all against them.

They are running out of games too fast to be a real threat. With only 16 games to play, 13 on the road, they trail the Yanks by 10 games on the all-important losing side of the ledger.

Cleveland's situation is almost as desperate. They play only three of 30 at home and trail New York by eight games on that losing side.

Rain washed out the New York-Boston game, turning the big series into a two-game set. The worst the Yanks can get is a split. Every day their 2 1/2 game lead looks more comfortable.

If the Yanks can take a deep breath, there is no such chance in the National. The St. Louis Cards and Brooklyn Dodgers are separated by a single game.

Harry Brecheen gave the Cardinal cause a boost last night with a three-hit, 8-0, shutout of the Chicago Cubs.

First Heavyweight Title Bout Is Seen For 'Frisco

San Francisco, Sept. 9.—(AP)—This city's first heavyweight championship fight in 45 years was in the making today. Terms were agreed upon, but contracts were yet to be signed by Ezzard Charles, N.B.A. titleholder, and Pat Valentino, local 185-pounder who holds the California state crown.

Charles, through the International Boxing Club which holds his promotional rights, yesterday agreed to defend his title in a 15-round match Oct. 14 in the huge San Francisco Cow Palace. Terms include a $50,000 guarantee or 35 per cent of the gate. Jim Norris, president of the I.B.C., telephoned from New York the terms were satisfactory.

The bout will be sponsored by William P. Kyne, operating head of Bay Meadows Race track. The last heavyweight title event in this city saw James J. Jeffries knock out Challenger Jack Monroe, Aug. 25, 1904.

Valentino, his manager Jack Andrade and Matchmaker Lou Thomas, were due in New York by plane this afternoon to sign a contract guaranteeing Charles a return title match if he loses.

Charles is scheduled to arrive Tuesday to sign his contract.

The Cow Palace, largest closed pavilion in the area, will seat close to 18,000.

Charles has defended only once—against Gus Lesnevich. The Cliffside Park, N.J., veteran surrendered after seven rounds at Yankee Stadium Aug. 10. Charles won the crown by outpointing Jersey Joe Walcott at Chicago in June.

Valentino has been inactive since outlasting Turkey Thompson of Los Angeles in 15 rounds Dec. 20. Then he underwent a minor operation.

The 26-year-old challenger fought two 10-round draws with Joey Maxim last year at San Francisco.

Goal Is Set For Overseas Relief

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A goal of 150 carloads of farm commodities was set yesterday for this state's 1949 Christian Rural Overseas program (CROP).

Plans for the campaign were discussed at a meeting called by Agriculture Commissioner I. Y. Ballentine, State chairman of the relief organization set up to help the needy abroad.

The annual drive will take place in November. Last year's campaign collected 55 carloads of farm products in North Carolina.

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

Chapter 30
As Derris emerged from the building, she came to an abrupt stop. She had caught a flashing glimpse of Dr. Bayles before he vanished in the crowd! There were fewer people between them now, and without actually running she began to overtake him.

He stopped as she called his name. "Why, Derris," he exclaimed in surprise at the sight of her, "what are you doing here?"

"Trying to catch up with you," she yelled to get her breath. "When did you get back?"

"This afternoon. Say, it's funny running into you like this. I intended getting in touch with you as soon as I reached home. I haven't been back there yet. It's lucky meeting you like this."

"Did you manage to find out anything about those capsules—how the arsenic got into them?" Derris asked.

"Yes. That's the very thing I wanted to see you about. It hasn't been out of my mind since Dr. Reidy came and told me what he had discovered. I decided to get in touch with the Madison Company. At first I didn't meet with much success. Then, while I was talking to one of the men in their mailing department, I got on the track of some very curious information."

"You found out how the arsenic got into the capsules?" Derris interrupted.

"Not right then," Bayles answered. "But it opened up a new train of thought. I think, Derris, you were right when you once said that a lot of the things that were happening must have a connection. There is a connection and a very definite one. Derris, there's something I want to show you. Since I've saved myself a trip out to your place, could you go now?"

"Of course," she replied. "If you think it's that important."

He nodded. "We'll have to take a cab."

They found one at the next corner. Dr. Bayles gave the driver an address; then he leaned back against the cushions.

"I hope it won't take too long. I was on my way to Holway's place when I saw you."

"This won't take long," Dr. Bayles answered. "But I doubt if after what I show you, you'll want to see Holway again."

"How?" "What do you mean?" "He's in this thing, Derris—all the way." Dr. Bayles sounded serious. "But I want you to be convinced for yourself."

Derris was stunned by the import of the doctor's remarks. With a start she noticed that they had veered away from the heavier traffic and were now in the tenement district near the river.

Berets For Boy Scout Affairs

London.—(P)—The Boy Scouts Association has announced that members over 15 may wear berets with their uniforms. Color of the berets will vary according to rank. They will be used at camps and on other informal occasions.

The familiar broad-brimmed "Baden Powell" hat will continue to be regulation for ceremonial activities. Berets also are standard off duty headgear in the British Army, where they were made popular during the war by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Young People In Church Meeting

This week has been Youth Rally Week at the Jarvis Memorial Church, with over two hundred and fifty young people taking part in the program conducted so far this week.

The youth rally meetings are held each night from 7:30 until 9:30 at the church with both guidance and social programs being conducted. An average of 60 young people have attended each meeting held so far this week, and more than one hundred are expected for the meeting tonight.

The general theme of the Youth Rally Week is "Who Will Lead Today?"

Tonight will be the big night of the Youth Week Rally, for a banquet will be served by the Woman's Society of Christian Service for all people who have taken part in the program and work this week. The banquet will start at 6:30.

In addition to the banquet tonight there will be a special dedication and communion service for all young people.

Following this a program highlighted by a skit directed by Alice Foley Jones will be given. The skit will provide a few chuckles and also bring out some good points to be noted.

Each night of the past week discussion groups have been taught by adult leaders of the church, dealing with various sections of the Bible.

Those teaching the study groups are: Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, Mrs. Leon Russell, Wyatt Brown, and Herbert Waldrop, Jr.

Following the discussion groups a fellowship hour is held with folk games being played and refreshments served by the women of the church.

Director of Christian Education at the Methodist Church, Miss Rouse, stated today that she was highly pleased with the number of young people who have attended the meetings during the rally week and the response that they have offered. "It was actually the young people of the church who have made this week possible," Miss Rouse said.

Autumn Weather Prevailing Here

Fall weather was in the offing yesterday and today, and the highest temperature yesterday was 81 degrees.

The mercury dropped to 60 degrees during last night, the lowest temperature recorded in the Greenville area so far this fall. At 8 a.m. today the temperature was 62 degrees.

One year ago yesterday the temperature was 91 degrees, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, U.S. Weather Bureau observer here, reported.

Bright sunshine and wind from the northwest today evaporated a lot of the moisture left by the more than one and a half inches of rain here Wednesday evening and Thursday morning.

Mrs. B. T. Clark, river observer here for the U.S. Weather Bureau, reported that Tar River in the Greenville area was at nearly the six-foot level this morning, a considerable drop from last week, following heavy rains, when the stream reached the 12-foot level. Normally, Tar River's level is from 3 to 5 feet in this section.

Variable weather in this section was believed to have been influenced by the wildcat hurricane prevailing near the Bahamas. Indian summer, mild weather, usually prevails here in late September and early October.

40% More Heating Surface with the L-Shaped Heat Exchanger

Because of the greater heating surface of the exclusive Norge L-shaped heat exchanger, the Norge delivers more heat faster. The greater amount of air heated by the exchanger is passed into the air circulating throughout the space to be heated; less heat escapes up the chimney.

The exclusive Norge down-draft "Whirlator" tube carries more air for perfect combustion directly into the heart of the flame. The whirling motion of the air results in a perfect vapor mixture, and more heat from less fuel.

Neighbors Resent Prowler On Eighth Street At Night

Residents of the neighborhood of the 400 block on East Eighth and Ninth streets, who complained to police about a suspicious man prowling and trespassing in that section at night indicated today that they are resentful of the nuisance. One resident of the neighborhood said that the next time he hears a prowler on his premises he is "going to give what squirrels don't like and it's coming from a shotgun."

Residents of that unusually quiet residential section, near the college, have made numerous complaints about a suspicious man, or men, prowling there at night.

When buying from us, they have to pay us in dollars. So all of them which buy from us, particularly Britain which has to buy a lot from us, need dollars.

Because of deals made among themselves during the war, when sterling bloc nations buy from us, they give Britain pounds and tell the British to pay us the equivalent in dollars.

But that helps drain away Britain's dollar supply. That supply already is so short that the present conference here on the British dollar crisis was called to see what could be done about it.

Now the British are suggesting that one of the ways in which we can help them out is in the way we do our stockpiling. This way:

That we buy more scarce and strategic materials from countries in the sterling bloc. Since we'd pay them in dollars, they'd have more dollars on hand when they wanted to buy from us.

With more dollars of their own to spend, they wouldn't need to give the British pounds and tell them to give us the equivalent in Britain's scarce dollars.

This is still in the talking stage. It wouldn't solve Britain's whole dollar-shortage problem. It might help out a bit.
