CIO President Indicated Ready To Purge Union

Murray Uses Most Vigorous Language In CIO Record In Attacking Leftists

Cleveland, Oct. 29—(AP)—CIO president Philip Murray indicated today he was ready to rid his labor union federation of all pro-Communist groups.

Murray said so in a report prepared for the annual convention opening here Monday.

He used the most vigorous language in CIO record to describe his feelings toward Communist and pro-Communist Unions in the CIO.

The CIO leader was reported ready to tell the 11th annual convention there is no room in the organization for pro-Communist Unions.

He also was said to have the left-wing anti-Murray program as one of destruction.

"The CIO wants none of the Communist program," Murray aides said the president's report would declare.

Persons in position to know said Murray would tell the convention "We chartered the unions, and we can disaffiliate them."

Murray and other top CIO leaders have threatened to toss all left-wingers off the powerful executive board.

They also have laid plans to throw at least three pro-Communist unions out of the organization. The left-wing unions scheduled to get the boot are the United Electrical Workers, the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, and the Farm Equipment Workers. The three have a combined membership of about a half million.

In addition to these three unions which probably have been most critical of the leadership, CIO president Murray, eight or nine others were reported lined up in the left-wing.

The Farm Equipment Workers union yesterday announced at Chicago it had voted 84 per cent in favor of merging its members with the United Electrical Workers, the CIO's third largest affiliate. The FE claims 55,000 members—40,000 of them in International Harvester Company plants.

Because the FE lauded a directive from the national CIO a year ago to join the right-wing United Auto Workers, it had reason to expect being disciplined at next week's convention. The FE forfeited its right to a delegate in the convention by becoming 11 months in arrears in its per capita tax to the national organization.

Spent 3 Hours In Cistern Pipe

Austin, Tex., Oct. 29—(AP)—Slight scratches on the face and side were the only physical reminders today that Bobby Andrew Gow, a tiny 3-year-old, was imprisoned three hours yesterday deep in an 8-inch cistern pipe.

Bobby, whose 26-pound body dropped from view at 2:48 p.m. (CST), just 50 feet from his back doorstep, was reported in good shape at Brackenridge Hospital. He spent the night there under observation in the pediatrics ward.

Order Boy Held For Court Trial

A coroner's jury investigating the death of John Willis, 68-year-old Greenville Negro who was fatally stabbed three days ago, ordered Jesse Lee Willis, grandson of the slain man, held for superior court trial last night.

Young Willis, a 16-year-old, had already confessed thrusting the blade of a dirk into the elderly man's chest when, he says, his grandfather attacked him with a small knife.

The Unification Act

The Inter-Service Quarrel Has Its Roots In A Law Designed To Bring Them Together; An Explanation Of The Act, How Trouble Grew; Why Navy Protested

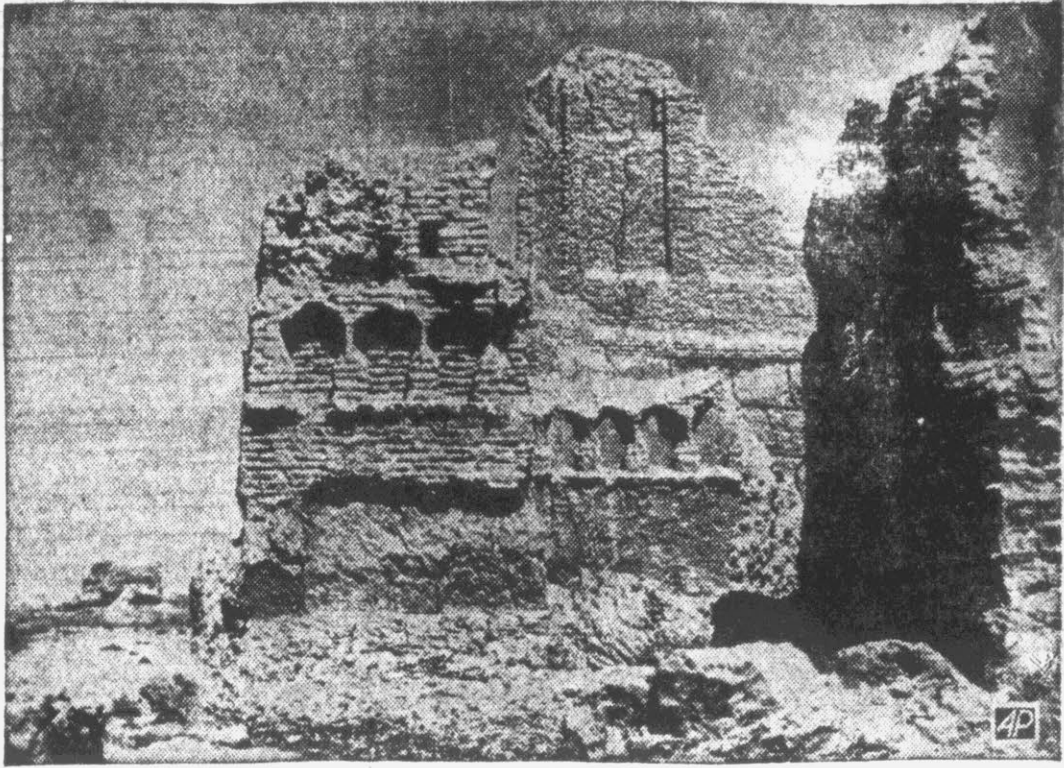

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—The quarrel between the Navy and the other armed services has its roots in the Unification Act.

Congress first passed that act in 1947 and then tightened and toughened it this year. It has this purpose:

To make the armed services work together better as a team, produce better planning, save money on purchasing equipment, and so on.

Sec. Mathews Calmly Ignores Demands For His Resignation

Has No Intention Of Heeding Angry Cries Or Changing His Mind On Transfer Of Admiral Denfeld

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Mathews, calmly ignoring lawmakers' demands that he quit, combed through a list of admirals today seeking a successor to Louis Denfeld as chief of naval operations.

Mathews gave not the slightest indication that he intended to heed angry cries for his resignation from at least two members of congress. But he declined any comment on that or other statements from congressional quarters.

When reporters asked him if there was any chance he would change his mind about removing Admiral Denfeld and giving him some other job, Mathews said firmly: "I asked the President for authority to make the transfer. I do not ask for things just to ask for them. Of course I intend to go through with it."

Denfeld's special assistant, Capt. Walter Garig, told reporters he expects the admiral to retire from the navy rather than take a lesser post.

Vehement assertions that Mathews should leave the defense department came from Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) and Rep. Bates (R-Mass.).

Bates is a member of the House Armed Services committee, which heard Denfeld and most of the other high command of the three armed forces testify in the bitter military wrangle over unification.

He said Mathews, who was named to his job last spring, "is absolutely unfit to hold the office; his naval experience is nil and he can't even row a boat."

Knowland declared it is "imperative" that the secretary quit "so that a new top team can properly function" in the navy department.

Declares Arson Certain In Fire

Tarboro, N.C., Oct. 29—(AP)—The mysterious fire at the home of a worker at the strike-bound Hart Cotton Mills here is a case of arson, says a state deputy fire marshal.

Charles C. Duncan of Goldsboro, marshal with the State Insurance Commission, made the statement yesterday.

"We have no doubt in our minds," he said, "about the fire being set."

Didn't Give Up

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 29—(AP)—Reporter Frank Sempa didn't give up last night when John I. Lewis, United Mine Workers' chief, said "no comment."

"No doubt you're tired," Sempa parried.

"I didn't say I was tired. Don't be putting words in my mouth," barked Lewis.

"Did you drive in?" Sempa tried again.

"I have nothing to say," Lewis declared and the interview was ended.

Drops Offer Of Huge Endowment

Natchez, Miss., Oct. 29—(AP)—George W. Armstrong, Sr. withdrew his offer of a $50,000,000 endowment for Jefferson Military College last night.

Today the trustees were to meet to determine if the 147-year-old school with an enrollment of 47 students must close for lack of funds.

The 84-year-old Mississippi and Texas oil man said he withdrew his offer because a statement by three trustees of the school "repudiates" a condition of the endowment.

That condition called for changes in the charter to bar all persons of African or Asiatic descent and to operate the college primarily for Christians.

After Armstrong withdrew his offer, Stanley N. Murphy, chairman of the trustees' executive committee, told newsmen:

"It is obvious why we couldn't accept Judge Armstrong's offer under his terms. We don't need money that badly. We would close the school first."

Murphy said that Armstrong made his offer last Feb. 14 asking only that persons of African and Asiatic descent be barred from the school and that the number of trustees be cut from 12 to five, of which the Judge Armstrong Foundation would name three.

Kick Props From Under Holy Land Mediation Talk

Lake Success, Oct. 29—(AP)—Israel has kicked the props from under the United Nations Palestine conciliation committee by refusing to take part in any more go-between peace talks with her four Arab neighbors.

Although there was no immediate comment from the Arab nations involved—Nasheemite Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt—United Nations sources said there was little immediate prospect that the Arabs would consent to face-to-face negotiations with the Israelis.

Israel last night notified the commission, composed of representatives of the United States, France and Turkey, of withdrawal from the indirect peace talks. An Israeli spokesman said Israel is willing to deal directly on all outstanding political and territorial problems.

Lawmakers Fly To Madrid Visit

Geneva, Oct. 29—(AP)—Six members of the congressional committee on expenditures left Geneva by air today for Madrid after a thorough study of international organizations here.

The committee was particularly interested in organizations which receive financial support from the United States government and Chairman John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.) said he felt the committee's work here was "very fruitful."

Again Promising Return Of POWs

Berlin, Oct. 29—(AP)—Communist President Wilhelm Pieck of the East German republic announced today that the Soviet Union has promised to return all German war prisoners by next Jan. 1.

He told an East Berlin opera house rally of 1,600 former prisoners that "we have no reason to doubt this definite word."

The Communist leader did not estimate how many Germans were still in Russian captivity nor did he refer to a previous Soviet promise to release all prisoners by last Jan. 1.

The promise had to be broken, Communists explained at the time, because of "transport difficulties."

The rally, organized by the German-Soviet Friendship Society, cried "pfiu" when Pieck accused the West German republic of using the war prisoner issue as "anti-Soviet propaganda."

Pieck asserted Western claims that at least 1,000,000 Germans were missing in Russia were greatly exaggerated. He said two ex-prisoners recently had appeared in the West German Parliament as "anti-Soviet puppets."

The shabbily dressed ex-prisoners at the rally were brought in buses from throughout the Soviet zone. The opera house was decked with the black-red-gold flag of the Eastern republic and Red banners on which the Communist hammer and sickle were emblazoned.

Says Iron Curtain Only Way Reds Keep Power

New York, Oct. 29—(AP)—America's ambassador-designate to Yugoslavia, George V. Allen, described Russia last night as a nation with its doors closed and locked against outside news and information.

Allen said the Soviet government has gone to "unbelievable lengths" to assure that its citizens shall have the least possible contact with the outside world.

"A Russian cannot travel abroad at will," he added. "He practically never sees a foreign publication."

The assistant secretary of state, assigned two days ago to Belgrade as U.S. ambassador, added:

"It is clear enough now that the U.S.S.R. keeps its doors closed because the system which the Communists set up could not exist except in an ideologically airtight compartment. Even then, the system is not working."

Allen said the standard of living in Russia is "depressingly low," control over Russian citizens is by fear, and that individual freedom is extinguished.

Allen spoke at a dinner celebrating the 26th anniversary of the establishment of the Turkish republic.

He contrasted the revolutions in both Russia and Turkey which took place at about the same time in history and said:

"In Russia, revolution brought the extinction of freedom. In Turkey it resulted in a great increase of freedom. The U.S.S.R., after driving out its western enemies, closed the door after them and locked it."

Babson Discusses Making A Will

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 28—Too many people die without leaving a will. The result: financial tangles, family squabbles, lawsuits, and the disposition of the property entirely contrary to the wishes of the deceased.

Some day each of us will die. Making a will can neither hasten nor retard death, but a properly drawn will, executed by a competent lawyer, may save post-mortem disputes and prevent the distribution of an estate contrary to the wishes of the testator.

For example, property belonging to an intestate estate usually cannot be sold without a license from the court. This costs money. A will saves this difficulty. The testator can direct exactly how his property is to be disposed. Everyone, man or woman, who has real estate, bank accounts, securities, or a car should have a will and he should not wait until he is upon his death bed, either, to frame this important document.

Senator Blames Steel Companies For Long Strike

Morse Says Industry To Blame; Should Accept Fact-Finders' Verdict

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore.) today blamed the big steel companies for failure to settle the industry-strangling steel strike.

In a statement the president said that Congress' action in increasing funds for the Air Force above his recommendations "could have a serious effect on our ability to maintain balanced military forces in subsequent years."

Declaring that the larger Air Force insisted upon by the house would be "inconsistent with a realistic and balanced program which we can support in peacetime," the President added:

"I am therefore directing the secretary of defense to place in reserve the amounts provided by the Congress in H. R. 4146 for increasing the structure of the Air Force."

"Although these increased authorizations would have comparatively little effect upon military expenditures in the current fiscal year, the fact that they are largely for the procurement of aircraft would have a serious effect on expenditures in the future."

"As additional aircraft authorized by the act were delivered, we should have to make corresponding provision for additional personnel to man them, for higher maintenance and operating cost and for greater replacement cost."

"The present authorization for increased procurement would thus be merely the first step in an expanding program which would have to be supported by greatly increased appropriations in future years."

The bill finances the army, the navy, the Air Force, the National Security Council, the National Security resource board and the office of secretary of defense for the year ending next June 30.

Its total include $12,949,562,498 in cash and $2,636,302,000 in contract authority for which future appropriations may be needed.

Here's how the cash is split up: For the Army, $4,380,644,298. For the Navy, $4,285,382,200. For the Air Force, $4,088,386,000. For other military operations, including the secretary's office, $199,159,000.

Morse, a member of the Senate Labor Committee, told a reporter: "United States Steel Corporation must be blamed with major responsibility for the economic damage being done to the country."

"The American people should tell Mr. Fairless (Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U.S. Steel) and other steel industry leaders to start placing the public interest before their own blind stubbornness."

The Republican senator declared it "most regrettable that the steel companies do not put the fact-finding board's recommendations into effect."

In New York conferences dined on between Ching and the parties to the 29-day steel tie-up. He talked to U.S. Steel leaders for six hours yesterday. Then he got CIO President Philip Murray on the telephone twice, and finally invited three more firms to take part in the parleys.

Ching said he "felt it was necessary" to bring Republic Steel, Jones and Laughlin, and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies into the talks for two days here, but didn't say why he felt so.

He gave no evidence that this maneuver might mean a pending break in the deadlock.

Wants Special Session Called

Smithfield, N.C., Oct. 29—(AP)—A state representative has asked Governor Scott to consider calling a special session of the legislature to buy more school buses.

Ronald Houtt of Johnston County announced yesterday he made the suggestion in a letter he wrote the governor. He said he suggested Scott consider calling the legislators in order to appropriate the funds necessary to increase the size of the state's school bus fleet.

Begin Trying To Identify Bodies In Plane Wreck

Ponta Delgada, Sao Miguel, the Azores, Oct. 29—(AP)—Rescue workers today began identifying the burned and broken bodies of 48 victims killed in the crash of an Air France Constellation.

The plane plunged into a mountainside yesterday. It was bound from Paris to New York.

A French technical mission also was at work trying to determine the cause of the crash. Boxer Marcellin, violinist Ginette Neuveu and painter Bernard Bouquet de Monvel were among those killed.

There were no survivors. The body of 28-year-old Miss Neuveu, one of France's greatest women musicians, was one of those so far identified.

Weighing Appeal In T-H Reversal

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—The International Typographical Union today weighed whether to appeal from its defeat in the first major newspaper case under the Taft-Hartley Act.

The National Labor Relations Board yesterday found the AFL printers' union guilty of violating the labor law. The board held that the ITU tried to force on publishers the outlawed closed shop through a "continuing threat to strike."

Military Spending Measure Is Signed

But President Impounds $615 Millions Outlay Intended To Build Air Force To 58 Groups; Fears Serious Effect

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—President Truman signed the largest military appropriation in peacetime history today but impounded $615,000,000 it carries to build the Air Force up to 58 groups.

The measure carries a total of $15,585,863,498 for operation of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines.

In a statement the president said that Congress' action in increasing funds for the Air Force above his recommendations "could have a serious effect on our ability to maintain balanced military forces in subsequent years."

Federal Aid For U. S. Education Said Inevitable

Dr. R. B. Marston Urges Teaching American History

The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Northeastern District of the North Carolina Education Association last night rounded out an all-day program staged on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College.

Teachers, principals, superintendents, and supervisors from schools in twenty-two counties of the state, a group estimated at 1,500, heard a group of distinguished speakers yesterday afternoon at a general session and closed events of the convention with dinner meetings by divisions of the district yesterday evening.

Sixteen departmental meetings, beginning at eleven Friday morning, were devoted to discussion of problems of instruction in various of the subjects taught in the public schools.

Principal speakers at the general session yesterday afternoon were Dr. R. B. Marston of the National Education Association and Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, state superintendent of public instruction in North Carolina. They addressed an audience which overflowed the Austin auditorium at the college. Dr. Marston spoke on "Federal Aid," and Dr. Erwin made a plea for teaching the great documents of American history.

"Federal aid," Dr. Marston told the representatives of North Carolina schools present to hear him, "is as inevitable as tomorrow's sun." He cited as hazardous conditions in American education the large numbers of those whose education has been so little beyond the elementary school, the widening gap between the supply of teachers and the demand for them, and the vast inequalities existing in the schools of this country.

Illustrating his remarks with facts and figures showing educational conditions in Connecticut and South Carolina, he emphasized the necessity of federal aid if a children of the country are to be given equal opportunities. The National Education Association, he said, stands for federal aid under state and local control.

Dr. Erwin challenged his audience of school people to teach the great documents of American freedom. He declared that only "World government can provide the one world we need." If we fail to secure that government, Erwin continued, we may have no world at all. It can be taught, and it must be taught, in the classrooms of our nation, he said in closing his address.

Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina Teachers College welcomed to the college campus those present for the convention. The invocation was spoken by the Rev. Leon Russell of Greenville. Bertha Cooper of Elizabeth City greeted the audience for the National Education Association and introduced Dr. Marston. Presiding at the meeting was the district president, Superintendent S. G. Chappell of Wilson. A program of music was given by the Women's Chorus and the College Choir of East Carolina Teachers College.

After the general assembly in the afternoon the Teachers Playhouse of East Carolina Teachers College presented a modern-dress performance of Shakespeare's comedy "The Taming of the Shrew," under the direction of Dr. Lucile H. Charles of the college faculty.

Divisions of the district held dinner meetings in the evening. J. E. Miller of the state department of public instruction addressed the classroom teachers, using as his subject "Adventures in Teaching."

C. D. Douglas, controller of the State Board of Education, led an open forum at a joint meeting of superintendents and members of the Division of Higher Education. Dr. Erwin addressed the principals.

Bottom Of The Barrel

Parliament Has Given The Labor Government A Go Ahead To Meet Economic Hazards; Extent And Seriousness Of Crisis Recognized; Basis Of Outcome

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Britain's Socialist government, having received a vote of confidence from its majority in the House of Commons, is free to continue its struggle with the economic crisis which is tearing at the vitals of the nation.

That affords some moral encouragement to the harassed cabinet, but it cannot provide the material aid or even the advice so grievously needed. It is merely a friendly gesture at the zero hour as the badly armed government goes into fresh action against strange hazards.

One of the hopeful aspects of this grim situation is that the government has no delusions about the gravity of the situation. It is well aware that the country is in the midst of an economic life-and-death struggle.

All of which is by the way of saying that no man can force the extent of crisis, or the remedies necessary to its cure. It is likely to be a protracted operation. Recognition of these facts constituted the main value of the two-day debate in Commons, or so it seems to me.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was near to tears as he hammered home to a tense Commons that "our civilization itself must fade and wither away" unless the nation produces more goods immediately and sells them to America. Cripps isn't given to exaggeration and he is not of the emotional type. He meant what he said.

Britain is scraping the bottom of the economic barrel. Her immediate resources have been largely depleted. She hasn't the wherewithal for a quick recovery. That is why Sir Stafford warned the country that it couldn't exist on the charity of the United States. Said he:

"At the root of our success or failure lies our own capacity to produce. The only real solution for our difficulties is more and more economical and efficient production."

One drag on Britain's recovery rests in the fact that much of the rest of Europe also is hard hit. Numerous countries are just about numbing on the Marshall plan which is slated to begin in 1952.

In addition to increasing production the government is taking other measures to conserve resources. The budget is to be slashed $194,000,000, and another $400,000,000 is to be cut.

As he hammered home to a tense Commons that "our civilization itself must fade and wither away" unless the nation produces more goods immediately and sells them to America. Cripps isn't given to exaggeration and he is not of the emotional type. He meant what he said.

Priest Dismissed By Jesuit Order

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 26—(AP)—The Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, S. J., noted Roman Catholic author, lecturer and poet, was dismissed last night from the Jesuit Order in the latest move against him in a six-month-old dispute. Fr. Feeney announced the dismissal himself. He said it was for alleged "disobedience." He was deprived of his priestly functions on Jan. 1 by Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, head of the Boston diocese. For approval of teachings by three Boston College lay professors that there is no salvation outside of the Catholic Church. The alleged "disobedience" involved Fr. Feeney's refusal in September, 1948, to accept transfer to Holy Cross College in Worcester, a Jesuit institution.

Fr. Feeney said he would continue "as a Catholic priest, loyal and devoted to the Church and to the Pope x x x." He told newsmen that he had received a registered letter from the Rev. John J. McEneaney, S. J., New England Provincial of the Society of Jesus, enclosing a decree from the Rev. Jean Baptiste Janssens, General of the Order at Rome.

See More Hope For Control Of Dreaded Cancer

New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—Some of America's leading medical authorities now see hope in the future for complete control of cancer.

Dr. Alton Ochsner of New Orleans elected president of the American Cancer Society here yesterday, said new discoveries indicate that eventually even advanced cancer can be controlled.

New developments in hormones and chemotherapy—the treatments of disease by chemicals—show great promise, he said.

His hopeful opinion was backed by Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, director of the Memorial Cancer Center here, who said that five years of research suggest that chemicals may be the cancer solution.

All repeated, however, that these hopes are for the future and that there is yet no cancer "cure."

When a tree stops growing it begins to decline in health and vigor.

Newspaper Says Mussolini Grave Found In Rome

Milan, Italy, Oct. 26—(AP)—A Milan newspaper claimed today to have located the secret grave of Benito Mussolini in a Rome cemetery. The newspaper, Corriere Lombardo, also asserted that a tombstone to mark the grave had been ordered by the Italian government, and was being cut in Rome.

Immediate official comment on the report was not available here or in Rome. For the last three years the actual location of the former fascist dictator's grave has been a closely guarded secret.

The remains, buried in a Milan potters' field following Mussolini's execution by partisans in 1945, were stolen in 1946 and then reburied. At the time the Italian cabinet decided on the secret burial.

Hallowe'en Started Early

Spooks-Day Gets More Attention By Young Folks

If you're afraid of ghosts and goblins, or if witches and other haunts give you the creeps, then you'd better stay indoors this weekend while the young folks masquerade themselves and search out the strange characters of story-book fame.

Hallowe'en has been more in evidence in Greenville this year than in the past several years, as the boys and girls of the city began their spooks-day celebration more than a week in advance of the officially designated October 31.

The Hallowe'en celebration of this year, however, has been well organized and carried out in good order rather than in the robust manner which was common of Hallowe'ens in years past. And although the real night is two days away, city police and other officials have expressed their opinions that this will be one of the best-behaved Hallowe'ens Greenville's young people have had in some time.

Started A Week Ago
It was a week ago last night that the funny faces and spine-chilling costumes came out of their year's hibernation to greet the party staged at the Greenville armory by members of the Business and Professional Women's club.

Since then there have been Hallowe'en parties at the West Greenville school and St. Raphael's school, and another is planned for Monday night at the Third Street school.

Haunts and Goblins
The parties were greeted by a host of queer-looking forms which hid the bodies of children from three years old through high school age, and all joined in the frolicking and games which were at their disposal. Gypsy fortune tellers read the psalms of the amazed youngsters, and wide-eyed ghouls gaped in awe at the costumes which were more startling than their own.

But the Hallowe'en costumes of this year did not conform to the usual drab spooky attire. The characters this year ranged from the usual scary personalities of Mr. Skeleton and Mrs. Witch to the gay gypsy girls, patched-eyed pirates, cowboys, monkeys, clowns, red lips, and dapper soldiers of the European courts.

At the celebrations the laughter and chatter was not reserved entirely for the children, as many parents who accompanied the youngsters to the parties found that Hallowe'en is still Hallowe'en in spite of the number of years that have lapsed since they last donned a false face, or straddled a witch's broom.

Used to be Bad on Police
Although the theme of the All Saints Day has remained the same through the years, there has been an impressive change in outlets which the youngsters have found for their excess energies at Hallowe'en.

Police Chief L. D. Page and other members of the police force yesterday recalled the past years when Hallowe'en meant numerous calls and complaints about damaged property and vandalism which were the result of youngsters' pranks. And the morning after was one in which porch chairs had to be removed from the streets, broken milk bottles had to be swept up, and cars had to be washed because of soap markings masqueraded pranksters had left the evening before.

Nor has it been many years since one could expect to find his gate hanging from some nearby tree, or city officials were not surprised to hear that some pieces of public property had been given a haphazard dousing of bright paint.

Predict A Well-Behaved Hallowe'en
Local officials insist, however, that most of the vandalism which accompanied Hallowe'en is a thing of the past, and through organization and effort on the part of the adults of the community, the children still get as big a kick as ever out of the spookiest night of the year, and the damage to property is practically nil.

As far as the calendar is concerned, Hallowe'en is still two days away, but as far as the kids and townfolk of Greenville are concerned, it has been here for a week, and still has a couple of more days to run.

Hallowe'en Carnival Awarded Prizes For Parade Costumes

The Hallowe'en Carnival, sponsored by the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club, at the armory last Friday night, was featured by a parade of children in costumes, on bicycles, on foot and on ponies. The annual BPWC Hallowe'en Carnival is a popular event. Parents appeared to enjoy the frolic as much as the children.

Cecil Turner and Joanne Eagles won the $5 cash prizes for having on the best Hallowe'en costumes in the parade. "Bunny" Overton won the door prize, a Rulane gas heater. Aubrey Taylor won the chicken that refused to eat during the show.

The annual Hallowe'en Carnival is given for the benefit of the BPWC recreation fund, Mrs. Ruth Meeks, the president, stated. Miss Annie Laurie Askew was chairman of the parade committee. Miss Evelyn Latham was general chairman.

C. E. Bray In Joint Navy-Marine Tests

C. E. Bray, seaman apprentice, USN, of 706 West Fifth St., Greenville, as a crew member aboard the landing ship USS 512 is now taking part in joint Navy and Marine Corps cold weather exercises off the coast of Labrador in the vicinity of Hamilton Inlet.

The exercises will continue for approximately four weeks, of which time about ten days will be spent in Canadian waters.

Sitting on the side of a fire truck, these six youngsters took part in the Hallowe'en parade here last Friday afternoon, and later joined in the celebration which in Greenville has lasted over a week.

Cecil Turner sits on his tricycle to pose with Joanne Eagles (second from right) after they received the awards for the best costumes at the Business and Professional Women's Hallowe'en party. Each received a $5 prize. Hundreds of Greenville boys and girls have attended Hallowe'en parties this week, and October 31 is still two days away. (Daily Reflector Photos).

"Hey, Mr. Photographer . . ." The Daily Reflector photographer didn't have to do much persuading to get these Hallowe'en minded kids in a group for a picture. Some wore costumes and some didn't, but all had a gay time.

This costumed youngster peers intently into a jack-o-lantern at one of the games at the BPWC Hallowe'en party while others wait in line for their turn. His clown costume and his monkey dough-face attracted a great deal of attention among the witches, goblins and other haunts.

Flagstad Given Great Ovation

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Kirsten Flagstad's postwar operatic debut in Los Angeles was greeted last night by a cheering sellout audience.

The hefty Norwegian soprano filled the vast Shrine Auditorium with strains of "Tristan und Isolde," in which she co-starred with Set Svahnholm. Her first appearance on the stage was applauded and she was wildly acclaimed at her curtain call.

Unlike some of her other American appearances, this one was unmarked by any disturbance or demonstration.

Cases Tried Friday In Recorder's Court

In Police Court Friday, Herbert B. Weiss paid $10 for crashing a red light. John O. Hudnell also paid $10.

Roy Smith (alias Robert Harris), colored, was given six months in jail for larceny.

Drunk: John Mabry, colored, 30 days, suspended on payment of $15; Sam Jade, colored, 30 days on roads and he also is to serve 30 days on a previous charge of being drunk.

Pitt County Sees Beginning Of Road Improvements Program; Moving Fast

Ten Projects To Total 55.65 Miles In Length

Pitt county this week saw the beginning of its portion of the paving of secondary roads which is to be paid for through the state's $200,000,000 road program.

Work was begun Tuesday on the first of 10 projects which the county is to receive under the first phase of the program, as the first asphalt was laid on the 4.57 miles of dirt road which connect Winterville and highway number 43.

Construction crews of the Barrus Construction company put down only 600 feet of the black top on Tuesday, but the following day the work moved ahead on schedule, and a company foreman and a state inspector expressed the belief that the road will be completed early next week.

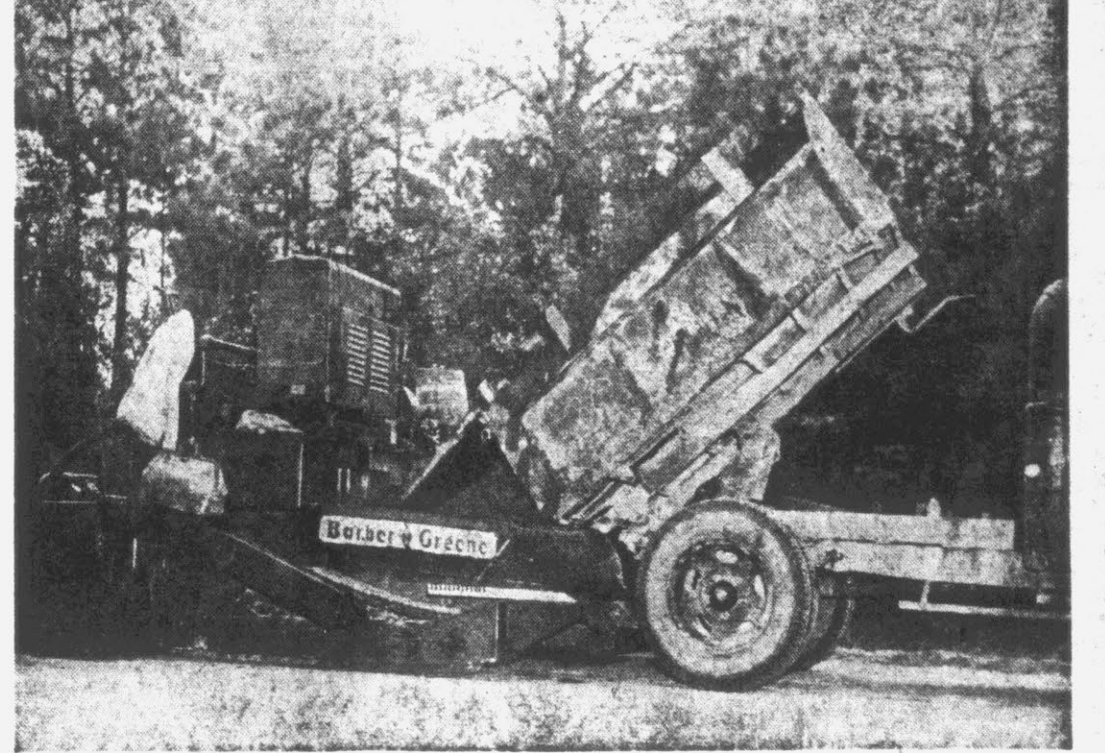

The Barrus company was awarded the contract for the first Pitt county project for its bid of approximately $33,000 for the 4.57 miles of road.

A spokesman for the construction company said approximately 26 trucks are being used to haul asphalt from the plant in Belvoir to the construction project. Each of the trucks is equipped with a dump body, and carries six and one-quarter tons of asphalt per load. The asphalt is covered to prevent rapid chilling, and it is approximately 300 degrees F. when it is placed on the road.

State Inspector R. E. Lattimer said approximately 4,925 tons of asphalt will be used in the paving of the 4.57 miles of the present project. The road is 18 feet wide and covered with a coating of asphalt two and one-half inches deep.

In the first phase of the state's road program, Pitt county is to receive 55.65 miles of paving on its secondary roads, and an additional $100,000 which is to be used in transforming bad dirt roads into all-weather roads.

Superintendent of Schools D. M. Conley checked the list of ten paving projects when they were released this week by Commissioner W. Guy Hargett of the second highway division, and said all of the 55.65 miles of paving scheduled for the county in the near future is on school bus routes. The first phase of the program in Pitt county, the school officials said, should pave

The first of Pitt county's secondary roads to be paved under the state's $200,000,000 road program got its coating of asphalt this week. The pictures above show equipment laying asphalt on the road from Winterville to the New Bern highway. The road is 4.57 miles long, 18 feet wide, and is expected to be completed next week. Pitt county is scheduled to receive 55.65 miles of paving in the first phase of the program.

approximately 10 per cent of the school bus routes which will be affected by the present paving program, Conley said, will include Ayden, Winterville, Grifton, Grimesland, Arthur, Falkland, Fountain and Chocod.

Used Great Care In Casting Operatic Supporting Roles

Charles Wagner, veteran impresario, whose productions of the twin opera bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Rustic Cavalier) and "I Pagliacci" (The Players), has lavished great care and thought in the casting of supporting roles for these two operas, just as he has in casting his leads.

Now in his tenth season of producing operas for "the road," Mr. Wagner feels more strongly than ever that fine voices must be used in supporting roles and that these roles must be cast to type if they are to strengthen rather than weaken the whole ensemble.

Two of the most difficult roles to be cast to type were Beppo and Sylvio in "I Pagliacci." Mr. Wagner reports that he and his directors heard over forty singers for each of these roles. Byron Steele, a young tenor graduate of the University of Chattanooga, was picked for Beppo. He has sung with the St. Louis Municipal Opera, has sung with the Robert Shaw Chorale, and has appeared as soloist in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony under Serge Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony. He has appeared as soloist in concerts and on various network broadcasts.

Sylvio, in the Leoncavallo opera, is to be sung by Thomas Perkins, baritone of Philadelphia. A graduate of the Curtis Institute of Music, he has done leading roles with the American Opera Company of Philadelphia, the St. Paul Civic Opera, and at the Berkshire Music Festival. He has had his own weekly programs over Philadelphia radio stations for the past two years. In January 1949, he was a semi-finalist in the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air. Mr. Perkins spent two seasons on Broadway in "Allegro" and the revival of "Sweethearts," and he has sung the leads in many Gilbert and Sullivan operettas as well as "Chocolate Soldier," "The Vagabond King," etc. He was selected by the Governor of Pennsylvania to represent that state at the National Festival of Opera which was held in Milwaukee in August.

For the role of Alfio, in "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mr. Wagner has engaged a magnificent young bass-baritone, Philip Le Torre, who studied with the famous operatic tenor Giovanni Zenatello and with Astolfo Pesce.

Sura Bardin, who has been chosen for the part of Mama Lucia in "Cavalleria Rusticana" makes her first professional tour with this company after making a very favorable impression in a New York concert in 1947.

Local Guardsman Looking Forward To Army Career

With the National Guard recruiting campaign in full swing, officers of Battery C, 660th Field Artillery Battalion in Greenville are hoping for some more men like their machine gun sergeant.

The machine gun sergeant is Alvin McArthur, Jr., a Greenville Route Two boy who eats, sleeps and lives military.

Sgt. McArthur is the boy who won a commendation from Maj. Gen. John H. Manning for his performance while serving with the local National Guard at Fort Jackson this summer.

McArthur's machine gun crew was one of the more outstanding groups attending the Thirtieth Infantry Division of the Tennessee-North Carolina National Guard two week encampment.

"He's a good soldier all right," Capt. James B. Tyndall of the local unit commented this week. "Sgt. McArthur is the type of man we'd like to get more of in our current recruiting campaign," he said.

The McArthur tobacco store began a military career for years ago when he entered the military institute in Salem, N.C., as a high school junior.

Today he is looking forward to a fulltime career as a soldier. McArthur is scheduled to graduate from East Carolina Teachers College this spring. His intentions are to enlist in the Army and attend Officers Candidate School. He has aspirations of becoming an ordnance or infantry officer.

"I guess I have always wanted to go into fulltime military service," McArthur explained after being assured that he wouldn't be made to look like a publicity hound. (The truth of the matter is that he refused to allow an interview until he was convinced that it would be good for the National Guard and the current recruiting campaign.)

McArthur says he was still a little in doubt as to whether he could make a go of it as a soldier until this past summer. He explained that after nine weeks of a small arms training course in Maryland where he lived and worked side by side with regular army men, he was convinced that he was cut out for military service.

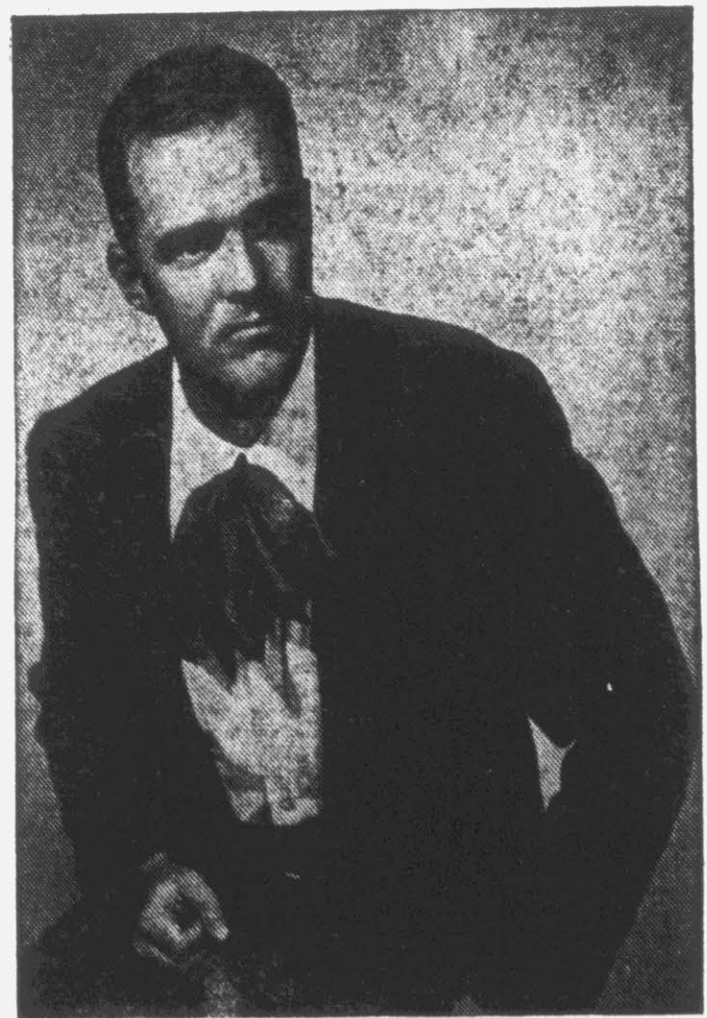

The machine gun sergeant was one of three men from the Greenville unit to take a part in the courses. Sgt. Mahlon Tucker Jr., McArthur's room mate at EMI and another of Greenville's outstanding guardsmen, and Cpl. Robert A. Brooks, were among the local men to pass the specialization courses in Maryland.

Though sergeants are reputedly a detestable lot, officers at the local Guard describe McArthur as a well liked guardsman and one who has long commanded the respect of his fellow soldiers.

"The fellows can't help but like a man like McArthur," he's definitely an asset to the battery," is the way M-Sgt. F. L. Joyner speaks of McArthur.

"We have some mighty outstanding men in our outfit and McArthur is one of them," asserted Capt. Tyndall, unable to hide the pride he holds for the outfit which has made such a commendable record as the Greenville unit has accomplished.

Mascagni opera, is Evelyn Tanner, with the Los Angeles Grand Opera of Los Angeles. Miss Tanner has and the American Opera Company sung leading mezzo soprano roles throughout southern California.

THOMAS PERKINS, baritone, as Sylvio in "I Pagliacci."

BYRON STEELE, tenor, who sings role of Beppo.

BURRIGANS AND TERMITES
 A burrigan can quickly destroy a house; and so can termites. Little by little these insidious insects can eat the substance out of a dwelling until at last the beams become as rotten and the house finally plunges into ruin.

Character is sometimes destroyed by the burrigan of great events. Disappointment, financial loss, gross injustice, disease sweep down upon people and utterly destroy everything they are and have. But people are destroyed by the burrigan of events only about as often as houses are destroyed by the terrifying wind storms. More often than not, people lose their moral character gradually, unconsciously, over a long period of time, with some evil or a number of evils eating away the hearts and the moral life until everything crumbles into ruin. Animosities and hate, cherished over the years, will do this. Covetousness, which robs the soul of its spiritual values, is another insidious and devastating burrigan. We know that millions of people in this country gradually drink themselves into moral ruin, becoming what is termed today a building which can be destroyed effectively as can a burrigan. Long-cherished, long-practiced habits, however, the life until at last there is nothing to support it in dignity.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
BIGGEST—What is the biggest city in North Carolina? Almost an unanimous answer will be "Charlotte," of course. That may not be the case. It depends upon what is meant by biggest city. Even in the Winston-Salem folks reluctantly admit that Charlotte has more people living within the corporate limits, although Mayor Marshall Kurfess claims well over 100,000 for the 1st city.

GOVERNMENT—While conceding more folks to Charlotte, the Winston-Salem boosters insist they have the largest municipal government in North Carolina, employing more than twelve hundred people. The Twin City Sentinel gets out that its home town operates two city hospitals, assumes responsibility for operation and maintenance of all school buildings, a city market, an auditorium, two libraries, extensive recreation facilities and parks, as well as the normal functions of a city, sanitary, policy and fire department.

RIVALRY—There is keen rivalry between Charlotte and Winston-Salem, which crops out every time the respective mayors Victor Shaw and Marshall Kurfess get together. The 1950 census put Winston-Salem in top population place, but the 1940 count gave Charlotte 25,000 more. Both now claim about 40 per cent growth within the past decade and predictions by the Laysors are that Charlotte will come through the 1950 census with around 150,000 and Winston-Salem with more than 100,000. City officials at the municipal league convention this week claimed that more than half the state's population is now urban, as against about 25 per cent ten years ago. It will probably be necessary to count suburban limits to make the 50 percent, but municipal leaguers insist that city water sewer and fire services are now provided for more than half the people of North Carolina.

APPRECIATIVE—Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Baletine has a letter of which he is very proud. It was written in Braille by Benny King a second grade pupil at the state school for the blind in Raleigh, thanking the agriculture department for tickets to the state fair. Someone else, probably the teacher, had interlined in pen and ink interpretation of the Braille dots so that commissioner could read it. Pupils of the school went to the fair in small groups accompanied by teachers or attendants who explained the exhibits and Benny King writes that "I saw the ducks in the water" and "I saw your picture at the waterfall" and "I saw the tractor." He further said he enjoyed the rides and other entertainment provided.

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Grown people can act completely insane when they set out to do it. About the time you think a man has reached the "settled" age he ups and proves that he can out up just as much as the wildest teen-ager. No one can prove it, but grownups seem to have more fun acting like teenagers than teen-agers have acting like grownups.

Night before last a group of people set out to prove that they are anything but "settled." The members of Greenville Country Club had a Halloween masquerade ball.

Prizes were awarded to members with the best costumes. Mrs. Charlie Marston, dressed as Daisy Mae of Al Gapp's cartoon strip, "Lil Abner," won first prize for the women. The men's prize was topped by Howard Waldrop, who was dressed as a woman. His wife, Gay, was dressed as a man.

All of his life Howard had wondered why it takes a woman so long to get dressed. Now he knows. He says that it took him almost four hours to get into his costume. Gay was in her man's get-up in a little over four minutes.

Perhaps women complain about how long it takes their husbands to dress, but the husband complains about his wife's desire for a fur coat and maybe his wife should let him go out doors in the winter-time with her clothes on. Any normal man would freeze to death in women's clothes.

Howard was sporting a coal black wig, a white sweater (well fortified), black stockings, white garters, and high-heeled shoes. Don't ask me how I know the color of his garters; I wasn't there. They were masqueraded as a newspaper columnist.

Erskine Duff was masqueraded as a Hanes Underwear ad. Top to bottom, he was wearing top hat, white hat, white tie, tails, and long underwear. Over his longies he had shorts, which was probably the deal he made with the underwear company. The company probably required him to advertise

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
 New York.—After giving the best years of her life to radio, Peggy Bruder has to give up her microphone job because of old age.

"I don't feel too old to go on, but I guess they know best," she said mournfully.

Peggy is 12.

"An old woman," she said. "I realize that."

For three years Peggy has been a star panelist on WHO's network program, "Juvenile Jury." On the program five experts from four to twelve years hear the problems of other children and suggest how to solve them.

"What those five-year-olds come up with you wouldn't believe," said Peggy, a blue-eyed girl with long blonde curls.

"It gets to the point where the problems don't seem serious—only comical. And we try to make the audience laugh if we can think of a clever answer."

And that is the key to her temporarily forced retirement. For a child trying to be clever is rarely as funny as a child who is spontaneous. Or as Jack Barry, program moderator put it:

"We depend for laughs and pace on the off-the-cuff answers of the kids. At 12 a child begins to get a little sophisticated."

Sunday Peggy will make her final

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS
 Washington.—Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, got a pretty good idea how the rest of the world lives on a flight around the globe.

With a group of other nationally prominent figures, she participated in "round-the-world discussions" sponsored by the Town Hall Meeting of the Air. She talked with government officials, educators, economists, women leaders, problems of concern to peoples everywhere.

"Our standard of living is so much higher than that of others that no American in any walk of life should ever complain," she told me.

One of the most important problems confronting the world today, she is convinced, is that of caring for and settling refugees. The federation has been strongly behind legislation to take in the largest possible number of refugees and to assist their entry into this country. It is preparing to help its member groups in other countries by sending clothing to refugee children and in numerous other ways aiding the groups to carry forth their own programs of assistance.

Here are some of the things she found on her trip: The population of Karachi, Pakistan, has increased from 200,000 to more than 1,000,000 by refugees in two years—Calcutta has 2,000,000 unhouse-d—Arab refugees, insufficiently clothed and fed, are crowded into Lebanon—from 15,000 to 20,000 Jewish refugees are swarming into Israel monthly with scarcity of food and a housing shortage a dire problem.

Another member of the party, Miss Anna Lord Strauss, national president of the league of women voters, said that in addition to the displaced persons, who are the destruction of cities and factories, overpopulation of countries as related to resources and a serious unbalance of trade were other apparent problems. "Most countries," she said, "are thinking in nationalistic terms, intent upon finding a means to survive the financial and social crises that threaten their very existence."

She and Mrs. Buck agree, as to many others of the party, "that the great untapped source of hope for the world lies in the contribution women can make."

"Women in all the countries we visited are doing an outstanding volunteer job in caring for refugees, and in all phases of welfare work," Mrs.

Push Studies Of Curing Mystery

Buck said, "They consider it an individual responsibility."

College Station, Raleigh, Oct. 29—Officials of the State College Experiment Station and Extension Service are pushing efforts to solve the anthracite tobacco curing mystery. Much of the tobacco cured this year in the new, fuelless, anthracite barns has brought low prices on the market because of curious bleached spots or "blisters."

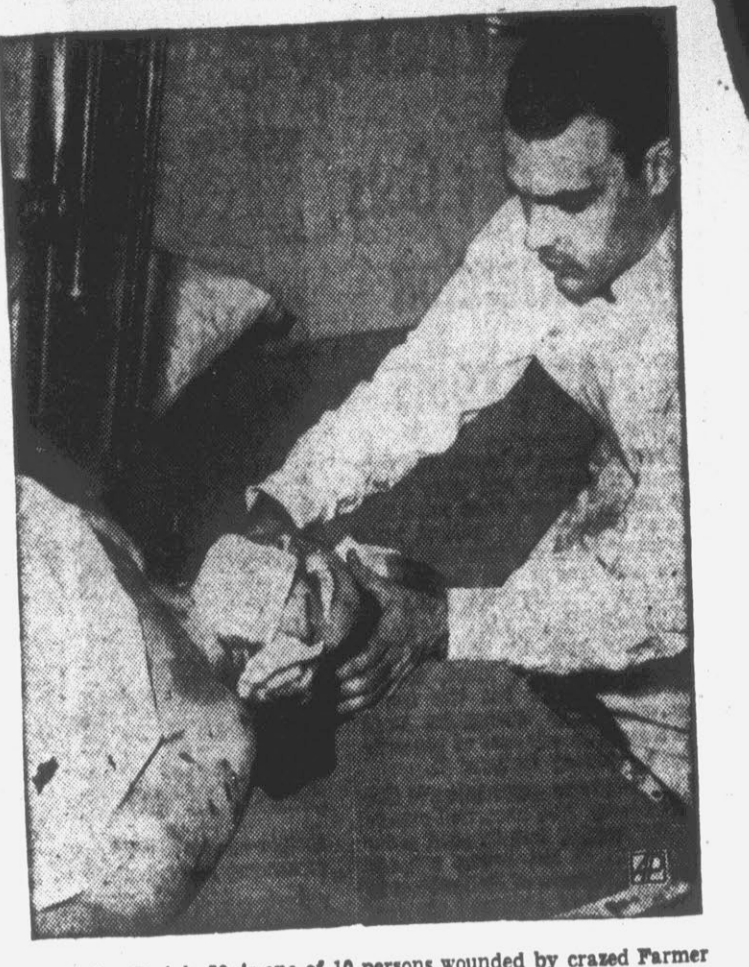

Speculation over the cause of the blisters continues. Dr. W. E. Colwell, head of the College's tobacco research program, said early this week that investigators have not been able to find out exactly how and why the anthracite curers cause the leaf irregularities. Neither have they been able to learn the effect of these irregularities on smoking qualities.

Dr. J. A. Weybrew, biochemist at the College, is testing anthracite-cured leaf for color changes, chemical properties and other scientific measures of tobacco quality. His tests on newly-cured leaf are "indefinite on newly-cured leaf." It will be some time yet before aged 1949 leaf will be available for study.

Meanwhile, college officials feel there is little that can be done for the 1949 crop. Curing is complete, and a good share of the crop has been sold. However, the results of the current tests will be announced as soon as they are available.

These are the products of man's labor—and God's. From the moment the seedlings were placed in the warm earth, they have been under constant care.

First came the rain and the sun—and then the ceaseless work of fertilizing, cultivating, and spraying. Last, came harvest time, when the proud growers gathered the rewards of their labor.

Only by such diligence, can we hope for a truly bountiful crop. God has given the refreshing rain and warm sunshine, but He expects us to do our part.

And so it is with the care and cultivation of our spiritual lives. Man is endowed with many talents and qualities, but unless he tends and nurtures these gifts, they will not increase and grow.

Harvest time in the life of every person is at maturity, when men are at the peak of their usefulness and wisdom. By attending the services of the Church and by studying the Scriptures, we will realize greater happiness and contentment here on earth—and will be preparing ourselves for the RICH HARVEST of a life hereafter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ayden Eleven Trounces Tarboro By 26-7 Score

Tornadoes Extend Winning Streak To Four Games As Running And Passing Attack Outclasses Visitors

Ayden—Coach Stuart Tripp's Ayden high school Tornadoes trounced Tarboro high school Tiger eleven 26-7 here Friday afternoon.

The Coastal Conference champion Tornadoes, extending their winning streak to four games, ran and passed through the visiting eleven for 14 first downs while holding the Tigers to four firsts.

With Quarterback Leonard Bullock doing the tossing the winners completed seven of 12 passes as they chalked up win number five in six games. The only loss suffered so far this season by the Ayden squad was a narrow 14-13 defeat at the hands of Class A Greenville high school.

The first Ayden score came on a 40 yard pass from Bullock to McDonald Hardee. Bullock scored the point.

In the same first period Ayden began a drive on their own 30 and with Allen Jackson and Bullock doing most of the carrying, moved to the Tarboro four from where Bullock plunged over for the tally.

Bullock skirted end for 12 yards and paydirt in the second quarter to give Ayden its third score. The drive began when Hardee intercepted a Tiger pass on the midfield stripe.

Worthington made the extra point.

Hardee broke over guard and into the clear for 35 yards and Ayden's fourth touchdown in the third quarter.

Tarboro's lone touchdown came as the result of an Ayden fumble on the Tornadoes' 35. On the opening play Sasser fired a pass to Lee which was good for 35 yards and a touchdown.

Outstanding from Ayden were Right Guard Walter Meeks and Right Tackle Troy Jackson. Line backers Greg Davis and R. M. Mason were outstanding defensively.

Larceny Charged To Grid Players

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 29—(AP)—Seven Joliet (Ill.) high school football players, including six first stringers, were in jail today on charges of looting two stores of clothing while on their way to last night's game.

Four of the players missed their team's game against nearby Freeport and the other three were seized by police after the contest, which ended in a 6-6 tie score.

Police said larceny charges were placed against six of the youths and the seventh was charged with accessory after the fact. They said the youths admitted they had looted the two stores of clothing during a 45-minute stopover on the 100-mile bus ride from Joliet to Freeport.

Police stopped the bus carrying 38 members of the varsity team about one mile out of Rockford. Detectives said proprietors of the two stores reported several articles of clothing missing after the youths had left the establishments, the M. and W. Clothing Store and the Chicago Outlet Store.

Detectives Willard Lundberg and Donovan Saunders said they found one topcoat, two pairs of slacks and 35 pairs of socks hidden in the bus. However, at first all of the youths denied the thefts, but when the detectives threatened to take the entire team back to Rockford four of the players admitted stealing the articles.

Later detectives went to Freeport and seized the three other players after the game.

Catawba Loses To Presbyterian

Clinton, S.C., Oct. 29—(AP)—Rolling up 373 yards on the ground, Presbyterian defeated Catawba 19-14 in a football game here last night.

The North Carolinians' only effective weapon was the forward pass, which netted them 173 yards on completions of 13 of 24.

Presbyterian touchdowns were scored on a pass to Brooke Copeland, Walter Gooch cracking the line and Ken McCutcheon going around end. Fred Barnum kicked the lone placement.

Catawba scored on Homer Brewster's plunge over left tackle and John Coble's drive over center.

There are many reasons why the Chicago Bears have been so successfully operated by George Halas and not the least of these is the manner in which Halas brings along replacements for his fading veterans.

In all positions, the Bears' maestro has youngsters in various stages of development moving also to the point where they will be ready to step into the starting line-up and deliver up to the Bears' standards.

Take the case of Johnny Lujack. Johnny was graduated from Notre Dame after playing on three championship teams. He had never played on a losing Irish team and was the most publicized football player since Red Grange. Twice named unanimously to All-America teams, he was called the greatest all-around athlete to attend Notre Dame. He was awarded the Heisman Trophy and just about every other football award. They said he was a master T quarterback and ready to step right in and take over that berth with the Chicago Bears.

Halas had different ideas.

As a rookie last year, Lujack did fairly well with the Bears. But for the most part he was being trained to learn Sid Luckman was still running the Bears on the field and helping to prepare Johnny for the future. Johnny was scheduled for a bit more work this season but not much more. When Luckman was forced to undergo an operation, Lujack's apprenticeship was rushed a bit and he took over the quarterback post. And he has been doing very well. But Halas insists that Johnny is still three seasons away from his peak.

Williamston Captures 19-6 Victory Against Farmville

Farmville—Farmville high school, losing the services of ace halfback Claude Tyson in the first quarter, was humbled 19-6 by a Green Wave aggregation from Williamston here last night.

The Green Wave, annexing its fourth win in five encounters, scored in the second quarter on a 50 yard drive to lead seven to nothing at halftime. Then Williamston weathered four consecutive downpours of rain to score twice in the second half.

It was the third loss for the Red Devils.

Bad breaks plagued the team from Farmville. On the opening play from scrimmage for Farmville, Tyson broke away for an 80 yard touchdown run only to have it nullified by a penalty. The halfback

Cerdan Death May Give Graziano Shot At Title

New York, Oct. 29—(AP)—The shocking death of Marcel Cerdan may mean that Rocky Graziano will get a June outdoor shot at Jake LaMotta's middleweight title.

The Tumultuous Rocky, former ruler of the division and a great inside track over ornate leading contenders—waterweight champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson and Frances Laurent Dauthuille.

All three hold claims to a crack at LaMotta's crown.

Graziano is a warm friend of the champion but it seems unlikely he would let that interfere with a chance at the title and a big pot. He and Jake might draw a half million dollars in a place like Yankee Stadium.

Comedy And Intricate Drills By College Band In Halftime Feature

Highlighting the East Carolina-Edenton Marine football game last night was what spectators described as being the best performance of the year of the East Carolina Teachers College band.

The band, which has performed commendably at every game here this season, made its first appearance with its new lighted caps.

At halftime Director Herbert Carter's musicians did some intricate drills. Then, when the stadium lights went out they formed a jug and turned on their cap lights. With the majorettes dancing to one side they played the "Little Brown Jug."

Another amusing part of the band's performance was the comedy of the over anxious trombone player, later identified as Rodney Roberts.

Few Turn Out To See Ez Charles

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 28—(AP)—A crowd of only 1,100 turned out tonight to have a look at new Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles in exhibition action against two opponents. His share of the gate was $537.

Charles boxed two, two-minute rounds with Al Smith of New York, which drew cries for action and boos from the fans. He stepped livelier in two rounds with Floyd Gibson of Cincinnati and landed several hard rights.

Locals Smother Marine Eleven With Precision Football Display

The battling Buccaneers of East Carolina Teachers College, blocking, tackling, running and passing with clockwork precision, grounded an Edenton Flyers football aggregation 67 to nothing here last night before a near capacity crowd at East Carolina Stadium.

Coach Bill Dole's boys, hitting their season peak, ran up a 21 point lead by the end of the first quarter, despite having one touchdown called back on a penalty.

They had another touchdown called back in the second period after Bob Grady ran a punt back 72 yards, but still chalked up enough tallies to lead 41 to nothing at the half.

The Bucs sent over two more touchdowns in each of the last two periods to complete the scoring.

Jim Danks, East Carolina place kicking specialist made good seven of 10 tries for extra points.

The Marines never scored. Only once did they threaten. In the third period Halfback Neely completed two consecutive passes to move the ball from his 23 to 35 of East Carolina. Two penalties moved the ball deeper into East Carolina territory but Bob Grady intercepted a pass to end the Marines' only hope of tallying.

East Carolina rocked the visitors from their heels at the offset when in the opening minute of play Roger Thrift passed to Dwight Shoe for 15 yards and paydirt. Danks' kick split the cross bars and the Bucs were just getting started.

Three minutes later Thrift passed to Benzi over the Marines goal but it was nullified by a penalty. The penalty put the Bucs back on the 35. Halfback Bill Darby brought it down to the 20; Thrift sneaked through to the 13 and then Jack Benzi went around end for the tally. Again Danks' kick was good.

A 43 yard run by Johnny Smith and a 28 yard pass from Thrift to Mike Kovach gave the Bucs their third score in the opening period. Danks' boot again was good for the point to put the Pirates ahead 21 to nothing over the dazed Marines.

Grady's 67 yard punt return gave the Pirates their fourth touchdown of the game. The Kinston freshman back took the kick and went down the sidelines behind beautiful blocking for the score. The final would-be-tacklers were taken out by Denney Smith and John Daugli.

The final touchdown was on a pass from Thrift to Eddie Tanner which was good for 12 yards and the touchdown which gave East Carolina its final 67-0 lead.

The Buccaneers were knocking at Edenton 23 with a first and ten. The game ended with the locals on the Edenton 23 with a first and ten. Every man on the Pirate roster saw action in the contest. And every one of them looked in top form for the game as the locals racked up their third win of the year and the 101st victory in the football coaching career of Bill Dole.

Featherweight Title Bout Has Better Prospect

New York, Oct. 29—(AP)—Prospects of a third chapter in the thrilling series featuring Featherweight Champion Willie Pep and Challenger Sandy Saddler are a little brighter today.

Reason for the renewal of hope for this fight "natural" is a changed outlook by Saddler's manager, Charley Johnston. Johnston indicated that he would be willing to lower his asking price in order to get elusive Willie in with his "Tiger" again.

"We'll fight him right here in the dressing room if he'll (Pep) put his title on the line against Sandy," Johnston said last night.

Johnston made the statement right after Saddler had demolished Paddy De Marco, a rugged Brooklyn lightweight in nine rounds in Madison Square Garden.

Gonzales Whips Pro Tennis King

Chicago, Oct. 29—(AP)—Jack Kramer, kingpin of pro tennis, may have found his match at last in 21-year-old Pancho Gonzales, a fellow Californian.

Gonzales, the 1948 and 1949 amateur champion, impressed a turnout of 8,212 Chicago tennis followers in the Stadium last night by whipping the king 9-7, 1-6, 6-4. The victory evened the series at one match apiece in their world tour which started in New York Tuesday with Kramer taking a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 decision.

Point Leaders

University, Miss.—(AP)—Mississippi's Reds are frontrunners in furnishing individual football scoring leaders in the Southern Conference. The Reds have had four champs since the league was founded in 1933—Ray Hapes (74) points in 1935, Parker Hall (72) in 1938, Merle Hapes (72) in 1940 and Charley Conerly (54) in 1947. Georgia has three champs.

Chapter 13

"But you, Arleta said to the grave-faced Calvin, 'are catching fish. Saifish. I read about you yesterday. What I mean—well, but really you can't be here.' And she looked to How Kelly for confirmation.

"I wired to Mr. Sheridan," he explained. "I told him to fly out as fast as he could."

"Why?"

"To take you back, equally fast." Cal had a possessive arm about her now. "Weather reports aren't too bad; we could leave right away."

"Leave!" Arleta stiffened. "I couldn't."

Arleta turned suddenly. "I came for help. If I must, I'll handle this alone, good-bye."

She was in the car when Kelly thrust his head up of the door to shout, "Guard!" In a moment Arleta learned what he meant.

to see what controlled water supply would mean to this section. He unquestionably gained federal support, but down in that valley which must hold the rain and snow shed, there were families who didn't want to give up their homes, so it was necessary to condemn the property."

Arleta had turned a puzzled face toward him. "I couldn't blame these people."

"Being a rugged individualist, no. But consider this: the greatest good for the greatest number of people. Water to irrigate land to provide food, at that time, for our army and our allies."

"But why blame my father?"

"Because the government isn't as satisfactory an enemy as an individual. People have to vent their spleen some place."

"Would—Arleta hesitated—"that make someone want to murder him?"

"Some crackpot might think he did," Arleta, he broke off, "murdered? Your father was killed in a hunting—"

"And then he stopped as though he too had heard that story. 'Who told you such a yarn?' She told then of Mrs. Cotson's unfortunate remark: 'I worried over it, then went to How Kelly.'

"And what did he say?"

She quoted How Kelly.

"And the other man, obviously some crank with a persecution complex who fired at your father. Who was he?"

"Allene Lane's father."

On Oct. 16, 1906, Mrs. Allen filed for divorce from Jesse Lee Allen on charges of desertion. She was granted an interlocutory decree.

Today, she's a free woman, but Victor Kaplan, her Los Angeles attorney, says he doesn't know why it took so long. He got the case from a San Francisco law firm.

The main speaker of the service will be Dr. H. A. Coleman of the Social Science department of East Carolina Teachers College who will speak on "Peace is Possible."

When preparing a package for shipment overseas care must be taken to wrap and prepare it correctly. The bundles should be supported by a base of cardboard 15-24. Clothing of all types will be accepted but good clothing is hoped for, with a goal of 60 percent for new materials set.

The people over in Europe need yard goods of all type such as cotton, woolens, yarn, prints.

A typical slogan of the drive to collect clothing is, "Search your house, clean out your sewing basket, collect every piece of usable material." In addition to the materials, buttons, needles, scissors, thread and tape are needed.

Instructions for shipping the package were given as follows: "Wrap your bundle in a yard and a half of blue denim (for patching overalls), tie it securely and bring it to be mailed at the church."

Total Of 482 Animals Exhibited In Dairy Shows By N. C. Negro Youths

College Station, Raleigh, N. C. Oct. 29—A total of 482 animals was exhibited in seven districts dairy shows held this fall by Negro youth of the State. It was reported today by R. L. Wynn, Negro dairy specialist for the State College Extension Service.

The shows were sponsored by the Extension Service in cooperation with local chambers of commerce, county commissioners, Farm Bureau units, dairies, and other business and civic groups.

The young people who participated received a total of $4,108.50 in the form of cash prizes, banquets, and special awards.

Wynn said the quality of the animals exhibited this year showed great improvement over that of previous years. We attributed the improvement to better pastures, use of more home-grown feeds, and improved breeding facilities.

All animals were judged under the Danish system. Blue ribbons were awarded to 156, red ribbons to 214 and white ribbons to 112.

The largest show was held at Rocky Mount, where 104 animals were exhibited. Details for other shows were: Fayetteville, 92; Greensboro, 63; Durham, 48; Reidsville, 46; Monroe, 49 and Shelby 80.

The Unification . . .

The only one who can overrule him on questions of the Army Navy or Air Force is the President who is commander-in-chief.

For example: Navy Secretary Francis B. Matthews may think Johnson is wrong in wanting to drop 50,000 Navy men and officers from their jobs, and he may tell Johnson so. But if Johnson still says they're dropped, they're dropped.

Something else was added by the Unification Act. That's a body called the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS). It's made up of:

The Army chief of staff (General J. Lawton Collins); the Air Force chief of staff (General Hoyt S. Vandenberg); and the chief of naval operations. This job was held by Admiral Louis B. Denfeld until President Truman fired him Thursday.

There's a fourth top man—in fact, the top military man of the country—in the JCS. He's the chairman (General Omar Bradley). His job is to act as moderator. He has no vote.

What final authority do the members of the JCS have? Suppose the Army and Air Force chiefs think the Navy strength should be cut down, although the Navy chief disagrees. Is that 2 to 1 vote final and is the Navy cut down?

No, says Secretary Johnson. He told Congress the JCS members have final say—on nothing, that they can only recommend the final decision. The admirals squirmed but were unable to block decision after decision to cut down Navy strength and ambition.

Before unification, it had been able, as an independent agency, to do its own planning, subject only to decisions by the President and Congress.

Finally, unable to do anything under the unification law to get what they wanted for the Navy, the admirals protested by making their feelings public.

Babson . . .

Continued from page one similar interest in the property cannot be obtained. The family squabble continues and all parties lose money via lawsuits. Or consider the case when a man dies and leaves no children but leaves other relatives.

In Massachusetts, for example, if the estate is $10,000 or less, the wife gets all. If the estate totals more than $10,000, the wife gets the first $10,000 and only one-half the additional value of the estate.

The long lost relative get the rest. Wherever you live, the legal disposition of your estate may be quite contrary to your wishes.

Why procrastinate? Don't be foolish! I know a thrifty Scot who said he would save ten dollars and a visit to his lawyer. He got a sample form of a will, copied it, but failed to have it witnessed by the proper number of witnesses required by his state to make this document legal. The probate court tossed it out and the old man's wishes went to the winds.

A friend of one of my business associates died the other day. She was a widow in her middle fifties. She had no children nor near kin. She left no will. She had talked to many about her estate and what she had her heart set on doing with it when the time came. Then she hastily added: "I have twenty-five more years to live and plenty of time to think about a will." She would shudder now. I am sure, could she see the property being divided up by law among all her first cousins.

It used to be the custom among English lawyers, at professional meetings, to offer the first toast to those who wrote their own wills! They know that carefully written wills bring the lawyers lots of business.

Miss Agnes Walters, class of '49 at C. M. Epps Negro High School in Greenville, who now is a student at St. Augustine's College in Raleigh, won a high honor in her first year there. She tied with Miss Mary Whitehead of the Anne Chestnut High School of Fayetteville for top place in the French placement test which was corrected at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Reginald L. Lynch, department of languages at St. Augustine's College, in a letter to Prof. W. H. Davenport, principal of C. M. Epps High School, stated: "The examination was taken by students from the District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia and North and South Carolina. You and your French teacher are to be commended. Please pass this good news on to your French teacher. At your teacher's request I will be glad to send her Miss Walters' score."

Pitt 'Pig Chain' Is Activated As Swine Presented

The Pitt county 4-H and FCX Pig chain became active this week when eight pure bred Duroc gilts and one pure bred boar were placed with nine members of the Pitt county 4-H club.

The pigs were presented to the members of the 4-H club who will keep the pigs for a period of one year under the management of the local farm agent's office.

The swine will then be on display at the local Pitt county fair the following year.

The members of the Pitt county 4-H clubs who received the swine were: William Roach, Brooks Mills, Robert Lee Edwards Jr. of Chiloc; D. W. Bailey, Eddie Lathau, Sam Porter, Jimmy Singleton, of Grimesland; Howard Bone, and Delbert Baker of Pactolus.

A Pit Named Gus

Arlington, Ia., Oct. 29—(P)—A 275-pound pig, name of Gus, is a frequent and welcome guest in the parlor of the Pete Becktell farm home near here.

Gus developed a penchant for life indoors when the Becktell family reared him behind the kitchen range.

Gus was abandoned at birth by his mother. The Becktells gave him his start with warm milk fed from a baby bottle.

Although Gus now has permanent quarters in the barnyard, he frequently follows the Becktells indoors. On these occasions Gus immediately heads for the scatter rug in front of the radio and reclines contentedly.

Mrs. Becktell says she doesn't protest too much. Gus is house-broken and his manners are above reproach.

As pigs go, Gus is a handsome spotted Poland China. Puppy-like, he will nuzzle the Becktells in friendly fashion. He grows jealous when attention is paid to Tony, the family dog.

The Becktells say Gus has several accomplishments: He knows his own name and will respond when called.

He knows the sound of the Becktell jeep. When he hears it coming he romps happily to the spot where it customarily is parked and awaits its arrival.

He likes human companionship and recently trudged a mile through field and wood to keep Becktell company while he sawed wood.

There's a big question mark about Gus' future. He is now at a weight when most pigs are lively candidates for conversion into bacon and pork roasts.

The Becktells dislike to think about such a possibility. They say Gus ought to be in a circus.

Federalist Move Gains Strenght

Cleveland, Oct. 29—(AP)—The United World Federalists tripled their strength in the United States last year and, expect to triple it again this year, Alan Cranston, president of the organization, reports.

Cranston spoke last night to a rally of 1,900 persons, including 800 delegates to the United World Federalists' third annual assembly, which opened yesterday and winds up tomorrow morning.

"The basic job of informing our people that federation is the price of survival," said Cranston, "is being done by the more than 700 chapters in this country in a way which 'has already succeeded beyond our hopes.'"

Present indications are that the government isn't going to let itself be stampeded into a general election but will carry on and try to secure an economic improvement before next summer when an election normally will be due.

In trying to figure what would happen if a general election were held now, some political experts confess themselves at a loss. They say that the independent voter, who will swing the balance, is confused and undecided because of the gravity of the economic crisis.
