Contract Signed, Miners Go To Pits

Serious Threat To Nation's Economy Ended; Peace In Coal Fields Appears Assured For Months To Come; Lewis Says 'Impossible' Accomplished

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—The signing of a new contract sent soft coal miners swarming back to the pits today—ending a serious threat to the nation's economy and promising peace in the coal fields for months to come.

For the miners, the prize they won was a $1.40 daily "package" per man, plus reasonable assurance of fairly steady work for at least a year and perhaps until the middle of 1952.

For the public the settlement meant relief from a four-week strike, rescue from a looming industrial breakdown, and some assurance of stability in what President Truman has called "a sick industry"—plus higher coal bills.

One operator put the cost of the United Mine Workers' gains at $250,000,000 this year. The extra cost to consumers may be anywhere from 25 to 50 cents a ton.

The strike-settling contract was signed by UMW President John L. Lewis and the spokesmen for all major groups of operators—north, west, the reluctant south, and the steel-owned "captive" group—at 5:30 p.m. (EST) Sunday.

Lewis told newsmen: "The United Mine Workers have again accomplished the impossible." Then he let the word be flashed to the 370,000 strikers: "All mines will resume work."

This time there was no defiance of a back-to-work order. There was a contract, there would be work. In many districts the jubilant miners waived formal meetings and back-to-work votes. Until now they had defied orders to go back from both Lewis and the federal court.

Local officials hurried the movement by radio broadcasts in the back to some pits before the ink on the contract was fairly dry.

Some pits were ready by midnight to start pouring coal into the fuel-starved economy. But it may be 10 days before all of an estimated 225,000 laid-off men in coal-dependent industries, such as railroads and steel, will be back on the job.

Peace in the anthracite industry seemed just ahead, too. Thus far little talk in New York are being moved to Washington, probably on Tuesday. Now that the soft coal dispute is ended, an anthracite agreement may be achieved within the week, industry and union sources predicted.

The nearly 80,000 anthracite workers did not join the 372,000 soft coal diggers in the four-week strike, although their contract also had expired last June 30.

Nationalization Issue Avoided By King In Address

Speech In Opening Of Parliament Emphasizes Atomic Problem, UN

London, March 6.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's revamped labor government, its power stripped in the last election, shelved further nationalization projects today.

The government's immediate program, disclosed in a speech by King George VI at the opening today of the new parliament, made no mention of additional nationalization of industries.

The king said his new government—which has a precarious seven-seat majority in the House of Commons—will do its utmost "to assist in finding a durable solution to the tremendous problem of atomic energy so that international agreement for adequate control and supervision of the production of atomic energy may be secured."

The king's speech from the throne prepared by Prime Minister Attlee's cabinet, emphasized that the government will continue to give full support to the United Nations, "for it is only through an effective system of security that world peace can be assured."

Control of the production of atomic energy, the king said, will be attempted through machinery of the United Nations.

Failure to make any reference whatever to nationalization, a program close to the heart of the labor party, seemed to reflect the party's desire to avoid controversial issues in the immediate future. But harmony will not be sought at the expense of the national well being, the king said.

Resume Hunt For Airmen Down In Lake Michigan

Milwaukee, March 6.—(AP)—Air and surface units resumed the search today for five of six men aboard an Air Force plane which crashed into Lake Michigan Saturday night after radiating it was low on gasoline.

Hope that any of the five still might be alive was almost abandoned last night when the body of Major Milton Bender, 34, operations officer of Civil Air Patrol here, was found wearing a "Mae West" life preserver.

The body was found about 10 miles from the spot where the plane was forced down on a non-stop flight from Bolling Field, Washington, D.C.

The C-45 was last heard from at 7:30 p.m. (EST) Saturday when Major John D. Schindler, the Milwaukee pilot, messaged he was running out of fuel and an emergency landing might be necessary.

Arrest 34 In Big Bootleg Roundup
Hickory, March 6.—(AP)—Thirty-four persons were arrested—including one candidate for sheriff in the coming spring primaries—as Catawba county Alcoholic Beverage Control law enforcement officers cracked down during the week-end on the illicit sale of whiskey and beer.

Cyle Anderson Bolick, who is seeking the sheriff's post on the Democratic ticket, was placed under $300 bond on a charge of violating the prohibition laws.

No Blue Mold In Pitt's Tobacco Beds Reported

Farm Agent Says Recent Cold Dry Weather Has Helped; Urges Spraying

No blue mold has been reported in the county as yet, Farm Agent Sam Weeks reported this morning in commenting on the general condition of Pitt's tobacco plants.

Although the mold, which injures the tiny plants in the beds, has been reported in Columbus and Robeson counties, Weeks said in his opinion the mold has not struck plant beds in Pitt because of the cold, dry weather of the past two weeks.

He reminded farmers the blight strikes the beds in moist weather when the temperature varies between 40 and 60 degrees Fahrenheit. With today's indication of warmer weather to come, with perhaps accompanying rains, the plants will begin to appear in most of the farmers' beds within the next few weeks, the agent said.

He urged farmers to spray or dust the beds with proper chemicals now rather than waiting until ideal blue mold conditions hit the county.

He quoted a Department of Agriculture bulletin on the use of preventives, saying "Don't put it off—put it on."

Last year Pitt farmers were very fortunate, he said, in being able to ward off the mold in the spring. It wiped out the plants in counties farther west, striking them when they were still tiny.

Speaking of the general conditions of the plants hereabouts, Weeks said: "Due to the cold, dry weather of late, many plants haven't come up yet. Some farmers have sown over their beds and even planted new ones to make sure they get plants growing. The plants are now quite small, particularly the ones planted in late January and early February, and these are not up yet. However, the beds sown early in January have plants above ground now and they are the ones which the mold will attack first."

In spraying the beds now, Weeks suggested the use of three chemicals which are equally effective. They are ferimate, dithane 2-78, and parzate. In mixing with any of these, 15 percent ferimate should be used and 10 percent of dithane 2-78 or parzate. If spraying is desired, five tablespoonsful to a gallon of water when using ferimate is desirable, Weeks said. With the other two, two-and-a-half tablespoonsful to a gallon should be used.

He said two applications should be made each week and one after each rain.

If flea-beetles occur in the beds, a three percent solution of DDT dust should be mixed with the ferimate for the application. However, he warned farmers not to apply the mixture more than once in addition to the application made just prior to transferring the plants from the bed to the field.

Too much DDT will cause serious injury to the plants, crinkling the leaves, he stated.

Farmer Held On Murder Charges

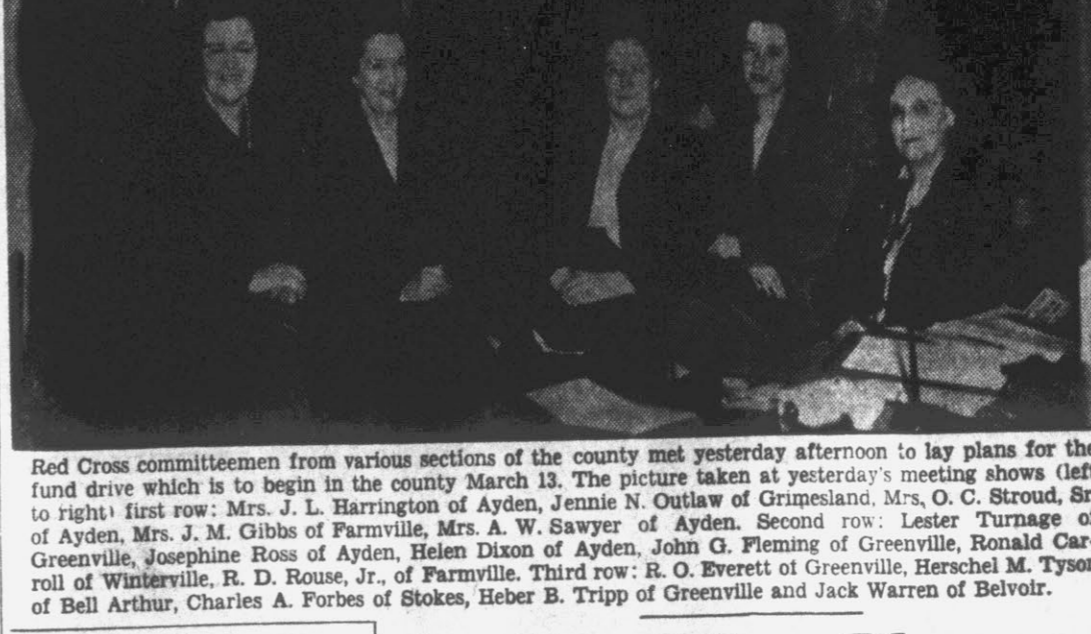

The Pitt County sheriff's office is holding Jessie Brown, a negro tenant farmer of near Renston, on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife.

Howard May Brown died in Pitt General Hospital yesterday as a result of injuries received from a blast of a 16 gauge shotgun, allegedly fired by Jessie Brown.

The charge entered the woman's right side, inflicting internal injuries from which she never recovered.

Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse announced that an inquest into the shooting will be held Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the Pitt County Court House.

Expect Passage Of Anti-Red Law

Mundt Bill Would Force U. S. Reds Break With Russia

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) predicted today a speedy congressional approval of a bill which he said would force the American Communist party to sever its ties with Russia.

The bill, requiring registration of all Communists and of the officers of Communist-front organizations, got 12 to 1 approval by the Senate judiciary committee over the weekend. Rep. Nixon will offer an identical measure in the House.

"The atmosphere is right for passage of this bill at this time," Mundt told a reporter. "In view of the Puchs case in Britain, the Hiss case and others in this country, I believe Congress is ready to do something to stamp out the subversive menace."

"This bill will not outlaw the Communist party but it will cut the cord by which it is connected with Moscow."

The measure, also sponsored by Senators Ferguson (R-Mich) and Olin Johnson (D-SC) would require the Communist party and front organizations to file financial statements. All Communist literature would have to be so labelled in the mails and so identified in radio broadcasts.

Communists would be barred from holding appointive federal jobs but could hold elective offices.

A colored man who was with Hardee at the time of the accident stated that Hardee was showing him how the gun worked, when it went off and shot him in the chest.

U. S. Forced Into Retreat Out Of Eastern Europe

Communist Methods Range From Expulsion To Torture Of Employes

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—The United States is being forced into a slow retreat from Russian-dominated eastern Europe by communist methods ranging from expulsion of Americans to the torture of their native employes.

This fact stood out today from a weekend of sensational developments—which included a claim by the State Department that it has finally solved the "mysterious enigma" of how red police obtain confessions from their innocent victims.

Here are the events bearing on the critical eastern European front of the cold war up to today:

1. In Washington, the State Department made public the dramatic story of Michael Shipkov, 39-year-old Bulgarian translator who went through a communist police torture chamber last August and lived to tell his American friends what happened. Shipkov, recaptured by the Reds, is presumed to be either dead or utterly doomed; he had requested that if his confession was ever used against him the affidavit repudiating it should also be made public.

2. At Budapest the Hungarian government—possibly in consultation with Moscow—was looking for a new way to reduce the staff of the American legation there. The U. S. on Saturday rejected a Hungarian request that the staff be reduced voluntarily on the ground that it is a spy center.

3. From Prague came an American Embassy announcement that Czechoslovakia soon will order all U. S. missionaries to leave the country.

4. In Moscow the American embassy staff was adjusting to a heavy increase in operating costs, that after July 1 will go up 100 per cent. In Revaling the ruble last week, the Kremlin knocked out the 8 to the $1 special rate for diplomats, cutting the exchange to 6 to 1 on March 1 and to 4 to 1 on July 1.

There is a growing belief among state department officials that the Russian hope the increased cost—roughly from $900,000 to $1,000,000 for the U. S. embassy—will cause a cut in western diplomatic staffs there.

5. The state department is convinced that all along the line the Russians and their satellite governments are trying to seal up the cracks which remain in the iron curtain. It was in this process that scholarly Michael Shipkov caught last August. What happened to him was one of the events which led to the break in American and Bulgarian relations.

Shipkov's story, unparalleled in the official public reports of this government, covers a 32-hour period last August. During that time he was under constant questioning by Bulgarian security militia. He finally broke and wrote out a detailed confession of crimes which both he and the state department declared never existed.

The department linked Shipkov's story with the cases of Cardinal Mindszenty and Robert A. Voegler in Hungary. It described the pressure put on the Bulgarian as an "apparently hypnotic process," and said it explains how Mindszenty, Voegler and hundreds of other red police victims may have been broken.

The Declaring Of War

The Chances Of Winning A War Will Soon Revolve On Who Is Prepared To Strike, And Strikes, The First Blow; Slow Democratic Processes Noted

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—Here's a nice one to think about. This country and Russia are spending billions on arms and bomb making. So far as can be seen, they'll continue doing that.

In time both countries may have bombs big enough to wipe out whole cities, one bomb to a city.

Scientists say a hydrogen bomb can do just that. If there's a war, the one which attacks first will have a big advantage.

For instance, suppose Russia in a sneak attack was able in one night to wipe out Washington, New York, Chicago and Detroit.

After that our chances of winning the war, or even waging war very long, might not be good.

Our bombers, if scattered around, might try to attack in turn. But, having started the war, Russia would be ready for that.

Could Russia tee off on us suddenly without a formal declaration of war, which would be enough warning to us? Sure.

The Russians could get going on an order from above, from Joseph Stalin and his group.

But could the Russians actually start their whole war machine going without our knowing maybe so maybe not. No one can answer that now.

We weren't prepared for the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. All this time, because of the hydrogen bomb, we'd be in a sad fix if our spy system failed.

But there's the problem of how the United States would go to war. Under the constitution, only Congress can declare war. But, if we reached a point where Congress threatened to declare war, the Russians would have plenty of warning and time to attack first.

In the past this arrangement—no war unless declared by the people's representatives in Congress—has worked all right. It was the Democratic way, the backbone of this country's way of life.

It saved the people from the danger of possibly sudden action by one man, the President, who otherwise might have been able to put the people into a war they didn't want.

But times have changed, as this story has tried to point out, because of the advantage that would go to

A Bone Of Contention

Why Both Germany And France Are Anxious To Claim Rich Saar Valley; Past Actions On The Strategic Area; The New Treaty Is Raising More Anger

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Once more France and Germany (this time the Bonn government of western Germany) are at loggerheads over the Saar valley—a bone of bitter contention for two centuries.

The Saar, which the Bonn regime claims is German territory, lies up against the French frontier. It is of vast importance for two reasons:

It is one of the world's richest coal areas, and (what perhaps isn't so widely recognized) has great strategic value militarily.

This strategic aspect is of special significance in view of the deep-seated hostility between the two nations, engendered by a long train of wars.

At the end of the late war France detached the Saar from Germany and gave it a status of limited self-government under French direction.

Paris now has taken a further step which has angered the Bonn regime.

The French have made a treaty with the Saar which the valley government becomes a "republic" with broader autonomy but with Paris remaining in charge of foreign relations and military security. France continues in control of the coal mines for fifty years. The Saar is promised complete independence at the end of that time if the allies approve.

Actually France has no authority to make final disposition of the Saar at this juncture, since the western allies have agreed that the matter shall be settled in the peace conference on the basis that possession is nine points of the law, the French may be strengthened their position in seizing opportunity by the forelock.

The Saar district, of some 784 square miles, originally came into possession of France in 1766 as part of Lorraine. After the peace of Paris in 1815 it was turned over to Germany. At the end of World War I the Saar basin was awarded to France by the treaty of Versailles, for exploitation of the coal fields. This was to compensate France for losses through destruction of her Northern fields by the invading German armies.

The treaty further provided that

Miss Chandler Is W.C.T.U. Speaker

Miss Mamej Chandler brought a most interesting and helpful message to the W. C. T. U. which met in the home of Mrs. Lee H. Moore last Wednesday. In her usual charming manner Miss Chandler spoke on "Alcohol as it Affects Youth," with her emphasis on how alcohol affects the college student. Because of her winning personality she has won the confidence of students not only in her church but students in all churches. For this reason she knows that the college freshman is beset by many fears and uncertainties. Since alcohol will for the time being remove these inhibitions and make the student feel at ease there is great danger of one becoming an alcoholic. Miss Chandler stressed the importance of parents and church members knowing the dangers of alcohol and by their example set a pattern of total abstinence as the only safe road for the student to follow. She closed her talk with Bible reading and prayer which helped strengthen the union in the work it is trying to do.

Swedish Cruiser Host To Visitors At U. S. Capital

WASHINGTON—Visitors aboard the trim Swedish cruiser Gotland at the Naval Gun Factory were as impressed with the welcome they received as the officers and 520 enlisted men were with the welcome they received ashore. Sunday open house was held from 1 to 4 p. m. on the Gotland, first Swedish man-of-war here since 1919. But when 4 o'clock came and long lines of people were still standing on the dock, the officers decided to let them continue to come aboard. They were still greeting them at 6 o'clock.

About 10 officers and 10 cadets stood at the head of the gangplank to welcome guests. The men were all tall, lean, pink-cheeked, blue-eyed, blonds. Almost all the men spoke enough English to get along with the visitors. Now and then some Swedish-American would come aboard with a big smile, saying "Gud dag, gud dag" . . . "Good day," of course. The Swede usually says it twice. Then the grins would widen on the faces of the men and there would follow an enthusiastic outburst of Swedish.

The ship was so clean that it simply shone. The boards of the deck were paper-white. There wasn't a single smudge anywhere. Some 16 visitors were invited to stay for dinner that night in the officers' ward room. It was a sort of homey-looking room for a war ship. The walls were hung with lovely oil paintings and with scenes from various countries where the ship had stopped on its long training cruise.

The food, put aboard in Sweden, was an extra treat for the Swedish-Americans among the lucky dinner guests. There were two kinds of bread, one a rye type and the other, called "limpa," like a very fine-grained whole wheat seasoned with caraway seed. Tiny Swedish sardines and a very fine spicy cheese were passed to eat on the breads. This was followed by a casserole of baked chicken, finely chopped potatoes and mushrooms, then a highly seasoned fricassee, preserved fruits, big steaming cups of Swedish coffee. Madeira wine and Swedish beer were served with the dinner. Afterward there were two hours to choose from: "aqua-vit," which is a strong white liqueur somewhat resembling vodka, and the famous "Swedish punch."

As for their visits ashore, the officers remarked they had been "flabbergasted" at the generous treatment they received. The ship's information officer, Sub-Lieutenant Commander Goran Lundberg, said: "For one thing, you know, we Swedes like good food, well prepared. I had been told your food was mostly packaged stuff, hastily prepared and hurriedly served. I was delighted to find that was wrong. Your food is marvelous, the variety infinite . . . almost as good as Swedish food."

He was born in Limbach, Saxony, Germany in 1900, the son of Mrs. Lina Scheller and the late Wilhelm F. Scheller. He received a degree in mechanical engineering from Zwickau University in Germany and came to the United States in 1923. He later became a naturalized citizen of the United States. On December 13, 1910 he purchased the Greenville Full Fashioned Hosiery mill, and has been its owner and operator since that time.

Hans of Greenville, and two sisters, Lisbeth Scheller and Mrs. Gretel Kindler, both of Germany.

Women In The Church

The death in Seoul, Korea, recently of Miss Alice R. Appenzeller, Methodist missionary and honorary president of Ewha College for Women in that city, removes from the Republic the most famous American educator in its service, and also the first American child born in the "Hermit Kingdom" after its opening to the west. Miss Appenzeller was born in Seoul in 1885, the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Henry C. Appenzeller, Methodism's first missionaries to Korea. She was educated at Wellesley College and Columbia University, and was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Pedagogy by Boston University. For 35 years she was associated with Ewha College, for 18 years as its president. The Japanese Emperor awarded her the "Blue Ribbon Medal" in 1935 for service to Korean education.

Frau Liselotte Nold, director of the Bavarian Service to Mothers, widow of a German pastor who was a leader in the Student Christian Movement and who died while serving as a chaplain on the Russian front, is on a visit to the United States under sponsorship of the U. S. Department of State. She has been visiting and speaking in American churches under the auspices of the United Council of Church Women and of the National Lutheran Council; and visiting Lutheran "motherhouses."

The Quadrennial Assembly of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will meet in Cleveland, Ohio, April 18 to 21. It is expected that 3,500 women will attend, representing 1,500,000 members of the Society in 26,000 local churches. Mrs. Frank G. Brooks, of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, national president, will preside. "Christian Faith for a World in Revolution" has been chosen as the theme of the gathering. Dr. Harold A. Bosley, pastor-designate of the First Methodist Church, Evanson, Ill., will lead the meditations throughout the assembly; and special music will be furnished by the National College Singers, Bennett College Singers, and Scarritt College Singers. Among the guest-speakers will be: Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, Dr. Gloria M. Wyster, Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton, Bishop Arthur J. Moore.

Funeral services for James Lewis Vincent, 67, of near Edward's Bridge, in Lenoir county, who died at a Kinston hospital early Saturday as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident Friday night, were held at Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church Sunday afternoon. A cigarette dropped on the floor of a pickup truck operated by Hubert Jones, 21, of Hugo, cost the life of Vincent, a passenger in the truck and resulted in a collarbone fracture for Jones, State Patrolman Walter Taylor reported.

When Jones reached to retrieve the cigarette, the truck got out of control, plunged off the road north of Graingers and overturned. Vincent succumbed to internal injuries shortly after admission to a Kinston hospital, but Jones is expected to recover.

Taylor said he had not completed his investigation and no charges had been preferred. The accident occurred on an unpaved road about a mile north of Graingers.

Strength FOR THE DAY

A CERTAIN GOOD FAIRY
How lovely it would be if we could make everything easy for ourselves, our children, and the world. How surely would happiness reign supreme if we could raise the standard of living about ten times above what it is now!

Maybe. But as we look around us and see the people who have things easy, certainly they do not appear to be very happy. Some of them jump off bridges or keep themselves soaked with alcohol most of the time to forget their troubles. We have the highest living standards that any group of human beings have ever known. Yet that person would indeed have a job on his hands who started out to prove that this is the most moral and happy generation in human history.

The truth of the matter is that most of us would do nothing worthwhile unless we had the good of necessity. For most people life begins to deteriorate when it begins to get easy. Great leaders have called forth the enthusiastic devotion of their followers not by promising them ease but by confronting them with a mighty challenge.
Winston Churchill got a real response when he told the English people he had nothing to offer them but blood, sweat and tears. Necessity is not only the mother of invention; necessity is that good fairy who comes bringing us real happiness done up in packages marked "danger," "sorrow," "discipline."

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Wiley Peyton, the subject of a feature story in Saturday's Reflector is a Negro farmer of the Grimesland section of Pitt county who has 11 living children—10 of whom are college graduates.
With such a record, the Peytons have set a remarkable example for the families of the South in affording higher education for the young members of the family.

In this day and time when the country is beset by cries for civil rights and equal opportunities for the Negroes of the South, such a man as Wiley Peyton stands out among his fellow men as a proof positive that even in the South, contrary to what may be preached by husky voiced agitators, Negroes have ample opportunity to raise themselves through their own work and initiative.

Until ten years ago, Wiley Peyton worked hard as a tenant farmer and saved what money he could to send his children through college as they finished the education offered by the county school system. Each of the other children after finishing his college education contributed financial assistance to the younger members of the family who were beginning their college careers. In the past 10 years not only have the children completed their education, but Wiley also has purchased his own farm.

There are few places in these United States where there may be found the family of a tenant farmer, land owner, laborer or white collar worker who has managed to educate ten children on what he has earned by the sweat of his brow. Being below the Mason-Dixon line did not deprive the Peyton children of educational oppor-

Yes! the Pied Piper of Greenville will soon be here. In the next few weeks Greenville will carry on a rat extermination demonstration. The campaign is for the benefit of the citizens of this town. It will be under the direction of the Health Department.

One way the people can help is by having a good metal garbage can of sufficient size with a rat proof top. Many people are very careless about leaving trash and other waste material out where this dreadful pest can reach it. There is no place a rat likes better than a garbage dump, so everyone should be careful of this.

A rat can not stand exposure to his enemies. Instead of the daylight he waits for the night to conceal him. At night he will gnaw on anything, including cheese in a mouse trap if he is not wise enough to avoid it.

A dreaded disease the rat causes is typhus fever. The rat carries other germs also and that is another reason why we should not neglect killing them. We are told that we have new cases of this fever in Pitt County each year. People get this disease by eating food that has been contaminated by rats.

The rat is a sneaking, filthy pest that must not be neglected and we are thankful that the Health Department is helping us get rid of him. The people of Hamelin ("The Pied Piper," by Robert Browning) would not pay money to the Pied Piper for piping the rats away.
Everyone can give the Health Department cooperation and Greenville will get rid of her rats.

REVENUE—Although general fund revenue collected in February was about a million dollars under last year, and the total for the eight months of the current fiscal year is nearly five million short, the receipts are still holding close to estimates. The decline for the month occurred in the income tax schedule.
Sales taxes were up about $128,000, beverage taxes down about $135,000 and other items showed little change.
Gasoline taxes were up $1,380,040 for the month, a little more than half of which was accounted for by the extra one cent a gallon tax effective January 1 to help carry the fiscal road bonds.

GRATIFIED—Revenue officials are gratified at showing in sales and personal income tax receipts. These items are running substantially ahead of last year. Few people think business is any better or individual incomes higher than a year ago. Explanation for the higher yield is believed to lie mainly in more rigid enforcement. The last general assembly gave the revenue department additional field auditors and provided money for modernized equipment, thus making possible closer checks on all tax liability. Opinion of most economists is that probably fewer people are liable for individual income tax this year than last. In fact the number of personal returns is much larger than a year ago.
Also the number of business firms filing sales tax reports is much greater than actual increase in number of business places. Here again closer enforcement of the law is responsible.

OFF—Corporate incomes are badly off and tax officials are visiting with keen interest and some concern for the mid-March flood of income tax reports before attempting to estimate the all-year financial condition of the state.

NORMAL—Casual perusal of the nomination for members on the county boards of election filed with the state board last week discloses fewer changes in current membership than had been anticipated. The state board has not officially considered the list of nominations. That will be done on March 18 when formal appointments will be announced. Secretary Raymond Maxwell said, however, there appeared to be just about the normal number of changes proposed. In view of the complete turnover in the state board by Governor Scott many observers had expected more than usual changes in county boards. Fact that majority of the county boards will continue in office probably means there will not be any big turnover in precinct registrars and pollholders. In other words, the whole election machinery expect at top state level will be essentially the same as two years ago.

work week for state employes has passed. Results to date seem to prove the idea entirely feasible, perhaps profitable to the state—although there remains difference of opinion on that score. So far as can be learned no serious hardship has been occasioned to any citizen. The governor's office and others around the capitol which maintain skeleton force and remain open until 12:30 Saturday find things very dull. John Marshall, secretary to the governor said he got sort of lonesome but did have opportunity to catch up on correspondence.

TRAFFIC—One bad feature of the 5:30 closing for state offices is the traffic congestion. Most stores in Raleigh close at 5:30, which means that salespeople, "ste shoppers, and some four thousand state workers hit the homeward trek at the same time. Streets just cannot carry that traffic load without jams, bent fenders and crooked tempers. Average time for negotiating the six blocks on Hillsboro street between the capitol and St. Mary's is about 15 minutes. Average waiting time for the same trip is five minutes.

SPONGERS—There was some complaint at first that many employes who had been accustomed to quitting at 4:30 just didn't do much for the last hour of the work day. As they got accustomed to the new schedule, and as the days grew longer so that 5:30 arrived long before dark, this attitude disappeared.

Most department heads now agree the employes do not work an hour a week longer but actually do better work because of the Saturday off.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—Gen. George C. Marshall, launching the 1950 Red Cross $67,000,000 fund-raising drive, called upon all Americans to help the organization continue its vast disaster, armed forces, veterans and health and safety programs. The former Secretary of State and wartime Army chief of staff said the world is in need of "spiritual regeneration."

"This cannot be accomplished by mere words or even prayers alone. The individual must rise to the occasion and give of himself. This is one way to do it." The 1950 funds will be collected throughout the nation all during March by some 2,000,000 volunteers. Gen. Marshall, president of the Red Cross, is directing the appeal with the help of a national advisory committee of 17 prominent men and women.

The Red Cross obtains its funds through voluntary contributions. It does not receive government funds, but it sometimes acts as the direction of Congress and the President in distributing relief supplies purchased by the government. Any victim of disaster who is unable to help himself receives Red Cross help. Benefits run all the way from emergency food and medical care to the rebuilding of a destroyed home. Red Cross helps in about 300 disaster operations a year—almost one a day.

Because it is specifically charged with the responsibility, Red Cross works with the armed forces. Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson says: "We need the work of the Red Cross as we need a good right arm." Last year more than 2,000,000 servicemen, veterans and their dependents received Red Cross assistance, some of it financial, in working out personal and family problems. Thousands of hospitalized servicemen received the help of Red Cross social workers in restoring sick minds and bodies. In addition the Red Cross National Blood Program, in its first two years of operation, has already supplied blood and blood derivatives to hospitals and clinics in approximately half the states of the nation. . . . More than 1,113,000 persons were trained in first aid, water safety, and accident prevention last year and 126,894 received home nursing instruction. . . . More than 220,000 trained volunteers, many of whom are men, gave close to 12,000,000 hours of community service through the many Red Cross programs, while 19,000,000 children were taught to serve others through their Junior Red Cross work.

French Morale May Get Boost When Reds Stage Arms Riots

(French morale is low as the nation awaits the first shipments of U.S. arms—and perhaps a showdown with Communists. The situation is described here by the chief of the Associated Press bureau in Paris.)

By PRESTON GROVER

Paris, March 6—(AP)—The first boatload of arms that reaches France from America probably will set off a riot—and this may be a good thing for France.

Arms are expected early this month under the military aid program.

In America the date of such shipments is a secret. It almost certainly won't be a secret on arrival in France.

Every port is honeycombed by Communist agents. They are determined to carry out the party's threat to prevent the landing of any arms that will build up France's military strength.

French morale is about as low as it has been at any time since the war. This is the view not only of British and American diplomatic observers, but numbers of Frenchmen as well. The country has had a disquieting series of reverses and can't seem to do anything to help itself to get out of the doldrums.

For generations, France took pride in her military prowess, but not since the debacle of World War II.

The country not only feels insecure now, but is ashamed of its weakness and the rebuffs that come with that.

Now America is coming to the rescue in a new way. Solid arms are coming—guns, tanks, planes, radar and ammunition.

This correspondent has questioned French, British and Americans about the effect the arms shipments will have, and the answer is almost unanimous. They think it will give France a real shot in the arm. It will start her on the road to rebuilding the military strength about which Frenchmen have always boasted.

A more immediate shot in the arm is expected to come from another source. The government has given every indication that when the Communists start making trouble about unloading American arms and moving them to French training grounds, the crackdown will be hard.

The government has been made to look ridiculous on several recent occasions, mostly at the hands of Communists, either in France or abroad.

Artillery has been dumped off railroad cars. A trainload of armored cars was held up temporarily by demonstrators. Another mob seized a ramp that the French army was transporting to North Africa for some experiments with guided rockets, and dumped it into the Mediterranean.

This later episode pointed up official attitudes.

Instead of sending in a strong force to tame the mob and rescue the equipment, government agencies sneaked up in the night and tried to recover "without being found out."

Over 2,400 Die On Highways In January Count

Chicago, March 5—(AP)—The nation's accidents killed 2,430 persons in the first month of 1950, the national safety council said today.

The January toll was four per cent higher than the 2,340 traffic fatalities in January, 1949.

Despite the national increase, the South Central States cut traffic deaths five per cent over a year ago, and the Pacific states averaged a 27 per cent reduction.

All other regions reported increases. They ranged from six per cent in the North Atlantic states to 29 per cent in the North Central area and 30 per cent in the mountain states.

Must Provide For Wife And Children Or Go To Prison

T. G. Briley, who was some time ago given a 90-day sentence on the roads for assaulting a female—his wife, and whose sentence was suspended has violated the terms of his probation.

Yesterday in Police Court, Judge Roberts ordered Briley's probation revoked and for him to go to the roads.

A condition was that if Briley paid $225 now and regular weekly installments for the support of his wife and children, he would not have to go to the roads now.

He complied with the court's order, the record shows.

4-H Clubs Join Observing Week

4-H Club boys and girls numbering nearly 900 in Pitt County join today with other 4-H'ers in North Carolina and the United States in celebrating National 4-H Club Week, March 4-12.

The 1950 theme is "Better Living For a Better World." Club members practice and live by this theme not only during National Club Week but the year round. This is done by the practice of correct parliamentary procedure in regular 4-H business meetings presided over by the club officers. Club members are preparing for a Better World of Tomorrow by learning approved practices in farming and homemaking and putting these practices into use in daily living.

In observance of National 4-H Club Week members are presenting special 4-H chapel programs in all schools in Pitt County where there are organized 4-H Clubs. 4-H'ers are also appearing before P.-T.A. groups and on radio programs.

There will be a special 4-H radio program over WGTC Saturday morning, March 11, at 11 o'clock. All 4-H members and parents and friends are urged to listen.

Winterville Ends Cage Season By Staging Upsets

Winterville, March 6 — Winterville's Wolves and Wolverines finished out their respective basketball seasons Friday night with spectacular victories over two Vanceboro teams. The boys pulled a major upset in winning in the nightcap, 44-40. The girls took the opener, 27-24.

Having played six consecutive days of basketball last week and the weekend prior to that, the Vanceboro five was whipped down to the extent that they were no match for the Wolves.

They showed the effects of two tournaments' competition when they allowed the locals to stretch their lead to 10 points until the last two minutes before they could rally enough to hold their losing margin within four points.

It will be remembered that Vanceboro lasted until the finals in the state Class B tournament in Farmville two week-ends ago and again in the semifinals in the Coastal Conference tourney held in Ayden last week.

Even though their basketball calendar was full to brim during the last two weeks, Vanceboro still managed to make a scrap of it. They were never ahead during the entire game but Wesley Gladson and Robert Norman collected enough points between them to keep their mates in hot contention with the locals.

Gladson was the night's high scorer with 14 points while Norman was getting 12. Gladson was also one of the defensive stars for the visitors along with Billy Whitford.

Leading the Wolves were J. N. Riggs and E. C. Averette with 12 and 11 points each. On the strength of their high scoring totals, the Winterville club held the lead throughout, sporting a three-point advantage at halftime, 21-18.

Thomas Nobles and Don McGlohon sparked the locals' defense. In the girls' preliminary, the Wolverines coped their 16th victory for the season as they got off to a hot start and were never headed.

They led at the half, 15-10, through the offensive efforts of Anne Spier with 12 points and Betsy Castleoe with 11. The Wolverines wound up their games with a record of 16 wins against eight defeats.

For the Vanceboro sextet, Jean Forrest copped the highest score for the two fairly evenly matched teams with 17 points. Trailing her but still next-highest scorer was Joyce Wilson with four.

On defense for the locals were Ruth Hazelton, Amy Cayton and Helen Nobles. For the visitors, Ramona Sprull and Lillie Sprull were the standouts.

Winterville winds up its extra-curricular basketball this week when both the boys and girls teams compete in the annual Pitt County tournament held in Greenville beginning tonight.

Rare Rider by Pap

Harry Sperber had summoned the sports writers to a pre-race luncheon at Leone's restaurant. The publicity man and associate promoter of the international six-day bike race about to be launched in New York City promised, as a special treat, spaghetti a la Georgetti—a savory dish prepared by Alvaro Georgetti, one of the leading riders of this day.

Georgetti's hobby is cooking and his secret spaghetti sauce is one of ancient vintage that has been handed down for generations. Georgetti is hopeful that one day he can market the product and make more money than he has from cycling.

Because his plane was so late in arriving, Georgetti did not have the necessary five or six hours to prepare the sauce and the scribes had to settle for one of Leone's roast chickens while listening to Georgetti sing the praises of the succulent sauce.

Alvaro Georgetti is not related to Franco Georgetti who was a great favorite a generation ago but he is gaining new fame for the name. Alvaro won two races in New York last year, on with Cesare Mottoli of Italy, the other with Angelo DiBacco of Newark.

He is a powerful rider and one of the shrewdest in the game. He made his first appearance in a long grind in this country in 1937 at the age of 20. He was paired with the great Gerard Dabets and finished in third place.

Long's Boxers Taper Off In Drills For Last Home Match

Lighter workouts are in store for East Carolina's ring team this week. Winding up their heavy roadwork and sparring over the weekend, Coach Johnny Long's Pirate punchers will taper off in their drills during the next three days, in preparation for their final home match with the Virginia Athletic Club gloves here Thursday evening, March 9.

The eight-match boxing card slated for Wright auditorium this week will give the local boxing fans their last look at this year's East Carolina boxers as they wind up their regular season bouts with the star-studded VAC pugns in a return rubber match between the two rivals of the boxing circle. Each club holds one victory over the other in two previous meets.

Feature bout of the final boxing agenda here will again pair East Carolina's star slugger, Crowell Williamson, against Virginia's Tommy "The Kid" Soboleska, in the middleweight division. Williamson holds two close decisions over his VAC rival, and will be striving to keep his slate clean over the Virginia contender. However, Soboleska, well known in the Cavalier state boxing world, has gained the Virginia State Golden Glove boxing crown since his last match with Williamson, and the fight between the two 150-pounders should prove a thriller.

Another feature bout will be the yet unnamed opponent for the Pirates' undefeated pugilist, Cecil Phillips. The dark-haired Phillips is the most underrated fighter on the local squad. He holds an unblemished record against college competition with five straight wins this year, and held the Florida State title in the 135 division for two consecutive years. Carrying his fierce-like boxing with him in the armed forces, Phillips won the Australian open championship, and was runner-up in the European Theatre of Operations tournament. Two of Phillips' victories this year came by the knockout route.

In the heavier division fights, East Carolina's heralded Herbert Creff, the up-and-coming 160 pounder, will square off against Coast Guardsman Bill Walker. Creff won his last match with Walker, and Thursday night's scrap will definitely be a revenge fight for the left-handed VAC leather-slinger. While on the East Carolina revenge side, battling Bill Torrans, East Carolina's 165-pound ringster, will try to redeem his earlier defeat at the hands of Sailor Carl Kriston in the light heavy-weight division.

Other pairings for Thursday evening's boxing slate lists East Carolina's Cleon "Little King" Smith against Bob Meade in the featherweight division; Pirates' Homer Thomas with Ray Shaw in the lightweight class; and Ken Stargard with an unnamed opponent in the 155-pound class.

Negotiations are going forward to get a match for Virginia's outstanding 130-pounder, Benny "Red" Berry, who has gained high recognition in this year's Golden Glove competition. Berry is a ring buddy of Soboleska, and has been heralded as one of the best fighters in Virginia in recent years.

Phillips. The dark-haired Phillips is the most underrated fighter on the local squad. He holds an unblemished record against college competition with five straight wins this year, and held the Florida State title in the 135 division for two consecutive years. Carrying his fierce-like boxing with him in the armed forces, Phillips won the Australian open championship, and was runner-up in the European Theatre of Operations tournament. Two of Phillips' victories this year came by the knockout route.

State Makes History By Winning Its Fourth Title

Durham, March 6—(AP)—North Carolina State holds its fourth straight Southern Conference basketball championship, but there is glory enough to go around the conference.

The Wolfpack made history by whipping Duke, 67-47, in Saturday's championship game for its fourth straight title under Coach Everett Case. And yesterday State was picked to represent District 3 in the NCAA tournament opening March 23 in New York.

Crowding into the limelight is Duke Coach Gerry Gerard who climaxed a brilliant personal comeback by bringing his team from far back into the fray.

Gerard was named today as outstanding coach of the tournament by the Southern Conference Sports Writers Association. In a vote conducted during the final game Gerard won 29 of 41 votes as the No. 1 coach. State's Case was runnerup with eight votes, other four going to Murray Gresson of Wake Forest.

State Forward Sammy Ranzino won 40 of the 41 votes as the No. 1 tournament player. The other ballot went to Stan Najewy, hard working Wake Forest forward.

Ranzino wound up three brilliant nights with a 31-point spree against Duke to sew up the title for State and rewrite the record books. He boosted his three-game tournament total to a record 89 points and equalled the record for a regular game. Last year Chet Giermak scored 36 points for William and Mary in a three over-time period game against George Washington. Thirty-one of his points came in regulation time.

Phillips. The dark-haired Phillips is the most underrated fighter on the local squad. He holds an unblemished record against college competition with five straight wins this year, and held the Florida State title in the 135 division for two consecutive years. Dolphins Lead In Three-Day Event

Chapel Hill, N.C., March 6—(AP)—Defending champion North Carolina has taken the lead in the 17th annual Southern Conference swimming championships.

The three-day meet opened yesterday with one event, the 1500-meter freestyle, won by Jimmy Thomas of North Carolina in record time of 19:36. Two of his teammates finished among the first five.

The meet consists of 18 events, 14 varsity and four freshmen. These eight are scheduled today: 50-yard freestyle, 150-yard backstroke, 220-yard freestyle, 200-yard breaststroke, 100-yard backstroke (freshman), 400-yard freestyle (freshman), low board diving, and 400-yard freestyle relay.

Thomas bettered by more than 21 seconds the record of 19:57.4 he set last year.

North Carolina has won the championship the last eight years. Other teams entered are North Carolina State, Virginia Military Institute, Duke, Virginia Tech, William and Mary, Davidson and Washington and Lee.

Citation Back At Tanforan To Renew A Feud

San Bruno, Calif., March 6—(AP)—Citation is returning to Tanforan—scene of his last smashing victory—to renew his feud with Noor, the only horse to beat him twice.

Citation injured a leg in winning the $50,000 Handicap here in December, 1948, and took a 15 months' rest. That robbed him of predicted victories in the 1949 $100,000 Santa Anita Maturity and Handicap and other rich stakes.

The rich chestnut tried it at Santa Anita in the meeting just ended—and wound up with four seconds but no victories in four starts.

Snavelly Closes Winter Practice

Coach Carl Snavelly had his boys alternating the single wing and the newly installed "Y" formation.

Coach's Crusher

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—"What's the matter out there?" asked Michigan State basketball coach Al Kircher of a player he had just called out of a game for sloppy work. "I'm not getting the ball enough, coach," said the disgruntled athlete. Snapped Kircher: "Well, sit here awhile and see how often you get it."

Gridders On Court

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—A group of Michigan State football players have formed an independent basketball team which was good enough to defeat the defending State YMCA champions in a recent game. The roster includes ace halfback Lynn Chandnois, center Dave Lumsden and Bobby McCurry, quarterback Gene Glick, ends Red Gilman and Warren Huey and tackle Pete Pust.

Pettit Case Is Back On Griddle

New York, March 6—(AP)—The Paul Pettit case was back on the baseball griddle today with indications of a new probe into the $100,000 signing of the California schoolboy pitcher.

Bob Cooke, sports editor of the New York Herald Tribune, revived the case with a series of copyright articles challenging the legality of the deal that sent the big southpaw to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cooke said he has "irrefutable proof" the Pirates dickered for Pettit before the sensational left-hander had completed his schooling.

In St. Petersburg, Fla., Commissioner A. B. Chandler said: "If any person has any sound evidence on this or any other case, I would welcome it. But it would have to be more than an unnamed witness."

Cooke said he stands ready to confer with the commissioner at any time.

The Pirates acquired Pettit by buying up a contract he had signed with Fred Stephan, a Hollywood movie producer. It's against baseball law to tamper with an athlete before he finishes high school.

Writing out of Hollywood, Calif., Cooke said he has two witnesses who declared they saw Frank McKinney, president of the Pirates, and Stephan in each other's company at Indianapolis last summer.

Mize Appears In Top Condition

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6—(AP)—Johnny Mize, seeking a steady first base position with the New York Yankees, appears to be in tip-top physical condition.

The big ex-National Leaguer, recovering from an arm injury sustained last season, consistently has been hitting the ball to the outfield fences.

Bedenk Resigns As Grid Coach

State College, Pa., March 6—(AP)—Pennsylvania State College is looking for a new football coach for the second time within a year.

Joe Bedenk resigned as head coach yesterday because he felt the full burden of coaching football and baseball was "too much for one man."

Stengel Happy Over Progress

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4—(AP)—Manager Casey Stengel is delighted with the progress being made by jolting Joe Dimaggio and other veterans of the New York Yankees.

"I never saw or heard of Dimaggio making this hard so early," said Stengel today of the Yankee Clipper.

Outfielder Dick Wakefield has accepted terms, leaving four players out of the fold—Vic Raschi, Tommy Byrne, Yogi Berra and Bobby Brown.

Rupp Shouts 'Foul' On Missing NCAA Chance

New York, March 6—(AP)—Baron Adolph Rupp, the Kentucky Wildcat, is yelling "foul" today but it won't do any good. North Carolina State, not Kentucky, will carry Dixie's colors into the NCAA basketball tournament.

The Bluegrass coach wanted to try again for a "grand slam" this year in the NCAA and the National Invitation Tournament. But he has to settle for just the NIT.

Rupp accepted the NIT bid last night immediately after Carolina State won the NCAA nod. Both tournament finals are scheduled for New York this month. There were indications the Baron had been using delaying tactics in hopes of also getting into the NCAA. He was a cinch for the NIT.

The Carolinians (24-5) got their invitation from the District Three (South) Selection Committee "because Kentucky declined" to meet North Carolina State in a playoff.

The quotes are those of Committee Chairman Gus K. Tebel of University of Virginia.

Rupp has a different explanation. "No one on the committee or from the NCAA consulted us about a playoff," he said. Anyway, the Baron added, a playoff would have been ridiculous because Kentucky's record (25-4) is much better than Carolina's.

So Rupp won't get a chance to cop both national titles. Last season, the Wildcats lost the NIT but won the NCAA.

Uncertain Fate

Washington, March 4—(AP)—Alaska's bid for statehood, approved in the House and endorsed by President Truman, heads today for an uncertain fate in the Senate.

The House passed a statehood bill yesterday, 186 to 146, after a bitter fight. There were signs of even stronger senate opposition.

Senator Butler (R-Neb) predicted last year that neither Alaska nor Hawaii would reach their statehood goals at this session of Congress. The house is scheduled to take up the Hawaiian measure next week.

THE DECLARING . . .

Just because times have changed, it's same Democratic process, the wide open declaration of war by Congress, might in the next year mean the end of the republic by giving the enemy a chance to attack first.

What could be done to be sure we weren't attacked first? As commander-in-chief of the armed forces the President, if he thought the danger great enough, might try to save the country by ordering our bombers to start the war and attack Russia without waiting for Congressional action.

Yet, if he did so, he might be impeached by Congress. Whether it happened, of course, would depend upon what Congress and the people thought after the war started.

On the other hand: suppose he knew an attack was coming but, through fear of impeachment, let it come, preferring to let Congress go through the comparatively slow and public process of declaring war.

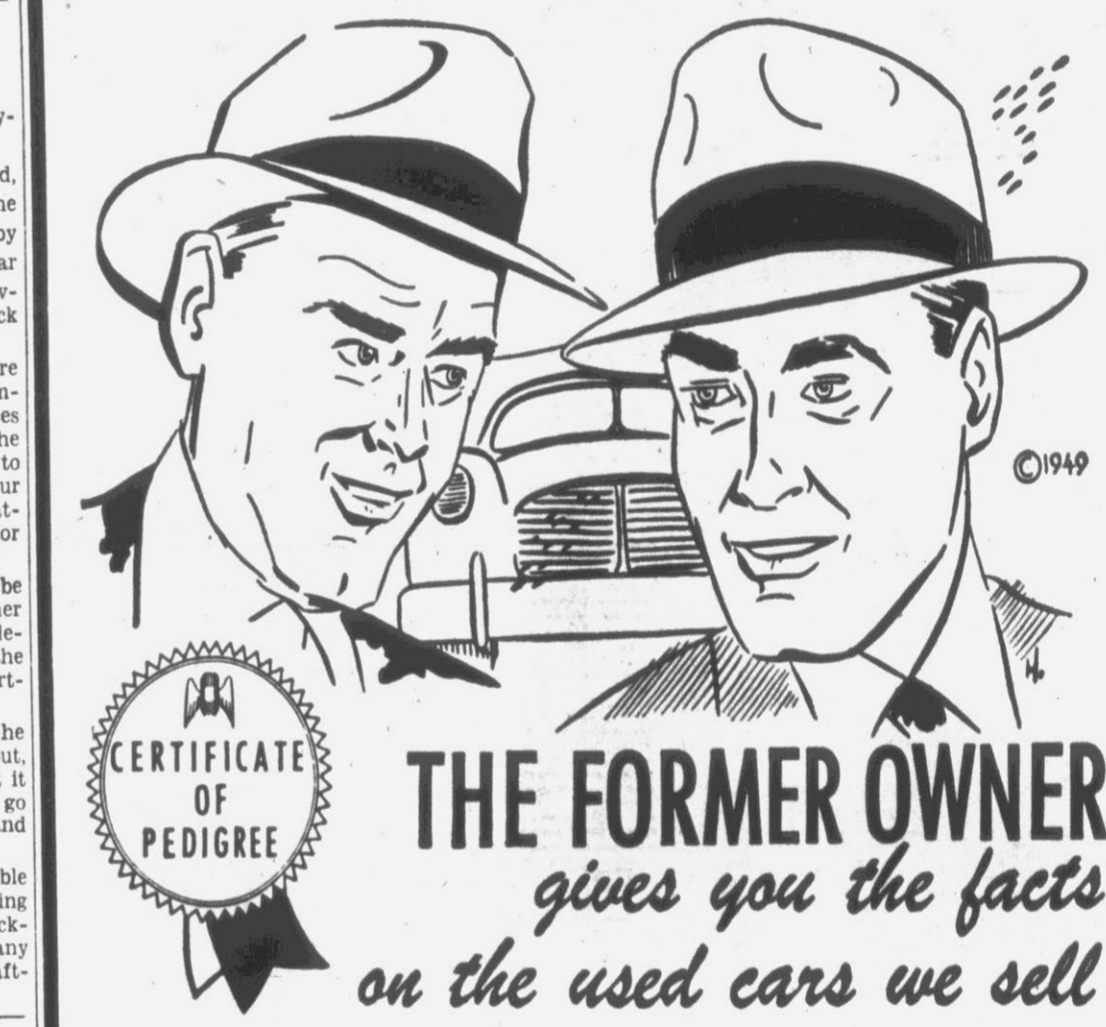

In a case like that, it's possible he might be impeached for failing to take the necessary steps—attacking first—to save the nation, if any Congressmen were left alive after the enemy attacked here.

Russian Prices Still High Despite Announced Slash

Washington, March 6—(AP)—State department officials figure it costs about $277 to buy a man's suit in a Soviet store these days, despite the price cuts Moscow announced last Tuesday.

The officials started to check available price lists soon after the Russians (1) fixed a gold value for the ruble at four to the American dollar; (2) cut prices on a wide range of commodities. Only the percentages of the price cuts were announced abroad.

To find out what a dollar will now buy in Moscow, state department experts applied the announced reduction to price lists on file here. Some of the results:

White bread, six rubles per kilogram 2.2 pounds—or 68 cents a pound; black bread, 23 cents a pound; potatoes, 10 cents a pound; sweet butter, $5 a pound; rice $1.67 a pound; second grade beef, or soup meat, $2.40 a pound; pork $4.00 a pound; chicken $4.04 a pound; milk $8 cents a quart.

On other commodities, the rate of one dollar to four rubles figures out this way:

Man's suit, 277.25; man's shoes, $85; woman's suit $126.75; woman's dress, $111; silk stockings, $8; woman's shoes $27.50; table model radio, $272; package of 25 cigarettes, Kasbex brand $1.09; Soviet made portable typewriter, $249.50; wrist watch $100.

By American official calculations, Soviet wages average something less than 600 rubles—or $150—a month.

Must Support His Family, Recorder's Court Judge Rules

In Police Court Friday, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found Johnny J. Reeves, colored, guilty of abandonment and non-support of his family. His Honor gave Reeves 90 days on the roads, sentence suspended on condition that he pay $150 now for the support of his family and pay $15 a week to the Pitt County Welfare Office regularly for the support of his family. The court placed Reeves on probation for three years. He was brought back here from Brooklyn, N.Y., for trial.

Tomorrow's Gardens

By The Greenville Garden Club

Many shrubs and trees will delight their owners this year and in years to come if they are fertilized properly. This means using the correct fertilizer and applying the right amount at the right time.

For trees and most shrubs use any good garden fertilizer and apply it in a circle about the base of the plant. For newly planted trees ten or twelve feet high use approximately two quarts of commercial fertilizer. The same amount should be used for average size shrubs.

Whenever a highly concentrated mixture is used always follow directions on the bag or box to avoid any danger of burning.

Cotton seed meal, pulverized sheep manure and bone meal are all excellent and easy to use.

Bulbs which are to be left in the ground should have bone meal or other fertilizer worked into ground near them. This helps the formation of good flower buds for next year.

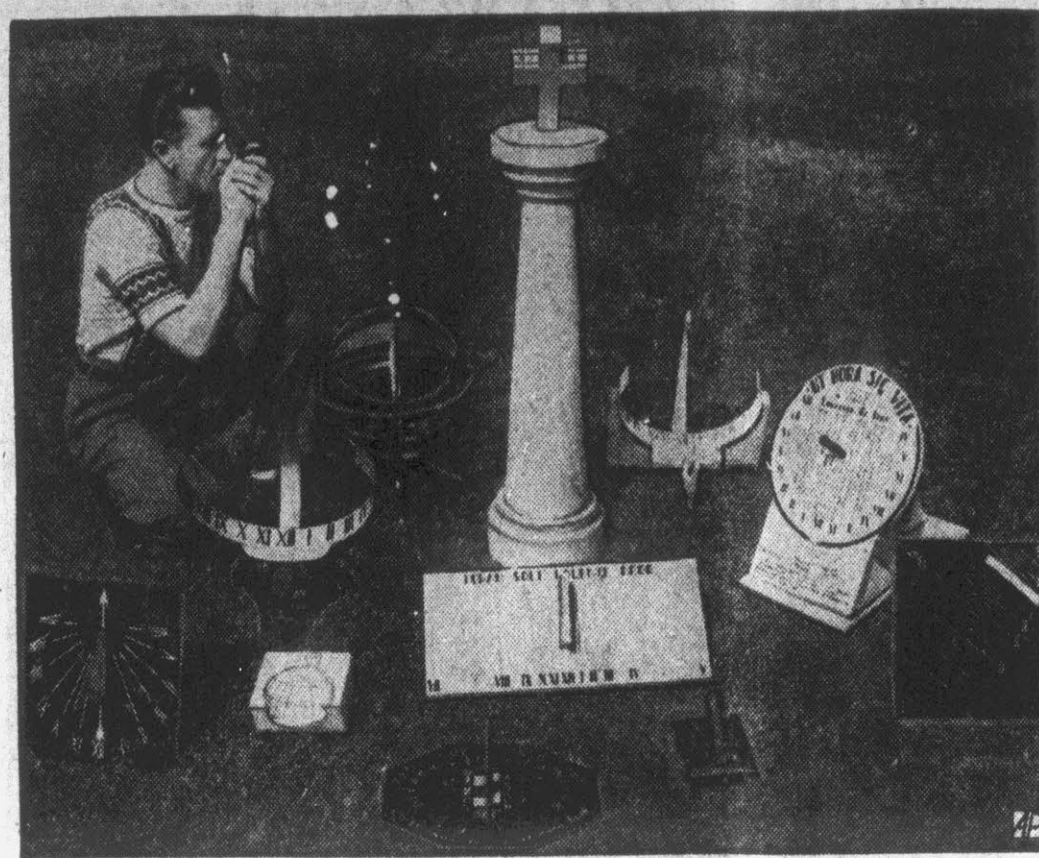

Camellias which have not had their first spring feeding should be fertilized just as soon as possible. Use only a special mixture for azaleas and camellias and measure the amount carefully.

For an 18" plant use 1-2 lb and increase the amount in proportion for larger bushes. A very large and heavy camellia requires 3-4 pound.

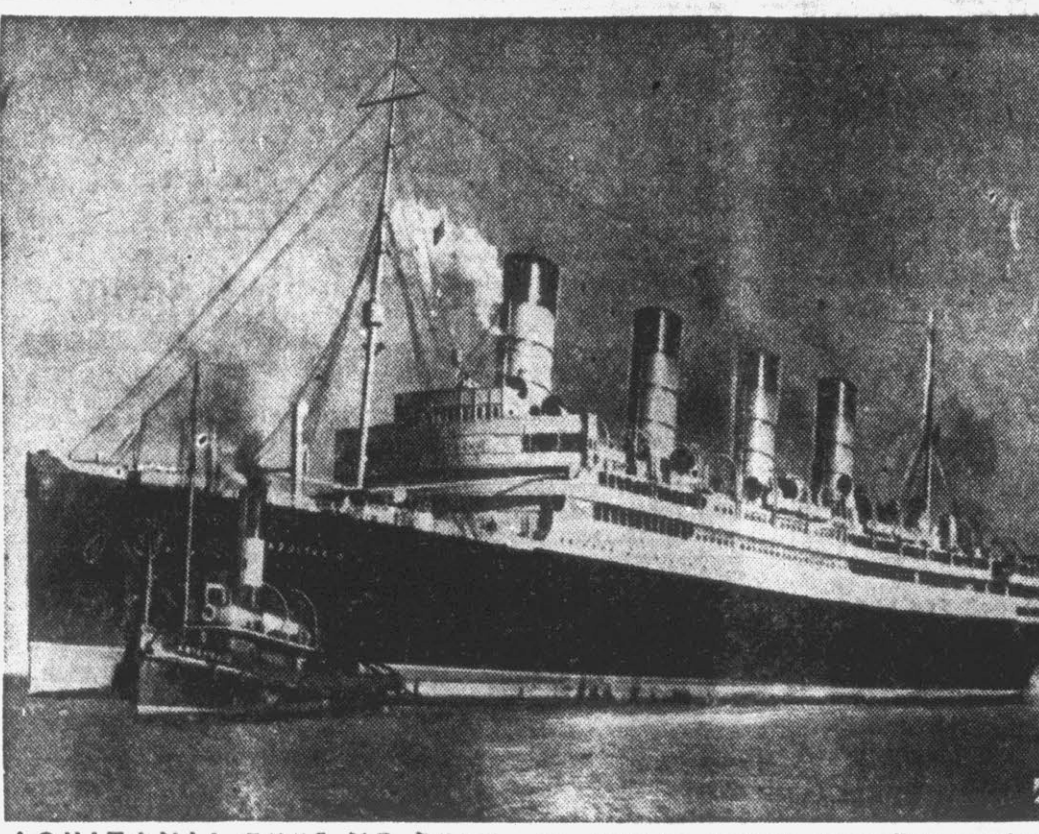

Roll back the mulch from the plant and sprinkle the fertilizer directly on the soil, not too close to the trunk. Water well and replace the mulch.

This should be repeated six weeks from now, the last application being made not later than April 15.

Remember that plants can take up only soluble material so water them generously to dissolve whatever fertilizers are used.

Completes Forming Extension Courses For Elizabeth City

Dr. Martha Pingle, faculty member of the department of English at East Carolina Teachers College, has completed organization of an extension course for teachers in and near Elizabeth City and will conduct classes there during the spring quarter. The course will deal with current problems in English and will be on the graduate level. The enrollment includes approximately thirty teachers.

During the winter quarter, which ended February 25, Dr. Pingle taught a similar course in "World Masterpieces" to a group of thirty-one teachers in the Elizabeth City area.

Report Suicide Albania Official

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 4—(AP)—The Yugoslav newspaper Politika published today a report that Albania's deputy minister of transportation committed suicide in Tirana rather than face arrest and trial on charges of making anti-Russian statements.

The paper said the deputy minister, Rijazi Islami, had complained that the Soviet Union sold Albania a batch of old trucks newly painted, claiming they were new. He was reported to have said the trucks had to be discarded after brief trials on Albania's bad roads.

BIRDS SKIP VACATIONS
Chicago—(AP)—Some of the birds skipped their southern vacations this year. Members of the Chicago Ornithological Society say they have seen a number of birds which usually go south in the winter. The reasons: the weather has been milder and feed has been available.

Town Population Counted At Six

DELLVIEW, N. C. (AP)—Dellview is as free from municipal problems as any town you'll find. There's no parking space. There are no clams. The budget is balanced.

Dellview has a population of six. There are no slums. The budget is $100.00. Mrs. J. H. Dellinger and her daughter, Gladys, live in one house. In the other live Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Dellinger and their son Robert. J. H. Dellinger is mayor, and her sister-in-law is treasurer. A. T. Dellinger is chief of police.

The town this year will celebrate its 25th anniversary. The legislature in 1925 incorporated Dellview. The main reason for its incorporation was to give police powers to residents who wanted authority to deal with stray dogs which were molesting chickens. The Dellingers say that their town is the smallest incorporated municipality in the United States.

Four Arrested In North Carolina Narcotic Haul

Raleigh, N. C., March 6—(AP)—Federal Narcotic agents have arrested three men and an elderly woman in one of North Carolina's biggest dope hauls.

The agents, assisted by State officers, made a two-day crackdown started Friday night at Smithfield. Federal district attorney John Hall Manning said the agents found 40 pounds of marijuana and 20 pounds of marijuana seed.

Arrested Friday night were Chas. Beasley, 45, and two Negroes, George Dodd, 31 and Alton Horton 27 all of near Smithfield.

Arrested Saturday was Mrs. Melissa Godwin 60, who also lives outside of Smithfield, near Selma.

The men were arrested on charges of illegal transfer of marijuana and Mrs. Godwin on charges of illegal possession, Manning said. Beasley and Mrs. Godwin were freed on $5,000 bonds.

Federal agents W. T. Atkinson and Ernest Gentry said they found 10 pounds of marijuana, a large quantity of altered prophylactics, obscene moving picture film, and obscene literature in Beasley's house. In Mrs. Godwin's home, they said, they found about 40 pounds of marijuana and seed.

Officers said the marijuana found, if made into cigarettes, would be worth $69,000. No marijuana cigarette were found in the raid, they added, but a quantity of cigarette paper was found.

Organize Group To Watch For Discrimination

Durham, N. C., March 6—(AP)—The state chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has organized a political action division to watch for discrimination in registration or voting.

NAACP officials warned at a meeting here Saturday that "if discrimination against Negroes is seen, immediate court action will follow."

The chapter has an objective of 250,000 registered Negro voters in the state this year.

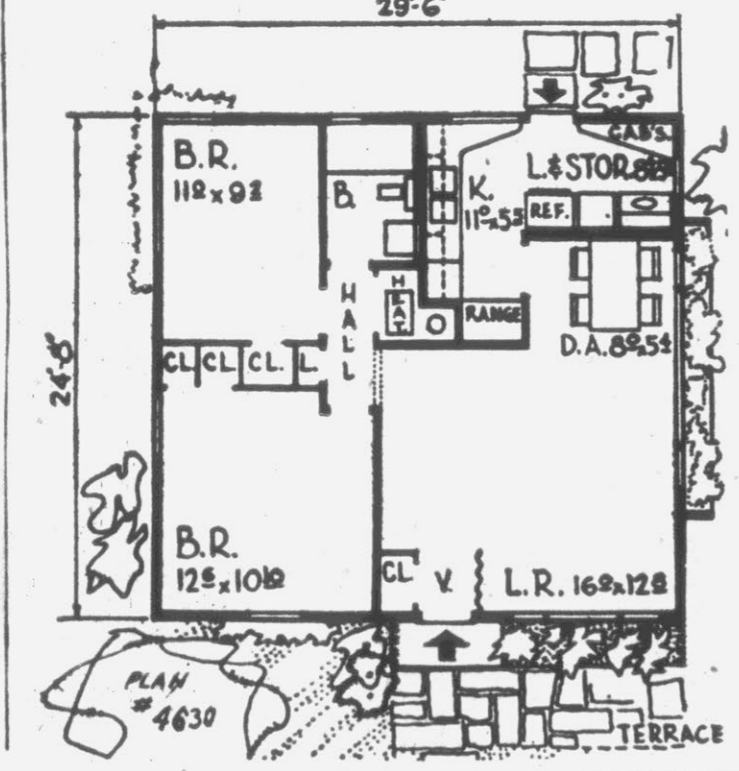

Kelly Alexander of Charlotte, president of the state unit, was the featured speaker at the meeting.

Polish Attache Quits His Post

Ottawa, March 4—(AP)—The commercial attache of the Polish legation here has quit his job rather than obey a government call to return home.

The attache, Tadeusz Wiewirowski, 50, told reporters that Polish diplomats about whom the Russians had any "doubts" were being called back to Warsaw for a "conference."

"The conference is of indefinite duration," he said. "In other words, they are never seen again."

Graham Opposes Nat'l Medicine

Raleigh, N. C. March 6—(AP)—Senator Frank Graham has announced he is opposed to socialized medicine.

Graham, running for re-election, made his stand on this issue known by releasing some correspondence between himself and Dr. Hamilton W. McKay of Charlotte, president of the Southern Medical Association.

McKay wrote Graham he was supporting him because, among other things, "I know that you are and always have been opposed to socialized medicine." The letters were released over the weekend with McKay's consent.

Graham wrote "I am not, and never have been, for socialized medicine." He stated he has always supported the North Carolina medical care plan and he favors its enlargement into a like plan for all other states.

Big Population In Old Mexico

Berkeley, Calif.—(AP)—Two University of California professors think Mexico had a big population in the time of Cortes. Their estimate is 11 million people. That compares with 13 or 14 million today. Most historians think it was under five million.

The two are Dr. Lesley Byrd Simpson and Dr. Sherburne F. Cook. They think the 1519 population of Mexico was about the same as modern Michigan, Indiana or Missouri—60 to 70 people per square mile. They worked with several historical sources to get their figures.

From 1946 through 1949, said Sig. Tupini, police have found and confiscated 80 cannon, 407 mortars, 12,000 machine and submachine guns, 52,000 rifles, and 100,000 hand grenades.

China Air Force Deals Big Blows On Red Mainland

Taipei, Formosa, March 4—(AP)—Nationalist China's air force today reported widespread blows against the Communist mainland. Canton caught the main brunt of the assault.

Three formations of Mitchell bombers attacked the rail station and other military targets in the South China metropolis yesterday, headquarters announced.

Huge fires were reported later by Mustang fighters which flew over Canton dropping leaflets containing a message from Chiang Kai-shek on his resumption of the Nationalist presidency.

(Hong Kong dispatches called it the heaviest raid yet on Canton. They said it lasted all day. The Hong Kong Standard reported 700 killed.)

Chapter 25

Don came back to the house in a blinding snowstorm, the worst of a bad winter. When Mary opened the door he looked like a snowman after walking three or four blocks from the subway. But she knew him instantly and drew him eagerly into the house.

"Thank goodness you've come back. I was so afraid you never would. Let me take your coat. Anne is in the kitchen pretending to knit, but she's only starting out the window. Just go in and fling your arms about her."

"I wouldn't dare do that. I wouldn't even have dared to come, only—" "I know. You couldn't stay away. For the love of Mike, why didn't you come back the next week instead of running out West with all those cowboys? We've had troubles. The twins ain't here any more. The house is like a morgue. I don't know who feels it worst. We don't really know for sure how they are, the little angels."

He patted her arm. "That's what I came to tell you. That's why I dared come. I saw them in Chicago. They're very well. I stayed until Pat and Mike could be sent out, so they have the dogs again."

"Thank heaven!" Tears started down her plump cheeks. "Go tell her. Go give her a big hug." "She threw her apron over her head as Don walked quietly past into the kitchen. Anne was standing by a window looking out at the thick snow. She spoke dully without turning her head.

"Was it mail, Mary?" "Just a very unimportant male." He didn't know what possessed him to make a silly pun at such a time. She turned her head slowly and stared at him. The light was very poor in the kitchen. She spoke softly as if doubting her eyes.

"If you will let me come back." "There was a moment's hesitation; then she flung herself into his arms, sobbing. He held her gently, stroking her beautiful soft hair but not kissing her as if not wanting to frighten her out of his arms. He spoke the softest things with which men have tried to dry the tears of the women they love since the world began.

For a little while it seemed as if nothing could calm her wild crying. Her whole body trembled in his embrace. Mary peeped in, then tipped away. Don's soft caresses had their way finally. The sobs lessened and she accepted his handkerchief. She dried her eyes, drew a deep breath and found her voice.

"Oh Don, I'm so glad to see you." "Your words are music to my ears." She actually laughed. "You haven't changed a bit, and I'm so glad. Take off your coat and tell me all about yourself." "I came to see you—if I could." "Poor Don. Did I ever say you couldn't? I know Father did, but it was all so silly. And he has never forgiven himself."

"Has he forgiven me?" "There never was anything to forgive. It was all so silly of both of you. Why will men go romantic and crazy as soon as women are out of the room? I tried to reach you the next evening."

"I know. Mother wrote me when I finally let her know where I was." "Your mother was very kind, Don." "Why didn't you let her really be kind? She gets so few chances to show what a wonderful person she really is. Usually no one comes to her for anything but a check. She has taken an extraordinary liking to you and your father without ever having seen either of you."

"Thank you, Don. You build up your friends, don't you?" "He chuckled. "I have never succeeded in building up any of them for my mother before. I assure you. It must be that I have found unique friends."

"Who ordered you out of their house. Unique is right, Don. But we can't clutter up Mary's kitchen any more. I see her smiling out there. Come in, Mary. I thought you had quite forgotten how to smile. Tell Don how glad we are to see him."

"Sure I told him right off. But some things you don't have to put into words. It will put life into your poor father to see the glow in your face of you now. You two go cheer up your father. He wouldn't eat breakfast or lunch, but I guarantee he'll eat a dinner tonight that will put him on his feet again."

"Is Roger sick?" cried Don. "I'm so sorry. Is there anything I can do?" "You've done it already," said Mary, beaming. "You've come home. Both of you go tell him. If he could have seen what I saw a minute ago—"

"Mary!" "The old woman kissed Anne gaily. "Here, take your knitting along, young lady. From now on you'll have no need to be pretending to knit at all—or looking up Montana in the atlas."

"Mary, I'm surprised at you." "Did he tell you about the twins yet?" Anne's face lighted up. "You saw them? Oh Don, I'm so glad. You must have come through Chicago. I didn't realize. How are they?" "They have their dogs again."

"Mary couldn't keep still in her excitement. "They're all together again. He had the dogs sent out. Faith, why didn't you bring them home?" "I wish I could have brought them along. But I wasn't sure I was coming here myself."

"She shooed them out of the kitchen and then ran upstairs laughing. Roger's door was closed but they burst right in. He was sitting in his over-size chair staring out into the thick blind snow much as Anne had been doing. He was wearing a heavy robe over pajamas and warm slippers. He spoke heavily without turning his head. His thick white hair was tousled.

"Is anything the matter, Anne?" "Yes, I brought you a visitor." "Don't try to be funny, Anne. Who would come to this dead old house?" "Only someone you ordered out of course. Life is like that."

Twenty-Five Scouts And Leaders Attended Course

Twenty-five boy scouts and seven scout leaders from Pitt County returned yesterday from Camp Charles near Bailey where they attended the patrol leaders training course which was held Saturday and Sunday.

The scouts taking part in the outing cooked their own meals, made their bed rolls and received instruction in patrol organization and methods, troop leadership councils, and the working of a scout patrol and troop.

Pitt District Commissioner Jack Dowdy of Greenville said the training course was successful, and apparently beneficial to the boys.

4-H Looks Forward

"Better Living for a Better World" is the 1950 theme for National 4-H Club Week—March 4-12. The 4-H program is an educational one stressed by the use and knowledge of the 4-H's—head, heart, hands, and health.

Rural boys and girls, who participate in 4-H farm or home projects, are quite active toward building stronger 4-H club programs, and are working together for a better home community. Building a better home community makes for a better world community.

The 4-H club objective is to train our rural youth for better living through economic, physical, social, and spiritual growth and development.

During each year, these boys and girls carry projects in homemaking and agriculture under the direct supervision of the county extension staff. Marjorie Shearin, Assistant Home Agent and C. J. Goodman, Assistant Farm Agent work directly with the boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H club program here in Pitt County.

Besides farm and home projects each club member carries out a plan of health improvement each year. Records are kept so as to determine the amount of improvement made in health each year. Special recognition is then given to the boy and girl from each club making the most improvement.

4-H club work becomes a part of the lives of rural boys and girls, and it is the aim of the extension personnel and leaders to uphold this statement.

City Recreation Commission In Recent Meeting

The City Recreation Commission held its regular monthly meeting at the Sheppard Memorial Library recently with Heber B. Tripp, chairman, presiding.

During the business session of the meeting, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen and J. H. Rose were recommended for appointment by the board of aldermen for another term on the commission, and Mrs. Louis Gaylord, Jr., to succeed Mrs. F. B. Haar and Mrs. George Clapp to succeed Mrs. Wendell Smiley, and to also serve as chairman of the local Teen Age Club.

The commission decided to purchase $850 worth of new equipment for the local playgrounds. Discussion was held on expanding the summer playground program in Greenville. Action will be taken later.

The board unanimously endorses a program to cooperate with the 4-H Clubs of the county in their programs and invites them to use the Greenville Teen Age center for programs and to aid them in any way which the commission could.

It was also expressed by the members of the board that they wanted the rural youth to use the parks and playgrounds when they are in the city.

The matter of a Negro swimming pool was discussed and a committee was appointed, which went before the board of aldermen with the matter.

On January 15, 1935, the Plebiscite was held and 90.8 per cent of the vote was for union with Germany. This was during the Hitlerian regime, and it was widely charged that the Purrer had plastered the basin with Nazi ringers. However the zone went back to Germany. Now it is again under French control, at least for the time being.

France's action has caused hot anger in Bonn. The German government has made it clear that it will demand the return of the Saar, and it is expected that a special session of the legislature will be called to deal with the situation.

The position is greatly aggravated by the fact that although the ultimate decision is supposed to hinge on the German peace treaty, thus far Russia and the western allies
