Alger Hiss Goes Into Second Trial

Sixty Prospective Jurors On Hand; Federal Judge Appointed To Bench By Harding; Trial Expected To Follow Same Course As First

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Alger Hiss former state department official, went on trial today for the second time on perjury charges.

Sixty prospective jurors were on hand when federal judge Henry W. Goddard called the trial into session. Goddard, 78 years old and a Republican, was appointed to the bench by President Harding in January 1923.

This trial, like the first one, is expected to revolve around the conflicting claims of Hiss—himself and an ex-Communist agent Whitaker Chambers.

The central question, which produced a deadlocked jury in the previous trial, is this: which man is lying?

Choosing of a new jury to find the answer to this question is expected to get underway speedily, in as much as a series of pre-trial defense motions already have been disposed of.

The setting of the trial is the same room at the federal courthouse on Foley Square where a jury last July 8 reported itself unable to agree on Hiss' guilt or innocence.

Hiss, now 45, was indicted by an espionage-probing federal grand jury nearly a year ago, on Dec. 15, 1948. He was accused of lying before the jury, in two instances:

1. When he swore he did not pass confidential government information to Chambers.

2. When he swore he had not seen Chambers from Jan. 1, 1937. Until the espionage probe began.

Each of the two counts carries a possible penalty of five years imprisonment on conviction.

The grand jury probe and indictment followed a series of hearings by Congressional investigators, who listened to testimony from both Hiss and Chambers.

It was the accusation by Chambers, 48, a spy, from $30,000 a year salary editor of Time Magazine, that first drew Hiss into the inquiry.

Chambers claimed Hiss belonged to a pre-war Communist cell in Washington that supplied him with information for transmission to Russia.

Hiss denied the charges throughout the investigation at his first trial.

At the end of the trial, the jury was split eight for conviction, four for acquittal.

Since that time, neither the government nor the defense has made any claims about turning up new evidence.

Truman Believes Nation Through Difficult Times

Boston, Nov. 17.—(AP)—President Truman told New England business men today he felt the country was "through the worst part of the adjustment that had to come after the inflationary boom we experienced last year."

But the President advised that the federal government still was "keeping a careful watch on business conditions."

"We have not been lulled into a sense of false security," he said in a message to a joint conference of New England businessmen and governors of the six states, sponsored by the New England Council, a regional promotional organization.

Mr. Truman urged them to use "business and imagination" in meeting the region's problems.

Secretary of State Acheson was using plain, though unemotional, language when he said in Washington yesterday that Chinese Communist treatment of American Consul General Ward, who is in Mukden jail, with four of his staff, removes any present possibility of considering recognition of the new Red Chinese government.

This comes on the heels of repeated failures by American authorities to secure news about Ward and his colleagues, who are accused of beating an American Consul General, O. Edmund Chubb in Peiping, has been rebuffed by the Communist leaders.

It also comes at a moment when the Red regime at Peiping, which is seeking recognition by the great power, is boldly challenging the right of Chinese Nationalist delegates to represent the country in the United Nations. Thus far none of the members outside the Soviet bloc has shown any disposition to oust these representatives of the regime which still ranks as one of the big five in the peace organization.

Britain has been seriously considering the idea of recognizing the Peiping government. Her economic interests in China are far greater than those of any other foreign power, and she naturally is gravely concerned.

Two Superforts Crash In Mid-Air Above Stockton

Four Of Twenty-Two Men Aboard Saved; Collided At Midnight In Fog

Stockton, Calif., Nov. 17.—(AP)—Two Airforce Superforts collided 26,000 feet above Stockton at midnight. One fell in flames. The tail of the other fell off and it crashed in the mud.

Four of the 22 men aboard were saved. Seven were found dead in the wreckage. Eleven are missing.

The sheriff's office field party radioed three bodies had been taken from the plane that burned on a McDonald Island levee on the San Joaquin River in the Delta nine miles west of here.

State Highway Patrolman Bill Alcott said four bodies were taken from the plane that crashed six feet deep into the mud on the Rindge tract two miles north and across the San Joaquin.

The wings of this plane were intact, but the tail assembly had collapsed.

A radio from the field party at this plane ordered all spectators cleared from the area because of high octane gasoline fumes.

Hamilton Field, 25 miles north of San Francisco, said the plane that burned was from the 326th Squadron. The other was from the 325th. Both were part of the 92nd Bombardment Group at Spokane, Wash., Air Force base.

First definite word of the crash, in a fog, came from one of the survivors, Lt. Warren F. Sharrack, whose home is only 26 miles from Stockton. The lieutenant staggered into Edward Kennerly's Keweenaw Island fishing resort bleeding from a head injury.

"The other plane ran smack into us," he gaped.

The Kenyons heard the crash. They were out looking for the flames in the fog when Sharrack arrived.

Soon afterward the San Joaquin sheriff's office reported finding two enlisted men alive.

The Lodi, Calif., police department said its men had picked up four other enlisted men.

A few minutes later a gunner called into the sheriff's office, too excited to give his name. He said he had bailed out of one of the planes.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies from four counties circled for nearly three hours across the fields and streams of the Delta country before they found the wreckage of both planes.

145-Mile-An-Hour Wind Batters Island Of Guam

Tokyo, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The Air Force weather bureau reported winds approaching 145 miles an hour battered the island of Guam late today.

The weather observers said they managed to get a "freak call" through to the island after regular communications went out. They said the connection did not last long enough to get damage reports.

Earlier reports from the island, where hundreds of American servicemen and civilian workers are stationed, said several buildings had been blown down. Winds at that time had not exceeded 90 miles an hour.

The typhoon, one of the worst in years in the Pacific, was centered 45 miles south of Guam and moving west northwest at about 17 miles an hour.

Weather observers here predicted the typhoon would be 300 miles northwest of Guam tomorrow afternoon. The storm covers a 360-mile radius.

Last direct communication between the Associated Press bureau in San Francisco and its Guam correspondent said civil authorities on Guam had checked homes and business houses for safety measures before the storm struck.

(Thousands of Guamanian in villages moved to designated storm shelters. Many sought refuge in caves used by the Japanese to fight invading American forces during the war.)

Missing Girl Found Slain At Los Angeles

Coal Supply Here Is Still Critical

Local Dealers Look For Shipments In Week Or 10 Days

The majority of the coal dealers in Greenville reported today the coal situation still is bad, but an end to the acute coal situation in Greenville is possible soon.

Some retailers stated that they are looking for some shipments at the end of this week, while others said it will be a week or ten days before shipments of coal which they have ordered from the mines will reach the yards.

Some dealers reported that there would be an increase in the price of coal amounting to about 50 cents a ton in most cases.

Only one coal firm reported having any coal on its yard, and that is all sold. Several retailers stated this morning that they had received a car load of coal since the ending of the strike.

Backlog of orders running into the hundreds were reported at many yards. Owners said that if the normal supply of coal was to start at once, it would take them from two to three weeks to fill all the orders now on hand. During the recent cold weather many new orders have been added to the growing piles of orders.

Treason Charge Confronts Ex-GI

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Attorney General McGrath today announced the indictment of John David Provo, former U.S. Army staff sergeant, on charges of treason.

The attorney general said the indictment was returned by a federal grand jury in New York City. Provo has been under arrest there since Sept. 2, when he was discharged from the Army.

The indictment is based on alleged treasonous activities in the Philippines and Japan while Provo was a prisoner of war in the hands of the Japanese.

Provo was reported to have managed to get a "freak call" through to the island after regular communications went out. They said the connection did not last long enough to get damage reports.

Earlier reports from the island, where hundreds of American servicemen and civilian workers are stationed, said several buildings had been blown down. Winds at that time had not exceeded 90 miles an hour.

Fire Losses For October At Low

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The monthly fire loss in October, when thousands of American communities observed fire prevention week fell to $48,914,000 a new 84% low.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters said the October loss total was 15 under the September figure and 5.7 per cent below that of Oct. 1948.

Estimated losses for the first ten months of 1949 were $447,141,000, a decline of 7 per cent from the like period of last year.

Big Air Search

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The biggest peacetime air rescue search in history was underway today for a lost B-29 bomber which ran out of fuel and crashed in the sea somewhere near Bermuda yesterday. Twenty U.S. airmen were aboard.

Nearly 100 Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard planes from bases all along the Atlantic seaboard criss-crossed above Bermuda's surrounding waters hoping for a sight of the stricken bomber or bobbing liferafts.

Wilmington Port Lease Is Signed

Wilmington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—North Carolina's three year effort to develop Wilmington as a port for ocean going ships today moved toward success.

The U. S. Maritime Commission yesterday signed a 50-year lease, making the important north section of the shipyard available to the State Ports Authority. The lease was approved by the state a few days ago.

For more than three years the authority sought to buy or lease the whole $20,000,000 wartime shipyard, but the commission decided it must keep a portion on a stand-by basis.

The lease, for $1 a year, includes about 50 acres of the yards. Col. George W. Gillette, executive director of the authority, said the north section was what the state wanted most because it includes railroad connections.

Gillette said the authority hopes to begin construction of terminal facilities by March. The plans, he added, call for building a 1,650-foot dock, big enough for three large ships, two transit sheds and one or more warehouses.

The General Assembly earlier this year authorized a $7,500,000 bond issue to improve port facilities at Wilmington and Morehead City.

The authority plans to spend about $4,500,000 at Wilmington, Gillette explained, and the remaining $3,000,000 bond money at Morehead.

Here's Big Steel Back At Work

Here is a familiar sign that big steel is back at work in the United States after the crippling strike. This picture was made in the plant of the National Tube company at McKeesport near Pittsburgh. The first steel since the strike is being handled in a Bessemer converter and fire and smoke are flying. The plant had been idle since the strike began October 1. (AP Wirephoto).

Nationalization To Be Vote Issue

Churchill Says British Election 'Almost A Referendum'

London, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Winston Churchill says the big issue in Britain's next national elections will be steel nationalization.

The conservative leader, already campaigning for return to the prime minister's post he held during the war, said last night the election will be "almost a referendum" on whether the public wants the government to take over the nation's giant steel industry.

Churchill supported a labor government move in the House of Commons to delay putting steel under state ownership until after the elections. The latest elections are held in July, 1950, when the five year term of the present labor government expires. Indications were that the election might be called as early as next February.

He promised, however, that if his party should be returned to power one of the first steps would be to wipe out the nationalization bill which will be enacted by the labor-dominated parliament in the next few weeks.

The government had moved the delay of the actual take-over, which it once held should be on May 1, 1950, as a compromise with the House of Lords to ensure early passage of the bill.

The labor government of prime minister Clement Attlee is pushing passage of the bill so that it can pass voters it has fulfilled its major nationalization promise, made before the 1945 general election which put it into power.

Farm Federation Has Rift With Administration

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Relations between the Democratic administration and the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation—once warm and cooperative—have turned frigid. The political consequences may be considerable.

Differences over government farm policies have become so sharp that the federation has decided not to invite Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to speak at its annual convention in Chicago next month.

It long has been the custom of the federation and other national farm organizations to ask the Secretary of Agriculture to address their meetings, as a sort of titular head of American agriculture. Four other major organizations are continuing the custom.

Horn Of Plenty Overflowing At Time Of Harvest

Bumper Food Supplies This Thanksgiving Time; Most Prices Below 1948

By ASSOCIATED PRESS The harvest horn of plenty is overflowing with bumper supplies of good foods this Thanksgiving time. And with a few exceptions, prices are substantially lower than a year ago.

Shoppers planning for the big feast day next week will find turkeys, cranberries, celery and chestnuts for stuffing all plentiful and cheaper. Vegetables are abundant everywhere. And markets are now groaning with other foods to round out the menu following bigger than average crops of apples, grapes, pears, raisins, almonds, walnuts, filberts and pecans.

This year there are even fresh strawberries and raspberries from California, available later in the season than usual in many stores across the nation. Honeydew and casaba melons, too.

The turkey crop is 29 per cent bigger this year than last, when retail prices reached an all time high. Those high prices, combined with much lower costs for feed earlier this year, led farmers to boost their gobbling production considerably for the current season. The total is expected to reach 41,000,000 birds—second biggest turkey crop on record.

A survey of several major cities shows retail prices for turkeys in the family sized weights—around 15 pounds—selling this week at an average range of 59 to 63 cents a pound. That's about 15 cents per pound cheaper than last year. Bigger turkeys average around 54 cents. Cranberries, about one-fifth more plentiful than in an average year, were retailing at 19 to 23 cents a pound this week, or about six cents below last year.

Meat dealers were clearing their coolers this week for the big pre-holiday flood of turkeys. And with trading in red meats slowing down prices were beginning to ease somewhat. However, retail price changes were narrow and irregular in most places compared with last week. Top grade eggs were up two cents a dozen in many places.

Poultry other than turkeys held about unchanged. Coffee prices at the wholesale level took another spurt early in the week. The advances ranged from three to seven cents a pound—and one nationally advertised brand was hiked 13 cents in one move. Retail changes lagged well behind these wholesale increases.

Near-Rioting By NNU Factions

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A strengthened police guard was posted today at CIO National Maritime Union headquarters after an outbreak of near-rioting between left and right-wing factions yesterday.

Sixty-five policemen patrolled the scene to prevent possible new disorders or violence. Two union officials were injured and two persons were arrested yesterday during a 10-hour siege of the union headquarters building by hundreds of milling, shouting seamen.

Coplon Defense Switch In Opposing New Trial

New York, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Judith Coplon's fight against a second espionage trial switched today to defense arguments that the government is seeking to try her twice for the same alleged crimes.

Defense counsel claims another trial would place the woman in double jeopardy, in violation of her constitutional rights.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan completed a three-day hearing yesterday on the legality of her arrest and the seizure of documents from her pocketbook by FBI agents without a warrant.

In addition to the double jeopardy plea, the judge also will hear a defense motion to dismiss the case on the ground there was insufficient evidence to justify her indictment.

Miss Coplon, 28-year-old former Justice Department employee, seeks to avoid trial with Valentin Gubitchev, Soviet engineer, on spy conspiracy charges.

She already is under sentence of 40 months to ten years in prison on a Washington conviction of stealing secret government papers for the Russians.

The prosecution contends the document thefts in Washington—where she was tried alone—were different crimes from the alleged conspiracy here with Gubitchev.

Miss Coplon and Gubitchev, who she says she loved until she discovered he was married, have ignored each other in court since the pre-trial hearings opened Monday.

Two Peace Moves In Coal Studied

Mayors Present Greenville And Farmville Cases

Stafford And Jones Before State Municipal Road Commission Meet

Williamston, Nov. 17.—Mayor W. S. Stafford of Greenville and Mayor Walter Jones of Farmville presented the cases for their respective cities at the regional meeting for this area held by the state municipal road commission in the Martin County courthouse here yesterday afternoon.

The commission, appointed by the governor under authority of a legislative act, is seeking a more equitable method of distribution for gasoline road tax money among state highways, county roads and municipal streets. It is composed of James A. Doggett of Greensboro, chairman; State Senator Julian Allbrook of Roanoke Rapids, secretary; Dr. J. W. Rose of Pikeville; James A. Speight of Lewiston; Leonard B. Wilson of Newton Grove; Mayor Victor Shaw of Charlotte, and Mayor Ralph Kibler of Morganton. The two last named were unable to make the eastern tour.

The commission last month made a three-day trip through western North Carolina. It will wind up the eastern itinerary in Fayetteville today, after holding regional meetings at Raleigh and Rocky Mount Tuesday. Williamston and Kinston Wednesday. Besides actual inspection of street conditions in several cities and towns, the group has had reports from approximately one hundred municipalities in eastern North Carolina.

Traveling with the commission as advisers were James S. Burch and Earl Tindall, planning engineers for the highway commission; George Franklin and Leigh Wilson of the League of Municipalities; and Alex McMahon, assistant director of the institute of government at Chapel Hill.

The Pitt County municipalities were among fourteen to have representatives at the Williamston meeting. They injected a new angle into

Will Not Oppose Divorce Action

Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Actor John Agar apparently will not oppose the divorce action of his wife Shirley Temple.

Superior Judge Clarence L. Kincaid yesterday set Dec. 5 for trial of the actress' divorce suit on charges of cruelty. He ordered the case set as a default hearing after he was informed that Agar had not filed an answer within the legal 10-day limit.

Attorneys for the young couple married Sept. 19, 1945, have reached a virtual agreement on a settlement. It was understood that Agar, now in New York, will agree to support their 21-month-old daughter Linda Susan.

Consumption Of Cotton Higher

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The census bureau reported today that cotton consumed during October totaled 72,965 bales of lint and 143,086 bales of linters.

This compared with 709,858 bales of lint and 140,770 bales of linters consumed during September of this year, and 696,505 bales of lint and 339,492 bales of linters consumed during October of last year.

Coal Strike Tactics

President May Act Today To Prevent December 1 Coal Walkout; How He Can Delay It Through Worst Months Of Winter; The Courses Open In Slowing Walkout

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—President Truman may move today to prevent a coal strike Dec. 1. He has no legal power to forbid a strike altogether. At best, he can only delay it.

But, using what power he has, he might be able to delay the strike 80 days or even 140 days. That would carry the country through the four worst winter months with a supply of coal.

On Nov. 9, when John L. Lewis called his miners back to the pits after a 52-day lay-off, he said it would be until Dec. 1. After that date he may pull them out again unless:

1. He's reached a settlement with the mine owners. None is in sight. The two sides have been haggling on and off since last May and seem no nearer an agreement now than then.

2. The President acts to prevent a Dec. 1 strike. There seem to be only two ways in which he can do that: (a) by setting up a fact-finding board or (b) by using the Taft-Hartley Act, which Mr. Truman dislikes.

In trying to set up the fact-finding board, Mr. Truman probably would do this: Ask Lewis and the mine owners (a) to let a fact-finding board, ap-

White House Indicates President May Wait Day Or So Before Trying To Head Off New Coal Strike; Said Considering Possible Courses

Washington, Nov. 17.—(AP)—The White House indicated today that President Truman might wait a day or so longer before trying to head off a new coal strike.

Up until this morning, all signs had pointed to a presidential move today to keep the strike from starting again in two weeks.

Then, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that he did not expect any development during the day. He said he had "no forecast" on what might happen in the next few days.

There was still a possibility that Mr. Truman would give some hint of his intentions at a late afternoon news conference (4 p.m. EST). The President reportedly is considering two possible peace plans:

(1) To ask Union Leader John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators to submit their dispute to a special fact-finding board empowered to make recommendations. If accepted, this plan would have the effect of delaying a strike while the board studies the dispute.

(2) To invoke the Taft-Hartley law. This provides for a fact-finding board study and for a court injunction against a strike.

Officials have indicated that Mr. Truman may propose the special fact-finding board first. If that is rejected, he then would invoke Taft-Hartley emergency provisions.

The six-month-old coal dispute was put in the President's hands yesterday, Cyrus S. Chubb, National Mediation Service chief, took to the White House to try to get Lewis and the operators to agree on a compromise.

Lewis has asked for more wages and shorter hours for miners. He also wants a boost in the present 20-cents-a-ton royalty on coal production which goes to finance the union's welfare fund. The fund pays for miners' pensions and insurance benefits.

Coal operators have refused to boost their labor costs. They have offered to renew their old master contract. It expired last July. The operators are demanding contract pledges against future strikes and also safeguards on fare fund spending.

Lewis called off a 52-day walkout last week. But his trade expires Dec. 1 and he has already hinted the walkout will be renewed then if his demands aren't granted.

In turning the stalemate over to Mr. Truman, Ching reported that the disputants seemed even further apart from a settlement than

Training School P. T. A.
When the Training School P. T. A. met on Wednesday, November 9, at the school, the Rev. Leonard W. Topping gave a most inspirational devotional program. For his script, Mr. Topping used the 13th chapter of I Corinthians.

Displayed in the auditorium were pictures taken from the class room by Mr. Walker, the art teacher. These pictures of art showed much talent in our school.

During the business session it was decided that the P. T. A. will establish a clothing chest at an early date to be used solely for the underprivileged children. The members of our association also signed a petition to be presented to Mr. J. H. Rose in regards to hiring a maid in the Training School.

Mr. L. V. Godwin, Pitt county high school supervisor, had planned to show a film on Today's Education, our program topic, but was unable to do so because of a lack of enough power, so after a few remarks from him regarding this, the meeting was adjourned. There were approximately 65 members in attendance.

Winter Weather Prevails; Frost Here Last Night

By CHESTER WALSH

The weather last night and today was more like winter, with a clear sky and a steady northwest wind prevailing during the forenoon.

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 70 degrees. Lowest last night was 36. The mercury stood at 41 at 8 a. m. today.

The most severe cold weather prevailed here last winter on December 26, when the mercury dropped to 13 degrees.

The last heavy snow in this area fell on February 10, 1947, when more than 10 inches covered the ground.

Chief Gardner Warns Against Danger Of Fire

Fire Chief George Gardner again today warned householders and others to check their stoves and flues for defects before severe cold weather prevails. At this time of the year there usually are frequent fire alarms as a result of defective pipes and flues.

The fire chief and building inspector also warned about paper and other inflammable trash scattered in alleys in the rear of business places. This always is a fire hazard and more so during cold weather, the chief said.

The fire department warned persons who plan to burn brush or grass on the city limits to communicate with the department before starting fires. The firemen will send a light fire-fighting truck to the scene to avoid spreading of grass fires beyond control.

Zither Player In Special Concert

London, Nov. 17—(AP)—Princess Margaret just couldn't wait to hear a zither player who sprang to fame through a British movie.

The musician—Anton Karas, 40, from Vienna—was due to open at 9:30 last night at the Empress night club. The princess sent word she'd like to be on hand a little early.

She and Sharman Douglas, daughter of United States Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas, showed up at six o'clock in a party of 25. The princess asked Karas to play his "Harry Lime Theme" from the picture, "The Third Man." He did—six times.

District VFW Meet Farmville

William S. Humphries, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has accepted an invitation to attend the VFW Second District meeting to be held in Farmville next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the VFW Post building.

This will be the first visit the state commander has made to this part of the state. A large attendance is expected. District Commander Larry Averette will preside. Reports of the 1950 membership campaign will be one of the main items of business to be discussed at the meeting.

The program also includes: Reports on "Buddy" poppy sales, Paralegic Foundation and veterans' benefits.

A joint meeting of the VFW and Women's Auxiliary will be held at 3 p. m. Mrs. Carrie West, president of the Second District VFW Auxiliary, will preside at the auxiliary meeting.

Other special guests expected at the meeting are Mrs. Bessie Hyman, state president of the VFW Auxiliary; Earl Knauft, state junior vice-commander; Fourth District VFW, and J. C. Totka, representative of the First District VFW.

Following the meeting the Farmville VFW Post will be host at a buffet supper.

FBI Joins Hunt For Man Wanted In Child Slaying

Los Angeles, Nov. 17—(AP)—With the issuance of a federal fugitive warrant, the Federal Bureau of Investigation today joined the international search for Fred Stroble, wanted for questioning in the sadistic slaying of little Linda Joyce Glucott.

Meantime, police in this country and Mexico questioned scores of men who answered the description of the 66-year-old retired baker, a fugitive from justice on a charge of molesting a 10-year-old girl in nearby Highland Park. The district attorney's office has filed a murder complaint against him.

The slayer was still at large today, more than two days after the six-year-old girl's strangled, stabbed and ax-bludgeoned body was found wrapped in an Indian blanket under a pile of rubbish of a neighbor's home.

Mordetcal (Three-fingered) Brown, hurling for the Chicago Cubs in 1908, became the first major league pitcher ever to hurl four shutouts in a row.

Record Snowfall Blankets Buffalo

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
Daytime temperatures of above freezing today were expected to melt much of the record November snowfall which blanketed Buffalo, N.Y. The snow which fell over parts of the Great Lakes region also was expected to melt rapidly during the day.

Snow flurries were reported in parts of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota today and also in Buffalo and Rochester, N.Y., but no further increase in snow depths was reported. The 1911 fall at Buffalo in 28 hours broke the previous November record fall of 14.8 inches in 1920. The fall at Pellston, Mich.,

measured nine inches and was eight inches at Marquette, Mich. Temperatures were above normal in the northern plains states and near normal in the Great Lakes region and the New England states. The Far West and Southern states reported fair weather with readings generally a little above normal. Asheville, N. C., however, had a low of 29 degrees, while Raleigh, N.C., registered a freezing temperature of 32, and Greensboro, N.C., was only one degree above freezing, 33.

The Ole Miss-Memphis State grid games dates back 28 years, to 1921. Ole Miss has won all seven games played.

The 212 earned run average for 1949 of veteran hurler Al Benton was tops for Cleveland Indian pitchers.

HOW TO ROAST A FINE TURKEY

Rub 1/4 teaspoon of salt per pound of turkey into the clean, well-drained cavity. Loosely fill with your favorite dressing, adding 1 teaspoon of B-V for each quart of bread cubes. Omit salt. Close openings. Fasten drumstick ends to tail and wings flat to sides of bird. Brush outside thoroughly with fat. Place, breast down, on roasting rack. Cover with a fat-moistened cloth (a double layer of cheese cloth is good). Keep the cloth moist with fat during roasting. Roast at 300° F. to 325° F. according to size of bird. The larger the bird the lower the temperature. When 1/4 done, cut leg and wing strings. When done, the fleshy part of thighs will pinch soft. Letting the turkey stand 15-30 minutes makes carving easier.

*Use melted Wilson's Laurel Lard, Bakerite, Certified Margarine or Clearbrook Butter or a combination

The New Way to Carve a Turkey!

1. Slip bird on side. Remove wingtip with first joint. Slice drumstick meat until bone shows. Lift out leg bones. Continue slicing thigh meat until dark meat is all sliced.

3. Each time these breast slices will come off longer. Grand, meaty, white WILSON'S CERTIFIED TURKEY MEAT! Here's where the broad-breasted WILSON TURKEY pays off.

4. Enough white and dark meat slices to serve 10 to 12 persons come from this one side. Then the savory B-V bread stuffing becomes exposed and is spooned out at home. Good dressing and fine, juicy white meat lie side by side. Ummm!

1949 CARVING IS BETTER for it leaves the second side of turkey whole. Turn it up ready for luscious second helpings—not mere tidbits. Carve this way once, for fun and you'll do it regularly, for bigger, better, professional slices.

THE INDISPENSABLE WORD
 A little girl was told that she might send a cablegram to her father who was in Europe. She composed her cablegram with care and ended with the word "love." But that made the eleventh word and would therefore be expensive. "Drop the word," said her mother, "because if you don't they will charge you extra." "Why," replied the youngster, "they certainly wouldn't charge extra for that word; love is such a lovely word."
 It is a lovely word. It is not only a lovely word to young people who have found their heart's desire in each other; it is a lovely word to old people also who have clung to each other through the years; it is the word most often on the lips of fond mothers; without it there could be no fidelity and ardor between friends.
 And we can be sure when people cease to see the loveliness of that word and push in ahead of it such words as "liberty," "rights," "expediency," "necessity," "wealthy," "pleasure," and "power," the whole of human society is reeling along like a drunken man headed for the precipice.
 The little girl was right—"love" is such a lovely word. If she had known the meaning of the word "indispensable," she might have added that love is the one indispensable word in the language.

SHARING THE HARVEST

The farm families of Pitt county have gathered their harvest for another bountiful year, and during the past few weeks have taken from their corn bins more than 1,600 bushels of grain which is now on its way to needy orphans across the sea.
 Yesterday a carload of corn from benevolent farm families of the county began its journey to Europe where it will be used to fill the hungry stomachs of the kids whose parents were killed by our own forces and the forces of our foes during World War II.
 At simple dedication ceremonies yesterday the Rev. Dr. H. G. Haney declared the undertaking as "the greatest project of mercy ever begun by the people of the world."
 For the war orphans of Europe who will have their sparse food rations boosted by the corn from the Christian Rural Overseas program, it will be food for their minds as well as food for their bodies.
 The mountains of grain which the CROP sends to Europe this winter will not be received by the war orphans as a gift from a foreign government, but as a gift from friendly neighbors about whom they have heard so much and know so little.

CONSOLIDATION Just how far can consolidation of educational facilities be carried before the point of diminishing returns is reached? That has been a question in North Carolina for more than 25 years, and is current, claiming attention of many other states. For instance, Arkansas recently amended the state constitution to abolish all school districts with less than 3.3 pupils. However, in Arkansas the school district has more authority than in this state, and corresponds more nearly to our county or city government units. The public school competition program got underway in North Carolina in the late twenties and is still going in the late twenties came suggestion for consolidation of the three highest educational institutions into a greater University which was effected in 1931.

EXTENSION—At that time suggestion was made that the high Negro colleges—North Carolina College at Durham and A & T at Greensboro be included in the university system. The idea has been revived from time to time ever since, and currently is getting some publicity. Also there has been suggestion that the six teacher training colleges—three white and three colored units—be consolidated under one board of trustees. Meantime, the several hospitals for mental patients have been placed under unified board control, as have the correctional institutions. Presently the six teacher training colleges and the Negro and Indian Universities are the only state institutions serving the same general aims which operate under individual boards of control. There is growing sentiment for unification of these institutions so that there will be three groups controlling all the educational institutions of the state. That idea contemplates the state board of education to control the public schools through the twelfth grade; another board to exercise control over teacher training and vocational schools; and a third for the university system. The point is that in each grouping racial lines would be disregarded as they are now in the public school system control.
IDEOLOGY—Most of this is still in the embryonic idea stage. The plan involves a lot of considerations, not the least of which is racial prejudice. Although for years nearly one third of the public school children have been Negroes there had not been a Negro on the board of education until last April when Governor appointed Dr. Harold L. Trigg, president of St. Augustine's College at Raleigh, to the board. And although Governor Scott went far, in that direction than any governor of North Carolina before him had gone, the appointment was criticized by some Negroes because Dr. Trigg was not considered "liberal" enough to suit them.
EQUAL—North Carolina admittedly has made more progress than any other state in providing equal, though separate, facilities for white and colored students all the way from the first grade through post-graduate university classes. Negro public teachers get the same salary scale as white teachers and it is a fact that for several years the aver-

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

New York. — Normally, the Southerner goes to New York City and gazes at the sights. But the delegations of football fans on hand for the Carolina-Notre Dame game turned the tables on the Yankees. We had them gapping at us.
 The first indication of the Rebel invasion was the decorated automobiles. By the time Wife Rachel and I hit Maryland we could stand it no longer. It seemed that we were the only Tar Heels without a painted-up car, so we stopped and labeled ourselves. In small print we put "We'll do our best to..." and then in large letters, "BEAT NOTRE DAME." Every door and fender was covered with optimistic phrases like "69,000 people will be surprised we hope." "We're taking on all four platoons." "Choo Choo is our boy." and "Justice to Weiner will click—we hope!" To set off the job we had blue and white streamers from every window.
 The rest of the way to the city were greeted by passing motorists. Some wished us the best of luck and others gave us the thumbs-down signal. On Eighth Avenue cab drivers slowed down enough to give us the genuine razzing.
 In the center of Manhattan our car produced a magic effect. New Yorkers, who are usually too busy rushing down the street to notice anything, stopped and read our pep talk.

 There is no doubt that New York knew we were here. In fact, the police got wind of a rumor that the "Rebels" were going to raise the Confederate flag on Grant's Tomb, so police were stationed to guard the memorial. On Times Square Friday night at 8 the Carolina pep rally finally had to be broken up by policemen mounted on horses. Pedestrian traffic was almost completely blocked in front of the Hotel Astor. The Carolina alma mater, followed by enthusiastic cheers, could be heard over the honking taxis.
 The Hotel New Yorker was well aware of our presence, too. Friday afternoon before the game Saturday the lobby was a mass of baggage and people standing in line for rooms. It took me a measly two hours in line to get a room. All around me were people who had confirmed reservations since July who were being turned down. Our reservations were made in February.
 At the half of the game, when the score was tied 6-6, we almost hoped it would end there. We knew that you, in Greenville, were just as proud as we were of the inspired game the Tar Heels were playing. But "all four platoons" paid off in the end for the Irish.
 It's natural to assume that a few thousand extra people in New York for a football game wouldn't show up. For ordinary people that may be true. But not for Tar Heels. We let 'em know we were here.
 And I thank you.

New York (AP)—What makes the tired business man tired?
 "His office," said Leonard Hutton interior decorator.
 "A man's office should be like his den at home—comfortable and relaxing."
 "But what is the average office like? It has an oversize desk—that's to show he's an important man—a swivel chair, two stiff chairs for visitors, and a leather-covered sofa. On the wall is a map of the United States—with flags stuck in it to impress his customers with how many salesmen he has across the country."
 Hutton clucked disapprovingly.
 "It's too sober—too dull. It gives him no lift. Badly designed rooms make people tired and nervous—but they don't realize why. A man can work more efficiently and make a better impression on his associates, if his office doesn't look like an office."
 Hutton is full of concrete suggestions to put a littleumph in the American business office. He feels it should have some artistic, a hidden bar for entertaining prospects, no glaring lights, and colorful draperies that can be drawn automatically—by pushing a button.
 "And no wall maps—good pictures

 "You should have comfortable chairs arranged in a friendly seating group. Conference tables are no good. Who ever felt at ease at a conference table."
 "If the business man must have files in his office, Hutton said, they should be recessed into the walls."
 "Files only remind the visitor he ought to be back in his own office working. How can you sell him an idea if he isn't at ease?"
 Hutton thinks the tired business man doesn't fare much better when he goes home to rest from his dingy office.
 "He comes into a living room decorated exactly in a what-do-they-use-these-days manner. Then the poor man has to sit in some uncomfortable reproduction of some ugly, style that never was a style but just a period."
 "There is no place for him to lie down, because his wife won't let him rest on her good living room sofa or on the bed the bedspread might get wrinkled."
 "So the man's unhappy at his office, unhappy at home—and that's why so much business is done in restaurants and cocktail bars."
 Hutton, who recently decorated the Austrian Embassy in Washington, is of German birth. He has a shop on "Mink Lane"—fancy east 57th street. He believes Americans concentrate too much on decorating their homes to please or impress their friends rather than to satisfy their own taste.
 "They do so much to make automobiles comfortable here—and so little to make homes comfortable," he said.
 "It is amazing in a country of electric toasters, bottle warmers and refrigerators that the home has been neglected to such an extent people believe they have to buy furniture just because it is old."
 Clients make odd requests of decorators. Hutton hasn't lined any walls with fur, but he has done a number of solid leather.
 "Once I decorated a home for a wealthy man in Monte Carlo," he recalled. "He lived on a cliff. As a job, I suggested he ought to pump salt water from the Mediterranean in his swimming pool."
 "You should have comfortable chairs arranged in a friendly seating group. Conference tables are no good. Who ever felt at ease at a conference table."

Bright Flash In Southern Skies

Greenville, S.C., Nov. 17—(AP)—Southern skies flared with a startling flash shortly before last midnight. The Greenville and Columbia Weather Bureaus said it was caused by a meteorite.

The flash was reported from Kentucky to Florida. It lasted only a moment.

The light was variously reported from faint to brilliant. Some observers said it appeared white to them, others said it was blue, green or yellow.

Some said the light appeared high in the sky, others that it traveled close to the ground. Some spectators placed the phenomenon in a certain direction, others said it covered the whole sky. A few people thought it had a tail.

A nervous housewife told the Greenville (S.C.) News she thought the flash was the beginning of an

She is held as a material witness. Miss Crafton denied that "improper advances" were made by Heer. Police had theorized that McKeown was shot because he reprimanded Heer for his conduct toward Miss Crafton. (AP Wirephoto).

'Goodbye' Note

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 17—(AP)—The note said only "Goodbye."

It had been written by 10-year-old Betty Harlen. Her body was in a chair nearby.

Police said the sixth-grade pupil shot herself in the chest with her father's .30 caliber carbine rifle yesterday.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Harlen, found Betty's body. The gun lay in her lap and the note was on a table nearby. Betty had been alone only 20 minutes.

Harlen said his daughter, an only child, had been suffering severe headaches. But he said she appeared in good spirits when he left to pick up his wife at a physician's office in this northern New York city.

Barkley Departs For His Wedding

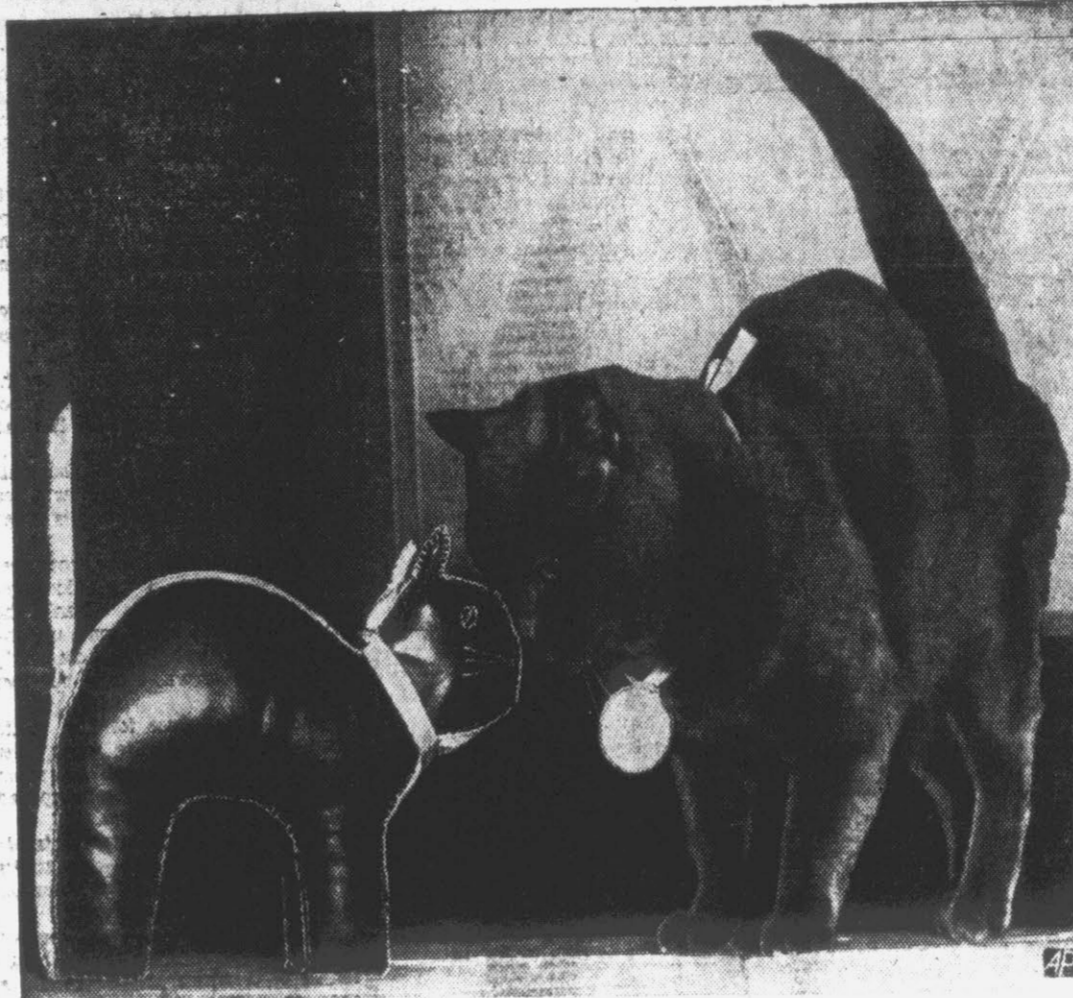

Washington, Nov. 17—(AP)—Vice President Barkley left by plane today for St. Louis, where he will be married tomorrow to Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley.

The Vice President was grinning broadly as he boarded an Eastern Airlines plane which is due in St. Louis at 3:14 p.m. (EST).

Responding to well wishers, he said he had a good feeling that a lot of people around the country wished him well.

Children Unhurt In Bus Accident

Lumberton, Nov. 17—(AP)—Two score children escaped injury today when a school bus and a farm trailer collided at Lumberton's southern limits.

Julius Bullard, driver of an automobile drawing a two-wheel trailer, was northbound as he met a loaded school bus bound for Fairmont. Officers said the coupling slipped loose and that the trailer struck the side of the bus. Damage to the bus was estimated at $125. After repairs, the bus continued in operation.

U. S. Help In Irrigation Gives Greece New Source Rice Supply

By PAUL HUBMUS (AP Newsfeatures)

Anthele, Greece — Written off as worthless for more than 2,800 years, an arid tract of land has been transformed into a rice garden of Eden within a year by American agricultural experts. Modern scientific know-how, based on extensive irrigation methods, and willingness of the Greek farmer, have opened immense possibilities into the country's farming future.

The "miracle"—and the inhabitants of Anthele and neighboring villages regard it as just that—has taken place on hard ground which had never been scratched by a plow.

The Economic Cooperation Administration and its corps of trained food and agricultural experts set to work one chilly day last January. A small group of specialists, headed by 65-year-old Walter Packard, irrigation and drainage engineer, came to this tiny village east of Lamia.

The Americans walked over the hard ground, scratching here and there, bottling samples of earth, and to the wide-eyed surprise of the Antheleans, even tasting it.

Then Packard made a speech. He explained that of Greece's 32,500,000 acres only about 8,950,000 were arable. And he said despite this, nearly two-thirds of the country's population live on farms. Greece's 950,000 farms average a yearly income of only about $263, he said.

They 100 acres, with ECA putting up the money and technical knowledge. The project got underway immediately. Irrigation ditches were shovelled out for a mile from the river, carrying water to the 100-acre rice field at the rate of 2,000 gallons a minute.

There are 84 rectangular fields, 120 feet long by 80 feet wide, and averaging about two acres each. Now, five months later, 1000 acres are being prepared for planting next spring. Last July, officials estimated the trial crop would bring about $160 to $200 an acre. The actual harvest places value of the 100-acre crop at between $500 and $600 an acre!

Conservative estimates now place Greece's rice production within three short years to be self-sufficient for needs of the country, about 26,250 tons yearly.

Coffee Nearing Dollar-A-Pound

Greensboro, Nov. 17—(AP)—Coffee prices continued to shoot up here, with a seven cent a pound retail increase reported for one brand and others going up or about to go up.

The dollar-a-pound mark, which some fear coffee may hit, is not far away in some coffee outlets, a check revealed yesterday. For a pound tin, prices were ranging as high as 95 cents, although some tins were in the 80's and bags in the 70's.

Replacing stocks is becoming a problem, as coffee is now wholesaling from 75 to 78 cents.

Local restaurant managers, however, are going to try to hold the line at five cents a cup, said seven of them questioned today. One said he's not going higher than five cents even if coffee goes to a dollar a pound.

Chef's called coffee "a hospitality drink" and an "accommodation" and stated their resolution to sit on the present price as long as possible.

Carver Library News

Nothing can supply the place of books. They are cheering or soothing companions in solitude, illness and affliction.

The wealth of both continents would not compensate for the good they impart. Let every man if possible gather some good books under his roof and obtain access for himself and family.

We have been very much pleased with the number of visitors who have attended the library during this week. From Monday through Saturday the library is having open house. We are asking all of our friends to visit your free public library, and read a book. We have just received a collection of new books which we are displaying in the library this week. They will be ready for circulation Monday.

Our story hour was a huge success this afternoon. There wasn't standing room in the reading room this afternoon, as the children stood and sat spell-bound listening to the very interesting stories told by well trained persons. Mrs. N. W. Cherry, third grade teacher in the Fleming Street school, told the story of "The Land of the Midnight Sun." Miss F. A. Phillips, primary teacher in the Fleming Street school also told two stories, "The Old Man and the Turnip," and "Millions of Cats."

Miss C. McKnight, teacher in the Eppes High school, told the story of "Aladdin and the Lamp." After these stories were told very beautifully, the librarian asked the group to sing "America," and Mrs. Cherry asked them to sing, "Over the River and Through the Woods." Ice cream and cake were served.

Library hours: 2 p. m. to 8 p. m. daily except Sunday.

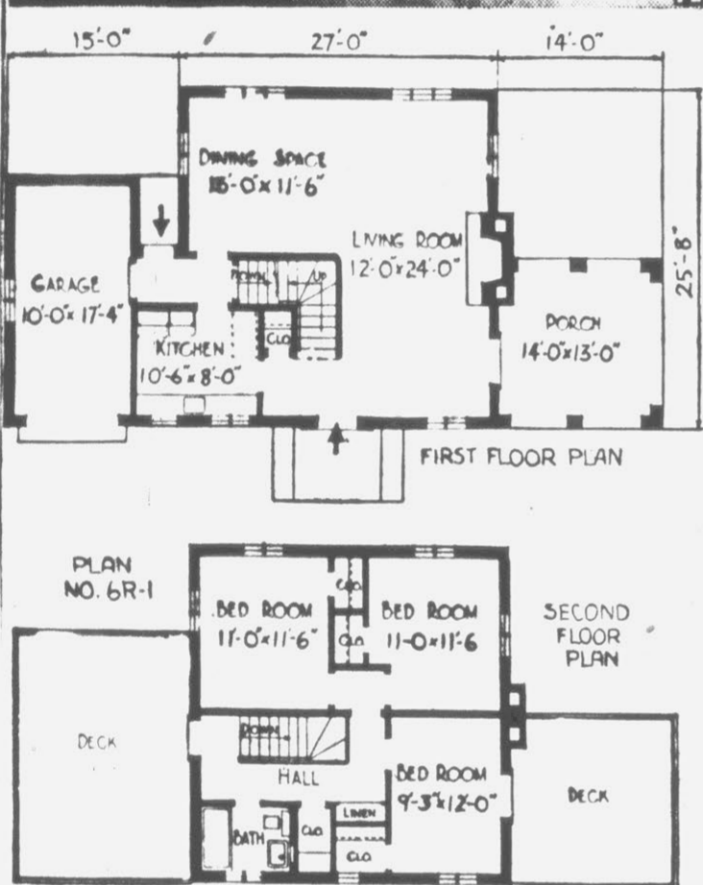

On Friday our Book Week program will end with a radio program 4:15 to 4:30 p. m. over WGTC. Mrs. B. M. Atkinson, librarian, and Miss B. S. Sowell, librarian of Eppes High school library will be the speakers.

DESIGNED FOR BRICK veneer on frame construction, this two-story conservative house is given a large appearance by its garage and porch. A combination living room and dining room occupies about three-fourths of the first floor in one grand sweep with four exposures. The living room fireplace is in full view of the dining room and the front entrance. This is plan 6R-1 by Elmer Gilleck, architect, 120 1-2 South Grove Ave., Elgin, Ill. The house contains 23,700 cubic feet with basement. The architect suggests a roof of asphalt or asbestos shingles, warm air or forced hot water heat. Bath above kitchen cuts costs.

'Grounded' Buses Back In Action

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 17—(AP)—The 18 Harnett County school buses grounded for repair yesterday were back carrying passengers today.

Highway Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar announced yesterday that the buses could not be driven until their mechanical defects were repaired.

He said some of the defects included jammed safety doors, faulty brakes, and poor lights.

Last night C. Reid Ross, Harnett school superintendent, said the necessary repairs had been made.

Boy Scouts Seen Hope For Japan.

By JERRY O'BRIEN
(AP Newsfeatures)
Spokane, Wash. — George Imal, national field secretary for the Boy Scouts of Japan, has enrolled at Whitworth College as a freshman in social work. This is the second time that Imal has been a college freshman but today he's a lot more optimistic about his own and his country's future than he was when he first tried college six years ago.

He was in his second month at a Tokyo university in 1943 when the Japanese draft swept him into a naval officers training school. Then as a 17-year old cadet Imal said he was certain that Japan could not win the war and that he would surely be killed in action. He says he was so sure that he volunteered to be a Kamakaze pilot "to get it over with."

But the Japanese turned down his request to fly a suicide plane and in May, 1945 he was commissioned an ensign in the Emperor's navy. Before he could be assigned to a ship the war was over.

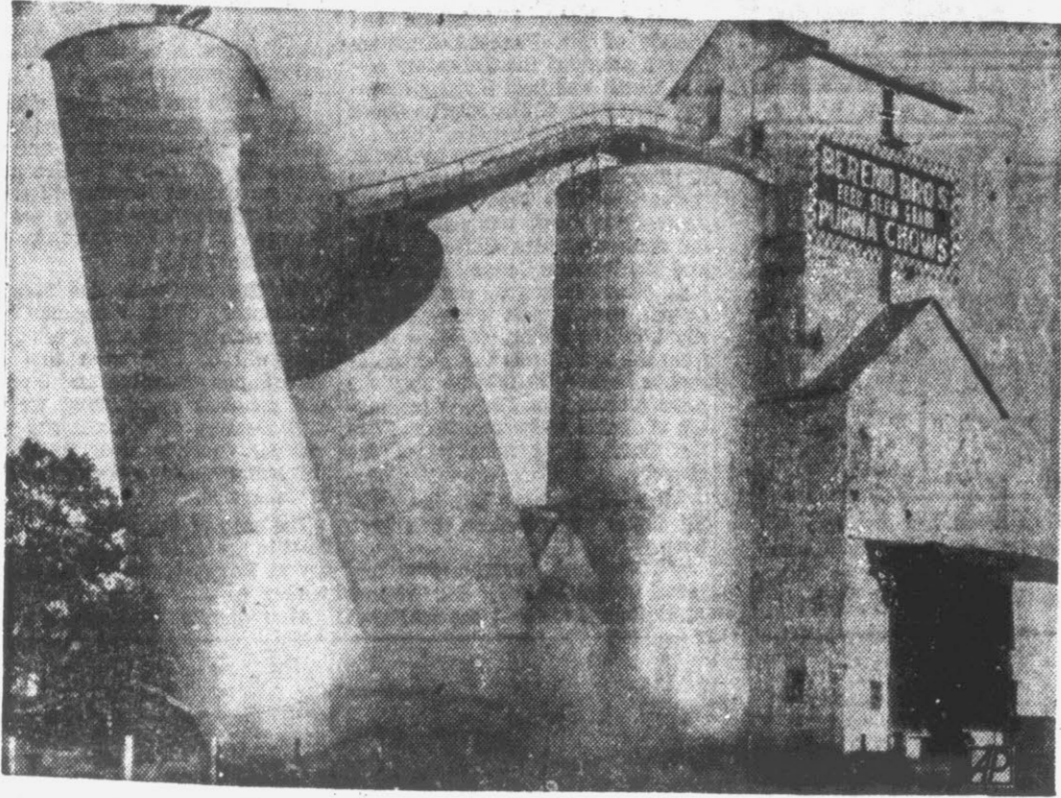

Imal took off his ensign's uniform and burned it in accordance with occupation orders. But in a few months he put on another uniform—that of the Boy Scouts of Japan and at 23 became the national field secretary.

Imal says the scouting program in Japan is poorly organized but could be a great help in rehabilitation of the country. "The younger generation in Japan didn't have a good education because of the war," he said, "and most of them at present don't care what happens. I want to help remedy this."

He hopes to take executive scout training in New Jersey and in London after graduating from Whitworth and then return to Japan to train future Boy Scout leaders.

Imal first became interested in scouting in Honolulu where he attended grade school and learned English. He recalls that as a member of Honolulu troop 36 he helped form an honor guard for Franklin D. Roosevelt when the late President visited the islands in 1935.

Falling Grain Elevator Wrecks Another In Texas

Flat Exchange

Washington—(AP)—Richard E. Volland, 19, bought a harmonica. Some of the notes sounded flat to him so he took it back. The store wouldn't do anything about it. Volland went to court.

Judge George D. Neilson requested him to play the harmonica. He did. Judge Neilson said it sounded pretty bad. "Let's have another try," he said. Volland obliged. The judge said it still sounded bad. He gave the store two weeks to make good, or else.

When he returned to Tokyo for high school he remained active in Boy Scout work.

Raccoon Poses Modern Problem

Washington—(AP)—The whims of civilization are often echoed in nature.

Raccoon is out of favor for fur coats. So trappers don't catch 'coons any more. So there are more 'coons — so many that they're beginning to damage truck farms and corn fields in some sections. They're even causing trouble for the trappers themselves by following trap lines and damaging pelts of other animals, muskrats mostly.

So the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is sending 'coon pelts to factories and laboratories in a search for other uses that will cut down on the little masked animals again.

Jehovah Issues Great Invitation ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Isaiah 55: 6-8.

Jehovah asks all people to come to Him, promising to make a covenant with them as He made with David whom He chose as leader of his people.

Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near; let the wicked forsake his ways and let him return to the Lord.

Jehovah promises to take strangers into His holy mountain, and to make them joyful in His house of prayer; He will also accept their sacrifices.

As He had gathered the outcasts of Israel, the Lord promised He would also gather those of other nations to Him. MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 56:7.

Mt. Pleasant News

Several hundred members and friends of Mt. Pleasant Christian church attended the dedicatory service which was held Sunday morning, November 6. Mr. Eugene Crook had charge of the service. The dedicatory address was given by Mr. R. L. Topping, former pastor. The theme was "The True Church" and appropriate music was rendered by the choir with Mrs. Clifton Bullock and Mr. Norman Coward as soloists. Mrs. Nina Vainright, clerk of the church, gave a most interesting account of the history of the church from the time it was founded by Josephus Latham in 1870 up until the present time. Mrs. Lucye Worthington of Ayden was recognized as one of the oldest living members of the church. After the services a bounteous picnic dinner was served on the church lawn. Mt. Pleasant community is very proud of the beautiful little church which is located about one quarter of a mile off the Belvoir highway. Renovations on the building were begun in August, 1947, and today stands completed with four new Sunday school rooms, a baptistry and several other improvements. This could not have been done in such a short time except for the co-operation of its members and the generosity of friends in Greenville and surrounding communities. All of the friends who helped are invited to visit the church at any time and worship with us. Mr. Eugene Crook has accepted the ministry of Mt. Pleasant Christian church for the coming year. Services will be held each first and third Sunday morning and evening. The members are looking forward with pleasure to a successful year with Mr. Crook as their leader. Mr. and Mrs. Crook and their son reside in Greenville. The men of the adult class were hosts to the ladies at a barbecue dinner at Respass' Monday night, November 7. After dinner business was discussed and it was decided that our next project would be the remodeling of the community building. Mr. Elmo Dupree and Mr. W. L. Mage were elected as a committee to investigate cost of material needed. Mr. and Mrs. Crook were guests. There were thirty-nine present. Mr. J. W. Brown of Greenville was speaker at prayer meeting Sunday night. He brought a most interesting message on the Twenty-third Psalm. English King Edward the III had iron pots, spits and frying pans classed among the royal jewels. Buenos Aires was founded as a city in 1580.

Jehovah Issues Great Invitation

ASKS ALL PEOPLES TO COME TO HIM

Scripture—Isaiah 55: 6-8.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

MODERN MAN has more food and better for his sustenance than did his ancestors. He has more machinery and gadgets to lighten his labors, more luxurious means of travel, shorter working hours, more and better literature and means of educating himself.

Yet, with all these material things he still is in a feverish state of mind—restless, unsatisfied.

The child in the world of today is likewise better off in a material way. Instead of walking miles to school as his grandfather and grandmother did, he is transported in private automobiles or buses.

He has more modern and interesting methods of receiving his education, more pleasant playgrounds, better teachers and his parents set up-to-date systems that will enable them to understand and help children to adjust themselves to life.

With all these advantages, is he any happier than he was when living conditions were primitive—according to today's standards? It is doubtful.

Today's lesson strives to show us that it is not material things that make for happiness, but a way of life that emphasizes right

The children in class will remember David, the shepherd boy, who was chosen to rule over his people. He too sinned, but he repented so sincerely that he was forgiven and lived to write many of the beautiful Psalms that we have been studying.

"Seek ye the Lord while He may be found," wrote Isaiah. "Call upon Him while He is near; Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon."

Then "ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands."

That is Isaiah's poetic way of describing the joy that will come to us after we have attained knowledge of what constitutes real happiness and have adopted it as our own.

All the peoples of the world can attain this blessed state of mind. They need not throw away their modern conveniences; in fact, they can enjoy them more fully if they realize that they are after all, just gadgets.

They do not make life happier,

MEMORY VERSE

"My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples."—Isaiah 56:7.

living, holiness—knowledge of God and His goodness, and earnest striving to lead the kind of life that would meet His approval.

Isaiah gives Jehovah's message to his people—the great invitation He makes to all the peoples of the earth to come to Him and learn to so live that whether one be rich or poor, well or ill, wise or ignorant, he can be really happy and enjoy the rich blessings of the earth.

Chapter 55 begins: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk, without money and without price."

"Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not?"

"Incline your ear and come unto Me; hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David."

except as we employ them for the good of mankind. Love, understanding, serving our fellow men as Jesus did and told us to do. These are the real things.

"Also the sons of the stranger, that join themselves to the Lord, to serve Him, and to love the name of the Lord... Even them will I bring to My holy mountain, and make them joyful in My house of prayer."

The invitation extends to the outcasts—not alone those of Israel, but of all lands everywhere.

In our day the so-called displaced persons continue to be a problem in many lands. Homeless, with most—if not all—their possessions taken from them, they wander over the earth, trying to find peaceful homes and to begin life over again. They need the comfort of Jehovah's invitation more than any others.

This may seem a difficult lesson to teach to children, but it can be made interesting.

1950 IT'S HERE Tomorrow! AND 50 WAYS NEW!

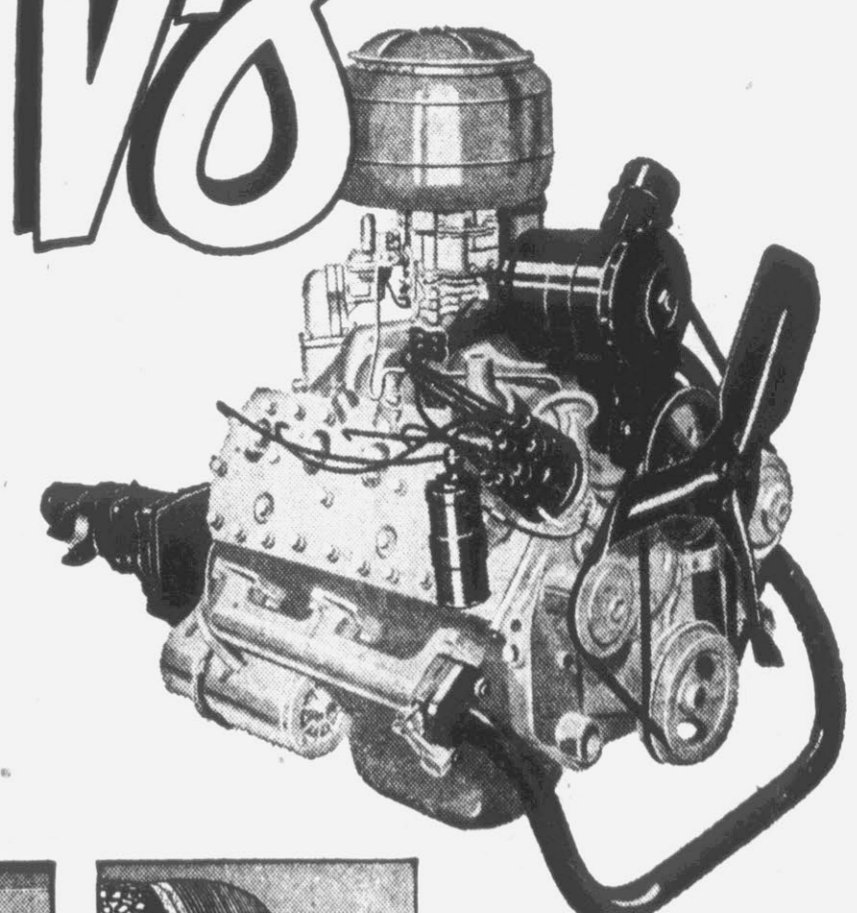

FORD WITH THE EXCLUSIVE NEW 100 H.P. FORD V8

There's a Ford in your future...with a future built in

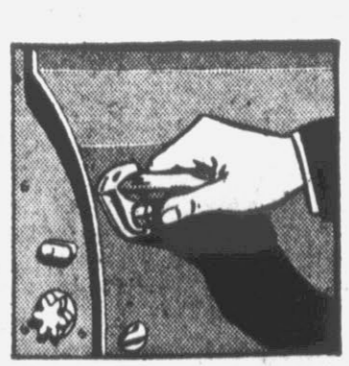

ITS QUIET WHISPERS QUALITY
It's the quiet of new super-fitted pistons, new "hushed" timing gear, new fan designed for better cooling at slower, quieter speeds. And what power! It's a full 100 horsepower wrapped up in V-8 design that makes you master of any road. It delivers more power than any other car anywhere near Ford's low price and sells for less than most conventional "sixes." And Ford offers a Six, too—an advanced Six with 95 horsepower.

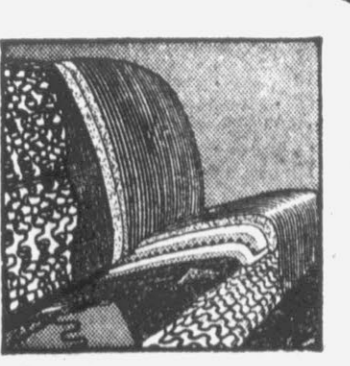

NEW SOUND CONDITIONING
New "sound conditioning" in floor, doors and body panels insulates Ford's "Lifeguard" Body against road noises. More extensive body insulation and sealing in 41 areas give additional interior quietness and protection. Eleven new body colors are baked on.

NEW "HUSHED" RIDE
Ford's famous "Mid Ship" Ride is now so quiet you can talk in whispers at highway speeds. So smooth (with its great team of "Hydra-Coil" and "Para-Flex" Springs) that it virtually erases every bump. So safe with its 35% easier-acting Safety-sealed King-Size Brakes.

NEW QUALITY FEATURES
New quality is easy to find in this 50-way-new Ford. You find it in the new push-button door handles, in the new rotary door latch that needs only a feather-touch to open and close securely. You find it in new sparkling upholstery colors in your choice of broadcloth or mohair.

NEW DRIVING COMFORT
Not only does the 1950 Ford offer you more hip and shoulder room than any other car in its field—it offers you the long-lived driving comfort of a new foam rubber front seat cushion over non-sag seat springs. It makes your long trip a short Sunday drive.

But see it for yourself. Drive it so you can feel and hear the difference. And price it and see how much less it costs than any other really fine car.

Africa Samples Berlin's Woe In Small 'Cold War'

By GODFREY ANDERSON
 Newsfeatures
 Tangiers—Tangiers is Africa's Berlin. You cannot enter it or leave it without a special visa to traverse the surrounding Spanish zone—unless you fly or come by sea.
 Most of its food, water and electric power comes via Spanish Morocco, just as Berlin's supplies must pass through the Soviet zone of Germany. Once it even suffered a minor blockade which was broken, as in Berlin, by a miniature air-lift.
 It is governed by a control council, authorized by the same Big Four (United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia). It has its own parasitic group of get-rich-quick black marketers engaged in the same type of shady transactions, and the same large numbers living near the borderline of poverty.
 The Moroccans themselves, like the Berliners, need special papers to travel to another part of their own country.
 When the present provisional international regime was set up in October 1945, the Big Four decided not to sit on the council of control themselves. They preferred that the other powers with interests in Tangiers—Belgium, Spain, the Netherlands, Portugal and Sweden—should run the city for six months. After that, they were going to think again. Now, nearly four years later, the same little group still carries on.

 Twenty thousand of the city's 25,000 European population there are also about 75,000 Arabs and 10,000 Jews) are Spanish citizens. There is no such thing as a Tangiers passport and each person born here takes his father's nationality.
 Although the only signs of a cold war have come from the Spanish side, some Tangiers officials accuse the French of trying to apply a brake on the city's future progress. These sources say the French are jealous of Tangiers' growth and fear that one day it might rival the seaport trade of Casablanca.

Seminoles Learn Their Lost Art

Miami, Fla.—Seminole Indians are being re-taught their lost art of pottery making. A paleface, Vernon Lamme, is their instructor.
 Florida's Seminoles came originally from the great Creek nation of Alabama and Georgia. In early colonial days, when English Georgia frequently fought Spanish Florida, the Creeks became divided. Some wanted to join the English against the Spanish, while others declared the Spaniards were their allies. Those Creeks who favored the Spanish broke away and came to Florida. The name "Seminole" means, in the Creek tongue, "the break-aways" or "runaways."

 Creek Indians made handsome pottery ware. But the Seminoles found no clay in South Florida suitable for firing. They used sea shells and gourds for utensils. Pottery making became a lost art to them.
 Lamme decided that the Indians could attain an additional source of income if they returned to pottery making. With Mrs. Lamme, he first interested Josie Jumper, a Seminole living on the nearby Dania reservation, who became his principal assistant.
 Men and women, young and old, took up the art. They are taught to mold, fire and glaze, but designing is left up to the Indians' natural talent. Clay is shipped in. Now the Indian handwork is being sold to tourists, and some is being sent to northern markets.

Four-Way Probe Of Arson Try At State College

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17—(AP)—Officials have begun a four-way investigation into what appeared to be a deliberate attempt to fire a building at N. C. State College. But they said no progress has been made toward placing responsibility.

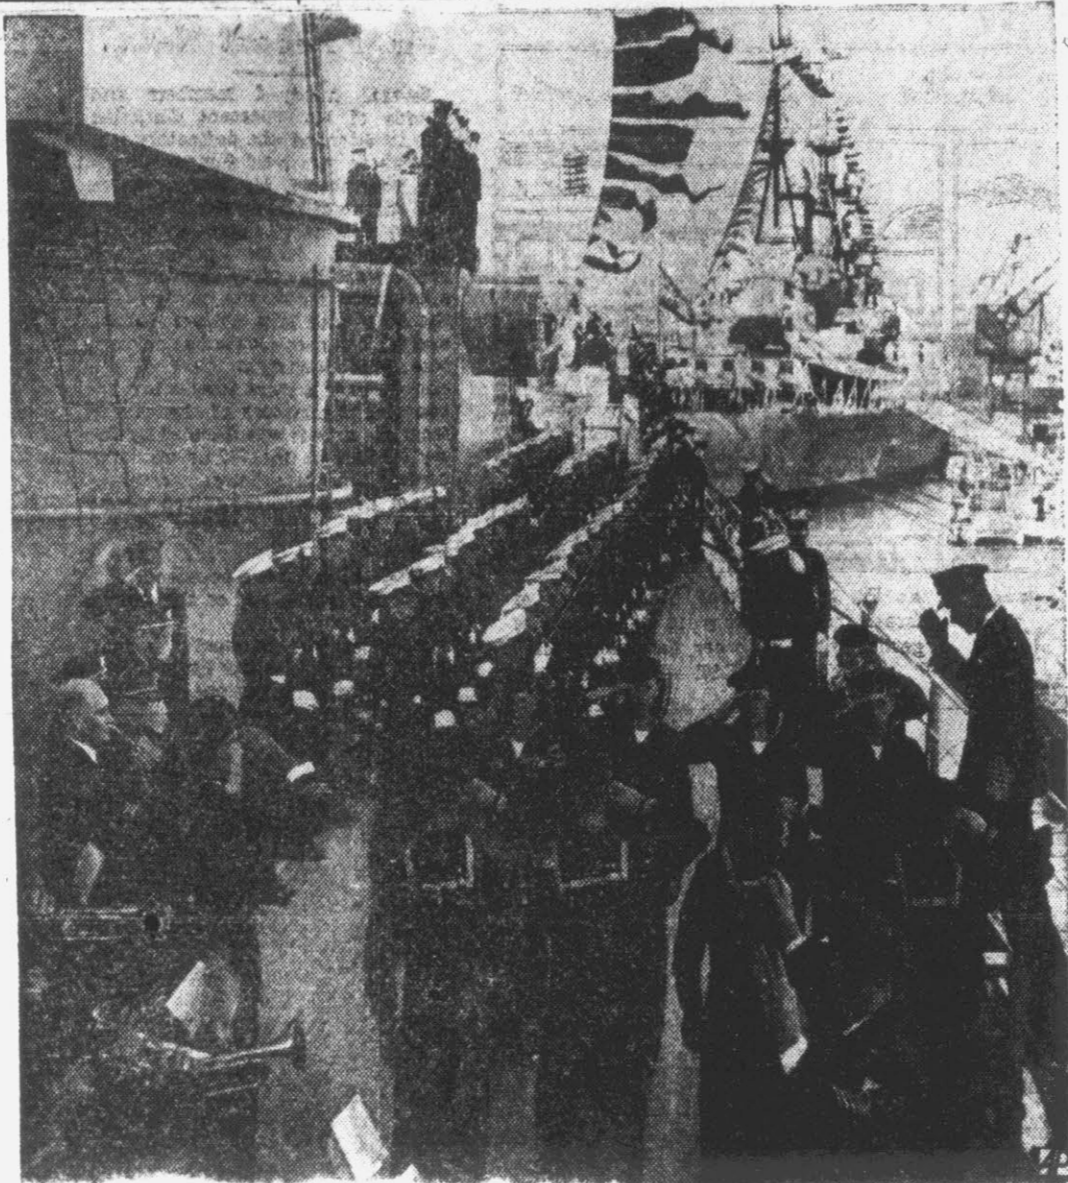

The State Insurance Department, the State Bureau of Investigation, Raleigh police and college officials are cooperating in the investigation. It began early Tuesday when a kerosene pot-flare was tossed through a window of Pullen Hall, one of the oldest buildings on the campus.
 The flame was put out before it caused damage.

Hold Workshops At Rocky Mount

Nell Stallings, faculty member of the department of health and physical education at East Carolina Teachers College, is conducting a series of three workshops held weekly by teachers in the elementary schools of Rocky Mount. The meetings will be concluded next Tuesday, November 22.

Millie Moore, supervisor in elementary schools in Rocky Mount, arranged the series of discussion meetings. Approximately fifty teachers are attending and participating in the workshops. Miss Stallings' program has included such topics as ball handling skills, progression in bodily movements, body mechanics and rhythms.
 After the Thanksgiving holidays Dr. Harold C. Jones of the department of science at East Carolina will meet with teachers in the Rocky Mount elementary schools for a series of discussions on science.

Plans Establish Chair Retailing

The University of North Carolina has extended an invitation to the secretaries of merchants associations throughout the state and the merchants committee from the North Carolina Merchants Association to attend a luncheon in connection with a "Chair of Retailing" at the Morehead Building, Chapel Hill, tomorrow.

Judson H. Blount of Greenville is a member of the merchants committee.

It is believed that there is a need of better trained personnel. In the changing economy due to the war and its aftermath, many experienced retail people have changed occupations into other lines of endeavor. Young people who would have normally chosen the merchandising or service fields have been attracted into other types of work by positive action of other phases of our economy.

This meeting is called to discuss the plan of endowing a school of retailing at the University of North Carolina. A four-course in retailing will be developed which will attract young people of the higher scholastic and character qualifications. Cora S. Powell, executive secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, said.

Louis Lipinsky of Asheville is chairman of the committee from the North Carolina Merchants Association.

Invite Railroads Tell Problems In December Meet

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 17—(AP)—Railroads serving North Carolina have been invited to tell the Utilities Commission their problems.

The commission announced yesterday it has set a meeting for Dec. 14. One of the meeting's main objects is to find out to what extent the carriers plan to curtail their passenger service in the future.

A commission spokesman pointed out that the railroads in recent years have been forced to discontinue many passenger trains and close many stations.

The commission notice said the agency "has concluded that a conference with representatives of the railroads . . . would permit it to acquire very helpful information respecting the problems and difficulties . . . currently encountered by the carriers."

Govm't Urges New Cut In Next Year's Potato Crop

Washington, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Faced with a price support loss of $60,000,000 on surplus potatoes this year, the government has asked growers to cut production further next year.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan announced a 1950 program providing for a reduction of about seven per cent in the planting allotment for commercial areas and a lower dollar-and-cents price support.

He set a 1950 production goal of about 335,000,000 bushels.

This year's crop is estimated at 387,000,000 while the 1948 crop totaled 445,000,000.

It cost the department about $230,000,000 to support grower prices of the 1948 crop.

Like this year's crop, next year's will be supported at 60 per cent of parity, the minimum permitted by law. Parity is a figure calculated to give the farmer a fair return for his products.

But the parity price next year will be somewhat lower in terms of dollars and cents.

The secretary said the support rate next year may average about 96 cents a bushel compared with about $1.08 this year.

The 1950 planting allotment for commercial areas totaled 1,137,800 acres, or 85,300 less than this year. The allotment will be divided among individual farms.

The commercial potato planting allotments for 1950 and 1949, respectively, by states included: North Carolina 20,200 and 20,500.

Subsurface Plow Has An Advocate

Lubbock, Tex. — (AP) — Ploughs that work only underneath the surface are advocated to stop soil erosion by Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department of Texas Technological College.

These plows have chisel noses and underground blades to cut the subsoil on each side. They leave in place the stubble of previous crops. Every bit of stubble or any other crop residue left with its roots in a field, says Dr. Young, is both a natural wind break and a water dam.

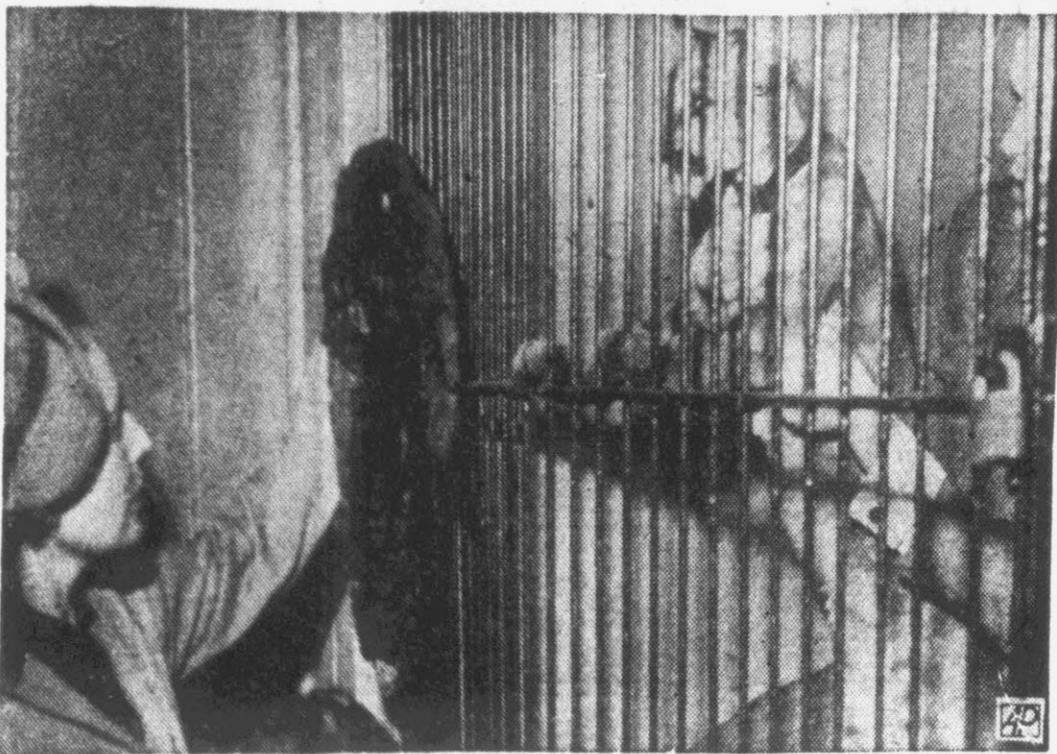

The stubble binds the top soil from blowing away as dust, and from eroding in water. The stubble also furnishes little pipes down which rain water penetrates into the soil, instead of mostly running off on the surface. As the stubble decomposes, it furnishes a sort of binding cement to hold soil particles more firmly in place.

Says Lampshades Hurting History

Reading, Eng. — (AP) — Lampshades are playing havoc with British history, Lt. Col. G. E. C. Malet, registrar of the natural register of archives, told Reading University students. He lamented the custom of using "old deeds, with interesting examples of old writing and historic signatures and seals," to make lampshades. Every one of them "tears a rent, however small, in the history of our country," he claimed.

New Delhi — (AP) — A proposal to adopt the Soviet pattern in the preamble of India's new constitution was rejected by the constituent assembly recently.

Maulana Hasrat Mohani, a Muslim member from the United Provinces, moved an amendment to name India a Union of Indian Socialist Republics, U.S.I.R. on the lines of the U.S.S.R.

The Maulana claimed that he was not a member of the Communist Party but only a sympathizer with Communist principles. The assembly voted for the official preamble of "constituting India into a sovereign democratic republic."

And don't fail to fill your cream pitcher with Pet Milk, too, for the coffee-lovers in your family. Remember, Pet Milk costs less than half as much as cream.

"It's Different! It's Terrific!" Said Husbands who tried it

INGREDIENTS

1 1/2 tablesp. unflavored gelatin
6 tablesp. cold water
3/4 cup brown sugar
2 1/4 tablesp. pumpkin pie spice
1/2 teasp. salt
2 eggs, separated
2 cups Pet Milk
1 cup cooked or canned pumpkin
3 tablesp. dark molasses
1 cup Baker's coconut, toasted*

DIRECTIONS

Soften gelatin in cold water. Mix in top of double boiler the brown sugar, spice and salt. Stir in mixture of slightly beaten egg yolks, milk, pumpkin and molasses. Cook and stir 5 min. over boiling water, or until slightly thickened. Add gelatin; stir until dissolved. Remove from heat, cover; chill until about as thick as canned applesauce. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and 3/4 cup coconut. Put into cold baked 9-in. pastry shell. Sprinkle 1/4 cup coconut on top. Chill firm.

*To Toast Coconut, spread 1 1/2 cups coconut on baking sheet. Toast 10 min. in moderately slow oven (350° F.), or until light brown, stirring now and then. Cool before using.

Television Of Future No Replacement For Papers

By LYNN NISBET
 Raleigh, November 17—Speaking before a meeting of advertising men in New York a few days ago Harold S. Barnes, director of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, sought to answer some questions about the probable effects of television upon newspapers.

He recalled that fears were expressed when radio first came along, similar to those now voiced about television putting newspapers out of business. Here are some excerpts from his talk:

"Let's see what effect radio has had on evening papers. For radio also attracts its biggest audiences in the evening. (The average sets in use at night is nearly double the day-time figure—28.5 vs. 17.5.)"

"Between 1928 and 1948 the total circulation of evening newspapers rose from 23,977,000 to 31,203,000—a very healthy increase of 30 per cent. To the extent that history can be relied upon, there seems to be little basis for the belief or fear—as the case may be—that evening newspapers are in for some very hard sledding. (Incidentally in 1123 communities the only paper published is an evening paper.)

"And now let's look at another factor that seems to get overlooked in the shouting and tumult.

"If you own a television set, you'll have to choose at 8 o'clock tonight, say, between Arthur Godfrey and the Actors' Studio for the simple reason they're on the air at the same time. For the same reason at 9:30 p.m. today the radio listener must choose between Mr. District Attorney and Bing Crosby.

"But I think you'll agree that newspapers—in common with other printed media—don't suffer from this rather severe limitation of the time element. Just because they appear in the same issue of the same paper, you don't have to choose, say, between reading Walter Lippman and Billy Rose nor do you have to choose between Mr. Macy's and Mr. Gimbel's ad.

"If the tired business man or the busy housewife can't get around to the evening paper until 10 p.m., it's still there intact—not a single news story, not a single ad has disappeared with the passage of time."

Proposed Victim Stands By Wife

Wilford Platt, 34, of Port Orchard, Wash., lights a cigarette for his wife, Margaret, after hearing court dismiss charges that she tried to have him killed because of his persistent ardor. Blames Murders On 'Withcrafts'

Enfield, Nov. 17—(AP)—A young Negro, who blamed witchcraft, was charged with the double slaying yesterday of his sister and her husband.

Corporal Logan B. Lane of the State Highway Patrol said both were shot to death with a .22 rifle. He said Thurman Barnes was arrested soon after the shooting, without any trouble.

Lane gave this account of the affair: Barnes went berserk and shot his sister, Louise Scott, 37, in the head and between the shoulder blades.

She was found in a cotton patch in her yard. A few yards away her husband, Roy, was found, still alive, with two shots in him. He was taken to a doctor but died about 15 minutes after the shooting.

The patrolman said that after the shooting, Barnes reloaded himself with a 12-gauge shotgun and pockets full of shells.

His father, Wiley Barnes, went up to him and his son meekly turned the weapon and shells over to him, Lane said he observed. He added the youth told his father at that time "You might want to go hunting before I get back."

Barnes told officers after his arrest that his sister was "an artist of witchcraft" and that he had to kill her because he was going to die if he didn't.

Sheriff H. A. House said Barnes would be kept in jail for observation and might have to be sent to an institution for a mental examination. He said no preliminary hearing has been scheduled.

The arrested youth told officers his parents had never told him his age but he "guessed" he was about 20 or 21.

Court Contempt Verdict Upheld

Greensboro, Nov. 17—(AP)—Judge A. R. Crisp says he will sign a judgment today upholding another jurist's contempt of court verdict against Earl Black of Wilmington.

Black was sentenced Sept. 30 to 30 days in jail for failure to appear as a witness in the F. D. (George) Smith lottery case by Judge E. Earle Rives of Municipal-County Court. Superior Court Judge Crisp yesterday upheld the judgment on appeal.

The Guilford Superior Court jurist said, "A man can't stand back and not come into court when he has been ordered to."

Black indicated he would further appeal to the State Supreme Court. However, Lee Wilson of Lexington, Black's attorney, declined to comment.

Wilson challenged the validity of the subpoena served Black for Smith's July 13 trial. He claimed that no process of the lower court is valid unless a court officer or member of the police force swears to an affidavit at the same time.

Judge Rives, in upholding the contempt charge, ruled that the subpoena was valid.

Didn't Forecast Black Snowfall

Oil City, Pa., Nov. 17—(AP)—Residents marveled when they got the snow forecasters promised for western Pennsylvania last night.

The Weather Bureau hadn't said anything about it being black. A torrent of soot flakes blanketed the downtown area for fifteen minutes. Police, who are still investigating, said they were unable to trace the source of the nuisance. Oh, yes—they got a few flurries of the white stuff this morning.

Driver Guilty In Mitchell Death

Atlanta, Nov. 17—(AP)—A jury convicted Hugh D. Gravit yesterday of involuntary manslaughter in the traffic accident death of Margaret Mitchell.

The jury reached its verdict against the slim, 25-year-old former cab driver in less than an hour. It recommended that he be sent to jail from 12 to 18 months for the death of the world-famed author of "Gone With the Wind."

Superior Court Judge Walter C. Hendricks delayed the sentence until he could hear an appeal from Gravit's attorney.

Drop Charges Of Patrol Speeder

Raleigh, Nov. 17—(AP)—Charges of speeding against a State Highway patrolman have been dropped. Patrol Commander C. R. Tolar revealed yesterday the charges were brought against Sgt. I. E. Hunt by Chief of Police J. K. Jewel of Norwood. The police chief had arrested Hunt Oct. 16 and charged him with speeding through Norwood.

Tolar said Jewel issued a statement saying he had learned that Sergeant Hunt was "working and acting in line of duty as an officer of the State Highway Patrol" when the incident occurred.

Touring Solons To See Pontiff

Castel Gandolfo, Nov. 17—(AP)—Members of a United States Senate subcommittee headed by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) were received in private audience today by Pope Pius XII.

The group of senators, their wives and aides drove here from Rome for the audience.

DISCUSS ACCIDENTS
Gastonia, N. C., Nov. 17—(AP)—Officials of the State Department of Labor and safety men from industrial firms met here today to discuss North Carolina's efforts to cut on-the-job accidents.

Impressive Boxing Exhibit In Bouts Staged Last Night

Eight Members Of Last Year's Squad Highly Improved; Six Promising Newcomers Show Wares

By EUGENE PRICE
East Carolina Teachers College unveiled one of the most impressive arrays of boxing talent ever to wear the purple and gold of the Battling Buccaneers here last night when Coach Johnny Long's boys held their pre-season elimination match.

Eight highly improved members of last year's pugilist squad and six promising newcomers gave some 600 screaming fans a varied exhibition of almost everything in the books of boxing.

Fans got their first look at newcomer Crowell Williamson, an 18-year-old Whiteville, N. C. Golden Gloves champion, as he put on an exhibition with last year's co-captain, Redwan David.

And Williamson, looking very impressive against last year's undefeated co-captain, was immediately installed as the most promising fighter local fans have seen since the boxing program was re-organized at East Carolina.

Another newcomer, Bob Batley, was described by Coach Long as "a big mountain full of ore" after the freshman put on an exhibition with Ken Stargardt, last year's slugging sensation, labelled by Long as one of the most improved fighters he has seen.

Fighting in a 155-pound class, Stargardt and Batley, put on an exhibition of scientific boxing which hushed the fans. Appreciation of their exhibition was evidenced by a tremendous round of applause at the end of the three rounds.

Former State champion of Florida and runner-up in the ETO during World War II Cecil Phillips of Jacksonville, N. C. decided to return to the ETC. He was scheduled to fight in one of the highlights of the evening program last night.

It was a close decision with both boys showing abilities which merit, "They will both win some fights for us this year," from Long.

H. A. Creel, classy fighter who hails from Manteo, decided to Bill Torrans in a 160 pound team bout and Homer Thomas of Whiteville.

Boo Boo And 'Catfish' Rubber Bout Unlikely

Battling Bruce (Boo Boo) Jones, who slugged his way to a three round decision over Al Williams in the East Carolina Eliminations, publicly challenged Marshall 'Catfish' Baines to a rubber match here last night.

Chances of the challenge ever being accepted, however, are slight, College Boxing Instructor Johnny Long disclosed after last night's match.

The 'Cat' who beat Jones in their last fight to even the score at 1-1, has retired.

Long said Baines retired early this season at the insistence of his wife, Marshall wanted to fight with the team this year but I told him that it would be best for him to retire since it was what his wife wanted," Long said.

When the challenge was made last night, Baines stood from his ring side seat and lifted the arm of his bride. "She's the winner," he declared.

Jack Amyette in a 140 pound team classic.

An exhibition scrap between Harvey Still and Cleon Smith, Covington Va. boys, was halted in the first round when Smith sustained a slight mouth injury.

Highlighting the non-team scraps was a fight featuring Al (Mangler) Morris and Harold Blake, two Onslow county boys.

Morris, keeping Blake at a distance with jolting blows to the body won the decision in a scrap which was second only to the Phillips-Edwards fight in the ovation it received from the fans.

Linwood Alexander came from behind to gain a draw in a bout with Joe Jacobs in another non-team bout. Paul Plymmer defeated Glenn Cox in a 145 pound non-team fight which opened the evening card.

Officials included: Judges—Paul Julian, Co. William Brown, and Dr. J. M. Barrett. Garland Bailey refereed and Frank Ceruzzi was timer. Seconds were Bill Cole, Bob Price, B. J. Hunter and Jack Gray.

Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 17—(AP)—Marshall College football players will vote today, before leaving for Saturday's game with Vanderbilt, whether to play against Evansville, Ind., in the annual Refrigerator Bowl game Dec. 3.

The championship of the Ohio Valley Conference, to which both teams belong, has been put up as the prize. The conference already has approved the contest as the crown-deciding tilt and Evansville is ready to play.

The Marshall College Athletic Advisory Committee has approved the OVC decision but before it can proceed further, Marshall's gridgers and coaching staff must be polled.

SWIM TEACHER — Mrs. Aileen Riggan Young, who won Olympic diving title at 14, is sports director at new Caribe Hilton Hotel, San Juan, Puerto Rico. With her is daughter, Yvonne.

More People Can't Get Into Army-Navy Contest

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 17—(AP)—More people can't get tickets for the Army-Navy football game this year than couldn't get them ever before.

You may have the $6 asking price, but you have to know more than a friend of a friend to lay hands on a ticket.

The demand is greater than I ever recall it," a Navy spokesman said today.

Annapolis officers said they understood West Point is gasping under the same deluge.

"This appears to contradict the economic cycle," the Navy source declared. He thought people these days weren't supposed to be going around spending $6 to see a football game.

The game will be played Nov. 26 in Philadelphia's cavernous Municipal Stadium, which holds 102,000 fans. The "ticket capacity," after deducting concessionaires, guards, ushers, sports writers and photographers, is about 99,000.

President Truman and members of Congress are in the happiest spot of all. Every year the President has an allotment "which he purchases," the Naval Academy explained in a notice to disappointed thousands.

Both West Point and Annapolis provide each senator and representative with eight pasteboards, as long as he fills out a form and encloses the money.

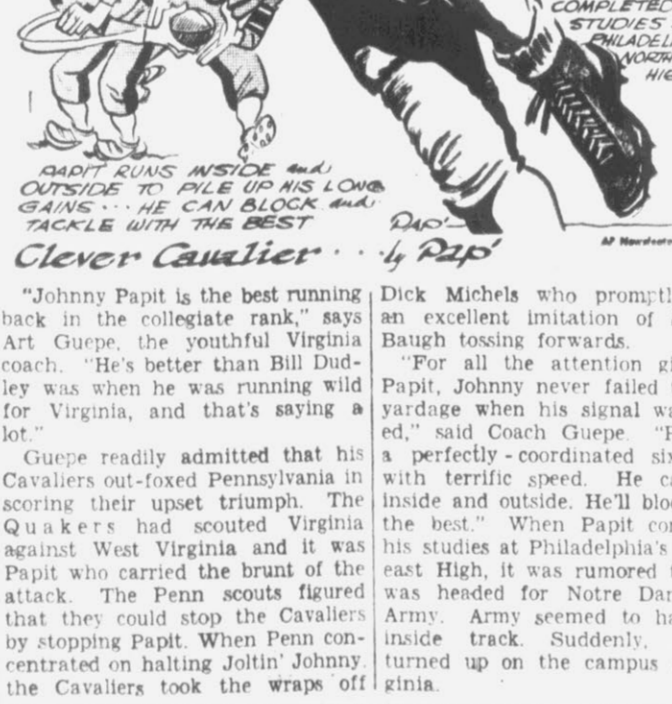

Midshipmen and cadets are entitled to four. So are alumni members of the respective athletic associations.

Requests piled in early—enough to ballast a battleship. So many entreaties came from the fleet that humbly plebes heard they were going to be slashed to a pair apiece.

TWO DEER, ONE SHOT
Juniper, N.B., Nov. 17—(AP)—Two deer with one shot was the record set today by John Davis of Florenceville, N.B.

The Canadian's bullet crashed through the neck of one deer and downed another standing beside it.

Sport Slants By Pap

"Johnny Papit is the best running back in the collegiate rank," says Art Guepe, the youthful Virginia coach. "He's better than Bill Dudley was when he was running wild for Virginia, and that's saying a lot."

Guepe readily admitted that his Cavaliers out-foxed Pennsylvania in scoring their upset triumph. The Quakers had scouted Virginia against West Virginia and it was Papit who carried the brunt of the attack. The Penn scouts figured that they could stop the Cavaliers by stopping Papit. When Penn concentrated on halting Joltin' Johnny, the Cavaliers took the wraps off Dick Michels who promptly gave an excellent imitation of Sammy Baugh tossing forwards.

"For all the attention given to Papit, Johnny never failed to gain yardage when his signal was called," said Coach Guepe. "Papit is a perfectly-coordinated six-footer with terrific speed. He can run inside and outside. He'll block with the best." When Papit completed his studies at Philadelphia's North-east High, it was rumored that he was headed for Notre Dame and the Army. Army seemed to have the inside track. Suddenly, Johnny turned up on the campus of Virginia.

School Prepares Big Homecoming

Greenville high school today was completing arrangements for the annual homecoming celebration which will be held tomorrow, and climaxed by the football game between Greenville and Washington high schools to be played at the ETC stadium tomorrow night.

A pep rally has been planned at the high school auditorium at 3:15 tomorrow afternoon, and will be followed by a homecoming parade through the business district of the city.

Another pep rally with a huge bon fire and the other trimmings is scheduled for the high school square tomorrow night at 8:45 after which the high school band will make a swing troupe to up-town section of Greenville before returning to the high school and going to the stadium for the game.

A spokesman for the school said this morning the cheer leaders have been working on new yells which will be presented by the school at the pep rallies and the game. The public address system which was presented to the school last week by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce will be used at the pep rallies. Principal O. E. Dowd stated.

Lafayette And Lehigh To Clash In 85th Meeting

Bethlehem, Pa., Nov. 17—(AP)—When Lehigh and Lafayette square off on the gridiron Saturday it'll be the 85th clash between the two schools since Richard Harding Davis obtained $54 from the Lehigh treasurer to sponsor a football team in 1864.

The Rutgers-Princeton football rivalry, for one, is longer but no two schools have met as many times as have the Engineers of Lehigh and Lafayette's Leopards.

Davis and another Lehigh student, Jake Robeson, used a part of the $54 to purchase 11 brown and white striped jerseys which arrived the day before Lehigh opened its intercollegiate gridiron competition against Lafayette.

LeFayette won 50-0 and has come out on top on 54 other occasions. Lehigh has been victorious in 27 games. Three contests ended in ties.

Joe Fulk's Again Bright Prospect

New York, Nov. 17—(AP)—Joe Fulk, six-foot, five inch star of the Philadelphia Warriors in the National Basketball Association, has designs on making the all-star team for a fourth straight season.

For the past three, the 27-year-old forward averaged 23.5 points per game and that was just about his speed last night as Joe led the Warriors to a 93-80 triumph over the Boston Celtics.

Four-Year-Old Shoots His Buck

Austin, Tex., Nov. 17—(AP)—They learn their shootin' young in Texas. James Dudley Morse, aged four, has a four-point buck to prove it today. He broke the deer's neck yesterday with a .22 rifle shot on a ranch near Llano.

His father, R. Emmett Morse, used to be speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Predicts Handful Will Enter Majors

Stellar Lineman Does As Taught

Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 17—(AP)—Curley-haired Stan McGuire said, "I'm overwhelmed."

Told that he had been named lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll today for his sparkling work Saturday in Oregon State's 25-20 upset football win over Michigan State, the 22-year-old right end said, "I just did what the coaches taught me."

What they taught him, apparently, was how to kick field goals (one), how to convert (two), how to block kicks (one for a safety), how to snag passes (one paved the way to a touchdown) and assorted other information to the discomfiture of Michigan State.

A full-time five foot 11 inch, 192-pound player who backs up the line on defense, McGuire was the spark on OSC's surprising win. But Head Coach Kip Taylor said he wasn't particularly surprised.

"McGuire hasn't turned in a bad game all year. He does a workman-like job on both offense and defense," Taylor said. "He's good at everything he does. He isn't the country's greatest pass receiver and he isn't the greatest defensive player—but for all-around work, on both offense and defense, he's one of the best there is."

Condemned Man Is Given Respite

Raleigh, Nov. 17—(AP)—Governor Scott today temporarily spared the life of a Negro man who was scheduled to die in the gas chamber tomorrow for wife murder.

The governor granted a reprieve to Lee Heller of Catawba county so that his attorneys can make an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Heller's conviction was upheld by the court several weeks ago, but his lawyers Tuesday made a motion in Catawba Superior Court for a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

Stan Smith of the Minneapolis Millers of the U.S. Hockey League mines black diamonds in the Canadian Rockies near his home town of Coal Creek, British Columbia, during the off-season.

The 1916 New York Giants set a record of 26 straight victories at home had another string of 17 wins on the road—yet finished fourth.

Chapter 20
Silently Kelly drove Arleta back to his house, and this time he turned on all the lights and built up a fire in the big fireplace, and after it had caught and was blazing up the chimney, he turned to give her a rueful smile.
"Don't feel too bad about Allene, Chips. She had it coming. That girl inherited all of the viciousness of both her mother and Ace."
Arleta nodded. Ace. That made sense.
"How did you know?" she asked.
"Your Aunt Betsy Anne had a brain wave as she was leaving, suddenly remembered the man's name and where he'd been living when your mother had that quarrel with your father. I hopped the next plane for that small burg. I learned plenty there; then I picked up his trail, followed it until it led here and then—well, it was like trying to follow a rabbit's trail."
Arleta sighed and then she remembered something. "But you did believe Big Chips wrong until Aunt Betsy Anne—"

He found they insisted upon incorporating in another state, and when the papers were cleared he had a very minor voice in the company despite the fact it carried his name.
"Next, he found the land wasn't being handled in the way he'd planned. The valley farmers weren't filing. There were injunction suits. He didn't know henchmen of the other board members were filling the valley farmers with discontent, telling them Langtry was out to do them, getting them to hold off until their limitation date was up.
"Come the finale. He had no voice. Legally he was clear, morally he was seething, waiting his chance to expose the whole play.
"But he was handicapped. He had used his wife's money in the company. Finally he sold out to them for exactly what he had put in.
"Yet he wasn't through. He'd been waiting, playing his game of poker, playing with Big Chips. And Ace knew him and was afraid of him.
Kelly turned now to Arleta. "If you'll check the 'Globe-Telegram' as I did, you'll see that Lane sued your father, and that he then called off the suit. Lane was afraid to let it go on. He'd thought he could bluff Big Chips, break him and run him out of the country, but Big Chips was looking at the suit as a means of exposing the Langtry Land Company.
"The date of the book is just one week and three days after the suit was called off. Big Chips had shown his hand and for once Lane hadn't an ace left in the hole. He had to get rid of Langtry."

Sees Room For California And French Vintages

Hollywood—(AP)—There is room for both French and California wines on America's dinner tables, says Ernest Des Ballets, a vintage connoisseur. France has yet to be surpassing in making "really fine wine, but it can't compete with lower cost wines produced in the U.S.
Des Ballets expressed these views after returning from a 23-day tour of such French vineyard areas as Anjou, Touraine, Bordeaux, Cotes-du-Rhone, Alsace, Champagne and Cognac. Fine French wines are tops, he said, because of differences in climate and soil and the more personal supervision of the product. Des Ballets added that contrary to some reports, the Germans did not take the best wines out of France.
Brazil's area exceeds that of the continental United States by about 250,000 square miles.

U.S. Diplomats In Asia Called To Conference At End January

Washington, Nov. 17 — (AP) — The White House announced today that American diplomats in Eastern Asia will hold a regional conference at Bangkok in January. President Truman is sending Philip C. Jessup, the administration's top diplomatic trouble shooter, to it.

Jessup, who has the rank of ambassador-at-large, will make a survey tour of the Far East. He will leave on the trip around the first of the year. The announcement said that he would depart after completing his work as a member of the delegation to the U.N. General Assembly.

The regional conference of top diplomats in Eastern Asia and the Far East, as the announcement phrased it, will be held at Bangkok, at the end of January.

Bangkok is the capital of Thailand (Siam). Jessup will go from the United States to Tokyo, it was learned, and visit the Philippines, Nationalist China, and a number of other countries which figure in American plans for developing a strong anti-communist stand in that area.

After the Bangkok meeting, Jessup will return to the United States by way of Indian Pakistan. The White House announcement was made after President Truman held a 70-minute review of United States Far Eastern policy with Secretary of State Acheson, Jessup, and other ranking State Department policy makers.

The United States now is at odds with both sides in the conflict in China. Acheson is trying to figure out what to do about the situation.

County's School Buses Approved

The State Highway Patrol office in Greenville announced today that the patrol has just finished its second monthly inspection of all school buses operating in the county.

Of the 119 buses which were checked by the patrolmen, all were found to be in good condition. Every since the Nash county bus wreck, which took the lives of seven school children, the Patrol has been ordered to make a monthly check of all buses. Last month several buses were found to have minor faults, but these have all been taken care of it was reported.

The 119 school buses serve 21 white and colored schools in all sections of the county.

It was reported that all of the buses were carrying only the lawful load of school children, and there was no overloading on any of the routes. Some of the buses are having to make two trips on their routes. The Patrol stated that the bus routes as a whole are in very good condition.

Jas. R. Purser, Sr., Funeral On Saturday

Mr. James R. Purser, Sr., 56, died at his home near Gardner's Cross Roads at 10:30 o'clock this morning following several years illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson & Sons Funeral home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Rev. W. R. Crowder, Methodist minister of Vanceboro, assisted by Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian church, and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery. Members of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion will be honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Purser was born, reared and spent the most of his life in the community in which he died. He served in the United States Army in World War I and was married to Nettie Lee Moore of Pitt county in 1918. He was a member of Epworth Methodist church near Vanceboro and the Pitt County Post of the American Legion.

Surviving are his wife, a son, James R. Purser, Jr., of Greenville; his mother, Mrs. W. C. Purser of near Gardner's Cross Roads; a sister, Mrs. J. M. Meeks of Harrisonburg, Va.; and five brothers, Tom Purser of Smithfield, W. H. Purser of New Bern, Lat. W. Purser of Vanceboro and Fred and Larry B. Purser of near Gardner's Cross Roads.

Robeson's Wife Says U.S. Should Import Democracy

Moscow, Nov. 17 — (AP) — Mrs. Eslanda Robeson, wife of American Negro singer Paul Robeson said today that the United States may be exporting Democracy in theory but in practice America needs to import it.

She spoke before women delegates from 35 countries at a session of the Russian-sponsored council of the International Democratic Federation of Women.

Speaking before a central backdrop of a large portrait of Prime Minister Stalin, Mrs. Robeson said: "It is a wonderful and valuable opportunity to be able to meet here in the beautiful, hospitable, and fascinating city of Moscow with women who are not only talking about peace but are living it."

"The more we see and learn about the extraordinarily Democratic activities of the great government of the U. S. S. R. and the other Democratic governments of Europe and Asia," she continued, "the more excited I become at the prospect of the United States 'importing Democracy.'"

She declared that four years since the end of the war and the death of President Roosevelt had proved that "powerful forces within America are leading our nation into war."

She defined these forces as "those who wish to reap rich profits from a third world war." She said these forces are trying "to frighten the American people into supporting an aggressive and imperialist foreign policy." She said progressive elements in the United States are being repressed under the fear of an "imaginary enemy."

Mayors Present . . .

(Continued from page one) The routine presentations, when Mayor Jones, later supported by Mayor Stafford, made the point that it is difficult for city officials to find out how much money they have to the credit of their municipalities in the state allotment for maintenance of state highways within city limits, and how or where or when the money set aside for their communities had been or would be spent.

In addition to this criticism of existing methods, the mayors offered statistical data showing the need for more aid from the state in street maintenance. Mayor Stafford reported that Greenville had a 1940 census population of 12,674, which had grown to 15,168 in an interim federal census count in 1948. The 1949 valuation of property for ad valorem taxes was $17,800,997, and a tax rate of $1.50. The bonded indebtedness of the city on November 1 was $3,226,000, of which $270,000 is for streets.

The city has 72.7 miles of streets, of which 40 miles are unpaved and 6.6 miles are maintained by the state as through highways. For maintenance of these streets the city this year has budgeted $84,300, and the state has allotted $15,463. Just where will be spent the mayor could not say, but he had been informed that a large part of it had been spent on Dickinson Avenue.

Comparative figures presented by Mayor Stafford showed that since 1944 street budgets had increased from $49 million to more than $84 million. Meanwhile property valuations had gone up from eleven and a half to nearly eighteen millions, and the tax rate from 90c to $1.50 per $100 valuation. Public demand for services including, but not limited to street improvement, had risen faster than valuations and tax rate, he said.

The Farmville picture as presented by Mayor Jones follows the same pattern. Farmville in 1940 had 2,990 population, which is now estimated by the mayor at 3,580. The town had tax valuation of $3,589,134, a tax rate of $1.35, and bonded indebtedness of $492,000, of which $139,000 is for streets. There are 16.45 miles of streets, of which 13.45 miles are paved, including 2.19 miles of state-maintained highways. One of the problems here is that buses and trucks must use streets not eligible for state aid under existing formulae. At least half of the so-called paved streets is light asphalt on sand-clay base, which will not stand up under heavy bus and truck traffic.

The reports showed that Greenville had paid last year nearly two thousand dollars and Farmville almost one thousand dollars in taxes on gasoline used in fire trucks and street working machinery.

That constitutes one of the prime grievances voiced by municipal spokesmen throughout the tour of the state municipal road commission — the municipalities must pay state taxes on gasoline used in fire trucks and street maintenance machinery operating solely on streets which the city taxpayers have built with ad valorem taxes and-or assessments against abutting property.

Recognizing . . .

(Continued from page one) dent could set up without using T-H—if both sides accepted—and the board he'd set up if he used T-H?

The first board would make a recommendation on what it thought was a fair settlement of the dispute. The T-H board can't make recommendations but its findings are made public. So, in effect, its findings would amount to a recommendation.

Why wouldn't Lewis be willing to accept that non-Taft-Hartley fact-finding board? He might accept. But Lewis never has wanted a third party like the government to step into his affairs when there was a chance he might not get what he wanted.

Suppose Lewis and the owners accepted this non-T-H board and agreed there'd be no strike or lock-out for 60 days.

Say the board was set up next Monday. Those 60 days would keep the miners digging coal into the middle of January, helping get the country through the winter.

But suppose at the end of those 60 days in mid-January Lewis refused to accept the board's recommendations. What then? He'd be free to strike. But wouldn't that be the worst time for a strike—from the standpoint of the country? No, if by then enough coal had been mined to carry the nation through until spring.

But if Lewis wanted to strike in mid-January and it would hurt the country, then Mr. Truman could use the T-H Act, set up the T-H fact-finding board, get a court order, and delay the strike another 80 days.

That would prevent a strike until April, the beginning of warm weather.

Coal Strike . . .

(Continued from page one) member of the Washington staff of the A. P. Well of course nobody is suggesting the sending of any "Raisuli" message to Peiping. A firm stand by the western powers may be expected to produce results eventually if for no other reason than that Communist China will badly need the assistance of the west in the rehabilitation of that vast country.

The Chinese Communist regime is in no position to stand a protracted stalemate with the western powers.

Reveal Probable A-Bomb Damage

Washington, Nov. 17 — (AP) — A single, well-placed atom bomb could smash the heart of the nation's capital, the experts believe. Every building within a half mile radius of a bomb burst would be damaged and made unusable. Fires would sweep an area of many square miles.

This picture of what might happen is drawn in a report prepared by the staff of the Atomic Energy Commission. It is the first government study of the probable effects of an atom bomb explosion over an American city.
