Red Ink Prospects For Govm't Grow

If All Money Spent Which Congress Provided During Session, Govm't May Run About $5 Billions In Red This Fiscal Year; Still Less Than Truman Asked

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—If the government spends all the money the 81st congress has provided, it may run about $5,000,000,000 in the red this fiscal year.

With the first session scheduled to end some time today, the federal financial picture for the fiscal year, which ends next June 30, looks like this:

1. Direct appropriations by congress, $37,682,102,998, in addition to indefinite funds, such as interest on the national debt, which are estimated to boost the aggregate to something over $45,000,000,000.

2. Anticipated federal revenues for the year, approximately $40,000,000,000.

3. Excess of outgo over intake, approximately $5,000,000,000.

The direct appropriations do not include additional billions in contract authority voted by congress.

This is a go-ahead congress gives the federal departments to contract for expenditures with the understanding congress will put up the money in another year, or later, as needed.

The President's budget called for an estimated $4,000,000,000 in such authority. Congress voted $4,500,000,000.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) told the Senate yesterday that congress this year has approved government spending of $50,981,449,997.

He included in this total the direct appropriations, the indefinite funds such as interest on the debt, and contract authority.

Congress voted less in direct appropriations than the President requested, but it ignored his tax-increase recommendations. The President said at the start of the session that a deficit would result if congress didn't do something to get more revenue.

In direct appropriations, the President asked for $39,492,042,998, or $1,809,939,941 more than congress gave him.

This is based on final action on all appropriation bills except one, and the final outcome may vary slightly but not enough to alter the picture.

On the cash items, which make up the figures, the house in almost every case cut the amounts requested by the President, while the senate in several instances gave more than was asked.

In all but two bills, the senate voted more than the house voted, but frequently this resulted from revisions in the President's requests between the time of house action and senate action.

Soviet Lines Up New UN Tactics In Election Tests

Furious Last-Ditch Effort To Keep Yugoslavia Off Security Council

Lake Success, Oct. 19—(AU)—Russia was reported lining up new strategy today in her furious last-ditch fight to prevent the election of Yugoslavia to the United Nations Security Council.

After foreign minister Vishinsky's angry blast at the Yugoslavs and their American supporters yesterday, Soviet sources said Vishinsky might try to carry the battle to the floor of the assembly before the balloting begins tomorrow.

Vishinsky revived the Kremlin's bitter feud with Marshal Tito's regime at a news conference in which he also flatly declared that the atomic bomb has been a "real weapon" for Russia since 1947.

Answering questions, Vishinsky said Molotov (then Soviet foreign minister) was "not bluffing" when he said in 1947 that the American monopoly on the A-bomb no longer exists. It was the most concrete official statement on the A-bomb since President Truman announced last month that an atomic explosion had taken place in Russia recently.

A hectic assembly session Thursday was promised if Vishinsky carries his anti-Yugoslav fight to the floor during the election to fill security council vacancies.

Similar Russian efforts to carry on a debate during an election led to an uproarious session in 1947 when Russia won her effort to elect the Soviet Ukraine elected to the council. Vishinsky then repeatedly was ruled out of order but he and other communist delegates kept up a steady stream of comments in the guise of points of order.

At the news conference yesterday, Vishinsky threatened "painful consequences" for the United Nations if Yugoslavia is chosen for the council over Russian backed Czechoslovakia.

In the security council yesterday, Russia cast its 440th and 451st vetoes to kill French proposals for an application to world wide arms reduction. The vetoes were cast shortly after council president Warren Austin of the United States had announced the Russians had agreed in principle to consult with others of the Big Five before important problems come up in the council, in an effort to cut down vetoes on obviously unagreed questions.

AREA CHURCH MEET Durham, N.C., Oct. 19—(AP)—Ministers and laymen representing 40 Episcopal churches in Durham and surrounding counties will attend an area meeting here Thursday at which Bishop Edwin A. Penick of Raleigh will present the church's program and budget for 1950.

Czechs Pushing Purge Of Communist Unreliables

Prague, Oct. 19—(AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist-controlled government has extended its purge of "political unreliables" to the management of its own Nationalized industries, throwing out a score of factory directors in one swoop.

This was disclosed today by the government's official gazette.

A single issue of the gazette reported the expulsion of 20 directors Nationalized enterprises, eight of them large industries.

The official bulletin also disclosed the government's campaign of liquidating privately-owned small businesses was continuing without relaxation.

Confiscation of these small businesses for nationalization was usually accompanied by arrest of their owners, who generally were shipped off to forced labor in work camps or mines.

The Gazette reported that 20 more such enterprises, ranging from pharmacist shops to small mills, were seized for Nationalization.

Where any reason was given, it was stated they were "too big." They were to be incorporated into larger National-owned concerns.

Cites History To Justify Act Hamburg, Germany, Oct. 19—(AP)—Former Field Marshal Erich von Manstein's defense attorney today cited the American civil war in an attempt to show the Nazi officer was justified in his wartime actions. He is being tried by a British court on war crimes charges.

Under circumstances similar to those of World War II, Northern General Sherman devastated Georgia and the Carolinas, and General Sherman laid waste to the Shenandoah Valley, said Manstein's counsel, Dr. Hans Latenser.

Solons Prepare Speedup In U. S. A-Bomb Program

Oak Ridge And Hanford Expansion Scheduled; Senate Approves Bills

Washington, Oct. 19—(AAP)—The United States is going to speed up its atomic bomb program.

An accelerated expansion of facilities and operations at two key plants, Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Hanford, Wash., will cost in excess of $430,000,000. It has been learned from authoritative sources.

Two moves in the Senate late yesterday paved the way for the program.

One was the disclosure by Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the Senate-Atomic Energy committee that President Truman had authorized the atomic energy commission (AEC) to use some of its budgetary reserves "to get started on this proposition."

The reserves to be used amount to approximately $30,000,000, or about 10 per cent of the overall program which is to be financed by a deficiency appropriations bill in the next session of Congress.

The second move was Senate approval of a measure by Senator McMahon to lift some of the spending curbs imposed on the AEC earlier in the session. This still is subject to House approval.

McMahon refused to answer when asked by newsmen whether the speed-up action is the result of recent disclosures that Soviet Russia has had an atomic explosion.

At the United Nations yesterday, Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, re-stated to a news conference the Soviet claim that Russia has had the bomb since 1947.

McMahon, while saying that "a major expansion effort" is being undertaken, emphasized that it is "an acceleration of planned production that has been in the planning stage since last spring."

McMahon made the announcement following a closed door committee meeting with AEC officials. The senator predicted the acceleration would "probably result in speeding up" the AEC construction program by three or four months.

Bell Strike Ends As Union Votes For Arbitration

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 19—(AP)—About 300 employees were called to work today following settlement of the four-month-old stormy Bell Aircraft strike.

CIO United Auto Workers voted last night to end the walkout at the plant near Niagara Falls and submit the principal issues to arbitration.

Local 501, which struck June 13, represents 1,700 production workers at the plant.

The settlement was reached Monday by company and union leaders through a state board of inquiry.

Pending arbitration, both parties will follow the contract which expired June 12, the agreement provided. All findings of the board will be final, both sides agreed.

Practically Over

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today that the Greek government's war with Communist-led guerrillas is practically over.

Reduction of American aid to Greece would seem to be an indicated step, he added.

Acheson told his news conference that there are only about 2,000 guerrillas left in Greece and they are widely scattered and mainly concerned with a search for food.

Before there is a decision on cutting American military assistance to the Greek government, Acheson said the U. S. will have to find out what the Athens regime proposes to do with its military establishment.

American aid has been given for more than two years.

Reduction of the Greek armed forces—which number more than 300,000—would seem to be an indicated step, the Secretary said.

Truman Gets His Minimum Pay Bill

Senate Stamps Final Congressional Approval On Measure

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—More than nine months after he asked for it, a bill boosting the minimum wage level from 40 to 75 cents an hour went to President Truman's desk today.

The Senate stamped final congressional approval yesterday on the measure, representing one of the main achievements of the President's domestic program.

The bill could mean an increase in pay for about 1,500,000 lower paid workers. However, because of a change in language, an indefinite number of those now under the law may be removed from its coverage.

With Congress set for adjournment tonight, the President's friends and foes were busy adding up the accomplishments—or lack of them—of one of the longest peacetime sessions.

Besides the minimum wage measure, Administration Democrats counted as major results bills extending rent control, providing for a new national health insurance program, and a new national telephone system.

Soft Coal Strike Parleys Resumed But Hope Absent

No Hint Of Progress Apparent As Walk-out Goes Into Its Second Month

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 19—(AP)—The soft coal strike began its second month today without a hint of progress toward an agreement that would send 378,000 miners back to work.

Here and at Bluefield, W. Va., negotiators for the coal companies and the United Mine Workers went into another session in their marathon contract conferences. Neither conferences appeared to be getting anywhere.

UMW President John L. Lewis, absent from yesterday's session here, was on hand to take part today.

Northern and western operators met with the union for two hours here yesterday. Afterward, both sides made pretty much the same statements they have been making for weeks.

Operator Spokesman George H. Love of Pittsburgh said again that, because the market for coal is so tight, the operators want to increase the cost of mining it and thus increase its price.

But UMW Vice-President Thomas Kennedy argued that economic signs point toward prosperity and that the industry should be able to absorb the cost of "improvements in wages, hours and welfare standards" without boosting prices.

At Bluefield yesterday, an hour and a quarter contract session between the union and the Southern Coal Producers Association produced no public comment from either side.

Love estimated that UMW work stoppages or curtailments this year have cost miners 90 days of work; they otherwise would have had nearly $900 apiece in pay.

However, Kennedy said he doubted that the three-day week Lewis imposed on soft coal mines east of the Mississippi last summer cost the miners much lost time.

Kennedy said that last June, before the short week was ordered, one of the operator negotiators told the union the market was such that mines probably would average only about three days production per week during July and August.

Foiled Attack In Courthouse

Columbia, Tenn., Oct. 19—(AP)—State Highway patrolmen today foiled an attempted attack on a Negro charged with the rape-slaying of a white woman.

While cries of "get him, hang him" echoed through the corridors of the Maury County Courthouse, officers rushed the Negro, Paul Lacy, 38, to the third floor lockup. The disturbance was quelled quickly.

Air Chief Vandenberg Tells Advantage Of B-36 Policies

Lewis Denounces AFL President For Refusal To White House

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—A bill to expand telephone service in rural areas was past the final congressional hurdle today.

The Senate sent the measure to the White House yesterday after approving changes which represented a compromise with the House.

The bill provides financing for new and expanding phone systems along the lines of the Rural Electrification Administration loans. The 30-year loans would not be limited in size, and would carry two and one-half per cent interest. Preference would go to existing phone companies and cooperative groups.

Lewis had proposed that his own mine workers—themselves on strike—put up $250,000 weekly to help Murray's steel strikers, and that nine AFL unions put up equal amounts.

Green replied that pooling labor's resources was "impossible and impracticable" so long as Lewis and Murray fail to bring their unions into the AFL.

Murray approved Lewis' idea but said the proposed $150,000 a week fund should help striking mine workers as well as striking steel workers.

The leaders of the three big divisions of organized U. S. Labor once were closely associated but have split widely as the labor movement divided.

The three top bosses of American labor have been talking about unity but Green has always argued they must merge into a single organization with the AFL before they can cooperate.

Murray and Lewis have big strikes under way in the coal and steel industries. Government officials are showing new signs of worry about the ultimate effect of these strikes on the economy.

Failure of government mediators in every attempt thus far toward settlements led to speculation that President Truman may step in quickly. There was no positive word when Mr. Truman may act, but there were suggestions that he may carry the situation to the people in a public appeal for steel and coal negotiators to get down to business.

Postmaster Has Plenty Of Time

Hennepin, Okla., Oct. 19—(AP)—Postmaster R. D. L. Meeks doesn't know what to do.

Meeks entered the general store business here in 1904 at the age of 22. It developed that the postmaster's job went with it too.

Since then, he has served under eight presidents and every governor of Oklahoma since statehood. But Meeks has taken only nine days leave in 45 years.

Now he's stuck—and how—with 289 days of accumulated paid vacation.

Hold One Of Brothers Suspected In N. C. Killing

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 19—(AP)—The FBI announced today that one of two brothers accused of slaying a New York man and dumping his body into a gravel pit had been arrested.

Burton Ransom, a gaunter player and mountain song singer, was arrested on a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle. The FBI said he would be returned to North Carolina immediately.

Charles W. Brown agent in charge of the FBI in North Carolina, said Burton (Red) Ransom, 26, was arrested last night in Columbus, O. Ransom and his brother, Benjamin Edwin Ransom, 34, were indicted by the Anson county grand jury at Wadesboro on charges of murder Sept. 28.

The brothers were accused of killing James Malcolm Shirley, 37, of Hollis, Queens, N. Y.

Shirley's knife-wielded body was found in the water-filled gravel pit near Wadesboro on Sept. 7. Two days earlier, his wrecked automobile had been found in Toby's creek near Marion, S. C., 75 miles southeast of Wadesboro.

Declares U. S. Strategic Bombing Strength Forces Soviet Concentration On Defense Measures While Offensive Power Neglected; Fiercely Fires Back At Navy Attacks

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg assured Congress today the B-36 bomber and atom bomb "can do the job." He said the fact the United States has them is forcing Russia to concentrate on defense instead of offense.

If this country could follow the navy's advice and cut down on strategic bombing strength, he argued, the Russians would be free to concentrate their productive resources and technical skills on developing offensive power.

Vandenberg, the air force chief of staff, was before the House Armed Services committee, firing back fiercely against what he called the "flib" navy attacks against the air force and its strategic bombing.

But he ran into some heavy weather. Rep. Short told him once that what he was saying was "boosh." And chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said that what is shaking the armed services is that the navy isn't accepted into "full partnership."

"Mr. Chairman," Vandenberg said coolly, "the statement, the emphasis, the word statement, that the navy has not been taken into full partnership has shaken confidence in the military establishment."

The navy, in hearings last week, had argued that the air force should spend less time and money on strategic bombers and more on tactical air power to support ground operations.

Such a policy shift as this, Vandenberg said, would mean:

1. "We would give up the deterrent value of this nation's atomic weapons and we would place ourselves in disagreement with all of those people who, on both sides of the ocean, believe that Soviet aggression is a fact now being tolerated."

2. "We would inform the Russians that they need now take no defensive measures against a possible atomic attack on their heartland, B-36s, B-47s and B-50s by merely existing and do force the Soviet Union to channel its industrial power, technological skill, manpower and money into purely defensive measures and thus cut down resources which would otherwise be devoted to offensive purposes."

3. "If war is forced on us, this proposal deprives us of the opportunity of choking off enemy war-making power at its source."

The hearing room was jammed with spectators when Vandenberg blew his front against with ribbons, took the stand at the direction of Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.)

He was accompanied to the hearing by air secretary Symington, who testified yesterday, and by top air force generals.

Vandenberg first took up the attacks by navy officers on National defense policies which set high importance on strategic bombing. He read to the committee excerpts from a joint chiefs of state document saying the chiefs, separately and jointly, agree that the policies are sound.

Admiral Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations and a member of the joint chiefs, last week told the committee he supported other admirals who had criticized the strategic bombing concept.

The strategic air command, Vandenberg said, operates directly under the joint chiefs of staff, rather than the air force.

This nation's strategic plans are not made on a long-winded basis," Vandenberg said, but in "increasingly close cooperation" with the free nations of western Europe.

India's Stark Poverty

'We Must Have Food For Our People' Says Nehru In Summing Up His Country's Paramount Task; They Are Always Hungry; Teeming Millions In Small Towns

When Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was asked by a small New York school girl what his country's worst problem is, he replied without hesitation:

"Poverty. We must have food for our people."

There in eight plain words Nehru summed up the paramount task he faces as leader on India's three hundred millions. No evasion; no effort to gloss over a situation which men of smaller calibre might have found embarrassing on their first visit to a foreign land. Just a blunt admission of a tragic fact.

What Congress Did

Was It A Good Congress, Or A No-Nothing Session? Lawmakers Prepare To Go Home And You'll Be Hearing Arguments Pro & Con; Things That Were Put Off

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—By this time tomorrow Washington ought to be strangely quiet. Congress expected to go home today.

Thus the 81st Congress, a little hoarse and self-conscious from talking since January when its session started, was ready to quit for 1949.

Was it a good Congress? It was, if you listen to the Democrats who had a majority and were supposed to run it.

If you listen to the Republicans, it was terrible. And both sides already have started throwing stones and singing praises.

This week Senator Wherry of Nebraska, Republican leader in the Senate, laid loose a nine-column blast in the Congressional Record at the Democrats for the way they ran this Congress.

Assails Tactics In UN Election

London, Oct. 19—(AP)—Britain rapped today a Russian claim that election of Yugoslavia to the United Nations Security Council would be unlawful and unjust.

A Foreign Office spokesman, commenting on a statement made by Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky at Lake Success yesterday, charged Vishinsky with trying "to bring pressure" on United Nations members to vote against Yugoslavia.

40 Years Ago Today

40 YEARS AGO, THE DAILY REFLECTOR, October 19, 1909

We would like to know what is the matter with the business men of Greenville. There was a very important meeting called for Tuesday night and from the attendance it looked as though the business men had entered upon a Rip Van Winkle sleep and were not aware that something was being done for the future development of Greenville. Are they (the men who were absent) satisfied with the present condition of the town? Have they such poor ideas of business that when a meeting is called for 8 o'clock they think 9 o'clock will do? Wake up brethren, the sun is rising in Greenville and it is time you were up and taking your first lesson in business and remember that a man who has no time to give for the good of his town is no benefit to the town.

Student Aid Plan Is Perpetuated

Los Angeles—(AP)—When Francisco Bravo was a young medical student, he worked nights at a gas station and could study only in the intervals between cars. He wondered then if there wasn't some way life could be made easier for ambitious Mexican-Americans of limited means. Now, as Dr. Francisco Bravo, he has found the answer. He helps them himself.

Last year he gave $10,000 of the earnings of his Bravo Clinic to finance a scholarship at the Stanford University School of Medicine for Rodolfo Ponce, of Rivera, Calif. Recently he gave William Diaz, of Riverside, Calif., $2,000 to cover a four-year course at the School of Pharmacy of the University of Southern California.

Dr. Bravo attaches one string to these awards. The young men he befriends must promise to aid other Mexican-Americans who desire professional careers.

Municipal Band Becoming Asset To Greenville

By CHESTER WALSH

The Greenville Municipal Band, rehearsing regularly each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the High School bandroom, is composed of talented and well-trained instrumentalists. Musicians—men and women—of Pitt county are invited to join the band.

James W. Rogers, graduate of the University of North Carolina, experienced musical instructor and band leader, who is in charge of the High School band, is the director.

James S. Jenkins, world war II veteran, former commander of the local American Legion Post, and one of the group which helped to organize the band, today expressed appreciation of the High School band director's interest and activity in the Municipal Band.

American Legion Post 39, sponsor of the band, has as its committee June H. Rose, superintendent of city schools; B. B. Sugg, Jr., a past president of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, and James S. Jenkins.

Musicians interested in joining the Municipal Band are requested to contact Fire Chief George Gardner at the Greenville Fire Station.

Television receiving antennas are comparatively short in length because of the frequencies on which the pictures are sent.

Strength FOR THE DAY

RELIGION IS NORMAL.
"Yes, I believe in religion," says the up-and-coming go-getter. "I believe religion is good for everybody in the community. We would be overrun with crime if it were not for the churches. Religion improves real estate values. No one would want to live in a community made up wholly of atheists."

Now all this is true, but it is a poor statement of the value of religion to human life. Religion was never intended to be a means to an end; religion is an end in itself. God calls men to Him that He may have fellowship with them. The salvation of their souls is a by-product of something vastly greater and more significant, namely, friendship with the living God. Religious people are usually prosperous. A religious life is more often than not a life characterized by physical good health. Religion when it is real makes people very happy. But to seek after religion in order to have prosperity or health or happiness is to make a ridiculous and tragic mistake. Religion, let us repeat, is an end in itself. Religion is the normal condition in which the human soul finds its most complete satisfaction and fulfillment. "Righteousness is the word by which we describe the normal behavior of a healthy, spiritual being. Religion is natural; spiritual infidelity, agnosticism and atheism are abnormal conditions—illnesses of the soul."

THE STRIKES

The eyes of the nation, from the industrial and labor leaders to the by-standing American public and the families of needy miners, today are fixed upon the government officials who are making one last desperate effort to end the strikes in the key coal and steel industries.

If the attempts for voluntary settlements of the strikes by the federal mediation service break down this time, the big problems will be dropped squarely into the lap of President Truman who may either try his luck at a voluntary settlement of the strikes, or employ his emergency powers under the Taft-Hartley law or the selective service law. These powers granted the president include the issuing of a strike-stopping court injunction and industry seizure.

The strikes in the two basic industries of the American economy have caused the greatest industrial crisis this nation has experienced since the end of World War II, and if continued unrestrained may bring the country to the threshold of a serious recession or even a depression. Nearly a million regularly employed people in the two industries have gone without their wages for weeks, and twice that many more workers from industries dependent upon coal and steel may be added to the list of unemployed if the strikes continue into the coming weeks. To say nothing of the American consumers who are finding no coal to heat their homes and may find increasing prices on products whose stockpiles are not being kept at a desirable level because of the shortage of basic materials. When the nation finds it

Things Age Fast In This Atomic Age

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

From time to time the question "what will they think of next?" pops up in this column. Today it concerns fresh cream in cans. A fellow named Robert Maheu of New York invented the process, but he had to have the backing to develop it. So he went to Bing Crosby's Foundation. Bing has so much money that he tries to lose a little, or make a little, (it doesn't matter), developing what you might call better things for better living, through Crosby. The Crosby Foundation spends plenty on inventions that fail to materialize. On the other hand, many turn out to be improvements that will eventually be available to everyone, like fresh cream in cans, the hottest thing since pasteurization.

The cream tastes just like bottled cream, and it keeps for years without refrigeration. This development makes it possible for fresh cream—and soon milk—to be shipped all over the world to people in tucked-away places who don't know what the stuff tastes like. Mrs. Housewife can load up with cans to take care of over-supplies of company or holidays when the milkman doesn't come self in the face of such an extreme crisis, an analysis of the situation brings the observer to one of two conclusions. Either a handful of industrial and labor leaders have been allowed to pyramid themselves into a force which is too far-reaching for the good of the people of the nation; or the federal government, which legally has the power to cope with such situations before they become so critical, is without the administrative leadership capable of far-sighted action for the best interests of all the people of the United States.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

FAIR—Tuesday was almost a perfect fair day—both as to weather and as to crowds attending opening of the annual exposition at the state fairgrounds. Lowering clouds and occasional drizzling rain Monday afternoon led to predictions of a rainy fair week. When Tuesday dawned bright and with ideal temperatures, some wag around the capital said the weather man wouldn't have done that for anybody else except Dr. Joe Dorton. CONFLICT—It had been a good many years since K. R. Scott missed the opening of the state fair. As a lad he exhibited calves and farm produce, and as county agent and commissioner of agriculture he was always on hand for the fair opening. This week he had to be in New York signing the first rural road bonds. So he missed the opportunity of opening the first fair held during his administration as governor. That honor falling to Lieut. Governor Pat Taylor, Governor Scott expects to return from New York in time to visit the fair before it closes. MUNICIPALITIES—Necessary appearance in New York this week of Governor Scott and State Treasurer Brandon Hodges in connection with the road bond signing tared the program of the League of Municipalities out of kilter. The Governor as chief executive of the state and the treasurer as ex-officio chairman of the local government commission had been given prominent places on the program at the Winston-Salem convention of the league. When it was found that they could not attend Mrs. Davette Steed, executive secretary, had to do some shuffling to re-balance the program. By liberal use of telephone and telegram she found replacement for the absent speakers, and so far as entertainment and information is concerned the program is in good shape. The substitutes, however, cannot speak with the same authority as could have the governor and the treasurer, and some highly desired answers to questions about future municipal financing will have to wait for another time.

GRADE SEPARATIONS—Discussion of this project among a group of Capitol square folk led to the whole question of grade separations for rail, automobile and pedestrian traffic safety. Foot bridges over railroads and highways are coming into greater use where local geographic conditions make them possible. There is substantial progress noted in bridging and underpassing railroads by new highway construction. It is an expensive proposition, but advantages of safety are believed to more than compensate for the cost. JOINT—Cost of railroad grade separations is shared by state and federal governments. In most instances where a grade crossing is eliminated the railroad cuts in for ten per cent of the cost. The growing demand for overpass and underpass crossings has added a good deal to the highway construction bill. The highway folks, state and federal, are primarily concerned with safe operation of motor vehicles. Municipalities have to consider pedestrian safety to far greater extent than do the state highway engineers. FIRE—Municipalities also have to consider the fast movement of fire-fighting equipment. The state municipal road commission during its recent tour of western towns and cities, had many instances pointed out where new streets were needed, under or over-passes required, so that fire trucks could answer calls in event present railroad crossings were blocked. The fire protection factor has many angles. It was pointed out by one of the rural members of the commission, in answer to complaint of a city resident about having to pay paving assessments when his country neighbor got a paved road free, that the city man was partially compensated for his assessment by availability of fire protection not enjoyed by the ruralite.

Onions left in the ground over winter will sprout of themselves in the spring, even before all the snow is gone, giving tasty early greens. The first radio network started operation in 1926. It was NBC.

Went To Bat For Man Who Stole Their Chickens

A Pitt County farmer and his wife went to bat for the man who stole their chickens yesterday and won the man a new lease on his freedom.

County Court Judge Dink James suspended a six months sentence against Larry Pittman, who confessed stealing chickens belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Mac Manning, after the two prosecuting witnesses and Prosecutor Charles Wheeler asked that the defendant be given "another chance."

Pittman never took the stand, but evidence presented by arresting officer L. E. Manning held that the man stole the chickens and sold them to purchase whiskey.

The prosecuting witnesses described Pittman as a "fine man and a good worker until he starts drinking." Manning said he had nailed up his hen house when he saw Pittman was drinking last week.

Pittman admitted to officers that he stole two chickens. He was arrested after a bloodhound trailed him from the hen house to his home the morning following the crime.

In meting out judgement, James declared that it was against what he felt should be done, but that in view of the desires of the witnesses, he would give Pittman another chance. The six months sentence was suspended upon condition that Pittman pay court costs and remain sober and on good behavior for a period of two years.

One of the most unusual theft cases in recent years was also disposed of in the Tuesday session. It was the case in which a Pitt county youth stole enough money to go to the recent fair from the wallet of a neighbor, leaving three dollars in the pocket book, and later confessing to his crime.

The boy was 16-year-old Clarence Howell, Jr. He was ordered to pay court costs and repay the $15 he stole from Miss Mary Foskey, and was put on probation for two years.

Other court action disclosed a case in which five men bet on cards a week for the support of a child belonging to Helen Mayo whom he was charged with abandoning.

In other action: Roosevelt Wilkes, colored, was adjudged not guilty of abandonment and non support; Mack Abrams was ordered to pay the Washington Packing Company $93 to make good a worthless check and pay court costs, or spend the next 60 days in jail. He noted appeal to higher court.

Cecil Hunt, colored, was sentenced to six months in jail suspended upon payment of $150 now and $54 more before January 1 and six dollars a week for the support of a child belonging to Helen Mayo whom he was charged with abandoning.

Early May James, colored, was sentenced to four months suspended upon payment of $50 and costs and 12 months good behavior after being found guilty of possession of non tax paid liquor and carrying a deadly weapon.

Julius Jones, colored, was ordered to pay $50 and costs or spend four months on the roads on charges of driving a car without an operator's license.

Earl B. Cole was sentenced to six months in jail suspended upon payment of $100 and costs and on condition that he not drive a motor vehicle on the highways for a period of two years and that he not ride in a motor vehicle except a public bus for 90 days. He was also placed on two years probation. Cole was charged with operating a car while under the influence of liquor and while his license was revoked.

Della Wilson, colored, was ordered to serve a six months suspended sentence which had been hanging over her since last year, and serve an additional sentence of six months after pleading guilty to charges of possession of non tax paid whiskey. Appeal was noted by Attorney S. O. Worthington.

Red Oak News

"It ain't the talk nor arguments, Nor funds that we can pay, But the close cooperation That will help us win the day."

It ain't the individual, Nor the community as a whole, But the everlasting team-work Of every bloomin' soul!"

Final arrangements for the Red Oak "Harvest Sale" or "Country Auction" and turkey supper which will be held at the Red Oak club center Friday evening of this week, October 21st, have been completed to the minutest detail. Every member of the church is expected to help in every way they can. If you have any produce of any kind that we can auction off at our sale, we ask you to share it with us. Please do what you have been appointed to do, and don't wait until the last minute to do it.

We will begin to serve supper at five o'clock, and we will serve until seven or a little after. The food will be hot as we have a huge gas range in our log kitchen.

We hope a lot of you heard the broadcast last evening at 9:30. We had a lot of fun doing this and we expect to have even more fun at our auction sale.

We hope all of our friends from Greenville, Winterville, Ayden and nearby communities will come, have supper with us and stay for the sale.

Mr. Reginald Austin of Scotland Neck, who is a specialist in holding auctions for country churches will be with us for the second time. He gives his services free and he has helped many rural churches to get on their feet with these harvest sales.

Won't you be with us that night? Remember the date, Friday night, October 21.

Virgie Gray Becomes Bride of Carl H. Noe

Miss Virgie L. Gray of Worthington, Ohio, became the bride of Mr. Carl Hubert Noe, of Worthington, Ohio, Monday evening, October 10, in a lovely candlelight ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Whitehurst with Elder E. M. Tyson, Jr., officiating.

The bride wore a brown velvet gown with green accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mr. Whitehurst served as best man and Mrs. Whitehurst as matron of honor. She wore a forest green gabardine suit with contrasting accessories and corsage of white carnations. Recordings of nuptial music were heard prior to the ceremony.

Following the ceremony the couples were served supper at Brady's Double N and Mr. and Mrs. Noe left for a southern motor trip. Upon their return they will reside in Worthington, Ohio, where Mr. Noe is employed. Mrs. Noe attended Southern Junior College of Collegedale, Tenn., and Washington Sanitarium and Hospital of Takoma Park, Md., where she graduated last year as a registered nurse. She is employed at the Harding Sanitarium and Hospital in Worthington, Ohio.

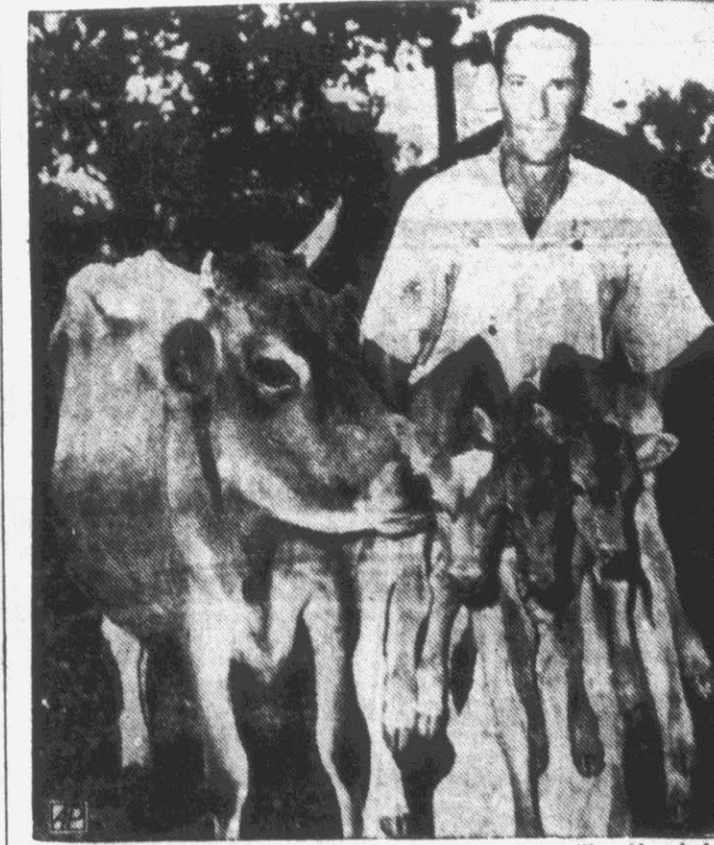

Miss Gaylord Honored At Tea

Miss Kathryn Van Nortwick received from four to five o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a tea at her home on Rock Spring Drive honoring Miss Virginia Gaylord, bride-elect of Saturday.

Dahlias and chrysanthemums predominated in the decorations of the home. Receiving with the hostess and her honor guest were Mrs. N. O. Van Nortwick, mother of the hostess, and Mrs. N. O. Van Nortwick, Jr.

The table in the dining room was spread with a beautiful cloth and centered with a bowl of bronze chrysanthemums. Green candles in brass candlesticks flanked the centerpiece. The buffet held an arrangement of dahlias in shades of rust and bronze.

Mrs. A. J. Crane, of Montreat and Bethel, aunt of Miss Van Nortwick, poured tea. With the tea, chicken salad in patty shells, ham biscuits, bridal cakes, nuts and mints were served.

Weed Control Is Urged Early In Plant Bed Soil

Farmers who do not sterilize their plant bed sites for weed control usually have many weeds to consume several hours of labor picking the plant beds by hand. Pitt county farm officials pointed out today, urging farmers to sterilize their plant bed soils.

There are two chemical treatments that can be used for satisfactory weed control, S. J. Weeks, assistant county agent, pointed out this morning. They include one pound of cyanamid per square yard, and a combination of one pound of uramon and one half pound of cyanamid per square yard.

Both of these treatments should be applied some 30 days before the seed are sown, Weeks said.

Two thirds of the chemical should be mixed with the top three or four inches of soil after the plant bed area has been thoroughly plowed, according to the agents. Disc harrows with blades set with very little angle or a smooth harrow will do the trick.

The remaining one third of the chemicals should be broadcast over the area and raked in with a garden rake. Satisfactory results can be realized by applying the chemicals any time after the first of October, Weeks pointed out.

Cyanamid alone is generally used but the combination treatment has its advantages when a permanent plant bed site is used. It was explained. The combination treatment reduces the danger of getting the calcium content of the soil too high for the best tobacco plant production.

Only one pound of plant bed fertilizer is required for most soils when the chemicals are used, Weeks said. Plant bed fertilizer (4-9-3) should be broadcast over the area and raked into the soil with a garden rake, he explained.

Nehru's Policy

New York, Oct. 18—(AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India declared last night his country intends to take no sides in the cold war.

But India, he emphasized, will "not be neutral" in situations where "man's liberty or peace is in danger." Neutrality then, he said, would be "a betrayal of what we have fought for and stood for."

The Indian statesman voiced his statement of policy in a speech accepting an honorary doctor of laws degree bestowed on him by Columbia University.

Convict Man Of Murder In Death Of Negro Boy

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct. 18—(AP)—A general sessions court jury of 12 white men yesterday convicted a white man of murder in the shotgun slaying of a Negro boy.

The jury recommended mercy, making a life sentence mandatory. Judge Robert J. Martin Jr. deferred sentencing the defendant, David Lee Crane, 29.

Crane testified he fired two blasts into the head of Starling Turner, 10, during an argument over payment for a dozen eggs.

He told the jury the boy cursed him and threatened to get his big brother "to tend to you if you don't pay me for the eggs."

The slaying took place at Crane's home near Fingerville last June 23.

Labor Hearing In Reynolds Plant

Winston-Salem, N.C., Oct. 19—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today began a hearing into an application for a collective bargaining election at the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company plants here.

The election was asked by the AFL Tobacco Workers International Union. Two intervening CIO unions also were represented at the hearing. They were Local 22, Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers, and the United Transport Service employees.

New Attendance Record At Fair

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 18—(AP)—The State Fair has established a new opening-day attendance record. Fair Director Dr. J. S. Dorton announced today.

Dorton said between 75,000 and 80,000 persons surged through the Fair's gates when it opened for the first time yesterday. Last year, when President Harry Truman was the opening day speaker, a record-breaking crowd of 75,000 saw the first day festivities.

(Dear Judge)

AP Newsfeatures

You've got to be a man of letters to get along on a high school campus this semester. Newest beau-catcher craze among the school crowd is to advertise love lives by means of initial pins. An easy way to get dates, say the girls. But a man's got to be up on his sign language.

The pins give a tipoff on anything from Susie's current heart-throb to her plans for the weekend. If a girl wears three pins, for instance, "W.A.D." she undoubtedly means she's free for the weekend and wants a date. You can tell almost any sophomore by the way she wears her ABC's.

Some girls spell out their screen-land heartthrobs such as Montgomery Clift or Gregory Peck. A neck gimmick on a class numeral pin is two metal numbers connected with a tiny chain. If she wears a '52 on her cardigan, above a '50, you know that Betty co-ed is a smooth sophomore and her steady date is a senior. He wears the same class numeral pins in reverse position on his tie or letter sweater.

Girls make up their own groups of initials into this new love language. Of course they prove great conversational pieces, too, because if a guy doesn't comprehend he's just got to ask.

College playtime can be fun but if you want to make the grade in schoolwork, too, here are some common sense planning hints suggested for high school students and college freshmen by the University of Illinois student committee of freshman advisers:

1. Plan a daily schedule including classes, exercise, fun and sleep. The study habit is a good habit.
2. An upright position at a desk clean of pictures or other distractions is more conducive to studying than lying on a bed or lolling in an easy chair.
3. Keep your work up to date. Don't let it pile up just before exams. Attend classes regularly.
4. Sleep and rest are absolutely necessary for clear thinking. It isn't smart to stay up all night before an exam.
5. Sitting at a desk and day-dreaming is not studying. Too many hours of day-dreaming induce fatigue, not wisdom. It is better to break away from books entirely for a while and then go back to them.
6. If, while you are studying, you find yourself thinking of some little tasks you should take care of, make a list of them to get them off your mind. Then you can concentrate much better on the subject at hand.
7. Don't be frightened by what others may say regarding certain courses, teachers and exams. Form your own opinions. Different people have different likes and dislikes.
8. Don't be afraid of your teacher. If things do not go right, talk to her or an adviser; it may help a lot.

A puzzled young man writes from the Bronx, N.Y., asking how he can persuade his high school crush to leave her forwarding address, as she is moving away from his neighborhood and the school.

He has asked her several times, but she will not tell him. She does not have a phone so he cannot call her. There is very little time left before the moving date and poor J. M. is frantic.

Wouldn't it seem that if the girl really liked him she would leave her forwarding address? Or perhaps her parents object, and she doesn't want to incite their wrath. Or perhaps J. M. is a little too flowery in his notes, and she is embarrassed for fear he will write things that she would be ashamed to have other people see.

If he has been dating her, maybe she has encouraged him just because she wanted dates, and wasn't really particularly interested in him. She probably is a little too young to think of him seriously, and perhaps it is better that he doesn't waste his time trying to get in touch with her. But what do other kids think about this?

Three-year-old Margo Jean Gott turns her back on Columbus Day paraders in New York to take a picture of the Catholic hierarchy on the reviewing stand of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Churchmen Investigating Little Girls And Vision

Thurn, Germany, Oct. 18—(AP)—Seven little German girls who say they see visions of the Virgin Mary are bringing thousands of worshippers to a hillside near this little Bavarian village.

Twenty thousand Roman Catholics chanted for an hour last night around the seven girls kneeling before what they claimed was a vision of the Virgin Mary. The girls say they have seen the vision nightly since Oct. 9.

The seven—all from 10 to 12 years old—said the Virgin appears to them "in the sky above the trees," dressed all in white and carrying a black rosary.

A 13-year-old boy said he saw the vision once. A three-man church commission is investigating their story.

Some of the children also have recently seen the Hollywood movie "Song of Bernadette." That dramatizes the story of the young French girl who claimed the Virgin appeared before her at Lourdes, in 1858.

Last night the thousands of Germans watched quietly as the little girls, attended by three priests, prayed on top of an open truck.

First two, then all the girls knelt, their sign that they saw the vision. Led by the priests, the crowd began to pray aloud. For an hour the girls knelt, hardly moving, surrounded by the chanting throng.

Then they stood up, their signal that the vision had gone. The crowd quietly slipped away.

The DuPont Company says it has 7000 competing chemical company rivals, all of them American.

To Speak Here

Dr. H. H. Chang, representative of the Chinese Institute of Foreign Affairs and former Chinese diplomat in European capitals, will speak at the Executives Club Thursday evening, October 20. He will discuss the topic "America's Stake in Asia" before members of the group at a dinner to be given in the North Dining Hall of East Carolina Teachers College at 7:00 o'clock.

Dr. Chang speaks perfect English and has a fiery, dynamic platform personality, according to those who have heard him. He was given the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Harvard University at the age of 23 and has been making a name for himself ever since, both in his own country and abroad. A distinguished editor, author, and diplomat, he is a scholar and a close observer of Sino-American relationships.

Soils Scientist Dies Of Attack

Arlington, Va., Oct. 19—(AP)—Dr. Junius Sidney Cates, 72, internationally-known soils scientist and agricultural writer, died in his home here last night of a heart attack.

He was a native of Graham, N.C., and was graduated from North Carolina State College in 1902.

He was credited with the discovery and development of lespedeza, a soil-building and pasture plant. He was editor of the Southern Planter magazine from 1912 to 1914.

Most of the large manufacturing firms maintain extensive research laboratories, from which many important discoveries develop.

Single Pupil Is A Bit Expensive

Trout River, N.Y., Oct. 18—(AP)—Six-year-old Carolyn White is the "teacher's pet," but to the 50 taxpayers of this Canadian border town she is a "little expensive."

Carolyn, a first grader, is the only pupil in the town's one-room school and is costing taxpayers about $2,400 a year. That averages $48 per taxpayer.

State League Of Municipalities Opens Meeting

Winston-Salem, N.C., Oct. 18—(AP)—The North Carolina League of Municipalities opened a convention here today. The president, R. M. Cooksey, city manager of Thomasville, said the main job of the delegates would be to show that the state does not chip in enough money for care of streets that are part of highways.

The last session of the legislature increased the appropriation for upkeep of streets in cities and towns to $3,800,000 a year from the previous $1,000,000. "We do not think this is enough," Cooksey said.

Mayor J. Ray Shute of Monroe delivered the keynote address. Later in the day (4 p.m.) Dr. Henry W. Jordan, chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, spoke on the upkeep of city streets and answered questions from the municipal officials.

Warn Zero Hour Now At Hand For Steel Users

New York, Oct. 19—(AP)—The "zero hour is now at hand for many steel users" hit by strike-induced shortages, the Iron Age, metal-working trade weekly, said today.

"Some have already shut down," the publication said. "Others will be idled this week. For the rest, closing may be closer than most people think. The blow falls quickly in a busy plant when a shortage shows up in a single part and stops the whole assembly line."

The trade weekly estimated that by the end of this week the steel strike will have cost 43 million tons of steel production, and about $100,000,000 in lost wages in basic steel alone.

Ask Action Against Radio Interference

The broadcasters charged the two countries with "unbearable and chaotic interference" with American stations.

Unscheduled Fireworks Display Is Followed By Brief Blackout

Baltimore, Oct. 19—(AP)—A street blew its top, manhole covers leaped six feet into the air and a jet of flame shot from a roadside pole. All this happened in one block of North Baltimore last night as residents got an unscheduled display of fireworks followed by a 45-minute blackout.

Other Causes Of 'White Blisters' In Curing Leaf

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 19—(AP)—Tobacco cured with hard coal isn't the only weed turning up with white blisters, says the State's tobacco marketing specialist. W. P. Hedrick, specialist with the State Department of Agriculture, displayed evidence yesterday showing other type curers also cause the blister. The blisters have caused tobacco companies to refuse to buy leaf cured with hard coal whenever they know it has been so cured. They term the white blister "objectionable features." Hedrick said the same characteristics are being found in tobacco which was cured by oil heaters. "There have been a good many cases of this," Hedrick said. "There have been enough for farmers to kick about it."

Hedrick displayed two samples of tobacco which he said were cured by oil and which had the same white blister. He said that when tobacco graders come across tobacco bearing the blisters, they mark it with an "M" for mixed, and "the buyers turn it down." "When this happens, the tobacco goes to the tobacco Stabilization Corporation at a price loss to the farmer of from $5 to $10 a hundred pounds, Hedrick declared. He estimated that 5,000,000 pounds of leaf cured this year with the hard coal process bear these blisters. Extensive tests are being made to determine the cause and effect of the blisters.

Offer Prizes To Top Recruiters In Guard Drive

The three men in the Greenville National Guard unit to recruit the greatest number of new men in the current enlistment campaign will receive a Shakespeare fishing reel and a True Temper Raider rod or a $25 savings bond, Capt. J. B. Tyndall, head of the local outfit, announced to his troops at a regular drill last night. The top two men will receive the rods and reels and the man coming in third will be awarded the savings bond, Capt. Tyndall said. He told his men that the campaign would last until the battery is at top strength of 93 men. The unit's strength is now 72 men, a check with M-Sgt. J. F. Joyner revealed today.

The campaign here is part of a national campaign being carried out by National Guard units in an effort to bring National Guard units all over the nation up to top strength. The Greenville outfit sponsored one successful recruiting campaign early in the summer in an effort to bolster its ranks for the summer encampment.

Final Plans For John Dewey Day

Final plans for the celebration of John Dewey Day at East Carolina Teachers College, Thursday, October 20, have been announced by Dr. Allan S. Hurlburt, director of the department of education and administration. The college here will participate at that time in a nationwide series of programs honoring the famous educator-philosopher on his 90th birthday. Members of the East Carolina Department of Education have arranged the local celebration. The occasion will be observed in selected colleges and universities throughout the United States and will be marked by tributes to John Dewey, whose contributions to American education are recognized as monumental and who, according to the Journal of the National Educational Association for this October, "has revolutionized the schools of America during the past half century."

Dr. E. J. Ashbaugh, dean of the School of Education at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, will be principal speaker at a program in the Austin building at 3:30 o'clock. He will be introduced by East Carolina President, Dr. John D. Messick, and will speak on "Dewey's Effect Upon Educational Practices." Dr. Hurlburt will be chairman of the meeting and will welcome those present. Faculty members of East Carolina who will speak and their topics are: Anne Redwine, "The 1949 Dewey Celebration," and Dr. Hubert Haynes, "My Impressions of Dewey As a Teacher." The College Singers, directed by Dan E. Vornholt, will sing a group of songs.

Dedication of the lounge and reading room of the Graham building to Dewey will be an event of the afternoon's program. Patricia Davis, from Manteo and president of the college branch of the Association for Childhood Education, will make a short talk and will christen the room, "The John Dewey Reading Room."

Sees Need For 55-Cent-Burger

Atlanta, Oct. 19—(AP)—What the restaurant business needs to prosper an expert says, is a 21-cent hamburger selling for 55 cents instead of a 9-cent hamburger selling for 20 cents. George L. Wensel, a consultant to restaurateurs, told 250 Georgia operators yesterday that the 20-cent-burger is an example of what will ruin them, sooner or later. Its food cost of 9 cents, he warned, is 45 per cent of the selling price—5 per cent too much for a going profit.

Donors Flock To Give Blood For Scorched Child

Baltimore, Oct. 19—(AP)—Five-year old Glenn Froeman was all tugged out in his version of a cowboy outfit—a flannel shirt, corduroy pants and his father's over-shoes as a substitute for boots.

He was playing in the back yard when he got too close to an incinerator. His mother heard a scream looked out and saw Glenn's clothing on fire. She ran out and tried to beat out the flames with her hands and, with the help of a neighbor, finally smothered them with a blanket. At Baltimore City Hospital, the doctors said Glenn was burned over more than 60 per cent of his body and would need innumerable blood transfusions, especially when skin-grafting began in an attempt to save his life.

But Glenn's father doesn't have too much money right now because he's an employee of the Bethlehem Steel Company and is not working due to the steel strike.

However, a neighbor heard of the Froeman's plight and saw to it that the city's radio and television stations were told.

The stations broadcast an appeal for blood donors in the hope that 15 people would respond to take care of Glenn's initial needs.

So many people showed up last night to give blood that the hospital exhausted all its donor equipment. Donations were taken from 77 last night, another 35 were registered for donations today and about 100 others came and said they would be back to give blood.

School Band Will Accompany Team On Friday Night

Greenville high school's football team will have the backing of its top notch high school band when it plays in Kinston Friday night, thanks to the Greenville Kiwanis Club. School Principal O. E. Dowd reported this morning that the Kiwanians have chartered two buses to carry the band to the ball game. "And we really appreciate it," Dowd commented. "We don't have any way of carrying the band on out-of-town trips and we are very grateful to the Kiwanis Club for making the Friday trip possible."

A number of students are expected to attend the game also, Dowd said. He pointed out that efforts are being made by the student council to charter a bus so students might be able to accord the moral support their team will probably need when it plays the defending champion Kinston squad.

Guessing The Grid Winners

RECORD TO DATE—52 wins, 26 losses, 7 ties. By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
 New York — Traditional rather than inter-sectional clashes have the spotlight as the football season reaches the half-way mark Saturday.

Although Notre Dame is idle while awaiting its game with Navy on Oct. 29 much of the interesting action appears to center in the Midwest where four Big 9 games are on tap.

Feature clash finds the heavy Minnesota line going against the crack Michigan eleven at Ann Arbor, Mich. We'll string along with the champion Wolverines.

Other Midwest conference games find Northwestern at Iowa, Wisconsin at Ohio State and Illinois at Purdue. We'll take Northwestern, Ohio State and Purdue.

The east has at least five interesting games, two being played upstate New York, two in New England and one in Philadelphia. Columbia goes to West Point to get a sample of the rugged Army eleven, Princeton's Tiger figures to get its tail twisted in the Cornell game at Ithaca, Dartmouth meets Harvard at Cambridge, Mass., Holy Cross travels to the Yale Bowl at New Haven, Conn., and Navy takes on Penn in Franklin Field. The south is studded with many traditional clashes with Duke, Georgia Tech, Tulane and Wake Forest expected to be among the victors.

Selections by sections follow:
East
 Army to rout Columbia. Boston U. to trim NYU. Brown easy over Lehigh. Wash. and Jeff. over Bucknell. Colgate to nip Rutgers. Dartmouth to trim Princeton. Syracuse over Fordham. Yale to wallop Holy Cross. Navy to surprise Penn. Villanova to crush Duquesne.

Midwest
 Michigan State to nip Penn State. Pitt to top Indiana. Purdue over Illinois. Northwestern to trim Iowa. Missouri easy over Iowa State. Oklahoma Aggies to nip Kansas. Michigan to edge Minnesota. Oklahoma to crush Nebraska. Ohio State to repel Wisconsin. Tulsa to trounce Bradley.

South
 Alabama over Mississippi State. Duke to wallop VPI. Tulane to trim Auburn. Georgia Tech to beat Florida. SMU easy over Kentucky. North Carolina to halt LSU. North Carolina State over Maryland.

Disagree On Cause Of Big-Score Trend

New York, Oct. 19—(AP)—College football is on a "point-a-minute" binge but leading coaches disagreed today on what is responsible for the astronomical scoring trend.

"It's the platoon system," charged one group of mentors, including Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin, Matty Bell of S.M.U., Jess Neely of Rice and J. V. Sikes of Kansas.

"The platoon system has nothing to do with it," argued others, such as Earl Blaik of Army, Henry Frka of Tulane and Biggie Munn of Michigan State.

Most of them agreed in an Associated Press survey that the sport has become definitely "offense minded," that coaches make no special effort to roll up impressive tallies and that the liberal substitution rule plays a big part in keeping the scoreboard busy.

They traced the assembly line point-making also to "eager beaver" substitutes who, thrown into a game to open the gates of mercy, close the gates instead with a hungry effort to make good.

Recently college scores have followed the pattern of the pros, reaching basketball proportions.

"We're getting ten or twelve more plays a game now," said Sikes, whose Kansas team was mauled by Oklahoma Saturday 48-26. "I think the two platoon system is a contributing factor."

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson attributed the scoring rise to intricate offensive maneuvers and added: "A defense cannot adequately cope with all formations."

Notre Dame's Frank Leahy, whose Irish walloped Tulane 46-7, said he never believed in running up a big score and always threw in the subs after building up a lead.

"On the other hand," he added, "reserves play hard to become regulars and they can't be told not to run, block or tackle."

Leahy said coaches generally are concentrating on offensive play and acknowledged he himself worked "overtime" on the scoring department.

Snively Expects First Loss Soon

Chapel Hill, N.C., Oct. 19—(AP)—Coach Carl Snively, whose University of North Carolina football team is ranked sixth nationally, says he wouldn't be surprised to see the squad lose its first game any week now.

"And this week at Louisiana State could be the time," he told the University Men's Faculty Club yesterday.

The team has won all its four games this season. Snively said "we had to come from behind to defeat Wake Forest, and we had to fight hard to beat North Carolina State, Georgia and South Carolina. We are fortunate in having a good passing attack which we have capitalized on to the utmost."

And the Notre Dame game in New York Nov. 12? Quoth Snively: "Before the season opened we thought the Irish had one or two vulnerable spots. But now we've come to the conclusion that they must be a group of supermen."

Boat 'Flies Low' In Test Before Speed Record Try

Seattle, Oct. 19—(AP)—A boat that outruns airplanes on Lake Washington is being groomed for an assault on Sir Malcolm Campbell's world record of 141.74 miles per hour.

Just how fast the "Slo-mo-shun IV" actually traveled in its first semi-secret tests the owner, S. S. Sayers, would not reveal today.

"We were flyin' low," he grinned.

Friends of the Seattle automobile dealer and his designer and builders have been shown to secrecy, but among themselves they agree the water-walking streak of noise is ready for an official crack at Campbell's record. The pilot of a small seaplane landed in a hurry and taxied to the "Slo-mo-shun IV" after a test run.

"Do you know how fast you were goin'?" he shouted.

Sayers laughed, "we have an idea." "I hit a hundred-ten and dived at you," the pilot marvelled. "You weren't there."

Sayers is not false, modest about his boat. In fact, he's about to burst with excitement and the urge to get the craft into competition. But the experience of other speedboat fanatics has him bending over backward to avoid a build-up.

"Whatever you write," he said, "underline the 'f.' Many a man has thought he had the world's fastest boat has seen it perform phenomenally in trial runs, then had it fall completely when the chips were down. I'm not going to make any claims for this boat. It will have to do its own talking."

Philadelphia, Oct. 19—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics had a catcher today to replace the departed Buddy Rosar.

Joe Tipton was acquired from the Chicago White Sox yesterday in a straight player trade for Nelson Fox, utility infielder. Rosar was sent to the Boston Red Sox last week for infielder Billy Hitchcock.

Tipton, 27, hit .205 in 66 games last year.

Green Phantoms In Homestretch

Greenville high school's Phantom football team rolls into the homestretch of its 1949 gridiron slate Friday night when Coach Bo Farley's boys invade the home premises of the potent, defending champion Kinston Red Devils.

It will mark the sixth game for the Greenville outfit which is clutching a 3-3 record for the season and a 1-1 Northeastern conference record.

Three consecutive conference games will be on the slate for the Phantoms after Kinston. All of them promise to be tough contests.

On October 27 the Phantoms return home after a two-week away game schedule to entertain the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets. The Jackets were defeated by Edenton 15-13 but have since rolled up a 20-0 win over Chowan College, a 48-0 win over Roanoke Rapids, a 7-6 win over Washington and a 26-0 win over Littleton.

Coaches have scouted the Elizabeth City club rate it with Kinston, a team which is undefeated in the Northeastern loop.

On November 11, the Phantoms tangle with Roanoke Rapids there. The Rapids Jackets have been unimpressive in conference play this year, not having taken a win to date.

Coach Farley's boys close out their season November 18 when they entertain traditional rival, the Washington Pam Pack, here.

Washington lost to New Bern and Elizabeth City but dumped Roanoke Rapids.

No Injury Losses For Dole's Team

Despite the Pirates' fine showing against WCTC last Saturday, Coach Bill Dole lost no time putting his charges on the practice field for a long three hour practice session.

Dole, well pleased with his squad's performance and spirit, placed the emphasis on blocking during the practice. In the WCTC game the Pirate blocking was greatly improved and Dole hopes to keep it that way in order for the Pirate running attack to get underway.

Coach Dole could not single out any individual standouts in the WCTC game as "they all played a good game." The Pirates did not lose a single man by injuries against WCTC much to Dole's delight. Dole commended his squad by saying, "The boys are coming along nicely. They want to learn, and they are learning. We have come along slow but sure. Our greatest asset is the spirit and determination shown by the entire squad."

The Pirates face non-conference foes the next two weeks, their next game being Friday night against the Apprentice School at Newport News, Va. The last three games of the season will all be conference affairs as the Pirates tangle with Appalachian, High Point and ACC.

Williamsburg, Va., Oct. 19—(AP)—R. N. (Rube) McCray has signed a new five-year contract as head football coach at William and Mary—and it's a pact coaches dream about.

No matter how many games McCray's team wins or loses, the coach is guaranteed a future with the college. It's in writing. The contract was announced today.

If at the end of his five-year tenure McCray chooses to retire as head football coach and athletic director, he is guaranteed a position as a William and Mary faculty member.

In return, McCray has agreed not to accept a position as coach at any other school for the duration of the contract.

All Of A Sudden

Cleveland—(AP)—Prior to the 56-28 loss to San Francisco recently, which ended a streak of 29 All-America Conference games without defeat, the Cleveland Browns had had only 58 points scored against them in five previous games. Three of those five opponents—Baltimore, Brooklyn-New York and Los Angeles—collected a combined total of 10 points. Then the '49ers lowered the boom.

The terms of the contract were not announced. However, there were reports that Harris will receive about $25,000 a year.

This is the third time that Harris has served as pilot of the Senators. He led them to pennants in 1924 and 1925, and returned as manager from 1935 to 1942.

Heart of Happiness

Chapter 4
"Chips" he spat, and as though he had to expel further venom he shot the car ahead with a jerk and reckless speed.

He didn't go far. The third road, the north road forked again, and a few car lengths beyond the fork he stopped. "As far as I can go," he stated. "I'll have to back down as it is."

Later she might think him for coming to her side of the car and offering a hand to help her out. At the moment she felt he was anxious to be rid of her.

The moment she and her luggage were at the roadside his courtesy ended. True, he did lift his hat, and she glimpsed light brown hair with a single wave, but a moment later he slammed the car door and was backing down the road.

Moving in a stupor, Arleta picked up her bags and began climbing the weed-grown road, catching her high heels in last summer's vines, rubbery with rain. She made a sharp turn and stopped. A giant pine lay across her path. Automatically she looked to the upper bank. It had been felled by a human hand, someone who wanted the road closed. She looked at the limbs from which the needles had dropped and estimated the time it had lain there.

Arleta wavered. She even looked back. And then she remembered the man's voice when he'd said, "Chips."

All right! She'd been "Chips" Langtry. She'd been that again. And when had greasewood or lack of a path ever stopped that little hoyden?

She found the lowest spot on the west edge of the road, tossed her bags up and then with a run went up the side. It was like trying to run up an escalator—the steps slipped back under her—but like on an escalator she reached the top. Eagerly she brushed through the wet greasewood until the pines began, and there she could find an occasional open space thick with needles. And finally when it seemed she would have to leave her luggage, she came to the clearing and her home looked down on her.

Great rocks, upheld the two-storied log building, bulged out for verandas which circled north and west. From here the many windows looked bare. Her mother had doubtless packed away the draperies.

Hurrying now, wet shrubbery scratching at her, bags catching on every outstretched limb, she went on, went around to the front of the house and raced up the stone stairway to come to a sharp stop.

The door stood open.

Cautiously she approached. But the door did not stand open. There was no door, not upright. What had been the heavy object carved from a giant slab of redwood and freighted there lay hacked into a hundred pieces.

And the drapes had been torn down. And the furniture! Chairs, legs hacked off. Divans had been turned over, the upholstery slit, the filling drooping out in moldy heaps.

Lamps were smashed if they could be smashed, those of metal twisted, and such pictures as had been on the walls had been disfigured, the oil paintings seemingly cut by sharp knives.

Again she shivered and would have turned back, but Chips asserted herself. Anger arose like a hot red tide. This was more than vandalism, this was the work of hate.

Nothing had escaped, neither dishes nor rugs nor windows and when she reached the kitchen she found the coils of the electric stove pulled out, the wires cut.

Here on the white walls, the only surface which could have revealed writing, were written epigrams.

"As the Langtrys have sown, let them reap."

"We destroy what you have stolen from your fellow men."

"May sorrow mount with your fortune."

She went into the room built for the deep freeze, slid back a panel, inserted the key she'd been sent when the property became hers and opening the door behind the panel, went up a narrow stairway.

The last of the afternoon light lay there. And looking at it, Arleta knew nothing had been touched, seemingly, since she had left. The small bed, the furniture built to the scale of a twelve-year-old. The little fireplace with its safety screen.

Candles! Arleta hurried to a tin box on the little desk and, opening it, found something more precious than jewels, for there, where storms threw trees across the wires, the primitive means of light were kept always available.

Quickly she worked against the coming darkness. Dented aluminum pans, a handled measuring cup that could be straightened enough to use. Water from the rain barrel for washing, a hurried trip to a little spring capped by a cement cover and worked by a wheel. She used almost her last strength in opening this, for it was stashed.

She stumbled on her last trip up, and when she had closed the door behind herself and slipped the latch, she went to the window to sit, as she'd sat a thousand times, looking out on a world that had once been hers.

And this was what Cal Sheridan had found.

Her aunt had known about this. Her sister had known this. They could have spared her the humiliation of Cal finding out had they told her. Why hadn't they? Was that why they'd kept her in the East?

And now a new emotion filled her with terror. Footsteps sharp unafraid footsteps, sounded in the big room downstairs.

Covering Of Snow For Wyoming And Montana

Denver, Oct. 19.—(P)—The North wind puffed a snowy coating over Wyoming today after frosting Montana with the season's first major snow.

Coloradans shook the wrinkles out of their overcoats and checked the antifreeze in their cars. Snow over the Northern part of the state was expected before nightfall.

Big game hunters in the three states welcomed the snow. It was driving elk and deer down from the high Rockies to the more accessible lower elevations, where hunting is less rigorous.

About 100 hunters were snowed in at Teton Canyon, 25 miles west of Choteau, Mont. Sheriff officers said the sportsmen were well stocked with food and would be in no danger. Efforts to open the snow blocked roads in the area will be made late today or tomorrow.

Many Montana country roads were blocked by five foot drifts. Six foot piles of snow snarled traffic near the Blackfoot Indian reservation. Highway crews worked around the block to keep major roads open.

Helena, Montana capital, shivered in a maximum temperature of 17 degrees yesterday.

Denver's maximum was 71 yesterday but 20 above was predicted tonight.

Praises Work Of N. C. Delegation

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Sen. Graham says teamwork by the North Carolina delegation has pushed through the 81st Congress "projects of vital and long-range value in the upbuilding" of the state.

He told the North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington last night that these projects include:

1. "The President has promised, world conditions permitting, to fill in the gaps in the Great Smoky National Parkway." He described the Parkway as "an artery of traffic leading through an area of half the population of the United States into western North Carolina."

2. "Authorization of a $1 a year contract for the lease of federal lands to the North Carolina Ports Authority for development of the port of Wilmington. And commitment of the President, the secretary of defense and the secretary of the navy for allotment of a drydock to the port of Wilmington, which will arrive at a later date."

Sen. Graham said waterways projects such as those for Masonboro Inlet and Oregon Inlet and the Pasquotank flood control project also will mean much to the state.

Will Report On Meet Of Student Councils

Four outstanding members of the Greenville high school Student Council will make reports Friday on their trip last week to the Regional Student Council gathering at Charleston, W. Va.

Dwight Garrett, president of the Greenville student government, Louis Clark, Eastern District officer, and Student Council members Mitchell Saleed and Rodney Fulcher returned here Sunday after attending a three-day regional meeting.

Principal O. E. Dowd said reports would be heard by the entire student body at an assembly program Friday morning.

Richard Manning Elliott (left), 15, is led from home at Los Angeles by Policeman J. E. Ringo after officers charged he killed his brother Robert (right), 10, to end his misery. Police said Robert was wounded first by accidental discharge of an old revolver shown him by Richard. Officers reported the older brother said: "Robert fell down groaning. I couldn't stand to see him suffer like that. I backed up two or three steps. I shot him again in the head to put him out of his misery." (AP Wirephoto).

These three engaged in a race with the stork over the Atlantic ocean Monday—and lost. They are at the airport in Shannon, Ireland, after landing their American Overseas Airlines Constellation from New York. Dr. Fred Henschel (left) of New York delivered a four-pound baby boy to Mrs. Darinka Parker, a passenger from New York, while the plane winged high above the Atlantic. Assisting the doctor were Stewardess Mary Jane Hinkle (center) of Millville, N. J., and Flight Capt. John Hennesse (right) of New Town, Conn. (AP Wirephoto).

Angry Row

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—An angry row over extra money voted by senators to raise their office payrolls held up financing of the $1,314,010,000 foreign arms program today.

House members walked out of a senate-house conference called to settle differences over an omnibus appropriation bill which includes the funds to help arm friendly nations.

are now the foster parents of three Irish children.

Carnival Friday Night At Armory Hallow'en Event

The Hallow'en Carnival to be held at the National Guard Armory Friday night at 7 o'clock will have all of the features of a carnival and the event will be featured by a parade of children and their pets in the afternoon at 4:30. The Hallow'en Carnival is for the benefit of the recreation fund.

Miss Annie Laurie Askey is chairman of the parade. It will start at the armory and proceed down Evans to Dickinson avenue and to the railroad station. Cash prizes are offered to the boy and the girl in the best Hallow'en costumes. Children planning to participate should telephone Miss Askey at 4986 after 4:30 p. m. today or tomorrow.

Miss Evelyn Latham, general chairman, said tickets for the carnival are on sale at the Diana Shop and they will be on sale at the armory Friday night. Tickets are a dime for children, 25c for grownups.

India's Stark . . .

(Continued from page one) The average annual income of the Indian farmer has been estimated at about $28. Most farmers are in the hands of money-lenders and these leeches extract as much as 75 per cent interest on loans. The result is that the unhappy farmer has little or nothing on which to support his family.

Naturally conditions in the towns and cities are better, though there is much poverty and consequent under-nourishment among them. As Nehru says, this poverty is his greatest problem, just as it is the greatest problem of India's sister state of Pakistan. Its solution is the foundation on which he must build the new and independent India.

What are his chances of success in this great undertaking? As the signs read he will go far.

India is on the move. She has made tremendous strides this last generation—a fact reflected not only in newborn independence but in the fact that she ranks about eighth among the industrial countries of the world.

Without doubt India is emerging onto the broad highway of a new and better life, and she is taking her leadership from Nehru.

What Congress . . .

(Continued from page one) Democrats and Republicans more or less working together, followed the urgings of President Truman. But it was different on some of the things that affected the people at home.

President Truman wanted Congress, controlled by his Democrats, to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law. Congress didn't do it.

Nor did it listen to his request to revise and broaden the social security laws.

He wanted Congress to vote money for federal aid to education. But this got lost in a religious argument and Congress didn't do it.

And this Congress took no action on Mr. Truman's requests for various civil rights laws.

All these things, and others, that were not done still will be there for the 81st Congress, on its second go-round in 1950, to take another crack at.

But all the big issues—the passed and the by-passed—will be part of the whooping and hollering in the 1950 campaign next fall.

Prison Escapee Is Recaptured

Greensboro, Oct. 19.—(P)—James Westmoreland, 36, of Route 1, Kernersville, wounded three times by a prison guard in escaping yesterday from Sandy Ridge Prison camp, was back in custody today after his arrest last night at the home of a niece near Midway, in Rockingham county.

Captain R. E. Boore, superintendent of the camp, said he and a group of officers traced the escapee from one point to another throughout the day yesterday, finally catching up with him at the residence of Mrs. Jack Manor.

Guatemala Flood Disaster Grows

Guatemala, Guatemala, Oct. 19.—(P)—Flood deaths in Guatemala have risen to more than 2,000, Foreign Minister Ismael Guzmán Arevalo said today.

He told a reporter: property damage cannot be less than $50,000,000. "As each additional report arrives, the disaster assumes greater proportions," he said.

Local Officials . . .

Continued from page one tuberculosis sanatorium, and to Caswell Training school for the feeble-minded, making arrangement for admission of eligible children to the State School for the deaf, dumb and blind; and investigations and completion of social histories necessary for admission of juvenile delinquents to State Correctional Institutions. The department works closely with the Health Department as well as the School officials arranging for psychological tests for children who show need of this service. It also works with the state labor department in issuance of employment certificates to minors.

While North Carolina ranks fairly well with other states there are still gaps in the program, Dr. Winston said. The needs for the disabled between the ages of 16 and 65 are not yet being met. However, she pointed out that North Carolina has earmarked funds for this purpose which will be available as soon as federal funds are voted for matching. While the House of Representatives has already passed a measure providing these funds, the bill has not been brought up in the United States Senate. Dr. Winston urged the officials to back the measure by contacting their Senators.

N. Y. Cotton

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened unchanged to $1.30 a bale higher today.

Noon prices were 15 to 70 cents a bale higher than the previous close. Dec. 29/74, March 29/67 and May 29/64.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices mostly 25 cents stronger. Tops at $17.75 at Kinston; $17.50 at Goldsboro, Wilson, Tarboro, Greenville, Washington, Rocky Mount; $18.50 at Richmond.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at 27; eggs steady, A large 62.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The stock market huffed and puffed at a great rate today but could manage no more than a fractional advance. Around midday selected issues showed a tendency to slip. Gains, however, remained in a decisive majority.

for healthful REST and perfect SLEEP

sleep on a KARPEN Pil-O-Rest

The relaxing comfort of sleeping on fluffy channeled pillows, supported by a firm completed innerspring unit, can be yours—only if you sleep on a Karpen Pil-O-Rest mattress. There's nothing to compare with this combination of just the right amount of "cushioning comfort" with just the right amount of healthful support. Karpen spent years in research to determine just how much cushion and just how much support was necessary . . . and the patented construction of the Pil-O-Rest is the result. We're proud to present this outstanding mattress.
