U.S. Diplomatic Relations With Satellites Skids

Sudden Freezing Of Assets May Be First Step Toward Complete Break

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—The sudden freezing of Bulgarian, Hungarian and Romanian assets in this country sent United States relations with the Soviet satellites skidding to a new low today.

Closely following the breaking of relations with Bulgaria earlier in the week, Attorney General McGrath announced last night that the United States has halted payments from bank accounts and other assets held here by citizens of the three Eastern European countries.

Only a few hours before, Secretary of State Acheson had indicated that this country has virtually given up hope of protecting American citizens and their interests in the three countries. He hinted that the next step may be the rupture of relations with Hungary and Romania.

The Justice Department said the satellite assets were frozen because of a delay in compensating American claims in the three Communist nations.

It wouldn't say whether the action was connected with the conviction of American businessman Robert Vogeler in Hungary a few days ago on charges of espionage. A Budapest court sentenced Vogeler to 15 years imprisonment.

Similar charges have been hurled at American envoys in all three countries. The United States broke relations with Bulgaria Tuesday because that nation refused to drop its request for the recall of American Minister Donald Heath, whom it charged with plotting against the Sofia government.

In his news conference yesterday, Acheson made clear that this country feels Bulgaria took the initiative in forcing the break in relations. He indicated that the other two Balkan nations are trying to bring on similar action by keeping up the pressure against American diplomats.

In the case of Hungary, the State Department is now considering a demand that the Budapest mission reduce the size of its staff. Some of those members have been accused of spying.

It seems possible that this country will reject the charges but withdraw the individuals. In retaliation the Hungarians may be compelled to recall some of their representatives in Washington.

Acheson did not spell out the difficulties which have beset American officials in Romania but he dealt with that country along with the other two.

He said the State Department is not considering severing its ties with either Hungary or Romania, but he made clear the possibility is wide open.

Gov't Officials Prod Coal Bargaining; Hope For Break

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—Government officials urgently prodded coal peace talks today in hope of a break in the strike before the union faces trial on contempt charges Monday. But they weren't optimistic.

With the nation's fuel crisis growing steadily worse there seemed little basis for figuring any settlement was near.

Federal Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching, one of the men President Truman has assigned to try to end the eight-month-long dispute, said there hasn't been any progress since the present court-directed bargaining got underway on Feb. 15.

"The situation is exactly the same as it was when these conferences started," Ching said.

Nevertheless, as the union-operator talks resumed (11 a.m. EST), Ching and David L. Cole said they were redoubling their efforts over the weekend for an 11th hour compromise. Cole is chairman of Mr. Truman's coal inquiry board.

The two officials held secret meetings yesterday with John L. Lewis and his aides, but apparently nothing came of the talks with the United Mine Workers leader.

Lewis left later for Springfield, Ill., to attend the funeral of a brother. His absence from the week-end coal negotiations was a further dampener on prospects for a coal contract.

Some operators said there wasn't a chance of the negotiations getting anywhere with Lewis away. In his absence UMW Vice President Thomas Kennedy was the top union negotiator.

The union will go on trial before Federal Judge Richmond B. Keesh for civil and criminal contempt Monday. This is based on the continued walkout of 372,000 union members in face of Keesh's order on Feb. 11 that they return to work. Attorney for Lewis and the UMW argued yesterday that the men have stayed out in disregard of Lewis' twice-issued instructions for them to return. They held that the men are striking as individuals, and that the union is not liable for their action.

Keesh declined to dismiss the contempt charges and ordered the trial Monday.

The government is expected to ask a heavy and continuing fine against the UMW in the event of a conviction. Lewis himself is not charged with contempt.

Officials said a civil contempt action is designed to achieve compliance with a court's order and, accordingly, a fine for every day the strike continues after a contempt conviction probably would be asked.

This fine could go as high as $1,000,000 a day.

He has also taken an active part in other worthwhile civic activities.

Peace Prayers

New York, Feb. 25—(AP)—A tall white candle burned at the front of the huge, nearly deserted auditorium.

Above it hung a light blue flag bearing the emblem of the United Nations, and these words: "One God, one world, one people."

In the pre-dawn hours and continuing into the day three persons sat in the vast, dimly lit room. Occasionally, they knelt, their lips moving silently.

They were praying that the world be saved from the hell-bomb.

The scene marked the start of a 36-hour prayer vigil at the Community Church of New York, an interdenominational institution in midtown Manhattan. More than 300 persons gathered session last night, but only the three, the Rev. Donald Harrington, pastor, and two others, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mardus, remained as the night wore on.

Others were expected to return later. The prayer meeting, called to "do penance for the sin of making horror weapons like the hell bomb," was not to end until Sunday morning when special services are planned.

Clergymen of many faiths and representatives of peace groups spoke.

The tall, three-foot candle that burned at the front of the church was expected to burn out at the end of the 36 hours.

To church member Mardus, the candle represented the lights of civilization—"which are burning very low."

Fifty Years For Loan Repayment

Although the European economy is improving through gifts of American billions, it isn't healthy enough to pay off direct dollar loans before the year 2000.

That's the estimate Paul G. Hoffman, director of Marshall Plan aid, gave to the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) suggested to Hoffman during discussions on the $3,100,000,000 proposed to keep the plan going another year that further aid should be in the form of loans, instead of a straight gift.

Hoffman said it would take 50 years for Britain and other Western European nations to earn enough dollars in foreign trade to repay American loans. "They can't pay," he said. "Bad paper is not an asset. It's only a headache."

On the other side of the capital, key ECA officials ran into criticism before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The most trite member was Chairman Connally (D) from oil-rich Texas who denounced Britain for "ordering" the sterling (empire) area not to buy American oil.

'Homecoming' In Salisbury For Alben Barkley

Greensboro, Feb. 25—(AP)—Vice-President Alben W. Barkley will be in Salisbury on May 1 for a Barkley homecoming. United States Marshal William D. Kizian formerly of Salisbury, announced here today.

Kizian, said that Barkley will speak in connection with the anniversary of an early emigration from Rowan county to Kentucky, led by the pioneer, Daniel, on May 1, 1769.

Barkley, said Kizian, has many relatives in Rowan, Catawba, and other counties all over the state. For several years, he said, Salisbury citizens have been trying to get Barkley down for a visit.

Rejects Idea Of Inevitable War

Wallace, Feb. 25—(AP)—Americans should reject the idea of the inevitability of a third world war, says U.S. Senator Frank Graham.

Graham spoke last night at the dedication of the Luke W. Boney American Legion Hall, erected in memory of a young Wallace who killed in action in France in 1944.

He declared that without a stronger United Nations and the dedication of atomic power to creative freedom "the hydrogen bomb, uncontrolled, would be too much for the survival of our civilization."

Other Uses

Madison, Wis., Feb. 25—(AP)—Stockpiles of atomic bombs, built for destruction, can be used for industrial purposes, a leading atomic scientist said last night.

Dr. Farrington Daniels, of the University of Wisconsin, who helped develop the bomb, discussed his peacetime uses at an editorial roundtable on atomic energy at the university.

Dr. Daniels said that dynamo using such energy for power probably could be built within a year.

Night Club Has Wild Gun Fight

New York, Feb. 25—(AP)—Five persons were wounded in a wild gun battle at a night club early today.

One detective was felled and more than 100 guests cringed in terror during the gun fight which started when a band of gunmen tried to hold up the late-night crowd in the Moroccan Village Club, 23 West 8th Street.

Police said the bandit leader stepped to the night club stage during the 3 a.m. closing show, shoved a pretty girl singer out of his way, drew a pistol, and announced over the loud speaker:

"This is a stickup. Pour your jewelry, purses and money on the tables. I've got six others with me."

Simultaneously, other gunmen stationed in the night club's bar and dining room stood up and drew pistols.

Guests dropped to the floor, covering under tables. Others ran screaming. Bullets ripped across the room, as two detectives battled the holdup band.

Two guests, and one entertainer felled wounded; also one of the alleged gunmen and Detective John (Continued on page eight)

Snowman A Killer

Babson, On Industrial Relations

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 24—One of the greatest problems which will confront us in the next twelve months is how to bring the break-even point down. When the present artificial boom has burst, producers must find ways to make more goods at cheaper prices and at the same time keep wages up, continue workers' short hours and give more benefits.

This problem, reduced to its simplest form, resolves itself into a question of what makes men work. It is no secret in many plants worker productivity per man has fallen off considerably. Why? For too long a time management has tried to force workers to do their best by threats of liquidation or lay-offs. This policy of fear nourishes strikes and bred labor unions.

Then the government stepped in with the Wagner and the Taft-Hartley acts and said in effect, "We shall legislate cooperation and peace and an attitude of enthusiasm for work." How in heaven's name can we "legislate" industrial peace by setting up a political football game between labor and management? The backers of one team demand more and more touchdowns, or else the coach will be fired. The rooters for the other team will be satisfied with nothing less than the goal posts and painting the town red. A scheme of this sort is unfounded and can result in nothing but friction.

Management's Opportunities The officials of too many corporations have inherited this scheme of things from their forebears. But we too have succumbed to their time-worn dogmas about management's prerogatives and labor's place in the scheme of things. Yet, if we are to preserve Democracy, avoid stagnation and develop a state of abundance, then we will send teams out to explore, conquer, and develop this relatively unknown frontier of Human Relations in Industry. One small manufacturer, some months ago, became desperate. His break-even point was too high and he faced a shutdown. But a simple formula was evolved which resulted in a production increase of 160 per cent in a short space of time. H-e-r-e's how. Management found that about 38 per cent of its sales dol-

Police-Convoyed Coal Rolls Safely Into Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25—(AP)—Truckloads of union-dug coal for fuel starved Pittsburgh rolled along without picket interference today under the watchful eye of state convoys.

Union Miners Take Action For Fuel-Starved City; No Pickets Seen

No pickets appeared at the strip mine at nearby Imperial where United Mine Worker members braved a biting 10-degree temperature to peel coal from the frozen surface.

Truckers moved coal along a winding three-mile backwoods route to the tipple. The early morning darkness was pierced by the fiery light of huge bonfires at either end of the route to warm the truckers.

The coal was loaded into the tipple and then dumped into railroad cars which will move the needed fuel into Pittsburgh, 18 miles away.

William Aloe, head of the strip operation, said 4,000 tons of coal were moved into this coal and steel center by the same method yesterday.

State police set up an elaborate protection system for Aloe's trucks but Aloe protested:

"We don't want police protection. The miners won't work if the police are there."

The 65 miners employed by Aloe are covered by a "Kentucky agreement" contract signed with John L. Lewis last November.

State police said they acted on the request of Pittsburgh coal merchants who said previous attempts to bring coal in by truck have been stopped by stone-throwing pickets.

Police said windshields of several vehicles were smashed yesterday at the mine. No one was injured and there were no arrests.

A few hours after state police announced they would send 20 men and seven radio-equipped cars to convoy the trucks, the plan drew the fire of a Pittsburgh UMW official.

John Dreschick, an international representative of the Union, declared:

"Miners don't like to work under state police protection. If the diggers learn that the coal they mine is being hauled with a state police escort they're apt to walk off the job and then there would be no coal for the trucks to haul."

"We're trying to help out the city of Pittsburgh as much as possible but I don't know what will happen to our efforts now."

As the coal emergency grew more acute throughout the nation, a 600-member UMW local at St. Michaels, near Johnstown, telephoned President Truman last night asking federal seizure of the struck bituminous mines.

Special police investigators said $1,000,000 worth of unroasted coffee has been filched from the docks in the last year.

One salvage merchant was arrested yesterday, and other arrests were reported imminent. A squad of detectives—some of them masquerading as longshoremen—have been working on the case for a year.

An assistant district attorney Louis Andreozzi said the harbor racketeers have been preying on coffee cargoes brought from Brazil to Brooklyn docks.

AN EXTRA REASON Muncie, Ind., Feb. 25—It didn't appear necessary, but health officer W. J. Molloy warned Delaware county residents today to stay away from skunks.

Dr. Molloy said the danger of rabies had been added to the usual reason for avoiding the animals.

Britain's Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that his labor government will carry on despite the shaky parliamentary majority it won in Thursday's elections.

Probers Say Death Probably Accidental

Vienna, Austria, Feb. 25—(AP)—U.S. Army authorities said today the facts indicated that U.S. Naval Captain Eugene S. Karpe met death accidentally Thursday in an Austrian railway tunnel, south of Salzburg.

Investigators said it was possible that Karpe alighted from the Arlberg Express at Golling, where the train made an unscheduled 30-minute stop because of repair work on the tracks ahead. They theorized he had difficulty in re-boarding the train after it started.

The train entered the tunnel three minutes later and was going 30 miles an hour.

Karpe was a close friend and an Annapolis classmate of American businessman Robert A. Vogler, now in a Hungarian prison after being convicted of espionage and sabotage.

An Army spokesman said the balist last between the tracks and the

Ayden Man's Car Turns Over On Rounding Curve

A car driven by Dr. R. C. Smith, turned over yesterday afternoon on NC 11, about one and one-half miles from Ayden. Patrolman R. C. Holt reported today.

According to Holt, Dr. Smith told him he was rounding a curve and must have dozed off, for when he awoke he felt the car going on the shoulder of the road; he cut the car back on the highway, skidded and turned over.

The entire top of the car was smashed and all windows broken. The patrolman said Smith suffered minor injuries.

Bitter Farewell By U. S. Envoy

Nis, Yugoslavia, Feb. 25—(AP)—U. S. Minister Donald R. Heath led his 49-member delegation out of Bulgaria today, branding her Red government as an enemy of freedom.

Heath, who had served as American Minister in Sofia until the United States broke diplomatic relations with Bulgaria Tuesday, spoke bitterly of Bulgarian charges that he had served as a spy.

Britain's Prime Minister Announces Decision After Emergency Cabinet Session; Hold 10-Vote Working Margin, Five Seats Still In Doubt

London, Feb. 25—Prime Minister Attlee announced today his labor government will carry on, despite the scant and shaky parliamentary majority it won in Thursday's elections. At the moment, Labor holds a 10-vote working margin in the House of Commons, with five seats still in doubt.

Attlee announced the decision after an emergency 75-minute cabinet session. It means the Labor Party will form another government and run the continuous risk of being wrecked on a vote of confidence in the House of Commons at a time not of its own choosing.

Attlee emerged from the cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing Street, the prime minister's official residence, to say:

"Well, we are carrying on." "That was all he would say, but later the cabinet issued a formal statement which said:

"The cabinet met this morning to consider the situation arising from the general election.

"After consultation with his colleagues, the prime minister has decided that as the House of Commons will contain a majority of Labor members, it is the duty of the present administration to continue in office, for the King's government must be carried on.

The prime minister hopes that the election is over, all more give their full efforts forward the necessary work.

The winning party, nevertheless, plans a big victory celebration tonight to coincide with observance of its 55th birthday.

A strong comeback bid by the smooth party machine of Conservative Leader Winston Churchill, although defeated, came so close to the winning mark that Labor's mandate for giving Britain more social and more nationalization of industry is seriously threatened.

All but six of the 625 seats in the next house had been decided last night when the vote-counting stopped for the weekend. An untouched record of 84 per cent of Britain's qualified electors had cast a total of 26,582,901 votes.

The results so far give Labor 314 seats, Conservatives 294 seats, Liberals eight, Irish Nationalists two, Independent Liberal one and one seat to the neutral Speaker of the House.

Results from five districts in Scotland will not be reported until Monday. Three of these are normally Conservative. The sixth district still unreported—in Manchester—will not vote until next month, because of the death of one of the candidates.

If the Conservatives win all six of the remaining districts the Labor majority will be further cut to four. Even if Labor wins them it will have only a majority of 18.

Labor Party Secretary Morgan Phillips said a majority of 30 seats was the minimum with which any single-party government could effectively get through its major policies.

One way of avoiding the threat of new elections to more clearly define the lines would be formation of a coalition government. But leaders of both major parties have come out flatly against working together in a peace-time government.

The Estimated Tax

For Some People, March 15 Is A Double Deadline; They File 1949 Income Tax Report And Pay Over Taxes, Also File Estimate Of 1950 Tax; An Explanation

Washington, Feb. 25—(AP)—March 15 is a double deadline for some people. They're the ones who, by that date, must:

- 1. File a return on their 1949 income tax, paying in full any tax owed, and—
2. File an estimate on their 1950 tax—it's called a "declaration of estimated tax"—and start paying in quarterly installments on that 1950 tax. The first installment is to be paid March 15.

Two kinds of people have to do this:

- 1. Those who won't have any tax withheld from their 1950 income. For instance, landlords and doctors.
2. Those who will have some tax but not the full tax withheld from their 1950 income. This will be true of some wage earners and salaried people.

The word "estimate" means just what it says. For that reason the people in those two groups must do the following by March 15:

- 1. Estimate what their total income for 1950 will be and what the tax on it will be.
2. Start paying in those four installments mentioned above, the

President And Senator At Odds Over Arms Race

Washington, Feb. 24—(AP)—President Truman and Senator Tydings (D-Md.) are squarely at odds over the way to end the atomic-hydrogen armaments race between the United States and Russia. Mr. Truman is standing pat on the plan for international atomic controls offered by the United States to the United Nations and adopted by a large majority of U.N. members. Russia has fought it to a stalemate. Mr. Truman also told a questioner he had received no new peace feelers from Russia. In re-stating his position, Mr. Truman took occasion to take a slap at proposals advanced in the Senate recently by Tydings, who is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and others. The President told his news conference yesterday that he didn't think what he called the dramatic approaches suggested in Congress and elsewhere would accomplish their purpose.

Couldn't Avoid Dreaded Polio Even In England

New York, Feb. 24—(AP)—Last summer, with an infantile paralysis epidemic sweeping the United States, it had seemed like a good idea to Paul Atlas to leave his young daughter in England. She would be safer there, he thought. So he came home from the family vacation to his grocery business in Brooklyn. His wife and their six-year-old daughter, Malco Ruth, stayed behind. Yesterday, a big military transport plane, flying on a special mercy mission, brought the little girl home. At La Guardia field, she was carried out of the plane on a stretcher. She was stricken with polio in London.

Chicod High School Class Has Natural History Museum

Collection Grew Piece By Piece

By CHESTER WALSH
A bald eagle, a bobcat and snakes, including water moccasins, at the Chicod High School Museum on the Greenville-New Bern highway, about 10 miles from here, attract unusual attention of visitors and the interest of many of the 700 students.

The museum, exceptionally creditable to the teacher, Mrs. Newman Lewis, wife of the principal of the school, and to the five students, merits special mention, according to members of the staff of the State Museum at Raleigh.

Formed Six Years Ago
Mrs. Lewis organized the natural history class about six years ago. Since then the museum work was incorporated in the regular school curriculum. There are five members of this class—all girls. They are Martha Lee Edwards, Mary Frances Porter, Shirley Rose Buck, and Velma and Selma Shirley, twins. Mrs. Lewis, the class teacher, and her five natural history students, have accomplished much since the natural history class was established and the students began to keep up with the prescribed studies.

The book work of the natural history class, the special requirements in anatomical construction and the exploratory work have combined to give the students a keen insight into the wonders of nature. Mrs. Lewis said to the publisher and editor, a staff photographer and a reporter of the Greenville Daily Reflector while they were visiting the Chicod High School Museum.

Each Has A Story
A farmer in the community shot a bobcat and turned it over to the Chicod School Museum. Another resident shot a bald eagle and he passed it along to Mrs. Newman Lewis' natural history class. The teacher and students got busy and mounted both specimens.

The natural history students, standing at a window at the Chicod High School, saw a lot of feathers flying on the Greenville-New Bern highway, in front of the building. It was a rooster, something of a community character, students said. "Marmaduke," as the "prowling fowl" was known over at the store, was a highway fatality. Students obtained permission to fix a place for the rooster in the Chicod High School Museum. "Marmaduke's" skeleton, in one of the accompanying photographs on this page, shows up to good advantage. Other specimens in her natural history students have similar histories. Principal Newman Lewis told the newspapermen.

Many Visitors
Visitors from different parts of the state visit the Chicod High School Museum. Some of them have complimented the good work of Mrs. Lewis and her natural history students.

One specimen in one of the photographs is the head of an ancient reptile—an alligator, or crocodile.

The two tables shown in the photo are loaded with stuffed animals and fossils of animals representing both domestic and wild animals and fowls. Chester Walsh, Reflector reporter is interviewing Mrs. Newman Lewis and some of the members for information regarding their projects. (Reflector photo by Roy Hardee).

By MRS. BEATRICE CARR MATE
Teacher-Librarian
Robinson High School
Winterville, N.C.

When we look at the school library and note it as the colorful, inviting, happy place that it is, we recognize at once how it symbolizes friendship. Replete with interesting resources in addition to its fine book collections, its maps, atlases, charts, graphs, phonograph records, newspapers, periodicals, clippings, picture collections, museum objects, pottery, growing plants, miscellaneous topical or timely collections such as stamps, nature collections rare books, old glass, photographs and the like, the library radiates interest, warmth, welcome, hospitality, friendliness.

How often does the library provide the setting for the more intimate and friendly social events for the school—the teas, the parties, the informal lectures—as well as the more intellectual sessions, the conferences, the study groups, the panel and round table discussion groups.

The old atmosphere of "dead silence" in the library has in recent years happily given way to that of a busy workshop where reasonable quiet is maintained but is not the chief end. The library is no longer a conventional study hall, but rather has it taken on an atmosphere of friendly sharing and cooperative planning. The school library has become an effective agency for promoting democracy in action.

The library seeks to encourage an interest in reading as a useful and enjoyable activity of a well-rounded life. In doing this it is performing a genuine service in strengthening that most important and basic educational tool. We all agree that reading, perhaps more than any other skill which children acquire in school, lays the foundation for and makes possible life-long learning. In addition to developing reading ability in the child, the library, through the books and material on its shelves and in its cases, and through the friendly help of the librarian, offers expert guidance in the selection of reading matter.

As teachers in free America we are mindful of the opportunities to introduce new concepts to our pupils through the library. Long before textbooks can be prepared the library is ready with a collection of clippings, articles and pictures dealing with scientific achievements in currently developing areas. This Air Age education was first presented by use of library materials, just as the implications of atomic research are now substantiated for pupils largely in the clipping and picture files of the library.

Library materials are vital for an enriched school program. The library can supply materials to introduce the more formal textbook presentation of a new subject, it can provide literature and information to supplement the textbook. It can furnish items that take up where the textbook leaves off. The library is truly "the fountainhead" of recreational and informational material that will add not only information but interest and zest to the subject material. This opportunity to contact many sources in addition to the textbook will provide for greater interest and understanding. It will arouse discussion and motivate the pupil who is untouched by the routine textbook and classroom procedure. It will provide a diversified activity that will make both teachers and pupils aware of the value and the contributions of the library and its resources. An effective program can be readily worked out when teacher and librarian plan together for the welfare of the pupils of the school.

The times which we live require the ability to find and sift information. They require ability to evaluate findings and to formulate from them sound judgments. The school library of today with its varied, meaningful and usable resources is a powerful force in encouraging and assisting the development and strengthening of these abilities.

The true value of a library may be summed thus:

A library where the thirsty may drink deep at the perpetual fountains of inspiration.

A library where the hungry may eat and be filled at a banquet spread by the greatest geniuses of the world, without money and without price.

A library where the ambitious may find a Jacob's ladder leading up to clouds of glory.

A library where those who are eager for learning may dig deep in the inexhaustible mines of the accumulated wisdom of the ages.

A library where the humble youth may seize the golden key which admits him to stately halls where he may hold familiar converse with the intellectual giants of all time.

A library which is itself an open door which admits the world's democracy to the universal aristocracy of intellect.

Thus the school library program, if carried out correctly, will lift routine teaching to inspired heights.

The Estimated . . .

page 4 of Form 1040. If your income was $5,000 or more, you work out your own tax according to the formula on page 3 on Form 1040.

If you find you will owe more tax than will be deducted from you in 1950, then you must file an estimate and, by March 15, start paying the first of those four installments on the difference between the tax to be withheld from you and the full tax you will owe.

But—you do not use Form 1040 for filing your declaration of estimated tax. You must use Form 1040-ES. This is a very brief form. It's in blue ink.

On the back of it are the same table and formula you used with Form 1040 in figuring your 1949 tax.

(Those who have been paying an estimated tax year after year—because no tax or not enough tax was withheld from their income—have already received their Form 1040-ES in the mail from the collector who assumes they'll need it in 1950, too.)

If you find you need a Form 1040-ES, but don't have one, you can get it from your nearest collector, or from most banks and post offices.)

Remember: When you figure your estimated tax be sure you claim for yourself all the exemptions and the usual deduction to which you're entitled, as explained in previous stories.

When you turn over your estimated tax return to the collector, by mail or in person, be sure you turn over to him at the same time the first quarterly payment of your estimated tax.

People with less than $600 income don't have to file any kind of return so this will deal only with those with $600 or more income.

You don't have to file an estimated tax return—if full tax is withheld from your entire income, meaning wages or salary.

You don't have to—if full tax is withheld from your entire income except for no more than an untaxed $100 from any sources.

Full tax is supposed to be withheld from all wages and salaries up to about $5,000. But what of those making $5,000 or more? If you're in this group, you must file an estimated tax return if—

You expect to receive wages (from which tax is withheld) if those wages are over $4,500 plus $600 for each exemption. For example:

Wages over $5,100 if you're single and have no dependents; wages over $5,700 if you're married and filing a joint return or, if single, you have a dependent. To say it another way: The amount goes up $600 for each exemption, including an extra $600 if you're 65 or over, plus another $600 if you're blind.

ONLY ONE SURE CURE

Most of us in this country are agreed that communism is an unmitigated curse. It pretends to make all men equal. In reality it raises up a few tyrannical leaders and puts the rest of humanity on a plane of equality by making and keeping them all poor.

But in our thinking about communism we sometimes conclude that communism is the cause of trouble in a country when, as a matter of fact, it is the result of trouble in a country. If people have no work or no food, the problems of communism seem very alluring. Here in America, communism is the cause of trouble, but there are some places in the world where people are so poverty-stricken and so hungry that communism is the result of outrageous conditions of human misery.

The best way to fight communism is by giving everybody in the world a fair chance to live a safe and honest life which offers opportunities for advancement and reward. Remove these opportunities, make slaves of men, and they will welcome communism and its promises of amelioration.

Communism is a disease, and social justice and applied Christianity are the specific guaranteed to destroy this disease as it courses through the blood stream of human life.

A LESSON FOR AMERICANS

On Thursday night, Britain's Laborites celebrated their certain victory; though when that victory was assured late Friday, there was little reason for any great jubilation... demonstrating once again the dangers of overconfidence in politics.

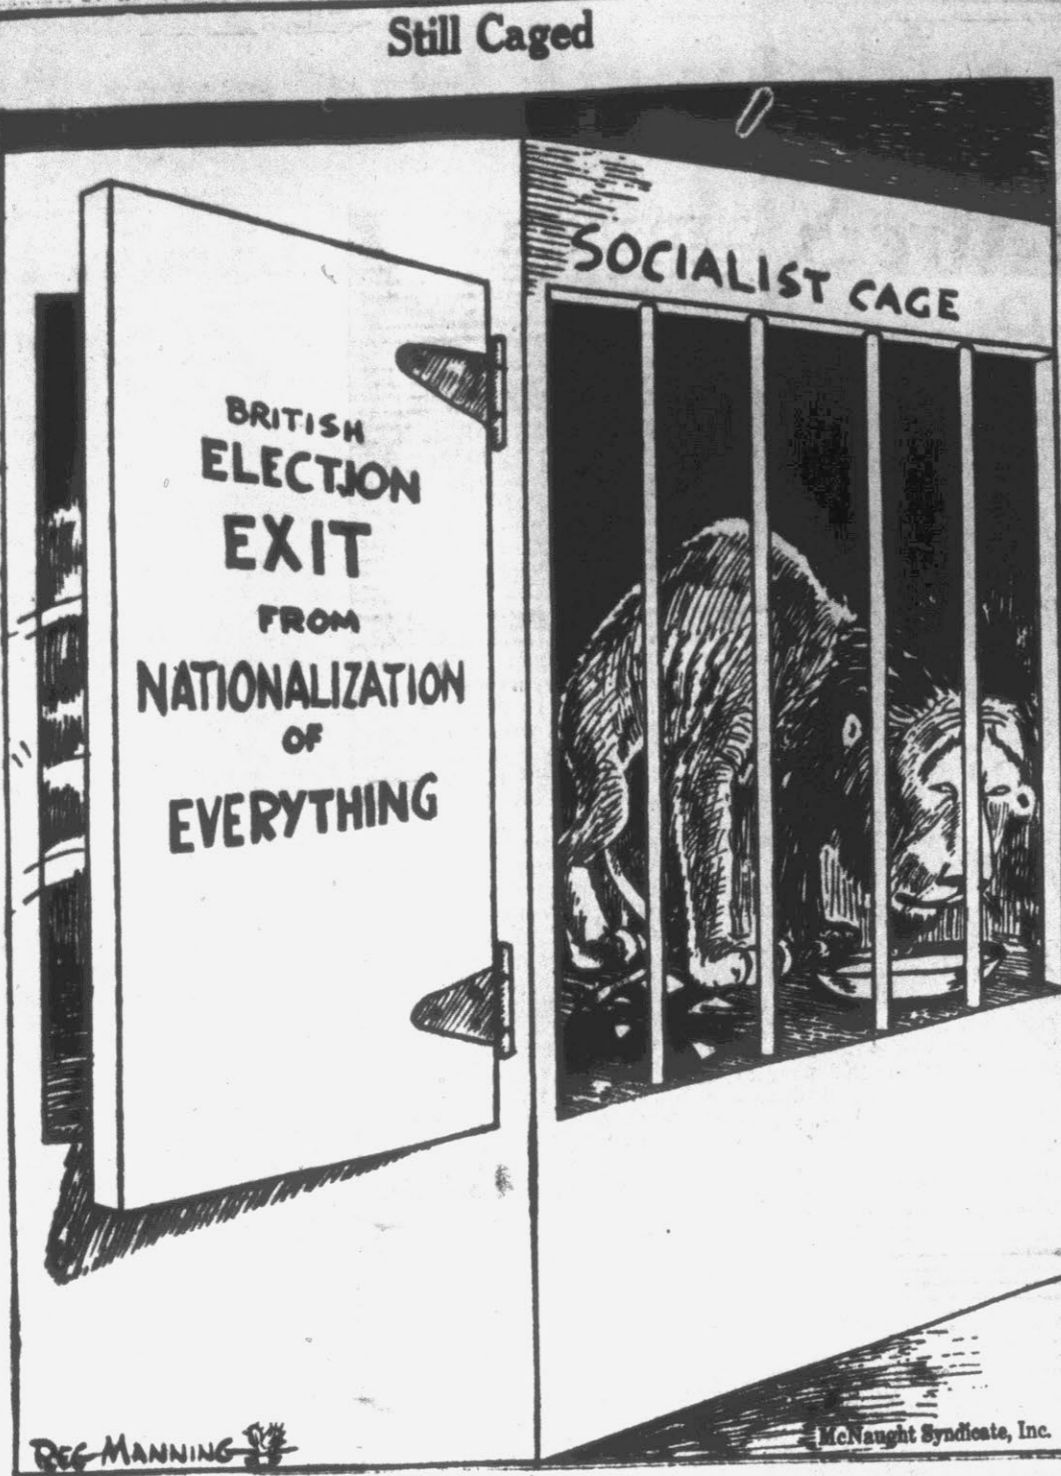

There can be only cold comfort for Britain's Labor party in their parliamentary election win. The margin of popularity which Socialism once enjoyed slipped badly, and it is not even certain the battered victors have a working majority to rule.

Dissatisfaction with government controls and unweildly red tape was responsible for the reversal of Socialism in Australia and New Zealand. And while Winston Churchill's conservative party proposed merely to halt the process of nationalization, not end it, that offer drew heavily against the advocates of Socialism.

While the conservative party did not win the British elections, in the long view, neither did the Laborites... They suffered a reversal which may block their program of nationalization and their position of leadership will be frequently challenged.

Those who have lived under the conditions of over-centralization of government know what it entails, and their rejection of that practice should make a profound impression on American voters.

After all, there are other ways of learning than through that rather harrowing school of "experience."

ACTION—Payment of the filing fee as a candidate for the United States senate by Willis Smith is taken to mean the cards have been dealt for the bigger pot in the 1950 political poker game. Smith became the first "official" candidate, none of the other four having filed up to noon Friday.

That is a formality which likely will be taken care of well before deadline date on March 18. Senator Frank Graham has already opened headquarters in the Sir Walter Hotel, with Judge Jeff Johnson as state manager. Former Senator Robert Reynolds has a staff of stenographers working at his Asheville home, is expected to establish headquarters in Raleigh within a week. It is unanimously agreed that the race will be among these three—although there is violent disagreement as to which has best prospects to win. The other two avowed candidates, Manly Dunaway of Charlotte and Olla Ray Boyd of Pine town, are not counted in the running.

TACTICS—Boyd opened his campaign in Beaufort county Thursday by saying he favors lynching in the south as the best way to control crime. That let his opponent, Dunaway has run for several offices as Democrat and Republican without getting in the score card. Interest centers in campaign tactics of the recognized top men. Graham is expected to paramount need for world wide cooperation to assure peace and economic stability; and for equality of opportunity among all Americans of every race and creed, but he will continue to oppose "force bill" provisions in FEPC and similar legislation, will favor repeal of the Taft-Hartley act. Reynolds has established himself as an intense isolationist with respect to world affairs, favors retention but amendment of Taft-Hartley and goes farther than any New Deal or Fair Deal suggestion for some phases of the social security program—particularly large pensions for all persons over 50 years of age. Smith will stand for economy without penuriousness in government spending for international cooperation without surrender of national prestige, for equitable relations between management and labor.

RECORDS—Smith is disadvantaged to some extent in that he

Somebody Told Me...

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Signs of our times: Bob Crosby is taking Dick Haymes' place on the Club 15 radio show. He'll broadcast five nights a week from Los Angeles, and commute to New York every week for his regular Sunday night NBC Pet Milk show.

Gus Travis, the Charlotte Observer columnist, has uncovered another wild and woolly tale. Sherman Guest of Charlotte and Jack Kulburt of Tifton, Ga., decided to have a little fun the last time Sherman visited Jack in Georgia. Jack manages a department store in Tifton. Just as Sherman arrived Jack had taken the clothes off all the mannikins in the window. One of the mannikins has a face like Hedy Lamarr and had her right hand outstretched as if she were trying to hitch-hike a ride. This was all the suggestion Sherman needed to get an idea stirring in his head. They dressed the dummy up in a very scant outfit and after supper that night drove out on the Augusta highway. They propped the gal up against a telephone pole with her right hand outstretched. Then they parked their car on a side road, ran back and hid behind some bushes to watch.

They didn't have to watch long. Two cars came speeding along in opposite directions—one headed towards New York, the other Florida.

They both saw the gal apparently trying to thumb a ride to Florida. If the motorist going north really was headed for New York he must have decided in a split second to turn around and go back to Florida, so he could pick up the good-looking hitch-hiker.

If it hadn't been for their good brakes both motorists might have been killed, although they would not have been the first ones to lose their heads over a woman. When Sherman and Jack arrived on the scene both motorists were in the middle of the road in an all-out slugfest.

While Sherman and Jack were trying to separate the two a highway patrolman drove up, tipped his hat at the mannikin, and asked her if the two men were fighting over her. His face turned red when he discovered that he was talking to a dummy.

In no uncertain terms the patrolman ordered Sherman and Jackman to take the dummy and make themselves scarce. When Mr. Guest put Jack out in front of his house, Jack's wife happened to hear them and opened the door. She saw the mannikin's leg sticking out of the rear car door and nearly collapsed.

Mr. Guest said his wife was really ready to make the fur fly when he saved the day by carrying the mannikin to the door and letting her see that it was a dummy. And I thank Gus.

DON'T GUESS KNOW about your EYES is Mae. Wilbur told his wife as he started off to work. "We're going to have an apartment freezin' tonight."

"What is an apartment freezin'?" asked Trellis Mae. "I don't believe I ever heard of one."

Wilbur explained that it was just the reverse of a housewarming party.

"You invite all your friends," he said. "But instead of bringing you gifts they divvy up among themselves all the junk you've accumulated and don't want to take with you to a new house. We must have tons of stuff like that."

Wilbur could see a frown flicker across his wife's face.

"But it'll save us money, too," he added. "The moving men would charge at least $35 to pack all these barrels. Our friends can help us do that tonight—and I'll let you have the $35 to buy yourself a present."

"Well—" hesitated Trellis Mae, born between common sense and a desire to get an easy $35 from her husband. "Something tells me—oh, well, never mind. Do as you like, Wilbur."

The historic Peeble apartment freezin' began calmly enough at 8 o'clock that night when half a dozen close friends of the family assembled.

By 9:30 two of the four empty barrels had been carefully packed. The guests were perspiring by then, and beginning to grumble good-naturally:

"When does the giveaway program start?"

Well, when the Peebles got right down to parceling out what they had thought they wouldn't want to take with them—they found they did want to take it with them.

They did decide they could do without a file of the National Geographic, complete from 1917 through 1932, but there were no takers. Nor would anyone accept a gilt-framed, hand-tinted photo of great Uncle Wilberforce Peeble, who won a pension and a good conduct ribbon for getting sic' on a can of spoiled beef in the Spanish-American War.

"This is pure fraud, Wilbur," complained a guest. "If you aren't going to give anything away, you might at least put out something to eat and drink."

So Wilbur phoned for some sandwiches, a case of beer and three bottles of bourbon.

By midnight the guests were throwing silver and dishes into the third barrel with both hands. At one a.m., Amos Fenner, the neighbor below, appeared at the door in pajamas and bathrobe to complain of the noise. At 2 a.m. Fenner was in a corner by himself stinging "Down by the Old Mill Stream" in four parts.

"I've got a sick headache," said Trellis Mae at 3 a.m., and went to bed.

Shortly after 10 a.m. Wilbur awoke to find himself rolled up in the living room rug. He looked one way and saw Trellis Mae lifting a beer bottle out of the phonograph. He looked across another path of chaos and saw three men in work clothes staring at him silently.

"The movers say they never saw such a mess," said Trellis Mae bitterly. "They want $50 to clean it up."

"Okay," mumbled Wilbur. Then noticing a blank space on the wall, he asked:

"Where's the television set?"

"I suspect," said his wife, "you gave it away. And if you want it back, you know who's going to ask for it, too."

Just then groans emerged from the fourth barrel, and a pale, scarecrow face swam over the rim.

"Why, what are you doing in there, Mr. Fenner?" demanded Wilbur.

"I don't know," whispered the face, "but if you aren't out of this

Happiness

The simple faith of this child is written all over her beaming little face. The awed expression, the clasped hands, and the prayerful eyes show without a shadow of a doubt that this small girl has been taught truths of the Christian Faith.

Already she has been taken regularly to the services of the Church, habits which she will not likely break as she grows older. At night Mother tells her stories from the Bible, and at bedtime she kneels reverently to pray before she falls asleep.

A child with such training has been given the greatest insurance of happiness that parents can bestow. No matter what course her life may lead, she will always be able to rely upon her early teachings as her greatest source of comfort and direction.

Only by giving your children the benefit of Christian training can you hope to bless them with security and happiness in the future. It is never too early or too late to begin. Take your children to Church this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

9:30 - Kinston vs. Washington (Championship Game)

By BERT MOYE
Kinston's Granger High School Red Devils and the Washington High Pam-Pack reached the finals in the Northeastern Conference basketball tournament here last night by posting victories at Wright gymnasium before a capacity audience of approximately 1,500 spectators.

The Kinston Red Devils eliminated the Greenville High School Phantoms by trouncing them 72-46, and the Pam-Pack of Washington trounced the Yellow Jackets of Elizabeth City, 46-41, in an extra-period contest.

Tonight's finals will find top-seeded Kinston playing the Washington Pam-Pack for the championship crown, the second time in succession that the two teams have been matched against each other for the crown. Preceding the championship game was a consolation game which will be played between the Phantoms of Greenville and the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets, the semi-finals losers.

Kinston 72, Greenville 46
After Coach Amos Sexton's Red Devils had played the first half of last night's game, they realized that they had been playing against a scrappy Greenville club, for during the first half the Phantoms matched them point for point and as the half ended were trailing by only a four point margin, the biggest gap between the two clubs during the entire first half.

During the first quarter it was really a battle between the two clubs. After Bobby Hodges had pushed in a crisp shot to put the Red Devils out in front, Virginia Haymes matched this with a field goal to knot the count at 2-2. Jimmy Dillingham followed with another field goal to put the Devils back to knot the count again at 4-4. Two field goals in quick succession by Johnny Aman put the Phantoms out in front, a lead which they maintained until the end of the first quarter when they had a 12-10 advantage.

The Phantoms kept this lead until after about three minutes of the second period when they forged ahead 17-16. But this lead was for only seconds as Virginius Haymes put the locals out in front again and it was not until about midway of the period that the Red Devils were able to knot the count, this time at 21-21. A field goal by Joe Whaley put the Red Devils out in front, a lead which they maintained for the rest of the game and when the half ended were out front 30-26.

During the last half of the game the Kinston Red Devils came back with a bang and during the opening minutes of the third quarter shot six field goals in quick succession to get a good lead and when the third period ended were out front 49-30. During this period the Phantoms were able to get only four points. The Red Devils continued their scoring spree in the final quarter racking up a total of 23 points while the Greenies came back to score 16.

Doug Bruton with 22 points and Bobby Hodges with 17 points led the scoring attack for the Red Devils, with Red McDaniels and Joe Whaley contributing 13 points each.

For Coach Boley Farley's Phantoms it was Jimmy Dillingham with 13 points, followed by Joe Sawyer and Johnny Aman, who collected 9 points each.

Washington 46, Eliz. City 41
Coach Bob Brook's Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets forced the Washington Pam-Pack into an extra period contest last night before going down into defeat before the second-seeded club, 46-41, a game which was packed with thrills and excitement from the start to the finish.

After four minutes of play in the first quarter the score was tied at 5-5, and during the remainder of the first quarter the lead changed hands back and forth. With one minute to go, the score was again knotted at 8-8, but a field goal by Al Scarito put the Yellow Jackets out front 10-9 as the first quarter ended.

The second quarter was another nip and tuck affair and with less than three minutes to go the score became knotted 20-20. During this period the score was tied on four different occasions at 14-14, 18-18, 18-18 and 20-20. In the closing seconds Al Scarito shot a field goal to knot the count at 24-24 as the half ended.

The third quarter was another hard fought period and in the early minutes of play the Yellow Jackets went ahead and as the quarter ended were out front by a slim 32-31 lead.

The fourth period saw the score tied at 34-34 and 38-38. With 45 seconds left in the final period and trailing by one point, Jimmy Prescott made good a throw from the foul line to knot the count at 39-39 as the whistle blew for the end of the regulation game to force the contest into an extra period game.

In the extra period play of three minutes, the Pam-Pack began to find the basket and put in 7 more points while holding the Yellow Jackets to one field goal. In the final minute the Pam-Pack froze the ball after running up a 46-41 advantage at this point. At no time during the entire contest was the score more than two points difference between the two clubs.

Lee Knott with 14 points and Dave Fowler and Garland Holmes with 11 and 10 points respectively led Coach Bill Sweet's quint.

Al Scarito with 11 points and Lindsay Hewitt and Clay Foreman with 10 points each led the attack for Elizabeth City.

NCAA Council Convenes Today

Chicago, Feb. 25—(AP)—The N. C. A. A.'s all-powerful 17-man council convened today to study a proposed national survey of athletic policies and possibly temper the "sanity code" into a workable formula for all members.

Headed by N. C. A. A. President Hugh C. Willett of Southern California, the council will continue its session through tomorrow.

The standing of the so-called "sinful seven" schools, which admitted violating the code, also may be reviewed.

Only one of those seven has been returned to good standing—Boston College. Another, The Citadel, has resigned from the N. C. A. A. The other five are Villanova, Virginia, Virginia, Virginia Military Institute, Virginia Tech and Maryland.

For violation of the code, sharply restricting recruiting and financial aid to athletes, ouster of the seven members was voted upon, but failed to carry, at the annual N. C. A. A. meeting in New York last month. The required two-thirds vote to ban them failed, but The Citadel resigned.

Boxer's Death Is Ruled Accidental

New York, Feb. 25—(AP)—Five doctors okayed Boxer Lavern Roach for his fatal fight of last Wednesday night and an autopsy showed death was "accidental."

These facts were revealed at yesterday's open hearing conducted by the State Athletic Commission, with Chairman Eddie Egan presiding and 10 witnesses in attendance. Egan said a report will be made "sometime next week."

Another probe was launched behind closed doors at the district attorney's office and will be continued Monday. Twenty witnesses appeared for the investigation, including many who had attended the state commission's hearing.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, the city's chief medical examiner who performed the autopsy on the 24-year-old Plainview, Tex., middleweight, said he died from a "subdural hemorrhage and ruptured pituitary vein" in the brain. The death was listed as "accidental during a professional boxing bout."

Roach, an ex-Marine, died at 12:50 p. m. (EST) Thursday in St. Clare's Hospital where he had been rushed Wednesday night after being knocked out in the 10th round by George Small of Brooklyn at St. Nicholas Arena.

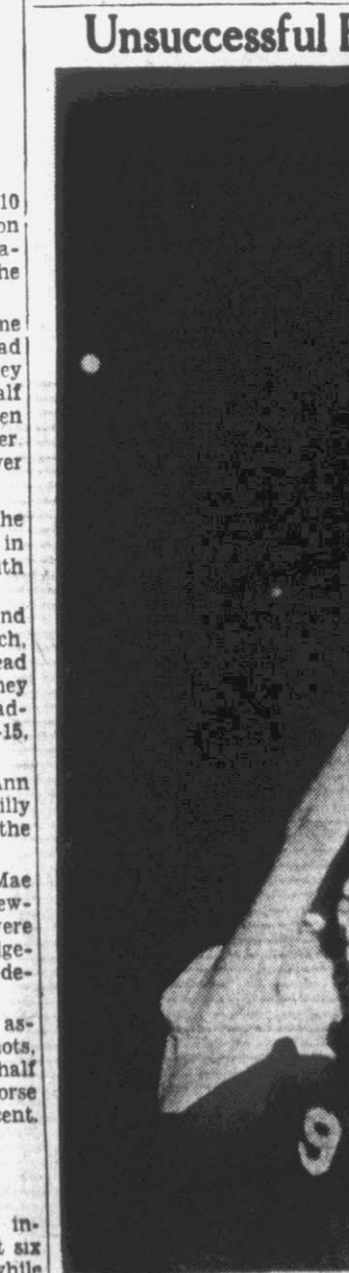

No Illusions As To Coaching Job

Pittsburgh, Feb. 24—(AP)—Len Casanova has no illusions about his new job as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

"It's a tough job but it's a challenge," the ex-Santa Clara Mentor said yesterday a few hours after his arrival from the west coast.

Casanova stayed up until the wee hours today going over Pitt's gridiron future with his new boss, Athletic director Tom Hamilton.

Unsuccessful Bid To Deflect Shot

Elon Eliminates High Point In Stunning Upset

Statesville, N. C., Feb. 25—(AP)—High Point, loser in only one of 16 regular season league games, has been eliminated from the North State Conference Basketball Tournament.

The top-seeded Panthers suffered a stunning 74-69 semi-finals loss to eighth and last-ranked Elon yesterday.

Elon meets Appalachian for the title tonight; Appalachian, ranked No. 2, defeated Lenoir-Rhyne, No. 5, in the other semi-final game, 84-76.

High Point had been figured to win here and receive a bid to the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament.

But history repeated. Lenoir-Rhyne, ranked sixth in the eight team North State field last year, won the tournament at Elkin.

Not more than six points separated High Point and Elon at any time. A dozen times the lead either changed hands or the score was tied. With three minutes to go High Point led 66-65. Then Larry Gaitner sank a basket to give Elon a lead it held to the end. Gaitner made 20 points. Jesse Joyce had 21 for High Point.

The other game also was close all the way. Lenoir-Rhyne took the early lead, but Appalachian went ahead 36-35 on a layup by Center Charley Hope just before intermission. Appalachian stretched its margin to 42-37 at halftime. Lenoir-Rhyne pulled up to only a two-point disadvantage at 72-70 with three minutes, 10 seconds remaining. But Appalachian kept its poise and edged to victory.

Hope was the high scorer with 19 points. Leo Kantoraki had 18 for Lenoir-Rhyne.

Dizzy Dean In Tourney Finale

Miami, Fla., Feb. 25—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, former member of the old St. Louis Gashouse Gang, and defending champion Pete Harris meet today in the 18-hole match play of the 11th annual baseball players' golf tournament.

Dean, whose pitching with the St. Louis Cardinals a few years back ranked him as one of the best of the nation, moved into the finals by eliminating Lou Kretlow, St. Louis Browns pitcher, 2 and 1, in the semi final round.

Has A Winner After Twenty-Seven Losers

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—After 27 unsuccessful Florida starts, Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt recently cashed in with two successive winners at Hialeah Park. His First Glance won an allowance sprint and Disconsolate scored in a $12,000 claiming race. The latter returned $28.10 for $2. Both colts were sired by Discovery, Vanderbilt's great champion, 10 years ago.

Farmville Edged Out, 32-31; Vanceboro Downs Colerain.

Farmville, Feb. 25—Farmville's Red Devils, Pitt County basketball champs, were upset last night by one point by a fighting and courageous Ahoskie team which didn't know when it was licked.

Leading by one point, 31-30, with 15 seconds to go, the Red Devils put on the freeze for a few seconds but Barrett, Farmville guard, stepped over the mid-court line and the ball was handed over to Ahoskie.

Their tall center, Umphlett, thereupon raced toward the basket, hooked, and the goal was good. An attempted goal by Albritton for the Devils was no good as the horn sounded.

Umphlett was the boy who won the game and kept his team in a constant position to win. He personally worked the Ahoskie offensive to fever-high pitch in the closing minutes on four successive goals which put his team in the clutch.

Trailing at the 5:00 mark of the last quarter, 29-25, the 6'2" center scored on a long shot and made good on a set one minute later. Then he got a foul shot to bring the score to 29-28, Farmville.

He put his mates ahead, seemingly for keeps, with 30 seconds remaining on a set shot 30-28. But the never-say-die Red Devils' forward, Carl King, set and made it to put Farmville ahead one point.

It was that the high-scoring center put on his great drive, wrapping the game up for keeps.

Farmville had to play one of its best games of the season to stay in contention with the ball-handling Hertford County club, although its point total was one of its lowest.

They sported leads of four points in the last quarter and six in the last minute of the first half. But each time the Ahoskie quint came back to narrow the margin. They tied the game up, 17-17, at the 3:30 mark of the third period after trailing the Devils at the half, 17-11.

They went ahead two points on a goal by Hogard but a matching bucket by the Devils' Morris knotted the score a minute later, 19-19.

The first quarter was the direct opposite of the latter three in thrills and spills. At the one-minute break the score read 5-3 in favor of Ahoskie, and the general play matched that hapless score. But things got hotter after that when both clubs put on individual scoring drives to get ahead a few points.

The loss last night throws Farmville out of the chance to represent the county in another Class B tournament. The winner of tonight's final game will play in an undesignated town against like competition.

Leading Ahoskie was Umphlett, a former Virginia State League, 3,000 miles with 15 points and high scorer for away.

Both clubs, defensively, he teamed with his running-mate, Williamson, a guard, to spark the play with fast passes and excellent ball-handling.

High scorer for Coach Eberl Move's Red Devils was Carl King with 12 points. Wilbert Morris was runnerup with eight. Albert Cannon, center, teamed with John Barrett to take defensive honors.

In the opening game of last night's semifinal round, Vanceboro whipped a fighting Colerain team which threatened all the way to make a ball game of it, 48-34.

The Vanceboro club had too much height, fielding a team which averaged six feet. They employed the fast break a great part of the game and used it effectively with their height advantage to lead all the way.

Vanceboro led at the quarter 12-8 and 21-16 at halftime.

Vanceboro was led by their center and a guard, Boyd and Whitford, both with 10 points. Whitford, a hulking six-foot ball hawk, owned a deadly hook shot but didn't take advantage of it often. He sparked his club on defense.

For Colerain, two men led their offense. Sam Farless, the center, was high with 15 points, followed by Don Belch, the night's defensive gun for Colerain, with 14.

Farless fouled out in the early minutes of the fourth period with Vanceboro leaving 32-23. Belch kept the scoring moving thereafter but not enough to keep up with the victors.

Southern Conference Will End Cage Season Tonight

Richmond, Va., Feb. 25—(AP)—The curtain falls on the regular Southern conference basketball season tonight. After tonight, only three or four non-conference tilts will remain.

Tonight's big attraction is a non-family affair. North Carolina State, already certain of being the league's number one team in regular season number, puts in another bid for national honors. The Wolfpack will battle at Raleigh with Villanova.

Four conference games are also on the program. Wake Forest goes to George Washington, Maryland to Virginia Military journals to Virginia Tech and the University of Richmond invades William and Mary. In another tussle with an outsider, Furman travels to Newberry.

Sherman Nearman, North Carolina's rangy center, pumped in 18 points last night to lead the Tar Heels to an easy 64 to 46 victory over fading Duke.

South Carolina's Gamecocks thrashed Maryland, 59 to 44. Slim Jim Slaughter, the league's leading point-producer, was high scorer with 18 markers. Lee Brawley, Maryland forward, was close behind with 17.

The triumph may have been a costly one for the Gamecocks, however. Don Cox, star guard, was hospitalized with a painful ankle injury and may not see action next week when South Carolina plays in the annual Southern conference tournament at Durham.

Paddy Young In Revenge Victory

New York, Feb. 25—(AP)—Paddy Young finally has his revenge over Tuzo Portuguese of Costa Rica.

By winning a unanimous 10-round decision last night at Madison Square Garden, Young squared his record with the aggressive Costa Rican, who scored a TKO over him last Jan. 13.

Last night Young won it going away on the cards of all three officials. The good-sized crowd of 12,655 that paid $43,828 agreed.

500 For Zeke

AP Newsfeatures
Brooklyn, N. Y.—Bob (Zeke) Zawoluk, above, of St. John's University has been the big basketball surprise of the season in cage-happy New York. The six-six sophomore figures to score 500 points before the season is over. The New York record for one season is 496, made last year by Tob Gallagher of St. Francis. St. John's coach, Frank McGuire, really has done a fine job with Zawoluk.

Twin-Killing For Ayden Over South Edgecombe

Pinetops, Feb. 25—Playing their last game of the regular season, the Ayden Tornadoes whipped the South Edgecombe quint last night, 39-26. The Ayden girls sewed up the opener for a twin-killing, 47-30.

Both victorious clubs are now prepping for the Coastal Conference tournament to be held in Ayden next week.

Leading the Tornadoes in the nightcap was Mac Whitehurst with 16 points. Jimmy McCormick was runnerup in the scoring department with seven. He cut short his scoring efforts to lead his club defensively. Leading the South Edgecombe boys was Mark Stencil with 10 points. Devon Ellis and Doug Eason were next high with six apiece. Eason was the defensive gun for the locals.

Ayden scored first in the game and went on from there to lead slowly at the quarter, 4-3. They sported an 18-8 lead at the half intermission and built it to ten points to lead at the third quarter, 30-20. The Tornadoes were never headed throughout.

The girls set the stage in the preliminary for the boys' win in the finale by taking the South Edgecombe girls by 17 points.

Led by Katherine Wooten and Alice Jean Cox with 20 points each, the distaff Tornadoes took the lead at the first quarter mark, 9-6. They were never behind in the game leading the locals at the half, 20-15, and at the third period, 33-22.

South Edgecombe was led by Ann Webb with 17 points. Sue Lilly trailed her in the scoring for the locals with 10 points.

For Ayden on defense, Annie Mae Cox and Margaret Andrews a newcomer to the starting ranks, were the standouts. For South Edgecombe, Shirley Taylor led on defense.

The girls from Pitt made an astronomical 45 per cent of their shots, taking few and making almost half of them. The locals fared worse percentage-wise, making 33 per cent.

Family Practice For Channel Bid Come Summer

Jacksonville Beach, Fla., Feb. 25—(AP)—The paddling Mercers—all seven of them—are getting a chilly idea of what they may encounter when they try to swim the English Channel this summer.

John (Pop) Mercer and his six children are practicing daily in the Atlantic ocean, where the temperature has ranged in the 40's during a recent cold snap.

"It's shivery business but good for us," said Mrs. Mercer, coach of the family team. "The channel is a cold stretch and we need to get used to it."

Lined up for the channel procession are Pop Mercer, 54; daughters Lois, 27, and Althea, 21; sons, John, 18, and Bobbie, 13, and the twins, Faith and Hope, 12. Mrs. Mercer will go along in the boat.

All seven will begin the swim but the three youngest children may be unable to go the full distance, Mrs. Mercer said.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Home Girl

By Carol Holliston AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 18

Celia eloped with Tony the day before Anne's wedding. She was to have been bridesmaid and Don beat man both at Tony's request. There was to have been much fuss and ceremony at Tony's insistence. Many people were invited, mostly by him, because Anne knew so few people outside her own family. She was the girl who stayed home, after all Tony had wanted the whole world to see him marry Anne, he had said, and there was to be a big hotel reception later. The night before the scheduled wedding David was to act as host at a dinner party at a famous restaurant.

And nothing came to pass. Celia had decided to stay at a hotel so as not to cause more work for Mary, so she said. Adele said it was so as to escape her own children. Even Adele was stunned by the real reason when she realized it. Obviously Celia was being too chummy with Tony, but after all Celia was an actress. She had married an actor, played on Broadway, been in a couple of movies, and just came from Hollywood. Ironically enough it was Adele who got the message. Celia wasted no words or thought. It was brief.

Tony and I just married. Off on honeymoon to California. You soon.

Celia Raymond

The message was addressed to Adele at her father's house. She was helping Anne with her simple wedding dress that Anne had insisted on making herself. It was one of the few things about which Anne had been firm. Adele had just finished telling her that she had been right and the dress was perfect when Mary called up that there was a telegram for her. Adele ran down, thinking that only David would know she was there and wondering why he would telegraph her. Celia never even entered her mind as she signed for the message and pulled it from the envelop. Mary stood by watching her. Adele had to read it three times before she was sure her eyes weren't failing her. Only then did she put her hand to her heart and gasp:

"My God, what must we do? What can we do?"

The twins came trooping into the hall after Mary. The dogs came, too, of course, and stood with eager eyes and tongues sticking out. Adele pushed through them and ran up the marble steps to the parlor floor. The sight of the children completely unnerved her. She had to sit down and think. Her knees felt wobbly under her. She thought Roger was under her, but instead he was sitting at his desk in the back parlor. He looked up at her, pen in hand.

"What's the matter, Adele?"

"Matter? I could kill her! I should have killed her long ago!"

Senate Divided On Spud Control

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—T Senate was split wide open over what to do about preventing future potato surpluses.

With potato state senators protesting that a solution offered by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) goes much too far, the lawmakers took up a proposal by Senator Williams (R-Del.) to make the Lucas plan even more drastic.

Lucas would lift price supports on all potatoes planted after a certain date, holding the price off until rigid government controls could be clamped down. Williams would extend that to include potatoes harvested after the deadline—which Congress passes the pending bill.

The Williams proposal would cover many more potatoes. The Delaware senator said talk of the Lucas plan had prompted many potato growers to rush out and overplant their land. His plan, he added, would save many millions of dollars in supports.

Ten Thousand To Attend Kiwanis Meeting Florida

More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the 35th annual convention of Kiwanis International May 7 to 11 at Miami, Fla., officers of the Greenville Kiwanis Club were informed today.

President Tige Gardner said that reports from the Miami Kiwanis convention headquarters indicate that preparations for the five-day meeting are nearing completion.

Many nationally known figures will be on hand to address delegates, representing 3,100 clubs and 200,000 members throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and the Yukon Territory, Gardner said.

These speakers will include, among others, Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, General Carlos P. Romulo, president of the United Nations, the Rev. Marshall R. Reed, bishop of the Methodist church in the Detroit area, and John Fisher, Toronto, widely known Canadian radio columnist.

Delegates also will participate in panel conferences on numerous Kiwanis-sponsored activities, ranging from public affairs, boys and girls work and agriculture to support of churches in their spiritual aims. An outstanding program also is being planned for the wives of Kiwanians, Gardner said.

Anticipating a huge delegate registration, Kiwanis International established its convention headquarters at Miami in January. At the same time, the organization began planning the many features that tie into a nationwide meeting of business and professional leaders.

J. Hugh Jackson, dean of the graduate school of business at Stanford University, Stanford, Calif., and president of Kiwanis International, will preside over the various convention sessions.

Blacksmiths Set Safety Record

OGDEN, Utah.—(AP)—Workers in a railroad blacksmith shop in Ogden are proud of a safety record dating back to 1923.

About a dozen men work in the Southern Pacific shop. Their equipment includes heavy forging machinery. The products forged range from a horseshoe to an equalizer from a horseshoe to a ton. Although bar weighing machines seven days a week and there have been minor injuries, John H. Hadley, lead workman, says the smiths haven't had a serious accident since 1923. A sign in the shop tells of the record and warns:

"Don't be the one to break it."

Firehouse Five-Plus Two Brings Back 'Dixieland'

Hollywood, Feb. 25—(AP)—New musical sensation along the sunset strip, a jazzy little combo called "the firehouse five-plus two" has brought Dixieland back to Hollywood, aboard a fire engine.

The seven-piece band is packing 'em in at the Mocambo—but only on Monday nights. Everybody in the band is otherwise employed, with only one night a week to devote to nightclub work.

The boys drive up to the club in a 1914 fire truck, bell clanging and siren screaming. They wear firemen's helmets and their theme song is "Firehouse Stomp."

Their revival of jazz tempos has the film colony doing the Charleston again.

Leader—Trombonist Ward Kimball, pianist Frank Thomas and clarinetist Clarke Mallory are all animation artists at Walt Disney studios. Ed Penner, tuba and saxophone man, is in Disney's story department. Harper Goff, banjo player, is an illustrator for Warner Bros. and Collier's magazine.

Danny Algire, cornetist, is a fingerprint expert with the Los Angeles police department. And drummer Monte Montjoy describes himself as "a Santa Monica beach-comber." He works for Disney too, when he feels like it.

All Dixieland addicts, the group got together several months ago "just for laughs and kicks," said Kimball. Originally there were five. Later they picked up the "plus two." The Mocambo's Charlie Morrison heard them at a tiny Beverly Boulevard bistro, signed them for the Monday relief band spot. This week they made their nationwide radio debut, via the CBS Bing Crosby show.

There's no glamorous chirp with this outfit; their only siren comes right off the fire engine and goes into the club with them.

Long Leaf, Slash Pine Seedlings Are Now Ready For Sale

District Forester R. C. Winkworth of New Bern has just received notice from the Department of Conservation and Development's forest nursery at Clayton that several hundred thousand longleaf and slash pine seedlings must be sold within the next two weeks or it will be too late to transplant them.

Winkworth stated that the unseasonable weather has made it necessary for the department to issue a call for help from the farmers and landowners of Pitt County.

"If you were going to wait until later to order your seedlings," he said, "please reconsider and order your seedlings immediately. Normally you would have until the middle of March to plant, but warm weather has advanced the seedlings about one month."

Application blanks can be had by contacting N. S. (Kid) Tyson, Pitt county forest warden, Route 2, Greenville, or District Forester Winkworth, or the State Forester at Raleigh.

Couldn't Play Role Of Father

New York, Feb. 24—(AP)—Will Rogers, Jr., decided he couldn't play the part of his famous father in a CBS radio drama last night.

Rogers rehearsed for two days to appear in the title role of "The Autobiography of Will Rogers." But before the performance, he stepped out.

"Somebody else may possibly play the role," he said. But it probably never will be me. I knew that I never could portray dad in the movies, but I thought it might work on radio. It didn't."

Prison Sentence For Robt. Pitts

Winnsboro, S. C. Feb. 25—(AP)—A 21-year prison sentence for robbing an aged county storekeeper of $41.30 life saving today faced Robert Pitts, 39, "the man without fingerprints."

Two other Charlotte, N. C. residents charged in the theft at J. Wash Ladd's general store at Selm crossroads last Aug. 13 also were sentenced last night by Judge T. B. Grenaker.

Peggy Jean King, 21, a waitress, got five years, and Harry Russell, 34 a truck driver who turned state's evidence, got 10.

Russell testified that he and Pitts bound the 72-year-old Ladd and got the money from a fishing tackle box in a bedroom over the store.

A Fairfield county general sessions court jury took only 20 minutes to convict Pitts, charged with armed robbery and highway robbery, and Miss King, charged with being an accessory before the fact.

Ladd testified during the three-day trial that Pitts and Miss King visited his store two days before the robbery.

Pitts had his fingerprints removed by surgery. But police say he is easily identifiable because he is the only man without prints.

The graying, soft-voiced judge told Miss King she may be paroled after one year if she pays $3,000. Authorities said very little of the money has been recovered.

Peggy collapsed when the judge told her the $3,000 "can be raised just as soon as they get to the hiding place."

The prosecution had offered testimony that the stolen money was taken to the King home in Charlotte and portions given to Peggy's mother and brother, Fred O. King, Jr.

The court told Peggy "I love you more than your mother does. Your mother was in court and never did come to the aid of the little girl she brought into this world."

Pitts based his defense on testimony of alibi witnesses who said he was in Charlotte the day of the robbery. He did not take the stand.

In order to pass along the street, my pony had to go through the midst of that throng of tots.

It looked as though there wasn't a chance of avoiding death of injury to several of them. I had just time to grit my teeth and say a prayer before we were right in the midst of the little folk. I didn't try to guide my pony. It was up to him and interference by me might be disastrous. There wasn't anything to do but let him choose his own route.

He did, and as befitted an artist. He went through the pie-makers gracefully, daintily, like a ballet dancer. His hooves flashed by little heads and bodies like streaks of light.

It was a superb piece of craftsmanship on his part—and he was enjoying it. No doubt of that. He wasn't vicious — just mischievous and bursting with happy life. He knew what he was doing.
