Workable Atomic Controls Requested By Pres. Truman

Challenges All Nations To Agree On Outlawing Of Atomic Bomb; President Speaks At Cornerstone Laying Of United Nations Headquarters

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—President Truman challenged all nations today to agree on a workable way to outlaw the atomic bomb, as the alternative to man's destruction.

Speaking against the background of Russia's refusal to come into an agreement that the United States and other powers have endorsed, Mr. Truman said: "To assure that atomic energy will be devoted to man's welfare and not to his destruction is a continuing challenge to all nations and all peoples."

It was his first foreign policy declaration since his Sept. 23 announcement: "We have evidence that within recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in the U. S. S. R." The President declared:

"Ever since the first atomic weapon was developed, a major objective of United States policy has been a system of international control of atomic energy that would assure effective prohibition of atomic weapons, and at the same time would promote the peaceful use of atomic energy by all nations."

Mr. Truman spoke at the laying of the cornerstone of the Secretariat building of permanent United Nations headquarters on UN's fourth anniversary.

The United States has offered to surrender its bombs under the Russian-posed, but General Assembly approved "Baruch plan" providing rigid UN inspections and controls to assure against illegal bomb building.

The President did not mention Russia by name, but indirectly challenged the Soviet government to offer a "better and more effective plan."

He said the United States is now "and will remain, ready to do its full share" to meet the atomic weapon's threat to peace.

In another obvious dig at the Soviet orbit, Mr. Truman also sharply criticized disregard of human rights which he said were "indispensable to political, economic and social progress." He said UN members know that "disregard of human rights is the beginning of tyranny, and too often, the beginning of war."

He spoke just two days after the General Assembly voted agreement with western charges that Russian satellites Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary are suppressing human rights and freedoms. The questions first were raised after trials of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Budapest and other religious leaders in Bulgaria.

"Respect for human rights, promotion of economic development, and a system for control of weapons are requisites to the kind of world we seek," Mr. Truman said. "We can not solve these problems over night, but we must keep everlastingly working at them in order to reach our goal."

"No single nation can always have its own way, for these are human problems, and the solution of human problems is to be found in negotiation and mutual adjustment."

Police Looking For Purple Man

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 24 (AP)—Police are looking for a purple man. Tired of repeated burglaries, sculptor T. A. Jones resorted to a schoolboy's prank to trap his man. He balanced three jars above a door. The intruder came and left empty handed. The jars tumbled and spilled a vivid purple dye.

Putting Teeth In Pact

U. S. Begins Job Of Helping To Re-Arm Western Europe This Week; Three Kinds Of Military Equipment; The Excess, The Reserve And New Items; Probable Cost

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—This week the U. S. government begins the job of helping re-arm western Europe. This briefly explains it.

First, the Senate approved our joining the Atlantic pact, made up of 12 nations: U. S., Canada, Portugal, Ireland, Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark.

They agreed to help defend one another from attack. Russia wasn't mentioned as the possible attacker but Russia was meant.

But if the Atlantic pact countries nearest Russia were going to stand off, if only for a while, a Russian attack, they said they needed arms from us.

Three countries not near Russia—Canada, Portugal, Ireland—did not ask help. The other eight did: Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark.

Then Congress voted $1,000,000,000 to supply them arms. Actually, they will receive from us arms worth about $1,000,000,000. This is why: We'll send them "three kinds of military equipment"—excess stuff, reserve stuff, and brand new equipment.

Attlee Announces $700 Million Cut In Spending

British Prime Minister Plans Slash Gov't Spending; Figures Do Not Include Savings In Defense Spending

London, Oct. 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today he is slashing $700,000,000 off government spending to ease Britain's economic crisis.

Attlee told the House of Commons this $700,000,000 does not include savings in Britain's defense spending.

The prime minister said there will be savings in the Labor government's socialized health program, in education, in public and private building, government administrative costs and in government public relations offices.

Prices of some foods will rise, Attlee told the House.

The prime minister's program is tied in with Britain's recent devaluation of the pound from $4.03 to $2.80. Britain is faced with the necessity of spurring her export drive to earn dollars, and thus, heavy reductions in her dollar purchases from the United States have been forecast.

Attlee outlined these cuts: Capital expenditures: A reduction of about $392,000,000. This covers such projects as school construction, hospital construction, highways and the like.

Education: About $14,000,000 in school spending for England, Wales and Scotland.

Health service: A charge of a shilling (14 cents) will be made for each prescription under the National Health Service.

Hawaii's Docks Set For Return Of Stevedores

Honolulu, Oct. 24 (AP)—Hawaii's striking CIO stevedores will go back to work tomorrow and Wednesday in five of the island's six ports. They started the territory's most crippling labor tieup May 1.

An agreement covering all ports except tiny Maui was signed yesterday afternoon—176th day of the strike whose known losses start at $100,000,000. The memorandum was signed by officials of all but one of Hawaii's seven stevedoring firms and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

The agreement covers fringe issues which had blocked return to work since Oct. 6 when the 2,000 ILWU stevedores were granted an immediate pay boost of 14 cents an hour with seven cents more March 1. They struck to raise their $1.40 hourly wage by 32 cents.

Clean-Up Job At State Fair Site

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24 (AP)—Workers sweated and puffed today on the arduous task of cleaning up the N. C. State fairgrounds. The big exposition closed a record-breaking five-day run at midnight Saturday and smashed all attendance records. For five glorious days the autumn sun shone on the spacious fairgrounds while far more than 400,000 persons swarmed through the gates.

In 1946, 400,000 persons was attended to set the biggest attendance record since the fair was established in 1852.

Hush-Hush Okay For New Arms

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—A mild hush-hush secrecy, Congress has approved a $30,000,000 start on a program to test fantastic weapons for future warfare.

The funds as well as a separate compromise measure authorizing them were pushed through both the Senate and House last week with almost no discussion or debate.

Slight Increase In Building Cost

Greensboro, Oct. 24 (AP)—Home building costs in North Carolina increased slightly during the past month and further increases may be forthcoming, according to the State Office of the Federal Housing Administration.

A monthly building cost report prepared in the North Carolina office of the federal agency here showed today that the overall cost of home construction has increased slightly more than half of 1 per cent since a check was made in September.

Embarrassed

Inglewood, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Police Capt. Robert Collins returned home from work, tried to flick on his television set but it didn't work.

The inside of the set were missing. He called police headquarters and immediately lieutenants, sergeants and just plain cops began an all-night city-wide search for a TV burglar. Not a clue was found.

The captain himself called off the search yesterday. Embarrassed, he told fellow officers that he had sent the set's chassis out to the repair shop. And then forgot about it.

Tar River Death Ruled Accidental

Coroner Plans No Inquest In Drowning Of J. J. Case

James Jarvis Case, 45-year-old World War II veteran, was accidentally drowned in Tar River, near the Port Terminal, about 6 o'clock Saturday night.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse quoted Oscar F. Hodges, who was in a boat with Case, as saying that the motor started suddenly and Case fell in the river. Hodges was detained overnight by police to be questioned Sunday morning. The fire department's rescue truck, police and sheriff's officers, assisted in the search for the body. They found it early Sunday after Hodges pointed out the spot where Case fell into the river.

The coroner said the drowning was accidental. There will be no inquest.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson & Sons Funeral Home at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. R. N. Hinnant, Free Will Baptist minister of Micro, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Members of the Charles Gray Morgan Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will present full military honors at the grave.

Case, son of the late James and Maggie Bottoms Case, was born in Nash County and came to Pitt County with his family in 1917. He lived in this county until he joined the U. S. Army in 1927. He served about 15 years duty overseas. In World War II he served his country in North Africa, Germany and Japan. He was retired in 1948 after 21 years of service.

Surviving are his step-mother, Mrs. James Case of near Greenville; four brothers, Charlie Case of Kenly, Johnnie Case of Baltimore, Archie Case of Bethel, and Aaron Case of near Greenville; and a sister, Mrs. Rosa Pulford of Tarboro.

Writer Asserts Ghost Dictated Book She Typed

London, Oct. 24 (AP)—British Author Frances Daley did the typing, but she insisted today that her last book really was written by a priest who has been dead thousands and thousands of years.

He lived, so said his ghost, on the continent of Atlantis which sank in the Atlantic Ocean a long time ago.

So certain is the 40-year-old writer that the book which fairly flew from her finger tips is none of her work that she told her astonished publisher that she will accept no royalties. Just a typist's fee is all she wants.

"I can't explain it," said Miss Daley, who has written numerous novels, children's books and a cook book. "But a voice inside me said 'Write this down and I just type with an exhausting speed. How that chap could dictate!'"

Dismisses Suit Against State Road Commission

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24 (AP)—The State Highway Commission had a free hand today to buy road-building equipment with part of the state's $200,000,000 rural road bond issue and to carry on stabilization work.

A Durham road contractor, Nello L. Teer, had sought a court order restraining the Commission from using the bond money for anything except permanent road improvements.

Teer claimed that using the bond money either for buying road-building equipment for stabilization work would be an illegal diversion of the funds.

Strike Outlook Continues Dark; Truman Silent

Ching May Step Into Coal Dispute This Week; Two Sides Unshaken

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—The outlook for any voluntary settlements in the big coal and steel strikes continued exceedingly dark today.

A steadily increasing toll from the walkout on the nation's economy made White House intervention seem more and more probable. There still was no word, whatever, that President Truman had made up his mind to act.

Officials closely watching the situation said administration policy for the moment is one of hope—hope that as the twin strikes become more acute, the pressure of public opinion and coal and steel customers may cause one side or the other to make a peace bid.

Two Car Wrecks Here Last Night

Four Narrowly Escape Death In Accident; Arrest Driver

Four persons narrowly escaped death in a wreck last night about 8 o'clock on the Washington highway N. C. 30, four miles from Greenville.

Patrolman Paul C. Whitley reported today that a car operated by James F. Briley, Route 1, Stokes, was hit in the rear by a car driven by Bob E. Wright, 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg.

The car operated by Briley went into the ditch and the other car turned over on the highway after the collision. The windshield of one car was thrown out intact and landed on the highway by the impact.

Injured were Ray Willard, 19, Fort Bragg, broken ribs; Edna Bari Henderson, Grimesland, head injuries; Bob Wright, severe cuts on head.

Whitley stated that Wright was arrested on a charge of driving in a careless and reckless manner.

Damage to the Briley car was estimated at $225, while the Wright car was damaged about $450 worth.

The sixth wreck in the county in the past several weeks which resulted when one car attempted to make a left turn was reported last night.

Patrolman Dick Chadwick said that a car operated by Lynnard Person Baker, Route 2, Ayden, started to make a left turn, heard brakes being applied behind him swung back onto the road and was hit by a car driven by Johnny Ray Letchworth, Route 2, Greenville.

The driver of the second car stated that he saw the car in front of him give a hand signal, he slowed down and that the car came back onto the highway and he hit it.

Damage to the Baker car was estimated at $250.

Reich Another Stalemate On Advertising Contract

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 24 (AP)—The State Board of Co-Operation and Development reached another stalemate today on its $190,000-a-year advertising contract.

It couldn't decide whether to award the contract to Bennett Advertising, Inc. of High Point and Charlotte, as recommended by Ayer and Gillette of Charlotte.

Ayer and Gillette has had it almost two years.

After lengthy, almost kid-glove discussion, the board deferred a formal vote until tomorrow.

T. V. Rochelle of High Point presented the subcommittee report, saying six agencies were considered and Bennett was selected after thorough study.

After he completed his recommendation, Walter J. Damtoft of Asheville left the temporary vice-chairman's chair and asserted that Ayer and Gillette had been done a great wrong.

"Something other than the letting of an advertising contract is involved here, he said. 'We are in an abnormal situation that came out of misunderstanding. This situation calls for a righting of wrongs, to members of the old board since a reflection was cast on their integrity, and to Ayer and Gillette. All of this springs from rumors that since have been proved unfounded.'"

But, he added, "the greatest wrong has been done Ayer and Gillette."

Pitt Road Allotment Under Bond Program Is Announced

Denfeld Hinted As First To Go

Defense Establishment Official Indicates Top Navy Admiral To Be Relieved As Step To Strengthen Unification Team

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—An uneasy truce settled over the Pentagon today in the wake of congressional string of bitter policy differences among the armed services.

But the quiet along the Potomac seemed more illusory than real. Hardly had the House Armed Services Committee recessed its hearings than a top-placed official of the defense establishment hinted the axe was out for Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations.

Denfeld fired the final broadside for the Navy in its case against the joint chiefs of staff. He summed up Navy complaints that naval sea and air power were being scuttled to the detriment of national security.

There was a widely-held belief that should Denfeld go, he probably would be followed by some other top admiral who has bucked Pentagon policy.

Despite sharply worded warnings from some congressmen against a Pentagon purge, the word was reported passed that non-conformists on the military unification "team" would have to be replaced.

Those talking of such action said this would not mean reprisals as a result of House hearings. They said it did mean that those who could not work on Secretary of Defense Johnson's "team" would have to give way to those who can.

Scott Hart Mill Effort Fruitless

President Of Mill Insists On Union Altering Its Stand

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24 (AP)—Another effort by Governor Scott to end the Hart Cotton Mill strike at Tarboro ended in failure today.

This became apparent when the Governor's office released a letter written to the Governor by Frank H. Leslie of New York, president of the Hart mill.

In it, Leslie wrote: "x x x If the union cannot see fit to alter its stand there appears no prospect of agreement."

The strike which has frequently erupted into violence, has been underway since last May 12 when negotiations between the mill and the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) broke down.

Leslie's letter followed a conference in New York last week between Scott, Leslie and Emil Rieve of New York, President of the TWU.

At the time, the Governor suggested that the strikers return to work under the contract they had prior to the strike.

The matter of check-off of union dues, appears to be the issue barring a settlement of the walkout.

Tried As Spy

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 24 (AP)—Samuel Meryn, an American Embassy employe who was arrested last week, will soon be tried as a spy in a Czech court, James K. Penfield, U. S. Charge D'Affaires, disclosed today.

Penfield said he had been informed of the forthcoming trial by the Czech Foreign Ministry.

Meryn was arrested Friday as one of the leaders of an alleged espionage ring headed by American Embassy employes.

Revival Of Morality

Analyst Reports Informed Persons Believe England Ready For Moral And Religious Revival; Points To Princess Elizabeth's Public Slap At Divorces

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Public pronouncements by the king and other immediate members of the British royal family ordinarily are non-controversial and are sanctioned in advance by the prime minister's office, since the monarchy is constitutional.

For this reason England sat up and took notice when 22-year-old Princess Elizabeth, heiress to the throne, made a public address in which she gave the country a good trouncing for lax morals. She was speaking at a mothers' union meeting and her remarks were aimed primarily at divorce, which has increased heavily since the outbreak of the late war.

"When we see around us the havoc which has been wrought, above all among the children, by the breakup of homes," said the princess, "we can have no doubt that divorce and separation are responsible for some of the darkest evils in our society today. I do not think you can perform any finer service than to help maintain the Christian doctrine that the relationship of the husband and wife is a permanent one, not to be lightly broken because of difficulties or quarrels."

This speech by the niece of King Edward VIII, who abandoned the throne to marry an American divorcee, was the sharpest delivered by royalty in recent years. It had the surprising effect of bringing a rebuke from the Marriage Law Reform Committee which broke the traditional attitude toward royal utterances by challenging her statement that divorce leads to many of Britain's social evils.

So good sized tempest has been brewed in the British teapot. One of the highly interesting aspects of this development, as I see it, rests in the fact that Mrs. Geoffrey Fisher, wife of the Archbishop of Canterbury, presided over the meeting at which the princess spoke. Therefore it strikes me that Elizabeth must have had not only the approval of Prime Minister Attlee's office but that of the head of the Church of England.

If that is so, what is the significance? Well, there are those in informed places who believe that England is ready for a moral and religious revival. They feel that the country won't overcome its economic troubles or regain its old facilities or quarrels.

Market Crash 20 Years Ago

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—Twenty years ago this week the stock market crashed in a tragic ending to an era of prosperity.

The Colidge bull market died a violent death that shocked and stunned this nation and financial capitals throughout the world.

There is no standard by which to measure the selling panic which crept into Wall Street in cat-like silence and ripped the financial district wide open.

Described in generalities, the market value of the nation's production machinery plunged, in a matter of minutes, by billions of dollars. The decline lasted for three long heart-breaking years.

In human terms the losses could be measured in dollars and cents: in the bankruptcy record, the destruction of lifetime savings, in foreclosed mortgages, in pawn shop tickets. It could be measured, too, in the desperate, haggard faces of the new poor, in dead dreams, in the pathetic bewilderment of little people and big people all over the country.

Burning House Is Complete Loss

The Greenville Fire Department answered its second out-of-town call for help in the last four days last night when it was called to a burning house about three miles from Ayden.

A two-story Negro dwelling, owned by Emerson Mills on the county home road, caught fire Sunday night about 6 o'clock. When the fire truck reached the scene the house was too far gone to be saved. Firemen reported that the house was a total loss and that most of the household furniture was also lost. The origin of the fire could not be traced.

County To Receive 55.65 Miles Of New Hard-Surfaced Secondary Roads Under First Phase Of Program; Represents 10 Per Cent Of Unpaved School Roads

Pitt county will receive 55.65 miles of new hard-surfaced secondary roads under the first phase of the $200,000,000 state road program, it was announced today by Commissioner W. Guy Hargett of the second highway division.

The twelve counties in the second division will receive a total of 439.26 miles of paved roads and an additional $640,000 worth of stabilized roads under the first phase of the program.

In addition to the 55.65 miles of hard-surfaced roads, Pitt county is to receive $100,000 to be used for repair work on poor dirt roads to make them all-weather roads.

Division Engineer Romulus Markham of Greenville said this morning the exact cost of constructing the allotted hard-surfaced roads in Pitt county has not been determined yet, because surveys of the roads have not been completed. Markham said some paving under the bond road program already is underway in the division, and that work is expected to begin tomorrow in Pitt county on the road from Winterville to N. C. 43 at the intersection of the Black Jack road.

The paving in Pitt county will include ten projects.

D. H. Conley, superintendent of county schools, said this morning all the 55.65 miles of paving which will be done in the county under the first phase of the program are roads which are traveled daily by county school buses. The paving allotted to the county will cover about 10 per cent of the approximately 550 miles of unpaved roads in Pitt county over which school buses travel each day.

Conley said that new paving will hard-surface roads which are traveled by school buses of the Winterville, Ayden, Grifton, Choccolocco, Grimesland, Arthur, Falkland and Fountain schools.

The list of paving projects in Pitt county as released by Commissioner Hargett is as follows:

From the end of the pavement 0.4 mile northward from Smith's store via Corville 3.5 miles to a junction 1.1 miles southward from Stokes town.

From Gardnersville via Clayroot 3.86 miles to the Craven county line.

From Corville 4.77 miles northward via Helens Cross roads to Venters.

From Kings Cross roads 3.78 miles eastward and northward to Falkland.

From Winterville 4.

Women In The Church

Among the women who participated in the recent conference of Protestant church experts and leaders, meeting in Chicago recently to develop a program that may serve as a guide to all the Protestant churches, agencies, and institutions that are devoted to helping to build new generations of citizens, were: Mrs. Harper Sioley, president of the United Council of Church Women; Dr. Helen O. Rice of Ohio State University; and Mrs. G. Larsen Sperry and Miss M. Olsen, of the United States Commission for Care of European Children. The conference was called by the International Council of Religious Education, the Federal Council of Churches, the Home Missions Council of North America, and the United Council of Church Women. Mrs. Signe Nyquist, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service in Finland, recently arrived in the United States for a speaking tour. Mrs. Nyquist, the wife of the Methodist pastor in Gamalakaleby, Finland, represents the 914 members of the 27 woman's societies in Finland. During the recent war, while her husband was in the Finnish Army, Mrs. Nyquist preached each week from his pulpit. Miss Ruth Barton Piper, head nurse of the Methodist Mission Hospital in Kapanga, the Belgian Congo, Africa, has been awarded the "Medaille de l'Effort de Guerre Colonial 1940-1945" by the Belgian Government. This is in recognition of her services as nurse and as acting-superintendent of the Hospital during part of the war period. Miss Piper was born in Kapanga—the headquarters town of the famed African chief Mwato Yamvo. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Piper, for thirty years medical missionaries and founders of the hospital services of Methodism in southern Congo. During these years they have served Mwato Yamvo's people, ridding the region of the sleeping sickness, and bringing both tuberculosis and leprosy under control. Both Dr. Piper and his daughter have been attacked by sleeping sickness and both have recovered. After receiving her early training in mission schools in Africa, Miss Piper came to the United States, receiving her R.N. degree from the Mountinside School of Nursing, Montclair, N.J., and her B.S. from State Teachers College, Millersville, Pa. She was commissioned as a missionary of the Methodist Church in 1943. Billy the Kid, most notorious outlaw of the old west, is buried near Fort Sumner, New Mexico.

Mrs. Waightstill M. Scales Jr.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother-in-law, George Doughty, of Johnson City, Tennessee.

Ushers and groomsmen included: Richard Warren Gaylord and Louis Woodson Gaylord, Jr., brothers of the bride; Judson H. Blount, Jr.; James Skinner Ficklen, Jr.; William Cecil Horne; Benjamin Courtney Homes of Washington, N. C.; and Harvey Turnage of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Gaylord, mother of the bride, wore an ankle length champagne crepe gown, with dark green accessories. She wore a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Scales chose for her nephew's wedding, a gown of moss green crepe with matching accessories. She also wore a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Richard Warren King, maternal grandmother of the bride, was gowned in grey with contrasting accessories and wore a corsage of roses.

For her going away ensemble, Mrs. Scales wore a soft gabardine suit of forest green with matching hat and contrasting accessories. Her corsage was orchids from her bridal bouquet. Mrs. Scales is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Woodson Gaylord, of Greenville, N. C. After graduating from Greenville High School, she attended East Carolina Teachers' College, graduating from that institution with an A. B. degree in May, 1949. In December, 1948, she was presented at the Debutante Ball in Raleigh.

Mr. Scales is the son of the late Waightstill Morehead Scales and the late Florence Blow Scales of Greenville. He attended Greenville High School and graduated from Fishburne Military School. He served three years in the armed service, two of these years being spent overseas. Mr. Scales is now associated with Security Life and Trust Company in Greenville, N. C.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for the bridal party and out of town guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garrett and Ralph Garrett, Jr., entertained the Scales-Gaylord wedding party and out of town guests at dinner on Wednesday evening at their home on Country Club Drive.

The home throughout was beautifully decorated for the occasion with lavender, pink and bronze chrysanthemums.

The table in the dining room held an exquisite centerpiece of pale pink and lavender chrysanthemums. Mrs. L. W. Gaylord and Mrs. W. M. Scales were seated at opposite ends of the table to serve a delightful buffet dinner. They were assisted by Mrs. Lee Folger, Mrs. E. J. Garrett and Mrs. Tom Webb.

On Thursday evening at 6 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. James Ficklen and James Ficklen, Jr., held open house to honor Miss Gaylord and Mr. Scales. Fall flowers, in profusion were used in the home.

Mrs. W. I. Wooten and Miss Lillian Wooten were hostesses at dinner on Friday evening. Their guests were members of the Scales-Gaylord wedding party, members of the families and out of town guests.

Upon arrival tomato juice was served by Miss Lillah Gaut and Miss Alice Wooten from a wooden bucket in the breakfast room. An autumn theme was observed here.

The room was lighted with candles in brass candelabra and an arrangement of fruit and vegetables was used on the buffet. The table held vases of yellow chrysanthemums and marigold. In the dining room a bridal motif of green and white was observed. The table was centered with a bowl of large white chrysanthemums flanked with white tapers in silver candelabra. Mrs. W. M. Scales and Mrs. L. W. Gaylord presided at opposite ends of the table to serve a delectable buffet dinner.

Following rehearsal for the Scales-Gaylord wedding on Friday evening, Mrs. W. M. Scales, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Doughty, of Johnson City, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Conway, of Winston-Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scales, of Cascade, Va., were hosts at a dance at the Country Club. In the lounge the mantels were banked with magnolia leaves and all through the room were arrangements of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. J. C. Butner, Mrs. A. M.

Moseley, Mrs. Arnold Landen and Mrs. Alice Powell served hors d'oeuvres, party sandwiches with many other accompaniments, champagne punch and tomato juice from the beautifully decorated refreshment tables. Music was furnished by the college orchestra.

STICK TO FACTS

There is a mirror in a scientific institute which enables people to see themselves as they really are. Do we not see ourselves as we really are every time we look into a mirror? No; everything is reversed, and there are other distortions also. But there is a mirror which enables us to see ourselves as others see us. And perhaps it would not be uncharitable to say that it is too bad these mirrors cannot be made to reflect heart and mind and be produced cheaply enough to be owned by every family. In the amusement parks are found mirrors also which distort people and make them appear as they are not. In one mirror they are tall and slender, in the next short and fat. Hysterical laughter is heard at the place of these mirrors. People are seeing caricatures of themselves and their friends.

One of the tragedies of life is that we allow our prejudice and hate, our ignorance and our malice to distort in our minds the figures of others. And there is a figure of distortion known as self-pity. This is one of the most ruinous of all varieties of daydreaming.

What we really are may not please us, but to deal with anything else but facts leads us in the direction of unhappiness and catastrophe.

THE THRESHOLD OF PROGRESS

Last week the local office of the state employment security commission reported that peak employment is now being enjoyed in this immediate area, and that fewer people are drawing unemployment checks than at any other time in a two year period.

It would be fine if the people of Greenville and Pitt county could assume that local employment would remain at a high level, but officials have indicated that the next few weeks will see a large increase in claims for unemployment benefits.

The reason for the predicted increase in unemployment is that the brief seasonal employment in the tobacco industry which is afforded so many people of this area is rapidly coming to a close.

Naturally in an area where a large portion of the population has its working days limited to a few months of the year, there is going to be wholesale payment of unemployment claims; and the lack of a steady income for a large portion of the population decidedly affects the daily business and daily living of all the people of the community.

Even though a great deal of progress has been made in the industrial development of Greenville during the past decade, the city still finds itself with a highly seasonal employment outlook. For as many years as most people can remember, Greenville has had its principal source of employment for common labor in the seasonal tobacco industry which employs a large number of workers two or three months out of the year, after which the workers have to shift on a day-to-day work basis with little or no income.

For years the farm leaders of this area have been

Somebody Told Me...
By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Mrs. J. Lindsay Savage, third-grade teacher at the Training School, has something in common with Winston Churchill. Instead of rushing to catch a train, Mr. Churchill disregards the schedule and quite often just makes his train by the skin of his teeth. His wife offers this explanation: "Winston is such a sportsman that he always gives the train a chance to get away."

Likewise, Mrs. Savage is such a sportsman that she always gives her automobile an even chance to give out of gas. "You know how gas gauges are," she explains. "The car always has some gas left when the gauge registers 'empty,' but you never can tell how much."

Up until Tuesday night Mrs. Savage had outsmarted her car many times. It was time for her to lose at the sport of outguessing the gas gauge. As she was going

Around Capitol Square

JUSTICES — Seven men — the chief justice and six associate justices of the supreme court — have the final word in many matters vitally affecting citizens of North Carolina. Yet the people of the state perhaps know less about them than about any other public officials. The nature of their work makes them reclusive. The casual visitor to the supreme court, observing the black robes and sober countenance of the justices sitting on the high bench (technical name for the leather upholstered chairs) can be pardoned for failure to realize that these seven men have been sense of humor and are very human sort of folks.

BIRTH — Each of these seven was born just like any other baby and had what might be termed normal boyhood experiences. It is interesting to note that their birthplaces embrace all of state geography. Two were born in the eastern part of the state — Justice Wallace Winborne in Chowan county and Justice M. V. Barnhill in Halifax. Three originated in the central area — Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy in Anson, Justice William A. Devin in Granville, and Justice A. F. Seawell in Lee (it was still Moore county when he was born). Two came out of the west — Justice Emery B. Denny was born in Surry and Justice Sam J. Ervin in Burke.

ACCESSION — They moved around a bit after they reached maturity and ascendency to the supreme court credits them to different sections of the state. Chief Justice Stacy, Associate Justices Devin, Barnhill and Seawell came from the eastern judicial circuit, while Associate Justices Winborne, Denny and Ervin came from the western circuit. The chief justice is the only member who went to the high court by election. All the others were first appointed to fill vacancies, but have subsequently been elected by the people. Chief Justice Stacy as elected in 1920 as an associate justice, was appointed chief by Governor McLean in 1925 and has been successively re-elected to that high post.

EXPERIENCE — Four supreme court justices — Stacy, Devin, Barnhill and Ervin had outstanding records as superior court judges. Justices Winborne, Seawell and Denny came to the high court with previous experience on the bench. Chief Justice Stacy and Associate Justices Devin, Barnhill, Seawell and Ervin have served in the general assembly. Associate Justices Winborne and Denny have not had legislative experience, but both have served as chairman of the state Democratic executive committee. Chief Justice Stacy perhaps did not establish a record, but as superior court judge at 32 and supreme court justice at 36 he was among the youngest ever to serve in these capacities by popular election in North Carolina.

PERSONALITIES — This is a brief composite review of the state home from the Woman's Club the car sputtered and she was out of gas on Dickinson Avenue.

It was after 11 o'clock and all of a sudden Mrs. Savage realized that the hour had gotten the gas harder than it would have been in the daytime. She walked up to Smitty's Place to telephone her husband.

When the sleepy voice answered at the other end of the telephone Mrs. Savage said, "Are you in bed?"

"In bed?" Lindsay said. "Why I've been asleep for almost an hour."

"Well, I didn't realize that," Mrs. Savage replied, "because I thought you would just be getting out of the picture show. I'm calling you from Smitty's Place. The car has given out of gas."

The Savages live on the Farmville Highway, about two miles from the center of town. Considering the distance and the fact that he was in bed Lindsay wondered what he could do about it.

"You're the only man I'm married to," Mrs. Savage exclaimed, "so it looks to me as if you could do something about it." As Lindsay was suggesting a procedure for her to follow Smitty chimed in and said he would get the gas, which he did.

Mrs. Savage explained that husbands seem to have a set point of view on this business of giving out of gas. The husband's comment is always the same: "You should have watched the gauge."

There are wives, unlike Mrs. Savage, who have no intention of outguessing the gas gauge, but simply assume that as long as they are driving the gas will last. Tomorrow, they figure, the husband will be driving and he can fill it up from his allowance. For some reason wives seem to hate using their grocery allowance for automobile expenses.

Putting gas in the car is quite a nuisance. Almost inevitably the driver notices that the tank is empty when he's in the biggest hurry of his life. How can a lady like Mrs. Savage be expected to have time to gas up? Teaching school, keeping house, maintaining her dog kennel, and participating in club activities is enough to keep any one person busy. Not only that, the sport of outguessing the gauge is fun—if you get by with it. And I thank you.

STUDYING — North Carolina is not alone in recognizing need for authentic data as basis for collection and distribution of public tax money. At least eight other states have special commissions studying specific phases of the problem, in addition to the half dozen or so which have permanent legislative councils on the job. The national federation of tax administrators reports that Kansas, Maryland, Maryland, Minnesota, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon, Virginia and Utah have special studies in progress. Primary objective of all these groups, like that of the Tar Heel studies, is to afford accurate information to upcoming legislatures upon which to base equitable levy and distribution of state tax collection.

Troops On Guard Against Violence

Call, Colombia, Oct. 24—(AP)—Troops patrolled the streets of this coffee and mining center today following a weekend outburst of violence in which 20 persons were killed and another 40 were injured.

A mob touched off the disturbance by storming a liberal party meeting Saturday night. Some of those killed and injured were walking along streets in the neighborhood and got caught in the riot.

Soldiers dispersed the attackers by firing in the air. All political parties expressed regret at the outbreak.

Tension has been mounting steadily in Colombia with the approach of the Presidential election on Nov. 27. Laureano Gomez is the Conservative candidate to succeed President Mariano Ospina Perez, also Conservative. Barrio Achandia is the Liberal candidate.

Both the Liberals and Conservatives have accused each other of resorting to violence and bloodshed.

Hefty Cops Win A Tug-Of-War With Elephant

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 24—(AP)—A hefty cop and a circus elephant had a tug-of-war yesterday. The cop won.

A housewife called the police station and reported: "There's an elephant in our block. Could you do something?"

Desk Sgt. Jack Adams called in Baton Rouge's biggest patrolman, 255-pound H. E. Lambert.

Lambert took off on his big game hunt in a squad car. He found his quarry gambling down the middle of a residential street. The cop latched onto a dangling neck chain, threw his 255 pounds into reverse and halted the plodding pachyderm.

An excited elephant keeper from the circus soon relieved Lambert.

Iraq Accused Of Arresting And Torturing Jews

Tel Aviv, Israel, Oct. 24—(AP)—An Israeli foreign office spokesman has accused the neighboring Arab state of Iraq of arresting and torturing Jewish men and women there.

He said yesterday the Israel government has asked the United States and Britain to intervene in Baghdad, the Iraq capital. The spokesman gave this account of what happened: he termed the persecution of many Jews in Iraq.

Reliable news reaching the Israeli government during the last three weeks indicated Jews were arrested, their property seized and the internees were held in a concentration camp in Amara South of Baghdad.

Wet Field Argued Factor In Dousing Tar Heel Fireworks

Chapel Hill, N.C., Oct. 24—(AP)—Were North Carolina's football fireworks doused by a wet field against Louisiana State when it didn't rain? They can't take back that 13-7 upset defeat of the Tar Heels in Baton Rouge Saturday night, but a groundskeeper's error might have had something to do with it.

LSU Coach Gaynell Tinsley said in Baton Rouge that the field was "a little wetter than we wanted it" but "it wasn't the field that stopped Justice. It was our line and Roshto and Hedges."

North Carolina's All-America tailback Charlie Justice was unable to cut into his specialty, sweeping down the sidelines. Linebackers Jimmy Roshto and Lee Hedges kept him boxed into the LSU line for a net gain of 48 yards rushing in 11 carries.

Tinsley said the field was watered twice around the middle through a mixup, but most of it hadn't been wet since Friday night. He gave this explanation:

"Our dry weather routine calls for an attendant to sprinkle the field after our boys, the visiting team and the band have practiced Friday night. Ordinarily the visiting team gets through by 8:30, but North Carolina didn't finish until 9:30.

"By then the attendant had gone home and one of our team managers sprinkled the field. Then Saturday morning when I got to the stadium, I saw the attendant wetting down around midfield and I stopped him. He hadn't known it had already been watered."

Coach Carl Snavely of Chapel Hill declined comment on the affair.

Sports Editor Billy Carmichael, III, of the Daily Tar Heel, University of North Carolina student newspaper, said the North Carolina team was forced to use mud cleats during the game.

Sports Writer Frank O'Brien of the Raleigh News and Observer said Snavely protested the condition of the field before the game. It was so soggy, O'Brien added, that during the first quarter Snavely ordered his men to put on mud cleats.

Snavely praised the Tigers in these words after the game: "They outcharged us, outran us, and out-blocked us. They were just ready for us and keyed up for the game, we couldn't stop them."

Deac's Nub Smith Looks Like Another Choo-Choo

Charlotte, Oct. 24—(AP)—Charlie Justice is nearing the end of his collegiate football career, but North Carolina fans apparently have two more years of excitement in store for them.

William (Nub) Smith of Wake Forest, former Fayetteville High star, served notice Saturday that he has other talents besides playing the cello, which he does so well in the Wake Forest Little Symphony orchestra.

We've seen Justice a half dozen times in the last two seasons and he was never more exciting than Smith was against William and Mary Saturday.

Here was the swift-footed ball carrier Peahead Walker has been looking for to go along with his power and passing.

The 187-pound tailback was credited with 246 yards on 18 rushes, better than 13 a play, but he must have been good for 200 more that will never show in the books. Nub reversed his field, two or three times on some of his runs, skillfully darting through openings and outracing frantic William and Mary defenders.

Late in the first period he broke loose for 55 yards, longest run of the year for a Deacon back—up to that time. The reason didn't stand up long. In the second quarter Smith twisted and danced his way 74 yards down to the three.

Neither of these runs produced a Smith touchdown, although each set up a score. It was in the final period that he sped 44 yards for a tally, with a bone-crushing block by Bill Gregus eliminating the final obstacle some 10 yards from the goal line.

Ezzard Charles May Again Sign For Title Fight

Los Angeles, Oct. 24—(AP)—Ezzard Charles, now busy with exhibitions, may defend his NBA heavyweight crown again this year.

Manager Jake Miz'z disclosed last night that his fighter may meet Tony Bosnich of San Francisco, in the Bay City next December. He would not say how definite the plans are.

Meantime, Miz'z said Charles will fight 20 exhibitions in Latin America on a six week tour starting late next February provided $100,000 is posted in a United States bank as a guarantee.

Miz'z declared that Pat Shaw, coffee plantation owner of Guatemala City, Guatemala, has made the offer and that a tentative agreement has been signed.

Plans Laid For Class D League

Sumter, S.C., Oct. 24—(AP)—Representatives of seven South Carolina cities and towns laid plans here yesterday for a Class D baseball league.

Points represented were Georgetown, Kingstree, Lake City, Orangeburg, Dillon, Camden and Florence. The meeting was told that Hartsville also was interested in becoming a member of the proposed circuit.

Eleven Killed In Race Car Crash

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Oct. 24—(AP)—A careening race car killed its driver and 10 spectators yesterday during the running of a 500-mile auto race at Rafaela in Santa Fe Province. Eight other persons were injured.

The driver, Italo Bizio, an Argentine, was leading a field of 25 when a steering link apparently broke and threw his car into a spin. He was traveling about 90 miles an hour.

Ragazzo, Dugoff Lead In Scoring

By The Associated Press
George Washington's Al Dugoff and William and Mary's Vito Ragazzo, were all tied up today for the individual pointmaking lead in the Southern Conference.

Dugoff, a fullback, and Ragazzo an end, each had eight touchdowns for a total of 48 points. Billy Cox, Duke halfback, was third with 42 points.

Meanwhile, the Southern Conference championship scramble is locked up in a three-way, tangle between North Carolina's Tar Heels, Duke's Blue Devils and Maryland's Old Liners. Duke and North Carolina have 3 to 0 records and Maryland a 2 to 0 mark. All of the other 13 elevens have been beaten at least one time.

North Carolina, smarting from its first regular season defeat since 1947, entertains Tennessee this week in a non-conference game.

Duke also remaining out of league competition. The Blue Devils, who routed Virginia Tech, 55 to 7, over the weekend, take on Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

Maryland can pull into a tie for the No. 1 position in the league standings by beating South Carolina's unpredictable Gamecocks Saturday at College Park, Maryland.

Railroad Tie-Up Brought To End

St. Louis, Oct. 24—(AP)—Missouri Pacific trains, stalled for 45 days by a strike of operating employees, were scheduled to start rolling again today.

The strike was settled at a meeting of company and union officials yesterday, ending the longest work stoppage on any major road in the nation's history.

The strike ended following submission of a union proposal for settlement of 83 grievances by arbitration under Railway Labor Act and by Railroad Adjustment Board. The nature of the claims and the wishes of the union will determine whether the grievance will be settled under the act or by the board.

Round-Up Time For Greenville Policeman

Greenville police are called on to perform all kinds of services for the public. Today Policeman Joseph Tripp essayed the role of cowboy, with lariat and other round-up equipment to catch a stray horse roaming the streets in the western part of the city. The officer found the animal on the premises of Hill Home, Jr., 1105 West Fourth Street. The horse is now at Savage's Stables, Fifth and Cotanche Streets, waiting for its owner to claim it.

Luke Sewell Named Cincinnati Manager

Cincinnati, Oct. 24—(AP)—Luke Sewell, who led the St. Louis Browns out of baseball's wilderness, today had shouldered the task of trying to do the same thing for the Cincinnati Reds.

Sewell, a veteran major league catcher, yesterday was named manager of the Reds for 1950 and 1951, succeeding Bucky Walters, who was relieved of his duties in the last week of the 1949 season. Sewell was

'Automatic' Toe

Philadelphia, Oct. 22—(AP)—A soft spoken Texan has qualified as the new "toe" of the National football league.

He's 240 pound Cliff Patton of the Philadelphia Eagles who yesterday broke "Automatic" Jack Manders' 11 year old record of 73 consecutive point after touchdowns.

Patton drove seven conversions between the uprights to run his string to 77 as the Eagles downed Washington's Redskins 49-14.

Unbeaten-Untied Ranks Thinning

New York, Oct. 24—(AP)—Nine teams held the thinning line of major unbeaten-untied college football forces today, but the casualty rate is getting terrific.

The season may be lucky to squeeze through with as many perfect elevens as last year when Michigan, California and Clemson alone closed out with spotless records.

California fell later in a bowl game.

Notre Dame and Army, the country's two top-ranking powers, appear good bets to survive the last six weeks of wrangling without mishap and fourth-place Oklahoma may extend its string.

But the other untarnished teams—California, Cornell, Baylor, Pennsylvania, Boston U. and Virginia—have rough seas ahead.

The California Bears may make it if they can get by UCLA, winner of five of its six games, at Los Angeles, Saturday. This is one of the week's feature attractions on a schedule that highlights sectional warfare.

Cornell and Penn meet in the season finale Nov. 24. Baylor has yet to meet the Southwest Titans—Texas, Southern Methodist and Rice. Virginia winds up with Penn, Tulane and North Carolina. Boston U., with a favorably mild schedule, may be sidetracked by Maryland Nov. 12.

Chapter 8

By noon a furniture man had come in from the city. He surveyed the place and shook his head. "Wasn't this insured?"

Arieta thought a moment and then remembered tin signs tacked to both front gate and house. But when they sought them they were gone. "And my sister would have the papers," murmured Arieta.

"Besides," the man said, "there be a time limit set for notification. You haven't any idea when it happened?"

Arieta shook her head. She'd no idea about anything.

"Little Lady," said the furniture man kindly, "you need an attorney to handle these affairs for you."

Arieta glanced at her watch. She remembered the bank. If she hurried she could reach town before it closed.

At two-forty a strange figure strode through the bank aisles, heading for the vice president's office, and after one look he both smiled and frowned.

"You would be Little Chips," he stated.

"How do you know?" she demanded.

"That walk." He bowed to his client and turned his full attention upon Arieta. "You're not moving out, are you?"

"I have moved," she answered stiffly. "Why do you know the condition in which I found the house?"

"Condition?" He ushered her in and seated her. "Well, Doakes is getting old."

"Doakes?" she asked. "Who is Doakes?"

"The caretaker." He seemed surprised. "Your sister left orders he should be kept on. We've been issuing his check. . . . Miss Langtry, your expression."

She told him then of the vandalism, that there had been no sign of a caretaker having been near for more than a year.

He looked at her, puzzled. "Then you haven't been to your safety deposit box? I'm sure you'd find your policies there."

"Been to it"—she flared—"I didn't even know I had one. But before we go further, issue no more checks to Doakes. As for the attorney who'd allow—"

"Now, wait, Miss Langtry. If it hadn't been for Jim Devers' loyalty to your father's memory, you wouldn't have had a house in any condition. He passed away immediately after winning the suit instituted against your heritage. The office force carried on as far as they could, awaiting the return of his son."

"And when does this son return?"

"He's here now. He should be quite capable of representing you."

It was twilight when Arieta left town. She had found "Young Jim" Devers in Arieta could have made a friend of him, but it was Chips he interviewed.

As the rented car lurched along the road she reviewed the encounter. And she accepted his final, "I'm sorry, Miss Langtry. You're not being fair. I advise you to find someone else to represent you."

He had suggested an attorney and she had gone to him and, once there, had burst into angry tears when he had asked her if there was no man in her family to advise her.

"I'll do what I can," he said. "I'll have the insurance adjuster out there tomorrow."

Intent upon her troubles, Arieta drove through the last town without thought of shopping and, too tired to return, drove up to the resort store. For a moment she sat trying to remember what she needed, wishing there were a restaurant nearby, and in that moment she heard the buzz of many voices from the store.

But when she entered the store she stopped as though it had been sliced off. The storekeeper looked at her with cold contempt.

"A quart of milk and a loaf of bread," she stammered.

"What, no caviar?" asked someone in falsetto.

Arieta took the milk and bread and walked slowly out of the store. And as she reached the platform she heard the buzz begin again, but now it was the buzz of angry bees.

What was wrong? What had happened in her absence? Why hadn't she been told? But more than anything, why had she allowed herself to accept the feeble explanations which had been given her?

Surprisingly, daylight brought her joy, a refreshing interest in life. She had something to do, many things to do—a home to rebuild, a mystery to solve. The insurance adjuster arrived early and with him was the attorney, and both exclaimed in dismay at what they saw.

All morning she directed the salvaging of articles to be repaired, or to be set aside for replacement, and at noon, her bottle of milk and sandwich at hand, went out to the wrecked grape arbor to sit in the sun and watch the lake dance far below.

She was deep in dreams of what Cal would find when he came for her, so deep in dreams she believed the voice she heard calling her a part of that dream.

"Chipsie, Chipsie, dearie!"

Involuntarily she looked for a place to hide, then awakened to reality, turned and saw a woman coming toward her, a white-haired woman in a rusty black coat, a basket over her arm.

"Well, if it isn't Chipsie," she declared as Arieta arose. "Why, dearie, you don't remember me," she cried reproachfully. "I'm Mrs. Cotsen. Mother Cotsen you used to call me."

"Oh," Arieta's lips framed the start of surprise, then graciously. "Of course, you live in the cottage on the west bank."

"I came up the minute I heard you were here. Even tried a chicken for you. Heard you were a-bachin'. Well, my goodness"—she pushed aside broken vines and found a place for herself and her basket—

"If you haven't grown up to be a real lady. But I don't think you look stuck up."

"Stick up?" Arieta, relieved at finding someone friendly, laughed.

"Well, of course, having lived such a life, a body would expect you to be. Having lunch? You could do justice to a drumstick, maybe?"

"Having lived on my own cooking for a few days, I most certainly could," she agreed.

"Not aiming to stay, are you?" asked the friendly voice.

"Indeed I am," Arieta answered, "at least for a little while."

The white head shook. "I heard the house was in an awful state," she confided.

"You mean you haven't seen it?"

"No, dearie, I've only been up once since your father was murdered."

Winter radishes may be stored just as are turnips, but they do not keep as well. That is, they can be put in a cool vegetable cellar or buried outdoors.

The recent purge of thousands of Czechs by the Prague government. 5. The effect of the recent announcement of a Russian atomic explosion on general over-all policy toward Eastern Europe. 6. How to combat the anti-American propaganda drive of the Soviet group.

In order to understand this new point one must know that the country is possessed of a very strong national conscience. I myself have encountered striking examples of powerful moral and spiritual convictions in various parts of the British Isles. In many places you find an austerity which sustains such beliefs as the one that the epic withdrawal of the British forces from the sands of Dunkerque at the outset of the great war was the result of a miracle. In the darkest hour of that tragedy the king called on the nation for prayers. These were offered, and they say a mist descended over Dunkerque to cover the retreat.

This week state department people start talking with representatives of those eight countries which need arms. They'll talk here in Washington and draw up agreements. The eight must agree to a number of things, under the law passed by Congress, before we can send them arms. For example: 1. That they'll use our arms in accordance with the terms of the law. 2. That they won't hand over any of our arms to another country, without our permission. 3. That they'll keep secret anything we send them in cases where we want secrecy. Sec. of Defense Johnson says any western European country with a Communist in its cabinet will get no arms aid or military secrets. 4. That in turn they'll furnish us—or any of the other eight—such assistance as we or they require. For example: we might want Belgium to give us certain kinds of raw material in return for our help. 3. Brand new material—Some of the equipment we'll send Europe will be brand new. We'll have to get that made. The rest of the $1,000,000 fund will be used for that. This week state department people start talking with representatives of those eight countries which need arms. They'll talk here in Washington and draw up agreements. The eight must agree to a number of things, under the law passed by Congress, before we can send them arms. For example: 1. That they'll use our arms in accordance with the terms of the law. 2. That they won't hand over any of our arms to another country, without our permission. 3. That they'll keep secret anything we send them in cases where we want secrecy. Sec. of Defense Johnson says any western European country with a Communist in its cabinet will get no arms aid or military secrets. 4. That in turn they'll furnish us—or any of the other eight—such assistance as we or they require. For example: we might want Belgium to give us certain kinds of raw material in return for our help. Four varieties of trout inhabit streams and lakes of New Mexico.
