Miss Mary Milner of Leaskville is visiting Miss Frances Bagwell. Greenville is a good town but lacks much in having all the things needed and there is nothing it needs now more than manufacturing and enterprises.

Ballard's X Roads News

The pastor, congregation and friends of Ballard's Presbyterian church are happy to announce that dedication services of the church will be held Sunday, December 4, being the fifth anniversary of the organization of the church.

The $2500 debt on the church building completed several months ago has been paid in full. The November meeting of the Women of the Church opened by the members standing for a few minutes of silent prayer, closed by the Rev. E. S. Coates. The Bible study for the afternoon was based on John 13 and 14 and was presented by Mrs. Gildred Nichols with the members giving different parts from the chapters and discussing each part. Mrs. Coates assisted in the Bible study and closed it with prayer.

The program topic was home missions. At the business session, presided over by Mrs. Wiley Crawford, plans were made for the series of meetings that are being held in the church this week by Rev. L. W. Topping. During the social hour,

Successful Season For Bethel Sweet Potato Market

Pitt's 4-H Achievement Day Program An Indication Of Progress By Clubs

By ROY HARDEE

This week several hundred Pitt County farm families and their children crowded into the Pitt County courtroom to take part in the annual 4-H Club Achievement Day program.

The main purpose of the Achievement Day is to recognize club members for outstanding work during the year and to further promote interest in 4-H club work.

From a total membership of 815, some 130 4-H members from all sections of Pitt County received awards ranging from one-year service awards to six County champions in forestry, tractor maintenance, leadership, poultry, meat animal, garden, health, farm safety, field crops and wildlife awards were announced.

The champions were selected as being the best in each of the classifications. One of the county champions, Wesley Manning, who conducted a successful project on Farm Safety, left this week to go to Chicago to take part in a national Farm Safety contest.

Service Award Presented.

Service awards were presented to all members of the 4-H clubs, who during the course of the year, finish an assigned project and submit a report on their work. This year, of 815 members enrolled in club work, 130 finished their projects. Many of the remainder finished their projects but did not turn in their reports, and thus were not eligible for awards.

For the first time in recent years, club members who have completed five and six years of 4-H Club work were given pins and awards. The pins will be given each year, but only to the members who complete five years of work.

Nearly every section of Pitt County is represented by these 4-H clubs which are scattered around the county. In many of the sections where there is a club, both a senior and junior club are found. The junior club enrolls those members who have not yet reached high school, and the senior clubs are composed of members in the high school.

Only Ayden and Winterville do not have 4-H club programs. Efforts have been made to put a club in the Ayden school but a club has not been started. It was pointed out by the Pitt County 4-H office. Outstanding 4-Hers.

Each year a boy and girl from the Pitt 4-H Clubs are selected as the most outstanding club member in the county. The selection is based Seven members of the Pitt County 4-H Clubs were presented pin and service awards in recognition of their five and six year service records at the annual Pitt County 4-H Club Achievement Day held this week. The members are, left to right: Edgar Latham, Grimesland Senior Club (6 years), Hazel Garris, Farmville Senior Club (6 years), Sallie Scott Morcan, Farmville Senior Club (6 years), Dorothy Garris, Belvoir Senior Club (5 years), Julia Stokes, Belvoir Senior Club (5 years), William Harris, Belvoir Senior Club (5 years), Jean Moore, Farmville Senior Club (5 years), was absent when the picture was taken. on project records, competitive records, attendance to 4-H Club meetings, project income, leadership, and narrative reports.

For the first time, handsome eight inch gold trophies were presented to the winners by the Greenville Jaycees. Louis Gaylord, president of the Jaycees, announced that the club hopes to present the awards to the outstanding boy and girl each year. Honors this year went to State 4-H Club President Hazel Garris, of Farmville, and Robert Lee Edwards, Jr. of Chocoma.

The Achievement Day programs provide a chance for club members all over Pitt County to come together at one point and learn of the work being carried on by other clubs. Information brought out by some speaker or club member may help another club to improve its work. A planned program is aimed at bringing before the club members items of interest along with amusement at the annual Achievement Day program.

The highlight of the annual Achievement Day which the 4-H Clubs held recently was the presentation of gold trophies to the most outstanding boy and girl in Pitt County 4-H Club work. The trophies, eight inch gold cups, were given by the Greenville Jaycees. President Louis Gaylord and Sam Weeks are shown presenting the cups to Hazel Garris of Farmville and Robert Lee Edwards, Jr. of Chocoma who were selected as the most outstanding Pitt County 4-H Club girl and boy.

Win N. Carolina 4-H State Championships

NORTH CAROLINA 4-H State winners in the 1949 Dress Revue, Girls' Record, Poultry and Tractor Maintenance programs each received an all-expense trip to the 28th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Brief outlines of their records follow:

Audrey Pearce, 18, of Edenton, was judged State winner in the 1949 4-H Dress Revue. Her costume is a navy blue rayon crepe one-piece dress. It is made with a four-pointed skirt, which has an inset yoke near the waistline. The blouse is made with a high neckline and short sleeves. It has five darts on one shoulder, which form a soft drape. Audrey had her belt and buttons covered, which gives her dress that "ready-made" touch. The cost of her costume was $3.61. She has won many awards on her exhibits during the nine years of her clothing project. In recognition of her achievement, Sam Houston Pattern Co. sent Audrey to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, all expenses paid. To be named State winner in the National 4-H Girls' Record program means that the young lady is most proficient in not only one homemaking project, but in several. This honor went to Carolyn Miller, 19, of Statesville, who completed eight years in 4-H Club work. She did an especially fine job in clothing, food preparation and home improvement. Carolyn has completed 35 club projects. She planned and prepared 240 meals, in addition to 245 separate dishes. She made 140 garments for herself and family; remodeled and improved four rooms, and canned 2,074 quarts of fruits and vegetables. Carolyn managed to find time to serve her club as president, leader, and as recreation and song leader. She led games and recreation at 18 camp or community gatherings. Carolyn won numerous awards and trips for her outstanding work. She is now enrolled as a freshman at Mitchell College. In recognition of her achievements, Carolyn attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago as a guest of Montgomery Ward.

Learning proper care and operation of tractors not only paid off in fuel saving for Gerald Bolic, 16, of Lenoir, but brought him the distinction of being chosen 1949 State champion in the National 4-H Tractor Maintenance program. By putting into practice what he learned, Gerald kept the family tractor in year-round working order. He also was able to help club members with tractor problems. In carrying out his 27 other projects, Gerald found it important it was to have the tractor ready for each job. Active in club affairs, he served as leader and president, and also held offices in the County 4-H Council. As a reward, Gerald attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, with all expenses paid by American Oil Company.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

New Protection For 6 Counties

Six new counties in North Carolina have been selected to be covered by Federal All-Risk crop insurance in 1950. It was reported by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Counties which were selected, include Beaufort, Caswell, Duplin, Forsyth and Jones. The counties were selected on the basis of signed requests by interested tobacco producers in the counties. Eight counties were seeking the insurance program.

In 1949 there were ten counties with all-risk crop insurance in North Carolina, which will be continued in 1950. The counties are Pitt, Stokes, Surry, Vance, Wake and Wilson, with tobacco insurance; Cleveland and Mecklenburg counties with cotton insurance; and Perquimans with multiple crop insurance.

One new county, Rutherford, has been selected as a new cotton county for the 1950 season. Another county is expected to be selected soon.

The fifty-first Congress permitted a eighty-percent increase in the number of counties over those with insurance in 1949 on a nationwide basis. The act covers tobacco while in the curing barns and pack-houses; covering fire and other unavoidable losses beginning with the 1950 policies.

Plans Already In Making To Build New Warehouse

Officials of the Bethel Auction company this week took stock of the season's activities of their new sweet potato auction market which with its opening in October became the second such market in North Carolina, and brought new meaning to agricultural diversification in the eastern part of the state.

New Experience

During the five weeks the market held its auction sales this fall, a total of 33,045 bushels of sweet potatoes were traded for cash by farmers who came from at least 13 counties in this section of the state to try the new method of selling their sweet potato crop. And as for the money which went to the growers, the auction company, during its first season's operation, paid a total of $55,603.73 for the items which went to the block at Bethel.

The Bethel market, which is patterned after the market at Tabor City, opened its first sales on October 10, as 698 bushels of potatoes went to the block on opening day, and farmers received prices ranging from $1.50 to $2.35 per bushel for their offerings. During the first week, however, selling sweet potatoes of an auction market was something new for most farmers in this area, and they had to learn how the baskets of potatoes should be packed, and what size potatoes would bring the best prices.

Approximately 2400 bushels of potatoes were sold at the market during the first week, and the growers averaged approximately $1.90 per bushels for their offerings. As the season wore on, farmers learned that the buyers were looking for in the higher priced potatoes, packed better baskets, and received more for their offerings. They also took greater care in digging the potatoes, and began inquires from the county agent which point to a larger and better sweet potato crop in this area next year.

Bright Future

Officials of the auction company, who undertook the sweet potato venture as a community project, said the success of the season was "beyond our fondest expectations," and J. P. Harris, one of the organizers and principal stockholders in the venture, predicted that next season would see the market come to the fore in agriculture circles in this area with sales anticipated to reach 100,000 bushels of potatoes.

When the season began, Harris said, the leaders in the organization considered the market would be a success if it drew at least 20,000 bushels of potatoes from farms in this area. But when the season's sales ended on November 2, the total bushels sold reached over 33 per cent above the hopes of the stockholders in the auction company.

The enthusiasm which the success of the market has brought to this area has not been confined entirely to the 28 Bethel businessmen who financed the venture. Agricultural leaders from various sections of the state have expressed their pleasure at the success of the market in its first season, and have pointed to it as the foundation for another highly profitable cash crop for the farmers in this territory. And the farmers themselves generally are highly pleased with the new outlet which has been afforded them for a crop long relegated to practical insignificance in this section of North Carolina.

Market Serves Wide Area

The leaders of the auction market attribute the success of the market to the cooperation of the growers in Pitt, Martin, Edgecombe and surrounding counties who brought potatoes to the auction block and to the individual businessmen who threw their influence behind the project. Farmers brought their potatoes to the market from Pitt, Edgecombe, Martin, Nash, Moore, Wilson, Halifax, Washington, Bertie, Beaufort, Craven, Northampton and Wake counties to be sold at auction; and inquiries about the market came from as far away as Forsyth county.

Storage Facilities

In addition to the auction market itself, however, is the storage warehouse in Bethel where more than 30,000 bushels of the sweet potatoes are being cured and stored for sales on the northern markets later in the winter. The 13 buyers who bought on the market this fall were

In the warehouse of the Bethel Storage Company the sweet potatoes which were sold on the Bethel Auction market this fall are being cured in readiness for resale to distributors later this winter and next spring. The warehouse is checked full with more than 30,000 bushels of sweet potatoes. It is heated with hot air heat to keep the potatoes at a constant temperature and insure their good quality.

With their potatoes stacked high in the background, these eight of the 13 buyers who purchased sweet potatoes on the Bethel Auction market this fall gather around for the Reflector photographer. Strength FOR THE DAY. CAN YOU MAKE IT WORK? Dr. Wilfred Grenfell was one of the great figures of the closing decades of the 19th and the opening decades of the 20th centuries. He was a physician who left a comfortable practice in London to go to bleak Labrador where there was no physician and where a forgotten segment of humanity endured pain and suffering which was indescribable. Here he remained the whole of his adult life, and died leaving behind him a beautiful memory. He was a man of deep religious convictions, and best of all he lived his religion every day. Here is what he says about religion: 'Absolutely the only value of our religion is to ourselves or to anyone else what it fits us for and enables us to do. Credits, when expressed only in words, clothes, or an abnormal life, are daily growing less acceptable as passports to Paradise. What my particular intellect can accept cannot commend me to God. His welcome is only spoken to the man who will do to His will.' Religion is not the complicated matter we often imagine it is. In fact, it is so simple a child can understand it. But only the utterly sincere can make it work. YOU KNOW ALL THE ANSWERS. Did you think we were going to forget to remind you that buying Christmas Seals is a mighty good investment? Have you heard, or read, that tuberculosis is killing nearly 125 persons a day in this country; and on reading this did the real importance of the fact of its preventability make itself clear to you? Have you heard how education and research is winning the fight against tuberculosis... bringing new hope to its victims, and keeping others from falling to the Great White Plague? Do you remember the great chest X-Ray campaign staged in Pitt County this year, and the tremendous importance we all attached to the program? Did you think the expense of such an effort was shouldered by an inexhaustible fund? Are you aware of the scientific studies, the planned, year-round program of education, case finding and rehabilitation conducted by the Tuberculosis Association? And did you know that it rests on the pennies and nickles, the dimes and dollars raised by the Christmas Seal sales in communities throughout America? Have you bought your Christmas Seals? Around Capitol Square. COURTS—Superior court judges faced pretty well in latest decisions of the supreme court. Sixteen cases were decided, in which nine were affirmed, one modified and affirmed, six reversed. Of three criminal appeals two resulted in affirmation of death sentences and new trial was ordered in a trespass action. IMPORTANT—Cases which attract most public interest are not always most important from the viewpoint of establishing legal precedent. Major interest centered in the Cameron divorce case and action brought by the Bright Leaf Warehouse Association to outlaw sales on auction tobacco markets unless attended by a full complement of buyers. No really important points of law were involved in the cases as presented. The warehouse case involved some vital points but they did not get before the court. One of the most significant decisions in its effect upon governmental policies was that affirming Judge W. H. Bobbitt's ruling invalidating a legislative act declaring support of the Mecklenburg county rural police to be a special purpose. GENERAL—The 1947 legislature enacted a local law authorizing a special tax levy for the rural police claiming it a "special purpose." Southern Railroad paid the tax under protest and sued for recovery. At chambers hearing in Charlotte Judge Bobbitt ruled with the railroad and the county appealed. Justice Barnhill, writing for the high court, affirmed the Bobbitt ruling and set out the controlling proposition that law enforcement as a general purpose expense, and that peculiar organizational framework could not convert it to a special purpose sufficient to justify a separate tax levy above the constitutional limit. TOBACCO—Since the warehouse case was built around a restraining order forbidding "rump" sales at Rocky Mount this year, and the market is about ready to close, Justice Devin writing for the court pointed out it was largely a moot question. Because of its importance, however, the court considered the issue and held that the board of governors of the Bright Leaf Warehouse Association exceeded authority in adopting rules setting out what companies must auction sale. That decision reversed Judge Paul Prizzelle, who had sustained the injunction order against Rocky Mount warehouses as members of the association. UNSETTLED—The opinion did not deal with the basic question of how or by whom auction markets should be regulated. That is a very live issue. Many farm organization leaders think it means ultimate government control. A. C. Edwards of Greene county, president of the N. C. Farm Bureau, said government control is one step nearer. Harry Caldwell, master of the State Grange, has called a meeting at Raleigh next Thursday to discuss the problem. SATISFIED—For many years there has been controversy about operation of a huge tobacco market. At one time regulation was by the buyers and manufacturers. Then it moved to a group composed of manufacturer-buyers, warehousemen and farmers. This year it was handled by warehousemen. None of these methods proved entirely satisfactory and there has been information. The third even four. Monday and Thursday nights the members of the Guild can be found in the city courtroom, Municipal Building, rehearsing the play develops, rehearsals will probably increase to three a week, and perhaps even four. The club on "Return Engagement" says it opened on Broadway in 1940. For some reason it doesn't say when it closed, but for the Greenville Guild's sake let's assume that it wasn't the next night. The pre-war Greenville Little Theater whipped up some top-notch plays, and the post-war group is on the same road. Washington, N. C., sent Murray Hamilton to Broadway and he's stealing the show from Henry Ford in "Mr. Roberts." You never can tell; Greenville might send up a neighbor for Murray. And I thank you.

Somebody Told Me... By I. J. (Jack) Edwards, Jr. When Mr. Jack Kilgo asks his daughter, Suzanne, to pass the sugar he gets a reply something like this: "Oh, darling, how can you want coffee at a time like this? Can't you see that we were meant for each other?" At first Mr. Kilgo considered having Suzanne's head examined, but the problem cleared up when she told him that she has joined the Greenville Little Theater Guild, recently organized. Suzanne is rehearsing for the first play, "Return Engagement" which will be presented at the State Theater late in January. So these days when Mr. Kilgo asks for the sugar he gets a few lines of drama along with it. Thirty enthusiastic dramatists in a short time have organized and the first production is well underway. "They are playing around now with glass skis," said Fred Picard, who operates the Sky shot at the Sun Valley resort. "Glass skis may be the coming thing. They've already tried aluminum in a search for something to replace hickory. Good hickory skis today cost $40 to $60. That's too high. The industry is looking for a material that will enable it to mass produce skis selling at $5 a pair." Picard, who first learned his umbrings and skis in Switzerland, is an authority on the fast-growing winter sport. "I am one of the few people who spend 12 months a year at it—and make a living out of it," he said. Picard, now 42, came here originally in 1939 to set up the Swiss handicrafts exhibit at the New York World's Fair. He switched to the ski business when he saw how rapidly American interest in the sport was increasing. "Twelve years ago there were only about 100,000 skiers in this country," he said. "Now there are at least 2,000,000. And that doesn't count the kids who ski in the backyards." Besides selling fancy equipment to movie stars at Sun Valley, Picard

CONTRACT WITH GOD

This is the one contract that a lawyer cannot draw up.

It is also the one contract that has no standing in court.

When a man enters into a contract with God he needs neither lawyer nor code of laws. All he needs is a grateful heart!

He may write this contract on a church pledge card, or merely make a "mental note" of it—but the terms are always the same:

*"Because God has Given me so much, I will return
ALL I CAN TO GOD."*

We have churches and institutions of mercy today because men have made and kept such contracts through the ages. What we will have tomorrow depends on the honesty and gratitude with which we deal with God today!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ayden High Places 6 On Coastal All-Conference Team

Vanceboro And Farmville Place 2 Each On Team

By EUGENE PRICE
Six Ayden high school football players, including a 14-year-old freshman end, landed on the 1949 Coastal All-Conference football team named by the conference coaches and announced today by the Daily Reflector.

Every team in the five-team conference with the exception of Robersonville is represented on the all-conference team. Two came from Farmville and Vanceboro and one came from South Edgecombe high school in Pinebluff.

The sextet from Ayden high was led by Leonard Treedy, Buena Vista, unanimous choice for All-Conference quarterback for his triple-threat performance in capturing Coach Stuart Trapp's Tomahawk for the conference championship.

Probably the youngest in the conference football player ever to make an All-Conference team was Ayden's Whitehurst, 14-year-old freshman who stands 5'11, weighs 150 pounds and weighs 150 pounds.

The All-Conference team listed alphabetically:
Ends—Mar Whitehurst, the most outstanding freshman football player in the conference, who also is a starting berth with Ayden's Tomahawks and played consistently good ball all year. He was one of the big reasons for Ayden's successful passing attack.

Claude Wilson, five foot 11 inch, 165 pound senior, who led the Vanceboro forward wall defensively and offensively. He was on the receiving end of Vanceboro's aerial offense which had a record of nearly 500 completions.

Tackles—Roy Jackson, Ayden, a big man on a big football team. A 175-pound junior, Jackson was one of the many big reasons for Ayden's going undefeated in the conference. Jackson scored two touchdowns.

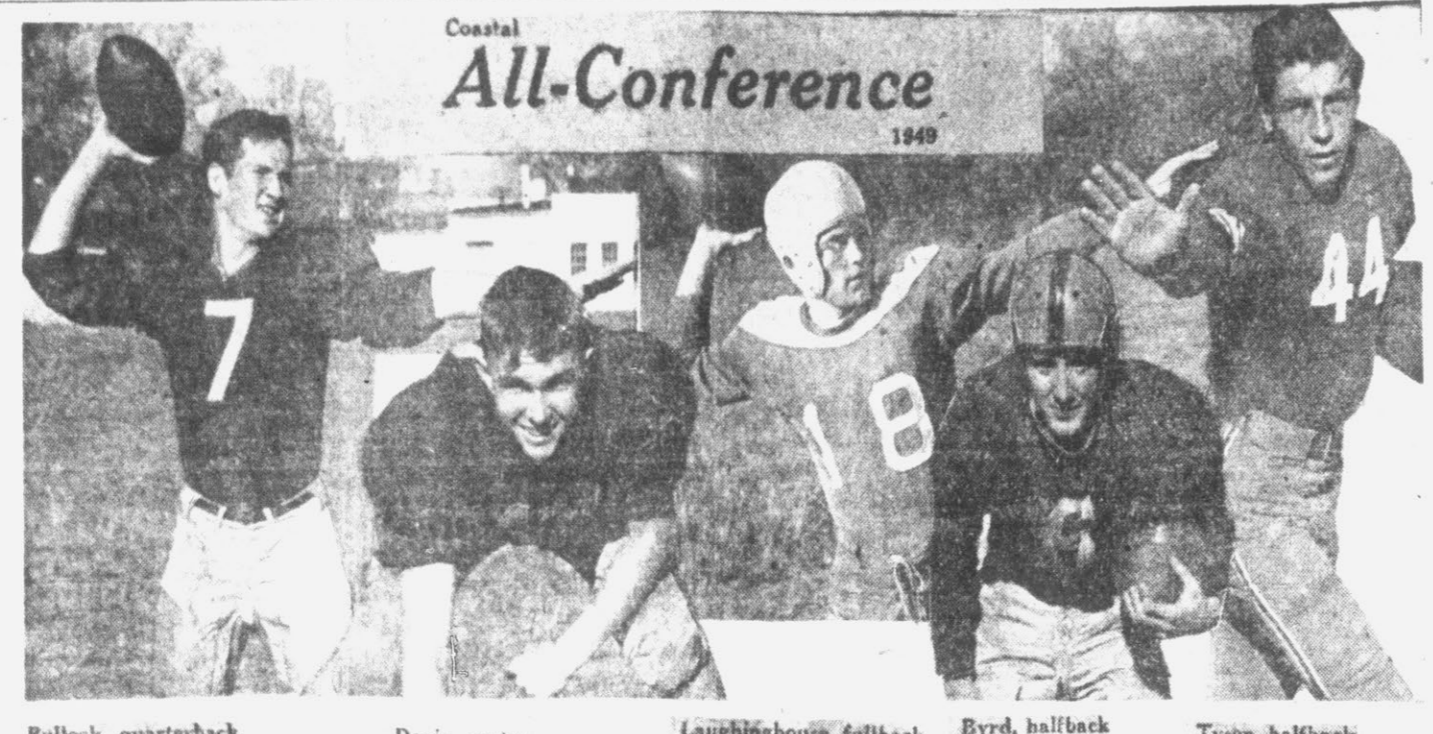

George Wooten, Farmville, the sparkplug of Coach Elbert Moyer's forward wall, a line which was second only to Ayden. An aggressive 182-pound junior who played outstanding ball all season and hit his peak in the 32-0 rout of his team scored over Robersonville. Wooten did the extra point kicking and kicking off for Farmville.

Guard—R. H. Mason, Ayden, one of the few seniors on the Ayden team. The 165-pound co-captain of the champions alternated at tackle and guard, raising havoc in opponents' forward walls from either position.

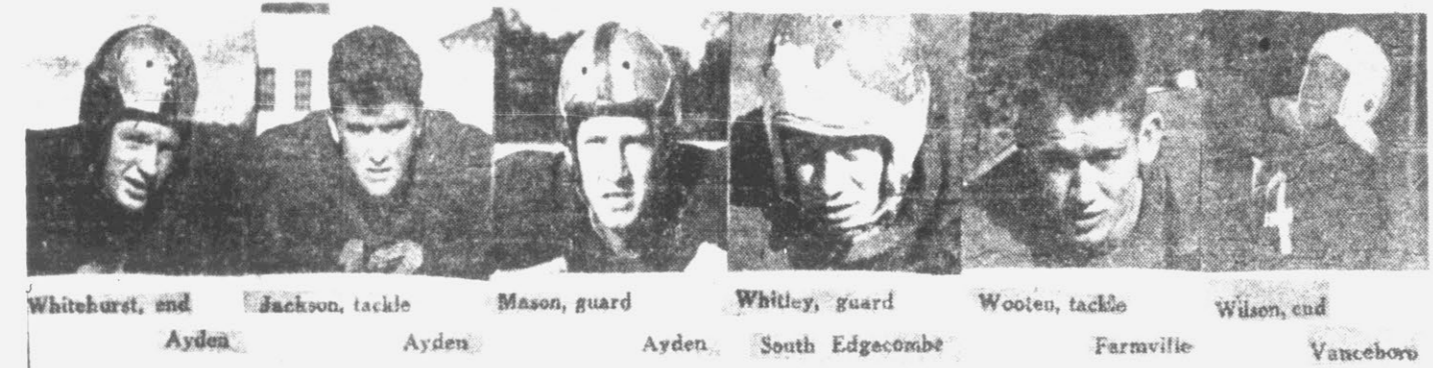

Stan Whitley, South Edgecombe, a 16-year-old 175-pound sophomore who aroused conference-wide attention by repeatedly getting through opponents' defenses to throw them for losses and blasting holes for his own offense.

Center—Greg Davis, Ayden, a 150-pound sophomore who was consistently outstanding on a consistently outstanding football team. Quarterback—Leonard Bullock, Ayden, 16-year-old, 165-pound sophomore who led the Tomahawks' offensive for his second year. A triple-threat back and captain of the champion squad. An unanimous choice.

Halfbacks—B. L. Byrd, Ayden, a 16-year-old junior, one of Ayden's number one ground gainers. He excelled offensively and defensively. Claude Tyson, the pride of Farmville high school and the biggest scoring threat in the conference. With two games to go he had 14 touchdowns. The 162-pound senior repeatedly got away for runs of over 50 yards.

Fullback—Roy Laughinghouse, Vanceboro running and passing ace who had an average of seven pass completions per game with two games left on the schedule. The 170-pound senior explained the Vanceboro squad and sparked its offense throughout the year.

Honorable mentions—Ends—George Pitt, South Edgecombe, and Carl King, Farmville. Tackles—Tom Morris, South Edgecombe, the 210-pound lineman who missed the all-conference team by one vote. Bobby Fullford, Farmville and Roy Whittford, Vanceboro. Guards—Roy Flora, Farmville, and Walter Meeks, Ayden. Center—Roy Whittford, Vanceboro. Backs—Bob Whittford, Robersonville; Joe Lewis, Vanceboro; Mac Hardee, Ayden, and Bob Bennett, South Edgecombe.

Coach Carl Snavely of North Carolina was runner-up and Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland was third. Wade took practically the same squad he had last year, a team which won four games, lost three and tied two, and turned in a record of six wins and three losses, gaining the old maestro an all-time coaching record of 195 wins, 49 losses and 12 ties.

Duke's victories included triumphs over Tennessee and Georgia Tech, and its losses were to Navy, Wake Forest and North Carolina. Snavely took a squad that had lost 22 players from last year's great team and guided it to the Southern Conference championship. It had a record of five wins and no losses in the conference, and its overall record was six wins and three losses prior to the season's finale against Virginia today. Its conquerors were LSU, Tennessee and Notre Dame.

Press agents said the body will be mounted and presented to the Peabody Museum at Yale after the autopsy.

Gargantua's career as a circus attraction was unparalleled, with the possible exception of P. T. Barnum's famed elephant, Jumbo.

From the day the still-growing gorilla was obtained by John Ringling North, circus president until his death, the name of Gargantua was a household word. His tanned, shining face has been posted on around thousands of barns and billboards across the country.
Gargantua cradled the nation's headlines when North first acquired him from Mrs. Gertrude Lutz, of Brooklyn N. Y. He immediately was renamed from the "Buddy" Mrs. Lutz called him.
His strength was a never-ending source of amazement to both circus people and patrons. He could rip a burlap bag like a wet paper napkin and tear an automobile tire into shreds.

When North bought a female gorilla, Toto, to be Gargantua's bride, the pending nuptials were widely publicized. The "marriage" however, was never consummated.
It is estimated that 40 million circus-goers stared at the ugly animal in its 12 years of trouping with the circus.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 26—(AP)—Pancho Gonzales turned on his tormentor Jack Kramer last night in the battle of the touring tennis stars and snapped a 14-match losing streak 6-2, 6-4.
Gonzales, who held the amateur crown before he began the tour with the Bobby Riggs troupe, played almost flawless tennis to the delight of an armory crowd of about 1,600. The victory was his fourth to professional champion Kramer's 18 since the tour began in October.

Burlington, N. C., Nov. 26—(AP)—The State class AA football championship was won by Durham last night. A crowd of 7,200 saw Durham defeat Burlington high 21 to 13.
Quarterback Worth Lutz threw two touchdown passes, then clinched the game with a pitch out to Delona Lloyd who scooped eight yards into the end zone. Albert Long converted three times.

Coach Rip Engle's Brown Bears broke the eleven-year-old jinx which thwarted their efforts to beat Harvard and piled up the greatest total of points they have scored in the rivalry, which has extended over forty-seven years when they downed the Cantabs, 28-14. Back in 1938 Captain John McLaughry, present coach of Union College, led the Bruins to a 20-13 triumph over the crimson but a long string of disappointments followed until this fall.

Herman Hickman, the Yale coach, tabbed Brown the best team his Bulldogs had freed this season after the Bruins had thumped his charges, 14-0, earlier in the season. Coach Engle didn't share Hickman's enthusiasm for the Bruins when he was introduced to the team after the game. "We did not play our best football against Yale," said Engle. "We made too many mistakes. Still, I think we were tougher to beat than we had been in our previous game this fall."

Prior to the Harvard triumph, the failure to capture an elusive passing attack appeared to be Brown's main weakness. The Bruins managed to avoid this point on the ground, but the lack of an attack made their running marked men Anabat and Campbell. Brown opened the game with a flurry of forward passes that opened the eyes of the crowd. The Bruins were quite likely that Brown will complete the season with a 7-1-1 record at the expense of Dartmouth marring its record.

One-Sided

Bartlesville, Okla., Nov. 26—(AP)—The Phillips Oilers established their all-time scoring record last night, defeating the Guatemala Olympics, 131-16.
The Oilers' previous scoring mark was 111 in 1938 against an End team. Bill Kleinf, Phillips center, scored 25 points.
The South Americans are on a 13-game tour of the United States.

Coaching Honor To Wallace Wade

Raleigh, Nov. 26—(AP)—Coach Wallace Wade of Duke has been selected as Southern Conference coach of the year.

The Southern Conference Sports Writers' Association announced selection of the Blue Devil coach today following a poll of its members.

Coach Carl Snavely of North Carolina was runner-up and Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland was third. Wade took practically the same squad he had last year, a team which won four games, lost three and tied two, and turned in a record of six wins and three losses, gaining the old maestro an all-time coaching record of 195 wins, 49 losses and 12 ties.

Warm Battle On A Chilly Day Between Army, Navy

Philadelphia, Nov. 26—Unbeaten Army and Navy met in a warm battle today in a 14-point favorite to complete its fifth unbeaten season in six years. But records mean practically nothing in this always-stirring encounter.
The 21-21 tie of last year, when Navy was even more an underdog, still is a vivid memory. And one who saw it will ever forget the astonishing battle put up by the Middles three years ago in losing, 21 to 18, to the great Blanchard

Gargantua Troupes Final Season As Circus Closes

Miami, Fla., Nov. 26—(AP)—Gargantua the great has trouped his last season.
The giant, snarling gorilla—star of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus for 12 years—died on the same day "the greatest show on earth" folded its tents for the last time on its 1949 tour of the nation.

His powerful, 550-pound body was flown to Baltimore, Md., to undergo an autopsy to determine the real cause of death. It is generally believed that pneumonia brought death to the huge beast.

Press agents said the body will be mounted and presented to the Peabody Museum at Yale after the autopsy.
The lifeless form of "Garcy" was found early yesterday by his keeper, Hose Thomas. It was sprawled in the corner of his $20,000 air conditioned cage.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 26—(AP)—Pancho Gonzales turned on his tormentor Jack Kramer last night in the battle of the touring tennis stars and snapped a 14-match losing streak 6-2, 6-4.
Gonzales, who held the amateur crown before he began the tour with the Bobby Riggs troupe, played almost flawless tennis to the delight of an armory crowd of about 1,600. The victory was his fourth to professional champion Kramer's 18 since the tour began in October.

Burlington, N. C., Nov. 26—(AP)—The State class AA football championship was won by Durham last night. A crowd of 7,200 saw Durham defeat Burlington high 21 to 13.
Quarterback Worth Lutz threw two touchdown passes, then clinched the game with a pitch out to Delona Lloyd who scooped eight yards into the end zone. Albert Long converted three times.

Coach Rip Engle's Brown Bears broke the eleven-year-old jinx which thwarted their efforts to beat Harvard and piled up the greatest total of points they have scored in the rivalry, which has extended over forty-seven years when they downed the Cantabs, 28-14. Back in 1938 Captain John McLaughry, present coach of Union College, led the Bruins to a 20-13 triumph over the crimson but a long string of disappointments followed until this fall.

Herman Hickman, the Yale coach, tabbed Brown the best team his Bulldogs had freed this season after the Bruins had thumped his charges, 14-0, earlier in the season. Coach Engle didn't share Hickman's enthusiasm for the Bruins when he was introduced to the team after the game. "We did not play our best football against Yale," said Engle. "We made too many mistakes. Still, I think we were tougher to beat than we had been in our previous game this fall."

Prior to the Harvard triumph, the failure to capture an elusive passing attack appeared to be Brown's main weakness. The Bruins managed to avoid this point on the ground, but the lack of an attack made their running marked men Anabat and Campbell. Brown opened the game with a flurry of forward passes that opened the eyes of the crowd. The Bruins were quite likely that Brown will complete the season with a 7-1-1 record at the expense of Dartmouth marring its record.

Porter's Quintet Playing Tonight In Camp Lejeune

Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina Teachers' College basketball team will make its third invasion of an opponent's home court tonight when the Buccaneers tangle with the Camp Lejeune hoopsters at Camp Lejeune.

The Porter quintet will be gunning for its third consecutive victory against no defeats.
Both East Carolina wins have been close. They defeated Wilson Teachers College of Washington, D. C., 60-58 last week and downed the Newport News (Va.) Apprentice School 56-53 Wednesday night.

In both of its consecutive victories the Bucs have featured a combination which has equally divided the scoring. The 1949-50 edition of the Pirates boasts high scoring guards in addition to point getting forwards.

Big Jack Everton, tagged to be one of the leading forwards in the North State loop this year, is leading the Buccaneer aggregation at forward with freshman Sonny Russell who has shared high scoring honors in both games.

Guards Len Bauer, Doug Guthrie and Lou Collier have come through with high scoring records to preserve East Carolina leads chalked up by forwards in games so far this year.

Camp Lejeune's record to date was not available at press time today. They are expected to boast a good team since they are unfettered by conference regulations and their resources of material are almost unlimited.

Pirates Select Co-Captains For Place In Annual

Raz Autry, senior from Dunn, N. C., and Keith Kilpatrick, senior from Kinston, N. C., were elected by Coach Bill Dole's East Carolina Pirates to appear in the school annual, the "Teecon," as honorary co-captains for the 1949 football team. Both boys served as co-captains on numerous occasions this year.

Autry, who is president of the student government association at East Carolina, played guard for the Pirates and was a standout performer. Although a senior, he has played only the last two years and has one more year of eligibility left. Kilpatrick, one of the few four-letter men in the history of East Carolina, has performed brilliantly for the Pirates at tackle for the past four years.

Chicod, Stokes Divide Games

In a basketball doubleheader, the Chicod girls and boys team divided with the Stokes team. The Chicod girls won 52-22, for their fourth win of the season.

The Stokes quintet whipped the Chicod boys 37-23. Fleming led the winning court with 12 points, and Lewis led the losers with 10. Gaskins topped the scoring for the Chicod girls with 13 points, and Ethridge and Taylor each had 11 for the losers.

Bowl Prospect?

Chapel Hill, Nov. 26—(AP)—The Tar Heels of North Carolina have voted to accept a bid to "play in the Cotton Bowl" if they defeat Virginia here this afternoon, according to a highly reliable source.

The source disclosed last night the Carolina team has voted to accept the bid to the Dallas, Texas, bowl classic on Jan. 2 provided they win their final game of the season today.

Officials of the university, the source added, held a meeting yesterday afternoon and later indicated they would approve acceptance of the bid if Carolina triumphs over Virginia.

The Tar Heel squad was informed that if they accept the bid they will be given a fed days off from practice during Christmas, the source said.
Athletic officials of the university have declined to comment on the bowl reports.

Aerial Struggle For Notre Dame

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 26—(AP)—Notre Dame looked for its sternest aerial battle of the season from Southern California today as the two rivals collide in their 21st meeting on a gridiron cleared of snow.

Fieldmost canvas has covered the field most of the week, footing was expected to be unsteady. The threat of more snow by kickoff time indicated that passing would predominate.

On a slippery field Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame believes the Trojans will have an edge.
"Their backs outweigh ours and therefore should be more effective running if the gridiron is slick," he said. "They also have the passing to match ours."

Aiming for its ninth straight win of the season and its 37th game without defeat, Notre Dame is not as keyed up for Southern California as it was for Tulane earlier.
"We are not as high as for Tulane," admitted Leahy. "It would be impossible to get a team at that peak twice in one season (the Irish scored 27 points in the first quarter for a 46-7 rout) but we are ready for U.S.C."

Wofford Chosen To Play In Cigar Bowl At Tampa

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 26—(AP)—Wofford College was selected today to meet Florida State University in the Shrine Cigar Bowl here Jan. 2.

Rex Farrior, chairman of the bowl's selection committee, announced the Spartanburg, S. C., team had accepted the bowl bid.

Farrior said "Wofford has a great record for the last two years and the committee felt that the Terriers deserved the bid."

Wofford is going through its second straight year undefeated. It closes out its season today against Newberry. FSU ends its season tonight with Troy Teachers. The Florida team has lost one game—to Livingston State.

Wofford has a victory string of 14 straight games. Last season it set a record in tying the first five games it played.

Coach Phil Dickens, former Tennessee star, is the head football man at Wofford.

Steak Dinner Is Well Plastered

Waverly, Ill., Nov. 26—(AP)—The steak dinner given for the Waverly High School football team last night by the Knights of Pythias turned out pretty tough.

No one could eat the steaks. It seems that K. of P. cooks, in flouting the planners, used patching plaster.

Everybody ate ham.

Chapter 6
The man slowly crossed the street and entered the shop. He closed the door silently behind him, and for some seconds remained near the threshold, listening. Then he deliberately tiptoed to the window, his back to the eavesdroppers, and put his hand in the Bacchus-faced vase.

Myron Scott—whom Hackett now recognized—tiptoed back to the street door, opened and shut it noisily and strode boldly down the aisle. He had hardly disappeared into the back room when Inspector Lavin fitted from his place of concealment to the cobalt-blue vase, into which he thrust a huge paw. As Hackett stooped down to him, Lavin withdrew his hand from the vase, clutching a flat stack of banknotes held by a rubber band.

"A hundred-dollar bill on top," said Hackett under his breath. "Well, soon see if Scott can laugh it off," said Hackett. "Suppose we slam the front door as Scott did and let him and the others think we were outdoors for a while." Which proposal he at once carried out and then proceeded with Lavin down the aisle to the back room. At the head of the corpse stood Myron Scott, silent and staring, his long face as pallid as the gray suit he wore.

Lavin nodded at Myron Scott. He said to Kelly: "You'd better ring up the medical examiner's office." The inspector beckoned to the watchman, "There's a sheet on some furniture out there. Get it." Cahill did so and draped the sheet over the body. "Now Mr. Scott's here. I reckon I'd better look after my other properties," he said, and made his way out of the shop.

Lavin carefully settled himself in a rickety chair. "Mr. Scott," he began, "did you see anybody hanging round the shop during the past hour or so?" "No," denied Scott, nervously fingering the rickety-blower on the spindle. "I was home reading the papers from six o'clock until Cahill phoned me."

"Lavin," said Hackett to himself. "And on getting the bad news Mr. Scott," said Lavin, "you jumped into your car and hurried here of course." "I don't own a car," denied Scott, his gaze wavering. "I live less'n a mile from here and walked."

"Did your uncle have a safety-deposit box for his papers?" "No," said Scott. "My uncle Scott, gazing moodily at the top of the spindle." "What bank did he do business with?" persisted the inspector. "None."

A quizzical expression in his blue eyes Lavin folded his arms. "Where did he keep his money, then?" he wanted to know. Scott gave an involuntary start and moistened his nether lip with the tip of his tongue. "Well, Uncle didn't have any money to speak of, he put it into merchandise as fast as he made it, which wasn't very fast."

Distributive Education Program Is Given New Status In Curriculum

A program leading to a degree with a major in distributive education has been adopted at East Carolina Teachers College. The Policies Committee of the college recently approved the program, and details of the work have just been announced by Dr. E. R. Browning, director of the department of business education.

The addition of distributive education to the work offered by the department of business education at East Carolina meets a demand in the state for the training of students in such fields as stenography, retailing, advertising, and store management.

A total of fifty-six quarter hours is required for completion of the program at East Carolina. In addition to the courses named, the distributive education curriculum will include basic business courses as well as courses in economics, statistics, art design, business analysis and merchandising information. A student may also offer practical business experience in place of certain course credits.

The minor subject taken by students specializing in distributive education will be in the social studies. Those who complete work in the program will thus be trained in distributive education accounting, general basic business courses, and social studies including history.

The new major offered at East Carolina Teachers College in distributive education is fully accredited in the 1950-1951 catalog, which is available.

The German . . .

(Continued from page one) serious revolves about the division of the Reich into Western and Eastern Germany and the loss of Silesian and Sudeten territories in the war.

It is a safe bet that sooner or later the divisions of the Reich will cease. Western Germany surely will do everything in its power to get back the eastern portion which Russia now occupies and is communitizing as fast as possible.

If the two parts of Germany are kept apart by the cold war, we shall have another hot war.

Making Use Of Loans Advocated

Raleigh, Nov. 26.—Tar Heel farmers have been advised to take advantage of the federal government's loan program for corn and soybeans.

Y. B. Blevins, commissioner of agriculture, made the appeal in a statement released yesterday. Expressing alarm over depressed prices for these commodities, Blevins said:

"Reports received by the State Department of Agriculture indicate that many of our farmers, unaware of the specialized provisions of this year's loan contracts, are taking unnecessary losses by selling corn and soybeans below the loan level. The corn now averages 41 cents a bushel and as high as 41 cents a bushel for soybeans."

Under the program announced by the production and marketing administration, the commissioner said, loans are available this year for corn and soybeans stored on the farm as well as for commercially stored stocks.

In some other provisions of the loan program also have been included and it has been estimated that about 90 per cent of the corn and soybeans grown in North Carolina could qualify for loans.

Kiwanis Club Host To Distinguished Guests Last Night

By CHESTER WALSH

The Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night was one of the best of the year and attendance was nearly 100 per cent to hear First District Congressman Herbert C. Bonner of Washington tell about his congressional committee investigations in Europe last summer. Frank James had charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

Jack Spain, executive secretary to U. S. Senator Clyde R. Hoey and for many years in the same capacity for Congressman Bonner, was a special guest. Many paid him tribute for his good work in arranging for transportation of hundreds of North Carolina football fans from Washington to the Carolina-Notre Dame football game in New York.

And that probably worked out all right for him, since it always kept him non-partisan. He didn't know whether he was a proletarian or a capitalist.

Explain Federal Housing Act Loan For Construction, Repairs Of Farm

The Federal housing act of 1949 authorized the Federal Home Administration to provide loans for construction and repair of farm dwellings and other farm buildings in Pitt county.

Loans for periods up to 33 years at 4 per cent interest will be made to farm owners who are otherwise unable to finance needed housing and other building improvements for themselves and tenants.

In general, a loan may be made to construct, improve, alter, repair, or replace a dwelling or other building essential to the operation of the farm.

To be eligible for a housing loan, the person must be a farm owner, be unable to get a loan elsewhere, and lack the necessary capital to make the needed improvements.

The loan must be repaid from the farm income. Tenants or farm laborers are not eligible but an owner may borrow money to repair house or buildings for his tenants.

To obtain a loan, the farmer must offer a mortgage on his farm, and such additional security as may be necessary to protect the government's investment. The size of the farm makes little difference as long as the gross income of the farm is at least $400, a figure which is based on 1944 commodity prices.

Veterans are given preference in consideration of loans.

The buildings which are either built or repaired with the loans must meet certain standards as set up by the Federal Housing Board.

In some cases loans will be made in order that the person may purchase additional land, or when improvements such as clearing, draining, fencing and terracing will increase the family income enough to repay the housing loan.

A committee composed of local farmers will recommend as to the eligibility of the applicant, the reasonable value of the farm and the home of Mr. McKinley Smith, 213 E. Second St., at 6 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. Herman Spell Jr., Reporter.

Hints Lawmaker's Discussion Of Atomic Arms Squared 'Lid'

Hints Lawmakers 3 col 1st Spoon Washington, Nov. 26.—A high government official said privately today that a Senator's television discussion of atomic weapons helped to talk off a Presidential crackdown on talk about defense secrets.

But the Senator—Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) denied emphatically that the broadcast had any part in President Truman's action last yesterday. And Johnson reiterated that he thinks there has been too little secrecy—not too much—about the atomic energy program.

The President late yesterday directed Attorney General McGrath to tighten up the safeguarding of atomic and other national security information. McGrath and Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) chairman of the Senate-House atomic energy committee, told newsmen about the order after conferring with Mr. Truman for more than an hour.

Neither McGrath nor McMahon would say what prompted the directive. They declined to answer questions about Johnson.

But an official entirely familiar with the reasons for the crack-down order told a reporter.

"There has been a series of incidents endangering security which disturbed the President, but it is safe to say that the whole thing was brought to a head by the Johnson telecast."

The television program to which he referred originated in New York on Nov. 1. The subject of the panel discussion was: "Is there too much secrecy in our atomic program?"

Johnson, a member of the joint atomic committee, argued that there is not enough secrecy. But during the debate he asserted that:

1. This country's scientists have developed an A-bomb which has six times the effectiveness of the bomb dropped at Nagasaki in 1945.

2. The United States is working—and has made considerable progress—on an A-bomb 1,000 times more powerful than the Nagasaki weapon.

3. American scientists have gone far toward finding a way to explode an enemy bomb before it reaches its target.

Johnson said later that he disclosed nothing that was not already public information. And he said that in referring to the data during the telecast as "top secret" he was talking about "know-how"—knowledge of how to manufacture the things he discussed.

Whale And Calf Die Despite Aid

St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 26.—(AP) A 1500-pound whale and her beach-born calf died here today, despite attempts to give mother nature an assist.

The calf was born yesterday, high on the sands of St. Petersburg beach. The mother apparently had come into shallow water seeking safety but high winds and receding tides had left her stranded.

Three beach residents, John Pierber, Chuck Retzberg and Bill Bell, carried the calf to the Gulf of Mexico and, with the aid of a truck, towed the mother to sea.

Regaining her strength, the mother whale swam out to sea but the baby whale kept returning to the beach.

Finally it was put into a tank. During the night the mother whale returned to the beach in search of her offspring, and there on the beach she died. Shortly afterwards the baby died in its tank.

Bojangles Dies In Oxygen Tent

New York, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Bojangles danced his way upstairs again last night . . . for the last time.

Death came to America's great tap dancer—the smiling Negro with the twinkling feet—while he slept under an oxygen tent with a failing heart.

Once before, when asleep, Bill Robinson had dreamed his famous upstairs-tan routine—and woke to make a fortune with it.

"I was being made a lord by the king of England," he explained, "and he was standing at the head of a flight of stairs. Rather than walk, I danced up to get it."

Robinson, 71, had been a public entertainer from the age of eight. He carried his nickname, "Bojangles," for almost 40 years. It meant happy-go-lucky.

He began as a little stable boy dancing for pennies in Washington beer halls, reached the top of his world on Broadway and in Hollywood, and made anywhere from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000.

But he was almost broke when he went to the hospital two weeks ago, and his friends were arranging a benefit when he died.

Robinson never really retired. He kept on dancing until his eyes failed him three months ago and he could no longer see the steps of the old routine. He kept in top-notch training until the end.

The still was in operation but the operator had fled when the officers found the still. The still was located about one mile southwest of Aiden. The still and all equipment was destroyed with dynamite.
