New Walkouts In Sight This Week

May Boost Nation's Strike Idle To Two Million; No Sign Of Peace In Either Steel Or Coal; Thousands Of Persons In Allied Industries Face Lay-Offs

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10—(AP)—More labor walkouts may boost the nation's strike idle to two million this week.

There's no sign of peace in either the steel or coal strikes which have cut off paychecks to approximately one million.

Adding to the bleak picture is the threat aluminum and steel fabricating plants may join the 454,000 CIO United Steelworkers already on strike for free pensions and insurance.

The only sign of optimism comes from the fact that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, plans to go back to the bargaining table with coal operators Wednesday. The government is prodding both sides to end the 22-day old walkout of 380,000 soft coal diggers.

There's also a possibility the government may try again to end the nine-day old steel strike. Cyrus Ching, director of the federal conciliation service, may summon steelworkers' President Philip Murray and industry leaders to Washington this week.

Murray spent the weekend writing speeches. He's going on a tour to give pep talks in steel centers.

Meanwhile, Murray's lieutenants mapped final strike strategy for half a million steelworkers employed in fabricating plants where steel is used to make hundreds of articles.

Contracts in the fabricating companies start expiring Saturday. And Murray wants the men in these plants to get what his basic steel workers ask—free pensions and insurance.

October 17 is another deadline for steelworkers. Some 20,000 men employed by Aluminum Company of America have voted to strike—unless they get company pensions and insurance, along with a wage boost. Thousands of persons in allied industries will be thrown out of work if the fabricating plants strike.

Most of the unemployment resulting from the twin strikes to date has been on the railroads where approximately 50,000 men have been furloughed. But here and there other thousands have been idled or are working at reduced schedules.

Ordinary business in the steel and coal centers has been hit heavily. At Gary, Ind., 30,000 of the city's 36,100 payrollers are idle and general business is estimated to be 15 to 25 per cent off.

In Pittsburgh retail merchants are appealing to strikers to hold off on credit purchases. Virtually all types of retail shops report a sharp drop in business.

"Steel" magazine said full effects of the strike won't be felt for two or three weeks. It predicted at the end of the strike that consumer inventories were large enough for 30 days.

The nation's input rate was placed at 75 per cent of capacity and the magazine said this resulted from a "surprisingly large number of steelworkers" which have contracts with independent unions or have met union demands.

Chinatown Riot Over China War

San Francisco, Oct. 10—(AP)—A riot in San Francisco's colorful Chinatown last night broke up a meeting in celebration of Communist victories in China. One Chinese was injured.

A flying wedge of Chinese youths broke up the gathering of 400 members of the Chinese Workers Mutual Aid Association in Chinese-American Citizens Alliance Hall.

Through The Schools

Russian Satellites Undergoing Educational Metamorphosis Which May Widen Gulf Between East And West; New Textbooks Propagandize Communism, Russia

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The Russian satellite nations of eastern Europe are undergoing an educational metamorphosis which bids fair to change their entire outlook on life and take them still further away from western thought.

The satellite governments are busy overhauling their school systems to make them conform with the Communist ideological teachings laid down by Moscow. Czechoslovakia, for example is engaged in eliminating from its organs the reading all such frivolities as rags-to-riches success stories and the fairy tales which for centuries have fascinated youngsters the world around.

In place of such material the small folk are getting "text-books" which give a new and "genuine" outlook. Even such success stories as that of Henry Ford are banished, on the grounds that he was "an exploiter of the working people."

The significance of this revolutionary change is pointed out in an article by educationalist Josef Barbag in the Warsaw "Trybuna Ludu," organ of the Communist-Dominated Polish United Workers' party. He says schooling is to be linked more closely to political, social and economic life. It is to be based upon the ideology, education and methods of Marxist-Leninism. Barbag declares that special emphasis will be placed on subjects concerning the Soviet Union "with its leading role in the world, its achievements in the field of science, technology, culture and art."

In short, Moscow is in process of remodeling civilization, which will regard Russia as the parent nation of the world. However, that gets us into rather deep water. What really started me off was the idea of depriving the youngsters of their fairy tales and other cherished literature out of which have grown the dreams of childhood. Being well aware that I could be wrong in my outlook, I was glad when my colleague David Taylor Marke, AP newfeature specialist on education, dropped by my desk. I asked him how American educators felt on this subject.

"The primary contrast," he said, "is that in the United States we are trying to meet the needs of children, whereas in Russia they are trying to meet the needs of the state." (Continued on page eight)

Chances Increase For GOP Senate Control In 1950

Extra Senate Races Provide Extra Boost To Mathematical Chances

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—Three extra Senate races, in New York, Connecticut and Idaho, have increased the mathematical chances for a 1950 swing in Senate control from the Democrats to the Republicans.

The death Saturday of Senator Miller (D-Idaho) is expected to bring early appointment of a Republican successor by GOP Governor C. A. Robbons of Idaho. Former Senator Henry Dworshak and former Rep. Abe Goff are among those mentioned as possible appointees.

With this appointment, Republicans temporarily will close the margin of Democratic superiority in the Senate to eight votes. Before Miller's death the Democrats had 53, the Republicans 43.

This margin will change back to 10 votes before Congress meets in January, when Senator Baldwin (R-Conn.) quits in December to take a post on his state's high court.

Democratic Gov. Chester Bowles will fill the Connecticut vacancy with a member of his own party. The count then again would be 53 Democrats, 43 Republicans—if Senator Dulles (R-NY) wins next month's special election in New York to keep for another year the seat to which he was appointed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

If Dulles' opponent, former Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman, wins, the Democrats would start the new year with 12 more Senate members than the GOP.

The Dulles, Miller and Baldwin seats will be at stake in the 1950 elections, bring to 35 the number of senators to be elected then.

Republicans, who face an uphill battle in their attempt to regain Senate control, welcome the addition of these races where they figure they have some chance of winning from the Democrats. In the last elections in which these three races were involved, the Democrats won two, the Republicans one.

As it stands, the Democrats will have 20 seats at stake next year. But they can count in advance on retaining 11 of them in the south and border states, unless there is a political upheaval not now in sight.

Asks Money For Arms Shipments

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—President Truman asked Congress today for $1,314,010,000 to pay for American arms shipments abroad to aid friendly nations.

He requested an appropriation of $814,010,000 and authority to enter into $500,000,000 worth of contracts. A White House statement said the bulk of the funds would be used to provide military aid to those North Atlantic treaty countries which request it.

Sea Lion Easily Swims Channel In Record Time

Dover, Eng., Oct. 10—(AP)—Pierre Cillon, a California sea lion with a sense of humor, has shown the human race that it still has a lot to learn about swimming.

In the most casual sort of way Pierre swam the English Channel yesterday in just over five hours. That is approximately half the best time ever set by a human.

Pierre—spurred by by snacks of herring—made his bid for fame and radio, television and movie contracts on just about the worst possible day for a Channel swim. The crossing was so rough that half the 20 news correspondents and photographers who went along in two motor boats became very seasick.

The correspondents themselves established some sort of record for stunts of this sort. Many of them made the crossing without any pants. Because the surf was so heavy they had taken off their trousers and waded out to the boats. Then water splashed into the boats and made the garments too wet to wear.

Pierre's swim was part of a stunt for "truth or consequences," radio program familiar to listeners in the United States. Burt Kennedy, who missed a question in a quiz, was required to assist in managing the venture.

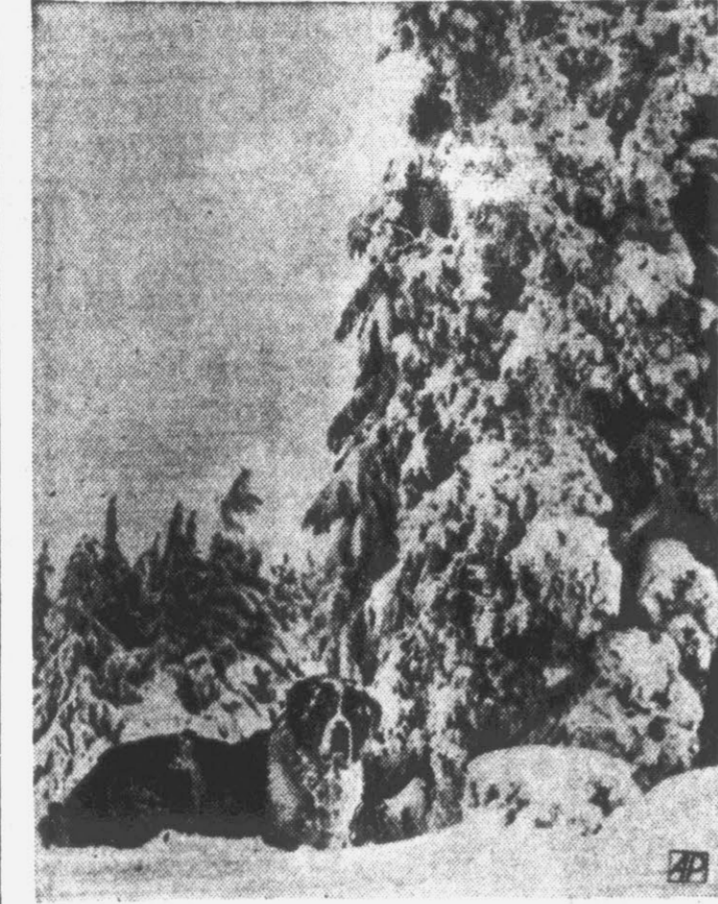

Chinese Embassy Staff In Paris Swing To Reds

Paris, Oct. 10—(AP)—The entire staff of the Chinese embassy and consulate-general here today deserted the Nationalist regime and declared their support for the new Chinese communist government at Peking.

The move, taken on China's national holiday—the so-called "double ten" anniversary of Sun Yat Sen's 1911 revolution—represented a defeat for the newly-designated charge d'affaires, Tuan Mao-Lan.

Tuan was sent here last week from London to take over the embassy because the ambassador, Dr. Tsien Tai, was gravely ill in a hospital. Tuan and Dr. Tsien, whose condition is still grave, were the only members of the embassy who did not desert, according to an embassy spokesman.

St. Bernard Tries First Snow

Hensel, mascot of Timberline Lodge high on Mt. Hood, near Portland, Ore., retains customary sad look while standing in nearly two feet of snow, the season's first, Saturday. It piled up three feet deep in some places and the lodge ordered its ski tow into operation. Hensel is a St. Bernard. (AP Wirephoto).

Quit Saturday?

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—Democratic Congressional leaders informed President Truman today that unless complications develop Congress will adjourn Saturday.

Speaker Rayburn told reporters afterward that it all depends on the Senate, since he can guarantee the House will be ready to quit on the target date.

Names Chairman For Chest Drive

Howard Hodges, Jr. has been appointed to head the special gifts committee for the 1949 Community Chest drive which is scheduled to begin in Greenville November 1.

The appointment of Hodges as chairman of the special gifts committee was announced today by Badger Johnson, general chairman of the Community Chest campaign.

In his statement this morning on the coming drive for funds, Johnson also announced the appointment of Mrs. Walter Harrington as chairman of the city canvass committee, and Dr. Leo Jenkins as chairman of the Community Chest drive on the ECTC campus.

The house-to-house canvass of the city is scheduled to begin November 2, and will be conducted by members of the Greenville Service League.

Six local red feather organizations have been designated by the board of directors of the Community Chest to share in the budget which has been set up by the directors for the coming year. Organizations which will receive the Community Chest

Reject Union's Proposal To End Hart Mill strike

General Manager Of Tarboro Mill Notifies Scott Terms Unacceptable

Raleigh, Oct. 10—(AP)—The Hart Cotton Mills today notified Governor Scott they were, in effect, rejecting a union proposal to end a five-month strike at their Tarboro plant.

In a letter to the governor, Marcus W. Carter, general manager of the Tarboro mill, wrote that as long as the union, the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) insists on having its way in three points at dispute, "we will not be able to come to an agreement."

The governor released Carter's letter without immediate comment.

The union proposal was made in a conference in Scott's office last Thursday of labor and management representatives and federal and state conciliators.

It proposed that the strikers return to their jobs under their old contract that an election be held by the State Department of Labor to determine whether the union should continue as bargaining agent for the mill employes.

Under the proposal, if the union won the election the old contract would remain in force, and if the union lost there would be no contract.

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—A congressional investigation has been ordered into the almost six-month-old strike at the Hart Cotton Mill of Tarboro, N. C.

A hearing on the dispute between management and the textile workers union of America, CIO, has been scheduled here for Oct. 20 before a House Labor subcommittee.

Gov. Kerr Scott may be called as a witness. The subcommittee will be made up of Reps. Burke (D-Ohio), chairman; Perkins (D-Ky.), Wier (D-Minn.), Werdal (R-Calif.), and McConnell (R-Pa.).

The strike of about 500 employes started May 12 after the company was reported to have asked for basic changes in the contract. Union leaders charged the company with "union-busting movements."

Pure Bred Swine To Stay In Pitt

Sixteen of 18 hogs sold at the Purebred swine sale here Saturday went to Pitt County buyers, officials disclosed this morning.

Henry Smith's bred gilt Duroc Jersey, which sold for $92.00 to pull down the highest price of the day, was among those which went back to the county. It was purchased by Fred Moore of Fountain.

The 18 hogs sold for a total of $964, a price which was considered fairly good by officials in view of the recent slump in swine prices.

The fact that almost all of the hogs went back into the county was met with the hearty approval of county farm authorities who said it was an indication that farmers are becoming mindful of the importance of good breeds.

The second highest price hog of the day was Bert Baldr's Duroc Jersey boar, one of a litter of 13, which went to Dan Thornell Jr. of Nashville for $77.50.

The sale was sponsored by the Purebred Swine Association of Pitt County and North Carolina, the State Extension Service, the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, and the local Farm Office.

Auctioneer was R. W. Austin.

Britain's Labor Chiefs Discuss Election Plans

London, Oct. 10—(P)—The economic high command of Britain's labor government met today to study whether it should try to ride out its current money crisis or call an early election.

Prime Minister Attlee conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the exchequer, Herbert Morrison, deputy Prime Minister, Aneurin Bevan, health minister who runs the medical program, and Harold Wilson President of the Board of Trade.

Bevan told a political meeting at Byker-on-Tyne yesterday a general election will be held "in a very short time on a date I don't propose to mention."

Oath Hearing

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—The Supreme Court called today for its first hearing of arguments on constitutionality of the non-Communist oath requirement in the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

That requirement is questioned by the CIO United Steel Workers of America and the CIO American Communications Association in two appeals.

The Taft-Hartley Act requires that union officials must file affidavits saying they are not Communists, if they wish to use machinery of the National Labor Board.

The steel workers' union appealed from a Chicago circuit court decision that its officials must file such affidavits before the labor board requires the Inland Steel Company to bargain on pension plans.

A statement explaining the union's present position was filed with the high tribunal on the eve of the argument sessions.

C-Of-C Drive To Begin Tomorrow

Membership Campaign To Be Launched With Breakfast

A membership campaign by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce is scheduled to begin tomorrow morning following a breakfast of the membership committee of the organization at the Proctor Hotel.

John G. Fleming, chairman of the membership committee, will preside at the breakfast tomorrow morning at which members of the committee will be guests of Kenneth Phillips, manager of the hotel.

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce at the present time numbers approximately 300 Greenville business firms and professional men among its members, and the current drive, according to Manager W. T. Kizer, is to bring into the organization a greater number of Greenville's over 400 business firms and professional men.

Kizer said the Chamber of Commerce during the past year has taken an active part in the civic affairs of the city as well as direct its program toward increasing the commerce, trade, industrial, and transportation development of the city.

Members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 8 o'clock for the regular monthly meeting of the group.

A-Bomb Advance May Rule It Out

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct. 10—(AP)—A former assistant secretary of state says if Russia and the United States make enough progress in the construction of the atom bomb "neither will want to hazard its use."

That's what Donald Russell of Spartanburg told a one-day meeting of farm women from 15 Piedmont South Carolina counties here Saturday.

MEET WEDNESDAY

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 10—(P)—Governor Scott has invited 600 law enforcement officials to meet here Wednesday to discuss enforcing prohibition laws.

Anti-Red Coalition Has Austrian Vote Victory

Vienna, Oct. 10—(AP)—Austrian voters kept their nation lined up with the anti-Communist countries of Europe in a weekend parliamentary election marked by a decided upsurge in rightist sentiment.

Final unofficial returns today revealed that Chancellor Leopold Figl's anti-Red coalition government had remained firmly in the saddle despite some loss of strength. That coalition, composed of the Conservative People's Party and the Socialists, will continue to run the new government.

Figl's People's Party held its rank as Austria's biggest party, winning 77 seats in the 165-member lower house of Parliament. The Socialists won 67 seats to give the government coalition an overwhelming 144-vote bloc in the chamber.

Communists, who won only four seats in the 1945 election, added one more in Sunday's voting. But their failure to make any appreciable gain led Chancellor Figl to proclaim that the voting gave "clear and unmistakable proof that Austria is an outpost of the Western democratic world."

Proclamation

Whereas the president of the United States has designated the week of October 9-15, 1949, as Business and Professional Women's Week throughout the nation in Hawaii and Alaska.

Whereas, the governor of North Carolina has also designated the week of October 9-15, 1949, as Business and Professional Women's Week throughout the state.

Now therefore, I, W. S. Stafford, Mayor of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, do hereby proclaim the week of October 9-15, 1949, as Business and Professional Women's Week in Greenville, North Carolina. We are fully aware that the Business and Professional Women in our town contribute a great deal to all community activities. In their activities, they live up to the theme "Boost Your Town—It Boosts You."

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 8th day of October, 1949. W. S. Stafford, Mayor, City of Greenville

Tornadoes Roar In Great Plains Area; One Killed

Thunderstorms Hit West With Flood Waters; Unusually Warm In Most States

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes roared and moaned over the Great Plains last night killing one person and injuring four others.

From the Dakotas southward into Oklahoma and Texas the clouds unloaded their moisture in thunderstorms. The bayous around Houston, though, were getting back to normal as flood waters receded.

But the weatherman used his trite but happy official phrase for the weather conditions over eastern, southern and central U. S. He said: "Unseasonably warm temperatures continue."

In the western states, the thermometer readers were cool, as were the readings.

In a suburb of Lincoln, Neb., a Sunday punch tornado dipped to earth and leveled a house. Mrs. Stella Morris, 78, was killed. Two others in the house were treated for injuries.

The whirling funnel of wind had scythed a path 12 mi. long across the Nebraska countryside before it made its deadly strike. In its wake it left a tangle of communication and power lines.

The damaging winds hop-skip-and-jumped over Oklahoma. One woman was injured at Sapulpa, Okla., a small farm community 50 miles northwest of Woodward.

Two houses and a filling station were damaged. A twister fingered down near Rostown, and damaged a home on the outskirts of Laverne in Harper county.

In Russell, Kans., a small tornado ignored the outskirts—it lashed down main street. One woman was critically injured. But on the edge of town 400 farmers danced on at a V. P. W. hall as the winds by-passed them.

The whirling gales smashed at Hutchinson in central Kansas, and took a swipe at Kansas City, Mo., where the roof flew off one house.

In Houston, Tex., many persons who ran away from high waters Friday and Saturday returned home.

Vandenberg Said Out Of Danger

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 10—(AP)—Senator Arthur Vandenberg's condition is so "excellent" there's no use issuing bulletins about it twice a day, University hospital announced today.

From now on, hospital authorities said, bulletins will come only once a day. Since last Monday, when the Republican senator underwent a lung operation, the hospital has released reports on his condition both morning and night.

Today he was described as in "entirely satisfactory shape."

Seek Report By Committee On AEC Hearings

Washington, Oct. 10—(P)—Administration Democrats tried today to pry out of the senate-house atomic committee some kind of a report clearing the atomic energy commission of "incredible mismanagement" charges.

Patient Circle Of King's Daughters Observes 60th Anniversary Oct. 11

The 60th anniversary of the Patient Circle of The King's Daughters and Sons will be celebrated on Tuesday evening, October 11, at the Woman's Club building at 8 o'clock. The Patient Circle of Greenville is the oldest woman's organization in Greenville, being organized in October 1889 with sixteen active members.

The program committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Clara Moyer Shackell, president of the Patient Circle, has planned an interesting program for the celebration of the circle's 60th anniversary.

Taking part in the program will be the following: Mrs. Z. A. Rochelle of Durham, state president, who will talk about the international order and the state work; Mrs. E. W. Harvey, of Greenville, will give the history of the Patient Circle; Mrs. W. T. Ueltschi of Raleigh, second vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Skeels of Rocky Mount, Mrs. Josiah W. Bailey of Raleigh and Mrs. H. G. Harrington.

A musical program will be rendered consisting of a solo by Miss Allison Hearne, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Hearne and a quartet composed of Ralph Sullivan, Cliff Sullivan, James Ray Pittman and Pat McGlohorn, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Scott.

Among the prominent King's Daughters from the North Carolina branch of the International Order of The King's Daughters and Sons expected to attend are: Mrs. Horlense F. Moyer, Greenville, honorary state president; Mrs. Z. A. Rochelle, Durham, state president; Mrs. W. T. Ueltschi, Raleigh, second vice-president; Mrs. W. Frank White, Durham, recording secretary; Mrs. D. J. Amnatt, Durham, chairman of the Young Women's department of the state branch; Mrs. W. H. Skeels, Rocky Mount, chairman membership of the state branch and president of the Rocky Mount circle; Mrs. H. G. Harrington, Raleigh, Treasurer of St. Luke's circle in Raleigh; Mrs. Josiah W. Bailey, Raleigh, chairman of the house committee of the St. Luke's circle; Miss Margaret Harrington, Raleigh; Mrs. Robert Henry, Rocky Mount; Miss Lucie Shine, Rocky Mount, past president of the Rocky Mount circle; Mrs. R. D. Linthicum, Mrs. E. L. Council, Mrs. Nannie B. Cheek, all of Durham.

The public is cordially invited to attend this celebration.

The Greenville Woman's Club met Friday evening, October 7, at 7 o'clock. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Rudolph Willmann, newly elected president and directed to the Sally Southall Cotten parlor where tomato juice was served. From there the members proceeded to the Rachel Maxwell Moore room where a delicious turkey dinner was served. The tables and mantel were decorated with colorful bowls of fall flowers.

Dr. Guion Johnson Speaks Before Club

The Greenville Woman's Club met Friday evening, October 7, at 7 o'clock. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Rudolph Willmann, newly elected president and directed to the Sally Southall Cotten parlor where tomato juice was served. From there the members proceeded to the Rachel Maxwell Moore room where a delicious turkey dinner was served. The tables and mantel were decorated with colorful bowls of fall flowers.

During the dinner the following program was given: The Club Woman's Hymn, played by Mrs. J. L. Fleming and directed by Mrs. Dink James. Mrs. J. Vance Perkins gave the invocation and Mrs. Arthur Corey welcomed the guests and members. Three lovely solos were sung by Mr. Al Krekeler, accompanied by Miss Madeline Hodges. The president, Mrs. Willmann, introduced the club officers and committee chairmen and guests. Mrs. Dink James welcomed new members.

Dr. A. D. Frank introduced Dr. Guion Johnson of Chapel Hill who spoke on "The Role of America in World Affairs." This talk was most informative and timely. Following the talk Dr. Johnson devoted a few moments to questions and answers relating to her subject. Following this the meeting was adjourned and Mrs. J. L. Fleming invited the speaker, Dr. Johnson, and the members of the executive board for an hour of fellowship at which she served punch and cake.

Christian Science Service

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and Societies on Sunday, October 9th.

Golden Text: Psalms 67:1,2. "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations." Among the citations comprising the lesson-sermon are the following from the Bible: "Jesus saith unto him, Rise take up thy bed and walk." (John 5:8).

And from the Christian Science Textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is a law of God applicable to healing, and it is a spiritual law instead of a material. Page 463.

Christian Crusade Meeting

The leaders of the Christian churches throughout North Carolina will assemble in the last general meeting of the crusade at Atlantic Christian College tomorrow, Tuesday, October 11, at 10:30 a. m. The leader of this assembly meeting is Dr. Gerald Sias, national director of the Crusade program, Indianapolis. Other national and state leaders will be on the program. A barbecue luncheon will be served on the campus of the college at 12:30. The program will close at 2:30. Many of the leaders of the 13 churches of the Disciples of Christ in Pitt county will attend this important meeting.

Mrs. Oakley Hostess To Round Table

Mrs. C. E. Oakley was hostess to the Ladies of the Round Table on Tuesday afternoon, October 4, at the first meeting of the year.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. E. R. Browning. Mrs. D. H. Conley, chairman of the program committee, presented the new programs. Characters in the Bible will be studied this year. After a short business session Mrs. E. E. Rawl gave a very interesting talk on "The Crosses of the Bible." The news was given by Mrs. J. D. Messick.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Anne Oakley, served a delicious ice course with coffee.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Stanley Daughtridge and Mrs. James Phelps. New books were distributed after which the meeting adjourned.

Ancient Indian rulers in Mexico used to carry rare orchids in their hands, as a mark of rank, when they appeared in public.

New Members Join Service League

At the October meeting of the Service League which was held Monday morning, October 3, at the Sheppard Memorial Library, Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., warmly welcomed the following new members: Mrs. George Martin, Mrs. J. B. Kiltrell, Jr., Mrs. Badger Johnson, Mrs. Ernell Webb, Mrs. Tom Wilson, Mrs. Victor Wells, Mrs. Charles Howard, Jr., Mrs. Charles Wilkerson, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Bob Thompson, and Miss Susanne Klige.

Mrs. Stokes, on behalf of the members extended greetings and explained the purpose and ideals of the League as exemplified by its seal and the service cup which will be awarded each year to the member who has best lived up to the objectives of the League. Mrs. J. B. Kiltrell, Jr., responded for the provisional members an expressed the group's pleasure in becoming a part of so splendid an organization.

Mrs. Little, president of the League, extended an invitation to a coffee in honor of the new members at the home of Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., on October 13 at 11 o'clock.

After the roll call and minutes, Mrs. Little called for reports from various committee chairmen and announced Mrs. Walter Harrington would act as chairman of the community chest drive. This drive being one of the most important projects of the Service League, members always respond willingly to go on the house to house canvas.

Mrs. Barrett Gives Club Program

The first meeting of the Clio Book club was held Tuesday afternoon, October 4, at the home of Mrs. Jack Gates with Miss Agnes Fullilove as hostess and program chairman. After routine business Mrs. Agnes Barrett delighted the club with an interesting account of her travels during the summer. With Miss Marguerite Austin, a member of the foreign language department of the college, Mrs. Barrett sailed from Montreal, Canada, docked at Liverpool and spent a week in London with relatives of Miss Austin. She discussed the high duty on certain articles taken into England particularly cigarettes. A highlight of the week in London was the "Trooping of the Colors" which was held to mark the King's official birthday. This was the first time since 1939 that this ceremony has been held.

From London they went to Paris and flew into Switzerland where they attended the international labor conference held in the League of Nations building. They spent a few days at Cannes, a famous resort on the French Riviera, returning to the States on the Queen Elizabeth. The hostess served a delicious salad course with coffee. Mrs. R. L. Wolff was a guest of the club.

Ione H. Bradsher In School Of Fashion

Miss Ione H. Bradsher, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Owen Marshburn of "Andalusia," has enrolled as a student at the Trapnagen School of Fashion, New York, where she will major this winter in Costume Design and Illustration.

All the professional aspects of fashion are included in Miss Bradsher's course. Since the school cooperates closely with the trade, the students of class are looking forward to seeing the fashion industry in action when they visit the various trade establishments on supervised field trips planned by the school.

Dr. and Mrs. Messick Hold Open House

Dr. and Mrs. John D. Messick entertained Saturday evening at open house and welcomed to their home students, alumni, and staff members of East Carolina Teachers college, and other guests from Greenville and near-by towns.

The occasion was a concluding event of Homecoming Day for alumni at the college, which was observed in an all-day program on the campus and which brought to the college a large group of former students. Approximately a thousand guests were present at the home of College President and Mrs. Messick Saturday evening.

Guests were greeted at the front door by Mrs. Messick, Dr. Messick, and their daughters, Miss Rose Messick and Mrs. Fred Willets, Jr., of Wilmington. Members of the Faculty Wives club of East Carolina assisted in welcoming and entertaining guests during the evening and other friends of the host and hostess received in various parts of the house.

The new home of the college president presented a beautiful scene for the entertainment. Dahlias and chrysanthemums and other fall flowers in colors suggested by the autumn season were used throughout the house as decorations. Guests were invited into all rooms on both floors of the home.

Refreshments were served in the dining room and the sun parlor. Tables in each room were covered with lace cloths and ornamented with center arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums and white dahlias and tapers in silver candleabra.

Dr. and Mrs. Messick and their family moved in August to the residence recently purchased by the college for the president. The open house Saturday afforded unusual interest and pleasure in that it was their first formal entertainment in their new home and it offered their many friends in this section an opportunity to extend good wishes and to enjoy their hospitality.

POPULAR TREE ORNAMENTED WITH GLASS BRACELET

Vernon Carawan, State Highway and Public Works Commission, found a sapling poplar tree with a glass bracelet on it. When the tree was no more than a switch, growing along a ditchbank, evidently some person placed the top of a bottle over it. The sapling had reached a height of more than five feet and the glassware still encircled it. Carawan found it on the old Hooker road near Harvey's dairy.

The sapling is on display in the Daily Reflector office.

BACON-POTATO SALAD

INGREDIENTS
2 slices bacon
1/4 cup vinegar
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. grated onion
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. sugar
1 cup Pet Milk
3 cups sliced, cooked potatoes
1 cup finely cut celery

DIRECTIONS
Cut bacon fine; cook until crisp. Remove pieces from skillet. Stir into fat the vinegar, onion, pepper, salt and sugar. Heat thoroughly; stir into milk. When well mixed, pour over mixture of the crisp bacon pieces, potatoes and celery. If desired, garnish with hard-cooked egg slices, edged with strips of pimiento. Makes 4 servings.

DON'T BALK AT THE FISH STORY

The Book of Jonah is a misunderstood portion of the Bible. It has been called a fish story, and people have jeered at it and considered it unworthy of the notice of a sensible person.

As a matter of fact, the Book of Jonah is one of the truly great books of the Bible. It was the first missionary tract ever written. It teaches that God loves all men—a truth which Jonah found hard to accept when applied to the Ninevites, and which you and I find hard to accept when applied to the Russians or perhaps to people of other races or colors. Yet there it stands on the pages of the sacred Book, the story of God's immeasurable love.

The fish story also has a great moral. Jonah tried to run away from duty, and behold, after he had run to the ends of the world—his little world—God brought him back to the place where he was supposed to be, and told him to get to work. Like Jonah, many of us have found ourselves cast on the shore where we have had to confront some unpleasant duty, and all because God was not willing that we run away from it.

The Book of Jonah takes only a few minutes to read, but thoughtful persons will ponder it for years. It is one of the great religious messages of all time.

Around Capitol Square

STEEPEST—The steepest grade to be found on the interstate highway system in the whole United States is in the town of Marion, North Carolina. James S. Burch, planning engineer for the state highway commission, told the luncheon group at Marion when the municipal roads commission visited there that it did not recall exact grade, but knew it was the steepest. Someone else volunteered information it was about 20 percent—that is, 20-foot rise in every 100 feet. There are numerous steeper grades on state and county roads in this and other states, but the section of US70 running eastward from the McDowell county courthouse, holds the record for the interstate numbered highway system.

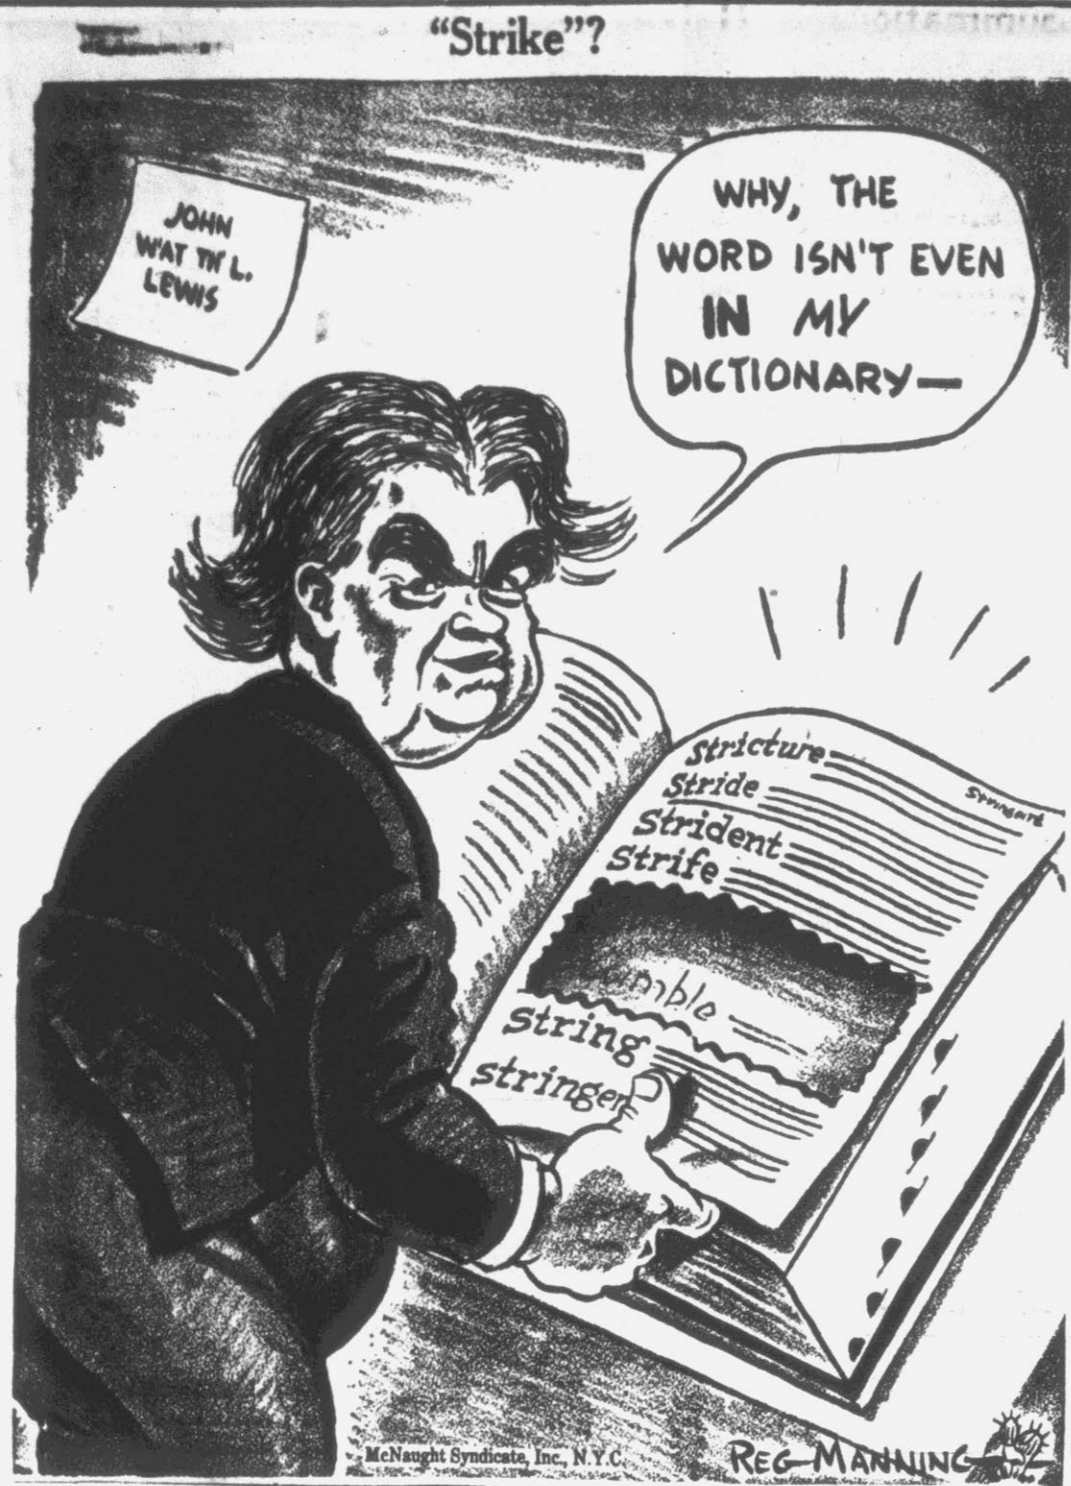

OFF-LIMITS—Although the city of Asheville is spending more than $450,000 on right of way and access construction of approaches to the big new bridge across the French Broad River, the state and federal governments are paying full cost of the bridge. There are two reasons for this. It is general policy for the state to bear cost of such structures which serve through traffic. In this case the bridge is not "in" Asheville. The city limits stop at the river bank on both sides. Asheville proper and West Asheville are both within the corporate limits of the city, but the river which divides the two sections is not.

EXPENSIVE—Mayor Ed Haupt of Newton claims some kind of record. He says he has been mayor "in and out" for fifteen years. Other mayors serve for long periods without serious opposition, he said, and then are defeated easily. "It takes $10,000 to get me out of office," he quipped.

JUSTICE—City Manager H. L. Burdette of Hickory kept a running flow of information over the amplifying system in the special bus as the municipal roads commission toured his city. Every minute or so he would say, with respect to street conditions, "We may need mercy, but we are only asking for justice."

COMEDY—Members of the commission gave serious attention to matters affecting street improvement, but between towns they had a lot of fun. Jim Speight's homely philosophy and wise cracks afforded much amusement. Jim was a popular name with this group. The chairman is Jim Doggett of Guilford. Other members were Jim Speight of Bertie, Jim Rose of Wayne and Jim Burch of the highway commission was major-domo of the tour. Passing several mountain girls walking beside the road, Speight wisecracked these mountaineers don't put as much meat on their women as we do down east. He also told about the mountain on his farm. He said it was almost eight feet high.

NERVY—George Franklin, who arranged the trip in his capacity as general counsel for the league of municipalities, took a bit of kidding about his nerve in one instance. The bus parked at Sarg's place, at the western limits of Black Mountain to wait for the local delegation. The local folks arrived with a case of soft drinks, and George put the box on the steps of the Sarg cafe for distribution. Since Sarg sells soft drinks, some of the fellows seated George about his nerves. He went inside, explained to the proprietor, and did such a good job that Sarg invited the group to come in and sit down while drinking the free competition cokes. Franklin thought next day the nerve was on the other side. George Coble, highway commissioner for the fifth division, kept the official members of the touring party in conference for more than half an hour, thus making arrival at Thomsville a good deal behind schedule. That worried Franklin and Leigh Wilson, his associate, because Manager R. M. Cooksey of Thomsville is president of the N. C. League of Municipalities and their "big boss," and a stickler for punctuality. "They would have to pick this place to run late," they complained.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York.—Winston Churchill once grumbled to Yousuf Karsh, "you can even make a roaring lion stand still to be photographed."

It was a reluctant tribute to a sensitive young Armenian who has become one of the greatest lens artists of our time. He has made everybody from Joan Crawford to Pope Pius "look at the birdie."

And after 15 years of stalking celebrities with his camera, Karsh has a matchless gallery of portraits.

But it has taken considerable doing to get them, for famous people often are more difficult to photograph than babies.

Churchill has a case in point. Marsh ambushed him in Ottawa in the House of Commons just after Winston had made a stirring wartime address. Still flushed from his speech, the Premier didn't want his picture taken. Reluctantly he paused before the camera and lit a long cigar.

When Karsh held out an ashtray, Churchill only clamped his jaw more firmly on his stogie. Marsh impulsively reached out, murmured "forgive me, sir," and plucked the cigar from the lips of the astounded statesman. Then he stepped back and clicked his camera on Churchill—a glowing lion at bay.

The result was an unforgettable portrait. It caught the spirit of re-

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Saturday morning I said to Wife Rachel, "You're going back to bed after breakfast, aren't you?" When I'm so sleepy aren't in the morning it helps if I know someone else can go back to bed.

"No," Rachel replied, "I have to clean up the house and wash clothes. Now that I'm teaching sieged Britain in one indomitable face.

Karsh doesn't try to catch his subjects in odd poses.

"Why should I pick on a man when his fork's in his mouth?" He said.

"When I make a picture, I try to make it as an embodiment of the man at the heights of his life. I try to bring out the humanity in him, the judicious blending of the good and bad. And I'm not so interested in whether people like their pictures as in whether people who know them do."

Karsh says the most interesting man he ever photographed was Bernard Shaw. Shaw began his interview by remarking:

"What are you—Armenian? That's good. I have many good Armenian friends. But you know, of course, the only way to keep Armenians healthy and strong is to exterminate them once in a while."

The late General John J. Pershing rising from a sickbed for his last portrait, said, half-joking, half-wistfully:

"Take a picture the American people will remember for a hundred years."

Karsh said one of his most difficult subjects was Lord Beaverbrook because of his restless energy. But "the beaver" was so pleased with his portrait he exclaimed:

"You have immortalized me." Karsh mentioned the incident to an acquaintance on Beaverbrook, and the man said:

"Karsh, are you sure that was a good idea?"

At 40 Karsh has photographed most of Europe's monarchs and a majority of the world's top statesmen, diplomats and military leaders.

"But the man whose portrait would like most to make is Stalin," he said. "A good picture of Stalin might help to explain him to the world. He has never faced an un-biased camera."

school, Saturday morning is the only time I have for routine household duties." My argument was that Saturday is also the only morning she can go back to sleep, but she's too smart for me and refused to be talked into going back to bed. Later, she wished that she had let me.

Betty Lou (Mrs. Charles, Jr.) Howard talked Rachel into going on a rummage sale. Classifying all of our old clothes and selecting the ones to be sold took considerable time. Rachel was behind schedule, so the clothes were pulled out and selected hurriedly. This process left the house looking like a cyclone hit it.

At 11 o'clock Rachel and Betty Lou set up their wares on Dickinson Avenue. Rachel had a prospect as soon as she finished price-tagging the articles. He was interested in my ten-year-old shirts. Before buying, however, he unfolded one for a close inspection, which revealed a big split in the back. Red-faced, Rachel said she didn't realize that it was split and quickly grabbed another one for his inspection. The second was split all the way up one sleeve.

Rachel sputtered her apologies again, and repeated the process until all of the shirts were used up. From that point on she had some nice, clean, rags for sale.

Betty Lou had a $60 suit that she was selling for $3.50. "Do you mean to tell me," her customers would say, "that you paid $60 for that suit? Ma'am, you shored did get stuck."

Rachel and Betty Lou found their customers hard to please. If a skirt seemed to be the right size for them they would hold it above their waists and say, "I believe this is too short for me." Others would hold it below their waists and claim it was too long. If the girls had a white blouse for sale, the customer would want a striped one; if they had a cotton blouse they would want wool.

All of the prices were marked on a paper tag and pinned on the articles. These prices were subject to a quick verbal reduction. For example, the girls would say, "This Is Your Child the "One in Five"?

One school child in five is retarded because his vision is defective. Poor vision is a great handicap to a child. It shows him up in every way. It forces him to work harder to master his studies; handicaps him in his relationships with other children and grown-ups, too. It tends to warp his personality—and generally sets him back in his struggle to get ahead and make his mark. Make sure your child's vision is right! Don't handicap him!

dress is $1.00, but I'll sell it to you for 75c." Everybody on the avenue was a special customer, entitled to a "special" price.

After two hours of hard talk the girls gave up and came home. Rachel had sold two pairs of pajamas and a slip, which brought a total of $1.20. Betty Lou sold one sweater, for 50c.

When I came home from work Rachel had just that minute walked in the house. She was tired, the house was still a wreck, and dinner wasn't ready. Try as I might, I couldn't let her cook dinner in that frame of mind, so we ate out. This cost us $1.65, so we lost only 35c on the rummage sale, plus the time and effort. We considered this quite fortunate, considering the fact that Betty Lou lost more by the time she finished paying a baby-sitter to keep her daughter, Cindy.

The authorities on business say that many women have as much business ability as men. That "many" doesn't mean all, does it? And I thank you.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington—Dr. David J. Price, dust explosion and farm-fire expert who retired recently from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says he is "just beginning to live."

Full of plans for the future, he intends to serve as a consultant to the International Association of Fire Fighters in developing chemical methods for fighting fires resulting from chemical causes. "Of course I will not try to do at 65 what I would do at 35," Dr. Price told me, "but if I could live 65 years more, I could accomplish wonders." He believes that the advent of atomic energy, with development of plastics and new chemicals, calls for new safeguards in industry and new ways of handling the kinds of accidents likely to occur in their development.

"You can't wait till the accidents happen—you have to prepare for them," he said. "Therefore, I expect to busy myself studying ways of getting more chemistry into fire departments throughout the country. You can't use many of the old methods in fighting the fires of today. Too many lives are being lost that way already."

A national authority in his field, Dr. Price was with the Bureau of Agricultural and Industrial Chemistry for 35 of his 37 years in government service. For many years he was the department's consultant in work with other federal agencies, state and local organizations, firemen's associations and private industry on the control of dust explosions and fires, particularly those involving chemicals and agricultural materials. Under his direction, research in the U. S. D. A. has brought forth some highly important data on the explosibility of dusts from farm products that made possible the development of effective measures for preventing dust explosions. As a result of his work, U. S. D. A. officials say losses of life and property have been greatly decreased.

Dr. Price was president of the National Fire Protection Association from 1942 to 1944 and in 1947 was made a member of President Truman's committee on Fire Fighting Services. He is a native of Ashland, Pa., and the author of more than 300 published articles on the subject of fires.

Senator Hoey Blacklisted By AFL; Has No Comment

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—Senator Hoey (D-NC) says he has no comment on the AFL's expressed determination to work for his defeat in the 1950 elections.

Political leaders of the labor organizations which claim 8,000,000 members ticked Hoey and 12 other Senators for defeat. The action came during the 48th annual AFL convention in St. Paul, Minn.

Sen. Johnston (D-SC) was on a list the AFL said it would support for reelection.

Hoey and three other Southern Democratic Senators, along with nine Republicans, were put on the AFL blacklist. Senators Fulbright of Arkansas, Tydings of Maryland and George of Georgia were the other Southerners thumbed down. Top officials of the AFL political arm—labor's league for political action—said the four Southern Senators have voted too often against measures sponsored by the Truman administration and wanted by labor.

The nine Republican Senators on the blacklist: Taft of Ohio, Young of North Dakota, Gurney of South Dakota, Donnell of Missouri, Wiley of Wisconsin, Milliken of Colorado, Caphart of Indiana, Hickenlooper of Iowa and Reed of Kansas.

Women In The Church

According to Miss B. Louise Foster, missionary in Chengtu, West China, two graduates of the School for the Blind in that city are now enrolled as students in the West China Union Theological College. One is a man, the other a woman; both are looking toward eventual Christian preaching among the millions of blind people in all parts of China. Miss Foster says that both take their classroom notes in Braille.

There are some twelve million refugees still in Germany in need of clothing for the coming winter, and desperately in need of food, according to Miss Elizabeth Urbig, secretary of "Hilfswerk," the Protestant relief agency in Germany through which Church World Service and other American church agencies are distributing supplies of all kinds. Miss Urbig has been urging American churches, through CWS, to make a new effort to send clothing to the refugees in the next few months. "Only a few thousand have been able to find jobs which enable them to purchase the goods which reappeared on the German market in consequence of the ERP," she says. "Ex-prisoners of war return from Russia by the thousands each month; homeless, sick, and in rags. Children grow up and cannot attend school because they have no shoes to wear. Fuel is still so short that many aged people yearn for warm wraps, stockings, and underwear. Our refugee sewing centers can use old clothes and material for repairing clothes."

Summations

New York, Oct. 10—(AP)—Defense summations in the Communist conspiracy trial continue today.

Final arguments for the eleven top leaders on trial in federal court began Friday, and the defense has three more days to sum up.

The prosecution, which will follow, is expected to take one day.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina then will charge the jury, probably Friday.

The Red leaders have been on trial for almost nine months on charges of conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Unions Agree To Settle Dispute

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10—Better labor peace in the construction industry was assured today with settlement of a long-standing jurisdictional dispute between two key American Federation of Labor Unions.

An agreement claiming several years of negotiations has been reached during sessions of the annual AFL convention here, it was learned.

The agreement contains a no strike pledge between the AFL carpenters and the AFL laborers union on handling of concrete forms.

This agreement may be unknown to a great many people but has tied up millions of dollars of important construction work for months at a time, with strikes occurring frequently over the years.

The agreement became known as the AFL convention began to wind up business. Election of officers late today was to climax the session of considering resolutions and a major address from secretary of defense Louis Johnson.

William Green, AFL President, and other officers of the big labor organization were expected to be re-elected without opposition.

The flower of the month for January is the carnation the birthstone garnet.

Wage Earners Now Have Longer Life Expectancy

New York, N. Y.—During recent decades the average length of life among America's wage-earners and their families has been increasing more rapidly than that for the country's population as a whole, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

In 1911 the expectation of life at birth in the wage-earning families was shorter by 6 1/2 years than for the general population, but by 1948 it had virtually reached the level of the population as a whole, the statisticians report.

"This remarkable progress in adding to length of life among the wage-earners and their families may be attributed largely to advances in the medical sciences, to public health measures, and to the rapid rise in the standard of living of the industrial population," the statisticians say. "Further efforts will undoubtedly add greater gains to this record of past achievement in longevity."

Test For NROTC To Be Held December 3

The annual competitive tests to select approximately 2,000 applicants for the Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps college program will be held in 550 cities in the United States and its territories on December 3, 1949. Applicants must be filed prior to November 12, 1949.

Navy To Seek 1,200 Air Cadet Candidates

The Secretary of the Navy has announced that commencing immediately and extending through June 30, 1950, the Navy will accept for flight training as Naval Aviation Cadets approximately 1,200 unmarried male citizens, between the ages of 18 and 27, who meet educational and physical requirements and are considered to possess desirable officer qualifications.

The program is open to qualified civilian applicants and to personnel on active duty in the Navy, Marine Corps and their Reserve components. Applicants must agree to serve on active duty for four years unless sooner released.

Reynolds-Page Combine Is Winner For Invalid Yanks

Because Stengel Had Right Relief Men In Clinches, Yankees Are World Champions

Brooklyn, Oct. 10—(AP)—The New York Yankees, of Casey Stengel's "Invalids of destiny" won the World Series from the started Brooklyn Dodgers for several reasons—but the most important was the Reynolds-Page bullpen combination.

Because he had the right relief men when he needed them most, Stengel led his assorted cripples to the winners' share of the jackpot, $5,884 for each Yankee.

Pitching usually tells the story of a short series. It was no different in the five-game 1949 set. Only this time it was the relief work of Alie Reynolds and fireman Joe Page that stood out after the Yanks and

Stengel's Dream Has Come True

Brooklyn, Oct. 10—(AP)—Casey Stengel, "the old crow," is enjoying the laughs today instead of providing the laughter.

Stengel, who has more money than he can spend, has realized a life-long ambition—manager of baseball's world champions.

The New York Yankees made old Casey's dream come true. The sturdy Yanks trounced Brooklyn, 10-6, yesterday to take the 1949 world series, four games to one.

Stengel, 58-year-old veteran of the wars, gave all the glory for the winning of baseball's highest honor to the team at the Yanks victory banquet last night.

The well beloved manager said in summarizing the hard campaign, "The Yanks were united like our flag."

"They were the most unselfish group ever put together and never sulked at any time," Stengel said. In parting, to the strains of Yankee Doodle Dandy Stengel remarked, "Truly, they were Yankees."

In the midst of the speech Stengel remarked, "I may stay another year but if I had lost I would have been gone."

Stengel was on the spot when he accepted the helm of the Yanks. The Yanks had finished third under popular Bucky Harris in 1948. They were in the fight until the next to the last day of the season.

Bubble Bursts For Cleveland's Unbeaten Browns

New York, Oct. 10—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns' bubble has burst. In fact, it has exploded.

After a two-year domination of the All-America Football Conference, during which they were unbeaten through 29 consecutive contests, the Browns finally came apart yesterday, but good.

San Francisco, an arch-enemy, dispelled the illusion of invincibility with a thundering 56-28 rout of the Browns, and in doing so also recorded their first victory over the league champions since early 1946.

In handing the Browns their fourth conference loss in almost four years, the rugged 49ers replaced the Clevelanders as league leaders.

Auto Racer Dies In Hitting Fence

Hatfield, Pa., Oct. 10—(AP)—Jimmy Gibbons, midget auto race driver from Richmond, Va., crashed through a fence and was injured fatally yesterday in the 100-lap National dirt track race at the Hatfield speedway.

Gibbons lost control of his car on the 58th lap of the grind. He never regained consciousness after being removed from the wrecked car. It was reported Gibbons succumbed of a fractured skull.

Tar Heel End Is Out Of Line-Up

Chapel Hill, Oct. 10—(AP)—The University of North Carolina football team will be without the services of first-string right end Kenny Powell in the Wake Forest game here Saturday.

He hurt a knee in the 26-13 triumph over South Carolina last Saturday. Doctors said yesterday he might be out until even after the Wake Forest game. No other serious injuries were reported.

Appalachian On Comeback Trail; Catawba Is 'Next'

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Appalachian, defending football champion in the North State conference, has a chance this week to knock another club from the unbeaten ranks as it continues on the comeback trail.

Twice-beaten Appalachian scored its second triumph in a row Saturday night by handing Lenoir-Rhyne its first conference loss, 19-6.

This Saturday night Appalachian meets one of the three unbeaten clubs in the conference, Catawba. The game will be in Winston-Salem. Catawba and Western Carolina Teachers each has won two conference games and lost none, and Guilford has won its only league game.

The schedule, however, could work against Western Carolina's chances. The only two conference teams remaining on its schedule are Lenoir-Rhyne and East Carolina Teachers. Appalachian and Lenoir-Rhyne play every one of the other eight clubs in the league, and the season is still young.

Two other conference games were played Saturday. Catawba edged High Point 6-0 when Freshman Homer Brewer recovered his own fumble and ran 80 yards for a touchdown in the last quarter. Elon

Midwest's Reign Hits Hard Times

New York, Oct. 10—(AP)—The Middle West's three-year dominance in college football, shaken with the defeat of mighty Michigan by Army, may get another jolt this week.

Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, who since 1945 have been battling with Michigan for top honors, is host to Tulane's Green Wave in a game that may turn the standings upside down.

Coach Frank Leahy of the Irish has tabbed the Southerners as the toughest assignment his athletes have faced in many a moon. He warned long ago that this is the game Notre Dame is most likely to lose.

Tulane has already bowled over two of the stoutest elevens in its own backfield — Alabama by 28-14 and Georgia Tech 18-0. It won easily over a breather foe Saturday, brushing aside little Southeastern Louisiana, 40-0.

Henry Franks, the man with the five-man-line name who tutors the Green Wave, is regarded as one of the finest "pointers" in the business. He has pointed to this particular game.

Notre Dame will be protecting one of the longest unbeaten streaks in modern football. The Irish haven't been licked, though they've experienced ties since Great Lakes subdued them in 1945. Last Saturday the Irish, sparked by Emil Sitko, romped over Purdue, 35-12.

Charge Florida Man Larceny Of $160; Police Find Loot

In Police Court today, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found probable cause against Samuel R. Grantham, 39, of Bristol, Fla., in connection with the larceny of $160 from the person of Floyd Matthews, 44-year-old painter who operates a small farm near Greenville. The court bound Grantham over to Superior Court.

An officer testified that when he took Grantham and Matthews to police headquarters, Matthews missed his money. Police said they found it on Grantham. Further testimony was that Grantham has a police record; that he was sentenced to 10 years in Florida for armed robbery and two years for resisting arrest.

Losing Coach Is Out Of A Job

Los Angeles, Oct. 10—(AP)—Lowell P. "Red" Dawson, coach of the All-America conference Buffalo Bills, was out of a job today in the wake of the Bills, 42-28 defeat Sunday by the Los Angeles Rams.

Bills' team owner James F. Breuill said he "requested and accepted" Dawson's resignation here.

At the same time, the Bills boss named Bills line coach Clem Crowe to the head coaches post. Crowe, Notre Dame captain in 1925 under Knute Rockne, has been line coach for four years.

Indian Summer Weather Here Is Helping Farmers

According to local Weather Bureau records, Indian Summer is scheduled to end within the next few days. Farmers are making good progress winding up harvesting of late crops.

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 84 degrees. Lowest last night was 61, and at 8 a.m. today it was 68. A slight drizzling rain fell here yesterday for a short time.

Less than one-fourth of an inch has fallen here during October. Hot weather has prevailed here all this month, in contrast to a cool period at the same time last year.

The first killing frost last year was the night of October 19.

Very little snow fell in the area last winter. A light snow, sleet and rain storm prevailed here last December 20. The weather was mild Christmas Day. The next night the temperature dropped to 13 degrees above zero.

A heavy snowstorm struck here in February, 1947, and the depth was 10 1/2 inches. Traffic was stalled for several days and rural mails were delayed. Mrs. C. E. Maiden observer here for the U. S. Weather Bureau, reported.

A Fighting Christian powerhouse, flying the maroon and gold of Elon College, bowled over a lesser East Carolina Teachers College football team 33-7 here Saturday, dampening the spirits of a capacity Homecoming crowd.

Elon, boasting a 214-pound line, came to offensive life after a sluggish first period in which the Buccaneers of East Carolina chalked up a seven-point lead. From the second period on it was Elon all the way as the visitors rolled through the lighter East Carolina defenses for 248 yards, passed for 93 more and marked up 13 first downs in racking up their 33 points.

Halfback Jack Benz, a freshman, scored the Pirates' lone touchdown on a 15-yard pass from Roger Thrift midway the first period. Jim Danks kicked the first point. The scoring play was Benz's 70-yard punt return which moved the ball to the Elon 15.

But Elon, with its powerful single wing attack, launched a touchdown drive late in the opening quarter which was good for 70 yards and a touchdown when Brickman went round end for 20 yards and paydirt. Reid kicked the point to tie it up seven-all.

The Fighting Christians shoved over two more tallies before halftime. The second was set up by Billy Barger's 38-yard punt return to the Buc 29 from where R. K. Grayson passed to Hal Johnson for a first on the 15 and two plays later Marsh-

Over $45,800 In Savings Bonds Bought In Pitt

U. S. Savings Bonds sales, Series E, F and G, in Pitt county from September 1 through 30, totaled $45,843.75, it was announced today by County Savings Bonds Chairman Mr. Waldrop. This information was contained in the monthly state sales report to county chairman from State Director Allison James in Greensboro.

Of this total, $29,343.75 was in Series E Bonds, and $16,500.00 in Series G Bonds.

Sales of the three series Bonds for the state of North Carolina for September were: Series E, $2,974,972.25; Series F, $289,673.00; Series G, $691,500.00; total for state $3,956,145.25.

Mr. Waldrop further stated that according to the report Series E Bond sales in North Carolina for September exceeded August E sales by $486,307.00, due to increased seasonal purchases in farm areas.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

AP Newsfeatures By WILLIAM HOBSON

Chapter 26
 In the big dining room of the ranch house the long table, covered by a white tablecloth, was loaded with about everything the four women had been able to prepare. Mike Randall sat at one end, Selzer at the other. On one side Mrs. Randall was beside the older woman.

Jim Swinnerton sat between the two girls. He was immaculately dressed, full of laughter, debonair.

"Heck," grunted Smith to his companion, "Brad said as how we wasn't to go in unless there was inside, eatin' some of that food, an' drinkin' wine. It'd be fun to gloat over Mike. So he fired me, did he? Well?"

"Better not do it," Hank advised cautiously. "You know what Brad—"

The shots came. Two of them, faint in the distance. Smith wheeled, starting off into the night. "They've got the horses but something has gone wrong if they heard that shot inside—come on, Hank!"

He opened the door and pushed in, gun in hand, followed by Hank. The laughter stopped and Mike Randall rose from the table, his face apoplectic. "What in tarnation is going on here, Peg?" he roared.

"You sit right down again, Mike," Smith said woodenly, the killer instinct strong in him now. "Brad Morden has just run off your herd of blooded Morgans. It was Joe Allison who framed it. He hit the other night guard over the head an' tied him up. We're goin' to hold you here till daylight to give 'em about ten hours' start, so you might as well be comfortable an' git set for a long night. There ain't a man except Mexican barn hands on the place, an' there ain't a hoss left either."

A kind of strangled sound came from the rancher. He started to rise again, then sat down weakly. This time he groaned.

"Peg, this will get you into some very bad trouble," Jim Swinnerton said smoothly and Smith almost laughed as he thought he detected a sly wink. "As a lawyer—"

"As a hoss thief," Smith cut in grinningly, "I'd advise you to shut up. You're all stayin' right here till Hank an' me burn the breeze outa here in the mornin'."

He reached over the table with his left hand and picked up a cut, wolfing it. "Help yourself, Hank," he invited.

They began to eat, guffawing and winking at each other.

Outside in the night, Jay had swung down, gun in hand, and moved from the corral toward the house. He stepped close to the door, left hand on the knob, then stepped inside.

"All right, Peg," he said quietly. Gunfire filled the room; the crashes were deafening. Jay stood there in the lamplight, half crouched, thumbing the six-shooter as fast as he could work it. He shot Smith once, a snap shot that went home, and then drove three bullets into Hank before he saw him drop, thrashing amid the screams of Mrs. Selzer.

Jay straightened and swung the muzzle of the smoke-wiping Colt on Jim Swinnerton, half out of his chair.

"The game's up, Jim," Jay said quietly.

"Joe, what's the meaning of all this?" Randall yelled.

"It was Ellen Randall's voice that cut in quietly before he could reply. "His name is not Joe, Dad."

"He—his what?"

"His name is Jay Allison. We's Joe's twin brother."

There was dead silence in the room. Jay was looking at her, actually staring at her.

"Ellen," he finally got out, "how did you know?"

She said calmly, "Joe and I used to go swimming together. He wore an old shirt with the sleeves cut off. He had a long bullet scar on his right forearm. It wasn't until after we got you home and I took care of you that I saw there was no scar. So I wrote to your mother."

"So that's why you treated me like you did—" he began, but never finished, for Randall was roaring around the room like a mad bull.

Again it was a quiet word from Mrs. Randall that calmed him down. Jay went on to explain everything: that Joe had plotted the whole thing, that Harry and the rest of the outfit would have the settlement surrounded at dawn for a wipeout, that Joe and Lucia—

Mary had risen quietly. Her face had gone white, and in that moment Jay guessed her secret. She was in love with his brother, the wild one.

"Then Joe will be trapped there..." She faltered.

Jay looked at the lawyer. His pale face told Mike Randall everything he wanted to know. Jay said, "Mike, we had to fool you that way because Joe lost his head and got mad at you and tried to help steal your Morgans for spite. He didn't mean it. Chances are, had the deal gone through, he'd have gone right out and got his head shot off trying to get them back. So I had to come in and take his place to keep you and Ellen from getting suspicious. I'm taking Peg Smith's horse and burning the breeze for the settlement. I don't know whether I can beat them there or not. They're pushing the Morgans fast. I'll try to free Joe and Lucia, if I can. If we get back all bets will have to be off between you and Joe."

He was out the door, running past the unarmed night guard, and hit the saddle. He thought he heard the voice of a woman calling after him—either Mary or Ellen—but the drum of his horse's hoofs drowned out all sound and left it behind. (To be continued)

Six From GHS Attend Annual Press Institute

Six members of the Greenville High School annual and paper staff were among those who attended the eighth annual Scholastic Press Institute held at the University of North Carolina Friday and Saturday.

Tommie Upton, co-editor of the high school newspaper, Green

Lights, and a past treasurer of the press group, was on a panel which discussed newspaper makeup in one of the discussion groups held at the meeting.

The press meeting was the second to be held in the state by the group since the end of the war, and was attended by over one hundred and sixty journalists from high school papers and year books in all sections of the state.

Following the discussion groups and talks by leading men in the field of journalism Saturday, a banquet and dance were held for those attending the meeting.

Other members of the Greenville publications which attended the press conference were, Peggy Bowen, business manager of the Green Lights; Jimmy Brady, sports staff; Carolyn Hines and Martha Gilbert who represented the year book; and senior class advisor Mrs. Mary Goodwin.

Business Women Week Is Boosted

President Truman in a letter to Dr. K. Frances Scott, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., pledged his support to that organization's observance of National Business Women's Week—October 9-15—and praised the National Federation's theme—"Boost Your Town—It Boosts You."

Mr. Truman stated, "I am happy to give my wholehearted support to the theme chosen this year by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs for its observance of National Business Women's Week. Democracy, like charity, begins at home and you are emphasizing this fact in stressing good work on the community level. "When we speak of the American way of life, we are summing up the manner in which Americans live in cities and towns all over this land of ours. To make democracy work nationally we must make it work in our communities. To raise the living standards of America, we must raise the living standards at the crossroads of America. To assure nation-wide prosperity, we must see to prosperous times for the small farmer, the village milliner, the corner grocer and the neighborhood shop operator."

"Because of the present pre-eminence of our country in international affairs, it is more than ever necessary that our economy remain healthy and prosperous and that our democracy retain its vigor. We need have no fear of losing that position, with all that it means for lasting peace and widespread human freedoms, so long as the informed women of America are prepared to take up the budgets for our way of life in the communities of your affiliated clubs can be counted on to do their part."

National Business Women's Week is being celebrated for the twenty-second year by the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. Its purpose is to pay tribute to the accomplishments of women everywhere in business and the profession.

Sweet Potatoes

A sweet potato auction market, with official state graders, will open in Bethel, near the Bethel Freezer Cold Storage plant, tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. The market will be central to several adjoining counties and it is the nearest sweet potato market in 100 miles. J. P. Harris, owner and manager, stated. Sweet potatoes taken to the Bethel market will be graded by official graders before going on the auction sales. Growers are expected to pay a fee of five cents a bushel auction fee.

Funeral Today For Mrs. Effie Carson

Mrs. Effie Andrews Carson, 69, died at her home here Saturday afternoon at 5:10 o'clock following a long period of declining health. Funeral services were held in the Bethel Baptist church at three o'clock this afternoon conducted by Rev. W. M. Cassell, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. William Howard Jr., of the Bethel Methodist church. Burial was in Bethel cemetery.

Elected President Red Oak HD Club

Mrs. Fenner Allen was elected president of the Red Oak Home Demonstration Club last week, succeeding Mrs. E. A. Hooks Sr. Other officers elected were Mrs. James W. Joyner, vice-president; Mrs. Joe Joyner, secretary; and Mrs. N. O. Hodges, treasurer.

Fellowship Group In Supper-and-Fun Hour

The junior fellowship group of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church were entertained at a supper and fun hour held at the church recently. A spaghetti supper started the proceedings, followed by a visit to the "grim row circus" and a series of movies shown in the Ellington classroom for the young folks.

(Continued from page one) "Here in elementary grades we go in for cowboy type stories and Paul Bunyan-like tall talk—imaginative stories. We go in for folk-lore, stories such as the three musketeers, Moby Dick, Sinbad the Sailor. We strive to meet the needs of the children for excitement, adventure and a resurgence of the pioneering spirit. "There are two schools of the use of fairy tales per SE. Some educators feel that they should not be used until after a child is ten or twelve, because such stories tend to be understood properly. Others feel that they still are good reading."

Well, thanks for the lift, Dave. It's good to know that American educators don't hold with any humdrum regimentation of the mind which will produce a race of people who think like adding machines. What a world this would be with no day-dreams—no romance—just stark realism running in a groove. I wouldn't take money for the remembrance of my own two youngsters (now in college) curled up on the floor before the blazing fireplace, their eyes dancing with the thrill of a fairy tale.

DEATH OF INFANT

Diana Keel, 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Keel, died at the home, near Ayden, early Sunday after a brief illness. Funeral services were held at the Free Will Baptist Church at 3 p.m. today. Rev. Robert Crawford officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery. Surviving are the parents, the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dixon of Ayden, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Betty Keel of Lewiston.

District Lions In Meet Sunday

Representatives of six regions of eastern North Carolina representing 72 local Lions clubs in this section of the state met yesterday at the Olde Towne Inn for a cabinet meeting of Lion district 31-C.

Louis K. Day, district governor from Rocky Mount, presided at the meeting. During the business session of the meeting, plans were made for the mid-winter convention of district 31-C which will be held in Goldsboro on January 24. Plans also were discussed for the state meeting which is scheduled for June 18, 19, and 20 in Charlotte.

Ed MacMahon of Raleigh, international director of the organization, brought greetings to the Lions at yesterday's meeting from the International board of directors which met last week in Ontario, Canada. He reported on the meeting of the international officers, and spoke of plans for the Lions international convention which is scheduled to be held in Chicago next July.

International councilors present at yesterday's meeting here were Sam Alford of Henderson, Tom Payne of Washington, Little John Faulkner of Wilson, and Jimmy Glover of Nashville.

O. E. Dowd of Greenville, deputy district governor of the district, made the arrangements for the meeting.

Woodmen Of The World Club Is Formed In Bethel

Bethel, Oct. 10—A Woodmen of the World Club has been organized in Bethel, it was reported today. The club will be known as Camp 1071, and was chartered Friday night at a meeting held in the Rotary Club.

District Manager R. N. Hood, of the Woodmen of the World group, organized and instituted the camp formation during the past sixty days.

At the charter meeting it was decided to hold meetings on the second and fourth Friday of each month.

Officers which were elected for the current term are, Consul commander, William Andrews; post consul commander, William Highsmith; adviser, lieutenant, Charlie Evans; escort, Roy Ward; banker, Heber Cannon; watchman, Curtis Lee Briley; sentry, Sam H. White; secretary, Willie Dunning; auditors, W. Burnice Martin, Ashley G. Manning, and L. W. Cullifer.

Diplomatic . . .

(Continued from page one) that President Truman's "bold new program" to help Asia might be bigger and bolder if Asians had white skins. They don't see that it holds out much promise to India. Nehru's government, outwardly friendly to Russia, has jalled thousands of Indian communists as political outlaws. Moscow has found no able Indian leader to spread the Kremlin gospel in India. Russia's propaganda in India warns that an American depression is about to topple the economies of all the countries outside the Soviet sphere. The implication is heavy that Russia will help nations in a Soviet alliance before helping others.

India is short of food, short of industrial goods, short of foreign currency, short of many things. After all, she became a free country only a little more than two years ago.

But Nehru has been sternly clear in outlining his foreign policy: he wants no help from abroad that has strings tied to it.

Washington is going all out to see that he enjoys himself; that he meets people who could help him on a strictly business or friendship ship basis; and that he has a good chance to learn American views and ways.

Peanut Growers Again Warned To Watch Stacking

County Agent S. C. Winchester reiterated his caution this morning to growers who are now harvesting their peanut crops. The county agent announced that for every one-half percent of moisture above the average amount found in peanuts, the farmers will be penalized one percent of the support price.

For every one-half percent of foreign material above three percent found in the peanuts, the farmer will be penalized one percent of the support price.

The rules were revealed at a meeting of peanut growers and farm officials at Williamston last week.

In announcing the rules to the farmers of the county today, Winchester reminded the growers to stack their peanuts properly and to cap the stack with grass to help keep out the water.

There are 10,500 acres of peanuts in the county.

Third Street PTA Discusses Building Project For School

The Third Street PTA held a call meeting Thursday evening for the discussion of proposed building plans. Meeting with the parents and teachers were members of the city school board, J. H. Rose, city school superintendent, and J. W. Griffith, architect for the proposed building.

Mrs. J. T. Cheatham presided over the meeting. Mr. Rose outlined the needs of Third Street School and disclosed steps which were being considered. He invited inspection of the architect's plans, which include a classroom, an art room, a combination cafeteria and library, and other needed utility rooms.

These were the findings of noted throat specialists in a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels, and only Camels, for 30 consecutive days. The throats of all smokers in the test were examined every week—a total of 2,470 careful examinations.

Little Countries Offer Remedies

Reflect Fears Over Continued Deadlock On Atom Bomb

Lake Success, Oct. 10—(AP)—The little countries of the United Nations today peddled a variety of remedies reflecting their fears over continued big power deadlock on the atom bomb.

High policy statements were expected from the Russians during the day on economic and religious persecution subjects. But the minds and hearts of the United Nations are centered on the meeting of the 14-nation Security Council tomorrow afternoon when a Soviet spokesman promises to unveil the Kremlin's latest thoughts on the atom bomb.

Western diplomats were openly skeptical that Russian delegates would come up with a disposition to end the quarrel over atomic energy control. But all were hoping for proposals that might open the way to agreement.

If they are new and if they have any semblance of compromise, they will give the big six atomic energy commission something to consider at their next meeting Thursday. The big five powers and Canada have been deadlocked for three years on any plan of international control because Russia refuses to allow international inspection of her atomic energy possessions. Russia argues that it invades her sovereignty. Other nations say they are willing to open their countries and their plants to inspection.

45 TROUT IS GOOD CATCH FOR ONE DAY'S FISHING

When two fishermen drop their lines in the waters around Morehead City and make a catch of 45 good size trout, weighing from 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds; 21 huge flounders and a lot of blue fish—well, that's good fishing on low, high and ebb tides. That what Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brady, owners of the Double "N" restaurant, on the Bethel highway near the Pactolus highway, did one day recently.
