Strength FOR THE DAY. STRENGTH FOR THE DAY... ANOTHER NEED FOR MATRIMONY. We have all heard the story of the burdenbearers in a caravan in Africa who refused one day to go any further, saying, "We have been traveling entirely too fast, until our bodies have got ahead of our souls and we are going to wait here for a day or two until our souls catch up with us."

TAR HEEL INVASION. One of the minor mysteries of life in this metropolis is the facility with which it swallows up crowds of out-of-towners. Ordinarily, it takes an American Legion convention to make an impression on the busy surface of New York life—and there the uniforms help. An invasion for a college football game, of a caliber that would have Boston rocking if it were played in Cambridge, and make even staid Philadelphia quiver if set in Franklin Field, leaves New York outwardly unruffled. Of course, it may be argued that New York has few big contests of this sort—but those which have been held within the city limits affected only a few restricted areas—until North Carolina came North to play Notre Dame. One would expect to find a good deal of local enthusiasm for Notre Dame, which has a very extensive "subway alumni" in these parts. But the real filip week-end was provided by North Carolina. Not only did the supporters of that institution of higher education manage to block traffic in Times Square until the reserves had to be called out, but scattered partisans in light blue hats, carrying Confederate battle flags, turned up in remote and unexpected portions of the town. It was all good, clean fun, and added a welcome note of color and excitement. Even a harried police inspector remarked: "These boys are a jolly group and we're glad to have them visiting us"—which the citizenry as a whole (which discovered somewhat to its surprise, that it contained quite a few Tar Heels in Yankee disguise) will heartily indorse. It was a pity that the visitors could not have taken a better score back to Chapel Hill with them, but with the great Justice out of play, Notre Dame was not to be denied. And, after all, there was that first half.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET. CONTROL—Does a small group of field crop seed producers and dealers exercise control, amounting almost to a strangle hold, of distribution to North Carolina farmers of new variety seeds developed at experimental stations supported by direct taxes levied on both national and state levels? Is part of the ad valorem tax paid by farmers to North Carolina county treasurers being used to the beneficial profit of a limited number of business men through top-side instructions to county farm agents, rather than for the general promotion of agricultural development? These are serious questions and they are not easily answered. There is some evidence to justify the asking, but not enough to provide the answer. FOUNDATION—The big question is just where the North Carolina Foundation Seed Producers, Incorporated, fits into the general picture. This is a private non-stock non-profit corporation chartered by the State of North Carolina on June 6, 1945. The objectives set out in application for the charter, which was signed by eight seed producers and dealers, are to aid in carrying out provisions of the crop improvement and seed certification act of 1929; to make available annually to North Carolina producers of field crop seeds, especially hybrid corn, which had been certified in adequate quantities and at reasonable prices; to cooperate with the Central Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in making good seed available to farmers. MEMBERSHIP—The charter sets out that in addition to the original eight members others might be admitted upon following terms: "Any persons interested in the purposes of the corporation, and who conform to the by-laws adopted by it, shall be eligible for membership. Members of the corporation shall have,

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. JACK EDWARDS, JR. Most of us reach a certain age and from then on think of ourselves as being that old. The stand-still age for us was 22, so for the past three years I've remained at that age, at least in my own estimation. Regardless of what our ideal age might be most of us can face the fact we are bound to get older—and look older. In one place, above all others, the thought of getting old is particularly alarming. That place is Hollywood, where a person's looks have a great deal to do with his payroll.

But many a star will rest easy if he reads and believes in an article that appears in this month's "Cosmopolitan." The article set out to prove that America's most attractive men are middle aged! A Hollywood trade magazine named "Fame" took a poll. It revealed that eight of the ten most attractive men in the world are middle-aged men. The eight men on the list, in order, are: Bing Crosby, 45; Clark Gable, 48; Bud Abbott, 54; and Lou Costello, 43 (figured as a team); Gary Cooper, 48; Bob Hope, 46; Humphrey Bogart, 50; Cary Grant, 45; and Spencer Tracy, 49. It is also noticeable that these are not the pretty boys of the movies. Errol Flynn has been on this list only once, Van Johnson second. James Cagney, 50, has been on the list six times. Hot on the heels of the top-notchers are Fred Astaire, 50; James Mason, 41; Robert Montgomery, 45; Sir Laurence Olivier, 42; and James Stewart, who admits to 41 years. You might ask what these men do to remain so attractive. The answer is nothing. They eat all they please, hunt, fish and act. Others in this group are Walter Pidgeon, 51, who has a problem answering fan mails from very young ladies; William (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd, 51, who had never been on a horse before he turned cowboy actor; Charles Boyer, the great lover, 50; George Raft, who became a grandfather 10 years ago but refuses to tell his age; Dick Powell, 45; and these amusing gentlemen: Charles Coburn, 72; Lionel Barrymore, 71; Barry Fitzgerald, 61; Sidney Greenstreet, 70; and Walter Huston, 75. Loretta Young sums up the reason for the prominence of older men on the "most attractive" list. She says: "Young actors, and a lot of young men, are too much like actors. These men 'Fame' named aren't like actors. They're like men. Take Grant. Any time, on the screen or not, he makes you feel that he's a man, you're a woman. In the way he lights your cigarette. Washington Letter

By ROWLAND EVANS, Jr. (for Jane Eads). Washington—How would you like to establish the climate of the U.S.A.? About 7,000 citizens collectively are doing just that, every day, every season. They are the Weather Bureau's voluntary weather observers. Twice a day they record the sky condition, the temperature, the wind direction, the pressure and the rain and snowfall in their area on special instruments loaned them by the Weather Bureau. Once a month they send their data to section centers in 42 states, which in turn forward the record to Weather Bureau processing centers. These weather enthusiasts, says the weather bureau, are establishing our climate in a very real sense—helping to determine just what it is. They've been at it ever since 1870, when the first official forecasting medium, the Army's Signal Corps, was set up. The Weather Bureau itself didn't make an appearance till 1891. But if it weren't for the thousands of scattered reports which the volunteers send in from plains and mountains the Weather Bureau would have a rough time piecing together the changing picture of the atmosphere. The amateurs themselves love the job, even if it does demand a constant vigil on their instruments and, during periods of storm and flood, answering telephone queries from their neighbors, sometimes as many as 50 a day. The Weather Bureau says many more citizens apply for the volunteer job than can be accommodated. And some old-time observers have been at it for more than 55 years. Many pass their duties on to their sons. "We couldn't afford to put them on a paying basis. We lend them the instruments and a small shelter to put them in. When the instruments wear out, we replace them. A big reason for the low cost of supplying our daily and long-range weather reports is the contribution they make." Bureau spokesmen say. That cost is 15 cents a year for every U.S. citizen. The monthly reports are put into long tables, station by station, printed and made available to the public for $1.50 a year per area. Subscribers number in the thousands.

Pitt Chapter Of State Alumni Hold Meeting; Elect New Slate Officers

By CHESTER WALSH
Pitt County Chapter, State College Alumni Association, at its "ladies' night" banquet last night, at Red Oak Community building celebrated in a way that reminded of "homecoming day" at the college in Raleigh. President J. H. Mobley, agriculture teacher at the Winterville High School, presided.

When "Pop" Taylor, State College alumni secretary, arrived and asked: "Who won that football game last Saturday?" and introduced Dr. Roy Lovman, professor of agronomy and pasture research at the college, "happy days were here again," some of the old-time graduates said at the banquet tables. Somebody said the score was 27 to 14 for State. Five minutes time was "informally taken out" to discuss the game; then, routine business got under way.

After paying tribute to Beattie Feathers, State College football coach, the chapter unanimously elected Sam C. Winchester, president, M. Brown Hodges of Grifton, vice-president; and Dr. Joseph C. Bateman of Greenville, secretary-treasurer.

State Alumni Secretary "Pop" Taylor introduced Dr. Lovman, who spotlighted his interesting after-dinner speech with some photographic slides he took while in Holland last summer.

The speaker, in his address emphasized the "importance of grass," and demonstrated "what a valuable crop it is in the Netherlands." At the conclusion of his talk, farmers and others lingered to ask questions and he answered them cheerfully and knowingly.

Dr. Lovman attended the fifth International Grassland Conference at Amsterdam, Holland, last summer. Delegates were there from all over the world, he said. Delegates were taken out to France and Belgium and England to inspect special farming areas. In his talk, Lovman said he had no trouble in the Netherlands or other countries "understanding what was being said," because there were interpreters in the meetings and on the tours.

"We Americans had our greatest 'language difficulty' in understanding the talk of the British people while we were in England. English as spoken in England is vastly different from the way we speak it in America," he said.

The women of the Red Oak Community Club served the turkey dinner. Mrs. Leota Tyson entertained with accordion selections while the group sang familiar songs.

Rangoon Decides Ban Rickshaws

Rangoon—(AP)—The Municipal Corporation of Rangoon has decided to ban rickshaws from the city with effect from January 1, 1951, following representation on humanitarian grounds by the Indian Embassy here.

Rickshaw-pulling is not regarded as a permanent profession in Burma, but one adopted by casual dockside laborers, solely South Indians, during off-seasons. According to an Indian Embassy spokesman, the government of India has forbidden rickshaw-pulling in India. He said the task caused the early mortality of men even briefly engaged upon it.

Gift For Nehru On Homecoming

Bombay, India, Nov. 14—(AP)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, arriving home from a tour abroad, got a homecoming gift worth $40,000 today. It was gold replica, studded with 60 diamonds, of the Great Seal of India.

He received the present from Bombay's Mayor S. K. Pall at a mass meeting attended by 500,000 persons.

$100 Millions For School Program

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 14—(AP)—A $100,000,000 school building program is under way in North Carolina, Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, State superintendent of public instruction, said today.

The program calls for spending of $50,000,000 in state funds and the remainder would come from local funds, he said.

He predicted the program would result in construction of 10,000 new classrooms which he termed "the most essential need."

Brief Honeymoon

New York, Nov. 15—(AP)—Their honeymoon lasted 16 minutes. They sat in the corner of a bare courthouse anteroom, whispering quietly. A hug. And then goodbye.

A guard took Walter M. Schultz, 20, by the arm and led him away. His new bride, Doris Cohen, 23, called out:

"Be a good guy, honey. Don't get into any trouble."

Neither of them knew how long it would be before they could be together again.

On her plea, County Judge Peter T. Farrell had permitted the Brooklyn couple to be married yesterday before Schultz was locked up to await sentence Nov. 18 on a second degree burglary charge.

Elizabeth Drake In Piano Recital

Elizabeth Drake of Scotland Neck, faculty member of East Carolina Teachers College, will be presented by the college music department a recital of compositions for the piano. The program will take place in the Wright auditorium on the campus at 8:00 o'clock.

Miss Drake's program for the evening includes works by Brahms, Chopin, Scarlatti, and Wendell Keeny. Franck's "Symphonic Variations" in an arrangement for two pianos will be the closing number of the recital. For this selection Mrs. Margaret Gilbert of Greenville will be at the second piano.

Since coming to East Carolina in 1946, Miss Drake has given recitals annually on the campus and has played before members of the Greenville Music Club, the Rocky Mount Music Club, and other organizations in the eastern section of North Carolina.

Sale Of Legal Liquor Declines

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 15—(AP)—Legal liquor sales in North Carolina continued their decline in October.

State ABC Chairman Robert W. Winston reported yesterday that ABC stores in 28 counties and three municipalities sold $4,251,496.55 worth of tax paid whiskey last month. This was a 9.7 per cent decline from the $4,677,598.75 worth sold in October of last year.

Two additional liquor outlets were included in the tabulation. Catawba and Rowan counties opened stores last month following elections in which voters approved the county option system.

Student Rescued Adrift On Ocean

Wilmington, N.C., Nov. 15—(AP)—Fishermen yesterday rescued Arch Yow, University of North Carolina student, after he drifted five days in the Atlantic Ocean in his homemade sailboat.

The 23-year-old sailor from Henderson, N.C., had canned food and water aboard, but no watch, compass or charts.

He had set out from Morehead City last Wednesday in his 24-foot Elysia for a short trip when the weather turned bad and he lost his way. Winds carried him into the Gulf Stream.

He drifted an estimated 350 miles before he finally caught sight of land near Mason's Inlet. He had a seven-foot skiff in the sailboat and he set out for shore in the smaller craft.

It capsized as he reached the surf. Three Wilmington men fishing in the surf aided Yow to shore. They were Buddy Benson, Johnny Vollers and A. C. Smith.

Yow did not appear physically hurt by the trip. His red beard had grown long.

The Elysia was later towed to shore. Yow said he built the Elysia at the University in Chapel Hill last summer and brought it to the ocean by trailer.

Model Prisoner, Overlooked, Is Given Release

Raleigh, Nov. 15—(AP)—A Negro inmate of Woman's Prison, overlooked for several years in parole reviews, has been released with a commutation.

Paroles Commissioner T. C. Johnson identified the woman as 42-year-old Pearl Sutherland. He said she was sentenced from Harnett County 16 years ago to 25 to 30 years for second degree murder in the knife-fight death of Adelia McAllister.

Johnson told this story yesterday: When Pearl first entered Woman's Prison here, her conduct was so poor that her name got to be passed over in routine parole reviews.

Later, although she became a model prisoner, her name was still overlooked. She became one of the prison's oldest inmates. Johnson said she served the equivalent of 22 years, including time gained for good behavior.

During the past year, among the things taught in our department, to things taught in our department, to all-day boys, evening class members and veteran farmers. Increased livestock production has been given much emphasis. As a result, among our veteran group alone, sixty-six acres of pasture have been seeded with approved pasture mixture this fall. Approved fertilizers were used in the preparation of these pastures. These sixty acres represent the work of twenty eight men. The pastures range in sizes from one to five acres. Of these sixty-six acres, forty-two are seeded to permanent pasture mixtures. Twenty-four are of the temporary nature.

Within the six weeks we have been to the western part of the state several times to purchase beef animals at auction. At Clyde and West Jefferson, N. C., a total of 26 heifers were purchased, five Shorthorns, one Aberdeen Angus, and 20 Herefords. At the Satterwhite farm near Warrenton, we purchased two Hereford bulls. The bulls are to be registered an dthe heifers are purebred.

These purchases were made by representatives of the Department of State, paid for by the individual for the purpose of breeding to increase the population of beef cattle in the community and to make our program more diversified. No animal is to be sold without giving first offer of purchase to the local department. This is being done in order we may keep a large percent of the breeding stock in our department so that we can reach the objectives of our breeding program. The animals weighed from 310 to 515 pounds and represented a capital outlay of more than $3,000.—J. J. Brown, teacher of agriculture.

Actress Routs Husky Prowler

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Irene Rich, the musical comedy star, put to flight a husky male prowler who tried to enter her dressing room yesterday while she was wearing $40,000 worth of jewels.

"I'm a pretty strong farmer girl," said the actress, who gives her age as 58, "so I gave him a good shove and closed the door."

The prowler was collared by a policeman outside the Broadway Theater but later released when Miss Rich refused to press charges.

Over 500 Attend District FHA Meeting On Saturday

District One Future Homemakers of America met in Farmville for their annual district rally on Saturday. The district is composed of home economics students from schools in Beaufort, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Pitt, Tyrrell, Bertie, Gates, Halifax, Hertford, Martin, Edgecombe, Northampton and Chowan Counties.

Four hundred seventy-two students, 44 advisers and 34 chapter mothers and guests attended the event.

Registration was followed by group singing, led by Mr. Leon Jackson. Miss Ona Shindler was the accompanist. Mr. Sam D. Bundy welcomed guests to the school. Greetings were extended by Miss Toddy Smith, of Bethel, on behalf of the Pitt County federation of the FHA and Miss Nora Lee Hinnant, of the Bethel High School faculty, who is district adviser.

The Edenton chapter had charge of the devotions.

A business session followed. The president of each chapter reported the number of FHA members present, the adviser's name and the number of chapter mothers present.

Stage Panel On Teacher Welfare

The minutes of last year's meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given and Miss Betsy Castelloe, of Winterville, gave the FHA camp financial report. Special guests were recognized.

The highlight of the day was an address by Dr. Leo W. Jenkins who was introduced by Miss Ann Mose of the Tarboro chapter. Dr. Jenkins' talk was in an informal manner, concerned with women, their progress and responsibilities.

Miss Peggy Britt and Miss Janice Whaley of the Goldsboro chapter and Miss Margaret Stevens of the Grantham chapter followed with a description of the regional FHA convention in Memphis last June.

Luncheon was served in the Farmville lunchroom and during the lunch hour the advisers met. Mrs. Alice Williamson of the Swan Quarter chapter was elected district adviser.

The afternoon's program was composed of special dance and song features, a report of the various committees and the election of Miss Toddy Smith of the Bethel chapter as state historian. An invitation from the Creswell chapter was extended for the 1950 district rally. The Edenton chapter had the largest number of their membership present. Scotland Neck was awarded a prize for having kept the best scrapbook.

At the Delta Kappa Gamma meeting held Saturday in the Flanagan Building at the college, four members of the local chapter, Miss Frances Lamb, Miss Frances Wahl, Miss Agnes Fullilove and Miss Estelle Greene, conducted a panel on teacher welfare, the theme for the programs of the year. The aspect discussed at this meeting was teacher security.

Before the discussion, the chapter president, Mrs. Nettie B. Herring, reported to the group on the state "birthday" meeting held at Rocky Mount Oct. 28-29. Mrs. Herring announced the completion of the fund for the foreign graduate student brought to this country by the North Carolina organization, and said that this student would now be able to complete her work for her doctor's degree in June.

Members of the panel were presented by Mrs. Howard Mims program chairman.

The presiding officer, Miss Frances Lamb, introduced the panel by pointing out how nations and groups within nations are seeking security, and said that teachers should find out what they have in the way of security.

Miss Frances Wahl spoke on professional security, pointing out the relation to it of thorough screening and careful preparation of applicants for teacher training, of in-service training, and of equal salaries for equal preparation, experience and ability, regardless of sex.

In discussing economic security, Miss Agnes Fullilove spoke of the general acceptance now of the principle of tenure, and of provisions for absence and for retirement. She reminded the group that the present retirement system does not make it possible for a teacher to know in advance what she can count on at retirement.

Miss Estelle Greene talked on "What We Have in Greenville." She discussed living quarters, boarding houses, and recreation open to teachers, and pointed out the need for a community center from the point of view of the teacher as well as the teen-ager.

A general discussion followed the panel.

Robber Met On His Way Back To Return Money

Fort Wayne, Ind. Nov. 14—(AP)—Not long after the attendant was filling station rang.

"If the police are called," a woman's voice said, "the man who took the money will be back with it."

A few minutes later she called again and said, "He's on his way."

Two men met Robert G. Lutz, 26 on his way to the filling station. They were the men who had taken the telephone calls—police detective Herbert Nitzsche and deputy sheriff Ed Baumgartner.

They said they had $9 in Lutz's pocket and took him to jail on a loitering charge.

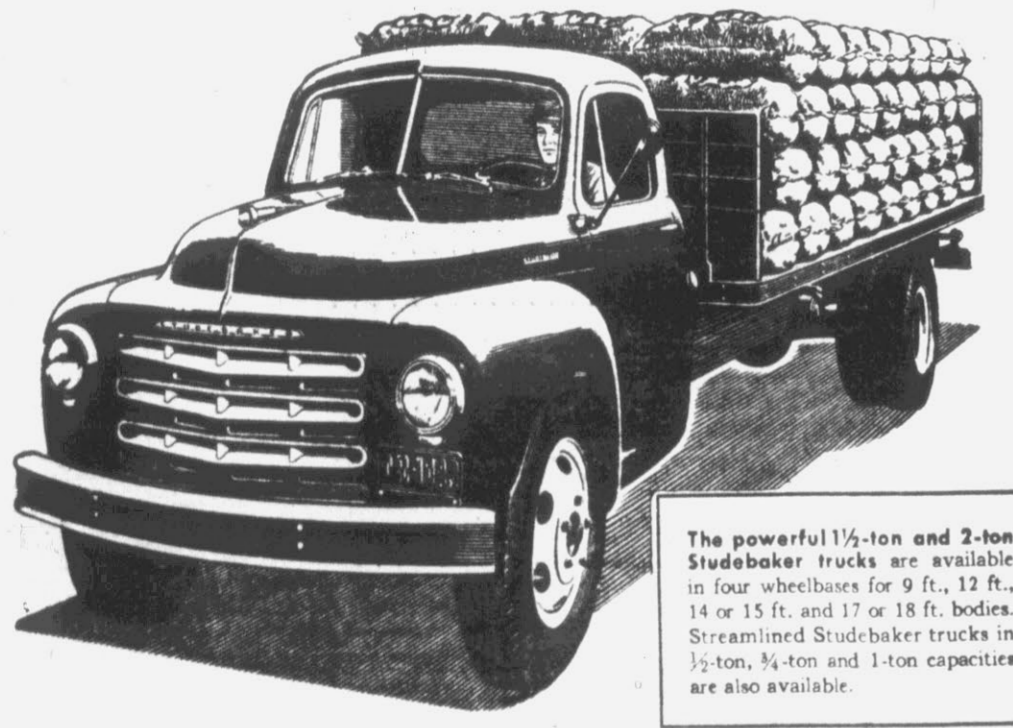

Lutz said it was his wife's idea that he return the money.

Electrical Engineer Says Most Wiring Inadequate

By WYATT BROWN
The electrical wiring in 75 percent of the homes in Greenville is inadequate, declared N. E. Kennedy, state electrical engineer, in a brief talk to the Rotarians last night. The Utilities Commission of the city has personnel available to make inspections to determine whether the wiring in a home is inadequate. It was brought out in a question and answer period following the speaker's set remarks.

At the outset the speaker warned that he was going to speak on a subject everyone was vitally interested in but paid little attention to. First he quoted the statistics of electrical power consumption which revealed that it doubled every ten years. New electrical gadgets and outlets are added. Usually the builder has tried to economize at the wrong place by economizing on the electrical installation.

"Wiring in your home is inadequate. Circuits and conductors are inadequate to supply current to electrical devices you have installed," he warned. He explained that the disadvantage in that comes from the overload develops. One has to use bulbs of large size because not enough voltage to light the bulbs to full strength. A five volt drop due to an overloaded circuit cuts the efficiency of an electric iron fifty percent—will have to iron twice as long as should be necessary to get area dry and smooth as desired.

He further illustrated by saying that electric refrigerators operate continuously because there is not enough voltage coming over lines made inefficient due to overload to get enough speed in the motor. This fact is less obvious to householders since manufacturers have made the refrigerators operate noiselessly.

As to cost Mr. Kennedy said it amounted to about two cents bonus on each kilowatt which on an average sells for three cents per hour without the bonus.

Looking at the future Mr. Kennedy said the utilities will increase voltage to meet the increased demand for current. Such an increase will produce greater hazard but the engineers will throw up safeguards. Cooperation with the inspectors will reduce any hazard.

By cooperation with one's local inspection department one can save forty percent by correcting overloaded circuits and conductors. Too, the inspector can make you safe. In the speaker's opinion seventy-five per cent of the homes have inadequate wiring. He said that Martin Swartz, superintendent of the local utilities commission, and Bill Darden, chief of inspection for the Greenville Utilities, backed him up in this guess.

In closing he said there must be rules and standards and he urged cooperation with such. He predicted that soon utilities will be enabled to demand certain minimum standards.

Guests of the club last night were Ralph Fleming of Norfolk, Va. Jimmie Brewer and F. D. Duncan. Bill Darden introduced the speaker of the evening. Erroll Webb, club president, presided.

Evangelist And Gambler In Visit

Los Angeles, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Is Los Angeles' public enemy No. One ready to hit the sawdust trail?

Evangelist Billy Graham said yesterday he visited Mickey Cohen at the latter's home Saturday night but the dapper gambler denies ever having talked to him.

"I did my best to kill this story," said the North Carolina-born evangelist. "Mr. Cohen doesn't want this type of story and neither do I. But it is not a publicity story, it is a true story."

Plan Changes State Fishing Laws At Raleigh Meeting

Raleigh, Nov. 15.—The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission will hold a public hearing to consider proposals for changes in fishing regulations which are to go into effect January 1, 1950, according to Clyde P. Patton, executive director of the commission.

The hearing will take place in the hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol in Raleigh at 9:00 a. m. Monday, November 21. The meeting is designed to consider proposals for changing fishing regulations in effect for inland waters of North Carolina. The commission plans to take action on proposals to formulate regulations which will become effective January 1, 1950.

Hair's Breadth

Atlanta, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Death came within a hair's breadth last night of claiming Walter Bryce.

Three armed young men, police reported, entered the liquor store in which Bryce clerked and ordered him to lie on the floor.

After rifling the cash register of $45 and grabbing a bottle of whisky, one of the gunmen placed a pistol at the base of Bryce's skull and fired, said Patrolman L. W. Brown.

Luck, or the gunman's nervousness, sent the bullet along the edge of the scalp into the floor. Bryce was only slightly hurt.

Mighty Mites And Selma In Bowl Game Scheduled Here

Undefeated Greenville Midgets To Play Once-Beaten Selma On Thanksgiving Day

Greenville's undefeated Mighty Mites football team will meet the Selma Midgets here Thanksgiving Day in a Midget Bowl game sponsored by the Greenville Exchange club, officials announced this morning.

Midget football officials said the two teams are among the top midget gridiron aggregations in this part of the state.

Coach Bill Kittrell's Mites, champions of the Northeastern Midget conference, will be meeting a squad which has been defeated only once.

Selma's season record was not available this morning but Coach Kittrell reported that they played the Kinston midgets to a 0-0 deadlock, showing one of the best defensive performances the Greenville coach had witnessed all year.

The Greenville Midgets, following a two week rest, began preparations for their bowl game yesterday. Loosening up drills and a review of fundamentals constituted the workout.

Kittrell indicated that his Mites would work on new plays for the Selma contest in an effort to preserve their season record of no de-

Pirates Prepare For Final Game And Trophy Test

Back in Greenville following their 26-26 tie with High Point last Saturday night, the East Carolina Pirates are girding themselves for their final game of the season and the battle for the Bohunk Trophy.

Coach Bill Dole is putting his boys through their paces in preparation for a contest next Saturday, November 19, in Wilson with Atlantic Christian College.

For the first time in two years the Pirates of East Carolina will play the role of favorites in a North State conference contest. The Buccaneers hold a slight edge by virtue of their tie with High Point and are resting easy with the consolation that every team which beat them beat Atlantic Christian a little worse.

Three Pirate gridgers may be favoring injuries sustained in the close fight with High Point, Coach Dole disclosed this week. Jim Danks and Jack Melvin, fullback and end respectively, are suffering from leg injuries and Eddie Tanner, the end who caught the final touchdown pass against High Point, received a severe cut on the lip.

The Pirates will be meeting their traditional rivals in a struggle to gain possession of the Bohunk Trophy, the battered oak bucket which passes from winner to winner in athletic contests between the two schools.

East Carolina won the trophy last spring in baseball, and Gilbert Carroll, manager of varsity athletics, now has it on display in the college soda shop.

Interest in the coming grid battle is mounting in Greenville. A large group of students and fans is expected to go to Wilson for the game.

Duke Prospects Drop; Regular Backs Dismissed

Durham, N.C., Nov. 15—(AP)—Duke's chances for its first football victory over North Carolina since 1946 have taken a big drop with the dismissal from the squad of two regular backs.

Coach Wallace Wade announced yesterday that John Montgomery, senior quarterback from Miami, and Thomas Harris, junior halfback from Charlotte, have been dropped.

They left without permission immediately after Duke's 35-0 victory over George Washington in Washington, D.C., last Saturday, and did not return to the campus here until yesterday morning, Wade said.

Montgomery, signal caller and blocking back, has been a Blue Devil regular since 1946. A leading pass receiver on the team this season, he caught 11 for 148 yards.

Harris, crack defensive halfback, played regularly until he was injured two weeks ago. He was just returning to top condition.

WCTC Is Chosen For Bowl Contest

Bristol, Va.-Tenn., Nov. 15—(AP)—Western Carolina Teachers College of Cullowhee, N.C., has been named to play in the first annual Smoky Mountain Bowl football game here Thanksgiving Day.

The Catamounts, champions of the North State Conference, were chosen last night to oppose West Liberty, Va., College.

The North Carolinians have won seven games this season and lost two. West Liberty has won eight and tied one.

Western Carolina closes its regular season against Carson-Newman in Cullowhee Saturday night. The Teachers have lost only to unbeaten Emory and Henry, 27-26, and Maryville, Tenn., 20-13.

They have defeated High Point 20-7, Appalachian 13-6, Tusculum 20-0, East Carolina Teachers 19-5, East Tennessee State 14-0, Lenoir-Rhyne 14-0 and Newberry 34-7.

The bowl game is sponsored by the Bristol Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Hill's

Greenville New Bern Morehead City

Sport Slants By Pap

There was a noticeable lift in the Ranger club when Pat Egan, a veteran defenseman from the Boston Bruins, joined the team during the last week of practice at Lake Placid. In his first scrimmage, Pat took over. He's a holler guy, one who peps up his teammates. In practice sessions, as in a game, Egan gives everything. That's the only way he knows how to play. He's the bashing type of defenseman and opposing forwards long ago learned to go slow when they are rushing the puck down the ice while Pat is in the defensive zone.

Just how hard Egan deals out punishment is evidenced by the fact that in the six seasons with Boston, he led the Bruins in penalties five times. His tough qualities are revealed by the fact that he started the current season with a string of 189 consecutive league games behind him—more than any defenseman in the league. As a matter of fact, there isn't a forward in action who can match Pat's string.

Egan scores high for a backliner. He paced the National Hockey League defensemen in scoring last season with six goals and 18 assists for a total of 24 points. In eight straight seasons he has scored six or more goals. Pat began his big league career with the old New York Americans ten years ago so joining the Rangers is like returning home to him. The home crowd will go for Pat.

Jayvees Play In Tarboro Thursday To End Season

Seeking revenge on that 19-13 defeat handed them last week the Greenville Jayvees will invade the Tarboro Juniors Thursday afternoon in a game which will close out their two game season schedule.

Coach Milton Glover's boys lost to the Tarboro squad by a single touchdown here last week when the Tiger Jayvees last minute desperation passes clicked for a touchdown to give them a 19-13 win.

But Greenville's team outweighed man for man, won the high praise of Coach Glover and Assistant Coach George Wood, who began three weeks ago making a group of inexperienced high school freshman into a football team.

"I think our boys did well for the amount of practice they have had. We should have won," Glover said.

The Greenville team which had led all the way until the last seconds of the Tarboro game, will get a chance to gain revenge Thursday afternoon.

Local fans are of the opinion that it will not take many treaks to give the locals the victory. Breaks went against Glover's boys in their opening encounter. Twice in the last half they were down deep in Tarboro territory, only to be held there. They were all the way to the nine yard line in the last quarter but were set back on a penalty.

The Greenville Jayvee team was organized in mid season after Coach Bo Farley of Greenville high school issued a plea for underclassmen to come out for football to insure at least some experienced players to bolster the Phantoms aggregation next year.

Some 40 boys responded to the call.

Brown Bomber Is Still A Champion

Boston, Nov. 15—(AP)—Joe Louis left Boston "feelin' good" and with a sincere verbal pat on the back for Johnny Shkor, the Forton and Baltimore heavyweight with whom he went ten exhibition rounds.

Louis, who had a majority of 8-471 Boston Garden fans rooting for him last night, drew the plaudits of reporters for his decency.

As he reclined on a rubbing table wrapped in towels the retired heavyweight king responded to a question.

"Sure I'd have knocked him out if I could've with one punch. But I didn't want to go. Him staggerin' around 'n then do it. This was an exhibition."

There wasn't much doubt that Louis, who began a string of ten round exhibitions here, could have "gone after" Shkor and cut him up considerably, eventually knocking out his opponent.

For the Brown Bomber still has his punch, even though his lack of timing from inactivity was obvious. Nevertheless, he dropped Shkor three times for nine counts, once in the second and twice in the third.

Eppes Bulldogs Look For Tough Rival On Friday

After last week's 0-0 tie with Snow Hill, the Bulldogs of Eppes high school began drills this week at top speed for their game Friday night with Washington high school.

Coaches Crowder and Daniels reported yesterday that their boys will be ready for the Washington team which has bowled over seven opponents and lost but one game.

Washington, reportedly confident of a victory over the Bulldogs, lost a single contest this year to F. W. Moore of Elizabeth City.

Three bus loads of students are expected to come to Greenville to see the game.

Spikes Reports Irish 'Wanted'

Chicago, Nov. 15—(AP)—Freshman Coach Wally Weber of Michigan has spiked reports that Wolverine alumni are clamoring for renewal of football relations with Notre Dame.

"If Michigan alumni were polled on the question," Weber told the Chicago Herald-American quarterback meeting yesterday, "I'll say 90 per cent of them would favor our team's concentrating on the conference schedule rather than one outstanding midwestern rival."

Weber said after Michigan's 32-20 win over Notre Dame in 1942 the Wolverines "were so spent they lost their next game to Ohio State (21-7)."

Pennsylvania To Play Nine Games

Philadelphia, Nov. 15—(AP)—The University of Pennsylvania today announced a nine game 1950 football schedule that includes intersectional games with California on the West Coast and Wisconsin at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

It is the first nine-game card for Penn State since 1943. The season opens Sept. 30 against the University of Virginia and closes on Saturday Nov. 25 with the traditional Cornell game.

The design of the White House is said to have been modelled on that of the Duke of Leinster's palace in Dublin.

Phantoms Play Pam Pack In Homecoming Game Friday

The Phantom football team of Greenville High School began preparations Monday for its Homecoming game with Washington High School here Friday night.

It will be the last game of the year for the Bo Farley- and Woody Wilson-coached Greenville team which will be fighting for its second win in the Northeastern conference against three losses and a tie.

Elaborate Homecoming plans are underway at Greenville High School for the Friday affray. What the students promise to be the biggest pep rally of the year is being planned for Thursday night.

The football team, meanwhile, is working out for its final game in high spirits. The Friday night game will be the important game of the year for Farley's aggregation.

A Northeastern Conference football followers are predicting one of the best family battles of the year. Both teams are of nearly equal calibre as far as wins and losses are concerned. Washington, with two wins will hold a slight edge.

But records are thrown out the window when the Phantoms and the Pam Pack meet. The traditional rivals usually point for each other every season.

This year it will be no different. The effect the game will have on the conference standings of the two teams will make it an even greater fight.

A win for Greenville would put the Phantoms above Washington, Roanoke Rapids and Edenton in conference standings. A loss would drop them to next-to-bottom place, just above Roanoke Rapids.

Washington is currently berthed in fourth place, holding New Bern, Elizabeth City and Kinston on its shoulders.

In spite of its mediocre success, however, the Washington team is highly regarded in Greenville and around the conference as well. The Pam Pack lost to the three top teams by very close scores. They gave Kinston its hardest conference fight of the year, losing by only two touchdowns.

Greenville broke a three-game losing streak last week by battling Roanoke Rapids to a 6-6 deadlock.

Philadelphia To Roll Out Carpet

Philadelphia, Nov. 15—(AP)—The city of Philadelphia is all ready to roll out the carpet for the annual Army-Navy football get-together.

Details for the game—to be played Nov. 26 at Municipal Stadium—were discussed yesterday at a meeting attended by Mayor Bernard Samuel and representatives of both service schools.

Thomas Buckley, Philadelphia director of Public Works, announced the purchase of a $10,000 tarpaulin to cover the field. In previous years, the "Home" team provided coverage for the gridiron.

Steelers Reveal Justice Sought

Pittsburgh, Nov. 15—(AP)—Charley (Choo Choo) Justice, great running back from North Carolina University, was announced today as the No. 1 draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

Charley says he won't play with the Steelers, because, so far as is known, he didn't know he had been drafted by the Steelers when he made his pronouncement.

He just doesn't mean to play professional ball, that's all.

The Steelers said they picked Charley at a National League draft meeting in Philadelphia a week ago.

Justice had originally been drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles, league champions. But a Steeler spokesman said the Eagles, wealthy in backs already and angling for some fancy linemen, gave up Justice to the Steelers in exchange for the Pittsburgh team's No. 1 draft choice.

A Steeler spokesman said today that Justice, naturally, has not been consulted on the matter. For the Steelers to talk to Justice, prior to completion of his college career, would wreck his amateur standing.

Ike Williams Wins Easy Decision

Philadelphia, Nov. 15—(AP)—Ike Williams, who defends his lightweight title here No. 28 against Freddy Dawson, gained a unanimous 10-round decision last night over Jean Walzack, French welterweight title holder.

Dawson, who fights out of Chicago, was in the crowd last night.

Williams, Trenton, N. J., battler, entered the ring weighing 140, five pounds less than Walzack, former staminate of the late Marcel Gardan.

Chapter 27
The attorney arrived the next morning. For a little while Arieta sat looking out on the brilliant world of gold and purple left in the storm's wake; then she turned to the wary man. "Mr. Maine, I've learned my father was guilty of defrauding the valley farmers. I want to make restitution."
"Have you any conception of what this will cost you?" he asked.
Arieta's eyes were dark with thought. "Yes, fifty percent more than I possess. Having known what, even fifty percent of what was due them will be of more value now than it was four years ago. I want a list of the valley farmers, their holdings, what was due them. We'll try to repay on a percentage basis. And, Mr. Maine, I must know how much is due the Lanes."
He left, promising High Plateau would be placed on the market. He also promised that Arieta, disguised, would be taken on a shopping trip by a discreet real estate agent, an agent who would know where to find living quarters and orchard lands for the Martins.
It was nearly four weeks when Mr. Maine came out to announce everything had been completed insofar as it was possible.
"The Lanes are the only claimants left. We have a possible prospect for your home on the high plateau. They want to pay less than what we've established as a fair price, yet—"
"The Lanes," said Arieta thoughtfully, "claim to be the ones most deeply hurt by my father. I can't pay them off without exacting the full price of my home, unless—"
She would sell her car, sell the small jewelry she owned.
When this was done, she had paid, insofar as she was able, every cent.

the desert floor. She'd have to meet Allene sooner or later. And the Lanes had been the greatest losers in the Langtry fiasco.
"But I don't like it," she thought. "I'm heading back to meet a prospect as soon as I drop you at Allene's." Calvin said as they turned up the canyon road the next day. "I'll stop by the mesa on a day or so and we'll begin to set dates."
A maid came to the door. Miss Allene had gone riding and hadn't yet returned. Mrs. Lane was in the sun room.
"I'll go on," said Calvin.
He did, but not far, for Arieta, stepping into the sun room, saw Allene pull a spirited chestnut mare up beside his car and wondered if it hadn't been thus planned.
Mrs. Lane was standing awaiting her attention. Arieta, turning to her, surprised an expression in the woman's eyes which held her taut, questioning. If Allene's first glance had been of black hatred, what was this?
"Won't you sit down. Miss Chips?" asked the fretful voice.
Arieta debated, then sat in the proffered chair and felt it a stool of indignation. And as she sat on the slippery surface she tried to place Mrs. Lane. She was different from most of the women with whom Arieta had associated and she couldn't define the difference. But did it matter? Allene was making a noisy entrance.
"Good," said Allene in greeting. "Didn't think you'd show; didn't think you had what it took. Trot along, Mums. I can handle this better alone. Cigarette?"
Arieta shook her head and waited. This was hardly the atonement approach.
"Cal," Allene tossed the name as lightly as a glass bauble, "tells me you two are going to be married next week."

"I suppose," said Arieta quietly, "that you're leading up to something. Mr. Sheridan said you wanted me to call, that we might become acquainted, become friends. He was obviously wrong. Suppose we come to the point; what do you want of me more than I'm giving?"
"Cal Sheridan," answered Allene promptly. "And I'm not asking; I'm telling you."

NASH IS FIRST AGAIN—IN POWER!

NOW!
SUPER-COMPRESSION ENGINES THAT ARE RECORD PERFORMERS ON REGULAR GASOLINE

Nash engineers have done it again! Now—for the first time—you can have all the thrill of super-compression power on regular gasoline!

You'd expect the company that's been ahead in the power parade for a third of a century to stay ahead—but wait 'til you drive a 1950 Nash Airflyte.

Take out a new Nash Ambassador. Its Turbo-head engine has a 7.3 to 1 ratio. Fill it up with "regular"—then tackle the worst hill you know—take the challenge of any other car at the traffic light.

And let the throttle tell the story!

Check your gas mileage for another surprise. No other car of Nash Ambassador size can come anywhere close to it in miles to the gallon.

And the Nash Statesman, with its high-compression engine, is equally outstanding in its class—with over 25 miles to the gallon at average highway speed.

What has Nash got the others haven't?
Exclusive sealed-in manifolds, for one thing. They utilize the leanest of mixtures. Uni-Jet Carburetion, for another. It means smoother performance.

20.7% Less Air Drag
Then, these great engines get another boost from America's best aerodynamic design—for Airflyte design has 20.7% less air drag than the average of nine other current cars tested.

And Nash alone has Airflyte Construction that is stronger, safer, without useless weight.

New—Hydra-Matic Drive
For the best test of all, see your Nash dealer and get the thrill yourself of Airflyte high-compression power. Try it in the Nash Ambassador with Hydra-Matic Drive (optional extra) and exclusive Selecto-Lift Starting.

And let the throttle tell the story!

New Lower Prices—$73 to $140 less than last year!
See the new and finer 1950 Nash Airflytes, with Super-Compression Power, Skyliner Lounges Interiors, and dozens of other new features, all priced far less than last year. Compare value—compare prices—you'll agree they are the best buy today.

Nearly Half Of School Buses Found Defective On Check-Up

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 15—(AP)—Of 4,876 school buses recently inspected by the State Highway Patrol, 2,409 had defects.

The 2,467 others were in a safe condition, Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar reported yesterday.

The patrol began inspecting school buses last month after seven children were killed in a Nash County school bus accident.

Tolar's report showed 200 buses had jammed escape doors, more than 1,000 had faulty rear lights, 400 to 500 had poor brakes, 1,000 had improper headlights, and approximately 2,000 had faulty emergency brakes.

The patrol commander said the patrol was receiving the full cooperation of school officials in the inspection program.

Many principals and superintendents have called asking for suggestions and promising complete support, he added.

Most defects uncovered were corrected immediately, Tolar declared. Only seven or eight buses had to be taken out of operation, and nearly all of these were over-age models, he said.

He declared he had received reports of school bus speeding. On their next inspections, he said, patrolmen will check thoroughly to see that governors are working properly.

Five counties had buses on which no defects were found. These included Cabarrus with 54 buses, Stanley with 54, Davie with 33, Davidson with 77 and Hyde with 22.

Indian Summer

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 68 degrees. The highest the same day last year was 56 degrees. Lowest temperature here last night was 44 degrees and at 8 a. m. today it was 44. Mrs. Carl E. Malden, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau reported today.

Winchell's Mother In 10-Story Death Fall

New York, Nov. 15—(AP)—Mrs. Jennie Winchell, 77, mother of Walter Winchell, plunged to her death last night from her room on the 10th floor of Doctor's Hospital.

Her private nurse, Kathleen Carlton, said she had left Mrs. Winchell's room for a few minutes to obtain the patient's evening meal, and returned to find a window open and Mrs. Winchell gone.

Low Income . . .

tion for a better paying occupation thus appears as an important cause of low income.

More important than this, however, is the fact that educational opportunity in the United States, at least beyond the grade-school level, still greatly depends upon the income status of the child's family.

"Low incomes result from lack of education, and lack of education for the next generation results from the low incomes of the present, a process which tends to stratifying the population."

Which is another way of saying: If a child's parents can't afford to send him through school, his chances for climbing in the world are cut down and, if in turn, he makes only a low income, he won't be able to send his children to school.

Those who favor government aid to education will probably use this report for support in arguing for the aid when Congress comes back in 1950.

And it will be used also by those favoring wider social benefits from the government for the handicapped and aged.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), in releasing the report, said it does not necessarily represent the economic committee's views but will be used as a base for its studies.

Col. Davis Talks At Exchange Club

Members of the Greenville Exchange club at their regular meeting Friday night, heard Lt. Col. Warren G. Davis, of the local ORC organization discuss the present economic situation in Germany.

Col. Davis recently returned from a tour of duty with the U. S. occupation forces in Germany.

Vice-President John G. Clark presided at the meeting.

During the business session the club voted to sponsor a Midget bowl game here Thanksgiving Day between the Greenville midget team and the Selma mites. A spokesman for the club said receipts from the ticket sales for this game will be turned over to the local midget team, and in addition the club voted to purchase new jerseys for the local team.

Name Officials For Ring Bout Here Wednesday

Officials for the East Carolina Teachers College elimination boxing match were announced this morning by Boxing Instructor Johnny Long.

Judges will be Col. William Brown, Paul Julian and Dr. J. M. Barrett.

Efforts are being made to secure the services of Garland Bailey as referee. Frank Ceruzzi will be timer.

The match will be held in Wright auditorium Wednesday night at 7:30. Ten bouts are on the evening card.

Oh sure, he gets a bit of time off and has some fun. But he is almost constantly in the public eye, because so has to watch his step, because he is looked upon as a paragon of all the virtues. Not only his own future but the future of the monarchy depends on how he conducts himself.

Whispering Among High Russians

Andrei Vishinsky (right), Russian foreign minister, whispers in the ear of Archbishop Adam at the party given in the Soviet embassy at Washington Monday night. It celebrated the 32nd anniversary of the Communist revolution. About 1,400 people forgot the "cold war" and attended the celebration. Archbishop Adam is the representative of the Patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church. (AP Wirephoto).

The Fire Department's rescue truck was called to 404 Summit street this morning shortly after 10:00 to pick up a Negro woman who was taken sick while walking along the sidewalk, and had fainted.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 15—(AP)—A wobbly touch persisted in the stock market today following yesterday's decline, worst in a month or so. Prices appeared on a fairly steady basis in early dealings but a tendency to decline soon appeared. It was no more than a tendency, however, for numerous shares sold at slight increases. Many issues eased between plus and minus ground.

Several rails edged ahead in the wake of news that another boost in passenger fares had been authorized for eastern carriers. The response to this news, though, was light.
