Education Board Discusses Plans School Building

Priority To Grimesland White Schools; Ayden, Fountain Negro Schools

Advance planning for the county's school construction program and the regulation of fund-raising drives in the schools of the county received the attention of the Pitt Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday.

Members of the school board, after discussing the conditions of the school buildings in the county, gave priority on the county's list of needs to the Grimesland white schools and to proposed Negro schools to be constructed at Ayden and Fountain.

The board approved the purchase of a three-acre site in Fountain for the construction of a Negro school, and approved the sale of the Falkland school building north of Falkland, which has been abandoned by the county system, to Ed Smith.

The board instructed Architect James Griffith to look into the matter of renovating the Grimesland school and obtain for the board estimates on the work which needs to be done.

Superintendent D. H. Conley said the next step in the building program of the county will be to appear before the state board of education panel in Raleigh to seek approval of the county's projects.

The board went on record as approving a policy of regulating fund-raising canvasses in the schools of the county. The board recommended to the principals of the various schools that drives in the schools be limited to two or three programs each year, and suggested the principals weigh the merits of the various drives, and permit only the most worthy ones.

Along the same lines they recommended the master of students of county schools soliciting business firms of the county for various projects of educational value. The board suggested the problems of student canvassing be worked out with local PTA organizations, and be kept as local as possible.

Reports from the vocational agriculture teachers including their shop inventories and projects for the year were heard by the board.

Ministers Seek Common Policy On Tito, China

Paris, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A well informed source said the Foreign Ministers of the United States, British and France have agreed today to examine a common policy toward Yugoslavia and Communist China.

The three ministers fixed an agenda for two days of meetings here. An American official reported it covers a wide range of subjects, with Germany topping the list. The big three ministers then took up a memorandum from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The ministers agreed to examine all aspects of the German question—political, economic, psychological and military—and the issue of Germany's entry into the European council and other international bodies.

An Uncertain Verdict

Despite Democratic Enthusiasm Over New York Senate Race Victory, A Truer Picture Of Public Attitude Coming In 1950; Two Ways Of Looking At Test

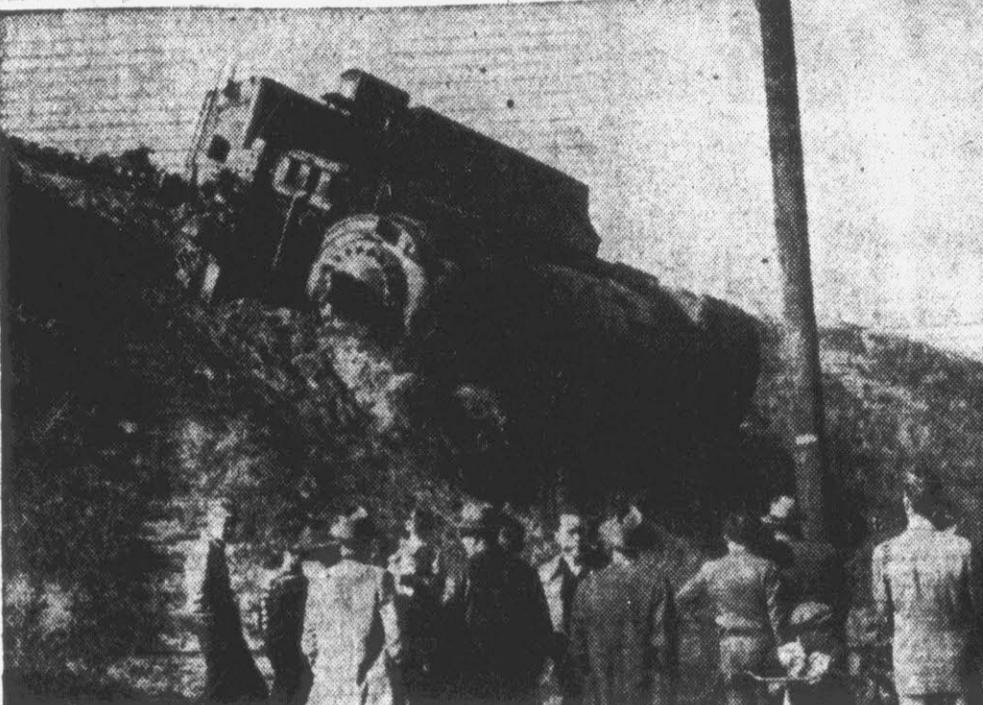

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—In spite of the Democrats' enthusiasm over their victory in the New York Senate election yesterday, the congressional elections of 1950 will tell better how the people feel about President Truman's "Fair Deal."

There are two ways of looking at the election results in New York where Democrat Herbert H. Lehman won the Senate election over Republican John Foster Dulles:

1. That it was a victory for the "Fair Deal" program of Mr. Truman, since Lehman campaigned on that and backed most of the program all the way.

Republicans Take Mauling In Tuesday's Off-Year Vote

Smashing Democratic Victories In N. Y.; Political Bosses Hague, Curley Lose Out

By The Associated Press
Smashing Democratic victories in New York's U. S. Senate race and in widespread city elections set President Truman and the party high command chortling today over the outlook for 1950.

Republicans didn't find much to crow about in yesterday's off-year elections. They held on to the New Jersey Governorship they already had and tossed out a Democratic mayor here and there.

But they took a mauling in the day's feature political bout, in New York State. Democrat Herbert H. Lehman easily knocked Republican John Foster Dulles out of the U. S. Senate seat Dulles has held down since last July.

There was one, big, clear-cut issue: Lehman campaigned hard for the Truman home-front program. Dulles campaigned hard against it.

The President himself, gleefully calling out returns at a dinner in his honor by the Women's Democratic club of Washington, interpreted the result as a vote of confidence in his "fair deal."

Mr. Truman said it would have a very decided effect on the election in 1950 when control of Congress is at stake. So did the Democratic National Chairman, William M. Boyle, Jr.

Furthermore, Boyle said, Lehman's victory "was only the highlight of a national trend" that won out again over Republican "generalities" and "scare attacks." Part of that "trend" was a repeat win for Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City.

The G. O. P. National Chairman Guy George Gabriel, said in a statement that "the principles which Senator Dulles expounded in his campaign are those which ultimately will prevail, because they are right."

Driscoll handed a direct defeat to his Democratic rival State Senator Elmer H. Wene. And he gave an indirect drubbing to Frank Hague, the former Jersey City mayor and boss of the State Democratic organization who backed Wene.

Hague announced he is "stepping aside." At 73 he said he has reached an age when it is impossible to "carry on the arduous duties" of the Democratic leadership.

Boston voters tossed out the last Democratic.

This time it was a cold-cut choice—(a) between Lehman and Dulles or (b) between the "Fair Deal" arguments of Lehman and the warnings against it uttered by Dulles.

At any rate, the voters ignored Dulles' last minute talk, on the night before election, that the goal of the Democrats would mean "state socialism and an end to liberty."

But exactly what the people want will show up a lot more clearly in the November elections of 1950 when they have to choose a whole new House of 435 representatives, and one-third of the 96 senators.

The Democrats now control both houses of Congress. But the Republicans and Southern Democrats, who talk a lot of Mr. Truman's "Fair Deal" program, together outnumber the Democrats who might call themselves "Fair Dealers."

Between next January, when the present Congress begins its fifth year's work, and next November, when the elections are held, the Truman Democrats and the Republicans will have a chance to make the "Fair Deal" issue pretty sharp.

And if a big chunk of Mr. Truman's "Fair Deal" issue pretty sharp.

Bill Scoggin, commander of Raleigh's American Legion Post No. 1, said, however, that the post would furnish speakers to the city's schools on the anniversary date.

Greenville Leaf Market Reports Successful Year

Tobacco Sales Top 55 Million Pounds With Season's Average Of $48.74

The Greenville tobacco market ended its 59th selling season yesterday with sales for the season showing marked increases over last year in poundage, average, and money paid to growers.

Tobacco sales on the local market for the season totaled 55,667,842 pounds—over 1,300,000 pounds more than was sold by the Greenville market during the 1948 season.

The Greenville market, according to the figures released today by Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee, paid out $26,841,201.28 for its total sales this season, and had a season's average of $48.74 for its entire sales.

Money paid to farmers for tobacco sales in Greenville this year amounted to more than one and one-half million dollars over what was paid out last year, and the season's average price was $1.66 above the 1948 average and $5.59 above the 1947 average on the local market.

Market officials said the 1949 season was one of the most successful in the history of the Greenville market, and they pointed out that Greenville is the only major market in eastern North Carolina which declined to run the "rump" sales which were denounced by the Bright Belt Warehouse Association, and the executive committee of both the state Farm Bureau and the North Carolina Grange.

The market this season sold an odd 57 days, compared with 51 selling days last year, but Supervisor Whedbee said the short season was due to the fact that sales were carried on 5 1-2 hours a day this season compared with only five hours a day last year.

Whedbee stated this morning, "The season was much better than last year. The poundage was greater, the average was higher and the total money paid out was greater."

During the 1948 season the Greenville market sold $3,707,915 pounds of leaf, paid out $25,273,620 for an average of $47.08 per hundred.

Raleigh, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Plans for a new 4,700 foot bridge over Roanoke Sound between Nags Head and Manteo were announced by the State Highway Commission today.

Commissioner Henry G. Shelton of the First Division, who announced the plans, said that the time for actual construction to start has not been decided. He said approval of the U. S. Corps of Engineers must be obtained.

Parade Marshal Sherman Parks today announced the procedure of formation for the Armistice Day parade to be held here on Friday morning.

All units are requested to be in position at 10 o'clock. The parade will start at 10:30 a.m. sharp. Out-of-town units will be met at the city limits and escorted to their position for the parade. At the end of the parade vehicles will be conveyed to their proper parking places at the ECTC stadium.

The various groups and organizations participating in the parade will take their positions prior to the parade as follows:

National Colors: ACL Railroad. Post and Unit Colors: ACL Railroad.

Secretary of Army Gordon Gray: Tenth Street at ACL Railroad. American Legion and V.F.W. Commanders: On Tenth Street at ACL Railroad.

Greenville Man Awarded Highest Masonic Honor

A. W. Harris, of this city, recently received the Thirty-Third degree in Scottish Rite Masonry at ceremonies held in Washington, D. C. The Thirty-Third is the highest honorary degree that can be conferred upon a Mason and is for outstanding Masonic service.

Mr. Harris is well known throughout North Carolina for his activity in Masonry especially the Scottish Rite. He is past master of Greenville Lodge 284 A. F. & A. M. in which he received his Master's degree in 1919. He is also past high priest of Greenville Chapter 50 Royal Arch Masons and past-commander of Bethlehem Commandery Knights Templar, a past district deputy and also past master of the various Scottish Rite bodies of the New Bern Consistory.

Only two Pitt county men have been privileged to receive the highest Scottish Rite honor. Besides Mr. Harris the honor was conferred in 1945 upon W. J. Bundy, of this city, past grand master of North Carolina.

Mr. Harris is from a family of prominent Masons. His father, the late J. H. Harris, a past master of Greenville lodge, conferred the first three degrees of Masonry upon his son.

Mr. Harris is an employee of the local post office having been connected with the RFD service for the past 28 years. He is a member of Eighty Street Christian church and has been on the board deacon of the church for several years.

Honored Guests

Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, a North Carolinian, will be introduced as the featured speaker of Greenville's Armistice Day program by Congressman Herbert Bonner (below). Secretary Gray will give his address at the East Carolina College stadium at the conclusion of the parade after the marchers "pass in review" in the stadium.

Final Review Of Armistice Plans

Members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars organizations in Greenville today were making last minute preparations for the gala Armistice day celebration which will be held Friday.

Commander Ty Wagner of the Pitt County Post 39 of the American Legion said finishing touches are being made by the various committees, and by tomorrow the stage will be set for one of the largest celebrations in the history of Pitt county.

Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker at the Armistice day activities, and a parade over a mile long will feature the band and other units of the 82nd airborne division seven other bands and more than 15 other marching units.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 10:30, and will pass through the business section of the city and to the East Carolina Teachers College stadium where the ceremonies will take place. Commander Wagner said the parade will pass the reviewing stand at the stadium, and pointed out that spectators who can not find standing room along the parade route through the business district may see the entire parade pass from their seats in the stadium.

J. Con Lanier will be master of ceremonies at the ceremonies at the stadium, and will recognize visiting officials and other guests. Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina Teachers College will present Congressman Herbert Bonner who will introduce Secretary of the Army Gray.

A barbecue dinner will be served at the Farmers warehouse across the river immediately following the ceremonies at the college.

Wagner said in case of a down-pour of rain, the entire celebration will be held in the Farmers warehouse.

Romulo Appeals For Atomic Ban

Lake Success, Nov. 9.—(AP)—U. N. Assembly President Carlos R. Romulo announced today he has appealed to the Big Five and Canada to consider a short-term atomic armistice, a ban on use of atomic bombs, and a new start on the problem of atomic control.

Romulo so far has not received official answers from the six governments but Western delegates were reported to view the proposals as old stuff and vague.

Civilian Agency Assumes Control Military Planes

CAA Announces New Safety Rule For Air Control After Near Collision

Washington, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A civilian government agency took over air control of military planes as a safety measure today, hard on the heels of an airline pilot's report that he had almost collided with a B-25 bomber over National Airport here.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) announced the new safety move last night, a short time after disclosure of a near-collision between an Eastern A-lines Constellation and an instrument-flying air force plane. The airliner was carrying 54 persons on a flight to Miami.

The CAA did not relate its announcement to the airline-bomber incident. It said the NE regulations resulted from a series of air safety discussions with air force and navy officials which started several weeks ago.

There has been heavy pressure on civilian and military aviation authorities to take new measures toward greater safety in the air—particularly against air-to-air collisions. In the past 14 months, all fatalities suffered by passengers on U. S. Airlines have resulted from aerial collisions.

National Airport was the scene of a disastrous crash last Tuesday, involving in Eastern Airlines D-C 4 and a Bolivian P-38 fighter, in which 55 persons lost their lives.

In its statement last night, the CAA said the new move, effective today, applies to fair weather, a procedure previously restricted to bad days.

Heretofore, air force and navy planes have been able to fly along civil airways in clear weather without the knowledge or approval of the civil agencies although they came under its jurisdiction when ceilings were low or visibility limited.

Now, at the suggestion of an air force official, the CAA will control all airways traffic in all weather.

The narrow escape reported by Eastern Airlines Capt. J. R. Richardson caused the air force to clamp down on all simulated instrument flying in the Washington area, pending an investigation.

Admits 2 Wives Poisoned By Him

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 9.—(AP)—County Attorney Julian Alexander says Houston Roberts, charged with the poison murder of his granddaughter, has admitted he poisoned his first two wives for their insurance.

Alexander said the 42-year-old dairy herdsman admitted yesterday that he gave the two women strychnine.

He said Roberts admitted orally that he gave his first wife, Aletha Ainsworth Roberts, ice cream containing strychnine while she lay pregnant in a Jackson hospital "about August, 1931."

Mrs. Howell Gives Book Review Before Club

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met Tuesday, November 8, in the parlors of Ragdale Hall. The hostesses were Mrs. Neph Jorgensen, chairman, Mrs. Marguerite Austin, Mrs. L. W. Tracey, and Mrs. H. A. Coleman.

Refreshments were served at a beautifully appointed table decorated in honor of United Nations Day. Yellow chrysanthemums about the rooms added another pleasant note of color.

Mrs. H. R. Phillips presided at the short business meeting. The motion was made and carried to assist the Garden Club with the Christmas Festival this year by decorating the front door of the Woman's Club. Mrs. M. N. Posey was made chairman of the decorating committee and asked to choose her own assistants. A collection was taken for Christmas toys for the children of Bavaria.

Mrs. R. R. Willmann then introduced Mrs. W. Howell who gave a clear and thought-provoking review of the much talked-of book, "The Road to Survival" by William Vogt. Mr. Vogt's well-documented pictures of the terrible devastation of our precious natural resources by uncontrolled private enterprise and his equally well-documented pictures of the alarming over population of our world today were uncomfortable facts to face.

A brief discussion followed and many left eager to read this powerful and disturbing book. This is one of the books highly recommended by the Federation of Women's Clubs for careful study.

The next meeting of the Literature Department will be on November 22 at the home of Mrs. L. A. Stroud.

Pittman-Gardner Vows Spoken Sunday

A wedding of beauty and simplicity was solemnized in a candle-light ceremony at the Aspen Grove Free Will Baptist Church Sunday, November 6, at four o'clock when Miss Gloria Aileen Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Gardner of Fountain, became the bride of Mr. Harvey Delton Pittman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pittman of Saratoga. The Reverend R. H. Jackson of Saratoga officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with Oregon fern, white chrysanthemums and candles in floor candlelars.

Prior to the ceremony Mr. Wyley E. Yelverton, pianist, rendered a program of traditional wedding music. Miss Seleta Tucker of Farmville, soloist, sang D'Hardelots "Because," by McDowell. "To A Wild Rose" was played during the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" was sung at the benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original suit dress of Burgundy velvet made with long pointed sleeves, high collar, a tight bodice with self covered buttons, short peplum and flared skirt. Her close fitting hat was of white felt sprinkled with multi-colored brilliants around the crown and covered with sheer illusion. She carried a white satin covered prayer book centered with a white orchid, showered with bouvardia and satin streamers.

Miss Rachel Horton of Saratoga was her only attendant. She was attired in a dress of grey coin dot satin made with a short coat with long sleeves, a peter pan collar and self covered buttons and full skirt. Her hat was of grey satin and felt with matching chin veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, tied with gold ribbon.

John Gay of Walstonburg was best man. Ushers were Kirby Bell, Leroy Baker and Clifton Galloway of Fountain and Douglas Craft of Saratoga.

The brides mother wore a dress of taupe crepe with long sleeves, pencil slim skirt with gathers in the back. Her hat was of black velvet

Mrs. Pittman, a young lady of charm and beauty, was graduated from the Fountain and Farmville schools and for the past three years has been employed as bookkeeper for the Bank of Fountain.

Mr. Pittman graduated from Department of the Woman's Club meets at the club house. 4:00 p. m.—Buffet supper at Country Club for club members and their families.

Thursday evening at seven thirty Mrs. Lovelace Gardner and Mrs. Robert Bell entertained Mrs. Pittman at a miscellaneous shower and Saturday night following rehearsal directed by Mrs. J. M. Horton of Fountain the wedding party was entertained at a cake cutting at the home of the bride.

Mrs. Fennell Gives Guild Program

Circle No. 2 of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Askew with Miss Annie Laurie Askew and Miss Thelma Exum assisting. Miss Jane Hadley, president, presided.

Mrs. Margaret Farley, in charge of the devotional, used as her scripture the parable of the sower. She compared people to trees. We only see the beautiful part of a tree. The strength of a tree depends upon the strength of its roots, and so with people. How well a person weathers the troubles which come in life depends upon his roots or that is those characteristics which are not visible. Mrs. Farley closed with prayer.

During the business session which followed matters of routine business were taken care of. Plans for the annual Christmas dinner to be held on December 5th were made.

Mrs. Kara Lynn Fennell in an interesting manner gave a most comprehensive program on Korea, bringing out the stormy political history of Korea, growth of missionary work in Korea, and the needs of Korea. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The program was given by Messrs. Don Blood and George Perry of the music department of the college. They presented a delightful and original resume of the opera "La Boheme." Mr. Blood narrating and Mr. Perry, an accomplished pianist, accompanying.

At the conclusion of the program a short business meeting was held. The president welcomed the guests, Messdames Kenneth Hite, Charles Williamson, Richard Whitehurst and T. B. Fullilove.

It was voted that the club buy a T. B. Bond. Mrs. Wheelbee extended an invitation to all to attend the exhibits during National Art week.

There being no further business, books were exchanged and the club adjourned.

Mildred Ellis Weds Ralph W. Winstead

On the night of October 27 in a double ring ceremony, at her home near Tarboro, Miss Mildred Elizabeth Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Ellis, became the bride of Mr. Ralph Woodard Winstead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joah T. Winstead of Macesfield.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Claude Griffin, pianist, and Mrs. Melvin Webb.

The bride wore a tweed suit of wool, with a powder blue blouse and hat with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. The bride was attended by Mrs. Jasper Morgan, cousin of the bride, who wore a suit of forest green gabardine with a green hat and black accessories.

The groom had as his best man his brother, Mr. Walton Winstead of Elizabeth City.

After the ceremony a cake cutting was held in the dining room, where cake, ice cream, nuts and mints were served to the guests.

After a trip to New Orleans the couple are at home at Macesfield.

Legion Post Makes Final Arrangements For Parade

Pitt County Post 39 of the American Legion in regular monthly meeting last night announced final arrangements for the Armistice Day celebration here Friday, received its annual dividend check from the Pitt County Fair and appointed a committee to submit a proposition to the fair for use of the post's property near the airport when the fair moves from its present location. The meeting was presided over by Commander T. L. Wagner.

Commander Wagner stressed how fortunate Pitt County was to be able to procure Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray for the Armistice Day speaker and expressed the hope that citizens from throughout the county and section would avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him.

Earl Alder, commander of the local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, co-sponsors of the celebration, promised full support of his organization and expressed hope that the parade and celebration would be the biggest ever held in this section.

Parade Marshal Sherman Parks outlined the route to be followed by the parade and gave final instructions to the units and organizations that will participate.

S. A. Whitehurst was named chairman of the Legion section of the parade and will assist in the formation of the lines.

Koss Hester and William Ennis will serve as color bearers and the color guard will be furnished by the VFW post.

At the ECTO stadium Arthur B. Corey, Norris Merritt, Kenneth Stanton and E. R. Conway will be in charge of the seating arrangements.

C. W. Williams will be in charge of the cars that will carry disabled veterans and Gold Star Mothers in the parade.

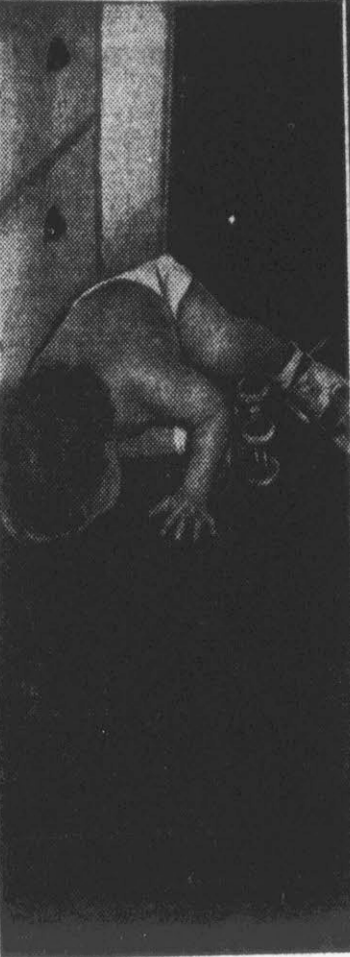

Arrangements for the dinner to be held at the Farmers Warehouse across the river will be in charge of Frank Taylor, Lester Turnage and a group of volunteer workers.

The auxiliary of the American Legion will have charge of the decorations at the warehouse and the VFW auxiliary will take care of the decoration of the speakers stand at the college stadium.

Commander Wagner pointed out that should heavy rain prevent the holding of the exercises outdoors they would take place in the Farmers warehouse.

Senator Clyde M. Reed, Of Kansas, Dies In Night

Parsons, Kas., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Republican Senator Clyde M. Reed who fashioned three successful careers — politics, newspaper publishing and the railway mail service—died last night.

The 78-year-old senator from Kansas apparently succumbed to a heart attack. He collapsed while descending a stairs in his home. His body was found at the foot of the stairs by his wife, Minnie, and a maid.

He just left the hospital last week after suffering from influenza.

Reed was elected to the United States Senate in 1938 and re-elected in 1944. His term was scheduled to expire Jan. 3, 1951.

His death trimmed the number of Senate Republicans temporarily to 42. However, a Republican probably will be named to succeed him. Kansas Governor Frank Carlson, who will make the appointment, also is a Republican.

Reed spent 30 years in the railway mail service before entering newspaper work and politics. When he quit to manage and publish the Parsons Sun, a daily newspaper, he was superintendent of the railway adjustment division.

In the Senate Reed, a white-haired husky man, was considered an expert on transportation matters. He was the ranking member of the Interstate Commerce Committee and an Appropriations committee member.

Santa Claus To Lead In Parade

The annual Christmas parade, with Santa Claus leading the procession, will be held here Friday, December 2, at 3 p. m., sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association, President Charles B. Bissette announced today.

The downtown streets will be more attractively decorated and illuminated for Christmas than ever before, Executive Secretary Cora S. Powell said today.

Featuring the Santa Claus this year will be bands, clowns, horses, mules and ponies, decorated bicycles, dogs, pets, decorated bicycles (boy and girl) and children in costume, etc.

The Merchants Association will award prizes for ponies, saddle horses, buggies, surry or hack; teams, dogs, pets, decorated bicycles (boy and girl) and children in costume.

Every child in the parade in costumes, or with a pet, or riding a horse, pony or bicycle will be given a prize.

Those planning to participate in the parade should apply to the Merchants Association, second floor, at the City Hall, for numbers for their backs.

Display Flags

Business and other places are expected to display their flags for the Armistice Day celebration Friday, especially on streets along the parade line of march.

The Merchants' Association board of directors, in cooperation with the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has recommended that stores and other business places close from 10 to 1 o'clock during the Armistice Day exercises Friday.

State's School Enrollment High

Raleigh, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A total of 866,277 Tar Heel school children were enrolled in the state's public schools during the first month of this year's session.

This number may be boosted by an estimated 10,000 to 15,000 pupils by the end of the year as cotton picking and other harvesting draws to an end.

These figures were announced yesterday by J. E. Hunter, superintendent of teacher allotments for the State Board of Education.

Hunter said the enrollment already is 3,135 greater than at the end of seven months last year. This year's enrollment, he said, is the largest since 1941-42, but it went even higher some years prior to that.

This year's total enrollment includes 614,685 white and Indian children and 251,592 Negroes. The number of high school students this year is up 8,159 from last year, but the elementary grade enrollment is off from 1948 by 5,024 pupils.

Hunter said most teacher allotments for the school year have been made by the third month. The number of teachers includes 19,332 in rural schools and 7,537 in city schools, counting 226 teaching supervisors and 25 special teachers in the overall figure.

Delivery Made

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Three days before war broke out in 1939 Barber Charles Liddy ordered six razors from a firm in Germany.

He enclosed a money order which he wrote off as a loss when the war started.

Today the razors were delivered. With them was a note from Wagner and Lange, of Solingen, the makers, saying they were sorry about the delay.

Gallup Pleased; His Poll Right

New York, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Dr. George Gallup of the Gallup Poll said he was eating pheasant today—a welcome change from his year-long diet of crow.

His poll forecast the U.S. Senate victory of former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in yesterday's New York state election.

Gallup's figures were not as close as they have been in the past, but he picked the right man.

ABC Officers Make Raid On Liquor Still

Pitt County ABC Officers J. M. Ward and Claude Manning assisted Beaufort County ABC Officers Clyde Stubbs and Francis Eddings in making a raid in the Tranter's Creek church section of Beaufort County late Tuesday afternoon when they arrested LeRoy Rawls, 24-year-old white man from same section while preparing to make a run of illicit whiskey.

The officers also found a 200-gallon "submarine" still, together with 400 gallons of sugar and cornmeal fermented mash and other distilling equipment.

Rawls will be given a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Taylor at Washington Wednesday morning pending the next term of U.S. District Court.

J. I. Gray Elected President Stokes Ruritan Club

The Stokes Ruritan Club, at a recent supper meeting in the Stokes High School lunch room, elected J. I. Gray president for the coming year. Other officers elected are Gordon Clark vice-president, Hassell Curranis secretary, H. F. Congleton teacher, and Willis Verton sergeant at arms.

Directors are W. R. Crandall, Burney Fleming and Elmer Parker. Program committee members are J. B. Congleton, Jr., Jerome Perkins and D. G. Whitford.

Plans were discussed concerning improvements on roads and telephone service in Carolina Township.

Seventy-nine-year-old Charles J. Bayne (above) has achieved an ambition of most newspaper men—he had a book published. It is an autobiography, titled "Soming of the Crow's Feet." It deals with his many years as a newspaper man. Bayne is associate editor of the Macon Telegraph. He had other books published earlier in life. (AP Wirephoto).

Strength FOR THE DAY

BOY'S GREAT TIDES

Look at a tidal river flowing through a salt marsh, and often the current seems to be moving in one direction although the tide schedule assures you that it is definitely moving in another. On the surface a stream may seem to be moving one way because of a superficial surface indication produced chiefly by wind. But the currents and tides beneath the surface are what really count. In the case of tidal rivers, the moon is drawing the water toward certain shores with irresistible power. Superficial surface conditions may give one indication, but the irresistible tides are flowing underneath.

So it is in the case of the human soul. We see people who outwardly appear gay; underneath, the tides of sorrow are swelling every day to flood proportions. Some people on the surface appear respectable; underneath the surface, their lives are mean and filthy. In our daily round of events, little circumstances often attain great importance; yet without our knowing it, the things that are really important are unseen, deep tides surging through our minds and souls, affecting our destiny in ways we little suspect.

Through the life of man runs the tide of God's power and love. Surface indications are nothing; it is the power of the tide which is alone significant.

REAL ENTERPRISE IN WINTERVILLE

Perhaps, as they say, there is nothing new under the sun; but off-hand we don't recall ever having read or heard of a town's streets being paved with no tax money or bonds issued—and private citizens footing the bill.

To the Reflector, the action taken by the people of Winterville is forward-looking good business, and a credit to ideals of citizenship and private initiative. The project and its promoters are deserving of praise and encouragement.

While the initial costs may seem great, the benefits will be even greater. By paving all of Winterville's streets the community adds to its attractiveness as a shopping center and as a focal point for new home builders.

We earnestly hope that whatever discouragement may come—and come they will—are overcome. Success breeds success, and there are no limits to what the united efforts of a town can accomplish.

THE FOUNDATION

In a world of greed and selfishness, where the fundamental economics for material gain have replaced the Ten Commandments as the day-by-day guide for the lives of millions upon millions of people, the citizens of the United States for years have proclaimed themselves the most Christian nation in the world; and in moments of peril have raised their prayers to Heaven for the preservation of our Christian way of life.

The religious consciousness of the nation, however, is based on the religious consciousness of the people in the communities which make up the nation.

A survey in the Greenville Sunday schools made last cession was the burning, as required by law, of canceled state bonds and interest coupons which have been paid off since the previous burning some two years ago. The law requires that the old securities be burned in presence of the governor and council of state, and these officials had to certify that they witnessed destruction of the old papers.

WISE-CRACKING—There was a good bit of wise cracking about the expensive fuel being stoked into the central heating plant furnaces, and about how these old bonds were being used to combat the coal shortage. There was also comment about the value of a signature. Some of the bonds burned dated back to days of Cameron Morrison as governor and Ben Lacy as treasurer. Each sheet upon which the official signatures appeared was worth a thousand dollars until the signature was canceled out upon payment of the bond. Then the paper became only a sorry substitute for coal to generate heat.

SERIOUS—There was some more serious talk among the group. One observer noted that the state is not making much progress when it burns fifteen millions in old bonds and issues 23 1/2 millions in valid obligations. "We are presenting the tithe as a burnt offering," quipped one fellow who knew something of Biblical history. The ratio between amount of bond principal and interest coupons occasioned even more serious thinking. The canceled bonds aggregated $15,352,000 of original face value, while the interest coupons amounted to $6,064,231. That meant during the past two years the state of North Carolina had spent nearly 40% as much for interest on borrowed money as it had paid to reduce the state debt.

FIREMEN—The top brass in state officialdom didn't qualify for regular jobs as firemen or stokers. Each of them was careful to see that the photographers got a snapshot of him throwing a bundle of bonds into the furnace, but if the colored men who keep the heating system going hadn't been called into action, the pile of papers would still be lying on the floor in front of the fire-boxes.

NOT WORRIED—State employees have not been worried very much about rumors it might be necessary for Governor Scott as director of the budget to cut their salaries in the near future. There have been whispered reasons for this faith, but it remained for the Greensboro Daily News editorially to wide publicity to the idea. The Gate City paper makes bold to suggest to the governor "that he go slow with an across-the-board cut until he has removed from the payroll every assistant commissioner of this, that and 't'other he has appointed to jobs handled without such assistants before he took office." The editor continues by calling the governor's attention to the fact that "the state's business was being fairly well done before he being over the horizon" and that obligation to the workers who brought it forward should come ahead of bondholders.

MACHINE—The Greensboro editor doesn't think much of the talk about a Scott machine, as witnessed by this punch-line conclusion: "A Scott machine? Shucks! If he cuts public school teachers' wages before he halves the cost of the executive department, he will not by popular vote hereafter be trusted with a wheelbarrow."

SMALL—The executive administrative item is a very small, almost insignificant, part of the total cost of state government operations. But it is true that percentage wise the amount of tax money devoted to this phase of government has increased more than in any other.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(P)—"I grew up," said Morey Amsterdam "the day I discovered you can't give people good advice—you have to charge them for it."

Amsterdam is one of the top funny men of television and radio. This is the new Amsterdam. The old Amsterdam was just a gag writer for other comics.

As a youthful vaudeville performer Morey—the joked and played a cello—used to try to suggest to the stars he hero-worshipped ways they could improve their routine.
"They just laughed me off," he said. "Then I went into professional gag writing. And five years later they were paying me $3,000 to $5,000 for the same material I had tried to give them for nothing."
He himself got an excellent bit of advice from one star for whom he wrote movie dialogue—Will Rogers. "Don't offend anyone," the general cowboy wrote on one of about 100 postal cards he mailed Morey over the years. "I get by because no matter what I say about anyone I always wind up saying something good about him also."

At 37 Morey, one of the best ad libbers in the trade, figures he has coined himself some 10,000 gags.
"For a while I was doing 78 shows a week and had to throw 200 jokes a day," recalled Amsterdam, who now has his own program on the DU Mont television network.

"I believe I really know a million jokes. Some comedians keep a file. I don't. It's a waste of time."
"I think it's easier to make up a new joke or remember one that fits the situation than it is to dig through a file."

Morey likes ridiculous humor—but humor that also carries a thought behind it. His best gag?
"I like one I wrote for a Bob Benchley movie short. Benchley picks up a phone and says:
"Hello, Honey. Get the kids off the street—I'm driving home."
Morey has a theory that what defeats most comedians is lack of confidence in their own wits.

"You have to tell them like you think they're funny yourself," he said.
"Old material ain't never really killed a comedian. No matter what joke you tell—it's new to a large part of your audience."

Amsterdam is a song writer as well as a comic. Among his best known are "why, oh why, did I ever leave Wyoming," "rum and I ever love," and the current "yuk a yuk."
"The first thing I ever sold was a song to Sophie Tucker when I was 14 years old," he recalled. "She was in San Francisco, I went backstage and sang the song to her—my brother played piano—and she bought it on the spot for $50."

Morey says it is foolish for an amateur to try to tackle a professional performer, as the performer keeps about 100 gags, ready for just such an emergency. Once he has sued over the authorship of one of his songs, when Morey took the stand the plaintiff's lawyer sneered:
"So you're a comedian! make me laugh."

"I will if you'll lend me your face," said Morey. The lawyer went back to law-ing.
Once Amsterdam was a guest at the White House and President Roosevelt asked for a few gags he could tell his visitors.
"Slip my name into one of those freestyle chats," said Morey, "and I'll write you a whole routine."

When the Supreme Court was moved from the Capitol in 1937 to its own building, each Justice had his individual chair moved with him.

Sunday by the Reverend Dr. H. G. Haney of the Christian church shows that slightly over 50 per cent of the boys and girls who attend the city schools were present at some Sunday school in the city last Sunday.

Dr. Haney's survey showed 927 children of school age (6 to 18) attended 11 white Sunday schools, compared with 1,642 who are enrolled in the city schools. The minister said the city is "about on an average with other parts of the country in the matter of Sunday school attendance."

Just as truly as the fate of any nation lies in the hands of its youths, the faith of that nation lies in the hearts of its youths. And here in the United States, and in our own community, factual surveys show that 45 per cent of the school age children are not even being exposed to the religious principles upon which the foundations of this nation have been built.

What is even more discouraging to those who realize how desperately the world needs a spiritual revival, however, is that the highest attendance at Sunday school is found among the children from 6 to 8 years old, and with each progressing age group, the Sunday school attendance percentage declines.

For every child who has become a Sunday school tru-

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

If you haven't heard the new song hit, "Mule Train," then you are (1) deaf, or (2) you don't have a radio. Radio station WGTG is already receiving from 30 to 35 requests a day for the record, and the train has just started to move. Jules Losch, who published the song, is already very anxious for the train to slow down. He realizes that if the disc jockeys continue to play the record so much that it'll end like all others: driving the listeners crazy. But how can the radio stations help it if the listeners hound them to death? Maybe the only solution is for the public to cool off.

"We don't want the jockeys to stop playing it altogether," says Losch, "but we told them we hoped they would stop playing it five times on one program."

Producer Abe Lyman put the song in a movie for Vaughan Monroe to sing, and it caught on like wildfire. The longer Losch and Lyman can nurse their already famous song along, the bigger barrel of money they'll make out of it. Lyman has to make a barrel full, too. He invested $400,000 in the picture that "introduces" the song, "Singing Guns." Naturally he doesn't want the public to rebel at the braid of a mule before the movie comes out next month.

Producer Lyman, also a band-leader, says, "I've never seen a song become such a hit so fast. The publishers promised us the song wouldn't come out until December. They let it out and it's getting away from us."

It took a long time for "Mule Train" to get steamed up. It was written nearly four years ago by three men on a desert trip. On the original recording a fellow named Clickman, who owns a little recording company, did the whip effects himself. But the vocalist muffed one word so he never released the record. Now he says, "I had a million bucks lying around and didn't know it."

A sequence was filmed around the tune that cost $2,800. Mules were sent on location for the scene. Monroe recorded it for the movie and for records and introduced it on his radio show. Then Frankie Laine, Gordon MacRae and other crooners had their versions recorded. Bing Crosby crawled out of bed at seven in the morning to do the song and his records were on sale at music shops four hours later. The Teamster's Union adopted it as its official theme song; and Frankie Laine's press agent sent 2,500 whips to the nation's disc jockeys and led a team of confused mules down Hollywood Blvd.

Publisher Losch says, "The sheet music came out Thursday and already we have 150,000 orders. We hope sales will hit three million, a new record, if only the song isn't played to death."

I feel sorry for the poor radio announcers. They've just recovered from hearing "Ghost Riders in the Sky," and now another one comes along to haunt them. There's no rest for the weary. And I thank you.

ant, there can be found in the same home two delinquent parents who are allowing the young people to be engulfed in the world's frustration and confusion, rather than teaching them to follow after the only true principles of security, happiness and decent living, the inhabitants of the world have ever known.

The formative years of childhood are the ones which determine what sort of men and women today's boys and girls will be.

The future of the nation lies in the hands of its youth, but the lives of the nation's youths lie in the hands of the adults, to be molded as clay either after the pattern of the Great Creator, or into the distorted monstrosities of man's own creation.

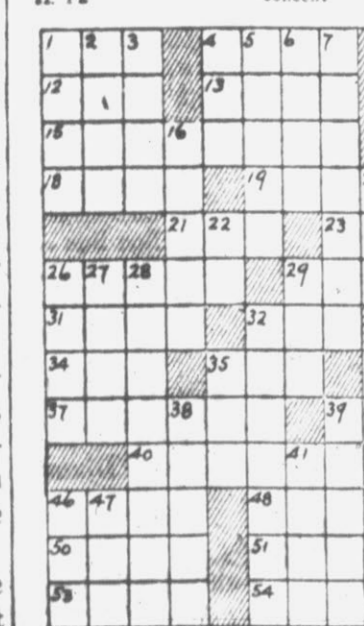

And I thank you.

Sixty-Four ECTC Students In Eastern Carolina Classrooms

Sixty-four men and women students of East Carolina Teachers College are included in the program of student teaching in progress for the fall quarter. A report issued from the office of Dr. J. L. Oppelt, director of student teaching and placement at the college, indicates that these students, all seniors at the college, are now at work at the Greenville High School, the Training School on the college campus, and other elementary schools of the city, and in eleven other centers in the eastern section of the state.

Under the direction of a staff of approximately fifty faculty members of the college and supervising teachers in the public schools, the seniors are gaining practical experience in the classroom and preparing themselves for careers as teachers. Assignments cover work in the elementary school and in many departments of instruction in the high school.

This year's enrollment of 64 seniors shows an increase of eleven over that of the fall quarter of 1948, when 53 students were assigned for work in the public schools. Sixty-one of those who are teaching at present are North Carolinians; only three have out-of-state addresses. Men outnumber women among this fall's student teachers by 37 to 27.

The Greenville High School, with twenty-three full-time student teachers, leads in enrollment; the Training School on the college campus comes second, with an enrollment of seven full-time and three part-time student teachers. Three students teach physical education in both the city high school and the Training School, and three others teach music in the Greenville high school and in city elementary schools.

Teaching centers outside of Greenville and the number of student teachers assigned to them are: Bethel, 6; Kinston, 4; Pictious, 1; New Bern, 1; Grimesland, 3; Rocky Mount, 2; Farmville, 4; Ayden, 2; Tarboro, 2; Snow Hill, 1; and Winterville, 2.

Student teachers now at work in the Greenville High School are Boyd L. Barnette, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Mary Ann Briley, Greenville; Edith Grace Daniel, Black Creek; Earl W. Denton, Greenville; George Russell, Rose Hill; L. Max Garrell, Clarendon; R. Milton Glover, Rocky Mount; William J. Hair, Elizabethtown; Edith Ippock, Vanceboro; Jackson, Pikeville; R. Eugene Midgette, Fairfield; Luther S. Nelson, Jackson; James D. Nicholson, Bethel; William R. Phelps, Jr., Greenville; Mrs. Opelia B. Price, Sims; Christine Radford, Kenly; Samuel C. Stell, Greenville; Calvin L. Warren, Robersonville; William P. Warren, Swansboro; James Waters, Washington; Geraldine Weathers, Shelby; Fitzhugh L. Whitfield, Seven Springs; and Scottie Winstead, Macesfield.

Student teachers now working in the Training School are Emily Coker, Jackson; Janie Haislip, Oak City; Margaret I. Howell, Severn; Dorothy Thomas, Conetoe; Mrs. Betsy P. West, Greenville; Virginia Whitehurst, Robersonville; and Katharine Wood, Louisburg.

Donald B. Adcock and William F. Adcock, both of Durham, and Edward D. Benson of Rocky Mount are teaching music in both the high school and elementary schools in the city system. Ben Hester of Oxford, Frank Hogg of New Rochelle, N.Y., and Carolyn Jessup of Hobbsville are teaching health and physical education both in the Greenville High School and the Training School.

Students teaching at other Pitt County centers are as follows: at Bethel—Jacqueline Barnhill, Stokes; William H. Exum, Stantonsburg; Charles J. Howard, North Wilkesboro; Delorene Phittistic, Edenton; Margaret Smith, Kelly; and Louis A. Trombeta, New York City; at Pictious—Aimuel Casey, Kinston; at Grimesland—Paul Hansell, Thomasville; George H. Hinds, Washington; Noah C. Phipps, Huntington, W. Va.; at Farmville—Crosley Y. Honeycutt, Roseboro; A. Jewell Phillips, Warsaw; Charles T. Reagan, Elizabethtown; and Charles Tucker, Greenville; at Ayden—Walter Jackson, Burlington; and Peggy Steed, Warsaw; and at Winterville—James A. Vinc, Greenville; and B. Bernard York, Williamston.

Further Studies On Atomic Waste

Southern Pines, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Atomic Research Commission must make further studies before knowing exactly how to protect streams against pollution by radioactivity.

An engineer with the commission, Arthur E. Gorman, made that statement in a speech yesterday to North Carolina waterworks operators.

A great deal of study has been given to the problem of atomic waste, Gorman declared. But it will be some time yet before the answer is known, he told the 29th meeting of the North Carolina section, American Water Works Association.

Edward T. Tull, superintendent of the Rockingham water department, was elected chairman of the section, succeeding R. W. Luther of Elizabeth City.

W. W. Atkins of Asheboro was named vice chairman. E. C. Hubbard, secretary of the state board of health, was reelected secretary-treasurer.

The three-day meeting ended today after panel discussions of water and sewage problems. About 225 delegates attended.

Quits Cheesecake

Hollywood, Nov. 9.—(AP)—This is Ava Gardner's own emancipation proclamation—she's through with cheesecake.

"I hate it," she said on the "Carriage Entrance" set. "For eight years I did nothing else but leg art. Whenever the studio wanted someone to pose for some organization, for a calendar or anything else they would say, 'Get someone who isn't working.' Since I was never working at MGM, I spent all my time in the portrait gallery posing with practically nothing on."

"I've portrayed all the seasons, all kinds of weather conditions; I've posed for every benefit I can think of. After eight years, I think I deserve a change."

Amateurs Ready To Show Talent

Everything from magicians to acrobats were brushing up on their talents at East Carolina Teachers College today as they prepared for tonight's Annual Amateur Show which gets underway in Wright auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The event this year is sponsored by the Physical Education 127 Class under the direction of Dr. Charles DeShaw.

Already some 12 to 15 students are scheduled for performances on the evening program. It was announced this morning, DeShaw said he expected a number of other amateurs to be added by tonight.

Amateurs planning to appear on the program should meet at Wright auditorium at 7:30.

Prizes of $10, $7.50 and $5 will be awarded to the winners. The winners will be adjudged by applause, it was announced.

Ell Bloom will be master of ceremonies. The program will include vocalists, quartets, tumbling acts and a number of others, it was reported.

No admission will be charged.

Believe Eleven Planes Deserted

Hong Kong, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Eleven Chinese Nationalist planes today were believed by observers here to have deserted to the Communists.

The planes, nine belonging to the China National Aviation Corporation and two of the Central Air Transport Corporation, failed to arrive at their Nationalist destination.

Aboard one of them was C. Y. Liu, managing director of the CNAC.

The air above the earth has been divided by scientists into the troposphere, the tropopause, the stratosphere, the ozone layer and the ionosphere.

ACADEMY OFFER

London, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Adm. Richard L. Conolly has been offered the post of superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, a qualified naval source in London reported today. He hasn't accepted so far.

Rupp Predicts Bradley Univ. Big Cage Power

Chicago, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Bradley University of Peoria, Ill., will be the nation's No. 1 basketball team this season—at least, that's the prediction of Rupp, coach of Kentucky's N.C.A.A. champions.

Rupp listed Bradley on top in a run down of his first five choices at a Chicago Basketball Writers' Association meeting last night.

He grouped the other four, not especially in order, as Bowling Green of Ohio, Tulane, Loyola of Chicago and San Francisco.

Bradley, with a 27-8 regular season record last campaign, lost to Bowling Green in a third place playoff in the Metropolitan Invitational Tourney in New York City. San Francisco downed Loyola 48-47 for the title. Loyola eliminated Kentucky in the quarterfinals, but Rupp's team then stepped out to win the N.C.A.A. crown.

Cotton Outlook Continues Drop

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—North Carolina's cotton prospects continued to drop last month.

The federal-state crop reporting service said yesterday that as of Nov. 1, North Carolina's total cotton production was estimated at 450,000 bales for the year.

This is a drop of 30,000 bales below the Oct. 1 prediction and 228,000 bales below the 1948 crop.

The average yield of lint per acre is now forecast at 2.6 pounds, a decrease of 11 pounds from the Oct. 1 estimate.

Beaufort Orders Bond Election

Washington, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Beaufort County Commissioners have ordered that an election be called authorizing the issuance of $800,000 in bonds for new school building.

The commission announced the election order yesterday. No date was set.

The money would be divided between city and county schools on the basis of 17-30 for the county and 13-30 for the city schools. Broken down, this would mean $453,333.33 for the county schools and $346,666.67 for the city school building needs.

Sees Dangers In Soviet Conquest

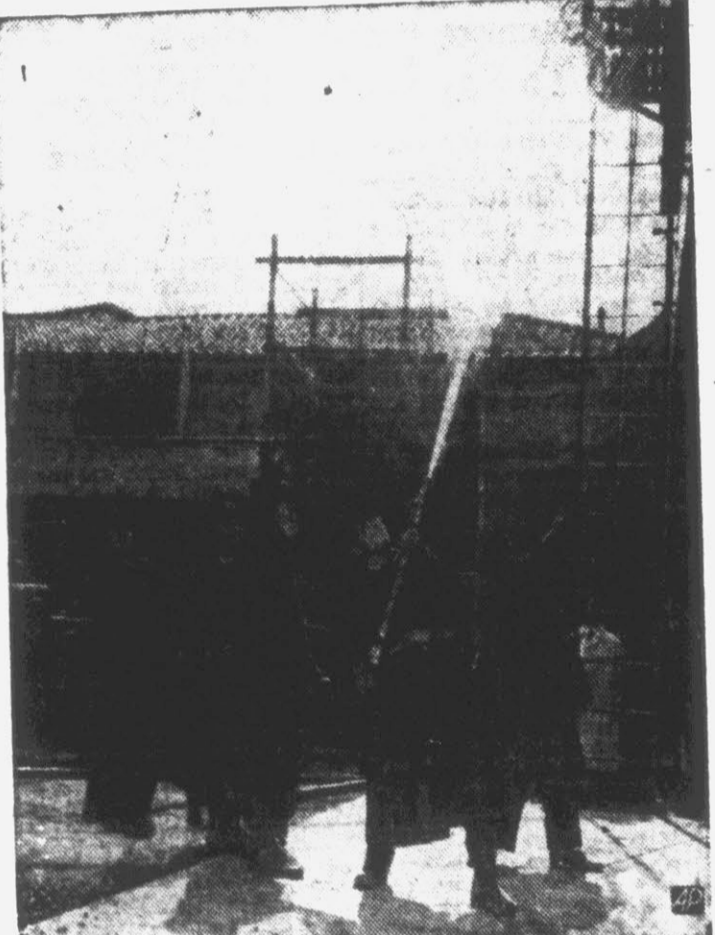

Chapel Hill, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Sen. Frank P. Graham (D-NC) says "if Russia had been able to roll over Europe and lock her behind the Iron Curtain, a third world war would have been inevitable."

The senator last night came back to the University of North Carolina he once headed as president for a speech on "Toward World Community."

He called for outlawing of the atomic bomb, an international conference on disarmament, and abolishment of the veto in the United Nations.

Highway Patrol To Hire 13 Civilian Radio Experts

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 4—(AP)—The State Highway Patrol has been given authority to hire 13 radio experts to free patrolmen from radio duty. An appropriation of $29,512 a year from the highway fund will be used to employ 12 additional radio operators and a radio communications engineer for the patrol. Assistant Budget Director D. S. Coltrane announced yesterday the appropriation has been approved by Governor Scott, who is director of the budget, and the Advisory Budget Commission. The money will come in a transfer from highway funds previously earmarked for betterment of state and county roads. In requesting the funds, Highway Patrol Commander C. R. Tolair said the radio operators would be paid $2,076 a year and the communications engineer $4,600. Tolair said the new radio operators would be assigned to the patrol's radio substations at Halifax, Henderson, Elizabeth City, New Bern, Wilmington, Wadesboro, Kernersville and Blowing Rock. Some of the sub-stations will get more than one man. All the new personnel probably will go to work about Dec. 1. The patrol at present has 33 radio operators. They are being assigned to the sub-stations because that is where patrolmen have been having to take over part-time radio duty. Main radio stations are in Raleigh, Williamston, Salisbury, Asheville and Elizabethtown.

Glass Material New Substitute For Insulation

Denver—(AP)—The University of Denver Industrial Research Institute is making glass foam, which in effect is a mass of tiny vacuum bottles. The purpose is improved insulation against heat. A chunk about as big as an ice cream cone may contain about a million of the tiny jugs. This new glass material is white, strong and about as light-weight as cork. It is intended to be a substitute for the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps' powdered glass, mixed with a little powdered cadmium. The cadmium vaporizes. The glass becomes fluid. The cadmium vapor forms minute bubbles all through the glass. The hot glass rises like baking bread. When the glass loaf cools, the cadmium bubbles condense to metal again. The metal coats the inner surface of the bubble, leaving a vacuum the size of the bubble.

Barden Asserts Marines 'Safe'

Camp Lejeune, N.C., Nov. 4—(AP)—Rep. Graham Barden (D-N.C.) says "the U. S. Marine Corps will never be abolished." He added in a speech here yesterday at this biggest marine training base "some of us have heard that kind of stuff is being talked." The representative from New Bern referred to the armed services unification measure. He spoke during a party the base pitched for 2,000 seniors from 45 high schools in southeastern North Carolina. As part of American Education Week they were shown around the base and saw special military displays. The students saw 6,000 marines pass in review, looked over the Leathernecks' fighting equipment, and witnessed a jet plane flight. Lieut. Gov. H. Pat Taylor of Wadesboro, a scheduled speaker, sent word that other commitments prevented him from attending.

Negro Home Demonstration News

The annual Home Demonstration and 4-H Club Achievement Day program was held in the C. M. Eppes high school, Friday, November 4, at 10:30 a.m. with approximately 400 club members attending. Mrs. Maggie Strong, Council president of Home Demonstration clubs, presided over the program. A summary of the year's activities and accomplishments of the Home Demonstration club members were given by Mrs. Martha Ormond. A skit "The Farm Family" was given by members of the Winterville 4-H Club with Margie Gay, 4-H Council president as narrator. There were exhibits by club members showing all phases of home making and good family living with emphasis on food production and good nutrition.

Nearly One Year In Jail Because Unable To Pay

Rutland, Vt., Nov. 9—(AP)—Bernard J. Smith, Jr., of Fair Haven, today observed his 24th birthday and his 217th day in the Rutland County jail under a "close jail execution" sentence. Smith was jailed for failure to pay a $2,570.42 judgment found against him as the result of an auto accident in April, 1948, in which James J. Mangan of Rutland lost his life. Under "close jail execution" a person must remain in jail until he pays the judgments or takes the poor debtor's oath. A hearing was held on Oct. 10 on Smith's petition to take the poor debtor's oath. The decision on his appeal has not yet been handed down.

Filmdom Replies To Lady Astor

Hollywood, Nov. 9—(AP)—Hollywood fired right back today at Lady Astor, who seeks an educational "backfire" against "the wretched glamor girls" of the movie colony and their impact on world thinking. The U. S. born notewoman appeared in London for a $1,120,000 fund to help pay for a study in Britain by University women of other countries. Her plan, she said, is for educated women from every land to understand each other and exchange their varying points of view. This she indicated, might help offset the wide influence of American films. "I feel the world is being swept off its feet by Hollywood," said Lady Astor. "We hear nothing but tales of nothing about these wretched glamor girls." The "glamorous wretches" themselves picked up the challenge. AVA Ava Gardner seldom if ever referred to as unglamorous, had this to say: "What surprises me is that an educated woman like Lady Astor apparently believes beauty and brains are mutually exclusive. The beautiful but dumb girl exists only in comic strips. Real glamor is a combination of ideal and eye appeal." Jane Russell, not exactly wretched looking either, thinks Lady Astor should recall that most of Hollywood glamor girls "wretched or otherwise"—did plenty to influence world thinking quite favorably during the late war. "Their professional appearance on the screen," she said, "and their voluntary appearances in military hospitals and at charity functions continue to win world-wide admiration. This idea of everybody throwing stones at Hollywood is getting a little bit tiresome."

its widest point, the fish has a small head, long sucker mouth, big gills, a long pink crest and two long thick feelers protruding beneath its mouth. A pink fin runs the length of its body, which is heavily coated with phosphorus and dotted with large black spots. It has no scales. Astigmatism is a defect in the eye which causes blurs in parts of the vision. By size, Austria ranks 19th among the nations of Europe. Believe Uranium Source Found In Utah; Ore Termed Promising

Durango, Colo., Nov. 9—(AP)—One of the nation's major uranium discoveries is believed to have been uncovered in southern Utah, it was reported today.

The group of claims is located near Fishlake National Forest, just outside the small community of Marysville, some 220 miles south of Salt Lake City.

"I consider it one of the best prospects in the country at this time," D. W. Viles, vice president and general manager of the Vanadium Corporation of America, said.

"Present indications are that it is better than average mill grade uranium bearing ore," Viles added.

Although unable to give indicated tonnages or uranium content, Viles said it is indicated the discovery is the only one so far which may justify construction of a processing plant at the site.

The VCA has conducted extensive prospect and metallurgical work in the area since the finding of uranium bearing ore on the Monarch Mining Company property in the Marysville district. Pratt Seegmiller located claims adjacent to Monarch and Rex Smith, L. J. Anderson and Merlin Anderson located the "prospector group" of claims.

The Seegmiller and Smith-Anderson claims were leased by VCA, which did considerable diamond

Young Bull Calf Will Be Awarded

The Pitt County Farm Bureau has purchased a young Jersey bull calf to be given to Negro farmers of the county. Bureau President Alex Allen announced this morning.

The bull, a registered Jersey from the Biltmore Farms in Asheville, will be used in the Community Family Milk Cow Program, Allen explained.

He said the bull was sired by one of the Louisaford bulls at Asheville and that he came from a cow which has a record of producing 470 pounds of butter fat in 365 days starting at the age of one year and

Mild Weather For Most Areas

Chicago, Nov. 9—(AP)—A spell of mild weather continued today over most of the country. Temperatures, generally, were headed for marks far above normal.

Locals In Unfamiliar Role Of Favorites For Next Game

The Green Phantoms of Greenville high school assumed an unfamiliar role today as they prepared for their Friday afternoon game with the Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets.

For the first time since October 7, the Phantoms will take to the field in the role of favorites.

The Bo Farley coached aggregation which played so gallantly in its three point loss to Elizabeth City two weeks ago, will hold a one game edge over the Roanoke Rapids boys who are winless in the loop.

Greenville defeated Edenton 13-6 at the offset to hold the present advantage.

Roanoke Rapids, experiencing one of its worse years in conference history, has been kicked across the gridiron from Elizabeth City to Kinston. They lost to Elizabeth City 48-0, the same team which had to score in the last period to edge Greenville 9-6.

At last report the Rapids boys had not scored a touchdown in the conference.

And though the Greenville boys who were idle last weekend, are not taking the Roanoke Rapids game as a cinch they are expecting it to be an easier game than their last three which were against Achkie, Kinston and Elizabeth City respectively.

The locals will again have the figure of highly respected Bo Farley backing them up from the sidelines. The gray-thatched Greenville high mentor was in Duke Hospital in Durham when the locals lost their last game. Farley has been advising the team in practice this past week. The heavier duties of coaching have been performed by Woody Wilson who acted as coach when Farley was hospitalized.

The Friday afternoon game will mark the final away game of the year for the Phantoms who return here the following Friday to close out their season with a game against their traditional rivals, the Washington Pam Pack.

Brooklyn Hinted All Out For Ken Raffensberger

Brooklyn, Nov. 9—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are going all out for the one man they believe will help them win not only the 1950 National League pennant but the World Series as well. The man is southpaw pitcher Ken Raffensberger of the Cincinnati Reds.

The hint that the Dodgers are hot after a "good, reliable" veteran pitcher, with no names mentioned, was dropped at an official press conference yesterday by President Branch Rickey.

The conference was called to announce that 65-year-old Burt Shotton would be back as manager of the Dodgers next year.

Neither Rickey nor Shotton would come right out and say so but it was learned that Raffensberger is the pitcher both are eyeing covetously.

During his recent tour of National League cities Rickey is said to have cornered Warren Giles, head man of the Reds, and talked to him about prospects of landing the 32-year-old mound vet.

"I think there might be a chance of getting the pitcher we're after before the season opens next April," Rickey said. He didn't identify play-ers offered in exchange. At the same time he did not deny that the names of Catcher Bruce Edwards, Infielder Eddie Miksis and Outfielders Luis Olmo and Tommy Brown were mentioned as possible bait.

"I think the club is good enough to win the pennant as it stands right now," Shotton said. "However, we're after the World Series. We have lots of good kid pitchers. What we lack is a good, reliable, old pitcher, who can start games and relieve when necessary."

Marshall College Football Coach Giving Up Game

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 9—(AP)—After 35 years as a gridiron mentor, Coach Cam Henderson of Marshall College has "decided" to give up football.

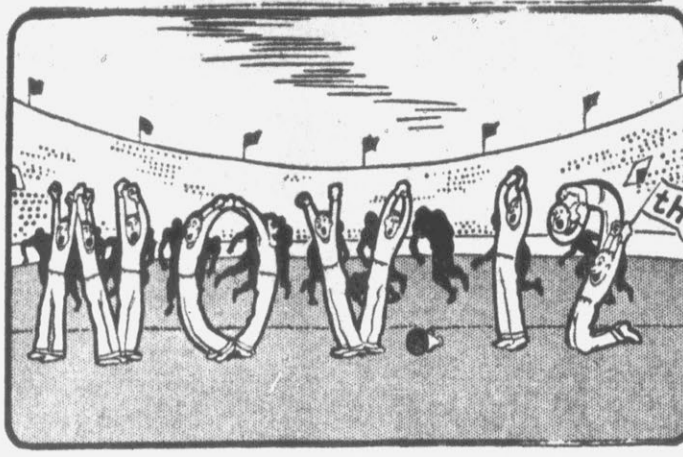

However, he's still going to coach Marshall's basketball team.

He announced his decision yesterday to senior members of the football squad.

Back in 1914, he began tutoring high school athletes in his native Bristol, W. Va., home. Henderson was football coach at Muskingum College, Ohio, and Davis and Elkins, W. Va., before taking over at Marshall in 1935. His Marshall grid teams have won 67, lost 44 and tied 15. This year's outfit has won five, lost two and has three more games to play.

The University of Arizona football team ranked eighth nationally in pass interceptions in 1948.

Maryland Regarded As 'Back Door' Champions

By the Associated Press They're already calling Maryland's Terrapins the "back-door" champions of the Southern Conference—but the Terps may have the last laugh yet.

Maryland currently is tied in the conference standings with North Carolina. The Terps have completed their conference schedule, but the Tar Heels still have a rough encounter coming up with Duke. A Duke victory in that one would give the crown to Maryland.

But, say the critics, the Terps haven't met any of the power-houses of the Southern Conference and have nothing in the way of victories to show for the championship they may pick up.

Most of Saturday's conference attention is focused on North Carolina's attempt to derail the Notre Dame express, but Maryland also has a rather tough afternoon in prospect—against unbeaten Boston University. A triumph over the Boston outfit, winners of six straight, would give the Terps the right to a horse laugh and also would be a welcome shot in the arm for Southern Conference football.

Boston U. isn't the most powerful team in the country, but they're shown enough in six one-sided wins to rate them as the fifteenth ranking squad in the nation.

And Maryland hasn't lost but one game. That was a 14-7 decision to Michigan State—which ranks eighth in the national poll. At that, the Spartans had to come from behind after trailing the Terps by 7-0 at the half.

There's a sneaking suspicion that Maryland, despite its easy conference slate, might be just about the top team in the conference. A victory over Boston U. Saturday would go a long way to convince the doubters that Maryland certainly isn't the worst.

At 93, He Still Wins Elections

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 9—(AP)—At 93 most men would be content to take things easy but not Squire John S. Wicks of nearby South Fork.

A Republican, he ran without opposition. The Democrats gave up years ago.

Negro Schools In County Surveyed

G. H. Ferguson of the state department of public instruction spent yesterday in Pitt county making a survey of the Negro schools in the county with Superintendent D. H. Conley.

Conley said Ferguson made the survey with respect to the permanent school centers of the county, and will make his report to the school board within the next few weeks.

A similar survey of the white schools of the county was made by a three-man committee of the state board of education last week.

Odds-Makers Say Notre Dame Figures 27 Points Over UNC

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—Even if Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice is ready to roll under a full head of steam, North Carolina is conceded little chance of halting Notre Dame's football juggernaut Saturday.

New York odds-manipulators have made the fabulous Fighting Irish a 27-point favorite in the game that is expected to lure more than 70,000 fans to Yankee Stadium.

Tar Heel hopes were buoyed today by the report that Justice, statistically America's best triple threat performer in 1948, has discarded his crutches and will be able to go against the South Benders. He was hurt last Saturday.

Even so, North Carolina's staunchest supporters aren't too optimistic about an upset. Their All-America halfback would have to be in full health and at his best to shine against the big line of Notre Dame.

The Irish forward wall—with 220-pound Tackle Jim Martin and 240-pound End Leon Hart the principal villains—promises Justice a much more uncomfortable afternoon than he received at the hands of Louisiana State and Tennessee.

These two Dixie elevens ripped up the tracks and kept the Choo Choo man in pretty tight check to score upset victories over the North Carolinians.

Justice suffered a sprained ankle after hauling back a punt 75 yards last week in the William and Mary game, won by the Tar Heels, 20-14. At first it was feared he might miss the Notre Dame meeting, but this worry was eliminated yesterday by trainers, who said count Charlie in.

The two North Carolina defeats have taken some of the glitter from the New York game but Irish sub-way alumni will turn out in a body for a peek at the nation's No. 1 college football team.

Notre Dame is figured to have the easiest romp of college football's "Big Four," although the others are counted on to win by from two to four touchdowns.

Second-ranked Army is a 20-point choice over twice-beaten Pennsylvania in their clash at Philadelphia. Oklahoma's Sooners, riding an unbeaten streak into one of the major bowls, are given a 13-point edge over Missouri in the battle of split-T's at Columbia, Mo. Oklahoma is No. 3.

California, fourth-ranked nationally and Pasadena-bound, is a 14-point favorite over Oregon.

Pro Cagers Top Best Collegiates

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—The question of whether a great college basketball team can handle a good pro quintet was momentarily settled last night.

Kentucky's 1945-'49 Wildcats, acclaimed as the greatest four-year collection of talent in collegiate history and now performing in the national basketball association as the Indianapolis Olympians were smashed at Indianapolis by the New York Knickerbockers—a good pro outfit. The score was 79 to 84.

The Knicks won with consummate ease, rolling to a 39-3 halftime lead and coasting home.

Paul Noel, an ex-Kentuckian, led the New Yorkers to their fourth NBA victory. The blond six-foot four-inch forward poured 15 points through the hoops to hang the first "Big Time" loss on the lads from the Blue Grass land.

The Olympians won their first start last week, whipping the Denver Nuggets, 71 to 64. The Nuggets, however, have dropped all four starts to date and currently are an unimpressive last in the circuit's western division.

Alex Groza, two-time all-America choice, set the Olympians' scoring pace with 18 points, high for the night. Ralph Beard, the gum-chewing guard, and another all-America, chipped in with 14 markers for the losers.

Roanoke Rapids To Raise Money For Ball Team

Roanoke Rapids.—Plans to raise a $16,000 deficit were discussed and Glenn Lockamy was re-appointed manager of the Roanoke Rapids Jays here this week at a meeting of the directors of the Roanoke Valley Athletic Association.

In the discussion of the $16,000 deficit, F. C. Williams offered to donate an additional $10,000 as operational expenses for the team next season.

The $16,000 loss has been accumulating in the association over the past three seasons.

Jay Manager Lockamy is already taking steps to secure ball players for the 1950 season, it was learned at the meeting.

Officers of the past season were re-elected for the coming year.

Heart of Happiness

Chapter 22
Arleta stared at a blue parrot with a scarlet tail and the cretine parrot stared back. Sit tight! With Cal up there in the morgue? Particularly with Cal in the company of an Alien who wanted certain copies of the "Globe-Telegram"?

But she had to trust the reporter. Caro Carson had shown astonishing quickness of thought, and spontaneous loyalty. Arleta had had so little thoughtfulness or loyalty shown her since she'd returned she could value both highly.

Miss Carson returned with nothing to report. "When Allene Lane found the pages missing she was but vexed. What did I tell you? They've tried to destroy every bit of evidence of their shame. Then Miss Prunella spoke up and told her no one could destroy the sheets as they didn't have access to them. Well," she shrugged, "whatever her game, it's been checkmated."

She sat down and frowned for a moment. "I took time to skim through those sheets, Miss Langtry. I remember Dad telling me something about the whole affair. He said . . . now wait a minute . . . what was it? Something about liking Big Chips Langtry in spite of himself. And something else. Oh I have it. He said he believed Langtry was hiding something, refusing to defend himself, going through with it with a 'to hell with it' air."

"But he would," Arleta cried. "He did, always." Suddenly Miss Carson sat up. "Why don't you run out home with me? I spend my week-ends at the farm and I'm due to leave now. Dad would love seeing you. We live as far south as you do north, so you should plan to spend the night."

"My aunt—I've no way to let her know. We've no telephone yet; something about waiting for a transformer." Both waited a moment; then Caro snapped her fingers. "How Kelly lives near you, doesn't he? Then I'll call him."

Caro Carson came in, laughing. "And I wondered if you'd met How Kelly. The moment I mentioned your name he barked. 'What trouble's she in now?'" Arleta gave a half-hearted smile. "He has wasted a lot of time rescuing me."

"Well, he's coming to the rescue again. We'll drive out in your car, then he'll come in on the bus, pick up mine, and meet you at the mesa. TRY IT ON, IT STAYS ON! AND lipstick does have personality. Select from Merle Norman's variety of fascinating shades. 212 State Bank Bldg., Tel. 3895. 11-1-17

Fail To Abolish State Poll Taxes

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two attempts to repeal state poll tax laws failed in yesterday's elections. Apparently, so did a New Jersey proposal for financing a $105,000,000 veterans' bonus.

But Pennsylvania approved, nearly four to one, a $500,000,000 plan to join more than a dozen other states in providing bonuses for World War II G.I.s. The New Jersey proposition was touch-and-go.

The poll tax repeals went down to defeat in Virginia and Texas, two of the seven Dixie states which still retain the levy as a prerequisite for voting.

The Virginia and Texas defeats seemed certain to bring fresh demands upon the Senate to approve the anti-poll tax measure which will be pending before that chamber when Congress returns in January.

The House already has passed the bill, one of several contained in President Truman's civil rights program. It would apply only to primaries and elections for federal office-holders.

Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee also have a poll tax.

In Tennessee, voters turned their backs on tradition and approved a call for a constitutional convention limited to exploring nine recommended revisions in the 1870 constitution. Eleven previous attempts had failed.

Effective Help By Student Fund

New Brunswick, N. J. —(AP)—Money aid to students who do not have to pay back loans has been tried by Rutgers University. Most students do pay back the money and effective aid is given, a report on the project says.

The aid is given students who need small sums—$25 to $50—to stay in school. Such a loan often can fix money troubles and put the student at ease. There is no interest and no time limit on repayment. He is not compelled to pay it back. Sometimes years pass before payment. But very few loans are not repaid, Rutgers says.

Planes Find New Neolithic Ruins In Southern Italy

Foggia, Italy —(AP)— War experiences have led a young British professor to important archaeological discoveries in southeastern Italy. Prof. John Bradford, 31, of Oxford University (Pitt Rivers Museum) was a Royal Air Force pilot during World War II. In his flights over the Gargano plateau, he noticed traces of neolithic ruins hitherto unmentioned in archaeological textbooks.

He came back a few days ago. So far Bradford has discovered the medieval village of Salpi. It is of interesting historic value and its full plan is clearly outlined from the aerial photographs. Another unknown village was discovered by the party near Torrone del Casone, on the highway Pescara Lecce.

Prof. Bradford's use of aerial photography for archaeological research is completely new in Italy. The British used it widely, especially in the Mesopotamian desert to trace the ancient Assyrian towns between the two wars.

Non-Support Cases Feature County Court Docket; Bootlegger Convicted

By CHESTER WALSH

In Pitt County Court Tuesday, Judge Dink James found Asa Waters guilty of assaulting a female and fined him $50 and costs. Testimony was that Waters, a truck driver, assaulted Lucy May Chapman, colored, at her home at a rural point. Waters gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

There were two cases of abandonment and non-support up for trial in County Court yesterday.

Abandonment and non-support—Gene Westbrook, case continued for investigation of cost of an operation; the case against John Lawrence Jolly was not pressed on payment of court costs.

Non-support—John Arthur Smith, colored, sentenced to six months on the roads unless he pays $140 immediately. Testimony was that he has willfully failed to support his children John Braxton Jr., colored, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $15 a month, starting at once, and pay doctor's bill. Lee Ernest Grimes, colored, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $30 at once and $15 a month for support of his child, Charley Wooten, colored, guilty, ordered to pay $50 now and $80 next Tuesday.

Arthur B. Batts, colored, driving on the wrong side of the road, was given four months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $50 and costs and that his driver's license be suspended for a year. His car was ordered confiscated and sold in the case involving transporting non-tax-paid whiskey.

Careless and reckless driving—Edward Galloway, colored, ordered to pay court costs and $260 to the prosecuting witness.

Melambi Carter, colored, assault with a deadly weapon, 12 months on the roads. Delia Nobles, colored paid court costs.

Assault—Robert Benford was not guilty. Judgment was continued in the case of Walter Lang, colored, was not guilty.

Gambling—Dennis Branch, Asa Branch, Clinton Worthington and Marvin Washington each paid $15. James Hardy paid the balance on a bad check.

An Uncertain . . . (Continued from page one) man's program is stifled in Congress, the voters next November will be asked to show whether they want "Fair Deal" congressmen or not.

That will be a bitter and better test than the Lehman-Dulles fight. As this was written at midnight last night Lehman was running around 300,000 votes ahead of Dulles.

This raises an interesting question about the 1948 presidential vote in New York State.

Last year Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for president, won New York State from President Truman by about 61,000 votes.

But Henry Wallace, running for president on the Progressive Party ticket, captured 509,000 votes. Democrats said at the time that, if Wallace hadn't run, Truman would have carried New York, that a big share of the Wallace votes—if Wallace hadn't been running—would have gone to the Democrats, not the Republicans.

Firemen Answer 3 Calls Tuesday

For the second day in a row, the Greenville Fire Department has answered three calls during one day.

A fire late yesterday afternoon did considerable damage to a colored tenant house at 1505 Railroad Street.

The occupant of the house, Mary Brown, told the firemen that she was in the front portion of the house when she smelled of paper. Firemen quoted the woman as saying that when she went into the back section of the house and opened the door leading into the kitchen, she found the entire kitchen in flames.

When firemen arrived on the scene, the kitchen was burning briskly and the flames were spreading to the other parts of the house.

Firemen battled the flames for over half an hour before succeeding in bringing the blaze under control. The entire house suffered damage from smoke and water.

The origin of the fire was not known at the time, but in the kitchen a burned area was found in front of a coal and wood stove. Firemen stated that falling coals or burning wood could have fallen from the door of the stove to the floor, setting the room on fire.

The house was owned by Mrs. N. O. Warren.

The fire department answered a telephone call about 11 o'clock last night to the college campus where a car operated by J. C. Adams caught fire, due to faulty wiring, and damaged the front portion of the car slightly.

The department's third call of the day came at 2 o'clock this morning when a transfer truck, owned by Red Forbes, caught fire on the Farmville highway. Firemen stated today that the fire was probably due to poor wiring. There was only moderate damage, firemen said.

C. H. Walston Rites Scheduled For Today

Walstonburg—Carlos Henry Walston, 45, died at his home near Walstonburg early Tuesday morning following several weeks illness.

Mr. Walston was the son of the late Phillip and Dora Wheeler Walston. He was a member of Howell Swamp Free Will Baptist Church and the Stantonsburg Masonic Lodge. He was a graduate of Oak Ridge Military Academy.

Funeral services were held from Howell Swamp Church this afternoon at 3:30, conducted by Rev. Key Taylor, Methodist minister of Walstonburg, and Rev. Jack Tyson, Methodist minister of Carboro. Interment followed in the family cemetery.

Surviving are his wife Emily Sawyer Walston, voice and piano instructor of Walstonburg and Fountain schools; and one sister, Mrs. Frank Shirley of Walstonburg.

A Diplomatic . . .

In 1927 Britain severed relations with Russia after raiding the offices of the Soviet trade mission charges that (ARCOS) in London The British government charges that ARCOS was carrying on spying activities in an effort to obtain information regarding the country's armed forces. London renewed diplomatic relations in 1929, though Communist propaganda continued.

Red activities in the United States of course never have ceased. However almost a year ago (Dec. 27, 1948) President Truman made the statement in an extemporaneous speech at Kansas City that "certain leaders" in Russia were "exceedingly eager" to reach an agreement with the United States to end "cold war."

At the same time he accused the Soviets of violating "sacred" agreements and said the Moscow government "has a system of morals that are not moral."

The chief executive didn't say who the "certain leaders" in Moscow were. Diplomatic authorities in Washington thought he might have had Premier Stalin in mind. Another Russian regarded in Washington as possibly desiring an understanding was Maxim Litvinoff. He was known to be more friendly to the west than many of his associates, but Long had been living in obscurity.

Since that time America has been throbbing with activities involving Communists. Among them has been the conviction of 11 members of the national board of the Communist party on charges of conspiring to teach overthrow of the United States government by force.

The sleeping friendship will awaken when old promises are made good.

Future Brightens

Washington, Nov. 9—(AP)—Henry J. Kaiser seemed sure today of getting government credit to start making a new low-cost automobile. The assurance came via RFC rejection of a suggestion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) that it delay action.

Buying 'Pig In Poke' At Picture Theater

Winston-Salem, Nov. 9—(AP)—Something comparatively new in this area in the way of late motion pictures will be conducted here tonight.

A Twin City theatre will hold a "Take Chance" movie. The name of the film won't be known until the audience has paid its admission and the movie flashes on the screen.

Mental Hospital Break Thwarted

Goldsboro, Nov. 9—(AP)—Fourteen prisoners were in solitary confinement today, their attempted break from the state hospital for Negro insane thwarted by tear gas and fire hose.

Before the break was put down three attendants were hospitalized and one prisoner was stabbed by another with a stiletto made from a bedspring. The prisoners were mostly life termers who were confined to the building for criminally insane.

They were being put back in their cells when the riot began. They grabbed keys from one attendant and locked two others in a room. They wrenched bars of a door and got onto a second-floor fire escape landing.

A guard managed to lock the hospital's main gate.

State highway patrolmen, Wayne county sheriff's deputies, and Goldsboro police came to help hospital authorities.

Tear gas grenades forced the prisoners back from the fire escape into an inside hallway. One holdout was splashed back into the building with a fire hose. Authorities got inside the building and threw tear gas bombs into the hall. The ginger was out of the rioters.

They were stripped and searched, then put in solitary.

They said they tried to escape because of grievances over food and medical treatment. Hospital authorities withheld comment.

Hog Market

Raleigh, Nov. 9—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices steady to weaker. Tops of $16 at Washington; $15.75 at Greenville, Goldsboro, Wilson, Kinston; $15.50 at Tarboro, Rocky Mount; Richmond steady at $16.25.

Poultry and Eggs

Raleigh, Nov. 9—(AP)—(NCDA)—Fryers and broilers steady at 29; eggs steady. A large 56.

N. Y. Cotton

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—Cotton futures opened today 5 to 15 cents a bale higher.

Noon prices were 15 to 25 cents a bale higher than the previous close. Dec. 30.06, March 30.04 and May 29.95.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—A sharp rise in General Motors common stock dominated the market today. News that the coal strike had been called off, at least for the time being, and further progress toward industry-wide settlement of the steel strike, had little immediate effect.
