Defends Aviator Charging Navy Is Pentagon Target

Rear Admiral Hopes Airman's Statement Will Bring Issue Into Open

Washington, Sept. 12—(AP)—The head of the Naval Air training program spoke out strongly today in support of the flying captain who charged that Navy offensive strength is being scuttled.

"When John Crommelin, a great naval aviator and a very superb naval aviator, speaks, the American people should listen to him."

Those were the closing words of a statement by Rear Admiral Arthur G. Doyle of Glenview, Ill.

"Captain John Crommelin is one of the greatest naval aviators of all times," Doyle said, adding:

"He has always had the country's interest at heart. He has never thought of his own interests. He is a man of the highest and noblest integrity."

"I find it impossible that he be off-line in any great degree in any statement that he may make."

Crommelin issued a statement Saturday in which he protested that Navy power is being wrecked in the Pentagon, headquarters of the Armed Services. He said it is being "hobbled to death" and Navy morale destroyed.

The Navy and Air Force for several years have engaged in a bitter dispute over their respective roles in strategic warfare.

The 46-year-old captain, who works under the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said that in speaking out he was throwing overboard his 30-year Navy career, but added:

"I hope this will blow the whole thing open and bring on another congressional investigation."

That wish won one congressman's endorsement. Rep. Sasser (D-Md.) said Congress should take a hand in the row. Sasser, a top-ranking Democrat on the House Armed Services Committee, indicated he feels such a review might help settle the dispute which flared into public view during the recent congressional investigation of the Air Force's B-36 bomber.

He said he favored an inquiry into the roles of the Army, Navy and Air Force in defense and security.

Wallace May Tell Political Plans

New York, Sept. 12—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace may give his answer tonight to calls from several leaders of the American Labor Party to be its candidate for U.S. senator at the November election.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, state chairman of the ALP, predicted yesterday that Wallace would announce his decision tonight, when a varied group of supporters is giving a dinner in his honor at the Hotel Astor.

The ALP, which is running Marcantonio for mayor, backed Wallace's Progressive Party candidacy for president last year.

In No Hurry To Appoint Justice

Washington, Sept. 12—(AP)—President Truman is expected to wait a while before naming a new Supreme court justice to take the place of the late Wiley Rutledge.

Especially he is expected to wait if his choice is Attorney General Howard McGrath—as most political observers anticipate. McGrath has been Attorney General for less than three weeks and Mr. Truman may want to keep him in the Justice department for a time.

Steel Crisis Left To Union Heads

They Hold Answer To Truman Request For Extension Of Strike Truce; Issue Of Fourth Round Of Wage Hikes Also In Their Hands

Pittsburgh, Sept. 12—(AP)—The steel strike crisis was put up to strategists of the CIO United steelworkers today.

They held the answer to President Truman's request for an 11-day extension of the strike truce expiring tomorrow midnight. Steel industry's big five accepted the extension.

Also in the union's hands is the working man's demands for a fourth round pay increase—specifically whether to accept the Presidential board's formula for settling the steel wage dispute.

The board suggested a 10 hourly package covering pensions and insurance but no wages.

Decision on the board recommendations also are expected from more than 60 steel companies as soon as officers and boards of directors finish studying the fact finding report.

The steelworkers executive board went into session at hotel Sheraton, CIO and steelworker president Philip Murray, spearheading labor's drive for a fourth round pay boost, got behind closed doors with other union heads to plot their course.

The executive board is made up of international officers and 33 district directors. Its recommendations must be ratified by the union's wage policy committee which was called together later today. The wage policy group includes the executive board plus representatives of local unions.

Decisions of the executive group usually are not made public before presentation and action by the wage policy body.

Murray has withheld comment on the truce and the fact finders report pending the union meeting.

Germany's Big Effort

Appalling Difficulties Beset Attempt To Establish A Democracy; Past Experience Has Been Meagre; World Watching With Hope & Misgivings; Success Possible

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Germany's fresh attempt to establish a Democracy is under way in the fine old University town of Bonn on the Rhine, where her new Parliament is holding its first sessions.

It is a heroic effort, surrounded by appalling difficulties. Germany is only the shadow of her former self, the victim of her own misdeeds. The country physically divided, for only the western areas occupied by American, British and French military forces are included in the government. Russia is holding out in her zone and is said to plan the establishment of a Communist government which will become a satellite of Moscow.

That is the material with which the young parliament has to start work. And in large degree it is an adventure into strange surroundings, for Germany's experience with Democracy, in the accepted sense of the term, has been meagre. Her last attempt in that direction rested in the ill-fated Weimar Republic which bridged the few brief years between the autocracy over which the Kaiser presided and the Hitlerian dictatorship of evil memories.

The world will watch this rebirth of a nation hopefully but not without misgivings. Twice within a century Germany has made aggressive war which has plunged the whole globe into conflict. Inevitably the question arises whether there is danger of her making another gamble with war.

Of course that contingency will be taken care of so long as the allies keep a military check on the country. But lasting peace can come only with the establishment of real Democracy and international brotherhood. That is the task which confronts the new government at Bonn.

There is no reason, as I see it, to doubt that it is possible to achieve success. The Germans as a whole are not a warlike folk. On the contrary they are industrious home-loving people who want peace. Their weakness in the past has been that they were susceptible to regimentation and were victimized by the Prussian warlords.

True they are a highly independent and proud people, and right now they are feeling bitter over their fate. I have seen them since the war walking about in the ruins of their once proud cities, and there is resentment in many eyes as they pass an allied citizen. They are beaten physically but not mentally.

Still, having known them for many years I don't believe that they want war any more—either a war of revenge or a war of conquest.

Rutledge Family Receive Tributes

Body Of Jurist On Way To Washington For Funeral

York, Me., Sept. 12—(AP)—The body of Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge, mourned by his chief as "a great American," sped to Washington by train today.

The liberal jurist's funeral will be held in Washington's Unitarian Church at 3 p.m. (EST) Wednesday. His court colleagues will be honorary pallbearers.

At the age of 85 Rutledge succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage in the little village hospital here Saturday night.

A spokesman for the family said Rutledge's widow and their three children would motor to the capital today. They had been with the justice since he was stricken Aug. 27 while on vacation at nearby Ogunquit.

Lions To Launch Ticket Campaign

Plan Sale Of 500 Adult Season Tickets To GHS Events

A drive to sell 500 adult season tickets to the Greenville high school home athletic contests will be launched tonight by the Greenville Lions Club.

George Lautares, chairman of the Lions Club committee which will handle the ticket sales, said today the adult tickets will be good for 24 admissions to high school football, basketball and baseball games played in Greenville during the current school year. The season tickets will sell for $5 each.

The 24 admissions for which the season tickets are good may be used at any of the high school home games, and the tickets are transferable.

Lautares, in announcing the Lions Club plans for sponsoring the ticket sales, pointed out that the athletic program of the high school is not financed through public education funds, and that the school relies solely on its gate receipts from inter-scholastic athletic program.

"The goal of 500 adult season tickets we have set for this drive should assure the school of an adequate amount of money to pay off the present debt of the high school athletic association, and finance the teams through the current year," Lautares added.

Adult admissions to high school athletic contests this year will be 75 cents for each game for those who do not have season tickets, school officials have announced.

A similar drive to sell season tickets to high school students has been undertaken by the Student Council of the high school. The season tickets for students will sell for $3.50.

Scholarship Fund Campaign Is Near To Half Of Goal

Chairman Rawl Issues Special Plea To Complete Drive By Thursday

A total of 42 per cent of the $10,000 goal for the ECTO athletic scholarship drive has been collected and turned over to the college educational foundation, Chairman Ed. E. Rawl announced today.

Rawl said the campaign for athletic scholarship funds for the college has been successful so far, but stated that the response to the scholarship drive has not been as rapid as committee had anticipated.

"We are anxious to have all the money $10,000 for the athletic scholarship fund by Thursday night when the new stadium at the college will be dedicated," Rawl said. "I am issuing a plea to members of the scholarship fund committee and the general public to rally behind this drive this week in a concentrated effort to reach the goal by Thursday."

Greenville businessmen, under the leadership of Rawl, last winter raised $25,000 which has been used to build the first 3,000 seat section of a stadium at the college. The businessmen recently launched a campaign to raise $10,000 for scholarships to be used to support the school's athletic teams.

In his statement today, Rawl said arrangements were being completed for the dedication of the stadium at the opening game of the college football season Thursday night. A new entrance from Fifth Street to the stadium is being completed to facilitate the handling of traffic going to and from the stadium for the athletic contests, Rawl said.

Low Quality For Old Belt Opening

Average Of $41 To $43 Reported On Representative Mart

Raleigh, Sept. 12—(AP)—An estimated general average of $41 to $43 per hundred pounds was recorded for the first hour of sales on opening day on one large representative market of the Old Belt, the Federal-State Market News Service reported today.

Quality was not as good as on opening day of the flue-cured tobacco belt last year, the news service said.

However, demand was good on smoking tobacco and full sales were reported. Sales are expected to become lighter during the middle of the week, the service reported.

The range of bulk of sales was from $25 to $64, with the extreme range from $2 for poorest thin non-descript to $65 for choice lugs and fair cutters.

Less better qualities and more nondescript and low quality lugs and primings appeared, the service said, but condition of offerings was good.

An estimated 18 per cent of the baskets sold in the first hour went to the Stabilization Corporation under the government loan program.

Governor Denies Dividing People

Raleigh, Sept. 12—(AP)—Governor Scott asserted today that his program would unite—rather than divide—rural and urban citizens of the state.

"The program I have will bring them together," the governor said. "They'll all be on the same basis. The breach (between urban and rural citizens) was created over a long time. The lid just blew off last spring."

Predicts Gray Next UNC Head

High Point, N.C., Sept. 12—(AP)—A High Point newspaper editor predicted yesterday that Gordon Gray, secretary of the army, would be the next president of the University of North Carolina.

Robert Thompson, editor of The Enterprise, made the prediction in the course of a radio talk.

"If the vote were held today," he asserted, "I'd bet ten to one that Gray would accept the offer."

Assassination Attempt Foiled

Tel Aviv, Israel, Sept. 12—A visitor in the Israeli Parliament gallery pointed a stern gun (machine-gun) toward Minister David Ben-Gurion today as the Prime Minister entered just before the legislators began an eight-week recess.

The house was thrown into an uproar but guards seized the man, disarmed him and removed him from the building.

Canadian Finance Minister Says Program Of Immediate Steps To Combat Britain's Plight Agreed Upon; Further Consultations Ahead

Washington, Sept. 12—(AP)—Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott said today the United States, Britain and Canada have agreed on a program of immediate steps to combat Britain's dollar crisis. In a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, Abbott declared that finance and foreign policy ministers of the three countries, now closing their week-long meeting here, "have made very encouraging progress."

He said, however, that the job is far from complete and that there is "no prospect of immediate relief from all our difficulties." Of positive accomplishments, he said:

"We have determined what steps can be taken at this time, and above all, we have agreed on the direction in which we must work. Each of our governments must constantly re-examine the adequacy of our policies in the light of the ultimate goal (of preventing recurrent dollar-shortage crises)."

Abbott did not spell out what the steps would be. But he did say that "we have made a good beginning" and clearly indicated that the three nations had agreed to close and continuing consultation to get Britain out of its immediate financial hold and to keep it out.

A three-power communique was expected during the day. (Possibly about 3 to 4 p.m. EST).

In advance, however, officials familiar with the work of the conference said the proposed steps will include (1) greater freedom for Britain in spending Marshall Plan dollars for Canadian wheat and (2) acceptance by the United States of Britain's need to discriminate against American goods in order to conserve dollars.

Abbott spoke at the press club in the midst of a "busy round" of three-power sessions aimed at winding up the work on a new series of political and financial conferences tomorrow. These will include a sweeping review of Far Eastern policy by British Foreign Minister Bevin and Secretary of State Acheson.

Other meetings beginning tomorrow include the World Bank and International Monetary Fund. Britain is reported interested in obtaining financial aid from the fund. Provided its rules are modified, Britain may be able to draw $325,000,000 in the next 12 months.

President Truman will address the governors of the bank fund at their meeting tomorrow (2:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time). The White House said Mr. Truman will speak extemporaneously.

Navy Preparing To Tie Up More Fleet Warships

Washington, Sept. 12—(AP)—The Navy, with an ear to predictions of broadscale reductions in military spending in the next fiscal year, already is getting ready to put more warships on the shelf.

Starting later this month, the navy will begin to take ships out of the active fleet and tie them up. The program will continue through the first half of next year and in the first half of next. The idea is that by the time the navy starts operating with funds for the 1951 fiscal year (starting next July 1) it will be pared down to fit the present guess of navy officials about the budget's size.

Tiniest Beauty Queen Since 1921 Chosen In Atlantic City Contest; Heads For Big City To Start Career

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 12—(AP)—An Arizona ranch girl headed for the big city today to start her career as Miss America, 1949.

Dark-haired, brown-eyed Jacque Mercer of the X-Bar-X ranch, Litchfield Park, Ariz., who won the title Saturday night, started on a round of personal appearances that will take her back across the continent.

The 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Mercer came here from her ranch home after winning the title Miss Arizona.

Mrs. Kenneth Kirwin Dews

Dews-McLawn

In a formal candlelight ceremony solemnized Friday afternoon, September 2 at Winterville Baptist church, Miss Mamie Barnhill McLawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis T. McLawn of Winterville, N. C., and Kenneth Kirwin Dews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dews of Edison, Georgia, were united in marriage. The Reverend Thomas M. Dews, brother of the groom, from Albany, Georgia, and Reverend E. G. Cole, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Roy T. Cox, organist and Mr. Alton Dews of Edison, Georgia, soloist. He sang "At Dawning," "Because" and "Wedding Prayer" as a benediction. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ducker white satin with a drop shoulder of marquisette outlined with a double ruffle of rosepoint lace and a double peplum of matching lace at the waist. The gown fastened in back with a row of self covered buttons and the fitted sleeves formed calli lily points over the wrists. The full skirt extended into a wide peacock train with insets of rosepoint lace and white satin bows. She wore a fingertip veil of imported French illusion held in place by a coronet of pearlized orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a diamond and platinum pin worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her colonial bouquet consisted of white gladioli and asters showered with tuberoses. Her honor attendants were Mrs. Ralph Worthington, cousin of the bride, matron of honor; Miss Gay McLawn, maid of honor, and Miss Joanne McLawn, junior maid of honor, sisters of the bride.

The bridesmaids were Miss Denyse McLawn, another sister of the bride and Miss Mary Ellen Jenkins of Lindale, Georgia, cousin of the bride. The flower girls were Carol Wilkerson of Greenville, N. C., and Virginia Jenkins of Atlanta, Georgia, cousins of the bride. Arthur Cousin, Mary Virginia Langston, was ring bearer.

The matron of honor wore a gown of gold satin with an off-the-shoulder bertha and a full skirt. She wore matching mitts and French bonnet and carried an arm bouquet of purple asters tied with matching ribbon.

The maid of honor's gown was of American Beauty satin fashioned along the same lines as the matron of honor. She carried an arm bouquet of lavender asters with matching ribbons. The junior maid of honor, bridesmaids, flower girls, and ring bearer wore similar gowns of turquoise blue satin and carried mixed fall flowers with contrasting ribbons.

The groom's best man was William McKemie of Ft. Gaines, Ga. Ushers were Don Langston, J. C. Whitehurst, Jr., Ralph Worthington, and R. H. McLawn, Jr.

Mrs. McLawn, mother of the bride, wore a gown of blue chiffon and lace and a hat of French illusion. Her flowers were red roses. Mrs. Dews, mother of the groom was attired in light gray crepe with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. C. J. Jenkins of Edison, Georgia, maternal grandmother of the bride, was gowned in aqua crepe and wore a corsage of gladiolus.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McLawn entertained at a reception at their home on Renston highway near Winterville. The reception rooms were especially lovely with decorations of magnolia, gladioli, fever few and candles.

Out standing was the dining room. The table was covered with a lovely white Swiss organdy and lace cloth over satin and centered with an arrangement of yellow gladioli white asters and fern in a crystal bowl flanked by yellow burning tapers in three branched crystal candelabra. At each end of the table, Mrs. Roy Cox, Mrs. Gertrude Spain, Mrs. Norma Forbes, and Miss Alice Hunsucker poured punch from large crystal punch bowls. Assisting in serving bridal cakes, mints, and nuts were Miss Anne Tillet, Durham, N. C., Miss Janet Pettis, Edison, Georgia, Misses Anne Speir, Alice Rachel Speight, Mary Grace Gaylord, Jean Forbes, Joyce Whitehurst, Betsy Costelloe and Mrs. Jack Dall.

Assisting in receiving throughout the house were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilkerson (Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Atlanta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McLawn, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McLawn, Mr. and Mrs. Brantley Speight, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Langston, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whitehurst, Mrs. John Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. Obed Castelloe, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rollins, Miss Daphne McLawn, Mr. Riley Cox, and Mrs. Nina Fletcher.

Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Dews left for a short wedding trip. Upon their return, they will be at home in Winterville, N. C. For traveling the bride chose a Gilbert original wool gabardine suit of sand beige and matching hat with a pink feather. With this, she wore brown blouse and accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Dews received her B. S. degree in chemistry from Duke University where she was a member of Phi Nu social sorority and for the past year has been employed as an analytical chemist in the Department of Medicine at Duke hospital.

Mr. Dews spent seven years in the Navy and then attended South Georgia College in Douglas, Ga., and N. C. State College in Raleigh.

Many social courtesies were extended Miss McLawn after the announcement of her engagement, including teas, dessert bridge and buffet suppers culminating in the cake cutting after the rehearsal and a buffet luncheon on the day of the wedding.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. A. Costen, Red Level, Ala.; Mr. Ralph Jenkins, Mrs. D. W. Pettis, Misses Janet and Linda Pettis, Mrs. C. J. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dews, and Mr. Alton Dews from Edison, Georgia; Miss Mary Ellen Jenkins, Lindale, Ga.; Mr. William McKemie, Ft. Gaines, Ga.; Reverend Thomas Dews, Albany, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Manning, Williamston, N. C.; Reverend and Mrs. C. A. Francis, Nashville, N. C., and Miss Anne Tillet, Durham, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. White Give Dinner Party For Bridal Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tilden White entertained at a buffet dinner party on Friday evening at their home on Seventh street to honor Miss Shirley Savage, and Mr. Bernard Smith of Charlotte.

Colorful autumn flowers decorated the living room and music room and in the front hall roses were used. Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. White greeted the guests and presented them to the host and hostess, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill Smith of Charlotte, parents of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Savage, parents of the bride. They were directed to the rear hall by Mrs. Helen White Hawes and William White, where Dr. and Mrs. John D. Messick, assisted by Misses Helen White and Mary French Hawes, Nancy Hoot and Bobby Jean Williams, cousin of the bride, served fruit cocktail. In the dining room the flower arrangements were all white. The buffet held two large silver candelabra with epernettes of clematis and tube roses. The table was spread with a lace cloth over green and was centered with a silver wine cooler containing pom-poms, tuberoses and fern. Silver candelabra with green and white tapers flanked the centerpiece. Mrs. J. H. Rose seated at one end of the table served ham. She was assisted by Mr. Rose. Mrs. F. A. Savage, seated at the opposite end of the table, assisted by Mrs. Lindsay Savage, served a salad. Many other party accompaniments were passed.

After the first course the guests were invited back to the dining room for dessert. Mrs. Karl B. Pace, assisted by Dr. Pace, served cream peach cake.

An enjoyable feature of the evening was group singing with Mrs. Messick at the piano and Mr. Wilbur Ormond of Ayden with his accordion.

Guests included the Smith-Savage wedding party, out-of-town guests and a few friends.

Wedding Breakfast Honors Bridal Couple

Among the prenuptial events honoring Miss Shirley Savage and Mr. Bernard Smith, whose marriage was solemnized Saturday afternoon in a lovely candlelight ceremony in the Eighth Street Christian Church, was the wedding breakfast Saturday at 12:30 given by Miss Rose Messick at her home on East Fifth street. Arrangements of white roses and asters were used in the spacious living rooms and hall.

In the dining room a miniature bride and groom centered the table. Completing the table appointments were silver candelabra with epernettes, holding white chrysanthemums.

Upon arrival of the guests, Mrs. Samuel T. White served fruit cocktails.

Mrs. William Hill Smith of Charlotte, mother of the groom and Mrs. Frank A. Savage, mother of the bride, were seated at opposite ends of the dining table to serve creamed chicken, congealed salad, vegetables, hot rolls and tea. For dessert, sherbet in meringue shells was served. Miss Messick's guest list included members of the wedding party and out of town guests.

Bridge Party Honors Miss Savage

Mrs. Earl Kittrell and Miss Betsy Hellen, were hostesses at bridge on Monday evening, September 8, at the home of Miss Hellen in compliment to Miss Shirley Savage, whose marriage to Bernard Smith of Charlotte took place Saturday afternoon in the Eighth Street Christian Church.

Coca-Colas and mints were served during the games and later in the evening strawberry short oaks was served.

The high score prize was won by Mrs. Ben Harrison, the low by Miss Dot Savage. Mrs. Harrison also won the floating prize.

Miss Savage was presented a corsage of white glads and other gifts from the hostesses.

Christian Science Service "Substance" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, September 11.

Golden Text: I Corinthians 2:9-10. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit."

Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon are the following from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Hebrews 11:1.

And from the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay." Page 468.

On Tuesday night of this week at 7:30 to 10 the college young people of the Christian Church will have a get-acquainted social in the social room of the church. The members of the Christian churches attending the college here and those who are members of the church and plan to attend college elsewhere are all invited. The committee in charge of arrangements, Miss Alef Collins, Miss Dorothy Savage, Mr. Milton Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hubbard, and Mrs. David Proctor. It is hoped that Miss Louise Morris, recently elected youth worker for the local church, who is now attending Atlantic Christian College, may be present.

similar services in 1941. The Women's Missionary Union of the Southern Baptist Church are expecting to raise $1,600,000 by Christmas of this year as a special offering for the support of their foreign mission enterprises.

Some 50,000 Korean Christians recently paraded through the streets of the city of Seoul, Korea, in a mass demonstration of their strength in that nation, reports Miss Marion L. Conrow, Methodist missionary. The demonstration, she says, expressed the concern of Korean Christians regarding the international situation, and especially their own responsibility for the future welfare of all Asia. The banners carried by the marchers included such slogans as these: "Let the churches of the world unite their strength to protect the churches of Korea." "The insecurity of Korea is a threat to world peace."

Women In The Church

Miss Henrietta Gibson, treasurer of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Board of Missions, Methodist Church, reports that for the twelve months ending June 1, 1949, the million and half women of the Society contributed $5,580,373 for home and foreign missions and related enterprises (in addition to women's gifts to regular church benevolence), or an increase of $918,909 over their giving for the previous year. This is about double

Strength FOR THE DAY

SLOVAKIAN PEASANTS AGAINST COMMUNISM

The recent armed uprising of the Slovaks against the Communist government of Czechoslovakia may well indicate that the most effective force with which to combat communism is not the superior productivity and economic benefits of capitalism but Christianity. For many years we have been telling ourselves that if we could but show the peoples of the communist-dominated countries that an enlightened capitalism would bring them greater political freedom and economic prosperity, they would rise and overthrow the despots which oppressed them. Similarly, communist leaders have looked on the economic power of Western nations as their greatest threat. But it may well be that both we and the communists are wrong.

The peoples of Eastern Europe have remained relatively indifferent to the enticements of both Eastern and Western propagandists. The issue which drove them to arms was not political freedom or economic prosperity, but the persecution of religion.

This fact might well induce even the most ardent propagandist to re-examine the pattern of their working. Strange as it may seem, the leaders of nations do not yet realize that the devotion of men to God can be greater than their devotion to material advantage.

A RUSSIAN GOES HOME

(State Magazine)

Some time ago a Russian flyer, Anatol P. Barsov, accompanied by two other ex-Soviet airmen, fled to the American zone of Austria from a Soviet air base in the Ukraine and requested that they be allowed to come to America, the country about which they had heard so much on the Voice-of-America broadcasts.

Last week it was announced that Barsov had requested permission to return to his homeland. He was disillusioned and homesick.

Among other things, he was slightly surprised to find that Americans had to work for a living. He had been under the impression that he could remain here for a few months, make a fortune and then take it easy for the rest of his life.

We are inclined to believe that many American citizens hold a somewhat similar view. They are expecting more and more support from the Federal Government and they want to do less and less work. Instead of depending upon their own individual efforts to make a living, they are placing a constantly greater dependence on the Government to help them out.

It certainly is a far cry back to "the good old days" when every man felt it was up to him to make good as a result of his own individual efforts. He worked harder, he was more anxious to hold his job and he was more prudent in his expenditures.

But now it's a different proposition. He works less, he doesn't much care whether he loses his job or not, and he spends what he makes.

That, of course, by no means applies to everyone,

No Health Insurance—

but it applies to a sizable portion of our population. And keep this one additional fact in mind: the more the Government does toward supporting the people, the more the people are going to expect in the way of future assistance.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET DANIELS—Reports from Washington that Jonathan Daniels is slated for chairmanship of the civil service commission have interesting implications for North Carolina. The News and Observer editor was nominated by Governor Scott to be national committeeman upon the death of Joe Blyth. That is the most important political post in the state during the tenure of a Democratic national administration. Daniels is credited with large influence in having Dr. Frank Graham appointed to the senate upon death of Senator J. M. Broughton. Scott, Daniels and Graham are often referred to as the Big Three, of the triumvirate which seeks to dominate North Carolina politics.

NON-POLITICAL—Daniels is particularly close to President Truman and could have been secretary of the navy if he had desired. There are perhaps other federal appointments he might get which would still leave him free for partisan political operations at home. The civil service commission is presumably non-political. One of the primary duties is to enforce the rules against persons on the government payroll from indulging in partisan activity. The head of the commission might be exempted by the law, as top officials in other departments are, but it would be inconsistent for him to do in a big way what he penalized lesser employees for doing on a smaller scale. Some Capitol square observers think Daniels will decline the civil service post because he does not want to relinquish his political prestige in the state, at least until after the next senatorial primary.

FARM BUREAU—Whether or not

Senator William Umstead has spoken to a number of county Farm Bureau meetings in connection with the membership drive. The impact of this oratory, spiced with barbecue and fried fish, is being felt in rapidly growing membership throughout the state.

SCOPE—Until three or four years ago the Bureau membership was largely in the eastern and middle tobacco belts, and it was sometimes referred to as the "Tobacco Bureau." Piedmont and mountain farmers are now joining in large numbers, and the Bureau program is recognized as statewide in area and broad enough in scope to include real services to dairymen, and producers of all types of farm crops. Leaders in the organization are hopeful that state membership will Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. JACK EDWARDS, JR.

Some people have an uncanny ability to ignore doctor's bills. Evidently they think doctors eat their knowledge of medicine. Even if they did, it takes money to pay the rent and keep a shirt on your back. One doctor I know in Greenville has thrown away several orange crates full of unpaid bills.

But there are people who realize the importance of paying doctors' bills. Like J. B. Kittrell Jr., Charlie Howard, and me. The other night we were talking about our wives' teeth.

J. B. happened to mention that his wife, Betty, has to have some cavities filled, so Charlie and I chimed in that we had been through that ordeal. It's a double blow. The poor wife has to suffer in the chair, and then the poor husband feels the pain when the bill comes.

When three men get together and talk about the dread of paying bills you never can tell what the discussion will come to. At times your imagination can run away with you. We even stopped to consider the expense of having all of our teeth pulled out (ours and our wives) in order to save money in the long run. We estimated the cost of the pulling and of false teeth, guessed at how many cavities we'll have before our teeth fall out from old age, and compared the costs.

It's cheaper to keep our teeth, but it might pay to have our wives' teeth pulled. Don't ask me why the figures show any such thing, or why the idea entered our minds.

From there we talked about the things that happen to people with false teeth. Charlie Howard had a sad story about a fellow who got a special set of false teeth that looked in. The dentist who supplied them provided a slip of paper with instructions for removing the teeth. The patient was, fortunately, very well satisfied with the teeth. The story would be even sadder if he hadn't been, for soon after getting the teeth he lost the slip of paper which had on it the directions for removing them. The same day the dentist died, and the man never has been able to remove the teeth.

Charlie also had a tale about a tobacco convention. At this particular meeting there were six delegates with false teeth. In the community bathroom at the small hotel each of the gentlemen put his teeth in a glass, which he put on a shelf.

After the delegates were in bed some character with a questionable sense of humor slipped in and switched the glasses. The next morning the men spent an hour trying on each other's teeth before each one had his right teeth back.

By this time Joe Smith Jr. had walked up to the conversation. He said he knew a man who was backing out of his driveway one day, rolled down his window to spit a chew of tobacco, and let go with the wad, teeth included. Before he could stop the motion of the car he had run over his teeth.

We all decided that it's a pretty good idea to hang on to your own teeth as long as possible, even if they cost so much that you don't have anything to eat with them. And I thank you.

Is Your Child the "One in Five"?

One school child in five is retarded because his vision is defective. Poor vision is a great handicap to a child. It shows him up in every way. It forces him to work harder to master his studies; handicaps him in his relationships with other children and grown-ups, too. It tends to warp his personality—and generally sets him back in his struggle to get ahead and make his mark.

Make sure your child's vision is right! Don't handicap him!

Takes Scott To Task For Criticism Of Civic Clubs

Reidsville, Sept. 12—(AP)—Rep. Thurmond Chatham of the Fifth North Carolina district has taken Gov. Scott to task for criticizing civic clubs.

Chatham said in a speech at Reidsville's annual harvest jubilee Saturday night:

"There is a strange new medicine going around North Carolina these days. I might call it an emulsion. It says on the label that civic clubs are no good for the farmer. Well, I think that civic clubs have done more for the farmers than any individuals or any group.

"This medicine, if taken according to prescription, will divorce town from country. The doctor doesn't realize town and country in North Carolina are one. . . . I am sick and tired of people trying to array class against class. We in North Carolina are all in the same class—Tar Heels." Governor Scott had previously made some unfavorable comment with the U. S. Chamber of Commerce receiving his heaviest broadside.

Forest Fire Is Fought By 400

King City, Calif., Sept. 10—(AP)—Four hundred fire fighters battled in rugged country near the central California coast today to encircle a stubborn fire in Los Padres National forest.

Semi-isolated, but no longer in danger, were 40 guests and 22 employees of the historic and fashionable Tassajara Springs resort, 10 miles from the ocean, and about 40 miles southeast of Monterey.

The fire broke out at the resort Thursday, destroying the main hotel building, 10 cottages, a 20-car garage, a large repair shop and recreation building.

Ground-swells usually occur along shallow coasts and often in fair weather.

City Carriers To Go On Little Merchant Plan September 19th.

Notice is hereby given all Daily Reflector subscribers within the city receiving carrier delivery that on Monday, September 19, all carrier delivery in Greenville will be on the "Little Merchant" plan with the carriers purchasing the papers from the office and, in turn, selling them to the subscribers at 20 cents per week.

The inauguration of this plan has been in the making for some time and already about 60 per cent of our Greenville subscribers are on this basis.

Under the plan no more paid-in-advance subscriptions for carrier delivery will be accepted at our office. All such payments will be made direct to the carriers on a weekly basis. Notices of expiration dates are now being mailed to our city subscribers and as the expirations occur each will be placed on the weekly basis. Meantime the office will continue to make the deliveries until the subscriptions expire.

The "Little Merchant" plan is nothing new in newspaperdom for it is already in effect in most daily newspapers and The Reflector is practically the last daily in North Carolina to adopt it.

Experience with other newspapers has proved that the direct transaction between the subscriber and the carrier has resulted in better service to the subscriber.

The plan also furnishes valuable business training for the carriers and better fits them to take their proper places in the world of business in the years to come.

We realize that, at the start, the changeover might seem somewhat of a nuisance to some of those who in the past have been paying their subscription on a yearly basis direct to the office, but when you become accustomed to it we believe you will like it better.

Once the changeover is made, we urge our subscribers to remember that the carrier boys are in business for themselves and that they are paying the office each week for the papers they deliver to their customers. This means that the carrier will be unable to make deliveries to customers who do not pay promptly. Otherwise he will suffer personal financial loss.

We urge the full co-operation of our subscribers in helping us to make this plan a success in the interest of better service.

Any further information you may desire pertaining to the proposed change will be gladly furnished by our office.

Purebred Swine Association To Convene Tonight

A meeting of the Purebred Swine Association will start off a week of considerable activity among local farm officials tonight.

The swine meeting, scheduled for the purpose of making plans for the coming swine show and sale, will get underway at the Agriculture Building at 8 o'clock.

Officials have already announced that no persons will be able to enter the show unless they are members of the organization. The group has set out to make Pitt county one of the leading purebred swine counties.

Farm Bureau will meet at the rotary building with R. Flake Shaw of the State Bureau. The local organization will map out plans for this year's 2,200 membership drive. Last year's quota was 2,600, officials said today.

Thursday afternoon, Sam Dobson, state extension service pasture specialist, will give a pasture demonstration on the J. H. Boyd, Jr. farm near Greenville.

The demonstration, which will cover such phases of pasture development as land preparation, liming, fertilizing and seeding of ledes clover and fescue grass, will start at 2 p. m.

At the same time, a number of local farmers are expected to attend the Feeder Calf sale at Rocky Mount. The sale starts at 1 p. m. Thursday.

It is believed to be the first big feeder calf sale ever to be held in the eastern part of the state and a number of 4-H boys and girls with young steers as projects are expected to attend.

Local farm officials said today,

Police arrested them at 1025 Mack street.

Get First Issue Of 'Teco Echo'

The Teco Echo, student newspaper at East Carolina Teachers' College, edited by Carl G. Conner of Windsor, made its first appearance on the campus for the 1949-50 term last Friday. A series of articles and editorials slanted to interest freshmen at the college, now participating in the 20th annual orientation program on the campus, was featured in the initial issue for the present school year.

Heading the news, editorial and business staffs of Teco Echo are editor in chief Conner; Curtis Nichols of Bell Arthur, managing editor; Wilton Joyner of Greenville and William Flanders of Durham, associate editors; Jean Powell of Goldsboro, feature editor; William Lloyd of Thomasville, sports editor; Ella Frances McGowan of Greenville, business manager; Jerney Minshew of Eureka and Jean Hilton of Greenville, assistant business managers; and Kenneth Butler of Kelford, circulation manager.

Special articles and departments of the paper in Friday's edition included a feature story by Curtis Nichols on G. Ras Autry of Dunn, president of the Student Government Association; a column, "Do You Agree?" by William Flanders; "Sports Views," by William Lloyd, and a sports page featuring Coach Bill Dole's Pirate football squad.

A number of illustrations of campus scenes and student activities enlivened the material used in the college paper.

Feeder Calf Sale At Rocky Mount Thursday, Sept. 15

College Station, Raleigh, Sept. 12.—The first Eastern North Carolina cooperative feeder calf sale will be held at Worsley's stock yards near Rocky Mount on Thursday, September 15, beginning at 2 p. m. It has been announced by L. I. Case, in charge of animal husbandry extension work at State College.

The sale, first of a series of three to be held in North Carolina during September, is sponsored jointly by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Rocky Mount, and the Extension Service.

Approximately 125 Hereford and Angus calves, representing some of the best beef stock to be found in the eastern part of the state, will be offered for sale on a graded basis, Case said. The animals include a number suitable for 4-H Club projects and for establishing herds, he added.

Similar sales for western North Carolina will be held at the stock yards in West Jefferson on September 27 and at the stock yards in Asheville on September 28.

CORRECTION
Through an error it was stated in Saturday's Reflector that Adrian E. Brown was fined $20 in Friday's Police Court on a careless and reckless driving charge.

The court found Brown not guilty of the charge.

About 14,000 fires occur annually in the U. S. National forests.

Life Underwriters Meet In Friday Meeting

Kirby Hart, first vice president of the State Association of Life Underwriters, gave a very interesting talk to the Pitt County Association of Life Underwriters at its regular monthly meeting last Friday at the Old Towne Inn. The speaker emphasized the membership drives and also gave considerable information on what the National Association of Life Underwriters is doing for the life underwriters and how they are helping to keep the public properly informed on life insurance.

Twenty-two life underwriters of Pitt county were present.

Out of town guests were Kirby Hart, Z. C. Bissett, E. E. Hendrickson, Adolph Pate, M. L. Aycock, all of Goldsboro, and George Passmaroe of Raleigh.

Joe Parkinson, the president, presided. He urged all life underwriters, whether they are members of the local association or not, to attend the next meeting in October.

Red Oak News

The ladies of Red Oak Christian Church cordially invite you to attend a "Lawn Party" at the Red Oak community building on Tuesday evening, September 13, from 7:30 until 10:00.

Refreshments and entertainment for both old and young will be provided.

A silver offering for the benefit of the Red Oak building fund will be taken.

This party was to have been held on the lawn at Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson's but due to the cool and rainy weather it will be moved inside the community building.

Mr. Clyde Landing will play his Hawaiian guitar, accompanied by his son and Herman Heath. Several entertainers from Ayden have also been invited and Mrs. Clarissa May, Mrs. Edgar Denton and Mrs. Ned Kinsaul will appear on the program.

A good time awaits all who attend.

The members of Red Oak Church will celebrate Homecoming Day next Sunday, September 18. Sunday school will be held at 10 o'clock. At the 11 o'clock service there will be an ordination service and the new members of the church will be received into the church in appropriate exercises.

Dinner will be spread picnic style at 12:30 o'clock. There will be one hour of community singing and good fellowship beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Our friends are cordially invited to be with us on this Homecoming Day, September 18.

A large crowd attended the Homecoming at Piney Grove Church yesterday. Good preaching, good food, good singing and good fellowship prevailed throughout the day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins had most of their family with them yesterday in a family reunion. Those from out of the county were Donald Jenkins of Jefferson City, Mo., J. J. Jenkins Jr. and children, Billy and Barbara Lela, of Raleigh, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tyson and son of Roanoke Rapids.

Mr. Clyde Bright still remains confined to Pitt General Hospital. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Ed Dickerson is confined to Pitt General Hospital. Mr. Dickerson suffered a serious injury when he was hit in the stomach by a baseball several days ago. He is getting along as well as can be expected.

Ladies Night At Pactolus Ruritan

Members of the Pactolus Ruritan club are completing arrangements for their annual ladies night, to be held Thursday evening at 6:30 at the Pactolus community building.

Noel Lee, chairman of the program committee for the ladies night, said approximately 30 club members and their ladies are expected to be present at the affair and in addition, all the officers of the national Ruritan organization and guests from other Ruritan clubs in this area have been invited to the annual meeting.

The name of the principal speaker of the meeting will not be announced until Thursday, Lee stated. Following the supper, and the address by the speaker, a recreation period will be conducted by Miss Verna Belle Lowery and Miss Marjorie Shearin, assistant home agents of Pitt County.

Johnny Overton, president of the Pactolus Ruritan club will preside at the meeting.

Local Churches Plan Entertain ECTC Students

All of the churches in Greenville will hold an open house Tuesday night for the new students at East Carolina Teachers College.

The purpose of the "open house" event will be to get the students who have just come to Greenville acquainted with the various churches in town, and to meet the church leaders, it was stated today.

The open house will be held from 7:30 until 10:00. All students at the college are invited to come to the church of their choice and take part in the program which have been planned.

Each year the churches have made it a point to see that the new students get acquainted with the churches and to meet some of the people that they will work with during the coming year, a church official reported today.

Greenies Trail Rocky Mount By Two Games In Play-Off

Leafs Edge Locals In First Two Games By 4-3 And 4-2

By BERT MOYE
The Rocky Mount Leafs opened their play with the Greenies in the first game Saturday night by taking the opening game of the series by a 4 to 3 score and then came back over here to Greenville yesterday afternoon and edged a 4 to 3 win to make it two straight over the Greenies in the series. As the series now stands the Leafs need to win two more games out of the next five to cop the right to meet the winner of the semi-finals between New Bern and Kinston, which at the present time stands at two wins for each club.

Saturday's Game
Two costly errors coupled with three timely singles paved the way for a 4 to 3 victory for the Rocky Mount Leafs over in Rocky Mount Saturday night as the two clubs launched their semi-final series before a crowd estimated at more than 4,000.

The Greenies jumped into the lead in the first frame by shoving across two runs. Paul Strausser led off with a single, advanced to second on Charlie Graham's infield out. Manager Pappy Williams walked and then Willie Mauney hit into deep centerfield for a double to bring home Strausser and Williams. The Leafs came back in their half of the first frame to knot the count at 2-2 on three straight singles by Chuck Sedor, John Lifsey and Jim Reges, a walk to Pepper Martin and Frank Tepedino's fly to deep centerfield.

A run in the second frame sent the Greenies out front 3-2, a lead which they held until the fourth frame, and incidentally was their last run during the contest. Steve Denier hit a drive down to Third Baseman Babe Johnson and when Johnson threw the ball wild at first advanced to second base. Nick Palica got a single, advancing Denier to third and then Jim Lewey singled to bring in Denier.

Two runs in the fourth frame gave the Leafs their margin of victory. After Frank Tepedino flew out to centerfield for the first out, Babe Johnson came through with a single. Walt McJunkin forced Johnson to second for the second out. Frank Gardner came through with a single and was followed by Red Benton with another single which brought in McJunkin. The ball was hit into centerfield and Paul Strausser on the throw home threw wild with the runners advancing and then when Pitcher Jim Lewey restricted the ball and threw over the third baseman's head in an effort to catch Gardner at third, Gardner came on home on the error.

Art Mascarella started on the mound for the Greenies but after pitching to the first four batters in which he allowed three singles and issued one walk and gave up two runs, was sent to the showers. Jim Lewey pitched the remainder of the game and pitched four-hit ball, striking out two men and walking only one. Three of the hits off Lewey were bunched in the fourth frame. He was charged with the loss.

Manager Red Benton went the route for the Leafs and also gave up seven hits, but kept them well scattered. He struck out four men and walked only one, his first walk issued in five games.

Willie Mauney, who collected a double and a single in four trips to the plate led the seven-hit attack off the Rocky Mount mound.

Sunday's Game
The pennant-winning Rocky Mount Leafs made it two straight over the Greenies in semi-finals play by taking the second game in the series, 4 to 2, behind the airtight pitching of Lefty Tom Marshall.

The Greenies took a one-to-nothing lead in the first frame when John Tepedino doubled down the third base line and Manager Pappy Williams singled into centerfield to bring home Martin and Tepedino.

The Leafs came back in the second inning to go out in front, 2 to 1, by chalking up two runs. Pepper Martin started things with a walk. Frank Tepedino got an infield hit. Both runners advanced on Babe Johnson's infield out and Walt McJunkin followed with a long single into centerfield to bring home Martin and Tepedino.

What proved to be the winning marker came in the sixth frame when Frank Tepedino singled into right field, stole second, and came home on Babe Johnson's timely single. Then for good measure they scored in the ninth when Walt McJunkin walked, advanced to third on Frank Gardner's single and came home on a squeeze bunt by Pitcher Tom Marshall.

The Greenies' other run in the game came without benefit of a hit in the third inning. Paul Strausser reached first on Gardner's error as Denier walked. John Tepedino sacrificed the runners around. Manager Pappy Williams was given an intentional pass to first, leading the bases. Willie Mauney then led a bunt down the first base line which was errored by First Baseman John Lifsey with Strausser scoring on the miscue.

Vernon (Preacher) Mustian went the route for the Greenies, giving up a total of seven hits, four walks and struck out two. Frank Tepedino the Leafs' shortstop, with two singles led the attack for the Leafs.

Lefty Tom Marshall went the route for the Leafs and gave up six hits, all of which were well scattered with the exception of the first frame when the Greenies bunched three of their total hits off his hurling. He walked three men and struck out six.

John Tepedino with a double and a single and Willie Mauney with two singles led the six-hit attack off the Leaf hurler.

The Greenies' journey over to Rocky Mount tonight to meet the Leafs in the third game of the series. Probable starter for the Greenies tonight will be Bobby Harrison, who during the past season racked up a total of three wins against one loss. On the mound for the Leafs will probably be Lefty Cole Jacobs with a record of nine wins and three losses to the Greenies during the current season, or Vanis Williamson, who had a record of one win and three losses against the Greenies during the regular season.

FIGHTS TONIGHT
Houston, Tex., Sept. 12—(P)—Sugar Ray Robinson, world's welterweight champion, meets Charley Dotson, Chicago middleweight, in a ten-round bout tonight.

The highest batting average ever posted in the major leagues was the .438 of Hugh Duffy of Boston in 1894.

Speedy Juvenile

The 45th running of the Hopeful Stakes, traditional getaway day feature of the Saratoga race meeting marked the final appearance of the current season for Middleground, King Ranch's best two-year-old. Middleground made a show of the fine field entered in the Hopeful to score his fourth victory in five starts and move into the front rank of juvenile stars.

In some quarters, American trainers have been taken to task for racing their two-year-olds too early and too much. Trainer Max Hirsch isn't making this mistake with Middleground. Tender ankles prompted Hirsch to decide that the Hopeful would be Middleground's final start of the current season and the fact that the colt came out of the test thoroughly sound did not effect the decision. Hirsch plans to unwind the colt, rest him during the winter and then train him for the big three-year-olds events next year.

The speedy son of Bold Venture-Vergenza earned $54,225 in his first season of racing and shaped up as a future threat and a possible Kentucky Derby winner. Shortlegged and chunky, Middleground has won all of his races with amazing stretch drives. His speed was apparent when he turned in the feature five-and-a-half and six furlong races of the Saratoga meeting. He should inherit considerable stamina from his sire, Bold Venture, so the longer routes of the three-year-old classics should hold no great terrors for him.

Red Sox Stumble In Twin Bill Against Philadelphia

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Doff your lid to Connie Mack. The old boy hit it right on the nose when he said his Philadelphia A's could decide the American League race.

"They'll have to beat the A's first," he said last week. He wasn't kidding. Yesterday he proved it for the benefit of the Boston Red Sox, who suffered two shocking setbacks at the Sox Park.

The Sox, only a half game behind New York Saturday afternoon, now are three full games back. Further losses... The loss by Mustian was his first to the Leafs this season... A total paid attendance of 4,380 witnessed Sunday's game here... Greenville's inability to hit in a clutch caused their downfall here in yesterday's game... The Greenies failed to steal a single base yesterday afternoon with two being caught while the Leafs were successful on three attempts...

New York took care of Washington, 20-5 and 2-1, setting a new major league record in the opener by drawing 11 bases on balls from the Senators' pitchers during a 12-run rally in the third inning. The second game was called because of darkness after 5 1/2 innings with the cellarites missing a chance to tie by some inept base running.

Detroit continued its surge, as Virgil Trucks shut out Chicago, 1-0, for the Tigers' 10th straight win. They have won 18 of their last 20 and hold third place, a half game ahead of the defending world champion Cleveland Indians.

Theater Screens To Show World Series By TV

New York, Sept. 12—(P)—The world series will be seen on theater screens this fall as the games are being played.

The Fabian Theater of Brooklyn announced today it had arranged to show television broadcasts of the baseball classic the first week of October.

S. H. Fabian, theater president, said the arrangements were made with the Mutual Broadcasting System and the office of baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Cherry Point Game Near As Buc's Casualty List Grows

By FRANK HOGG
Coach Bill Dole, East Carolina grid mentor, will send his Pirates against the strong Cherry Point Marines, Thursday night, Sept. 15. Dole, as of last Friday, still did not know who would compose his starting lineup. With only a few more practice sessions left before the opening game Coach Dole had planned strenuous workouts for the entire squad. The Pirate casualty list, mounting day after day, has added new headaches for Dole. The question of who will compose the starting lineup now changes to, will the Pirates have eleven men to put on the field?

During the early part of the week Dole lost two men for the season. Ed Brandt, 240 pound tackle, became ineligible and Abb Williams, 165 pound halfback, has conflicting scholastic schedule of courses needed to graduate. On the injured list were Reggie Byrd, 195 pound guard; Mike Kovach, 175 pound halfback; Dennis Smith, 185 pound end. In the middle of the week additional injuries took their toll. Cecil Winslow, 165 end; Doug Bryant, 190 pound guard, and Max Kinlaw, 180 pound guard were forced to the sidelines with various assortment of injuries.

Numerous injuries popped up the latter part of the week. Jack Benzie, 155 pound halfback, suffered a back injury; Ken Booth, 190 pound tackle; Jim Danks, 175 pound halfback; Bill Darby, 160 pound halfback and Roger Thrift, 180 pound quarterback have leg injuries. Bobby Grady, 160 pound fullback, was confined to the infirmary with a nose ailment.

With all these injuries confronting him Coach Dole will not be able to drill his squad as much as he had hoped in order to ready them for the Cherry Point game. The majority of the injuries seem to be of a minor nature, but if aggravated could prevent some of the boys from playing in the opening game and possibly one or two others. Jack Benzie has the most serious injury and it is doubtful as to his appearing in the opening game.

Mix Spirituals With Be-Bop

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 12—(P)—Be-Bop and spirituals came from brass bands here yesterday as 5,000 followers of Bishop C. M. "Daddy" Grace marched. He is a religious leader of Southern Negroes.

The procession through the Brooklyn Negro section climaxed the 23rd holy convocation week of Grace's House of Prayer Churches.

At least one white man was among the 1,000 baptized.

Claim Comeback In British Golf

Ganton, Eng., Sept. 12—(AP)—The British Ryder Cup team is ready to prove that golf has made a tremendous post-war comeback on this side of the Atlantic Ocean.

The test will come here Friday and Saturday in the International match with the United States.

Only two years ago the British still rusty from the long wartime layoff, suffered a humiliating 11 to 1 defeat at the hands of the Americans at Portorland.

"I think it will be much closer this year," said Art Lee, one of the ten British players. "We need a victory to keep this series interesting—and this might be the time."

Neither team agrees with the odds quoted by British bookmakers.

If you like the Britons, you can get five for two. If you take the Americans, you have to put up four to win one.

"Where in the world did they get those odds?" asked Lloyd Mangrum, former U.S. open champion. "I would say it's much closer to even money."

Rutgers Chosen Site Of Football Hall Of Fame

New York, Sept. 12—(P)—Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J. has been selected as the site of the National football hall of fame, it was announced today by sponsoring officials.

It was at New Brunswick that the first American intercollegiate football game was played, Nov. 6, 1869, between Rutgers and Princeton.

Ans S. Bushnell, secretary of the Hall of Fame, Inc., said the recommendation of Rutgers by the site selection committee was adopted by the board of directors of the Hall of Fame and endorsed by both the American Association of football coaches and National football writers, association.

Shoots Seventh Hole In One

Baltimore, Sept. 12—(P)—Henry Marcy, 60-year-old golfer from nearby Towson, has carded his seventh hole-in-one.

He sank it yesterday using a No. 4 wood on the 162-yard fifth hole at Bonnie View course.

He usually shoots in the middle seventies at the par-72 layout.

New Owner For Harwood Trophy

New York, Sept. 12—(AP)—George Sarant of Freeport, N.Y., is the new owner of the Harwood speedboat trophy.

Sarant gunned his powerized speedboat, Etta, around Manhattan Island yesterday in the record-breaking time of 27 minutes and 14 seconds for the 29 mile course. He averaged 64.4 miles per hour.

The previous record was 51 MPH, set last year by Bill Cantrell of Louisville.

Virginian Wins Langhorne Event

Langhorne, Pa., Sept. 12—(P)—Curtis Turner, Roanoke, Va., speedster set a new record of 2:52:54.12 in winning the 200-mile National championship stock car race at the one-mile Langhorne speedway.

In winning the event yesterday Turner bettered the old mark held by Henry Banks, Grand Oaka, Mich. of 2:53:15.11 since 1940.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

AP Newsfeatures By WILLIAM HOBSON

Chapter 1

They had started loading cattle aboard the three small paddle-wheel steamers at daylight that morning. Two had already disappeared down the river toward the Gulf and now the third lay moored tight to the big river-front wharf, gruntingly content like a sleepy hog in a cool mud wallow. Out a short distance, Jay Allison helped the five other riders hold the angry, bawling steers while dock hands hurriedly threw up the portable loading chutes over the broad ramp leading into the steamer's hold.

Jay wiped at the sweat on his face and then spun his horse to go after a steer that had tried to break out. Although it was only ten o'clock he was drenched with sweat and his horse was lathered and wet. That was what the humidity could do. He thought, this remaining herd to make a living, and maybe Joe was right when he said it was crazy not to come with him.

In the distance a dock hand crawled up on the chutes and waved his old hat. Perk Holeman called out, "Okay, boys. Let's crowd 'em!" They started the crowd, and as the bawling animals bunched closer against the wide wings of the chute the dust rose and became a mass of plunging horses and steers and cursing riders. The loud whack of quirt and rope against chapped legs and red rumps mingled with the "hoh-hoh-hoh"s of the shouting riders. A big steer braced himself at the mouth of the chute and refused to budge further. The riders spun and whirled to fight the remaining herd should they try to break, and Jay knew they were in for trouble. But one of the dock hands drove a long pole with a sharp point in through the fence and punched the steer in the flank. It let out a bawl and lunged into the already well filled hold, and presently the others followed.

"That boy," Jay grinned at Perk the foreman, anent the dock hand, "is the best cowpuncher here."

Perk wiped his face with a sleeve. "Well, I guess we got 'em. I don't know what you boys air goin' to do, but me, I'm headin' straight fer Moseley's to git myself the biggest mug of cold beer he's got in the house. Lordy, but I'm dry!"

They trotted over to where, two hundred yards away, Moseley's saloon squatted on a corner. They swung down and clanked into the coolness and Moseley came over a big easygoing man in a dirty white apron. "Don't say it, he chuckled. "This weather is too hot to drink whiskey. It's beer weather from the word go. You boys get 'em loaded all right!"

Jay nodded. "They'll be in the Gulf by tomorrow morning and ready for transfer to outgoing vessels. That's sure one job I wouldn't want."

Moseley had been busy drawing mugs of foaming beer. He put one in front of Jay and said, "Say, that reminds me, Jay. The station agent was down here a few minutes ago looking for you. Got a telegram for you. I told him he'd better leave it here; said if he went traipsin' out there on foot around them steers they'd likely run him down and make mince meat outa him." He reached into the till and brought out a yellow paper. "Here you are," Jay said. "Thanks," and took the telegram. He moved on a bit further along the bar and heard Perk's significant chuckle. "One of them billicoo's from some skirt, heh?"

Jay opened the missive and read the agent's handwriting. It read: Jay Allison, White Oak Ranch, Mud Bank, Texas. It is important that you come here at once concerning a matter I cannot mention. Tell no one about this and contact James Swinnerton, Ashbury, Texas.

Jay put the crumpled paper in a shirt pocket and picked up his drink of beer. Ashbury. That would have to do with Joe, his twin brother, since Joe's last letter to him had been from humidity here, of the terrible malaria and scurvy and pellagra, and wished now that he had gone earlier in the year when Joe had begged him. They'd never been separated before, but at the age of twenty-five men often preferred to keep more to themselves; blood didn't count so much as it once had. "Anything up?" Perk asked. "Nothing particular," Jay said carefully. "Folks want me to come home for a family reunion of all the relatives. I can just about make it if I get the evening train out." He put down the beer. "Well, boys, I've got to go hunt up the old man and get my time. I'd better get going. I'll see you before I go."

He found Hanson, the owner, down in the town's only hotel, settling up with a dark-eyed, dark-faced Spaniard who spoke English very brokenly but who paid off in gold. Jay didn't have to be told where those cattle were going. Beef for fighters in another of the many insurrections breaking in Cuba or Mexico or one of the Central American countries. They were hungry down there, they were resentful of the Spanish rule. The Cubans were trying to do something about it. "So you're pulling out?" the owner said. "Hate to see you go, Jay, but a man owes a duty to his family. Any time you're back this way and looking for a job, come out and see me."

Chapter 2

Jay was wondering about Joe, his twin brother. Joe was a little wild and a devil with the girls and he must have gotten into trouble. He was probably in jail or he'd have sent the wire himself.

The train got jerkily under way, pushing south a way before swinging west, and Jay Allison relaxed in the seat and smoked. He changed trains at midnight, ate, waited an hour for the next one, and slept all through that leg of his journey on it, cramped in the narrow seat. Just before sundown the following day he descended stiffly from the third train and looked over the town of Ashbury. The station was about two hundred yards from the collection of buildings, some of them two-story, and on the back of one of them had been painted in huge letters: Ford Hotel.

He was tired, begrimed, hungry, and his mouth had the bitter taste that comes of irregular meals, no exercise, and little sleep for forty-eight hours.

He strode to the desk and the middle-aged man behind it said casually, "Ain't seen you around in quite a while, Joe. Been away, eh?" Jay was in the act of putting his name on the paper. He thought, Mister, you're not the first person who couldn't tell me and my brother apart. Folks have had that trouble since our school days. But he didn't say the words aloud; there was something about this he didn't like, and an inherent caution made him pause with the pen.

"Yeah, ain't been around for a while," was all he said. Joe always said "ain't," and jeered at him good-naturedly because of his better usage of words.

The pen scratched. Joe Allison, Ashbury, Texas.

"Giving you the same old room," the clerk said. "You know where it is. There's somebody upstairs, too." And the clerk grinned and winked significantly.

"Thanks," Jay said.

He took the key, which luckily had the number of the room on it. Many cowtown hotels used keys that fit every lock, so that there wasn't much use in numbering the leather tags. The Ford was progressing with the times. He took his duffel bags and went up the stairs and down a dim hallway, whose carpeting was worn and filled with holes from the marks of a thousand boots and spurs. He shifted the bags, and the gunnysack containing his saddle and rifle and other gear slipped. It hit the floor with a crash.

He put down the rest of the baggage with a muttered imprecation and unlocked the door. As it swung open another one did, too. He saw a head of flaming red hair and a pair of blue eyes; saw the startled look on a lovely face as a girl came out.

"Joe!" she breathed. "Oh, Joe, darling!"

He saw her rush toward him, heard the rustle of her skirts, and then she was in his arms. She put both of hers around his neck and held him tightly and lifted up her face to be kissed.

Some inner voice shot a warning through him. It said, You'd better be careful, fellow. There's something about this setup that doesn't fit into place. Watch your step. He wanted to tell her that he wasn't Joe but Joe's twin brother, but he had to go slow until he found out what this was all about. He bent down and kissed her, feeling like a fool and knowing how awkward he was being.

He had seen Joe kiss girls at dances. Joe took them eagerly in his arms and moved his head and murmured gently to let them know that this particular kiss was out of this world. He kissed them along the cheeks and on their hair and then worked back down to their lips again.

She stepped back from him, her face flushed. "Well!" she exclaimed in pretended indignation. "I must say that a month's absence hasn't made you grow any fonder. Or were there too many other girls down home?"

"It's just that I'm tired," he said. "I've been traveling." So Joe had supposedly been home for a month. The letters Jay had received from his mother each week had made no mention of that particular fact!

"At least you could have written," she said.

He pretended a careless shrug. "You know how it is," he said, wondering what her name was, how close she was to his brother Joe. "Being with the folks."

"How are they?"

He lifted his duffel bags and carried them in; anything to avoid her eager eyes.

"Same as usual," he replied in answer to her question. "Dad lost a few head in the waterholes; bogged down in the mud."

"So that's why you're two weeks late?"

He nodded. He was on surer ground now. "I had to stay over and give the boys a hand."

"Dad's in town?" She stood in the doorway now while he removed his hat and the loose tie at his throat. It was too hot to wear a coat. "He's still not reconciled to our getting married, but he'll just have to like it. We'll be going out to the ranch in the morning. Now you hurry up and get cleaned up and come on down and have supper with us."

"All right," he said. "But I've got to take a bath first. After two days of dust and cinders, I'm as dirty as a hog."

"I know, darling. But hurry it up, Joe, it's been a whole month since I've seen you."

She went out and closed the door, and Jay Allison sat down on the edge of the bed, his mind in a whirl. (To be continued)

Recruiting Drive By Battery 'C' Opens Sept. 19

Battery C, 690th Field Artillery Battalion of the North Carolina National Guard will launch a two month recruiting campaign here Sept. 19, a release from the office of Capt. James B. Tyndall, commanding officer of the local unit, announced today.

Goal of the campaign is to bring the local unit to its full authorized strength of 93 officers and men. Its current strength is 71.

The local campaign is part of a national effort to bring the National Guard strength to 400,000 men. The National Guard had an overall strength of 358,000 men on Aug. 1.

A major member of the national defense team, the National Guard has been assigned the vital M-Day mission of immediate action against an invading aggressor. At full strength the National Guard will have approximately 684,000 officers and men in more than 8,000 army and air units. Capt. Tyndall invited all young men between the ages of 17 and 35 (age limits higher for war veterans) to get in the Guard and take advantage of the opportunities for service, education, advancement and training open to them.

Officials here said this morning that attractive openings in communications as a radio operator or lineaman, in the gun section as cannonners or gunners and in the ammunition section are available for new recruits.

The local unit, which served commendably during World War II and just recently returned from a two week encampment at Fort Jackson S. C. meets every Tuesday night at 7:30. Officers said prospective recruits are invited to watch the men perform their various duties which constitute the week drills.

Murder Victim Feared Husband

Wadesboro, N.C., Sept. 12—(AP)—The mutilated body of a man remained unidentified here today but in New York a housewife said she was "almost certain" it was that of her missing husband.

It was found last week in a pond near Lilesville. The man had been stabbed and slashed.

Mrs. James M. Shirley said in New York that laundry marks on clothing on the body tallied with those of her 37-year-old husband. Earlier in the week she said he was missing on a trip to Staunton, Va. to buy a farm.

Murray D. Lincoln To Address Farm Meeting In Raleigh

Raleigh, Sept. 12—More than 5,000 farm people from all sections of North Carolina will be on hand in Raleigh Tuesday, September 13, to hear Murray D. Lincoln, president of the Farm Bureau Life Insurance Companies, deliver the principal address before the joint state meeting of the N. C. Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farmers Cooperative Exchange.

Mr. Lincoln, in addition to being chief executive of the insurance companies, is also president of CARE—the Cooperative for American Remittance to Europe—which has sent millions of pounds of food and materials to the war-stricken areas of Europe.

He is also president of the Co-operative League of the U.S.A.; member of the Central Committee of the International Co-operative Alliance; permanent consultant to the United Nations Economic and Social Council; a trustee in the National Planning Association, and a director of Friends of the Land.

Swindler Engel In Court Today

Chicago, Sept. 12—(AP)—Swindler Sigmund Engel, the 73-year-old specialist in women, came to court today with a trail of eight women clamoring he bilked them, of $93,700.

Engel, a dapper Romeo by his own profession, was arrested June 24 by the machinations of one of his intended victims. Another of his actual victims signed a complaint which led to Cook County indictment on confidence game charges. This is the charge being tried today.

But behind those circumstances was a trail of women across the continent, a glib tongue, multiple aliases, and quick disappearances. Nine women figure in today's court appearance, one of whom did not press her charge, and another as the lure who trapped him in a swank Chicago luggage shop.

Brief reports of the recent Farmers Day celebration in Greenville will be made.

In the meantime, I. J. (Jack) Edwards, Jr., chairman, and other Jaycees are busy selling season tickets for the East Carolina Teachers' College football games in the new stadium on the campus. Football fans may save $4 by purchasing the season tickets and have seats ready for them at all five gridiron games to be played here.

Coach Bill Dole's ECTC Pirates will meet the Cherry Point Marines here Thursday night.

Customs . . .

(Continued from page one) The British observer expressed the opinion they "are pretty high." He added, however, that he believes the rates are "designed to prevent entry into mass markets and confine imports to luxury trade."

He cited tableware. Solid silver pays a duty of 22.5 per cent and silver-plated ware 35 per cent. Some examples of tariff rates now in effect, compared with 1946, from U. S. tariff commission records in-

Grain Market

Chicago, Sept. 12—(AP)—Grain

include: Bone china now 36.3 per cent of wholesale value in the country of manufacture; 45 per cent in 1945. Woolens and worsteds worth $1.25 to $2 a pound now 46.1 per cent compared with 68.1. Bottled whiskey $2.3 per cent compared with 53.4 per cent. Both Britisher and American said changes probably should be made in the basis of determining value for tariff purposes. The Britisher wanted to put determination of value on the United States. "We are trying to export," he said, "and sometimes we have artificial shortages that increase prices. In our opinion the tariff should be fixed on the invoice of the wholesale price to the importer."

and soybean prices dipped, climbed and then fell again today on the board of trade. Soybeans fluctuated most, dropping more than a cent early, then rallying about 2 cents above the previous close, then falling below the previous levels again. Weakness in cottonseed oil futures, and the same bearish factors as depressed prices Saturday, led to settling today. Wheat closed 1/4 to 3/4 higher than the previous finish, September $2.06 3/4, corn was up 1/4 to 1/2, September $1.28 1/4. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 higher, September 69 rye was up 1/4 to 1/2, September $1.45 1/4, soybeans were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, November $2.20 1/4-$2.28 1/4 and lard was 7 to 20 cents higher, September $12.10, per hundred pounds.
