Consider Lessons Of House Hearing

Sec. Johnson And Civilian Chiefs Of Three Armed Services Hold Huddle Prior To Scheduled Meeting Of Joint Chiefs Of Staff This Afternoon

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Defense Secretary Johnson held a huddle today with the civilian chiefs of the three armed services on "lessons to be learned" from the House committee hearings on the growing feud among the services.

With Johnson at the meeting was Navy Secretary Francis Matthews, Deputy Secretary of Defense Stephen Early also took part.

However, Army Secretary Gordon Gray and Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington were both out of the city. They were represented by Acting Army Secretary Tracy Voorhes and acting Air Secretary Eugene Zuckert.

The announcement of the meeting preceded by only a few minutes a scheduled visit to the White House by Johnson and Matthews.

The announcement of the huddle was cryptic. It said only:

"Secretary of Defense Johnson met with Deputy Secretary of Defense, the secretaries and acting secretaries of the army, navy and air forces, and the assistant secretaries of defense today for a general discussion of the lessons to be learned as a result of the hearings of the House armed services committee concluded last week. There is nothing further to be said at this time."

The assistant secretaries of defense are Wilfred McNeil and Marx Leva.

Hurry-up calls went out to Puerto Rico, meanwhile to get the air force's Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg back to Washington for the first regular meeting of the joint chiefs of staff since their public row over unification.

The meeting itself was put off from 9 a. m. the scheduled hour, to 2 p. m. in the hope that Vandenberg could fly here in time.

An air force official said Vandenberg had gone to Puerto Rico for a conference with Air Force Secretary Symington who was on the island.

The military heads of the other services—Gen. J. Lawton Collins of the army and Adm. Louis Denfield of the navy—were in the capital.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, and other defense officials were reported anxious to have all the top men present in view of the public attention that has been given inter-service squabbles.

They were principals in the session-packed house investigation of military policy.

Denfield was one of a parade of admirals who told the House armed services committee that sea power is being weakened in the Pentagon, to the detriment of national defense.

Bids Opened On Road Projects

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Highway Commission today opened bids on 26 road projects—including 16 to be built under the $200,000,000 rural road program.

The projects call for improving 302 miles of road under the rural road program and 84 miles under the regular highway program.

The commission will meet Friday to study the bids.

New Imports For U. S.

Marshall Plan Officials Believe World Trade Is Out Of Balance And More Imports From Other Countries Required; Making Europe Healthy Our Greatest Interest

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Officials of the Marshall plan—the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA)—have just said a few things about Europe and made some suggestions.

Over the week-end ECA issued a 227-page report, the results of studies here and abroad by specialists of ECA and the department of commerce. The studies began months ago.

This country has been pouring billions of dollars into Europe to help it get healthy. This can't continue indefinitely. "The government help all means money out of your pocket in the taxes you pay."

Longest Parade Ever Staged In City Is Planned

Armistice Day Marchers Expected To Extend In Line Well Over Mile Long

What is expected to be one of the longest parades in Greenville's history is being planned by the local American Legion and VFW organizations in connection with the Armistice Day celebration here November 11.

Members of the arrangements committee have announced that Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray and Congressman Herbert Bonner will be the principal speakers at the day's ceremonies.

Sherman Parks, chairman of the Armistice Day parade committee, said this morning a parade between a mile and one and one-half miles long has been arranged for the celebration. Included in the parade, Parks said, will be the 81st airborne division band, one infantry company and one battery of field artillery from Fort Bragg, the East Carolina Teachers College band, the Greenville high school band, the Farmville high school band, the Epps high school band, the Greenville National Guard unit, the ROTC unit at ECTC, and members of the local VFW, American Legion and Boy and Girl Scout organizations.

The parade will begin at 10:30 on Dickinson Avenue and follow a route down Dickinson Avenue to Washington Street, on Washington Street to Third Street, then on Evans Street to Five Points, and from there on Fifth Street to the ECTC stadium where the ceremonies will be held.

The ceremonies at the college stadium are scheduled to begin at 11:30, and will be followed by a barbecue luncheon on the ECTC campus.

The military heads of the other services—Gen. J. Lawton Collins of the army and Adm. Louis Denfield of the navy—were in the capital.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, and other defense officials were reported anxious to have all the top men present in view of the public attention that has been given inter-service squabbles.

Holy City Issue Is Again Before United Nations

Lake Success, Oct. 25 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council takes up today the disputed question of demilitarizing Jerusalem.

The U. N. assembly nearly a year ago ordered the council to try to get Arab and Israeli armed forces out of the Holy City and Egypt has proposed that the council now take some action.

Egypt is a member of the Security Council. Israel is not, but its permanent delegate, Aubrey Eban, got permission beforehand to appear before the council and make a statement.

Israel has announced that it would resist making an international city of Jerusalem. Its officials have promised, however, that the state would guard and give free access to the religious shrines of the three great religions—Christian, Moslem and Hebrew—situated there.

To Rapidly Push Rural Road Work

Raleigh, Oct. 25 (AP)—With winter approaching, the State Highway Commission announced it will push its rural roads program "as rapidly as possible."

Highway Commission Chairman Henry W. Jordan made that announcement yesterday. His statement followed by two days the dismissal of a court suit against the commission by one of the state's biggest road contractors.

Political Storm Strikes Attlee Over Economics

Large Sections Of His Own Party Let Down By Small Budget Reduction

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee hit a political storm today as a whirlwind of charges he was too timid with economics meant to keep Britain from going broke.

Even large sections of his own labor party were let down by the plan Attlee discussed before the House of Commons yesterday: A plan to whittle 200,000,000 pounds—or eight per cent—from the country's 2,200,000,000 budget.

For two weeks the nation had been built up to expect a really drastic laboring. When it came, conservative leader Winston Churchill summed up the reaction of many: "Is it adequate to the need in which we stand?"

It seemed likely Churchill would again demand a quick election to let the people give judgment on the socialist regime.

Many political observers judged that Attlee himself had suffered a damaging blow in political prestige.

Laborite criticism rified through a caucus of the party's legislators this morning. Its results were unknown, but Attlee previously has been able to whistle rebels to heel.

Some of his opponents saw political motives in his failure to swing the economy axe wider. Attlee must call an election before his five-year term expires next July.

The Prime Minister called for a vote of confidence in his government—the second in a month. The vote will come Thursday night, after a two-day debate on his new program.

There seemed little doubt Attlee would win it. Whatever their criticisms of him, the Laborites also are practical politicians, and the Socialist regime would fall if the Labor majority withheld its support on the budget issue.

Attlee's economies were designed largely to stem inflation feared as a result of the devaluation of the pound from $4.05 to $2.80 last month.

Coal Talk Today May End Effort

Federal Intervention Expected To Follow If No Contract

Bluefield, W. Va., Oct. 25 (AP)—Operators and John L. Lewis' union negotiators gathered here today for what could be their last contract talk before federal intervention in the soft coal strike.

Neither the United Mine Workers nor the Southern Coal Producers Association bargaining teams had any real hopes that a basis for ending the five-week-old strike would come out of their conference.

The SCPA represents about 97,000,000 tons of annual production—one sixth of the country's bituminous coal output. It is the only group still holding formal contract talks with the UMW.

There were clear indications that the next real development in the strike that is beginning to pinch the nation's economy would come from Washington.

Cyrus H. Ching, federal mediation service director, is believed to be ready to turn his attention again to the coal dispute.

He sent both sides back to the bargaining table early this month after getting Lewis and all operator groups together for a short time in Washington.

Northern and western operators representing about one-half the annual production, walked out on their talks with the UMW on Friday.

They said Lewis was impoverishing their employees and that he showed a willingness to "destroy the coal industry."

SCPA members, in concert with those of other operator groups, say they see no settlement in sight.

Union officials, however, have given out more optimistic statements.

Confirm A-Bomb Expansion Plans Are In Making

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission confirmed today it is planning a $300,000,000 expansion of its atom bomb making facilities.

Of this amount, the commission said, $250,000,000 would be used for the atomic program and $50,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority group to supply power to meet future requirements at atomic plants here.

The commission's statement, which it said was in response to inquiries, confirmed earlier reports from Washington of the proposed expansion.

The announcement said President Truman has authorized the commission to use $300,000,000 of its presently appropriated funds to start expanding production capacity at Oak Ridge and Hanford, Wash.

CIO Considers Drop Left-Wing

Executive Board Convenes Today; President Murray Indicates Desire To Retain As Many As Possible Within Ranks

Cleveland, Oct. 25 (AP)—The CIO executive board met today to decide whether the CIO deliberately is to rid itself of 1,000,000 members under left-wing union leadership.

The answer almost certainly would be an anxious "no"—if there is any way to woo left wing followers away from the rebellious forces.

The CIO has a maximum of 6,000,000 members, and President Philip Murray indicated he wants to keep as many of those under his banner as possible.

But the so-called left-wing movement, spearheaded by a team of resourceful leaders in the United Electrical Workers (UE), and by a canny Harry Bridges of the International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, was expected to put up a serious challenge.

Murray's involvement in an economy-rending strike of 558,000 steelworkers muddled the left-right war which has plagued the CIO for months.

The once clear-cut lines between the left-wing and anti-Communist right-wing forces in the CIO were somewhat confused by Murray's pressing desire for a settlement in the 25-day-old steel strike.

The UE executive board in New York voted to throw its financial resources behind both the steel and coal strikes—following the earlier idea of John L. Lewis.

The steel strike was described yesterday by Murray as his number one interest. He said that the CIO

Price System On Jap Exports End

MacArthur Bolsters Sales Abroad; Big Stockpiles

Tokyo, Oct. 25 (AP)—General MacArthur today abolished floor prices under Japanese export, effective tomorrow.

The price system has been in effect since August, 1947, when Japan resumed private trade. It was designed to maintain export prices at world market levels and to prevent "dumping" of goods abroad in the prewar pattern.

The order will apply to all exports immediately except silk and silk next Jan. 1. Silk prices have been guaranteed until Dec. 31.

In his directive, MacArthur made the Japanese government responsible for guarding against unfair commercial practices by Japanese exporters.

The occupation commander told the Japanese their pricing procedures should be based on the principle of setting export prices at no less than prices on the domestic market. For products not sold in Japan, he said, it should be based on cost plus handling and a reasonable profit.

Some Japanese business men have long favored elimination of the floor prices. They believe the action will pave the way for Japan to move the stockpiles of goods already manufactured by selling them anywhere in the world for whatever the stuff will command. They predict that eventually the Japanese cost of living will decline so that Japanese factories using cheap labor can compete with any nation.

Bishops Accede To Czech Church Control Measure

Prague, Oct. 25 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic bishops backed down in the bitter church-state fight today and told their priests to swear loyalty to the communist-led government to stay out of jail.

The Catholic hierarchy told the priests they may accept their salaries from the state and swear loyalty to the government—a move they had fought so bitterly in recent weeks that some 300 priests have been reported arrested.

The bishop's new stand, declaring that they still "regretted" the recent enactment of the church control law, was expressed in a statement to the nation's 7,000 Catholic priests and made available to Western newspapermen. The bishop said they were allowing priests to comply with the law because they would be open to arrest and prosecution if they did not.

Communist Minister of Justice Alexej Cepicka has declared that anyone who opposed the new law would be "broken as an enemy of the state." The new law, which gives the government control of appointments, finances and administration of all churches, was passed by parliament Oct. 14 and becomes effective Nov. 1.

The bishop's statement to the priests said: "If you accept you do so only because of the pressure of external circumstances. It is necessary to defend you against possible consequences and save you for the spiritual care of the faithful."

Crazed Farmer Shoots Up Two Taverns; Kills Self

Waterford, Mich., Oct. 25 (AP)—A crazed, middle-aged farmer shot up two taverns last night, then killed himself after wounding ten persons.

On a mad spree with a shotgun, Joe Runyon, 57, terrorized this sleepy little resort village in a be-grudging farewell to the world.

Two of his victims, both women, were critically wounded. Tramping back and forth across a street, Runyon fired seven or eight charges from a 12-gauge shotgun through windows of the two taverns, witnesses said.

At the end of a violent 10 or 12 minutes, he walked a short distance up the street and fired a final charge through his own chest.

This was the last in a series of rapid reloadings. Runyon's gun was a single-shot weapon.

Terror Stalking Behind 'Curtain'

Executions Field Day In Spy-Conscious East Europe

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The executioner stalks through spy-conscious Communist Eastern Europe these days.

In a single day three countries—Romania, Hungary and Czechoslovakia—announced yesterday they had executed or sentenced to death 15 persons for espionage or other subversive activities.

More than a score of other persons were sentenced to prison terms ranging up to life.

And nobody knew how many trials were going on in secret with their verdicts not yet announced.

Hungary's hangman executed four persons.

Two of them, Lieut. Gen. Gyorgi Palfy, formerly Hungary's highest ranking army officer, and Police Col. Bela Korondy, were codefendants of the late Laslo Rajk, former Hungarian foreign minister, who was executed a fortnight earlier for espionage and treason. The government had accused all of them of plotting with Yugoslav and American agents to overthrow their country's Red regime.

Romania sentenced seven persons to death and 18 others to long prison terms for "terroristic subversive activities."

In Czechoslovakia, where police roundups recently have thrown thousands of persons into prisons and forced labor camps, the state court last night sentenced four persons to death, four to life imprisonment, and an unstated number to prison terms ranging from four to 25 years.

They were charged with espionage and terroristic activities.

Sewing Shop Is Badly Damaged By Fire Today

A fire this morning at about nine o'clock did considerable damage to a sewing shop located on South Alamy in Greenville, operated by Lee Bowling.

The contents of the building, a cement block structure with a tar-covered roof, was nearly a total loss.

Origin of the blaze was not determined, but an electric iron was found connected near the place where the fire was believed to have started. A quantity of clothing was nearby.

The fire had a good start when the firemen arrived on the scene, but was brought under control after about twenty minutes.

A house located next to the building was slightly damaged when the flames through a broken window into the house.

AEC Leadership Again Target Of Republican Fire.

Atomic Energy Committee Minority Charges Waste, Indecisive Approach

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Republicans posted a declaration today to the Atomic Energy Commission that "leisurely, wasteful or incompetent" administration of the nation's atomic program can not be tolerated.

The stand was expressed in a statement signed by six minority members of the joint congressional atomic energy committee. The six demanded "bolder, speedier, and more effective development" of the program to maintain the "pre-eminence" of the United States in atomic weapons.

The statement was issued late yesterday in answer to a majority report of the committee. Both reports were follow-ups to an investigation of charges of "incredible mismanagement" directed against the AEC by Senator Hickenlooper, (R-Iowa).

The majority report, signed by the 10 Democratic members of the joint Senate-House committee, cleared the AEC and its chairman, David E. Lilienthal, who was Hickenlooper's principal target.

The minority report attacked the commission on three counts—progress, security and management. It was signed by Hickenlooper, former joint committee chairman and now ranking GOP member; Senators Millikin (R-Colo.) and Knowland (R-Calif.), and Reps. Cole (R-N.Y.), Eason (R-Ohio) and Van Zandt (R-Pa.).

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), now recuperating at his home in Michigan, did not participate in either report. Rep. Hinshaw (R-Calif.) reportedly is preparing a summary of his own views.

The minority report shied away from the charge of "incredible mismanagement" and administration, and "equivocation" used by Hickenlooper in his original blast last May 22.

But the minority members did accuse the commission of waste, "loosely administered" security measures and a leisurely and indecisive approach to major projects.

The criticism of security brought an angry retort from Dr. Harold C. Urey, one of the nation's foremost atomic scientists.

"I take the most violent exception to this security charge," he told a reporter in Rochester, N.Y. "This secrecy business is hampering our atomic energy development."

Freezing Cold In Southern Plains After Big Rain

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezing cold, hitting the Southern Plains today, following heavy rains which took at least three lives and damaged the cotton crop at harvest time.

Even lower temperatures moved into the Northeast and Midwest after the season's first snows fell at several points.

In the Texas Panhandle, Dalhart reported an early morning low of 26 degrees. Elk City, Okla., had the season's lowest, 29, after two days' rain which delayed the cotton harvest but helped other crops.

Thousands of geese were sighted in the chilly Midwest. They were making their annual southward migration from Canada, following a recent cold snap in the Far North.

'Domestic Point Four' Advocated

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) called today for "a domestic point four" instead of President Truman's renewed proposal for government protection on U. S. investments abroad.

"I'd much rather see a domestic point four," the Colorado senator told reporters. "We had better start taking some of the handicaps off capital at home, by incentive tax reductions and other methods, before we go into that field abroad."

Tito Awaiting Attack

Yugoslav Dictator Knows Kremlin Building Up Forces For His Downfall, And He's Ready; Guerrilla Campaign; Border Violations; Army Adequate For Needs

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The fierce quarrel between Moscow and the politically rebellious Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia seems to be mounting to a crisis.

Precisely how the Kremlin intends to apply the screws is still a matter of conjecture. However, Masha Pijade, member of the Yugoslav Politburo, appears to have summed the matter up in very moderate terms indeed when he told his people Sunday that "we are steadily sailing in danger."

Activities of Russia and her satellites seem to support unconfirmed reports reaching the American State Department that the satellites, with Soviet backing, are planning a guerrilla campaign against Tito. This would be patterned after the Communist war which was waged against Greece so long but now has been suspended, perhaps because of impending action against Yugoslavia.

The idea of such a guerrilla offensive would be to establish a base inside Yugoslavia and inspire a revolt among Yugoslavs. This base would serve as the capital of a new Red Republic.

In short, Tito ostensibly would be overthrown by a rebellion from within his own country. Once his regime was disposed of Yugoslavia would again become a loyal follower of Moscow.

So far as Moscow is concerned it has made no secret of its intention to crack down on Tito in due course. Many of its moves have been made quite openly.

As far back as October 3 the Marshal told his army officers that Russia had been "forging its iron" against Yugoslavia. This was at the conclusion of Yugoslav army maneuvers and Tito, obviously pleased with their success, declared to his men:

"We are prepared to defend this country until the last breath, regardless of whence the attack comes, x x x No one has the right, regardless of who he may be, to endanger a small people."

The middle of this month the Yugoslav government accused neighboring Romania of frequent violations of the Yugoslav border and airspace, and of attempts to "provoke armed incidents and unrest." Similar notes were sent about the same time to Russia, Bulgaria and Hungary.

Then on October 19 the Yugoslav

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
October 25, 1909

There is no better time than now for some men of means to get interested in the establishment of a flour mill, and for the farmers to be planning to sow wheat. At the present high price of flour there is no denying that the farmers can raise wheat and have it ground into flour much cheaper than they can buy it. There is plenty of good wheat land in Pitt county and the farmers can grow it successfully, but to get them to do this there should be a good mill at which flour can be made.

Says Interest Is Scouting 'Must'

W. L. (Bill) Draper, for 25 years scoutmaster at Rocky Mount, told some 25 Pitt District scout leaders last night that in order to be a successful scoutmaster one must have patience, interest and sympathy with boys of Boy Scout age.

Scoutmasters must be willing to see their boys at all times, not only on meeting nights but any time they need help. Draper said as he spoke at the second scoutmasters training session held in the Presbyterian Church.

Draper spoke on the organization and leadership of a boy scout troop. He pointed out to the group that the success of a troop depended largely on the cooperation of the sponsoring organization.

Jack Hogarth, field executive from Kinston, presided at the meeting last night.

Included on the program was a demonstration of scout skills by Henry S. Wood, scoutmaster of the Meadowbrook Presbyterian church troop. Kelley Abeyounis of Bethel, gave a demonstration on scout games.

The session was opened by Joe G. Jenkins of Greenville.

The Pitt District includes boy scout troops from all of Pitt County with the exception of Farmville.

President Ernul Willis presided with Larry Averette acting as master of ceremonies. Dr. E. B. Aycock welcomed the ladies.

Following a delicious chicken dinner the members of the club and their wives were treated to a musical program directed by Dr. Dan Vornholt of the East Carolina Teachers faculty.

Sam Bundy, a past governor of the Kiwanis organization in North Carolina and principal of the Farmville High School, was guest speaker. Bundy who is well known in this part of the state as a after-dinner speaker, provided a program of merriment which kept the audience rocking with laughter. A past president of the club, Frank M. Brown, stated that the program put on by Bundy was one that will long be remembered.

Orren E. Dowd, deputy district governor of the North Carolina Lions, presented E. Withers Harvey, with an emblem in recognition of 10 years of regular attendance. Harvey is a past president of the Greenville Lions club and a past district deputy.

Mitchell Saleed, Junior Lion from Greenville High School, was present at the meeting.

Prizes donated from various merchants in town were presented to several ladies present.

Betro-Scheller
Miss Evelyn Harriet Scheller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Gerhard Scheller, 37 Kenmore street, Newton Center, Mass., and Greenville, N. C., became the bride of Mr. Gerald John Betro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Betro, 10 Charles Street, Walpole, Mass., on October 15 in a candlelight ceremony in the Union Church, Wabau, Mass. Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald was the officiating minister.

The altar of the church was banked with white fall flowers and ferns. The pews were marked with white flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of ivory satin with off shoulder sweetheart neckline. The full skirt with medium train had a panel of lace picked up with seed pearls. Her veil of illusion was caught to a scalloped band of ivory satin. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and a spray of orchids.

The mother of the groom was attired in a teal blue dinner gown. She wore a corsage of pale lavender orchids.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at The Hampshire House in Boston.

After a motor trip through the New England states, Mr. and Mrs. Betro will be at home in Newton Center, Mass.

For traveling the bride changed to a forest green Claire McDonald dress, a chinchilla great coat, dark green velvet beret, cobra bag and shoes in green and white kid gloves. Her corsage was a green orchid.

The bride attended Wellesley college and was graduated from Katherine Gibbs school in Boston. She is a member of Wellesley College Club.

Mr. Betro was graduated from Northeastern university and attended Florence University, Florence, Italy. He is an accountant by profession and a member of Gamma Phi Kappa.

Strength FOR THE DAY

HE SURE MADE A HIT
 Many years ago in Chicago, as the venerable Bishop Cheney was walking to church one winter morning, a snowball whirled through the air and knocked his hat into a snowbank. Turning about, the churchman saw an urchin scurrying for shelter. He called to the boy to stop and come back, and much to his surprise the boy did so. The good-natured bishop then proposed that inasmuch as he had furnished the boy a target for practice, the boy return the favor and accompany him to Sunday school.

The youngster, with two other boys, sold papers on the edge of a tough district, and he found the Sunday school far different from what he had been used to. However, little by little he caught the cordial spirit of the place, and within a few years was one of the outstanding young men of the church. But he could never persuade his two buddies to go with him to Sunday school, and both in later years came to tragic ends.

But the lad who took such good aim at the bishop's hat is now a physician whose fame has really gone through the whole medical profession. And he often avers that it was the bishop's understanding many years ago of a mischievous boy's heart which turned him from prison bars to professional fame.

PAVING THE ROADS

Today marks the beginning of the hard-surfacing of Pitt county roads under the state's $200,000,000 road building program. Work was begun this morning on the Winterville-Black Jack road.

For the first phase of the program Pitt county has received an allocation of 55.65 miles of hard-surfaced roads and an additional $100,000 to be used in converting bad dirt roads into all-weather roads.

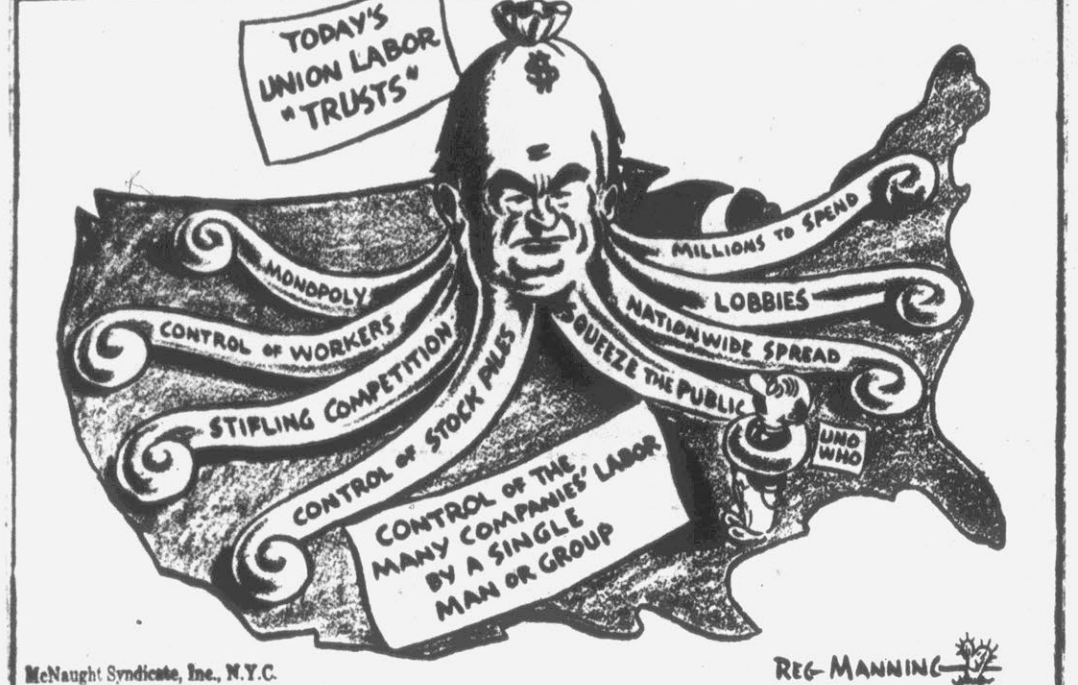

The allocation of paving for the twelve counties of the second highway division totals 439.26 miles, ranging from 62.6 miles which was allotted to Beaufort county to 16.9 miles for Tyrrell.

In Pitt county the hard-surfacing planned in the phase of the road program will pave approximately 10 per cent of the dirt school bus routes now traveled daily in the county. Just how much hard-surfaced roads the county will receive from the entire program has not yet been determined by the highway commission, or just what part of the total work is included in the "first phase" of the program has not been made clear by the officials.

While the details of the overall program for Pitt county and the second division have not been released, Commissioner Hargett has said that he eventually expects "some improvement" on all of the "most important county roads in the division."

With the work now getting underway in this county and district, the highway officials should re-dedicate themselves to the task of seeing that the people of North Carolina get a dollar's value received for every dollar which is spent on the state's road program.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Material for this column has been stolen from many places, but never before today has anything come from the "Reader's Digest." The reason: the Digest is the most widely-read magazine in America. Its circulation is over nine million. (The nearest competitor, "Life," has a circulation of over five million.) My reason for not using Digest articles is that too many people have already read them. But today, for the benefit of Better Food for Greenville Housewives, I have broken that precedent.

The tale begins last December, when Wife Rachel and I were living in Chapel Hill. I read a Digest article entitled "MSG Means More Flavor," which described an old Oriental seasoning agent with the chemical name "monosodium glutamate," abbreviated MSG.

The seasoning looks like granulated sugar. Some day it will be a part of the American dining room, like salt and pepper. A little MSG sprinkled on any food, with the exception of sweets, increases the flavor to the extent that the restaurant customers vow that there's a new cook in the kitchen. MSG makes the taste buds of the tongue more sensitive, thereby makes steak taste steakier, beans more beanier. While it increases the flavor, it doesn't change it.

A large Chicago printing concern that serves 7,000 workers a day in its cafeteria began using MSG last year. The manager reported amazing results. The customers were overwhelmed at the sudden change in the food.

A pinch of MSG on your tongue tastes slightly salty, but this taste leaves when the seasoning is combined with foods. Neither cooking, canning nor freezing weakens its ability to bring up flavor. One of MSG's nearest tricks is to make vegetables that have simmered several hours on the stove taste freshly cooked. It will do the same for vegetables that have boiled too long. And it will work just as well on a bite of food just before you put it into your mouth.

MSG doesn't work on everything. Sweet baked goods and dairy products other than cheese aren't benefited by it. It also doesn't work with cola drinks, where a lingering flavor isn't such judges and solicitors as must enter a contest filing time ends March 17. That is less than five months away. For legislative and county offices the closing date is four weeks later, April 14.

INTEREST—As these dates approach (more rapidly than many people realize) interest on state level centers in the United States senate. For first time in history the people will nominate two senators at the same time. It is generally regarded as certain that William B. Umstead of Durham, former senator, will challenge Senator Frank Graham for the unexpired term to which he was appointed upon death of Senator J. M. Broughton last March, although Umstead has not announced his candidacy. It is regarded as practically certain that Senator Clyde Hoey will have opposition, but identity of his opponent is problematical.

Retirement of Congressman A. L. Bulwinkle of the eleventh district makes a multiple race there certain. Frank W. Howell, Yancey school superintendent, has tentatively announced. Solicitor Basil Whitener and C. C. Hamilton of Gaston are prospects, as is Rep. Woodrow Jones of Rutherford. There may be contests in other congressional districts, but to date the eleventh offers the only vacancy. On county level, with state implications, there is growing interest in the next general assembly. In all of these races, from senate down, there will be involvements affecting the current state administration headed by Governor Kerr Scott.

ISSUES—There will be positive issues in the senatorial races along general lines of progressive-conservatism and ultra-liberalism, with Senator Graham being recognized liberal. Because he was appointed to the senate by Governor Scott, the governor will give him full support and he will be the beneficiary or victim, as the case may be, of the Scott administration record in the state at time of the primary. Campaigns for the general assembly will also be largely influenced by the state administration, although major issues may be local.

PURGE?—There is accumulating evidence that the Scott administration may be on the defensive by next spring, and that instead of attempting to purge legislators who did not go all the way with the Scott "Go Forward" program in the last session, the administration efforts will be directed to holding what they've got. Rumbblings and grumblings about application of the road and school bond moneys are heard more frequently than a few weeks ago. The term "pork barrel" is coming into Tar Heel political parlance for the first time in many years.

big factor in the next state political campaign. A mild winter will substantially aid the Scott forces. Re-entailment of 1917-18 or 1945-46 winter weather will occasion a lot of resentment over failure of the highway commission to deliver the much promised all-weather roads.

SIGN—Another warning sign that North Carolina sales tax receipts may continue declining is found in report of the federal reserve board, as quoted in the retail advertising memo of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. Department store sales for the week ending October 15 were 13 percent below the comparable week last year. The drop was heaviest in the Cleveland bank area where it was 21 percent. The Richmond bank area showed 11 percent decline and the Atlanta area 10 percent. For the four weeks ending October 15 the national average was down 10 percent, while for the year to date it is 6 percent off. That indicates a progressive decline.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
 New York—(AP)—Gaining weight with many women is a matter of self-indulgence and losing it is a matter of self-torture.

But with Fay Suskind putting on pounds and then taking them off is a matter of business. She is paid to do it.

Miss Suskind, a pretty, dark-eyed girl with a fine background and a splendid foreground, has one of the oddest jobs in an odd civilization. She is a human gun-a pig for the mechanical massage industry.

"It is my job to test the reducing equipment," she said as we sat in the anteroom of one of the Macleary Ste. derling saloons where she acts also as gym supervisor.

"Three or four times a year I put on as much weight as I can, and then take it off with massage rollers."

"We have machines for every place you want to reduce—calves, hips, arms, back, waist or thighs.

I test each machine by taking weight off myself."

She keeps an elaborate chart during the whole process—showing the changes in her own measurements as she builds her weight up, then takes it off.

We went into the gym, which was full of strange instruments and resembled a medieval torture chamber. There were two fat lady customers present. One was bent over a machine that kept thumping her in the stomach mildly with a series of wooden rollers.

The second fat lady was harnessed in a gadget that kept rolling several tightly clamped elastic wire springs up and down her thighs.

"Does it tickle?" I asked.

"Oh, no, indeed," she said. "It feels rather good."

I took her word for it.

Both plump ladies looked with a sigh of envy at shapely Miss Suskind, whose weight is now in the downward cycle. She explained that the most she had ever got her weight up to 125 pounds, but that now she was down to 105—and still losing.

"I can put on as much as twelve pounds in four weeks by eating candy and starchy things like spaghetti, noodles and mashed potatoes," she said. "When I'm gaining I always go to bed with a full stomach and get lots of sleep."

This system is harder on her husband than it is on her.

"He really doesn't like me to gain pounds and then taking them off is a matter of business. She is paid to do it."

He's underweight himself. He gets everything fattening to eat and has beer at every meal—and still he doesn't put on an ounce."

One aspect of Fay's job might make it attractive to many women. She finds it necessary to maintain two complete wardrobes—one for the upstage, one for the downbeat.

"The advantage of mechanical massage," she said, "is that it enables women to remove fat from any part of the body they desire. It gives them control over their physical controls."

The trouble with having to test different reducing machines, however, is that sometimes Fay may be required to slim her calves to Betty Grable size while leaving her hips in a Venus De Milo proportion.

"But it is only temporary," she said. "As soon as I have completed the test, they let me get back into shape all over."

All the patrons of slenderizing saloons today aren't merely anxious to melt away blubber.

"In case it interests you," she said, "we can build up the bust, too. Many women now are interested in that."

Tired Of Whistling, Canary Tries Talking

Bunbury, Australia—(AP)—Apparently getting fed up with whistling, a male canary has learned to talk, reports the Australia News Bureau. Vocabulary so far is limited to two words—"pretty boy"—but enunciation is improving. The trick was picked up from a parrot in a nearby cage.

The bird is owned by 16-year-old Joe Flynn.

Stray Dog Shortage And SPCA Hampers Research

Baltimore, Oct. 25—(AP)—Baltimore's medical schools are running short of dogs for experimental purposes.

They want to get the unwanted strays now put to death by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

But the SPCA says the dogs will not be turned over to the doctors if it can help it.

The doctors have asked for a public hearing on the question before the city renews for 1950 its contract with the SPCA.

This is one of the world's medical centers, and important research is always in progress at the Johns Hopkins and University of Maryland medical schools.

The eight doctors who asked the Board of Estimates, the city's money-handling adjunct, for a hearing, said the current dog shortage is hampering heart disease and stomach ulcer research.

They said in their letter that no dog would suffer.

Miss Mary B. Shearer, president of the SPCA, said last night that her group is unalterably opposed to the proposition.

"We feel that a small body of people have no right to disturb and disorganize a useful public service," she said.

When asked if the SPCA was opposed to the use of stray dogs for medical research, Miss Shearer said:

"I would rather not answer that."

Signing the letter to the Board of Estimates were the deans of the two medical schools, the heads of all the city medical societies and the director of the state Department of Health.

Fourth Victim In Rail Accident

Kinston, Oct. 25—(AP)—The collision of a railroad locomotive and a section crew's rail scooter claimed its fourth victim today.

Elijah Waters, the fourth Negro member of the section crew that was riding the scooter when the locomotive hit it, died in a Kinston hospital early today.

The accident occurred near Dover early Monday. The engineer, Linwood S. Potter, said dense smoke from a sawdust fire billowed across the tracks, preventing his seeing the scooter.

Special Judge Will Preside Over Civil Term Superior Court

After next week's term of mixed Superior Court, only two more sessions of the court will be held this year.

A civil term will be held the week of November 21. Judge William T. Hatch of Raleigh will preside by assignment of Governor Scott.

Judge John J. Burney of Wilmington will preside over the special two-week criminal term of Superior Court to be convened in Greenville Monday, November 28.

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners requested Governor Scott to order the special term to help reduce the unusually heavy criminal docket.

Find 'Lost City'

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—A "lost city"—believed to have had almost 100,000 population at the time of the Crusades—has been found in the "Desert of Death" in Afghanistan.

The houses, fountains, aqueducts and irrigation ditches are mostly intact, although only remnants of the surrounding wall remain.

The find was announced yesterday by Walter A. Fairserria, of the Anthropology Department of the American Museum of Natural History.

He said at a news conference that the "lost city" is believed to be Peshawaran.

The city was discovered by the first American archaeological expedition to Afghanistan, from which Fairserria recently returned.

He said he believes a sudden change of climate made a desert area of the city, which is six miles long and five miles wide.

Fewer Accidents In Era Of Speed

New York, N. Y.—Life in America is much safer in today's era of airplanes and speeding motor cars than it was some four decades ago when the country was emerging from the horse-and-buggy age, the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company report.

As evidence it is pointed out that during the period of 1911-1915 deaths from accidents were occurring at the age-adjusted rate of 81 per 100,000, whereas in 1946-1948 the incidence was only a little more than half as frequent—43 per 100,000. These figures are for the experience among the millions of Metropolitan industrial policyholders.

Only two major classifications of fatal accidents have shown an increase among the insured—automobile mishaps, which are more than 3 1/4 times as frequent, and deaths in burning buildings and other fires, which have increased in frequency by 50 percent. Drownings have declined by 87 percent and fatal falls by 90 percent. Fatalities due to burns and scalds are only about one fifth as frequent.

The improvement in the accident fatality record is due in part, according to the statisticians, to the modernization of homes, the introduction of new industrial products to supplant old ones, changes in industrial methods, and shifts in the means of transportation, with the overall result that many former accident hazards have been eliminated, although some new ones have come into being. Safety engineering and safety education also are considered to have played important parts.

This One's Changing a Lot of Minds

MOST people have a habit of setting their sights on cars of a certain "price level"—and making a choice on the basis of what they can afford to buy.

Then, on the scene, came this stunning beauty—and in a few short weeks turned a whale of a lot of decisions in a brand-new direction.

Why not—folks figured—get really fresh style lines and that stout bumper-guard grille that can take any normal impact yet won't "lock horns" with cars ahead?

Why not get good, substantial roadweight and a lot more interior room when they come in a car that's shorter in bumper-to-bumper length for easier parking, garaging and handling in traffic?

And why, the shrewd shoppers asked, take anything less than this straight-eight thriller when it wears a price tag that any new-car buyer can reach, and actually costs less than many sixes?

Truth is, this spanking-new Buick SPECIAL turns a searching light on every car in its price range—on many above and below too—and looks the better for it every day.

Better in its advanced styling and amazing interior roominess and traffic-handy size.

And certainly far better in the lift and life of its valve-in-head Fireball power—the level-going steadiness of its buoyant Buick ride—the silken luxury of Dynaflo Drive, optional here at modest extra cost.

So why not set your sights on this beauty of a buy and let the facts of hardpan shopping comparison open your eyes to a new opportunity?

Your Buick dealer will gladly let you sample its sparkling action on the road—and give you the news on how quickly delivery can be made. Go see him—and get your name on the dotted line.

Defends Quality Of Food At Butner State Hospital

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 25—(AP)—The medical director of the state hospital board of control says "we think our food is rather good" at the Butner State Hospital.

Dr. David Young made the assertion yesterday in answer to charges that Butner patients are underfed.

Two letters to the Raleigh News and Observer recently made the claims. One was written by a patient at the hospital. The other was signed by a Robert Coffey of Durham. The letter claimed Coffey had interned at the University of Virginia hospital in Charlottesville.

Coffey said he visited Butner one afternoon last week after reading the first letter.

Butner has a prison colony in addition to quarters for mental patients.

Coffey wrote "I learned on that particular day that the prisoners, received, in full view of mental patients, hamburger, hot biscuits, three vegetables, milk and dessert, while patients received cold beans, cold coffee, syrup and light bread."

Dr. Young, who said he would welcome an investigation, said he did not believe that the hospital fed its patients cold or poorly prepared food.

"Everytime I have visited the hospital," he declares, "the food has been quite good." Dr. Young said the patients, mainly senile cases, are fed cafeteria style.

"They get their food rather hot because the dining room is near the kitchen," he said. "It may be different in the wards. It is difficult in most hospitals to keep food hot when it must be carried to the wards."

Nurses Debating Federal Aid Bill

High Point, N. C., Oct. 25—(AP)—A controversial proposal to provide federal aid for professional education occupied North Carolina Nurses here today.

The pros and cons of the measure were discussed at the opening session of the 47th annual convention of the North Carolina Nurses Association. The speaker was the president of the association, Mrs. Louise P. East of Asheville.

Another speaker was the president of the Guilford county medical association, Dr. Kenneth B. Geddie.

Miss Edith E. Byers of the Charlotte Memorial Hospital school of nursing will receive an achievement award at a banquet tomorrow evening. She was chosen last spring as the outstanding nursing graduate in the state.

The convention will close Thursday after election of officers. The North Carolina League of Nursing Education also is meeting in conjunction with the Association.

A meeting of the Association's advisory council yesterday discussed reports that will be presented to the convention.

Fluorine Helped Cut Tooth Decay

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Tooth troubles in children have been cut 30 per cent by adding fluorine to a town's drinking water.

This benefit, from only tiny amounts of the chemical added to the water supply, was reported today at the American Public Health Association's 77th annual meeting.

The fluorine was put in the drinking water of the town of Newburgh, N. Y., starting three years ago. The effect on Children's teeth was measured by comparing them with the teeth of children in Kingston, N. Y., 30 miles away, where no fluorine was used.

The number of permanent teeth found to be decayed, missing or filled among Newburgh children declined from 21 per 100 permanent teeth to 14.8, said Dr. Davis B. Ast, director of the state Bureau of Dental Health, N. Y. State Health Department. The Kingston children still showed 21.3 decayed, missing or filled teeth per 100 permanent teeth.

Younger children showed the greatest benefit, he said in a report prepared jointly with Dr. Sidney F. Finn and Isabel McCaffery.

Adults are not benefitted much, if at all, by drinking the water with fluorine. The fluorine is used in the proportion of one part per million parts of water.

Albemarle Body Seeking Larger Share Of Funds.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 25—(AP)—The Southern Albemarle Association wants four of its counties to get a bigger share of the state's $200,000,000 rural road bond funds.

The Association filed a petition with Governor Scott yesterday stating the share of the funds the counties will receive from the first $50,000,000 portion of the state's $200,000,000 rural road bond issue is inadequate.

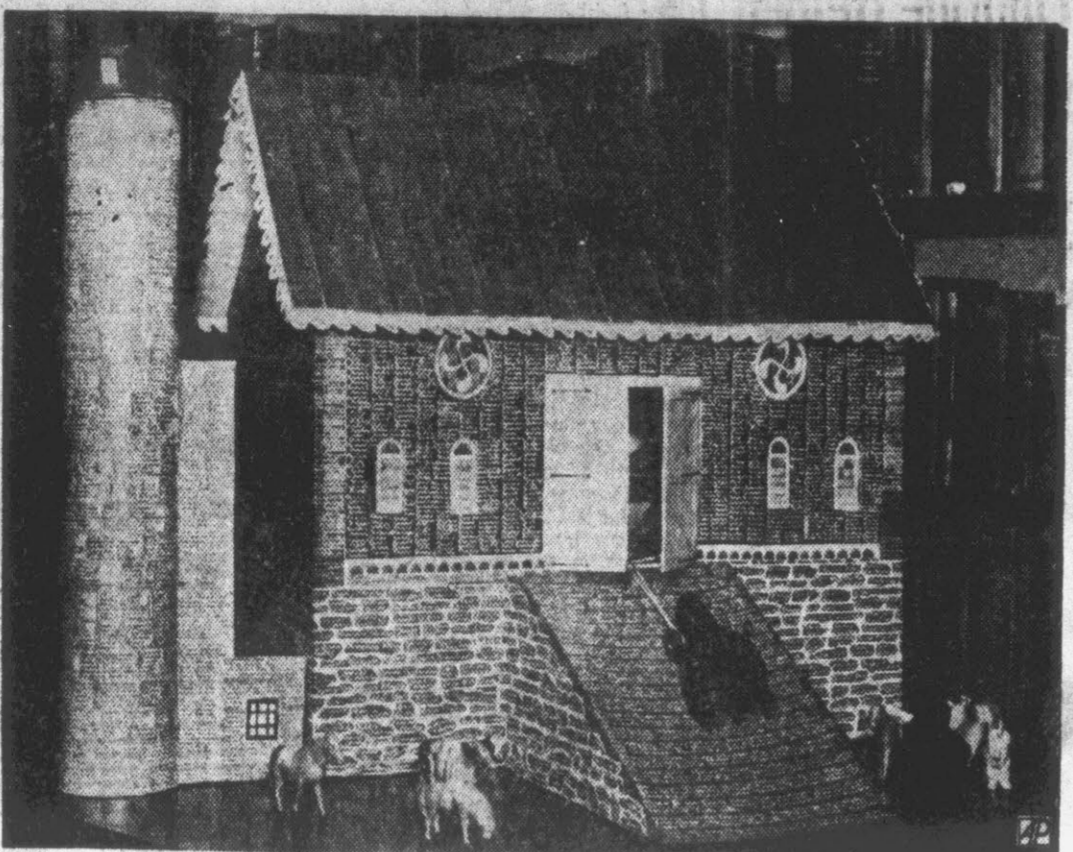

Another petition sent by the Association to the Governor a proposed toll road in the area would do "unfolding damage" to the area.

Counties involved in the petition are Hyde, Dare, Tyrrell and Washington. The amount of funds counties are to receive from the rural road bond sales is fixed by an amendment in the bond act.

Which toll road plan is opposed was not stated definitely by the petitioners.

A group chartered as the Carolina Virginia Coastal Highway Corporation plans to build such a road between New Hain and Virginia Beach. The Corporation was created under an act of the 1949 General Assembly. Its road will be 54 miles long and cost between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

The petition for extra bond funds claimed "the most urgent need of highway facilities exists among the people of Hatteras Island." It said that the 2,500 citizens and seven villages on the island are "without any sort of all-weather road to permit them to reach the markets. It said that by the same token its children are denied educational advantages to compare with those of other communities."

Charges Assault By ABC Officers

Scotland Neck, N.C., Oct. 25—(AP)—Two Halifax County ABC officers have been charged with assaulting a Negro.

Justice of the Peace William Howard said that Lee Hill, Negro tenant farmer, had sworn out a warrant charging ABC Officers S. E. Ewell and W. A. Kilpatrick with assault with a deadly weapon.

Howard quoted Hill as saying that the officers handcuffed him to a tree last Friday night and beat him with sticks and a flashlight in an attempt to obtain information about a liquor still.

During the last war he was in China. In 1946 he was back in Germany again, living in Stuttgart and observing at first hand the post-war problems of his country. At present he is a graduate student at Duke University, where he is taking work in the field of economics and political science. He speaks English well.

Don't Sell E. City Short Because Of One Defeat

By Eugene Price

Let's not underrate this team from Elizabeth City which will make its Northeastern conference appearance against the Greenville high school Phantoms here Thursday night.

That 15-13 loss they suffered to Edenton's Aces, though it proves the Jackets aren't invincible, does not mean Greenville will be toying with an inferior ball club.

The truth of the matter is that Elizabeth City is one of the more powerful Northeastern conference teams this year. Since losing to Edenton they have gone undefeated in four games and have been scored on but once in the process.

Why did they lose to Edenton, a team which Greenville beat 13-0? Overconfidence. Edenton had not beaten Elizabeth City in some 18 years. Everyone in Elizabeth City, including Coach Honey Johnson himself, admitted they figured the game was in the bag. Edenton played inspired football, got the breaks, and won by two points.

Elizabeth City bounced back from that loss to trounce Chowan Junior College 20-0, then humbled Roanoke Rapids 48-0. They squeaked past Washington 7-6 and hog-tied Kampsville, Va., 26-0. The Jackets opened their season with a 24-0 win over Littleton.

Those four straight wins for the Jackets may work in the favor of the Greenville team. The Elizabeth City club undoubtedly views their record with some satisfaction... a satisfaction which probably breeds a little cockiness.

The slight advantage Greenville might gain from a little overconfidence on the part of the Elizabeth

City outfit, could mean the difference in the ball game.

The Phantoms, definitely tired of coming out on the short end of the stick, will be fighting to break a two game losing streak. Should they play their best ball against the Jackets, a team which probably feels it will win without too much difficulty, the Green Phantoms might even off their conference record at 2-2. By "their best," we mean the kind of ball the Phantoms played against Ahoskie the last half. Like Ahoskie, Elizabeth City couldn't cope with that kind of football.

That 100th win sure was a hard one for Coach Bill Dole of East Carolina Teachers College. The Buc lost four straight after taking number 99. Friday night's game with Edenton's Flyers should mean 101 for Dole and number three of the season for the Buc, who we still think will end up with four wins to their credits before the season ends.

LSU's win over the Tarheels of North Carolina was mighty impressive. The stink which followed it however, threw cold water on the whole affair. We can't help but believe, as a result of the unfavorable publicity which followed the game, that the only bowl game LSU will be able to boast of this year will be the October 22 classic in the new-born Mudowl at Baton Rouge. We're wondering too if the LSU schedule makers will have any trouble making out a home game slate next fall. Don't believe Carolina will be making any more airplane trips that-a-way.

Midgets Set Sights On Big New Bern Contest

Coach Bill Kittrell's Greenville Mites trained their sights on the Midget Football championship today as they prepared for a Saturday night game with New Bern's Cubs.

Coaltown-Capot Duel Shapes Up As Race Of '49

Baltimore, Oct. 25—(AP)—The hand on the stopwatch pointed today to a thrilling duel when Coaltown and Capot meet in the winner-take-off Pimlico Special.

Both have burned up the turf in recent workouts, with Coaltown bettering the track record for a mile in last Sunday's outing over the old Hilltop course. His 1:37 2-5 clipped one-fifth of a second off the market set in 1923 by June Grass.

Capot, the Green Tree Stable hope for "horse of the year" honors, tumbled in a brilliant workout yesterday at Belmont. He toured a mile and one-eighth over the main course in 1:52 after covering the first mile in 1:37 3-5.

The $15,000 Special will be run at a mile and three-sixteenths Friday.

Both teams are undefeated. In their first clash they battled to a scoreless deadlock in Greenville's Guy Smith Stadium.

In that game Greenville moved within the shadow of the New Bern goal post on three occasions only to be thrown back or held from scoring.

Coaches Kittrell and Bob Ostrander, bent on improving the Greenville offensive attack, worked the boys hard yesterday and equally heavy workouts were on the docket for today.

Since tying New Bern Kittrell has installed a two-platoon system which he expects will assure more offensive power. The Mites' offense looked greatly improved in their last game in which they romped over Washington.

In conference play this year Kittrell's boys have defeated Kinston twice, Washington once and tied New Bern.

Baseball Career Offered Army's Lt. Glenn Davis

West Point, N.Y., Oct. 25—(AP)—Baseball, will not professional football, will get Lt. Glenn Davis if he decides to leave the Army next year when he is eligible for a discharge.

"I have been offered professional contracts in both baseball and football," the former Army football backfield star said last night in answer to reports he had been seeking a cash bonus to sign with a major league baseball team.

"I have talked with several baseball people connected with different teams, but I'm still in the Army and until such time as I am released, I can't make any definite statement about my plans."

Davis, backfield coach of the Army's plebe team, said he would be eligible for a discharge next June 1.

Carolina Slumps To 13th In Week's Grid Selections

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Notre Dame, Army and Oklahoma rate 1, 2, 3, respectively, among the nation's college football teams in the fourth weekly Associated Press poll, and their positions seem secure for at least another Saturday.

Only three of last week's top 10 retained the same places in the latest voting participated in by 148 sports writers and broadcasters. Notre Dame and Army remained first and second and Cornell stayed in eighth position.

The Irish received 120 of the first-place votes to nod at the top spot for a third straight week. Army drew only 12 and Oklahoma 10.

Notre Dame had 1,267 points, compared to Army's 1,212 and Oklahoma's 1,143. Army, of course, received many second-place votes following its 63-6 slaughter of Columbia.

Back of the three current leaders come California, Rice, Michigan, Minnesota, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Baylor.

Three teams missing from the top 10 last week moved into that select company. Michigan, the early-season leader, jumped from 12th to sixth; Penn from 14th to ninth, and Baylor from 11th to 10th.

North Carolina dropped from sixth to 13th; Kentucky from seventh to 14th, and Texas from 10th to 19th.

Minnesota's first setback, a 14-7 loss to rebounding Michigan, dumped the Gophers from third to seventh.

Pro Tennis Tour Starts Tonight

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—What promises to be one of the most successful professional tennis tours in history gets under way tonight when young Richard (Pacheco) Gonzales and Frankie Parker launch their play-for-pay careers.

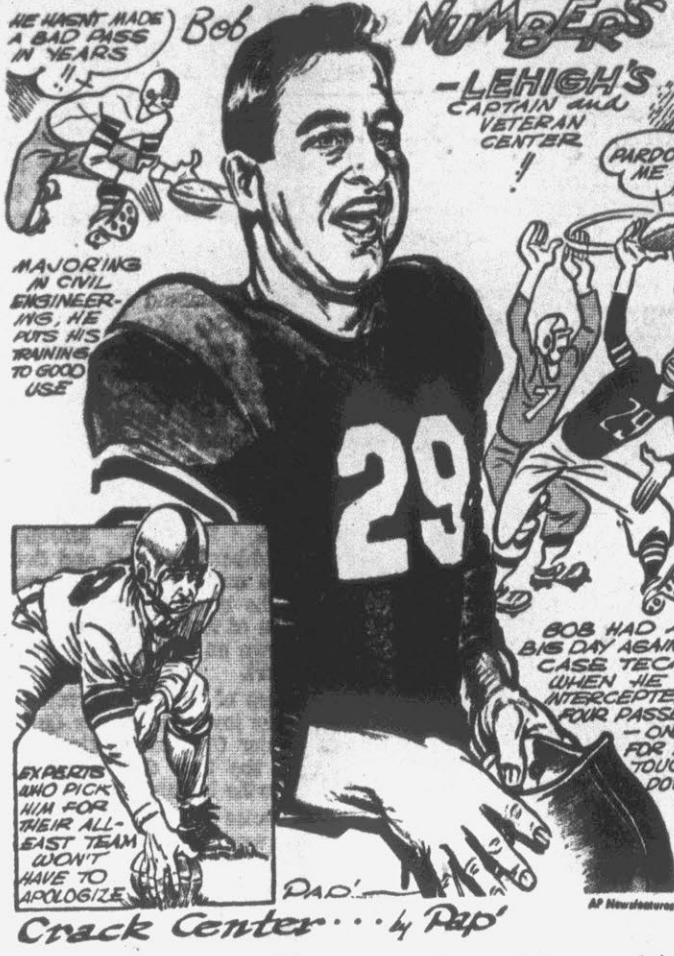

Pacheco, the former "bad boy" of the Pacific Coast, and National champion for the past two years, though he just has reached the voting age, will be pitted against the veteran Jack Kramer in the feature match. Parker, one of the mainstays of the amateur game for almost two decades, will meet Pacheco Segura in the second match.

Win Through Air

New York—(AP)—City College of New York's Beavers are thanking air travel for their win over Lowell (Mass.) Textile recently. The day before the game their point-after-touchdown specialist, Ed Semlitz became ill and would not accompany the team.

"If you feel better, to the morning," he was told, "fly up to the game." Semlitz did feel better, took a plane and arrived in time to place kick the extra point that won for City 14-12.

Bill Christensen, our Lehigh University correspondent, wants to make certain that Bob Numbers, Lehigh's center and captain, isn't overlooked when the football experts get around to selecting their mythical All-This and All-That teams. Bill writes:

"Bob Numbers must be rated a distinct possibility for the All-East center berth this fall. He is equally efficient on offense and defense. The Engineers have an inspiring leader in Numbers, one of the best seen on Old South Mountain in many a season.

Green Phantoms Shaping Up Well For Next Game

Greenville high school's Phantom football forces, determined to get back into the Northeastern conference race, began preparations for their Thursday night game with Elizabeth City yesterday with a light but lengthy workout under Acting Coach Woody Wilson.

The Greenville team will go into the Elizabeth City game without the familiar figure of its gray thatched helmet Coach Boley Farley who underwent a major operation in Durham yesterday.

Wilson, who has served the team as line coach this year, will be in charge of the Phantoms.

It will be the fourth conference game for the Phantoms who have dropped two consecutive loop lifts to New Bern and Kinston. Greenville topped Edenton for its lone conference victory. Edenton in turn defeated Elizabeth City.

Wilson, who yesterday reported the team in near top shape for the contest, said he expected the Greenville team to give the Elizabeth City boys a much better fight than some Northeastern conference followers predicted.

The assistant coach said information reaching him rated Elizabeth City on a near par with Kinston.

"Some of our linemen are coming through fine and should be able to give Elizabeth City a lot of trouble," Wilson commented after a three-hour practice session yesterday. He lauded the performances of Eugene Avers and Jim Brady, both of whom played outstanding ball against the Kinston Red Devils line.

Commenting further on the Kinston game Wilson opined that the score would not have been near so bad had Jimmy Cox, Phantom halfback, been able to play the whole game. Cox was injured in the first half with the Kinston team only one point ahead.

"Cox will be all right for the Elizabeth City game," Wilson announced. "We're depending on him to carry the goods against the Yellow Jackets." The Greenville back is making a strong bid for all-conference halfback this year.

The Phantoms will be bucking a team which has been scored on but once in four games since losing to Edenton 15-13. They defeated Roanoke Rapids 48-0 and Washington 7-6 in conference play. In other action they dumped Chowan College 20-0 and trounced Kempville, Va., 26-0.

The Elizabeth City team is heavy, probably equalling Kinston in the weight department. Probably the only disadvantage facing Coach Honey Johnson is the fact that most of his boys are young, sophomores and freshmen constituting a great part of the team.

One of the outstanding backs for Elizabeth City is a freshman, Bobby Sawyer, who weighs 160 pounds and has already been tagged a strong contender for all-conference honors.

The United States' present area of commercial forage land is estimated at 461 million acres.

Buc Players In Good Shape After Navy Apprentice Tilt

Coach Bill Dole put his Pirates through a three-hour workout yesterday with emphasis being placed on blocking and running through plays. All of the Pirates reported for practice in good physical shape after their hard fought victory over Apprentice School 26-21.

The Pirates face Edenton Flyers this Friday in a non-conference game at Greenville. The next two games will be rough affairs as the Pirates face Appalachian and High Point. The last game of the season will be the traditional AOC game.

Highlighting the Apprentice game was the Pirates' running attack that had been slow in coming along. Coach Dole commented on his ofensive team by saying, "Our running attack that began to click in the WCTC game became evident against the Apprentice School. There is, however, still lots of work to be done."

Against the Apprentice School the Pirates gained 187 yards on the ground. Jack Benzie was the lead- ing ground gainer with 78 yards in 9 carries followed by Frank Maennie who picked up 69 yards in 11 tries. Bill Darby picked up 50 yards in 10 carries and had a 33 yard touch- down run called back. In the passing attack the Pirates gained 196 yards as Roger Thrift connected on 8 passes, two good for touchdowns. The longest pass, 57 yards to Frank Maennie, carried to the Apprentice 1 yard line as the half ended. Thrift passed 48 yards to Benzie for one score and 8 yards to Tanner for another. Three completed passes were called back by penalties.

On the defensive side the entire defensive team stood out. Two passes, 16 yards and 49 yards, netted two touchdowns for Apprentice. Reggie Byrd and Ras Ault, guards, along with Ken Booth and Al Auerbach, tackles, played well in the middle of the line. Bob Bradley and Dennis Smith protected the Pirate flanks with Joe Polilli, Pete Protnick, Bob Boyd and Frank Madigan, excellent in backing up the line.

Opponents Shy At Future Meetings Against Irish

Chicago, Oct. 25—(AP)—Tulane, athletic director, says:

"There are plenty of good teams eager to play us. Our schedules are drawn up through 1952. In December when the big ten conference makes its 1953 slate, we'll go to work on ours. We don't work on schedules during the season."

With several opponents pulling out of the Notre Dame orbit, the old song and dance of coach Frank Leahy not even being able to get a game with the Chicago Bear, is being revived.

But the Irish insist they have no scheduling woes.

Ed "Moose" Krause, Notre Dame

Tulane's decision to call it quits with the 1950 game when its six-year contract expires, comes three weeks after a University of Washington regent said his school also is through with Notre Dame.

In five meetings with the Irish, Tulane scored only 19 points while being buried under 204 Washington, in a two-game series with the Irish, was ripped 46-0 in 1948 and 27-7 last Oct. 1.

In any event, the case of Notre Dame schedule can be broken down into two sections:

1. Those schools whose motto is: "You can't beat 'em unless you play 'em'."
2. And those who claim "you can't beat 'em even if you do play 'em'."

Three top powers of the big 10—Michigan, Minnesota and Illinois—have cautiously refused from renewing what used to be bang-up series with Notre Dame although the Gauntlet has been tossed before them.

New York Plans Large Coliseum

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer announced today that the city and Madison Square Garden Corp. had reached an agreement to resume negotiations for construction of a $25,000,000 Columbus Circle coliseum.

O'Dwyer said agreements for building the coliseum would be submitted to the Board of Estimates soon after Jan. 1 and that construction should begin next spring.

Baugh Still Around

Washington—(AP)—There's no end in sight for Sammy Baugh, for 13 years the passing wizard of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. Baugh led the NFL passers after the first quarter of the season and in one recent game against the New York Bulldogs completed 16 of 20 passes for 264 yards.

Corum Nominated For Derby Post

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 25—(AP)—The name of Bill Corum, New York sports columnist, was moved to the head of the list today as the likely successor of the late Col. Matt Winn as planner of the Kentucky Derby.

One member of the Churchill Downs committee going over the list of prospects to carry on for Colonel Winn, who died this month, confirmed late last night that Corum had been interviewed by the committee.

Little Platooning

New York—(AP)—Regarding the two platoon system of free substitutions, coach Norman (Red) Strader of the Brooklyn-New York Yankees says: "I send in John Wozniak as guard when we're on offense and John Mastrangelo when we're on defense." The rest of the Yankee line remains the same—Jack Russell and Bruce Alford, ends; Martin Ruby and Arnie Weimeler, tackles; Joe Signaio, guard and Brad Ecklund, center.

Chapter 9
"Now what have I said!" cried Mrs. Cotsen.

Arieta turned to her. "You said my father was murdered. What did you mean? I read the newspaper account of his death. He was killed while hunting."

"And another man was killed at the same time. Accident? Of course they called it an accident in the newspapers, because they couldn't prove anything; they couldn't even prove which man shot first. But there isn't a person who knew the two who didn't call it murder. Some say your father shot Allen."

"Allen?" Arieta, her voice thick with shock, broke in. "That wasn't the name!"

"It was so—Allen Lane."

Allen Lane, Allen Lane. That girl at the store.

"And there's those who say Allen shot your father first. In all probability they both shot at the same time."

The voice, in an attempt to erase the shock, went on soothingly. "Must have been both dead instantly."

No wonder Allen Lane had hated her. If Allen felt her father... but Big Chips wouldn't. It must have been Lane who had fired first. Of course. It was for her, Arieta, to hate the other girl, if there was to be hatred.

All afternoon Arieta held this fresh knowledge in her mind as she directed the work, held it, to bring it forth for scrutiny when she had a moment alone. It could be no more than gossip.

And then a fresh thought came. Cal. He'd talked to some hunters. That strange look he'd given her, that searching scrutiny. Had those hunters told him of a hunting accident which had been called murder? Had he thought her father—"No," she denied, "he couldn't have believed—"

"I must know," she said, as she walked out to the car. "But who would, who could give me an unprejudiced answer?"

How Kelly! Somehow she felt he would tell her without sparing her. She'd noticed an arrow nailed to a pine at the mouth of a roadway across the bridge, his name painted thereon.

As she neared the house a collier came from the rear porch to approach her with the dignity of age, to sniff of her hand, then fall into step beside her. And together they approached the rear door.

Arieta reached the door and rapped several times before a figure, half enveloped by an apron, a long fork in its hand, appeared.

"Chips!" said How Kelly in surprise. "Come in. But what are you doing here?"

Arieta looked at the apron and

By FAGALY and SHORTEN at windmills?

"I guess I've been working all night, after a fashion. But I can't solve the mysteries my mind conjures up for me."

"Okay, Chips, get it off your chest and then I'll feed you. You thought you needed that nap more than food. I played the perfect host. I didn't wait. Now what's your mystery?"

"Mr. Kelly—oh, all right, How—was my father murdered?"

The nod of his head was the nod of a man who'd expected the question. "As far as the coroner's jury could ascertain, shots were fired simultaneously. And believe me, if they could have established that one preceded the other, they'd have done so. Pressure from both sides was terrific."

"What do you think?" she demanded.

"I don't," he replied abruptly. "Nothing can lead you as far astray as conjecture. No one knows what happened. Let's leave it at that."

"I can't!" the words burst from her. "It's not knowing."

Kelly moved restlessly. "Chips, why didn't you go on home? How would you have saved yourself. Have you ever lived in a small community where the people have nothing to do but gossip? Gossip's a snowball rolling downhill; it picks up anything in its way. The longer 'you're going to find yourself surrounded by snowballs of gossip and how you'll ever want the truth out of them I don't know."

She grasped at this. Mrs. Cotsen's tale could have been no more than gossip. Ah, what a relief. The estate left to vandals because her father's attorney had passed away. Another snowball. Everything had its logical explanation.

"I see. Then that was your astral body driving me up to River City?"

"Okay," he gave up. "I used the idea of her to get you out of that house. It didn't work. But what brings you back here? Or say, didn't you leave?"

"Your meat's burning."

He wheeled for the stove. "Go in and sit down. Duchess, where are your manners?"

Arieta found her hand taken gently by the collier's teeth and she was led to a deep couch before the rock fireplace. "I don't want to interrupt," she called back, "but I've no choice."

"Not when she has you in hand. You'll stay for dinner."

"Sorry, I was—"

"Like Duchess, when I have a guest in hand, they stay. And I am a good cook. Uncle Sam saw to that."

Duchess spread herself at Arieta's feet, and when she sought to rise there was the faintest of growls, so she continued to sit, to stare at the big room and marvel at its untidy comfort.

Slowly, gradually, she relaxed, settling back into the comfort of the divan. Dimly she heard dishes clattering in the next room, heard silverware, and then heard no more.

When she opened her eyes she saw How Kelly in a big chair beside the fireplace, dreamily nursing a long pipe.

"Oh, my goodness," she cried, sitting up.

"All tuckered out, weren't you?" he inquired calmly, as he held his pipe off, admiring it. "Been tilting fork and caught a savory aroma. "I came to thank your mother."

"My mother?" He looked at her blankly a moment. "Oh, you mean my mother. Why, she went back to town the next morning. I drove her in."

Mills Ordered To Lend Unions Hall

Washington, Oct. 22—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered four North Carolina textile mills to stop refusing labor unions the use of a meeting hall.

The order, issued on an amended basis after several years of litigation, was given in a case involving the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and four mills at Belmont, N.C. The mills are the Stowe Spinning Company, the Acme Spinning Company, the Perfection Spinning Company and Linford Mills, Inc.

The order states that there is only one "suitable, available meeting place" in the Belmont community and it is listed as the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, Hall. The mills are ordered to permit the use of the hall for labor organization meetings at times when the hall is not being used by the Patriotic Order and as long as the hall remains the only suitable meeting place in the community.

The order further directs that the Stowe Company offer reinstatement to four former employees, making good any loss in earnings they "may have suffered by reason of the respondent's discrimination against them."

Having this day qualified as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Elector W. Cherry, deceased, this is

Trio Under Bond In Knife Affray

Farmville—Three Negro farm laborers are under $100 bond today as the result of an affray four miles from Farmville Sunday afternoon.

One of the men, Henry Waller of near Farmville, is suffering from multiple but not serious stab wounds received when he and two Greene County Negro brothers quarreled and fought at one of the Howard Moyer tenant homes around four thirty Sunday afternoon, according to Farmville police Chief L. T. Lucas.

The Greene county men arrested in connection with the alleged assault were Frank and Smoot Hedrick, both laborers.

Waller was arrested for engaging in an affray, and being drunk and disorderly.

Police said Waller had several cuts on the back and a rather deep stab wound over one shoulder blade. Dr. R. T. Williams of Farmville treated the wounded Negro. His condition was not believed to be serious.

Police Chief Lucas and officer C. C. Tanner investigated the incident after it was reported when Waller was brought to Farmville for treatment.

The three Negroes will be given a hearing Thursday morning in Farmville.

part of a war-mongering campaign against Tito's government. The official press further charged that satellite countries, with Soviet help, were strengthening their border guards and were building trenches all along their frontiers with Yugoslavia.

In the face of these developments, Tito thus far has maintained a rugged front. This is not without reason, for he is a soldier of wide experience and has been preparing for contingencies. He is credited by informed American officials with having sufficient military strength to handle any border fighting that might develop. His army is said to total about 600,000 and it is comprised of some of the world's finest fighting men.

While Tito's army likely is strong enough to take care of border warfare he obviously might not be able to repel a wholesale invasion by the Soviet bloc. However, such an invasion might set the drums of war rolling the call for another World upheaval—and there are few who believe Russia would challenge fate that far. Nobody wants another global conflict.

Lowering those American tariffs which are too high, in the opinion of the ECA specialists, on the goods we could use. (The report turns thumbs on just buying any kind of European import and emphasizes we should buy only what we need, but points out we could use plenty.)

Went To Sleep At Wheel; Car Struck Another

A colored man went to sleep at the wheel of his new car Sunday night while traveling along U. S. 64 about two miles east of Bethel, ran off into a ditch and bounced back into a passing car. At least that is the story that Edward Galloway, Route 2, Vanceboro, told State Highway Patrolman D. E. Perry.

Perry quoted the man as saying that he was traveling along the highway and went to sleep, traveling some 528 feet down a ditch, with one wheel in the ditch and the other on the highway.

The run-away car then hit a car operated by Carl Landon James White, Route 2, Bethel, which was pulling out from a nearby service station. No one was injured in the wreck, Perry stated.

Galloway was indicted for careless and reckless driving, and he will be tried in county court on November 8th, Perry said.
