Three Men Held For Questioning In Boston Holdup

Police Seize Ammunition And Pistol On Tip Money Cashed In House

Boston, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Police seized 1,000 rounds of ammunition and picked up three men today for questioning on an ex-convict's telephone tip that funds stolen in Boston's million dollar robbery had been cashed in a house near the scene of the holdup.

Police raided the empty house in the north end shortly after Police Captain John D. Ahearn received the telephone call from Newark, N.J., from a man who identified himself as the driver of the escape car used in the robbery.

They found the four boxes of ammunition and a .38 calibre revolver in the house—the same type weapon used by the gunmen in the holdup.

The three men—all ex-convicts—were taken for questioning on the tip which Ahearn said came from Jackie Horrigan. Horrigan was picked up by Newark police.

Ahearn said he doubted Horrigan's story, but added that he was not "passing up anything."

He said some of the information given by the tipster "checked with certain angles of the robbery and some didn't." He could have got a lot of it from the newspapers, the police captain said.

Ahearn quoted Horrigan as saying in the collect call from Newark that eight men participated in the robbery. Two were with him in Newark, he said, and the other five were in Boston.

The police captain said the man named all those he claimed took part in the holdup of the vaults of an armed car company.

The man said that the holdup had been planned for seven months and that a pass key taken from an impression of one held by a former employee was used to open doors in the big garage housing the vaults.

Newark police arrested Horrigan in a tavern shortly after he had put in the collect call to Ahearn.

He was held in Newark pending arrival of FBI agents to question him. He refused to give any details to Newark police except saying he was involved in the robbery.

Newark police doubted that the man had any connection with the holdup but they said "We can't afford to take chances in a thing like this."

Three other former convicts also are held for questioning in the case.

President's Tax Message Delayed

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — President Truman's new tax recommendations to Congress now may be delayed until the first of next week.

That was the word yesterday from Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross. There was no explanation of what has been holding up the tax message.

In his State of the Union message when Congress reconvened this month, Mr. Truman said the tax proposals would be ready soon. Since then the White House has been forecasting their appearance every few days.

Former Senator Suffers Stroke

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway, 71, former U. S. Senator from Arkansas, remained in a serious condition today at George Washington University hospital, her physician said.

Mrs. Caraway, who became ill Jan. 11, suffered a stroke yesterday. Dr. Leo T. Brown told a reporter she is partially paralyzed on her left side.

Complicated Diplomacy

Diplomatic Triumphs Of The Past Were Simple, And Figured In Pennies And Acres; No Ordinary Explanations Can Clarify Current Situations

By ARTHUR EDSON

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson must long for the good old days, when diplomacy's triumphs could be figured in simple terms like acres and pennies.

I kept thinking of this yesterday during Acheson's news conference.

Outside the auditorium where the conferences are held are a couple of illustrations of the State Department's finest hours.

In well lighted cases are mounted the documents that completed the Louisiana Purchase and changed the ownership of Alaska from Russia to the U.S.

The paragraph on the Louisiana Purchase is headed:

"Three cents an acre." Yes, that's what it cost.

The caption on the paragraph explaining the Alaska deal reads:

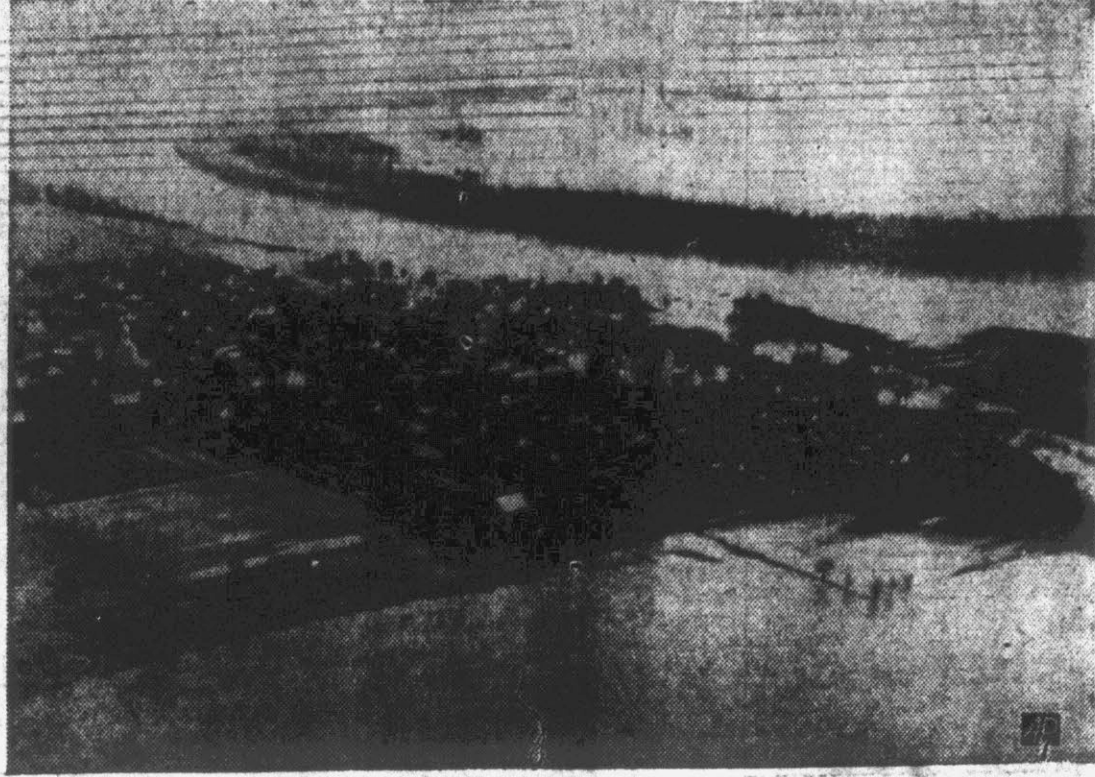

"Seward's Folly."

The paragraph hurriedly explains that of course it really wasn't folly.

Secretary of State Seward got Alaska for less than two cents an acre. Understandable transactions, both. But look at diplomacy today.

Acheson opened the conference with:

Illinois Town Threatened By Rising Flood Water

Flood Threats In Two Danger Spots Eased; Cold Wave Hits

By the Associated Press
Flood threats at two of the danger spots in the Midwest watershed appeared easing today but cold weather and freezing rain heaped more discomfort on thousands of refugees.

Winter's elements battered other parts of the country.

A severe cold air mass extended from the northern plains to Texas and spread over the Great Lakes to the Ohio River Valley.

A belt of snow, sleet and freezing drizzle dampened an area from southern Idaho to much of Oregon. Northwestern California lowlands were flooded and high waters isolated some communities. Fifteen persons have perished in a week of numbing cold in the Pacific Northwest.

Four persons lost their lives in the Midwest flood area yesterday, two in southern Illinois and two in western Kentucky.

Flood conditions remained critical at many points along the surgical Mississippi, Ohio, Wabash and other rivers in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. More than 11,000 persons have been evacuated from their homes along the Mississippi.

The flood threat moved down the Mississippi Valley and floodwaters from many rain-swollen rivers forced hundreds from their homes in Arkansas and Tennessee.

Although there were indications that the flood threat in the Cairo, Ill., district was easing the Army was ready for an emergency if the flooding Mississippi appears headed for a stage of 57 feet. But the big river appeared nearing a crest which might fall more than a foot short of the stage fixed for possible opening of the Birds Point-New Madrid floodway.

The Weather Bureau forecast a crest around 55.5 feet tonight. Unless there are indications of a stage of 57 feet, Army engineers said the southeastern Missouri floodway "in all probability will not be placed in operation."

Some 9,000 persons have been evacuated from the floodway. About 3,000 did not leave their homes, but will be evacuated if it is necessary to open the front-line levee and flood the 212-square mile spillway.

The principal reason for opening the floodway would be to ease the flood pressure at Cairo, a community of 15,000, and other cities along the Mississippi.

Saturday has been set as the deadline for casting ballots for eight new directors who will take office in the Greenville Chamber of Commerce Feb. 1.

To Keep Vaughan

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — President Truman declared today he will keep Major General Harry H. Vaughan on the job as his Army aide despite a senator's demand that he be fired or taken out of uniform.

Reporters brought up the question of Vaughan's future at a news conference. A congressional committee report yesterday rebuked the military aide, whose name was linked with the Senate's "Five Per Center" investigation.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) again had urged the President to remove Vaughan.

Dairy Confirms Farmville Deal

Will Take Over Pecan Grove Retail Routes January 21

Officials of the Carolina Dairy Products Inc. of Greenville late yesterday confirmed a previous announcement that the dairy would take over the retail delivery routes now operated by the Pecan Grove Dairy of Farmville.

Ercell S. Webb, spokesman for the Carolina Dairy, said the Greenville concern would begin its deliveries in Farmville on January 21. The negotiations whereby the Pecan Grove retail delivery routes were transferred to the Carolina Dairy were officially closed Tuesday, Webb said, and under the terms of the agreement the Carolina Dairy will purchase all the raw milk which is produced by the Pecan Grove Dairy.

The agreement, Webb said, will make available to the local dairy another source of raw milk within the county, as well as give an outlet for the raw milk produced by the Pecan Grove herd.

The spokesman for the Greenville concern said retail deliveries will be made in Farmville six days a week, and will offer to consumers a complete line of pasteurized and homogenized milk and other dairy products.

The Pecan Grove Dairy of Farmville is owned by the estate of the late John T. Thorne, but has been operated by the Peoples Bank and Trust Company of Rocky Mount, trustee of the estate.

Webb in his announcement yesterday said the Carolina Dairy was approached by the bank representatives about 10 days ago and asked if it was interested in submitting a bid on the retail routes of the Pecan Grove Dairy.

The present routes of the Pecan Grove Dairy are distributing approximately 280 quarts of milk daily in Farmville, Webb said.

New Season Low On Burley Mart

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 19 — (AP) — The majority of markets showed declines as burley tobacco prices in Kentucky yesterday skidded to a new season's low.

The State Marketing Division reported an overall average of $42.21 a hundredweight for 19 sales centers. This was 46 cents below the previous day.

Railroad Loses Its Damage Suit

Approximately $3, 000 Claim Against Bethel Corp.

In the civil term of Superior Court which ended yesterday afternoon, the Atlantic Coastline Railroad lost its suit against the Thomas Canal Incorporated of the Bethel community, a suit involving payment of approximately $3,000.

The railroad was suing the corporation for alleged damage to its roadbed west of Bethel in that the corporation allowed an overflowed drainage ditch to undermine and wash away culverts under the tracks.

In what Defense Attorney Sam Underwood described as an "unprecedented case in legal history" in this area, the railroad attorneys attempted to prove to the jury and Judge Walter Bone that the corporation, a group of farmers, had negligently caused a flood in the canal from the waters of Conetoe Creek while they were deepening and widening the ditch for drainage purposes.

Underwood qualified the "unprecedented case" remark by saying that the reverse is usually the rule—the farmers suing the railroad for

Truman Undecided As To Naming Envoy To Vatican

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — The sudden resignation of Myron Taylor as special U.S. ambassador to the Vatican posed this thorny question today for President Truman: Should he name a successor to the post?

The announcement late yesterday that Taylor is quitting after 10 years as the President's representative to the papal state brought to a fresh boil a controversy that has been hot before.

Taylor, an Episcopalian, had held the job since it was created. During most of those ten years, there has been strong Protestant pressure to call him home. Only Tuesday a group of 15 Protestant clergymen called on the President to abolish the "alleged legation at the Vatican."

But such a decision probably would result in equally vigorous dissent from American Catholics.

In Congress, there was some sentiment—especially among Catholics—for naming a successor to Taylor. Most lawmakers backed away from the question.

Mr. Truman himself offered no indication of his plans. He accepted Taylor's resignation with "deep regret" and high praise for the job done by the 76-year-old businessman.

Diplomatic officials said that in deciding whether to name a new presidential envoy to the seat of the Catholic Church, Mr. Truman must weigh among other things the intelligence value such an outpost has for the State Department in the cold war.

The Vatican with its close ties throughout the world has been a source of useful information for the United States.

President Says Denham 'On His Own' In Action

Truman Still Feels Coal Situation Does Not Require His Intervention

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — President Truman said today that Robert Denham acted on his own in seeking a court order to stop the short work week and on-again-off-again strikes in coal mining.

Asked at a news conference whether the NLRB counsel acted with his blessing, Mr. Truman said that Denham worked for the National Labor Relations Board and that it was not his business to bless or un-bless him.

Mr. Truman added that Denham had consulted the White House before proceeding. Denham said yesterday that he had kept the White House informed.

The President told the reporters that he still feels there is as yet no national emergency warranting his intervention in the coal situation.

Some Congress members have been insisting that Mr. Truman ought to go ahead and act without regard to the court proceedings brought by Denham.

They said Denham's move promised no immediate relief from a growing coal shortage.

Federal Judge Richmond B. Keck has set Denham's injunction plea for a hearing on Jan. 26.

Meantime, with his miners free to work or strike next week, Lewis kept his plans to himself.

About 30,000 miners in seven states played away from the pits entirely this week, refusing to work even the three days Lewis has ordered for the industry as a whole.

This was the third straight week in which key groups of miners have quit work completely.

Lewis has mildly suggested that the completely idle coal miners return to their jobs, a "suggestion" many ignored. This may become the basis for a Lewis argument against the Denham court plea; that he had already asked the miners to return to work, but they didn't as a protest against lack of a work contract.

Some lawmakers, including Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who have been urging President Truman to act under the Taft-Hartley law to halt the three-day week because of lack of coal, expressed doubt that Denham can do the same thing under another section of the labor law.

Taft said he doesn't think Congress intended to give anyone except the President the power to force men to go back to work without a contract. He said Denham might get an injunction to require Lewis to bargain with coal operators in good faith and stop demanding what they call illegal contract terms.

"But I can't see that that would be an effective means of getting full production of coal," Taft said.

Denfeld Applies
For Retirement

Boston, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Admiral Louis A. Denfeld announced today he had submitted a request for retirement after more than 40 years of naval service.

Admiral Denfeld had been removed as chief of naval operations after stormy hearings in Washington on unification of the armed services.

He said he had asked that his retirement become effective March 1.

U. S. Believed Going Ahead With Hydrogen Bomb Study

Continued Leaf Export Funds Urged For ECA

J. S. Ficklen Heads Tobacco Associates Resolution Committee In Preparation Of Recommendations To Congress

From The Reflector's Washington Bureau

Washington, Jan. 19 — Tobacco Associates, Inc., meeting in Washington yesterday, called for continued high-level of funds to keep the exports of flue-cured tobacco on an even keel.

J. S. Ficklen of Greenville, tobacco dealer and exporter, headed the resolution committee of the organization board of directors. The main resolution passed yesterday is to be sent to Congress requesting continued funds for ECA at about the same level as last year.

Other Greenville men attending the meeting, held at the Willard hotel, were J. C. Lanier, general secretary of the Association, M. O. Blount, Jr., and J. E. Winslow, president emeritus of the State farm bureau. These four, meeting with other eastern Carolina men at the board of directors meeting, pressed the need for high quality cigarette tobacco for both export and domestic markets.

Winslow said the best advice he could give to farmers of this section is to "increase the production of bright, thin-leaf cigarette tobacco." He said he believed this would be the most profitable kind, since there is already a large surplus of lower grade tobacco now held in the stabilization program.

Winslow said he had reason to believe the export of flue-cured tobacco would stay the same or increase slightly during the next two years. He emphasized ECA spending would play a large part in the flue-cured tobacco market abroad.

The board meeting yesterday heard factual reports from agriculture department and ECA export specialists.

After the session with the government men, the resolution committee, under Ficklen, met to pass the resolution calling for a continued high-level of ECA funds appropriations.

After luncheon, the group held a general business meeting. Later the entire board of directors met to give their support to the resolution committee's request to Congress.

J. Henry Vaughn of Elm City, chairman of the board, agreed with Winslow that higher-priced tobacco are in the greatest demand. Ficklen made no comment on the five-point program laid out by the committee but said that the resolutions "speak for themselves."

The five points to be recommended to Congress through congressmen of the tobacco producing states are:

1. Simplification and liberalization of custom regulations.

2. Approval of the international trade organizations charter.

3. Approval and expansion of the program for technical assistance and investment of private capital abroad.

4. Expansion of the program of stockpiling critical and strategic raw materials available in foreign countries and needed in the U. S. for national security and for conservation of our natural resources.

5. Intensification of administration efforts to bring about lowering of tariffs and removal of other trade barriers through the use of reciprocal trade agreements and other appropriate measures.

Fight Closing ACL Station At Stokes

Pitt Businessmen Appear Before State Utilities Commission; Assert Freight Business Is Increasing

Pitt County residents appeared before the State Utilities Commission in Raleigh yesterday to oppose the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad's request for permission to close the Stokes railroad station.

Coast Line officials testified that their road could not afford to continue operating the station. Spokesmen for the group told the Utilities Commission that the amount of business transported through Stokes indicated that the public would not be affected by the reduction in service.

W. F. Stokes and Gordon Clark, businessmen from Stokes, told the group at the hearing that while the railroad stated that it did around $6,000 worth of business last year they had proof that the local station transacted around $8,000 of freight business in 1949.

Stokes said this morning that over 90 carloads of freight came into the local terminal during the past year and that the business had shown an increase in business of nearly $1,500 over the past years.

"Only today five fully loaded cars arrived in Stokes. Filled with freight for this section," Stokes commented.

"I do not think that the state commission will close the station as we have shown them that the station is not losing business," Stokes said.

"We expect to have a ruling on this by the middle of next week," Stokes added that in addition to the freight moved last year, 30 cars arrived during the month of December alone.

Stokes said either the President or Secretary of State Acheson make a major speech in the United Nations appealing for Russian cooperation and warning of the dangers of continuing an unrestricted armaments race in increasingly destructive weapons.

Some of the President's advisers from the Atomic Energy Commission side of the discussions have reportedly urged Mr. Truman to make another try for agreement with the Russians before giving a go-ahead signal on super bomb production.

This does not appear to be the State Department's idea. State Department leaders apparently assume that if the arms race continues unrestrained the United States will have no choice but to make the most powerful weapons it can.

RAYMOND D. HAIR
On Last Leg Of
Return To N. C.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 19 — (AP) — Raymond D. Hair was on the last lap today of the long road back to face trial for murder.

FBI chief Walter Anderson said yesterday he expected SBI agent James W. Powell and Hair might reach here late today or possibly Friday.

The two were in Chicago yesterday, Anderson said, on their way from Los Angeles, where Hair was arrested last week.

Meanwhile, Solicitor William Y. Bickett said he had received a statement signed by Hair that the youth had, to Los Angeles police, officers of the West Coast city ended a 28-day search for the 24-year-old Wake Forest College senior when they took him in custody last week.

The President told his news conference that he had information earlier in the day from Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the House rules committee.

He said he called Sabath to the White House this morning for a conference and the chairman assured him he had the votes vote to defeat the resolution for repeal of the so-called 31-day rule.

Of course, Mr. Truman said, he is against changing the rule for dislodging bottled-up bills from the rules committee. He called it a backward step.

Applaud Truman
Formosa Policy

Philadelphia, Jan. 19 — (AP) — A hands off policy in China's civil war has been urged by the executive board of the American Friends Service Committee.

The Friends wrote yesterday to President Truman commending him for his decision to provide no further aid to the Nationalist forces in Formosa.

Reports of its own workers in China was the basis for its views, the Quaker organization said.

Some Top Officials In Administration Believe H-Bomb Will Eventually Go Into Production; President Presumably Will Make Final Decision

Washington, Jan. 19 — (AP) — The government was understood today to be going ahead on experimental work preliminary to production of a super atomic hydrogen bomb.

At least some top officials in the Truman Administration believe that the bomb will eventually go into production. President Truman himself will presumably make the final decision, one way or the other.

The government's present policy on the hydrogen bomb, estimated up to 1,000 times as powerful as uranium bombs now being made, calls for the assembling of all possible facts. On the basis of these facts the final decision probably will be made in a few weeks.

Gen. Omar Bradley, head of the joint chiefs of staff, will discuss H-bomb problems from the military point of view in a private session of the Senate-House Atomic Committee tomorrow.

The viewpoint of a scientist was expressed yesterday by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, one of the developers of plutonium, an ingredient of the A-bomb. Compton said in a Los Angeles news conference that atomic scientists voted 2 to 1 in favor of locating the atomic bomb against Japan, but that the American public generally should have a voice on whether to develop a hydrogen bomb.

The State Department and other Administration agencies are engaged in an intensive review of the government's policies on international control of atomic energy.

One of the key questions in this study is whether the existing creation of a terrific atomic bomb provides the take-off point for a new approach to international control.

Such an approach—if it comes—certainly will take one of two forms:

1. Putting out secret feelers to see whether the Russians have any serious desire at this time to try to break the four-year-old deadlock on this issue in the United Nations.

2. Sending a special envoy from President Truman to Prime Minister Stalin or instructing the American ambassador in Moscow to go directly to Stalin. Mr. Truman considered the special envoy technique in the pre-election days of 1948; he thought then of sending Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow on a sort of "peace" mission. The State Department objected at that time on the ground that such an action would harm relations with Britain and France, with which this government was then forming a solid front in the cold war.

Having either the President or Secretary of State Acheson make a major speech in the United Nations appealing for Russian cooperation and warning of the dangers of continuing an unrestricted armaments race in increasingly destructive weapons.

Some of the President's advisers from the Atomic Energy Commission side of the discussions have reportedly urged Mr. Truman to make another try for agreement with the Russians before giving a go-ahead signal on super bomb production.

This does not appear to be the State Department's idea. State Department leaders apparently assume that if the arms race continues unrestrained the United States will have no choice but to make the most powerful weapons it can.

Dr. Turner To Discuss John Donne's Poetry

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club will meet Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 4 p.m. at the Woman's Club building. Mrs. W. C. Harris, the program chairman, announces that Dr. L. L. Turner of the MCTC English department will talk on "John Donne and His Poetry." Her choice of subject was dictated by the amazing influence John Donne has had on today's poets. Living in Milton's time, not so great as Milton, but having a much wider appeal, he has been rediscovered, as it were, after a long period of neglect, and become widely read and appreciated for his kinship with modern thinking as well as for the beauty and simplicity of his poems.

Many expressions which have crept into our every day speech, ("One World" and "For Whom the Bell Tolls" are examples) are from John Donne.

Mrs. Dorothy Perkins Addresses A.A.U.W.

The A. A. U. W. held its January meeting in the home of Mrs. W. E. Marshall with the president, Miss Nell Stallings, in the chair. The business session included the treasurer's report, a gratifying membership report, a discussion of the value of national reports and a report from the fellowship committee.

The latter chaired by Miss Margaretie Austin, announced that the second annual canasta, bridge, and games tournament will be held February 20. No other February meeting will be held. Mrs. Hios invited the group to her home for the March meeting when Mrs. Bettie Unterberger will give a talk on "Our Relations with Russia."

Petitions, prepared by the Jaycees, urging congressional action to implement the findings of the Hoover Commission were distributed.

The president then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Dorothy Perkins of E. C. T. C. Mrs. Perkins spoke on "The Exceptional Child," including in that category, the deaf, the blind, the crippled, the spastic, the cleft-palated, the child with defective speech, the hard of hearing, those with defective eyesight, the mentally defective and the overly bright child, a total of 85,000 such children in North Carolina, only 20,000 of whom are now receiving the special care and guidance they need. These 20,000 are the deaf and the blind who have been cared for in North Carolina for over a hundred years.

Mrs. Perkins illustrated the need these children have for help in adjusting to normal life. Many can be easily helped, especially when quite young, but teachers and parents often mistake the result of their physical differences from the normal child for stupidity or laziness, which, in turn, leads to behavior problems.

Since speech is Mrs. Perkins' field

Mrs. H. S. Ragdale, club president, presided and welcomed members and the four guests for the afternoon who were Mesdames J. B. Spilman, W. J. Bundy, D. M. Clark and Jean Matheson of Greensboro.

After dispensing with routine business, Mrs. J. B. Spilman was presented to the club and charmed her listeners as she told them of her recent European trip which took her into the five most interesting countries. She chose to stress the cultural and literary aspects of her trip transporting club members to the scenes of a Dante, Raphael and Michelangelo and thence to Shakespeare's Stratford-on-Avon, recalling to memory the grandeur and the pathos of Elizabethan England and the beauty and quietness of the English countryside as shown in Gray's "Elegy." This glimpse of historical and cultural Europe was a refreshing relief from the account of the war torn area, the political and economic distress so prevalent in our news casts today.

The hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Glenn Hamric and her sister, Mrs. S. T. White, served a delicious salad plate followed by chocolate cake and coffee.

The club adjourned to meet again January 31.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Lucille McGowan, soloist, sang.

Library News

The beginning of a new year brings to the majority of people a conflict of emotions—the expectation of a new and better year and the seriousness of taking stock of the old. 1950 brings more than usual of the latter due to the fact that it marks the end of the first half of the 20th century, or rather to part of the majority of the magazine and newspaper editors. Some historians insist that the milestone will not be reached until the end of 1950. Our newspapers and magazines have given us some very interesting accounts of the progress in various fields during the first fifty years of the 20th century.

From the standpoint of literature it is interesting to think back over the past half-century but a summary of the literature of the period is a task that none but the brave would attempt. The January 18th issue of the New York Times Book Review contains an interesting article on the literature of the period written by Lewis Mumford and very appropriately entitled "Mirror of a Violent Half Century."

Many Newsmen Expected To 'Cover' Raleigh Meet

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Jan. 18—(AP)—Advance information is that in addition to the vice president, several cabinet members and leaders from a dozen southern states, there will be a flock of big time newspaper and radio reporters in Raleigh for the regional Democratic party conference on January 28.

Similar conferences on the west coast and in the middle west attracted some of these big name reporters. The Raleigh conference has more potential news value. Staged on the edge of the outspoken States Rights area, and National Committeeman Jonathan Daniels having made a point of refusing to invite the governors of South Carolina and Mississippi—on theory they are no longer members of the Democratic party since they ran as candidates for president and vice-president on a States Rights ticket in 1948—the Raleigh meeting has more explosive elements than any of the other regional conferences.

In fact, the January 28 conference is expected to bring about as many nationally famed correspondents as did President Truman's visit some sixteen months ago. What to do with these out-of-state newspaper-radio folks is an auxiliary complication of what to do with the out-of-state big-shot politicians here, when the North Carolina Jackson-Jefferson dinner is held that night.

Vice-President Alben Barkley is to speak at the state dinner. That was arranged before Committeeman Daniels cooked up the idea of the regional conference. Of course the visiting dignitaries from other states will want to hear the Veep speak. Equally of course the visiting newspaper men are entitled to hear him. And further of course North Carolinians have right to feel they should be given priority at their own state dinner. So the picture is beginning to develop.

There will be—at least sponsors of the affair hope and expect there will be—fifty or more Democratic leaders here for the regional conference. Indications now are there will be a minimum of fifteen and a maximum of thirty out-of-state newspaper-radio folks. The Raleigh contingent of state press-radio reporters numbers about thirty, and that doesn't count some other state newspaper-radio men who have as much right to be present as the big shots from Washington at a North Carolina dinner. That all adds up to around a hundred "free" dinner tickets, which is approximately 16% of available dinner seats.

It is possible that North Carolinians may not have enough interest in the affair to claim all the tickets allotted them. The way counties are reporting that they have met full quotas doesn't justify any such prediction. To the contrary, evidence is more North Carolinians will want places than there are seats available.

Meanwhile, several state people have been asked to serve as hosts to the out-of-staters, which means they will have little if any opportunity to mingle with their fellow Tar Heels. Governor Scott said Wednesday he expected to be tied up most of the day with the regional conference. That will crimp the plans of some of his supporters in the state who had looked forward to chatting with him when they came to what they had been sold tickets for—a state party dinner—at fifty bucks apiece. The state atmosphere has been fogged.

A lot of North Carolinians do not understand what is going on, but many of them have said they do not like it. Others who think they know what is going on like it even less.

If the regional conference is successful in its evident purpose of assuring that the southeast is all for the Truman program, Mr. Jonathan Daniels will be a very big man. If it fails in that purpose—he's still got a job as national committeeman until the national convention in 1952.

To File Request For Fire Survey

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 18—(AP)—A request for a fire-hazard survey of all state mental hospital buildings will be filed in a few days with the state insurance department.

Announcement of the forthcoming request was made yesterday by Roy Purser, business manager for the state hospital board of control.

Purser declared that "we are making a determined effort to carry out all recommendations that they (the insurance department) already have made, and in addition we plan to ask them to make a re-check."

He also disclosed an insurance department inspection report on the Royster Building, used as a hospital at the State Hospital here.

Although the report said the structure is in good condition it pointed out the stairs are so arranged that patients on second-floor wards at either end of the building would have no means of escape in case of fire. The report added that doorways into the two wards should be of fire-resistant material and that fire escapes should be erected that will allow evacuation of patients while in their beds.

Neighbor Russia Is Nothing New To Bulgarians

Sofia—(AP)—The Russian influence is nothing new in Bulgaria. Anybody who walks six blocks through the center of Sofia has that brought home to him by the names of landmarks along the way. The pedestrian can start at the blocklike white limestone mausoleum of Georgi Dimitrov, who came home from Moscow after 22 years in exile to become Communist premier of post-war Bulgaria.

The way leads along a boulevard named for Alexander II of Russia. He warred on the Turks for Bulgaria's freedom. Four blocks down stands St. Alexander Nevsky Bulgarian Orthodox cathedral, named for a thirteenth-century Russian warrior. Ahead is a statue of Alexander on horseback. Beyond that is Marshal Tolbukhin street, honoring the Russian leader whose troops were on Bulgarian soil at the time of the 1944 revolt.

Strength FOR THE DAY

REMEMBER THE VULTURES
There is an ancient fable which tells how a lion and a goat came one day to a spring to drink and got to wrangling over which should drink first. They squared off, determined to fight it out. But suddenly they heard a noise above them, and turning their eyes up they beheld the vultures circling about. At that they decided to settle their differences amicably. They had no desire to contribute to the support and surfeit of vultures.

The United Nations is an organization well aware of all the circumstances involved in this fable. The members know all about the water hole and the desire of one creature to drink before another and the presence of vultures in the air. In fact the U.N. was organized to forestall any future feuds. This ancient fable applies not only to nations but to individuals. The next time you get ready to assert your rights, stand up for one of your pet theories which you call "moral principle," or square off with your neighbor, just lift up your eyes and behold the vultures. They are right above you — and

There are plenty of things in life worth fighting for, but personal avarice, jealousy, and the rejection of our petty schemes are not on such a list. When you fight, fight for a principle. If you follow this policy, you will fight seldom.

Around Capitol Square

CONFERRING — There is just enough secretiveness about some recent conferences in Raleigh to make them intriguing. A group of a dozen or so mountaineers from counties far west of Asheville were here Monday and several stayed over Tuesday. Asked what brought them to Raleigh, Senator W. H. Crawford of Jackson County, said they were just keeping in touch with things. He added that the people in his area are intensely interested in the Scott program, especially with respect to roads. Others in the group included Dennis Massey, representative from Graham county, and Lenoir Gwyn, a Scott leader in Haywood.

PLANNING — Then there was a conference at the executive mansion Monday night attended by several stalwart supporters of Governor Scott last year and in the general assembly. Roster of attendants is not at hand, but it is learned on good authority that the conference was called at instance of J. Edgar Long, who was the governor's legislative counsel during the 1940 general assembly. Gossip around the square Tuesday was that the conference was to map strategy in connection with electing members of the 1951 legislature and for organization of that body into a cooperative working unit for the Go Forward Program.

COTTON — North Carolina cotton production in 1948 was 678,000 bales of 500 pounds each, harvested from 790,000 acres, an average of 444 pounds of lint cotton per acre. That was 34 percent above the 1947 average when 452,000 bales were taken from 654,000 acres. The report just released by the state-federal crop reporting service shows that cotton was grown in seventy-nine counties, eight of which listed yields in excess of 500 pounds per acre, and fifteen had yields of less than 400 pounds. Banners for production go to Cleveland with 70,000 bales and to Wilson highest acreage yield—557 pounds per acre.

ESTIMATORS — The men chiefly responsible for collecting and distributing state revenue have been for some weeks indulging in a guessing game. The question is not where is the button, but where is that some nine to twenty million dollars corporate income tax. D. S. Coltrane, assistant director of the budget, recalling that budgetary estimates a year ago forecast a drop of nine millions in corporate income revenue, thinks this might be a little low. He suggests now about 30 percent commission. Eugene Shaw told the budget folks this week his estimates are the drop will be substantially more than 30 percent and more than nine millions. Just about one month from now the facts will be in hand, for by that time the income tax reports due March 15 will have been filed and processed. Meantime, the council of state has authorized borrowing up to ten million dollars to tide over until the income revenue is available, and five million of that has been borrowed and used. There isn't much prospect now that more than the other five will be required to cover overdrafts before March 15. So, the only reason for the current guessing game is for the officials to prove—or disprove—their ability as fiscal experts.

SALES TAX—Meanwhile, the revenue department is making a special drive to collect delinquent in the three percent sales tax. These new rules are designed to protect the state from alleged abuses in applying the maximum sales tax charge of 15¢ by cumulative figuring of unit sales. In other words, the base factory price of an automobile will hereafter be counted one "sale" on which the maximum 15¢ will apply; radio and extra equipment will be figured as separate "sales" items. Each plate at a banquet of restaurant will be figured as a "sale" instead of the present practice of lumping the whole dinner check for tax calculations.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York. (AP)—Once upon a time there was a henpecked husband. Nothing he could do was right. His ear drums had callouses from listening to his wife's friendly criticism, and his shins were bruised from being kicked—she was an active woman.

One night after his wife went to bed, the poor man sat in the living room brooding over his lot. Suddenly he heard a tiny cry: "Help! help! save me!"

He rushed over a corner and found a thumb-high elf being dragged into a hole by an angry mouse. Startled, the mouse dropped its prey and fled into the hole.

"Thank you, mortal, for saving me from that rat," said the elf, brushing himself off. "According to custom, I will now grant you any wish you want—but please don't ask me to give you the winner of the Kentucky Derby. I can't do a thing with horses."

"Oh, you can't do anything for me," said the man, despondently. "I am just a poor, miserable, henpecked husband."

"Well," said the elf, "would it

Somebody Told Me . . .

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Naturally I jump at every opportunity to interview a celebrity. Last night it was Tex Beneke, the nationally known orchestra leader, who appeared with his band at the college for a concert and dance. It was the fourth in the series of five entertainments on the college schedule.

Anyone who's interested in popular music knows that one of the most popular bands of all times was Glen Miller's. When Glen was killed his number one man, Tex Beneke, took over and kept the band going. Now there are only three of the original outfit left: Tex, the lead trombonist, and one of the Moonlight Serenaders. Tex has kept many of the original Miller arrangements that the public still loves. Examples: "Moonlight Serenade," "Chattanooga Choo Choo," "Tuxedo Junction," and "In the Mood."

Last January Tex dropped the string section, which Glen always carried. "Too many people to have on the road," he says.

Wife Rachel and I heard Tex twice while we were living in Chapel Hill. At UNC the concerts are in the afternoon, two hours long. Students pack Memorial auditorium, smoke like mad, and tear the house down after every number in appreciation. The applause and cheering is so intense that Tommy Dorsey once put his foot down. After one of the demonstrations Tommy lectured to the crowd, "Listen here," he said, "we came down here to entertain you, not to be entertained by you. From there he went on to tell the crowd of in no uncertain terms. Remembering this, I asked Tex how he likes the Chapel Hill concerts. "Love 'em," he said. "The more appreciation the crowd shows, the better we like it. The band plays better if the crowd shows appreciation." W.R. and I see it the way Tex does, which puts T. Dorsey in the dog house.

Tex says he doesn't understand the Chapel Hill dances. After tearing the house down at the concerts, he says, the crowd completely freezes up at the dances. They seem too stiff, he says, and eventually the band decides that on. "Make yourself a little nest while I was gone, dear?" He said pleasantly. "Cluck-cluck-cluck," she sniffed. About then the little elf appeared.

"Has she laid an egg yet?" asked the pucking spirt. The husband looked startled. He hadn't thought of that possibility.

"I am tired of this whole business," he said. "I can't stand to see my wife this way. Why, she doesn't even have feathers. I wanted you to turn her into a real hen—but a bantam-size hen."

"Look, I'm no Houdini—I'm just a little elf," said the elf. "I'm only in the second grade in magic school. It might take me a whole year to turn her into a real hen."

"Well, can you make her like she was again?" asked the husband nervously.

"You mortals—never satisfied," grumbled the elf. "Well, I'll do my best."

Tex waved his wand grandly and cried: "Razmo, Gazo, turn back into a lady hen."

Released from her spell, the wife leaped up, grabbed a candlestick and rushed back, shouting: "I'll fix you too, you—"

Well, the elf ran into the mouse-hole to get away—but the mouse was in there too. There was a tiny scream and nothing more was ever heard of the elf.

Nothing much was heard from the husband after that either. His wife saw to it that he kept his mouth shut.

"Married?" I asked Tex. "Yep," he said, "been married for 13 years."

"To the same woman?" I asked. "Yep."

"That's unusual," I commented, "for a celebrity."

Tex said that his wife travels with him on tour. Five other members of the band drive with their families, while the single personnel travel by bus.

About radio work Tex said, "The most you can get is three shows a week, and the rest of the time you have to be on the road to support a band the size of ours."

About playing in a Broadway theatre, Tex said, "The worst of all. The same thing over and over all day eventually runs you nuts. Too much monotony." The best deal, Tex said, is an engagement in a top-rate New York hotel. "But business is so bad," he said, "they aren't supporting bands with a payroll as big as ours." The answer to all of this: hit the road and take in the cash customers.

Interviewing Tex was a cinch. Off stage he's just as he appears on stage: informal, natural, completely unaffected.

And I thank Tex.

Washington—The Army is going to make another try on feeding dried food to GIs. This time, nutritionists say, the boys won't know the difference. Dried foods were dropped from the servicemen's diet a few years ago. No one liked them. One complaint was that Army cooks knew little about their preparation.

But drying processes have been improved—and the Army Quartermaster Corps points out that in times of emergency it will have to revert to dried foods. Fresh foods can be purchased when they are plentiful, processed quickly and stored, thus building up a great food reservoir. Dehydrated foods keep a long time, save storage and shipping space. They are easy to handle because of their light weight. A potato, for instance, reduces down to about 17 per cent of its weight.

Potatoes are highly perishable and virtually impossible to ship overseas. Dehydrated white potatoes are much superior, nutritionists say, to what they were when served up during war years. They are pre-cooked at the time of dehydration and can be "reconstituted," ready for eating in 20 minutes simply by adding hot water or milk. There's no heating, no cooking and they taste just like fresh mashed potatoes.

Improvements also have been made in dehydrating eggs. It has been found that by acidifying they will keep their flavor and texture much better and their storage life will be longer. Nutritionists say many foods can be dehydrated so that they will be as acceptable as the fresh products. Some people are saying it might even be possible to dehydrate a watermelon. That's about the wateriest thing there is.

While dried foods will not be a part of the master menus at posts and centers, they will be served up now and then to servicemen and women all over the world. The boys and girls won't be forced to eat the stuff, but they probably will since as I mentioned before, the experts say they "won't know the difference."

The program calls for serving dried potatoes, eggs, apples and onions once a month every month from now until 1951. A dish of dried cranberries will be served once in January, February, March, September and October.

Dried bean soup will be served this month but won't be tried again until next November. Dried chicken noodle and dried pea soup will be used as sparingly. Dried cabbage will make its appearance four times during the experimental period, as well as dried carrots, but not during the same months. Dried beans will be served three times during the year.

$32 Million Newsprint Plant In South Is Answer To Old Dream

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 19—(AP)—A $32,000,000 plant—once only a dream of Southern newspaper publishers—today is providing the first new domestic source of newsprint in more than a decade.

The Coosa River Newsprint Company's huge plant went into production yesterday, three months ahead of schedule. It is designed to turn out 300 tons daily, or more than 100,000 tons a year, at peak production.

Stock in the company is held by 128 newspapers throughout the nation, and 119 newspapers have contracts for purchase of its products.

The plant was designed, built and will be operated by the Kimberly-Clark Corp., of Neenah, Wis. It is located on 710 acres which were once part of the huge Childersburg Ordnance Works during World War II.

The company has a 40-year lease on an $8,000,000 power plant at the ordnance works, and also has a lease on the water filter plant used in powder-making operations.

The plant, about 40 miles southeast of Birmingham, will employ around 750 fulltime workers, together with another 1,500 part-time and seasonal workers in woods operations. Pine will be used from the river valleys in the area.

A. G. Wakeman is executive vice president and general manager of the company. Donald Corner of Birmingham is chairman of the board of directors, and Edward L. Norton of Birmingham is president.

About 4,400,000 tons of newsprint were used in the United States in 1949. Of this about 87 per cent came from Canada. Thus, at peak production, the Coosa plant would turn out about 2 per cent of U.S. requirements.

U.S. mills produced 880,000 tons of newsprint during 1949. This would make the new plant's peak output about 11 per cent of all production in the United States.

Plan Ship Snow To Ski Meeting

AP Newsfeatures

London — Energetic Norwegians here are talking of building a whopping ski jump in London—with imported snow. They want to ship the stuff 600 miles from Norway and put on free exhibitions for Britons.

The staid London county council approves. Now all the Norwegians need is 4,000 pounds ($11,200) to finance the venture. They're trying to raise it in Oslo.

Peter Prag of the Norway Travel Association says he is promoting the idea for the Oslo Ski Association.

The Norwegians could use plain English snow but Prag says it's usually mushy and there's no guarantee there will be any in March when the exhibition is planned on windswept Hampstead Heath. The jumping would last three days.

Prag says the snow would be treated with a chemical spray that slows melting.

Sees Big Market For Dried Milk; Heavy Demand

DAVIS, Calif.—(AP)—There's a big world market for dried American milk if it tastes right, a dairy executive says. England, France, Italy, Greece and Poland are all short of milk.

G. D. Turnbow, president of an Oakland dairy company, told a recent meeting at the College of Agriculture here.

But, he pointed out, if these countries are to buy American dried milk it has to taste right, and they have to be able to earn enough to pay for it. And there's the political angle.

"If we don't help get food to the underfed people of the world, democracy isn't going to live. Communism thrives on starvation," Turnbow said.

Hydrogen is lighter than helium. In 1939, teabags accounted for less than 10 per cent of the total tonnage of tea sold. Today sales of tea in the U. S. divide almost 50-50 between teabags and loose packed tea.

This Hen Came Before The Egg

Strange things still happen in Paris, and here's one of the latest. The fellow leaning over the hen is Scarah Bey, a fakir who claims he can make hens lay by hypnotism. It was difficult to tell whether the hen, lying on its back on a table, was agreeable or just abashed—but no breakfast fruit had appeared when the picture was taken. (AP Wire-photo.)

9,000 Chickens Under One Roof

AMBOY, Ill.—(AP)—John Kileman has figured a way to raise 9,000 chickens under one roof.

He constructed an improved version of the circular "hen house." His 150-foot diameter building is pie-cut into eight sections, each containing ultra-modern watering, feeding and nesting equipment. The floor slopes to the center drain for easy cleaning.

A 16-foot center circle serves as a work area. A feed carrier mounted on a circle monorail suspended from the ceiling enables one man to tend the flock.

U. S. Fire Loss At $667 Millions

New York, Jan. 19—(AP)—Fire losses to property in the United States in 1949 were estimated at $667,536,000 today by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

This was 6.1 per cent under the all-time record of $711,114,000 set in 1948 and represented the first drop in annual fire losses since 1942.

W. B. Mallalieu, general manager of the national board, warned, however, "The annual fire loss remains at a very high level. The 1949 total was more than double the 1942 total."

"Every American can help reduce this waste of the nation's resources by being careful with cigarettes and matches, which together cause a third of our fires, and by following the simple safety precautions which would make home fires a rarity," he said.

The board estimated fire destruction in December at $67,279,000, an increase of 26.7 per cent over November losses. This was the highest monthly loss of the year.

Smuggling Given Court's Approval

BERLIN—(AP)—A German court has ruled that men who smuggled food into west Berlin during the Russian blockade are innocent of any law breaking. The case involved two butchers who were sneaking meat through the Russian blockade.

But the butchers were fined $10 for failing to put their meat at public disposal—at rationed prices. The men sold their meat to the black market.

Marriages Drop Slightly In '49

New York, N.Y.—About 1,580,000 couples embarked upon matrimony in the United States in 1949, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

This is a decline of one eighth from 1948 and nearly one third less than the all-time peak of 2,291,000 marriages in 1946. The decrease reflects in large part the extent to which the number of unmarried men in the population has been reduced by the phenomenal boom in marriages during the immediate post-war years.

The down trend in marriages from 1948 to 1949 was nationwide, somewhat more pronounced in the major cities than in the smaller communities, and most marked in the northern tier of states from the Atlantic to the Midwest, where the decline was 14 percent. In the South and the West the decrease was about 11 percent.

In the popular divorce and marriage centers of Reno and Las Vegas the drop in marriages was 12 and 15 percent, respectively. New York City recorded a decline of one seventh and Los Angeles a decline of one tenth. Reductions within this range were registered in Chicago, Detroit, and Philadelphia.

"Despite recent declines, the yearly number of marriages is still above the prewar level, and the marriage rate is higher than the average for the four decades from the beginning of the century to Pearl Harbor," the statisticians comment.

Polish Jews Are Still On Move; Going To Israel

TEL AVIV —(AP)—Jewish authorities directing the "ingathering of the exiles" hope 20,000 Jews will come to Israel from Poland in 1950 to find a new home. About 100,000 Jews from Poland are now believed to be here.

Polish authorities recently have tended to let the bars down on Jewish immigration to Israel. In recent weeks, several large transports of Polish Jews have arrived.

Available estimates indicate 50,000 and 60,000 Jews remain in Poland out of a pre-war population of 3,000,000. The Nazis were said to have wiped out 2,000,000. Hundreds of thousands have been scattered in various countries since the war.

Here Is Another Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers filed their suit to put A&P out of business, they have been making, in the newspapers and over the radio, various "allegations" about how they think this company does business.

Please remember that "allegations" are charges that have not been proved.

In this case they will be disproved.

There have been times in the past when the anti-trust lawyers made very damaging "allegations" about this company that the courts eventually decided were utterly without foundation.

In our last advertisement we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, two other food chains and two labor unions conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington, D. C.

And yet, when this case came to trial, it was revealed that the defendants were actually selling bread cheaper than most other stores in Washington, and that there was absolutely no evidence that they had ever engaged in any such "alleged" conspiracy.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But this was not the only time that the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

Again, and still again, they brought cases against A&P and suffered defeat.

As we have said, we think you are entitled to know about these other cases. And now, we are going to tell you about the second time the anti-trust lawyers were wrong.

The North Carolina Potato Case

In December, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Wilson, North Carolina.

They charged that A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, had conspired to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business that must rely on farmers, day after day, for the food we distribute to our customers?

In this case the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers, telling millions of farmers that we were the kind of people who would force their prices down, deprive them of a decent income, and lower their families' living standard.

These charges were false.

They made these charges despite the fact that it has always been A&P's policy to pay our farm suppliers fair market prices for all produce; to aid agriculture through better distribution of its products; to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices; and to help farmers build better markets for their products.

That is why many thousands of farmers all over the country are now coming to our support.

When the case finally came to trial, the anti-trust lawyers put on as their first witness a potato expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This expert, who was the anti-trust lawyers' own witness, testified that contrary to the anti-trust lawyers' "allegations," the defendants made every effort to help the Department of Agriculture in its efforts to aid the potato farmer in better marketing of his products and in getting a better price for his products.

When the anti-trust lawyers had put in their evidence and argued their case, Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Wyche said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So, here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P in which the Judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

That is why we say the anti-trust lawyers can be wrong and have been wrong.

That is why we say that they are wrong again, just as they were wrong in the Washington bread case and the North Carolina potato case.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

No Withholding On NSLI Check

The local Veterans Administration announced this morning that any National Service Life Insurance dividend check currently being sent out to individual veterans cannot be withheld from them as security for indebtedness due an individual or firm.

This ruling was obtained from Washington in a directive to all veterans' contact officers after noting that some veterans have requested that their checks be mailed to other persons or business establishments for payment of debts.

The directive states that no person or firm has the right to keep the check unless endorsed by the veteran after having been sent to him first.

Meanwhile, bills pending in the Congress which concern veterans include a bill in the House providing the issuance of paid-up government life insurance policies to holders or former holders of World War I insurance policies. This applies only to the five-year level-premium policy.

Another bill pending in the House concerns the cessation of World War II hostilities. The bill calls for a final end of the war emergency on July 4, 1950.

Electronic "Brain" in Mass Production

American business and industry moved faster than ever last year as new production records were set in many fields. Keeping abreast of activities on all fronts, International Business Machines Corp. was the first to establish line production of an electronic machine to speed up punched card accounting. Forty machines, known as IBM Electronic Calculating Punches, each with 1,200 tubes, are coming off the line of its Poughkeepsie, N. Y., plant monthly. The machine can compute two five-digit numbers at the rate of 79 multiplications or 65 divisions a second. Additions and subtractions are done much faster.

Denies American Her Citizenship

Washington — (AP) — Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews denied citizenship to a woman who was born in the United States. The woman, a native of Cleveland, married an Hungarian in 1925 and went to Hungary to live. She remained there through the war, although she testified she always represented herself as an American national. She asked the court to reassert her U.S. citizenship. This was denied because it was established the woman voted in a Hungarian election in 1946. Judge Matthews rejected her plea that she had to vote on pain of being jailed and losing her ration card—and that she voted anti-Communist.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The body of Edward Burda was recovered yesterday from the anthracite mine where he was trapped last Friday. Doctors said he apparently had suffocated several days ago.

Rescue workers clawing away the debris a handful at a time to prevent another rock fall found the body shortly approximately 120 feet below the surface.

Burda's body was found lying face down in a pile of coal and rocks that had been crushed to little pieces by the weight of hundreds of tons of rock tumbling into the shaft.

Plan To Present Two Operettas

Performances of two one-act operettas have been announced by the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College and have been scheduled for March 3 and 4. "Trial by Jury" by Gilbert and Sullivan and "Down in the Valley" by Kurt Weill will be given in a double program each evening with a cast of student musicians, according to Dr. R. R. Williams, director of the department.

"Dan E. Vornholt, voice professor, will serve as director and will be aided in his work by other members of the music faculty. Dr. Lucile H. Charles, director of speech and drama in the department of English, will assist in staging the productions. Rehearsals with tentative casts have already begun.

The operettas are the first productions of the kind to be given by a campus group for several years. In 1943 F. Von Flotow's "Martha" with an all-student cast was presented by the department of music with signal success.

The two operettas chosen for production at East Carolina this spring will offer a varied program. "Trial by Jury," a satirical work in the gay style characteristic of Gilbert and Sullivan, contrasts with Neill's "Down in the Valley," a tenderly dramatic work based on American folk music, composed in 1948, and first produced by the Lemonade Opera Company of New York.

Cyclotrons Have Produced New Heavy Element

Berkeley, Calif., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The University of California cyclotrons have produced another new element—this one the heaviest known.

The new substance, No 97 in the atomic scale, is the fifth to be produced by the cyclotron's atomic particle bombardments.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, 37-year old professor of chemistry at the University, said it probably would be named "Berkelium" in honor of the University City.

What the new element is like and what might be done with it were not announced.

Dr. Seaborg has been co-discoverer of four of the five new elements produced in the Berkeley cyclotrons: Plutonium, Americium, Curium and now the tentatively named Berkelium. The fifth was Neptunium.

"NO MORE RINSING FOR ME!"

says Mrs. Elizabeth Davis OF PORTSMOUTH, OHIO

"I didn't believe Tide could do it... till I tried it! But it's true! I took the clothes right out of those wonderful Tide suds and put them through the wringer and onto the line. And, they looked so bright and clean—I was proud to hang them up!"

"I took my wash out of the Tide suds—wring it out—and hung it up CLEAN! I'll never rinse again!"

says Mrs. M. Hayes OF WEENAWKEN, NEW JERSEY

"My whole family wash dried so soft and fluffy—ironed so easily—without any rinsing at all!"

says Margaret Lockwood OF INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

"Tide now makes possible an amazing new kind of washday—quick and easy, almost beyond belief. Just think of all the time and all the work I'm going to save every week... without rinsing! And think of the wear and tear it saves on my clothes! Thank you, Tide, for the biggest washday miracle of all!"

"Talk about miracles! I take my clothes out of Tide's wonder suds, wring them out, and the dirt runs right out with the washwater just as they say it does! And what a beautiful fresh, clean wash without any rinsing at all! It dries soft, fluffy, easy to iron. From now on, it's Tide—and only Tide—for me!"

TIDE cuts washday work in half! No more rinsing! Just wash... wring out... hang up!

YES, another Tide miracle has been discovered—and it's the washday news of the mid-century! With Tide in your washing machine—you can take your clothes right out of the suds... put them through the wringer and hang them on the line dazzling clean! Without rinsing! Hard to believe? Yes, but it's a fact—and women all over America are proving it today.

HERE'S WHY! Tide, with its miracle suds, gets the dirt out of your clothes and keeps it suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater... and the clothes come from the wringer white... fresh... CLEAN!

YES, CLEAN! You all know how clean Tide has always washed your clothes with rinsing. Actually cleaner than any other washing product you can buy. Now, we'd like you to try Tide without rinsing... and then compare the results. It's simply unbelievable how bright, fresh and clean you can get your wash with Tide, without rinsing. And think of the time and work you save! So try Tide... without rinsing! Pirates Lose To Catawba By 66-53

High Riding Bucs Drop To Third Place In League

Salisbury, Jan. 19.—Coach Howard Porter's ECFC Pirates were handed their second consecutive loop defeat last night as they were dominated 66 to 53 by the Catawba College Indians who were fired up to take their fifth straight win.

The high riding Buccaneers, who until last Saturday were seated at the top of the North State Conference standings, were dropped to third place in the loop statistics by last night's defeat. Their first conference licking came Saturday night when they bowed to the Lenoir-Rhyne five.

Catawba's Larry Graham, sharp-shooting forward, paced the Indians to their victory over East Carolina last night as he personally accounted for 23 points for the second evening in a row. He racked up 23 points Tuesday evening in Catawba's victory over Presbyterian.

On Saturday night the Bucs will seek their basketball fortunes closer home as they encounter the Atlantic Christian Bulldogs on the AC court in Wilson. In addition to the conference standings, the coveted Bohunk Bucket will be at stake in Saturday's encounter. The trophy, which is a symbol of the long-standing rivalry between the two schools, will be awarded to the winner of Saturday night's game, and will remain in the possession of the victor until the athletic teams of the schools meet again.

East Carolina has been in possession of the battered Bohunk Bucket since last fall when the Pirate football team defeated the AC football aggregation.

Two Cities Bid For Franchises In Grid League

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Houston and Buffalo bid for National American football league franchises today as the new league opened its first meeting. It looks like a long and story season.

Before the 13-team league can settle to the task of splitting itself into two divisions, it must decide the Houston and Buffalo matters. Their chances are not bright. A unanimous vote is necessary for acceptance.

G. H. McCarthy, Texas Oilman and hotel owner, met with commissioner Bert Bell last night. They discussed the Houston situation. McCarthy said he found Bell "affable and receptive."

"I feel that, if there are no prejudices, if the league does not make too many impositions and meets its open faced," said McCarthy, "Houston will have a pro football franchise."

Ted Williams Now Highest Paid Of Baseball Stars

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The popular baseball argument—who draws the biggest paycheck, Williams, Dimaggio or Feller?—won't have the old familiar ring this year.

Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox Fly Hawk, is almost sure to stand out by himself as the highest paid employee on the major league diamonds.

Cleveland's Bob Feller, his one-time fireball now just lukewarm, took a reported $20,000 salary whack yesterday. Joe Dimaggio, the New York Yankees' sore-heeled question mark, is said to face a $25,000 scissoring on his contract.

An Average Day

East Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan State Halbeck Lynn Chandra's feat of scoring two touchdowns in the 1949 East-West game in San Francisco and averaging seven yards per offensive thrust, was just about par for the lanky Flint, Mich., speedster. He averaged 6.5 yards on 321 carries and scored 180 points in his four-year college career.

Three Still Around

NEW YORK —(AP)—Three of the eight managers in the National League in 1949 still are piloting ball clubs in that circuit. But all three are with different teams, now.

Leo Durocher, now New York Giant manager, was at the helm of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1949. Frank Frisch had the Pittsburgh Pirates. He's head man for the Chicago Cubs now. And Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves was managing the St. Louis Cardinals in 1949.

Like The Road

Brooklyn, N.Y.—(AP)—Despite the friendly atmosphere of Ebbets Field, the pennant-winning Brooklyn Dodgers compiled better batting averages on the road than they did in their home park. As a team, the Dodgers hit .275 in enemy territory and only .267 before the home folks.

Sport Slants By Pap

Big Blue Demon by Pap

Centers like George Mikan don't come along more than once in the lifetime of a basketball coach. And only then if the coach is extremely lucky. No one realizes this better than Ray Meyer, the capable court coach of De Paul University's Blue Demons. Coach Meyer has been experiencing a bit of difficulty in his search for another center like Mikan, but that was to be expected. It is inevitable that the lush days when De Paul enjoyed during Mikan's reign would be followed by a rebuilding period. It is extremely difficult to develop a suitable replacement for such an outstanding performer because the players behind him seldom have the opportunity to gain playing experience. Big George was always in there and scoring sensationally.

This season, Coach Meyer pinned his hopes on Clem Pavlonis, a 6-foot-7 junior of limited experience. Pavlonis did little as a sophomore to buoy up De Paul's prospects for the current campaign other than try very hard to make the grade. He has come along rapidly since last season and the opportunity to gain playing experience has brought a big improvement. Clem is the most improved player on the Blue Demon squad.

Pavlonis has given De Paul another scoring threat and taken the pressure off Bato Govedarica, the smooth-working little junior guard who is the team's scoring ace as well as the play maker.

Winter Football Practice Delayed By Bad Weather

Continuous rains held up the start of winter football drills for Coach Bill Dole's East Carolina piskin hopefuls this week.

Workouts were scheduled to begin Monday, with holdovers from last year's squad reporting along with seventeen new men who were screened from last week's forty men who worked out.

Blessed with the loss of only three starters, and two reserves from the 1949 team, Coach Dole plans to get down to hard work in preparation for the 1950 season.

Those men who will graduate or who have played out their four years of eligibility are Ras Autry and Keith Kilpatrick, two rugged linemen of the past year's team; along with Stan Peel, outstanding defensive end. Autry and Kilpatrick were voted honorary captains for the 1949 Pirate eleven, while Peel was lost to the Bucs during the middle of the season because of a severe leg injury. Rounding out the five men lost to the Pirates next year are Mac Lewis and Gorrell Bass, two substitute guards of last season, who will receive their diplomas in May.

Among the seventeen new grid aspirants for Coach Dole's 1950 East Carolina football machine are Bill Mulligan, Howard Carmichael, ends; Elsie Stevenson, Mickey Berman, Henry Gelas, tackles; John Cushing, John Schwartz, John Kennedy, Billy Johnson, Jesse Aldridge, Jim Brady, Darrell Bateman, guards; and Tom Swain, Pete Reynolds, Tommy Bullock and Henry Fordham, backs.

Gonzales Slowly Cuts Into Kramer's Big Lead

San Jose, Calif., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, playboy of the pro tennis troupe, slowly is cutting into Jack Kramer's big lead.

The 21 year old Los Angeles challenger twice has rolled up three-match win streaks in the last eight clashes. But he still has a long way to go if he hopes to head big Jake.

And unless Pancho, the Bobby Soxers' dreamboat, dethrones the dead-serious Kramer he's out of a job with the troupe next year.

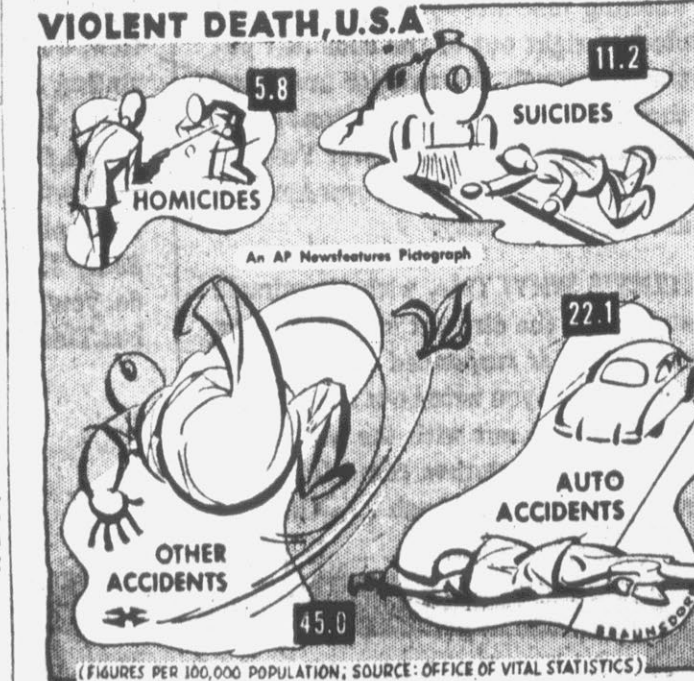

That's from promoter Bobby Riggs, whom Jake dethroned. Bobby is still around because he got the promotional rights.

Gonzales' lightning serve finally work down the pro king, 12-10, 6-3 at Stockton last night.

But big Jake still leads, 40 matches to 12.

That looks like a big margin to everyone except Kramer himself. He's as serious about each night's match as a businessman with a big investment. And that's just what he is. He owns 30 per cent of the troupe. Gonzales gets $60,000—or 30 per cent from the remainder, Riggs pays the other singles players—Pancho Segura and Frankie Parker—pays expenses, and pockets the profits.

The extended 1947-48 Kramer tour netted Kramer about $120,000 for five months in the United States and another $50,000 abroad, Riggs reports. Bobby says the total U. S. take on his joust with Kramer was $250,000.

Winterville And Arthur Split Bill

Winterville, Jan. 18.—The Wolves of Winterville high school split a double-header here last night, the girls losing by a very close margin to the Arthur sextet 32-28 and the boys trampling the visitors, 59-13.

The first game provided the excitement for the whole evening. The Arthur team got off to a fast five-point lead early in the game but was tied twice prior to the halftime gun. The score as the teams left the floor was 17-14 with Arthur ahead.

As the second half got underway, both teams began matching buckets with the other with Arthur remaining ahead all the way.

High scorer for the locals was Betsy Castelloe with 16 points, followed by Anne Speir with eight. On defense, the Wolverines called on Army Clayton to spark their losing cause.

Scoring for Arthur were Crawford and McLawhorn with 13 points apiece. Defensively, Crawford and Vandford were outstanding.

The boys' affray was no contest because the locals more than made up for the first-game defeat. They got away to a fast scoring start and remained there all the way.

Scoring for the visitors were J. N. Riggs with 12 points and Bill Haddock with 11.

Friday night will see the local club host to Grifton in a double-header which is expected to be a close game.

Black Day For Army And Navy

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—It was a black Wednesday for the Army and the Navy in college basketball.

Army was toppled from the unbeaten ranks by Pennsylvania, 66-45, while Navy suffered its second defeat of the season at the hands of Columbia, 45-37.

Playing on their home courts both the West Pointers and Annapolis Middies had been favored.

There are four married players on the North Carolina State 1949-50 basketball squad.

Twelve Entries For Basketball Tourney Jan. 25

By BERT MOYE

Twelve high school basketball teams have entered the Second Annual Coastal Gold Medal tournament which gets underway next Wednesday night in the Farmville high school gymnasium. Six boys' teams and six girls' teams will vie for honors in their respective divisions.

Sponsored by the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce, the tournament will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday nights of next week—January 25, 26 and 28.

Entered in this year's tournament will be girls' and boys' teams from the Farmville, Maury, Vanceboro, Bethel, Stanfordsburg and Snow Hill high schools.

The tournament schedule calls for four games on Wednesday and Thursday nights, with two games being reeled off in the finals. The first contest will get underway at 6:30 o'clock.

Pairings for the opening rounds will be carried in the columns of this paper at an early date.

Hogan Loses To Snead In Playoff

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The greatest golf comeback of all time didn't quite hit its peak. Which is one way of saying that Sam Snead beat out Ben Hogan in the playoff for the Los Angeles Open title.

He did it by four strokes, too.

But remember back a little.

Last Feb. 5, that story from El Paso reported that "Hogan's left ankle, one bone of which was broken was placed in a cast. . . . Physicians plan to apply a cast for a broken pelvis bone. The golf star also fractured a collarbone and rib."

And the item from El Paso March 3 read: "Golfier Ben Hogan was reported in a serious condition today as a result of a blood clot complication."

The doctors said Hogan might never walk around 18 holes again, much less play that distance.

But he's the same Hogan who shot a 280, four strokes under par, in his comeback to golf over Riviera's tricky, treacherous 18 holes last week. And who finally lost to Slammin' Snead, the West Virginian, in yesterday's playoff, postponed a week by rain.

Slammin' Sam slightly spoiled the playoff. He went around in 72 strokes, one over par. Baniam Ben, the tiny Texan, took 76 strokes.

Only three states are represented on the 1949-50 University of Arizona 21-man basketball squad—Arizona, California and North Dakota.

the 64, that meant that Valse would not go on up the trail, no matter what happened now. So far as helping him by getting him away from here was concerned, her continued denial of him was useless. She saw that clearly. And how could she bear to marry Zachary if Trib Valse was to remain in this same section of country, where she must continually hear of him, and even occasionally see him?

The shooting of Marsh and Huff, too, had made a hero of Valse, as the object of attack and persecution. Public sentiment, which only yesterday had branded him as a liar and brazen impostor, was changing. It had seemed then that he was trying to bluff his way into a dead man's heritage. But now those who had never known him were inclined to sympathize with him, whatever they might believe about him.

She drew a deep breath, scarcely conscious that a couple of ladies were putting the finishing adjustments on her wedding dress, talking excitedly about it. It was close to the hour set for the ceremony. Someone turned from a window, to report excitedly that the preacher was just riding up.

Panic gripped Saralee. She must get away—she couldn't go through with this. Not now. There was a conflict of emotions in her heart, anger the predominant one. Anger at what Zachary had tried to do to Valse, at the way he had lied to her. A lady straightened from smoothing a ruffle at the dress, and eyed her admiringly.

"You look beautiful, Saralee, beautiful!" she breathed. "You were so pale, first thing today, but now that color in your cheeks, and that sparkle in your eye—my, but it makes me wish I could live over my own wedding day again!"

Saralee looked at her, but without seeing her. She had to get away! She slipped into another room and closed the door, turning the key in the lock. Now she was alone for a moment, and she set to work feverishly, jerking the dress off over her head, flinging it on a chair with a wanton disregard for all the care which had been lavished upon it.

Her regular, everyday dress, which she had worn that morning, was here, but it wouldn't do. She caught sight of a pair of men's leys hanging in a corner. They were big, but they would do—with an extra undershirt or so and their clinging folds out of the way, thrust on top of the wedding dress. Someone was at the door, knocking, protesting, pleading. Not answering, she slipped out at the window, hurried to where a saddled horse stood, and swung onto it.

Where she was going, what she would do, she did not know. Nor did she care, particularly.

The important thing was to get away.

back into the hills, away from everybody, away from Armin Zachary, who had suddenly been revealed as a monster. Most people did not know that yet. But the scales had fallen from her eyes, so that she could see him as he was. To get away was all that mattered.

Rage and apprehension rose in Zachary as he saw whom Rudd was bringing into town as a prisoner. Inwardly he cursed his foreman for a fool. If anything had justified making him a prisoner in the first place, so that something could be done to him, it should have been handed out in the country, away from here. There was no question in Zachary's mind but that this meant trouble, and plenty of it.

"What's this all about, Rudd?" It was Lundeen, pushing forward, who made the demand.

"It's a killing," Rudd explained grimly. "Just what the long an' short of it is, we ain't too sure. If we had been, we'd have strung him to a tree without botherin' to bring him in. Fact is, we aimed to do that, first off. But we wanted to be sure."

"Sure of what?" Zachary interjected. "What's it all about, Rudd?"

"We—me and the boys—was ridin', lookin' for rustlers," Rudd explained. That was a good enough story for the crowd, and he realized that Zachary knew what they had been looking for. "We heard shootin', and rode to have a look. It was at a little meadow among the trees. We found Portescue layin' there, shot in the back, with this feller standin' over him. Naturally, we reckoned that he'd killed him."

De Polo had strolled up now. "Just why would you think that?" he queried softly.

"Why not?" Rudd shot back. "I remembered well enough that Portescue had been a good friend of Valse's. If this man tried to make Portescue admit that he was Valse, and Portescue wouldn't, what more reason would there be needed for killin' him?"

"It might be a good one, at that," it was Valse himself who spoke now, for the first time. "I can follow your line of reasonin', Rudd. Only, like I told you, Portescue was at the 64 for supper last night, and he did admit that I was Trib Valse—in front of Wanda Daniels and my whole crew."

"We aimed to string him up, like I say, for we was plumb mad. And the story he told sure sounded crazy. That an Indian had killed Portescue."

"An Indian?" Zachary interjected sharply.

More Smoking In Smaller Berlin

BERLIN—(AP)—Berlin's population is about one million less than before the war, but its cigarette consumption has increased by two billion a year.

City statistics show that Berliners smoke eight billion cigarettes a year, compared with six billion in pre-war years. This makes an average of 7 to 8 cigarettes a day for each adult. Also more Berlin women have joined the smokers. Only eight per cent used to smoke 20 years ago. Today it's 36 per cent.

Tough Time For Miners Families

Point Marion, Pa., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Some miners' families are having a tough time getting enough to eat in the latest strike of 90,000 soft coal diggers.

The family of Joe Konicki, 42, is an example of what's going on in many a mining town.

Konicki, a miner for 37 years, has seven children. The youngest is two and the oldest 18.

"We haven't had meat for a month," Konicki said. He added that if his credit is shut off at the grocery store where he owes $300 he'll have to ask the state for relief.

Mrs. Mary Konicki, 39, did a lot of canning last year. There's nothing left except a few cans of tomatoes.

What does the family eat mostly? Just beans, Joe reported. The children have not seen cookies, cakes or candies for a long time.

"They get mostly coffee and bread for lunch," their father declared. "They get a little margarine once a month."

Battleship Will Remain Aground For Another Day

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19.—The 43,000 ton battleship Missouri will remain stuck in the mud of Chesapeake Bay until tomorrow at least, according to latest navy plans.

After postponing another effort to pry loose the nation's only active battleship tomorrow, the navy last night sent divers below the water to blow mud and sand from about the ship's propellers with two high-pressure water hoses.

The divers went below with a two-fold purpose, to loosen the sand and to determine the condition of the propellers. The navy also continued to dredge a six-inch trench from the main ship channel to the "Mighty Mo's" position a half mile north.

Russia Disrupts Atomic Parleys

Lake Success, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Russia disrupted United Nations atomic talks today by walking out of a secret six-power meeting in protest against the continuing presence of Chinese Nationalist diplomats.

The other five conferees—the United States, Britain, France, China and Canada—adjourned soon after the walkout without setting a date for their next meeting.

Regards Byrnes As A Free Agent

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—President Truman said today James F. Byrnes is a free agent to do as he damn pleases about running for office.

Mr. Truman made the statement when he was questioned at a news conference about Byrnes' decision to seek the Democratic nomination for governor of South Carolina.

Byrnes, Mr. Truman's former secretary of state, has sharply criticized some of the Truman "Fair Deal" program in a series of speeches.

Entertainers Present Program Here Last Night

The Veterans Hospital touring group of three widely known personalities of radio and stage presented a hour long program of mixed entertainment at the Methodist Church last night in the behalf of the Veterans Hospital program.

The organization is part of a national organization sponsored by the Protestant Churches of America.

J. H. 'Boss' superintendent of Greenville city schools, introduced the personalities.

Ivy Walsh, well known vocalist and accordion player, rendered "A Heart That Is True," and Al and Ivy combined their talents and sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" which was well received by the audience.

Following the songs, by the Walshs, Pat Withron, noted speaker, humorist and song leader, spoke.

Withron stated that the "Protestant Churches of America" will have to revise their work and take Christ to the people.

Music, both instrumental and vocal with emphasis on sacred songs and well known light classics were rendered by the songsters during the remainder of the program.

The group then asked the audience for requests which they fulfilled.

damages. He said that the farmers, working under the auspices of the Soil Conservation Service, were draining their lands bordering the creek after heavy snows in early 1948 had thawed and overrun their land.

The case was opened Monday and continued through yesterday afternoon, the jury returning the verdict against the railroad about 3 o'clock.

Other cases on the court calendar involved 11 divorce suits, 10 of which were Negroes, and all were granted on grounds of two-year separation.

The case of J. C. Wagner vs. Samuel Wainwright and Blaney Strickland, involving a requested $27,844.94 owed to the plaintiff for payment on $1,100 compromise, was settled for $1,100.

Two other cases ended in non-suit and a third won a move for dismissal.

by security. The more adventure-some life, opportunity and the elation of controls which the conservative promise may be more appealing to some of the young girl voters.

In studying the puzzle, politicians aren't overlooking that life has gotten a bit easier in Britain lately: There is a little more food, a little more coal, a little better variety of goods in the shops. And it would surprise no one if the government finds itself able to increase the meat ration (about a pound a week per person) before polling day.

The labor party counts on full employment as its most telling campaign argument. To make it very simple, the terms "full employment" and "income" aren't used. They become "jobs for all" and just plain "pay."

The registration of electors makes no classification as to sexes, so the exact proportion of women to men voters is not known. Because the poll is secret there is no telling how women vote as a whole. However, there are more women than men in Britain and they are showing much more interest in politics than they did in the last general election in 1945.

Many Tar Heels To Get Pay Hike Next Wednesday

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Pay boosts will be granted to at least 65,000 Tar Heels next Wednesday.

This is the effective date of new amendments to the federal wage and hour law, including an hourly minimum wage of 75 cents.

The state labor department estimated today about 75,000 of the some 500,000 workers covered by the law in North Carolina have been receiving less than 75 cents an hour.

Not all of these 75,000 workers will receive wage increases. This is due to certain exemptions contained in the amended law.

However, the labor department estimated, the number of North Carolina workers removed from coverage under the law will amount to only a fraction of the number who will receive pay raises.
