Pitt Jobless Pay Claims Decreased

Claims Filed In Pitt During September And Early October Hit Two-Year Low; Officials Predict Sharp Increase Will Be Noted In Next Few Weeks

Unemployment claims filed in Pitt county during September and the first part of October hit a two-year low, it was revealed today by the local office of the North Carolina employment security commission.

Spokesmen at the local office said the sharp decrease in unemployment claims compared with other months of the year, indicates employment in the county is higher than at any time during the two-year period.

Dwight M. Leonard, supervisor of the local office of the employment security commission, said, "I am amazed myself at the fact that the number of unemployment claims got as low as it did."

The Greenville office paid only 21 unemployment claims during the week ending Sept. 10, and 38 claims during the week ending Oct. 5. The local office, Leonard said, has paid as high as 600 claims a week during the slack labor season during the winter and spring months.

Although increased employment is responsible for the wholesale decrease in unemployment payments at the present time, Leonard pointed out that readjustment payments to veterans have declined sharply since July when most of the G. I. benefits terminated.

Only two veterans received benefit payments during the week of Sept. 10 and eight received payments during the week of Oct. 5, compared with a total of 74 veterans who received payments for the corresponding weeks of 1948.

In spite of the fact that the unemployment payments for the Greenville area are the lowest in a two-year period, officials expressed the opinion that a sharp increase in unemployment claims will be noted within the next few weeks as a number of tobacco factories curtail operations.

As yet, Leonard said, no claims have been filed in area giving the major coal and steel strikes as the cause for being laid off work.

Meanwhile W. S. Dillingham, in charge of job placement at the local employment office said, "Right now we don't have a large number of unemployed looking for jobs, or a large number of job openings. We have had only a few factory workers in looking for new jobs, but we expect a large number shortly."

Dillingham said the prospects for this winter indicate there will be job openings in this area for most common labor with experience in construction work provided inclement weather does not interfere with the building planned in the county.

The employment picture for this fall and winter will be slightly better than last year, he commented but tobacco factories are turning off labor earlier this season than a year ago. Otherwise, Dillingham said, the outlook for labor seems about the same as it was a year ago.

Egged Her On

Los Angeles, Oct. 20 (AP)—Marion Jane Renner, 20-year-old housewife, said her husband so egged her on that she was forced to scramble their marriage.

"If I break a yolk while cooking eggs for my husband he'd make me eat the egg," she told the court yesterday.

"I had to eat five eggs one morning."

"When I fixed his eggs sunny side up perfectly, he would only eat them up and eat them anyway."

Superior Judge Charles C. Johnson thought that was carrying a yolk too far and granted her an uncontested divorce from William Renner, 22.

A Quieter Washington

Now That Congress Has Closed Up Shop, A Few Lawmakers Will Still Linger But Most Plan Fast Departure; Plenty Of News Left In Capital; Foreign Affairs

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—What happens in Washington, now that Congress has quit for the rest of 1949?

True, the town will quiet down a little. No more laws can be passed until Congress comes back into session again.

Until then there can be no more speeches or debates on the floors of House and Senate.

There won't stop congressmen from issuing statements or making speeches wherever they are, if only at a dinner or over the radio.

But a number of congressmen will be here all the time, working in their offices or scouting around town.

Others will stay here to serve on committees which will be holding hearings.

For instance, the House Armed Services Committee was continuing today its hearings on the usefulness of the B-36 bomber.

In spite of the congressional shutdown, a heavy volume of news out of Washington probably will continue.

It always seems that way when Congress goes home. That's because the rest of the government still will be doing business.

Yugoslavia Wins Security Council Seat In Election

Assembly Action Is Rebuff To Soviet Bloc; Vishinsky Sees Violations

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—Yugoslavia won a seat in the United Nations Security Council today over the Soviet-sponsored Czechoslovakia. The action by the 59-nation General Assembly was a rebuff to the Cominform Soviet bloc.

The vote on the second ballot was Yugoslavia 39 and Czechoslovakia 19. Thirty-nine votes were required for election. Yugoslavia thus squeezed by on the minimum number of votes needed.

The voting was by secret ballot. The United States supported Yugoslavia for the council seat now held by the Soviet Ukraine. The seating changes Dec. 31.

On the first ballot, Tito's regime got 37, Czechoslovakia 20, Afghanistan 1, Philippines 1.

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky took the floor immediately after the results were announced.

Vishinsky charged the election of Yugoslavia was a violation of the U.N. charter because it failed, he said, to take into account provisions regarding geographic distribution of council seats.

The West previously had contended that Yugoslavia was just as qualified to represent Eastern Europe as Czechoslovakia.

Vishinsky declared Yugoslavia's candidacy was advanced by the United States and Britain through behind-the-scenes maneuvering.

Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo banged his gavel repeatedly but Vishinsky held the floor about four minutes.

"Yugoslavia cannot and will not be considered a member of the Eastern bloc," Vishinsky said.

He described the election as "an attempt to turn the Security Council into an obedient tool of the Anglo-American bloc."

Britain had announced in advance that it would support Czechoslovakia, but there was no indication how she actually voted on the secret ballot.

The voting began after Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky made a last-minute appeal to the assembly to defeat Yugoslavia. His remarks, however, were ruled out of order by Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo.

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—Agriculture Department officials are estimating that the government may have to buy 800,000,000 or more pounds of pork next year under farm price support operations.

This estimate is based upon the assumption that the government will continue the present policy of supporting hog prices at 90 per cent of parity.

Much of this pork, if bought, would have to be sold abroad, inasmuch as it could not be sold back into the domestic market without depressing hog prices below guaranteed levels.

Officials say few countries have the funds to purchase American meats at the support prices. Hence, it might be necessary, they explain, to offer the pork abroad at cut-rate prices.

It is estimated that pork production next year, coupled with carry-over supplies from this year, will total about 12,300,000,000 pounds.

Prisoner Hidden After Threats Over Telephone

Bartow, Fla., Oct. 20 (AP)—A wounded Negro wanted for shooting a policeman was whisked away to a secret spot for safekeeping today after threats had been made to seize him.

Sheriff Frank Williams of Polk County said anonymous telephone callers made the threats to him after Jesse Donaldson, an ex-convict, had been taken to a hospital for treatment of critical bullet wounds.

Donaldson was shot by officers in a scrub oak thicket near Auburn before a 72-hour manhunt.

Donaldson was wanted for the shooting of Patrolman J. L. Brannen at Lakeland Sunday. Brannen was shot in the face with a shotgun. He is recovering, but lost the sight of one eye.

Britain Seeking More Economies

Armed Forces And Social Services Appear Slated To Be Cut

London, Oct. 20 (AP)—The British government, hunting drastic economies, appeared today to halt expansion of its cradle-to-grave social services.

Political informants said the social services and the armed forces are two of the prime targets of Prime Minister Clement Attlee's economy drive.

Each takes about a quarter of the nation's annual budget of $8,000,000,000.

The Cabinet's economic policy committee met again today. It is believed to have completed a strict economy program which Attlee will announce Monday in the House of Commons.

Political informants say among the things scrutinized in the social services were the free medical program and food subsidies.

There are strong indications that the health service is scolding down plans for construction of health centers.

The informants said the free medical service cost was running over its $700,000,000 annual budget. Most placed the excess at about $196,000,000.

New College Library To Be Started In December

Work on a new library for East Carolina Teachers College will begin in late December. Announced today is architect's plans are nearing completion and that construction will begin before the end of this year has just been made by F. D. Duncan, college business manager.

A sum of $700,299 has been allocated by the State Budget office for constructing and equipping the library of this amount $50,000 will be used for equipment.

East Carolina's new library will be located on the west campus, in line with the Flanagan building and the infirmary.

Wendell W. Smiley, college librarian, describes it as a two-story structure, modernistic in design. It will be 267 feet long and will provide space for 125,000 volumes. Windows will be spacious and will measure 18 by 26 feet. An auditorium equipped for dark-room projection is included in the plans. The campus radio station will also be located in the library. Furnishings will be informal in style and arrangement.

It is expected that the new library will be ready for use in 1951.

Plans are to remodel the present library as a music building. East Carolina's growing department of music is now located in the Wright and Austin buildings. When the new library is completed, changes will be made in the old building so as to provide suitable accommodations for all phases of the music program at the college.

Nehru And His Views

India's Prime Minister Believes That The Society Which Provides The Better Life Will Be The Society Which Will Survive Struggle Of Communism & Capitalism

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Few visitors to America have attracted such sustained interest to their expressions of views as has Prime Minister Nehru of India.

This is due in part, I take it, to the directness and clarity with which he attacks the paramount issues of the day, and in part to the fact that in him we apparently see the great new leader of southeast Asia's millions. It is for this reason that this column returns to further comment on his opinions as one of the outstanding personalities of our time.

For example, in an address before the Overseas Press Club of America in New York, Nehru struck a body blow at the imperialism that is struggling to retain its foothold in the Far East. The prime minister declared that "next to hunger, nationalism in Asia still is the primary urge." He said that ultimately the Orient must "play a very important part in world affairs," have a bigger share of the world's wealth, and rid itself of foreign rule.

Nehru then made the startling prediction that "four or five years" will see the last vestige of alien rule in Asia.

"Four or five years" may seem like a very short time to finish clearing imperialism out of Asia. Still, we must listen with respect to the man who, more than any other excepting the late Mahatma Gandhi, was responsible for the winning of India's freedom.

Another viewpoint of the Asiatic leader was expressed at a reception given by the United Nations correspondents' association at Lake Success. During an informal question period one of the newspapermen asked Nehru whether he thought Marxist and capitalist societies could live side by side indefinitely.

"I don't think so," the prime minister replied. "It is possible, but ultimately one will influence the other. The society which delivers the goods—the better life—will survive."

By "better life" Nehru was taken to refer not only to material things but to spiritual and cultural matters. Of course, to get the full significance of this appraisal you must know where Nehru stands ideologically. The prime minister is a moderate socialist, who believes in following a middle course providing for nationalization of some industries but leaving plenty of others

Solons Start Brief Recess To Listen To Voters' Ideas

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower confidently told Congress today he believes armed services unification will work "from this moment on" and "the unified America can lick the world."

He called on the quarreling armed services and Congress to give unification a chance and not to "panic" at the first setback.

The commander of allied forces in the victorious European war—now the president of Columbia University—stepped into the bitter inter-service row with this observation:

"We are expecting perfection too quickly."

He appeared before the House Armed Services Committee to speak of the cuff on unification differences, and at the invitation of Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) to "give us the benefit of your advice."

"We are in hot water in the Pentagon, and we are in hot water up here," Vinson told him.

Truman Says No Plans Laid For Handling Strikes

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—President Truman suggested today that labor and management get together and settle the coal and steel strikes in the interest of themselves and the country.

The President told a news conference he had no present plans for seizure of either industries and he still hopes that mediation will be successful.

The sooner employers and employees come to a conclusion and go back to work, he said, the better it will be for the country and themselves.

The twin strikes by Philip Murray's CIO Steel Workers and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers have idled about a million men for almost three weeks.

Mr. Truman was asked what he would do if mediation efforts by Conciliation Director Cyrus Ching failed to bring about a settlement. He replied he would cross that bridge when he comes to it.

Coal negotiations between Lewis' miners and the soft coal operators still are under way in West Virginia. Ching is meeting today with representatives of U.S. Steel Corporation in New York.

The President said he was in continuous and close touch with the conciliation moves.

Mr. Truman said in response to another question that he still plans to ask Congress for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The 81st Congress thus far has refused to wipe out the 1947 labor law which Mr. Truman pledged to repeal.

In dealing with the steel dispute, the President sidestepped the emergency provisions of that act which calls for an eventual court injunction against a strike.

Instead, he set up a three man fact finding board without power to recommend a settlement.

There had been speculation that Mr. Truman might ask Murray and steel industry leaders to the White House for talks aimed at seeking a settlement of the steel walkout.

Warns Against Taking Cities Into Deep Debt

Winston-Salem, Oct. 20 (AP)—W. E. Easterling, secretary of the Local Government Commission, warned North Carolina mayors and aldermen today against carrying their cities deep into debt.

Speaking at the N. C. League of Municipalities Conference here, he predicted a drop in tax collections and other sources of revenue, which will require close attention to city spending.

He particularly advised municipal rulers not to issue bonds for every conceivable purpose on a high, wide and handsome basis because of pressure for bonds from various groups.

Issuing bonds usually means piling up a debt to be paid off over a period of 20 to 40 years, Easterling said, and the public should fully understand the effect of the debt.

After the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ragsdale, the program chairman, Mrs. J. B. James presented Mr. C. S. After hearing him tell of the interesting places and people he had met during his weeks of travel, we felt that we too would like to pack our troubles (either real or imaginary) and step out into the wide open spaces away from the hubbub and pressure of our own everyday life so that we may see what other people in the world about us are doing and at the same time enjoy the scenic and historic wonders of the world.

Piano Recital By Eugene List Set For Nov. 3

Eugene List, young American pianist, will appear in recital at East Carolina Teachers College Thursday evening, Nov. 3. The program, scheduled for 8:00 o'clock in the Wright auditorium, will be the second to be sponsored by the college Entertainment Committee during the fall quarter. In September the U. S. Marine Band ushered in this year's series with a concert attended by approximately 1800 students and other patrons in eastern North Carolina.

Described by critics as "the extraordinary pianist with the brilliant technique," List won international fame as a performer during World War II. As a sergeant and entertainer with the armed forces, he was summoned to appear in recital at Potsdam before the Big Three—Truman, Churchill, and Stalin. His concert was so acceptable that he became known as "The Potsdam Pianist." Inclusion of the President's favorite, the "Missouri Waltz," won him Truman's praise and continued friendship.

Mail orders for tickets and reservations are now being received at the college by Ellen Rion Caldwell, chairman of the Entertainment committee.

Area Conference Legion Auxiliary

Mrs. James R. Worsley of Greenville, vice president of the First Area, presided when the First Area conference of the American Legion Auxiliary met at the Christian church in Washington, N. C., Monday, October 17. Rev. Elmo Turner, pastor of the Christian church, gave the invocation. Greetings from the Legion were extended by Mr. Ed Youman, commander of the Washington post of the Legion. Mrs. Phil Willis, president of the Washington unit of the Auxiliary, gave the address of welcome to which Mrs. W. B. Sanders, president of the Rocky Mount unit, responded.

Mrs. Arthur B. Corey of Greenville, Area Rehabilitation chairman, gave an interesting talk on the importance of rehabilitation in connection with the work of the Auxiliary. Reports were heard from the district committee women, after which a roll call of the units was made. In spite of the inclement weather, 30 of the 32 units in the area were represented. These were Edenton, Elizabeth City, Sledgehead, Belhaven, Columbia, Washington, Plymouth, Williamston, Rich Square, Windsor, Ahoskie, Conway, Pine-top, Whitakers, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Wilson, Weldon, Ayden and Greenville. Approximately 160 members were present.

Miss Arella Adams of Raleigh, department secretary - treasurer, brought greetings from Auxiliary headquarters. Miss Adams stressed the importance of carrying out the work of the Auxiliary and briefly outlined the program for the coming year. Mrs. Arthur B. Corey introduced the principal speaker, Mrs. John A. Ward of Williamston, department president for North Carolina. Mrs. Ward gave a most inspiring and informative talk on the importance of the Auxiliary's endeavors which include, child welfare, rehabilitation, Americanism, national security, community service and legislation. Mrs. Ward brought out the four points to be remembered in building together as, a desire to serve, an intelligent understanding of the program, a new enthusiasm and last but not least, devotion. Mrs. E. S. Pugh of Windsor, was nominated for area chairman. Mrs. W. B. Sanders, president of the Rocky Mount unit, extended an invitation for the area conference to be held in Rocky Mount next year. The attendance award given by Mrs. Worsley for the unit having the largest attendance from the greatest distance was presented to Mrs. W. T. Robbins, president of the Elizabeth City unit, by Mrs. S. R. Motzno of Woodlands. Two beautiful solos were given by Mr. Ted Rowe of Washington, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Selby Jones. The courtesy address was made by Mrs. Raleigh Harrington, president of the Williamston unit of the Auxiliary.

At the conclusion of the meeting a delicious turkey luncheon was served in the basement of the church. Those attending from Greenville were Mesdames James R. Worsley, H. R. Rogers, Arthur B. Corey, T. Frank Taylor, W. C. Harris, W. R. Jones, Wiley Brown, K. T. Putrelle, V. C. Fleming, H. C. Sugg, E. L. Baker, Martha Forrest, L. Walter Cherry, G. L. Winters and Miss Kathleen Whichard.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

FOR A SMALL FAMILY this house is efficiently designed to keep building costs at a minimum. A simple rectangle in shape, it calls for no complicated carpentry. Kitchen and bath are planned adjacent with laundry directly below in the basement to keep plumbing costs down. Windows are spaced to provide ample wall spaces for furniture. This is plan B-100 by the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. It covers an area of 720 square feet and with basement it has a cubage of 14,040 cubic feet. The architects suggest an exterior of wood siding and a roof of asphalt shingles, with a wide overhang to protect the front entrance and the picture window. A garage can be attached to the blank wall formed by the stairway.

Strength FOR THE DAY

WORK CAN BE WORSHIP

One of the most interesting spots in the world today is the Ionian Community, a group of people occupying the little island off the coast of Scotland where, almost 1400 years ago, Columba, the great Celtic missionary began his work. From that spot, Columba sent out his missionaries to Ireland, Scotland, and England. The Ionian movement was one of the most significant enterprises in the history of the Christian Church.

Today a group of men under the leadership of a Scotch minister, George MacLeod is attempting to bring back on that tiny island the religious vitality which meant so much to the British Isles centuries ago. Worship, study, and hard physical work are the requirements of those who associate themselves with MacLeod and his colleagues.

It is significant that the morning service held at 8:30 is not closed with a benediction. After that come hard manual work and periods of study and prayer. In the evening there is another service, and this latter service closes with a benediction. The idea of that is that work and study are just as much a part of worship as the service held in the cathedral. In fact, they constitute the continuation of the worship service.

This is the practical application of the Christian teaching that unless we take our religion into our work, it is not religion at all but pretense.

TOXIC—Many complaints of persons and animals being poisoned by improper use of new insecticides induced the University of California to add an extra warning. A letter received by the state department of agriculture enclosed additional labels printed in red to post on the front of each of three pamphlets previously sent the department from California. The letter read as if it were a form letter being sent to all recipients of the original pamphlets vigorously warning against the toxic nature of some of the ingredients of recommended insecticides.

FOUNDATION—The Journalism Foundation announced by the North Carolina Press Association for the school of journalism at Chapel Hill is getting off to a good start. The charter has been prepared and is in process of being signed by the incorporators. Even before that was done at least $2,000 had been paid into the foundation. Checks for $1,000 from the press association was handed over at the dinner honoring Miss Beatrice Cobb last Saturday night. At the same time announcement was made of receipt of a check for $1,000 from Burlington Mills foundation, and it was stated other substantial gifts are in imminent prospect. The late Carey Dowd of Charlotte bequeathed $5,000 to the foundation.

ACCREDITATION—Immediate objective of the Foundation is to raise the status of the present department of journalism into recognition as a school of journalism, and get it accredited by the various national newspaper groups. Income from the Foundation will be used to supplement other receipts and appropriations to obtain better instructors and equipment. It will operate similarly to the Business foundation at the University, the Textile and Engineering foundation at State College. Long range purposes is to assure letter training for men and women entering newspaper and radio work.

REFORESTATION—In co-operation with forestry divisions in the state department of conservation and development and State College extension service the two big pulp mills in North Carolina are donating 750,000 tree seedlings for free distribution to 4-H club members. Any 4-H boy or girl may apply for 1,000 to 5,000 seedlings, provided the parents or guardians approve and furnish the land for planting. Applications are to be filed with forestry extension at the college and distribution will be supervised by the C&D forestry division. The seedlings are being provided by Champion Paper and Fiber Company at Canton and North Carolina Pulp Company at Plymouth. Although these companies are motivated by long range purpose to guarantee continuing supply of pulpwood, the project affords opportunity to utilize many thousands of presently idle

REC-MANNING

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Women never seem to be able to decide what age they want to look. For the first twenty-odd years they want to look older. The turning point comes suddenly, not gradually. On one day they suddenly decide that it's time to look younger. They always have a struggle looking older or younger.

Kathryn Van Nortwick is an exception to this general rule. She isn't a member of the struggle, but since she's teaching English at East Carolina Teachers College she does like to appear to be older than her students. When Kathryn enrolled at ECTC to work on her master's degree the officials found out that she's a Phi Beta and a Duke graduate. Immediately they granted her the fellowship to teach two classes as she goes to school.

Teaching in a college is quite a responsible position, so Kay decided that she would dress to add a few months to her age. One day she was writing on the board and one of the officials walked in the room with two new students for her class. He looked the class over but couldn't seem to find the teacher.

"Where's the teacher?" he asked. The roar of laughter and Kay's red face answered the question for him. The official's face was redder. How he could have thought that Teacher Kay was a student writing on the board was beyond him. Kay, in spite of this experience, and non-productive lend.

CROP—Not so many years ago trees were a nuisance on the farm. The problem was to get rid of them and provide land for cultivation. Growing demand for pulpwood and plastics, as well as for building lumber, along with depleted forest reserves, has brought reforestation into the picture. Many farmers are now "cropping" timberland much as they do cultivated fields. It takes ten to fifteen years to reap first harvest from loblolly and shortleaf pine seedlings, but there is little expense attached to growing the tree crop. Increasing importance of trees is demonstrated by the fact the United States department of agriculture devotes its 1949 year book to that subject.

has no intention of putting on the years in too much of a hurry. My suggestion was that she powder her hair and crackle her voice a little. But she says no. One thing is certain: that same college official won't get her mixed up with a student again. Maybe next time it'll be a different one.

One of the greatest arts of all is the ability to remember names. Preachers have a particular task when it comes to names. They try to learn the most in the least time.

The particular preacher in question today has a device that he uses when names escape him. One Sunday he was standing at the door shaking hands with the congregation when he saw a young man coming down the line whose name he couldn't remember. Instead of asking him point blank he said, "We are checking the membership roll. How do you spell your last name?"

The youngster replied, "S-m-l-t-h." That incident didn't cure the preacher of using that method, but it convinced him that he should change it a little. The next time it was a young lady who was coming down the line.

"We are checking the membership roll," he said. "Do you spell your last name with an 'e' or an 'i'?" She replied, "My name is Hill." And I thank you.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By VERN RAUGLAND
(For Jane Eads)
Washington—What should a child

have learned at home before entering the first grade? Not reading, or learning to count, says the U. S. Office of Education. Far more important, in satisfactory adjustment to school life, are the child's ability to dress and undress himself, hang up his wraps, care for his toileting needs, run errands and help in simple chores.

These are the conclusions in a new pamphlet, "Preparing Your Child for School," available from the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., at 15 cents a copy. The Education Office says it prepared the booklet because it is important to parents and teachers alike to understand why some children enter the first grade or kindergarten eager and unabashed while others hesitate and stumble. "When the time comes for a child to go to school it is important to remember that it is not only a step for him to take, but a step for his parents as well," says the booklet's author, Hazel F. Gabbard.

"Some parents come to school with the child and continue to shelter him. The danger when this happens is that then the child may begin to doubt whether he can get along without mother or father at his side. And there are some parents who deep down want their child to stay with them," Miss Gabbard says that by school entrance age a child should have:

1. Learned to respect other children as persons and to recognize their property rights
2. Acquired a number of health habits, such as covering the mouth when coughing, and keeping objects out of the mouth.
3. Developed self-reliance in putting on clothing, washing face, hands and face and in putting playthings away.
4. Learned to use language.
5. The child needs to hear words spoken clearly and in correct grammatical construction," says Miss Gabbard. "Sometimes adults make the mistake of using baby talk with the child or talking down to him. Laughing about the child's mispronunciation of words or repeating these errors after him is often a stumbling-block to a child's language development."

Beating Laid To Kangaroo Court

Benton, Ark., Oct. 20—(AP)—The whipping of a 16-year-old inmate at the Arkansas Girls Training School was ordered by a "kangaroo court," and not by authorities, a former matron said yesterday at her trial for assault and battery. A circuit court jury promptly acquitted Mrs. Carrie Toland, who was charged with beating the teen-ager. Mrs. Toland testified that the girl, Rita Pickens of Fort Smith, Ark., was given ten licks with a small strap and five blows with a larger one after a group of girls recommended that she be whipped. Rita was made to lie on the floor while she was being whipped, the former matron said.

Rita told the court that she was made to take off her dress and was then struck 57 times. Other indictments against Mrs. Toland and Mrs. Fannie Goodman, former superintendent at the school, were dropped immediately after Mrs. Toland's acquittal. The two women were indicted on 17 counts last August after escapes, riots and numerous disorderly demonstrations occurred at the school.

FIREMEN CALLED
The Greenville Fire Department was called to the home of Jack C. Gates in the Hillsdale section of Greenville about 5:15 yesterday afternoon when a floor furnace got out of order. The furnace started smoking but did no damage to the house.

Smooth golf balls do not drive as far as dimpled or me-h surface balls. The explanation is that the rough surface enables spin to lift the ball more.

Reynolds Heirs Unable To Touch Immense Fortune

Baltimore, Oct. 20—(AP)—The late tobacco tycoon, R. J. Reynolds, didn't want his children to become spendthrifts, so today they can't get their hands on $5,740,000.

The money is in trust funds for them, and that's where it will stay, Circuit Judge Joseph Sherbow ruled yesterday.

His decision was handed down in a court action brought by Reynolds' three surviving children and one child of his widow by a second marriage.

Richard J. Reynolds sought $775,000; Mrs. Mary Reynolds Babcock $1,115,000; Nancy Reynolds Bagley, $1,360,000 and J. Edward Johnston, Jr., $2,500,000.

Judge Sherbow's lengthy opinion recounted that Reynolds died in 1918, leaving a large estate. He had expressed fear that too much money at their immediate disposal would be disadvantageous to his heirs, so he set up trust funds for them.

They were to receive their shares of the estate upon becoming 28 years old. One third of his common stock in the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company was left in trust for his widow, who was given power of distribution over it.

Mrs. Reynolds later married J. Edward Johnston, in her will she tied up her children's share of her estate, including the tobacco stock in life trusts. Her will also provided that most of the income be withheld until they became 28. The four children contended they were entitled to the accumulated income in the trusts, which had piled up before they reached their 28th birthdays.

Reynolds' grandchildren and the Safe Deposit and Trust company of Baltimore, trustee of the estate, opposed this contention.

Charles Cobb To Appear In Probe

Charles Cobb, formerly of Greenville and now principal of the Cherry Point school at Havelock, will appear before a congressional investigating committee Monday when the group visits the Cherry Point Marine base.

The congressional committee on education is visiting various military bases throughout the country to determine the needs of the schools.

Principal Cobb said yesterday the Cherry Point school which now has an enrollment of 500 is expected to increase its student body to 2,000 within the next two years because of the expansion in housing facilities for civil service employes at the base.

Cobb said the Cherry Point schools will seek approximately one million dollars from federal funds for its proposed expansion program.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin from the Rector Kitchens

Wilson's Certified "Picnics" are a good buy. They will add distinctive flavor and zest to your dinner. You have two to choose from. Both are choice, fully smoked, plump, short shank, pork shoulder. Wilson's Certified Smoked Picnics must be cooked. Wilson's Tender Ready Picnics are ready to eat hot or cold.

Good when cooked the easy-does-it Plain Jane way, too. A-Wilson's Certified Smoked Picnic (several hours from the refrigerator) is put into water to cover. Let it simmer long and slow (see recipe below). An hour before dinner drop in the whole vegetables. For the last twenty minutes add cabbage wedges. And here's your simmered dinner—fragrant, delicious, nourishing, just as tasty and as good eating for the family as if you'd stood over the cookstove all afternoon.

NEW ENGLAND DINNER 1949

Select according to number you wish to serve:
1 Wilson's Certified Smoked Picnic, 4 to 6 lbs.
Let the meat stand out of the refrigerator several hours to warm up to room temperature. Unwrap and place the meat in a kettle in warm water to cook. Cover the kettle. Cook about 40 minutes per pound. An hour before dinner add the whole vegetables, your choice, or:
a whole, scrubbed potato per person
1 or 2 whole scraped carrots per person
For the last 20 minutes of cooking add:
1 wedge of green cabbage per person
Cook just tender. Your Wilson's "Picnic" may then be skinned and served as is, or glazed and browned in a 325° F. oven about 30 minutes. If to be served cold and unglazed, let cool in its own liquor.
SPILT PEA SOUP: If you will save the cooking liquid from your "Picnic" plus the marrow-rich bone and meaty scraps you can make a delicious soup.

State's Factory Employment For September Rises

Raleigh, Oct. 20.—(AU)—Factory employment in North Carolina rose during September for the second consecutive month.

The State Department of Labor reported today that a gain of 11,300 factory workers last month plus a 20,200 rise in August had offset more than half of a 61,600 drop in employment experienced in the preceding 10 months.

At the end of September factory employment stood at 393,500 as compared with 382,200 in August. Total factory employment at the end of September was 6.7 per cent below the 421,758 total of September 1943, the report added.

At the same time, average weekly earnings and hours worked increased for the second consecutive month.

The gains in employment, hours and earnings affected most of the major industrial groups, the report said, with textiles, tobacco, chemical and furniture industries leading the way.

Textile mills added 6,800 workers last month for a total of 206,500, tobacco stemmeries and redrying plants in a season increase added 3,000 workers, the furniture industry 600 and the chemical industry 700 additional workers.

These increases gave the tobacco industry a total of 37,900 workers, furniture 21,500 and chemical 8,800.

Only three of 18 major industries reported employment declines last month. These were: Lumber and timber products 300, food products 400 and printing and publishing 100.

Weekly earnings of the 393,500 factory workers in September averaged $40.83, which was $3.06 higher than the low of $37.77 reached in May. Hours worked in all manufacturing industries averaged 39.4 per week, as against 34.7 hours in May.

Found $30,000 In His Basement; Will Keep It

Wellington, O., Oct. 19.—(AP)—What would you do if you found more than $30,000 in cash in your basement?

Well, that is exactly what 60-year-old Richard A. Cordray says he will do—keep it, if possible.

Cordray said he found the money Sept. 29 when he knocked out a partition to make way for a gas furnace. The 55-year-old, 16-room mansion was built by G. H. Palmer. Cordray, Wellington's sanitary engineer since 1937, bought the home 15 years ago from Charles Ross. Both Palmer and Ross are dead. All Cordray's four children are grown, and he lives alone with his wife. "I bought the house and I expect to keep what is in it," he said.

Loses Appeal In Effort To Avoid Execution Date

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 19.—(AP)—An Erwin Cotton Mill worker lost another round today in his effort to avoid the gas chamber. The state Supreme Court upheld Tom Wood's conviction in Harnett County last March on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Ruby Wood.

According to testimony in the case Wood and his wife went for a walk last Dec. 12, and her body, which bore numerous stab wounds, was found in a creek three days later.

Wood, who first denied the slaying, later admitted it, officers said. He pleaded that he was mentally irresponsible at the time of the slaying.

Animals Get The Air

AP Newsfeatures
 London—Watch out for kangaroos. They like to kick you in the stomach. Ostriches peck your eyes. Apes, on the other hand, are friendly critters—they like human beings to jabber to. And a crocodile is your pal for life if you water him with a hose.

These helpful hints on animal eccentricities are in a booklet issued to its employes by the British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC). Lots of mammals, birds, fish and reptiles are travelling by air these days, mostly to zoos and private collections. BOAC wants to keep 'em happy. That's why it briefed its workers. BOAC said:

Mammals are best carried in semi-darkness. Birds should be stowed facing the light. They won't eat otherwise. Monkeys, bless their heads, aren't happy unless they're huddling together, family-style. But don't cage Brazilian parrots and Australian gulls in pairs. The stronger one is apt to bully the other and swipe his feed.

Pythons, anacondas and coral snakes of America need sacking or felt packed inside their cases. Their noses and skins are soft. They may hurt themselves. The same goes for partridges and pheasants which sometimes take off and hammer themselves on the roof of their box. Canvas stretched tightly two inches below the solid roof saves them headaches.

Come feeding time, make sure there is plenty of bread and jam for the gorillas and orang outangs. They love it. Sugar lumps, too. Polecats go for hard-boiled eggs.

If an animal escapes, according to BOAC, it's usually just looking for safety and warmth. It gave directions for recapture: small monkeys and young animals should be grabbed just behind the head, martins and foxes by the tail. Scallops and seals should be taken by the rear fins.

What to do if a bear or lion gets out? BOAC didn't say.

Singer Collects Old Motor Cars

Westport, Conn.—James Melton, radio and concert singer and a commuting resident of this area, spends all of his spare time at his hobby. It is the collection of old time automobiles, which has grown to such an extent that a special museum has been set up north of nearby Norwalk to display them to the public.

Often Melton himself can be seen driving about the countryside in one of his revitalized high-wheeled touring cars of the vintage around 1912.

Only three members of the Yale football squad weigh more than 300 pounds and the heaviest man goes only 205.

Johnny Mize, born in 1913, is the oldest player on the New York Yankees roster.

Of the 65 members of Alabama's football squad, nine are seniors, 24 are juniors and 32 are sophomores.

Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington (right) hits back at Navy critics of the Air Force in testifying before the House Armed Services Committee in Washington Tuesday. # Thank You, Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York

We're Sure That Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play. Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls. These people are telling us, as Mr. & Mrs. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

Gentlemen:

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,
 Niles M. Davies

State Fair Still Setting Records

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 20—(AP)—Blessed with ideal weather the 1948 state fair has been breaking all attendance records.

On Tuesday's opening day, fair officials reported, between 75,000 and 80,000 persons tramped through the spacious grounds. This is slightly more than the mark for last year's opening day, when President Truman was here to help launch the show.

Yesterday was just as good as Tuesday from an attendance standpoint, reported the happy fair sponsors.

So far two minor mishaps have occurred which for a time kept spectators' hearts in their mouth.

A packed grandstand saw one of Jack Koshman's daredevil drivers flirt for an instant with what looked like death. The driver sped his car off a ramp, landed on soft, newly sprinkled earth, skidded and overturned three times. After the car had climbed a bank, cracked a water pipe and rolled down again, the driver emerged unhurt.

Accident number two happened at one of yesterday's feature attractions. The event was supposed to be a demonstration of maneuvers by a big gas-filled balloon. As the big bak was being inflated before a watching crowd, it suddenly caught fire.

Wife Wouldn't Speak To Him So He Killed Her

Leavenworth, Wash., Oct. 20—(AP)—A 28-year-old unemployed logger told authorities he shot and killed his young estranged wife yesterday because she passed him on the street without speaking and "laughed at me."

The 20-year-old wife, hit by five bullets, died on the sidewalk.

Prosecutor Robert E. Conner said a signed confession was obtained from the man, George Washington Stinnett.

Stinnett is being held without charge in the Chelan County jail. He and his wife, Dovey Whistman Stinnett, had been separated since last May, three months after the birth of their only child.

State Offices Closed For Fair

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 20—(AP)—All state offices except Governor Scott's were closed today so employees could take in the state fair.

However, employees in the Governor's office are getting their day off. Some took it yesterday, others today.

John Marshall, Scott's secretary, explained the office was kept open to keep ahead of the flow of mail. He wants everything shipshape when the governor returns from a business trip to New York.

Hire Full-Time Game Protector

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 20—(AP)—Currituck county has a new full-time game protector and four part-time protectors. Announcement of the appointments was made yesterday by Clyde P. Patton, executive director of the wildlife resources commission. The men all have assumed their duties.

R. A. Dowdy, a resident of the county, was named to succeed Lionel Boswood as full-time county game protector. Boswood recently resigned.

Sold Heroin For Christmas Cash

Los Angeles, Oct. 20—(AP)—Alex Inojosa, 31, and his wife, Betty, 25, gave a new excuse when they were arrested on a street corner on a charge of selling a "spoon" of heroin for $70.

They told Inspector R. A. Sanford of the State Narcotics Bureau: "We were just trying to make a little money for Christmas."

Three Dead Of Poisoning, 63-Year-Old Lady Is Held

Tunica, Miss., Oct. 20—(AP)—Authorities here are investigating a case of arsenic and an old lady after three men died of poisoning.

Ed Yerkey, 43-year-old tenant farmer, and Charles Walton, 27, a cotton picker of Kilmichael, Miss., died Friday. Billy Bolles, 19, another Kilmichael cotton picker, died yesterday.

County Attorney Martin Garner says all died of arsenic poisoning after eating lunch at Yerkey's home Thursday.

Mrs. Mae Yerkey, 63-year-old wife of the tenant farmer, is in Tunica County jail without bond charged with murder. The Yerkey daughter, Rosilee, a thin 17-year-old freckled face blonde, is in Clarksdale Hospital undergoing treatment for arsenic poisoning.

She, too, is charged with murder. Garner said the girl has practically been eliminated from suspicion but "if we turned her loose she would have no place to go."

Also hospitalized for treatment of arsenic poisoning is Robert Lee Bolles, 23, brother of Billy. Garner said he is recovering.

Garner said that last Thursday the four men and the girl ate a lunch served at the Yerkey house by Mrs. Yerkey. The elderly woman did not partake, he said.

Aerial Survey

Guatemala, Guatemala, Oct. 20—(AP)—A Red Cross-U. S. army relief mission today launched an aerial survey of Guatemala's mounting flood toll, already estimated at some 4,000 lives and $50,000,000 in property destruction.

Reports of wide-spread death and destruction resulting from two weeks of disastrous floods and rains continued to filter into this central American capital.

In one town, 1,000 children were reported homeless, many of their parents presumably dead. Coffee producers estimated at least 30 per cent of their $33,000,000 crop has been destroyed.

Scientifically, the domestic cat is known as Felis Catus or Felis domestica.

Considers Parole For Youth Of 14

Raleigh, Oct. 20—(AP)—The State Paroles commissioner is studying the question of a training school parole for a 14-year-old High Point boy under a prison sentence of 15 to 77 years.

Commissioner T. C. Johnson said yesterday he was "considering the possibility" of paroling Jesse Edgar Murphy to a state training school. The boy was sentenced in Guilford Superior Court on a charge of assaulting his landlady.

"The boy is at Central Prison under psychiatric examination," Johnson said. The commissioner added that the parole question will hinge largely on the outcome of that examination.

Members of a Rocky Mount Negro Boy Scout troop recently wrote Governor Scott asking that he step into the case in the boy's behalf. They urged that he be sent to a training school rather than be kept in prison.

Isn't Sure When Theft Occurred

Columbus, O., Oct. 20—(AP)—Mort A. Rooney of Columbus came up with a new one today.

Thieves who stole two tires from his brand new car took the trouble to put back two old ones in their place.

The trouble is, Rooney told police, he didn't notice the switch until one of the old tires blew out, so he's not sure when the new tires were stolen.

Carelessness In 700 Fires A Day Attacking Homes

AP Newsfeatures

The National Fire Protection Associates reports that fire is attacking our homes at the rate of 700 a day.

Most fires, they claim, are attributed to the violation of 7 easy-to-remember safety rules. Here are steps they suggest to eliminate the hazard:

1. Never smoke in bed. Keep ash trays handy. Don't discard lighted cigarettes and matches. Keep matches in metal containers out of reach of small children.
2. Don't use or store flammable cleaning fluids or other explosive liquids in the home. Use carbon tetrachloride or some other fire-safe cleaning fluids.
3. Old magazines and newspapers stored in closets, basements, and attics are good tinder for a spark. Throw them out, along with broken and discarded furniture. Keep oily rags in covered metal containers.
4. Have an electrician check the wiring to make sure it is adequate to operate all electrical appliances safely. Protect the circuits with the right fuse. Disconnect appliances when you have finished using them. Never attempt to operate if defective. See to it that frayed cords are replaced.
5. Flammable, curled roofing is a large, attractive target for a chimney spark or air-borne fire brand. Asphalt shingles, or other fire-resistant material cost no more, and often fire insurance rates are lower.
6. Have your heating system checked to see that it is operating properly. Replace defective or worn parts. Have the furnace cleaned yearly. Enclose the furnace in fire-resistant walls, and have exposed beams covered with some fire-resistant material.
7. Have the chimney inspected and make sure it is solidly built, properly supported and lined. Clean once a year.

If housewives will take these steps now, the NFPA says, the number of home fires will be cut 96 percent almost overnight.

Stretch Of Highway Nicknamed 'Boulevard Of Broken Bodies'

By LOU PANOS
 Baltimore—(AP)—A boulevard of broken bodies—that's the 30-mile stretch of U.S. Route 1 linking Washington with Baltimore.

Some 25,000 wheeled monsters whiz along the road every day.

Persons living along the highway—there are more than 50,000 of them in about 57 cities, towns and villages—usually refer to it as the boulevard. But they have other names for it, too. Like Hell's Highway and Bloody Lane. Another is Suicide Pike.

Sgt. J. K. Cushman of the Maryland State police estimates there are about 1,500 accidents on the boulevard every year. He says about half of these never are investigated because they involve only minor damage and are not reported to police.

The others range from collisions which injure no one but tie up traffic for miles to spectacular smash-ups involving several vehicles. Most of the automobiles and trucks in accidents which are investigated are from out of state.

Cushman's files contain pictures of twisted autos, bloody corpses and hysterical survivors.

Smashups this year already have claimed at least 27 lives. For the first six months of the year the injured rate was about 18 for every fatality.

Among the summer accidents was one involving a bus, a tractor-trailer, and a passenger auto.

Witnesses said the tractor-trailer jackknifed, swinging its rear section across the highway. The bus, traveling in the opposite direction, plowed into the trailer and sent it spinning into a convertible.

Two occupants of the convertible were killed and 20 bus passengers were hurt.

Although the boulevard contains many dangerous curves and is dotted with traffic lights, state police point out two curious factors about its death rate.

One is the relatively high number of pedestrians included among the fatalities; the other is that most of the accidents occur on straight runs, not curves.

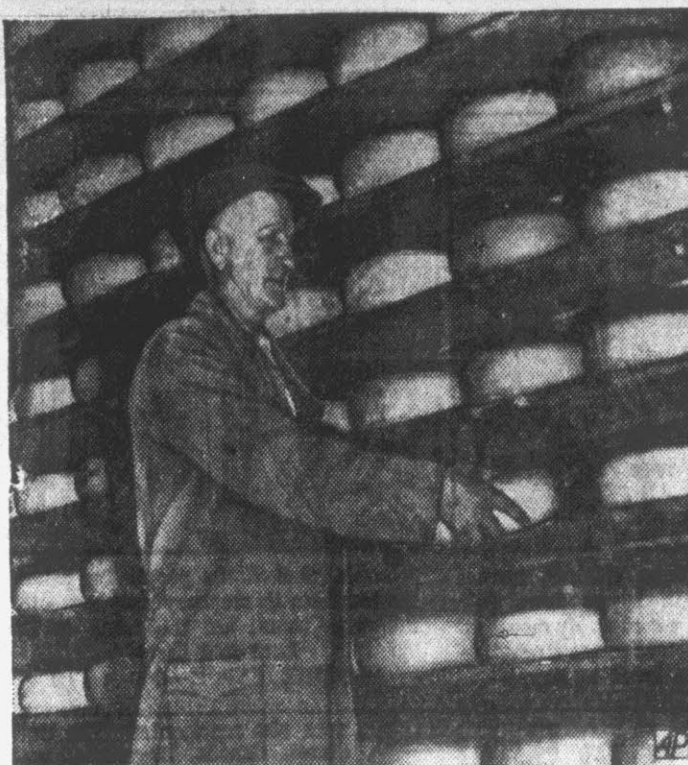

Cushman thinks there may be a psychological element behind the preponderance of collisions on the straightaways.

"Apparently many of the victims were familiar with the road or watched road signs warning them about the dangerous curves," Cushman said. "Once they passed the curves, they probably were eager to resume their faster pace and relaxed their caution."

From time to time engineering improvements on the boulevard have been suggested. The Maryland state roads commission has carried out many of these, but lately it has been reluctant to tackle those which involve major expenditures.

The state has agreed to a plan for building a super-highway on a split-the-cost basis with the federal government, and this project has been given priority over more expensive improvements on the existing Baltimore-Washington boulevard. The state has made some progress on the section it is to build, but lack of federal appropriations has retarded work on the stretch to be built by the government.

But regardless of what some people say about the condition of the existing road, authorities contend it all really goes back to that basic cause of accidents: the condition of the man behind the wheel.

Druggist Wrote Text Book On Botany In Hobby

Oakland, Md., Oct. 20—Joseph E. Harned is 79 years old. He has run a drug store here for 57 years and he says he is a druggist, not a scientist.

But he has written a botany text book, "Wild Flowers of the Alleghanies." It is used in schools and libraries all over the country. The botany departments of Harvard, Cornell and other universities encouraged the work and helped him with it. He has two honorary doctorate degrees. He is listed in "Who's Who" and "American Men of Science." Also, he is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is the friend of many scientists and of the late Thomas Edison.

He insists, however, he is still "just a country kid pursuing a hobby." His book has been praised both for its accuracy and its popular style. It has brought him letters from all over the world.

Cemetery Crash For Navy Plane

Dalton, Ga., Oct. 20—(AP)—Attempting an emergency landing on a hastily lighted football field, a small navy plane crashed into a cemetery last night, exploded and burned. The reserve officers were killed and a Wave was seriously injured.

Volunteers snatched the Wave from the flaming wreckage while firemen tried to extinguish the blaze. Firemen said the plane's fuel tanks were nearly dry.

The plane had circled Dalton several times before it attempted to come down on the make-shift landing field.

The Wave, identified as Mary Goldstein of Glen View, Ill., was reported in critical condition at a Dalton hospital. The Atlanta Naval Air station listed the dead as ensign Ralph Meeks, Jr., the pilot, and Commander C. Ross Kister, both of Atlanta. They were reservists.

Meeks was an employe of United Press in Atlanta.

The plane was returning to its Atlanta base from the Naval Air station at Glen View, Ill.

Hopeful Results In Search For Polio Vaccine

Washington, Oct. 20—(AP)—Scientists in the past few weeks have developed promising results in the search for a polio vaccine, an official of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said.

Dr. H. M. Deaver, research director for the foundation, said a new way has been found for producing two of the three strains of polio in the laboratory. He spoke last night at a public meeting sponsored by the District of Columbia Medical Society.

Later he told reporters the next step is to try and transmit the virus to chicken egg embryos. If this can be done successfully Dr. Weaver said it may be possible to produce a polio virus so weak it would not produce crippling infantile paralysis in a person but still strong enough to immunize people against the disease.

Monotony Gets Britishers Down

London, Oct. 20—(AP)—A University of Edinburgh expert on nutrition suggested today that ten years of bitter austerity may be getting the British people down.

"The fatigue and lassitude so often complained of in this country," Dr. A. P. Meiklejohn wrote in "The Practitioner," a medical journal, "are much more probably the result of the common monotony and frustration of post-war life than of underfeeding."

There is no objective reason for thinking that normal people receiving average diet available in Britain, are likely to suffer from malnutrition," he said. "It's more likely, he added, that people are just tired of eating the same old thing."

Says Tennessee Will Get Huge Expansion Plans

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today an "enormous" expansion of the atomic energy commission and Tennessee valley authority operations in Tennessee is being planned.

Officials of the two agencies, he told newsmen, disclosed their plans to members of the House Appropriations committee today.

Gore served as chairman of the group to hear the agency spokesmen explain their intentions to use funds already appropriated for exploration and planning between now and the January session of Congress.

"This will mean that the AEC will increase its production facilities at Oak Ridge far beyond the expansion now underway," he said.

Atomic Planes

London, Oct. 20—(AP)—Atomic-powered planes "in the foreseeable future" is the vision of Glenn L. Martin, chairman of the board of the American Aircraft Company bearing his name.

Martin makes the prediction in the 1949-50 edition of the authoritative Jane's "all the world's aircraft" published today.

Martin wrote, however, that big planes powered by atomic energy would be "appallingly expensive."

Pilots guided missiles, he declared will be perfected to "operate at such high efficiency that the piloted fighter (plane) will be largely obsolete."

HUGE RE-INVESTMENT

Greensboro, N.C., Oct. 20—(AP)—Burlington Mills plans to spend about $40,000,000 in the next three years for modernizing and expanding its textile plants.

Isaiah Teaches Trust in God

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Isaiah 7: 12-2; 25-26; 30:1-17

The land of Judah was threatened by enemies, but the Lord told Isaiah to meet the king, Ahaz, and say to him to be "quiet; fear not, neither be faint-hearted," and all will be well.

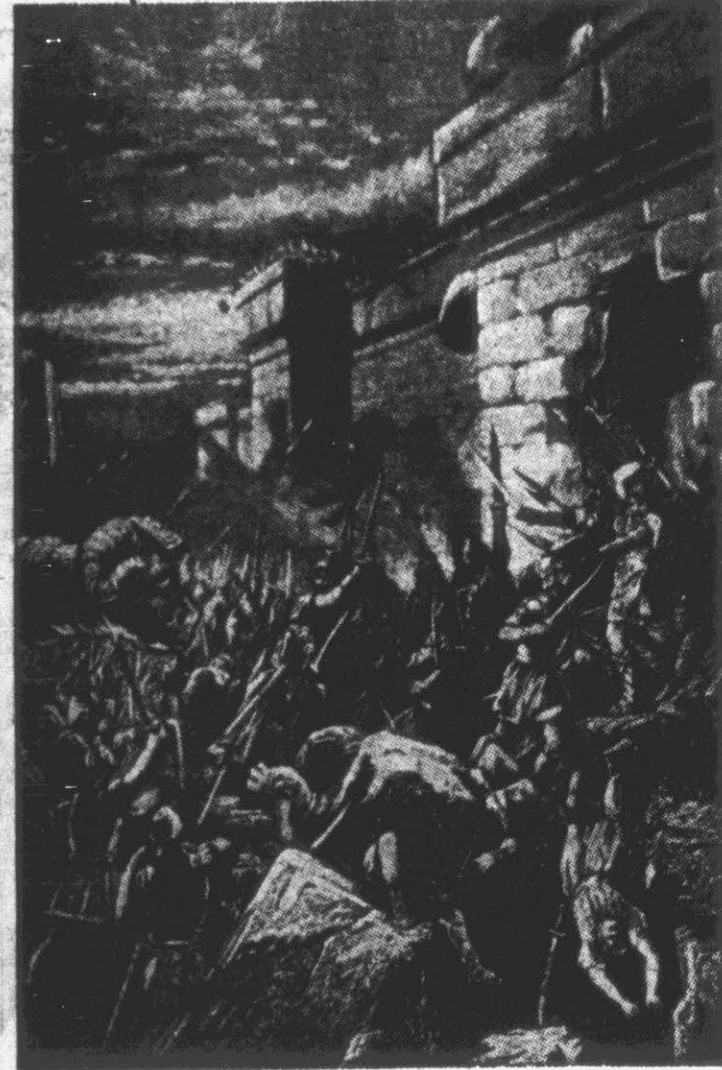

Trust in the Lord, Isaiah told Ahaz, for, "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid; for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song, he also is my salvation."

"Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that walk to go down to Egypt, and have not asked at My mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in Egypt."

Jehovah rebuked His people for asking the prophets to prophesy only "smooth" things to them; not the truth as the Lord told them.

Isaiah Teaches Trust in God

PLEADS WITH JUDAH TO HAVE FAITH IN JEHOVAH

Scripture—Isaiah 7: 12-2; 25-26; 30:1-17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THOSE WERE troublous times in the little kingdom of Judah. Israel and its master, Assyria, to whom Israel paid tribute, were threatening to attack Judah. King Ahaz was very much worried about this, as were his people. There was fear and unrest in the little kingdom.

After nearly 3,000 years we are little better off. There is still unrest all over this much larger world. Small nations are terrified that they may be swallowed up by larger and stronger ones, and all the world fears change and war.

Now the Lord said to Isaiah the prophet, "Go forth now to meet Ahaz, thou, and Shear-jashub thy son, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool in the highway to the fuller's field; and say unto him, Take heed, and be quiet; fear not, neither be faint-hearted for the two tails of these smoking firebrands—Israel and Assyria—have taken evil counsel against thee:

"Let us go up against Judah, and vex it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and set a king in the midst of it, even the son of Tabeal."

Tabeal was a Jewish noble, whom these nations thought would make a good king for ture invasion if the tribute was refused. Trust in God is the theme of Isaiah's message at this time to his people. He says: "Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and will not be afraid; for Jehovah, even Jehovah, is my strength and song; and He is become my salvation."

Chapters 25 and 26 of Isaiah are songs of praise and trust in Jehovah, including the promise, "He will swallow up death in victory." Also: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in Thee."

"Trust ye in Jehovah for ever; for in Jehovah, even Jehovah, is an everlasting rock."

When disaster came nearer, Jehovah rebuked his people, thus: "Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of Me; and that cover with a covering, but not of My spirit, that they may add sin to sin:

"That walk to go down into Egypt, and have not asked at my mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion."

Judah had sent gifts to Egypt, asking help in its woes. Their appeal did them no good, for, as

Judah—one who would satisfy even the discontented element in the country. "Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it come to pass."

Isaiah's son's name, Shear-jashub, means "a remnant shall return," and it is thought that the son being with Isaiah might suggest to the king that banishment from their home—with but a remnant returning—was possible if the Lord's warning was disregarded.

"Ask thee a sign of the Lord thy God; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above." King Ahaz was advised. His answer was, "I will not ask, neither will I tempt the Lord."

In his fright he would not trust his God, but sought help from Assyria, offering to pay tribute. It served for the moment, but placed a foreign yoke upon his country and a possibility of future

Isaiah said: "The Egyptians shall help in vain, and to no purpose; therefore, have I cried concerning this, Their strength is to sit still."

In that day, as in this, people did not want to listen to bad news. They did not relish the truth, but wanted things smoothed over. As Isaiah said: "Which say to the seers, See not; and to the prophets, Prophecy not unto us right things, speak unto us smooth things, prophecy deceits."

Prophets of disaster never have been popular with the people, in this or any other land. We all want so much to believe that things are all right. We resent those who point out evils—the result of unwise actions or decisions.

And our trust in God seems to be very slight. We should remember the prophet's words: "Trust ye in Jehovah for ever; for in Jehovah is an everlasting rock."

Prize Exhibits From East And West Taken To Bari

Bari, Italy.—(AP)—East and West this autumn brought their most prized goods from the far corners of the world to exhibit them in Bari's great "Fair of the East."

Some of them were brought along the old route that Marco Polo traveled centuries ago to bring to Italy goods and tales of the then fabulous East.

This year's "evant (Eastern) Fair" marked the return of Japanese products to European markets. From Japan came a display of furs, pearls, silks and varied oils.

China, too, showed a rich display. It included gowns, handbags, sculptured camphor wood and chests and precious chinaware.

In all, the fair gathered 842 exhibitors from 42 nations. The volume of business transacted exceeded expectations.

Growing world interest in Bari's now 13-year-old fair demanded this year building of larger pavilions to accommodate newcomers to this most eastern of Italian cities.

Bulgaria, Greece and Yugoslavia were the three South-eastern European countries to attend this year while six more came from the Near East: Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Palestine, Syria and Turkey.

Nineteen nations and territories of Europe sent their representatives to Bari. They were Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Vatican City, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Norway, Holland, Poland, San Marino, Spain, Sweden, Trieste, Hungary and the Saar.

Five countries from the America's were also represented: The United States, Canada, Argentina, Brazil, and the Republic of Haiti.

Asia was here with three nations: China, Japan and the Philippines. While the Philippines attended the Fair last year, China and Japan are newcomers. It was the first time after the war that Japan sent its goods to a European exhibition.

Egypt, Cyrenaica, Tripolitania, Tunisia, Algeria, and Morocco sent their handicraft and agricultural products to the fair.

It is calculated that over 45,000 different products and manufactured goods were exhibited.

Two years ago—the first postwar edition of the fair—only 13 nations and 156 exhibitors participated.

Trade missions from many European and Asiatic states visited the show. A special Israeli mission expressed regret it was not able to attend the exhibit this year, but promised to bring a complete show to Bari next year.

Snail Extermination May Improve Health In Egypt

Cairo—For the last nine years Dr. Claude H. Barlow has had one aim in life—to kill snails. They harbor a tiny larva which is more destructive, up to now, than the atomic bomb.

Dr. Barlow says the disease caused by this larva is one of the most widespread and destructive human ailments known to man. Since earliest history it has afflicted hundreds of millions of men and women working in the streams and flooded fields of the Middle and Far East. Half of Egypt's 19,000,000 people suffer from it today, and the loss of productive power in all affected countries is beyond calculation. The disease is known as Bilharziasis.

Dr. Barlow first became interested in it as a medical missionary in China. Coming to Egypt in 1928 with the Rockefeller Foundation, Dr. Barlow spent the next ten years studying snails. In 1940 the Egyptian Government asked him to set up the first public health department in the world devoted solely to the destruction of Bilharzia snails. It is in this section that he now operates.

In 1948 President Truman gave Dr. Barlow the Certificate of Merit in recognition of "one of the most heroic and unselfish acts in the history of medicine." The act occurred during World War II, when a number of American soldiers suffering from Bilharziasis were invalided to the United States from the Middle and Far East. The question arose as to whether snails in the United States would carry the disease from one human being to another. To find out, it was necessary to have eggs of the Bilharzia worm from a human patient. Dr. Barlow exposed himself thoroughly to Bilharzia larvae, which melt their way through unbroken human skin and attack the liver and other organs inside. He was flown to the United States and refrained from taking treatment until months after his infection had reached dangerous and excruciating proportions. Finally he underwent treatment, which he says is so prolonged and disgusting that most victims will not take the required number of injections.

"Don't let anybody tell you the treatment isn't nauseating," he says with a grin. "I have inside information." He still stumps around his laboratories and workshops on legs slightly crippled by the ordeal.

Moslems Start New Java State

Tasikmalaja, Java—(AP)—Moslems in Western Java have set up a state of their own. They control much of an area of about 1,000 square miles and are believed to be expanding. They say they will fight both the Republican and the Dutch governments. Their enemies say they sponsor a reign of terror.

The new state was announced recently by S. M. Kartosuwirjo, its president. In the fighting between the Republicans and the Dutch, Moslem fighters were said to have attacked the Republicans. A story is that hundreds of Republican fighters were poisoned in one instance. The Dutch and Republican forces are believed to be too weak at present to mount an offensive against Kartosuwirjo's men.

ORC Camp To Be Held Oct. 29-30

Modern tactics of firing all types of weapons will be featured during ORC contact camp, to be conducted at Fort Bragg October 29-30, in conjunction with the famous 82nd Airborne Division. It was announced today by Lt. Col. W. S. Stafford. The Reserve Officers of all arms and services will be afforded the opportunity to actually participate in the training and firing of all the weapons used in an infantry division.

Col. Stafford stated that all Reserve officers attending the contact camp will be given specialized training in the weapons of their particular branch and will be given indoctrination training and demonstration of all other weapons used by infantry and artillery units. All officers attending will receive point and hour credits toward retirement.

In addition Col. Stafford stated, the very latest weapons, some of which are still labeled confidential, will be demonstrated and studied to the extent limited by security regulations. "Contact camps of this nature are extremely beneficial in keeping our Reserve officers up to date with the latest tactics and technique of fighting in order to defend their country," Col. Stafford said. "And if every Reserve officer will avail himself of these opportunities," the colonel added, "we shall soon have an organized Reserve Corps capable of instant mobilization for defense against any aggressor and efficient enough to strike and hold anywhere on the face of the earth."

New Firmness In Tobacco Prices

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 29—(AP)—Firmness returned to fluctuating tobacco prices yesterday.

The federal-state department of Agriculture reported prices on the Old, Middle, and Eastern North Carolina belts stabilized after Tuesday's plunge.

On Tuesday, the Old Belt sold 4.81-4.74 pounds averaging $43.91, or 0.23 under the previous day's quotations. The middle belt sold 1,596,008 pounds averaging $47.57, down $2.41, while the Eastern's gross poundage of 2,226,054 averaged $48.97, down $3.50.

The Eastern's market at Wallace closes tomorrow, while Goldsboro will end sales Oct. 27.

Wind Tunnel Is Powered By Jet

London—(AP)—The air-sucking snout of a jet engine has been hooked to a wind tunnel to speed progress of British research into the problems of faster-than-sound flight. Private manufacturers were unable to finance the elaborate machinery necessary for producing artificial air currents near the speed of sound. And they couldn't test their new models without them.

An alert engineer at the English Electric Co., where the new "Canberra" jet bomber is built—watched a jet engine gulping great masses of air through its wide-open nose. Why not hook-up the jet to a wind tunnel? he asked. He tried it and it worked. Other British companies are adopting the "jet-powered" wind tunnel.

Electric Cable Protects Pipes

New York—(AP)—Electricity has stepped to the fore as a protector against frozen water pipes.

Ayden, Farmville Poised For Big Game On Friday Night

Undefeated In Conference Play, Teams Will Be Battling For Victory Which Will Virtually Assure Conference Championship

By EUGENE PRICE

Farmville and Ayden high school football squads, two of the best small-town gridiron teams in this section, poised today for their clash in Farmville tomorrow night.

Both teams, undefeated in conference play, will be battling for the victory which will virtually assure the Coastal Athletic Conference football championship.

Neither team has been given even a close game by other conference opponents to date. Their only losses were suffered in non-conference engagements with highly favored opposition.

The two squads will definitely be leveled up for the contest Friday.

The game is expected to draw a record-breaking crowd to the Farmville stadium. Fans from not only Ayden and Farmville but Coastal Conference followers from all over the section are expected to be on hand for the fray which promises to be by far the best of the year in the Coastal Conference.

Only minor injuries are reported by both teams. Coach Stuart Tripp of Ayden, reported this morning that with the exception of a banged up player here and there his team will be in top form.

Tripp's greatest worry is in the lack of reserve strength. "That's why our boys are banged up so bad now," he explained. "They've been having to play the entire 60 minutes of every game."

Mac Whitehurst, end, is probably the only Ayden boy who will be greatly hampered by injuries. He came up with an ankle injury yesterday. He will probably start, however, but get the relief backing of Curtis Dennis.

Tripp volunteered little comment on the game itself. "The team getting the breaks will win," he stated.

Over in Farmville last night Coach Elbert Moye ran his boys through a scrimmage session under lights. "They looked in the best spirits of the season," he reported.

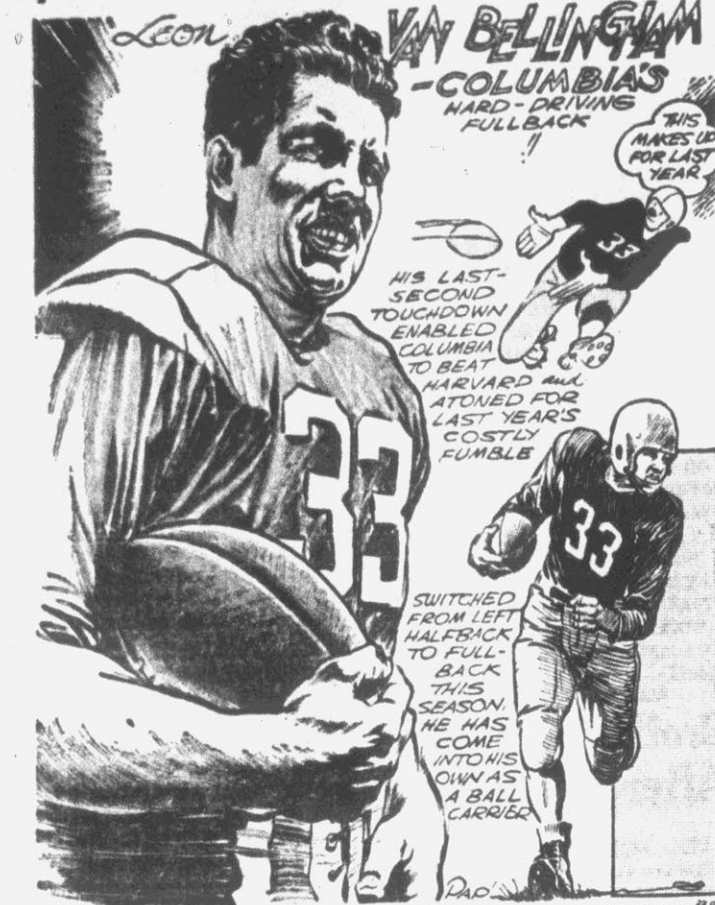

Moye said his boys have shown up well in practice this week and are definitely out to knock off Ayden and the Coastal championship.

Farmville is likewise not up to par in reserve strength. Moye said he pointed out, however, that he has six or seven reserves who play very good ball and will be relied upon heavily for service in the game with Ayden.

The Farmville high school band will add half-time color to the game.

Probably starting lineups as announced by the coaches this morning are:

Sport Slants By Pap

Lion's Leader... by Pap

Leon Van Bellingham, co-captain of Columbia's football team, performed a feat against Harvard which no other Lion back has been able to do since 1877. He scored a winning touchdown. Van's six pointer came on a six-yard end snap with forty seconds to play in the final quarter and the score tied, 7-7, and led to the Light Blue's 14-7 triumph, the first victory in eight games with the Crimson. The feat was doubly sweet to Van, because, in last year's game at Cambridge, he fumbled away a Columbia score. He more than made up for that fumble at Baker Field.

A native of Lawrence, Mass., the senior fullback first came to Columbia in 1944, but had his career interrupted by eighteen months service in the Navy. After his return to Morningside Heights, he captured his first varsity letter by playing in every game in 1947. Last year, Van alternated with Jack Nork at left halfback in the starting backfield. He turned in many brilliant running performances, advancing the ball 184 yards in 46 rushing attempts. He also had the distinction of scoring the game-saving touchdown in the fourth period of the Syracuse game, the final tussle of the season.

Van Bellingham is 23 years old, stands 5 feet, 11 inches and weighs a solid 192 pounds. While at Lawrence High, Van earned three letters in football, and was captain of the gridiron squad. At Columbia, he is a liberal arts major.

Phantoms Invade Kinston Friday For Tough Game

Underdog Greenville high school will invade the home gridiron of Kinston's Northeastern Conference topping Red Devils Friday night in what Coach Boley Farley predicts will be the toughest game of the year for his injury-ridden Phantoms.

The Phantoms, still smarting from a 26-0 humbling they took at the hands of the Ahsokke Indians last week, will be making their third appearance against Northeastern competition.

They go into the game holding a 1-1 conference record and a 3-2 record for the season.

Northeastern conference followers say Greenville's invasion of the Kinston stadium will be like shaving the proverbial tiger's tail with a rusty razor. The Red Devils will be favored by something like six touchdowns.

Coach Farley's charges wind up preparatory drills today with offensive workouts. Indications are that they will take to the air for a great part of their offense against the heavy Kinston club.

Greenville has three passers in its backfield in the person of Jimmy Cox, Bobby Flye and Walter Perry. Perry, a half back, may be hampered by an ankle injury in the game.

Other players who have been troubled by injuries during practice sessions are Julian Valwright and Jack Nelson.

The rest of the squad is in good shape. Coach Farley said last night. His only comment on the game was: "We hope to give them a good game."

Game Is Moved

Lincolnville, Kas., Oct. 20—(AP)—Rain stopped the softball game between Lincolnville and Durham high schools in the fifth inning last night—but that didn't end the contest.

After 30 minutes of delay, someone brought word that it wasn't raining at Lost Springs, six miles away.

So the officials, players, concessionaires and several hundred spectators piled into automobiles and drove to Lost Springs and finished the game there.

Lincolnville won 3-0.

Sophomore Crop Is Air-Minded

New York, Oct. 20—(AP)—College football's growing air-mindedness is reflected in the new sophomore crop, which features the deadliest collection of passing arms to come along in years.

From coast-to-coast fledgling varsity stars are cutting fancy dices with their dead-eye heaving. Passers head the list of newcomers making a noticeable mark on the grid this fall.

The callover of sophomore slingshot specialists includes Harry Agganis, the left-hander from Boston University; Bob Zastow of Navy, Vito Parrilli of Kentucky, Don Logue of Arkansas and John Coatta of Wisconsin.

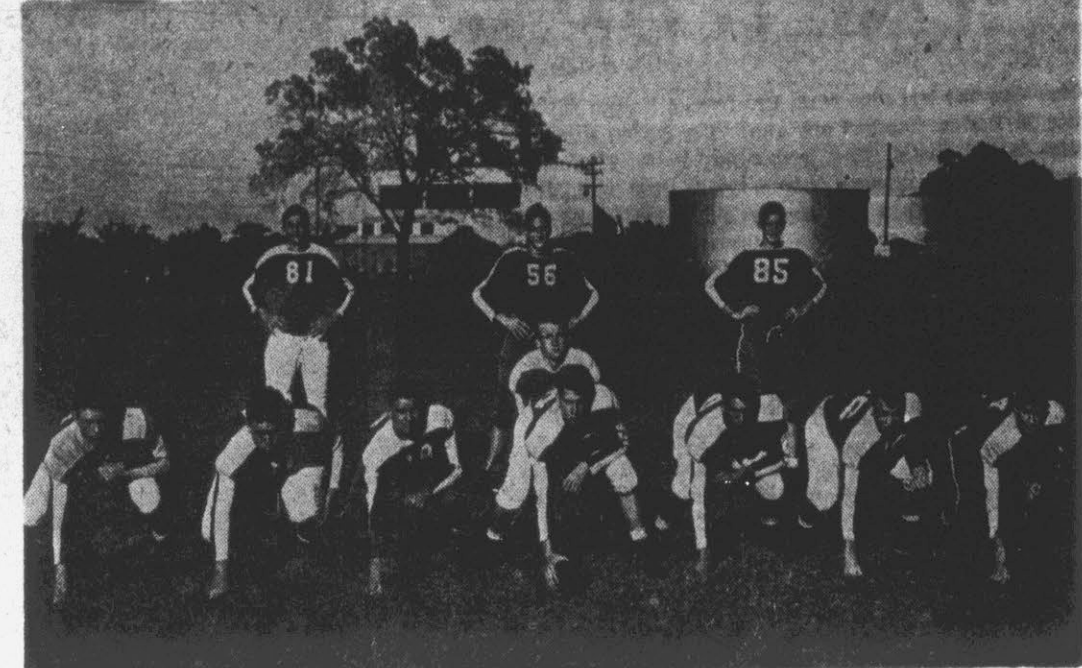

Also there's John Bright, the 195 pound halfback from Drake whose passing and running exploits have piled up 1,116 yards and nine touchdowns to make him, the offensive leader of the nation.

Perhaps the most celebrated of the sophomores is Agganis, the rubber-armed 190-pound T-pilot at Boston U.

A needle-threatening thrower and tricky climax runner Agganis has figured in ten of his team's touchdowns in three one-sided victories. He passed for eight and scored two on the ground.

His nearest first-year counterpart in the east is navy's Zastow, a 209-pound whiz from Algona, Wis. Zastow has passed for 640 yards and eight touchdowns in four Navy games and scored twice himself.

Left to right: Bob Flye, who will see action at quarterback; Strickland, tackle; Julian Valwright, guard; Lewis Howe, center; Mac Crawford, who will not see any more action this season; Jim Brady, tackle; and Billy Tighman, end. # Greenville Midgets Play Host To Heavier Washington Squad

Bill Kittrell's Greenville Mighty Mites, gunning for third Midget Conference victory, will play host to the Washington Midgets here tonight at 7 o'clock.

The game will be played in Guy Smith Stadium.

The Greenville club, fresh from a 14-6 win over Kinston, will be trying to retain its undefeated record for the season. Kittrell's boys have rolled over Kinston twice and tied New Bern nothing-notting.

Washington dropped its opening and only game so far to Kinston by a 13-0 count.

Coach Choppy Wagner's boys, however, are expected to be highly improved since their debut. They will outweigh the Mites of Greenville man for man in the line.

Washington is expected to produce a highly improved running attack and one of the best passing attacks in the midget loop.

Kittrell, whose sole comment on the game is "a toss-up," says inexperience is the only handicap lacking the Washington team. "And I expect Choppy has made some big improvements since that opening game too," Kittrell said.

The Greenville team will use a complete two-platoon system with the exception of one player, Pat Sawyer, who will see action both offensively and defensively.

Bucs Continuing Long Workouts; Leave Tomorrow

Coach Bill Dole put his East Carolina Pirates through a 3 hour practice session yesterday as the Pirates tuned up for their coming battle Friday night against the Apprentice School of Newport News, Va.

Once again the emphasis was placed on blocking with pass and punt protection under pressure also being worked on. The Pirates ran through a high spirited signal drill session in which they went over the things they have.

The Pirates leave Greenville tomorrow. Dole and his 33 men should return to Greenville directly after the game. Coach Dole when asked for a prediction on the coming game replied, "I predict 33 men will leave Greenville for Newport News sometime tomorrow."

Famous Calumet Farm Hits Road

New York, Oct. 20—(AP)—The fabulous Calumet farm horse racing Empire which already has banked more than $1,100,000 in purses this year, moved by and baggage in Baltimore today to pick up some more of the folding green.

The immediate objective is the mile and three-sixteenth Pimlico special, in which Calumet plans to send out the double-threat entry of Coaltown and Ponder. The special is expected to bring another meeting between the Calumet pair and an arch rival, Greentree stable's sturdy Capot.

Heading the parade to Maryland was the speedy Coaltown, vanned down last night from Belmont Park with several other Calumeters, including the star two-year-old Theory.

Pounder and Citation lead tonight with the last of the 24-hour gold mine which has been prospecting at Belmont since early September.

"We're going down there with the intention of running both Coaltown and Ponder in the special," said trainer Jimmy Jones.

Last fall, after Citation had wiped everything throughout the season, the great triple crown champion took the special in a walkover. It was the fifth time Calumet had scored in the famed winner-take-all classic devised by Alfred C. Vanderbilt and the Maryland Jockey club in 1937 to bring together the top horses of the year in a turf world series.

Open Crackdown On Parlay Cards

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 20—(AP)—University and State authorities today ordered a crackdown on parlay cards on this football-minded campus.

Chairman Dan Bell of the student council of the University of North Carolina said the student court was giving the state bureau of investigation "full cooperation in its fight against the football parlay sheets currently prevalent on the campus."

The cards list games of Saturday and provide handicaps by indicating "plus" points to probable losing teams. Those playing the parlays may "take" or "give" the handicap points.

"The use of the sheets has grown to alarming proportions in recent weeks," Bell asserted, "and is considered by the campus judiciary to be detrimental to the welfare of the student body."

The student council said students caught distributing or handling the sheets would be prosecuted under the campus code, and would also be liable to prosecution under State law.

Eagles Release Notre Dame Ace

Philadelphia, Oct. 20—(AP)—Frank Tripucka, ace quarterback of Notre Dame's unbeaten eleven last year, will have to get his professional football experience with some team other than the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles asked waivers yesterday on Tripucka because coach Earle Neale felt the club was more in need of a fullback. He recalled veteran Ben Kish to active duty to bolster the injured football corps.

Groups Discuss Cooperation In Dramatic Works

Leaders from town and campus who are interested in dramatic activities involving students at East Carolina Teachers College met Wednesday evening to discuss cooperation between college and community groups concerned with the drama.

Present from East Carolina were Dr. Lucile H. Charles, director of dramatic arts, and W. E. Marshall, director of student affairs. Community organizations sent as their representatives Mamie Chandler of the Methodist Student Center; Gloria Blanton of the Baptist Student Center; Alexander Livesay of Rocky Mount, student officer of the Canterbury Club of the Episcopal Church; Mrs. Leonard Topping of the Presbyterian student group; and Mrs. W. L. Whedbee of the Service League.

Educational and cultural values of programs in the drama for college students were discussed by those present. Detailed consideration was given to schedules for plays, the use of college equipment and other facilities, and the welfare of students participating in dramatic work.

Winterville Ruritan To Sponsor Talent Show Friday Night

The Winterville Ruritan club will sponsor a talent show in the Winterville high school Friday night at 8 o'clock.

The show will be held in the high school gym, and it is the first project which the club has sponsored this year.

The program will be in charge of Rev. E. G. Cole and President R. E. Boyd of the Winterville club. The program will include all types of talent and promises to be a good show. The public is invited to attend.

Snow Continues Over West And Moves Eastward

By The Associated Press

The autumn season's first snowfall continued over western states today and headed for some midwest areas.

The mercury was below freezing over the snow belt and the cold air moved eastward. But mild temperatures were in prospect for most of the eastern half of the country again today.

The snowfall which started Monday in Montana measured as much as eight inches in some parts of the state. There were six inches on the ground in sections of Wyoming. Lesser amounts covered parts of Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Three deaths were attributed to the cold and snow, one each in Montana, Colorado and Wyoming. Coldest spots in the snow belt were in Montana and Wyoming—between 15 and 20 above.

Among scientists, the arctic fox is known as Alopex lagopus.

Louisiana Reshuffles Its Lineup For Tar Heel Tilt

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 20—(AP)—Louisiana State's footballers hope a reshuffled lineup Saturday night will balk North Carolina's attack and strengthen their own.

The up-and-down Bayou Bengals, who've won two and lost two, look at it this way:

The Tiger line is stout and sturdy in four games it hasn't looked bad, either on offense or defense. But the backfield is a different matter. The secondary has leaked for several costly pass completions and backs have frequently started moving only to lose the fall on fumbles.

Head Coach Gaynell Tinsley's reshuffling, then, has been designed to plug up his pass defense, to put more speed in his offensive backfield and maybe throw out of Choo-choo Charley Justice's running.

Tinsley is banking on his capable line. To cope with Justice's passing, he's moved top defender Jimmy Roshto opposite ace receiver Art Weiner. Paired with Roshto is Lee Hodges, also handy at batting down tosses. Back Billy Baggett has been moved from defense to offense to add speed.

"We may be able to stop Justice's passes," says Tinsley, "but I don't know about his running. We'll try to keep him inside. Then we've also got to watch Fullback Billy Hayes."

Louisiana State was a pushover for the Tar Heels last year. But Coach Carl Snavely looks for a different story here at 8:15 p.m. Saturday.

"Our scouts have told us LSU is 100 per cent improved over last year," he said. "We expect the same hard, tough game we seem to get every Saturday."

Horse Racing Data Now Can Be Found In Library

New York, Oct. 20—(AP)—Horse racing information—everything but a form sheet and a couple of sure things for tomorrow—now can be found in the New York Public Library.

George D. Widener, president of Belmont Park, presented a collection of records and history of the track to the library.

"It isn't often that a gap is found in our collection," said Ralph Beals, library director.

"We receive news like this with mixed emotions. Naturally, we were chagrined when we found no information on Belmont Park, or any other race track, for that matter, and we are indeed grateful for this contribution."

Find Convict Had Been Using Radio From Prison Four Years

Houston, Tex., Oct. 20—(AP)—A prisoner's success in making secret radio broadcasts from the Mississippi state prison for four years was discovered today.

Joe McKinney, regional FCC manager, said three radio transmitters were located in the state prison at Parchman, Miss.

He said they had been operated by William Frank Moody, serving a 50-year sentence for armed robbery.

McKinney told the Houston Post this story:

For the past six months Moody had been using the transmitters in a campaign to secure an "indefinite suspension of sentence" from Mississippi Governor Fielding L. Wright.

One of the transmitters was located in a prison guardhouse, and was accessible to Moody throughout the day, as a trusty on duty there.

Two transmitters were hidden in a prison bunk.

At the receiving end were friends at Pascagoula and Bu-stunna, Miss. Who in turn relayed information to Moody's wife to help her pleas for Moody's pardon.

McKinney and Frank Kratochvil, chief of the FCC Monitoring division in Washington, said that during a 20 day period, three FCC mobile units, five engineers and other officials, scoured several hundred square miles of Mississippi to spot the stations and round up the various members of the "network."

Early in October two amateur radio operators, one in Arkansas, one in Tennessee, advised the FCC in Washington of strange broadcasts from Mississippi.

By use of its long range direction finders Washington located the unlicensed broadcasts to a 100 mile area. Then field crews were dispatched, and Kratochvil and Wiggins were called in.

On Sunday federal men entered the trustees' cage of the prison at Parchman. Moody was summoned.

"He saw the game was up," McKinney said, "grinned, and took us to his cot. After he had acquired the two transmitters there he took us to the little four by six guardhouse and pointed out the other

Chapter 5
A waiting silence grew until Arieta felt she would have to scream to break it. And then she heard a voice, a voice without words, and she sobbed with relief.
"Tillicum," she called. And this time the voice that was half whinny, half cat cry, raised in eagerness. Oiled paper was ripped from a sandwich, and candle in one hand, sandwich in the other, she hurried down the narrow staircase.
At first, when she opened the door, she started back in surprise. Two shapes, one large, one tiny, had been reflected in the glow of her light; then both went on rapid feet out of the bare kitchen doorway.
"Tillicum," she called, and then her lips framed a whistle.
The larger shape ventured to the door. Of course, she reasoned. A baby deer would grow to a mature doe in the time she'd been away. That tiny one must be her own. She left the candle on the tile and tiptoed to the door, while the doe backed away. Then, hand stretched into the darkness with bread and lettuce, she waited. She felt the breath of the doe on her hand, then the warm muzzle made a caressing motion, and the bread was gone.
Slowly Arieta returned to her room. How had Tillicum known she was there? She probably grazed near the home she'd known in babyhood; how many times had she stood at the back door whinnying for food? The back door where she'd been fed on Pabulum.
But something had welcomed her home.
Now that she had faced the worst she asked herself what she had expected. A twelve-year-old Chips would have had better sense than to return to a house long vacant without some preparation. But then Chips hadn't lived in a world of bell pulls. There had been a servant or two, usually Indian girls from the reservation, but they had never thought of cushioning her.
Warned, she grew drowsy. She'd make her bed there before the fire. The quilts were giving up their mustiness before the open fire, and the pillows were plumping out. She'd packed with thoughts of home in her mind, and the quilted velvet robe was lined with wool. She'd get into that.
She was belting the robe when she again heard a noise below. But this had a voice, a human voice which called, "Miss Langtry. Miss Langtry!" as though it feared something.
"Miss Langtry, this is How Kelly, remember? I drove you up from the store. Miss Langtry, I must talk to you."
"Why?"
"Then you're all right? Thank heaven for that. Listen, my mother is down in the car. I hacked a path through the greasewood but she couldn't climb the cliff. She asked me to invite you to be our guest."
He had a nice voice. Ah, but it was his mother who had caused his change of heart.
"Will you thank her for me?" Arieta returned, "but I am quite comfortable." "I—she sought for the words—"at home."
He spoke of wood, of food, of loneliness, and she listened without any emotion except a desire to remain there where she felt secure. And when she didn't answer he said, "Well, then Mother will have to find some way to get up the cliff. And in this storm—"
"Please tell her the trip will be useless. Good night."
There was such finality in her voice he left and she heard him stumbling down the stairway.
As she huddled over the meager flame, despair came again. Call's scrutiny when she had met him at the depot. His eagerness to get away on the fishing trip. He'd said he hadn't remained away two weeks instead of one?
"Pulling on leather sleepers, she padded back and forth trying to fathom the meaning of those inscriptions on the wall. As the Langtrys had down. . . . What had they sown? And what had they stolen from their "fellow men?" And what of their wealth? They hadn't been wealthy, at least not by the standards she'd known in Virginia.
Could she learn all she needed to know within six weeks? The six weeks between now and her marriage to Call? Could she marry him without knowing?
Back and forth, the fire dying unheeded until she was brought to a stop by footstools and then the voice of Mr. Kelly.
"Miss Langtry, you must let me in. I've brought fuel, good husky logs, and Mother has sent over some things she feels you need. Please, for her sake."
Chips and Arieta fought a silent battle and Arieta won. Foolishly, perhaps, she trusted this man who had been so rude.
"After you've passed through the butler's pantry, take the first door to your left. I'll meet you there."
She stood on the lowest step, candle held high, the aura of its yellow gleam bringing out the slender length of her hair hanging shoulder length, the whiteness of her dark eyes and the beauty of her crimson robe.
Kelly stood, his arms loaded with fuel. "I'd like to paint you like that," he said in an impersonal tone.
"Then you are an artist?" Hers was equally impersonal.
"In my spare time. I write mys-

Byrd Lambasts Gov't Deficit Spending Policy
Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.) today forecast federal deficits totaling $15,000,000,000 this fiscal year and next. He said there is a possibility of "permanent deficit financing" unless the government cuts its spending.
Byrd heartily endorsed yesterday's tongue lashing of Administration spending policy by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, retiring chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.
Byrd drew sustained applause for his economy appeal, and was interrupted repeatedly by the farm equipment dealers when he blasted the Brannan farm plan, favored by the Administration. He called it a costly and "socialistic" scheme which would end in "the regimentation of farmers."

She preceded him up the stairway, now carrying his electric lantern as well as her candle, and she stood silently watching as he built up the fire with expert fingers.
"There." He nodded with satisfaction, turned, took the lantern and was gone. He returned with a tarpaulin-covered pile of blankets.
"One more trip."
This time he returned with a huge roaster under one arm, a basket in the other hand.
These deposited on the little nursery table, he looked around and laughed. "Good, very good. So this is the private vault where the Langtrys kept their valuables."
Soberly Arieta answered, "They considered me valuable. There was a kidnap threat. They tried to make it impregnable."
"They certainly succeeded," conceded Kelly. "What's more, their success kept the house from being burned down."
Arieta remained silent and Howard Kelly, turning to look at her, saw the bewilderment in her eyes.

Washington Site Of Strike Talks

Washington, Oct. 20—(AP)—Efforts to settle a long strike at the Hart Cotton Mill, Tarboro, N. C., shifted today from New York to Washington.

A house labor subcommittee opened a hearing requested by the striking CIO Textile Workers Union of America.

Gov. Kerr Scott of North Carolina met in New York last night with Emil Rieve, president of the union, and Frank H. Leslie, president of the mill.

Scott said a major point at issue appeared to be checkoff of union dues. He added that he believed other issues in the strike, now in its sixth month, could be settled if the union and the company would agree on the checkoff. But neither Rieve nor Leslie budged from his position, Scott said.

RED CROSS ADVISES HOW TO BATTLE COLDS

HERE ARE SOME common sense precautions urged by the American Red Cross to help you avoid colds this winter. A basic rule is to eat nourishing meals.

AVOID CHILLING and wet feet. Change to dry clothing after exposure.

WASH YOUR HANDS often to get rid of possible virus, especially before eating.

AVOID PEOPLE with colds. If you sneeze, be sure you have covered up.

GET PLENTY OF REST. If you have a cold, stay in bed and protect both yourself and others. 'Just a little cold' may be dangerous to those in contact with you.

Average Yugoslav Man Knows Moscow Fight Nearing Climax

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 20—(AP)—The Yugoslav man in the street knows today that his country was near the climax of a David and Goliath struggle with Russia which the whole world watched with mounting anxiety.

Through the Communist newspaper Borba he knew Marshal Tito's government had accused Russia of moving troops into neighbor Communist countries in the mounting war of nerves.

The press also informed him about the struggle in the United Nations for a place on the security council with the United States backing Tito against bitter Russian opposition. The average citizen displayed intense excitement over the prospect of beating out Czechoslovakia at New York today for the security council seat.

There has been increasing evidence here that the more Russia attacks

Tito, both in the United Nations and elsewhere, the more his proud, ruggedly individualistic people rally around him.

The Yugoslav press has told the citizenry about the U. N. struggle, but has been cautious against over-confidence. The Communist newspaper Borba used the story under headline: "Election of Yugoslavia to security council would increase moral authority of U. N."

The newspaper Politika used this headline: "By putting her candidacy before the security council, Yugoslavia has no other aims except guarding independence and establishing equal rights among countries."

"Equal rights" is the key to the Moscow-Belgrade fight Tito has refused to bend to Moscow's will and wants to be treated as an equal.

The Yugoslavs charged last night that Russian troop movements in the Communist countries were aimed at building up "warmongering" pressure against the Tito regime.

(In Trieste, a refugee Romanian Orthodox Archbishop told Italian reporters Russia has concentrated troops along Romania's borders with Yugoslavia. Archbishop Burucea was quoted by the Italian news agency Astra as saying Romanian troops fortified the border recently and Soviet troops occupied a second line a few miles away from the frontier.)

Mrs. Celeste Morrow, 41, wife of a steamship engineer, was found lying on a day bed in their home at nearby San oreo. Police said a bloody butcher knife was found near the body.

Emerson said the pretty sophomore, held "for investigation," sobbed out a hysterical story of living in a "loveless home with a drunken mother. They gave me no affection."

Chinese Nationalists Try To Build Up Armed Forces

Chungking, Oct. 20—(AP)—Nationalist diehards tried to whip new strength into their decimated forces today by stepping up conscription throughout areas they still control.

In this refugee capital, groups of bewildered and unhappy men tapped for army duty march daily to training camps under guard.

Authorities launched a drive for funds to buy winter uniforms for troops. In one case, they threatened to jail the Chinese manager of a foreign firm if he failed to put up 400 silver dollars to buy 50 uniforms.

And from his headquarters at Kwellin, 375 miles to the south, Gen. Pai Chung-hsi called for organization of home guards to fight the Communists who, he said, "are trying to make the Chinese people gun fodder for Reds in the coming world war."

Pai said the Reds were closing in on Kwangsi Province from adjacent Hunan "and if we don't fight, we shall perish." He has the Nationalists' best mainland army to challenge the invasion.

The Hunan Provincial government, orphaned by Communist capture of Changsha last August, has finally established itself in Kwangsi. A refugee Kwangtung (Canton) government has been set up at Kalkou on Hainan Island.

Frankfurt, German, Oct. 20—(AP)—A U. S. Army court martial today found James W. Muley, 27, Macon Ga., guilty on 13 counts of misappropriating government property—cigarettes. He was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $10,000.

The court decreed that if he did not pay his fine he would serve another five years.

Stunt Man Puts On Tower Show

Kansas City, Oct. 20—(AP)—Patrolman Robert I. McClelland and a fellow officer drove slowly past a 300-foot radio tower, last night.

Casualty mentioning that he prevented a stunt man from climbing the structure Oct. 11, McClelland flashed a light on it. Then he shouted: "There he goes again."

Halfway up the tower was a man, later identified by police as Frank Goodman, 44.

He climbed to the top of the tower and for 15 minutes performed stunts for a gathering crowd below. He did handstands, hung by his toes and stood on one hand.

Finally he yielded to coaxing and agreed to descend.

McClelland identified him as the same man who attempted to climb the steel structure Oct. 11. The tower belongs to radio station KCMO.

Goodman was booked on charges of creating a disturbance, trespassing on private property and drunkenness. He said he formerly performed at county fairs as a stunt man.

Danish Vessel Is New Victim Of Stormy Seas

New York, Oct. 20—(AP)—The Coast Guard said today that the 72-ton Danish fishing boat Elsa apparently had been sunk with the loss of 10 men somewhere between Greenland and Iceland on the storm-tossed Atlantic.

The green-painted vessel left Tokusak, Greenland, Oct. 10 and has not been reported since. She carried no radio. A Coast Guard plane from Argentina, Nfld., searched fruitlessly for the tiny craft yesterday.

Meanwhile, two gales pounded shipping on the North Atlantic for the fourth straight day and storm-damaged ships began limping into port.

Commodore Charles M. Ford brought the giant liner Queen Elizabeth into New York today 12 hours late.

Auto Producers Map Cutbacks

Pittsburgh, Oct. 20—(AP)—Major automobile producers are planning cutbacks unless the nation's first twin steel and coal strikes are settled soon.

There's no indication of a settlement in the walkouts which have idled around a million workers.

Everything points to skyrocketing unemployment.

Girl Confesses Knifing Mother

Oakland, Calif., Oct. 20—(AP)—Deputy District Attorney Folger Emerson said today a 15-year-old high school girl had confessed stabbing her mother to death during an argument over boy friends.

Mrs. Celeste Morrow, 41, wife of a steamship engineer, was found lying on a day bed in their home at nearby San oreo. Police said a bloody butcher knife was found near the body.

Emerson said the pretty sophomore, held "for investigation," sobbed out a hysterical story of living in a "loveless home with a drunken mother. They gave me no affection."

free for development by private initiative.

In short, Nehru aims at combining what he regards as best in both systems. That is important in view of the fact that his view are dominant in the new India which already occupies eighth position among the industrial nations of the world.

Success or failure of Nehru's system in India will have a vast influence on the rest of Asia, including a China which now is largely overrun by communism.

Whatever may be one's ideological belief, probably most will subscribe to Nehru's view that "the society which delivers the goods—the better life—will survive." And that's a thought to be pondered well by those who are trying to find their ideological feet.

A Quieter . . .

by Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican.

For 45 days this committee heard Lillenthal and others. Then the Democrats on the committee, outnumbering the Republicans, cast a vote clearing the AEC of the charge.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson held the record for government officials who had to shuttle back and forth at the Capitol.

Since foreign affairs took such a lot of Congress time this year, Acheson had to give his views on one problem after another: the Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact, arms for Europe and other things.

Anyway, whatever peace and quiet seems to have settled over Washington won't last for more than two and a half months.

Congress comes back in January to start the whole thing all over again.

'Malicious'

Toronto, Oct. 20—(AP)—William Selig, 40, was charged with malicious damage today after police said he threw a rock through a window in the downtown office of Alcoholics Anonymous. He had a party-full bottle of wine in his pocket when arrested.

Selig told police he tried to borrow a quarter at the club and "they wouldn't even give me a nickel."
