Lewis Threatens Retaliation Over Royalties Halt

Pay-Up-Or-Else Demand Given Southern Operators Who Stopped Payment

Bluefield, W. Va., Sept. 14—(P)—Southern Coal Operators were faced today with John L. Lewis' pay-up-or-else demand for miner welfare fund royalties.

Presumably Lewis wants a definite reply by the time the operators and United Mine Workers representatives sit down here late today (3 p. m., EST) for another round of contract talks.

The UMW Chief virtually threatened to call a strike against the Southern owners who have been withholding the 20-cent-per-hour welfare payments on all coal dug.

"Will you or will you not remit?" he wrote.

Lewis said a continuation of the "default" may lead to "reactions deterrent to the constructive progress of the industry." To observers, that meant a strike threat.

All soft coal contracts expired June 30. Since then the UMW and various groups of coal operators have been getting together here and in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., periodically for negotiations sessions. So far nothing concrete has come from the meetings.

Lewis has not made known his new contract demands in detail. Meanwhile, miners east of the Mississippi have been working three days a week. This was a sharp departure from the former "no contract, no work" policy of the union.

The old contract called for the welfare fund payments. Lewis expected all operators to continue their payments while contract negotiations were in progress.

However, an undisclosed number of Southern operators came up with a policy of their own—"no contract, no welfare payments."

Lewis "please remit" letter of yesterday was addressed to James D. Francis, head of the Island Creek Coal Company of Huntington, W. Va.

Lewis said the fund, which normally takes in $10,000,000 a year, is being tied up by the Southern operators' refusal to pay.

He accused Francis of being the leader of the non-pay movement. In an answer addressed to Lewis from New York, Francis said:

"You can correct this situation if you desire by promptly and in good faith negotiating a reasonable contract with the Southern Coal Producers Association and permitting our employees to go back to work on a normal schedule without restriction on production."

McAuliffe Named For High Post

Washington, Sept. 14—(P)—Major Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, who said "nuts" to a German demand for surrender at Bastogne, was tapped today to be Chief of the army chemical corps.

President Truman sent the nomination of the 51-year-old officer to the Senate.

If the Senate approves, McAuliffe will succeed Major Gen. Alden H. Waitt, who was suspended from the job last July after his name cropped up in the Senate's "five percent" investigation.

NEW RAISES SUPPORTED

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 14—(AP)—Data in support of proposed new rates for workmen's compensation insurance in North Carolina was presented to Insurance Commissioner Waldo C. Cheek at a public hearing today.

That seems to be a business-like and practical job the American-British-Canadian conference at Washington has done by way of giving emergency aid in John Bull's economic crisis.

It's more than just an economic remedy. It gives a real lift to the morale of a very hard-pressed England and to the numerous other countries whose welfare are interlocked with hers.

The agreements here worked out with due regard to the dignity of Britain, and to the bonds of friendship. The conference tackled the problem in the same spirit of unity and cooperation shown during the dark days of the World War.

Undoubtedly the aid would have been arranged had no other nation than Britain been concerned. But quite apart from the proposition of helping a staunch war-time ally it was very clear that an international catastrophe would be precipitated if she were allowed to collapse.

As Canadian finance minister Douglas Abbott put it: "We go up or down together."

Britons Silent On Devaluation Talk

American Officials Concede They See No Sign That Britain Will Give Ground In Face Of Repeated Pressures

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—Silence from the British monetary delegation indicated today that it has no present intention of yielding to pressure for a devaluation of the pound.

Some American officials at the fourth annual meeting of governors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund conceded they see no sign that Britain will give ground in the near future.

The fund's annual report yesterday poured on Britain the heaviest pressure to date—without mentioning either that nation or its currencies by name.

It invited the deficit countries—those like Britain which have a critical dollar shortage—to revalue their currencies if such action will help to increase their exports and their dollar-earning capacity.

Before the same 48-nation forum Eugene R. Black, president of the World Bank, said he fails to see how devaluation "can be avoided."

He later stated this was his personal view. But after a closed committee discussion of the fund's report, at which Britain was one of the 17 nations participating, managing Director Camille Gutt told reporters he saw "no indication" that any country had changed its mind.

And Sir Stafford Cripps, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a brief speech following the public remarks of Black and Gutt confined himself to polite formalities.

Gutt revealed that one country raised its voice in opposition to devaluation in the closed meeting. This was later discovered to be Czechoslovakia, whose delegation

A Practical Bit Of Work In Washington Conference On British Dollar Crisis; More Than Economic Remedy; Cripps Optimistic Over Results; Problem Not Solved

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

That seems to be a business-like and practical job the American-British-Canadian conference at Washington has done by way of giving emergency aid in John Bull's economic crisis.

It's more than just an economic remedy. It gives a real lift to the morale of a very hard-pressed England and to the numerous other countries whose welfare are interlocked with hers.

The agreements here worked out with due regard to the dignity of Britain, and to the bonds of friendship. The conference tackled the problem in the same spirit of unity and cooperation shown during the dark days of the World War.

Undoubtedly the aid would have been arranged had no other nation than Britain been concerned. But quite apart from the proposition of helping a staunch war-time ally it was very clear that an international catastrophe would be precipitated if she were allowed to collapse.

As Canadian finance minister Douglas Abbott put it: "We go up or down together."

The task of the conference in this initial meeting related to Britain's shortage of dollars. She is earning far fewer dollars than she has to spend for essential imports. This shortage had to be made up, and the conference devised a ten point program to meet requirements. The agreements include these: The United States and Canada are expected to buy more tin and rubber from Britain for stock piling. Britain will be permitted to spend Marshall plan dollars in counting other than the United States, such as in the purchase of wheat in Canada although America has in exportable surplus. Britain will be free to discriminate against U. S. and Canadian goods, to buy her non-dollar imports, and to conserve dollars.

On the fact of it, of course, England will be benefiting in some cases at the expense of America. The answer to this is that Uncle Sam's contribution is an investment for insurance against a greater calamity.

Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, says he is convinced the agreement will block any further dangerous drains on Britain's gold reserve. This optimism appeared to be reflected in the fact that Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Secretary Bevin immediately set to work to devise new moves by the western powers in the cold war with the Russian bloc.

However, I don't believe we should take this as indicating that Britain's economic problem has been halted such sales on the Rocky Mount market.

The Bright Belt Association has defined rump sales as sales on which there are not enough buyers to insure competition for the growers' leaf. It contends that six buyers—one from each of the three major tobacco buying companies and one each from three other recognized companies—are necessary for adequate competition.

The issue arose when tobacco sales began on the Eastern belt several weeks ago. Five markets—Rocky Mount, Kinston, Wilson, Goldsboro and Smithfield—attempted to increase the number of sales they were operating.

However, the Bright Belt Association contends that an adequate number of buyers did not show up for any of these extra sales.

In an action filed here on Aug. 29 the association sought a court order halting the sales at Rocky Mount and at a hearing at Snow Hill on Aug. 31, Judge Frizzelle ordered operators of 14 Rocky Mount warehouses to appear in court here tomorrow and show cause why their extra sale should not be halted.

W. T. Joyner, general counsel for the Bright Belt Association, said the action is a test case and that other markets are expected to abide by the results.

Republicans Win In Pennsylvania Elections Test

Inroads In Democratic Strongholds Clinches Congressional Seat

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 14—(AP)—Impressive inroads in Democratic strongholds put the 26th Pennsylvania district congressional seat back in the Republican fold today.

Naval Veteran John P. Saylor, who supplied the flag raised on Iwo Jima, recaptured the special election prize which his party lost in the 1948 Truman sweep.

And he did it without mentioning in his campaign the name of Democratic Gold Star Mother Mrs. Robert L. Coffey Sr., who fought for the congressional seat vacated by the plane crash death of her son.

Mr. Truman gave his blessing to the 55-year-old Mrs. Coffey's candidacy. The western Pennsylvania vote provided the first test of the President's "Fair Deal" program since last year's balloting. Republicans and Democrats alike regarded it as a clue to the 1950 Congress elections.

The vote yesterday was in conjunction with statewide party primaries. Returns from 249 of 325 precincts gave:

Saylor 45,492. Coffey 33,060.

Intense interest in the off-year balloting brought out a big primary vote in the three-county agricultural, industrial and coal mining district.

Saylor surprisingly came out with a strong vote in normally Democratic Cambria (Johnstown). The tally in 133 of 178 precincts was Saylor 26,771, Coffey 23,568. That was the back-breaker of Mrs. Coffey's bid.

He said his country would notify the United Nations of its plan of action at the coming U. N. general assembly. The source, a ranking delegate to the assembly, said Greece had decided on this action to put an end to the guerrilla threat on the Greek-Albanian border.

The delegate said the general assembly would be told Greece will invoke article 51 of the U. N. charter if there are any future guerrilla attacks from the Albanian side. The article sustains the right of self defense if an armed attack occurs against a U. N. member.

Recently there has been an almost unanimous demand in the Greek press for drastic action if the Communists start any new aggressions on Greece from Albanian soil.

While Greek leaders realize that an invasion of Albania might be the spark to touch off a third World War, if Russia intervened, it is the consensus in Athens that the Soviet Union would not risk a war by interfering in Albania, which is separated from Moscow's Cominform sphere by Yugoslav territory.

Some sources estimated there are 8,000 to 9,000 guerrillas in Albania poised to cross into Greece at an opportune moment, possibly when mountain transport lines in the border zone are blocked by winter snows.

New York, Sept. 14—(AP)—Former Governor Herbert H. Lehman's U. S. senatorial campaign stock rose today following the American Labor party's decision not to enter a candidate in the Nov. 8 election.

The ALP action—announced last night—was not good news to supporters of Senator John Foster Dulles, the Republican candidate.

The American Labor party vote usually goes to the Democrat when there is no ALP candidate in the field—sometimes deciding a close election.

Convicts Caught In All-Night Hunt

Hart Cotton Mill Remains Closed

Elaborate Plans Completed For Dedication Of Stadium

Elaborate plans were completed today for the dedication of the new 3,000 seat, $25,000 stadium at East Carolina Teachers College at the opening game of the college football season tomorrow night.

N. M. Jorgensen, director of athletics at the college, said this morning the dedication ceremonies at the stadium will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

According to Jorgensen's announcement, E. E. Rawl, chairman of the stadium committee, will act as master of ceremonies at the dedication. Mayor W. S. Stafford will make a few remarks concerning the stadium on behalf of the people of Greenville, and General L. E. Woods, commander of the Cherry Point Marine base, will speak on behalf of the Cherry Point football team which will oppose the ECTC Pirates tomorrow night in the first game to be played in the new stadium.

Jorgensen will give a brief statement of what the new stadium will mean to the college, and Clyde Erwin, state superintendent of public instruction will formally present the new stadium to East Carolina Teachers College.

President John D. Messick will accept the stadium from Erwin for the college.

Jorgensen said today the two football teams will leave the field at 8 o'clock following their warm-up exercises, and the Cherry Point Marine band and the East Carolina Teachers College band will enter the stadium from opposite ends of the playing field and take positions on the respective 40-yard lines.

Following the dedication ceremonies, President Messick will present the football to the team captains, and the opening game in the new stadium will get underway.

The dedication ceremonies and the football game will be broadcast by radio station WGTC in Greenville.

The lights of the new stadium were tested last night, and many Greenville people gathered at the stadium gate as Coach Bill Dole sent his football squad through a brief closed practice under the lights. Following the practice session last night, Athletic Director Jorgensen commented, "I have seen very few fields as well lighted as this one."

Ready To Reopen Steel Discussion

Only Agreement On Time And Place Is Now Needed

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14—(AP)—Only agreement on time and place is needed today to start new steel contract talks. Outcome of the negotiations may depend on the reluctance of some steel companies to pay the entire cost of insurance and pension programs.

The CIO United Steelworkers and four leading steel producers are ready to resume contract talks. They will seek a settlement more or less based on the presidential fact finders' recommendation of a 10 cent hourly package increase. The board advised against any wage boost.

The mammoth United States Steel Corp., biggest steel producer in the nation, again is expected to take the lead in new contract negotiations. Philip Murray president of both the CIO and the steelworkers now is waiting for the corporation to name the time and place for new discussions.

Negotiators will be working under an 11-day extension of the strike deadline which expired at midnight Tuesday.

The union accepted the board's recommendations without reservations. That meant giving up its drive for a fourth postwar round of wage increases in 1949. The union said the board's suggested 10-cent increase in the form of company-financed insurance and pension programs was good enough.

A. J. Flannagan To Head Drive By Farm Bureau

Pitt Membership Goal Set At 3200; R. Flake Shaw Raps Brannan Plan

By EUGENE PRICE

The Pitt County Farm Bureau, spurred into action by a stirring address by State Bureau Executive Vice President R. Flake Shaw, last night launched a drive to put over a $200 membership goal set for this county.

Arch J. Flannagan of Farmville, prominent farmer and outstanding Farm Bureau member, was named chairman of the local drive at a directors' meeting which preceded last night's annual gathering of the membership drive leaders in the Rotary Building.

Shaw, in an address in which he called for a strong membership backing of the Farm Bureau, declared emphatically the need for permanent farm legislation.

"We are getting tired of seeing agriculture as a political football," he said. He lambasted the Brannan farm bill as a program "just like they have in England."

The Farm Bureau official declared that agriculture is in the most strategic stage of its history. "We are the most efficient nation agriculturally in the world," he declared, citing the productivity of the surplus being expounded in crops over the nation. "Here is where the danger lies," he said.

"An unmanaged surplus is the most dangerous thing you can have," he declared, adding that the nation faces "a very difficult problem."

He cited the work of the Farm Bureau in its fight to win permanent and appropriate legislation. He lauded the bureau as the greatest organization he has seen in 17 years' service as a farm official. Shaw told of the coming battles facing the American farmer and solicited the backing of an even greater Farm Bureau membership.

"The whole world is looking at you now," Shaw declared. "I know that the North Carolina farmers aren't going to let the Farm Bureau down now."

And Shaw was assured even as he finished his address that Pitt County was behind the bureau. Not waiting for the drive to officially open, membership leaders announced at the meeting that already some 300 members have been signed for the year.

Service League Holds First Fall Meeting

The Service League held its first meeting of the year on Monday, September 12, at the Sheppard Memorial Library with Mrs. J. T. Little, president, presiding.

After a warm greeting Mrs. Little called on the program chairman, Mrs. J. Bryan Brown, who in turn presented Dr. H. G. Haney. Dr.

Haney in an inspiring message made each member doubly conscious of the League's motto, "Service." Dr. Haney very aptly said, "The eyes of Greenville are upon you."

Reports from various committees were made in full covering the entire summer months which proved to be full and active ones.

Finance Chairman Mrs. J. W. Warner announced cookbooks were still for sale at Ellington's Book Store and appointed a committee to look after the shelf during the month of October. Mrs. R. C. Stokes II reported as chairman of the Laughinghouse Hospital Bed three patients were hospitalized during the summer.

Mrs. W. L. Wheelbee, projects chairman, announced the League's projects and told interesting details about the new shop located on Grand Avenue which will be open for business in October.

Friends will be called upon again for old clothing and sold at a nominal cost to the needy.

Layette Chairman Mrs. David Evans gave a most gratifying report stating that five layettes were used during the summer.

Mrs. W. S. Bost, emergency committee chairman, reported a very busy summer helping out in sickness and making it possible for one blind girl and one blind boy to enter reconditioning school.

Lending Chest Chairman Mrs. W. L. Ormond reported the league's wheel chair in use.

Mrs. Tyson Bilbro, membership chairman, presented eleven new members to be voted on.

Mrs. Little thanked each member who assisted in the T.B. Mobile Unit and announced the League would again sponsor the T.B. Seal Sale, a chairman to be appointed later.

Smith-Savage Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Madeline Shirley Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adrian Savage of Greenville, N. C., to Mr. Grady Bernard Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hill Smith of Charlotte, N. C., was solemnized in a double ring ceremony at 4 o'clock Saturday, September 10, in the Eighth Street Christian Church.

The Rev. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of the bride, officiated. Center pieces of white flowers and white tapers decorated the windows and baskets of ferns, palms, floor baskets of white gladioli and seven branched candelabras holding white tapers formed a beautiful background for the vows.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Leon Fleming, Jr., organist and Harper Darden, vocalist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight bridal satin with chantilly lace calla-lily sleeves, tightly fitted bodice of chantilly lace over satin. The nude yoke was edged with dropped shoulder french fold bertha with full skirt ending in a court train. Her double-tiered full length veil was made of French illusion and fell from a bandeau of imported orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of ruby-throated orchids and bride's roses, showered with tuberoses.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Nobles of Greenville and Sarasota, Fla., was the maid of honor. She wore a gown of polonaise blue satin and marquisette, and carried a nosegay of yellow roses and wore a crown of yellow roses in her hair.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Peggy Rose Smith, Joyce Corbette and Rose Messick, all of Greenville, and Mrs. William Hill Smith, Jr., of Spartanburg, S. C., sister-in-law of the groom. They wore gowns like that of the maid of honor and carried bouquets of deep pink asters and wore a crown of shattered pink carnations in their hair.

Little Miss Bobbie Jean Williams of Greensboro, a cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Her dress was made similar to the bridesmaids. She wore a Dutch bonnet of matching satin and carried a muff fashioned of deep pink carnations.

William Hill Smith, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Julian Carnes and Bill Stokes of Charlotte, cousin of the bride. Sidney Roddey of Danville, Va., Zeb Robinson of Asheville and Irving Gower and Dick Worsley of Greenville. Mrs. Savage, mother of the bride, wore a gown of gray sheer crepe with alencon lace front, trimmed with jewel buttons with matching accessories. Her flowers were purple orchids. Mrs. Smith, mother of the groom, was attired in a Sonhelm teal blue crepe dress with beaded front, matching hat and black accessories and her flowers were purple orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home, 206 E. 8th street. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left immediately after the reception for a wedding trip. For traveling, the bride wore a suit of rosalbo gabardine with matching hat and mink brown accessories and orchids from her bouquet.

Mrs. Smith was educated in the Greenville city schools and at East Carolina Teachers College. For the past two years she has been a member of the faculty of the Raleigh city schools.

Mr. Smith was graduated from Porter Military Academy and received his B. S. degree from State College. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is employed by the Southern Electric

Local Churches Entertain Many ECTC Students

The churches of Greenville were host last night to the new students at the East Carolina Teachers College at an open house which was held at all the churches in the city from 7:30 until 10:00.

Hundreds of students from the college crowded into the various churches in the city to take part in the programs which had been planned for their pleasure.

After a get-acquainted period the students then took part in many games and group singing.

The students were served various types of refreshments, which included punch and cakes.

Company in Charlotte, where the young couple will make their home.

On Friday night following the rehearsal Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Savage entertained at a cake-cutting at their country home, "Dilassa."

The dining room was beautifully decorated in asters, roses and pom-poms carrying out a scheme of green and white.

After the bride and groom had cut the first slice from the wedding cake, which centered the beautifully appointed table, and from which came the strains of the Wedding March, Mrs. Frank Savage, mother of the bride, served the guests. Mrs. J. D. Messick served punch.

Much merriment was caused by the silver favors found in the cake.

About fifty guests attended. Out-of-town guests:

AMERICAN BANKING IN ACTION

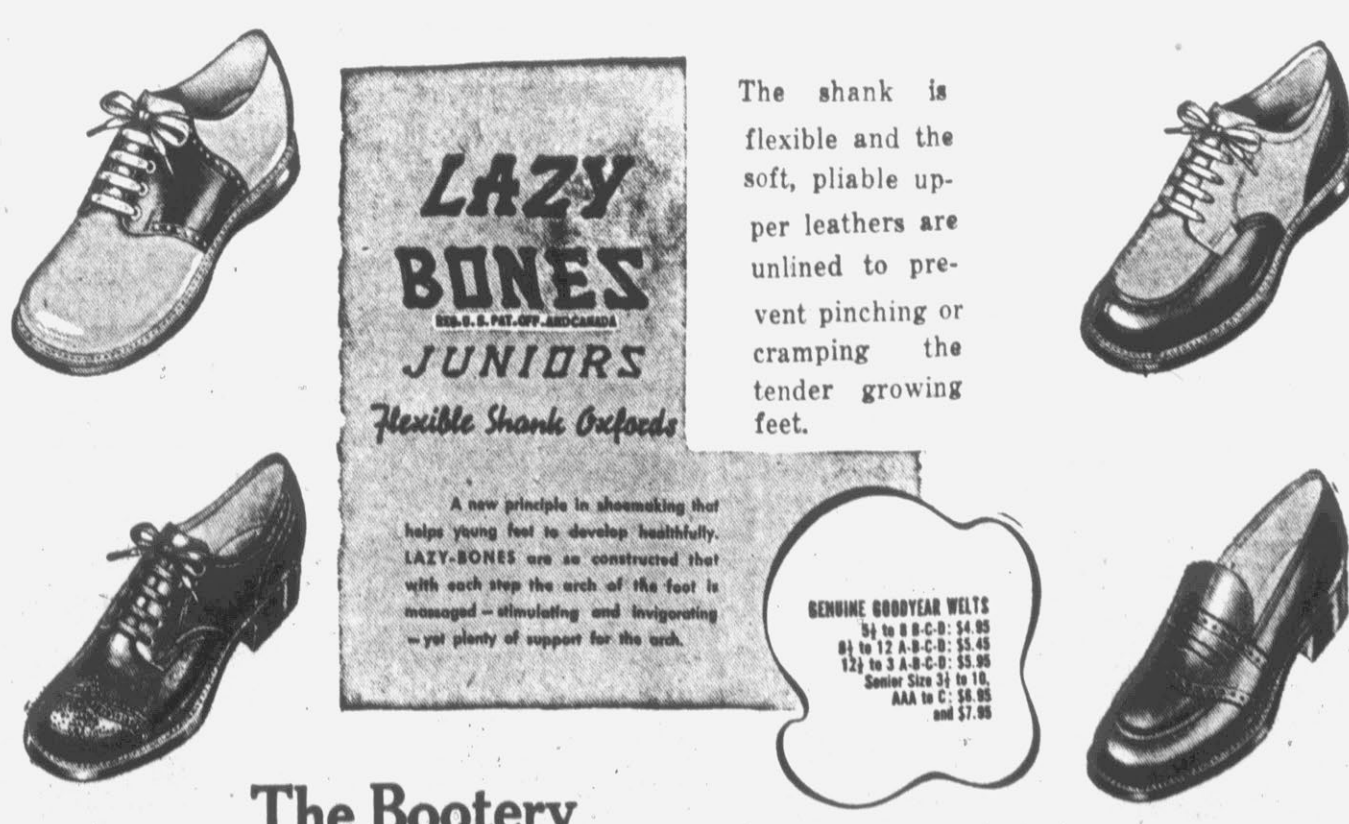

REWARD FOR EXTRA EFFORT

In some countries, people are forced to produce under the threat of punishment, imprisonment or death. How different it is in America! Here workers receive extra rewards for greater effort. Extra rewards which they can spend or save, as they choose. And those who save are free to choose where they will put their money — in a bank, in government bonds or in new enterprises. Let's keep the American way.

Strength FOR THE DAY
SPIRITUAL SICKNESS AND CURE
It is significant that Christ was crucified between two thieves. Centuries before, the prophet had declared that when the Messiah came, he would be numbered with the transgressors.

And so he was. He sought sinners as companions, declaring that these people were spiritually sick and needed his ministrations as a physician of the soul. And to this very day it remains true that if you want to find Christ, look for him among the sinners. The Bible declares that where sin abounds, grace much more abounds. The Great Physician is to be found at places where sin is carrying on its most destructive work.

For our own comfort let us also know that it is in these moments of almost complete unworthiness that we may encounter Christ if we care to do so. It is while we are yet in our sins that we come upon him, while our temptations are assailing us and leading us into submission that we become conscious of his saving presence.

Let us never make the mistake of believing that we are acceptable to Christ only if we are good. The truth is that we are acceptable to him while we are still evil. His only demand is our ardent desire to be delivered from evil.

A CHALLENGE TO TAR HEELS
Governor Kerr Scott, in acknowledging Representative Thurmond Chatham's rebuke for attempting to array class against class in North Carolina, has asserted that he is doing nothing of the kind, but on the contrary is trying to "bring them closer together."

Maybe the governor is telling the truth, but the tone of his reply to Chatham's well founded statements sounds more like that of an over-grown bully who has been caught committing a foul act of which he is fully aware.

Although in his reply to Chatham, Scott flatly stated that he is seeking to bring the classes of North Carolina closer together rather than splitting them farther apart, in view of the actions of Kerr Scott during the past 18 months, there is ample room to doubt that the governor made the statement in good faith. The program which he has instigated since May, 1948, speaks for itself.

During the campaign, Scott lashed out at the bankers of the state, and asserted that the banks which had the state's money were using the money to lend back to the people at a fat interest. He sought to create animosity between the farmers and other depositors and the banks.

Next he pitted labor against management, and management against labor, and played the middle for all the votes it was worth. Following the election, not satisfied with the honor of being governor, Scott set about to build what he and a few of his cohorts hoped to be the most powerful political machine North Carolina has known in many years.

In his fight for $200,000,000 to be placed at his disposal for use for roads of the state, Scott elected to base the campaign on the basis of rural people against town people, and enticed the individual groups into calling each other names rather than looking into the real merits of the road building program.

positional to be used for roads of the state, Scott elected to base the campaign on the basis of rural people against town people, and enticed the individual groups into calling each other names rather than looking into the real merits of the road building program.

Since that time, the governor has not overlooked the slightest opportunity to scream to the people in rural areas that the businessmen, the workers, the teachers and the civic organizations which have residence inside the corporate limits of a town are trying to rob the farmer not only of his money, but of education, health, and paved roads.

Perhaps, as Governor Scott says, his is a program which is aimed at closing the breach between the country people and the town people of North Carolina and not to cut it deeper.

In view of the activities of Governor Scott, it seems to the Reflector that the governor is seeking to build a bristling political castle in North Carolina based on the prejudices he can instigate between the various groups of people of the state.

Fortunately, however, all North Carolinians are one and the same people. They were before Kerr Scott took over the reins of the state, and they will be when the reins of the state are snatched from the hands of Scott by the voters. The people of the Tar Heel state are intelligent enough to ward off the storm which Scott has sought to create among the citizens of North Carolina. And the people themselves will see to the unity of the state, even though the administration continues to entice them down the blind alley of prejudice.

Somebody Told Me...
By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Lately my Hollywood tipster, Aline Mosby, has been letting me in on some of the tricks they use out there to fool people like you and me. Not only do movie stars change the color of their hair and the shapes of their noses, but the color of their eyes, too.

An optometrist by the name of Dr. Reuben Greenspoon does the trick by making plastic contact lenses, painted the desired color. Recently Debra Paget had an opportunity to play the part of an Indian, which was too sad because she has blue eyes and the movie was to be in technicolor. The doctor simply made her lenses, with the irises painted brown, to fit over her blue eyes.

Orson Welles and Joseph Cotten weren't content with rubber wrinkles to age them in "Citizen Kane." They wanted old eyes, too. Welles thought their eyes shouldn't be sparkling and young, so from a sketch provided by Welles the doctor painted red bloodshot lines on the contact lenses and gray rings around the pupils.

Welles has been Greenspoon's steady customer. He made his eyes appear fire-scarred for "Jane Eyre." Three witches from Welles' "Macbeth" got spooky, pupil-less eyes by the use of white, transparent lenses.

Greenspoon can also cross eyes with his trick lenses. He did that for Alan Mowbray's left eye for "Captain From Castile." He blinded Dana Andrews for "Night Song." Howard Da Silva for "They Live by Night," and Arch Leonard for "The Set-Up."

The contact lenses for "blind" Herbert Marshall in "Enchanted Cottage" were treated to gather beads of moisture. These reflected studio lights and gave the desired glassy effect.

In "Forbidden Street" Dana Andrews plays two characters. He wore his own blue eyes when he was the hero and brown-eyed lenses when he was the villain. Since word got around of Dr. Greenspoon's skill customers flood his office with orders for colored eyes.

"I recommend it for film purposes only," he says. "For non-movie people, it's just silly." He made two exceptions when the patient's peace of mind was involved. He blueed contact lenses for a girl with washed-out blue eyes. And he brown-eyed a blue-eyed lady who said she was hiding from her estranged husband.

When paid a visit by a Beverly Hills gangster, Dr. Greenspoon called for help. The gangster wanted the color of his eyes changed to serve as a disguise. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square
By LYNN NISBET
OLD FRIENDS—Governor Kerr Scott greeted an old friend and coworker in the person of Murray D. Lincoln of Columbus, Ohio, who made the main address at the FCX-Cotton Coop meeting Tuesday. Lincoln is president of several big farm mutual insurance companies and also national head of CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe.) He is presently regarded as most likely candidate against Senator Robert A. Taft in next year's Ohio elections. Governor Scott told his press conference that he first met Lincoln some fifteen years ago, in early stages of the New Deal, when he was very active in formulating the farm program. At that time Scott was master of the N. C. State Grange and was concerned about a national program.
COMPARATIVE — The visiting

speaker made a short talk at a breakfast Tuesday morning in which he said 98-99 per cent of Ohio farms were electrified. In answer to a reporter's question if he hoped to attain that in this state, Governor said he would be satisfied with 95 per cent; but he could not understand why North Carolina could not and had not moved as rapidly as other states in this field. He said he believed rural North Carolina is more thickly populated than Ohio, and on per mile basis he believed there are more potential electricity customers in this state.

STATISTICS — The World Almanac gives Ohio 41,122 square miles of land area and 1920 population of 6,907,812. North Carolina has 49,142 square miles of land area and 3,571,623 people. But—North Carolina has only two cities in which the metropolitan area exceeds 100,000—and that by small margin—whereas Ohio has nine such communities, one with over a million, one three quarters of a million and four others above 300,000. Figures are not at hand on comparative size of location of farms.

HONEST—The governor said he believed many North Carolinians are honest in belief the state has enough roads and power lines, but they are just ignorant of conditions. He suggested it would be a good thing if every home economics teacher and demonstration agent would spend at least two weeks a year in a country home, off a good road and without electricity. He thought they would learn things they don't know about this state. Whether it represents revolution or rebellion, he said, these back country folks want and expect to get modern facilities.

BUSINESS MEN—Time was, and not so long ago, when it was accepted practice to refer to groups as "business men and farmers," thus making distinction between them. Not any more. Upwards of three thousand members of the N. C. Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farmers Cooperative Exchange assembled Tuesday in Raleigh's memorial auditorium for their annual meeting. Unfavorable weather the previous night and early morning kept away the rest of the five thousand who had written they would be on hand. Report of General Manager M. G. Mann indicated these farmers own and operate a nine and a half million dollar business. The cotton growers have assets in excess of three million dollars and the FCX in excess of six millions. The two organizations handled more than forty-three million dollars worth of business last year.

WASHINGTON
By JANE EADS
Washington—A 16-year-old boy dropped out of high school in his first year because he had defective vision and a crippling ailment in his side. He was totally unprepared for work.

His state rehabilitation agency looked into his case and analyzes his aptitude tests. It arranged a course of bookkeeping and typing for him but he didn't seem to get along. A psychiatric examination was made with a finding of emotional instability.

Little could be done to reduce the physical handicap but, as a result of services provided, the boy is now well adjusted and earning $75 a week as a demonstrator of home furnishings.

A man disabled in both feet and left arm from polio was dependent on his family for support. After training he was placed in a job as a high school teacher at $75 a week. These two cases are not unusual, according to the U. S. Office of Rehabilitation, which reports that the nation wide state-federal system of vocational rehabilitation reached a new peak of success in the twelve months ending last June for its 28-year history.

Michael J. Shortley, director of the U. S. Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, says 92,360 disabled men and women were prepared for and placed in suitable employment. Of these 53,131—21 per cent more than in the preceding year—were performing their jobs to their own satisfaction and that of their employers.

"Vocational rehabilitation, he says, is a sound financial investment. The program last year cost an average of about $460 per rehabilitation. It costs approximately the same amount to maintain a person in dependency for just one year.

"On the other hand, the total cost for the 53,131 persons will be more than repaid in a few years to state and federal governments in the form of income taxes from wages of these persons, earned on rehabilitation jobs."

Rehabilitation services constitute a continuous process, beginning when the diagnosis is made ending only with the best individual medical, social and economic adjustment. The mentally as well as the physically handicapped may be served. The blind may be helped, and there are specific provisions for war disabled civilians—marchant seamen, members of the aircraft warning service, civil air patrol and the like. Cases are referred by schools, hospitals, health agencies, physicians, the Red Cross, public and private welfare agencies, community centers, state employment agencies, insurance groups, labor unions.

The burbot, a fish in northern U. S. waters which has been regarded as a pest because it eats game fish, have been found to yield a liver oil richer than that from cod fish.

Firemen Called To Rescue French Fish

Toulouse, France —(AP)— Firemen in the department of Lot were called to rescue fish which were threatened with suffocation through the low water-level of the river Bave. Two hundred pounds of fish were picked up in nets transferred into watertanks on trucks, and safely transported to another point where the drought's effects were less severe.

North Carolina Polio Fund Gone

Chapel Hill, Sept. 14—(AP)— One of the states now out of funds for additional treatment of polio patients, North Carolina has joined the Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive which is being sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis throughout the nation this week.

North Carolina will need $225,000 from the National Foundation to continue treatment of patients in this state now until the first of the year. Philip S. Randolph, State Representative for the eastern area, said today. Thus far this year he said, North Carolina's county chapters have received $862,000 from the national headquarters.

The National Foundation according to word received here does not have funds to continue another week in the present epidemic, so chapters throughout the country are pitching in to raise funds in the Emergency Drive to try to reimburse the National fund.

Since North Carolina's terrible 1944 epidemic to date, the National Foundation has sent into this state $3,132,148 for the care and treatment of polio patients, while North Carolina has sent to the national office $1,712,574.

According to Mr. Randolph, although North Carolina has not suffered an epidemic this year, $60,000 is required each month to care for patients stricken last year and are either still in hospitals or are in need of braces, crutches, wheel chairs and special treatment as "out patients."

Russian 'Hack' Writer Slapped

Moscow —(AP)— Writer I. Vsevolozhsky has been severely criticized in "Komsomol Pravda" for a book described as "rubbish."

"How could it happen," asked the critic, "that such a harmful book such base hackwork which has obviously been written on the model of foreign boulevard literature could be published here in the Soviet Union, where the most progressive literature in the world, highly artistic and highly ideological has been created, where the rank of author has been raised to unprecedented heights?"

Naval Reservists Set Record For Summer Training

This year's summer training of naval reservists set a new high in peacetime training of the Navy's civilian components when 100,000 reservists went on active duty.

Refresher courses in all phases of modern naval warfare were given the reservists who reported for duty at naval shore stations, at sea and in the air. 50,000 reservists, one half of the record-setting total, filled sea-going billet cruisers, destroyers, submarines, aircraft carriers and smaller vessels.

One of the features of the summer training was the instruction of "activation" teams who were given instructions in rapidly activating ships in the "mothball fleet" to combat status.

The reserve aviation training program saw 4,000 pilots, 1,000 ground officers and 15,000 enlisted men on active duty at naval air stations and on board carriers. In addition to flight refresher courses reserve aviators were also permitted to take requalification tests on five different carriers.

For the first time, 2,100 naval reserve seaman recruits underwent indoctrination at 20 activities of the naval reserve training command.

Amphibious warfare training also was a high-spot in the summer's training.

Navy undersea billets were filled by more than 2,700 reserve submariners, and another 3,300 attended classes at New London, Conn. and San Francisco, California.

President Gaylord said the meeting will be brief and adjourn in plenty of time for the members to attend the football game at the stadium between the ECTC Pirates and the Cherry Point Marines that night.

Automatic Cops In Illinois City

Herrin, Ill. —(AP)— Overtime parking violators are handled virtually by remote control by this southern Illinois city.

If a motorist fails to pop his nickel in a parking meter or parks overtime, the mechanical cop automatically signals the violation. A patrolman posts a pink ticket on the derelict motorist's windshield. Its instructions save him the embarrassment of being halled into court. All he has to do is simply mail his fine—50 cents—to the city hall.

Officials have been frankly surprised at how much money comes in that way.

Almost Slipped With Sales Quip

Durango, Colo. —(AP)— Every time Vernon Bodo makes a dollar sale at his sporting goods store, he collects the sales tax with the comment, "and two cents for the governor."

After he had sold some merchandise to a tall, lean man, Bodo said: "That's $5 and 10 cents for the gov. . . er, 10 cents for sales tax." Just in time he'd recognized the tall customer as Colorado's Gov. Lee Knous.

Singapore Jews Going To Israel

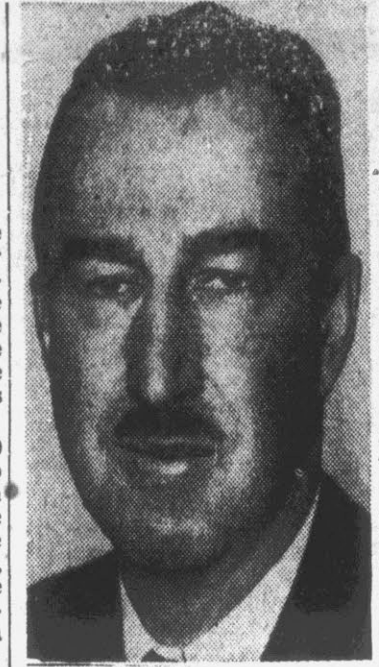

Singapore —(AP)— Many in Singapore's Jewish community of 1,200 believe the time has come to emigrate to "The Promised Land." Since April about 85 Jewish young men and women and children have left Singapore for Israel.

Singapore Jews have been told that living in Israel for the new immigrant is hard, but that the infant country welcomes young men and women who could face the hardships.

Runaway Czech Boys Try To Reach United States

By RICHARD KASISCKE
(P) Newsfeatures

Prague—In America little boys used to run away from home to go west to be cowboys, in Communist-run Czechoslovakia some little boys run away to try to go to America.

The boys don't make it, but lots of their elders do. And not all of them are famous tennis stars like Jaroslav Drobný or well-known diplomats or politicians like those now in exile.

Nobody knows how many Czech people sneak or bribe their way across the nation's western borders to Germany or Austria.

But at least a hint at the volume of this file traffic is contained in the Official Gazette of the Czechoslovak Republic which weekly carries scores of names of persons whose property has been confiscated by the government because they have departed illegally.

In these columns have been found the names of persons known to have taken it on the lam for political reasons and the conclusion is that most of the confiscations are made for this reason.

But the story of the kids who don't make it to the west was overheard by an Associated Press reporter recently in a barber's shop.

The barber was trimming the hair of a Czech youngster. He addressed his customer:

"Well, how are things in America?"

"Don't know," replied the youngster. "We were stopped at border."

With four companions he had run away with a camping outfit and some food and tried to make it to U. S. Zone of Germany and beyond.

"We got sent back," said the boy, "but maybe later."

"Maybe later" is a sadly hopeful refrain from many Czechs who yearn to get out of their country.

Nowdays, with the Cominform mad at the rebel Tito, they can't even go to Yugoslavia.

Korean Turtle Is Shrinking Fast

Seoul, Sept. 14—(AP)—Maybe that turtle caught off the south Korean coast is going to set a record after all—for shrinkage.

First reports said the turtle was seven feet long—six inches longer than the record turtle in the British Museum.

President Syngman Rhee happily told a news conference that the turtle's appearance in Korean waters was a good omen and ordered the turtle to be taken to the Seoul zoo. But it was too cold here so it was ordered sent to the warmer climate of Cheju Island.

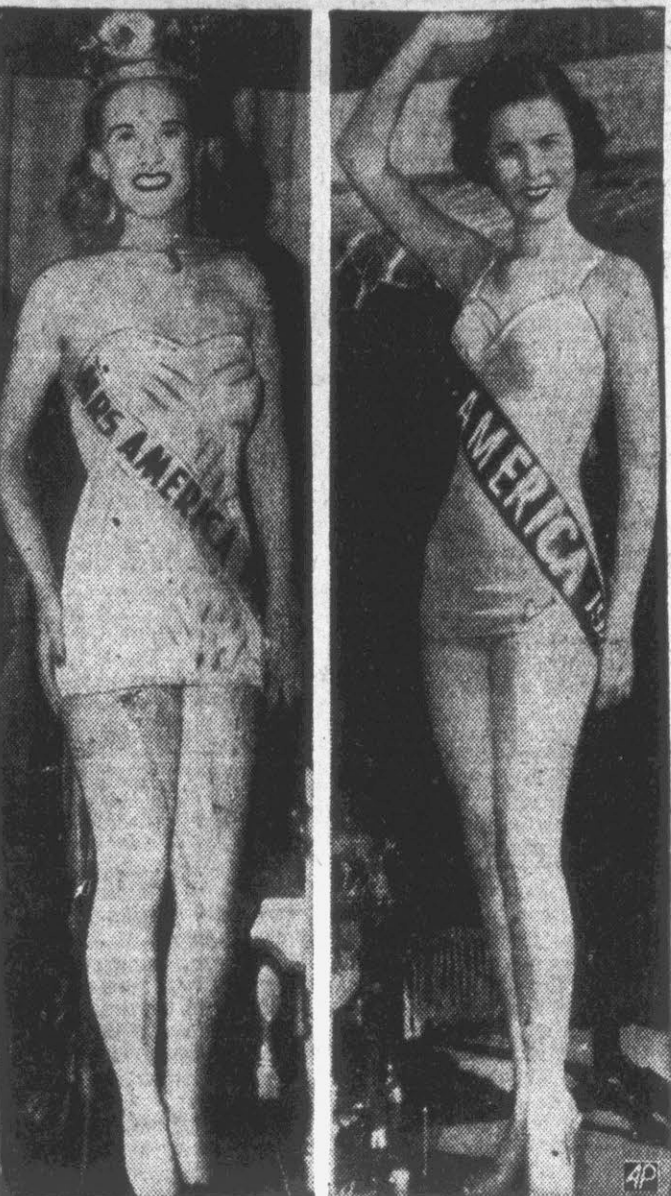

Later it was reported the turtle was only about five feet long—still a whopper and still a good omen to the turtle loving Koreans.

But today a Korean Pacific press correspondent said he measured the turtle and actually it is only three feet and two inches long.

Korean Pacific press, saving face all around, refused to distribute the story to Korean newspapers.

Identify Body Of Murder Victim

Wadesboro, N.C., Sept. 14—(AP)—A body found in a water-filled gravel pit near here seven days ago was identified last night as that of James Malcolm Shirley, 37, of Hollis, Queens, N.Y.

But Sheriff Ben M. Rivers of Anson County, aided by the FBI and the State Bureau of Investigation, today continued working on other angles of the case.

Two days before the knifed and battered body was found, Shirley's wrecked automobile was discovered in Toby's Creek near Marion, S.C., about 75 miles southeast of here. Rivers said he was looking for two men who may have stolen the machine.

Sheriff Leon Gasque of Marion County reported previously there was a small amount of substance resembling blood on the front seat of the car.

Marion authorities tried for two days to find out whether anyone drowned when the car wrecked. They gave up on the theory that the occupants had been injured and abandoned the vehicle.

Sheriff Rivers said the FBI identified the body through fingerprints. Shirley served in the army five years.

The decomposed body is in Charlotte, where Coroner W. M. Summerville of Mecklenburg County is making an autopsy.

Shirley was last reported seen alive on Sept. 3 in Staunton, Va., where he had gone to buy a farm.

Boy Charged In Mother's Death

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 14—(AP)—A 14-year-old Sharondale, Ky., school boy faced a murder charge today in the shotgun slaying of his mother while she slept.

Sheriff's deputies came here to return the boy, James Pearle Edmisto, to Pikeville, Ky., where a warrant was issued charging him with murder.

He said he was sorry.

"I don't know what I was thinking about. I hadn't planned to kill her. I'm sorry now. I wish I hadn't done it."

The statement was made to newsmen at Cabell County jail.

The boy had been quoted as saying his mother, 34-year-old Mrs. Opal Edmiston, had beaten him with a poker.

He later changed the story, saying both his father, Pearle Edmiston, and the mother had been good to him.

Medical-Dental Society Meets

The Pitt county Medical and Dental Society met last night at Pitt General Hospital, to formulate plans for the Diabetes Detection Week which will be observed here and all over the nation on October 10, to October 16.

The Pitt County Medical and Dental Society is sponsoring the drive in Pitt County as part of the national drive by the American Diabetes Association to find the estimated 1,000,000 persons in the United States who are suffering from the disease and who do not know that they have the disease.

Dr. D. B. Armstead, chairman of the local drive, stated that during the week of October 10 to October 16, the doctors of the Pitt Medical Society will make tests for diabetes free of charge for anyone who desires to have a test made.

Free literature telling of the signs and the symptoms of the disease will be distributed in a few weeks it was stated last night.

The Medical Society urges everyone to take advantage of the chance to have a free test made as this is the one way that the drive can be a complete success, by detecting persons who have the disease.

Bids Advertised For Improving Of 268 Road Miles

Raleigh, Sept. 14—(AP)—Bids were advertised by the Highway Commission yesterday for improving 268 miles of mainline roads—a record mileage.

The construction, divided among 29 projects, will cost an estimated $2,510,000. On Aug. 30 the commission let contracts for 234 miles of main roads, also distributed in 29 projects, which set a new record. Low bids then totaled $2,906,613.

The commission will open the bids Sept. 27 and soon thereafter is expected to begin concentrating on rural road construction.

Counties in which road work will be undertaken under yesterday's bids are Martin, Wilson, Wayne, Lenoir, Sampson, Johnston, Bladen, Columbus, Sampson, New Hanover, Carteret, Craven, Greene, Pitt, Cumberland, Chatham, Lee, Davidson, Montgomery, and Richmond.

The swimming star lost his Tarzan role when he zoomed up to a paunchy 238.

Greenies Down Rocky Mount By 9-3 For First Win In Semi-Final Series

Pappy's Homer With Two On In Ninth Clinches Game; Play Here Tonight For Fourth Game Of Play-Off, Weather Permitting

By BERT MOYE

Manager Pappy Williams and his Greenville Greenies gained their first win in semifinals play-off against the Rocky Mount Leafs in Rocky Mount last night by walloping them to the tune of 9 to 3, before an estimated 1,500 fans.

After taking the lead 1-0 in the first frame on Paul Strausser's triple and Graham's infield out, the Leafs came back in the second frame to push across two markers and take the lead 2-1. In the second, Babe Johnson led off with a homer over the left field wall. Walt McJunkin followed with a single and then Frank Gardner doubled to bring home McJunkin.

The Greenies came back in the fourth frame to score two runs and go out in front for the rest of the game. John Tepedino reached first on Johnson's error at third. Williams forced Tepedino at second for the first. Willie Mauney doubled and Sid Varney was given an intentional pass to load the bases. Bobby Harrison came through with an infield hit to score Williams and then Valle flew out to right field and when McJunkin threw wild at home plate in an effort to catch Mauney who came home for the second run.

Two more runs were added in the fourth frame by the Greenies when Paul Strausser and Charlie Graham singled in succession. John Tepedino sacrificed the runners around and then Manager Pappy Williams came through with a single into center field to bring home both runners.

The Greenies went on a four-run spurge in the ninth inning for added insurance. After Valle had popped out to the first baseman for the initial out, Denier walked and advanced to second on Strausser's infield out. Charlie Graham singled to bring home Denier. John Tepedino came through with a single, his second of the night, and then Manager Pappy Williams connected with George Griffin's pitch for a homer over the left field wall to bring in the two runners ahead of him.

Bobby Harrison went the route for the Greenies, giving up 10 hits striking out nine and issuing three free passes to first. Babe Johnson with a homer and a single, Jim Reges with a double and a single and Walt McJunkin with two singles, led the 10-hit attack off the Greenville hurler.

Vanis Williamson started on the mound for the Leafs but gave way to George Griffin after seven innings in which he allowed five runs eight hits, two walks and no strikeouts. Griffin pitched the remaining two frames giving up four runs three hits, one walk and no strikeouts.

Manager Pappy Williams with a homer and a single, which drove in five Greenie runs, Paul Strausser with a triple and a single, John Tepedino with a double and a single and Charlie Graham with two singles, led the 11-hit attack off the two Leaf hurlers.

The two clubs are scheduled to meet here tonight in the fourth game of the semifinals series, weather permitting. Probably starting for the Greenies tonight will be Junior John, who during the regular season ranked up a 10-6 win over the Leafs in a 12-inning ball game. The probable starter for the Leafs will be Jacobs, who during the past season registered three wins against the Greenies.

Sidelights—Bobby Harrison's win over the Rocky Mount Leafs last night was his fourth of the season as against one loss, that being the first game between the two clubs the past season. Williamson, credited with the loss, dropped his fourth to the Greenies. He has defeated the Greenies once this year.

Pappy Williams really showed the 1,500 fans at the game last night how to hit the old apple. According to the radio version Pappy's home run cleared three houses out there in left field and was still going when last observed. That homer was good for three Greenie runs and Pappy drove in a total of five runs for the night. Greenville had five men stranded on the bases while the Leafs had ten.

Denier was the only successful base snatcher for the Greenies while Chuck Sedor pulled the trick for the Leafs. The Greenies pulled the only double-play of the game, that being in the ninth inning, when the Home Run King of the Coastal Plain hit into a double killing Griffon.

Sid Varney after an absence of sometime was back in the Greenville lineup last night and came through with a single in his initial appearance. Brother Frank Tepedino of the Leafs should take some hitting lessons from brother John of the Greenies. In last night's game Johnny came through with a double and a single in his four appearances at the plate while Brother Frank went hitless.

Now your writer can understand why the Leafs are so afraid of Bobby Harrison when he takes the mound against them. He is really poison to the Leafs whenever he takes over.

In the five games that he has pitched against them this season he has allowed them only 16 runs while the Greenies have scored a total of 29 runs. Paul Strausser to an announcement coming from came through with some nice hitting last night and became the first player in the series between the two clubs to hit a triple.

At the time this is being written, it looks like there will not be any baseball game here tonight, but you never can tell what the weather will do in the next few hours. However, in case the rain does cause the cancellation of the game here tonight it means that the two teams are scheduled to continue here in Greenville. But, according to an announcement coming from Business Manager John Adams, should the game be rained out here tonight, the two teams will NOT play here Thursday night, due to the big football game and stadium dedication at East Carolina Teacher's College. The series, in this case would be continued on Friday night here, weather permitting. And speaking of this semi-final series it looks now like it will be on well into the football season before it is over. Especially is this true of the entire semi-finals and finals to be played immediately after the semi-finals are concluded.

McCray Smiling Over Grid Test

Williamsburg, Va., Sept. 14—(AP)—William and Mary's Indians lost a lot of their stars of last season, but here's a bit of advice for what it's worth: Don't sell the Indians short in 1948.

Although he isn't one to say much, Head Coach Rube McCray is smiling. The smiles have been particularly evident since he "tested" his Indians last Saturday in a practice scrimmage game against Duke's Blue Devils at Durham. No score was announced after the Duke-Tribe collision.

At the time this is being written, it looks like there will not be any baseball game here tonight, but you never can tell what the weather will do in the next few hours. However, in case the rain does cause the cancellation of the game here tonight it means that the two teams are scheduled to continue here in Greenville. Proximity Runs For Trot Title

Westbury, N.Y., Sept. 14—(AP)—Proximity, the modern day queen of the trots, and nine other of the finest horses in the division will determine the $25,000 American trotting championship tomorrow night at Roosevelt Raceway.

Fast performances indicate a 4-horse race in this fourth annual event at one mile, with Proximity, Demon Hanover, Rodney and Chris Spencer the ones to watch.

Williamston Grid Team Plays Selma

Coach Stuart Maynard's Williamston High School Green Wave football team will open its season with the Selma High eleven in Williamston tomorrow night.

The Williamston outfit, among the most outstanding football teams for first class last season, is expected to be as potent this year, reports from Williamston indicate.

The Green Waves have slated such powerful Northeastern conference opposition as Washington high school whom they play Sept. 23.

Selma's Yellow Jackets are expected to be lighter than the Williamston squad but are reputedly a scrappy never-say-die, football aggregation.

In practice sessions this fall, Coach Maynard has had at least two candidates for each position and his 1949 charges may outweigh the powerful outfit of last season.

Jack Edwards, a determined and hard driving quarterback, is expected to lead the Green Waves offensively. Coach Maynard had announced no definite starters yesterday.

Kiner Continues Assault On Babe Ruth's Record

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's fence buster, has stolen the headlines from the pennant race with his frontal assault on Babe Ruth's all-time home run record.

Twice last night the Pirate slugger tied major league marks as he hammered Nos. 47 and 48 off Philadelphia Phil pitching. The marks were most homers with bases full in a season—four—and most homers in consecutive at bats—four.

With 17 games to go, 14 of them at Forbes Field, the 26-year-old Kiner can beat the Babe's 1927 score of 60 if he keeps up his terrific September pace.

Right now he trails Ruth by three games as he hit his 48th in game No. 137 while the late Bambino smashed his 48th and 49th in No. 134. However, Ruth didn't connect with his 150th until game No. 138. Kiner can draw up even by hitting a pair this afternoon.

Kiner's first objective is Hack Wilson's National League high of 56, set in 1930. That's only eight away. He also has a good shot at the most homers in a month record. Cy Williams hung up the National League standard of 15 for the Phils in May 1923. Rudy York's 18 for Detroit in August 1937 is the major league mark. Kiner has hit 10 so far this month.

When Kiner blasted Hank Borowy for a grand slam homer in the first inning of last night's 11-6 win over the Phils, he tied the mark of four, held by six players including Ruth and Lou Gehrig. He followed this with another homer in the second inning. He hit for the circuit in his last two trips to the plate against Chicago Sunday, and also equalled the mark for homers in consecutive at bats.

St. Louis and Brooklyn kept pace in the race toward the World Series with the Cards shutting out New York, 1-0, on Red Mungers' brilliant one-hit game. That left St. Louis still 1 1/2 games in front.

Munger faced only 28 Giants, walking one man, in coping a tight duel from Dave Koza. After Sid Gordon singled in the second, he retired 16 in a row until he walked Bobby Thomson in the eighth. Bobby was cut down in a double play.

Veteran Golfers Worried By Girl

Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 14—(AP)—Coin tossing still is considered the best method of selecting a winner in the 49th annual U.S. Women's Amateur Golf championship today but surviving veterans are more than a little worried about the baby in the competition.

She's 15-year-old Marlene Bauer National Junior Golf champion from Los Angeles, Calif., who pitted her youth against the experience of six-time champion, Mrs. Edwin H. Vore yesterday and emerged a 4 and 3 winner over the rain-swept Merion Golf Club course.

Buccaneers Testing Untried Strength In Thursday Game

The Buccaneers of East Carolina flexed their untried muscles today as they looked to their Thursday night opener with the Cherry Point Marines.

The game is expected to attract one of the largest crowds ever to attend an East Carolina football contest, college officials said today.

What lies behind the doors of Coach Bill Dole's closed practice sessions is a mystery to most fans and when the 1949 edition of the Buc's trot onto the field tomorrow, a capacity crowd of curious football fans are expected to be on hand for the unveiling of the new Pirate grid-iron aggregation.

Advance reports from Cherry Point indicate a powerful opponent. The Marines are expected to be at near their top performance while the locals are still ragged from a short practice session.

But Coach Dole has promised the Cherry Point club "a fight for its money." He is making no excuses, explaining that excuses don't change the score.

The contest will mark a number of firsts. It will be the initial appearance of Coach Dole at the helm of a North State conference football squad in action; it will mark the dedication of the new stadium; and it will be the first appearance of a number of new football figures and a new organization of cheer leaders.

Coach Dole's boys tapered off their heavy work this week as they prepared for the opener. Light workouts and signal drills constituted the final drills under Dole and Assistant Coach Jack Boone.

A big pep rally is on the schedule at the college tonight where a record enrollment of students is expected to be on hand to give the Buc moral support for their opening encounter.

Snead And Mangrum Play As Team In Ryder Matches

Ganton, Eng., Sept. 14—(AP)—Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum will play as the No. 1 U. S. team in the Scotch foursomes which open the Ryder cup matches with Britain's top pros Friday.

One other Tandem is definite. That is F. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Johnny Palmer.

Ben Hogan, non-playing captain of Uncle Sam's forces, announced the other two teams are indefinite. Indications are Jimmy Demaret, Bob Hamilton, Chick Harbert and Skip Alexander will be matched in some fashion.

Big Clayton Heafner, runnerup to Cary Middlecoff in the U. S. open this year, probably will miss the foursome play because of "aches and pains."

Four two-ball matches, in which players take alternate shots, are scheduled Friday with eight singles matches Saturday.

The British have been experimenting with five combinations and are confident of taking a lead over the Americans in this opening round.

The British foursomes are: Fred Daly-Ken Bousfield, Charles Ward-Sam King, Max Faulkner-Jimmy Adams, Art Lees-Dal Rees and Dick Burton-Lauria Aytou.

One of these twosomes will have to sit out the first day's activities.

Rocky Graziano Returns Tonight

New York, Sept. 14—(AP)—Rocky Graziano, the biggest question mark and dollar mark in the boxing business, returns to the ring tonight a solid choice to whip Charlie Fusari in the Polo Grounds.

The much suspended Rock, making his first main stem start since he was flattened by Tony Zale 15 months ago, has been installed a 5 to 9 favorite to win. The price may go even higher by fight time, 9 p. m. (EST).

While there is a great deal of uncertainty about Graziano's ability, there is no doubt over his gate-pulling powers. The former middleweight king's first home town showing in three years is bringing in the customers. The promoting International Boxing Club anticipates a crowd of 35,000 and a gross of over $200,000 providing the weather is good for the scheduled 10-rounder.

The weather forecasters predict clear skies by afternoon.

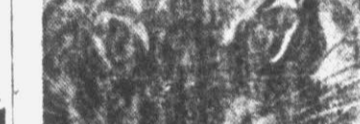

Rocky's explosive punch, his phenomenal attitude and an expected 10-pound weight advantage—159 to 149—are the reasons he's favored.

The rough East Sider has looked very good in training. He's happy to perform before the home folks and vows "I'll flatten that salami in three rounds."

Chapter 4

Swinnerton removed the cigar from his mouth. "Joe—I mean Jay—you've got to. I told you that we lawyers believe in the innocence of our clients, though now and then we have to stretch a few joints. I'm stretching one now. I'm stretching it a long way because I believe in your brother. That rifle slung through his chest seems to have knocked some sense into his head. He's a changed man. He says that it was just what he needed to bring him down to earth again. He worships the ground Ellen walks on and when this thing is over he's cutting off the rough stuff and settling down. He's already warned Morden that when he gets back on his feet, it's quits. All he wants you to do is just take his place for a few weeks until he can ride again. Then he and Ellen are getting married and going to your home for a spell. After that he's bringing her back here to settle on Randall's ranch. Ellen has already told Mike. But Mike's a hard man to convince. Look here, Jay; every man is entitled to one mistake in life, and Joe made it. There won't be any more. As his brother, his twin brother, you owe it to him to step into his boots for a few weeks and see that he comes out on top."

Jay Allison sat there and thought it over. He still didn't like any part of it; it was a fraud. And he could still feel Ellen Randall's warm lips on his. There would be danger there. He consoled himself with the thought that he'd be in the line camp, miles from the ranch, and that decided him.

Finally he nodded. "All right, Swinnerton, I'll do it for Joe's sake, even though it's against my grain."

"Good! That's fine. This will come out all right. You wait and see. Now I'll brief you on a few things about the ranch and so on to get you through supper. After supper you tell them you'll be out to the ranch sometime tomorrow, as you've a few things to take care of. Tonight I'll have horses ready. I'll take you to see your brother."

Jay left the office by the back way a few minutes later, the odd thought in his mind that he was mixed up in a criminal conspiracy . . . and already acting the part. He didn't like this skulking business.

He cut in back of the hotel again and ascended the steps up to the second-story hallway and made his way to the room. He opened the door and a big man pushed himself off the bed. He was in his mid-fifties, bemused, and burly. He said, "Well, I see you got back, and gruffly stuck out a hand."

"Frankly, I was hopin' you wouldn't come back," the other said without preamble. "But Ellen raised so much fuss over time me and her ma opened our mouths that there was no living with her. So when she come downstairs and said you was back I wanted to have a talk with you, Joe. You can have your job back at the ranch, all right, but I want this clearly understood: If you're going to marry her, this drinking and cutting around is going to stop. I'm not having my girl marry any man who's been cutting up the past few months like you have."

"I understand, sir," Jay said quietly. Swinnerton had said that Joe had had enough. No more of the rough stuff for him.

"Good," grunted Mike Randall. "But don't get any ideas, Joe. If you come back to work for me you're going right back to that summer line camp and stay there until we need all the hands at the beef roundup this fall. You won't be seeing her or having anything to do with her, understand? If you and her still feel this way after the roundup, and you settle down, then maybe we'll talk about you gettin' married some time this winter. But you've got to prove yourself, Joe. The first misstep you make, I'll chase you off the ranch with a shotgun."

"All right, sir," Jay answered. Mike Randall shot him a queer look. "Since when did you start calling people, me especially, sir?" he demanded.

"—uh—guess it's habit from being home," Jay answered lamely, and felt his face flush. "Mom's pretty much of a stickler for those things."

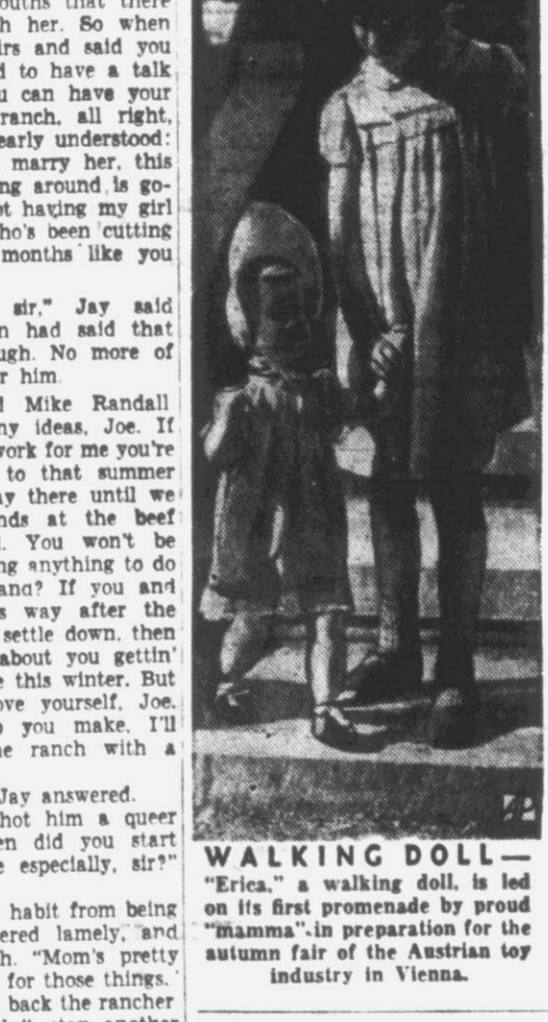

"Good," snapped back the rancher. "Too bad you didn't stay another month. Might have pounded some sense into your head. Well," he finished gruffly, "let's get on downstairs to supper. The wimminfolk are waiting. And you mind what I told you! I mean every word of it. They went out and he followed the bigger man downstairs. They passed a tall man in the lobby; a man who looked as though he had just come in from a long ride.

He was about thirty and carried a big knife in a fringed sheath, in addition to his pistol. He gave Jay a queer look in which there was no friendliness and added a brief, cold nod. Jay answered in kind, with a curt jerk of the head.

Randall said, low-voiced. "Looks like Peg Smith ain't forgot that little ruckus when you hit him over the head with a gun barrel. You watch out for him. He ain't the kind of man to forget."

Jay took off his hat and followed the bigger man. He was dressed in a dark suit that didn't look too bad after a brushing down and he'd had his boots shined that day at noon while the engine and crew were being changed. They set off his sleek black hair and eyes. He was thankful now that he and Joe had like so many twins, always bought identical clothes and gear down to the smallest detail.

Adjournment In October Claimed

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—A late October adjournment of Congress was predicted today by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader.

Barring the raising of new issues by President Truman, Democratic leaders meanwhile mapped a program that might bring the Senate abreast of its 1949 work in six weeks.

The House in recess until September 21, has completed most major legislation and seems willing to call it a legislative day as soon as the Senate can catch up.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, after a policy meeting yesterday, outlined a list of measures on which he said action will be sought before Congress quits. The list put the Administration's

Parallel Policies In Asia Forecast

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—Development of British and American anti-Communist policies in the far East already parallel lines was forecast by diplomatic authorities today.

Their prediction was based on talks now underway between Foreign Minister Bevin and Secretary of State Acheson.

The two were believed to be in agreement particularly that a peace treaty for Japan is long overdue. There were no conclusions reported as to whether the western powers should now proceed to active work on drafting a Japanese treaty with or without the participation of Russia.

Indications were that Bevin and Acheson were also in general agreement on several other points reportedly touched upon in their first session of political talks here yesterday.

adjustment board because that's his job.

But, as we've seen, the adjustment board is bogged down. The unions are sore about it, and the railroads are facing strikes which they feel are unjustified and unnecessary.

In a number of cases railroads have dropped letting an outsider come in to make a final ruling of pending grievances. That's arbitration.

But the unions don't want that. They say the cases are too complicated for a layman—that the railroad men themselves have to work them out, either through the adjustment board once it gets working right, or in collective bargaining.

Recent Wet Weather Feared Harming Sweet Potato Crop

Wet weather, which has prevailed over Pitt County recently, may be doing the county sweet potato crop damage, County Agent S. C. Winchester said this morning.

The tops of the county's almost 16 hundred acre crop look mighty good, the agent said, but explained that the growth of the potatoes themselves seemingly are hampered by the excess water.

He said the crop could stand but little more rain such as prevailed today without experiencing damage.

The Equinox?

Everybody's talking about the weather, especially those interested in baseball. Some say that this season of intermittent showers is caused by the equinox, others, that "it's simply weather, and it's better than some prevailing in other parts of the country."

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 84 degrees, five degrees lower than at the same time last year. Lowest temperature last night was 70, and at 8 a. m. today it was 71.

Drizzling rain squalls prevailed here during the forenoon, and there were indications of a "washing rain" to clear the sky for the usual period of Indian Summer which prevails here during late September.

Train And Car Collide In City

A car driven by D. R. House of near Greenville and a Norfolk Southern Railroad freight train collided here yesterday shortly after noon. The train was backing when the car started over the track.

The car was considerably damaged. House was shaken up but not injured. Miss Frances Mayo, 16, of near Greenville, a passenger in the car received cuts on a leg that required six stitches at Pitt General Hospital.

Schedule Pasture Demonstration Here

A pasture demonstration will be given tomorrow afternoon on the J. H. Boyd Jr. farm near Greenville. Local farm officials said today that Sam Dobson, state extension pasture specialist, will conduct the demonstration which will cover such phases of pasture development as land preparation, liming, fertilizing and seeding ladino clover and fescue grass.

The demonstration starts at two o'clock.

One program which the Washington conference didn't tackle was the possible devaluation of the British pound sterling to bring it more into line with what American officials consider its real buying power in dollars. Britain has strongly opposed such devaluation. However, the board of governors of the multi-British dollar international monetary fund, meeting in Washington, have before them a report advising dollar-short countries to devalue their currencies, if necessary. To boost their dollar earning exports.

Thus Britain and some other European countries are likely to have to face this issue shortly.

Plan Christmas Decorations Here

Greenville's streets are going to be more attractively decorated for next Christmas. The illumination will be more elaborate and the stringers of greenery will be of a type to stand the weather.

A Santa Claus parade will be one of the features of the Yuletide holidays. Prizes will be awarded for the three most attractively decorated homes in the city—white or colored.

Christmas comes on a Sunday this year. Monday will be observed as the holiday.

There are only 86 more shopping days until Christmas. This is a report of a meeting of the Merchants' Association's Trade Promotion Committee this morning. Chairman Larry Averette presided. City and utilities officials pledged their support to the Christmas program.
