The house was considerably damaged by the fire which started about 4 o'clock.

The house was occupied by Walter Dawson.

Field Marshal Monty

Just Seven Years Ago, This Foreign Affairs Analyst Was Chasing Montgomery Over The Libyan Desert For An Interview; Spirit Of Crusader; Confidence

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

It's seven years ago, barring a few days, that America's distinguished British guest, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, gave me the toughest chase I ever experienced in rounding up a subject for an interview...

Finally my colleagues threw up their hands, gave me an armored car with a military driver and said: "Go find Monty yourself!"

Fire Chief Warns Motorists Impede Firefighters' Work

Greenville Fire Chief George Gardner said this morning the effectiveness of the Greenville fire department is being seriously hampered because traffic on the city streets will not give right-of-way to the fire trucks which are answering emergency calls.

Firemen said that only yesterday when they were answering a box alarm on Boyd avenue they were delayed considerably in reaching the scene of the fire because motorists refused to heed the sirens of the fire trucks and caused one truck to come to a complete stop before it could pass a car and continue on its way.

Fire Chief Gardner pointed out that there is a city ordinance which states: "All motor vehicles must pull over to the curb and stop when a fire alarm is turned in, and when emergency trucks and cars, with sirens gong on the streets."

The ordinance states that the motorist must pull over to the side of the street and remain there for a period of three to five minutes before getting under way again.

Chief Gardner said "it is very important for the trucks to have a clear field to the fire, but it is just as important that the volunteer firemen who follow close on the heels of the trucks have the right of way. When the volunteer firemen are delayed in reaching the scene of the fire, that delays us in fighting the fire."

In several cases when the volunteer firemen arrive at the scene they are forced to park several blocks from the scene of the trouble. Gardner said because they can not reach the area due to the traffic.

Medical science has been successful in finding the cause for tuberculosis. Constant research is discovering and perfecting cures for the various types and stages of the disease. Therefore, death from tuberculosis is needless.

It is our duty to provide the financial means for educational programs, field work, early diagnosis, adequate and immediate treatment, and extended research. It is our responsibility to banish this killer from our own and future generations.

Please do your share and more in buying and selling the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals, the sole monetary source for this tremendous task. We can win the fight by zealous support of the 1949-50 concentrated campaign November 21 to December 25.

May your Christmas be merrier because you have helped in this way to banish suffering and sorrow from the world.

Recommend Dec. 26 Be Observed As A Holiday

Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association last night recommended to the merchants of the city that the stores of Greenville observe Monday, December 26 as a holiday as well as Christmas day, and that retail stores remain open until 8 p.m. the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday prior to Christmas, and until 7 p.m. on Saturday, Christmas eve.

President Charles B. Bissette of the Merchants Association told the directors of the organization that the recommendations made by the board are in accordance with the policy which has been adopted in the neighboring towns in eastern North Carolina.

Just prior to last night's meeting, President Bissette returned from Kingston where he attended a meeting of Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association representatives from other towns in this area. Mrs. Cora Powell, secretary of the Greenville Merchants association, and W. T. Kizer, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, also attended the meeting.

In reference to other holiday closings for the city's retail stores, the Merchant Association directors last night recommended that Wednesday half-day closings be started in Greenville on April 12, the first Wednesday after Easter.

The officials announced at last night's meeting that ballots for the election of directors for 1950 will be mailed to all members immediately after Christmas. It was also announced at the meeting that J. H. Blount of Greenville has been appointed as a member of the 30-man committee which will recommend a successor to William L. Dowell, executive vice president of the state merchants association, who recently resigned his position because of illness.

There would seem to be nothing in subsequent developments to change that viewpoint. Associated with that thought is the fact that he is intensely religious, and in a manner of speaking fought with the Bible in his hand. His own battle cry was: "Let God arise, let his enemies be scattered." He told me of messages he was receiving from all over the world and said: "I was particularly touched by the letter from a Sunday school teacher in Atlantic City. He wrote to say the death toll was only one short of the toll for all of last year."

Byrnes Attacks Deficit Spending Policy in Govm't

Believes Taxes And Federal Debt Real National Trouble; Sees No End

Blount, Miss., Nov. 22—(AP)—A former cabinet officer made a sharp attack on government fiscal policies last night and called for a drop in taxes and the national debt.

In his second assault on the Truman administration former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told the Southern States conference that federal taxes and the public debt constitute the real trouble now besetting this country.

The cure, added the former administration stalwart, was to be found neither in a larger public debt nor in a heavier tax load but he saw no immediate remedy.

Deficit spending will continue, he declared.

Byrnes' first attack on the administration came in a recent speech at Washington State University. There, he charged the federal government with "statism" with taking over more and more the powers and prerogatives of local governments.

Last night he told the South's chief executives: "We should devote to cutting expenditures some of the thought we are devoting to taxing and borrowing. But cutting expenditures is not seriously considered in the executive departments and new taxes will not be seriously considered in Congress. So deficit spending will continue," Byrnes said.

"Big government is more dangerous than big business," Byrnes added. "Little governments can regulate big business x x x but it is difficult to regulate big government."

"The spenders, while deploring deficit spending, assert as an excuse that there was deficit spending during the Roosevelt administration x x x but who can forget that in 1933 the banks of the nation were closed, farmers whose mortgages were foreclosed were deserting the farms, factories were idle and the unemployed walked the streets hungry."

"Only a spender with no sense of responsibility could fail to see the difference," said the former U. S. Supreme Court Justice. "Today we have unexampled prosperity. If the government cannot give within its income, what will it do should we have a serious recession in business?"

Hoffman Warns Politburo Goal Says Americans Forget Red Conquest Of U.S. Is Aim

Los Angeles, Nov. 22—(AP)—Paul G. Hoffman said today that the Russian Politburo is "planning to take over this country of ours in due course."

But Communism's threat can be wiped out, America's foreign aid chief said, if the United States remains strong and prosperous and Western Europe achieves economic recovery.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the student body of Pomona College, the chief of the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) traced the background of events leading to establishment of ECA and the Marshall Plan.

Hoffman lashed out sharply throughout the address at Russian ideological aims. He declared that while American foreign aid can help stem Communism, Western Europe must also work to provide economic and political self-help in which freedom can survive.

Success of the Marshall recovery plan so far, he went on, has turned the tide against the Russians. He continued: "It may be difficult for you to wrap your minds around the fact that the Politburo is planning to take over this country of ours in due course. But their purpose is nothing less than this."

Hoffman said the time table of Communism called first for the conquest of Western Europe, then Asia, Africa, South America, and finally, North America.

Poland Arrests Over 100 'Spies'

Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 22—(AP)—More than 100 persons have been arrested as members of a spy ring which Polish authorities say was linked with the French embassy here.

An alleged confession by Andre Simon Robineau, secretary of the French consulate at Szczecin (Stettin), Poland, was said by a spokesman of the foreign ministry here to have led to "liquidation" of the spy ring.

Robineau was arrested at the Warsaw airport last Friday as he was about to board a plane for Paris for a vacation.

"Certain threads have led our authorities to one of the foreign embassies in Warsaw," said Gen. Wiktor Gross, chief spokesman for the Polish foreign ministry.

Gross told newsmen Robineau "admitted espionage and revealed that his position in the French consulate served as a cover for these activities."

Foreign correspondents heard part of the wire recordings said to be Robineau's confession and were shown photostatic copies of documents allegedly signed by him.

(In Paris the French foreign minister, Andre Bonnet, charges. A spokesman said the French were worried about Robineau because he was not the first Frenchman to have disappeared inside Poland.)

Testify Mother Made Baby Drunk

Asheville, Nov. 22—(AP)—City detectives testified in police court yesterday that Lillian Adams "made her two-year-old son drunk Saturday he is still in the hospital."

Pitt Unemployment Claims Rise Sharply

Employment Security Office Reports Claims Increases Over 100 Per Cent During Past Two Weeks; Still Below '48

Unemployment compensation waiting period and continued claims filed at the Greenville office of the state Employment Security Commission have increased over 100 per cent during the past two weeks, it was revealed last night by Dwight M. Leonard, supervisor in charge of the local office.

While the number of claims filed in the local office has shown a marked jump over the two-year low in claims which was recorded by the office in September, the claims for mid-November of this year are considerably below the number of claims which the office had on file a year ago.

Leonard said a total of 133 new and additional claims for unemployment compensation were filed with the office during the week which ended Saturday, and that during the same week 232 waiting period and continued claims were filed. There was one new claim and six continued claims for veterans readjustment allowances filed with the office during the week.

Leonard attributed the sharp increase in claims to the wholesale lay-off in the tobacco processing plants of this area. He said five of the claims which were filed during the past week attributed unemployment directly to the lack of coal or steel.

During the corresponding week of November last year, the local office had 102 new and additional unemployment compensation claims, 360 continued and waiting period claims, and 109 new and continued claims for veterans readjustment allowances.

According to the statistics released by the Greenville office for November of this year during the week ending November 13 the waiting period and continued claims for compensation showed an increase of approximately 35 per cent, and last week the claims in the same categories showed an increase of another 75 per cent.

The UMW leader was said to have prevented Dawson from formally taking his seat as operators' trustee at a stormy three-hour session yesterday. Lewis, representing the miners, is chairman of the board. Senator Bridges (R-NH) is a neutral member.

Lewis' action apparently leaves Dawson's status up in the air until the trustees' next meeting, scheduled for Friday December 2. That would be two days after the current trustee to the mine strike is due to end.

According to the report, Lewis' main reason for blocking Dawson was that Ezra Van Horn, the man Dawson was to replace, is involved in litigation over spending of the funds and has not officially resigned to the trustee board Van Horn sent in his letter of resignation to the mine owners who had appointed him.

Lewis, Dawson and Bridges all said they would not discuss what went on at their closed meeting. Until Dawson is seated, the votes of Lewis and Bridges would offset each other, because the two have split over Bridges' refusal to tap the $13,000,000 collected since the mine contract expired last June 30.

High School Band Given Chapel Hill Trip Money

By CHESTER WALSH

The Greenville High School band is going to Chapel Hill Saturday to participate with a dozen or more bands in the ceremonies at half time in the University of North Carolina - University of Virginia football game.

Four Greenville civic clubs and a few friends provided the money for two Trailways buses to transport the young musicians to Chapel Hill. The Exchange Club donated $90; Kiwanis Club, $65; Lions Club, $72.50; Rotary Club, $42.60, and friends, $8.

The Virginia - Carolina football game at Chapel Hill traditionally features the day as "High School Day." Adequate and comfortable arrangements are made at the university for the comfort and pleasure of the high schoolers, especially the bands.

James Rodgers, director of the Greenville High School band, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and he received his band training there. Principal O. E. Dowd stated. The principal today was profuse in his expression of appreciation to those who made possible the band's trip to the football game.

They plan to arrive at Chapel Hill at 11 a.m. to participate in a rehearsal with the other bands. They will leave there shortly after the game and eat supper on the way back to Greenville. Twelve-Year-Old Boy Believed Only One To Live Through Wreck Of Dutch Plane Carrying 28 Jewish Refugee Children And Seven Adults

Oslo, Norway, Nov. 22—(AP)—A small plane on the west side of the Oslo fjord, about 30 miles from the Norwegian capital. The nearest house to the crash scene is almost two miles away, and apparently its occupants did not hear the explosion when the plane crashed.

Even though hopes were slim for any more survivors, squads of ambulance and rescue teams were sent to reinforce those at the scene, a hilly, heavily forested place difficult to penetrate.

The child who survived was taken to a hospital at Drammen, 20 miles from Oslo, and a doctor there was quoted as saying the boy has a good chance of recovery.

The boy, one of the publicly underfed refugee children who had been on their way to rest and rehabilitation in Norway, speaks French but it was impossible for the time being to persuade him to tell his name.

All the children had been destined eventually to go on to Israel, the Jewish state.

The Hungarian government announcement said Vogeler and Sanders had confessed to sabotage and spying.

In Vienna, Vogeler's wife said Hungarian agents had been shadowing her husband. Reports there said the files of the I.T.T. in Budapest had been confiscated when he and a person reported to be his secretary were arrested.

Pactolus P. T. A.

The Parent Teacher Association of the Pactolus school met Tuesday night, November 15 in the Community building. The group enjoyed singing folk songs for about 15 minutes before the meeting was called to order.

A short business session was held following the devotional, at which time various committee chairmen made reports.

Mrs. W. F. Little urged members to take advantage of the Parent Teacher material on the book shelf. She pointed out some values which parents and teachers derive from reading the National Parent Teacher, which is a non-commercial magazine published by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Contributors to this magazine are among the world's foremost authorities in regard to parent education and child welfare.

Mrs. Paul Davenport, program chairman distributed year books to those who had not received them. Mr. Forrest discussed the school accident insurance plan and stated that letters had been written as requested concerning school bus routes.

Miss Annie Lee Jones, elementary supervisor for Pitt county, made an interesting and informative talk on "Books" in celebration of Book Week. She said that books are our good friends and all of us should cultivate them.

Mr. Casey, practice teacher, talked for a few minutes on classical literature. He said that classics in literature, as well as in other forms of art are those works which have stood the test of time. He stressed the fact that parents as well as teachers have an obligation to their children to help them to love good literature.

An interesting motion picture film on "The Life of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow" brought to a close the very fitting book week program.

Luncheon Given To Honor Bride-Elect

Mrs. Albert Mercer of Fountain and Mrs. Lynwood Owens of Wilson entertained at a three course luncheon at the China Clipper Inn in Wilson, N. C. Saturday noon, honoring Miss Betsy White Fountain, bride-elect of Saturday.

The honoree was presented a corsage and silver in her pattern as gifts from the hostesses.

Guests included friends from Fountain, Wilson, Greenville and Rocky Mount.

Joint Hostesses Honor Bride-Elect

Miss Nell McGlohon, bride-elect, was guest of honor at a bridge party on Wednesday evening with Miss Lois Edwards and Mrs. Richard Cannon entertaining at the home of Miss Edwards.

The honoree received a corsage of white chrysanthemums and china in her chosen pattern.

Bridge was enjoyed at five tables. At the conclusion of the game Mrs. Charles Hudson received high score and floating prizes, and low score went to Mrs. Brantley Jolly of Ayden.

Throughout the house yellow and white chrysanthemums were used as decorations. The mantel was banked with ivy circling a miniature bride and groom.

Miss Bratha Reagan, also a bride-elect, was remembered in her chosen pattern of crystal.

A tempting salad course with nuts was served. Mrs. Kennie McGlohon and Mrs. Mamie Liverman, mothers of the bridal couple-elect, were invited in for refreshments.

Starch is found in all green plants, serving as a reserve food supply.

MOTHER'S HOBBY—Mrs. Louis Rudolph, mother of a student, shows one of the chinchillas she raises, at a parent-student hobby show in Brooklyn, N. Y. Technical High School.

Miss Norman Hostess To Clio Book Club

Miss Elizabeth Norman was hostess to the Clio Book Club on November 15 at her home. Various colors of chrysanthemums throughout the house added to its attractiveness.

Miss Agnes Fullilove, president of the club, held a short business meeting, after which Miss Norman introduced Mrs. B. McKay Johnson as speaker. Mrs. Johnson chose as her subject, "What's New in Southern Literature." She gave a brief review of many of the 1949 publications concerning the south, which inspired each club member to do further reading in this field. She particularly highlighted Phillips Russell's book, "The Woman Who Rang the Bell," which is an interesting book concerning Cornelia Phillips Spencer, her life at Chapel Hill, and her influence on the growth of the University of North Carolina especially during the days of the Revolutionary war and following the war.

Following the program, Miss Norman, assisted by Mrs. Dink James, served a delicious salad course and coffee.

Guests for the afternoon, other than Mrs. Johnson, was Mrs. Norman, mother of the hostess.

Books were exchanged and the club adjourned.

Boy Faces Manslaughter Charge In Death Of Girl

Portland, Me., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A curly haired boy of 14 must answer today a charge of manslaughter in the shooting of his high school sweetheart.

Franklin Deland Wade admitted, county attorney Daniel C. McDonald said, that he shot pretty Katherine B. Furbish, 16, in her bedroom Sunday night.

McDonald said the boy claimed, in a recorded, oral statement, that he was goaded to fury when Katherine laughed at his threat to commit suicide.

Wade, free under $2,000 bond pending municipal court arraignment, was quoted as saying:

"I got madder and madder" while arguing with Katherine about her dating other boys.

"I'd say, 'you don't love me anymore' and Katherine would say 'that's right.'"

Wade got a pistol belonging to Katherine's father, loaded it and sat on the bed with Katherine.

"I pointed the gun at my head and said 'this is easier than jumping off State Pier. A gun is quick.'"

"She said, 'you're crazy.'"

"I thought, 'I'll point the gun at her and maybe she'll think I mean it.'"

"Then I brought the gun down and pointed it at her. She grabbed for the gun. There was a shot. Katherine fell back on the bed."

"I had no intention whatever of the gun going off."

Katherine was a sophomore at Portland high school. Wade left that school two weeks ago. They were neighbors.

200,000 Cotton Growers In N.C. Can Cast Votes

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(AP)—North Carolina has 200,000 cotton farmers eligible to vote in the national marketing quota referendum Thursday, Dec. 15.

G. T. Scott, chairman of the State Production and Marketing Administration, said today "Farmers who produced cotton in 1948 are eligible to vote."

"Every farmer who had an interest in the 1948 crop as owner, tenant or sharecropper, may cast his ballot."

Scott declared "no producer can vote more than once in the referendum even though he has several farms in cotton production. The Secretary of Agriculture has declared quotas on the 1950 crop. It is up to farmers themselves to approve or reject them."

Streptomycin Is Tried On Plants

Berkeley, Calif.—(AP)—The same Streptomycin that kills germs in people work — to an extent — on plant seeds.

Coal Consumers Are Unconcerned

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The nation's coal consumers apparently are not greatly concerned over the possibility John L. Lewis miners may resume their strike Nov. 30.

There have been no indications of panic buying although coal stockpiles are described as low in some states. Only in Illinois were householders and industries reported buying more than their normal requirements.

Lewis' 400,000 soft coal diggers are all at work now but those east of the Mississippi River are scheduled to go out on strike again the end of this month. Anthracite diggers may join them once more.

In Pittsburgh, a new cold wave—with the mercury dropping to 20 degrees above zero last night—did not bring a concerted rush to retail coal yards.

"There's coal of some kind for everyone," said Howard D. Gibbs of the Retail Coal Merchants Association. "Nobody will go cold."

3. Books of esthetic importance—fine printing, illustration or binding.

Kill Sagebrush For More Profit

Woodward, Okla.—(AP)—U. S. ranchers have been making bigger profits by killing sagebrush. This vital part of western stories and films competes with grass, say U. S. Department of Agriculture experts at their fields station here.

Sagebrush can be sprayed with 2, 4-D weed killer from planes for about $225 an acre plus the cost of flag men on the ground. Such treatment kills half to 90 per cent of the sagebrush. About a third of a million acres has been treated so far. Profits on such lands have doubled.

Barkleys Arrive Honeymoon Spot

Sea Island, Ga., Nov. 22.—(P)—The nation's number one newlyweds, vice President Alben Barkley and his bride, lolled under palms today in their honeymoon haven.

"We just want to take it easy," said the portly Barkley as the couple settled down in a swank apartment overlooking the Atlantic Ocean.

Last night, they won seclusion almost for the first time since their wedding in St. Louis Friday. A guard kept visitors a respectful distance from their Shangri-La.

This quiet, luxurious resort in South Georgia's golden Isles was their secret destination through a leisurely three-day drive from St. Louis.

The 71-year-old vice President and his pretty, 38-year-old wife were tired but still laughing and joking on their arrival.

"Mr. Barkley was just like one of our 22-year-old grooves," said hotel manager Irving Harned.

Strength FOR THE DAY

IN HANDS STRONGER THAN OURS
A young man was called into the office of the boss one day and told that he was out of a job. What would he do? He had a wife to support and it seemed as if there was nowhere to turn.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
COMMENTATION—North Carolinians scored again in tributes accorded them at the national Young Democratic Clubs convention at Chattanooga. Just as the Tar Heels rated nationwide commendation for sportsmanship shown at the Notre Dame ball game in New York, they took high honors at the political meet in Tennessee. The national YDC secretary is Charles Markham of Durham. The new regional director for the southeast is Bedford Black of Kannapolis. And permanent chairman of the convention was Basil Whitener of Gastonia.

WHITENER—The permanent chairman had some hard decisions to make in applying parliamentary law to some of the orates and convention procedure. Apparently he got along all right. At the closing session Saturday Richard Linford, leader of the Maryland delegation, rose to a point of tribute to Basil Whitener's ability and fairness as a presiding officer. He said he was authorized to speak for his own state and the Illinois delegation, and he wanted to say that of the many conventions he had attended, including service in the house of delegates of the Maryland legislature, he had never seen a presiding officer handle a convention with more ease, fairness and impartiality than did the chairman at Chattanooga. Later in the day Lee Allen, local chairman of arrangements, presented Whitener with the gavel he had used during the convention. Allen said the Maryland speaker had stolen some of his thunder, but he thought the job done by Basil Whitener justified two commendation speeches.

SOUND—Press dispatches and personal reports from Chattanooga indicate that North Carolina was a stabilizing influence among the national Young Democrats, as it was last year in the general election campaign. The Tar Heels voted with other southern states against all-out endorsement of the civil rights program, but did not exhibit extreme attitudes displayed by some others. And there was no question such as was raised about some western delegations, about the North Carolinians being hard-picked or bought.

HIGH-BROW—Een in the announcer for the loud speaker system at Somebody Told Me...

By I. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.
As I remember, the ages of 10 to 14 are perfect for dreaming to be this or that when "I grow up." Artie Biggs, an 11-year-old from Duke Stadium Saturday had the high-brow university complex. Instead of saying, as most announcers do when penalties are called, "there is flag on the play," or "there's a penalty coming up," the Duke scholar intoned "There's a rules' infraction on the play." To make the confusion complete at one time he said the rules' infraction consisted of "illegal procedure."

EDUCATION—That recalled an incident of the Press Association banquet at Duke a few years ago when the late Henry Dwire was presiding. The menu was "roast breast of keat." Few if any of the diners knew what that was. Several notes were set up asking Mr. Dwire to identify the food. His response was that "one of the benefits of a university education is knowing what you eat." Not until the meal was over did majority of the guests find out they had been served young guinea.

SATISFIED—Comments heard around the stadium just after the game Saturday and around capitol square Monday indicated as much satisfaction over outcome of the athletic contest as of excellence of the food at the banquet some years ago. The Heels fans were happy over the one-point victory, but they weren't bragging much because they knew a similar "break in favor of the Devils could have switched that margin.

SPORTSMANSHIP—On all sides was heard tribute to the sportsmanship of both Carolina and Duke players and rooters. There have been times when actual damage of property and other unsportsmanship conduct featured the annual Carolina-Duke game. Rivalry is just as keen as ever, desire to win is just as obvious, but activities are on higher plane. Witness the "choo-choo" sturt by Duke paraders during the hall, and the card portrait by Carolina students of Duke's new president. And when a player on either side was injured the opposing cheer sections paid homage to his athletic prowess. One observer properly commented that "somebody has done a good job in public relations for inter-collegiate sports."

From "Coronet": Dennis Morgan's son, Stanley, last Christmas wanted a BB gun, but it was forbidden by his parents. So he secretly bought one with money earned delivering newspapers and hid it away until Christmas Eve, when he tiptoed downstairs and placed it under the tree. Next morning, the youngster faked joyous surprise at the sight of the gun, and his baffled parents couldn't very well say anything in protest. The card

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
Washington—Nomination of Mrs. Eugene Anderson of Red Wing, Minn., as ambassador to Denmark brings the total number of American women holding official posts in the United States foreign service today to 166. Mrs. Anderson, attractive democratic national committee-woman, is the first woman to hold the post of ambassador to a foreign country, though three women have been named ministers.

Mrs. Pearl Mesta, wealthy Washington and Newport socialite, is the most recent of these. Appointed minister to Luxembourg, she began her diplomatic service in the tiny duchy in August, attended by much fanfare. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rhode was the first woman to hold a major diplomatic post. She was appointed minister to Denmark by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and served from April 1933 to August 1936. The other woman minister was the energetic Mrs. Daisy Harriman, whom President Roosevelt named minister to Norway on May 4 1937. She resigned in 1940 after a dramatic escape to Sweden when the signed in 1927.

Among other women serving abroad today are 11 women secretaries of embassies or legations and 50 vice consuls. Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the Rector Kitchens

This fall, pork is superior because of the plentiful corn-feeding. Therefore, you will want to serve it often. WILSON'S ribs are among the most popular of all pork cuts. Moist heat cookery makes them truly delicious whether cooked in the oven or on top of the stove.

A Hearty, Hot and Tasty Meal for Cold Weather Appetite Appeal

Don't Make a Job of It! Be F-o-x-x-y!

WILSON'S spare ribs, plump, meaty and tender, plus whole vegetables and fruit are often put to simmer with the kraut on top of the stove causing a mingling of flavors.

We, at Rector Kitchens, want the full flavor of EACH ingredient to remain distinct. Today's recipe accomplishes just that and is so easy to do because the oven minimizes watching. The ribs brown, as they cook for they are set on a rack over the vegetables which, in turn, pick up the good pork flavor.

RIBS ALA RECTOR FOR GOOD PORK NUTRITION

Place contents of:
1 can (2 1/2) sauerkraut in a shallow baking pan. Add:
1 or 2 cured and quartered apples, skins on
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper and
2 to 4 tablespoons brown sugar

Over this place a rack on which you put:
2 1/2 lbs. Wilson's Spare Ribs, whole or cut

Sprinkle with:
1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Bake in a 350° F. oven for 1 1/2 hours if ribs are in one piece or 1 1/4 hours if cut into serving size pieces. When three-fourths done, turn to brown the underside.

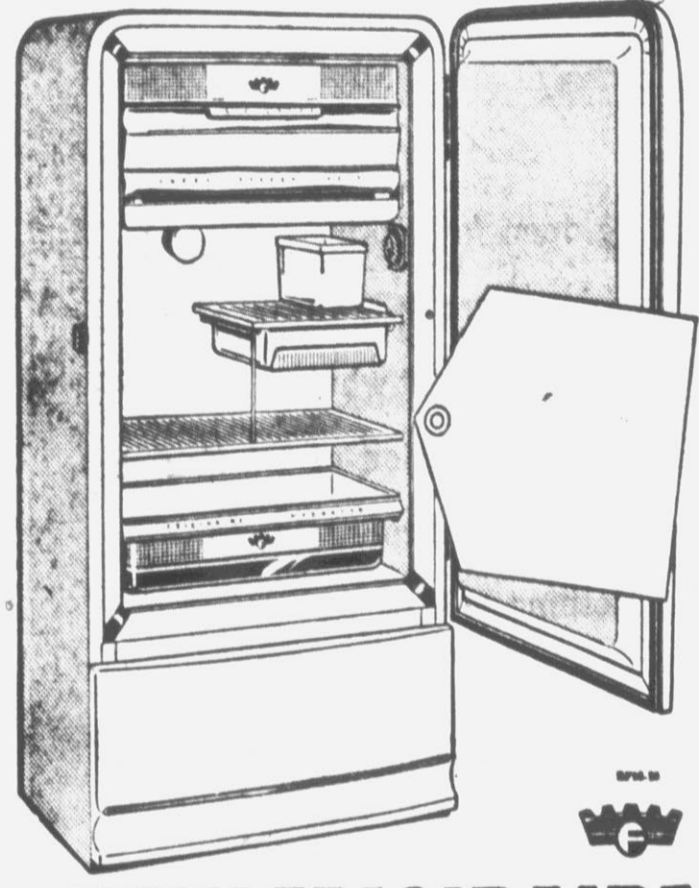

*For a change and added flavor try adding green and par-boiled small carrots with whole potatoes to your braising mixture. They will cook particularly delicious as they baste in the good rib drippings.

Some cooks like to purchase Wilson's Spare Ribs in the "Barbecue Cut" shown above. Then each rib is of uniform length with the triangular section removed.

Decides To Quit Life Of Crime Learned As A Boy

San Francisco, Nov. 22—(AP)—A 21-year-old reform school graduate who says "society doesn't owe me anything," decided of his own volition to quit the life of crime he learned as a youngster.

Police were dumfounded Sunday night when Floyd Christy walked into general police station here and confessed to some 150 burglaries committed since last June.

Christy, a boyish-looking young man, told officers he had averaged $400 a week in his career as a full-time burglar.

"I thought that was something," he said. "I spent the money in night clubs and on girls. I gave them the jewelry I stole."

An orphan, Christy said he had been on his own since he was five.

"Many times I had to steal to eat," he said. "I was a gun for a gang of boys. I started out stealing milk bottles then bicycles, then blankets from cars and then the cars themselves."

The young burglar said his only education was in the State Training school for boys at Woodburn, Oregon.

"I'm going straight after this one," he told officers who booked him for investigation.

Christy said he wanted to return to Tokyo to the Japanese wife he married secretly when he served there as an air force military policeman. He told officers they have a small daughter. In Tokyo, the air force said available records did not show a Floyd Christy.

Cold Winds Whip Eastern States

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold, northerly winds whipped across a wide portion of the eastern half of the nation today. Temperatures dropped to their lowest levels of the autumn season in many areas.

The frosty weather extended from the Rockies to the New England states and dipped into most of the South. Florida and southern Georgia escaped the cold blasts, but the mercury was in the upper twenties as far south as central Alabama.

Charlotte, N.C., had a minimum of 26 degrees. Other Carolina lows included: Asheville and Greensboro 27, Raleigh 28, Spartanburg 30, Columbia 33, Wilmington 34, and Charleston 38. More sub-freezing weather was predicted for tonight in both states.

Snow flurries accompanied the chilly breezes in many sections. There was a narrow band of light snow from eastern Lake Michigan through Indiana and Kentucky into Tennessee. Snow flurries also were reported from the southern shores of Lakes Erie and Ontario eastward into northern New England and southward through parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Temperatures were below normal.

Winterville Girl Sings At Rotary Club Meeting

By WYATT BROWN

The singing of a third year high school student, Ruth Little of Winterville, constituted the Rotary program last night. She sang seven numbers, accompanied at the piano by her music teacher, Mrs. Howard Bodkin.

Miss Little sang the following numbers: "Lindy Lou," "The Man I Love," "Morning," "The Lilac Tree," "Kashmiri Song," "Winter Wonder Land," and "Think On Me."

Bill Regan of the Exchange Club bespoke the Rotarians cooperation with the promotion by the Exchange Club of a Midget Bowl game at 2:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Day in the East Carolina Teachers College stadium. He said it was hoped it might become an annual affair. Proceeds of the game will be used to promote the athletic program of both the white and colored schools.

Rotarian J. H. Rose presented the need for funds to send the GHS band to Chapel Hill for the Carolina-Virginia game.

Guests of the club were L. B. Hurlburt of Essex, N.J., Dr. J. K.

Kit Carson Clan Plans Convene At Charlotte

Charlotte, N.C., Nov. 22—(AP)—Indian descendants of frontier scout Kit Carson are considering Charlotte for their next convention, in the summer of 1951.

Dr. James N. Carson of Clinton, S.C., Kit's grandson, yesterday asked the Chamber of Commerce how about it.

"We have nothing to sell or give away. All we want is space on a paved street off the main street for the Indians to erect their teepees and wigwams," he wrote.

Tom Pynch, director of public relations for the commerce chamber, answered he thought it could be arranged.

Carson wrote that the conventions—held every three years—include a parade with horses, cars and old-time Indian conveyances.

New Eisenhower Move Under Way

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 22—(AP)—A new movement to induce Dwight D. Eisenhower to seek the Republican nomination for President in 1952 is under way here.

A similar effort collapsed two years ago when the retired Army General refused to be a candidate.

George Abbott, a real estate broker, said the sponsors of the local Eisenhower-for-President club asked the Columbia University president a week ago to sanction the movement.

Despite the fact that he did not answer, Abbott said "we're going ahead with the movement, anyway, until such time as Eisenhower says he will refuse the Republican nomination in 1952."

A public meeting was held in City Hall auditorium last night to boost Eisenhower for the Republican nomination.

Abbott said poster proposing him for President would carry the slogan: "First in war, first in peace and first in the heart of humanity."

New Orleans, Nov. 22—(AP)—Rep. Harold Cooley (D-NC) wants the federal government to lend municipalities money to build terminal produce markets.

He told of his plan while he and members of the committee toured marketing facilities here.

Everybody Got Into Act When Metropolitan Staged Opening

New York, Nov. 22—(AP)—Everybody got into the act last night as the Metropolitan Opera opened its 65th season.

On-stage, the Richard Strauss women-dominated opera "Der Rosenkavalier" went off smoothly with Rise Stevens, Eleanor Steber and others singing out their arias to six solidly packed tiers of opera goers.

Between acts, the great and would-be great of society put on their own show for the television cameras.

Those who weren't starred in either performance lined the corridors and pointed, oohed and aahed at celebrities on and off the stage.

One minute, the opera house at 39th Street and Broadway was a gloomy, deserted cavern. Its only light came from a single, feeble bulb above the orchestra pit.

In the next, it became a glittering, brilliant arena, with bejeweled patrons strung in a horseshoe pattern around the colorfully laid-out stage.

But the bar was never dim and never quiet.

A table captain, veteran of 15 consecutive opening nights, lamented:

"This is the worst I have ever seen. They all want to walk around in front of the television cameras. How can we keep the aisles clear?"

He couldn't. He finally gave up.

In an endless, between-acts fashion show, society paraded in one door, along the bar and out past the cameras. A few paused for a drink. A handful had tables reserved.

Husky, handsome Met Tenor Lauritz Melchior, and lovely, blonde Soprano Dorothy Kirsten were the chief target of photographers and sapping celebrity hunters. Both were on a busman's holiday. They sing later in the 18-weeks season.

The star of every opening night for years, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, made it this time in a wheelchair.

Scout Leaders In Training Course

Approximately 15 Boy Scout leaders of the Pitt County district attended the sixth meeting of the Scoutmasters training course held last night at the Presbyterian church.

Henry Wood took charge of the opening with a candle-light presentation of the Scout law, followed by the game period led by Joe Barber.

Sherman Parks showed a movie on planning, preparation and execution of a troop hike, and Bob Wolfe demonstrated the method of assembling and packing necessary materials for an overnight camp.

The closing of the meeting was led by John Hardee.

Actress Voices New Standard

Hollywood, Nov. 22—(AP)—"In our country a woman isn't considered a woman until she can attract a man with her clothes on."

Italian Actress Marina Bertl startled studio publicity photographers with this statement yesterday as she obligingly posed for the customary cheese-plate art in a Stiehes silk slip.

Miss Bertl is here for a major role in the film, "Deported."

Red Oak News

Reverend Hartwell Campbell of Greenville will be the guest speaker at a Thanksgiving service which will be held at Red Oak Christian church on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 24th, at 11 o'clock.

A committee composed of Mesdames Thurman Paige, Bill Jenkins, Amos Evans, Travis Crawford and James Allen have made plans for the day and all members of the church are asked to assemble themselves together at this service and give thanks for the many blessings our church has received. Our neighbors from surrounding churches and communities are also invited to come and worship with us on this occasion.

All but eight members answered to the roll call of Circle No. 1 of Red Oak which met last evening at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Tripp. Mrs. Thurman Paige, president, presided and Mrs. H. R. Allen was acting secretary in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. James Allen, who was unable to attend on account of the illness of her husband.

A report from a supper served last Monday night to the State College Alumni and a turkey supper served to the public on Wednesday night was given and the proceeds from these two suppers boosted our building fund considerably. A free will offering from several members present at the circle meeting amounted to $135. As it stands at this writing we still have approximately $195 to go. Come on folks, we must have that. Remember December 1 is just around the corner.

Mrs. Doc Smith gave the devotional and little Nesa Anne Paige gave a Thanksgiving reading and song.

The hostess, assisted by Jarvis Tripp, Jr., Miss Hazel Garris and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pate, served a lovely plate of chicken salad, Ritz crackers, nuts, minis, grapes and party cakes with cold drinks. After singing to their hearts content the circle adjourned to meet on the third Sunday night in December at "Woodside" home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson. Let's try and have 100 percent attendance.

We were very happy to welcome Mr. Clyde Bright in our midst at church and Sunday school Sunday and also at the circle meeting. He has just recently returned from McGuire's hospital in Richmond, where he has been confined for the past two months. He is getting along fine.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. James Allen and Mr. Kid Tyson are both ill. They are in McGuire's hospital.

Women In The Church

A blind Chinese young woman, Miss Yao, graduate of the School for the Blind in Chengtu, Szechuan Province, West China, is now enrolled as a candidate for the ministry in the Theological College of West China Union University.

At a recent meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of North Carolina, held at Charlotte, the churchwomen pledged themselves to fight intolerance and racial and religious prejudice, declaring that these constitute a menace to national unity and are in direct violation of Christ's commands.

Miss E. Gertrude Hanks, of Meadville, Penn., a Methodist missionary who has often been called "the best-known and best-loved North American woman in Peru," died recently, while on furlough in Meadville. For twenty-six years she served as missionary-principal of Lima High School, the only Protestant secondary school for girls in the entire Republic of Peru. During that period she developed it into one of the most important educational institutions in all South America, and hundreds of women from all the Spanish-speaking countries of the continent are its graduates and former students. She was decorated by the Peruvian government for her service to the nation and to womanhood. Born in Randolph Township, Penn., on July 27, 1888, she was educated at Edinboro (Pa.) Teachers College and at Allegheny College.

A call for 50 young men and young women to enlist for three years of missionary service in Latin America, and to be prepared for their jobs by August, 1950, has been issued by the Board of Missions and Church extension of the Methodist Church. The call was signed by Dr. M. O. Williams, Jr., and Miss Kathryn Bieri, in charge of the

Approve Changes In Fishing Laws

Raleigh, Nov. 22—(AP)—Several minor changes have been approved by the Wildlife Resources Commission in drafting regulations for the 1950 fishing season.

The changes were approved after a public hearing yesterday held by commission members in the Hall of the State House of Representatives.

One change raises the limit for taking of striped bass from 12 to 16 inches, provided that such an increase meets the approval of the Department of Conservation Development.

Although the striped bass is a commercial fish, it spawns in inland waters. The Wildlife Commission has jurisdiction over inland waters while the Conservation Board reigns supreme offshore.

The creel limit was reduced from 20 to 15 on several fish, including blue gills, red-breasted (robin), war-bourch bass, and yellow and white perch. The creel limit on rock bass was cut from 20 to 10.

The regulations will become effective Jan. 1.

Since stripping started at the open-pit iron mine in Hibbing, Minn., in 1895, more material has been taken from the pit than was originally excavated in building the Panama Canal.

FIRST IN RUBBER

It's an invincible "8"—that great Lincoln engine!

WHEN early performance reports from Lincoln owners first reached our ears, we were frankly skeptical. For in the first few weeks, every new car owner thinks his new car is the very finest car there is. Yet, month after month, the praise pours in about the great new Lincoln engine.

"It is capable," owners state, "of the smoothest performance on the road." To which statement we heartily agree.

For we have yet to see the new automobile—at any price—that can stand up to Lincoln on the highway.

Literally, the great new Lincoln engine—with the automatic responsiveness of HYDRA-MATIC—is an invincible "8"—and not merely for sheer stamina alone. For dependability and economy, too, it is again in a class by itself.

Why not try a new Lincoln or Lincoln Cosmopolitan today?

P.S. Incidentally, you can own one for much less than you may think.

Short of Murder

By Tom T. Ness AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 3
Hackett edged his way along a brick facade toward the shop. Craning his neck cautiously, he looked around the edge of a window frame and with a violent start gazed squarely into eyes which grinned diabolically at him. Then he chuckled. A cobalt-blue vase molded to the likeness of a leering Bacchus stood on a small shelf bracketed to the window frame, level with Hackett's head.

He read the gold-leaf lettering—Eben Daniels, Antiques—on the plateglass window. And then: "I gotcha! Stick 'em up!" barked someone behind him.

Hackett whirled. He looked at the business end of a revolver held by a night watchman in uniform.

followed you a to'able distance when you was tailing the dame." He gave a short laugh. "You acted suspicious."

"Did you follow me around the block after I had chased the car?" "You mean after you lolly-gagged with that other dame, in front of the drug store."

"Have it your own way," said Hackett dryly.

"Yeh, I followed you round the block." The watchman set foot on the antique shop threshold. "And you can follow me, now, if you ain't afraid to go in there."

The night watchman, with Larry tailing him, entered the store and turned on several lights. They made their way gingerly down an aisle, threading through a hodgepodge of antiques. Even the atmosphere reeked heavily of antiquity.

An old grandfather clock stood against the backroom partition. Strangely enough, the venerable time-piece was running within several minutes of the correct time which, as indicated by Hackett's wrist-watch, was eight-forty-six.

The watchman opened the partition door and entered the back room "Cheese!" he let out, halting so abruptly that Hackett collided with him.

"What's wrong?" the newsman demanded sharply, and then saw a grisly figure on the floor.

"It's Daniels!" the watchman muttered. "He's dead!"

The body lay supine on a worn chenille rug in the center of the small room. Its face was like parchment and pinched by the blight of senility, its neck as deeply wrinkled as the ankle of a riding boot. A hiltsless knife of uncommon design protruded from its chest.

"An old man indeed!" murmured Hackett, his thoughts winging back to the clipped conversations he had heard at Tony's cafe. He turned his shocked eyes toward things less repugnant.

The furniture of the room or office consisted of a rickety spinet-desk, two chairs, and an old-fashioned iron safe. One of the chairs was overturned, the only indication that a struggle, a brief struggle, had occurred. The two massive doors of the safe stood open, revealing four shelves filled almost to capacity with books.

In a corner of the room, where the partition and a side wall converged, there was a small lavatory an embroidered initial.

"Yes, Chief, he's dead," the man at the telephone was saying slowly in a tone one uses in the presence of death.

On an impulse Hackett rose and moved toward the partition door.

"Where you going?" asked the watchman, hanging up the telephone receiver.

"Out there, to stop that infernal ticking; it's getting on my nerves," replied Hackett as he crossed the threshold.

He opened the glass door of the grandfather clock, arrested the motion of the pendulum and then observed a small empty chamber above the dial, which recess, when he closed the clock door, was concealed by the wide wooden frame around the glass. He was also vaguely aware that a verse was inscribed in gilt on the glass panel. Such seemingly trivial details, however, did not interest him at the moment.

Thinks Burglary Was Interrupted

Robbers who broke into the Greenville Equipment Company's plant, 1910 Dickinson Avenue, near the railroad underpass last night, evidently were disturbed in their nocturnal safe-cracking operations, Police Chief Lester D. Page said today.

The robbers broke out a window in the rear to gain entrance to the building. They used an acetylene torch in their attempt to open the safe door. They stole a 1946 black Nash automobile with the N.C. license number 432-090 and tried to break into a soft drink vending machine.

Police Capt. Johnny Mobley discovered the robbery in his rounds about 4:25 a.m.

Detective M. E. Corbett and fingerprint specialist Capt. S. Bowen Dorsey are continuing their investigation.

The speech was usually done by the ghosts whose names were never mentioned.

Come to think of it, it would seem odd if Mr. Truman got up to make a speech and, to avoid the "counterfeiting" label put on ghostly speech by Justice Jackson, made his speech this way:

"My Fellow Americans: The speech I'm about to deliver has been put together by Joe Jones, a file clerk in the Labor Department, Charley Ross, my secretary, Charley Murphy, one of my aides, Clark Clifford, one of my aides, and Mrs. Truman, who suggested some changes when I read the speech to her last night.

"Paragraphs 2, 7, 10, 22, and 37 were put together entirely by Jones, Ross and Murphy are responsible for Paragraphs 11 to 21, Clifford re-wrote Ross and Murphy in 14 other paragraphs, and I re-wrote Clifford in 20 others, 10 of which were at the suggestion of Mrs. Truman."

Other government officials have ghosts, or at least ghostly help. So do many businessmen. If you asked them why they didn't do the whole job themselves, they'd probably say: "I can't possibly make all the

Spy Conspiracy Trial Postponed

New York, Nov. 22—(AP)—The spy conspiracy trial of Judith Coplon and Valentin Gubitchev was postponed today until Dec. 27.

The Russian engineer's newly retained attorney, Abraham L. Pomerantz won the postponement when he told federal judge Sylvester J. Ryan he needed the time to prepare himself for the trial.

Pomerantz told the court that he expected to explore the possibility that his client should be accorded diplomatic immunity.

(Continued from page one) that the boys of his classes were praying that I might have strength in the coming battle.

"And don't these messages help you?" I asked. Don't they strengthen your morale?"

He nodded, and there was moisture in his eyes.

Speaking of morale, Morley's name was synonymous with success to his men in the desert. It was the rabbits' foot they carried into battle. Morale was a fetish with the General, too.

"Morale is the thing," he told me. "You can do anything with an army if its morale is high x x x morale depends on success. Give the troops success and their morale is high."

At another point Montgomery said: "A battle is a contest between two men—two commands.—to see which can outwit the other."

He turned to a life-size head-and-shoulders photo of Rommel, and remarked: "That's Rommel. I captured that. He's a grand soldier but we shall beat him."

"You are confident," I remarked. "Your own morale is high."

Montgomery looked me straight in the eye and nodded.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Nov. 22—(AP)—Leading stocks hugged a narrow price line in today's market. Most quotations, where changed at all, moved only minor fractions from Monday's final levels. Many showed a tendency to drift aimlessly between the plus and minus columns.
