Gov. Scott Sets Ambitious Goals For Coming Year

Urges Big Increase In Power, Highway Work And Telephone Service

Raleigh, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The state's chief executive has celebrated his first anniversary in office by setting ambitious new goals for 1950.

Governor Scott set his sights for the year ahead in North Carolina in a state-wide radio broadcast last night. The flustered chat was beamed from Scott's office in the Capitol.

The governor in his talk requested that:

1. Private utilities companies and the REA cooperatives extend service to 50,000 additional customers during the year.
2. Telephone companies "accept as their goal the installation of 80,000 telephones, in both town and country, during the New Year."
3. The Highway Commission finish 10 miles of paved roads and 30 miles of stabilized roads every working day of 1950.

Also, the governor called for more diversified farming, more conservation of soil, more economy and efficiency in state government, and a revitalization of church life.

On the road program issue, Scott asked the Highway Commission also to continue work on the primary system "to the end that North Carolina's main arteries of traffic may again regain the number one position in the nation."

The governor pointed out that to provide funds for reaching this goal the "council of state will be asked to approve issuance of the second $50,000,000 in road bonds within a short time."

"Conditions are excellent for marketing these bonds," he continued. "Work on the secondary road program will reach a new peak during the summer, and work on primary roads should go ahead without a lag."

Scott said as a news conference earlier yesterday that the Highway Commission has called a special meeting for next Wednesday "to set in motion" the machinery for issuing the next $50,000,000 in bonds.

The governor added that he is leaving it up to State Treasurer Brandon Hodges and the commission whether the bond issue will be sold all at one time or be divided to attract more bidders.

Nine Ohio Coal Operators Suing Lewis And Union

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Ohio coal operators said today they've sued the union and John L. Lewis because they can't control coal mining in the state.

Nine of them sued Lewis and his top United Mine Workers' officers for $8,872,000 damages and asked an injunction against his three-day work week.

"Lewis has taken the position that he proposes to control production," said President R. L. Ireland of the Ohio Coal Association. Ireland added in a statement to newsmen: "The only way we know to correct this situation is to get the courts to inform Lewis of the fact he can't pursue that policy under the laws of Ohio and to give us a damage verdict so he won't try it again."

Inferno Of Death For 5 Children

Missoula, Mont., Jan. 7.—(AP)—An overheated stove fired a frame house into a flaming inferno of death yesterday for five children.

The blaze broke out in near zero weather while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Molenda, were away to get a hospitalized daughter, one of their 12 children.

Where We Stand

A Quick Look At The Economic Status Of The United States As We Move Into 1950; Living Costs Slowly Decline; Recession; The Upturn; Recovery

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Here is a quick look at where we stand economically as we move into 1950. This picture is based on two reports sent to Congress yesterday.

One was the economic report of President Truman. The other was the report of his council of economic advisors.

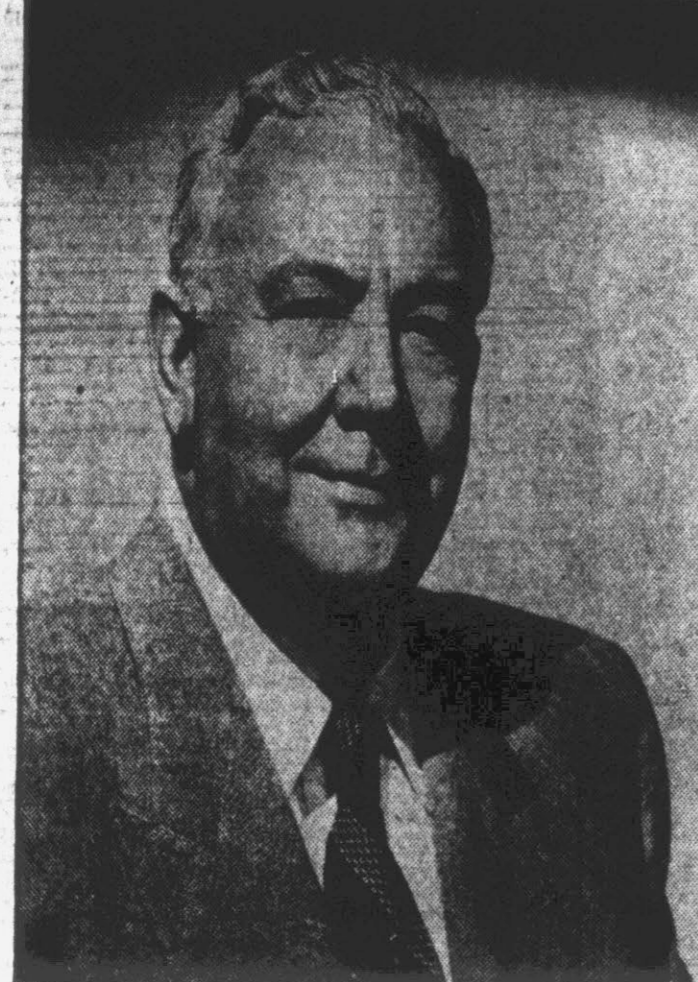

With the end of the war and the end of price control, living costs shot up. They hit their peak in the fall of 1948.

This was the period of great inflation. It worried economists inside and outside the government.

They knew prices couldn't continue shooting up indefinitely. There had to be a stop sometime, they knew.

But they feared that when living costs—prices—stopped going up, they might suddenly turn downward with a sudden, awful crash.

Melchior Sings Here Monday Evening

Lauritz Melchior, world famous tenor, will bring residents of Greenville and visiting concert goers from other towns of Eastern Carolina a musical thrill of a lifetime when he sings at East Carolina Teachers College next Monday evening.

The concert, sponsored by the Entertainment Committee of the college, promises to be one of the most popular ever to be given in the city. Present indications are that the great heroic tenor will sing to a capacity audience. Those who wish tickets are advised to obtain them as soon as possible by applying at the Austin building at the college between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. each day.

Called by critics "the most fabulous figure in contemporary music," Melchior is outstanding in not one but five separate careers—opera, concert, motion picture, radio, and recording.

Since making his debut at the Metropolitan Opera House in 1926, in Wagner's Tannhauser, Melchior has attained a virtual monopoly in the field of Wagnerian opera. He is said to hold the world's record for number of performances; he has sung 220 Tristans, 177 Walkueres, 144 Tannhausers, 128 Siegfrieds, 107 Götterdämmerungs, 104 Lohengrins and 80 Parsifals.

Melchior has also maintained a concert schedule which would exhaust the average man. His record of singing 56 concerts in 56 cities in 56 days has probably never been equaled.

His fourth motion picture, in "Luxury Liner," recently was released. Under contract to M-G-M pictures, Melchior is scheduled to make two pictures during 1950. Critics and (Continued on page eight)

Drastic ECA Slash Sought For Britain

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Great Britain's diplomatic recognition of Communist China raised a fresh congressional cry today for drastic cuts in European recovery funds.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who has called before for substantial reductions in economic recovery administration funds, told reporters he thinks the British diplomatic move "will provide a lot of ammunition for those who want ECA funds cut."

He added, however, that he doesn't expect Congress to chop off all economic aid to the British just because they have agreed to do business with the Communists.

Senator Brewster (R-Me) said the English action "presents a problem of how far we can go in allowing our support to be diverted to the implementation of policies at variance with our own."

"The whole theory of the Marshall plan is to fight Communism," he said, "and here they are giving it diplomatic recognition."

Brewster suggested that the British will be interested primarily in what he said was England's $2,000,000 investment in Hong Kong.

Senator Dvorshak (R-Iowa) said he has no doubt that Congress will insist "not only on a reduction of Marshall plan funds but on more realistic use of the funds that are appropriated."

Senator Byrd (D-Va) said he hopes that the over-all foreign aid spending can be cut at least $2,000,000 this year. He said he will wait until President Truman sends his budget to Congress Monday before offering some other money-saving suggestions.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee, wouldn't comment on the effect the British recognition of the Chinese Communists would have on aid to non-Communist nations.

But he called Britain's action "a compromise with evil."

Embassy Angrily Denies Slavery Still In Egypt

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Egyptian embassy, angrily denying the existence of slavery on the Nile, yesterday branded as a "malicious lie" the story that a pair of Americans have inherited four Egyptian dancing girls.

Slavery ended in Egypt within ten years after it was abolished in this country, the embassy said, so there couldn't be any such thing as an inheritance of persons.

But Christopher Janus, the Chicago importer who said the four girls were left to the American branch of the family by his late uncle, P. Z. Aristophon, differed with the embassy.

Arms Shipments Await Signal Of President's Nod

White House Approval All That's Needed To Start $1 Billion Program

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Officials today awaited President Truman's approval of a new Atlantic pact defense plan as the signal to start a full $1,000,000,000 in arms rolling to Western Europe within a month.

The official nod from the White House—expected promptly—is all that is needed now to make available the full amount appropriated by Congress last summer to rearm America's European allies. Only $100,000,000 has gone into the arms program thus far, pending final action on the defense plan.

This master blueprint against Communist aggression was approved unanimously yesterday by the 12-nation North Atlantic Council. Secretary of State Acheson, representing the United States, presided over the meeting. The other 11 governments were represented by their top diplomats here.

Even though Acheson voted for it, the President must now examine the strategy plan and issue a formal finding on whether it provides for "integration of Western European military defenses and production facilities."

In passing the arms-aid program, Congress insisted that this "integration" must be a fact before $800,000,000 of the $1,000,000,000 voted for Europe would be turned loose.

Government authorities said the President already is familiar with the broad outlines of the defense plan and believes it meets the requirements laid down by Congress.

In anticipation of the President's approval, officials are making plans to start American guns, tanks, ammunition and supplies moving to Western Europe around Feb. 1.

The only hitch in the way is the signing of arms aid agreements with eight of the governments which are to receive American military help. All of these except Britain have agreed on the terms proposed by the United States and are ready to sign.

C-of-C To Plan Program For '50

Goodman told the group no state funds will be available for hiring the specialists until after the legislature meets next year, and suggested the three counties hire the specialist and split the salary expenses three ways.

Agricultural agents in the various counties as a general rule are paid 50 per cent by the state and 50 per cent by the individual county. He estimated the sweet potato specialist would cost the counties between $3,300 and $4,200.

Goodman predicted North Carolina will have too many sweet potatoes in 1950 because of the acreage cuts in other crops, but he said only the quality potatoes would find outlets to reach the consumer markets.

Covington declared, "As the sweet potato market becomes more important, it has become more competitive. We have soil right here just as good as anywhere in the state for growing sweet potatoes. We must produce a quality potato and it will take leadership to get that."

Open Meeting Monday To Act On Projects For Year

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce will hold an open meeting Monday night to discuss and take action on the program and projects for 1950.

In making the announcement, W. T. Kizer, manager of the group, said that all new members of three months standing are invited to attend and join in the discussion. The meeting will be held in the Aldermen room of the City Hall at 8 p. m.

Kizer expressed the desire for all members attending to present ideas for special projects for the year. The manager will present a brief report on the activities of the Chamber during the past 12 months. Also, action will be taken on the report of the Chamber's Committee on Agriculture for this year.

In addition to the regular business meeting a discussion is proposed on the possibility of forming an Industrial Foundation Corporation in reinvolve. Kizer said that there were six of these business groups in the state and that three other cities, including Charlotte, had asked for them. The purpose behind the Corporation is to promote new industries in the towns and cities with particular respect toward finding real estate and suitable building space for industrial purposes.

New officers for the Chamber will assume their duties January 31. The president will then appoint his program committee, which maps plans for the year.

Babson: The Age Of Idiots

New York City.—The next decade may be known by future historians as the Video Age, the "V" stands for television. This has already become "big business."

Television Is Big Business It is estimated that 10 million people watched our last national political conventions on TV. Double that number saw Truman inaugurated. In many local fairs watched the Big League games this summer and fall is anybody's guess. People who never have been to a baseball game, football game, boxing bout or set foot inside a theatre, have become ardent home fans.

The folks who need this kind of diversion most—rural dwellers—cannot yet get TV in their homes. This is due both to the limited number of stations permitted by the FCC and to the present limits of TV broadcast radius. This will ultimately be remedied. In fact, by the year's end, the networks hopefully anticipate nearly three million sets in use. TV manufacturers, already beginning to count their 1949 profits, believe the cash registers will ring to the merry tune of a good $500,000,000 plus.

IV And Amusements Practically every survey, conducted thus far to measure the "looking" audience, indicates that people listen less now to regular radio. The day may well come, and soon when A.M. radio will be as obsolete as the old crystal sets and earphones are today. The corner movie house is already feeling the pinch within the next half dozen years, we shall be able to view good movies right in our own living-rooms, and without the present restriction. It has already been reported that Broadway's box office receipts nose-dive on Milton Berle night.

Sports promoters are worried too. Wrestling, boxing, baseball, and football enthusiasts are forsaking the arena and ball field for the home video screen. College athletic directors are especially concerned. Intercollegiate football is a most expensive sport. Advertisers have found that with its same number of sets, television ads pull four times the sales of ordinary radio advertisements.

Television Pros and Cons Schools and colleges have found as a result of the comic book, picture magazines, talking movies, and the radio that our youth even now can (Continued on page eight)

Mental Hospital Swept By Blaze; Many Patients Dead

Davenport, Ia., Jan. 7.—(AP)—While patients screamed out in agony from behind barred windows, fire swept through a hospital for mental patients early today and brought a mounting toll of dead.

Coroner H. C. Wildman said bodies of 21 women had been removed and 10 other women were believed dead in the smoldering debris.

Wildman said 37 others were injured, thus accounting for the 68 persons he said were in the building. All but three of the 68 were women.

Except for a nurse's aide, all the dead and missing were patients. They were asleep in the three-story St. Elizabeth's ward building of Mercy Hospital when the flames broke out at 3 a. m. (EST).

The fire was brought under control in a four-hour battle.

Two of the rescued women had been in the burning building for about four hours. Suffering severe burns, they were said to be in critical condition. Only one of them was immediately identified—Miss Mary Ruth Finnerly of Ottumwa, Ia.

Hospital attendants said all the survivors were calm. Some went to sleep in the lobby of the main hospital building. Others sat quietly with expressions of horror on their faces.

In all, firemen said that 25 or 30 persons were removed from the blazing ward early in the fire. From the south section of the structure firemen lowered the forms of six patients down serial ladders, then it was learned only two of them were alive.

The burned building was 33 years old and intended primarily to house women patients. Firemen could not say immediately what caused the fire, which nurses said was discovered on the first floor. It spread rapidly and trapped many patients in their rooms.

The flames did not spread to four other hospital buildings which cover two square blocks about two miles from the business district of this Mississippi River city of 70,000 population.

Hospital officials estimated the loss at $200,000. A force of 67 firemen fought the blaze. Fourteen of Davenport's 17 fire companies answered the alarm.

Will Ask Pitt Help Pay For Potato Specialist

Matter Will Be Placed Before County Commissioners Monday; Three-Way Split On Expense Proposed For Several Counties

Bethel, Jan. 7.—Eight county commissioners from Pitt, Martin and Edgecombe Counties attending a meeting here last night pledged their support to the movement to have a sweet potato specialist employed jointly by the three counties to aid farmers in producing quality yams.

Although none of the county commissioners would not commit the other members of the respective county boards on the question of the joint hiring of the farm specialist, each of those present at the meeting expressed accord with the proposal.

The matter will be presented before the Pitt County commissioners by J. F. Harris and J. L. Brown of Bethel on Monday and the Edgecombe and Martin County boards at their February meetings.

Attending the meeting last night were John W. Goodman of Raleigh, assistant director of North Carolina agricultural extension service, Henry M. Covington, of Raleigh, horticulturist with the extension service, County Agents S. C. Winchester of Pitt, Joe C. Powell of Edgecombe, Tom B. Brandon of Martin, the commissioners, and officials of the Bethel Auction Company.

Goodman told the group no state funds will be available for hiring the specialists until after the legislature meets next year, and suggested the three counties hire the specialist and split the salary expenses three ways.

Agricultural agents in the various counties as a general rule are paid 50 per cent by the state and 50 per cent by the individual county. He estimated the sweet potato specialist would cost the counties between $3,300 and $4,200.

Violators Game Laws Penalized

Several Cases Brought To Court In Past Week

By CHESTER WALSH In Magistrate Frank Brooks' court yesterday, Johnnie Whitehurst, resident of the Fleming's Crossroads community, was fined $10 and costs for hunting without a license. Court costs were $7.75. The case has been postponed several times.

J. O. Teel district game protector, said orders from state headquarters to strictly enforce the game laws. Testimony was that Whitehurst shot meadowlarks, a song and migratory bird.

Other cases of game law violations tried during the week ending today were:

Hunting without a license: W. J. Coburn and Ervin Cogdell of Woodenville, both colored, each fined $10 and costs.

Hunting with improper licenses: William Parver and Johnnie Stanfield, both colored, of Robersonville, each fined $10 and costs. Magistrate H. L. Jenkins tried these cases.

W. A. Stox of Winterville, tried before Magistrate Church G. Moore of Ayden, was fined $10 and costs for using an automatic gun that was not plugged to contain only three shells.

Checking over the magistrates' court dockets in Pitt County, it was revealed that numerous state game law violations are being committed this season.

Some interesting information about hunting laws was given out by the game protector today.

"It is unlawful at any time for any person to buy or sell rabbits or squirrels for resale."

The season has closed on bear, deer and squirrels.

The open season on ducks and geese closed today.

The season for hunting doves closes January 14.

The open season on rabbit and quail closes January 31.

The trapping season on furred animals closes January 31. J. O. Teel, district game protector, said today.

Status Of China In UN In Hands Of Two Nations

Lake Success, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Nationalist China's future in the United Nations seems for the present to be in the hands of the United States and France.

On the Security Council Red China now has been recognized by five of the seven nations—Russia, Britain, Yugoslavia, India and Norway.

Five others—the U.S., France, Cuba, Ecuador and Egypt—still recognize the last-ditch Formosa island regime of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists.

Umstead Reveals Not A Candidate

Will Not Run For Senate For Reasons Of Health

Durham, N.C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—William B. Umstead of Durham issued a statement last night that he will not be a candidate for the U. S. Senate in the coming primary.

He said "conditions resulting from a surgical operation on Dec. 20" caused him to decide against running.

Umstead, a former senator, had been looked upon as a likely rival of Sen. Frank P. Graham of Chapel Hill for the Democratic nomination.

Umstead's statement did not give the nature of his illness. But he said "I have been assured that I have no permanent disability and that my condition will be cleared up within a reasonable time. I expect to return to my office by the middle of next week. He is a lawyer."

The state is in the unusual position this year of having to elect two senators. Other incumbents, Graham and Sen. Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, have announced they will run.

In Washington, Graham said he would not run but he regretted "much his ill health. He would be the best in any man I have and always had high esteem and warm regards for him. I wish for him a speedy and complete recovery."

And Hoey said that Umstead "has won a high place in the affection and esteem of the people of North Carolina, and there is no doubt they shall desire future service from him."

There has been talk that if Umstead did not run for the Senate he would run for governor three years from now.

9,782 Licenses Taken Up In 1949

Raleigh, N.C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Drunken driving cost 7,088 motorists their drivers' licenses last year. This was reported yesterday by the Motor Vehicles Department.

The total 1949 revocations were 9,782, with suspensions totaling 2,728 for the year. A total of 88,468 convictions were reported during 1949 for speeding, reckless driving and similar offenses, against 85,963 in 1948.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Mummers marched in Philadelphia today making it official that 1950 is here.

Their annual New Year's parade twice postponed, the Mummers struck up the familiar rhythms of "Oh, Dem Olden Slippers" at 8:30 a. m., and began the five-mile, six-hour march up wind-swept Broad Street.

Lucas Presents Coal Complaints To White House

Administration For Swift Action To Restore Full Production

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—President Truman today weighed an appeal from 's top Senate aide for swift action to restore full coal production.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois carried that plea to the White House yesterday and got a promise that Mr. Truman would review the situation today.

Earlier a number of Republican lawmakers had assailed the Administration for not doing something to force an end to the present three-day work week in the mines ordered by Union Leader John L. Lewis.

They said too little coal is being produced to fill demands with the weather turning colder.

Mr. Truman's position has been that the partial strike has not created a national emergency which would warrant use of his emergency powers under the Taft-Hartley law.

The President, a critic of that law, again asked Congress this week to repeal it.

The act permits the President to proclaim an emergency and seek an 80-day court order to halt work stoppages if he finds they are endangering the nation's health or welfare.

Several Republican Congress members contended the public is suffering because the Administration is withholding action against Lewis.

Lucas, saying the three-day week has caused a serious coal crisis, carried complaints from Illinois constituents direct to the White House.

In a statement later, he said he had asked John R. Steetman, Mr. Truman's assistant, to "lose no time" in laying all the facts at his hand before the President of the United States. Lucas said Steetman promised to review the whole situation with Mr. Truman today.

The senate said that unless the mine operators sign an agreement restoring the three-day work week, it will "take the floor" in the United States Senate and a veto as I know the continuation of these conditions.

Senate Group Plans New Probe Five Percenters

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The Senate group which conducted the senatorial inquiry into the activities of "five percenters" last year is setting up a new series of investigations.

The group expects approval of a $100,000 fund is needed to put the series in motion. The fund already has been approved by the Expenditures Committee. It now must be passed on by the Rules Committee and the Senate itself.

Chairman Hoey (D-NC) of the special investigating subcommittee told a reporter that staff investigators and attorneys "are collecting data on a large number of complainants."

"We may decide to open some public investigations within the next two or three weeks," Hoey added.

A Kansas City paper makes bold to answer the question so often asked, as to the cause of hard times and high prices. There is much horse sense in what it says, which is that "we throw away ashes and buy soap; we grow weeds and buy vegetables and brooms, we catch fish with a $4 rod, we build school houses and send our children to be educated away from home, and at last we send our boys out with a $40 gun and a $10 dog to hunt 10 cent game.

Miss Rosalie Taylor And Joseph Bruntington, Jr. Exchange Vows In Formal Ceremony Saturday.

Miss Rosalie Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, of Greenville, and the late Dr. Walter F. Taylor, became the bride of Joseph Bruntington, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruntington, Sr., of Kansas City, Kansas, in an impressive ceremony held Saturday afternoon, December 31st, at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Rev. Robert W. Bradshaw, former pastor of the bride, performed the double ring ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Paul Toll, organist, and Mr. E. O. Parkinson, Jr., vocalist.

The bridegroom was attended by Walter Ryan, of Kansas City, Kansas. Ushers were: Rolla B. Holt of Washington, D. C., Calvin Warren, Garland, N. C., Thomas S. Payne, Washington, D. C., and William C. Horne, of Greenville, N. C.

Given in marriage by her mother the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin, made with high neck line with collar of chantilly lace encrusted with seed pearls and long pointed sleeves. The bodice was fitted above a full flowing skirt which swept into a cathedral train. The two tiered full length veil of illusion fell from a cap with a design of pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a spray of white orchids. Mrs. Rolla B. Holt, of Washington, D. C., was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a gown of ice blue satin fashioned with an off the shoulder bertha, a tight fitting bodice and a full skirt. She wore a white fur band in her hair and carried a white fur muff to which was attached a spray of red roses.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Frances Kittrell, of Greenville, and Atlanta, Ga., Miss Ada Lou Bruntington, of Kansas City, Kansas, Mrs. Thomas S. Payne, Washington, N. C., and Mrs. Grissin H. Walker, Lebanon, Tenn. Their gowns were made like that of the matron of honor and they carried white fur muffs with red roses attached.

Mrs. Taylor, mother of the bride, wore a gown of rose beige chantilly lace and crepe with a matching hat. Her corsage was yellow roses. Immediately following the ceremony the bride's mother entertained at an informal reception at the Woman's Club.

For traveling the bride wore a brown suit trimmed with brown velvet, a winter white fur felt hat and brown accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bruntington attended St. Mary's school in Raleigh and was graduated from Bolling Green University.

Mr. Bruntington was graduated from Kansas State College. They will make their home in Kansas City.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ryan, Jr., of Kansas City, Kansas; Miss Ada Lou Bruntington, of Kansas City, Kansas; Miss Ruth Trimmer, of Chicago, Ill.; Miss Ruth A. T. Humble, Newark, New Jersey; Mr. and Mrs. John Kirton, Kingsport, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Grissin H. Walker, Lebanon, Tenn.; Dr. and Mrs. Robert B. Bridges, Breard, N. C.; Mrs. E. F. McCulloch, Elizabethtown, N. C.; Miss Lillian McCulloch, Elizabethtown, N. C.; and Mrs. D. M. Calhoun, Elizabethtown, N. C.

Among the pre-nuptial events honoring Miss Taylor, was the luncheon given by Mrs. Joseph Smith, Jr., on Friday, December 30, at her home on East Fifth street.

MRS. JOSEPH BRUNTINGTON, JR.

Centering the luncheon table in the dining room was a beautiful arrangement of narcissi and fever few.

Seated at one end of the table Mrs. Walter Taylor, mother of the bride, served the meat course. At the opposite end, Mrs. R. B. Holt, sister of the bride served a salad.

The auxiliary tables in the living room and den were centered with nosegays of yellow roses.

Mrs. Smith presented her honored guest a corsage of yellow roses and a gift of silver.

Out of town guests were Miss Ada Lou Bruntington and Mrs. Walter Ryan, Jr., of Kansas City and Mrs. R. B. Holt of Washington, D. C.

On Friday evening before rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell and Miss Frances Kittrell entertained the Bruntington-Taylor wedding party at their home on East Fifth Street. Guests were greeted by the host and hostess and Miss Elizabeth Kittrell.

Christmas decorations were used throughout the house except in the dining room. In this room a bridal motif was used. The satin covered table was centered with a miniature wedding scene, complete with bridal party, chancel, choir boys and minister. Epergnettes filled with narcissi, candy tuff and glass flanked the altar.

In the living room Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Jr., served frozen tomato juice cocktails with hors d'oeuvres, upon arrival of the guests. Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Walter Ryan, Jr., of Kansas City, a close friend of the groom, presided in the dining room. They were assisted in serving a three course dinner by Mrs. Katherine Adams.

At small tables, grouped throughout the house, miniature bags of rice marked the places for thirty guests.

Miss Taylor was presented a gardenia corsage and Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Ryan corsages of carnations. On Saturday at noon prior to the wedding of Miss Taylor and Mr. Bruntington, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Jr., entertained the wedding party and out of town guests at a lovely luncheon at their home on West Seventh street.

Guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd and invited into rooms which carried out a bridal theme in their decorations. Narcissi and hyacinths, attractively arranged, were used in the living room and hall.

The bride's table in the dining room, at which places were laid for the bride and groom, the bride's mother, Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, the bride's attendants and the best man, was covered with a beautiful madras cloth and graced with a bowl of garza mushrooms, carnations and fern. Small tables were grouped in the living room for seating the other guests.

Tomato juice was served from a punch bowl in the hall by Mrs. R. B. Holt, followed by a delicious turkey luncheon with dessert and coffee.

Two Million Dollar Building Program Nears Completion

Construction Of Hospital And Work On City Schools Will End By Summer

By ROY HARDEE
Progress on a $2,000,000 building program in Greenville among the Greenville city schools and the construction of a new 120-bed Memorial Hospital near the city limits of Greenville are rapidly coming to a close.

Work on the Pitt County Memorial Hospital, which is expected to be completed some time in the summer of 1950, is costing over $1,400,000 to build and equip. Actual construction on the building began in February of 1949, when the removal of dirt was begun in order that the foundation of concrete floor slabs could be poured.

Since that time the building program at the hospital has gone ahead by leaps and bounds. A total of 540 days was allowed for completion of the building in the original bid.

The 120-bed hospital is being constructed by the McKoy-Heigerson construction company of Greenville, South Carolina, and is the largest hospital now being built which is financed by local, state, and federal funds in North Carolina.

The general superintendent of the local construction project is B. F. Phillips, W. L. Burkett is assistant superintendent and D. F. Jordan is engineer for the building operation.

Heavy Construction
The four-story building is built upon a foundation supported by a mass of concrete piles. Over 325 concrete piles ranging in depth from 35 feet to 50 feet below the surface of the ground, were poured after the excavation work was completed. The building does not rest on natural ground at any point, thus cutting down the chances of having the building to sink because of an insecure foundation.

At the start of the operations, the problem of quicksand arose and slowed operations on the building for a time. Burkett said that this would in no way hinder the building, in that the entire building is resting on the concrete slabs which are located some 50 feet below the surface of the ground on beds of underground rocks.

The entire outside construction of the frame of the building has been completed as far as the construction goes. The building on the inside is still just a hollow shell of the way it will look when it is completed. The offices, nurses quarters, and special rooms of the hospital will be air conditioned, it was stated by workers at the hospital.

Modern Building
At the present time, pipe fitters, brick masons, air condition workers, and many other groups are busy working on the interior of the building.

The main entrance of the building will be made up in a modern design, with the building in general corresponding to the same scheme.

The site of the new building is located on a 17 1/2 acre plot of land on a hill overlooking the Falkland highway, a short distance from the city limits of Greenville. The new hospital will form an impressive structure when completed, perched on top of the sloping hill, with winding drives and curving walks leading up and from it. The grounds of the building are undergoing landscaping and beautification now.

The construction of the new fireproof building is not quite following the set schedule, it was reported early this week by the superintendent of the project. Work is about two weeks behind, but the superintendent voiced hope that the work delay can be made up.

City School Work
Superintendent J. H. Rose of the Greenville city schools, yesterday in an interview, stated that he was well pleased with the progress of the building and expansion program now under way at four different points in the Greenville city schools system.

More than $500,000 is being spent for school building construction at the West Greenville school, South Greenville school, Third Street and the Training schools.

New Negro School
A new elementary school plant located in South Greenville in the section known as Cooperfield, is expected to be ready for occupancy by the middle of March.

The school, which is classed as one of the most modern in the south, will be able to house an estimated 280 Negro pupils, Rose stated.

The one-story fireproof building, composed of steel and brick, is expected to cost around $68,000 when construction is completed and the building is fully equipped.

The South Greenville school will have eight large class rooms, offices, an auditorium, lunchrooms, and kitchen. In addition to modern plumbing, each of the primary grade rooms will have private toilets for the use of the young children in addition to the wash rooms.

The building, located on a 14 acre plot of land, was started in May of 1949. The plasterers are now busy finishing out the building.

At the South Greenville school there will not be cramping because of the lack of space as the rooms are very large, more so than the average rooms in the present city school plants.

The new building will greatly ease the over-crowded situation which has long existed among the Negro schools, Rose commented.

West Greenville School
Plans have been formulated for the construction of a new section onto the present school building, located at West Greenville white school, Rose announced. Bids will be let on the new building some time the latter part of this month.

The cost of the new building housing a combination auditorium, physical education building and lunch rooms will be about $60,000.

Bids for the equipment to be put in the building will be taken on January 11 of next week.

At the start of the current school term, the lunch room at the West Greenville school was converted in additional class rooms area, in order to ease the crowded situation in the schools.

The present auditorium will be made into class rooms when the new addition and physical education room are completed.

Rose stated that, during the past year the city schools have been without lunch rooms in every one of the schools. "We will have a complete modern lunch room in each of the schools with the exception of the high school building by the opening of the fall term of school next year," Rose said.

The entire building program among the four units of the school system will be completed by the start of the next school year.

Third Street School
Construction has just got well under way at the Third Street project where a new lunch room, kitchen, library, and class rooms are to be built.

The cost of the new building is expected to be $40,000.

Included in the class rooms section of the building will be what Rose terms as the "most modern first grade room in the South, one which cannot be compared anywhere.

Troublesome delays have put the present project far behind the regular schedule, as materials did not arrive on time and work could not move ahead.

A special brick which will make up the outer walls of the structure had to be matched with the old building, and delay was encountered in finding the same type of brick. It was found that the only company which made the brick was located in Ohio and arrangement had to be made before the building could go ahead. The first loads of the brick arrived at the site last Thursday, and work on the building will now get into full swing, Rose added.

Money for the construction work under way in the Greenville city schools system, was received from a bond issue voted by the people of the city in 1940, and was then approved by the county commissioners following a ruling by the North Carolina Supreme Court.

Elementary Schools First
When asked about the proposed construction of a new high school, which has been in and out of the limelight for the past several years, Rose smiled and stated that the first interest of the schools at the present time is to provide for the elementary schools which are so overcrowded. "We do not have any overcrowding in the high school now. After we finally get the elementary schools set up right, possibly then, construction of a new high school plant can get under way." There have been made no definite plans on this, it was understood.

Behind Schedule
Head superintendent of the building operations under way at the new unit of the Training school reported being behind schedule, due to inability of the contractors to get shipments of steel now needed to finish the roof of the building.

"Many men who were working on the structure have had to be laid off, because we have no material to work with," one worker stated.

In an interview with the head superintendent early this week, it was reported that the steel is now in transit, but it is not known when the material can be expected.

The new building program is being carried out under the direction of the East Carolina Teachers college, and is being built with state funds.

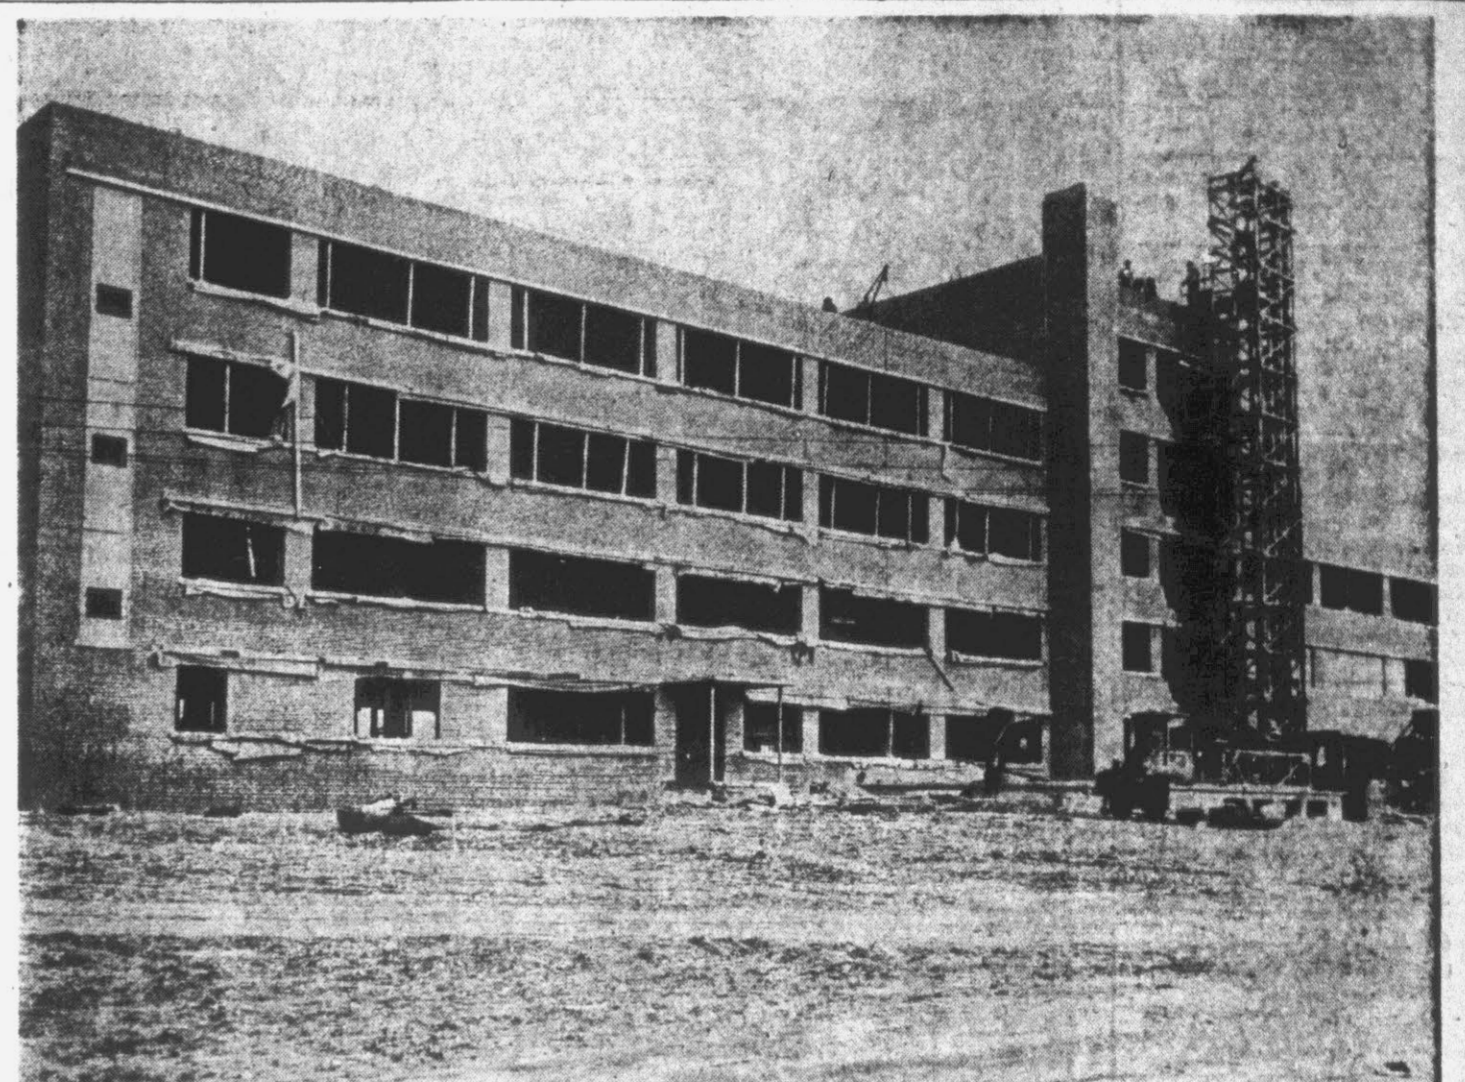

It was stated by the contractor that work is now about 45 days behind schedule, but provided the good weather holds out, it was hoped that some of the time would be gained back.

Gym and Auditorium
The construction of the new gym and auditorium which is reported to cost around $55,000 is being built by the P. S. West Construction Company of Statesville.

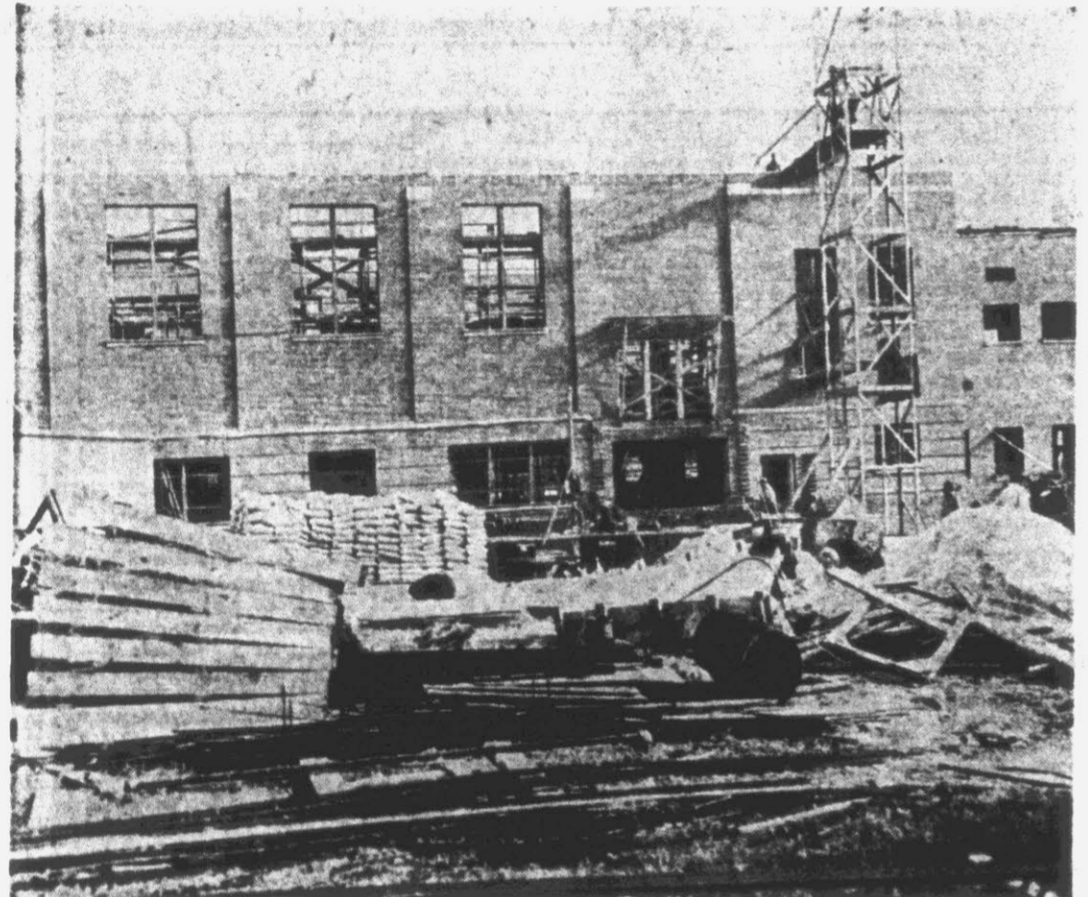

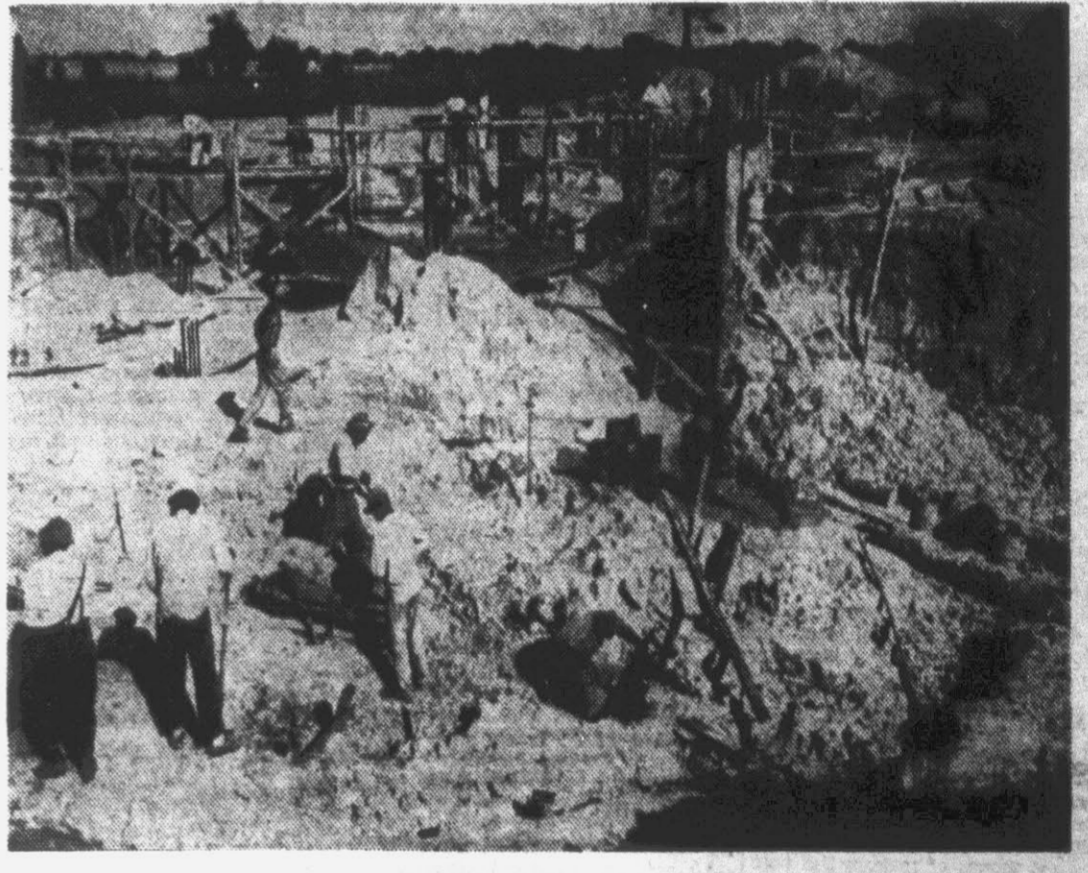

The new auditorium, which will be one of the most modern in the state, will cost around $300,000 when completed and equipped. The overall area of the building will be 60 feet by 125 feet. A planned seating capacity of 750 is called for in the original plans. Included in the building will be a modern stage and a motion picture projection booth.

The front of the building will be of concrete with large carved letters across the top.

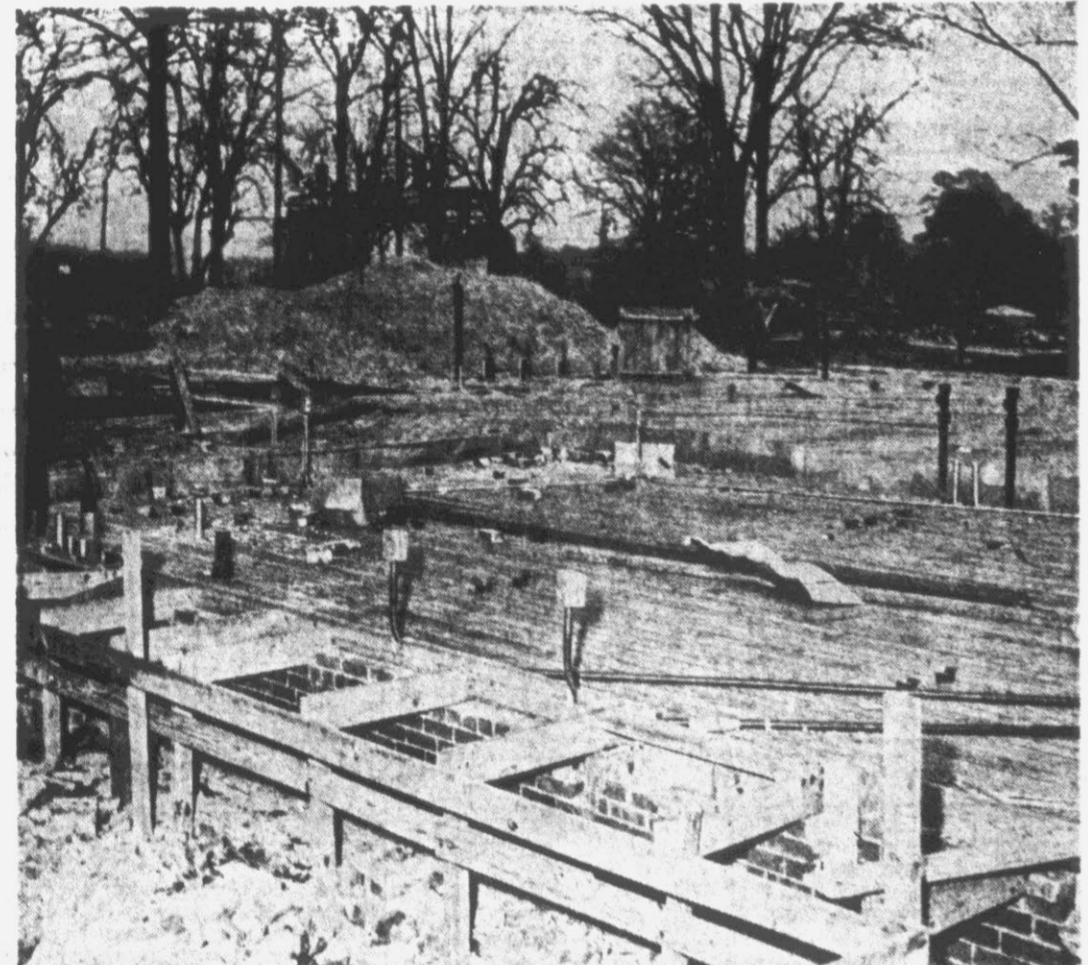

The new gym will house a playing court, seating space, and showers, toilets, and dressing rooms, and will cost about $55,000. The area of the gym will be 70 feet by 50 feet.

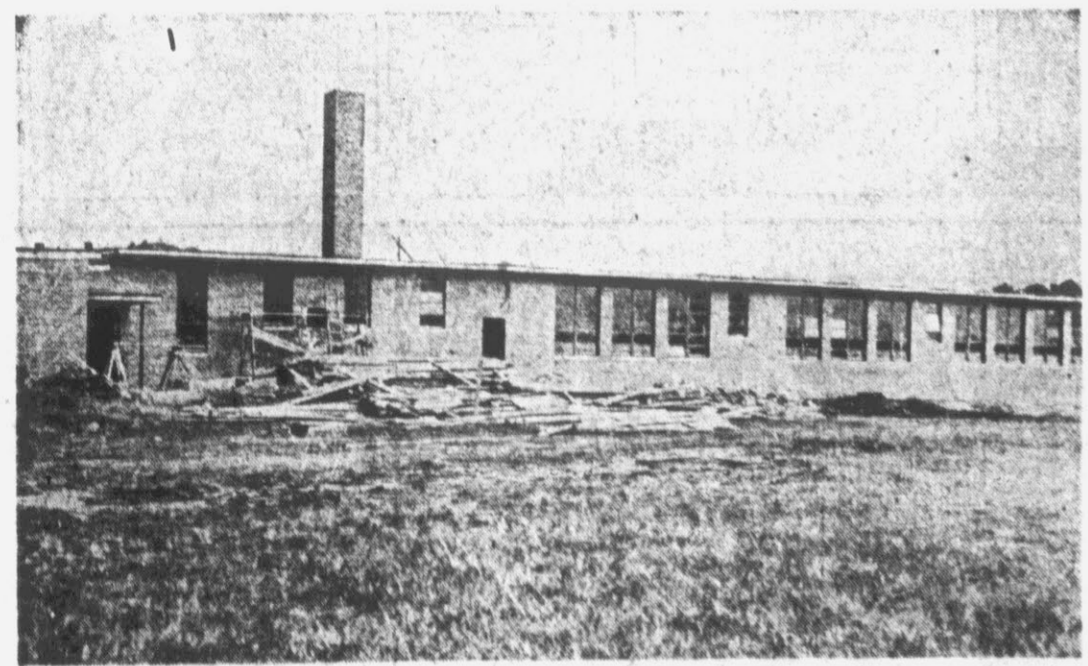

In the top photo is shown a rear view of the new $1,400,000 Pitt County Memorial hospital which is now under construction on the Falkland highway. The building is expected to be completed in the summer of 1950. In way of comparison, photo to the right shows the beginning of work on the hospital which started in February of last year. The workers in the second photograph are busy removing dirt in order to lay the deep concrete pilings which the building rests upon. (Staff Photos by Roy Hardee).

A side view of the new auditorium shows the progress which has been made since the start of construction of the building in the summer. Two new buildings, a gym and the auditorium are now under construction at a total cost of $355,000. Workers on the project have reported that the progress on the building has now been halted because of the lack of steel which is now in transit.

Little progress has been made in the construction of the new addition to the Third Street School because of the lack of material. Brick to match the present building is being delivered from Ohio, and the first load arrived in Greenville on Thursday of this week. Work on the building is expected to get in full swing soon. In the above photo is shown parts of the floor section of the new class room, lunch rooms, and kitchen.

The newest addition to the Greenville city school system will be the new South Greenville school which is rapidly nearing completion. Cost of the building, located on a 14 acre plot of land in the Cooperfield section of the city, is estimated to be around $80,000. The building is now being plastered, and it is hoped that the structure can be put into operation by the middle of March.

New Methods Of Home Heating Will Be Shown

A demonstration of new methods in home heating will be staged at the Curb Market building, Tuesday, January 24, at 2 p. m. In making the announcement of the demonstration, Miss Jean Steele, Home Demonstration agent for Greenville, said that it would be the first of its kind in this area and that she had not heard of its being presented anywhere else.

Of particular interest to homemakers, the demonstration is open to all persons, whether or not they are members of either the city or the county clubs. Miss Steele said that the merchants of Greenville had been asked to demonstrate their particular heating plants and most had responded to the request.

A specialist in heating equipment, Mr. R. M. Ritchie, Jr. of the State College Extension Department, will give a talk on the different types of space heaters and central heating plants. He will also demonstrate the newest kind of heating experiment—radiant heat.

Miss Steele urged all the husbands to attend because all kinds of fuel will be discussed and shown, including coal, oil and gas. Also, the newest heating uses of air and water will be demonstrated.

The Demonstration Agent also announced two meetings on Tuesday, January 10, of the Executive and County Councils of the Pitt clubs. Beginning at 1:30 p. m. the Executive Council will meet followed by the County Council at 2:30 to 4:30. The latter group will discuss objectives for 1950 and long-time planning for the future. All program chairmen of the clubs are asked to attend.

Plan Hog Sales Next Few Weeks

College Station, Raleigh, Jan. 7.—Several hog sales are scheduled in North Carolina during the next few weeks. Jack Kelley, extension swine specialist at State College, said today.

The Walter Kirby farm of Kenly will hold a Poland China sale at Smithfield beginning at 1 p. m. January 13. Twenty bred gilts and 20 fall boars and gilts will be included in the offerings. Among the former lot are gilts which won prizes at the State Fair and which have been bred to the grand champion boar of the State Fair.

Kirby is president of the State Poland China Breeders Association. The P. M. Horton sale will be held at Wendell on January 17 and the State Poland China sale at Kinston on January 18. The State Duroc Show and sale, to be held at Rocky Mount on January 26, will include a judging contest for 4-H and FFA members. Bing Evans of Peoria, Ill., secretary of the National Duroc Association, will attend this event and assist with the judging.

Next month, Orange County Spotted Poland China breeders will hold a sale at Hillsboro on February 2, and the State Poland China sale will be held at Ahsokie on February 10.

Jan. 15 Deadline

The Greenville Agricultural office announced yesterday that January 15 was the deadline for farmers to report their Agricultural Conservation Practices program for 1949.

A spokesman for the department said that if the farmers did not meet the deadline, the money would be turned over to the Pitt County pool and no further checks would be sent out.

Art Exhibition By Francis Neel

Francis Lee Neel, faculty member of the department of art at East Carolina Teachers College, will exhibit during January a collection of his oil paintings, etchings, drawings, and work in crafts at the Sheppard Memorial Library of the city.

The exhibition opened in the Community Art Gallery Friday and will be on display for the remainder of this month. On Tuesday evening, January 10, at 7:30, Mr. Neel will give a gallery talk in which he will discuss his work.

Mr. Neel joined the faculty of the art department at the college here in September, 1948. Last year his work was exhibited at the Community Art Gallery of the city library, and several times he has sponsored exhibits on the campus of the work of his students at East Carolina. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri, from which he received both the bachelor's and the master's degrees. During the last war he served in the Pacific area as a paratrooper.

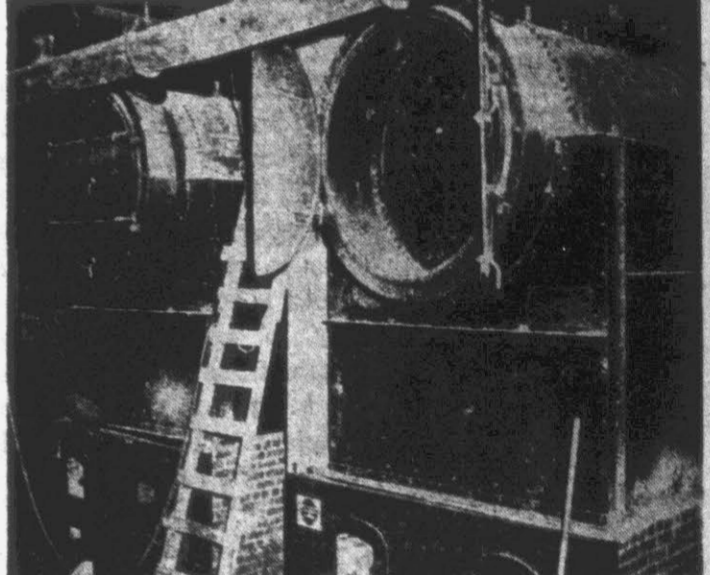

Of particular interest in the exhibition now at the Sheppard Memorial Library are two etchings by Mr. Neel which won first and second prizes at the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia last summer. These studies are "Newport, Long Island" and "Advance Command Post."

Other works displayed include 10 oil paintings, a collection of figure drawings, and examples of weaving, metal work and pottery.

place the loss which acreage cuts are bringing to the crops of long standing. It is certainly a long stride of progress for the agricultural leaders of Pitt, Martin and Edgecombe counties to come together and ask that a specialist be hired jointly by the three counties to work with farmers in producing a crop which may well become the principal source of income in this section not many years hence.

The cost to the county of hiring such a specialist is insignificant when it is compared with the vast benefits which a profitable sweet potato program could mean to Pitt county. The Reflector is fully in accord with the progressive program of diversification the agricultural leaders are proposing, and hopes the county commissioners will see fit in their meeting Monday to appropriate Pitt's share of the necessary funds to bring the sweet potato specialist to Pitt, Martin and Edgecombe counties.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR. There's nothing like a neighbor—absolutely nothing. Normally neighbors get closer and closer, until finally they find out too much about each other and fall out. Thus, the end of a perfect friendship.

Enhanced—the problem is enhanced, of course, by availability of $50,000,000 of state money for local school buildings. It has been repeatedly pointed out by delegations appealing to the state board not to kill their school, that the community voted overwhelmingly for the school and road bonds, but the money is being spent to build up other communities which did not vote for the bonds.

Delegations—Thursday there were delegations from Davie and Warren counties, both vigorously protesting plans for spending the building fund on centralized units, rather than maintaining the community schools. History was invoked and there was roll call of state and national leaders who have gone out from the schools now proposed to be abandoned or at least deprecated in prestige by the consolidation program.

Hard-Boiled—The men with responsibility for spending public money must be hard-boiled. They are not as cruel or inhuman as some of the times suggested. For instance, the board of education this week approved an extra teacher for a school of just 35 Negro pupils in a school of just 35 Negro pupils in a school of just 35 Negro pupils in a school of just 35 Negro pupils.

An hour later he had almost eliminated the dent, but it was still noticeable. "Lou," he said, "we're just going to have to tell Sarah and Trav that we dropped this thing. There's no way around it." The next day Charlie returned the pot, full of apologies and offers to pay the repair bill. Sarah and Trav took the news very seriously, showing a great deal of concern about the matter.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE. New York (AP)—The air has been full of lists of the ten most influential figures of the last 50 years. This is all water over the dam. What every ambitious American boy or girl today wants to know is, "What can I do to become one of the most influential persons of the next 50 years?" Well, that one is easy. It is no trick at all to name some of the feats that—if you can do them—will make you one of the best-remembered leaders of the last half of the 20th century.

You Ought to do it!

You ought to put into real action that long-felt desire to do something that will help others.

We all have that desire—all but the very selfish. We would like to serve. But where? How?

One of the contributions which our churches make to the life of this community is in providing countless opportunities for valuable service.

Can you sing in a choir? Teach a class? Lead a youth group? Visit a shut-in? Pack a gift basket? Paint a Sunday School room? Mend a choir gown?

These are humble, yet valuable services. They won't make you famous, but they'll make you a better person. And they'll help others discover the true riches in life.

You ought to do it! You ought to join a church . . . and find the service that you can render!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Invading Raleigh Caps Take 54-40 Win Against Locals

Only Stubborn Play And Flashes Of Brilliance Helped Phantoms Hold Down Visitors; Juniors Edge 45-44 Over-time Triumph

By JOHN SPINKS
The invading Raleigh Caps beat the Greenville Phantoms last night by a score of 54-40 for their sixth straight win and their second over the Phantoms' outfit this season. Both teams were off in their shooting but Raleigh held a wide edge in accuracy which accounted for the difference in score.

With a vast edge in height Coach Holliday's boys controlled both backboards and it was through stubbornness and at times a brilliant floor game that kept the Phantoms in the game. With little Joe Sawyer's ball handling and harrying tactics under the backboard, the locals were able countless times to break up Raleigh plays and prevent a higher score.

In the preliminary game, which actually was the thriller of the double bill, the Greenville Juniors beat the visiting Juniors in an overtime period, 45-44. With the score tied at the end of the regulation game, 37-37, Greenville managed to match the Junior Caps basket for basket in the extra period and go on to edge them in the win. Guard Billy Wooten pushed in the game-winning bucket in the final two seconds, bringing the spectators to their feet and keeping them there as they watched an attempted Raleigh field goal roll around the hoop and out again.

In the varsity game, Dillingham of the Phantoms was high scorer for the night with 16 points. He shaded the visitors' star forward, Kim Buchanan, by one point, the latter tossing in 15 to lead his mates.

Both teams looked bad in their ball handling at times, the ball going out of bounds several times or into the hands of the opposing players.

Greenville came within four points of Raleigh midway of the third period as the score stood at 38-34 but at that point the Caps settled down and ran the count to 44 points before the locals were able to score again.

The next game for Greenville is with Denton and will be played Tuesday night in the high school gymnasium.

Rowing Crew Of 'Guinea Pigs' Sweeping Events

Sydney, Australia. (AP)—A "guinea pig" rowing crew selected after tests on a machine invented by an Australian professor is trouncing other Australian crews which have been training for years under orthodox methods.

The four members of the crew are all university students and were chosen after more than 200 athletes tried out on a specially-designed rowing machine, called by Professor Frank Cotton of Sydney University an "ergometer." They use oars which differ from the usual design in that they are a foot longer and the blades are a few inches deeper.

In the New South Wales championship, the "guinea pigs" beat a previously undefeated four by two lengths to win the senior title and 75 minutes later won the junior title by eight lengths.

Net Favorites In Tough Sledding

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 7. (AP)—The semifinals of the Dixie Tennis tournament finds several pre-tourney favorites among the missing, and another one likely to fall by the wayside today.

In the other bracket Gardner Mulloy, No. 1, should be able to stop Tony Trabert of Cincinnati. Trabert looked good yesterday in whipping Ricardo Balibiers of Chile.

Much credit for the flying start made by the courtmen of St. John's University this season must go to Al McGuire, a rugged junior with a fiery competitive spirit. He is the younger brother of Dick, one of the Redmen's all time greats now starting with the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association. Standing three inches over the six foot mark, Al has an amazing leap that has enabled him to control the boards for the Redmen even when competing against players inches taller.

McGuire was something of a sensation on the St. John's freshman team of two seasons ago which posted a string of 22 straight victories. Great things were expected of him when he moved up to the varsity which was captained by Brother Dick last season. It didn't work out very well because Al's fiery spirit couldn't be controlled.

This season Al is living up to the promise he showed as a freshman. In addition to a great job of rebounding, McGuire has sparked his teammates on scoring drives that have broken games wide open. He is a fierce competitor. In driving in for lay-ups, Al doesn't spare himself and, as a result, takes a terrific beating. Now that he has learned to control himself, Al could scale the heights reached by his famous brother. Possibly higher, because Al is a scorer while Dick's fame stemmed from his play-making.

Osmanski Quits Tries Dentistry

Chicago, Jan. 7. (AP)—It's back to dentistry for Dr. William T. Osmanski, known as Bronco Bill in his fullback playing days with the Chicago Bears.

Osmanski has resigned as head football coach at Holy Cross. Three years of a five-year contract, calling for a reported $12,000 annually, remained.

Whether he received a financial settlement or voluntarily relinquish the remainder of the pact was not disclosed.

His resignation followed the most disastrous football season in Holy Cross history. It was announced in a joint statement last night by Osmanski and the Very Rev. John A. O'Brien, president of the Worcester, Mass., college.

They conferred in Chicago for three days.

Osmanski, whose team last fall had a 1-9 record and wound up by absorbing a 76-0 pasting by Boston College, said he planned to devote full time to his practice of dentistry in Chicago.

The statement said Father O'Brien "made it clear" that Osmanski, former Chicago Bears fullback, could remain as head football coach at Holy Cross. But, he added, the former Holy Cross star thought his alma mater "would be best served by his resignation."

Eppes Defeats Adkins High By Score Of 28-27

Eppes High boys' team shaded a scrapping Adkins High team from Kinston Thursday night by the narrow margin of 28-27. The local boys had trouble with the visitors from the start, trailing them at the half by three points, 18-15.

But with the help of Hubert Walters, who scored 11 points, and big Center George Merritt with nine, the locals came from behind to edge the Adkins five.

The Eppes girls were not so fortunate as their brother running mates. They lost to the Kinston girls by the score of 18-12. High scorer for Eppes was Billie Jenkins with seven points.

Belgians Training

Brussels. (AP)—If the Belgian football team is beaten by Italy in March, 1950, it won't be for lack of training. The Belgians began working out together on Dec. 15, and will increase the tempo of practice sessions until the game. Last year, Belgium took a 5-1 licking from Wales, and many said it was because the Belgian all-star team had never played together before.

Farmville Cagers Topple Bethel Out Of Lead In Conference Race

Farmville, Jan. 7.—The Farmville Red Devils beat the Bethel Indians for the first time in three years last night, knocked the visitors out of a tie for first place in the conference standings, and advanced themselves into second position in the Pitt basketball race. The score was 41-28.

The Farmville team spotted the Indians a goal in the opening minutes but marched that and went on to win handily. The locals were never headed after that.

Ayden Cagers Spoil First Gym Contest For Belvoir

Belvoir, Jan. 7.—League-leading Ayden took two basketball games from Belvoir last night and spoiled a capacity crowd's hopes for a win in the first games played in the new $45,000 gymnasium.

The boys lost by a score of 33-27 with Ayden advancing from a half-time tie score of 10-10. The girls lost in the first game, 26-13.

In the nightcap the Ayden boys won their seventh straight against no losses chiefly because they took few shots at the basket and were very accurate in those. Their shooting percentage was 38 percent, compared to the locals' 27 percent. High scorer for Belvoir was Roy Stancill with 10 and was a stalwart on defense as well.

Kittrell's Intermediate And Midget Basketball Teams Play Ayden Today

Coach Bill Kittrell's Intermediate and Midget cagers teams will make their initial appearance of the 1950 basketball season this afternoon at 2:00 when they take to the hardwood courts against two Ayden teams in a conference opener.

Game time for the midget game is set for 2:00, with the game being played in the Greenville high school gym.

For both teams, the game today will be their first in conference play and also the first start of the season. The strong Greenville Senior team, who are currently seeking their third conference title in three years, will be one of the teams to beat in the hot conference race this year.

Other teams which make up the conference are Ayden, Kinston, New Bern and Greenville.

The starting lineups for the Midget teams will be: Forwards, Smoot and Scott; center, Worthington; guards, Sideris and Sawyer. Senior team: Center, Jordan; guards, Sideris and Singleton; forwards, Cheatham and Brady.

Faye Emerson Is Seeking Divorce

New York, Jan. 6. (AP)—Actress Faye Emerson was on her way to Mexico City today hoping for a quick divorce from Elliott Roosevelt.

"There is definitely no other man," she told newsmen as she left by plane last night.

Her estranged husband has been seen recently with Georgeanne (Gigi) Durston, a pretty cafe singer. Miss Emerson said she and the late President's son both "are very sorry our marriage came to an end."

She said a property settlement has been made, but she declined to reveal the terms.

"The reason for the divorce were formulated a long time ago and are very private," she said at an airport news conference. "I understand," she added, "that Mexican divorces don't take very long."

Miss Emerson did not say what grounds for divorce she would claim. Asked about her break with Roosevelt, she said: "It took a long time to make the decision. It's not the kind of a decision one makes overnight."

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP)—Recent tests show how much Americans of Mexican ancestry prefer to go on speaking Spanish. The tests were made with soldiers of the Ninth Service Command who could not read English. Many could not speak it, but were learning in order to stay in the army.

All spoke Spanish, reports Dr. William D. Altus, psychologist at Santa Barbara College of the University of California. Some could never studied it in school. Nine per cent of those who had never been out of this country were fully literate in Spanish, and 39 per cent were partly so although completely illiterate in English and unable to speak it. This seemed to be true regardless of how many generations their ancestors had lived on American soil, reports Dr. Altus.

Florida Obtains Coach Woodruff

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 7. (AP)—Bob Woodruff, 34-year-old head coach at Baylor University for the past three years, is the new head football coach and athletic director at the University of Florida.

He signed a seven year contract, calling for a salary of $17,000 a year at a board of control meeting here last night.

He succeeds Raymond (Bear) Wolf, who resigned recently under pressure after four disappointing seasons and who since has joined the Tulane University coaching staff as an assistant.

Woodruff is a native of Georgia. He played college football at the University of Tennessee, where he started his coaching career as an assistant in 1939.

He also was an assistant football coach at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point for two years and at Georgia Tech for one year before he became head coach at Baylor in 1947.

His team won five and lost five in 1947 and won six, lost three and tied two in 1948. Last season it won eight and lost only two.

His teams use the "T" system. The $17,000 salary given to the new coach is the highest ever paid any employee of the state of Florida—$5,000 more than the governor and the presidents of the two state universities.

The Wolfpack goes to Durham with Sammy Rankino as its scoring leader but oddly enough, its top player, Red-Thatched Dick Dickey the Blue Devil's figure they'll have to stop if they want to stay on the same floor with the conference champs.

Dickey has been strictly poison to Duke ever since he first wore a uniform for state. In six games against the Blue Devils over a span of three years, he has tallied 101 points—an average of 16.8 per contest—and three times he has hit for over 20 points against the Dukes.

Ranzino, on the other hand, never has been a ball of fire when Duke furnished the opposition. His total stands at 35 points in six games against the Devils. In one game, he was blanked completely.

Navy Coaching Post May Be Offered Him

Eddie J. Erdelatz (above) is at Annapolis for conferences to determine whether he will become head football coach for the Naval Academy. The 36-year-old assistant coach of the professional San Francisco 49ers was the first to be called by the navy for interviews. More Cars, But Roads Worsening London. (AP)—The number of motor vehicles in Great Britain has increased by nearly a million since 1938, but the condition of the country's roads is deteriorating rapidly, the British Road Federation announces.

In 1938 3,094,000 motor vehicles were registered in Great Britain. They have increased to 4,016,000 in 1949. Private cars now total 2,107,000 compared with 1,944,000 in 1938.

Santa Clara's appearance in the 1950 Orange Bowl marks the third postseason bid for the Broncos; they played in 1937 and 1938 in the Sugar Bowl.

Hogan Is Tied For 16th Place, But Still Rated 'Man To Beat'

Los Angeles, Jan. 7. (AP)—A man who's tied for 16th place is still rated the one to beat in the $15,000 Los Angeles Open Golf tournament.

This shows the hold Ben Hogan has over the rest of the professional golf contingent, and over the public who wants to see him succeed in his unprecedented comeback try.

When they picked him up from beside a West Texas highway last February, doctors doubted if he would live. Then it became clear that he would recover from his terrible traffic injuries to play golf again. Yet he has.

He went 13 tense holes in 73 strokes yesterday to open the 24th renewal of this richest tournament in the winter swing. He trailed 15 other golfers, but it made no difference to the spectators.

They were on his side. He was nervous, but they were on edge too. Maybe more so. When he got into a dispute about photographers snapping his picture as he shot, Ho-

Chapter 6

There was courage in Zachary and it took all he had to say that so casually now, knowing the headlong tempo that was in Trib Vaise. The statement hit Vaise hard. He looked at Zachary, and there was disbelief and rage and pain blended in his glance. And then, seeing the averted eyes of the other men, he knew that Zachary was not lying. "Marryin' you?" Vaise repeated, and his voice was rough now. "By heaven, Armin, that shall never do! I'll kill you first!"

He turned then, stumbled out the door and into the open. Armin Zachary saw down again, rather suddenly, as he passed a handkerchief across his face.

"Better have a drink, Zachary," Lundeen suggested, and poured a glass for him. He watched while Zachary drank it at a gulp. "Sounded to me like he meant it," he added. "Sounded just like Trib always did, right then."

That same reaction, one of doubt and possible disbelief in the evidence of their own eyes, was in the faces of the other men as well. Zachary saw it, and his mind was busy. Five minutes later he was in the saddle riding for the Gun.

He went directly to his office, calling Rudd. But his message to the foreman was brief enough. "Send Marsh and Huff here," he directed. "I want to talk to them."

He saw the reluctance, the uneasiness in the two cowboys as they came in.

"So you lied to me," he said. "We didn't aim to, boss, not any," Huff protested. "We sure thought he was dead."

"You helped bury him," Zachary said bitingly. "That was a part of your report. And yet he walks in here."

Marsh jerked a little, nervously. "We ain't lyin'," he protested. "Nary a word. We sure shot like we said."

"I'll let it go at that," Zachary agreed dryly. "The fact remains, he's alive. I wasn't surprised when he turned up, despite your report, for the War Department sent two letters, several weeks ago, correcting their first report. One came to me, one to Miss Dorrance. I was lucky to get hold of both of them before anyone else."

"I'll say you was," Huff agreed fervently.

"But it's only a matter of time if he's left to his own devices, before he'll prove who he is," Zachary went on grimly. "But as I say, it's just a matter of time—if he's left alive."

"Alive?" Both men said it together, then exchanged glances.

"Exactly," Zachary repeated dryly. "I paid you what I promised you when you should bring me word that Vaise was dead—a thousand dollars apiece. You've had the money, but the job remains to be done."

Again the two exchanged glances. Marsh fumbled awkwardly with his round blob of whiskers.

"We been expectin' that we'll see yesterday," he confessed. "And we'd do the job."

Knowing where to find Saralee, Zachary was confident of getting to her in ample time well ahead of his cousin. She was at the 64 Ranch now, with Wanda Daniels. And there was a shortcut from the Gun to the 64.

Luck was with him, for the moment. Saralee was out, a little way from the house, idling beneath a big pine. Zachary's eyes warmed at the sight of her, and his greeting was more effusive than usual. Her own was pleasant, but the brief touch of her lips was as from a caress, as he realized only too well. "I've got news for you, Saralee," he said, and his voice was grave. "A fellow's turned up who claims to be Trib Vaise." He saw her start as though stung by a bee saw her hand go to her throat in a sudden instinctive gesture. Her eyes widened, a wave of color crossed her cheeks, followed by a deathly paleness. But he went on talking with studied casualness. "Fact is, I've seen him myself. He arrived with a big herd of longhorns, aimin' to horn in and take the Gun. Reckon he'd heard about it, and thought he could fool us, or bluff us!" He laughed a little. "We don't fool that easy hereabouts, as he's beginnin' to discover."

"You mean—" Saralee's voice was little more than a whisper now. "Then he isn't he's not Trib, really?"

"How could he be?" Zachary turned on her a look of simulated surprise. "He does look a little bit like Trib, in some ways; the same build, and so on. And I guess he figured on five years to account for some of the differences."

"What differences?" Saralee asked. Her voice was calm enough now, though her heart was still pounding in her breast threatening to choke her.

Zachary went on. "He has snow white hair. Claims it turned that way in the army, a prison camp or something. And he's lost part of the first finger on his right hand same as Trib had, only at the second joint instead of the first. He looks different—nose and teeth and all. Elwood and Lundeen and de Polo and others have seen him, same as me. They all figure the same—he couldn't be Trib."

The brief flame of hope was dying in Saralee now. But Zachary's next words started her again.

"He said he was wagering that you'd still know him, and I reckon he'll be here later in the day to see you. Even after I told him that Trib was dead, and that you were my sweetheart now, and marryin' me in a couple of days."

"And he's still coming?" Saralee repeated. Excitement stirred in her tones again.

"I could be mistaken," he agreed. "Fact is, after thinkin' it over, I'm not too certain. It might be he is Trib, comin' back to this country after all these years, and for a mighty good reason!"

Find Sunday Dull For Britishers

London. (AP)—Investigators who wondered what the British do on Sundays have the answer: "nothing particular." The report was by "mass observation," a group of sociologists and mass opinion experts who market studies of British life and habits.

Totting up the average Briton on Sunday, the surveyors said 14 out of 20 listen to the radio, eight out of 20 visit or entertain, eight go for a walk, four potter around in the garden, four visit the pub, two go to the movies, three go to church. Most people do at least two of those things.

Find Fossils Of Tertiary Age

Rio de Janeiro. (AP)—An 80-million-year-old snake has been reported found near San Jose Itabora, small town in Rio de Janeiro state. A report to the geological museum here says a field party, digging in a site which has been explored for 20 years, found fossil birds, lizards, plants and a snake estimated to belong to the tertiary age. The snake is the first of that type found in Brazil, says the report.

ABOLISH INVISIBLE ALLEY

Monticello, Ill. (AP)—The city council voted to abolish one of the town's alleys—the alley that wasn't there. The alley was shown on the original city map but never materialized.

Much of the coal found in the Durango, Colo., area is of coking quality.

Dr. Hermann N. Sander, popular young country doctor, is under indictment on a first degree murder charge at Manchester, N. H., in the mercy killing of an incurable cancer patient. Leopardmen Of Congo Jungles Remain Problem

By WILLIAM ANDERSON and J. JOOS

Lizala (Belgian Congo)—(AP)—A mangled body, with the heart cut out of it and claw marks of a leopard imprinted in the surrounding ground, means one thing to Belgian Congo police: The leopardmen have struck again.

This little known secret society operating in Central Africa claims dozens of such victims each year. And work as hard as they will, the police cannot do much about it. The leopardmen seldom leave a witness to testify to their deeds.

The reason for the killings is generally thought to be a ritual of nature, in which the human heart plays a part. Victims are evidently chosen haphazardly as was the case of Kungbo Antoine, a young fisherman of the village of Yembongo near Libenge. He and his friend Kizima Jean were walking along the road cutting the dense forest between Yumpi and Yembongo in November. It was pitch dark. A thunderstorm threatened. Lightning alone flashed from time to time to lighten their way.

Halfway between the villages, a man suddenly leapt from the undergrowth brandishing a huge bush knife and wearing a leopard skin. Kizima went down immediately from a knife-blow. His friend went to his aid, and was attacked by a second man who leapt from the jungle. Being unarmed, he fled, leaving his friend lying on the ground. He spent the night in the guard station of a nearby plantation, but did not say a word about the attack.

That is one more difficulty the police run up against in dealing with the leopardmen. Nobody will testify.

Next morning passers-by on the road discovered large blood stains and parts of human intestines. Following the meagre traces into the surrounding bush, they discovered the remains of Kizima. Only his torso remained. Deeply printed on the body were the marks of claws. Human footprints and leopard pawmarks were visible around the body, and the heart was missing. Apart from a pair of trousers carefully folded under a tree nothing else was found.

The trousers clue was evidence that human beings had committed the murder. No animal, however crafty, can fold up a pair of trousers.

A judicial inquiry was immediately opened but without little hope of success. The survivor either could not or would not identify the attackers. He was one of the few to have got away with his life in a leopardman attack. He was not going to leave himself open to reprisals.

Repair Building Sixteen Years After Big Quake

Whittier, Calif. (AP)—More than 16 years after the disastrous Southern California earthquake of 1933, this city is getting around to repairing its high school auditorium.

The quake damaged roof supports and beams and the building was abandoned. It has been forbidden territory for students ever since.

The city once decided to remodel it, then learned a larger building was needed because of an increase in the number of students.

Now workmen are ripping off the roof. Using the original walls they will convert it, at a cost of $381,000, into a classroom and library building.

'Small Burglary' For Midget Inn Recorded

Decatur, Ill. (AP)—Sometimes in the wee hours a burglar got into a place of business. He must have been a little fellow. He had to stand on a chair to reach the top of a vending machine. His loot was on the small side, too. Just $1. The name of the establishment is the Midget Inn.

May Try Showgirls To Boost Railways

Tokyo. (AP)—Pretty showgirls may be used in an effort to stimulate lagging passenger traffic on Japanese trains. One railroad official hopes to increase traffic over his line by putting 680 showgirls aboard a special "revenue train" designed to carry 1,000 paying passengers. The train would run to Atami, a famous hot springs resort.

Kiwanians Induct Tige Gardner As President; Haney Is Vice-President

By CHESTER WALSH

At the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night, Tige Gardner, "always cheerful, always optimistic," and representative here of the Vernon Company, Newton, Iowa, became the club's 33rd president, succeeding Arthur Tripp.

Gardner was unanimously elected president in early December.

Carolinas Kiwanis District Lieutenant-Governor B. J. Holleman of Jacksonville, who inducted the new officers and directors, said the Greenville Kiwanis Club "stands out as one of the best functioning clubs in the Carolinas Kiwanis district and its record of consistent service is recognized at district and international headquarters."

Dr. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church, was inducted as vice-president. James Ray Pittman, manager of the "P and T" Grocery; R. L. Shiplett, manager of the Waldensian Baking Company; Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, dean of BCTC; and Don H. Conley, superintendent of Pitt County schools, were inducted as directors.

The lieutenant-governor commended President Tripp's administration, paid tribute to the chairman of various committees, and "singled out" Secretary-Treasurer David C. Moore Jr., with a 19-year record attendance record, for special praise and an excellent record as secretary.

Fast President Eli Bloom had charge of the program. Bloom and Tige Gardner inaugurated the Kiwanis minstrel shows which have netted the club $2,000 or more each of the past five or six years for the underprivileged child fund.

President Gardner, in his inaugural address, pledged his best efforts for the club, solicited the members' cooperation and support, and with a amazed degree of emotion, looked about the men who "really do things in the community"—and said in his own inimitable way "I thank you."

Gardner's mother, Mrs. Willie Gardner of Greenville, was by his side. Mrs. Gardner's wife, was there, too. The Kiwanians paid them fine tribute.

Lieutenant-Governor Holleman was eloquent in his address. The Jacksonville businessman was emphatic in declaring the Greenville club to be "one of the most active in the Carolinas District." He spoke briefly and to the point. He was invited to come back again—at any time—for a welcome from any Greenville Kiwanians.

The lieutenant-governor welcomed two representatives of the Daily Reflector—Roy Hardee, staff photographer, and John Spinks Jr., of

Scout Leaders To Meet Monday

Boy Scout leaders and district committeemen from Pitt County will hold a meeting Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Presbyterian Church.

The purpose of the meeting will be to offer the scouts a chance to give them additional training in various fields.

The group will meet together for the first ten minutes of the meeting for an opening exercise, following which the club leaders will attend a roundtable discussion which will be led by Vice Chairman of the District Ben Wolf.

The scout leaders will at the same time be conducting a roundtable meeting, while the Pitt County District committee will hold their regular monthly meeting to formulate and see that the scout policies are carried out. Wyatt Brown, chairman of the district, will conduct the meeting.

Important Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Friday, two persons were found guilty of allowing dogs to run at large on the streets of the city in violation of city ordinances. Judge J. W. H. Roberts was presiding.

James Largley, colored, paid $10 costs and was ordered to buy a dog license and license his dog to run at large. Testimony in court was that the police department had warned dog owners that the city ordinance requiring dog owners to buy licenses would be strictly enforced, and that the ordinance prohibiting dogs to run at large on the city's streets also would be enforced.

Three defendants appeared before the court on charges of driving motor vehicles while drunk.

The court convicted Earl A. Rogers of driving drunk and gave him six months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs. He gave notice of appeal. Rogers was not guilty of reckless driving and property damage. Bernice L. Haddock was given 12 months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs. He was placed on probation for five years. Haddock gave notice of appeal. The case against Harry B. Gibbs for driving drunk and disorderly conduct was transferred to Superior Court for jury trial.

Drunk L. D. Taylor (two charges) paid $15 in each case; Jesse B. Williams, $15; Henry Moore, colored, $15; Jesse Smith, drunk and disorderly, $15.

The case against Anthony Coward Jr., in which he was charged with breaking, entering and larceny, was not pressed with leave.

Lloyd D. Allen was not guilty of driving with improper lights.

Charity E. Best, colored, paid $15 for disorderly conduct and profane language.

Robert J. Staton was not guilty of reckless driving.

Ned Pitt Jr., 40-year-old Negro, who was charged with raping Evelyn Pearl Williams, 12-year-old Negro girl, was ordered held for Superior Court after Judge Roberts found probable cause. Bond was fixed at $300. Testimony was that Pitt forced the girl to go with him in a truck to a rural point and raped her. Further testimony by the girl was that she and Pitt visited two homes in the city during the night and that she left him and went home the next morning. Police and city court officials had the opinion that the charge of rape will be changed when the case goes into Superior Court.

New Plants Face Fresh Cool Wave

With winter's blasts again seemingly nipping the town, the azaleas that were planted on the courthouse grounds yesterday will find themselves in a mean furrow. Twenty-eight of the young plants, bordering the south side of the building, were put in the ground in the inside corners of the courthouse facing West Third Street.

In addition to the azaleas, three small cedar bushes were planted on the southeast corner of the grounds and two others of the same type were put in the ground in the inside corners of the courthouse facing West Third Street.

ect, M. Brown Hodges, chairman of the Pitt County board of commissioners, commented, "I think it's a mighty good thing. We all realize we have to produce quality, and we need a specialist."

When asked whether the Pitt commissioners would appropriate the necessary funds for the remainder of the fiscal year, Hodges replied, "I don't know what they'll do. We've drawn so heavily on our emergency fund I've got to check with the auditor." Pitt Auditor A. T. Powell reported this week the emergency fund was $3,058 at the present time.

Vance Perkins and Marvin Smith, the other two Pitt commissioners who attended the meeting, expressed their approval of the plan, but hesitated to say whether funds from the county would be available before the end of the fiscal year.

B. C. Mayo, chairman of the Edgecombe County commissioners, declared, "I'm beginning to wonder how we're going to hold our farms unless something is done to get other money crops. I would certainly do all I could to get a man to help the farmers in the undertaking."

Abram Roeberson, chairman of the Martin County board of commissioners, stated, "We've got to fill up our acres with something unless they stand idle. I kinda expect we'll pass it if we can find the money—and we might find the money."

In addition to the three Pitt County commissioners at the meeting there were three commissioners from Edgecombe County and two commissioners from Martin County. J. P. Harris, president of the Bethel Auction Company, presided at the meeting.

The economic advisors agree: "The inevitable end of the inflationary process has come. We are now enjoying a recovery movement."

But, looking forward to what they think the country needs to do even better than now, the President and the advisors give some warnings, and some advice.

The basic problem facing the country now, the President said, "is to increase production, employment and incomes to complete the recovery from the 1949 downturn and to go on to the higher levels will be made possible by a growing population and rising productivity."
