Vogeler Is Given 15-Year Term On Spying Charges

Two Hungarian Co-Defendants Sentenced To Death; American Plans Appeal

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 21—(AP)—American businessman Robert A. Vogeler was sentenced today to 15 years in prison on spy charges. Two Hungarian co-defendants were sentenced to death.

The defense immediately announced appeal to a higher court, and the prosecution hammered back with a statement that it, too, would appeal and demand heavier penalties for the five defendants who escaped the death sentence.

The death sentence was meted out to Imre Geiger, manager of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s Budapest branch, and Zoltan Rado, former department chief in Hungary's ministry of heavy industry.

Edgar Sanders, Vogeler's British aide in the I.T.T. branch, Standard Electric Works, was sentenced to 13 years.

The same prosecution announced an appeal when Josef Cardinal Mindszenty was sentenced to life imprisonment for plotting against the state. The cardinal also appealed, but the original sentences in the case were unchanged by the higher court.

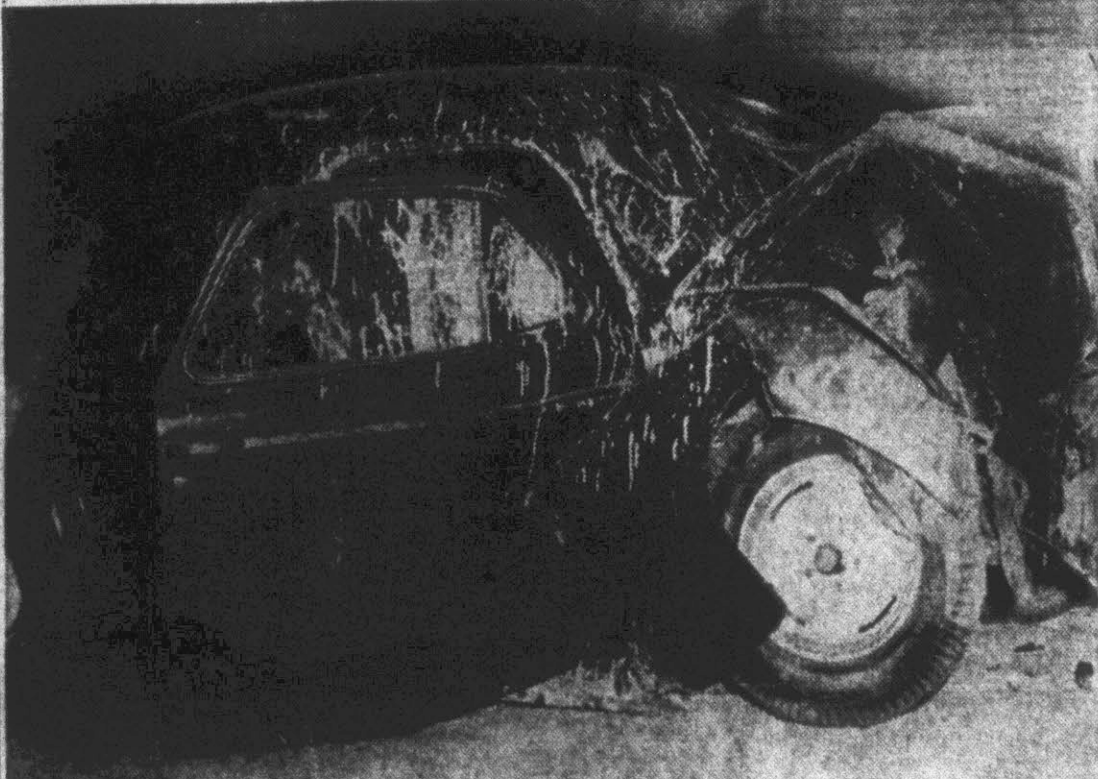

Geiger, Rado and the other defendants all are Hungarian nationals. The court sentenced the Rev. Istvan Justh, a Roman Catholic priest, and Kelemen Domokos, accountant in the Standard Company, to 10 years. Edina Doery, a barmaid, was given a five-year term.

Vogeler, 38, assistant vice president of the I.T.T., and the other six defendants had confessed to charges of ferreting out Hungarian economic and industrial secrets on instructions of the American Intelligence Service, of sabotaging the productive capacity of the Standard firm to harm Hungarian economy, and of sabotaging deliveries to the Soviet Union and East European Communist countries.

Vogeler, Sanders and the five Hungarians had pleaded guilty to the charges and had made object statements to the court.

United States Minister Nathaniel Davis had been barred from visiting Vogeler and Sanders during their three months in custody.

Collision Cars In Which Three Died, Two Hurt

Two persons died as a result of a head-on collision last night and a third died early this afternoon in Pitt General hospital. The accident occurred a half mile from Bell's Fork at dusk last night. Besides the three dead, two others were injured in the collision. The photo shows the car driven by Mrs. Thomas E. Venters, of Route 1, as the scene of the accident. Paint carried in the car spilled over the front seat of the car, while the entire car, The motor in both of the cars were pushed back into the front of the car, while the front sections of the cars were "telescoped" together. The bottom photo pictures the other car which was involved in the worst accident in Pitt county this year. Charlie L. Whitfield, Jr., was the driver of the car at the time of the head-on collision. One Witness Is Dismissed Today

Manchester, N. H., Feb. 21—(AP)—A British-born juror—the oldest of nine seated so far in the Sander "mercenary killing" trial—was dismissed today after the prosecution raised a belated challenge.

Counsel for Dr. Hermann N. Sander offered no objections to removing 72-year-old Albert Baines, a retired Manchester gas company employee who came to this country about 40 years ago.

Baines, a Presbyterian, was one of three protestants among the first nine jurors chosen yesterday to try Sander on a charge of murder for pumping air into a hopeless cancer patient to end her suffering.

Demonstrate For Education Fund

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 21—(AP)—Approximately 2,500 school teachers and citizens marched to the state house today to urge passage of a three per cent general sales tax for educational purposes.

The large group walked to the state's house from the University of South Carolina field house, where a few minutes earlier a motion was unanimously adopted to ask the General Assembly to enact the fund raising legislation.

Bangkok Conference

Recommendations For American Aid By Strategy Talks In Bangkok Being Studied; Conclusions As To Communist Plans; South Korea's Position Said Perilous

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

With the conflict of the isms in Europe largely settled down to a holding operation, the weight of strife is shifting to the Far Eastern theatre of our two-front war.

In the long run the outcome of the fight between Communism and Democracy may depend largely on what happens in the vast Asiatic area which houses something more than half the population of the world.

The big question of the moment is what aid the nations of Southeast Asia are likely to get from the West to enable them to stand up against the great Communist offensive which already has overrun China militarily. When we talk of western aid we of course have Uncle Sam in mind. Most of the load is on his shoulders.

Recommendations for American aid, made by the recent conference of U. S. diplomats in Bangkok are still under consideration in Washington. The Bangkok decisions provided that the U. S. A. give arms and economic aid to Southeast Asia nations if their people show a will to fight the Red threat to the independence.

However, that referred to national

Third Victim, A Child, Dies In Hospital Today As Result Of Late Monday Afternoon Highway Accident Near Bell's Fork

Two women, a mother and her daughter, lost their lives last night and another daughter died at two o'clock this afternoon as a result of a head-on collision one-half mile from Bell's Fork on the New Bern highway.

Killed in the accident, the worst this year in Pitt County, were: Mrs. Thomas E. Venters, 28, Route 3, Ayden, who was reported to have been the driver of the death car, and Mrs. Venters' mother, Mrs. Ross Sutton, 54, Route 1, Grimesland. Seven-year-old Rose Marie Venters, daughter of Mrs. Venters, died this afternoon in Pitt General Hospital as a result of injuries sustained in the crash.

Mrs. Venters died almost instantly and was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital. She suffered head wounds. Mrs. Sutton died about two hours later in the hospital of a fractured skull and other injuries.

The other car involved in the accident was driven by Charlie L. Whitfield Jr., 24, of Greenville, Route 1. He was taken to Pitt General Hospital in an unconscious state, suffering from head injuries. He regained consciousness today, and attending doctors reported his condition as being "good." Whitfield will be released from the hospital in a day or two, provided that complications do not set in, Doctor J. L. Winstead reported.

Investigating officers of the State Highway Patrol, Captain D. T. Lambert, Patrolmen Dick Chadwick and D. E. Perry, who arrived on the scene shortly after the crash, stated that the Whitfield car was found on the left side of the highway, about half off the road and on the shoulder. The Venters car was located half-way off the right side of the road.

Traffic was blocked for a short time pending the removal of the bodies of the victims and arrival of

ECA Chief Says Over $3 Billions Needed For Year

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, told Congress today $3,100,000,000 is needed to pay for European recovery in the 12 months beginning July 1.

The Marshall Plan chief asked for $2,850,000,000 in new cash and authority to spend an additional $150,000,000 which he said will remain from this year's $3,778,000,000 fund.

Hoffman outlined his spending plan before a joint session of the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs committees. He said the amount requested is necessary to block Communism in Europe and maintain the pace of

Firemen Fight Through Pickets To Reach Blaze

Brookville, Pa., Feb. 21—(AP)—Firemen fought their way through a band of men identified as coal strike pickets today to put out a fire at a mine tippie near this western Pennsylvania mining community.

One fire company from neighboring Summerville was stopped by a barrage of stones. Another fire fighting outfit from Brookville, five miles to the north, got through the road block and put out the fire at the non-union surface mine owned by W. W. Carrier.

Effect Of Coal Shortage Begins Affect Big Area

Schools, Industries, Towns Feel Strain; Overdue Winter Arrives

Pittsburgh, Feb. 21—(AP)—Chill blasts of an overdue winter accentuated the coal shortage in many parts of a shivering nation today while rebelling soft coal miners kept right on striking.

The 372,000 idle United Mine Worker members shrugged off the new government contempt action as "just another order." They insisted: "No contract, no work."

Effects of eight months of off-and-on coal production that erupted into a full scale walkout five weeks ago struck new blows at all branches of American life.

Education—St. Louis schools will close today and won't reopen until next Monday because they have only a three-day coal supply on hand. Schools in other communities also are closed.

Industry—Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation will begin to close down plants in Pittsburgh and Alliquippa, Pa., idling 23,000 workers. Some 42,000 already are idle in steel and railroading.

Civic—Rockford, Ill. city council declared a state of emergency because of the coal shortage. Rockford Forest preserve crews were ordered to chop down trees for fuel.

Brazil, Ind., water pumping station may close Saturday for lack of coal. Brownouts and coal rationing are in effect in many cities and towns.

The sub-freezing temperatures bothered the miners, too. In the Libary, Pa., mine patch many diggers picked bits of coal from snow-covered slag piles and railroad tracks to heat their homes.

The St. Michaels UMW local near Johnstown, Pa., decided to dig coal today for emergency use by homes, schools and hospitals.

Policemen Take Part In School Conducted Here

Members of Pitt county's various police departments and those in the sheriff's office are participating in the Greenville Police Department's Training School being conducted by Special Agent Art Lee of Greensboro, working out of the Charlotte office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Greenville Chief Lester D. Page said the three-day session which started at 10 a. m. today, was to be devoted to firearms training, and will include the handling of pistols and other firearms, as well as work on the firing range, near the airport.

At a similar training school which is scheduled here for three days beginning next Tuesday, the time of the police officers will be devoted to major case studies.

Invalid Dies In Blazing House

Charleston, S.C., Feb. 21—(AP)—A 23-year-old invalid was fatally burned last night in a fire which destroyed his residence in suburban Accabee.

Coroner John P. Deveaux identified the man as Clifton Dingle, an invalid unable to leave his bed.

County Police Chief Julian T. Williams said the fire was believed to have started from an exploding oil stove which was lighted by a boarder before he left the dwelling.

Break Relations

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—The United States broke diplomatic relations today with Communist Bulgaria.

American Minister Donald R. Heath and other U. S. representatives in Sofia were ordered home.

The break climaxes a dispute with Bulgaria over Communist attacks on Heath and a demand from the Bulgarian government for his recall.

Bulgaria was directed to withdraw its small diplomatic mission in Washington.

Its legation here is headed now by Dr. Peter Voutov, charge d'affaires.

It is the first time the United States has broken diplomatic relations with any nation since the war.

The U. S. decision was communicated to the Bulgarian government at Sofia yesterday. Voutov was summoned to the State Department today and informed of the action.

Bulgaria Indicts Five For Spying

Sofia, Bulgaria, Feb. 21—(AP)—Five Bulgarians were charged today with spying for America and the Communist-controlled press used their indictment as a signal for new blasts against the U. S. legation here.

The five, two of them former employees of the American legation, were accused of transmitting political, economic and military information to the American intelligence service.

The indictments were published in the morning newspapers under the heading: "The legation of the United States in Sofia—center of plots and espionage against the people's Republic of Bulgaria."

The newspaper blast and the arrests broke a silence of several weeks which followed Bulgaria's demand that U. S. Minister to Sofia Donald R. Heath be recalled because of alleged anti-Bulgarian activities revealed in the trial of former Vice Premier Traiko Kostov.

The U. S. threatened to break off diplomatic relations unless the demand is withdrawn.

The U. S. State Department protested strongly the mention of Heath's name in connection with the treason trial in which Kostov was convicted and subsequently hanged for plotting with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to overthrow the Bulgarian pro-Communist regime.

(The Bulgarians demanded Heath's recall January 19, giving evidence at the Kostov trial as their reason for declaring him persona non grata. The U. S. promptly delivered a sharp note the following day threatening to break off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria immediately unless the recall demand was withdrawn.)

Mercury Falls In Northeast; Wind With Cold Wave

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS. Icy cold and cutting winds, unleashed by a tricky winter, gripped the northeastern states today.

In many places, temperatures plunged to the lowest levels in two years.

For months much of the northeastern region has basked in unusually mild weather, while the Midwest and other sections have been lashed by bitter cold and storm.

But now—just a month before spring—the freakish northeastern winter finally uncorked its frigid fury. The cold wave was accompanied by piercing winds that shattered windows and toppled signs.

The cold front stretched from Canada to the southern United States along the eastern side of the country.

Much of New England shivered in sub-zero temperatures that dropped toward 20 and 25 below in northern Maine.

Greenville Couple Injured In Auto Collision Monday

Their automobile and one driven by Keroy Habersham of Yemassee collided. The Wilsons were enroute home.

Reports received here today were to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. Wilson received fractured pelvises and that Mrs. Wilson received a fractured thigh in the accident.

The car was said to have been practically demolished. Blinding headlights were said to have been a contributing cause of the accident. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were enroute to Greenville from a pleasure trip to Florida and Jamaica.

Senator's Claim Of Spy Ring Will Be Investigated

McCarthy Refuses To Tell Names Of Three Top Figures In Alleged Espionage

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—A Republican senator's charges that two men and a woman make up a "big three" directing a spy ring in the State Department headed today for an investigation by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he will propose that the committee look into accusations made by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that 81 Communists either have or now work for the department.

McCarthy, who described these individuals from supposedly secret files in a five-hour Senate speech last night, said he would give their names to such a committee. He didn't give any in his speech.

In a running war battle with Lucas, the Wisconsin senator told who he suspects of being members of what he described as "an espionage ring in the State Department."

As an off-shoot, McCarthy said at one point that a member of a Communist front organization who failed to get security clearance in the State Department had turned up as a White House speech writer.

Without naming the individual, he said he has a relative with a financial interest in the Daily Worker, Communist paper.

Fishing out photographs of records from a large brief case, McCarthy told the Senate, however, that the ouster of the "big three" would break the back of the reputed spy ring.

The most important member of this trio was described by McCarthy as "one of our foreign ministers" who is holding "one of the most important listening posts in Europe."

He said this man had been shadowed and was found to have been in contact with a Soviet agent who in turn was followed to a Soviet embassy in an unnamed country there, and that material was turned over to the embassy.

As his "case No. 1" McCarthy listed an individual he said now is working in the office of an assistant secretary of state.

He said this man was shadowed by a federal intelligence agent in 1946 and was found to be in contact with an espionage agent. McCarthy said this individual got State Department jobs for two Communists who later were fired.

The third member of the trio, a woman, was described by McCarthy as a former top official of the department's Office of International Education, which handles the foreign-beamed Voice of America broadcasts.

Housing Vote

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—The Housing Banking Committee today approved an administration bill to set up a $2,000,000 corporation to encourage construction of homes for middle income families.

The vote was 11 to 4. Several committee members were absent when the vote was taken and can record their positions later. But a committee spokesman said this is not expected to overturn the majority favoring the legislation.

1946 short form. You can use only the 1940 long form and figure your own tax.

Example: You had $4,999.99 total income. All but $100 of it had been in wages or salary from which tax was withheld. That other $100 was in untaxed wages, interest or dividends. You can use form 1040-A but—

If that other untaxed income—in wages, dividends or interest—had amounted to $101, even though full tax was withheld from the rest of your income, you couldn't use form 1040-A. But, so long as the total income was less than $5,000, you could use the 1040 short form.

And, even though your income was under $5,000, if any of it came from things like rents, or fees or farming, you couldn't use form 1040-A. You'd have to use the 1040 short form.

Since—in order to use form 1040-A you must have had all, or nearly all, the tax withheld from you in 1949—you should have receipts showing just how much tax he withheld.

Anyone who had taxes withheld should have such a receipt from his employer.

Strength FOR THE DAY

READING IN THE RIGHT PLACE HELPS

People often remark that they are sure that the Lord will take care of them. They are exactly right provided first, that they do the best they can to help themselves, and second, that they sincerely try to walk in the pathway which the Lord clearly indicates for them.

There is an interesting story in the nineteenth chapter of I Kings which tells how the prophet Elijah after winning a glorious victory over the idolaters on Mount Carmel, fled in terror before the wrath of Queen Jezebel. For forty days he kept running, until he got to Mount Sinai. Then the word of the Lord came to him and said: "What dost thou here, Elijah?" A victorious prophet of God fleeing before the wrath of an unscrupulous woman? Elijah had no business to be where he was when the Lord spoke to him. He should have been back in Israel carrying on the noble fight he began.

Very often we find ourselves in the worst variety of trouble because we have allowed ourselves to get into some situation in which the Lord never intended us to become involved. His word comes to us, "What are you doing here?" Bitterness, anger, passion, love of pleasure, avarice, vanity, and envy can lead us into ruinous hypsias which eventually bring us face to face with ruin.

HIGHWAY DEATHS

Pitt county suffered its second and third highway fatalities this month late yesterday as an automobile collision snuffed out the lives of a mother and her daughter, and left a man and two children hovering near death's door.

The deaths yesterday bring the county's total to four fatalities on the highways since January 1, and marks the sixth tragic highway death within the last 70 days.

During the first two months of 1950, Pitt county has already had more highway deaths than occurred in the county during 1948, and one-third as many deaths as were caused by auto accidents in 1949—the year the auto death toll in the county increased 400 per cent.

The alarming increase of highway deaths in the county may be due to the fact that more cars are traveling the highways than two years ago, but more likely the increased death toll is due to careless driving and faulty mechanical equipment.

Although it seems that reasonable people would drive carefully on the highways, it takes such a disaster as yesterday's accident to bring home to the people of the county the reality of the inhumane slaughter which is being committed on a wholesale basis on the highways of North Carolina day after day. And those who are guilty of the massacre of travelers are the men, women, boys and girls, whose feet become heavy on the gas pedals or whose eyes become weary with watching the road.

Every driver on the highways today is a potential killer, and every person who travels the highways is a potential victim of his own or someone else's carelessness. Although many factors may be involved in any incident, the highway slaughter being carried on hour by hour hinges principally on the human element. The number of highway deaths will continue to mount until the individual drivers take it upon themselves to make the highways safe for travel.

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

When Wife Rachel and I were living in Chapel Hill we frequently saw a car with Connecticut license plates which read "UNC." Quite flattering to Carolina, we thought, for a native of Connecticut to plug UNC on his tags. At the same time, we wondered how he was able to have his license labeled with the school initials.

In the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post an article on Conn. license announced that the practice of granting safe drivers their choice of letters has been called off. The task of handling requests had brought on so much additional paper work that the state office couldn't handle the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis S. Middletown of Stamford, Conn., have two cars. Even a total stranger can tell at a glance which is whose. One car bears the license "HISN" and the other "HERN."

Tenor James Melton, who owns more than 20 ancient vehicles, has fancy tags for all of them, including "JEDG" for a 1910 Currier racer presented to the Melton Auto Museum by Judge Williams Jackson Malone, of Bristol, and "SQRL" for a 1903 White Steamer, a type nicknamed "squirrels."

Willis Smith Expected To Get In Race For Senate This Week

By LYNN NISBET
 Raleigh, Feb. 21—Willis Smith is almost sure to announce his candidacy for the United States senate within the next three days.

He will seek nomination in the May 26 Democratic primary, which will be equivalent to election, for the unexpired term of the late Senator J. M. Broughton. That seat is now held by Senator Frank P. Graham under appointment of Governor Kerr Scott eleven months ago. Election this year will be for the remaining four years of the original six year term.

Graham is seeking election, with full support of Governor Scott and all the backing his alleged "machine" can give. Former Senator Robert R. Reynolds of Asheville is an active candidate for the post. Manly Dunaway of Charlotte and Olla Ray Boyd of Pineblow have announced their candidacies.

A tremendously large number of North Carolina voters do not like the prospect of any of these men in the senate. Reasoning of this dissatisfied element—which many observers believe represent substantial majority of the voting citizens—is that Boyd and Dunaway don't count; Graham is too much of an internationalist in foreign relations and an extreme leftist on domestic issues; Reynolds is too much of an isolationist in world policy, extremely erratic and inconsistent with respect to domestic issues.

North Carolina is made up mainly of stable middle-road citizenship, which equally dislikes the far right and the far left in both domestic and international relations. This middle group is becoming vocal and the demands upon Willis Smith to provide leadership have been so impressive he can hardly longer ignore them.

His situation now is very comparable to that in which Kerr Scott found himself two years ago with respect to entering the race for governor. People then were not satisfied with Johnson for governor, just as they are not satisfied now with Graham for senator. Scattered effort was made to get a dozen or more prospects to run for governor in 1948. One by one they eliminated themselves or were eliminated by circumstances.

Same thing is happening now. When William B. Umstead, former senator and regarded a certain opponent of Graham, was forced out of the running by conditions beyond his control, a dozen or more prospective candidates were urged to enter the race for the senate. The process of elimination has removed all but Smith, just as the same processes removed all but Scott two years ago. Now the pressure on Smith is as irresistible as was the pressure then on Scott. And, strangely enough, a whole of a lot of it is coming from the same folks.

That is because Smith, as did Scott, represents the stable middle group. North Carolinians like that position. When they have no choice except extreme left and extreme right, they reluctantly go right. When they can take the middle route they do.

In 1936 the choice for governor was among Ralph McDonald, Clyde Hoye and Sandy Graham. McDonald was too radical, Graham too conservative—so they took Hoye. In 1940 the real choice—although there were seven candidates for governor—was among Wilkins Horton, Melville Broughton and Allen Maxwell. All claimed to be "conservative," but the voters chose Broughton.

In 1944 the choice for governor was Ralph McDonald or Gregg Cherry. The voters took Cherry as the more conservative. In 1948 the candidates for governor were Charles M. Johnson, very conservative; Mayne Albright, ultra-liberal; Kerr Mayne Albright, ultra-liberal; Kerr Mayne Albright, ultra-liberal. The voters chose Scott. That Scott then went further left than most of his supporters expected is part of another story.

There has never been a real popular contest for the senate involving more than two candidates. The Simmons - Kitchin - Clark race in 1912 was before the state primary was legalized and before popular election of senators. The voters of politics agree that the same rules which have applied in gubernatorial races will influence the current senatorial campaign.

Rotarians Hear Durham Speaker

By WYATT BROWN
 The roteage of beliefs must be present before one can expect the fruitage to be morality, democracy and the like, declared Rev. John T. Green, member of the North Carolina Methodist Conference Board of Education of Durham, who is this week teaching a course on marriage and the family in the Leadership Training for Sunday school workers being conducted at the Memorial Baptist Church, when he addressed the Rotary Club on Civilization, Democracy and the Family. Essential to maintenance of beliefs he pointed out is the closely knit family.

In his opening remarks Mr. Green painted the stock gloomy picture of the world faces today. But he cited as his opinion that the present international crisis is a clash of ideas.

With such a canvas painted in bold strokes the speaker developed his thesis of the necessity of roteage of beliefs to secure fruitage of democracy and morals. To secure maintenance of beliefs he showed the role of the closely-knit family.

To make his point the speaker used the Jewish family. How without armaments or any other accoutrement commonly associated with power, Jewish beliefs have permeated the world as evidenced in the documents drawn up by Thomas Jefferson stating Jewish religious beliefs as political tenets—equality of all men and inalienable rights, etc.

At this point Mr. Green spoke of the increasingly important role of family relations courses which whole idea had its inception at the University of North Carolina in the mid 1920s. He told of its spread to most colleges. He bespoke the cooperation of civic groups for further promotion of expert family guidance.

Mr. Green predicted family clinics in communities in the future where families running into marital difficulties might go for expert assistance. He bespoke the use of courses in high schools on family relations. To prove the value of such instruction the speaker cited the statistics of a college and a church that used courses or counseling on family relations.

Rev. Mark Lawrence of Elizabeth City was a guest of the club last night. Visiting Rotarian was Leo Grutch of Graham. Rev. Leon Russell presented the program. Erroll Webb, club president, presided.

Other guests at the meeting were Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hite of Greenville and Jim Hackney of Washington.

Publishers Rap Shipping Rates

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—The American Newspapers Publishers Association protested to the Interstate Commerce Commission Monday that rates charged by the Railway Express Agency, Inc., for transporting newspapers are too high.

Representing 77 newspapers in this country, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii, the association asked that the company be required to put into force rates which would be "just, reasonable and otherwise lawful."

A number of members, the petition said, ship newspapers by express in interstate commerce. It said newspapers are transported, for example, by express from New York to Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, Minnesota and other states and from Chicago to Oregon, North Carolina, Texas, Kentucky and Kansas.

Transportation of newspapers requires a minimum of service in contrast with other traffic, the association said.

It cited that no pickup and delivery services are performed by the express company and said the company assumes no responsibility for loss and damage to newspapers.

The complaint also argued: "The newspapers are securely wrapped and tied in convenient bundles for easy handling. No special precautions are necessary. They may be loaded in whatever way is convenient to the express company. Newspapers can not contaminate or damage other shipments with which they come in contact."

"Moreover," the complaint continued, "it is desirable in the public interest that news be widely disseminated and that to this end the charges for the transportation of newspapers shall be such as to permit and encourage their shipment freely throughout the country."

Says Shirt And Pajama Prices Higher By Fall

Chicago, Feb. 21—(AP)—A shirt manufacturer said today that prices of shirts, pajamas and sports shirts "give every indication of being considerably higher this fall."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the 32nd convention of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, Seymour J. Phillips said consumers then will begin feeling the "impact of steadily increasing costs of textile and higher wages in the industry."

The New England catch of ocean perch, or rosefish, increased from 118,000 pounds in 1931 to 245,000,000 in 1949.

Churchill Claims His Call For Parley Is Major Issue

London, Feb. 21—(AP)—Conservative Leader Winston Churchill claims his call for high-level talks with Russia on atomic control has blossomed into the outstanding campaign issue in the British elections Thursday.

But Prime Minister Clement Attlee continues to base his Labor party's appeal for re-election on domestic policy. He is standing on his record and asking the people for a new term to "get you along the rest of the road" to recovery.

Attlee mentioned briefly, however, his own party's international policy as "trying to build up not only in this country but in the world the kind of conditions that make for peace."

Scorning the views of his Labor party opponents that the subject of big power talks to end the cold war should not be raised at election time, the 75-year-old Churchill said yesterday in Manchester that the working classes should be called upon to vote on this as well as domestic issues.

He said his original appeal last week at Edinburgh for an attempt at reaching lasting East-West settlement had "not only dominated the election in Great Britain" but also had "rolled around the world and may have created a new situation which, whatever happens, cannot make things worse and may possibly bring us nearer to our heart's desire."

Attlee and his leading associates have not rejected outright the idea of such talks which have been generally that the attempts to deal with Russia should continue through the United Nations.

Twice since the Edinburgh campaign speech Churchill has repeated his plea and roared back at critics that it is just a political stunt and "soap box diplomacy."

Phantoms Take To Court In Final Regular Season Tilt

Locals Host To New Bern Cagers; Boys In Green Have Good Chance To Earn .667 Seasonal Average; Jayvees Also To See Action

The Greenville Phantoms take on New Bern's Bears tonight in their last regular-season game in an attempt to avenge an earlier loss in New Bern.

The Phantoms have a good chance to take this one, even though their won-lost record shows they have been up one week and down the next.

For Coach Farley's quint the game will be a last ditch stand on their home court. Now sporting a seven-four record of wins in the Northeastern Conference, the Phantoms have a good chance to come abreast of a .667 percentage mark for the season.

Having won their last game over the conference leaders, the Pam Pack of Washington last Friday, the boys in green will be out to continue their pace. Farley said last Saturday that his five played their best game in taking the Pack on its home court.

They made the majority of their field shots, something that has plagued them all season. The guards played a major role in the scoring besides keeping control of the ball.

The New Bern team now resides in second spot in the conference standings with eight wins against three losses. Should they lose tonight they will be in third place.

The Phantoms should floor their usual starters. They will be Dillingham and Haynes at the forwards, Bradley at center, and Aman and Sawyer at the guards. New Bern will start the team which went all the way against the Phantoms in the game played January 27. At the forwards will be Brown and Gaskins, Stewart at center, and Taylor and Carden at the guards.

Proceeding tonight's varsity game the Juniors will play the return engagement against the Junior Bears. They whipped them in the first game, played in New Bern, 35-2. With their seasons record of 12 wins over three losses, the locals should win this one.

Charlie Teague Ready To Play Professionally

Winston-Salem, N.C., Feb. 21—(AP)—Charlie Teague is available for professional baseball clubs.

The 26-year-old Wake Forest second baseman said here last night that he has changed his mind about playing pro ball. Teague was here to receive the Teague Memorial Award as the outstanding male athlete in the Carolinas during 1949.

Mrs. Jackie Swain Fagg, Fanes Moxey basketball star, received the award as the outstanding woman athlete. A. B. (Happy) Chandler, commissioner of baseball, addressed a banquet where the awards were presented.

Teague said last year that he wasn't interested in professional baseball as a career. But now he says he's available when Wake Forest ends its baseball season in June.

Mikan Rolls On As Top Scorer; Has 1,514 Points

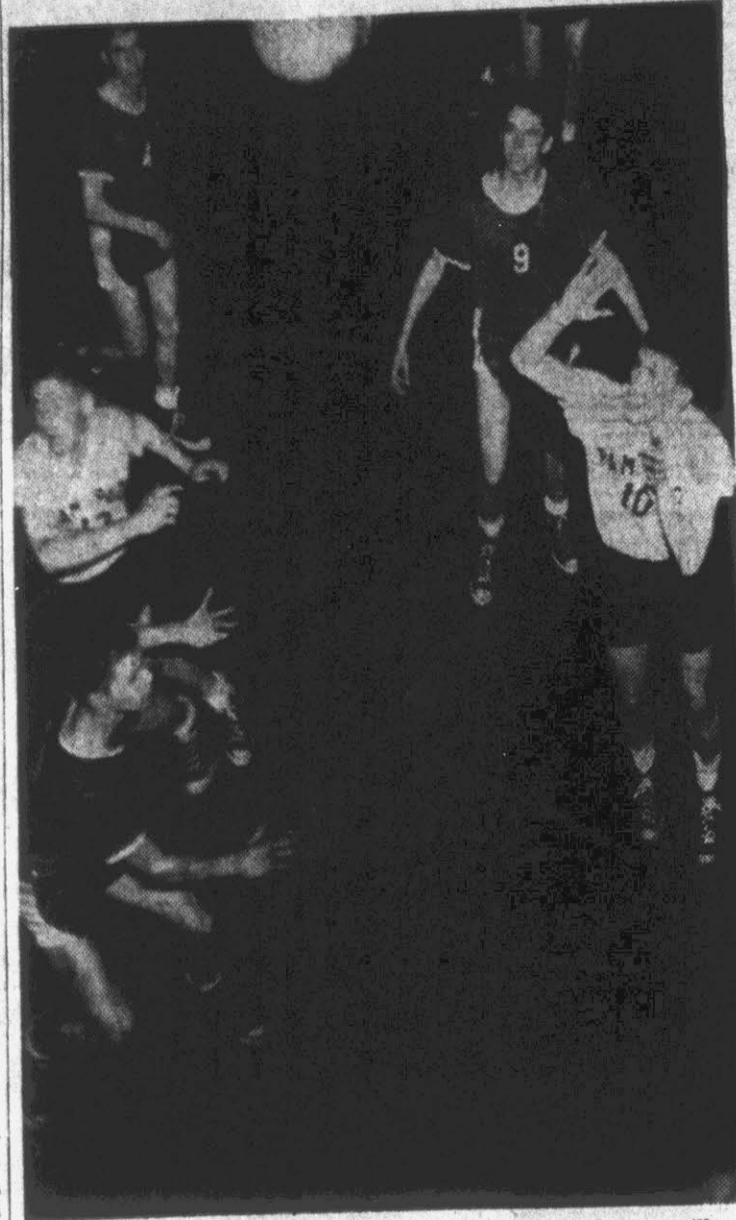

New York, Feb. 21—(AP)—George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers continues to rock along as the National Basketball Association's greatest scorer with a total of 1,514 points.

But large George, who leads the young NBA in five offensive departments, probably will have to wait until another season to break the mark he seeks most—the unprecedented 2,000-point figure.

The six-foot ten Mikan would have to average a colossal 49.5 points in Minneapolis' remaining 12 games to become the first player in history to surpass the magic digit.

Mikan's current leading totals include the most goals, 534; the most fouls, 466; and most points in a single game, 51. The ex-DuPaul star also has committed the most fouls—247 in 55 games.

When Phantoms Defeated Washington

The above action picture was taken during last Friday's Greenville-Washington basketball game played on the Pam Pack's home court. Shooting is Pappy Fowle, Washington guard, No. 10. Sid Briley, No. 7, Phantom center, is on the play in an unsuccessful attempt to stop the shot. Greenville players watching the rebound are Dillingham, No. 9, and Sawyer, No. 4. Knott is the other Washington player in the picture.

Bethel Cagers Take Pair Over Tarboro

Bethel, Feb. 21—Bethel's Indians took the count of the Tarboro boys and girls last night in a March of Dimes benefit. The boys made it two in a row over the Edgecombe club in winning handily, 47-28.

The girls took the opener, 34-22. A small crowd witnessed the twin killing in a return match in which all proceeds were given to fight polio. In the first game played in Tarboro earlier this month, the games were also played as benefit bouts.

Leading the Indian boys was John Nelson with 22 points. Bobby Manning was scoring runnerup with eight. Vance White led Coach Latham's quint on defense.

For Tarboro Jean Bailey and Estelle Osborne were high scorers with six points each.

Thursday night the Indians take on Williamston in two games playing here. The game is expected to be a tight one for the boys with the locals holding a slight edge.

Page Signs Terms; Yank Contract Troubles Fading

New York, Feb. 21—(AP)—With Fireman Joe Page in the fold, the New York Yankees' contract problems are fading fast.

Only eleven men on the world champions' roster are unsigned. If signed, they haven't been announced. Half of them can't be serious.

Page's signing for an estimated $30,000 plus indicated George Weiss, Yank general manager, is in a generous mood. George had little trouble when he sat down to talk with pitched 60 games last season.

The 32-year-old lefthander who Page turned back on contract from his Springfield, Pa. home. That was supposed to have called for only a slight increase on last year's reported $20,000. Estimates on the new agreement run from $30,000 to $35,000, making him the best paid pitcher in Yankee history and certainly the best paid reliever anywhere, anytime.

Two starting pitchers, Vic Raschi and Lefty Tommy Byrnes, still are unsigned.

And Yogi Berra, No. 1 catcher, may be a problem.

Elsewhere around the major league circuit, others were finding their way into the fold.

The Cincinnati Reds signed veteran catcher Walker Cooper.

Pirates Wind Up Loop Play With 9 And 7 Record

Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina quint, finished out their 1950 North State Conference season last Saturday with an impressive 58-35 victory over ACC, thereby ending up with a conference record of nine wins against seven defeats and a season record of 13 wins and nine defeats.

In conference play the Pirates hold double victories over ACC and Guilford. The last two games to Lenoir-Rhyne, and split home-and-home decisions with the remaining conference teams except WCTO as both games were played at Cullowhee.

Playing on their home court the Pirates proved almost invincible, as they lost only one game to conference teams—that being a 49-48 loss to Lenoir-Rhyne. Camp Lejeune was the only other team to beat the Pirates at home. Most notable victory for the Pirates this season was their 55-53 victory over High Point that stopped the Panthers' victory string at 13 and inflicted their first conference loss.

On the road the Pirates compiled a conference record of three wins and eight defeats and a season record of five wins and nine defeats. This was a vast improvement over last year when the Pirates won only one game on the road.

The Pirates scored 1192 points for the season on 475 field goals and 242 foul shots and 844 points in the conference on 335 field goals and 175 foul shots. For 22 regular season games the Pirates averaged 54.2 points per game, and for 16 conference games they averaged 52.8 points per game.

Leading the Pirates' scoring was big Jack Everton, 6 foot-7 inch forward, who played his last regular season game against ACC. Everton scored 284 points in 22 games on 118 field goals and 48 foul shots for 12.9 point average per game. In conference play Everton scored 200 points in 16 games on 83 field goals and 34 foul shots for a 12.5 point average per game. Freshman Warren (Sonny) Russell was close behind Everton. Russell scored 279 points in 22 games on 109 field goals and 61 foul shots for a 12.7 point average per game. In the conference Russell scored 196 points in 16 games on 77 field goals and 42 foul shots for a 12.3 point average per game. Lou Collier, who hit for 22 points against ACC, finished the season with a total of 198 points followed by Len Bauer with 134 and Toddy Fennell with 128.

Most Of Wealth But Uninformed

WASHINGTON — Women today have financial independence. They have their own bank accounts, property, insurance, business interests and income tax. They own 70 per cent of the wealth of the United States. Yet today's women are often no more informed about what goes on in their financial backyards than their grandmothers, who not so long ago were economically little more than chattels.

This is the opinion of two prominent, recently-retired American bank women, Mary Berkeley Finkle and Helen Knox who attempt to help clear up "women's age-old ignorance on money matters" in a jointly-authored guidebook called "Moneywise." Both are completely familiar with all phases of the subject. Mrs. Finkle for 20 years was loan officer and manager of the women's department of the Morris Plan Bank (now the Industrial Bank of Commerce) in New York. For 20 years Miss Knox was manager of the women's division of the Grand Central Branch of the Chase National Bank in New York.

Here are some of the questions to which women can find answers in "Moneywise." What is the differ-

The authors say "the emancipation of women should make them willingly assume their own financial responsibilities not evade them or leave them to others." Moreover, they say, it has long been recognized that women are by far the largest spenders of the national income and that for this reason they have enormous power over consumer markets.

"To have money," they say, "is not enough. The intelligent use we make of it will add to our well-being and the future security of our families. It is up to us as modern women in a modern world to be moneywise." The book starts off with a chapter on "What Is Your Money And Where Do You Keep It?" It gives detailed analysis of a checking account, why you should have one, how to open and manage one and how to balance your bank statements. It tells women how to set up a budget, suggests budgets. For example, it outlines a budget for a family of four, two adults, two children under 15, living on a monthly income of $400 in a middle western city.

Main Building Of Academy Is Victim Of Fire

Chatham, Va., Feb. 21—(AP)—Fire last night destroyed the major portion of the main building of Hargrave Military Academy here.

The part of the building containing laboratories, the library, the dining room, the P.K. numerous classrooms, six dormitories and the offices of Col. A. H. Camden, president of the institution, was destroyed.

Approximately 100 cadets housed in the building escaped unharmed. The blaze between the third and fourth floors was discovered shortly after 7:30 p.m.

H.M.A. officials said the building was valued at about $500,000, but they had no immediate estimate of the extent of damage.

Chokes To Death

Wilson County Coroner E. E. Goudy said Mrs. Mattie Batts Driver, 62, died almost immediately. He said the machine—located in a small wash house behind the Driver home—was placed in such a way that Mrs. Driver would not have been able to grasp the cord to cut off the power even if she had thought of doing so.

James W. Driver, a local night watchman, said he found his wife slumped over the machine with her shawl still entwined in the wringer.

Italy Is Winning Struggle Against Communist Tide

Rome, Feb. 21—(AP)—Italy is winning her fight against communism despite the worst over-population, the greatest unemployment and the lowest average income in Western Europe.

The Red leadership has played and lost its two best cards—labor control and the general strike. Anti-Communist opposition is moving ahead with a program of currency stabilization and postwar reconstruction which has gone far to wipe out the hopelessness and economic chaos in which communism breeds.

James D. Zellerbach, American RCA chief in Italy, says he does not believe the Communists could even come close now to tying up the country with a nation-wide strike or putting any major industry out of operation.

Up to a year ago the Communists could, and did.

Zellerbach said the European Recovery Program, which has poured aid into Italy at the rate of almost $800 a minute, had been a major factor in the sapping of Communist strength. He said although beating communism was not the main purpose of the ERP, it was "definitely an important by-product."

Another high-placed American in Italy, whose name could not be disclosed, told the Associated Press he did not believe the Communists had any chance of accomplishing their pledged goal of stopping or seriously impeding American arms aid shipments to Italy this spring.

He said: "They might at best succeed in temporarily hindering arms shipment landings at such strongly Communist ports as Genoa or Livorno. But the police would soon break that up. At the other big ports, like Naples, the Communists could not muster enough strength."

The test comes soon. First of the arms shipments is expected to be on the way by March. The Moscow-trained leaders of Italy's Communist party, second in size only to Russia, have had orders from upstairs that the shipments must be blocked by any means.

Italy's Communist party claims two million members, although previously the party had admitted declining membership in the two years since it was frozen out of the government. Actual party strength probably is far below two million.

Would Curtail Milk Importation

Greensboro, N.C., Feb. 21—(AP)—The State Milk Producers Federation Cooperative would curtail the amount of milk imported into North Carolina.

The cooperative's board of directors yesterday voted to ask the commissioner of agriculture that no permits for importing milk be issued for an area when high quality milk already is available.

The board also recommended that milk plants in the state buy up to 110 per cent of their class one needs (milk used for bottling) when a supply is available in the local area.

Another recommendation would establish minimum class prices for each of the three milk scales.

The colorful rosettes, once regarded as good only for display in markets, has become an important food species.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

PLANNED TO FIT the preferences of the majority of 11,251 families replying to a poll by the Small Homes Guide, this plan demonstrates what most people want in a house. It is Design 4740 by Herman York, architect, 199-33 Keno Avenue, Hollis 7, N. Y. The house covers 930 square feet and has a content of 18,376 cubic feet with basement.

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

What kind of a house do most people build? Where do they build it, and how much does it cost?

Answers to these and similar questions are important to everyone planning a new home, as well as to builders and architects.

In an attempt to obtain factual information, the Small Homes Guide of Chicago recently sent questionnaires to all persons who had inquired about various aspects of building new homes and received answers from 11,251.

These replies upset many suppositions, but also confirmed some of the guesses on which architects and builders have been operating.

For example, one-story houses himself, doing all of the work. Although the average new house cost $11,699, the bulk of those replying in this survey reported incomes of less than $5,000. Although the average lot size was 18,826 square feet—nearly half an acre—most of the homes were built in small towns, suburbs and cities, and only 25.7 percent in the country.

The poll showed that:

70.3 percent of those replying had new homes in various stages of planning, construction and completion.

13.8 percent bought old houses.

8.3 percent bought new ready-built homes.

9.4 percent were remodeling homes.

3.8 percent dropped their plans to build or buy.

1.4 percent were builders, carpenters, architects and students.

While the cost of the new homes averaged $11,699, those who bought new ready-built homes spent an average of only $10,642. The cost of the new homes built or being built could be classified as follows:

17.3 percent below $5,000.

25.8 percent from $5,000 to $10,000.

34.1 percent from $10,000 to $15,000.

22.8 percent more than $15,000.

In this connection the income range of the families was interesting. Only 9.9 percent reported incomes below $3,000. The majority, 53.7 percent had incomes between $3,000 and $5,000, while 36.4 percent earned more than $5,000.

The two-bedroom house ruled in 41.8 percent of the projects. Three bedrooms were provided in only 37.1 percent of the cases, while only 9.4 percent of the houses had four bedrooms.

Separate dining rooms were provided in only 43.8 percent of the homes.

The swing away from two-story houses was noticeable, with only 14 percent in this category, while 83 percent of the families had preferred one-story homes and 30.1 percent one-and-a-half stories.

Basementless construction failed to make the showing one might expect from the glamor enjoyed by radiant heating. Only 31.4 percent of the new houses were built without basements, while 51.4 percent had full basements and 13.8 percent were built with part basements—generally considered more expensive. (3.4 percent did not answer this question.)

Lumber apparently is still the predominant American building material. Straight frame construction was used for 64.9 percent of the houses, solid masonry in only 20.4 percent, and masonry veneer on frame in 14.2 percent.

Lumber also monopolized exterior wall construction, with 43.9 percent reporting the use of lumber siding, 18.7 using some brick on exteriors, 12.4 percent using stucco, 6.4 percent using stone veneer, 12.7 siding with wood shingles and only 5.6 percent using concrete walls.

For roofing, asphalt shingles led the field in 63.9 percent of the houses, asbestos shingles being used

Farm House Fire Fatal To Eight

Addison, Mich., Feb. 21—(AP)—A fire devoted a farm house near here early today, killing seven children and their father.

The only survivor of the middle of the night blaze was the mother, who was badly burned.

Evidently, firemen said, the two story frame building went up like a puff. It was in ruins when firemen got there.

The victims:

Farmer Gerald Beagle, 44.

His children: Geraldine, 14; Barbara Jean, 13; Eloise, 10; Norma Mae, 9; Paul, 8; William, 5, and Linda, 23 months old baby.

The mother, Mrs. Dorothy Beagle, burned and cut in a flight through a window, was in serious condition at a hospital here.

First reports indicated that all were trapped upstairs in their bedrooms.

Barefooted and clad only in a nightgown, Mrs. Beagle ran screaming through the snow to a neighbor's home about 80 rods off.

The mother's hands and face were burned and there were cuts on her hands.

Seriously hurt, she was taken to a hospital in town. A hospital report said her burns were second degree.

Shout Arguments From Tree Tops

New Delhi, India—(AP)—Twelve opponents of the Hindu Code Bill climbed a tree in Chandni Chowk, busiest market place in Delhi, and shouted slogans against the bill, which would give Indian women rights long enjoyed by their western sisters. Police arrested them in the tree top.

A spokesman for the agitators explained they were just trying to get a little attention.

Barcelona—(AP)—Cruelty is emptying this city's zoo. Latest victims of the public are a leopard, an eagle and Pip, the 20-year-old, two and a half tone hippopotamus. Autopsies after death in all three cases showed they were due to unnatural causes.

Pip died from stomach perforations caused by large quantities of tacks, nails, lead weights and even metal toys. The eagle and the leopard were found to have died from severe blows from heavy stones and lives in Pinetown.

Chapter 14

"I really don't know how I ever got along before I had this place to come to as a haven of refuge. You know I love this house and garden."

Don said it with a seriousness that made Anne smile. They were sitting on the bench in the back yard and wearing coats for the first time. It was mid-September and the weather had suddenly changed just when people had begun to feel that summer would never end. Today had definitely been a fall day. Now at sunset there was a fall feeling in the air. The kitchen door was closed but lights flooded out in festive fashion. It was not only the first fall day but the twins' birthday. They were out walking with their grandfather while Mary finished the last-minute surprises for the dinner. It was to be held in the big kitchen just the same as Don's special request. Anne smiled at him now.

"Why do you need a haven of refuge? What do you have to run away from?"

"Myself. All my life I have been trying to do that. My worst offenses are only part of that pattern. I was trying to forget myself."

She laughed lightly. So much water seemed to have run under the bridge, as her father would say, since the day she had decided that all the Don's generosity were self-satisfactions. That night she had gone to meet Tony in a cab driven by a man who knew him. That night Tony had wined and dined her and they had danced away half the night at an expensive club. That night she had blurted out to Tony where he had got so much money so suddenly, and he had laughed at her and said they would soon have money to burn. He had brought her home and held her in his arms and told her he adored her. He had been drinking, of course, but on that hot August night with daylight not so far away it was his tenderness and extravagance and wild laughter which had frightened her. It was a new Tony and one she feared for. He had called twice more in the intervening five weeks but she had not seen him since. But Don had become a regular visitor and she had had to accept him.

"I think you're fishing for compliments."

His clear gray eyes looked at her gently. "I never expect compliments from you."

"I realize that you are very fond of the twins and today is their birthday, so I can't make you take back the tricycles and other gifts you brought. But don't you think there is such a thing as spoiling children?"

"Not Rob and Roy."

"Be sensible, Don. They will be asking you for ponies next."

His eyes twinkled. "I plan that for Christmas, Anne."

"Do you expect to provide two stables to keep the ponies in?"

"My stable has plenty of room for them."

"And of course your house has plenty of room for the children."

"Of course. And you."

He said it lightly and his eyes were still laughing, but she stopped smiling and drew a deep steadying breath. Her voice came softly but firmly.

"I don't think your mother would approve of your plans, Don."

"As a matter of fact, the ponies were her suggestion at the time I came back from Montana."

"Don, I am serious. Roger and the twins want you here all the time, but be kind enough to come quite empty-handed for a while. I mean with nothing at all. Test the twins and assure yourself that their welcome will be not one whit less enthusiastic."

"How beautifully you use words. Like your father."

"I'm sure you have a very good memory, Don. Remember I told you I loved Tony Raymond and was going to marry him."

"I have met Tony Raymond. I felt I should. We are friends now. Yes, I think he will say that, too, if you ask him."

She sat looking at him, her hands folded in her lap. "I suppose you know I haven't seen Tony since the day you brought the dogs."

"He told me he had been neglecting you."

"Then he knows you are coming here regularly."

"Of course. I felt I should tell him that."

She leaned toward him. "Just why did you feel you should tell Tony that you have been coming here to see Father and the twins?"

He looked straight into her eyes. "You said I have a good memory, Anne. It is true. You told me you were going to marry Tony Raymond. When I realized how I felt about you I felt I had to get to know him. When I saw the kind of man he was I felt I should tell him I was coming here to see you."

She sat rigid. "Could you tell me what kind of man my fiancé is? I'm interested to have seen more of him than I have lately."

"I'll give you that gladly. When he asked me to lend him five thousand dollars on a personal note, I was happy to write out a check at once and tell him his word was better than any note."

She was no longer rigid as she stared in frank amazement.

"You lent Tony Raymond five thousand dollars?"

Don smiled. "I was most happy to accommodate him."

She caught her breath. "What could he want that much money for?"

"I didn't ask, Anne, but he did say it was for office expenses."

"How can he repay that much money? Don, why did you let him have it? No wonder he hasn't come to see me."

"He has been very busy, Anne."

"You mean he has really had a case? A real case in court?"

"Don't you really know, Anne? Haven't you seen the evening papers?"

Breeding Program To Be Discussed Here Monday

County Farm Agent Sam Winchester announced this morning that a meeting of all farmers interested in the initiation of an artificial insemination program in Pitt County will be held at the court house Monday night, February 27, at eight o'clock.

Winchester said that J. F. Brown, dairy specialist from the State College extension department, will conduct the meeting. The program is sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose of the gathering is to ascertain the interest on the part of local farmers in acquiring artificial insemination services. If there are enough Pitt farmers desiring the services of such a program, the Chamber of Commerce committee will sponsor it here.

Winchester reported the program will give local farmers the services of the best cattle blood lines in the nation for breeding purposes. As practiced in other South Carolina counties, Winchester said, the average cost to the farmers has been $7 per individual breeding.

The Agricultural Committee has continued its 1949 project of such a program through this year's activities and is desirous that all farmers who are interested in artificial breeding services be present at the meeting Monday night.

Forestry Talks In Pitt Schools

A series of forestry demonstrations and educational meetings will be held next Monday and Tuesday at three Pitt county schools.

The purpose of the meetings and demonstrations is to show farmers, 4-H club and Future Farmers of America boys the value of thinning their forests so that good timber can have a better chance to grow.

J. C. Jones, State College Extension forestry specialist from Raleigh, will conduct the meetings.

Monday's demonstrations will be held on the Grover Smith farm near Chicod school at 10 a. m. A talk by Jones that afternoon to the veterans and other adult farmers of the community will be held in Stokes school at 2 p. m.

Another meeting is scheduled for Stokes school Monday night at 7 o'clock at which time Jones will point up the advantages of selective cutting of mature timber for mill purposes.

A demonstration and talk are slated for Grifton Tuesday afternoon. The demonstration will take place on Jesse Quinerly's farm, in the community at 2:30 with the educational meeting held in the Grifton school immediately following the demonstration.

At 9:30 Tuesday morning a similar meeting is slated for the Chicod school.

Order Guided Missile Review

Washington, Feb. 21—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson has ordered a review of the entire U. S. guided missile program.

Such a review either by the defense chief or Congress was demanded last week by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas), who contended Russia is at least two years ahead of the U. S. in guided missile development.

The review has been undertaken by the defense department's research and development board and that board's committee on guided missiles, it was learned today.

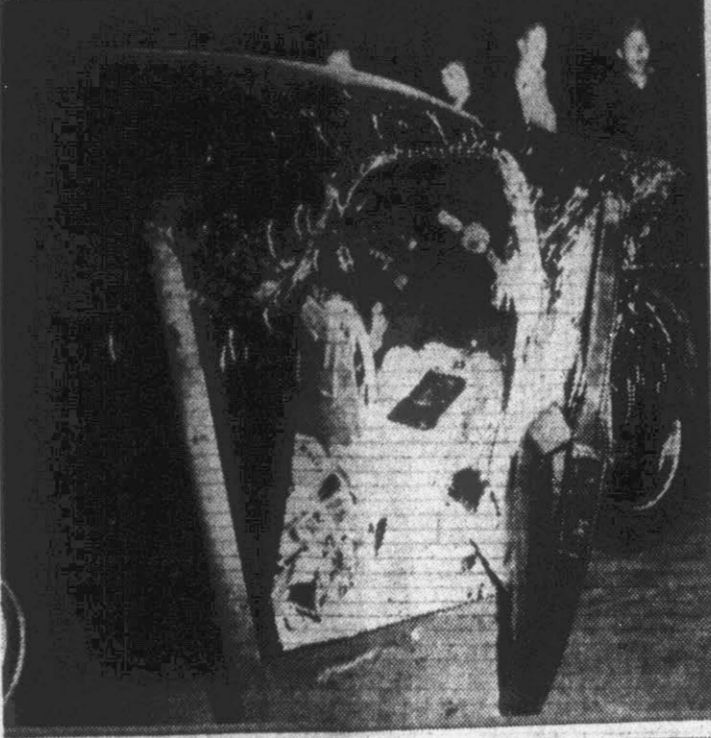

Their report will be made directly to Secretary Johnson.

A usually well informed source said that Johnson asked the board to review the program before Senator Johnson demanded such a step. He said the review is necessary because of the size and diversity of the program and to insure that it is balanced and involves no unnecessary duplication.

Different phases of guided missile development are being carried on by the Army, Navy and Air Force, with the help of U. S. and German scientists. Much post-war development has been based on the V-1 flying bomb and V-2 rocket with which the Germans bombarded the London area during the latter part of World War II.

Other developments include bombs which, dropped from planes outside a circle of anti-aircraft, may be guided to targets inside those defenses. The Germans introduced weapons of this type in the Mediterranean during the last war.

Interiors Of Collision Cars

Interior shots of the two cars in which two persons were killed and a third died this afternoon are shown above. In the top photo can be seen the front section of the car pushed back into the front seat, throwing the steering wheel into the roof of the car. The bottom photo gives an inside view of the Whitfield car, revealing a story of the impact which occurred when the two cars crashed head-on. (Staff photos by Roy Hardee.)

Debris from the collision was scattered over a large area around the scene of the accident. The motors of the two cars were pushed back into the seats of the cars, and the front end of both cars were "telescoped" back, making a mass of twisted metal and steel.

Steering wheels on the cars were forced up to the top of the roof. Paint which was carried in the Venters car was spattered over the victims in the front seat of the car, spraying the entire front seat of the car, the outside of the car and Whitfield's car.

When ambulances from Wilkerson's Funeral Home and the Greenville Fire Department's rescue truck arrived on the scene, the victims had been taken from the cars and placed along the side of the road.

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse stated this morning that an inquest into the death of the two people will be held pending the outcome of the condition of Charlie Whitfield. A coroner's jury spent a good portion of the morning at the scene of the accident.

The fatal accident brought to four the number of persons killed on the public highways of Pitt County this year.

In 1949 a record death toll of 12 was reached, four of the victims losing their lives in the tragic December 10th accident near Greenville.

Investigation of the accident is not yet complete, officers stated this morning.

recommendations as to policies and programs to be developed in carrying out the program of the State Merchants Association. The Board instructed the secretary to accept this appointment.

The directors approved the plan of the N. C. Merchants Association to establish a Chair of Retailing at the University of North Carolina. A county-wide meeting of merchants will be arranged with a speaker being furnished by the University of North Carolina, and, based on the opinion of those attending, that meeting, a campaign will be sponsored to raise the quota that has been set for Pitt county. The Chair of Retailing is being set up to give boys and girls going to college an opportunity to receive practical training in various phases of store operations. These may be students who have decided to take up retailing as a career.

On form 1040-A watch the questions about your being blind or 65 in 1949. Be sure you make the correct check mark.

Every person filing a return gets a $500 exemption. But if he was blind in 1949, he gets an extra $800 exemption, and if he was 65 in 1949, he gets still another $800 exemption.

And each person filing a return—if his wife files jointly with him, or if she had no income—gets a $800 exemption for her, plus another $800 if she was blind in 1949, plus $85 in 1949.

(You get only a $800 exemption for a dependent and no extra $800 because the dependent was blind or 65 in 1949.)

Be sure, though, that you list every person you can justify claim as a dependent.

A dependent is a close relative who received more than half his support from you in 1949 and whose income, if he had any, was less than $300.

The rest of the problem of filling out form 1040-A is simple. And be sure—if you're making a joint husband-wife return—that both of you sign it.

connection it should not be forgotten that Russia's control of Korea was one of the chief causes of the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5. Why? Because Nippon regarded the Korean peninsula as "a dagger pointed at her heart." In short, Korea is of great strategic importance.

The thirty year treaty signed recently between Red China and Russia would seem to give Communism a powerful persuader to hold over the small nations of Southeast Asia. These little countries are fearful that they will be swallowed by the Chinese Dragon.

Among those small states are worried, and with good reason, are Tibet, the tiny neighboring Kingdom of Nepal, Burma, Indochina and southern Korea. As in the case of Indochina, their danger doesn't necessarily rest in Communist military invasion, but in Red revolutions within their own borders, backed by Communist aid from China and Russia.

So the western Democracies have a tough hurdle to jump in the Chinese Communist military success, coupled with that thirty year treaty which ostensibly grants sweeping concessions to the Chinese. Many observers are wondering whether western aid is coming too late to save the day.

conducted by outstanding leaders from different denominations.

The training school is being held at the Memorial Baptist Church.

Among the Christian teachers and leaders who are taking part in the program are outstanding church leaders from Durham, Greensboro, Wilson and Greenville.

Miss Eleanor Fleming of Charlotte, an approved worker of the N.C. Presbyterian Synod, is teaching in the children's division a course for teachers in the cradle roll, beginner, primary and junior departments.

The Rev. T. P. Inabinet, director of Christian Education of the Christian Church in North Carolina, will speak to intermediates, young people and their teachers. The Rev. Inabinet is connected with Atlantic Christian College, Wilson.

Professor W. W. Howell of East Carolina Teachers College is teaching a Bible course for adults on "The Book We Teach." Included in the course is a general survey of the Bible as a book of sacred literature and religion; the Old Testament dealing with Hebrew history, prophecy and worship, and the New Testament, the book of Jesus and the Christian faith.

Dr. Raymond Smith, head of the department of religion of Greensboro College, is teaching a general course for adults on "The Purposes of Christian Education."

The Rev. John T. Greene, of Duke University and director of the department of Family Life in the North Carolina Methodist Conference, is teaching a course on "The Christian Family" which is designed especially for young married couples, college and older young people.

Dr. Smith spoke last night, the Rev. Inabinet will be the assembly speaker tonight, the Rev. Greene will be the assembly speaker on Wednesday night, and Miss Fleming will be the assembly speaker Thursday night.

A list of practical questions concerning solicitations and donations, trade promotion, membership, finance, credit bureau operation and general matters has been prepared. These questions will be distributed and those attending will have the opportunity to ask any questions. After each panel session, there will be a discussion and questions from the floor.
