President Backs Steelman's Plan For Jobless Aid

Endorses Combatting Unemployment Through Local Improvement Works

Key West, Fla., Dec. 2 (AP)—President Truman today endorsed John R. Steelman's recommendation that government efforts to combat unemployment through local improvement programs be continued on a "vigorous basis."

Steelman, President's assistant, made his recommendations to the President. Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Steelman heartily supported the Steelman plan, and would see to it that it is carried out.

With the threat of a coal industry shutdown removed, the President and his administration will concentrate their efforts on relieving distress in local areas of heaviest unemployment.

Steelman said he thought a long period of "industrial peace" lay ahead. He expressed hope that resumption of coal-digging on a three day basis starting Monday would be followed eventually by contracts between the United Mine Workers and the coal operators.

Steelman said that the plan would be to buy, where feasible, into the hard-hit areas of New England and elsewhere.

Steelman told the President yesterday that the unemployment picture was improving, partly due to federal procurement.

"The effort has been well worth while and should be continued on a vigorous basis while unemployment remains a problem in particular areas," he said.

With the coal strike out of the way, the President did some work on ideas for his "state of the Union" message to be delivered to Congress in person early in January.

Up at 6:30 a. m. he took his customary before-breakfast walk, then went to the beach with his daughter, Margaret, and others.

Mt. Etna Again Erupts Shower Of Black Dust

Catania, Sicily, Dec. 2 (AP)—Catania residents got under their umbrellas today—Mount Etna was showering black volcanic dust on them.

Europe's highest volcano thundered and belched for hours, starting before dawn and ending at about 9:30 local time.

People from the grape-growing hamlets on the mountain's sides fled to this port city to report that several huge cracks had broken open around the mouth of the volcano.

Loud rumbling signaled the start of the eruption which sent smoke and cinders spewing into the air from the 10,758-foot-high volcano on Sicily's east coast.

Have Confidence In Bus System

Raleigh, N.C., Dec. 2 (AP)—The State Board of Education still has "complete confidence" in the state's school bus system despite recent adverse inspection reports by the State Highway Patrol.

The board said in a statement yesterday that "we regret that in recent weeks a uniform system of inspection was not followed in all sections by the State Highway Patrol."

German Leaders Friends Again

Bonn, Germany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and his chief parliamentary opponent, Socialist leader Dr. Kurt Schumacher, have buried the hatchet.

The West German government in an official statement today said the two leaders had patched up their quarrel which arose last week in a parliamentary debate on the Allied-German agreement relating occupation controls.

Allied Policy Of Keeping Germany Disarmed Indefinitely Meets New Difficulty With German Charge Russia Setting Up An Army In East; The Two Arguments

The allied policy of keeping Germany disarmed indefinitely already seems to be heading into complications.

Huge Quantity Of American Arms Scheduled For Europe

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A billion dollars worth of American arms will begin moving to Western Europe in a few weeks, now that the Atlantic treaty countries have unanimously agreed on their grand strategy of defense.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson was due back from Paris today to present the defense plan to President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson. Johnson is the American member of the defense committee of the 12-nation Atlantic alliance which adopted the plan at a meeting in the French capital yesterday.

France is expected to get the lion's share of the arms and military equipment which Congress authorized to strengthen the Western European members of the alliance against any Russian aggression.

The strategic plan presumably is based on the possibility that in event of a Russian attack France, along with the other European continental members of the Atlantic system, would bear the brunt of the onslaught.

A communique issued by the defense committee at the conclusion of its meeting said it "arrived at unanimous agreement on and gave full approval to the following action:

"A. Strategic concepts for the integrated defense of the North Atlantic area.

"B. Provision of a program for the production and supply of armaments and equipment.

"C. Coordination of planning between the various regional groups of countries in the alliance.

"D. The progress of defense planning of the North Atlantic treaty organization."

While thus outlining the general nature of its work, the committee gave no hints as to the provisions of the strategic concepts it adopted.

However, it can be reported that these are of a broad rather than specific nature. They are designed to guide the regional groups in their detailed planning. The United States, Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxembourg, for example, have responsibility for detailed planning of the defense of Western Europe.

American tasks believed to have been assigned under the plan—if this country should become involved in war—are mainly:

(1) Strategic bombing, including possible use of the atomic bomb;

(2) Naval operations jointly with the other naval powers to keep Atlantic sea lanes open; and (3) participation in land action following up the initial resistance of the armies of the countries first attacked.

Officials here said that the strategy statement, which reportedly will be kept secret, still has to be formally approved by the Atlantic council, the top policy-making body of the alliance, of which Acheson is chairman.

Mayor Asks Landlords To Hold Rentals Down

Greenville Mayor W. S. Stafford today issued an appeal to local landlords and other owners of rental property to hold the line against increased rents even though rent controls in Greenville and Pitt county have been removed.

The order decontrolling the county was issued yesterday by Federal Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods.

In a statement this morning, Mayor Stafford said, "Even though rent controls have been lifted by the federal housing expediter, I feel it would be in order for all property owners in Greenville who have rental property to consider the needs of the town and the future of the town and of themselves before they take any drastic steps to raise present rents."

Stafford said he has talked to several property owners of the city since it was announced yesterday that the rent controls here had been removed, and he added this owners indicated to him they have no intentions of raising the rents of their property in the near future.

The mayor said the people with whom he talked yesterday and today control "a considerable amount" of the rental property within the city limits.

He further added that he has heard no reports of any increases in rent since the restrictions were removed yesterday.

"I want to urge these citizens to give the matter of raising rents serious thought before they make any changes," Stafford commented. He stated he has not yet received from the housing expediter official word that the controls have been removed from the rental property of the city, but he expressed the belief that a letter of confirmation would be received by the city within the next few days.

Report 20 Killed In Airline Crash

Mother And Child Only Survivors In Brazilian Tragedy

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Dec. 2 (AP)—Twenty Brazilians were reported killed today in the crash of Real Airlines transport plane near Sao Paulo, 200 miles southwest of here.

Officials of the Real Airlines said a woman and her five-year-old daughter were the only survivors of the crash that occurred when the plane was attempting a forced landing in a storm.

Sixteen passengers and four crew members were killed.

The crash occurred near Sao Paulo, Brazil's second largest city, and the city of Ribeiro Claro, in Sao Paulo state.

No foreigners were aboard the airliner, company officials said.

The plane was a twin-engine DC-3 flying a regular domestic run between the capital city of Sao Paulo and the small city of Jacare about 200 miles to the southwest.

Officials of the airlines company—the Companhia Real, one of Brazil's busiest—said they had not determined the cause of the crash immediately. They said the plane went down only 20 miles from its destination.

Sub-Zero Cold Hits Midwest As Snow Moves East

By The Associated Press
Cold moved into the Midwest today as yesterday's snow slid east.

Rockford, Ill., reported an early morning temperature of one below, Duluth, Minn., had two below, while Chicago, warmed by Lake Michigan, held to a chilly 14 above.

The snow, which covered a 150-mile band from Northern Illinois to Southern Wisconsin and Southern Lower Michigan, travelled fast. Parts of Pennsylvania, New York, and Ohio reported light falls.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported a new storm brewing in western Canada, but said it was too early to predict its severity.

Child Describes Family Shooting

Father Killed Mother And Sister While She Looked On

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 2 (AP)—A weeping nine-year-old girl told today how her father killed her mother and sister last night and wounded her brother while she and another child looked on.

Officers pushed a search for the 50-year-old father, a mechanic. Sheriff Jimmy Thompson identified him as W. F. Bean.

Bonnie Fay Bean told newsmen and officers this story: "He shot mother first. Then Dorris Jean started screaming, so he shot her. Donald was standing behind her and I don't know how he got shot, but I don't think Daddy meant to shoot him."

Found dead in the home were Mrs. Fannie Bean, 35, and Dorris Jean Bean, 11. Donald Ray Bean, 9, Bonnie Fay, Donald's twin, and 'Belma, seven, were lined against a wall, weeping.

The shooting took place in a small frame house on the outskirts of Memphis. The Beans lived in two rooms of Mrs. Mary Rice's house.

Mrs. Rice gave reporters and officers this account: "She had been visiting and forgotten her house key. She knocked on Bean's door. He came to the door in his underwear.

Through the door Mrs. Rice saw the crumpled bodies of Mrs. Bean, a waitress, and her daughter, Bean shut the door, then returned in his trousers.

"Do you think I'm crazy?" she quoted him. "Well, it's happened at last."

Appoint Senator To Finish Term

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 2 (AP)—HARRY Darby, Kansas Industrialist and Republican National committeeman, today was appointed to the United States Senate to serve the unexpired term of the late Republican Senator Clyde M. Reed of Parsons.

Darby was appointed by Gov. Frank Carlson, also a Republican to serve until a new Senator is elected in November 1950.

AMA's Stormy Petrel Resigns

Chicago, Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Morris Fishbein, stormy petrel of American medicine stepped down today from his job with the American Medical Association.

"It was impossible for me to continue under the circumstances," he said.

His retirement as editor of the AMA Journal and the AMA health magazine, Hygeia, had been expected since the AMA trustees drastically clipped his powers last June.

Steel Tie-Up Is Felt By State

Raleigh, Dec. 2 (AP)—The steel strike is costing the State Motor Vehicles Department $5,000, officials reported today.

Since the strike delayed steel deliveries, the last 100,000 pairs of the state's 1950 automobile license plates will be made of aluminum. They will cost five cents a pair more than the usual steel-base plates, officials said.

Bonner Repeats U. S. Must Cut Spending Abroad

Cites Benefits Of Past Help And Reports Some Nations Can Stand Alone

Congressman Herbert C. Bonner, speaking before the Greenville V.P.W. post last night, branded Russia as being the most imperialistic nation ever to stand on the face of the earth. "Russia is the main threat in the world today, and one which must be stopped," the congressman declared.

Bonner, who recently returned from a 20,000-mile tour of inspection of European nations receiving Marshall Plan aid, stressed that American expenditures abroad must be cut because some nations which are receiving aid do not need it.

"The aid which we have given to these countries was the only means of keeping Russia from taking over the whole of Europe . . . but now some nations can take care of themselves," he said.

"The one hope of the world today for world peace is the United Nations organization," Bonner declared. "The United Nations needs to be made stronger and given more power if it is to do its proper job in the world today."

Describing his visit to one of the many orphan camps which are set up in Europe for children who lost their parents in the war, Rep. Bonner said in one camp there were some 1,500 boys and girls who were being supplied with United States' aid.

However, the supplies which came into the camp bore no markings showing it came from America. Camp officials assured the congressman that the children knew the help was coming from America.

In Denmark, the commission found a laboratory which has been set up with American assistance, to produce serum to be used in the fighting of diseases found in Europe today; some of which has even found its way behind the Iron Curtain.

"Of all the sectors in Germany which we entered, the American sector was outstandingly the best," Bonner said. "Holding out our hand to help the German people, and others, has resulted in a spirit of cooperation which does not exist in other places," he said.

The congressman said the committee was high in its praise of the government of Yugoslavia under Tito. Bonner cited an interview with Tito and high officials of the government in which he asked them what they would do in the event of an attack; "We would fight the Russians just as we did the Germans, waging a war from under cover," Tito told Bonner.

In talking with the people of the various nations Bonner said the commission found the majority of people are aware of the help which is being sent by America and are deeply grateful for it. "The aid which we are sending will come back to us in many ways in the future," he declared.

First Draftee Is Staying In Army

Fort Bragg, N. C., Dec. 2 (AP)—The first draftee to go into uniform last year is staying in the army.

Thousands of selectees became eligible yesterday for separation from the service under provisions ending their duty at 12 months. But Charles A. Reese, 26, of Washington, D. C., isn't among them.

As the first inductee to be called, Reese made national news when he was drafted from under the nose of the high brass in the pentagon last year. There he was a civilian chief clerk in the army's public information office.

New Nationalist Capital Already Expects Capture

Chengtu, China, Dec. 2 (AP)—The uneasy Nationalist Chinese government cast about today for another capital, expecting to be forced out of here within three weeks or less.

Chengtu's position becomes more precarious with each step the Communists advance toward it from fallen Chungking, 170 miles southwest. The Reds are coming on at a fairly fast clip. They have cut the highway between the old and the new capital in several places. But Nationalists denied a rumor Neichiang, midway point between the two cities, had fallen.

Most people here seem to think Sichang, high in the mountains of Sikkang province, 225 miles southwest of here, will be the next Nationalist capital.

If the Nationalists are driven off the mainland, the fugitive government probably will wind up in Chiang Kai-Shek's stronghold at Taipei, Formosa.

Premier Yen Hsi-Shan made the usual vow that Chengtu would be defended to the end. Nationalist leaders have been saying this all the way from Mukden to Chungking, third Nationalist capital lost to the Reds this year.

Last reliable word from Chungking before the Reds took over Wednesday was that no looting occurred. All foreigners were reported safe. Most of them are missionaries.

Early - Morning Fire In Hotel; No Known Dead

Sapulpa, Okla., Dec. 2 (AP)—An early - morning fire roared through the four-story Lorraine Hotel today and spread to adjoining buildings, causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage.

There were no known deaths. Fifty-three guests were registered. The flames destroyed a quarter of a block of buildings.

Hotel occupants fled out the exits, over adjoining rooftops and by jumping into fire nets. Only one person was hospitalized. H. A. Baker of Kansas City suffered a

Departure Set

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—Congressman General Angus Ward reported today that he has arranged to leave Mukden in Communist China with his entire staff by Wednesday.

The state department said Ward also reported that he, the staff members and all departments would travel by train to Tientsin, a seaport.

Three American ships, the department said, are due there between Dec. 4 and 17.

The Communists ordered Ward and his staff out of the country after trying and convicting him and four staff members on charges of helping two Chinese spies, Ward and his four aides accused with him were jailed for several weeks.

UMW Fund Is Up For Discussion

Trustees Meet Today On How To Break Long Deadlock

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A new showdown arose today between John L. Lewis and the soft coal operators on operation of the miners' welfare and pension fund.

Trustees of the fund were scheduled to meet on how to break the spending deadlock. The union reports $850,000 remains from the 20-cent royalty collections since Lewis' contract expired June 30.

The big issue at today's meeting was the seating of Charles I. Dawson, former federal judge who was elected by coal operators as their successor to Ezra Van Horn on the three-man board.

Lewis would not even confirm that a meeting was to be held. Dawson, a Louisville attorney, was kept from reporting for his first meeting with Lewis and Senator Bridges (R-NH), two weeks ago. Lewis was said to have blocked Dawson from taking his seat.

Dawson was reported to be ready to side with Bridges in opposing the spending of money collected for welfare since the miners' written contract with management expired last June 30. Bridges indicated he was fearful of his financial responsibility as a trustee without a formal agreement.

Lewis argued that the money would be made available to hospitalized miners.

Whooping Cough Yields To New Antibiotic Drug

Chicago, Dec. 2 (AP)—Whooping cough is another in a growing list of diseases that has yielded to aureomycin, two Minneapolis doctors reported today.

Aureomycin is a golden-colored antibiotic drug that checks a variety of infectious diseases which are immune to penicillin and streptomycin.

Drs. Wesley W. Splink and Ellard M. Yow of the University of Minnesota medical school said the effectiveness of aureomycin against whooping cough was indicated in recent experimental and clinical studies.

However, the antibiotic has not shown promise against Chicken Pox and Mumps, they added.

Vain Search For Six Fugitives

Raleigh, Dec. 2 (AP)—A search—so far in vain—was still being carried on today for six convicts who escaped from a Northampton county prison road gang Wednesday.

The prison department reported that despite the work of prison officials and Virginia law enforcement officers no trace of the six men, described as armed and dangerous, has been found.

The search was believed to be centered near Pulaski, Va.

Russians Regret Fatal Shooting

Berlin, Dec. 2 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. commandant of Berlin, said today the Russian have expressed regret over the fatal shooting of a U.S. Air Force sergeant by a Soviet sentry last week.

The note was in reply to his protest against the shooting, Taylor described the incident as "brutal" and asked assurances that there would be no recurrence. He also asked that the sentry be punished.

Time To Balance Budget -- Snyder

Mine Operator Claims Strategy Inhuman, Wrong

Pittsburgh, Dec. 2 (AP)—A top industry spokesman says John L. Lewis' order to mine coal only three days a week is "destructive to the industry and every one who earns his living in it."

George H. Love, spokesman for the operators' negotiating committee of the national bituminous wage conference, lost little time attacking Lewis after the unpredictable United Mine Workers' chief called off his four full scale walkout of the industry yesterday.

"Again our employees are being deprived of the right to earn a decent living by the arrogant monopolistic power of John L. Lewis," Love said in a prepared statement. He added:

"These men already have lost almost 80 days' work this year and $1,200 in earnings. The present wage . . . is the highest paid by any major industry in the world and would permit our employees to maintain a decent standard of living, but one man dictates exactly how many days they may work, regardless of how much work is available.

"This is inhuman and it is wrong, x x x."

Lewis didn't comment on Love's statement.

In calling off the walkout which began at 12:31 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) yesterday, Lewis said the three-day work week will apply to all of his 400,000 soft coal diggers—as well as to most of the 80,000 anthracite (hard coal) miners in eastern Pennsylvania.

And Lewis said the three-day week, which begins next Monday, will continue until individual companies sign agreements to replace the contract which expired last June 30.

That means he hopes to chip away at the solid front thus far presented by the industry. There's no sign of any company giving in to Lewis' unspecified demands for his men who average $14.05 daily. He's said only that his "modest demands" would cost industry 30 to 35 cents more a ton. Industry already is paying 20 cents a ton to finance the UMW's pension and health and welfare fund.

Payments from the fund were stopped in September. On September 19 hard an soft coal miners struck. Lewis ordered the hard coal miners and 22,000 soft coal diggers east of the Mississippi back September 30. Then, on November 9 he ordered all diggers to resume work for a three-week period.

Snyder said Mr. Truman—who recently said that increasing taxes is the only way he knows of balancing the budget—has repeatedly taken the same position, urging the necessity of reducing the public debt. Mr. Truman said so in his tax veto message, Snyder noted.

The $237 billion debt, he told the committee, carries an interest charge amounting to $5,700,000,000 a year. It accounts for more than 13 per cent of all budget spending expected this year.

The National Association of Manufacturers told the committee yesterday that government fiscal-monetary-credit policies in general are not now geared to the objective of contributing to economic stability.

Gov't Acquires Second Turtle With Two Heads

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The government has acquired a new turtle with two chummy heads to replace the double-nogged terrapin which recently died of exhaustion following a bitter argument with itself.

John C. Pearson, director of the fish and wildlife service aquarium, has named the newcomer Sue, pending a final decision on whether it should be Sue, Sam or both.

Sue's two heads, he said, are buddies, the late super diamond, on the other hand, constantly quarreled with itself over food, and would sometimes grind to a stubborn, frustrated halt while trying to go in several directions at once.

"Sue is very cooperative with herself," said Pearson. "The first head that has an idea gets to use it."

The Peace Proposals

How They Were Placed Before The United Nations; General Contents; The Vote On Necessary Steps To Keep The Peace; Arguments Not Always On High Plane

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—One of the strange chapters in the history of the United Nations now has come to an end.

On Sept. 23 President Truman announced there was evidence of an atomic blast in Russia.

And on that day Russia's foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, got up and made a peace proposal in the U.N., which had been set up four years ago to keep peace.

It was a two-edged proposal: 1. He suggested a peace pact among the Big Five nations: United States, Russia, Britain, France, China.

2. He suggested the U.N. condemn preparations for a new war which he said were being made in the United States and Britain.

The U.S. ambassador to the U.N., Warren R. Austin, called the Vishinsky proposal propaganda. Later he said: "If Vishinsky wanted to cooperate with the rest of the world, the Russian peace proposal was unnecessary; but if Russia didn't intend to cooperate, such a peace pact would be a mockery."

Still, the Vishinsky proposal left the U.S. in a kind of box. How could the Western powers counter the Russian move with some move of their own?

On Nov. 14 Austin got up and proposed an American-British resolution. This resolution was hardly more than what already is contained in the U.N. charter or things the U.S. and Britain had said before: It called on U.N. members to take part in the work of the U.N.; to restrain the use of the veto in the Security Council where Russia has vetoed majority decisions 41 times; to settle disputes by peaceful means; and so on.

So now the U.N. was going to have to vote on the Russian proposal and on the U.S.-British proposal. This would give both sides a chance to show how many supporters they had in the U.N.—at least on this issue.

From the start it seemed certain that the U.S. and Britain would win. Russia's proposal was swamped and the Western proposal was approved yesterday by a vote of 33 to 8.

Lined up with Russia in voting against the Western proposal were (Continued on page twelve)

Mrs. Hadley Hostess To Clio Book Club

On Tuesday afternoon, November the twenty-ninth, at her home on East Ninth St. Mrs. Jake Hadley was gracious hostess to the Clio Book Club. Red berries and evergreens added a festive air to the occasion.

Miss Agnes Fullilove, president of the club, held a short business meeting. At this time it was decided by the members to continue their usual custom of providing Christmas cheer to some needy family.

The program for the afternoon, a paper on "Dorothy Shaver, President of Lord and Taylor's," was most interestingly presented by Mrs. Hadley. She told us that Dorothy Shaver was born in Center Point, Ark. She and her sister, Elsie, went to New York in 1920 and for the next four years operated a doll shop, backed by members from Lord and Taylor. Then Dorothy Shaver went to work for this firm. At the end of her seventh year with this company she became vice-president and in 1945 was made president.

To quote Miss Shaver—"An office needn't look busy and stuffy to be efficient. I prefer to work in a room that has all the charm and quiet serenity of an informal drawing room. I find that people who visit me feel immediately at ease. It is often much pleasanter and much more expeditious to talk side by side on the sofa, than to talk across a wide expanse of desk."

Miss Shaver carries a lace handkerchief, crosses the street timidly, and makes $110,000 a year as president of Lord and Taylor's.

After this most interesting paper on one of America's foremost business women, a delectable fruit salad course, with coffee, was served by the hostess. She was assisted by Miss Jane Hadley. Books were exchanged and the club adjourned.

Convention Delegate

Miss Betty Estelle Baker of Raleigh, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Baker of Harnett County, became the bride of Mr. Gilbert Peel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Peel, Sr., in a simple ceremony at 8:30 o'clock on Friday evening, November 18, at the home of the groom's parents in Greenville.

Rev. Hartwell Campbell officiated, using the double ring ceremony. A program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. H. C. Haynes, pianist, and Mrs. Bert Greene, soloist.

The bride and groom entered together. The bride wore a brown faille suit with blouse of powder blue crepe; the suit was made with fitted jacket and flared skirt. With it she used brown accessories and a deep purple orchid.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Gladys Currin of Raleigh. She wore a suit of taupe wool and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The groom had as his best man, his brother, Francis Dallas Peel of Greenville.

The groom's mother wore a dress of gray faille. Her flowers were white roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Peel, Sr. entertained at an informal reception. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dallas Peel, Mrs. Gilbert Peel, Sr. served the wedding cake after the bride and groom cut the first slice. Punch was served by Miss Currin.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Peel was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College. In August she received the Master of Arts degree from George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn. She is a member of the faculty of the State School for the Blind.

Mr. Peel was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College. He served in the U.S. Navy in World War II, and was stationed in the Pacific for twenty-five months. He is now

Mrs. Irons Entertains Club

Mrs. C. F. Irons was gracious hostess to the Inter 8 Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Evans Street.

Following a brief business session, Mrs. Reynolds May gave a paper on the Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne who despite his residence and habit of solitude was much admired and respected by all who knew him. His works, whose reputation has grown through the years, hold their place today among the most forcible of narratives in American literature.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Irons served a delectable salad course with coffee and accompaniments.

Mrs. Gray of Oxford was Mrs. Irons' special guest for the afternoon.

Memorial Baptist Circles Circles of Memorial Baptist church will meet on Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the following homes: Annie Armstrong circle with Mrs. G. J. Bell.

Fannie Heck circle with Mrs. L. A. Stroud.

Shuck circle with Mrs. R. E. Hardaway.

Lottie Moon circle with Mrs. E. S. Moore on Cotanche street.

J. S. Lawrence circle with Mrs. D. J. Whitchard, Jr. on Elm street.

It is estimated there are 300,000,000 people in the Western Hemisphere.

Series of Parties Honor Miss Rawles

Kinston.—Mrs. C. B. Woodley and Mrs. J. C. Lupton entertained at a meeting of the Needle and Tongue Club on Wednesday afternoon, having additional guests as a compliment to Miss Barbara Rawles, whose wedding to Mr. Carroll Humphreys, 3rd, takes place on Friday. Guests were received at the Lupton residence on North Queen Street, where rooms were thrown en suite and were attractively decorated with vari-colored floral arrangements, greenery and California berries.

With the arrival of the bride-elect, who was accompanied by Mrs. R. B. Parsons, grandmother of the prospective bridegroom and a member of the hostess' club, Mrs. Herbert Hardy, his mother, Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. H. L. Hicks, a delightful period of bingo games was enjoyed with prizes being awarded the winners. Miss Rawles was presented a "surprise" handkerchief shower which was cleverly arranged in a decorated basket. Following its presentation from the group by Miss Bessie Randolph Edwards, piano selections were softly played by Miss Edwards. Refreshments were served by candlelight in the dining room, where the table was spread with a Madeira cloth and centered with yellow and old gold chrysanthemums and yellow tapers. Mrs. Staten Sugg poured coffee and also assisting at the table were Mrs. J. M. Quinn, who served a salad, and Mrs. B. E. Dale, who assisted with party sandwiches in Thanksgiving Day theme. The hostesses were further assisted by Mesdames T. C. Lewis, E. T. Moseley, Charles Randolph and F. L. Edwards.

Mrs. Hugh Blount and Mrs. Francis Hardee entertained jointly on Sunday during the hours of 5 to 7 o'clock complimentary to their niece, Miss Barbara Rawles, and Mr. Carroll Humphreys, 3rd, whose wedding will take place on Friday. Family members and friends of the couple, a group numbering about 30, were received at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Blount on North Independent Street. Decorations of greenery and red roses, reflecting the pre-Christmas theme, were used. In the dining room, the table

Mrs. Donna Reuscher, 25, her neck broken in a traffic accident, screams in agony at a receiving hospital in Los Angeles while awaiting treatment. With her is Officer Charles B. Yocum. The speeding auto in which she was riding went out of control and crashed into a traffic signal. Police booked the driver, Leland Hanson, 28, who received a broken back and possible broken neck, on drunk driving charges. (AP Wirephoto).

Tar Heel Policy Holders Stand To Get Big Saving

The couple was presented a gift by Miss Rawles' maternal grandfather, Mr. J. D. Poplin. Among the guests were Mrs. Vernon Rawley, mother of the bride-to-be, and her sister, Mrs. Arthur Quigley of New York City.

Raleigh, N.C., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Tar Heel policy holders stand to save an estimated $2,211,000 annually under a new schedule of automobile liability insurance rates.

The reductions were announced yesterday by Insurance Commissioner Waldo C. Cheek after a public hearing. Proposed by the N.C. Automobile rate administrative office, the rates were recommended on the basis of premiums paid and losses experienced during the years 1946 through the first half of 1948.

One schedule was increased by $70,000. This was for insurance on automobiles driven by persons under 25 years of age, and will put youthful operators in the highest-priced insurance classification covering privately owned passenger cars.

Cheek said the new rates become effective Jan. 9. Policies written between yesterday and Jan. 9 may be endorsed or cancelled and rewritten at the new rates, he added.

The reductions apply to both privately owned and commercial vehicles and affect rates on both property damage and bodily injury policies. They were the first reductions since World War II.

Bodily injury rates for private passenger cars were cut 14.6 per cent and 10.5 per cent for property damage. For commercial vehicles, the bodily injury rates were decreased 22.3 per cent and property damage rates 18.1 per cent.

about 10:30 a. m. Ben Roney, the governor's special assistant, and Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, president of North Carolina's Young Democrats, accompanied Scott.

Honoring Miss Barbara "Bobbie" Rawles, whose marriage to Mr. Carroll Humphreys, 3rd, takes place next Friday, Mrs. R. B. Parsons entertained at an informal coffee hour this week at her home on Mitchell Street. Guests were greeted upon arrival at 4 o'clock by Mrs. J. H. Ellis and Miss Katherine Wooten. Decorations of vari-colored chrysanthemums were used throughout the rooms. In the dining room, the table was covered with a lace cloth and was arranged with a centerpiece of orchid and white chrysanthemums, flanked by lighted pink tapers. Mrs. H. L. Saunders presided at the coffee service at one end of the table, and opposite her, Mrs. J. C. Lupton served cakes. Assisting in serving salted nuts and mints were Mrs. H. L. Hicks and Miss Lee Taylor.

There were about 80 guests attending, including neighborhood friends and members of the Needle and Tongue Club. Among the guests were Mrs. Vernon Rawley, mother of the honoree; and her sisters, Miss Dorothy Rawley, also of Greenville, and Mrs. Arthur Quigley, who is visiting there from New York City; and Mrs. Francis Hardee and Mrs. H. M. Blount, aunts of the bride-elect.

Robbers Take 8 Bags Of Peanuts

Robbers broke into the Cannon and Gorman tobacco warehouses, on Dickinson avenue, near the intersection of the Farmville highway Wednesday night and carried away eight bags of seed peanuts, the property of J. H. Blount.

A police report states that the robbers cut a hole in the rear of Cannon's warehouse, pulled off some planks on a partition to gain entrance to Gorman's side of the warehouse, then sawed off a lock on the storage room and stole the eight bags of peanuts. Police are investigating the robbery.

Strength FOR THE DAY

SYMBOLISM IS A STATUE
In Copenhagen there is a great statue of Christ made by the illustrious Danish sculptor, Thorwaldsen. It is a huge piece and the head of Christ is slightly bowed. In order to see his face, one has to get down on his knees, very close to the statue, and look up.

There is symbolism in all this. People sometimes think that they can read the Biblical account of the life of Jesus or read books about his life and understand him. But Jesus, in addition to being a historical character, is a living universal personality, still influencing the lives of men.

We only understand Jesus when we get close to him, when we get down on our knees and look up into his face. The distant appraisal that we would give any other piece of statuary is not sufficient for the Thorwaldsen statue, nor is it sufficient if we would understand the Christ of the New Testament. Close to him and on our knees—that is the formula.

Jesus is not just a leader to be admired or a martyr to whom we are grateful; he is a living Presence with whom we can have fellowship. He stands at the door and knocks. He invites men to look into his face and have peace.

As it is with the Thorwaldsen statue, so it is with the subject of the statue—to look into his face one has to get close to him and kneel.

RENT DECONTROL

For the first time in a number of years, Greenville and Pitt county yesterday found themselves out from under the rent control law which was imposed by the federal government as an emergency measure during the war-time boom.

According to the housing expediter who ordered the controls in this area lifted, the demands for rental housing in Greenville and Pitt county have been reasonably met, and there is no longer need for the control.

In issuing the ruling, however, Tighe E. Woods, the housing expediter, reserved the right under the existing regulations to reinstate the controls if rents in the city and county show an excessive increase because of the decontrol.

The ruling, by coming through Woods' office rather than by a recommendation of the board of aldermen and action by the governor of the state, leaves a recourse to the federal regulations if the rental situation again becomes acute in this community. Had the controls been lifted by action of the aldermen and the governor, there would have been no method under the existing federal regulations whereby they could have been restored should the property owners run wild with their newly found freedom from regulation.

If the demand for rental housing has been met as the federal survey must have indicated, the rental situation in Greenville and Pitt county should improve now that it is out from under the federal controls. But, on the other hand, if the landlords of the community try to take advantage of the decontrol and impose excessive rents on their tenants, the federal ag-

To the Editor:
Are we going to stay asleep on need for a recreation building for our youth? Boys and girls of today are our most precious possessions. Our city and community will not be any better than the material that we put in our men and women of tomorrow.

The federal government has appropriated a big sum for army base recreation. Our state has put in camps and parks for the 4-H clubs and other recreation. Some of the counties have made budgets for rural centers, parks and playgrounds. Henry Ford and other big corporations have installed playgrounds at their plants for employees' children, and centers for adults.

In a recent alderman meeting our chief of police told us of the noticeable improvements in the conduct of our youth since our recreation program started, and we have had many other favorable comments on results of our recreation program.

The Recreation Commission with a few volunteer workers and needed hired help, and with the available borrowed and pitched up places that we have to use, have done the best they could with what they have. With the wealth of our community, we should be ashamed to offer our youth so little.

The Parent-Teachers Associations could be, and should be, more active in their respective locations. Mr. Rose has been very generous in helping out with school property, but it is possible some of the buildings could be used more. The churches in other towns and cities have also put on an active community program in their immediate localities. We have recently been able to fix up and use one end of the curb market for our "midget program," but this building should be used more for recreation. We have been disappointed not to be

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

The Carolina-Virginia football game Saturday had a new significance as far as the Cavaliers were concerned. According to reports, the Virginia team would have received the Cotton Bowl bid if it defeated, or even tied, Carolina. Other reports said Carolina had the bid win, lose, or draw. But regardless of the true story The Richmond Times-Dispatch printed a readable editorial on the subject entitled: "Rah, Rah, Fight Team! $120,000—Boot It Right!"

The writer first made profound observations on bowls. He said, "When Webster defined the word he didn't have this type of 'bowl' in mind, but he came very close when one considers the condition of many of the fans who attend the games: 'A concave vessel, usually hemispherical, to hold liquids.'"

The editorial went on to say, "The sports pages told us Monday able to use the national armory for more recreation purpose.

About 2 years ago some of our leading citizens thought of the idea of a recreation center and to call it a memorial for our boys in World War No. 1 and 2. We had a big meeting with about 100 mostly of our dignitaries and money-people of our community, and I recall one of them who wiped the tears from his eyes as he mentioned how we had let our boys down. Yes, we must have this war memorial building and another said we could raise $500,000.00 for such a building; and some of us thinking more practical, asked for $50,000.00 which would fill a big demand for our present need—equipped with a basketball court, etc. The second and last meeting came along and most of the time was taken up with naming of the organization, etc. No war memorial, no recreation building and only memory of a few beautiful words. We have let the honoring of our war dead down, but the building of our youth and their character we can't let down. Every one interested should earnestly get behind a movement and stay with it until we get the needed recreation building and also look forward to getting a swimming pool for the Negro people.

MARKETING—Governor Kerr Scott of North Carolina, Harold Cooley, representative of the fourth district in congress and chairman of the tremendously important house agriculture committee, and marketing specialist from the federal government and nine states agreed Wednesday upon one point. The chief problem facing agriculture is to lessen the spread between producer and consumer through more efficient marketing—a generic term that includes processing, storage, transportation and distribution of food and clothing.

CONFERENCE—The governor and the congressman spoke at the opening session of a regional marketing conference here, last in a series of similar meetings held throughout the country. Attending the Raleigh meeting were representatives from the U. S. department of agriculture, North Carolina, Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, South Carolina, Georgia, Oklahoma and Puerto Rico. Other sessions have been held on the west coast, the middle coast and the northeast. In some respects this is the most important of the series, because it is held in the home ballistics of the man who started the program and the man who is now largely responsible for its effectuation.

HISTORY—As chairman of the national association of commissioners of agriculture, then commissioner, now governor, Kerr Scott originated the movement for a national marketing research program. The late Senator Bailey introduced a bill to put the idea into effect. Later Represententative Cooley offered a revised version. These were re-worked and finally in 1946 the Hope-Flanagan measure was enacted, setting up the house agriculture committee Cooley as responsibility for making the law work. All parties concede the producing farmers have done their part. The big job now is in the field of equitable and economic distribution of their products.

WASTE—It is recognized that there is too much waste, both in depreciation of actual food values and in added cost of handling, between the original producer and the ultimate consumer of farm crops. One man observed that if the technique of distribution could catch up with the efficiency of production, there would be no such thing as rotting surplus foods in some areas and starvation in others throughout the world. The big problem now is not to make two plants grow where one grew before; rather it is to see that each person gets one good meal without having to pay for two.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—The first day I went to junior high school—just 25 years ago—there was a pretty girl sitting in front of me in English class.

She was a blonde, in a shaggy way, and had cupid bow lips and a little brown freckle here and there. I thought to myself, "boy, if junior high is like this I certainly wasted a lot of time getting through grammar school."

About halfway through the lesson, my new dream girl turned around, grinned at me and whispered: "I wonder what you looked like before the mule kicked you?"

I waited until the teacher looked the other way, and then whispered into the fair ear before me: "I never was kicked by a mule."

She turned around and gave me that heartbreak smile again, and whispered: "Oh, was it a horse then?"

For a moment I didn't understand what she meant. And then I blushed clear down to my new $2.95 tennis shoes. What this darling doll was trying to tell me was that my face LOOKED like it had taken a hoof massage.

This wasn't the first time I had been disappointed in life. Only three months before the girl I had wanted to take to our graduating exercises at the Linwood Grammar School had turned me down with, "I'd love to, Harold, but really you're too small for me."

But no one before had ever told me I was homely. I went right home from Junior high and spent a half hour gazing at the bathroom mirror.

That blonde was right: No doubt of it. No nose needed to spread that wide just to fill one pair of lungs with air. Were those really ears or bat hangers? That hair—or was it moss? Why did anyone need a mouth at big unless he wanted to swallow cracker jack boxes?

I came out of that bathroom a desperate man. Women were out of my life forever. I was going to stay a bachelor and win all the merit badges in the boy scout book. What else could a love-frustrated fellow do at 13?

For the next ten years I hated that face that looked out at me from the mirror. The face that Abraham Lincoln and Socrates must have had the same trouble was no consolation at all.

But at 23 I made an astonishing discovery—I was still pretty ugly, but I wasn't getting any worse. My ears hadn't grown an inch.

In the years since then I have learned the fine consolation that time brings to the homely. There is only one way for them to grow—and that is better. On the other hand those who are beautiful or handsome when young can only fade with age. And it frets them into melancholy.

Often I used to wonder whatever had induced my lovely wife to marry such a plain thing as her husband. One day I found out. We were looking through her family album, and there was a picture of her as a child with her pet, Major, a fine old bulldog.

"Do you ever get lonesome for Major?" I asked.

"Not any more," Frances said, looking at me fondly.

All along—such is the loyalty of wives—she has stoutly insisted I'm not really exactly homely. When I asked her what I was, she searched through the English language for an adjective and said:

"Well, you're the . . . er . . . er . . . well, the rugged type."

Anyway it's better to be homely young, realize it young, and go on to other things. But some day I hope again to meet that blonde I knew in junior high. I'm going to look at her drab, towled hair, her wrinkled face, her crepe paper throat and whisper:

"What did you look like, dear, before you got caught in that clothes wringer?"

Spying Has Long History, But More Value In Modern System

By CLARKE BEACH

Washington—America's old-time spies seem picturesque in retrospect. They had none of the large-scale organization and efficiency of our modern espionage system, the Central Intelligence Agency. They worked only in wartime; that helped give them glamor.

Spying was largely a one-man or one-woman operation. The nation's favorite is young Nathan Hale, the Connecticut school teacher and Yale man who became a captain in George Washington's army. He crossed into the British lines in the disguise of a Dutch school teacher to obtain military information. He was captured and hanged the next day.

"I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country," the patriot is reported to have said before the noose tightened. Perhaps the young scholar was recalling a line from Joseph Addison's play "Cato"—"What pity is it that we can die but once to save our country."

Another brave but less well-known spy for Gen. Washington was Col. Barton. He and a few soldiers disguised as non-combatants penetrated the British lines and captured Brigadier Prescott. They brought Prescott back to Washington, who held him as a prisoner for some time.

Then there was Pvt. Charles Morgan, who spied on Cornwallis' army as an agent of Gen. Lafayette.

Two women became famous as spies on opposite sides in the Civil War, the Union's Emma Edmonds and the Confederacy's Belle Boyd, who saved Stonewall Jackson's army by giving him timely information.

Allen Pinkerton and his famous detectives ran an extensive spy system for the Union army. Pinkerton and his men became famous when they foiled a plot to assassinate the President Lincoln in 1861. Pinkerton after the war maintained a private detective agency.

Thomas Beach, an Englishman who fought on the Union side in the Civil War, spied for the British in this country in the 1860s and 1870s. His job was to keep Britain informed of activities of Irish agitators on this side of the Atlantic, who at one time tried to invade Canada. With the alias of Maj. Henri le Caron, Beach joined Irish-American societies, earned the confidence of fellow members and then betrayed their plans to his employers. Beach's type of work leaves a bad taste in the mouth of historians who admire most wartime spies.

The Secret Service earned quite a reputation as spy hunters during the Spanish-American War, breaking up one notable Spanish spy ring in this country. The organization also had charge of anti-sabotage and anti-espionage work in the first World War. But since then it has had little to do with such activities. The Secret Service is normally charged with guarding the President and enforcing certain laws concerning the U.S. Treasury, like catching counterfeiters.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation had charge of counter-espionage and anti-sabotage work in the last war. It also extended its counter-espionage and intelligence work to Latin America for the duration of the war. The espionage work in the last war was done by the armed forces and the Office of Strategic Services (OSS). Many hair-raising tales came out of post-war publications of OSS.

Spying is as old as history. You read about it in the Bible. The English are said to have created their intelligence system about 1330. Edward III established it so he could learn about continental intrigues. He was interested in promoting his little kingdom's foreign trade, and he found he needed to know what was being planned and plotted in the courts of Europe.

America about 600 years later has reluctantly set up a peacetime intelligence agency, partly for a similar reason—for guidance in playing successfully its new role as a leader in world affairs.

How'd You Like Porky To Get In Your Hair?

AP Newsfeatures

A SHARP PET is the porcupine, but Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Nielson of Ephraim, Utah, have fun with theirs. Here Bennett shows how affectionate it is. "Porky is intelligent, too," says Mrs. Nielson. "He opens our screen door, even though it swings outward. He is better than a watch dog because no one dares to intrude while he is on guard."

The little animal eats all kinds of fruits and vegetables. "We found him when he was very small, and raised him on a nursing bottle," says Mrs. Nielson. "Now he weighs 10 pounds. He eats from the same dish as our Irish Setter pup. The pup got a few sharp quills in him at first, but soon learned to stop biting at Porky. Now they play together."

The Catholic church is investigating the strange recovery of Herbert Theriot (above) at Franklin, La., to determine whether the church can regard it as a miracle. Theriot said he had a surgical operation in April, 1948, gangrene developed, and he was told his illness was beyond medical aid. He said he turned to prayer and placed a relic of the church on the wound. Thereafter, he added, his condition improved until he fully recovered. (AP Wirephoto).

Wilson, Dec. 1—(AP)—The skeletal remains of a body found last Friday by two hunters has been identified by its Edwards, Fayetteville Negro woman, as those of her father, Hardy Edwards.

The identification was made after viewing the clothing and the body at the scene where it was found. She told Sheriff J. W. Thompson the clothing was that worn by her father at the time he disappeared on the afternoon of August 7.

Speaks In Elizabeth City Kiwanis Meet

Dr. Martha Pingel of the department of English at East Carolina Teachers College spoke on "The Practical Man in the Modern World" at a meeting of the Elizabeth City Kiwanis Club last Tuesday evening, November 29. The meeting was held at the Hotel Virginia Dare and was attended by approximately sixty members of the organization.

Discussing the modern business man and his relationship to the world about him Dr. Pingel stated that he "should be multi-dimensional." He should adopt, she told her audience, some of the goals of the visionary rather concentrate on material things alone.

Convict Officers In Larceny Case

Goldboro, N.C., Dec. 2—(AP)—A Wayne County Superior Court jury has returned larceny convictions against a former police chief, an ABC officer and a one-time driver's license examiner.

The jury returned the verdict before Judge Walter J. Bone here yesterday afternoon after deliberating more than 24 hours. Sentencing was deferred indefinitely.

The three convicted were Joe Johnson of Wilmington, former police chief of Mount Olive Lenoir County ABC Officer Charlie Barwick, and Bob Ward of Goldboro, former license examiner. The trio were charged with robbing and assaulting Solly Sauls on Jan. 12, 1948.

Sauls testified at the trial that the three men stole what he claimed was $80 when they took his wallet to look for his driver's license. Johnson admitted he returned $60 the next day to avoid unfavorable publicity.

This was the third time the case has been in court. Mistrials were ordered in January of 1948 and again last January.

Says Reds Have Georgia Center

Chapel Hill, Dec. 2—(AP)—Gov. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia says that Communists have established their southern headquarters in his state.

The Communists know, he declared in a speech at the University of North Carolina here last night, that "if Georgia, the keystone of the South, falls, the rest will be easy pickings."

Talmadge said he regretted that the civil rights issue would "plague the next session of Congress as it did the last." He called on congressmen to spend their time on federal aid to education and other important pending legislation. The governor charged what he called the Communist conspiracy with seeking "to drive between our people renewed agitation of the so-called civil rights proposals which only last year tore our nation apart and caused a split in the ranks of the Democratic party."

The first question thrown at Talmadge in an open forum following the speech was "Do you sanction the acts of the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia?"

The reply: "As long as I am governor of the state of Georgia, I will uphold and defend the constitution of my state and the United States, and do my utmost to apprehend and mete punishment to any group of any kind that violates these laws."

Byrnes Says He Is No Candidate

Greenville, S.C., Dec. 2—(AP)—James F. Byrnes says he is not a candidate for president of the United States. The former secretary of state made that statement yesterday in an interview.

Byrnes, who said recently he was considering becoming a candidate for governor of South Carolina next year, abruptly ended speculation which gained momentum at the Southern Governors' Conference two weeks ago.

Gov. Kerr Scott of North Carolina, returning from the governor's conference at Biloxi, Miss., was quoted as saying there was much speculation that Byrnes might be proposed by States' Rights Democrats as the Democratic party's presidential candidate in 1952. If that failed, Scott was further quoted, the States' Righters might try to persuade Byrnes to run as the States' Rights candidate.

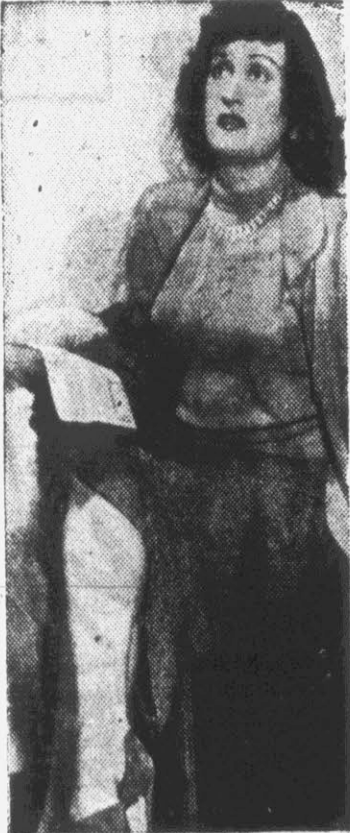

However, Byrnes said yesterday he would not be a candidate for president or vice-president of the States' Rights party, the Democratic party, the Republican party or any other political party.

"However, I shall continue to express my views as to national and international affairs regardless of whether they are in accord with the views of leaders of any party. Loyalty to country must be placed above loyalty to a political party," the former justice declared.

Begin To Revise College Systems

San Francisco—(AP)—The Chinese Reds have begun to remold their higher educational system, but obviously are going slow. In a broadcast heard here by the Associated Press, the Peking Radio said curricula for colleges and arts and sciences had been revised.

"This marks the beginning of the reformation of the old educational system in universities and colleges in China," declared the broadcast. Dialectical materialism, historical materialism and what the Reds call "new democracy" are required subjects. Russian is required as a foreign language course "whenever possible."

TEEN TALK

(Dear Judy)

There are so many reasons for having a Christmas party. You can make it a Christmas Eve party when festivities begin late, when carols are in order and bacon and eggs are served just before the guests go home. Or you can plan a mid-day Christmas party or a party on Christmas night. It is up to you.

Your invitation to the party can be cut out of red mat paper that measures 12 by 3 1/2 inches. It is folded in half to form a booklet and the cover is pasted with a few attractive Christmas seals. Inside paste scattered snowflakes cut out from lace paper doilies. Leave room to write your invitation and use white or green ink if you want it to be effective.

If your guests are to sit at the table and be served a repast, you can make delightful place mats out of dark green mat paper. Make a pattern of a large, full Christmas tree roughly 16 inches wide at the broadest part and 12 inches high. Trace outline on green mat stock and cut out. Paste on tree snowflakes cut out from the doilies and little red dot seals that give the appearance of Christmas tree balls.

Little cone trees make wonderful centerpieces for table or buffet. You roll a piece of red mat stock into a cone about 9 inches high. (Four of them make a tree.) Paste with paper clips. Then take a square 8-inch doily and cut it into four quarters. Around the outer edges, paste a narrow white crepe-paper ruffle. Then, holding the trimmed doily quarter like a triangle with the point at the top, paste it over cone. Four of these will make the main part of the tree.

The trunk is made by taking 4 pieces of spool wire, each 13 inches long. Hold them together with one wire held 1/4 inch above the other three. Wrap the wires with red crepe paper to form the tree trunk. Fasten narrow tips of the 4 red cones about 1/4 inch from the top of the tree trunk. To hide the place where the 4 cones are pasted to the trunk at the top, add a narrow white crepe paper ruffle and secure with spool wire. Top the tree with a tiny gold or silver Christmas ball. Fasten another white crepe-paper ruffle at the base of the tree trunk. Then put tree trunk through the open center of a roll of white crepe-paper streamers which serves as the base for the tree. Trim streamer roll with a narrow green ribbon. Tie in a lovely full bow.

Most parties are as good as their games. Here are two game suggestions for your Yule party:

Christmas Quiz—Give each guest a pencil and paper. Tell everyone that you are going to quote a line from each of ten famous Christmas songs or carols. They are to identify the song or carol by its correct title. For example you might quote: "Laughing all the way." This should be associated

Dr. Jones Acts As Consultant For Study Unit

Dr. Harold C. Jones, professor of science at East Carolina Teachers College, is serving as consultant in a study unit conducted by teachers of science in the elementary schools of Rocky Mount.

He was present Wednesday afternoon at the Edgemont school there to initiate a series of workshops and discussion groups which will be held over a period of several weeks. Dr. Howard J. McGinnis, director of the Bureau of Field Studies at East Carolina, accompanied Dr. Jones to Rocky Mount and was present for the opening meeting.

Teachers participating in the program will write a course of study for each grade group in the Rocky Mount elementary schools. In this work Dr. Jones will serve as consultant and will return to Rocky Mount for several meetings of the group.

Millie Moore, supervisor of elementary schools in Rocky Mount, is in charge of the study unit. As the program develops, she and other teachers in the Rocky Mount schools will visit East Carolina for conference with Dr. Jones.

Burley Auction Body Opens War On Rump Sales

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 1.—(AP)—The Burley auction warehouse Association hit the warpath today to halt rump sales as volume gained and the price average dropped slightly on the Kentucky Burley Tobacco markets' latest auctions.

The Warehouse Association declared sales were held at seven centers yesterday without "adequate buying representation." And it pleaded for government help to stop these so-called rump sales.

William C. Clay, Mt. Sterling, counsel for the Association, said the U. S. Department of Agriculture has publicly proclaimed that inspection grading of tobacco will be immediately discontinued upon any sale which does not have buyers sufficient to assure competition—to an extent does not have buyers sufficient to assure competition—to an extent comparable with competition on established auction sales generally.

Phone Companies Can Prepare For Federal Loans

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 2—(AP)—Telephone companies and cooperatives can begin preparing applications for federal loans at once, says the chairman of the State Rural Electrification Authority. Gwyn B. Price said yesterday rural North Carolina will be getting more telephones under the country's new rural telephone legislation. He added that development of the administrative machinery for making loans authorized under a recent act of Congress has begun in the REA at Washington. In a prepared statement, Price noted that $25,000,000 is available for loan to cooperatives, mutual associations and commercial companies serving rural areas. The interest rate, he added, is two per cent.

Just Different?

Alhambra, Calif., Dec. 2—(AP)—Jack Waldron, 26, may have a slight bit of explaining to do in traffic court.

Traffic officers charged: Waldron drove on the sidewalk and through a vacant lot. The car had no license plates; no registration; no windshield; no muffler; no headlights; no tail light; no horn; no emergency brake; illegal exhaust pipes and doors that were welded shut.

Waldron also lacked a driver's license. Then they booked him yesterday on suspicion of grand theft, auto.

Tax Collector Is Left To Courts

Marshall, N. C., Dec. 2—(AP)—The State Supreme Court will be asked to decide whether a Democrat or a Republican is the legal tax collector of Madison County.

Superior court Judge Zeb V. Nettles yesterday directed a verdict in favor of the Democrat, William McRae Roberts. Lawyers for the Republican, Otto McDevitt, gave notice of appeal to the Supreme court.

Roberts claims he was elected by the chairman of the board of education and sinking fund commission. McDevitt says he was elected tax collector by the chairman of the board of county commissioners and the board of health.

Jesse E. Carson Funeral On Sunday

Mr. Jesse E. Carson, 47, of Bethel, died in Pitt General Hospital Thursday afternoon at 5:25 o'clock after three weeks of critical illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Bethel Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock by the pastor, the Rev. N. W. Grant, and burial will be in the Bethel cemetery.

Mr. Carson was born, reared and spent nearly all his life near Bethel. He was a farmer until 1947, when he retired due to ill health. He was married to Miss Lillian Carson of near Bethel in 1925. He was a member of Savage Methodist Church in Gates County.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Edward J. Carson of the home; two daughters, Shelby Jean and Janie Ray Carson, both of the home; his father, James J. Carson of near Gold Point; three brothers, Ivey Lee Carson of Gold Point, W. Paul and Earl H. Carson of Rocky Mount; and two sisters, Mrs. Michal Stevens of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Carl Bottoms of Ehrpsburg, N.C.

Distributors To Handle Bananas

Ormond Wholesale Company this week completed its preparations for the handling of large quantities of bananas which will be distributed to grocery merchants in this section of eastern North Carolina. H. L. Ormond announced today.

Ormond said the company has completed the installation of three new temperature regulated rooms and one new cold room which will be used to take care of the bananas from the time they are received here from the South American markets until they are distributed to the retail merchants in this area. Each of the newly installed rooms will hold approximately one-half carload of bananas, Ormond said, and will be regulated to insure retail grocers of this area a constant source of ripe bananas.

The addition of the four new regulated temperature rooms brings to a total of 10 the number of cold and regulated temperature rooms which the company has for the storage of fruits and vegetables. The ten storage rooms, Ormond stated, have a combined capacity of approximately 11 railroad boxcars.

The Ormond Wholesale Company was established in Greenville in 1932, and since that time has served hundreds of retail grocery merchants in eastern North Carolina. Its building, at 1901 Dickinson Avenue, has 28,000 square feet of floor space which is used for the storage of large quantities of items before they are distributed to the retail merchants.

Farmhouse Fire Is Fatal To Six

Clinton, Dec. 2—(AP)—A grieving mother and the son of her landlady today were the only survivors of a farmhouse fire which burned six persons to death yesterday.

The fire in the five-room dwelling seven miles south of Clinton killed Henry Ernest Autry, 26, his four children, and the owner of the home, Mrs. J. W. Tyndall, 40-year-old widow.

Autry poured kerosene into a stove as he prepared to heat the home before the others arose. The kerosene splattered on hot coals, generating a gas which exploded.

Other members of the household, except Mrs. Autry, were still in bed. The children who perished were Barbara, 7; Jean, 5; Frank, 3, and Nancy Day, 1.

Autry died in the Highsmith hospital in Fayetteville last night. The hospital said his wife was in fair condition and Joe Freeman Tyndall, 10, was doing nicely.

Railroad Seeks End Passenger Service; Loss

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 2—(AP)—The State Utilities Commission today had under consideration a proposal to discontinue the passenger service of the Atlantic and East Carolina Railroad.

Officers of the railroad told the commission yesterday that passenger operations have been a losing proposition since the end of the war. The company, privately owned, operates by lease agreement over state-owned tracks between Morehead City and Goldsboro.

The railroad proposed in its application to discontinue trains No. 2 and No. 5 on weekdays and trains No. 12 and No. 15 on Sundays. A total loss on passenger operations of $126,000 a year was shown on an exhibit filed with the commission.

Berlin's African B. D. draws Crowd

AFRICAN OASIS IN BERLIN—Colored GIs like to chat with the pretty mulatto barkeep from Africa.

By HERMANN M. TIMM
AP Newsfeatures
Berlin—A German businessman has opened the first all-African bar in west Berlin. His place in the American sector is crowded every night in the week. This contrasts to "normal" restaurants and bars in the city. Their owners complain the employees often outnumber the guests.

"I knew my idea would attract people despite their chronic lack of money," the manager explained. Jean, the head waiter, claims to be the son of the king of the Bantu-tribe in north Africa.

"I left my tribe to make a career as a tap dancer," Jean said. "Before I wound up here as a waiter I was a movie star and a crooner," he said. He has been in Germany for many years and speaks the language well.

"There were always Negro bars and bands here and they were well liked," the manager said, "but the Nazis did not like them. The Negroes could not prove that their grandmothers were Aryans. In 1938 Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels ordered these bars closed.

Set Date For Opening Of Bids In Prison Camps

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 2—(AP)—Bid construction contracts for two new road camps for the state's prison system will be opened Dec. 16. The State Highway Commission announced yesterday the bids will be opened then for camps in Guilford and Lincoln Counties. The Guilford camp—to be built near the county home near Greensboro—will house 125 prisoners and have a dining hall, laundry, guards' quarters, confinement cells and other facilities. The Lincoln camp will be built near Lincolnton and will house 100 prisoners and include facilities for military confinement. Meanwhile, the prison department completed arrangements for opening its new Currituck camp north of Coitjock. Fried ants, eaten by some people in South Africa, are said to taste like bacon.

Gun Battle At Non-Union Coal Mine Basis Of Suit

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 2—(AP)—A gun battle at a non-union mine last September was the basis of a $800,000 damage suit on file today against United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis and other union officials.

The six Preskitt brothers, owners of a small strip mine in Walker County near Jasper, Ala., filed the action yesterday in U.S. District Court.

Several hundred shots were exchanged the afternoon of Sept. 28 between eight defenders and an armed band. The battle lasted more than an hour and a half.

A union miner, Herschell Davis, died several days later of shotgun wounds suffered in the battle.

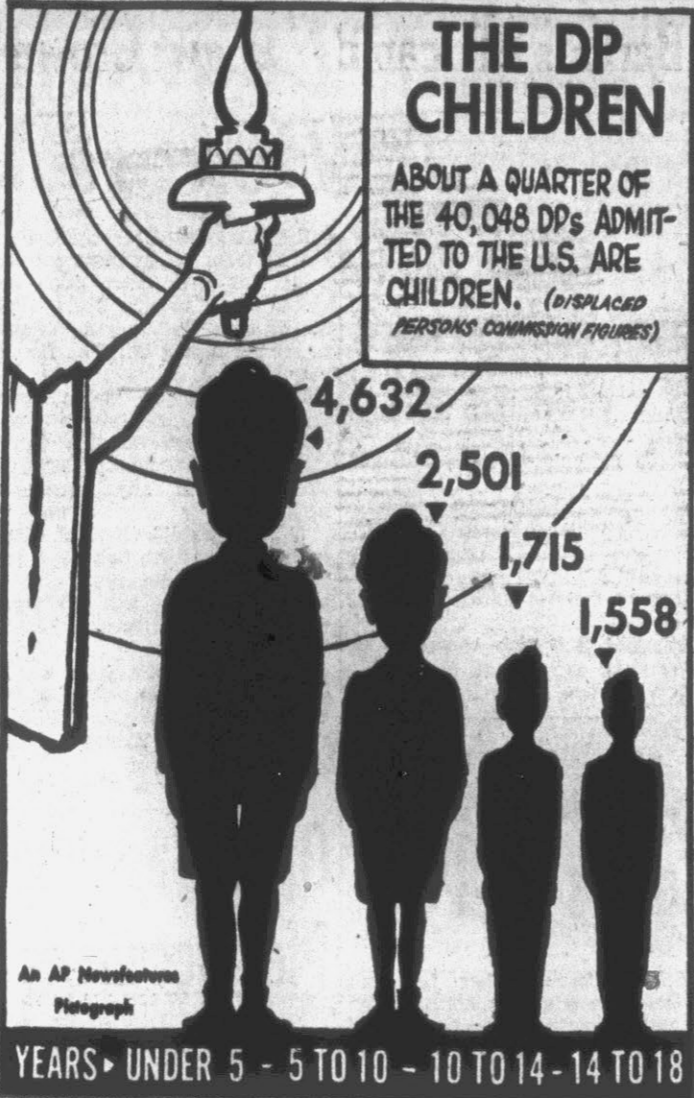

The Preskitt mine, closed after the battle, had continued in operation despite the nationwide walkout by union miners.

Defendants in the suit were listed as United Mine Workers of America; District 50, U.M.W.; Local No. 6969, U.M.W.; Lewis, William Mitch, District 20 president; J. W. Heathcock, UMW district representative; Edward Beane, UMW international representative; and Orville T. Ralston, president of Local No. 6969. The Preskitt brothers contend they "were subjected to threats of x x x and suffered assaults with weapons upon themselves and their

Christmas Club Real Santa Claus

By CHESTER WALSH
When Santa Claus paraded past the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Greenville on Evans Street this afternoon the Assistant Secretary and Treasurer Mrs. Allie P. Whitehurst, was mailing out checks totaling $31,485.25 to hundreds of members of the 1949 Christmas Savings Club.

The checks ranged in denomination from $12.50 to $250 each. Many of the Christmas Club members had several accounts. The members save 25 cents to $5 weekly during the year and they don't miss this small amount. When the first of December rolls around the First Federal Savings and Loan Association mails the Christmas checks and the money they provide for Christmas causes children and grown-ups alike to believe that there "really is a Santa Claus," said Secretary-Treasurer, A. C. Tadlock today.

The Christmas Savings Club has had wonderful growth and increase in membership and savings. It was started in 1937 when savings totalled $1,600. There was a steady increase during the year. Last year the Christmas Savings Club distributed $29,598.00 shortly before Christmas. This year the increase in members brought the total amount of $31,485.25—an increase of 6.3 per cent.

The Christmas Club provides a sure way to have money when you need it most—at Christmas time. Money for the holidays, money to help a person to enjoy a "paid for Christmas," money to take care of those ever increasing year-end bills, taxes, mortgages, interest, insurance premiums, etc.

New memberships in the Christmas Club are being received now. A person may join the class best suited to meet his or her needs. Your first payment makes you a member, Tad-lock said. First Federal Savings and Loan Association officers and directors are: Judge Dink James, president; Guy V. Smith, vice-president, A. C. Tadlock, secretary and treasurer and Mrs. Allie P. Whitehurst, Asst. Secretary and treasurer. The directors are Judge Dink James, Guy V. Smith, Alton Barrett, J. A. Collins, A. C. Tadlock, Dr. S. M. Crisp, Dr. M. E. Massey and Marvin K. Blount.

Soldier Killed, 2 Hurt In Wreck

Greenwood, S.C., Dec. 2—(AP)—One soldier was killed and two others were seriously injured in an automobile accident early today near Ninety Six.

Highway Patrolman R. C. McComb identified the dead man as Corp. Dean Edward Bagby, 19. The injured were identified as Sgt. Roy L. Davis and Tech-Sgt. Walter William Bralles. All three men were stationed at Greenville (S.C.) Air Base, McComb said.

No longer does four-year-old Evelyn Stypula ask "Mummy, where's my feet?" Born with misshapen stumps for legs, the little girl is learning to walk on artificial limbs in her home at Sharpsburg, Pa. Her stumps were amputated at the thighs to make way for the artificial legs. Her left arm and right hand also were deformed at birth. (AP Wirephoto).

Close Case Of Missing Negro

Roxboro, N.C., Dec. 2—(AP)—Person County authorities today put the case of an elderly Negro who disappeared mysteriously four years ago in their solved business file.

Fountain Pulliam yesterday identified a skeleton found by hunters near here as that of his father, Tom Pulliam, 78.

The elder Pulliam was last seen Jan. 26, 1946, after alighting from a bus. The search for him was hampered by snow which fell the night of his disappearance.

A belt buckle, overshoes and pocketbook found near the skeleton were recognized by the son.

Mrs. Mildred Noble, wife of a well known gambler in Dallas, Tex., was killed in the wreckage of this automobile which exploded when she pushed the starter in front of her home. Her body was blown 100 feet from the car. Officials said they believed both dynamite and nitroglycerine were used to make a bomb which apparently was wired to the starter. (AP Wirephoto).

Must Shoot Or Be Shot, Claims Tart G. B. Shaw

Glasgow, Scotland, Dec. 2—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw says that if war comes, pacifists must "shoot or be shot."

Answering a staff member of the Forward, Glasgow labor weekly, who asked how to get established as a registered conscientious objector to military service, the tart-tongued Socialist playwright wrote:

"A country that engages in war, rightly or wrongly, is like a ship that has struck a breaker and is leaking. The order must be 'all hands to the pumps,' no matter how faulty or wicked the navigators may have been. x x x

"Pacifists should do all they can to prevent war, but if it nevertheless breaks out, it is too late to do anything but fight."

Guilford Bows To Pirates By 58-42

East Carolina Cagers Open Conference Basketball Season With Victory; Sophomore Guard, Louis Collie, Leads Scoring Spree

East Carolina Teachers College posted a 58-42 victory over Guilford's Quakers at Guilford last night to open the 1949-50 North State conference basketball season and score his third win in four starts this season.

The Buccaneers and Quakers were two of four North State teams in action. In non-conference engagements Elon bowed to the University of North Carolina 57-39 and High Point scored an impressive 64-59 win over the Independent Monroe Clippers.

Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina team, ruling the roost of the North State by virtue of its opening conference win, was led by Sophomore Guard Louis Collie who found the basket for 16 points.

Dick Hall, scoring eight points from his forward post, led Guilford's scoring.

It was the last of four consecutive road trips for the Buccaneers who make their first home appearance December 5 against Camp Lejeune and begin a five-game home slate which will include conference matches with Catawba, Appalachian and Elon.

La Starza Bids For Recognition As Heavyweight

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—Roland La Starza, unbeaten glamor boy of the young heavyweight crop, bids for international recognition tonight in a 10-round Madison Square Garden bout with Argentina's Cesar Brion.

This is the big fight in the careers of both these 22-year-old hopefuls whose eyes are trained on the gold and glory of the heavyweight championship. A decisive knockout win could earn a June title date with Ezzard Charles for either boy.

Even more intriguing than a Charles bout is the possibility that an impressive victory might lure Joe Louis out of retirement next summer. An outstanding young contender against the Brown Bomber would be a sure fire million dollar gate.

Before worrying about Charles or Louis, both of tonight's sluggers must deal with the business at hand. It shapes up as a tough match with La Starza deservedly a 5 to 8 favorite.

Under the careful handling of Manager Jimmy (Fats) De Angelo, La Starza, a former City College lad, has been moved slowly up the ladder.

While La Starza was bowling over 17 of 36 victims by knockouts, little attention was paid to Brion who is billed as the greatest South American slugger since Luis Firpo. He was little known until he knocked out Bernie Reynolds in a major upset on the Charles-Gus Lesnevich card last summer. Since then a baby face, has flattened Tammi Mauriello and Jimmy Walls. He has won 28, lost two and knocked out 15 opponents.

Physically, the edge is all with Brion. He is four inches taller than La Starza and he has a four-inch edge in reach. The 6 foot 2 1/2 inch Brion will weigh about 192 to La Starza's 187.

A crowd of 12,000 is expected to pay about $45,000 to see the fight.

Claims Cycle In Playing Football

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—The T-formation and two-platoon system will be out of date in a few years, according to Bob Zuppke, who says football is just like women's skirts—"keeps changing all the time."

They call this new stuff—actually it is old stuff, declared the 70-year old former grid master of the University of Illinois, in town to accept the New York Touchdown Club's annual award for outstanding contributions to the sport.

"We had the T-formation 30 years ago and it was in use before that," he added. "These things come and go, like women's styles—in circles. In a few more years we will have new rules and new formations, or some new names for old ones."

Zuppke said football should never become standardized. When it does, he said, it will be the death knell of the sport.

"This isn't baseball. We must constantly change, get new ideas, make new creations. That is the only way to keep football healthy and interesting."

A crowd of some 800 members, coaches and sports figures turned out at Ruppert's last night to honor the little man who coached at Illinois for 29 years, retiring at the end of 1941, and who is credited with many of the game's innovations.

Fighter Signed To Meet Louis

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 2—(AP)—Promoter Jimmy Murray said last night he had signed Al Hoosman of San Francisco as Joe Louis' opponent for a ten-round boxing exhibition here Dec. 19.

The former world heavyweight champion's contract calls for a $5,000 guarantee.

Louis meets Pat Valentino of San Francisco at Chicago Wednesday.

Leo Barnhorst, Notre Dame basketball ace now with the Chicago Stags of the National Basketball Association, is one of the best soft-ball pitchers in the country.

Sport Slants By Pap

Pentti Lund is playing with greater confidence and increased effectiveness this year after having been voted the Calder Trophy as the outstanding rookie of the National Hockey League last season. The Rangers' clever left wing is demonstrating that his choice for the coveted honor was not an error. One of the most potent forwards on the Blue Shirts, Lund is an excellent back checker, much to the joy of the Ranger defensemen and goalie.

Lund is the only Finnish-born player in the National Hockey League. He is a native of Helsinki, Finland. Pentti's folks left for Canada when he was six. He remained behind for a while until the new Lund home was ready, then left his grandmother's home for the voyage to the Western Hemisphere. When asked who took him on the sea trip, Pentti replies: "No one. I took my younger brother across." The six-year-old Lund's younger brother was "Joe," who is in hockey today, playing professionally in the American League.

Lund is big and powerful—a solid six-footer, weighing 180 pounds. He is quiet and soft-spoken away from the rink, but a holy terror when he comes storming down the left alley with a scoring spree on his mind. He's rugged and has missed only one game since joining the Rangers a year ago. He is 24 years old and still short of his peak.

Doak Walker On Sideline For SMU And Irish Tilt

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 2—(AP)—Golden Doak Walker will end his collegiate football career on the bench tomorrow—and in civilian clothes.

Southern Methodist University coach Matty Bell last night said his triple-threat backfield star wouldn't even suit up for tomorrow's game with mighty Notre Dame.

The definite loss of Walker dimmed further Southern Methodist's already dim hopes of upsetting the Irish, shooting for their 38th consecutive victory.

"His leg just didn't respond to treatment," Bell said of Walker. "He can't run at all."

Walker reinjured a leg in the Texas Christian University game last week. He was out most of the second half.

Bell would not name the back who would replace Walker.

"We're trying several combinations," was all he would say.

Walker, an all-America for three straight years, was one of the main hopes Southern Methodist rosters had for an upset over Frank Leahy's powerful eleven.

Leahy planned a practice this afternoon for his gridders. The football squad came to Dallas on a special train carrying several cars of Notre Dame fans.

Without Walker, Kyle Rote will bear the brunt of the Mustang running attack. The big, hard-running junior will also probably handle punting and extra point kicking—if any of the latter are needed.

The Mustangs went through their last hard practice yesterday. They've been working out all week behind barred gates. There's been no hint of what new tactics they will unveil, but there have been plenty of rumors. One of the wildest has Bell switching from the single and double wing formations to the split T for this game.

Grifton Basketballers Take Both Contests In Doubleheader Thursday

Grifton.—Grifton high school basketball teams scored victories in both ends of a doubleheader here last night with the local boys taking a 39-14 win and the girls scoring 47-30 over Bell Arthur.

Every member of Grifton's 15-man boys squad saw action in the impressive win over the boys from Arthur. High scoring honors went to Ray Mumford and Ruben Ewell who contributed 14 and 11 points to the Grifton total.

Billy McLawhorn scored five points to lead Bell Arthur.

In the girls game the Grifton sextet pulled away from a narrow 19-18 lead to sweep to a 17 point victory.

Nell Mumford with 19 points and Edna Earl Braxton with 14 paced the winners while V. Crawford scored 19 points for the losing girls.

Sid Gordon Will Be Given Chance In New Position

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—Sid Gordon a catcher? Yep, that's right, according to Leo Durocher.

The New York Giants manager revealed yesterday that Gordon, a third baseman, first baseman and outfielder, would get a trial behind the plate next spring.

"It's Sid's own idea," said Leo, "that's the last thing he asked me last fall. If he can catch, he'll be a big help for he certainly has a fine arm."

Gordon, a stocky 31-year-old outfielder-infielder with a potent home run bat, is a most important figure in the Giants' attack. He hit 26 homers last season.

Coach Ben Schwarzwalder of the Syracuse University football team is the 22nd head grid coach in Orange history.

Continues Route Pancho Gonzales

Toronto, Dec. 2—(AP)—Jack Kramer whipped Pancho Gonzales last night for the 21st time in 25 matches of their professional tennis tour. Kramer won in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, before 5,000 fans.

Francisco Segura had a harder time with Frankie Parker, winning 2-6, 6-2, 10-8. It was his 20th victory over Parker.

A $100 bill nestled peacefully under the checks.

Latham's Bethel Cagers Win Pair

Bethel.—Coach Walter Latham's Bethel high school basketball team scored its fourth consecutive win of the year last night, downing Stokes 63 to 33 after the local girls swept to a 44-18 win over the Stokes sextet.

Leading all the way, the Bethel boys jumped to a first period 14-3 advantage. Frank Hemingway and George James scored 10 points each for Bethel and Frank Keel tossed in nine points.

Pete Fleming scored high for Stokes with 14 points.

In the girls game, Peggy Batchelor and Mary Ella Moore scored 15 points each to pave the way to a Bethel victory. Janice Taylor was high scorer for Stokes with eight points.

It was the third victory in four starts for the Bethel girls.

Outstanding defensively for Bethel were Angeline Hyman, Daphne Bowers and Geraldine White. Gay Cobb led the Stokes defensive.

The Bethel teams continue their schedule tonight when they play host to Snow Hill in what Bethel school officials predict will be one of the toughest games on the Bethel schedule.

The schedule: Dec. 2—Snow Hill; 6—Elizabeth City; 9—at Elizabeth City; 12—at Grifton; 16—Chilco; 19—at Bath; 20—Belvoir; Jan. 3—Stokes; 6—at Farmville; 6—Arkansas Travelers vs. Bethel All-Stars; 9—Robersonville 13—at Winterville; 16—at Robersonville; 17—Grimesland; 20—at Ayden; 24—Jamesville; 27—at Oak City; 31—Farmville; Feb. 3—Aurora; 7—Winterville; 10—Grifton; 14—Ayden; 17—at Aurora; 24—at Jamesville; 27—Bath.

Swiss Sledding Track To Open

St. Moritz, Switzerland—(AP)—Cresta Run, one of the world's fastest winter sports tracks, will be open again this winter after a lapse of two years due to lack of funds.

The Swiss government has offered to contribute 30,000 francs ($5,000) per season to the ice and snow toboggan track. Fred MacCarthy, captain of the United States skeleton team in the Olympic games here in 1948, will act as secretary of the St. Moritz Tobogganing Club this season. Lord Brabazon of Tara is president.

Shut Out Twice

New York—(AP)—Kenneth Dale Owen of the Indian Mound Farm, New Harmony, Ind., was runner-up bidder on both of the two highest priced standardbred colts ever sold at auction. He was outbid by Sol at Camp of Shafter, Calif., for the $42,000 White Hanover in 1947, and was topped by a syndicate for $72,000 Imperial Hanover this year.

Deacs' Top Scorer

Wake Forest, Dec. 2—Stan Najewaj, leading scorer in 1949 with 207 points, will be back at the center position for Wake Forest when the Deacons open their 25-game schedule against Washington and Lee at Statesville Saturday night. The Wake Forest cagers will play seven pre-Christmas games.

Howie Schultz, former first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phils, now is player coach of the Anderson Packers of the National Basketball Association.

Texas Furnishes Bowl Sites And Bowl Teams

Dallas—(AP)—Texas not only furnishes teams to play bowl games it has plenty of bowl games its own. Already there are six scheduled for December and January and there are likely to be twice that many.

The Cotton Bowl heads the list. It will be played Jan. 2 in Dallas with 75,300 spectators. The Southwest Conference champ is the host. The "take" will be $120,000 for each team.

The Sun Bowl at El Paso, which has operated 14 years—one more than the Cotton Bowl—matches the Border Conference champion, if that team can be obtained, against some outside foe. Seating capacity is 16,000 with the visiting team receiving $13,000 and the host team $12,000. It will be played Jan. 2.

The Texas Rose Bowl at Tyler, in its third year, is for junior colleges with the champion of the

Leathernecks Convince Buc Boxers More Work Needed

East Carolina Teachers College's boxing team began more intensive drills this week after being convinced by a scrappy Cherry Point boxing team that they aren't going to set the boxing world on fire this year.

In a scrimmage match against the powerful leatherneck boxers, only three East Carolina fighters came through with performances which merited any considerable notice.

"I guess we did all right considering that we were fighting a team which trains nine months to the year and which was in perfect shape," Boxing Instructor Johnny Long commented.

The Cherry Point team was the same outfit which went to New York to fight last year and made a good record boxing Northern teams.

In the scrimmage Wednesday afternoon no decisions were made. Many of the fights went but one and two rounds and the boys did routine workouts in the Cherry Point gym.

Making impressive showings against the Marines were Cecil Phillips, the Jacksonville, N.C. boy who was for two years state champion of Florida; Charlie Edwards, a letterman from last year, and H. L. Creel, a Manteo youth who promises to be one of Long's better fighters this year.

Long spoke highly of the performance of Ken Stargardt who was sparring with Cherry Point's leading middle weight, Bob Bailey, a newcomer to East Carolina, "got a working over" according to Long but his performance rated a "He has it, I know he has. We just have to bring it out" from the coach.

The entire team saw action with the exception of Cleon Smith who is nursing a slight mouth injury.

Informally Agree To Bowl Contest

San Francisco, Dec. 2—(AP)—Subject to ratification by the players of the Texas school, undefeated and untied college of the Pacific will play Baylor University in a bowl game.

Leo C. Lee, president of the San Francisco Press Club, says the two schools have informally agreed to play in the first annual "Press Club Bowl," either in Kesar stadium here Jan. 2 or in the University of California's Memorial stadium in Berkeley Dec. 26.

Kesar seats 60,000 fans, California 80,000.

Open Basketball Play December 7

Vanceboro.—The Farmlife high school teams of Vanceboro open their 1949-50 basketball season December 7 when they play host to the cagers from Fort Barnhill.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Short of Murder

By Tom T. Ness

Chapter 12

It was close to one o'clock Saturday afternoon when Larry Hackett, at his desk in the city room, received a telephone call from Plymouth, Mass.

"A rotten break, Larry," came over the wire in the voice of Jonathan Andrews. "I stood on the busiest corner of this burg for an hour, but I didn't lamp a single bus with a spare-tire cover like the one you described. I've visited every garage, service station, and auto dealer. It just ain't in the cards."

Hackett grinned at the transmitter. "He's thyself forthwith to ye settlement of Boston, Brother Jonathan. Do you getteth me?"

"Okayth. But, Larry, don't expect your car before dinner. I'll drive it to your home tonight."

Brooding, the newsman left the city room. He ate a quick lunch at a restaurant in the neighborhood, and proceeded to the shop of "Eben ing a phone call from headquarters soon."

"I'll be back in fifteen minutes," Scott informed him on his way out. On hearing the front door close, Hackett asked Lavin: "Any news of Virginia Lambert?"

"No. And I guess Scott hasn't any news of her either. He was at the Stafford again early this morning, asking if she left a forwarding address, so the room clerk told Kelly. Anything new on that Plymouth tire-cover ad?"

Hackett snook his head and then recounted his telephone conversation with Jonathan Andrews. "So I'm afraid that clue is a dud. By the way, did you get Scott's subtle hint that Bender knew of the cash contents of the mutilated encyclopedias?"

"Yes, Larry. My theory is, Scott was swiping money—the four grand—from the safe when Daniels surprised him in the act. Then Scott pinked the old man with that paper-knife and made a getaway in that sedan you chased. Scott says he didn't own a car, but even so, he could have had a pal at the wheel."

"I guess you're right, Inspector," the horse-faced fellow was saying. "Only an eccentric old man would hide his money in hollowed-out encyclopedias. Nobody would ever have guessed it, though, not even myself."

Lavin gave him a skeptical glance. "And Ed Bender?"

Scott walked the width of the room before replying. "I don't know whether Ed knew, but maybe he did, for he was Uncle's favorite. Howdy, Hackett!"

"How are you, Scott?" The newsman drew a chair up to the spinet. "Hungry for one thing," replied Scott. "Guess I'll run down to the corner drug store lunch counter and grab a sandwich and a cup of java."

He glanced at Lavin, a question in his eyes.

Understanding, the inspector said: "No, I'm not going yet. I'm expecting you."

Convicts Hunting Law Violators

By CHESTER WALSH
District game wardens report that they are receiving the best cooperation of farmers in Pitt county and the adjoining area in enforcing the state game laws. The Pitt County chapter of the North Carolina Wildlife Club is lending its support for strict enforcement of the laws and urging at its meetings that hunters "respect the rights of the farmers on whose land they hunt."

Ten violators of the state game laws have been convicted in magistrates' courts since the hunting season opened.

In Magistrate Frank Brooks' court yesterday six defendants were found guilty of violating the game laws.

John Moringo of near Farmville was fined $8.75 court costs for hunting with an automatic gun and not having it plugged to contain only three shells.

Arrest Driver On Two Charges

David A. Wiggins, 17, 406 E. 13th Street, Greenville, was arrested by the State Highway Patrol yesterday afternoon on charges of passing a school bus and operating a car without a driver's license.

The bus driver reported that the car driven by Wiggins came running up behind the bus and finally passed the bus on the right shoulder of the highway.

The case will be tried in Police Court Monday morning.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
Washington. — Until Christmas Day the Army-Air Force Postal Service will be working around the clock to get your gift packages and a touch of cheer to servicemen around the globe.

To make the holiday real for the boys depends on the teamwork of relatives and friends with the Army Post Office, Maj. Benjamin F. Hartl, director of the postal division at the New York Port of Embarkation, says Mail to Army and Air Force personnel overseas is funneled through four major postal centers—one in San Francisco for the Far East, another in New York for Europe, another in Seattle for Alaska, and the fourth in New Orleans for the Caribbean Command.

Maj. Hartl, writing of the gigantic operation of the Postal Concentration Center in New York in the Army Information Digest, gives you an idea of what it takes to get those home-made cookies to Bill, the hand-knit socks to Joe, the pretty compact to Mary at some far-off post.

During the three months preceding Christmas 1948, the center processed nearly 35,500,000 pieces of mail, more than 1,000,000 of which were Christmas packages. Maj. Hartl says indications are that the volume this year will equal if not surpass that.

"Normally," says the major, "five days after an air mail letter is dropped in the box in the United States for an APO address in Europe, it reaches its reader. Ordinary mails require an average of 18 days. He lists the following rules for safe transmission of parcels for overseas addressed: "Pack securely, address correctly, send no perishables and mail early."

Articles for overseas shipment should be packed in heavy corrugated cardboard with all air space stuffed with filler. The package should be wrapped in heavy paper, tied securely and then correctly addressed.

When gay but frail wrappings are used, the parcel usually ends up a tattered wreck. Brightly colored cards, or envelopes with addresses almost obscured by the background are pet peeves of the postal clerks. Some well-wishers slow up or neglect their gifts by sending forbidden commodities. These articles are intercepted and returned to the senders. Tobacco products, for example, may not be sent to Germany and certain other European countries. And of course the mailing of liquor is forbidden.

Youth Sentenced In Assault Case

A 22-year-old Farmville Negro who admitted taking a 13-year-old girl to a loading shed platform to "do the numbers" is headed for prison today.

Glasco Fields was ordered to serve an 18-month road sentence late yesterday after he entered a plea of guilty of assault on a young Negro girl.

Fourteen-year-old Doris Tine Braswell, who was only 13 when the alleged assault took place, appearing as state's star witness, testified that Fields picked her up in his arms while they were at a "dancing joint" in Farmville and carried her to the tobacco shed.

The girl declared that she called for help and tried to get away from her attacker. She admitted that she did not ask a Negro man to help her when she and Fields passed him on the street enroute to the platform.

The defendant had only recently returned from serving a six-month road sentence for drunkenness and creating a disturbance.

Judge John J. Burney, passing sentence in the case, issued a verbal blast at dance halls where juke boxes are played and beer is sold. He declared that everywhere they are found breed knifings, killings and rapes.

He likewise expressed his disapproval of sex magazines now on sale to the public. Youths in their early teens now know more than persons of 25 in generations past he said because of the literature.

The first all-electric radio sets in which the storage battery was eliminated were developed nearly 25 years ago.

Joseph Tyson Died Of Heart Attack

Joseph Tyson, 60, well known businessman of the Stokes community, died of a heart attack while enroute to Pitt General Hospital Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

Funeral services will be held at Sweet Gum Grove Baptist Church Saturday at 3 p. m. The body will be taken to the church one hour prior to the services. Rev. J. C. Moye, the pastor, assisted by Rev. R. M. Hinnant of Micro, will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Funeralbearers will be B. M. Whitehurst, Frank Whitehurst, D. N. Nobles, Jr., Luther Whitehurst, Gordon Clarke, Jerome Perkins, J. B. Conleton, Jr., and Hallet Dudley.

Mr. Tyson, a native of Pitt county, was the son of the late Frank Tyson of Pitt. He was a member of Sweet Gum Grove GUM Grove Free Will Baptist Church. He was engaged in farming and the insurance business.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ethel Stokes Tyson; two sons, Archie Reid and William F. Tyson of Stokes; five sisters, Mrs. Lula Nobles, Mrs. Addie Meeks of Stokes, Mrs. L. P. Dudley of Greenville, Mrs. Lena Whitehurst of Bethel, and Mrs. Bessie Williamson of Durham; one brother, J. P. Tyson of Georgetown, S. C., and three grandchildren.

The Peace . . .

her four satellites: Czechoslovakia, Poland, Soviet Ukraine, White Russia. And what will be done about the Western proposal that won't?

There doesn't seem much that can be done that wouldn't have been done without the proposal since it was a restatement of U.N. aims and previous American-British proposals.

But it was a point scored by the West over Russia. So far, this has dealt only with the bare outlines of the problem.

There were plenty of arguments—between the time the proposals were offered and the final vote yesterday—and not always on a high intellectual plane. For example:

The Soviet Ukraine's foreign minister, Dmitri Z. Manuilsky, told the U.N. that certain unidentified "warmongers" in the U.S. and Britain were "cockroaches, lice and beetles."

Vishinsky denounced the U. S. and Britain and accused them of preparing a capitalist war against Russia.

Austin called Vishinsky's proposal an olive branch surrounded by poisonous thorns.

Chile said the Soviet Union was a super-capitalist, imperialist, totalitarian police state. Yugoslavia accused Russia of monstrous hypocrisy in talking peace before the U.N. while carrying on a campaign against Marshal Tito.

Small nations begged the United States and Russia to end their cold war, rather than risk total war. And the Philippines called the U.N. maneuvering a "deadly game of chess."
