Improved County Road Petitions Given Approval

Pitt Commissioners Also To Consider Financing Of Nurses' Home

Pitt county commissioners in their monthly meeting here yesterday approved 18 petitions for improvements to county roads, and took under consideration a request from a delegation of 14 of the county's influential men who asked that the county provide funds for the construction of a nurses home in connection with the new Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

The 14-man delegation appeared before the commissioners requesting that C. S. Carr, chairman of the board of trustees of the hospital, be relieved of the responsibility of raising by public subscription funds to be used for the construction of a nurses home at the new hospital. The delegation requested the county commissioners to assume the duty of raising the funds for the home by means of taxation, or any other public money which might be available. The group told the commissioners the proposed goal set for the public subscription drive was $50,000, but they pointed out that the project probably would cost between $100,000 and $150,000.

A spokesman for the group said the direct cause for the request is a recent change in the Hill-Burton act which authorized the construction of nurses homes on the basis of the federal and state governments furnishing 61 per cent of the funds, and the county the other 39 per cent.

Commissioners M. W. Smith and J. Vance Perkins, and Contractor W. E. Braxton recommended to the board that repairs estimated at a cost of $7,000 be made to the Pitt County Home to put the properties in good condition. The board withheld final action on the recommendation, however, pending an investigation of the plumbing and waterworks at the county home.

The board named Chairman M. Brown Hodges, G. H. Pittman and J. Vance Perkins as a committee to work with the finance committee of the Greenville board of aldermen in considering the disposition of the Greenville-Pitt county joint terminal property.

The board accepted the resignation of J. D. Joyner of Farmville as county tax supervisor, effective Nov. 30.

G. F. Owens of Farmville route two appeared before the commissioners and requested he be reimbursed by the county for damages he suffered in the loss of 34 turkeys killed by stray dogs. The law provides that reimbursement for such losses should be paid out of the dog taxes collected by the county, and the board went on record as taking the proper steps to reimburse Owens.

Dennis Dupree, Negro county agent, was granted $56 by the commissioners for use as premiums at the livestock show which will be sponsored by the Negro farm agent's office later this month.

The sheriff's department was authorized to send officers to North Carolina to investigate the case of a man who was reported to have been killed by a dog.

Pitt ABC Store Sales In October Reveal Increase

Receipts from the sale of wine and whiskey at the Pitt County ABC stores took a rise for the month of October over the month of September, it was reported today.

A total of $160,890.79 was collected by the ABC stores in Pitt county for the month of October. The previous month, $148,857.70 was taken in by all the stores.

It was pointed out that there had been a slight reduction in the prices of some of the better grades of whiskey during the past month.

Evening Of Surprises

Hours Before, A Member Of The Soviet Politburo Had Blasted American 'Imperialism' In A Speech In Russia; USSR Diplomats In Washington Show Contrast

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 8 (AP)—On Sunday in Moscow Gov. M. Malenkov, a member of the 12-man Politburo which runs Russia, made a speech. "American Imperialism," he said, "has a program to create by violence and new wars a world American Empire... converting the whole world into a colony of the American Imperialists."

He didn't name the "Imperialists." Malenkov's speech was the 32nd anniversary of the 1917 revolution in which the Bolsheviks "now the Communists, seized power."

This was a very rough speech and Malenkov worked the "Imperialists" to look out. But last night at the Russian Embassy here the tone was one of smiles and handshakes.

The Russian diplomats in Washington celebrated the anniversary of the 1917 revolution by throwing a big reception at the four-story Russian Embassy.

Winterville Citizens Paving Streets As Private Project

The enterprising Pitt county town of Winterville this week is in the midst of a citizens project which has set as its goal the paving of every street within the corporate limits of the town.

The paving project, which will cover approximately four miles of the town's streets, has been undertaken not by the city officials as a town project, but by the people of the town who have gone from house to house to raise money for the paving. Graham Olive, a member of the Winterville board of aldermen, said the project is expected to cost the people of the town upwards of $20,000, but added that the streets are being paved in cash block by block, as they are put down by the construction company.

No tax money is being put into the project, and no bonds have been issued to cover the cost of the paving. The town official pointed out. The property owners are paying the frontage foot charge for the paving. The work on the Winterville streets was begun on October 31 by the Barrus construction company, and a member of the town board of aldermen said this morning "practically every block" in the town is expected to have a paved street by Friday night.

When the asphalt paving of the town's streets began last week, Winterville had only two blocks of paved streets in addition to the state highway which passed through the town.

Among the leaders in the citizens' project have been W. D. Worthington, Mayor Bu-Yow Tucker, and Alderman W. A. Weatherington, W. A. Dall and Graham Olive.

Units Of Airborne Div. To Lead Giant Parade

Long Armistice Day Procession To March In Review At Stadium Where Secretary Of The Army Gray Will Speak

Units of the famed 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg will spearhead the Armistice Day celebration parade which will be held here, Friday morning at 10:30, with Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray as the principal speaker.

The 82nd Division was organized in North Carolina at the beginning of the war in 1942 and was commanded by General Omar Bradley, now chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Division represented the entire Armed Forces in the Victory Parade held in New York on Fifth Avenue after the war.

All during the war the 82nd Division was in the thick of the fighting, leading off with Africa, then going into Sicily and Salerno, and the Anzio Beach landing. Following the war in Italy, the famed outfit jumped into Normandy and Holland, and took part in the Battle of the Bulge. The outfit joined the Russians at the Elbe River crossing.

The present commander of the 82nd Airborne is General Palmer who served under Bradley when the division was first activated.

The parade which is to be the longest in the history of Greenville will form on the west end of Dickinson Avenue, and will then go up Dickinson Avenue to Washington Street, north on Washington Street to Third Street, east on Third to Evans, south on Evans to Fifth, and from Fifth to the East Carolina Teachers College football stadium.

The parade will pass in review before the reviewing stand at the stadium. Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, a native of North Carolina, will deliver the main address of the day, at twelve o'clock.

The order in which the parade will be formed is as follows: National Colors, Post Colors, Secretary of Army Gray, and V.F.W. commanders, guests, Gold Star Mothers, Disabled Vets, 82nd Airborne Division band, 82nd Airborne Infantry, 82nd Airborne Artillery, ETC Band, ROTC Unit from East Carolina Teachers College, V.F.W. New York Senate Voting Watched

Bitter Contest Over Shadows Other Issues Over Nation

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS President Truman's "Fair Deal" program came in for a major public test today, at the hands of an estimated 5,500,000 New Yorkers voting on the election of a United States senator.

The bitter contest between Senator John Foster Dulles, Republican, and former Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman far overshadowed a number of other contests and issues in scattered elections across the nation.

The two men, both prominent public figures, campaigned hard to fill out the unexpired term of former Senator Robert F. Wagner (D-N.Y.), a "New Deal" stalwart who resigned because of ill health last July. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey appointed Dulles to serve until his election.

Wagner's term will expire in January, 1951. Ordinarily a race for such a short time would excite little public interest. But the stature of the two candidates plus their clear-cut definition of issues has projected the scrap into a preview of the 1950 campaign where the control of Congress will be at stake.

Lehman, 71, embraced the "Fair Deal" for his campaign and struggled vigorously for Mr. Truman's program. He received a public endorsement from the President and active support from present and former Democratic cabinet members.

Dulles, 10 years Lehman's junior, has hammered away hotly at Mr. Truman's domestic policies as (a) threatening individual liberties and (b) leading to the development of an all-powerful central government. In a nutshell, it is the "statism" charges which the Republicans have raised against the administration.

Then for about three hours, the East-West cold war went into a state of suspension. Under a heroic-side oil painting of generalissimo Stalin, the envoys of most of the American and western European nations which have rejected Communism chatted briefly with Vishinsky and with Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panushkin.

The ambassadors included Britain's Sir Oliver Franks, Henry Mounet of France, and Wilhelm Munthe De Morgenstern of Norway, the dean of the diplomatic corps.

The ranking American diplomatic official was James E. Webb, under secretary of state. He came early and left to go to the airport to say goodbye to Acheson. The secretary himself had planned to attend had not the big three meeting developed, the State Department said.

One envoy missing was Yugoslav Ambassador Sava N. Kusanovic, whose government is on distinctly bad terms with Moscow at the moment. He was not invited.

Most of the guests came early and stayed late, crowding around tables laden with caviar, sturgeon, turkey and ice cream. The vodka and champagne ran out before the last had left, but there were plenty of other types of beverages.

Flames Damage Weldon School; Janitor Robbed

Weldon, N.C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Weldon's grammar school was found in flames before dawn today shortly after the school janitor said a man held him up and robbed him of clothing.

Two downstairs classrooms were burned out and two upstairs rooms were severely damaged.

Janitor Forest Jarrell said somebody stuck a pistol in his back and ordered him to surrender his wrist watch, shirt, shoes, leather jacket and hat. He said he never saw the man's face. That was at 5:40 a.m., when he reported for work at the graded and high school and found smoke billowing from it.

Young Worthington, who never knew the fatal seriousness of his illness, was determined until the last to live. He, himself, was one of the few who had confidence in his recovery.

Medical authorities and his parents realized eight months ago that the tow-headed farm boy's days were numbered. His case was diagnosed as hopeless here, at Duke hospital in Durham, and at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, Md.

In a last vain effort to learn of a cure which to medical knowledge does not exist, the parents of the boy made his story public in early October. Even then Alfred was having to make frequent trips to Greenville where he was given blood transfusions.

But for the most part, until the last few weeks, Alfred was relatively active. He attended school occasionally when he was not too weak. He spent his day time hours playing with the other children of the neighborhood and often was seen riding his undersized red bicycle down the road toward the store.

Many of his evening hours were spent listening to his parents or one of his nine brothers and sisters read the Bible. He developed a great interest in the Bible and religion during the weeks of his illness. He attended Sunday school and church regularly.

Wednesday afternoon the Rev. E. M. Williamson of Hollywood Presbyterian church, who so often lifted prayers in the boy's behalf, will once again speak of little Thomas Alfred Worthington. And again he will pray. This time for the family and friends the tow-headed seven year old has left behind.

Deputy Sheriff J. L. Mills and Arthur Andrews say they are looking for four things today in connection with a robbery near here last night. First they want to regain the 1300 pounds of seed cotton taken from the Guy Smith farm four miles from here. Second they want to find the truck used in hauling away the seed cotton. Then they want the crooks who did the job and the broom they used to sweep over their truck tracks.

Big Steel Strikes Rapidly Near End

Republic Steel Corporation And Union Sign Agreement; Jones And Laughlin Firm Also Falls Into Line On Terms

Pittsburgh, Nov. 8 (AP)—Republic Steel Corporation and the CIO United Steelworkers today signed a pension and insurance agreement which ended a 39-day old strike of 45,000 union employees against the nation's third largest steel producer.

The agreement provides: Insurance—Republic's present contributory insurance plan is continued but with increased benefits. Employees will continue to pay three and one-half cents per hour and the company will pay two and one-half cents per hour.

Pension—The plan is an exact replica of the Bethlehem agreement. Employees reaching the age of 65 who have 25 years service will receive a minimum pension of $100 a month including social security. Employees 65 years old with 15 to 25 years service will receive proportionate pensions.

The agreement was signed by CIO and Steelworkers President Philip Murray and by E. J. McGee, acting director of Republic industrial relations.

Agreement was reached in one hour after an 18-minute session in Murray's office.

Earlier today the union signed an agreement with the Nation's No. 4 producer, Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation. That settlement, too, was in line with Bethlehem Steel pact. It ended the strike of 25,000 workers.

Vice President Thomas F. Patton of Republic who is also the firm's general counsel said the Republic agreement is effective at 3 p. m., E. S. T.

"Operations will be resumed as quickly as possible," Republic Steel said in a statement.

"It is expected that Republic's plants will be reopened on Tuesday but full production will be delayed until there is more light on the coal strike. Republic now has less than a three-week coal supply."

Republic steel, with a total of about 75,000 employees, said approximately 2,000 employees will be eligible for retirement on January 1, although retirement will not be compulsory.

The agreement, third to be signed among the country's largest steel producers, makes provision for pensions above the $100 a month minimum.

Each coal yard of the city reported daily calls from home consumers who have no coal, and say they have no other means of heating their homes. An increase in the number of calls for coal has been noted since the current cold snap began last week, the dealers said.

Several retailers reported "not a pound" of coal on the yards, while one or two dealers who said a few hundred pounds of fuel which remained on their yard had been sold for several weeks.

It was pointed out by one of the dealers that the shortage which in this area has most acutely affected the home consumers, now is threatening to cause a shutdown in the businesses of this area which rely on stoker coal for heating.

All the city's coal retailers agreed that no relief is in sight for coal consumers until the strike ends, and several warned of the dire situation which has ever existed in this locality. One of the retailers remarked, "If President Truman doesn't think this is an emergency, I wish he would come down and answer my telephone for half an hour one morning."

London, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Home Office warned Britons today that a "nerve gas," which causes death in convulsions, may be used against them if another war breaks out.

It said the gas, in liquid form, will penetrate both clothing and skin, and thus will kill even if the victim is wearing a gas mask.

The warning was contained in a training manual on chemical warfare published for Britain's new permanent Civil Defense Corps.

It said the gas gives off a vapor with practically no smell. It does not cause either irritation or blistering. The first warning a victim gets is when his vision begins to dim and he has trouble focusing his eyes. This is followed by running of the nose and tightness of the chest.

Typhoon's Death Toll Still Rising

Manila, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Manila Red Cross tonight announced 47 more deaths in the Oct. 31 typhoon that swept the central Philippines, bringing the total dead and missing to 779.

Twenty-five persons were drowned when the motorboat San Vicente was wrecked off Surigao and 20 others were swept out to sea by a tidal wave at Pintuyan, Leyte, the Red Cross said.

The known dead now stand at 779 with 800 others missing and presumed dead.

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 8 (AP)—Driving privileges were taken from 1,062 persons in the state last month, the Motor Vehicles Department reported today.

There were 882 license revocations and 200 suspensions. The total of revocations for the year rose to 99,420 and suspensions to 17,883.

Values Japan As A Buffer State

By WYATT BROWN
The completion of a treaty with Japan soon followed by a program of material aid to build up her economic structure thus providing the United States with buffer against Communism in the East was predicted last night by Colonel Worth Wicker, of Tarboro, in a brief address to the Rotarians. Such a policy would use dollars instead of lives from the United States in carrying on the fight against Communism, Mr. Wicker brought out.

Before getting into his subject the speaker mentioned the disadvantage of a democracy in an ideological struggle with communism. Democracy is one of those things greater than definition. Communism has a ready definition for everything in the writings of their Karl Marx. This puts the U.S. at a disadvantage in presenting democracy to the "have-nots" in the Orient.

The dominance today of communism in China with the people used to being "kicked around by" one group or another until they seem not to care who does it, creates another front for the U.S. to fight Communism since the U. S. is committed to the policy of fighting communism wherever and whenever it is found, the speaker stated.
Pointing out the alignment of Pacific islands the U.S. has for defense from attack in the East, Mr. Wicker cited the recent return of a large number of Japanese soldiers from Russian prisons where they had been thoroughly indoctrinated with communism. In Mr. Wicker's opinion the only way to meet that challenge is to support a Japan strong enough to put down inevitable communist uprisings and to have a firm economy.
He warned that such a program will require the people of the U.S. to do some rethinking on the problem of the Orient. At this moment the U.S. is a far cry from such a program, he warned. The question as Mr. Wicker sees it is whether the U.S. will give as broad aid to Japan as they have to the countries in Europe and thus provide a strong Japan that will serve as a bulwark for democratic ideas; or, leave Japan to communism and have them as a threat to U.S. security.
Visiting Rotarians last night were Steve Gardner and Ray Phillips of Washington; Mac Edwards, Wes Gooding, A. R. Taylor, Thelbert Worthington, and Harry Munford of Ayden. Beecher Flanagan presented the program and introduced the speaker. Ty Wagner spoke the cooperation and support of the Rotarians for the huge Armistice day program the VFW has planned. Erroll Webb, president of the club, presided.

Large Dividend To Stockholders

New York, Nov. 8.—(AP)—One of the biggest cash dividends in American history will go to General Motors stockholders on Dec. 10.
It totals more than $190,000,000. With other payments already made this year, it will bring the company's grand total of dividends for 1949 to more than one-third of a billion dollars.
This is an all-time record for General Motors Corp., and financial circles said it probably is an all-time record for the United States.
The yearly earnings will amount to $8 a share for common stocks, which has a par value of $10. The stock closed here yesterday—before the company announcement—at $69.12 1/2 a share. The year's dividend will be 80 per cent of the par value and almost 12 per cent of yesterday's price.
Reaction to the news on the New York Stock Exchange will be delayed until tomorrow, since the election is closed today for the general election.
The San Francisco Exchange still was open, however, when word of the announcement hit the tickers. The price shot up immediately $2.62 1/2 a share to $71.75. The new dividend will be paid to stockholders of record Nov. 17, and will be $4.25 a share for common stock. Preferred stockholders will get regular dividends.

Noted Religious Leader Speaks To Baptist Students

At the Baptist Student Center, 404 East Eighth Street, last night, Miss Hilda Mayo, secretary of the North Carolina Baptist Women's Missionary Union, spoke to a group of East Carolina College students.
She related many of her observations of Baptist missions in Louisiana, especially in New Orleans. The widely known religious leader pointed out the need for Christian teachers in all fields of Baptist work. Miss Helen Duncan of Murfreesboro, ECTC, student introduced the speaker.
An interesting feature of the meeting was that the students remained some time after Miss Mayo's talk to ask questions and learn more about the missions. Gene Hart of Kinston led the devotional.
The Baptist Student Center was established here nearly two years ago as a recreation center for Baptist students at East Carolina Teachers College. Miss Gloria Blanton is executive secretary.

Oil Paintings In Exhibition At Austin Building

An exhibition of oil paintings by contemporary artists of Virginia is now on display at East Carolina Teachers College in Room 203 of the Austin building. Sponsored by the department of art of the college here, the exhibition will be open to the public through November 27, and may be seen daily from 1 o'clock in the afternoon to 9 in the evening, except on Saturday.
The paintings now on display at East Carolina were selected from the Twelfth Virginia Artists Exhibition held in April, 1949, at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond. They were selected by nationally known artists and critics.

Valued subject matter and different techniques are observable in the exhibition, and the paintings provide a representative cross-section of the types of work now being done in the United States.
The artists whose works are included are Virginians by birth or adoption. Students, professional artists, teachers of art, and avocational painters contributed to the exhibition.
The East Carolina department of art extends an invitation to the public to see the paintings.

VALUE RECEIVED IN ECONOMIC TRANSFUSION

Individually and collectively, Americans deplore the rising cost of government. The heavy drain on national and private resources has occasioned many an angry protest from lawmakers and businessmen, big and little.

The Reflector has been long convinced that with the elimination of waste and a corresponding reduction of excessive public works spending, the federal budget could be lowered, though not to a degree that would stretch Uncle Sam's coin purse with unspent taxes.

In at least one field of governmental effort there is reason for hope that taxpayers are getting their money's worth: in the rebuilding of western Europe. Foreign Aid Chief Paul Hoffman has described the recovery of western Europe as a "miracle," though warning that further "miracles" will be necessary before the countries of the ECA bloc are out of the woods.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

One day last week Marguerite Wilson, who lives in the other half of the duplex house Wife Rachel and I live in, came home from a normal day of school teaching in Falkland.

When she walked into the house a slightly familiar voice wailed, "Hellooo! Marguerite! Hellooo!" She looked all over her apartment for the weird voice and then noticed that our door was open, so then she looked into our apartment. Still she couldn't find the voice.

Eventually she discovered that the voice was coming from under the house and belonged to me. I was installing our "new" second-hand oil heater. There is a hole in our bedroom floor that I had to find in order to run the copper tubing to the stove, so I wanted Marguerite to help me find the hole by poking a stick through it. As soon as she recovered from the fear that there was a ghost in the house she obliged.

By 6:30 I had tightened the last connection on the stove, and at 6:35 it turned cold. Of course you realize that this perfect timing was no accident. In order to hit the cold wave perfectly I had to study weather reports, maps, and a history of weather conditions in North Carolina. The idea was to delay the purchase of a stove as long as possible. Idle money is worth at least two per cent, so by waiting to buy a stove I must have saved about three cents.

Ordinarily it costs me six cents to save three. If the stove doesn't blow up and continues to heat it'll be somewhat of a record: three cents saved free of charge. The last time I tried to save money W. R. put her foot down. My plan was to give the winner of high score at our bridge club a carburetor (from course), and the winner of low score a spark plug. My theory was that sooner or later the other three cars in the club will need these parts. After all, when the girls buy the prizes they usually get "something for the house," which ends up saving them something out of their housekeeping budget. Why not save the men something out of the automobile fund? I told Rachel that the women and the men could alternate. Burney Warren could give something from his drug store, Travis Flanagan a tobacco flue, and Booger Seales a week of term insurance. Following this sequence the girls could give their infernal household gifts.

Men always get accused of being all determine that title to coastal waters is vested in federal rather than state government. The state of North Carolina has devoted a lot of energy and money to development of a commercial fisheries industry which is jeopardized by pending claims of the federal government to ownership and control of coastal waters.

ing "light," the woman's word for economical. The average woman will spend an hour of valuable time, half a gallon of gasoline, 6 1/2¢ wear and tear on an automobile, and a nickel in the parking meter to save nine cents on a pair of hose at a sale. Before going any further on the subject of a woman's interpretation of saving I should wait and see if the stove is going to blow up. I hereby claim this proverb as mine: "A man who opens his mouth as much as I do is bound to put his foot in it occasionally." Perhaps this is one of those times. And I thank you.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE New York.—(AP)—Millions of Americans want to be successful authors. But only 5,000 really are. What defeats the rest? Robert Penn Warren, Pulitzer prize winning novelist, says this is one of the chief reasons: "Lack of nerve or hard work. You have to be willing to take a beating." Warren is an expert at taking the beating of popular indifference to his work. For 20 years this Kentucky-born poet, editor and University professor has been hailed by critics as one of the nation's finer literary craftsmen. But over a 17-year period he wrote a biography, three books of poetry, and three novels before the public works up to his merit. He hit the jackpot with the third novel, "All the King's Men." This study of a Southern political dictator won him the Pulitzer prize. Since 1946 it has sold more than 1,000,000 copies and has just been made into a movie by Columbia pictures. "Some people say I patterned my dictator after Huey Long," grinned Warren. A lanky, red haired man of 44, "But it could just as well be Bulbo, Mussolini, Hitler—or a thousand other dictators. He is a slow writer and pecked out 'All the King's Men' over a ten-year period. "I know how it feels to be a frustrated writer—at least six days a week," he said. "I write with a typewriter. Can't read it if I don't. "Poetry? Well, I do scribble a little bit of that by hand—then get it on the typewriter: fast so I can look at it. But poetry is really sound. You compose it out loud as you pace the floor mumbling. "Writing poetry is more pleasant than prose. You can lie on your back and mumble longer before you have to get up and go to the typewriter. Warren has never made as much as $1,000 from a poetry book and doubts if any poet in America—except possibly Robert Frost—gets a liveable income from verse alone. In fact he thinks it's a mistake for serious young authors to try to earn their way from the start by their writing. "Get a job," he advised. "Then try to write and see what happens. I always had a teaching job. "When you have a job, you can write the way you want to and hope for the best. You don't have to count on it for the groceries. "Warren tried to write for money only once. "I turned out two stories with the idea of getting some dough quick. It didn't work. They didn't sell. But"—he grinned wryly—"sure would like to know the trick. "Making the best-seller list hasn't changed his way of life. He still plans to continue teaching as well as writing. He has another novel, "World enough and 'time' coming out in the spring and now is finishing a play and a long narrative poem. "My project sort of overlap," he said. "I fiddle with them for a long time. "What is the future of American writing? "I'm sure it will continue as long as typewriters are sold," he said. "But I can't see what lies ahead. There is no trend—no unity of atmosphere or feeling—such as produced Scott Fitzgerald Sinclair Lewis, Hemingway and Faulkner in the 1920's. That was a rich period—the twenties. "I asked if he could sum up his philosophy in telegram length—10 words. He said, no, he couldn't—it would take a long poem or a book. When I reminded him that Jesus Christ had been able to do it with his Golden Rule, Warren smiled and said: "He was a better writer than the rest of us."

WASHINGTON LETTER

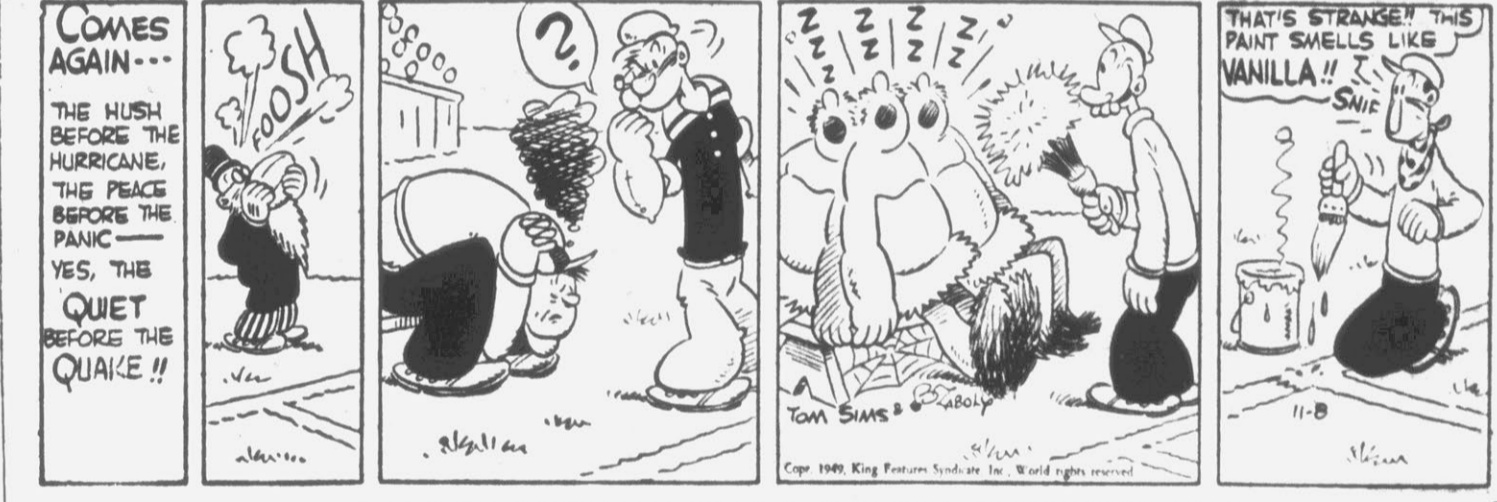

By JANE EADS Washington.—The son of a former Solomon Island head hunter, on his first venture out of the South Pacific, says he fears the life of the cities far more than that of the wildly uncivilized areas of his native land. Pastor Robert Salau, an ordained Seventh-Day Adventist minister of the Island of Vella La Vella, speaking in plain English said: "I'm sure it will continue as long as typewriters are sold," he said. "But I can't see what lies ahead. There is no trend—no unity of atmosphere or feeling—such as produced Scott Fitzgerald Sinclair Lewis, Hemingway and Faulkner in the 1920's. That was a rich period—the twenties. "I asked if he could sum up his philosophy in telegram length—10

Sub-Launched Buzz Bomb Escapes Defensive Guns

Aboard USS Spangler off Hawaii, Nov. 8—(AP)—A submarine-launched buzz bomb zoomed over a line of 35 Navy ships yesterday and apparently escaped a hit from anti-aircraft guns.

The missile was assisted by a rocket in its takeoff from the deck of the submarine Carbonero. Known in Navy parlance as a Loon, the missile was launched 20 miles behind 35 ships strung out over a 21 mile course. It sped 400-500 miles an hour over its controlled course and plunged into the sea 80 miles from where it was launched.

A close look at the Loon launching showed the Navy's missile development has reached a stage where submarines can carry a number of jet weapons in normal undersea operations. Loon wings are detachable and the missile and its jet engine when broken down probably would occupy the same space area in a submarine as three torpedoes.

The missile launching ramps are made of a light steel frame work easily taken down and stowed.

The most impressive thing in yesterday's demonstration was the scant launching ramp required to get the bomb into the air with a rocket.

After the Loon's jet engine warms up the rocket jumps the Loon into the air and attains a speed sufficient to develop jet compressive power.

Not only did the Loon apparently escape ack ack hits but it evidently was not intercepted by fighters from the carriers Valley Forge and Boxer. The missile is the same as the German V-1 that gave London so much trouble late in the war. British gunners and airmen shot down a high percentage of them in the latter days of the war.

Camp Lejeune Is Thrown Open To 2,000 Students

Camp Lejeune, N. C., Nov. 8—(AP)—The Marine Corps today threw open its biggest training base here to 2,000 high school seniors. As part of American Education week they were shown the base and special displays were arranged.

The students came from 45 schools in Southeastern North Carolina. They saw a military parade, an infantry attack by the 6th Marines. The official host was Maj Gen Franklin A. Hart, commandant of Camp Lejeune. Visitors included Lieut. Gov. Pat Taylor and Rep. Graham Barden (D-NC) whose third district includes Onslow county in which the camp is located.

UNC Students Will Have Say In Selecting Head

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 8—(AP)—Students will have a say in the selection of a new president of the greater University of North Carolina. A University trustee committee considering presidential candidates announced yesterday it had agreed to a student council request to send delegates. The six delegates—two from each of the three branches of the greater University—will be allowed to express opinions on the presidential candidates but will have no vote.

O Max Gardner Jr., a member of the trustee committee, said only 12 names remained on the list for consideration as president. At one time the list had about 25 names. The president will succeed Frank P. Graham, who has been appointed a U. S. Senator.

The next meeting of the trustee committee is tentatively set for the end of this month.

Diphtheria Hits 128 In Carolina

Raleigh, Nov. 8—(AP)—Diphtheria, a communicable but preventable disease, struck 128 persons in North Carolina last month.

State Health Officer Dr. Roy Norton, in announcing October's Health Department figures, pointed out that October, 1948, saw 61 cases reported.

"The situation does not call for alarm since we know that large numbers of children are adequately protected," Dr. Norton stated. "It is only those parents who have neglected to have their children protected who need to be warned."

"Diphtheria reached a record low point in 1948," the Health officer continued. "The increase in 1949 is not expected to go much above the total cases reported in 1947."

Dr. Norton advised that "children should be immunized between the ages of six and nine months. Every effort should be made . . . to see that children immunized at this early age receive stimulating or booster doses at about five or six years of age to assure that the resistance to diphtheria is maintained at an adequate level."

Child Dies After Vicious Beating

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 8—(AP)—A six-year-old girl died last night a few hours after she was found, unconscious and battered, near the Norfolk Navy base.

Lt. Frank Becker of the Norfolk homicide squad said a sex assault might possibly have brought death to blonde Shirley Murray, daughter of a salesman here.

Physicians at Depaul Hospital reported, however, that they had found no indications of rape or attempted rape.

Community Lays Memorial Plans

Middlesex, N. C., Nov. 8—(AP)—Plans for erecting a library in memory of seven children recently killed in a school bus wreck were discussed last night.

Parents of the victims also made public copies of letters they had jointly signed and sent to the state legislators.

They asked the law makers to urge Governor Scott to call a special session of the legislature to put through strict highway safeguards for the state's school children.

The letters also proposed that the special session should consider carrying insurance "on school children in the amount of $10,000 each."

E. M. Burris, principal of Perrell's school, presided over last night's community meeting. Most of the children killed in the Oct. 6 wreck attended Perrell's. The accident occurred when a jammed school bus collided with an ice truck on a narrow bridge on a country road.

Methods of launching a campaign to raise funds for the proposed library were discussed.

The letters of petition said they wanted the special general assembly session called "so that they be provided to buy enough school buses that will make it safe and comfortable for the 380 some thousand school children who ride the school buses every day."

In addition to the insurance proposal, it also proposed with doing away with plank seats in buses, that the highway patrol check school buses and routes every 60 days, that all trucks have 10 ply tires, and that the 25 per cent over-loading rule be abolished.

Governor Plans Radio Address

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 8—(AP)—Governor Scott will take to the air waves for a talk to the people at 6:30 p. m. Friday, Nov. 18.

Radio station WRAL revealed last night arrangements have been made for the Governor to speak over the Tobacco and Dixie FM networks on that date.

The Governor's private secretary, John Marshall, said no surprise announcement is planned. "It will be just a report to the people," he said.

Bounced Back

Ithaca, N.Y., Nov. 8—(AP)—When the Democrats published an election advertisement they had no intention of pleasing Republican Mayor Bert Baker, who is seeking reelection.

But Baker was so tickled he sent the Democrats $25.

The newspaper ad was headed "Baker's Record as Mayor." The space beneath was blank.

"It was such a nice advertisement for me, stressing my clean and spotless record," Baker explained last night.

A new American policy in the Pacific is expected to be charted from Jessup's fact-finding trip.

Hold Suspect In Three-Year-Old Kidnap-Slaying

Los Angeles, Nov. 8—(AP)—The sheriff's office today detained a Los Angeles man for questioning about the 1946 kidnaping and slaying of six-year-old Rochelle Giukoter.

Lt. Vic England said the man was Nicholas Meyers, 40. He added that Meyers would be booked on suspicion of kidnaping and suspicion of murder.

The little girl, daughter of Abe Giukoter, a baker, and Mrs. Giukoter, was taken from near her home Feb. 15, 1946. Almost two years later her skeleton was found in a ravine in adjoining Orange County. Her parents identified the body from a signet ring and bits of clothing found nearby.

Buccaneers And High Point Prep For Conference Tilt

Neither Has Yet Won A North State Conference Game, But Friday Night Will See Ice Broken For Victory - Starved Elevens

Two North State teams which haven't won a conference contest all year began preparations yesterday for the Friday night game which will, barring a tie, break the ice in the North State conference win column for one of them.

Victory-starved East Carolina Teachers College, though it has chalked up three impressive non-conference wins this season, will be fighting for its first conference win in two years when it meets High Point Purple Panthers in High Point.

High Point has been slightly more fortunate than the Greenville aggregation. The Panthers have a tie with Guilford to their conference record which moves them a half notch above cellar mates East Carolina and Atlantic Christian College.

Last week High Point lost to Elon's Fighting Christians 21-6 while East Carolina was going 35-18 to mighty Appalachian. East Carolina lost to the Elon team 33-6 in their worst losing of the year.

Though the Buccaneers from Greenville lost by three touchdowns to the Appes, who now hold third place in the conference, it was the fourth game in a row in which Coach Bill Dole's boys have looked very impressive.

They held the conference winning West Carolina Catamounts to a two touchdown victory, then came through to bowl over Apprentice school and Edenton's Flyers.

In the Saturday night game with Appalachian the Bucs missed a fourth touchdown by six inches. The running of Freshman halfback Jack Benz and stocky little Bill Darby compared favorably with the ball carrying of any backs seen in action

High School JV Team Opens Grid Series Thursday

Milton Glover's Greenville high school Junior Varsity will open its two game football season here Thursday afternoon when it begins a series with the Jayvees of Tarboro.

Glover said today that his 31-man squad would return the game in Tarboro the following Thursday. The game here will be played in Guy Smith Stadium at 3 o'clock, Glover announced.

With three weeks of practice the local Jayvees have responded "nicely" according to their coaches. "They have a lot to learn but they are looking good right now for the experience they have had," Glover commented.

He predicted that at least some of his boys would do Coach Farley's Phantom football team "a lot of good before long." And that was the primary purpose of the Jayvee squad—to have some experienced boys coming up when the present varsity graduates.

Co-captains for the Junior squad were elected yesterday as the team stepped up preparations for its game. Glover announced that Sam Hux, an end, and Glenn Scott, a halfback, would serve the team as co-captains.

"We have a lot of small boys but you must consider that they are eighth and ninth grade boys and they will be doing a lot of growing in the next couple of years.

Some of them aren't so small right now. Glover has a tackle, Van Carroll, who weighs 160. By the time he gets to be an upper classman he should be raising havoc in North-eastern conference lines, the coach explained.

Little could be learned of the Tarboro Juniors. The Tigers' varsity this year was rather weak in comparison with Northeastern conference schools but has always been one of the scrappiest teams in this section.

Coach Dickie Toler, graduate of East Carolina, is coaching the Tarboro boys.

Among the players now working under Glover and Line Coach George Wood are: Ends, Sam Hux, Vernon Wingate, Shorty Harrington, Doug Strickland, Tommy Cox, Larry Jorgensen; tackles, Sam Carroll, John Messick, Boots Teel, Bob Browning; Doug Brantley, Billy Adams; guards, Jessie Moyer, Bobby Nunn, Anwer Joseph, Theron Carr and Cobert Powell; O. J. Stancell, Donald Salter and Rudolph Schelter; centers, Jimmy Chatham and Jody Taylor; quarterbacks, Johnny Russell and Eddie Farley; halfbacks, Glenn Scott, Guy Smith, Doug Morgan, Sam Worthington, Billy Briley; fullbacks, Hilton Quinn and Wayne Smiley.

Two Bus Lines In Skirmish For Notre Dame Game

Raleigh, Nov. 8—(AP)—Two bus lines are skirmishing for the right to take North Carolina fans to New York for the Notre Dame football game this weekend.

The Carolina Coach Company complained to the Utilities Commission yesterday that its charter is being violated by the Greyhound Lines charter trips leaving from Chapel Hill.

Atlantic Greyhound has advertised it will run charter coaches from Chapel Hill to Yankee Stadium for the tilt.

Carolina Coach said in its protest that it is affiliated with the Queen City Coach Company of Charlotte and has exclusive rights to Chapel Hill. It added that it has "ample facilities to operate all the charter service needed" for the game-bound crowds.

Pretty Sharp Deer

Red Lodge, Mont.—(AP)—Tom Griffith killed a deer and had it hanging from the limb of a tree. He climbed up to tighten the rope on the limb. The rope broke and the deer and Griffith fell, the man landing on the antlers which pierced his back muscles and the seat of his pants.

Says Griffith: "I'll never trust another dead deer."

New-Model Poll Favors Lehman

New York, Nov. 8—(AP)—A new-model Gallup Poll gives former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman a 46 to 34 lead in New York's red hot U.S. Senate election today.

Lehman's rival is Republican Sen. John Foster Dulles, appointed several months ago by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The poll's final vote survey was carried up to Nov. 4. It lists the remaining 20 per cent of those polled as "undecided," but Lehman, the Democratic-Liberal candidate, held a slight edge here, too.

Today is the first major test of the poll since its wrong prediction of a Dewey victory over President Truman last year—the only really big error in the poll's history.

Director George Gallup of the American Institute of Public Opinion said his new poll has a number of refinements aimed at preventing a mistake like last year's.

The 17 teams in the new National Basketball Association are playing a 557-game schedule during the 1949-1950 season.

New York—(AP)—Only Lee Kroc, former University of Detroit cage ace, is left from the 1946-47 team fielded by the New York Knickerbockers in the then brand new Basketball Association of America. Every other member of that original squad has departed.

Sport Slants By Pap

Leo Wagner, City College of New York senior co-captain, has become a one-man backfield for Beaver coach Frank Tubridy. As a left halfback in his first two seasons of varsity play, Wagner topped the Beavers in ground-gaining. Last season, as a junior, he alternated at left half and quarterback in the T formation and was the leading passer on the team. He scored ten touchdowns from his halfback position and threw three touchdown passes as a quarterback.

This year City College has been plagued with injuries so Wagner had ample opportunity to show just how versatile he could be. When Marvin Zentner, the lone remaining right halfback on the roster was sidelined with a shoulder injury,

Leo was moved into that spot. In the Beavers' triumph over Lowell, Wagner was at right half most of the game, handled the ball at quarter for some plays and took part in half a dozen plays as a left halfback. A defensive and offensive star who has averaged close to 50 minutes a game, he plays fullback on defense. In addition, Wagner is the team's kicker this season with a punting average of 40 yards for 27 kicks.

Wagner's record of versatility is unique in today's game of highly specialized players and becomes all the more impressive when one realizes that he played no football in high school. He is a Navy veteran and a physical education major.

Big Leagues To Spend Plenty In Bargain Hunt

New York, Nov. 8—(AP)—Major league club owners will spend over $100,000 in the annual player draft in Cincinnati next week in hopes of snaring another Hack Wilson, whom the Chicago Cubs acquired for $75,000 back in 1925.

History shows that few of the players picked up at basement prices become standouts—or even stick in the majors. However, there are exceptions.

The Cubs found one when they drafted Wilson from Toledo. Wilson belonged to the New York Giants but a slipup in the Giant office exposed him to the draft and the alert Cubs claimed him.

He led the National League in home runs in 1926 and four years later set the National League home run record of 56 and the major league runs batted in mark of 190.

Wilson's case is outstanding but there have been some pretty good other buys picked up from the "grab bag."

The Giants drafted a frustrated pitcher turned outfielder, Lefty O'Doul, from San Francisco in 1927. O'Doul hit .319 in 1928, was sold to Philadelphia, led the league in batting in 1929 with a .398 mark. Three

Rose Bowl Pact Changes Sought

Chicago, Nov. 8—(AP)—Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin Athletic director, is in favor of a compromise in any new big ten-Pacific Coast conference Rose Bowl pact that may be signed.

The "Little General" of Notre Dame's famed four horsemen days suggested at a quarterback club meeting yesterday that a big ten team be permitted to repeat in the Rose Bowl every two years instead of three and that the Pacific Coast conference do the same.

The Coast circuit sends its champion into the Bowl. The big ten does not permit one team to appear in the Bowl more than once in three years, even if it wins the title.

(The big ten rep-at ban has drawn strong criticism on the West Coast.)

The possibility of Notre Dame going to the Rose Bowl or any Bowl, was promptly spiked by Ed "Moose" Krause, Irish Athletic director.

"Coach Frank Leahy and the school feels that after 10 tough games, our season should be finished," he said. "We will maintain our policy of not paying post-season games."

Krause had lavish praise for Michigan State after Notre Dame's 34-21 win Saturday.

"Michigan State is the finest, toughest team Notre Dame has played in two years," he said. "We were kind of lucky to win. There is not another player in the country better than Michigan State halfback Lynn Chandnois."

Final Rites Set For Race Driver

Glendale, Calif., Nov. 8—(AP)—Final rites for Rex Mays, one of the nation's top race drivers killed in a racing crash Sunday, will be held Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Jambes Lamb, secretary of the American Automobile Association's racing contest board, is among top officials of the sport planning to attend the rites. The services will be conducted by Dr. Clarence Kerr of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Mays was killed on the 13th lap of the final 100-mile AAA championship race of the season when his car upended and he was thrown to the track.

Lyn Bend of the St. Paul Saints of the U.S. Hockey League is a cousin of Bryan Hextall, one of the New York Rangers' former great stars.

Hot Mayoralty Fight In Detroit Reaches Climax

Detroit, Nov. 8—(AP)—One of the hottest mayoralty election fights in Detroit's history rushed to its climax today.

With promise of a record vote, the Motor City chose between City Treasurer Albert E. Cobo, the "business man's candidate," and CIO-supported George Edwards.

Since the September primary, the Cobo and Edwards forces have carried on a ding-dong fight for ballots in the non-partisan race.

A veteran of seven terms as city treasurer, the 65-year-old Cobo fought for the job against a man 20 years his junior.

Edwards, 35, Harvard-educated and with a background of factory worker and CIO United Auto Workers organizer, has served on the city council eight years.

Irish Dominate Grid Picture As Few Have Done In History

New York, Nov. 8—(AP)—Notre Dame is dominating the college football picture this year as few teams have done in the past.

The resourceful fighting Irish, making minicame of a man-sized schedule, held the No. 1 position for the fifth straight week today in the Associated Press' nationwide poll. They are a near universal choice.

The South Benders received 137 of 163 place votes cast by sports writers and sportscasters.

This left only 26 to be distributed among the other powers in the land with second-ranked Army getting 13, Oklahoma No. 3, received nine and California, No. 4, collected three.

The lone remaining first place vote went to another unbeaten undefeated team, Cornell, which took sixth place behind the defending National champion Michigan twice-beaten this year.

With the poll broadening each year, Notre Dame commands the heaviest first place vote in the 13-year history of the AP feature.

Not even Army, in its robust wartime days when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were rampant, or the Irish, in 1946-47 when they were riding high behind Johnny Lujack's buggypump arm, enjoyed such mass national acclaim.

The material-rich Notre Dame club, which keeps knowing over some of the country's finest football teams as if they were tennis, will take on North Carolina Saturday in Yankee Stadium.

Then they play Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist in order in attempting to add to an unbeaten streak that now has reached 34 games.

All the shuffling in the weekly standings occurred in the lower division as the top five teams held firm.

Cornell moved from seventh to sixth on a strength of a 33-7 triumph over Syracuse. Rice, climbing from eighth, succeeded to the No. 7 spot after humbling Arkansas 14-6.

As a demonstration of Notre Dame's influence, Michigan State climbed from tenth to eighth just because it gave the Irish a good scrap, losing 34-21.

Ed (Moose) Krause, Notre Dame Athletic director, termed the Spartans the "toughest" team the Irish have played in two years.

The last two plac-ers in the top ten were filled by newcomers Minnesota and Virginia as Baylor and Southern Methodist were shoved below.

Golfer Of The Year Title Is Given To Sammy Snead

Chicago, Nov. 8—(AP)—Golfer of the year? You don't need three guesses to know it's Sammy Snead.

The Professional Golfers Association of America said today Snead was No. 1 in its annual nationwide poll.

Sports writers and sports casters voted Cary Middlecoff runnerup. Middlecoff ruined Snead's chances of a grand title slam by beating him out of the National Open crown. Johnny Palmer, Tam O'Shanter champion, was third in the balloting.

Snead overcame the putting jitters to post his finest campaign. He won three big ones, the National P.G.A., Augusta Masters and Western Open, as well as other championships in the Greensboro Open, Washington Star Open and Dapper Dan Open. He finished third or better in eight other meets, including a second-spot deadlock in the National Open.

Averaging 69.49 strokes in 69 rounds, Snead is top money winner with $30,893 followed by Middlecoff with $24,604. Middlecoff's round average is 69.92.

Winnings and stroke averages will not be completed for the 1949 season until the Miami Open, Dec. 8-11.

As Golfer of the Year, Snead will be awarded a plaque at the P.G.A. annual meeting in Southern Pines, N. C., beginning Nov. 28.

New Coach For Furman Cagers

Greenville, S.C., Nov. 8—(AP)—Melvin Bell, who finished three years of sparkling play with the Furman basketball team last season, will coach the local university cage team this season. Athletic Director H. E. (Red) Smith announced today.

Smith also announced a 23-game schedule, including five exhibition games, for the Paladins.

War-Time Trick Is Again Useful

Prague—(AP)—Tricks they used to foil the Nazis are now being resurrected by some Czechs to beat the Communists. During the height of the arrest roundups staged by the Communist-controlled police this month, it was surprising to learn how packed the hospitals and clinics were. They couldn't ship a sick man off to the labor camps or uranium mines, could they?

Those hiding out in this way were mostly business men and other propertied elements, the main targets of the roundups. And, as in the days when they feared the Nazi Gestapo, many men wore winter underwear out of season. Some went to bed fully clothed. One man explained:

"If they grab you during the night the police don't give you time to put on or pack heavy clothing. And it takes a long time before you get a package from home in the work camps." Such packages were made up by numerous Prague people to send to arrested relatives. If a request came for "high boots and a water-proof coat" it usually was the tip-off that the arrested person was in the Soviet-operated uranium mines near Jachymov.

His Big Day

Los Angeles—(AP)—Warren Lehr, Cleveland Browns' rookie back, answered the phone in the Los Angeles Coliseum dressing room before the game with the local pro Dons to find that his wife has presented him with a six pound, nine ounce girl, Jean. Then he took the field to catch his first touchdown pass as a professional.

Chapter 21
The next day she went into town. She had thought it would be a simple matter to obtain the transcripts she wanted. To the contrary, she learned these were records, and as such must be held at the courthouse. Only such persons as could be identified as participants or a chosen few newspapermen and attorneys, had any access to the files.

As she pleaded and argued with the clerk, an attractive girl who had been listening came over.

"If it's no more than general information," she said, "I might be able to help you."

"Miss Carson of the 'Globe Telegram' this is Miss Langtry. Big Chips Langtry's daughter."

Arleta waited for scorn to appear in the blue eyes of the reporter, but there was none there, nor was there pity or anything more than interest. "We have fairly complete records of the principal trials on file. If you can give me an idea of which one, or the dates—"

"I don't know which one—all of them. I guess, and I don't know the dates. I didn't know of the suits until yesterday."

Miss Carson reflected a moment. "My business is asking questions, so overlook it, please, but why are you so suddenly interested? What is your motive? I didn't cover any but the last. I understand all of them were unpleasant."

Arleta nodded. "I want to know how it stands."

"How about the attorneys?"

"They won't talk. They advise me to leave matters alone. And I must know. I've been protected too long."

"Not much fun being taken by surprise, is there?" sympathized the reporter. "All right, come on and I'll see what I can find."

Arleta's long, cream-colored car was left in the courthouse parking lot and the two girls drove to the newspaper office in Miss Carson's black coupe.

Once there, they went directly to the morgue. "Thanks to my year in this hole," she told Arleta, "we've had a chance of running things down without tipping our hand. We'll start here."

"But these are cute."

"Right. However, they carry copies and those copies carry dates and the names of them. Now let's see—"

"Dates? Your father's initials?"

"J. Merton Langtry, Jr. for Jack—"

"Right, here we are. My word, what a fistful!"

A few moments later Arleta was sitting before a cast book and Caro Carson was starting out of a nearby window. She'd said, "Look, Miss Langtry, this is your show. I'm not asking questions. If anything happens, give me the break; otherwise—"

"Nothing will happen," Arleta assured her.

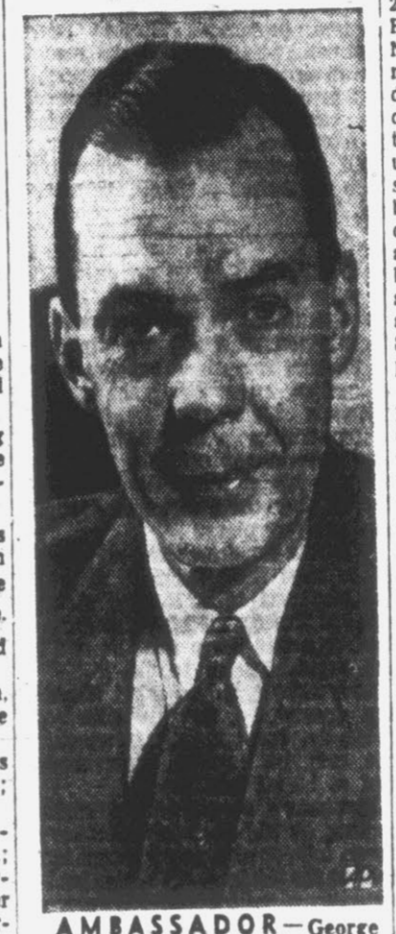

Fighting back tears, she leafed through the pages of the "Globe-Telegram." And on every front page black headlines jeered at her.

Langtry Scandal Breaks
Big Chips Defies Farmers
Langtry Refuses to Divulge Source of Income

And those photographs of her father, straight, unsmiling, defiant. Another headline: "Lane-Langtry Suit Begins Today."

Arleta read.

The question of clemency would rest with Governor General Ratsopoulos, who would act on any recommendation made by Prime Minister Nehru and his cabinet. Next January 26 India will become a Republic, but the present commonwealth setup exists until then. An appeal for a new trial already has been rejected by the British Privy Council in London.

It will be interesting to see what happens.

Ruth Bostian Gets Ovation At Football Game In Greenville

By CHESTER WALSH
Miss Ruth Bostian of Wilmington, a senior at East Carolina Teachers College, who suffered a spinal injury while swimming in Pamlico River below Washington last summer, spent the recent weekend in Greenville. She has been a patient at Duke Hospital ever since the accident. She is recovering satisfactorily.

While in Greenville Miss Bostian attended the Appalachian-ETC football game at the stadium. She sat in a wheel chair near the players' bench during the game. During ceremonies between halves Miss Bostian was given an ovation by the crowd of several thousand persons. She was in the WAVES during World War II and was the only woman member of the ECTC Veterans Club. She also is remembered favorably here for her good work with El Bloom in producing the annual Kiwanis minstrel shows.

Washington newsmen were invited to Russian receptions but this year a load of invitations went out to members of the press.

(In addition to their were American government officials, members of other foreign Embassies in Washington, and others whose connection was not very clear.)

Why the Russians in this year wanted to open their doors so wide to the newsmen is a Russian secret, since in Moscow the fewer the American reporters there are, the better the Russians seem to like it.

Last night reporters asked Vishinsky questions and he answered promptly, through an interpreter, but said his specific observations had to be off the record.

Vishinsky's cordiality last night, coming on the heels of Malenkov's harsh talk, doesn't mean there's any split in the thinking of Russian leadership.

Scoutmasters In Fourth Meeting Of Instruction

The fourth meeting of the scoutmasters' training program was held last night at the First Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock.

The opening session of the meeting was under the direction of John Baldrac.

Vernon F. Sechrist, Rocky Mount scoutmaster conducted a discussion on school and troop meetings.

The closing session of the meeting was under the direction of Van Fleming, Jr., who gave a short program dealing with various games. About 20 scoutmasters took part in the meeting last night.

Interesting Survey On Sunday School Attendance In City

"I find that the city of Greenville is about on an average with other parts of the country in the matter of Sunday school attendance," said Dr. H. G. Haney today as he completed a rapid survey comparing the attendance of boys and girls in the Sunday schools and that of the city schools.

There are in the city of Greenville attending the city schools, boys and girls (white) from the ages of 6 to 18, 1,642 students. On an average Sunday in 11 different church schools there were only 927 in attendance, leaving 715, or 45 per cent unaccounted for.

The highest percentage of attendance is found in the first age level of 6, 7 and 8, the primary department. In this group, out of 484 in the city schools, there were 299 in the Sunday schools. Out of the 458 pupils in the junior group, ages 9, 10, 11, there are 290 accounted for in our Sunday schools of the city. But in the intermediate and young people's group comprising the ages 12 through 18, there were only 338 in Sunday school attendance as compared to the 700 found in the city schools.

Since there is only about 55 per cent of white children from the ages 6 through 18 in attendance at the various church schools on Sundays, it is very evident that cooperative surveys and the allocations of individual church obligations would help to reach a great many more of the children and young people for Christian nurture, Dr. Haney said.

Some of the reports complained that when the Veterans' Training school at the old NYA center lets out for lunch that there is an "Indianapolis Speedway" race of cars from the place.
