Further Cuts In Federal Spending Gaining Support

Bipartisan Backing In House For Reduction Of 'Non-Essential' Plans

Washington, March 20—(AP)—A politically appealing plan to lop another billion dollars off federal spending next year was picking up strong bi-partisan support today in the House.

Its strong appeal to the lawmakers is that it would be aimed at "non essential" spending, with the House Appropriations Committee having the job of saying what fits in that category.

Appropriations committee members disclosed the plan as the committee started consideration today of an omnibus $29,000,000,000 bill financing more than 40 federal agencies for the (1951) fiscal year starting next July 1.

The committee hopes to have the bill in shape to send to the House floor early this week. It is slated for House debate next week, but won't be voted on until after the Easter recess.

Committee members said the committee already has tentatively cut more than $1,000,000,000 from the money requests in President Truman's $42.4 billion budget.

Rep. John Taber of New York, top Republican on the appropriations committee, and a number of others want further reductions. Another "billion or two" would be in order, Taber told newsmen.

Republican strategy probably will be to withhold cutting drives until the bill reaches the amendment stage in the House. Any reductions made by the committee could be credited to the Democratic majority because committee votes are not made public.

Three plans are being considered for action in the House itself: 1. Some Republicans want to propose a horizontal cut of 10 per cent in every item in the bill after it leaves the committee.

Others want to cut individual allotments on merit, with the overall reduction adding up to 10 per cent of the bill's total.

The newest proposal is for a $1 billion to send the bill back to the appropriations committee with instructions to shear from it a total of $1,000,000,000 in "non-essential" items.

Crommelin May Run For Seat In U.S. Senate

San Francisco, March 20—(AP)—Capt. John G. Crommelin, the furloughed critic of military unification, may file for the U.S. Senate from Alabama.

Crommelin said today he had received "numerous telephone calls and telegrams" from individuals in his home state urging him to run for Sen. Lister Hill's seat next fall.

"I thought I could be of service I would run," the No. 1 critic of the armed forces unification said. "I thought I could be of more service to my country in the Navy. But if I'm not going to be in the Navy, then I feel perhaps I could be of more service in Congress."

Judge, 44, of Long Island City, N. Y., was just leaving to return home after visiting his son, Kenneth, a student at the Jesuit Novitiate of St. Isaac Jogues.

The entire crew of 40 of the Navy's net tender Elder (above) was saved March 17, in a double-feature rescue operation by the Navy in the mid-Pacific. The 14 men who stayed aboard the vessel after it was wrecked by fire and explosions were saved following the earlier rescue of the other 26 men from a lifeboat and two rafts on which they drifted for seven days. The Elder, a 163-foot craft, was last reported on March 7 on a 2,600-mile voyage from Hawaii to Eniwetok, scene of forthcoming atomic tests. (AP Wirephoto).

McCarthy's Attack Called Irresponsible And Harmful

Jessup Says Senator's Charges Harmful To Country's Interests; Lashes Concept Of Guilt By Association; Flatly Denies Charges

Washington, March 20—(AP)—Ambassador Phillip C. Jessup declared today that Senator McCarthy's charges of Communist infiltration are "shocking disregard for the interests of our country."

With a sweeping denial of any Communist sympathies, Jessup told a senate investigating subcommittee that it is a matter of utmost gravity when an American envoy is "held up before the eyes of the rest of the world as a liar and a traitor."

The Ambassador-at-large lashed back at McCarthy after speeding home from a survey mission to the Far East. He said that during his absence his integrity was attacked only by two sources—McCarthy and the Moscow official newspaper Izvestia.

Jessup added: "Anyone who believes in the concept of guilt by association might draw some startling conclusions from this fact. However, I do not believe in the concept of guilt by association."

"Moreover, I do believe that anyone who, without adequate proof, levels a charge of conscious or ignorant support of Communism at a member of the United States Senate—or at any official of the United States government—is irresponsible."

"I have no evidence that Senator McCarthy was motivated by desire to assist the international Communist movement even though his words and actions have had that effect."

As to the charges against him, Jessup said: "I wish to repeat categorically and without qualification that I am not a Communist and never have been a Communist."

"I am not and have never been a Communist sympathizer. I have never knowingly supported or promoted any movement or organization which I know had as its objective the furtherance of Communist objectives."

McCarthy accused Jessup of an "unusual affinity for Communist causes" 10 days ago when the senate foreign relations subcommittee began hearings on the Wisconsin Senator's contention that the state department is shot through with Communists and their sympathizers.

Great Changes In Dutch And British Colonial Possessions In Area South of U. S.; Creation Of Dominions Discussed; Great, Untapped Wealth In Those Lands

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

One of the most dramatic political developments of today is proceeding a-pace both the British and the Dutch colonial possessions in the great Caribbean area but with such little fanfare that thus far it has attracted small attention.

What is happening is that each of these widely distributed blocs of territory and the mother countries are discussing the creation of dominions. These dominions would have sovereignty but would remain a part of their respective commonwealth.

The fundamental impulse behind these projects is similar in both cases, and is succinctly summarized by an authoritative British source in dealing with its own project: "During the past 20 years it has been recognized more and more that a group of neighboring colonies can gain economic and social advantages by cooperating and by sharing their resources; and in some areas the results of administrative centralization, particularly in the technical fields have been very encouraging. One of the areas that stands to gain from centralization is the British West Indies, where many of the colonies are small and poor in natural resources."

Plan Reconvene NCEA On April 1

Raleigh, N.C., March 20—(AP)—The N.C. Education Association's board of directors has ordered a reconvening of the 1950 NCEA state convention and a recount of the association's mailed-in presidential ballots.

The unprecedented action was taken yesterday as an outgrowth of protests arising over the presidential election between C. M. Abernethy and Mrs. Margaret McDermott. The new convention gathering was set for Saturday, April 1.

If tradition had been followed, Mrs. McDermott, of Winston-Salem, would have been elected president without opposition since she was the NCEA's retiring vice-president.

However, after a recount of the ballots, Abernethy, of Lenoir, was declared winner by the NCEA's canvassing committee by 8,830 to 8,812—a difference of 18 ballots.

The recount ordered yesterday instructed the canvassing committee to count defaced or erased ballots when it is possible to determine the voter's choice.

Around 3,500 teachers left Raleigh a week ago Saturday at the end of their annual convention without knowing who would be their new officers.

Four B-29s Take Off For Britain

Washington, March 20—(AP)—The first batch of about 75 American B-29s takes off for Britain today under the $1,000,000,000 arms aid program to strengthen Western Europe's defenses.

Four of the reconditioned bombers, manned by American crews, leave nearby Andrews Field this afternoon (at 3 p. m. EST) bound for a British airbase.

The seven-year-old planes, once the heaviest the American Air Force could send aloft, now are classed as "medium bombers." The giant B-36 is alone in the heavy bomber class now.

But the B-29's 2,000-mile combat range and 10-ton bomb load are expected to add considerable striking power to the British Air Force. The British, in line with allied defense plans, have concentrated on building speedy jet fighters, leaving bomber production to the United States.

Secretary of Defense Johnson and British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks were to be on hand at the airport for the ceremony formally turning the planes over to the British.

The four-engine planes now powered by modernized motors, are the first American arms to be handed over to the British under the arms program approved by Congress last October. They will also be the first to reach their European destination.

Convicted Spy Leaving Today For Homeland

New York, March 20—(AP)—The government handed Valentin A. Gubitchev his official walking papers today and the stubby convicted spy headed homeward toward his native Russia "never to return."

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan suspended Gubitchev's 15-year prison sentence in accordance with a previous recommendation by Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

The Russian was convicted with Judith Coplan of plotting to spy for the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, a large force of policemen guarded the Gdynia-American liner Batory, on which he took passage, to make sure he got on and didn't get off again. His attractive wife boarded the ship in mid-morning.

Last Child Of President Dies

Lewiston, Me., March 20—(AP)—President Rutherford B. Hayes' last surviving child—his only daughter—is dead at 82.

Mrs. Frances (Fanny) Hayes died last night at the Marcorie home here.

Her father was an Ohio congressman when she was born Sept. 2, 1867. She spent her early childhood in the Ohio governor's mansion—her father was governor three terms—and went with him to the White House when he was elected president in 1877.

Seek To Bolster U. S. Bipartisan Foreign Policy

Cooperation On Foreign Affairs Deteriorated; Old Relationship Wanted

Washington, March 20—(AP)—Administration leaders were reported making strong efforts today to revive the bipartisan foreign policy. It has been sagging in the continued absence from Congress of Senator Vandenberg.

Recovered from a lung operation last fall, the Michigan Republican has been ill and unable to attend Senate sessions since February 2.

In his absence, bipartisan cooperation on foreign affairs has deteriorated to such an extent that the administration is reported to have enlisted Attorney General McGrath, a former senator, in an effort to reestablish the working basis the Democrats have had with Republicans in the past.

McGrath has tried to some Republicans about the matter. Possibly as a result of his urging, the State Department has begun a series of meetings with senators of both parties.

As an example, a group of six senators will sit down at luncheon next Wednesday with deputy undersecretary of state Dean Rusk for a briefing on problems in southeast Asia.

However, this doesn't fulfill the Republicans' desire for consultation at the top levels.

It doesn't take the place, they say, of the almost daily conferences Vandenberg and others used to have with Robert Lovett, former undersecretary of state and right hand man to the then secretary of state George Marshall.

Secretary of State Acheson has developed no such contact man as Lovett.

The secretary himself goes to capitol hill frequently but Republicans seem to doubt that they are being taken into the administration's confidence in advance of policy decisions. Vandenberg and a few others were in the past.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said Acheson probably will be called upon to discuss his recent seven-point challenge to Russia with foreign relations committee members soon.

Work Stoppages Protest Return Belgium's King

Brussels, Belgium, March 20—(AP)—Belgians opposed to the return of King Leopold III began a round of work stoppages today, calling out 30,000 men to underscore determined Socialist opposition to the pro-Leopold forces.

Tramway and foundry workers walked off the job in widely scattered parts of the country, but the hardest hit city was Antwerp, where 128 ships were immobilized.

The entire port administrative staff, including 126 pilots, joined with 11,000 dock and shipyard workers in a 24-hour strike.

The main sea lock of the port was blocked by the 6,800-ton Norwegian vessel Trondager. She arrived when the strike started. Lock operators said they won't release her until the strike ends tomorrow morning.

Sister's Hate Results In Murder Of Sleeping Twin

Fresno, Calif., March 20—(AP)—A 14-year-old girl, yielding to long smoldering hatred, calmly killed her sleeping twin sister yesterday.

Then said Dan B. Eymann, assistant district attorney, Alice Richard "almost defiantly" told him: "I hated her. I don't feel bad because my sister is dead, but I feel bad for my folks. This'll hurt them. I'd kill Sally again if I had the chance."

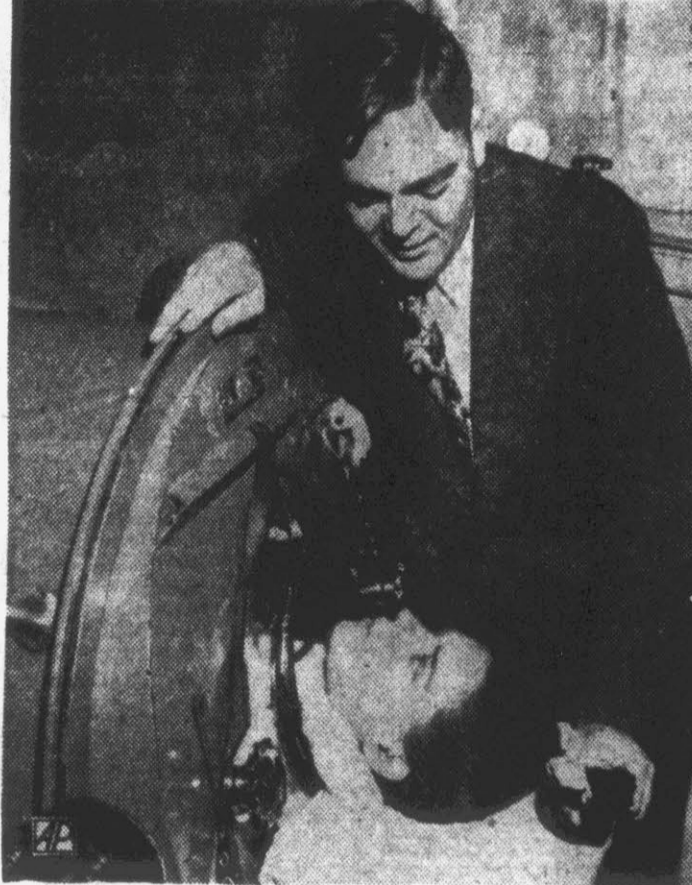

Sally Richard was killed by a single .22 rifle slug into her brain as she lay sleeping about 3 a. m. She was one of eight sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Richard. None of the family heard the shot.

Eymann said a murder charge would be filed against Alice today. "The killing was an apparent case of what psychologists call sibling rivalry—rivalry between offspring of the same parents—said Sheriff J. W. Ripperdan. The twins were not identical.

Eymann quoted Alice: "I hated her because she was stupid and loud and always acting like a nut. I learned to hate her when we were in the sixth grade and ever since then this has built up."

Backs Acheson

Key West, Fla., March 20—(AP)—President Truman backed up Secretary of State Acheson 100 per cent today and let it be known that any rumors he might be replaced are "completely without foundation."

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that rumors have reached the President that the visit here of Chief Justice Vinson may have some connection with a change in the office of Secretary of State.

Vote Big Cut In ECA Spending

Washington, March 20—(AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today voted to cut a billion dollars cash from 1951 European recovery spending and substitute an equivalent amount of surplus-farm commodities.

The committee overrode administration objections in accepting an amendment by Rep. Vorys (R-O) at a closed-door committee session.

The vote, not disclosed, was said by Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) to have cut across party lines.

Vorys' amendment slashes the 1951 cash spending authority of the Economic Cooperation Administration to $1,950,000,000, a flat $1,000,000,000 less than provided in the administration bill.

Berryman said he talked with officials in APL's Shanghai branch.

Two Stores Broken Into Early Sunday Morning; Cash, Checks, Bonds, Pistol And Some Merchandise Taken; Explosions Heard By Townspeople

Stokes, March 20—Pitt County's biggest and most daring robbery in recent years occurred early yesterday morning as thugs blew open safes in Stokes-Congleton and Jerome Perkins' general merchandise stores, taking an estimated $5,200 from both in cash and checks.

Both stores were broken into between Saturday midnight and 5 a. m. yesterday morning, Sheriff Ruel Tyson reported this morning. He could not say which one was entered first. Both are located across the street from each other.

Perkins lost approximately $2,200 in cash and $500 in checks plus a "quantity" of bonds, Tyson said.

Stokes-Congleton lost about $1,000 cash and $2,500 in checks, plus some negotiable and non-negotiable bonds of an undetermined denomination.

In addition to the cash and checks taken, Perkins lost a 17-jewel green-gold Waltham pocket watch and a 38 police Colt pistol which were in the safe. Some insurance papers were taken also.

W. F. Stokes, co-owner of the store, said this morning he entered his store yesterday morning about eight o'clock, found the front door open and the store riddled.

Stokes reported that the safes were wrapped in dynamite and exploded. He thought they used dynamite and nitro-glycerin for the job.

Perkins was informed of Stokes' loss and immediately went down to his store to find the door of the safe blown off. He could not be contacted this morning but a clerk said nothing was taken from outside the safe.

Townspeople told Tyson they heard two explosions early yesterday morning. The first one, they said, came about 1:30 and the second at three.

Tyson reported the thugs entered through the front door of Stokes-Congleton. He said there were signs of its having been pried open. They apparently tried to enter through a back door but could not get it open. However, they left through it. The thugs entered through a rear window in the Perkins store.

Stokes said his theft was a total loss there being no insurance covering it. He said he had found about $150 in checks and the money drawer of the safe this morning on the edge of the community. Nothing else had been discovered as yet, he said.

The thugs broke three axes, he reported, in trying to get the money drawn open after the doors were blown off. The vault of the safe was unlocked.

Investigating with the sheriff's department are S. G. Gibbs of the State Bureau of Investigation and Captain Dorsey of the Greenville police department. Deputies working on the case are Duke Andrews and Lloyd Manning.

The Natural Gas Act

Features Behind The Senate Debate On Changing Law To Cut Down Some Authority Of Federal Power Commission; Background; Clarifying Terms Of The Law

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 20—(AP)—The Senate is debating a change in the natural gas act to cut down some authority of the Federal Power Commission.

This commission, made up of five men, has several duties. For instance, it can control the rates charged by electric power companies when the power they sell crosses state lines.

And under a law passed in 1938—the natural gas act—the commission can decide what rates shall be charged by companies which deal in natural gas if it's piped across state lines.

Natural gas is found in the ground, mostly in the southwest, and is pumped from there through more than 30,000 miles of pipelines which cross and cross-cross the country. This gas goes into all but 12 states.

Women In The Church

Reports received from "behind the bamboo curtain" in communist-controlled China, indicate that there is little or no change in the position of Christian women under the new regime. There are even signs of increasing opportunities for worthwhile service. In coeducational universities the percentage of women students remains high: 40 percent to 45 percent of the student body in two schools. In North China, longest area under communists, it is reported that Christian women nurses and evangelists can travel into the country area and carry on services where pastors cannot. All nurseries and clinics are carrying on with government encouragement.

The regular sessions of the Children's Court and of the Court of Domestic Relations, in New York City, were suspended for almost an hour the other day while justices and attendants paid tribute to a little white-haired woman whom they described as "the nearest living thing to a saint that we know."

She was Mrs. Mabel Turner, 70 years of age, who was retiring after 30 years of distinguished service with the Protestant Big Sisters—a group that works with wayward children and leads them to good citizenship. Many hundreds of children have been returned to society, and many broken homes rebuilt through her ministry. Said Justice Jacob Panken: "Mabel Turner has been infective and effective. Her kindness and generosity have been contagious. They have trespassed all bounds. She is truly a great woman."

"Japanese are not any more anxious to become thoroughgoing practicing Christians than Americans are," says Miss Alberta Tarr, of Nevada, M. O., missionary teacher in the Methodist Girls School in Hiroshima, Japan. "There is more curiosity about Christianity since they have had less contact with it, and it is the religion of the victors. Because native religions let them down in war-time, they are interested in the faith of America. Young people have been reared on a deep faith in their national destiny. This has been completely destroyed, so they are seeking a substitute. They would easily turn to Christianity, at least as a form, if we could promise escape from suffering and hardship. Instead, we promise strength to meet these experiences of mankind with courage, and vision to use them for good. Some parents want daughters to be Christians so all their problems will be solved."

Marigold Arnold Becomes Bride Of Lloyd Chesson In Grimesland

Miss Marigold Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Arnold of Grimesland, became the bride of Lloyd Wentz Chesson, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Chesson of Vanceboro, in a double ring ceremony on March 4, Saturday afternoon, at five o'clock in the Grimesland Christian Church. The church was lovely with a back ground of rich green Oregon ferns, huckleberry and plumosa. Tall floor baskets of white gladiolus and three, seven and nine branched wrought iron candelabra with cathedral candles added beauty to the scene. Single candleholders with tall cathedral candles were used by the kneeling bench.

The Rev. C. G. Nickens, Methodist minister of Grimesland, officiated. Prior to the ceremony a program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Moye Dall, pianist and Mrs. Ethel G. Tucker, soloist.

The bride entered the church with her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a chantilly lace yoke and bertha, a tight fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, and a full skirt which extended in a short court train. Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. The bride carried a white satin prayer book centered with sprays of white Dutch hyacinths and a pure white orchid showered with Hyacinth florets.

Mrs. James P. Pulley, Jr., of Raleigh was matron of honor. She wore an off shoulder model of white tulle with a flitted bodice featuring a wide bertha and a hoop skirt. She wore matching mitts and a bandeau of flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of red Dutch tulips and blue Dutch Iris tied with red taffeta ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Peggy Edwards of Grimesland and Miss Jeanne Galloway of Raleigh. They wore white tulle gowns made identical to that of the matron of honor with matching mitts and bandeaux. They carried cascade bouquets of orchid Dutch tulips tied with matching ribbon.

The bridegroom had as his best man Walter Hannan of Washington. The ushers were Fodie Hodges of Grimesland, Paul Taylor of Washington, and David Chesson of Vanceboro and Bryan Chesson of Raleigh, brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Arnold, mother of the bride was attired in a navy blue suit with matching accessories and wore a corsage of Better Times roses. Mrs. Chesson, mother of the groom, also wore a navy blue suit and had a corsage of Better Times roses. The bride attended Louisville

College and King's Business College in Raleigh. She has been employed by the Pitt County Board of Education for the past three years. Mr. Chesson attended State College and East Carolina Teachers College. At the present he is connected with the Home Security Life Insurance Co. in Washington.

For traveling the bride wore a three piece blue tweed suit with brown accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip to the northern states. The bridal couple will make their home in Washington, N.C. The bride was entertained with a number of parties before her marriage—a kitchen shower by Mrs. Leslie Elks of Grimesland, a crystal shower by Mrs. Dan White and Miss Jennie Outlaw of Grimesland, a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Ethel G. Tucker and Mrs. J. L. Cashwell of Grimesland. Miss Lucille Swindell of Grimesland entertained in Washington remembering the bride and Miss Dorothy Bennett of Aurora, bride-elect of June. On Friday night before rehearsal, Mrs. Lloyd Whichard and Mrs. T. R. Rouse, Jr., entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests with a buffet supper. After the rehearsal, the bridal party was entertained with a cake cutting by the bride's parents.

Truman Appears Ready To Name AEC Chairman

Key West, Fla., March 20—(AP)—Strong indications appeared today that President Truman is about ready to appoint a new chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Meanwhile, he set up machinery for a long-distance telephone conference with his congressional "big four" to check up on the outlook for passage of "Fair Deal measures." His press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said Mr. Truman planned to talk with Vice President Barkley, Speaker Rayburn, Senate Majority Leader Lucas and House Majority Leader McCormack today.

This was the first long-distance try-out of a conference usually held every Monday morning at the White House.

Plague was regarded by many in medieval Europe as a manifestation of divine wrath.

Battling Bergman

Dog Destroyed For Killing Boy

South Portland, Me., March 20—(AP)—Patches, the Siberian husky whose fangs killed a five-year-old boy, also is dead.

The year-old pup was destroyed last night, three days after the death of little Donald A. Boucher.

Owner Emile J. Morin's decision to have the dog killed—it was up to him as Patches was chained on his property when the child was attacked—was made while Donald was being buried yesterday.

A veterinarian injected a killing drug at "Shangri La," an animal hospital in Auburn.

Donald's mother, Mrs. Stanley Boucher, said she was "greatly relieved due to the fact that (the dog) won't have a chance to do the same thing to someone else."

Her husband said the news "makes me feel as though there is some justice."

County Attorney Daniel C. McDonald, reported a medical examiner told him Patches had chewed one side of the boy's head to the bone.

Boy Who Took $9,000 Will Get A 'Talking To'

Erie, Pa., March 20—(AP)—Mike Palermo, Erie tavern owner, put $9,000 in the bank today and turned his attention to his young son who had been missing with the money for nearly two days.

"I'm going to talk to that young man," Mike said shortly after returning his 11-year-old son, Nick, from Pittsburgh.

Nick, who cheerfully admitted he'd taken his dad's life savings of between $9,100 and $9,200 last Friday, was just a little bit gum after the trip here.

Young Palermo and two companions, 13-year-old Michael Manning, and 12-year-old Paul Youlan, were apprehended in the steel city yesterday.

They had $9,000 in bills, mostly in $50, $100 and $500 denominations.

And they also had new clothes and shoes which they had purchased. As close as the elder Palermo could figure it, the boys spent about $150 in their bus and rail trip which took them to Meadville, Pa., Youngstown, O., and finally, Pittsburgh.

Both Erie police and Palermo indicated no charges would be brought against the boys.

First Annual For Pactolus School

By PEGGY DAIL
This year for the first time the Pactolus school is going to have a yearbook.

The members of the senior class have been working on the publication which they have planned to send to the printers this week so the books may be distributed to the students during April.

Spokesmen for the yearbook staff have indicated the annual will include almost everyone in the Pactolus school. The clubs, baseball teams and basketball teams of the school will be represented in group pictures; and snapshots of the school lunchroom as well as pictures of the old and new Pactolus school buildings are to be included in the publication.

Easter Shopping Boom Is Dragging

New York, March 20—(AP)—The brakes are on the traditional Easter shopping boom right now, but most businessmen still hope they can beat last year's total or come close to it.

There are two measuring sticks by which to judge Easter trade—dollar and unit volume. Most authorities agree the dollar volume is going to be about equal to a year ago, give or take a few percentage points.

But all are sure the physical volume of suits and dresses and hats and a long list of other Easter things is going to be higher than a year ago.

That's because of price reductions during the past year all along the line. One source estimates prices are down an average of three per cent for the year.

Easter falls on April 9 this year, one week earlier than last year.

The very earliness of Easter, however, makes for a short shopping season. With the weather still cold, Easter slips up on people before they know it.

Russia did not adopt the Gregorian calendar under which most of the world now operates until 1918.

Puzzle!

The story that came with this picture from Sydney, Australia, runs like this: The mouse squeezed itself through the neck of the bottle and ate the birdseed inside. The more it ate, the lower it got in the bottle—and the bigger it became. Somebody found the mouse after it had spent a whole day in the bottle—and turned it loose. How? That's the bottleneck. Nobody explained that. (AP Wirephoto).

Strength FOR THE DAY

PERHAPS A DAWNING
The world is astir today as it has not been in centuries. Unless every sign fails, we stand at the threshold either of the greatest honors humanity has ever witnessed
or its greatest blessings.

There are some of us who believe that the greatest days humanity
has ever known lie ahead — and probably not very far ahead. A spiritual movement is beginning to stir the hearts of all people like
the breeze which starts to stir when the sun rises. The findings of science today are no longer destructive to religion. They appear to match up with the truths of revealed religion in a most astonishing fashion. Anyone who has read Barnett's "The Universe and Dr.
Einstein" realizes this.

This is the time for people to read their Bible with a new sense
of expectancy, to pray with deeper faith than ever before, to be loyal to their churches. There is something great in the offering. It is going to be unlike anything we have ever known. It will happen in all its fullness when those who are watching and waiting become a mighty host, and when their eagerness
bursts forth into consuming fire.

This is not a day for pessimism;
rather, it is a day to expect and
work for great triumphs.

FIRST IN HIGHWAY SLAUGHTER

Several times since the first of the year the Reflector
has mentioned in editorials
the mass slaughter which is being committed on the highways of Pitt county.

This county at the present
time is leading the other 99
counties of North Carolina
in the number of highway fatalities
since the first of January. Since 1948 when there were only three highway
deaths in Pitt county,
this locality has risen notoriously
to the top of the list in
the killing of people who travel the roads.

If this slaughter is to be brought to a halt and cease
taking the lives of our youths and older people as well, it is going to take the personal attention of every person in Pitt county who operates a motor vehicle.

There are many things which can cause an automobile accident, but the most prevalent
cause is carelessness.

Then come mechanical deficiencies.
The first can be corrected
only if individuals set their minds to it. The second situation can be corrected to a large degree by legislation in the General Assembly.
The legislators of the state
during the last General Assembly
saw fit to repeal the motor vehicle inspection law
to appease a small group in the state which did not want
the statute on the books.
During its short-lived existence,
however, the law proved
a great step in curtailing
the number of highway
accidents in the state.

As the Reflector sees the situation, we need a two-fold
program to bring down the highway accident level in the state. The people will have to take it upon themselves
to investigate safe driving.
The representatives in the legislature should take steps to reenact a motor vehicle inspection law during the coming General Assembly.

COOPERATION WITH POLICE FORCES

The teen-age Minnesota
boys who this week-end led
the police to the capture of one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals set an example of the fine cooperation between the citizens and the police forces which must prevail if our law enforcement
system is to work efficiently.

The boys recognized the criminal from the picture
carried by newspapers, and led the officers to the cave
where the man was hiding.

For their service to the people of the United States
in the apprehension of the escaped murderer, the teenagers
have won for themselves
the admiration and respect
of the people of their own
locale and the people
throughout the country.

The example set by the youths is something which could be followed by the older people who at times are inclined to close their eyes to the infractions of local,
state and federal statutes
which they encounter.

With the limited number
of law enforcement officers
in the nation, how could police effectively see that the statutes are abided by without the aid of the individual

citizens who are willing to report legal offenses? Is it not the obligation of every citizen of the country to aid
in law enforcement by reporting
to the authorities incidents
in which the laws have been broken?

The legal system under which we live is based not only on the power of the police force, but on the cooperation of the majority of the people with the comparatively small police force which is present in this country. In any particular locality, the efficiency to which the laws
are enforced will depend largely on the cooperation between the law enforcement
forces and the people of the locality.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

TELEPHONES — Report of the survey of the Chapel Hill Telephone Company, property of the University of North Carolina, by the utilities
commission has some interesting angles. Operational and service management is regarded as good; expansion has been made
and more is in planning stage;
sparsely populated areas has
retarded extension of rural lines;
there are 400 expressed unfilled
orders for service; standardization
of equipment is recommended.
Up to that point the same report
could have been made about all
but a few privately owned telephone companies.

FINANCING — It is in the realm
of fiscal operation that the significant statements occur. It is said accounting practices do not adequately reflect the amount of capital investment and some expenditures properly chargeable
to operating expenses; it is noted
that depreciation and certain overhead

expenses are not charged against operating revenue; rates are lower than rates charged in other towns
of similar size.

SIGNIFICANT — Important
comparison here is that this state-owned telephone company, although it has sources other than operating revenue from which to get expansion
money, has not been able to meet demands upon it or to standardize equipment. This situation is even more striking when it is recalled
that during the war years when most private companies could not obtain materials, the U. S. Navy made it possible for Chapel Hill to get high priority on scarce items.

PUBLIC OWNED — Governor Scott
said at his press conference the other day he favors the University retaining the ownership and management of the Chapel Hill
Telephone Company believing it will better serve needs
of the institution under public
rather than private ownership.
The utilities commission survey indicates that so far as serving private subscribers goes there isn't a great deal of difference.

OPENER — All three major
candidates for the United States Senate have made several speeches
each during the past few days.
Senator Graham has been particularly active, filling two or three engagements
a day in some instances.
Heretofore these speeches or talks
have been in connection with some public gathering, civic club
luncheon, or similar drawing card.
First all-out political speech of the campaign is scheduled by Willis
Smith for Wednesday night at Elizabeth City. Smith is expected to use his home town forum to state what may be called his
"platform." Senator Graham
enunciated his "platform" at a YDC meeting in Monroe some weeks ago. Candidate Reynolds
put his in form letters mailed out
early this month.

VISITORS — The guest registers
in Graham and Smith headquarters
show many duplications of names.
Visiting politicians, even some who have definitely decided they will support in the race, like to call upon all the candidates
and get their names on the list.
Salesmen for printing and advertising novelties also show
impartiality, their philosophy
being that one man's dollar
is as good as another's.
Newspaper reporters look for
good stories from all the camps.
Point is, when you see a visitor
in the headquarters room or
his name on the register, it does not necessarily mean
a vote for the candidate upon whom he is calling.

TOLL ROADS — The question
of toll roads will be featured
at the national transportation
congress in Washington
April 25-27, according to advance publicity on the event.
In view of the interest shown by North Carolinians in two toll road projects — one largely
for pleasure along the coast,
one mainly for truck transport
across the piedmont — the debate may be helpful in reaching conclusions about feasibility of these roads.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York, () — Trunk you
old hurdy gurdy man, crank us
up a little aperitif music, please.

Just a little background tune
will do — something to go with this true talk that started one generation ago.
The girl's name was Betty,
and she had a twinkle in her
eye and a fervor in her feet.
The two-step, the waltz and
the schottische were hot stuff
then, and Betty could dance
them like no other girl in her crowd. She was as people said, in those dim, old-fashioned days, "some shucks."
Among her swains was a young scooter named Herbert. He had money in the bank, an ache in his heart — and lead
in his feet. Herbert was a Wallflower. He would squire
Betty and then sit 'em out
on the floor in another fellow's arms.
Finally he wrestled up his courage and proposed marriage.
He was a nice boy, and up
to his armpits in character.
But to Betty dancing was life itself and she didn't want to two-step her way
to the altar with a boy friend
whose heels were

dragging.
"Learn to dance, Herbert,
and then we'll talk it over,"
she said.
So Herbert went to a teacher
and bought some lessons,
and in no months at all
he was pivoting on his own two feet.
The guy turned out to be good at it, too. They danced and they danced and the next thing they knew they were married.
It would be nice, if we could just say that they tangoed happily ever after,
but you know how life
is — always out of step.
Betty found she was going to have a baby, so she quit dancing and started
knitting little things.
But not Herbert. He was in the grip of foot fever.
He started stepping out on Betty. She didn't gripe about it much,
figuring he had a right
to sow a few wild oats
before they hired a 1913
style baby sitter.
What she didn't take into account was Alice.
Now there was a girl
with soul in her feet!
After about 10,000
bunny-huggin' trips
around a dance floor
with Alice, Herbert forgot all about being
a prospective father.

They had it out — he
and Betty — and she
went home to mother.
And then there was a divorce. Later married Alice. And soon after that Alice put the
thumb on him.
"No more dancing,
Junior," she said.
"We're grown up
now." And

she made it stick, too.
Poor Herbert never got to Charleston
or to the big apple
or the lindy or the
lambeeth walk.
He's had a long
intermission.

And what about Betty?
Oh, she didn't do
any more
stepping either.
As a matter of fact
it kept her on the
dog trot just to earn enough to support herself
and Herbert's
child.
His name was Bob.
Betty did a good job of
raising him.
He grew up
into a big time
handsome man.
He never married
and he never
learned to dance.
Never had time
for it.
Bob has been
a wonderful son
to Betty.
Her money worries
are all over.
Bob has seen
to that.
He makes
a good steady
income.
He plays in
a dance band.

Dr. Lou-

textbook, "Understand

the gigantic
task of reading
the thousands
of documents

"The records
of the League

are a kind of microcosm,"
says Dr. Young,
who herself
has been active
for years as

The records
reveal how many important

many groups
traveling the same highway.

The papers record
"Transformation
of the suffrage

into a vast movement to train new women citizens
for their role
in public life,"
Dr. Young says.
She believes
no one has ever measured
properly the extent of women's impact on
public life,
that these
papers offer
a "simon pure
demonstration
of how an institution
brings about
social change."

"It is all there
for the social

analyze, to find out what
made it tick,"
she says,
adding that
she hopes to write a book
herself on the subject.
How the status
of women

has improved
in the last half century
is shown in the league's
papers.
They record
the whole
movement for

of the first (Shepherd-Town)
to the present
borough system
of child welfare
programs.
They record
how child
labor laws,
minimum wage

and laws for women came
about.
In addition,
Dr. Young
records the decline and
fall of the 3rd
(Prohibition)
Amendment,
the passage
of the 18th
(Lame Duck)
amendment,
on which
the league
worked hard
for 10 years
and the rise
and spread
of the League
of International Women and the "desire
to keep alive
a spirit of international cooperation
through the League of Court."

"Probably no
social document
exists which
better documents
the struggle

says, "or

or the legalized spread
of collective
bargaining,
over the long
struggle for federal aid

protection
of the consumer
in the food
and drug
industry,
in which the

an active part."

Boxing Tourney Opens Thursday

Second Annual County Event To Run Three Days; Nearly One Hundred Entries Already Listed; Nine Pitt Schools Represented; Twelve Divisions

By BILL LLOYD
Pitt County's Second Annual Amateur Boxing tournament, sponsored by the East Carolina Athletic department, is scheduled to get underway in Wright gymnasium here Thursday night, March 23.

The annual glove event, inaugurated here last year, will run three days with the finals being staged Saturday night, March 25.

Increasing interest in the second annual PCAB tourney has already been exhibited, with nearly 100 fighters already entered in this year's meet. The 1949 affair drew around 40 entries.

Nine Pitt county schools have already entered teams in this year's three-day event. Members of Coach Johnny Long's East Carolina boxing team will tutor the various schools that have entered the tournament.

Greenville's city school club are the defending champions.

Schools already entered with their coaches are Ayden, Crowell, Williamson, Bell Arthur, Bob Bailey, Belvoir, Ken Stargardt and Henry Bruton; Bethel, Jack Gerrans and Donald Denny; Farmville, Charlie Edwards; Greenville, Gleason Smith and Jack Gray; Grimesland, Bill Cole and Jack Amyette; Stokes, Al Lee and Marshall Baines; and Winterville, Bill Torrans.

Twelve weight divisions, ranging from the 70-pound class to the 200-pound class, will be offered during the three-day event.

Last date for entries in the second annual PCAB tournament will be Tuesday, March 21, with participation being purely voluntary. Boys entering the tournament must have written permission from their parents, and declared physically fit by their physicians.

There will be four trophies awarded in the ring ceremonies after Saturday night's finals. A trophy will be presented to the winning team and coach of that team. There will be a sportsmanship trophy, and a trophy going to the tourney's most popular boxer. Golden gloves will be presented to the division winners, with runners-up receiving silver gloves.

In expressing successful hopes for this year's event, Dr. N. M. Jorgensen stated, "Purpose for this tournament is primarily to give the boys a broader vision of the scope for physical education here. Many boys compete in basketball, and know nothing but basketball. There are many boys who desire competitive activities, and boxing offers a medium of expression for those boys. Due to the fact that some of the boys who entered last year's event will be back to defend their championships, a tremendous amount of interest has already been exhibited, and the bouts should be close, and highly contested."

Braves Defeated Six Straight

Bradenton, Fla., March 20—(AP)—The Boston Braves, smarting from six-straight exhibition game losses, try to get back on the winning path today at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds. Rookies Dick Manville and Dick Donovan have been named to share the pitching chores with southpaw Glenn Elliott. Johnny Rain again hurled effectively yesterday, allowing only one hit in three innings, but the Tribe dropped a 5-2 decision to the Philadelphia Phils.

Take No Chances With DiMaggio

Miami, Fla., March 20—(AP)—The New York Yankees are taking no chances with Joe DiMaggio, their $100,000-a-year piece of bric a brac. The Yankee Clipper sat out his second straight game yesterday as the Boston Red Sox won their second of three exhibition games with the New Yorkers, 10-7.

DiMaggio picked up a Charley horse against the Dodgers Friday.

Bradley Quintet Begins Comeback In NCAA Event

New York, March 20—(AP)—Stopped once by upstart CCNY, Bradley's unconvincing Braves start a comeback tonight that could lead to a rematch in the NCAA championship game.

The Bradley basketball aces lost to City College of New York rambling sophomores in the National Invitation Tournament title contest Saturday night. City College upset the top-seeded Braves, 69-61, to cap a sensational surge from the ranks of the unseeded.

But the Braves from Peoria, Ill., still are in the running for another national crown, the NCAA, as is CCNY. The NIT and NCAA tourneys are considered about on a par and each winner is considered a national champion.

Bradley will meet Kansas at Kansas City tonight for the District 5 bid to the Western National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs. If the Braves get by the big seven co-champs, they join UCLA, Brigham Young and Baylor in the west-erns, also at Kansas City, Friday and Saturday.

The winner of the western eliminations—which could be Bradley—plays the eastern winner—which could be CCNY—for the NCAA championship here March 28. City College, Ohio State, Holy Cross and North Carolina State battle here in the easterns Thursday and Saturday.

Bradley, ranked the nation's No. 1 team in the final Associated Press poll, had CCNY on the run Saturday night until Gene Melchiorre and Bill Mann collected so many fouls they had to become cautious. Melchiorre, the midget Mikan, went out on fouls in the second half, taking Bradley victory hopes with him.

But perhaps Bradley couldn't have won anyway, even with Melchiorre in and the All America Paul Unruh at his best, which he wasn't.

The great Ed Warner led a fired-up City five that never lost its initial impetus in defeating defending champion San Francisco 65-46, Kentucky 69-50, Duquesne 62-52 and Bradley. Coach Nat Holman called it his best tournament club in 31 years.

Gehrmann Beats Wilt In Mile Run

Chicago, March 20—(AP)—Any doubt as to whether Don Gehrmann or Fred Wilt is the nation's best miler should be settled today.

Gehrmann, the wiry, 135-pound Wisconsin senior, flashed to a 10 yard victory over the F. B. I. runner to win the banker's mile of the Chicago relays in 4:09.5 Saturday night.

A Chicago stadium throng of 17,683, a record crowd for an indoor track meet, was thoroughly convinced that Gehrmann was master of the mile.

The bankers' was the first meeting of the two athletes since their photo-finish last January in the Wanamaker mile of the New York Millrose games. Both were clocked in 4:09.3 in one of the most disputed finishes in track history.

Gehrmann was first declared the winner and presented the Wanamaker trophy. Then 13 days later the Metropolitan A. A. U. reversed the judges decision and officially tabbed Wilt, the former Indiana star, winner.

Homers Made Up For Four Errors

Phoenix, Ariz., March 20—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns made four errors against the New York Giants yesterday, but they also hit four home runs to win a 10-inning game 10-9.

Sherman Lollar greeted Giant pitcher Kirby Higbe with a homer in the tenth. The other home runs were by Dick Kokos, Chuck Grant and Kenny Wood.

Midgets Upset Goldsboro In Close Tilt To Capture Title

Greenville's second-seeded midgets topped the championship of the first annual midget tournament Saturday night as they upset Goldsboro 24-21 in a low-scoring battle between evenly matched teams.

Previously picked for the finals but not to emerge the champ, Bill Kittrell's midgets took charge of things beginning with the second quarter and managed to stay ahead of the opponents from there on in.

In the consolation game, Kinston beat Ayden in another close contest, 23-20, to win third-place for the four-day tourney.

Winterville's untested team came through in the first game of the night's triple bill to beat out a heralded and top-seeded Raleigh team, 24-18.

After the last game was finished and Greenville crowned champ in the first tourney for east Carolina youngsters, 10 participating players were named to the all-tournament team. There was no first or second team rating in the selection, just the outstanding players from the eight competitors.

Those selected were: Fred Deberry, Raleigh; Darwin Williams, Kinston; Smith Worthington, Greenville; Pat Sawyer, Greenville; Ed Evans, Winterville; George Siders, Greenville; Tex Keeter, Winterville; Jamie Lang, Ayden; and Kemp Edwards, Ayden and Charles Jeffrey, Goldsboro. Honorable mention went to Bobby Kennel, New Bern; Bobby Cabiness, Raleigh; Bobby Crew, Raleigh; Jimmy Askins, Goldsboro; and Alley Hart, Kinston.

Greenville 24, Goldsboro 21
The Greenville midgets played like deserving champions in the final game as they spotted Goldsboro three points, 6-3, at the first quarter and then came on home for the three-point victory.

Behind Smith Worthington and Bobby Conway, the scoring leaders, the locals ran up one-point marks at the half and three-quarter marks to stay just a little ahead of the Goldsboro quint.

Worthington was the team's high scorer with eight points but it was on the strength of Conway's shooting in the second quarter that the locals were able to narrow the gap and, thus, close the door on their opponents. Conway sank two longshots midway of that quarter to put his squad ahead for keeps.

Both Worthington and Conway plus Tommie Saleed were the defensive stars for the champs. Saleed also collected four points to aid and abet his ball-hawking chores.

High scorer for Goldsboro was Jimmy Askins with six points. On defense Askins was also the star for the runners-up.

Kinston 23, Ayden 20
Ayden threw away their chances of becoming third-place team by allowing Kinston to score eight points in the last quarter after leading them all the way.

Sporting leads of 8-6 at the end of the first and a halftime advantage of 13-9, the Ayden quint let their opponents pull within range at the third, 18-16, and go on for the eventual victory. While Kinston was getting eight points, the Ayden lads found the scoring door closed to them, for they hit for only two points during the last eight minutes.

Leading the victors in scoring were Bobby Whaley with eight and Oscar Cranz with six. Little Darwin Williams, the fancy of the crowd for the three days he played, was the ball hawk for the consolation winners.

Leading the Ayden offense were Billy Heath with seven and Jamie Lang with six. Kemp Edwards led the Ayden defense.

Wolfpack Drubs All-Star Quintet

Raleigh, March 20—(AP)—N. C. State College's Southern Conference basketball champions kept in shape for their NCAA tournament appearance by drubbing a conference senior all-star squad 84-61 Saturday. The Wolfpack tangles with Holy Cross Thursday night in Madison Square Garden in the NCAA's Eastern division opening round.

Young Golfer Is Pacing Field Of Veteran Pros

Jacksonville, Fla., March 20—(AP) Jack Burke, still unspooled by fame, got out front in the Jacksonville golf Open on two straight rounds of 67-five under par.

Though he's only 27 years old, Burke is proving on the winter tour he is a great campaigner and he will be hard to beat out for the top $2,000 in today's final round. Burke has 207 after 54 holes, coming back from a shaky opening 73 on the 6,508-yard Hyde Park course.

Burke may have the most trouble holding off two hotshots of the game, National Open Champion Cary Middlecoff and PGA Champ Sam Snead. They reached 210 each after Middlecoff shot 67 and Snead 68 yesterday.

Al Bessellink, 25-year-old Detroit pro, hung right in there with 208 on his third round 71. Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., came into the scene with 67 for 209.

Tied with Snead and Middlecoff at 210 were veterans George Fazio of Washington, D.C.; Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill.; and Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn.

These are most likely to contend with curly-haired young Burke for first prize. Another 14 players were under par for the 54 holes and figured to shoot at the rest of the $10,000 prize list.

Jerry Barber, little golf glove salesman from Overland, Mo., faded to 76 yesterday after setting a new course record of 65 Saturday. He needed another scorching round to rise from his 212 to top again.

Pactolus Girls Forming Softball Team For Spring

Now that softball season has come, the Pactolus high school girls have started working out and organizing their team for the spring games.

The ball diamond has been disced and is being put in shape for use. The Pactolus girls have chosen two teams to play against each other, and the softball enthusiasts are awaiting a ruling from Principal O. H. Forrest which will determine whether the eighth grade girls are allowed to participate in games against the high school teams. He has suggested, however, the reports from Pactolus state, that the eighth grade girls form a team.

The team captains so far chosen for the Pactolus team are Betty Lou Tyndall and Peggy Bowers. Mrs. O. H. Forrest is coaching the teams.

One-Sided Win For Hanes' Team

St. Joseph, Mo., March 20—Hanes Hosiery of Winston-Salem, N. C., collected a lopsided victory last night in the first round of the women's national A A U basketball tournament.

Hanes trounced Soltone of Omaha, Neb., 47-9. The game was well into the second period before Soltone could score on the third-seeded North Carolina team.

Hanes led at the half, 25-2. Soltone managed to raze up seven points in the third period.

Gregg Doing Well In Comeback Try

San Bernardino, Calif., March 20—(AP)—Pitcher Hal Gregg, trying for a comeback with the Pittsburgh Pirates, is the delight of Manager Billy Meyer today.

Gregg accomplished a great deal

in his comeback effort as he turned in a sparkling performance while the Bucs were beating the Chicago Cubs 7-2 at Los Angeles yesterday. He worked five and two-thirds innings, giving up only four hits, walking three and fanning five.

Babe Zaharias Is Winning Again

Augusta, Ga., March 20—(AP)—"I'm back to winning now," Babe Didrickson Zaharias said and pointed due west with her putter.

"That's where I'm going next. To Pebble Beach, Calif., and I'm taking my game along. I tell you, I'm back to winning."

The Babe, lacking not an inch of confidence, had just won about everything there was to win in the titleholders golf tournament. She broke the 10-hole tournament record with a 298. Her winnings were $500.

The Babe's first day 72 was low for the tournament. Her third round 73 was second low, and she never let anyone get in front during the four days of play.

Dave Bauer must be getting a tremendous amount of satisfaction out of watching his daughters, Alice and Marlene, become the sensations of the women's golf world. They are the golfers he hoped to be—but couldn't afford to be.

Bauer must be quite an individual. He came to this country at the age of 17 and took up golf here at 30. He was too busy making a living and supporting his family to develop his own game, so he decided that his daughters would have to become champions. His teaching methods were revolutionary, but they got results. His daughters captured every women's amateur golf championship California had to offer. Marlene captured the junior national title and the Western junior crown. She amazed the golf world when she went to the semi-final of the National Women's tournament last summer and was proclaimed the "golfer of 1949" by the Women's Professional Golf Association.

Dad Bauer started Marlene's golf lessons at three, after he had taken over the Aberdeen course in South Dakota. A few years ago he moved to California where his "back yard clinic" created quite a stir. He rates Marlene and Alice about even in a friendly match, but adds that Marlene is the more natural golfer. She seems able to concentrate on shorts more. And her temperament is ideal—nothing disturbs her.

To Include Note Of Caution For Vote Registrars

Raleigh, N.C., March 20—(AP)—Precinct registrars "should not act arbitrarily in giving the educational test for registration," says the State Board of Elections.

The state board announced that such a sentence will be included in its pamphlet of instructions to precinct registrars.

Early this month, representatives of the N.C. Committee on Negro Affairs Inc. told the board that qualified Negroes have been denied the right to vote at various times and places.

The committee requested the board to take steps to correct the situation. Seven thousand copies of the board's pamphlet containing the sentence will be distributed prior to April 29, when registration books open for the spring primaries.

Anson Voters Go Completely Dry

Wadesboro, March 20—(AP)—Anson has joined North Carolina's bone dry counties. With liquor long ago outlawed, voters Saturday decided by heavy majorities to discontinue legal sales of beer and wine.

The complete, unofficial vote from the 18 precincts was: against beer 2,539, for 941. Against wine 2,539, for 790. The three Wadesboro precincts voted against beer, 714,897. But observers said a move was shaping up to call a beer vote in the city alone.

To The Voters Of Pitt County

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-nomination as a member of the Board of County Commissioners from District No. 1, subject to the action of the voters in the Democratic Primary to be held Saturday, May 27, 1950.

Your vote and active support will be greatly appreciated.

Black Jan Walks Again

By Florence Kerrigan

Chapter 1
Gregor MacIvor was my roommate and best friend at school, but this was my first visit to Castle Quayle, the ancestral home of the MacIvors. At school, Greg had told us tales of the Scottish castle of his family—about the ghost which haunted the left wing; about the smugglers' cave at the foot of the cliff, reached by a stairway cut in the living rock from the master's bedroom to the water's edge; about the stirring history of it during the border warfare when the flagged knights languished in the dungeons deep in the cliff. It had seized our boyish imaginations and we saw it, inhabited still by knights and fair ladies, and defended by stout henchmen armed with crossbows and strong black arrows bound with gold. Then, as we grew older, and Greg never invited us, even me his closest friend, to visit him, we became rather skeptical about the whole thing. Now, two years after his marriage to Iris Moore, the only girl I had ever loved, he had invited me to visit him, and the invitation had been seconded by a postcard from Iris herself.

My first glimpse of the castle was while the train was still a long way from the station, etched against the pearly gray skies, sometimes shrouded in mist, and sometimes standing forth in full sharpness of detail. There it was, perched on top of the cliff, with the waves dashing high against the foot, a white road winding up from the picturesque village below, the battlements and walls of the same gray rock as the cliff, lichen- and moss-stained, seeming a part of the cliff itself, as indeed some of it was—Castle Quayle, the feudal stronghold of the MacIvors and the castle of our boyish dreams.

A car bearing the MacIvor crest met me at the station, and a man came out to take my bags as soon as we stopped at the great front door, and a moment later I was inside the most gigantic hall I had ever seen, with Gothic arches far, far over my head, and a tremendous flight of broad, shallow steps with a massive stone balustrade, mounting upward.

Iris was coming toward me. She was a thinner Iris, prematurely gray at the temples, but the grip of her hand was as cordial, and the glance of her eyes as steady, as in the old days.

"I'm glad you could come," she said, smiling, but with a little catch in her breath as our hands clasped. "I accepted your invitation," I answered.

"I knew you would. I'm putting you in the tower room. Will you come down as soon as you can, please? I'll be in the library, I'd like to talk to you before Greg gets back. —Will you take Mr. Montgomery to his room, Charles?"

I tried to remember which of Greg's fairy tales fitted that particular room, but could not. It was wainscoted and paneled in walnut, and there were casement windows on all three sides, with diamond shaped panes. Originally it had been a tower for defense, for between the windows were narrow slits in the walls which had been used by archers in the old days. The openings were fitted with glass now, but the beveled edges of the masonry, fully a foot in depth, carried out the illusion besides testifying to the thickness of the walls.

I remembered Iris' injunction to hurry, and made what speed I could. I found her in the library, standing before the fireplace in which a cheerful and most welcome fire blazed. She sank into one of the chairs she had pulled up to the fender, and I dropped into the other, facing her.

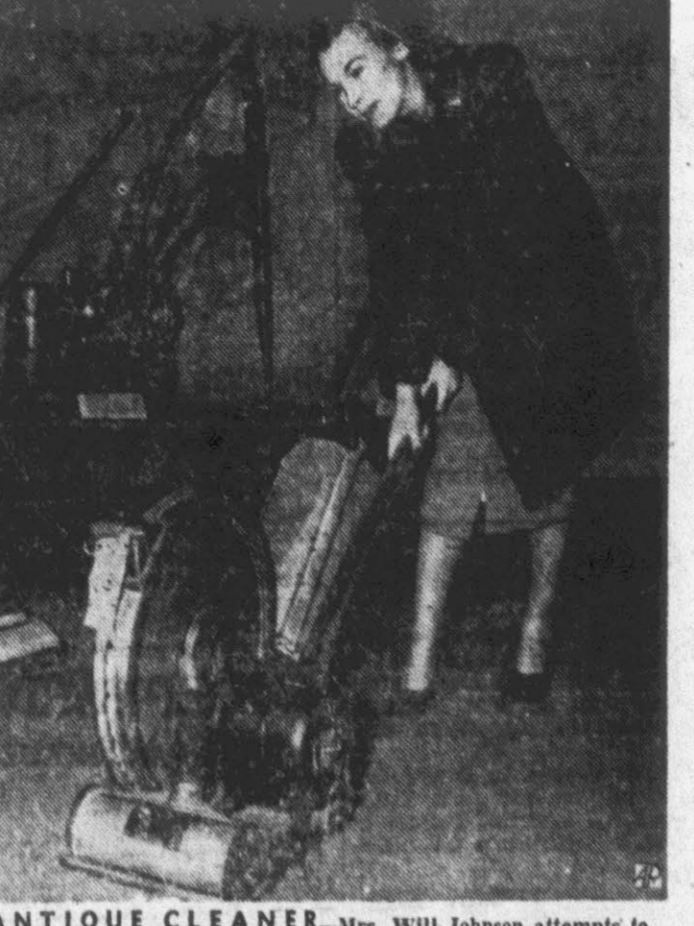

"What's the matter?" I asked, without preamble. Her sensitive lips quivered an instant and then quirked up gamely at the corners. "Everything. Castle Quayle. Greg. Oh, Hugh, the whole thing's a mess!"

"Steady," I said. It was not like Iris to be so unstrung. "Greg's a decent chap, temperamental, maybe, but I roomed with him all through school, and I ought to know. He's one of the best."

"It's more than temperament. I'll tell you if I can." Her blue eyes seemed black in the firelight, and her black dress melted into the shadows until she seemed just white face, white arms, and tragic black eyes with the flickering light of the fire accentuating the pallor of her face rather than imparting any rosy glow to it.

"You know Greg's stories of the castle. Maybe than can help you to understand, and I'd like you to see as much of Greg as you can when he's off guard. He has the tower room under yours. I wish you would drop in there occasionally—at odd times in the night." I supposed I looked my astonishment, for a slight tinge of color stole up into her cheeks. "I'm in the west wing, Hugh. I moved there when it started, so I'd be safe. Hugh, get this firmly in your mind—I love Greg as much as I ever did. This isn't a family row. She paused and I waited for her to go on. "I read your last book," she said surprisingly, "and that is why I sent for you. —Hugh—One of us—Greg or I—is mad! Help me to find out which!" (To be continued.)

N. C. Board Of Elections In Rare Political Action

Raleigh, N.C., March 20—(AP)—In a rare action, the State Board of Elections went over the heads of party chairmen in appointing county boards of elections in eight western counties.

"What we have done is for a good cause," declared Board Chairman Charles M. Britt of Asheville. "That's all I have to say."

Normally, the state Democratic chairman, Everett Jordan, and the Republican chairman, Sim DeLapp, each submit three names for county elections boards in each of the state's counties.

The state chairmen usually receive the nominations from the county party executive committees.

It has been traditional for the elections board to take these lists and from them pick two Democrats and one Republican in appointing such county board.

Jordan commented:

"I recommended what the county chairmen sent in. I can't do anything about it. I sent them in just as the counties submitted the lists to me. I think it would be up to the individual counties to take whatever action they want to."

Britt, who was appointed to his post by Governor Scott last fall, was asked if he had consulted Governor Scott before taking his unusual action Saturday.

"I've talked with him in general," Britt replied, "but not specifically about certain cases."

Britt declined to say how the substitutes were chosen. "I do not want to make a statement about that," he replied when asked where the names came from.

Through the action, the board appointed 13 Democrats and two Republicans who had not been included among those recommended by their respective party chairmen.

Counties in which Britt made changes were Buncombe, Avery, Haywood, Madison, Cherokee, Clay, Graham and Swain.

Police Recover Valuable Coat

Chief Lester D. Page said today that Greenville police had recovered a valuable fur coat stolen last December and arrested Oren Holmes, Jr., and his wife, Mrs. Gladys Holmes, 1406 Broad street. The defendants each provided $200 bond for appearance at the next session of Police Court.

The full length squirrel fur coat, valued at $400, belongs to Mrs. Marie Smith Wallace, 14th Street Extension. She wore it to the Elks Lodge Christmas party last December. She reported it stolen from the women's cloak room that night. Police worked on the case for a long time without success.

Recently, Greenville police received tips from Durham and Raleigh that a Greenville woman had been seen in those cities wearing the missing coat. A search warrant led to recovery of Mrs. Smith's coat and the arrest of Oren Holmes, Jr., and his wife.

Smith 'Shocked' By Board Action

Raleigh, N.C., March 20—(AP)—Willis Smith said he was "shocked" by the State Board of Elections action in ignoring party recommendations in the appointment of election boards in eight western counties.

The Raleigh attorney, who is seeking Frank Graham's post in the U.S. Senate, termed the action "amazing" in a telegram to party chairmen of the eight counties involved.

Describing the action as a "clear violation of a plain statute," Smith offered the services of his law firm without charge, should they be desired.

Smith To Run In Middle Of Road

Raleigh, N. C., March 20—(AP)—Senatorial aspirant Willis Smith, in announcing his platform last night, declared "I do not believe in the extremes of either the right or the left."

He said he is "in favor of a balanced budget and living within our means in years of peace, and I oppose deficit financing and its consequent devastating effect from the nation economy."

Smith, along with former Senator Robert Reynolds of Asheville and Olla Boyd of Pinetown, is seeking the seat now held by Senator Frank P. Graham. Reynolds took to the air waves Saturday night to reiterate his stand in the race.

"I am opposed," Smith declared, "to the arbitrary planning of the lives of citizens by governmental officials at the top." He said "the blueprint of socialism is already emerging from the drawing boards of the planners. The planners may soon become the plotters and the plotters the masters of the people, unless we stop them where they are."

Smith, a former president of the American Bar Association, also called for a governmental farm program kept close to the people with a continuation of the Tobacco support program and a similar parity program for other crops.

Smith also declared over the weekend that he was opposed to socialized medicine and that he will fight against the compulsory health insurance bill proposed by President Truman.

The candidate declared he would oppose "any other proposal which jeopardizes the freedom of the individual practitioner or the patient's freedom to choose his physician." He said he mailed his statement to every North Carolina doctor.

Territorially an area of 83,000 square miles. This colony is a potential treasure house, for it reaches far back into an undeveloped jungle area which is known to possess great riches in gold and other minerals, as well as valuable woods. There also is much rich soil, capable of great agricultural development. Bauxite, from which aluminum is made, is mined in the coastal area.

Perhaps it is because she already is doing well, and expects one day to be rolling in riches, that British Guiana has been making reservations about entering any federation. She hasn't decided to join, and may not.

Family Escaped Death In Blaze

A Negro man, his wife and children narrowly escaped death early Sunday morning, when their house was swept by a fire around 3:00 a. m.

J. D. Payton stated that he awoke and found the house filled with smoke and flames licking their way from the bathroom to the kitchen.

The family managed to leave the building with only the clothing on their backs. None of the household furnishings were saved.

Greenville firemen fought the blaze for over an hour before finally bringing it under control.

The flames, fanned briskly by a rising wind, blew the flames up in the air for many feet making them visible in most parts of the city.

Payton told firemen that he had no idea where the fire started or how it could have originated. On investigation the firemen stated a belief that possibly an electric heater in the bathroom of the house could have been the cause of the blaze. The bathroom and kitchen were the rooms which were the hardest hit by the flames.

There was no estimate as to the loss of the building and the contents.

Claims U.S. Set Precedent In Use Of A-Bombs

Washington, March 20—(AP)—Adm. William D. Leahy holds that in dropping atomic bombs in Japan, this country adopted "an ethical standard common to the barbarians of the dark ages."

The former personal chief of staff to President Roosevelt said in his book "I Was There" published today (Whitely House) that it is a "practical certainty" A-bombs will be used against the United States.

The resultant atomic war, he added, "will take us back in cruelty towards noncombatants to the days of Ghengis Khan."

The admiral also wrote that in 1944 Roosevelt got an intelligence report indicating that Germany had received secret U.S. opinions about Russia which were unwittingly leaked by Henry A. Wallace, then vice president.

London, March 20—(AP)—Star Skater Aja Vrzanova says she's 18 years old, has a mind of her own and has made up that mind not to go back to her native Czechoslovakia.

Aja retained her world figure skating championship in competitions here early this month. Yesterday she announced she had joined the growing group of East European athletes who have decided not to return to their communist-dominated countries.

Aja said her decision had been influenced neither by her parents in Prague nor by any English friends.

The girl said she had had no further communications from the Czech embassy, which insisted yesterday she would return to Prague.

The embassy had no comment today.

a lot of people, including a majority of the five-man FCC, thought the FCC had no right to regulate the rates of the independent producers.

Then in 1947 the Supreme Court handed down a decision which changed some people's views on the FCC's power. Eventually, a majority of the FCC swung over to the belief the law gives it the right to regulate producers' rates.

A Senate committee held hearings on this last year and finally recommended that Congress amend the natural gas act of 1938 to say so clearly that there's to be no more argument—that the FCC does not have the right to regulate producers' rates.

Two Oklahoma senators—Robert S. Kerr, a millionaire oilman, and Elmer Thomas—are pushing a bill to keep the FCC's hands off the independent producers.

Senator Douglas, Illinois Democrat, argues that this bill, if it becomes law, would let the producers hike their prices as high as they please and that—

Since this would mean higher prices to the pipeline companies which bought the gas from the producers and higher prices to the distributors who bought from the pipelines, the whole thing would in the end mean those 13,000,000 consumers would have to pay higher prices for the gas.

Tarzan's Author Died Yesterday

Encino, Calif., March 20—(AP)—Edgar Rice Burroughs, who dug a literary gold mine in the African jungle with Tarzan, is dead.

The author died yesterday, but the ape man he created will live to delight other generations of youngsters the world over.

Fifteen novels were awaiting publication when Burroughs died of a heart attack in bed yesterday morning. A movie producer said he had contracted to make 15 more Tarzan films. A tradition born in 1912, when Burroughs sold his first Tarzan book, apparently will continue for years to come.

The 74-year-old multi-millionaire writer became ill three months ago but up to that time had kept busy turning out new stories about his jungle hero.

"Tarzan of the Apes" brought Burroughs only $700. Later he retained control over his literary work and the royalties reached fabulous proportions. From movie rights alone he is reported to have realized $5,000,000.

Almost 40,000,000 Tarzan books have been sold. Some have been translated into as many as 66 languages.
