Chrysler Strike Goes Into Effect As Parleys Fail

Negotiations Broken Off; Company Refuses Grant Benefits Demanded

Detroit, Jan. 25—(AP)—Chrysler workers marched out on strike at 10 a. m. (EST) today after six months of futile negotiations over a pension plan.

The CIO United Auto Workers ordered its 89,000 Chrysler Corporation members to "hit the bricks" immediately after negotiations broke off at 9:45 a. m.

Assembly lines in the big auto firm ground to a halt. The screaming of lathes and pounding of stamping presses ceased abruptly.

UAW President Walter Reuther said the strike was called because the company would not agree to grant a package of benefits worth 10 cents hourly per worker.

Affected are union employees in all the corporation's plants building Chrysler, DeSoto, Dodge and Plymouth cars.

Although Chrysler had offered a $100-a-month pension plan, the pattern this year in heavy industry, the union objected to the terms.

The company insisted that it be permitted to operate the plan on a pay-as-you-go basis. The UAW demanded that a jointly administered trust fund be set up with the company putting in a set amount for each hour worked.

A Chrysler statement said: "Calling Chrysler employees on strike, in the face of the pension and insurance benefits Chrysler has offered, shows again how difficult, if not futile, it is to try to do business with people who do such irresponsible things."

Reuther said: "The Chrysler workers and their union were prepared to call off the strike if the corporation would meet the established pattern of 10 cents an hour."

A last ditch negotiating session which ran 24 hours failed to resolve the dispute.

The walkout will affect a total of 110,000 Chrysler workers in 25 plants across the country. It will also hit an estimated 65,000 to 100,000 employees of suppliers and dealers.

The strike was the second at Chrysler, one of the Automotive Big Three, within the last two years.

Soup kitchens and picket signs were rolled out as soon as word from the bargaining table was flashed to union locals.

The union's "rockbottom" demand that Chrysler grant benefits worth 10 cents hourly per man was rejected by the company.

In a desperate attempt to avoid a tieup company and union negotiators worked around the clock at private chambers in a midtown hotel.

Declares Nat'l Health May Soon Be Imperiled

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The head of the Bureau of Mines said today that unless coal production is increased the national health and welfare "is now or soon will be imperiled."

Director James Boyd made the statement to the Senate Labor Committee, which is considering a resolution asking President Truman to invoke the Taft-Hartley law to restore full coal production.

The law permits the President to ask a court order ending a strike when the work stoppage threatens the national welfare.

Boyd's testimony was the first indication by a key federal official that the government feels the situation is becoming serious on a national basis.

President Truman has said repeatedly in recent weeks that there was no emergency yet.

Five Year Prison Term Given Alger Hiss On Perjury Counts

Files Notice Of Appeal; Judge Permits Continuance In Bail Pending Decision Of Higher Court; No Fines Included

New York, Jan. 25—(AP) Alger Hiss was sentenced today to five years in a federal penitentiary. Sentence was pronounced by federal judge Henry W. Goddard in the courthouse where Hiss was convicted on two perjury counts last Saturday by a jury of eight women and four men. He was not fined.

The former state department official had denied slipping secret state papers to a prewar Soviet spy ring.

After sentence was pronounced defense counsel filed a notice of appeal with the clerk of the court and submitted a defense motion that Hiss be continued in bail pending decision of the higher court of Appeals.

Judge Goddard said it would be "fair" to continue Hiss under bail. The next step for appeal beyond the Circuit court would be to the United States Supreme court. Should it go to the highest tribunal, at least three justices are expected to disqualify themselves.

They are Felix Frankfurter, Stanley Reed and Tom C. Clark. The first two testified as character witnesses for Hiss at the first trial last June. Justice Clark was U. S. Attorney General while the government worked up its case against Hiss.

A decision to disqualify himself is up to each justice. He is not compelled by law. However, a justice customarily steps in a case when he feels that either side might be aggrieved by his considering it.

Judge Goddard set bail at $10,000 pending appeal. The five year term was imposed on each of two counts, the terms to run concurrently. Maximum sentence could have been five years imprisonment on each count and $2,000 fine on each count.

Judge Goddard denied a defense request that the 45-year-old Hiss not be imprisoned saying: "This should be a warning that a crime of this character may not be committed with impunity."

Now In Effect Claim Votes To Recall Matthews

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The 75-cent minimum wage and other changes made by Congress in the New Deal's 12-year-old wage-hour law went into effect today.

The new wage minimum, nearly double the previous 40-cent an hour floor, is estimated to require a wage boost averaging between five and 15 cents an hour for about 1,500,000 workers. The cost to employers is estimated at about $300,000,000 a year.

Adm. Forrest P. Sherman took over the CNO job officially today with the Senate's approval of his nomination on the voice vote yesterday.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) said that action won't make any difference in his plans to demand a vote in the Senate Armed Services committee tomorrow recalling Matthews.

Knowland told a reporter he thinks a majority of the committee will fall in line for the move, which is opposed by chairman Tydings (D-Md.).

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) who might have the deciding vote, said he hadn't made up his mind. But he added: "I can't see any reason why Secretary Matthews wouldn't want to come back and clear this matter up."

Involved are Republican contentions that Matthews misled the committee when he testified previously that a new commission for a second two-year term had not been issued to Denfield before President Truman fired the Admiral.

Denfield was relieved as CNO officer he testified before a House committee that the navy wasn't sharing properly in high-level military decisions. Matthews has said the testimony was not the reason for letting Denfield out.

Northern Plains Blizzard Fades; Cold Snap Lingers

By the Associated Press A blizzard which swept across the northern plains—hitting hardest in North Dakota—faded today but there was lots of sting and snap in a fresh blast of cold weather.

Huge snowdrifts, whipped by gale-like winds, blocked virtually all of North Dakota's 7,000 miles of roads. Hundreds of motorists were stranded. Scores of schools remained closed.

Temperatures plunged to far below zero as the state dug out from one of the worst blizzards in history. There were other cold spots in the country. And some Midwest areas which yesterday enjoyed spring-like temperatures were in the path of the frigid air from the north.

In contrast to the blizzard conditions in the northern plains, there was what the Weather Bureau described as a "remarkable heat wave" in some sections yesterday. Record temperature readings were reported in scores of cities from Iowa to the Atlantic Coast.

But forecasters said there would be a sharp drop in temperatures over most of the north central states today. The mercury started downward in the Dakotas late yesterday and was between 20 and 25 below zero early today in some cities.

The Weather Bureau said there was 38 inches of snow on the ground at Jamestown, N.D., after a fall measuring 15 inches the last two days. Bemidji, Minn., was blanketed with 29 inches after a 12-inch fall and Duluth, Minn., was covered with 30 inches, including a new fall of eight inches.

Coal Strike Has Hit Employment In Allied Fields

Unemployment Contagion Spreads In Related Rail And Steel Industries

Pittsburgh, Jan. 25—(AP)—The soft coal miners strike produced a growing contagion of unemployment today with at least 17,000 workers idled in the related railroad and steel industries.

Some 75,000 soft coal diggers remained away from the pits on the third day of the Union-ordered three day work week.

They backed the age-old United Mine Workers tradition: no contract no work. Many miners have worked only two days in 1950.

But the seven-month period of three-day weeks, two-day weeks and no-day weeks since the UMW contract expired last June 30 apparently was good for something.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines reported the industry set three safety records in 1949. The fatality rate for all coal produced and the number of deaths in coal mines were the lowest in history.

Furthermore, it was the first full calendar year without a major coal disaster—a single accident in which five or more men were killed.

Railroads—complying with the government order to reduce operations on coal-burning runs—contributed the most layoffs.

The Pennsylvania Railroad led the list with 15,000 idle. Louisville and Nashville Railroad counted 500 out of work because of the coal shortage. Illinois Central Railroad estimated its layoffs at 500.

No figure were available from the Baltimore and Ohio which said it had only an eight-day coal supply on hand compared with the normal 21-day supply.

Crucible Steel Company of America laid off 500 at its Midland, Pa. plant. Other steel companies indicated similar action was in the offing should the coal shortage continue.

The Agriculture Department announced it is making available government-owned surplus potatoes for relief use in sections of Pennsylvania affected by the coal strike.

The Department said the potatoes are being supplied under a provision of the 1949 farm act which allows the Department give away surpluses to prevent waste of food.

Returns To Face Old N. C. Charge

Newark, N.J., Jan. 25—(AP)—A former Newark man came back from North Carolina yesterday to face a 10-year-old murder charge.

"I'll be glad to get the murder charge off my chest," James McDougald, a 61-year-old bricklayer, was quoted as saying.

He is accused of fatally beating Mrs. Anna Cole, 46, in her room on Nov. 19, 1949. She died three days later of internal hemorrhage.

Young Escapees Back In Custody

Raleigh, Jan. 25—(AP)—Two prisoners who escaped from the Butner Youth Center Sunday were back in custody today, the prison department reported.

Prison Director J. B. Moore said Richard Thomas Knowles, 21, of Midland, Route 1, returned to the center voluntarily last night.

Floyd Sigmond Harrison, 19, of Whiteville, was recaptured early today at the home of a sister in Columbus county, Moore added.

Grand Jury Holds Hearing On Charges By Chief

Make New Charges Of Absorbing China

State Department Issues Detailed Background Document Supporting Charges Of Soviet Designs In North China

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The State Department made new charges today that Soviet Russia is absorbing four of China's richest northern areas.

Supporting Secretary of State Acheson's recent accusations, the Department issued a detailed "background document" which said that Russia's designs were in part supported by "two secret agreements signed by the Chinese Communists with the U.S.S.R."

It said these are known as the "Moscow Agreement and the Harbin Agreement. These purportedly grant further special rights to the U.S.S.R." in Manchuria.

In a speech before the National Press Club two weeks ago, Acheson charged that Russia is detaching Manchuria, Outer Mongolia, Sinkiang and Inner Mongolia and trying them to the Soviet Union.

Foreign Minister Vishinsky in a special statement over the weekend denounced Acheson's charges as a monstrous lie.

Backing up Acheson's words, the State Department said of Russian intrigues in Manchuria: "The Soviet Union has placed the richest industrial area of China firmly behind the Far Eastern segment of the Iron Curtain."

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)— Secretary of State Acheson urged Congress today to extend the draft law to show the world that the United States intends to stay strong.

"Weakness invites aggression—direct or indirect—and to remain free the nations of the free world must be strong, both economically and in terms of their defensive capabilities," he said.

Acheson appeared before the House Armed Services committee to support the administration's request for a three-year extension of the draft law, due to expire in June.

The committee already has heard military leaders plead for an extension as a form of insurance against the events of another war and as a spur to recruiting.

Committee members have shown little enthusiasm for the proposal although there has been talk of keeping selective service on a "stand-by" basis with a ban on drafting men unless Congress approves.

Acheson said the draft law is needed to support this nation's foreign policy. Letting it die, he said, would be "widely interpreted abroad as a slackening of American determination to stand as the principal defender against aggression."

He reminded the committee that world peace is not yet secure.

Says Job Taken After Exposing Fellow Workers

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)— Daniel C. Davidson, Jasper, Ala., auditor, filed a $50,000 suit in district court yesterday charging that he lost his government job after he exposed fellow workers to the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Davidson asks damages from Lindsay C. Warren, Comptroller General, and T. A. Flynn and V. J. Kirby of the General Accounting Office.

He alleged that during his employment between 1941 and 1949 he discovered "un-American," "pro-German" and "Communist" activities were being carried on in the office. He said he reported it to his superiors, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and later the House committee.

Davidson said that although several employees were released no action was taken against other persons of "questionable loyalty."

Heavy Shipments Of ECA Cotton

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—More than half a billion dollars worth of cotton was shipped overseas under the Marshall plan during 1949.

The Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) reporting this today, said its 1949 cotton purchases of $275,900,000 made up the largest amount of funds earmarked for a specific recovery commodity.

Fresh Hope For DP's Of Europe

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The hope of additional thousands of displaced Europeans for getting into America came one step nearer to realization today.

A bill to permit 320,000 DP's—plus 5,000 orphans and 5,000 adopted children—to enter this country by June 30, 1951, was approved last night by the Senate Judiciary committee. It is expected to be introduced in the senate promptly.

The total approved by the committee includes the approximately 124,000 who already have reached the United States under the 1948 DP law.

That law authorizes the entry of 200,000 persons in the two-year period ending June 30, 1950. A bill approved by the House would increase the number to 330,000 and extend the date by one year.

The senate committee's action was announced by Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) who termed the measure "generally satisfactory." The chairman previously had been through bills for admitting additional DP's.

The agreement was reached on the eve of the date the senate had ordered the committee to report out a bill. Committee approval was by a vote of 10 to 3.

The Senate committee's bill continued two provisions of the present law which the House bill would have ended. They are the requirement that 30 per cent of the DP's must be agriculturists, and 40 per cent must be from occupied territories.

Senate Committee OK's Bill Allowing 320,000 To Enter

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee today approved a bill to permit 320,000 displaced persons to enter this country by June 30, 1951.

The bill also provides for 5,000 orphans and 5,000 adopted children to enter the country by June 30, 1951.

Investigation Under Way As Alderman Dal Cox Denies Telling Chief To Tear Up Or Change Warrant And Threatening To Call For Resignation

The Pitt county grand jury today was continuing an investigation which witnesses said related to the allegations made Friday by Greenville Police Chief Lester D. Page that he was warned by a member of the board of aldermen he would be asked for his resignation if he did not intervene in a case set for trial in city court.

The grand jury began its investigation yesterday afternoon when it called to appear before it Mayor W. S. Stafford, Police Chief L. D. Page, Aldermen Dal Cox and J. Ed Waldrop, and Policemen James Little and L. C. Summrell.

This morning Aldermen L. M. Buchanan, Heber B. Tripp, J. E. Collins and W. M. Pollard, Police Officers M. E. Corbett and George Crawford and Solicitor W. J. Bundy were called into the grand jury room. Aldermen R. E. Rogers, R. E. Howell and C. B. Mayo were reported out of town when subpoenaed by the grand jury.

The grand jury recessed at 12:30 today and was to resume its session at 2.

During the afternoon session yesterday, Police Chief Page was kept in the grand jury room for approximately one hour, Mayor Stafford was questioned by the grand jury for approximately 45 minutes, Alderman Waldrop was in the grand jury room for approximately 15 minutes.

The grand jury conferred with Police Officer Summrell for approximately 20 minutes and with Police Officer Little for about 10 minutes.

During the investigation this morning, the grand jury interviews with other aldermen and policemen ranged from three to 10 minutes.

Alderman Dal Cox, whom Page charged with warning him he would be asked for his resignation if he did not intervene in a case set for trial in city court, was in the grand jury room for approximately 15 minutes.

Page testified that he neither warned him nor was he asked for his resignation.

Cox said in his statement made to the Reflector representative yesterday afternoon while waiting to appear before the grand jury: "I don't think this has any connection with the Blount case. I think the Blount case is being used for political reasons against me, and furthermore Mr. Page possibly felt I had feelings against him. But as long as Page does his duty as chief of police I wouldn't try to get him out."

"The only thing I reprimanded Page for was having two college boys on the police force. I don't feel they can give proper time to their work as police officers."

"When we had a meeting I asked who the officers were that arrested him (Blount), and under what conditions he was arrested. As for tearing up a warrant or changing the thing, I didn't ever tell him to do that."

When asked by a reporter the direct question "Did you tell Page he would be asked to resign?" Cox replied "No."

Fifteen members of the grand jury, one woman and 14 men, were present in the grand jury room this morning for the investigation.

Chaos In Economics

No Optimistic Signs In Asia's Struggle Of The Isms; China's Tragic Position; Economic Plight Probable Subject Of Moscow Talk; Tragedy Ahead

Your correspondent has been brooding again over the growing war of the isms in Asia—and finds himself in an unhappy state of mind.

Maybe it's because I'm just getting over a nasty attack of bronchitis, but it's difficult to conjure up much optimism about the situation in the Orient. I'd like to discover a burst of sunshine to report in this column, but my crystal gazing thus far shows a long spell of trouble and grief ahead.

This position of China, center of this developing storm, is tragic. That sprawling country never has been able to feed its vast population which today totals some 500,000,000, and now the ravages of war have reduced the helpless masses to a pitiful state.

As though that weren't enough punishment for fate to hand out to China, nature herself has been creating havoc with floods. Communist Premier Chou En-Lai recently estimated that last summer's inundations in north and central China forced 40,000,000 people from their homes.

What could better this situation? Nothing, excepting a wholesale importation of supplies—foodstuffs, clothing and what not. And where, you ask, could those supplies come from. Well, they would have to come mostly either from Russia or

The Wage-Hour Law

New Law Went On The Books Yesterday; First Of Three Articles On How It May Affect You, And How It Affects Others; Background; Changes And Powers

(First of three articles on the new wage-hour law.) Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—The new 1950 model of the wage-hour law is, like some of the new automobiles, pretty much like the old one.

Something new has been added. The product is about the same. The new law went on the books today.

To understand the law you must go back to the days of the Roosevelt deal. It was passed originally back in 1938 against a background of a tough business depression.

There was a three-fold purpose: 1. To put a floor under wages—a move to prevent a complete collapse of wages in case of another depression. 2. To put penalties on working anybody more than 40 hours a week—so as to spread the available work around, thus giving jobs to more people. 3. To stop employment of children.

Those three objectives are carried over into the new deal. Exemptions have been changed to some extent, some broadened, some narrowed, but the three main points are still there.

Find Difficulty In Picking Jury

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 25—(AP) A new panel of 24 persons was sworn in today as the difficult task of picking a sympathy-free jury was begun again at the mercy death trial of Carol Ann Paught.

The first panel quickly was exhausted yesterday when more than one prospect admitted sympathy for the slender, 21-year-old girl accused of killing her cancer-doomed father.

The guest speaker, Dr. Lucille Turner, was presented to the group by Mrs. Walter Krausnick. Miss Turner talked on the life and work of John Donne, metaphysical poet of the 17th century. She read several of his poems on each of the two themes, love and religion, illustrating the keen intellect and scintillating wit of the man. He was a minister and a very fine orator himself, and so his poems lend themselves to being read aloud, while their contents are both subtle and stimulating. His daringly modern concepts have affected a contempo-

MRS. DAVID GURGANUS

Miss Irene Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Gilbert of Route 5, Greenville, became the bride of David Gurganus, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Gurganus of near Belvoir, on Saturday, January 14, 1950, in the Free Will Baptist church in Greenville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. B. Crawford, pastor of the Free Will Baptist church. A program of nuptial music was given by Mrs. Ruth C. Taylor, organist and Miss Louise McGowan, vocalist.

The bride wore a street-length suit of white with navy blue accessories and a shoulder corsage of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Ruth G. Cox of Greenville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Cleveland Gilbert, Jr., brother of the bride was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip, after which they will make their home near Belvoir.

Mrs. Gurganus is a graduate of Pactolus high school and for the past year has been employed by the Bell Telephone Company in Greenville. Mr. Gurganus attended Belvoir high school and is engaged in farming.

Miss Doris Aleen Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lester Ellis of Fountain became the bride of Mr. William Peele Garris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Garris of Greenville, in a candle light ceremony, Friday afternoon, January 20th, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bell.

The bride was attired in wine velvet, with black and white accessories. She had a shoulder corsage of white carnations. The couple entered unattended for the single ring ceremony, performed by Rev. B. Manning.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Harvey Pittman, pianist and Miss Peggy Varnell vocalist.

After a brief honeymoon trip the bride and groom will make their home at Greenville, R. F. D. 3.

Miss Doris Aleen Ellis and Mr. William Peele Garris were entertained at a cake cutting at the home of Mrs. Albert Bell January 19th, Thursday evening. Brides table was covered with lace cloth, centered with the wedding cake and lighted tapers.

Total Mechanization For Some Cotton Areas Seen

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 25—(AP)—An expert predicted today that some cotton growing areas will be totally mechanized within 10 years. Others, he said, never will be.

These predictions came from Claude L. Welch, director of production and marketing for the National Cotton Council, at the council's annual conference here.

In an interview, Welch summarized progress and problems in mechanization of the cotton belt:

"There has been marked progress in four or five years," he said. Last season there were 10,000 mechanical cotton pickers—7,000 strippers and 3,000 spindle machines—being used in the belt.

Progress has been made in weed control by chemicals and flame cultivation.

But some problems stem from weed control and harvesting. Cotton picking machines, for instance, do not harvest the cotton as clean as hand pickers do.

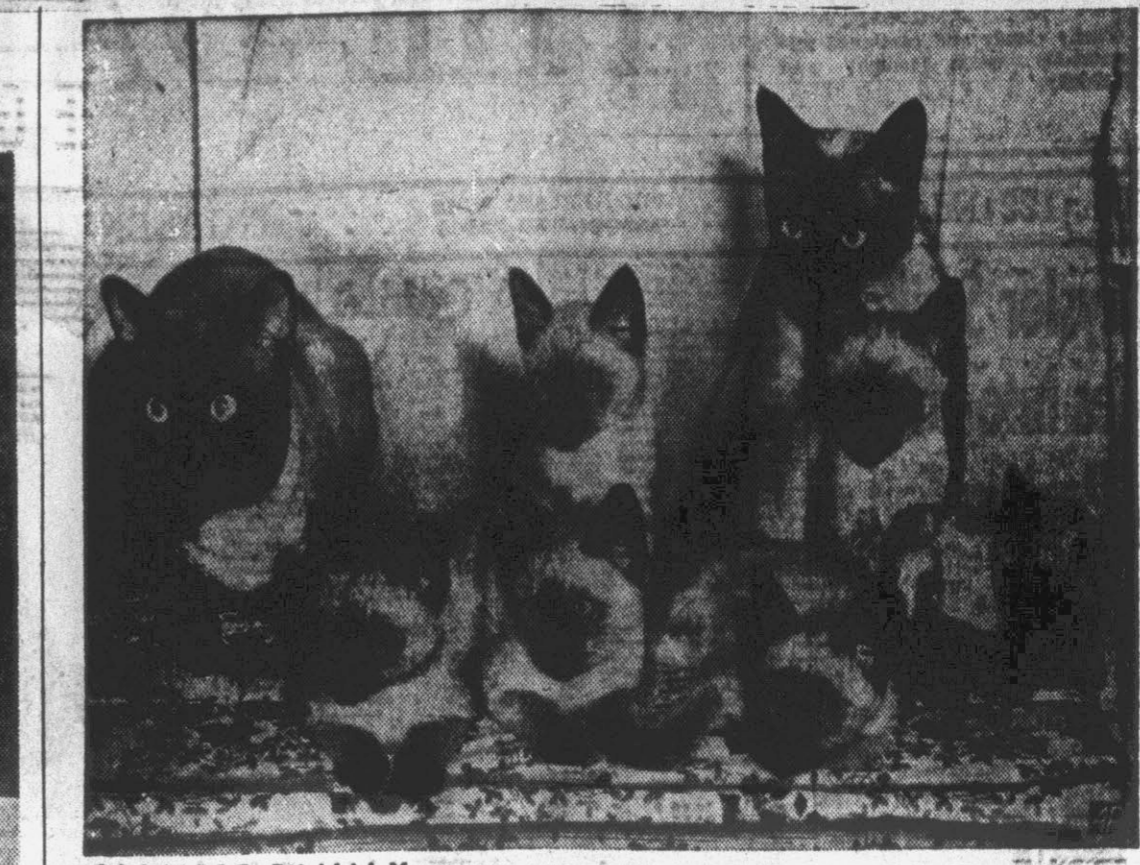

Welch said Texas, California and the Mississippi River delta areas are becoming mechanized rapidly. He declined to name those sections he thinks will never be mechanized because of topography or small farms.

What has been the effect of mechanization on labor?

"There have been no displacements," said Welch, but "opportunities for people returning to agriculture won't be so great."

What will be the effects if cotton farming becomes almost completely mechanized?

"If we can get a maximum effi-

Hopes To Teach Gorillas To Talk

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 25—(AP)—A famous scientist got together with three baby gorillas today in the hope they could learn something from each other.

The scientist is Dr. Robert M. Yerkes, professor emeritus of psychology at Yale University.

The gorillas are Albert, Bata and Bouba, late of French Equatorial Africa. They are the youngest gorillas in captivity in this country. Their ages range from about nine months to one year.

Yerkes, famed in the field of mental and physical behavior of anthropoid apes, plans to spend several months studying the three gorillas at the San Diego Zoo.

He said he would try to teach the gorillas to talk or, at least, to use symbolic sounds. There is evidence, he explained, that anthropoids have used sounds to indicate a person or thing.

The three gorillas are among the zoo's most prized animals. Very rarely do captured babies live.

Strength FOR THE DAY

GOD IN NATURE
In the twenty-sixth chapter of the Book of Job, we have a most beautiful description of God manifesting Himself through nature. Says Job:
Lo, these are the outskirts of His ways;
And how small a whisper do we hear of Him
But the thunder of His power we can understand?
The testimony that nature gives of God is ambiguous. When we look out on the beauties of a summer day or gaze up at the starry heavens at night, we are conscious of a great and good Creator. But when a hurricane blows, what then? When pestilence sweeps through the land, what testimony does it bear of God's solicitude?
Nature and the revelation which comes through nature are not enough to furnish the basis for religious faith. Unless we have revelation—that is, God telling us about certain things about Himself which we could never otherwise know—we are indeed left in darkness. The phenomena of nature constitute the outskirts of His ways, the small whisper of His mighty voice. What a picture of God which satisfies the soul in all particulars only when we behold Him as He is revealed in the Bible, and particularly as He is set forth in all perfection in Jesus Christ.

To the Editor:
I wish to take this means on behalf of the police personnel and myself to express our deep appreciation to you and your paper and the people of this City, County, and State for coming forward and backing us for enforcing the laws of this City, State and Nation.
It is indeed gratifying to know that we live within a country that the people believe in fair and impartial administration of justice.
We of the law enforcement officers, feel proud to serve the people of that calibre. We have never doubted the sincerity of the masses in upholding law enforcement; but it makes us more anxious to serve the people and to render the service that they are due, when and if we are crowded, that the people will come to our rescue.
It has never been the intentions of your chief, and I am sure I can speak for all the law enforcement officers as a whole, to persecute or hurt anyone unduly. It is my desire to serve the people in a fair and impartial manner; to enforce the law as fairly as impartially as possible and to build up and carry forward the police in a professional manner and to serve the masses of the people and cater to none individually.

There are times that we as your officers and in line of our duty, have to act, or do, or cause to be done, things that we deeply regret having to do. But due to our oath of office and to protect the public as a whole, we do them unhesitatingly and without apology.
Again let me humbly say that I am indeed grateful for the support that we have received from the public in the past and I am sure that we will receive in the future.
Yours truly,
Lester D. Page,

BARKLEY—North Carolinians who attend the Jackson-Jefferson dinner Saturday night will get the inside track with Vice President Barkley. Governor Scott was called out of his press conference Tuesday to answer a phone call. That is very unusual, and upon his return to the room the governor said Mary Barkley had called to advise he would arrive in Raleigh about four o'clock Saturday and he and Mrs. Barkley would accept the invitation extended sometime ago to stay at the mansion as guests of Governor and Mrs. Scott.

CONFERENCE—That means the president will not be on hand for the regional conference of Southern Democrats Saturday, although impression had been given out that he was coming for the Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

News item: Marlene Dietrich, one of Hollywood's most glamorous stars of all time, scalded herself the other day in the kitchen. It takes only 19 words to tell that tale, but as always, it's the inside story that's interesting.

Earl Wilson, the Broadway columnist, tells it. He simply tried to get the story from Marlene about her being burned, and found out that she really burns the ears of reporters who ask about it. Marlene loves to cook and was helping her daughter in the kitchen. They had an accident with a pressure cooker and Marlene was scalded. It's pure and simple as that, but Marlene didn't want to talk about it.

Earl Wilson has interviewed Marlene many times, so he didn't hesitate to call her hotel two days after the accident to express his regret and ask for more details. Nobody was home. Then he phoned her husband, Rudolph Selber, at HIS hotel. Nobody home there, either. So then he phoned the daughter, who was home but indignant.

"It's untrue!" she said. "She wasn't burned, isn't in the hospital, and wasn't in the hospital! That's a funny story, so he phoned back to explain that he was simply a reporter doing his job."

"Oh yes," said the voice that answered this time, "she was burned a little. But she's not and wasn't in the hospital." Now the voice had a slight accent. Could that have been Marlene? She and her daughter sometimes impersonate each other.

Wednesday when Earl learned from an official source that she had returned from the hospital because of the work done by Mrs. Mary Pollard and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson. Of course, National Committee member Jonathan Daniels and Finance Director Thomas Banks are fronting for the affair. Daniels is devoting most of his time to the conference, while Banks is mainly concerned with the dinner. Actually the women folks are doing the work and keeping the machinery running smoothly. They know how because they've done it successfully before.

WATER—There's brighter prospect for getting something done about stream pollution and utilization of water resources in North Carolina. A woman is in charge of the proposition now. Mrs. Roland McClamroch of Chapel Hill, only woman ever to serve on the board of conservation and development, has been designated as chairman of the water resources committee. At Monday's meeting of the board a resolution calling for a separate commission to study stream pollution, was amended and the matter was referred to Mrs. McClamroch's committee. During her eight months on the O and D board the lady has demonstrated her capacity to get things done. The streams may get cleaned up now.

WOMEN—Women are showing they can get things done in other capacities. If the regional conference of Democrats here Saturday is a success, major credit will belong to Misses Mae Oliver and Elizabeth Gantt, two North Carolina girls who have important places with the national Democratic headquarters in Washington. And if the Jackson-Jefferson dinner Saturday night clicks, it will be largely

Washington Letter
By JANE EADS

Washington—The chinchilla is a rare animal, its fur the most expensive in the world. You could count the number of American women owning chinchilla garments almost on two hands. Gloria Swanson and Mary Pickford were among the first to own such garments. Prince Aly Khan is said to have given Rita Hayworth one valued at $75,000.

The chinchilla was first favored back in the 15th century, when Spanish conquerors of the Incas sent a packet of jewels wrapped in chinchilla pelts to their queen. Somehow the jewels were lost or stolen, but there was no prosecution of the messengers. The queen was so fascinated she requested the conquerors to hunt and trap chinchillas and send them to Spain.

At first chinchilla was preserved for royalty alone, but by 1800 the fur was available to all who could afford it. Then in 1918 Chile, Bolivia and Peru, which had been exporting chinchilla, became alarmed at their depletion and forbade exportation of hides and animals.

The chinchilla nevertheless was brought into this country in that year by M. F. Chapman, an American copper mining engineer, who got special trapping permits from the three governments. Until recently the animals have been used entirely for breeding purposes. A pelt market now has been established through the National Chinchilla Breeders Association, which was formed in the 30s and now boasts some 1,800 members.

Mr. Pangborn says there are now 80,000 chinchillas in this country. However, not more than 500 skins a year are produced for the market. This is enough for about two or three garments. The Breeders Association will show for the first time a full-length coat, made of some 210 skins, at its meeting here in February. This coat, Mr. Pangborn make existence worth enduring—for the male. Her life is ruled by a grass sense of man's injustice, which is the mixed product of lady loneliness, lady insufficiency, and lady propriety. For all this she blames her husband.

A wife not only insists on being boss, but she demands that she not be alone. This is the fatal foolishness that all neighbors get caught with: they never realize that power is a solution enterprise—that nobody is going to admire them merely for their muscle.

It also is needless to point out that wives are the soft instruments of power in our civilization. Why remark again upon the female fist in the velvet glove? We all have felt it.

Our only possible defense is—hypnotism.

Personally, I have no desire to fork out $15 for a hypnotist who will mesmerize my wife into calling at my library in mid-afternoon to pay a non-existent dashbund.

Let's be realistic, even if it costs $25—if I can hire a Numbo-Jumbo artist who will get her to pat me lovingly on the cheek on the morning after the night before under the mistaken impression that I am a misunderrated saint Benard... well? Bow-wow!

The only danger I can see is that this terrible weapon of hypnotism may fall into wifely hands.

Looking at it that way, boys, our secrets are gone. Our favorite bartenders will sell us helpless down the river at the snap of female fingers. Our little white lies will stand up like five o'clock shadow at ten a.m.—in the hands of Dillinger at an FBI chowder party.

Believe me, friends, hypnotism should never become the poor woman's radar. But it can be man's best friend—if he doesn't dog it.

Turkish Tobacco Acreage Mounts

Raleigh, N.C., Jan. 25—(AP)—Turkish tobacco acreage 10-fold this year compared with 1949.

The Turkish, or aromatic-type, weed was grown last year by 189 farmers in 15 foothill and mountain counties and brought growers an average of $4.51 cents a pound.

Roy H. Crouse, agronomy specialist with the N.C. State College Extension Service, said most of the increased planting will occur in counties where cotton farmers are seeking new sources of income.

Crouse said yesterday that last year's total crop for this type tobacco covered 36,899 acres and produced 38,251 pounds of leaf. One man produced 2,000 pounds on one acre, he said, and sold it for an average of 96.7 cents per pound.

Mr. Pangborn declared the peak labor requirements for the production of the Turkish tobacco come during July and August—the slack period for cotton growers.

Boom In Wool Is Boosting Prices Of U. S. Clothing

Boston, Jan. 25—(AP)—The biggest boom in the history of the Australian wool industry is in full swing. And since Australia is the world's largest producer of fine apparel wool, this isn't going to help America's clothing budget.

The price of fine apparel wools at the current Australian auctions mounts steadily. Records are being smashed daily.

Dealers report audible gasps in the Sydney auction rooms as purchasers from Britain, Russia, the Continent and the United States have tried to outbid Australians in the past few weeks.

Prices at the Australian sales have jumped some 25 per cent since the opening of the auctions early this month.

In Boston, heart of the nation's wool trading, mills were reported paying 41 cents a pound more for apparel wools than they did last September.

Apparel wools that cost $1.17 a pound cleaned last fall now are selling to the mills for around $1.58 a pound.

One dealer termed the increases staggering, "beyond anything that has happened before."

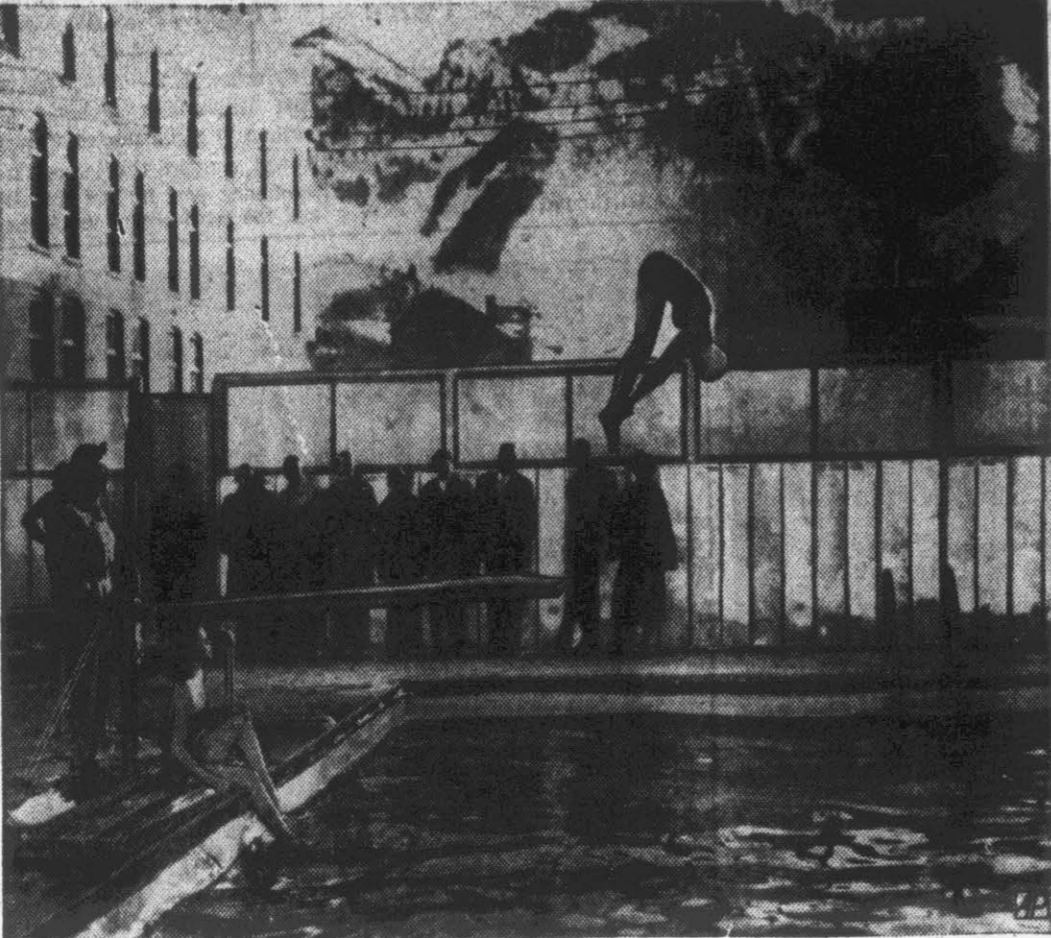

Of the price of wool rises, the cost of all other things that go into making a woolen or worsted suit also show substantial increases.

Trade sources say it costs three times as much to make the cloth as it did in pre-war days. It costs two to two and one-half times as much to make the garment out of the cloth.

Behind all of this is a world-wide demand for wool. More wool is being consumed than ever before. Less wool is being produced.

Before the war American mills used $50,000,000 pounds of wool annually and the country produced 425,000,000 to 475,000,000 pounds.

Now this country consumes at a rate of nearly 900,000,000 pounds a year and domestic production is around 225,000,000 pounds.

New Record For Weekly Pay Set

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—A new record in weekly pay and the year's highest level of employment were chalked up in the last month of 1949, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today.

The average weekly earnings for 11,500,000 production workers in the nation's manufacturing establishments reached a new high of $56.20 in mid-December.

A 1949 peak of 43,700,000 persons was reported in industrial and commercial employment. That was an increase of 92,000 over the mid-November figure.

Pre-holiday seasonal increases in trade and postoffice activities accounted for most of the gain in employment. Also, 275,000 workers in steel and automobile industries were back on the job following wide-scale strikes.

Manufacturing, led by textiles and wearing apparel, increased by one quarter of a million between July and December, the Bureau reported.

Raleigh, Jan. 25—(AP)—North Carolina had 2,199 new bridges added to its highway system last year.

Twelve of the 22 men on the Michigan State basketball roster and three of the five most frequent starters are sophomores.

British Tories Promise Keep Welfare State And Economize

London, Jan. 25—(AP)—Winston Churchill's Conservatives promised today to run Britain's welfare state more economically, with less rationing and an end to Nationalization if they are elected Feb. 23.

The Tory Manifesto, issued a week after that of Prime Minister Attlee's Labor party, pledged to maintain the country's huge national health plan and other social services, at the same time cutting taxes.

The campaign platform was aimed principally at stopping the present labor regime's trend. It also called for encouragement to American and British investors in the British colonies as a source of income.

It pledged close cooperation with the United States to help "all countries in Europe, Asia or elsewhere to resist the aggression of Communism."

Noting that U. S. dollar aid is due to end in 1952, the Tory platform called for cheaper production at home and an Empire economic conference to promote dollar-earning exports.

"We shall bring Nationalization to a full stop here and now," the Conservatives said.

They promised to repeal the labor-sponsored law which is scheduled to put British iron and steel industries under state ownership on Jan. 1, 1951.

Standing for private enterprise, they said they oppose the labor party's proposal to Nationalize sugar, cement, meat, wholesaling and water works.

Wherever possible, they said, they would offer to sell Nationalized truck lines and bus and streetcar lines back to their original private owners.

Although the main clash between the Tories and the Laborites is on the issue of government ownership of industry, the Conservatives did not recommend immediate return of all Nationalized industry to private hands.

In the case of the Socialized coal industry and government-owned railroads, Conservatives said they would decentralize the administrations to promote more efficiency.

Sums Up Year's Important Needs

Philadelphia—(AP)—A Presbyterian pastor says he thinks he has the answer to 1950's most important problems. The Rev. Arthur D. Williams said:

"We need better leaders, freedom from fear and help for social cripples. There are too many people today who are ready to brand any and all who speak freely about the shortcomings of society as subversive. The result of this is that many splendid citizens see wrong and are afraid to speak"—and act because of the smear threat."

Friday Recital To Feature Premier Of Sonata By American Composer

Robert Carter, above, assistant professor of music at East Carolina Teachers College, will give a sonata by an American composer its premier performance when he appears in a recital on the college campus Friday evening, January 27. He will play at that time Sonata, No. 1, by Alice Hunt-Sokoloff of Lakeland, Florida.

The program is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock in the Wright auditorium and will be open to the public.

Before joining the East Carolina faculty last September, Mr. Carter taught at Florida Southern College at Lakeland. In the Florida city he met Alice Hunt-Sokoloff and became an admirer of her work as a composer. The sonata, which was completed in December, 1948, is scheduled for publication by Boosey and Hawkes, English publishers, next spring. Mr. Carter learned the work from the composer's manuscript copy and will introduce it for the first time to any audience Friday evening of this week.

Alice Hunt-Sokoloff studied for many years with Alexander Siloti, pianist and conductor, who was a pupil of Liszt, Anton and Nicholas Rubinstein, and Tchaikowsky, and a teacher of Rachmaninoff and other eminent pianists. In theory and composition she studied with such eminent teachers as Rubin Goldmark, C. Shevedoff, and Lazare Samensky. Her sonata, she says, is "without a program" and "in substantially classical form."

Other numbers on Mr. Carter's program will be works by Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms. Mr. Carter gave his first full-length program in North Carolina last Sunday afternoon, when he appeared in a recital before the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Benjamin May Chapter House in Farmville.

They are accused of robbing and tying up their victims as they arrived in the course of a five hour period on the scene of the fish fry, a place known as the "Hole in the Wall" near here.

Second Arrest In Dynamiting

Charlotte, Jan. 25—(AP)— Charlotte police today announced the arrest of another man in the attempted dynamiting of radio station WBT's broadcasting tower here early Sunday.

Police Chief Frank Littlejohn said that Burris Boyd of Columbia was arrested in Columbia, S.C., yesterday. He identified Boyd as a nephew of Chesley Morgan (Chud) Lovell, a Columbia painter who police said was arrested after flinging a dynamite charge at the base of the 435-foot tower.

Littlejohn reported that Boyd is being held on an open charge while investigation of the dynamiting attempt continues.

Still another arrest of a so-called "important man" was reported to be imminent today. Detectives in both Charlotte and Columbia are checking evidence in the case.

Littlejohn gave out little information about Boyd except to say that he is related to Lovell. The chief reported that arrangements had been made to permit Boyd and Lovell's wife, both in Columbia, to talk by telephone with Lovell today. Lovell is in jail here.

McCloy Believes Powers Ample To Control Germans

Washington, Jan. 24—(AP)—High Commissioner John J. McCloy says he is ready to crack down "swiftly and firmly" if a dangerous revival of nationalism should develop in Western Germany.

While expressing confidence that pro-Western democratic elements will prevail, McCloy acknowledged in a report on his first six months in Germany, there is peril from the extremists—especially if they join forces with Soviet Russia.

His view is that the United States, Britain and France retained "ample powers" in setting up the Bonn regime to deal with any threat. They have authority to intervene directly, and can deny further concessions to the West German government, he noted.

"If necessary, I would not hesitate to apply these remedies swiftly and firmly," McCloy declared last night. McCloy gave a progress report in a radio address after conferences with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson following his arrival for a week's stay in the capital. He brought up the matter of the authority retained by the occupation forces because he said there is some feeling the West gave up power too soon.

"If there were no danger in Germany we would not be there," he said.

"Germany constitutes a danger within itself and even more fearful danger if allied with, or subordinated to, the interests of the Soviet Union."

He said that the Communist and rightist extremists "seem prepared to get together with the totalitarianism of the Soviets, should a good opportunity present itself."

On the other side of the picture, McCloy declared that a vast majority of the Germans are deeply opposed to militarism and war and "want no more military adventures." He concluded that "we face a hard task in Germany" but added: "Within Germany itself, I firmly believe, there exist spiritual resources from which can emerge a peaceful democratic state, prepared to take its place as a true member of the Western world."

Sheep Dogs Ride On Motorcycle

Sydney, Australia—(AP)—In the far west of South Australia, where they don't figure sheep to the acre but reckon square miles to the sheep and young ranch hands are motor mechanics not horsemen, it is not unusual to see a motorcycle snorting along narrow, winding sheep paths with a dog standing on the pillion, its tail feathering in the wind, giving as good a display of trick riding as could be seen in any circus.

When the rider halts the machine, the dog, often a Border Collie, leaps away and, before a cigarette can be rolled and smoked, will muster a herd of 500 to 600 half-wild ewes and lambs from the dusty scrub.

Baby Overcomes Fifth Attack Of Meningitis

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Little Johnny Cavallieri, not yet three years old, already has won his fifth battle of meningitis. Doctors at Children's Hospital, where Johnny is convalescing, said they doubted if medical literature listed any individual who suffered as many as five attacks of this severe disease.

Meningitis is an infection affecting the central nervous system. It involves the spinal fluid in the membrane surrounding the spine and brain. Doctors say that while one attack of meningitis doesn't make a person immune from another, it is rare when a person suffers a second attack.

Pam Pack Edges Out Phantoms By 35-32

Nip And Tuck Battle Is Decided In Final Period

Greenville's high school Phantoms waxed and then waned their way through a frantic ball game with the Pam Pack of Washington last night, winding up the loser in the last two minutes, 35-32.

An estimated 800 persons in Wright gymnasium saw the local boys in green come from behind a 16-12 halftime score to the fore in the opening minutes of the third period, tying the Pack at the two-minute mark, 16-16.

Previously, in the second period, the locals came from a 14-4 deficit to score eight points before the halftime gun while holding the Washington team to two points.

However much their fighting tactics helped them in the second half, the Phantoms weren't able to sustain their scoring drive through to the gun and allowed the Pack to go ahead on a last ditch goal, plus two foul shots that put the game on ice for the evening.

The scoring was nip-and-tuck all the way through the last half. The score was tied five times during this time, the Phantoms snapping out of a scoring lull that had seen them push through their first goal at the six-minute mark of the first quarter. Sawyer knotted the count at 16-16 on a free-throw at the two-minute mark of the third period. Then the Pack forged ahead with a goal and Briley again tied it up a minute later at 18-18. The Pack matched that goal and so did Briley of the locals again at 4:10.

With the score at 20-up Greenville went ahead for the next two minutes by a three point margin. But a free throw and a bucket by Washington put them ahead by one point. Greenville again tied it up at 8:10 but the Pack forged ahead again only seconds later, putting the score at 25-23.

From there on to the last minute the score changed hands three times on alternate goals by both teams.

Leading Bo Farley's club was Sid Briley, the tall center and a demon on rebounds under both baskets, with nine points. He was headed, though, by Fowle, the Washington left guard, with 14 points. Fowle's running mate, Garland Holmes, last year's all-conference guard and high scorer for his team, was held to three points last night by the close guarding of Joe Sawyer. He was held down somewhat by a split thumb that was mashed in a car door last weekend.

Defensively, the whole Greenville club were scrappers all through the second half. However, Sid Briley walked off with scoring and defensive honors for his work under the baskets. For the Pam Pack, Asby, a forward, was all over the floor after the ball.

In the first game of the evening, the Junior Varsity Phantoms won a listless game from the Pack Juniors, 27-18, cashing in on the 16 points of forward Moore who was high scorer for the locals. Behind him was Scott with six points. The only other Phant who scored was Higgs with three.

For the Pack Juniors, the high scorers were Hackler and Woolard, guard and forward, who got six points apiece.

For coach Woody Wilson's club, the win made for them a six and two won-loss record. Halftime score was Greenville 13-10.

Antolick Again Slated Manage Tarboro Entry

Tarboro, Jan. 24 — Tarboro fans had their favorite question answered today when an announcement was received from Art Ehlers, farm organization director of the Philadelphia Athletics, to the effect that Joe Antolick would manage the Tarboro entry in the Coastal Plain League during the coming baseball season.

Ehlers has also announced that Tommy Clark, business manager at Reidsville in the Carolina League last year, would be business manager for the Tarboro club. Clark replaces Edward Durand.

Antolick, coming to Tarboro with a group of green rookies, built the local team into a formidable club during the last half of the 1949 season. He captured the title of "most popular manager" in the various polls conducted in the league's ties.

East Carolina's Ring Team Prepares For Return Match With Gamecocks

By BILL LLOYD

Coach Johnny Long's East Carolina ring team, currently making high impressions in the Carolina's boxing circles, continued their heavy workout this week in preparing for their return match with the strong Southern Conference team, the University of South Carolina Gamecocks in a slated ten-bout ring card here next Wednesday evening, Feb. 1.

Plenty of roadwork, callisthenics, and sparring is being stressed in Coach Long's training camp this week, as the East Carolina boxers ready themselves for their return revenge scrap with the highly-rated Palmettoes. The South Carolinians defeated the Pirates by a close decision of 6 1-2 to 3 1-2 during the Christmas holidays at Columbia, S. C.

Leading the Pirate pugs in their drills this week the Buc's freshman sensation, Crowell Williamson, 150 pounder, from Whiteville, N. C. Williamson lost a loudly booed decision to South Carolina's Jim Briggman in the first match of the two schools and will be seeking revenge in his bout here next week. Briggman is the Southern conference's defending middleweight champion.

Participating in the heavy drills this week along with Williamson, is Cecil Phillips, East Carolina's undefeated 145 pounder. Phillips is a veteran of the boxing ring, and is a former winner of the Australian armed forces tournament, and was runner-up in his division bout in the European Theatre Operations service tournament.

Another outstanding Pirate pug who has been up and coming in his last two bouts is Bill "Punchy" Cole, the little 130 pounder from Goldboro, N. C. Cole gained a wide decision over his Virginia Athletic club foe, here a few weeks ago. In his match with the Citadel last week, Cole won by TKO over the cadets highly-rated Bob Carr.

Other fighters working out in preparation for the South Carolina match are Cleon Smith, 125 lbs., Homer Thomas, 136 lbs., Charlie Edwards, 140 lbs., Ken Stargardt, 155 lbs., H. A. Creef, 160 lbs., Bill Torrens, 165 lbs., and Henry Fordham, heavyweight.

Vanceboro Takes Ayden Comes From Behind To Win Over Dover Nip Winterville Quint By 38-35

Vanceboro, Jan. 25—Vanceboro took a closely-contested game from Dover last night, moving out in front by a whisker in the last handful of seconds to win 38-36.

The contest was a thriller to the final gun. In the closing ten seconds Dover was ahead, seemingly comfortably, with a one-point lead. Then Vanceboro's Norman attempted a desperation goal which wouldn't sink. However, he was fouled on the play and got two foul shots.

One of them fell through to tie the count but the other rimmed around and out. Then Claude Wilson sank a goal for the locals as the gun went off, putting his team out in front and off the floor the winners.

The Merrifield finish was sewed up by Wilson who contributed to the closeness of the game throughout, scoring 10 points. His running mate, Ernest Boyd, also bucketed 10 points. Wilson was the big gun on defense.

For Dover the offensive gun was Pete Williams with 12 points followed by Wilberington with 11.

To date Vanceboro has won all its conference games. Its current won-loss record is 14 to 3. It plays in the Farmville tournament this week with the next game with Ayden there.

The Pirates play the Newport News Naval Apprentice School here tomorrow, in a non-conference game, and engage the Lenoir-Rhyne Bears here Saturday in a North State headliner.

Returning home for the first time in two weeks after playing three games on the road in which they won one and lost two, the Pirates went through extensive drills of shooting and offensive strategy yesterday, with some emphasis being stressed on defense.

Coach Howard Porter worked his two high-scoring cagers, Sonny Russell and Jack Everton, in the forward positions. Toddy Fennell held down the pivot position, with Louis Collie and Len Bauer, at the guard spots. This five is expected to start tomorrow night's game with the Apprentices. In the event, that height is needed in tomorrow's tilt, Porter stated he may use his capable reserves of Big Frank Maennle, Doug Guthrie, and Roger Thrift in the lineup to give the Pirates strength in handling the rebounds and controlling the ball.

Both home games this week will be return games. The Buccaneers defeated the sailors earlier in the season by the score of 56-53.

Appalachian And Guilford Adding Wins To Record

By The Associated Press

Appalachian State and Guilford added North Carolina State Conference victories to their records in Tuesday night basketball action involving North Carolina colleges.

It was only the second loop victory of the season for Guilford as the Quakers defeated Atlantic Christian, 63 to 40. Appalachian downed Elon by a decisive 78-48 margin in the night's other conference tilt.

Taking on outside competition, the western Carolina Catamounts dropped a 4-38 decision to East Tennessee State in a loopy played game.

Last night's three-game offering narrows still further tonight with a schedule of only two games. North Carolina State plays host to the University of Louisville while on the North State front Elon is at Lenoir-Rhyne.

This is Charlie Spedel's 12th season as Penn State wrestling coach. He was absent only during war service.

Bethel Divides Jamesville Game

Bethel, Jan. 25—The Bethel Indians split a twin-bill with Jamesville last night, the boys taking the nightcap 38-29 and the girls losing to the visitors 38-30.

In a slow-scoring game that saw both boys' teams with their defenses up, the Indians led from the end of the first quarter, the game never in doubt after that period.

Jamesville employed a zone defense which tended to hold the scoring down somewhat while Bethel was playing its usual man-to-man defense throughout. Halftime score had the locals out in front by a score of 16-12.

The victors now sport an 11-and-1 record for the season, the win last night putting them a few percentage points ahead of Ayden who won their game with Winterville last night.

High scorer for the boys from Bethel was John Nelson, center, with 10 points. Following him behind him was Fred Keel with nine. Defensively for the locals, Hilton Teterton was the guard to contend with. For the visitors Randy Waters was high with nine points, followed by Styons with eight.

In the preliminary Jamesville made up for the defeat of the boys in the finale by taking the locals into camp, 38-30. The visiting girls led practically all the way, leaving the floor at halftime with a nine-point margin, 23-14.

For the visitors, and eventual winners, Barbara Coltrain had her hook shot working overtime last night. She connected with 26 big points, four less than her mates' grand total, for high scorer for both clubs. For Bethel Peggy Batchelor pushed in 12 points while Toddy Smith was getting 10.

Tonight, Bethel plays in the tournament at Farmville. The next home game for the Indians is with Farmville next Tuesday night.

Exercise Boy Owns A Winner

J. J. Sarnier Jr., of Washington, D. C., was exercise boy for Christiana Stables and liked Robber so well that when the stable held a dispersal sale at Saratoga, N. Y., last fall, he bought the three-year-old gelding.

Further Honors For Jim Thorpe

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 25—(AP)—Jim Thorpe, already voted the No. 1 football player of the last 50 years in a nation-wide poll, will receive another honor tonight.

The 61-year-old Sac and Fox Indian will be designated "the greatest athlete in Pennsylvania history." The award will be made by Gov. James H. Duff at the annual dinner of the Harrisburg Sports Writers Association.

Record Smasher

East Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Bill Rapchak, Michigan States high scoring basketball forward, breaks Spartan career scoring mark every time he makes a point during the 1949-50 season. Rapchak already holds the State career mark and single-game scoring records.

Icemen Get Around

New York—(AP)—There are 32 players currently in the National Hockey League who have played for two or more NHL clubs. One iceman Bud Polle, has performed for five teams. Pat Efan is with his fourth club. And Joe Carveth of Detroit has played for three teams and is back with the club he started with.

Chapter 21
The weed-scrubbed shed was remote, ideally suited to intrigue. Yet it was close to the few business buildings which now went to make up the town. A scant stone's throw away was the unprepossessing rear door of the Philadelphia Store.

There was little which was impressive about it except its name. As his own business had gone from bad to worse, so, too, had Sam Underhill. He found it convenient to slip out of the back door of his own establishment and down to the other saloon. Since customers were a rarity, it made little difference that he was absent for increasingly long periods of time.

This was in Zachary's mind now, as he talked to Far Runner and kept an observant eye on the rear door of the Philadelphia Store at the same time.

He saw Underhill slip out at the rear door while they talked, and head for the back door of the saloon. Since this was a regular habit at this time, he knew with reasonable certainty that Underhill would stay there for the better part of an hour before returning to see if any business had happened to stray his way.

Zachary led Far Runner straight to that rear door, keeping a sharp watch as he went. Inside the store, Zachary paused for a moment to thoughts, Far Runner did not notice that he was being followed until he heard a shout, and turned to look back.

Far Runner hesitated. And while he hesitated, Underhill threw his rifle to his shoulder and fired.

The one shot was enough. The heavy caliber bullet struck Far Runner squarely between his shoulder blades. He swayed for a moment, then tumbled to the ground and lay sprawled, while his pony ran wildly, riderless.

Grunting with satisfaction, Underhill rode up. The three blankets were still clutched in Far Runner's arm, and Underhill gathered them up. Then, leaving the Indian lying there and without a second glance at him, Underhill rode back toward the town again.

From there, watching Zachary had a smile of satisfaction. It had worked out so far exactly as he had planned it. There had been no slips of any sort. He saw the triumphant Underhill returning his horse to where he had found it, then heading for his store without a backward glance. But Zachary's eyes had again roved to the hills, and already he saw what he had expected: a thin streamer of smoke, then another, beginning to rise toward the sky.

Training Of Teachers Must Be Quadrupled For 1953-54 Needs

America's colleges will have to train four times as many grade school teachers as were trained last year to meet the peak need for new teachers in 1953-54, when a children will crowd the schools.

This conclusion is contained in a 90-page bulletin, "Employment Outlook for Elementary and Secondary School Teachers," released today. The publication—the first to analyze the long-run need for teachers on a state-by-state basis—was prepared by the U. S. Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics in cooperation with the Veterans Administration.

State departments of education, teachers' associations, the U. S. Office of Education, and other groups and individuals in the educational field helped in the preparation.

The main cause of the severe grade school problem, the report states, has been that teacher-training institutions in most states are turning out far fewer than are needed. In 1949, for example, 25,000 teachers were trained, yet the need was for 75,000.

Also, the need for teachers has been more acute by the millions of "war babies," many of them already of grammar school age; millions more "post-war babies" soon will be starting school.

Peak enrollment in grades one to eight is expected about 1957 in most States. However, the report points out, the greatest number of new teachers will have to be hired in 1953, when the most rapid rise in enrollments is anticipated.

The picture for high school teachers is quite different. Nearly every State now has an oversupply of high school teachers except in special subject fields such as home economics, commercial work, and industrial arts. In 1949, four high school teachers were trained for every one who was needed.

The outlook for teachers at the secondary school level may become worse before it gets better. The number of high school teachers required in most States probably will decline slightly until 1952. For three years after 1952, the report predicts a slowly increasing need. Next will come a rapid increase until the late 1950's as the peak numbers of students move from the lower grades into high school.

The report presents charts to illustrate another reason for the shortage of teachers at grade school levels. It points out that more new teachers will be required to take the places of those leaving the profession than will be needed to handle the additional youngsters.

The rate of leaving varies widely from State to State. In 19 States the 1948-49 rate ranged from 3 to 18 percent.

As an example, enrollments in Kansas elementary schools are expected to be 50,000 higher by 1956 than at present. It will probably take about 1,500 new teachers to handle the increase, and another 12,000 for replacements alone, should the withdrawal rate remain as high as it was in 1948.

On the other hand, Arizona grade school enrollments are expected to increase by about 36,000 by 1956, requiring about 1,200 new teachers. But, partly because of lower withdrawal rates, only 2,000 additional teachers will be needed for replacements if the rate of leaving stays the same as in 1948.

The problem of grade school teacher shortage is complicated by varying conditions and salaries from State to State. Many States, with relatively good salaries and working conditions, draw teachers from other States. This increases the training problem for the less fortunate States.

Farms Equalled 1949 Production

By OVID A. MARTIN
Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—Final comparative reports showed today that American farms in 1949 equalled the production record set in 1948.

The Agriculture Department had previously reported that crop production was down four per cent from 1948. However, figures on livestock production brought the 1949 total output to the record level.

Meanwhile, farmers started 1950 off with a continued heavy volume of sales. But their total income for January, 1950, is expected by the department to be about $2,200,000,000 or 10 per cent below the amount they received in January 1949. This drop in returns largely reflects lower farm prices.

The total volume of farm production for sale and consumption in farm homes in 1949 was 39 per cent above the 1935-39 average. Crop production and production of livestock products were each somewhat below their previous highs, but together they brought the total volume to the record level.

Production in livestock and livestock products last year was 3 per cent above 1948, but it was 7 per cent under the 1944 peak. As compared with 1948, increased sales of cattle and hogs, partly offset by a substantial decline in sheep and lambs, accounted for the gain in meat animals.

Funeral Friday For Bessie B. Barnhill

Miss Bessie B. Barnhill, 62, died in Stevens Hospital in Leesburg, Florida, at 1:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon after having been critically ill for the past week. Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home at three o'clock Friday afternoon by the Rev. J. A. Neilson, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery. Active pallbearers will be her nephews: John Taylor Barnhill, Richard Barnhill, R. H. McLawhorn, D. T. McLawhorn, J. Barnhill, Roscoe Barnhill, John Ashley Whitchard, and Nathan Barnhill.

Miss Barnhill, daughter of the late John Richard and Magillie Manning Barnhill, was born and reared in Pitt County near Greenville. She attended East Carolina Teachers College in 1909, the first year the college was open, and then taught school for several years in Pitt County. Later she attended Massey Business School in Richmond, and then taught at Hardberger's Business School in Raleigh. She then became affiliated with hospital work and was the business manager of several hospitals in North Carolina and one in Illinois before retiring in 1939 because of ill health. She had been spending the summers in Pitt County with relatives and the winters in Florida since her retirement. She was a member of Hickory Grove Free Will Baptist Church near Stokes.

Surviving are three brothers, William T. Barnhill of Suffolk, Va., J. K. Barnhill of near Stokes, and Arthur R. Barnhill of near Greenville; a sister, Mrs. Lottie B. Whitchard of Greenville; and a large number of nieces and nephews.

Sees Additional Outlays For Price Support

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—A Republican lawmaker said today congress must authorize another $2,000,000,000 to support prices of this year's farm crops.

"There is no question but what the additional loan authority will be voted," Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) ranking GOP member of the Senate Agriculture committee, told a reporter.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told the Senate committee yesterday that he already has used $3,400,000,000 of the $4,750,000,000 authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which finances the mechanics of price support. He added that $2,000,000,000 more is needed to carry out price supports promised on this year's crops.

Describes India To College Club

Mantrala L. N. Sastrri, graduate student from India now studying at Duke University, recalled some aspects of his country's past and touched upon problems of the present-day there in a talk before the International Relations Club at East Carolina Teachers College Tuesday evening of this week. The meeting drew to the Flanagan auditorium on the campus an audience of approximately 100 students, faculty members, and visitors.

India, said Mr. Sastrri, has a long and a great past. He told of the country's rich material assets and of the great Indian works of philosophy and religion which have influenced thinkers throughout the world.

"If today you blame India for backwardness," he stated, "blame Britain" for her colonial policies as carried out there. "There is no value," he added, however, "in keeping past bitterness in mind," and predicted a great future for his country.

Speaking of the new constitution for India, he said that his country would have a democratic government. As signs of progress already evident he cited the facts that the caste system has "almost disappeared" and that the status of women, "formerly a tragedy," has improved greatly.

Gandhi and Nehru he described as wise and powerful leaders, and he praised the Indian policy of non-violence.

"How it will work in case of Russian aggression," he commented, "I have no way of knowing." The Communist threat to India was mentioned a number of times in his talk. "Communism has no place in India," he said. "I believe India will resist Communism."

Questioned from the floor about the situation in China, he said that in the opinion of many Indians Communist success there amounts to a victory of the Chinese people in taking over their own government.

Fall Quarter Honor Roll Includes 37 From County

Six students at East Carolina Teachers College made "ones," or the highest possible grades, on all courses taken during the fall quarter. Their names led a list of 251 men and women who were included on the honor roll for the period, recently issued by Dr. J. K. Long, registrar.

The requirement for mention on the honor list is an average of "two," or better, on all courses taken. Men included on Dr. Long's fall quarter list numbered 118, and women 133.

According to Dr. Long, 15.12 per cent of all students enrolled at East Carolina for the fall quarter made the honor roll.

Those with the exceptional records of straight "ones" include five North Carolinians, three of them from Pitt County, and one Virginian. They are Herbert R. Carleton, sophomore from Galax, Va.; Amos John B. Parker; Farmville—Porrest C. Dolly; Grimesland—W. E. Tucker; Stokes—J. Eric Whitchard, Jacqueline Barnhill; Winterville—Leah McElhannon; Robersonville—Gloria Whitehurst.

Banquet Honors Members Of 100-Bushel Corn Club

Members of the 100 bushel corn club of Pitt County were feted last night by the Chamber of Commerce at a banquet at the Woman's Club, followed by an open meeting of corn farmers in the Court House.

About 40 persons, farmers and 4-H club members and members of the Chamber of Commerce, gathered for dinner and a short program at 6:30. President L. S. Picklen of the Chamber presided at the meeting, welcoming the club and recognizing their corn production for the past year. Assistant County Farm Agent C. J. Goodman responded on behalf of the club and introduced several adult farmers and 4-H members who went over the 100 bushel mark in 1949.

At the Court House meeting, E. R. Collins of the Agronomy department at State College gave an illustrated lecture on new methods of corn production, showing how the nitrogen content of the soil under cultivation would raise the protein of the corn proportionately.

Collins lectured on the ingredients of good corn production, listing land and seed selection, rates of fertilization of the crop, spacing of the rows and plants, and methods of cultivation now being tested.

Floyd P. Hendrix, chairman of the Chamber's committee on agriculture, gave a short talk at the banquet in which he outlined the committee's programs for this year. The program calls for another banquet for the corn club at the end of the present growing season and expressed the hope that there would be 400 members of the club at that time. The group now comprises around 50 adult farmers and 4-H boys, all having produced over 100 bushels of corn per acre.

Hendrix said that his committee would sponsor further hog sales in the county in addition to again sponsoring the Junior swine show. A new development in the dairy cattle picture in Pitt County is being planned for this year, Hendrix said. That is the introduction of an artificial insemination program for local farmers which will provide sire service for them to produce better herds. Hendrix said that herds born of this program would have blood and characteristics from the best dairy cattle in the county.

The Chamber is now working on more storage space for the farmer's corn, Hendrix said, which will provide them with closer outlets for their crop. This in turn will enable more farmers to take advantage of Commodity Credit Corporation loans, thus keeping the price of corn up at harvest time.

Goodman presented plaques to the new members of the club at the 7:30 meeting in the Court Room. Last year's champions were W. A. Eastwood, Greenville, producing 129.8 bushels, and Brooks Mills, 4-H club, producing 128.6 bushels per acre.

The corn club in this county was begun two years ago, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber gave the hybrid corn to the growers which enabled them to grow the larger crop.

Offers Tax Plan To Meet Outlays

Washington, Jan. 25—(AP)—Balancing the federal budget next year by making corporations pay their income taxes sooner was proposed today by Rep. Mills (D-Ark).

Mills, a member of the tax-drafting House Ways and Means committee, said he will present his plan during committee consideration of President Truman's tax program. His idea is to require corporations to pay in the first six months of a year all the taxes due on income of the previous year.

from the Western world, chiefly America. But in view of the fact that Russia has been calling for foodstuffs for herself from Manchuria, it seems doubtful if Moscow could help greatly. And the Western world is barred by war conditions, even if the Communists wanted help from that source.

It's safe to assume that China's economic plight has been one of the main topics of discussion between the Chinese Communist chief, General Mao Tze-Tung, and Marshal Stalin in their protracted Moscow conference. One would suppose that Stalin would do his utmost to solve the problem without giving the Western powers a chance to get into the picture any further than they are already.

Food of course is the foremost necessity and it strikes me that this is likely to influence the military strategy of the Chinese Communists. It won't be surprising to see the Communist armies continuing their push toward Burma and Indo-China, these being among the great rice producing countries which have an exportable surplus of this Oriental staff of life. Such military proximity would be calculated to encourage "friendship." And there is small doubt that the Communists envisage bringing all the Asiatic countries into the Red empire ultimately.

In any event, there is stark tragedy ahead for the rank and file in China for many years to come. Untold millions will die of hunger and other privations before the world-wide battle of the isms has run its course to a decision. It's China's bad luck to be the principal Asiatic melting-pot of the moment.

estic servants, seamen and fishermen. Most retail stores or service establishments are continued exempt. But the law has been changed to except more of them.

The old retail exemption said a store was exempt if half of its retail sales was in "intra-state commerce," meaning within the state where the store was located.

But many retailers sold goods in a state which eventually were taken over into another state. The courts held this made such sales a part of interstate, not intra-state, commerce.

Now the law says retail stores are exempt if half of its retail sales are made within the state where the store is located. This means the retailer's exemption won't be lost if goods he sells at retail in a state are later carried over into another state.

There are a lot of changes like that which seem to make it wise for an employer to consult the wage-hour administration, or a lawyer, if he has doubts. Some employers, previously covered, may find they are now exempt.

Or the reverse may be true. Some workers, previously exempt, are now covered. For instance, the minimum wage provisions have been applied to airline and fish canner workers. They are still exempt from the overtime requirements.

New powers to enforce the law have been given the government. Formerly only employees could sue if they claimed back wages. Now the wage-hour administration can sue for them, if he has their written consent.

(Tomorrow: More about the exemptions.)

Prison Term For Farmville Negro

Luther Mitchell, 38-year-old Negro of the Farmville community, was found guilty of manslaughter today in the death of another Farmville Negro, Andrew Moore, last December 17.

The Superior Court jury returned a verdict to Judge Walter Bone in 15 minutes after they left the room this morning. Mitchell was sentenced to 10-15 years in prison.

Originally he plead not guilty to a charge of second degree murder, offering in his testimony that he stabbed Moore in self defense. Mitchell offered no defense for his case, choosing to question the prosecuting witnesses.

Yesterday morning's testimony brought out the fact that one of the witnesses testifying against the defendant was his wife, resulting in a mistrial for the time being.

Other witnesses yesterday afternoon described how the Negro entered his own home, began swearing at his wife, Laura Moore Mitchell, and how Moore and the rest of the family attempted to make him stop abusing his wife.

Mitchell stated that "they all jumped on me" and that in the scuffle he stabbed Moore once to keep him from "cutting me." He said that after the cutting he ran from the house down the road and that he was met by Moore's younger brother who told him to "wait here until I get a gun and I'll kill you."

Mitchell said he waited on the spot until the man came back with a shotgun. Looking down the barrel of the gun, he said, he ducked under it and got it away from him before he could shoot. Mitchell then said he went away from the neighborhood and was caught by bloodhounds from the sheriff's department.

The defendant, a native of Harnett County, has lived in the Farmville community for some years.

In addition to Mitchell's trial, the Grand Jury reported yesterday afternoon that the trial of Grover Lee Smith, Greenville man, who is charged with manslaughter in the highway deaths of four local persons last December 10, will be tried at a later term of Superior Court. Monday the Grand Jury returned true bills against Smith on four counts of manslaughter.

Other true bills returned yesterday included: Joshua Williams, assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill; George Atkinson, abandonment and non-support; George Green, larceny; Charlie Hill, larceny; and Freddie Coward, manslaughter.

Judgments given in yesterday's calendar were:

John Henry Kornegay, assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill; not guilty on both counts.

James McFadden, breaking an entering, larceny; six months of the roads.

Garland Thomas O'Mary, reckless driving, larceny, driving without license; changed a plea of not guilty to guilty; prayer for judgment until Friday, January 27.

Jarvis Henderson Capps, reckless driving; not pros.

Lev Marmond, assault with deadly weapon; called and failed.

Five In Family Killed By Blaze

Hatboro, Pa., Jan. 25—(AP)—Five members of the same family were burned to death when flames swept through their home today.

The victims were Horace Morrow, 39; his wife, Claire, 41, and their three daughters, Virginia, 14, Patricia, nine, and Loletta, two, all of Lacey Park, a housing project one mile north of Hatboro.

Mrs. Morrow, her hair singed and her bedclothing almost completely burned off, escaped from the house, but perished as she returned in search of her husband and children.

A neighbor, John Kruse, said Mrs. Morrow banged on the door of his home and yelled that her house was on fire.

Before Kruse could get to the first floor, Mrs. Morrow had gone back to her own house and died in the flames.

On the way to the Morrow home Kruse was joined by another neighbor, Francis Heaton, who said he was awakened by the screams of Morrow and his daughters—trapped on the second floor.
