Individual And Corporation Tax Hike Plea Seen

President May Have To Ask Sharp Increases To Balance Federal Budget

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—President Truman may have to ask for an increase of 25 per cent or more taxes if he wants to balance the budget that way, government figures showed today.

Despite advance notice of opposition in Congress, Mr. Truman has indicated he will ask for more revenues. He says it is necessary to help cover the $5,000,000,000 in red ink spending he has estimated for the year ending next June 30.

To raise even that amount of additional revenue, Congressional experts said Mr. Truman probably will be forced to ask for sharp increases in individual and corporation income taxes.

These taxes represent about three-fourths of the $38,000,000,000 in revenue the treasury expects to take in the current year while it is paying out a total estimated by the President at $43,500,000,000.

Many members of Congress have made it plain that they don't favor any increase in taxes. In fact, the Senate finance committee voted during the last session to cut excise levies but the issue never saw action in the Senate.

Congressional experts figure it would take an across the board increase of about 18 per cent in individual and corporation income taxes to produce the budget-balancing $5,500,000,000.

Since a blanket boost in such taxes is not believed to be feasible, these experts said some areas might have to go up 25 per cent while others remained at about present levels.

How much of a tax increase the President might ask would depend on the size of the budget he submits to Congress for the year beginning next July 1.

Few lawmakers think Mr. Truman is going to be able to keep that budget much under the $43,500,000,000 he has said will be spent this year. They think the cost of farm price supports, for instance, will offset any savings the President might bring about in military outlays.

Town Setting Up Relief Fund For Strike Families

Clariton, Pa., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Clariton city fathers have set up a relief fund for the families of the town's 500 striking steelworkers.

At a special session yesterday, city council voted unanimously to appropriate $50,000 as an emergency relief fund. The program will start on Monday.

Mayor John J. Mullen said the action was taken because of a number of strikers' families reported 'they have no means of meeting food, light and other bills.'

'Our program will be a sort of loan to our people,' said Mayor Mullen. 'Each applicant will promise in a signed statement that he will repay the money when he can. If the workers are unable to repay in cash, plans will be made for them to work it out for the city.'

Bolivian Airman In Oxygen Tent

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Erick Rios Bricoud, Bolivian pilot involved in the tragic air collision of Tuesday, has taken a turn for the worse.

The Alexandria, Va., hospital said today he has developed a lung condition and is in an oxygen tent. Doctors here feared the possibility of pneumonia.

Plug For World Trade

Truman, Hoffman And Acheson Join In Pleas For Easing Of Trade Barriers; Increased Imports Opposed By Many In The United States; What It Means

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—World trade got a big plug in a piece of teamwork by three of the most important men in the government.

The three pluggers were President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, and Paul Hoffman, head of the Marshall plan.

Early this week Hoffman in Paris told the European nations they'd have to mend their economic ways if they want to stay healthy.

How? By joining together to knock down barriers to trade, for example: By reducing their tariffs on one another's goods so they can move freely across frontiers and widen the markets for all of them; by reducing or wiping out their quota restrictions (a quota is the limit one nation places on the goods it will let in from another country to compete against its own products).

By more efficient manufacturing and selling practices, and so on.

Acheson Urges Trade Policy Reversal For United States

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—A major fight appeared to be shaping up today for the next session of Congress over Administration plans to increase imports by several billion dollars a year.

In one of the bluntest declarations yet made on the subject by a top government official, Secretary of State Acheson asserted in New York last night that "we must become really import minded."

Acheson told the National Foreign Trade Council that he sees nothing "favorable" in a trade balance by which the United States last year sold $13,000,000,000 worth of goods to the rest of the world and bought only $7,000,000,000 in return.

He declared that the $6,000,000,000 gap creates a serious problem for this country in its efforts to establish economic stability among the nations of the American Hemisphere and Western Europe.

Acheson in effect demanded that the United States reverse its 30-year old trade policies under which it has consistently sold more abroad than it has bought. He said he wants this country to begin to allow other nations to pay for what they buy here instead of having the American taxpayer foot the bill in the form of huge loans and gifts.

To achieve this objective he outlined a program based on negotiating new tariff cuts with other countries. At the same time he expressly recognized the fact that he will run up against stiff opposition as a result of prospective competition with American products.

Since some points of his proposal will require action by Congress—and he called for action at the next session—it appeared that the major issue will be fought out there.

In his speech, Acheson said: "The Administration proposes to negotiate further tariff cuts under the trade agreements authority newly extended by Congress last session. Officials here believe these negotiations may be held next September. The charter of the International Trade Organization, as far as U.S. membership is concerned, should be approved by Congress early next session. This may provide one of the focal points for the struggle over increasing American imports. If and when the United States does join ITO, Acheson said, it will have to legislate changes in customs requirements which presently retard trade.

Obstacles to imports which Acheson said arise from the agricultural price support system should be removed where possible. It is understood that the State Department is urging action by the Agriculture Department.

4. Federal, state and local governments which spend $10,000,000,000 a year for supplies should be given more freedom in buying foreign goods and not be rigidly required to "buy American."

Bail Allowed Convicted Top 11 U.S. Communists

Seven May Be Released In $20,000 Bail Each And Four In $30,000 Bail Apiece Pending Appeal Of Their Case

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today that the 11 top American Communists convicted of conspiracy may be released in bail pending appeal of their case.

The court ruled that seven could be released in $20,000 bail each and four in $30,000 bail apiece.

The government originally asked that their total bail be set at $1,000,000.

An opinion handed down by Judges Learned Hand, Thomas W. Swan and Jerome N. Frank said that bail was being set because the government "conceded that the ap-

Life Is Spared

Raleigh, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Governor Scott today spared the life of Tom Wood, Jr., who was scheduled to die tomorrow for wife murder.

The governor said he was commuting Wood's death sentence to life imprisonment because of the "findings of expert psychiatrists who say that the prisoner is hopelessly insane."

Missing Girl Is Found Unharmed

Mullins, S. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A seven-year-old blond child, taken off yesterday in a car by two strange men, showed up at an old farm home today, tired but unharmed.

Deputy Sheriff Burt Rogers said Jerome Alford, 30, and Hugh Smith, 22, both farmers, had been arrested. No charges have yet been preferred. They were locked in an undisclosed jail.

"I understand from the doctors that those fellows didn't bother her," the officer said. "They'd been drinking," he said of Alford and Smith.

Rogers said the men had driven about Marion and Dillon counties the greater part of the night with the child, Mary Spivey, but had let her out near the home of George Rogers. There she was fed and sheltered until deputies arrived. The home is about 15 miles from the roadside where she was lured into the car yesterday afternoon as she stepped from a school bus.

Smith was arrested as he drove into Mullins. Shortly afterward deputies picked up Alford walking along a road in adjoining Dillon county.

Navy Divers Hunt Bolivian Fighter

Hope To Find Clue To Cause Of Collision With Airliner

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Navy divers dredging up the rubble of history's worst airplane crash from the bottom of the Potomac River turned their attention today to the Bolivian fighter plane which caused the disaster.

Officials hoped to find in the battered remnants of the P-38 some clue to the cause of its collision Tuesday with an Eastern Air Lines passenger plane. The collision caused the sudden death of 55 persons and left only the Bolivian pilot still alive.

The divers, slogging along the muddy river bed in oze up to their waists, succeeded last night in freeing the front end of the DC-4 transport. It was shredded almost unbelievably in places.

Workers continued grappling along the bottom—35 feet deep at that point—for the three victims still not accounted for.

The Navy said it planned to turn next to a search for the Bolivian plane. There has been speculation that radio trouble in the P-38 was to blame for its failure to heed repeated warnings from the tower to stay out of the transport's way.

The fighter's pilot, Bolivian Aviation Director Erick Rios Bricoud, rested in an Alexandria, Va., hospital with a fractured spine and two broken ribs. He was still unaware of all that had happened since he entered the National Airport traffic pattern for a landing Tuesday.

Port Washington, N.Y., Nov. 3.—(AP)—Solomon R. Guggenheim, senior member of America's great mining family, died here early today at his Long Island estate, Trilora Court. He was 88.

The multi-millionaire copper king was active in the family business until three weeks ago, when his health suddenly began to fail. His condition worsened early this week and his three daughters were called home.

Education Board Survey Panel On Tour In County

Four Members Visit Pitt Schools To Determine Construction Needs

Four members of the state board of education survey panel yesterday visited Pitt County schools with Superintendent D. H. Conley to determine the needs for school construction in the county under the state school program.

Under the $25,000,000 school bond issue voted by the people of the state last July and the legislative appropriation, Pitt County is to receive $541,000 for school construction work.

The four-man panel composed of R. B. Griffin, superintendent of Person County schools, A. B. Combs of the department of instructional service, Ralph Hodges of the Beaufort County board of education, and Engineer Duff of the state school planning service, visited schools at Winterville, Ayden, Grifton, Paccotts, Grimesland, Stokes, Elvoir and Farmville.

Superintendent Conley said a survey of the Negro schools of the county will be made next week, and when the survey is completed representatives of the county board of education will be summoned to appear before a panel of the state board of education in Raleigh, where the merits of the proposed projects of the county will be discussed.

Conley said this morning, "We hope to get some of the most pressing situations cleared by the panel in Raleigh by the first of the year and let the contracts for building early in 1950."

The Pitt County board of education will meet Monday, Conley said, to give tentative approval to the projects which will be recommended by Pitt County for construction out of the county's $541,000 allotment.

Chest Collection Near Half Goal

Collections Through Yesterday Afternoon Total $5,007

The Greenville Community Chest drive today found itself with less than 60 per cent of the $10,300 goal turned in at the chest headquarters.

Collections through yesterday afternoon totaled $5,007 and this morning members of the Service League began their house to house canvass of the city. At the same time members of the special g.i.s committee were finishing their work on special solicitations.

Campaign Chairman Badger Johnson said this morning, "We are anxious to reach the $10,300 goal and finish this drive as soon as possible. The needs and calls on the community for various funds are greater than ever before." He urged the public to give generously to the Community Chest, and asked that any people who have not been contacted during the campaign mail their contributions to the Community Chest headquarters.

Pitt Farmers Richer By $38,000 By Bureau Work

Pitt County farmers are an estimated $38,000 richer today as a result of only two accomplishments of the North Carolina Farm Bureau at the last General Assembly, W. Alex Allen, Pitt bureau president, disclosed today as the local bureau increased efforts to write memberships for every farmer in the county by November 15.

Either one of two bills the Farm Bureau put through the legislature has saved farmers in Pitt more than enough to take care of the three dollar membership fee of every farmer in the county, Allen declared.

By having the sales tax lifted from kerosene to be used by farmers in curing tobacco, Pitt county farmers saved the almost unbelievable sum of approximately $20,000, officials reported.

Judge R. Hunt Parker Sentences Three Today

A 31-year-old Greenville Negro man was sentenced to serve 14 to 15 years in the state penitentiary today after pleading guilty to criminally assaulting his six-year-old daughter.

Judge R. Hunt Parker handed John Henry Jones Jr. the maximum penalty after advising him that only the fact that the daughter could not testify intelligently saved him from a first degree rape conviction and the gas chamber.

The Negro entered a plea to guilty of assault with intent to commit rape. Medical examination disclosed that the child had been penetrated, according to testimony.

Walked Into Arms Of Law

John R. Taylor of Greenville literally walked into the arms of the law in Farmville night before last, and today, with a two year road sentence already on his head, he is in the Greenville jail awaiting trial for larceny of an automobile.

Farmville Policeman J. A. Gregory said he arrested Taylor Tuesday night shortly after midnight when he walked into the police station in an intoxicated condition and asked where he could buy gas for his automobile. Gregory charged Taylor with driving drunk, and driving after his operator's license had been revoked, and put him in a cell. Later Gregory discovered the car Taylor was driving had been reported stolen in Greenville.

Authorities quoted Taylor as saying he was driving down the Farmville street and decided to stop at the only office where the lights were burning and ask the direction to an open filling station. He discovered too late that he had entered the police station to ask directions.

In the night Taylor pled guilty to the charges of driving drunk and driving after his operator's license had been revoked, and Mayor Walter Jones sentenced him to 12 months on the roads on each charge. He was transferred to Greenville where he will be given a hearing in police court tomorrow on charges of larceny of a stolen automobile.

Duke Student Boycott Ended

Durham, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Bob Hazel, president of the Duke University student body, said today that a 16-day student boycott of Duke Power Company buses operating between the men's and women's campuses has been called off.

He said it was felt by the student government that the boycott had publicly demonstrated increased resentment against increased bus fares and that a formal protest to the State Utilities Commission "is being prepared" and will be presented "unless other action is taken."

Receive Plans For Holy Land

Lake Success, Nov. 3.—(AP)—United Nations leaders have received a proposal that Palestine's holy sites be placed under guardianship of a U.N. commission composed of representatives of five faiths.

The plan also would provide for the division of Jerusalem into separate Jewish and Arab cities. It was submitted last night by 15 American religious, political and labor leaders opposing a U.N. plan to internationalize Jerusalem.

Talk Renewed Of Government Move

Reports That Government May Soon Step Into Coal Strike Revived; Indiana Operators Refuse Peace Talks

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Reports that the government may soon step into the coal strike revived today with word that Indiana operators have refused separate peace talks with John L. Lewis.

One highly-placed official closely watching the steel-coal strike crisis said: "We can't let Lewis go much beyond this week end."

He indicated that unless there is some progress toward settling the coal strike the government will invite Lewis and operators to Washington negotiations, probably some time next week.

Failure of such federal talks would put the coal problem up to President Truman. Up to now Mr. Truman has held that neither the coal nor steel strikes has reached the national emergency state.

The Indiana operators last night turned down a proposal of Gov. Henry Schricker of Indiana for a separate coal pact covering that state. Lewis had accepted the idea, saying he could submit any tentative offer to his union's policy committee at its meeting in Chicago Monday.

The Indiana operators discussed the idea and rejected it. Harvey Cartwright, secretary of the Indiana Coal Producers Association, said: "The issues involved are national in character and cannot be reconciled to district negotiations."

This evident decision to stick to industry-wide bargaining was a blow to Lewis' strategy to make a separate deal with Indiana or Illinois mine operators in hopes the rest of the soft coal industry would go along.

An appeal similar to Gov. Schricker's was made by Gov. Stevenson of Illinois. But Stevenson confined himself to a plea to both sides for a quick peace plan.

The only coal negotiations that have been going on of late—between the miners union and southern operators—were broken off yesterday by the operators. UMW talks with northern and western operators ended without result last month.

The southern operators' president, Joseph E. Moody, said at Bluefield, W. Va., that to continue their talks after five months of getting nowhere would do no good.

New Navy Head Assigns Own Replacement; Hopes To 'Talk Out' Troubles Before More Heads Lopped Off

Washington, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Admiral Forrest P. Sherman moved swiftly today to tighten ship under the new navy top command by assigning Rear Admiral John J. Ballentine, Pacific war hero, to his own old post in the Mediterranean.

Sherman, pulled out of command of the sixth task fleet in the Mediterranean to take over as chief of naval operations, was sworn in only yesterday after a shakeup growing out of the inter-service row over war roles.

Shortly after the announcement of Ballentine's assignment, Sherman attended his first meeting of the joint chiefs of staff where the quarrels over unification policy had centered.

He was introduced to the other members of the joint chiefs by the chairman, Gen. Omar Bradley.

One member was absent. Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, left last night for an inspection visit to Eglin Air Force Base, Florida.

As CNO, Sherman succeeded Admiral Louis Denfield, an outspoken backer of the admirals' coterie that had contended the navy was being frozen out in strategic decisions.

In taking over the navy's top uniformed command, Sherman indicated he will try to talk out troubles before any more officials heads are lopped off.

Escapes Caught In Baltimore

Baltimore, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Two men described as escaped convicts from the North Carolina State prison at Raleigh were arrested here last night.

Police listed them as Harold Stetts, 22, of Durham, N. C., serving a ten-year sentence for manslaughter, and Carl Hall, 18, of Asheville, N. C., serving a five-year sentence for robbery.

President Says Doing His Best To Keep Pledges

Makes First Rear Platform Talk Since Election On Trip To Minnesota

Aboard Truman Train, enroute to St. Paul, Nov. 3.—(AP)—President Truman, making his first rear platform talk since the election, told a crowd at Savannah, Ill., today he is trying his best to carry out Democratic campaign pledges.

A crowd of several hundred turned out in the cold at 7:40 a. m. to greet the President aboard his old campaign train on the anniversary of his greatest political victory.

He spoke with him what he jokingly described as a "non-political" speech for delivery at St. Paul, Minn., at 10:30 p. m. tonight.

His aids said it was a renewal of his blasts at "reactor" and of his championship of the "fair deal" program for which he campaigned in 1948 and which he presented in the 81st Congress last January.

And they emphasize he will send the program back to Congress again in January and back to the voters in next year's Congressional elections.

It was a year ago today—the result was long in doubt in the Nov. 2 voting—that Mr. Truman received the news of Thomas E. Dewey's concession of defeat.

It came to him in the penthouse of Kansas City's hotel Kuehnebach after he had spent election night hiding away at a hotel in Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Many of the proposals for which he campaigned have sailed in Congress—notably civil rights measures, a national health program and federal aid-to-education.

He started the 1950 Democratic campaign ball rolling last labor day with speeches at Pittsburgh and Des Moines. What he calls the "reactor" and "selfish interests" are his targets again.

He is due in Minneapolis at 2 p. m. for a parade into St. Paul, a reception, a banquet and even his speech in the state auditorium.

It is all part of "Truman Day" climaxing the celebration of Minnesota's centennial.

CIO Convention Turns To New Political Work

Cleveland, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The CIO turned to its mounting domestic and world-wide political chores today wrapped in the newly-acquired robes of a right-wing federation.

The roll of the Political Action Committee (PAC) in the 1950 elections was due for plenty of attention before convention adjournment because of the CIO's expressed chagrin at the failure of Congress this session to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act.

President Truman pledged repeal, but both House and Senate rebelled. In international politics the CIO is joining with the AFL and labor federations abroad in creating a new world labor congress, rivaling the Soviet-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

On Tuesday, November 1, the Round Table Book club met with Mrs. C. T. Munford, at her home on Evans street. Mrs. E. R. Brown, president, called the meeting to order and asked all members to join in repeating the collect. During the business session announcements were made concerning the observance of Art Week in Greenville, and the treasurer was instructed to purchase a tuberculosis Christmas seal bond.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. H. T. Smith, Mrs. Howard Bodkin and the Rev. and Mrs. Leon Russell.

The program leader, Mrs. C. T. Munford, introduced the Rev. Leon Russell, the speaker, who had for his topic, "The Bible," discussing the Bible as a whole and as it relates to our needs today. During his interesting and informative discussion he pointed out the fact that, even though it is an ancient book, it is for modern people, and in spite of the fact that the Bible is exactly as it was 1600 years ago, it has its meaning for us today.

He said that it is the book of books for all ages and we need it, and its message is timeless. To get the message it has for us, we must search the Bible and read it for ourselves, letting it become a personal book for us, meeting our own needs.

In conclusion, Rev. Russell stated, "The Bible tells us clearly how to grow and live with each other in relation to God. It is a lamp unto our feet for any age."
Mrs. R. R. Taylor then presented a most interesting news item and Mrs. Milton White entertained us with "the spice" of the meeting.
At the conclusion of the program, the hostess, assisted by Miss Lella Higgs, Mrs. H. T. Smith and Mrs. Howard Bodkin, served a delicious sweet course and coffee.

Williams-Speight

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized Wednesday evening, October 19, at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride on the Washington highway, Miss Virginia Rose Speight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Speight, became the bride of J. T. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams of Greenville, N. C.

The Rev. H. G. Haney officiated, using the double ring ceremony. The bride entered with her father by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a blue satin street length dress with matching accessories, and carried a white prayer book topped with a purple orchid and a shower of white satin ribbon and tube roses. Miss Hilda Speight was her sister's only attendant and wore a green satin dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom had as his best man his uncle, Charles E. Williams. The mother of the bride wore a dress of royal blue with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Williams' mother of the groom wore a teal blue dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Williams graduated from Greenville high school and holds a position in Arthur B. Corey's law office. Mr. Williams also graduated from Greenville high school, served in the United States Navy and is now employed by Charles E. Williams, Plumbing and Heating Company.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to New York and northern points. Upon their return they will be at home 201 Summit street.

Eugene List In Piano Concert Here Tonight

Eugene List, one of this country's foremost pianists, will appear in concert this evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Wright auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College. The program is sponsored by the College Entertainment Committee as a number on the series of attractions for 1949-1950.

A Philadelphian by birth, List spent his boyhood in California and began his education in music there. When he was thirteen, he returned to his native city and became a pupil of Madam Olga Samaroff, celebrated teacher. Performances with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Stokowski and the New York Philharmonic-Symphony under Klemperer began auspiciously his career as a concert pianist.

His program this evening will include Chopin's "Sonata in B-flat Minor," Op. 35, of which one movement is the familiar and beautiful "Funeral March"; Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody" No. 6; and compositions by Rachmaninoff, Debussy, Albeniz, Bach, and other masters.

Mr. Harding Guest Speaker At Club

Mrs. J. L. Hassell was hostess to the End of the Century Book club at a luncheon meeting on Tuesday, November 1. The members were welcomed by Mrs. William Woodley and Mrs. W. W. Browne. The dining room was bright with autumn flowers and from a beautifully appointed table a delicious barbecue luncheon was served.

The club was fortunate to have Mr. F. C. Harding, who delighted everyone with an informal talk on Greenville Fifty Years Ago. He carried his hearers back to the beginning of the century and reviewed with them the growth of Greenville from a small village. He gave many interesting stories of outstanding citizens of that time and pointed out the home sites of that day. The club is indeed indebted to Mr. Harding for presenting so graphically the changes that have come in the life time of the End of the Century club and in sharing with us so many of his golden memories.

After the program a short business meeting was held. The books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Coffee Prices Continue Long Climb Upward On Retail Mart

By The Associated Press
Retail coffee prices continued their long climb upward this week, top grade eggs turned higher after last week's steep price decline, and pork dropped several cents a pound in many stores.

Most other foods held about unchanged price-wise. On the produce shelves the only item generally a little higher was tomatoes, most of which were reaching the big marketing centers from California and Mexico. Celery was down slightly.

The coffee markups this week amounted in most cases to only two or three cents a pound compared with last week's five to six cents. But the end of the price climb was not yet in sight.

Spokesmen for large coffee roasting concerns said wholesale increases of at least four or five cents a pound are probable by early next week.

Despite assurances in the trade that coffee supplies are adequate to meet this country's needs for many months, at least, shoppers in some sections of Chicago and elsewhere were reported starting buying runs.

Several cuts of pork dropped from four to 14 cents a pound in many stores this week as abundant supplies reached market. Beef was mostly steady to a few cents a pound higher, and veal, lamb and poultry prices wavered uncertainly.

Best grade eggs bounced upward a few cents a dozen in some places after skidding more than 10 cents last week, but trade spokesmen said a slow seasonal price decline was expected to be resumed shortly.

Cauliflower, brussels sprouts, cabbage, kale, spinach and beans all continued low-priced and good in quality.

Friends To Bury 'King Of Hoboes'

New York, Nov. 3—(AP)—Flowers will nod and a violin will sing today at the funeral of Dan O'Brien, who died a hobo but not a bum.

The 91-year-old O'Brien was a man of simple tastes. He had little use for work and called himself the king of the hoboes.

When he died last Saturday, it looked like he would end up in a pauper's grave in a potter's field.

But his friends got a call yesterday from Morris Morgenstern. He did not identify himself, but pledged expenses for a decent burial for O'Brien.

"O'Brien was a saintly man," Morgenstern said. "Much of his philosophy is very real. People should ease up a bit more."

He hung up and the phone rang again. It was Sammy Fuchs, owner of a Bowery cabaret.

"We cannot let Dan go to a potter's field," Fuchs said. "I will contribute the limousine, the floral pieces and hire a violinist for the service."

Says Convention Was Prophetic

By CHESTER WALSH

The annual convention of the Disciples of Christ at Cincinnati, Ohio, last week was the most prophetic and significant convention I ever attended," Dr. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church, said upon his return to Greenville.

More than 8,000 persons registered at the convention, and equally as many more attended who did not register, Dr. Haney said. Approximately 25,000 persons sought entrance to the Cincinnati Garden Sunday afternoon to attend the closing communion service. Only 15,000 could be accommodated.

Dr. Haney said "the convention was inspirational in that it reviewed the progress of the church over a period of a century. One hundred years ago, in the same city of Cincinnati, the Disciples of Christ met for their first national convention. From that small handful of loyal members the Disciples' fellowship has grown to nearly 2,000,000 members.

"The convention was prophetic in that the look toward the next century is one of ambitious hopes for a cooperative Protestantism in the United States. The imperative virtue of Christian unity has been sacred to the Disciples of Christ, and that emphasis has been stressed during the past century," the Greenville minister said.

"No one expects uniformity—nor is it desired, but it is necessary for the Christian peoples to cooperate fully to withstand the tides of secularism and militarism of our times," Dr. Haney stated.

Dr. Haney and Mrs. Haney and Mrs. Agnes Settle and Mrs. W. H. Woolard represented the Eighth Street Christian Church at the convention.

The next annual convention of the Disciples of Christ will be held in Oklahoma City next October.

Figures Fiddle Bargain

AP Newsfeatures
STRADIVARIUS?—J. C. Wilson lost his leg in a mowing machine accident several years ago. But he doesn't want to lose his fiddle. Black lettering inside the box reads, "Antonius Stradivarius, Cremonensis, Faciebat Anno 1734." That would indicate it was made by Antonio Stradivari, most famous member of the great Cremona, Italy, family of violin makers. Wilson says he was once offered $500 cash for his violin and turned it down. But a genuine Stradivarius may sell for a six-figure price. On the other hand lesser violin makers have sometimes put the Stradivari name in their own work. An expert could probably tell in a few minutes whether the Wilson violin is genuine, but Wilson says no expert has come to look at it. He says he bought it 40 years ago, paid $22.50 for it and a banjo he got at the same time. Wilson is 71 years old. He still plays old time tunes on his fiddle as well as the folk songs of the Tennessee mountains. He lives at Isham, Tenn., a little town by an abandoned railroad.

Strength FOR THE DAY

NOT PROOF, BUT CONVICTION
Can we prove the existence of God? No, and we waste our time trying to do so. It seems reasonable to believe that a created world presupposes a Creator, and that behind this beautiful world of ours stands a beneficent Being whose heart is love. But to entertain such thoughts is not to prove anything. The existence of God cannot be proved.

Religion deals with the unseen but it does not deal with the unreal. For some things, such as electricity, love, friendship, and nobility of character are unseen but still are very real. We cannot prove the existence of God but we can accept what the wisdom of the ages has revealed to us concerning God, and when we do this, there grows up in our lives a conviction concerning his existence which is far stronger than anything which could be demonstrated in the laboratory or set forth in a test tube.

Does God exist? To that question, millions give a resounding Yes. But they answer thus not because his existence has been proved by logic but because deep down in their hearts they have been convinced of the existence of God through their own experience and through the testimony of others. In the field of religion we begin to understand his mysteries only when we have manifested a willingness to believe.

SAVING—The state of North Carolina may save $5,000 or more per year in price of gasoline purchased from private filling stations for state-owned automobiles, through a policy of discounts worked out by Charles M. Williams, director of the division of purchase and contract. Some five hundred local service stations have agreed to allow two cents or more per gallon discount on state purchases of gasoline. Efforts to get all or part of this discount have not been successful. It is absorbed by local operators in hope that increased business will justify the policy. If experience proves otherwise the local filling stations may discontinue the practice.

PLAN—The participating stations have been listed and a copy of the list furnished to every state-owned automobile. The discount applies whether the purchase is made on a credit card or paid for in cash by the driver; but it does not apply to private cars owned by state employees, although on state business. The mileage allowance is supposed to take care of that.

VAGUE—The practice has not been in effect long enough to justify an intelligent estimate on savings, as the $5,000 figure is more of a guess than an estimate. All highway trucks and many highway passenger cars get their gas from centrally located state-owned tanks. So do school buses, highway patrol cars and many vehicles operated by conservation and development, wildlife resources and other departments. These tanks are supplied by bulk shipment and the gasoline pumped from them is paid for at bulk state contract price.

DIVERSION—The bulk tank gasoline does not carry the six cents road tax. But all gasoline purchased from privately owned filling stations does carry the tax. This means, of course, that a good many thousands of dollars a year of general fund money is indirectly diverted to the highway account. State officials say the cost of extra bookkeeping in order to recoup the tax would be more than the amount saved.

PRICES—The big steel and coal strikes will cost the State of North Carolina a lot of money during the next few months. Charles M. Williams, director of purchase and contract, says the checked trend in prices has been downward but affects transportation and manufacture, and so puts a premium upon available goods in many lines.

TRENDS—Williams spent most of last week at Cleveland, Ohio, attending the National Institute of Government Purchasing Agents. Delegates represented federal departments, a number of states, hundreds of counties and municipalities throughout the country. Consensus among attendants was conditions will be very tight for several months, easing up a bit in the spring and perhaps starting a down trend in prices by midsummer—unless something else happens to upset predic-

Look Who's Annoyed By The Big Hat

Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Just about every journalist in North Carolina has written several feet of copy about Charlie Justice, the University of North Carolina football All-American. Since the others have written several feet, I'll take ten inches today.

While a student at Carolina I visited Charlie's four-room house with a photographer who was there to shoot Charlie's wife, Sarah. Charlie was out on the gridiron bumping heads, but he was well represented in his living room. There were no less than four pictures of the Choo in the room.

The coffee table was loaded down with what must have been fan mail. Being nosy, I noticed a post card which read something like this: "Dear Mr. Justice, I'm nine years old and I think you are a good football player. Please send me your picture."

Last year after the Duke game there was a rap on the door of the Carolina Inn a few minutes after it had closed. The colored chef was weary after a hard day. He snapped, "I don't know who that is wanting to get fed, but he ain't gonna get in even if it's the governor."

When the chef discovered that it was Charlie Justice his frown changed to a smile and he opened up Charlie was treated like a king. Many other stories could be told to illustrate Charlie's popularity, like these: Thieves broke into the office of the University's publicity director, Jake Wade, last week. They stole all the pictures of Justice that Wade had on file, 80 prints.

The Chapel Hill Baptist minister recently preached a sermon entitled "All the Way, Choo Choo." He brought in an 88-year-old great-great grandmother 180 miles to Chapel Hill so that she could embrace her sports idol, "because he's just precious."

A class at an orphanage near Chapel Hill balloted on the question, "Who is the greatest living American?" The plan was to make a year-long study of that man's activities. President Truman got one vote, the orphanage superintendent two and Justice 26.

The fact that cannot be repeated too often is that Charlie is a modest fellow who always gives his teammates credit for the feats he performs. Last season he was given a cabinet model radio and phonograph combination by a North Carolina group. Charlie already had one, so he gave it to teammate Art Weiner.

All of us are hero worshippers to a degree. In Chapel Hill 99 per cent of the student body consider it a treat to get a glimpse of Charlie on the campus. One day while Rachel and I were in a drug store at Chapel Hill. While I stood open-mouthed W. R. stumbled into Justice without even realizing who he was. It just goes to show that no matter how famous you are there will always be one who will walk all over you. And I thank you.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—If you want your boy to be a great violinist, don't make him study the violin. A lady named Mrs. Prima made this mistake down in New Orleans about 30 years ago.

She had a little boy, Louie, who made a violin out of a cigar box and a borrowed mandolin string. Mrs. Prima, sure her son was a genius, rushed him off to a violin teacher. For eight miserable years, unwilling Louie sawed through endless Hungarian rhapsodies.

"All the time ah wished ah had made a cigar box out of a violin instead of a fiddle out of cigar box," he recalled.

One day he picked up a cornet belonging to his older brother, Leon. He blew a few intoxicating notes—and hung up his fiddle and bow for life. He went from the cornet to the trumpet, and has dwelt ever since in the kingdom of jazz.

"For years mah mother still wanted me to be a violin virtuoso—had her heart set on it," said the band leader. "But she's happy now—very happy."

For today Prima has a 16-piece band, a recording firm, two sheet music publishing companies and a racing stable of 11 horses. He and his brother also own a New Orleans night club. His various enterprises have grossed as high as $500,000 a year.

"If you want a kid to go into music," said Louie, "the best thing is to let him learn a little piano first—so he'll get a basic knowledge of chorus and harmony."

"Then, as he grows older, let him take up whatever special instrument he decides himself he likes best."

Prima's own formula of success is to "play pretty for the people." "The reason the band business is bad now is because too many leaders have lost touch with what the public wants. They play to please themselves. "But the one-type dance band that plays a single style is a thing of the past. People expect more for their money—then want the band to give them a novelty show as well as good dance music."

In keeping with this theory Louie has revived a 1923 epidemic—"Yes, we have no Bananas"—hoping it will infect the country again.

"I called up the United Fruit Company, thinking they were glad to know this," said Prima's press agent. "But they asked us, please, not to do it. Said that song hurt the sale of bananas. I asked them why, and the man said:

"I don't know I had a clipping that explained why, but I lost the clipping."

"Ah can't understand it either," said Louie. "That was about the biggest song hit of the century. And ah think the time is ripe for it again—people need something like those gang things everybody can sing."

Louie's proudest memory is of the day he played in the White House for President Roosevelt's 13th birthday luncheon. Mrs. Roosevelt invited him.

"Waiting in line to meet him ah got nervous for the first time in mah life," said Prima. "He was one of mah heroes. Ah didn' know whether to say, 'pleased to meet you, howdy do,' or 'the pleasure is mutual.'"

"Finally, Louie got to FDR and blurted out:

"Hello, Daddy!" The President laughed out loud.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington — Paul Green, the playwright, strode restlessly back and forth, talking fitfully about the symphonic drama he is writing about George Washington. He had just come from Rock Creek Park, where he and others had been staking out an amphitheater—a "jewel in the bosom of the capital"—where the drama is to be produced next July. The presentation will highlight the opening of the National Capital Sesquicentennial—the year-long celebration of the city's 150th birthday anniversary.

The amphitheater, designed to seat from 3,500 to 7,000 people, is to be a permanent institution in the capital. The drama will be presented annually, as are Green's other well-known productions, "The Lost Colony" at Manteo, N.C. and "The Common Glory" at Williamsburg, Va.

"I'm going to put a wire into his frame and tap him. . . . I'm going to have the man Washington give vent to his thoughts, thoughts about Valley Forge, thoughts about the new democracy," he mused aloud. "I have thought out an opening scene with Washington in his bed at Valley Forge, a cloth about his head and jaws aching from abscessed teeth. . . . as uncouth and human as that. . . . a man who suffers and dreams. The man is great enough. The job is to make him human enough."

The handsome, dark-haired North Carolinian, whose play "In Abraham's Bosom" won him the Pulitzer Prize back in 1927, is all engrossed in the production, which he admits is still in the formative stage. "It's the biggest job I've ever undertaken—no other has ever offered the possibilities which this does," he told me.

Since a year ago, when the Sesquicentennial Commission asked him to do the symphonic drama, he has spent much time in research. He has spent hours at the library of Congress, the New York library and other libraries. He recently completed a 2,000-mile trip through the Hudson River valley, looking up records, making notes and taking photographs. "I've been trying to decide which period of Washington's life to dramatize. . . . I think perhaps the days of anguish and struggle. . . . five days, with flashbacks and dream scenes. . . . the finished story telling all," he said. "I think I'll call it 'The Merciless Days' or 'Days without Mercy.' but it will be something every school kid will remember. They won't just see Washington as a statue in the city park. For those who see the production, he will live."

Warm Air Moves On to Midwest

By the Associated Press
It was chilly over most of the midwest today but warmer weather was on the way from the western states.

Below freezing temperatures extended from the eastern Dakotas to as far south as northern Arkansas. The coldest spots were Wisconsin, southeastern Minnesota and central Iowa. The mercury was as low as 15 above in some areas.

There were a few cool spots in the New England states but temperatures generally were around normal levels over most of the eastern states. The cool air over the midwest was headed for the Atlantic Seaboard.

Warmer weather spread over the Rocky Mountain and western plains regions and was expected to move across the midwest by tomorrow. The mercury was on the sunny side in parts of California. At Los Angeles it hit a high of 93 yesterday. In contrast, the high during the day at International Falls, Minn., and Land O'Lakes, Wis., was 27.

Cooler Weather

The lowest afternoon temperature recorded here this fall was yesterday when the temperature stood at 65 degrees. Lowest temperature here last night was 44 and at 8 a.m. today it was 53 and the sky was clear.

The highest temperature here yesterday a year ago was 73 degrees, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local U. S. observer at the Greenville Machine Works, reported today. Highest temperature recorded in the Greenville area today one year ago was 76 degrees.

There were only a few wet spots today. Light rain or snow flurries were reported in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and eastern Kentucky.

DIG UP PRISONER

Chicago—(AP)—Detective work, like mining, requires a bit of digging. Take the case of the shadowy figure reported in Fred Banasch's drug store on a dark fall night. Police searched the building and found nobody. Then Officers Arthur Sweeney and Stephen Palmer took a look at the coal bin. They saw a shoe, began to dig and soon had uncovered one prowler.

Bounding Basque Still Netting Titles After 25 Years Of Play

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Newsfeatures
 London—Almost 25 years ago a bouncing young Frenchman with a brilliant forcing style stroked his way to the heights of the tennis world.
 "The Bounding Basque" he was called as Jean Borotra swept the Wimbledon championships and every other major European title.
 The bounce has slowed a little by now, but the winning touch remains.
 Two months past his 51st birthday Borotra won his 11th Queens Club indoor singles title here recently. He fought through a two hour, five set match in the semi-finals, then returned the next day to tuck away the cup easily with a straight set triumph over Geoff Paish, a British Davis cup star who is half his age.

And where does the bounce come from?
 "Right here," said Borotra as he patted his firm stomach muscles. "Discipline the body and the muscles. Good exercise. Do not smoke. Do not drink."

The French ace outlined this program:
 Fifteen minutes of exercise for the diaphragm every morning. "I have been doing it for 20 years without a miss. You must not miss."
 After the exercise comes breakfast—porridge, bacon, jam and a little coffee.

But the coffee is strictly for breakfast, Borotra emphasized.
 "At night after a coffee you will want brandy and after the brandy a cigar and after cigar, sleep No!"

The Frenchman says no tea, no liquor ("A little wine, of course") and no tobacco.

"But remember, the real secret is discipline."
 For Borotra all of this has worked wonders. His slender athletic build would be envied by many a man of 40. So would his tennis.

Police later arrested four of Martha's companions. (AP Wirephoto).

Violinist Dies During Concert

Baltimore, Nov. 3—(AP)—Benjamin Sossner, 42-year-old first violinist of the Baltimore Symphony orchestra, collapsed and died last night during the playing of a symphony.

It was the orchestra's first concert of the season and Reginald Stewart was conducting Brahms' Symphony No. 1.

Sossner broke into a cold sweat as the lively third movement started the scherzo.

"I had seen the same pallor before," Stewart said. "It was awful. I tried not to look."

He was recalling the collapse of a clarinet player on stage during a concert in 1946. The man died after being carried into the wings.

Waiter J. de Lillo was sitting beside Sossner. He urged the stricken violinist to go backstage.

"When he finally did get up I asked if he could make it," de Lillo said. "He said he could. He was a good sport about it."

Sossner stumbled into the wings and collapsed into the arms of a property man. His wife, in the balcony at the Lyric theater hurried backstage. So did two doctors, one of whom had been treating him for a heart ailment.

The violinist died before an ambulance arrived, before the end of the scherzo he had started.

Kittrell Protests New Bern Midget Players Ineligible

Conference President Rules New Bern-Greenville Game Will Not Count; Locals May Either Get Forfeit Win Or Re-Play Rivals

Greenville's midget football team may get either a forfeit win or a chance to re-play the New Bern Midgets who defeated them 19-0 last week in a game which might easily have meant the Midget Conference championship.

Coach Bill Kittrell of the Greenville club confirmed last night that a protest has been filed charging the New Bern team with using ineligible players in the contest.

Conference President Bill Faye has already ruled that the game will not count, Kittrell said last night.

Kittrell said that a directors meeting would be held this week to decide whether to replay the game or award it by forfeit to Greenville.

The midget mixup came when Kittrell investigated the ages of three of the boys who were playing with New Bern. They were all over the legal age limit of 13 years, Kittrell said.

Kittrell said that he became suspicious when the New Bern backs showed considerable more power than they exhibited when the two teams played to a scoreless deadlock in Greenville.

The Greenville coach says he secured a lineup of the New Bern squad and checked their ages at the New Bern courthouse. They were over the age limit, he said.

A formal protest was immediately filed with the president and when the evidence was presented, the game was nullified, Kittrell reported.

The Greenville coach said that the fullback of the New Bern team was one of the ineligible players. He scored two of the three touchdowns. One of the ends of a tackle was also reported to be ineligible by Kittrell after his investigation.

The end set up two of the scores. Kittrell said he declined to make a protest until after the game was played because he was afraid it would have a bad psychological effect on his boys. "I had hoped we could beat them in spite of their older boys and avoid having to raise a stink," he said.

Both teams were undefeated going into the game. They had tied in a previous game. The winner would have clear sailing to the Midget conference crown.

Kittrell refused to place the blame on any one of the New Bern team officials. "I don't believe the recreational director knew the boys were ineligible. I don't believe he would have allowed it," Kittrell said. "The coach should have known. I can't say whether he did or not," Kittrell added.

Horses 'Sponged' By Tamperers

Salem, N.H., Nov. 3—(AP)—Amateurs with larceny in their hearts and a knowledge of the physical geography of Rockingham Park were sought today as those concerned with "sponging" five horses in the seventh race here Oct. 24.

Most of those interested in seizing and prosecuting the tamperers, who pushed small sponges into the thoroughbred's noses, are convinced there was no intended betting big coup as the wagering on the race was not abnormal.

Clemson Coach Says Two-Platoon System Tried And Found Wanting

Clemson, S.C., Nov. 3—(AP)—The two-platoon system has been discarded at Clemson as the Frank Howard coached Tigers prepared to meet Boston College for the homecoming game Saturday afternoon.

While many of the major teams throughout the country continue the use of defensive and offensive teams, this South Carolina school will stick by the old method that carried it into an unbeaten season last year.

Howard tried the platoon method of substitution in the game with the University of South Carolina

Sport Slants By Pap

Coach Bud Wilkinson isn't sure. He insists that he isn't therefore, it must be just a coincidence that he happens to be wearing the same gray suit and red tie whenever his Oklahoma Sooners dash out on the gridiron to battle an opponent. The fact that it has "happened" at every game for the past three years, proved that it is a coincidence.

Coach Wilkinson didn't share the optimistic outlook of the enthusiastic Sooner rooters who were giving another Big Seven crown to Oklahoma before the season got underway. Wilkinson honestly felt that the loss of players like B. Day Burris, All-America guard, Tackie Homer Paine, Center Pete Tillman and Jack Mitchell, a great quarterback, was bound to weaken the Sooners. He wasn't certain how fast the replacements would come along. But now, with impressive victories posted over Boston College, Texas A & M, Texas, and Nebraska, he is willing to admit that he has a strong team.

One of the pleasant surprises to Wilkinson is the manner in which Darrell Royal has come through at quarterback. Royal sparkled at half-back last fall and had established himself as one of the most dangerous players in the Southwest on punt returns. He paced the Big Seven punners for two seasons. But until he demonstrated that he could handle the quarterback job in the split-T which the Sooners employ, Coach Wilkinson had his worries. The Sooners have confidence with Royal running the team. Fact is, Oklahoma's calm, confident attitude stamps the team as a potential champion.

Play-For-Pay Gridders Overloaded With Talent

Detroit, Nov. 3—(AP)—Former Notre Dame Quarterback Frank Tripucka has learned the hard way that switching from college football to the pro ranks is a tough grind.

A recruit with Bo McMillin's Detroit Lions, Tripucka was hopeful today that he would get in his first links in the play-for-pay ranks this week-end.

The 21-year-old Bloomfield, N. J., rookie came off the fighting Irish campus last year described by Coach Frank Leahy as the "finest ball-handler I've ever seen in college football ranks."

The Philadelphia Eagles labeled him their No. 1 draft choice last fall but were loaded with talent this year that they could not use him.

"I just couldn't find a spot in the Eagles lineup," Tripucka explained. "With seasoned veteran quarterbacks like Tommy Thompson and Bill MacRides around, what chance has a recruit got?"

Eight Will Play

New York—(AP)—There are eight playing coaches in the pro National Basketball Association this year. There are Cliff Barker, Kentucky; Buddy Jeanette, Baltimore; Howie Schultz, Anderson; Ken Suesens, Sheboygan; Al Cervi, Syracuse; Bob Feerick, Washington; Charley Shipp, Waterloo and Jim Darden, Denver.

Indians occupy almost five million acres of land in New Mexico.

Brothers Of The Gridiron

AP Newsfeatures
Maryville, Tenn.—The brother act is being emphasized at Maryville college here with four sets of brothers on the 1949 Scottie football squad.

The brothers as pictures are left to right, front row, Henry, blocking back, and James Callaway, end; and King Berrong Jr., blocking back, and Leon Berrong, tailback. Donald, tackle, and Paul Merwin, end, and Clarence, tailback, and Kenneth Shepard, wingback, are standing.

The Callaways, Shepards and Berrongs are local boys. The Merwin brothers, sons of Presbyterian missionaries, sons of Presbyterian missionaries in Peiping, China, are playing their first tackle football. The boys learned touch football in American schools in China. The parents sent the boys back to the U.S. for college. Head Coach Lombe S. Honaker and Line Coach J. D. Davis say the boys are picking up the tackle variety of football in a hurry.

Stengel Named Manager Of The Year In Press Poll

New York, Nov. 3—(AP)—Casey Stengel, who hit the jackpot in his first year with the New York Yankees after nine unsuccessful seasons as a National League pilot, is the major league's "Manager of the Year."

The grizzled veteran, who overcame a fistful of obstacles to lead the Yankees to an American League pennant and a world championship last season, was the overwhelming choice of the baseball writing fraternity which voted in the Associated Press poll.

Stengel nearly spread-eagled the field, grabbing 101 of the 116 votes cast. Only four other pilots received recognition with Detroit's Red Wolfe and the Philadelphia Phillies' Ed Sawyer tied for a poor second at six votes apiece.

Joe McCarthy, Boston Red Sox skipper, who was nosed out for the pennant two straight years on the

Mikan, Pollard Are Off Again In Scoring Race

New York, Nov. 3—(AP)—George Mikan and Jim Pollard, the scoring terrors of the Minneapolis Lakers, are off and running.

The Lakers opened their 1949-50 National Basketball Association season last night and Pollard and Mikan paced the Lakers to a 81-69 triumph over the Philadelphia Warriors.

Pollard dumped home 13 field goals and four free throws for 30 points and Gorgeous George came through with 17 points. Joe Fulks, another man who can make a basketball talk, scored 20 points for the Warriors.

The New York Knickerbockers dumped the Waterloo Hawks, 68-60 with Vince Boryla leading the Knicks to their second straight victory with a 19 point scoring spurge.

final day, received a scant two votes. Jack Onslow, freshman pilot of the Chicago White Sox, got the remaining vote.

Stengel received the accolade for his tremendous job with a club that didn't figure to win in the first place, and was crippled by a record number of injuries and illnesses from the start of the season right down to the final day. In addition, he had to live down the reputation as a clown and court jester.

Seats Sold Out At Cotton Bowl

Dallas, Nov. 3—(AP)—The Cotton Bowl already is sold out and no one has the least idea what teams will play in it. The host team is the South-west conference champion and right now three teams are in the running for that honor.

The visiting school can't even be approached until the Cotton Bowl officials submit a preference list to the teams most likely to be conference champion.

Dan D. Rogers, selection chairman of the Cotton Bowl, said today he thought at least a scratch list might be submitted next week.

Baylor and Rice are tied for the lead, neither having been defeated. Southern Methodist has lost only one game. Arkansas, Texas Christian and Texas each has dropped two. Saturday Baylor plays Texas, Rice meets Arkansas and Southern Methodist engages Texas A & M, which has lost three.

Cotton Bowl officials said no outside team had been contacted in any way and would not be until the Southwest conference situation clears. But it is known that two teams are being eyed more speculatively than the rest. These are Oklahoma and Michigan State.

Farmville Meets Conference Rival

Farmville, Nov. 3—The Farmville High School and the South Edgemore High School will meet in a Coastal Conference game in Farmville on Friday night of this week under the lights.

This will mark Farmville's fifth straight home game and it will be the fourth conference game for the Farmville Red Devils. Farmville has a two won and one lost record in conference standings and hopes to wind up with a 750 percentage in conference play. South Edgemore has lost all three games played in the conference, but has been improving steadily and has given some uneasy moments to several teams.

Last year these two teams met on the football field twice with Farmville winning the first game by a 25-0 score; however, in the return game Farmville just merely eked out a 7-0 win in the last quarter.

Another close game is being anticipated and spectators should find everything they want to see in this game. For Farmville it will be the last home game until Thanksgiving. The Farmville High School band will again be on hand to furnish music and to provide half-time entertainment.

Kramer Extends Lead In Series

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 3—(AP)—Big Jack Kramer, the king-pin of professional tennis, widened his exhibition match series edge here last night over Pancho Gonzales, new pro recruit.

The sandy-haired champion went three up on Gonzales, trimming the 20-year-old Californian, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, before 1,800 fans.

The pair now have met five times on their scheduled world tour of 85 cities. Kramer has won four matches and Gonzales one.

City Elevens To Play Ayden And Elizabeth

Ayden high school's Tornados, seeking their sixth win of the season, play host to the Central high school Green Waves of Elizabeth City in Ayden Friday afternoon in what should be one of the best of this section this weekend.

The Ayden game gets underway at three o'clock.

Coach Stuart Tripp's Tornados, defeated only by Greenville high school, will be entertaining a team of which little has been heard this season. The record of the Central High squad was not available today.

But the Green Waves, not hampered by conference rulings, are expected to boast a heavy and rugged football aggregation. Early season reports received here held that Bunch McPherson, All-Northeastern conference guard with Elizabeth City high school for the past three years, is holding down a starting berth with Central.

A number of other boys who are ineligible in various conferences, are believed to be in uniform for the Green Waves. Last year they boasted the services of George "Biggie" Brinson, the Elizabeth City fullback who was named all-state two years ago. Brinson is not with Central this season.

The Green Waves began their football history three years ago without winning a game. Last year they broke even on their schedule and are expected to boast a pretty good squad when they invade the Ayden gridiron.

Coach Tripp's Ayden boys, meanwhile, have chalked up the best high school record in this immediate vicinity. They are undefeated in Coastal Conference competition.

Reports from Ayden, say the Tornados will be in top shape for the game Friday afternoon. They have been hampered by unfavorable weather conditions this week, however.

The Elizabeth City area has also experienced heavy rains which probably forced the Green Wave team indoors for light workouts.

Among the other games of considerable interest in this section are the Farmville-South Edgemore game at Farmville and the Scotland Neck-Williamston game at Williamston.

Greenville high school is idle this week after going through three of the toughest games of its schedule. The Phantoms swing back into action next weekend when they ply Roanoke Rapids.

Nine Michigan State varsity football players—including three hold-over first stringers—hall from Flint, Mich.

Announces Changes In Air Force ROTC Curriculum

Lt. Col. William D. Brown, professor of air science and tactics at East Carolina Teachers College, has announced some recent changes in the Air Force ROTC curriculum at the college. These changes affect both the subject matter and the time required for the completion of the courses. The college credit for all courses has also been raised as a result of action taken by the Policies Committee of the college.

The complete Air ROTC course formerly required twelve quarters for completion. The new course will require only ten quarters. Four quarters will be required for the basic course and six quarters for the advanced course.

College credit has been raised from one quarter hour to two quarter hours for each of the four quarters of the basic course. Credit has been raised from two quarters to three quarters for each of the six quarters of the advanced course. The entire Air ROTC course of ten quarters will carry in the future a total of 26 quarter hours credit.

Air ROTC courses may be substituted for required subjects and taken as electives. Present substitutions outlined in the college catalog were broadened at the recent meeting of the Policies Committee of East Carolina. An added provision of the new curriculum is that the quarters of the four courses need not be taken in numbered sequence. Students completing the advanced course are commissioned second lieutenants in the U.S. Air Force Reserve. Those who are within the upper one-third group of the graduating class may apply for regular Air Force commissions.

Twelve European Ministers Talk Steps To Union

Paris, Nov. 3—(AP)—Twelve European Foreign Ministers met today to plan new steps aimed at pulling their nations together into a union.

The Ministers, forming the guiding ministerial committee of the council of Europe, will pass on resolutions approved by the council's consultative assembly at Strasbourg.

The assembly's economic resolutions—calling for a European economic trade union with preferential trade links to members' overseas areas—have taken on new significance since Marshall plan administrator Paul Hoffman this week called for economic integration of western Europe.

What's wrong with that? This is how the Truman administration sees the problem. Europeans need dollars when they buy from us because we want to be paid in dollars.

But if we don't buy from them—paying them in dollars which they can use in buying from us—they'll lack the dollars with which to buy. Yet, the more we can sell them, the better off we are.

But what are we supposed to do about it? Acheson urged this country to do, at least in part, what Hoffman urged the Europeans to do: chop down our tariff walls that keep European goods out.

But won't these European goods be competition in this country for goods made here? True, Acheson says there will be great pressures in this country to keep up the tariffs and keep competition out.

But he argued this country has to think in world terms, no longer can think in terms of itself only, that the United States as a whole will benefit by better trade among nations.

Still, what about the Americans who might be hurt by European competition coming in here? Mr. Truman, in a speech here yesterday seemed to consider that. Speaking of helping the rest of the world raise its standard of living, he said:

"If . . . We can raise the standard of living just two per cent in the rest of the world, our factories and businesses never could catch up with the demand that would be on them."

A Mistaken . . .
why anybody should claim it.

The island is a wild area, much of which is covered with the world's most horrifying jungle. This jungle is a hell-hole, filled with more forms of evil death than a madman could conjure up—poisonous snakes and insects and plants and man-killing animals. Over a large part of this nightmare, nature has imposed a Turkish-bath climate.

The natives of New Guinea are aborigines, among the most primitive left on the globe. How many there are of these people in the Dutch area isn't yet known, for not all of that theatre has been explored. Until just before the war the Netherlands government had thought there were about 200,000, but then another bloc of 800,000 was discovered. Thus the known population at the moment is about 1,000,000.

So why the yearning for this territory by both Indonesia and the Dutch? Well, it seems that nature played a trick on mankind. She concealed great wealth in the earth of New Guinea—minerals and oil—and then set some of her most evil forces to guard the treasure. New Guinea already is known to hold great riches, and portions of it still remain to be explored. Moreover the big island is strategically important.

Starters For First Pitt Pig Chain

The Pitt county 4-H clubs in cooperation with the FCX recently started a "pig chain," the first of its kind in the county. The nine boys taking part in the chain received a pure bred pig which he will raise for a period of one year. The big will be displayed at the Pitt County Fair next year, and at the end of the one year period another chain will be started. The members of the clubs who received the swine are: left to right, N. L. Stott, Mr. Pitt FCX, William Roach, D. W. ## Sailors 'Strike' 50 Feet In Air

Baltimore, Nov. 3—(AP)—The three Greek sailors on a nautical sidown strike 50 feet up the aftermast of the freighter Aristocratis may win their skirmish with the U.S. Immigration Service but it looks as though they'll lose their battle to steer clear of their homeland.

A shipping firm spokesman said the vessel will sail to the Orient by way of the Suez Canal instead of via the Panama Canal and the three seamen will be put ashore in Greece. The ship is scheduled to sail Sunday with a cargo of fertilizer.

The trio climbed aloft early Tuesday morning to thwart efforts to deport them. The three seamen, and a fourth who has disappeared, are members of the Greek Maritime Union Oeno which was outlawed by the Greek government in 1947 as Communist-led.

The Immigration Service refused them permission to come ashore when the Aristocratis docked. Immigration officials believe they are not bona fide seamen but are merely waiting an opportunity to jump ship and enter the United States illegally.

Because this situation had arisen several times and because the four seamen had been agitators in protesting recent pay cuts, the ship's owners decided to send them back to Greece aboard another vessel.

That's when the one sailor disappeared and the other three went up the mast, refusing to come down and not letting anyone else up.

Pigeons, Starlings Battle For Roosting Places At Courthouse

Pigeons and starlings are still fighting each evening just before sunset for roosting places under the portico at Sheppard Memorial Library. There is a battle royal each afternoon and it attracts the attention of passers-by.

Incidentally, police are receiving complaints from different parts of the city about pigeons being a nuisance. Mrs. W. B. Wilson, 815 Evans street, complained yesterday about pigeons about her premises.

While Superior Court is in session here this week, bystanders outside have watched with interest the battle of sparrows and starlings for roosting places in the clock tower on the courthouse. The starling is a vicious bird and it can whip a mocking bird, one of the most aggressive birds we have here. Starlings have the roosting places at the courthouse. The sparrows are out luck, observers outside the courthouse said yesterday.

Patrolman Arrests Truck Driver With Top Heavy Vehicle

State Highway Patrolman D. E. Perry arrested Clarence E. Jones, 30, colored, yesterday and charged him with driving a freight truck loaded too high—more than 12 feet, 6 inches. The patrolman also charged Jones with driving a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

The case will be tried in Police Court Friday morning.

God Comforts His People

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Isaiah 40:1-11; 42:5-9; 54: 61; 65:7-9; Luke 4:14-21.

The Lord shall feed His flock like a shepherd. He shall gather the lambs with His arm, and carry them in His bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young.

They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary, and they shall walk, and not faint.

The Lord hath anointed Me to preach good tidings unto the meek; He hath sent Me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, Jesus read from the scripture.

They shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities, the desolations of many generations. MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 41:10.

God Comforts His People

ISAIAH ASSURES THEM HE WILL STRENGTHEN AND HELP THEM.

Scripture—Isaiah 40: 1; 42:5-9; 54; 61; 65:7-9; Luke 4:14-21.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"COMFORT YE, comfort ye My People, saith your God." So Isaiah consoled the people whom at times he severely rebuked for their sins.

Keep your faith in God, who is willing and able to help in all emergencies, he told them.

Dread and fear of what may be in store for the world in the coming years is rife today. Many, like the Jews of Isaiah's day, have suffered torture, death, banishment, banishment from their home lands, all imaginable sorrows, but if they can keep that faith in the triumph of right, they may still—and many do—keep a serene mind and trust that eventually all will be well.

The world needs the comfort that Isaiah gave his own people in that far-off time, as opposing ideologies battle to control the universe, making the fear of wars to come—even more horrible than the one just ended—loom on the horizon.

"Behold, I the Lord God will come with His strong hand... He shall feed His flock like a shepherd; He shall gather the "Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard? The everlasting God, Jehovah, the creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary; there is no searching of His understanding."

"He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might He increaseth strength."

"Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall."

"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint."

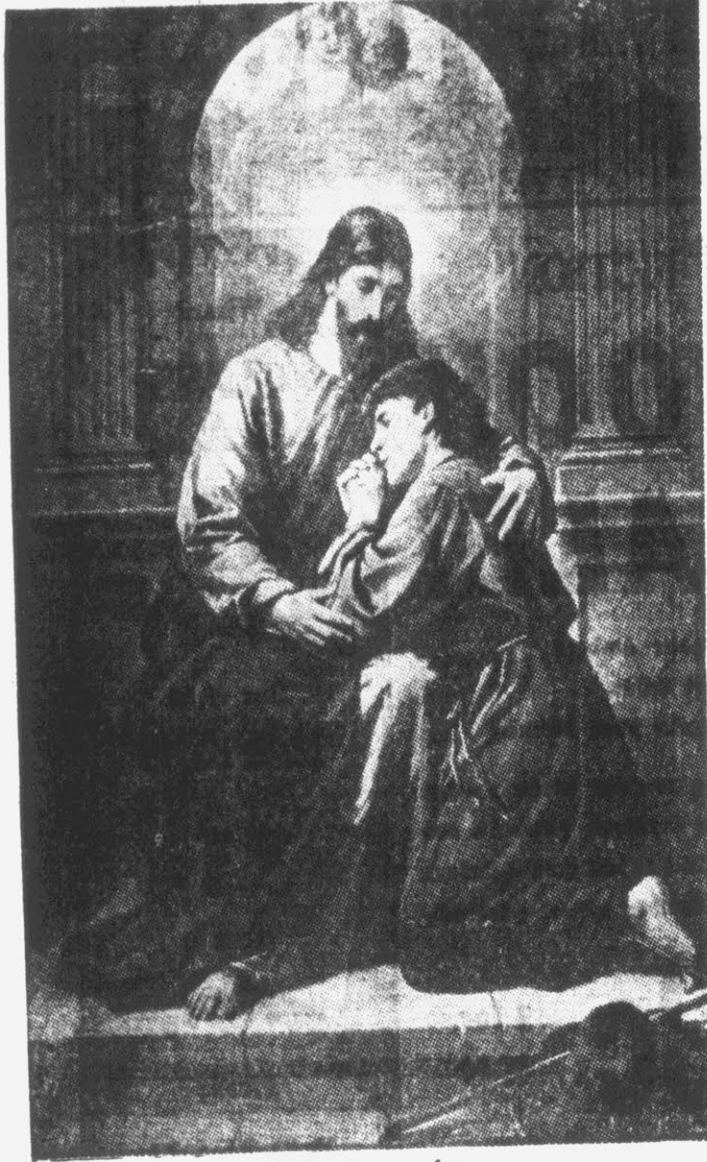

The eagle is a solitary bird. He is never seen in flocks, as other birds. He nests on inaccessible mountain crags, and soars far up in the sky—alone. We too should seek solitude now and then to commune with our Maker and gain renewed strength from Him.

"To walk and not faint." The walking may be likened to our daily tasks—in schools, homes, offices, factories. If we trust in God's help in the doing of these duties, we shall "renew our strength," even if we feel weary

MEMORY VERSE

"Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God."—Isaiah 41:10.

The Golden Text

Christ the consolers.

lambs with His arm, and carry them in His bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young.

The Lord who created all things—the vast dominion of the heavens, the earth, with its oceans, mountains, valleys, and all living things, also planted in man's heart a sense of right, a need to worship, and courage to fight for high ideals that could make the world peaceful and happy.

If these ideals of a brotherhood of man, of service to all, of sharing with others, and the faith in God that Isaiah preached so many centuries ago, can be planted deep in the hearts and minds of the children who will be the next generation—those ideals will in time be realized.

"O thou afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, I will lay thy stones with fair colors, and lay thy foundations with sapphires... And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord; and great shall be the peace of thy children."

and faint. We will not then fall in our responsibilities.

Luke tells us how Jesus came to his home town—Nazareth—and, as was his habit, on the Sabbath, he went to attend the services in the synagogue. As was the custom of the day, He, as a visitor, was handed the scriptures to read a portion thereof. Opening the book, he read:

"The spirit of the Lord is upon Me; because the Lord hath anointed Me to preach good tidings unto the meek; He hath sent Me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prisons to them that are bound;

"To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn."

Jesus then sat down, and as all those present looked upon Him in wonder, He said, "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears."

Thus began Christ's mission.

Restaurant Men Friendly Rivals

Chicago —(AP)— George Drake and Marion Isbell run restaurants just around the corner from each other. They are competitors. Yet they recently ran a series of six advertisements—three apiece—in Chicago newspapers in which each paid tribute to the other as a good friend and fine neighbor.

One of Isbell's ads set forth: "In order to get along with the rest of the world we must first learn to get along with one another—with those in our immediate vicinity, our neighbors. George and I have learned."

Place Order For Brush Cutters

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3—(AP)— The state has placed orders for two newly developed brush cutters for use in clearing right-of-ways along highways.

The state board of award yesterday placed the orders with Municipal Sales Co., Richmond, Va. The machines, costing $13,136 each, will go to the fourth and fifth highway divisions. Two clipping machines to shred the brush after it is cut were ordered also. They cost $2,187.37 each. The cutters can do the work of 30 men.

Evidence Slips

Washington —(AP)— Detectives in a cruiser car saw a known numbers operator on the sidewalk with a paper bag in his hand. They told him to "come over here" and asked him what he had in the bag.

"You know what I got," the man replied. "I got numbers slips."

The officers arrested him—but Judge Thomas D. Quinn set him free. He held that the man was under arrest the moment the officers called him over—and that at that time they did not have evidence of a misdemeanor.

Larger Water Supply Provided

Rome —(AP)— Modern Romans have piped the waters of the Pescara river to their city. The new water supply is sorely needed. During the past summer the water shortage was acute. Many homes had to depend on the public fountains for their supply and pictures of women lined up in front of the fountains appeared often in newspapers. The new aqueduct is 85 kilometers long with a capacity of 34,500 tons every 24 hours.

NINTH CRASH IS BAD LUCK

Lewiston, Mont. —(AP)— Roger Brandt escaped eight plane crashes without a scratch. But on the ninth his luck ran out. His plane crashed while taking off and Brandt suffered a back injury.

Rich, nutritious goatmilk is more easily digested than the milk of the cow.

Roving Tailor Cuts His Costs

Springfield, Ill. —(AP)— A roving tailor cuts the cost of outfitting the 500 Illinois State highway patrolmen.

A mobile truck carrying the tailor visits each of the 14 division headquarters on the day patrolmen gather for monthly inspection. As the need demands, the men are measured for new uniforms, shirts, caps, and coats.

Public funds are saved since neither stat vehicles or gasoline is used to transport the men to Springfield for periodic outfitting as in the past.

HERE TO STAY

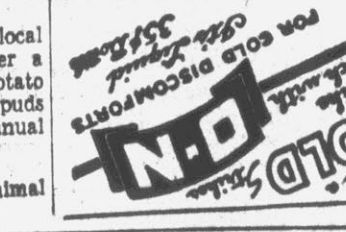

Mahomet, Ill. —(AP)— The local American Legion decided, after a record crowd attended its potato festival this fall, to make the spuds the main attraction at an annual event.

The goat is a ruminant animal closely related to the sheep.

Israeli Town Is Artists' Colony

Safed in Upper Galilee —(AP)— This medieval town of Biblical learning is to become an art center in Israel. Several leading Jewish painters left noisy Tel Aviv to settle in this little mountain town northwest of Tiberias and the Sea of Galilee. It is the rocky area where, according to an old Jewish legend, the Messiah will descend from heaven.

The painters say the whole atmosphere of the Safed tradition, the unique beauty of the landscape and the lightness of the air constantly inspires them.

Refugee Greeks Return Home To Reap Crops Left By Rebels

By PAUL MURMUSE
AP Newsmasters

Florida, Greece—Refugee villagers returning to their former homes in the Vitsi mountains of Greece, held for two years by marauding guerrillas, are reaping a totally unexpected harvest. The guerrillas left behind thousands of acres of ripe grains and crops in their hasty retreat before the Greek army last August.

Now, with the help of the Greek government and the Economic Co-operation Administration, the poverty stricken repatriates will have the means to cut and store varied vegetables, grains, apples and potatoes. Accurate estimate of the hastily abandoned crops hasn't been made, but PCA field representatives now in the area said that small grains alone total some 5,000 acres.

"When the army fought its way into the area, they found the crops flourishing," declared PCA Official Charles Wright, of Dallas, Texas. "We had to work fast, though, because we found about three-fourths of the grains already cut and lying in bundles on the ground."

No Such Thing As 'Ideal Olive'

Davis, Calif.—(AP)—There's no such thing as the ideal olive, lamented Prof. H. T. Hartman of the University of California College of Agriculture here. But he's working on the idea. Some olives produce good oil, but are too small to pickle. Others make fine pickle but are poor for oil. Some make good pickles and good oil too, but are "alter-nate producers" that yield a good crop one year and a poor one the next, he explains.

Therefore 27 kinds of Mediterranean olives have been imported and Hartman is grafting them to about 60 California varieties. He seeks a better all-round olive.

back to this battered area will 'share and share alike' in the communal harvest now taking place near here. Wright, with other officials, got moving quickly through the district by jeep, rounding up a system of crop collection and warehousing. Snow lies heavily on the ground during the winter months.

Most of the people in Vitsi moved away when the guerrillas moved in two years ago. Under direction and assistance of the government, the refugees were taken to centers where they remained until recently. More than 2,000 have been returned to their old homes during the past month.

Although the tired villagers will find help and food waiting for them, their old villages have been ravaged badly by the war. Live stock, mules and chickens, which used to be plentiful, have been carried off during the past years. The villagers who remained near Florida didn't have much to eat while the guerrillas held the area. Practically

Burglar Is Badly Frustrated By Chain Of Events

Washington—(AP)—A pasterby spotted a man pounding away on the safe in a restaurant at 4 a.m. That was the beginning of a series of frustrations for the burglar.

When police arrived he scuttled for the rear exit—but couldn't find it. He climbed to a skylight and smashed his way to the roof—but the drop to the ground was too far.

He crawled into the bedroom of an adjoining apartment—but the occupant woke up and chased him downstairs. He crouched in a closet, where the officers found him. Then came the final blow.

When he stood up his pants fell down. They were weighted with $8.10 in small changes sales tax collections stolen from the restaurant.

all the food available was used to feed the troops.

"There was almost no food in any of the houses," said Wright. "We found a few boxes of hardtack from Czechoslovakia, also some dark flour which made inedible bread. We learned that during the last two months of the campaign the guerrillas issued no food to the hungry villagers."

Another PCA representative said that the guerrillas also had small quantities of preserves and margarine hidden in fields, caves and huts.

Today, with the help of an FCA-provided thresher, the first ever seen around here, the "repats" are harvesting as much grain in one day as 75 to 100 men could cut by hand.

Foreign Born In U. S. On Decline

New York, N.Y.—Although our country has properly been called a melting pot of people, for at least a century the native born have constituted 85 percent or more of our population, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, chief of statistical bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. At present, about 93 percent of our people are native born, he pointed out.

"The foreign born population has been shrinking rapidly since the 1930 census," Dr. Dublin notes. At that time, the foreign born numbered a little more than 14,200,000; by 1945 this had diminished to an estimated 10,400,000.

"The numbers and proportion of children of foreign parentage also have been declining. In 1940 only about one fifth of the native white population was of foreign or mixed parentage. If to this is added the proportion of foreign born, the total still comes to less than three tenths of the population."

The foreign born are largely concentrated in the northeastern part of the country, Dr. Dublin observed, with nearly half of them in the four states of New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and New Jersey. The proportion of foreign born is lowest in the South Atlantic and South Central regions, where the native born exceeds 96 percent of the total, he said.

Kashmir Guarded Against Reds

Srinagar, Kashmir—(AP)—Kashmir's northern and northeastern frontiers are being guarded against Communist infiltration from the Chinese province of Sinkiang, reportedly under the control of the Chinese Communists.

A well-informed source here says a large number of Muslim refugees from Sinkiang already have entered Gilgit, which is held by Pakistan. The source adds that it is difficult to tell whether any Communists are among the refugees.

Lidice Honors United Nations

Lake Success—(AP)—The reborn Czech village of Lidice, wiped out by the Nazis in 1942, has named its main street "United Nations Avenue."

The village is being rebuilt on modern lines with the help of voluntary brigades from other countries. Appreciation of their aid prompted the U.N. name for the main street.

Metal Shavings Are Transparent

Schenectady, N.Y.—(AP)—Metal shavings so thin that they are transparent can be produced on a machine developed here.

The device is the work of Dr. E. F. Fullam of the General Electric laboratories, and it will produce a metal slice 1-500,000th of an inch thick.

Cutting metal so thin makes possible its study under the electron microscope.

High-Ranking Cardinal Dies Of Heart Attack

Rome, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Francesco Cardinal Marmaggi, one of the top administrators in the Vatican died early today following a heart attack. He was 73.

Cardinal Marmaggi, elevated to the Sacred College in 1935 was prefect of the Congregation of the Council. He directed the application and enforcement of decrees of the Council of Trent and other church laws.

His death reduces the membership of the College of Cardinals to 64. The full membership is 70.

Cardinal Marmaggi suffered a heart attack Oct. 28 and had been in critical condition ever since Pope Pius XII, Vatican sources said sent his personal benediction by Giovanni Battista Montini, of the Vatican secretariat of state, after the heart attack.

The Congregation of the Council is one of 11 departments, each headed by a cardinal, that administer affairs of the Catholic Church.

With 16 vacancies in the College of Cardinals, Pope Pius is expected to call a secret consistory sometime before the opening of Holy Year, Dec. 25, to make new appointments.

While no official information is ever available on possible appointments of cardinals, Vatican sources said at least one American is expected to be elevated at the next consistory. Vatican informants place Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston high among the likely candidates.

Brothers Return To Face Charges

Asheville, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The Ransom brothers, a hillbilly singer and a bulldozer operator, have been brought back to North Carolina for trial on murder charges.

The brothers from Rockingham were indicted at Wadesboro Sept. 28 for the slaying of James Malcolm Shirley, 37, of Hollis, Queens, N.Y. They were accused of killing Shirley and dumping his body into a water-filled gravel pit near Wadesboro.

Benjamin Edward Ransom, 34, and Burton (Red) Ransom, 26, were brought here by U.S. marshals yesterday on extradition from Ohio. They were lodged in the Buncombe county jail.

Burton, a guitar-wielding singer in small night spots, was arrested in Columbus on Oct. 18 as he left a restaurant. Three days later Benjamin was picked up, also by FBI men, as he slept in a Zanesville, Ohio, hotel.

Shirley's body was discovered Sept. 7. Two days before his blood-stained automobile was found abandoned in a shallow creek near Marion, S.C., 75 miles southeast of Wadesboro.

The Ransoms also have been charged with violating the federal auto theft act. But they probably will be turned over to the state for prosecution on the murder charge. Thomas A. Uzell, Jr., acting district attorney, said here.

Stop Tours Of Palace Grounds

Prague.—(AP)—Czechs who take a Sunday excursion out to Lany, summer castle of the president, expecting to be able to make sight-seeing tours through the grounds, are disappointed these days.

During the presidencies of T. G. Masaryk and Edward Benes Sunday tours of the estate were allowed. But during the regime of Communist President Klement Gottwald sight-seers are now turned away. First a new wall was built around Lany castle. Now Sunday visitors also find vigilant armed guards who declare that the tours through the castle grounds are not allowed.

Transfer Came After His Visit

Philadelphia.—(AP)—For more than six years a mailman in a Philadelphia branch postoffice tried to get a transfer to Los Angeles. Then Maurice Balfour took an extra long vacation, and he and his wife made their first trip to the West Coast, to visit his wife's family.

Two days after their return Balfour was advised his transfer had come through.

Any time of day, breakfast, lunch, dinner, or snack-time, Wilson's Certified Quality Bacon can play a stellar role.

Tricks with Bacon

Bacon Enhances Hot Breads:
Pour corn bread batter, your own recipe or a corn muffin mix, into buttered baking pan. Cut up bacon slices to form squares and checkerboard them over the top, then bake as usual.

Bacon Curls: Cook bacon until edges curl, turn and repeat, then roll up on a fork and heat crisp. Use as garnish.

Tangy Bacon Makes Tastier Breakfasts:
You all know how fine-flavored Wilson's Certified Bacon perks up the bland breakfast egg. It also garnishes and flavors griddlecakes or waffles. Bacon is always the perfect companion for liver. Served with eggs, lamb chops, liver, fish, cheese dishes or creamed vegetables a rasher of bacon adds flavor, glamour and important nutrients.

Appetizers: 1. Bacon Tidbits—Dip half length slices of bacon in water, then in crisp, crushed potted corn crumbs and fry in hot bacon fat drippings. 2. Roll either shrimps, stuffed olives or cubes of cheese in one-third length bacon slices. Fasten with toothpicks and broil. Serve hot.

Crumbed Cooked Bacon: Use as a garnish on wilted green beans, cream soups, stuffed vegetables. Or add to cream sauce for flavoring vegetable casseroles or souffles. For a vegetable dressing: Brown bacon lightly. Add chopped onion and cook tender. Then add brown sugar and equal parts of vinegar and water plus salt and pepper to taste.

Save Bacon Drippings: Use to flavor your cooking.

Chapter 17

Arieta turned to the window now, looking down on the lake. She saw a red gold glare. It was like a torch, the torch her mother had passed on to her.

"If I only knew where to start," she thought frantically. "Arieta won't tell me."

Who would? Where had she learned the little she had learned? That basket, the newspaper with the photographs. How Kelly had blurted, "Subtle." And it had been Mrs. Cotsen who had called her father's death murder.

Mrs. Cotsen would know. And Arieta believed she could induce her to tell.

When Arieta pulled up on the cliff above the Cotsen cottage she found blue smoke rising to lose itself in blue clouds.

And even as she looked a door opened and a white apron was waved at her. "Come in, dearie," called Mrs. Cotsen. "I've just put the coffee pot on."

"Wait." She padded to the door to stand listening. "That's Rilla coming home from market. Always honks at the turns; had an accident once. I would ask her in but we don't see eye to eye. Not that she's wild, I mean the parties she gives are nice but noisy."

Rilla was passing a car, both had stopped to talk, and Mrs. Cotsen had to strain her ears. "Annie Duncan," she reported back to Arieta. "You must remember her, Annie Brown that was. Father ran off with that barnmaid. Folks said he met her rounding up Annie, not that I believed it. Annie's a nice girl, pretty too."

Arieta moved restlessly. If Mrs. Cotsen would only get through with the neighbors. But now a fresh subject had appeared. "Lucy, see, cutting across the lower lot? Oh, but you wouldn't remember. I mean she's new. Lovely girl, Lucy, and her husband Dart's poor as Job's turkey and as proud. I vow they'd go hungry before they'd... yoo-hoo, Lucy, dearie, do come in."

Arieta wondered if she started to look in the girl's gray eyes conveyed surprise or annoyance. Dutifully she entered the crowded little parlor and dutifully accepted an introduction to Miss Lantry. "But I must go on," she didn't. She couldn't. Short of pulling her in and locking the door behind her, Mrs. Cotsen stopped at nothing. "I must hear about your party. You did have a wonderful time, and gifts?"

The girl's eyes blazed. "I don't know which surprised us more, the party or the gifts. Dart took the gifts into the Salvation Army this morning. One cannot dispose of uninvited guests in such a convenient manner."

"Dear child"—Mrs. Cotsen literally dove for the coffee pot, tossing her words back—"they were only being neighborly. Young couple getting started."

"As I was saying to Arieta"—Mrs. Cotsen broke a ring of sugary cinnamon rolls—"it just don't seem nach-rel to see her 'bout those dogs of hers."

blue and emerald green and maize yellow. The big room was restful, cheerful, delightful in its simplicity. And then Arieta saw Lucy observing her.

"What do you want?" she demanded abruptly.

"I want to know what my father did that everyone hates his memory."

"Why come to me?"

"Because I want the truth. I think you're brave enough to give it."

Britain Voices Hope Of Mercy For Greek Rebels

London, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The British government expressed hope today that Greece will show mercy to its captured Communist rebels.

Christopher P. Mayhew, Foreign Undersecretary, told the House of Commons of the government's views.

Laborite William Warbey suggested the Foreign office "find some way of publicly indicating the abhorrence felt among western democracies" over execution of what he called mere political offenders. Said Mayhew:

"I am sure it is the hope of the whole House that the Greek government will find it possible to be lenient to those who have been misled. Mayhew said the British government does not intend to take the matter up with Athens, however. "It is a matter for the Greek government, he said.

Public Buildings Opened By City

Rome, Ga., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Heated public buildings were thrown open here last night to prevent suffering by any families caught by the coal shortage and sub-freezing temperatures.

Less than a dozen tons of coal remained for sale in this city of 26,000 persons in North Georgia. The thermometer dropped to 31 during the night.

Announce Plans To Be Candidate

Rutherford, N. C., Nov. 2.—(AP)—Woodrow Wilson Jones, a Rutherford lawyer, announced today he would be a candidate next year for Congress from the eleventh district. Rep. A. L. Bulwinkle, the incumbent, has announced he will not be a candidate for re-nomination.

Latin America Regarded Potential Tobacco Market

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—The President of Tobacco Associates, Inc., says Latin America is a good potential market for U. S. flue-cured tobacco.

J. B. Hutson of Washington told directors of the organization yesterday that there is a definite swing in Latin America toward the lighter type tobacco grown in this country.

Hutson has just returned from a trip to look into Latin American tobacco marketing. His organization is a grower-supported group which seeks a promotion of foreign markets for flue-cured tobacco.

Central and Latin American countries import about 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 pounds of U. S. tobacco each year, he said, and about the same amount of U. S. cigarettes. Before the war, he added, the same countries imported about 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 pounds annually.

There is a definite swing toward the consumption of lighter type cigarettes, Hutson declared, and many South American countries have begun to produce flue-cured tobacco of their own. The best information now available is that they produce a neutral type tobacco that is a little thicker and darker than ours and closely resembles Canadian-grown flue-cured tobacco.

Didn't Respond To Potato Diet

Davis, Calif.—(AP)—Experiments here have dashed hopes that surplus potatoes could be used to fatten the large western turkey and chicken crops.

Potatoes, both raw and dried, have been fed to gobblers and chickens in extended experiments at the University of California College of Agriculture here. But the birds don't respond, reports poultry expert Frank Kratzer.

The trials were based on a tip from Europe, where potatoes are sometimes fed to chickens.

PARTICIPATES IN TOUR
Urbana-Champaign, Ill., Nov. 3.—Robert L. Oppelt, 306 Lewis Street, Greenville, N. C., is a member of the Sinfonietta of the University of Illinois which will make a three-day concert tour, Nov. 7 to 9, playing in Elgin, Batavia, Mooseheart, East Aurora, DeKalb, and Joliet. He plays in the violin section of the 36-piece orchestra.

The hog is the only important domestic animal grown primarily for food.

Alleged Narcotic King Arrested In Police Raid

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Peter J. Locascio's concern for his two expensive dogs has landed him behind bars, accused as a kingpin of the American traffic in narcotics.

He was called into Queens felony court today on state charges of illegal possession of an estimated $1,000,000 worth of dope.

Federal and police agents raided Locascio's lavish Queens home yesterday. They lay in wait until they saw him leave the house to walk his handsome Boxer dogs.

"I wouldn't have been home this afternoon if I didn't have to take these dogs out for an airing," he told police.

Locascio was termed by City Detective Emanuel Schein "the biggest distributor of narcotics in the country."

The 33-year-old prisoner described himself as a truck driver. But police said he paid $20,000 cash two weeks ago for the two-story home. They seized a sporty new Cadillac convertible parked in front of it.

Agents said the arrest nine months ago of 17 small-time Manhattan dope peddlers set off a search for the source of the narcotics.

The raiders said they found a pound of heroin in a second-floor linen closet of Locascio's home. A secret compartment beneath a kitchen sink, they said, yielded four more pounds of heroin plus 6,000 vials of morphine and equipment to dilute raw dope for human consumption.

Peddled at retail through underworld sources, police said, the dope was worth a million dollars. The actual value in legitimate trade channels is much less.

The officers said Locascio admitted serving a two-year federal prison term before the war on an illicit alcohol charge.

Deer Hunts Not Curtailed By Mystery Disease

Nags Head, N. C., Nov. 3.—(AP)—An expert says the disease which has killed many deer in some southeastern states this year is still not serious enough to warrant stopping of hunting.

Frederick J. Ruff, biologist with the U. S. Forest Service, added that "although deer fatalities may be heavy in certain areas, there is no apparent need for curtailing hunting this year."

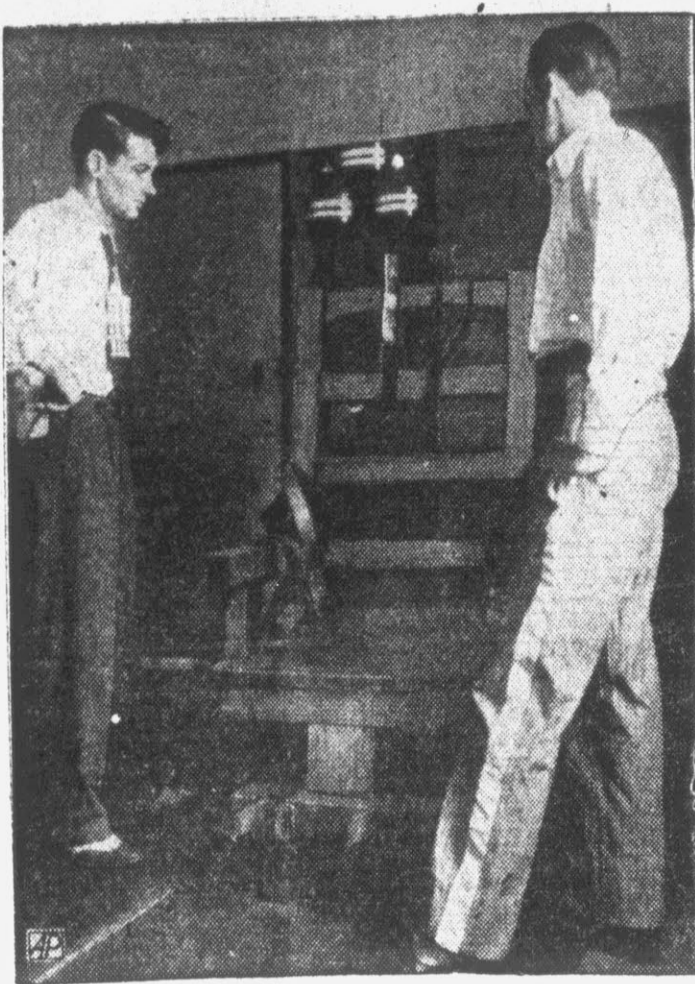

He spoke here yesterday at the closing session of the annual convention of the Southeastern Association of Game and Fish Commissioners.

Ruff said there were many theories as to the identity of the organism causing the disease, but further research must be done before the situation is entirely clarified.

Greenville Board Of Realtors Organized

Mr. Frank B. Kemp, president of the North Carolina Real Estate Board and Mr. Erle Stapleton, Executive secretary, met with a group of prominent real estate men in Greenville and organized a local board here, "Greenville Board of Realtors." Mr. D. L. Turnage was elected president, W. W. Lee, vice-president and A. C. Tadlock, secretary. Mr. Godfrey P. Oakley, Fred J. Forbes, Sr., and Heber B. Tripp were elected as directors.

SPRAY TURNS IN ALARM
Washington—(AP)—Someone reported a grocery store was full of smoke. Firemen raced to the store, broke open the door and were assailed by clouds of insect spray. The proprietor had hooked up an automatic spray gun before locking up for the night.

Reed Leroy Hatton (right), 20, convicted of murder, has written Florida's Governor Fuller Warren that he would rather die in the electric chair than have his sentence commuted to life in prison. He shows the death chair to Reporter Milt Kelley of the Miami Sunday News in the State prison at Raiford, Fla. He will die in this chair if the death warrant is signed by the governor. EAGER BEAVER LUNCHEON
Durango, Colo.—(AP)—Busy beavers—the four-legged, flat-tailed kind—gave Mrs. Wallace Lombard a lift for her bridge party. For tally and place cards she used chips from aspen trees she'd found at a beaver dam near Electra lake.

Student Protest Plans Collapsed

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 3.—(AP)—A ban on student drinking in fraternities, sororities and hotel rooms was reaffirmed yesterday by authorities at the University of California. A storm of protest resulted.

The decree came only 15 days before the "big game" with Stanford—always an occasion for considerable merriment.

Placards predicted wholesale bankruptcy for Berkeley's liquor dealers.

Porches of fraternity houses turned into informal beer gardens. Disillusioned members sold, drank or otherwise disposed of their stocks of beer—yes, some suds even flowed on the ground.

Many wore black arm bands in mourning for the "good old days" . . . and protested loudly the evils of prohibition.

The storm subsided rapidly. Within a few hours the placards vanished. A scheduled protest meeting was cancelled.

The students explained: telephone calls from Hurford E. Stone, dean of students.

Horse-Shoer Has Gone Motorized

Campbell Hill, Ill.—(AP)—This, so far as Roy Schnaar is concerned, is the horse-and-truck era.

Schnaar is an ex-GI and a blacksmith. Not enough horses came to town to make his snip profitable. So he decided to shoe the horses on the farm. He makes his rounds in a panel truck equipped to carry a forge, anvil, tools and a stock of horse shoes.

ACC Expansion Work Continues

Wilson, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Trustees of Atlantic Christian College yesterday signed contracts for a $166,000 library building.

It marked another step in an expansion program at the college here.

A $400,000 women's dormitory to house 185 students is about 75 per cent complete. Bids yet are to be received for a student's union building and for a science building.

THE GOOD NEWS SPREADS ALL OVER North Carolina...

"Magic" Cooking, Baking, Frying Results Are Easy with New, Homogenized Swift's Jewel Shortening!

MAN AND WIFE AGREE:

"JEWEL CAKES TASTE PERFECT"

JEWEL'S "SMOKE-POINT" 40° HIGHER! LIGHT, TENDER, FLUFFY... AND THEY COST LESS TO MAKE!

Simple test proves it won't smoke up or smell like costliest shortenings!

Dramatic proof that Jewel is smokeless is offered by a recent test comparing Jewel with three costliest shortenings. In every instance, Jewel demonstrated a marked superiority. The test consists merely of placing equal amounts of Jewel and any costliest shortening in two separate pans of the same size. To verify temperatures reached, a cooking thermometer (preferably two) is used. As identical heat is applied the expensive brand will begin to smoke and give off odors. Jewel, however, can be left until its temperature is 40° higher than its competitor's. Home economists agree that the perfect deep-fat frying temperature is 365° to 375°. Expensive shortenings will begin to smoke at 360°. Jewel, however, could be heated to 400°.

Want to keep hubby happy—and cut down on food costs, too? Then here's good news! With the new, homogenized Jewel Shortening you can cook to his heart's desire—and save money while you do. For new Jewel—although it costs much less than costliest brands of shortenings—challenges them all when it comes to results. In Memphis, for example, Mrs. J. A. Perry reported making a Jam Cake that would "just melt in your mouth!" While in New Orleans, another homemaker, Mrs. Alice H. Langston stated that her husband "just loves his biscuits made with Jewel!" Mrs. Langston further commented: "With the amount of shortening we use, we figure our savings on Jewel at about $8.00 a year. That'd buy plenty of eggs!" As Swift's famous test kitchens have discovered however, Jewel's magic is not restricted to cakes and biscuits. Piecrusts, cookies, fried foods of all kinds, likewise benefit when new Jewel Shortening is used.

Don't be fooled—say scientists. Just because a shortening costs more doesn't make it any more nutritious or digestible. Actually, any fats—including the fine vegetable and meat-food fats in Jewel—are among the most completely digested foods. Furthermore, all fats are important in good nutrition. For they yield 2 1/2 times as many energy units per pound as either carbohydrates or proteins. In other words, money can't buy a more nutritious or digestible shortening than new Jewel. Not even if you pay $10 a pound!

Challenges the costliest...costs much less!

NEW! HOMOGENIZED! THRIFTY!

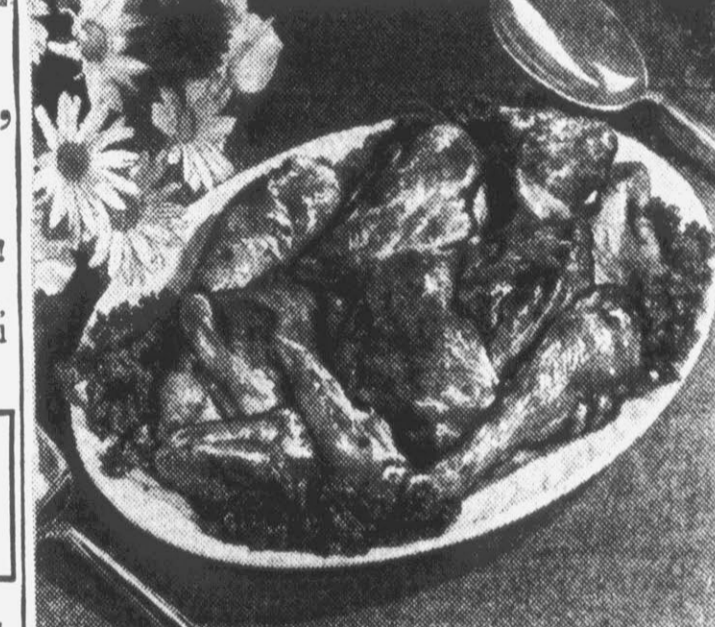

SWIFT'S Jewel SHORTENING

NOW AT DEALERS EVERYWHERE

IT'S DIGESTIBLE... AND NUTRITIOUS TOO!

CHALLENGES THE COSTLIEST... COSTS MUCH LESS! SAVES 5¢ TO 7¢ A POUND

There's a new "headliner" in the shortening field! Swift's new, homogenized Jewel Shortening. Only recently introduced, this new product challenges the costliest brands. Yet it costs 5¢ to 7¢ less per pound. The new Jewel employs a controlled homogenization process in the blending of its fine vegetable oils and meat-food fats. As a result, the finished product is of highest quality with a remarkable smooth and even texture. No other shortening is more nutritious or more digestible. Many of the compliments new being lavished on Jewel by enthusiastic homemakers concern its use in preparing fried foods of all kinds. For this new shortening remains smoke-free and free from objectionable odors at extreme cooking temperatures. Actually, its "smoke-point" is 40° higher than costliest shortenings. The thriftiness of the new product, has also come in for its share of applause. Many homemakers, in fact, state that they have been able to purchase 4 pounds of the new homogenized Jewel for the same price they usually pay for 3 pounds of costliest shortenings.

Like Fried Chicken? Here's How to Add a Touch of "Magic"!

Developed by Swift's famous Martha Logan, here's a special fried chicken recipe featuring new Jewel Shortening. Just follow the 6 magic steps indicated for your convenience. 1. Clean, wash and drain a 2 1/2 to 3 lb. (dressed) chicken. 2. Cut into serving pieces. 3. Measure 1/2 cup flour and 2 tps. salt into a paper bag. 4. Drop in each piece of chicken separately and shake until coated. 5. Heat enough Jewel Shortening to make 1/4 inch depth in a large skillet. 6. Fry chicken over medium heat, turning until golden brown. Reduce heat, cover and cook about 1/2 hour, until tender. Uncover and cook ten minutes.
