Orders Non-Suit Second-Degree Murder Charge

Twelve-Year-Old Son Of Defendant Reverses Original Story Of Death

The case against Jesse Brown, Pitt Negro, who was charged with second-degree murder in the death of his wife March 4, was non-suited just before noon today for lack of evidence to show intentional homicide.

Judge Walter Bone, in the third day of Pitt's Superior Court, ordered the non-suit when Jesse Brown, Jr., 12-year-old son of the defendant, reversed his original testimony made to investigating officers at the time of the accident.

The child told sheriff's deputies just after the shooting March 4 his father shot his mother with a shotgun loaded with bird shot. Today, however, he told the court his father and mother, Una Mize, were fighting over the gun and Jesse was pushed from the porch, the gun going off as he fell to the ground.

The blast entered the woman's body just under the right breast and she died a few hours later in Pitt Hospital. Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Manning, who investigated the accident, said the gun blasted a hole three and a half by four and a half inches in the woman's body.

Coroner Griffin Bouse testified he did not see the body until it was an undertaker's and had to remove the wound. He corroborated Manning's statement, saying the wound was the size of his hand. However, an objection by defense attorney Sam Worthington as to whether she died of the gunshot wound was sustained by Judge Bone.

Solicitor Dick Bundy ordered Jesse, Jr., to take the stand and it was there that he reversed his original statements to deputies. Bone ordered the non-suit just after the child's testimony which was not cross-examined.

The Grand Jury returned the true bill against Brown yesterday and the jury was chosen just before adjournment in the afternoon. Proceedings began this morning.

The Grand Jury made its report yesterday afternoon, saying it had passed on all bills presented to it, had inspected the County Home and jail and found both in excellent condition.

A true bill returned by the Jury yesterday, in addition to those Monday, concerned James Earl Forrest who is charged with larceny. Trial is eligible for this term.

Other judgments with sentences delivered yesterday are: Earl Clinton (Doc) Payton, William Earl King and Alonzo Chapman, breaking and entering and larceny; Chapman found not guilty; Payton and King sentenced to 12 months on the roads, Payton to serve a six-month sentence following present sentence for not making proper payments imposed in a trial in 1947.

Henry Page Garrington, larceny; six months. Cleo Smith, driving while drunk; three months. Pats Riddick, unlawful possession of liquor; $50 and costs, six months suspended on condition he pays costs and fine, remains sober and law abiding and abstains from use of liquor.

Odester Mabrey, driving while drunk; not guilty. Joyner Brantley Chamblee, driving while drunk; mis-trial. James A. Harrington, worthless check; $100 and costs paid at rate of $25 per week beginning April 8. (This changes judgment delivered in Monday's court.)

Francis H. L. Dail, driving while drunk; capias ordered. Hassell G. Carter, seduction; continued for this term.

Push For More Reduction In Aid

Republicans Press Advantage Won In 1951 Foreign Economic Aid Program; Far East Outlays Still To Come Up

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Republicans clamoring for deep slashes in government spending today pressed an advantage won in a $250,000,000 cut in the 1951 foreign economic aid program.

Republican economy strength won its first real test yesterday when the house tentatively lopped a quarter-billion dollars from European recovery funds. The vote was 165 to 103.

This reduced the administration's Marshall plan program for western Europe from $2,950,000,000 to $2,700,000,000 in new authorizations.

Still to come under fire were aid to Korea and China, and requests for funds to launch President Truman's "point four" program of technical assistance to underdeveloped areas of the world.

All are parts of the administration's $3,372,450,000—less $250,000,000 now—program of all foreign economic aid during the 12 months starting July 1.

The foreign aid cut was only half of what the GOP economy drive was shooting for.

Before whacking $250,000,000 of Europe's Marshall plan aid, the house administered a 152 to 137 defeat to a GOP-backed drive to reduce it by $500,000,000.

As the house continued with the foreign aid bill today, Republican strategists still were far from agreement on the larger question of how to make substantial cuts in a pending $29,000,000,000 domestic appropriation bill.

Some of its members are calling for a cut of around $3,000,000,000 in the omnibus measure, already trimmed more than $1,000,000,000 by the appropriations committee.

Rep. Taber of New York, top Republican financial adviser in the house, told newsmen he believed the omnibus measure has at least three billion dollars of "fat" in it.

Republicans already are threatening a filibuster of sorts if the Democrats try to force the bill to a vote before Easter.

Census Figures Used As Basis In School Programs

Local Citizens Urged To Cooperate With Enumerators; Vital To Area

J. H. Rose, superintendent of the Greenville schools, today urged the people of Greenville and Pitt county to cooperate with the enumerators who are to begin April 1 taking the federal census in the county.

Rose pointed out that the census statistics are used by school authorities in making plans for the future of school systems, and by school teachers in connection with guiding their pupils in studies of the growth of the country.

"Information about the number of children of each year of age and the number of years of school completed is important in determining future school needs of the community," Rose stated. "It is especially important to know the number of children of pre-school age to anticipate the probable school enrollment in future years. This information enables school authorities to determine what additional school facilities and expansion in teacher staff requirements."

The city superintendent of schools said the distribution of aid to local schools is based upon the number of children in the school age group. He added, "It is obviously important to us, and citizens of other communities as well, that an accurate count of children of all ages be made in the census. Failure to obtain a full count might mean a real loss of dollars and cents to the community. Since the need for expanded school facilities is measured by census statistics, both school officials and parents have an obvious interest in the matter."

Arabian Nights Theme Planned For Class Ball

Preparations for the annual Convention Ball presented by the sophomore class of Greenville high school were being pushed with all speed today in an effort to make the Friday afternoon deadline for the affair which will get underway at 8 o'clock Friday night.

The theme of the dance this year will be centered around the Arabian Nights or a typical middle east town. As yet very little about the floor show has been revealed other than claims that it will probably be one of the best in many years.

The highlight will be crowning of the King and Queen, the prince and princess of the high school. These students will be selected by popular ballots cast by the students which they purchase for a cent each.

The money gained from the votes, which runs to a considerable amount, goes to defray the expense of the ball.

Music will be furnished by Bob Lee and his band.

PARKWAY CELEBRATION Galax, Va., March 29—(AP)—A celebration will be held near here about August 1 marking the opening of sections of the Blue Ridge Parkway between the James River in Virginia and Asheville, N.C.

Dr. Alfred Leland Crabb, professor emeritus of education at Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Pitt County unit of North Carolina Education Association Tuesday, April 4, in the dining hall of East Carolina Teachers College.

Dr. Crabb, a native Kentuckian, has distinguished himself not only as an educator but also as a short story writer and novelist. His six historical novels which are based on life in and around Nashville, Tennessee, during Civil War days include "Dinner at Belmont," "Supper at the Maxwell House," and "Breakfast at the Hermitage." His most recent book, "A Mockingbird Sang at Chickamauga," tells a fascinating story based on various phases of the Civil War in the area of Chickamauga, Georgia, and Chattanooga, Tennessee.

For many years he has been much sought after as a speaker and has delighted many audiences with his wit and humor.

Dr. Crabb will speak to several organizations while he is in Greenville. He and Mrs. Crabb will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Carl L. Adams and Dr. and Mrs. Beecher Flanagan during their visit here.

Senatorial Candidates Prepare Intensive Drive

Former Senator Robert R. Reynolds said he would stay in Asheville a few days answering correspondence and writing campaign literature.

Reynolds said he has mailed a communication to every doctor in the state informing them of his "vigorous" opposition to socialized medicine.

He planned to return to the field Sunday and make his headquarters in Charlotte for five days while campaigning in Mecklenburg and adjoining counties. He announced these speaking engagements: April 5, Albemarle Lions Club; April 13, Scotland Neck Kiwanis and Lions Club; and April 14, Dunn Rotary Club.

Greer Urges Steps To Safeguard Ideals

Pitt Businessmen And Women Hear UNC Executive Vice-President Call For Bolstering Private Enterprise

A group of about 50 Greenville and Pitt County businessmen and women at the city hall last night heard Dr. I. G. Greer, executive vice-president of the University of North Carolina plead for the preservation of Democratic ideals and free enterprise to safeguard the future of our nation. The occasion was a discussion of the proposed chair of retailing at the University sponsored by the North Carolina Merchants Association. Thompson Greenwood, of Raleigh, secretary of the state association, and Charles B. Bissette and J. H. Blount also took part in the program. The meeting was presided over by Dr. J. Whichard, president of the Greenville Merchants Association.

After the meeting was called to order by President Whichard, Charles B. Bissette stated the purpose of the meeting by giving some pertinent facts about the proposed retail courses at the University and introduced Dr. Greer.

"Declaring that Communism is only as strong as Democracy is weak," Dr. Greer urged the preservation of the free enterprise system in the interest of sound economics for America. He said that if this country falls economically we will be shackled and defeated and the isms will take over control.

Referring to the proposed Chair of Retailing at the University, Dr. Greer stated that each individual is endowed with different talents and different capabilities and that proper and intensive training in the use of these talents is essential to sound economics. "The present day world is growing more competitive and unless today's young people are properly trained to take over the duties of business, tomorrow there will be untold failures," the speaker said. He declared that there are weaknesses in the free enterprise system that should be corrected but that on the other hand no greater system of sound economics had been proposed by showing that in this country a person must work in all the other nations it takes many times that number of hours. The ultimate of the example was India where it is necessary to

Begin Inquiry Of Plane Explosion

Ramsayville, Ont., March 29—(AP)—The U.S. Air Force's top safety officer began an investigation today into the explosion and crash of the U.S. embassy plane in which American Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and four others were killed yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Victor E. Bertrandias, director of flying safety for the Air Force, took a leading role in the inquiry started by Canadian police and Royal Canadian Air Force officers shortly after the tragedy.

The chief witness is the sole survivor of the crash, M-Sgt. Gwynne A. Long of Vannoy, N.C., who parachuted from the flaming plane just before it blew up and plowed into a snow-covered field near here.

Suffering from shock and leg injuries, Sgt. Long told investigators last night that all aboard the plane strapped on parachutes after the right engine caught fire, but that the other passengers "got panicky and would not bail out." Newsmen have not been permitted to question him at the hospital where he is confined.

Among the four other victims was Alan C. Harrington, 20, son of Julian Harrington, the U.S. minister to Ottawa.

Preliminary investigations tended to discount early rumors that the plane may have been sabotaged. The rumors started in view of the fact that the weather was clear and the light good.

Sgt. Long said the rest of the passengers declared they would stay with the plane in hopes the pilot would be able to land it safely, despite the pilot's orders to bail out. Sgt. Long tried to push them out of the door, he said, but when they refused he jumped alone from 700 feet.

Try To Subpoena Loyalty Records

Claim Warships Routed 2 Fleets Of Communists

Report Most Of Armed Junks Sunk; Air Force Hits Remnant Of Invaders

Taipei, Formosa, March 29—(AP)—Chinese Nationalists said today their warships routed two fleets of nearly 100 well-armed Communist junks south of Shanghai, striking most of them.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek shouted a fiery denunciation of international communism. In his second speech in two days, the Nationalist president called upon China's youth "to assume a holy mission of crushing the Communist traitors, driving out the Russian aggressors, restoring the Chinese republic and rescuing our compatriots on the mainland."

Nationalist warplanes hunted down remnants of the crack Red troops who invaded Hainan Island Monday. The Nationalists said yesterday they shattered an invasion force of more than 4,000.

Semi-official dispatches said Nationalist warships engaged more than 70 heavily armed Red junks under the guns of shore batteries at Nanhwei, 22 miles southeast of Shanghai. Nationalist gunfire reportedly silenced several batteries and sank most of the junks.

Later in the day the warships sighted more than 30 Communist junks farther south and in a running battle sank 17, the dispatches said.

Air headquarters said Nationalist planes spotted two groups of more than 200 men each who had fought inland from the Hainan Island beaches. The planes attacked. A third and smaller group fought back with anti-aircraft fire.

Remnants of the Red invading force could be seeking to join Communist guerrillas.

The Nationalists said their landing one week at Chientao, 150 miles south of Shanghai in Chekiang Province, was made to deliver ammunition, medical supplies and communications equipment to guerrillas.

The landing force of 400 regulars was met by a force of 3,000 guerrillas, the Nationalists said. The guerrilla commander was identified as Gen. Li Wei-chang.

The report said the mission was accomplished, indicating the regulars had withdrawn.

Reported Ready For Evacuation

San Francisco, March 29—(AP)—President George L. Killian said today his American Lines had received a report that the Chinese Communist officials have agreed to evacuation of 1,600 foreign nationals from Shanghai.

The group includes about 400 Americans.

Drooling Willy

Los Angeles, March 29—(AP)—Willy the squirrel, who has been in the trees at Centinela Park, eating nuts the way nature intended.

Willy, a squirrel, grew a set of tusks which jutted up an inch or more from his lower jaw and interfered with his nut-cracking ability. Then the SPCA caught Willy in a net, filed off his tusks and turned him loose in the park again.

Willy just sat and drooled. Acres and acres of beautiful, beautiful nuts.

Immunity In Congress

How And Why Senator McCarthy Is Protected By Law Despite What He Says About Other People; When Is Immunity Void; One Occasion When Question Raised

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Senator McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, has pinned the label "Communist" or "pro-Communist" on a number of people.

Some of them already have bitterly denied his accusations. And some have told of threats against their lives by angry people who believed McCarthy's charges.

This question may have occurred to you: "If McCarthy's charges turn out to be untrue, can't these accused people sue him for damages? Or can a member of Congress say anything he pleases about anyone and get away with it?"

McCarthy can't be sued for anything he says about these people so long as he says it on the floor of Congress or before the subcommittee investigating his charges.

Summons Issued For Three Gov't Officials To Turn Over Secret Files; Action Taken Following Truman Refusal; Subpoena Move May Be Ignored

Washington, March 29—(AP)—The Senate's sergeant at arms set out today with a summons directing three high government officials to turn over secret loyalty files—a summons that they seem sure to ignore.

Secretary of State Acheson, Attorney General McGrath and Harry Mitchell, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, were named in subpoenas issued by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee and put in the hands of Joseph Duke, the sergeant at arms, for service.

The subcommittee, investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of Soviet espionage activities linked to the State Department, demanded the full loyalty files reaching back to January 1, 1940, for about 90 persons. The files sought are in the State Department, the Civil Service Loyalty Board and the FBI.

The subpoenas would require the personal presence of Acheson, McGrath and Mitchell—with the files—before the inquiry group next Tuesday.

The five-member committee took this action yesterday after President Truman said he a letter Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) that "the single most important element" in a fair and just loyalty program is "the preservation of all files in connection therewith in strictest confidence."

Nowhere in his letter did Mr. Truman say that the committee could not look at the files, a step McCarthy has contended must be taken if his charges are to be proved or disproved.

But seniors Mr. Truman gave for not consenting the records were such as to indicate he will instruct the three officials involved to refuse to comply with the Senate's order, if they have already.

The President said, however, that he has asked the 23-member Civil Service Loyalty Review Board to check over the nearly 90 cases and report to him. He will advise the committee about that report, he said.

This brought protests by Republicans that Mr. Truman was taking the McCarthy Communist investigation out of the hands of the Senate and turning it over to clerks.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, suggested Acheson, McGrath and Mitchell may turn the subpoenas over to the President. If Mr. Truman then refused to honor them, Wherry said the President ought to be cited for contempt by the Senate and the case fought out in the courts.

Tydings said that if the subpoenas are ignored, the committee will have to decide next week what to do. He took off for an arms conference at the Hague, leaving Senator Green (D-R.I.) in temporary command. The committee now is in recess.

The committee's decision might take the form of a recommendation to the Senate for a contempt citation for one or more of the officials involved, as a prelude to a court decision on the President's authority to withhold the files.

Bond Sale Goal Set $653 Million

Washington, March 29—(AP)—A national goal of $653,950,000 was announced today for the May 15-July 4 savings bond drive.

The announcement was made by Leon J. Markham, director of sales in the Treasury's Savings Bond Division.

Germany As An Ally

Churchill Repeats Controversial Thesis That Active Aid Of Western Germany Is Essential To Defense Of Europe; Viewpoint Challenged; Ultimate Moves

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill livened a debate in the House of Commons yesterday by reiterating his controversial thesis that the "active aid of Western Germany" is essential to the defense of Europe.

"I see no reason why the Germans should not aid in the defense of their own country and of Western Europe," declared Churchill. "There can be no hope of a united Europe without Germany and there is no hope for Germany except within a free and united Europe."

Of course that is strong mustard for most Europeans, who twice in a generation have seen the Reich fling its mighty armies into a war of wholesale conquest. The world swore after the first upheaval that never again would Germany be permitted to commit another aggression like that. Once more in '45 the world took a mighty oath to hamstring the Reich for good.

Small wonder that Churchill should encounter challenges to his viewpoint. Yet the old maestro, who has been right so many times on great issues, is stating a view widely held by objective observers.

I, for one, have kept reiterating that a strong and healthy Germany is essential to the rehabilitation of Europe. And a strong, right-minded Germany is vital to the peace of Europe.

Why? Well, because Germany—geographically and materially—is the keystone of continental Europe. Churchill's idea in no way challenges the general determination to prevent Germany from launching further aggression. It would be a crime to let her get out of hand again. But that can be achieved by allied military safeguards—the maintenance of a safe but reasonable control over a long period.

Hopes His Ruling Will Be Reversed

Endicott, N.Y., March 29—(AP)—Frank Soborn is village building inspector. He's also president of the Endicott Boys' Club, and the situation can be confusing.

As head of the boys' club, he endorsed plans to build an addition to the clubhouse.

As building inspector, he rejected the plans on the ground they violated zoning regulations.

Now, as boys' club president, he's asking the village zoning board to reverse the ruling he made as building inspector.

Owen Lattimore Is Flying Home

Karachi, Pakistan, March 29—(AP)—Owen Lattimore left by plane tonight for London en route to Washington to dispute charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that he is the top Russian spy in the United States.

He arrived last night from Kabul, Afghanistan, where he was studying how best United Nations technical assistance can help that country.

SAYS IT PAID Stockholm, March 29—(AP)—Swedish state police finally caught up today with Jell Bertil Nilsson, wanted for 100 burglaries in the past two years. Asked why he persisted in his wayward life, he reported: "I am a thief. I don't want any other profession. You see, crime does pay."

Mrs. Krausnick Gives Club Program

Tuesday, March 23, Mrs. R. R. Willmann entertained the Literature Department at her home. Mrs. M. N. Posey was assisting hostess. Juncos, fragrant little yellow narcissus, and pink camellias added color and spring freshness to the rooms.

At the short business meeting Mrs. Robert Lee Humber said that anyone interested in furthering overseas friendships should write to Letters Abroad, World Affairs Council of Philadelphia, 1411 Walnut Street, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, giving her approximate age, education, and chief interests and she would be sent a suitable correspondent.

Mrs. Humber also asked for twelve volunteers to help as hostesses for the Art Festival this week. Mrs. R. R. Willmann then discussed the full and interesting program for the four days of the Art Festival, beginning on March 29 at 7:30 p. m. at the Woman's Club. Then she introduced Mrs. Walter Krausnick.

Mrs. Krausnick talked on her "30 Summers in Nova Scotia." She illustrated her remarks with snapshots of the beautiful rugged scenery up there and with appropriate selections from Robert Frost's poems to help bring out the inner depths and satisfactions of such simple country living. Her own natural gaiety and humor added much to the charm of it all.

The Literature Department is happy to add four new members to its roll: Mrs. J. E. Phelps, Mrs. G. L. Winders, Mrs. Norman Garrison, and Mrs. Nan Moore.

The next meeting of the Literature Club will be on April 11 at the home of Mrs. J. L. Savage. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. K. F. Whiteley, Mrs. K. T. Putrell, and Mrs. W. W. Smiley.

Faculty Wives Hear Dr. Charles

Dr. Lucile Charles in the spirit of Universal World Understanding Through the Theatre, read to the Faculty Wives club a sobering play which discusses man's downfall, his cruelty, his stupidity, his envy, his unreasoned hatreds and greeds, but most of all, his stupidity, which is shown as the basic cause of his downfall. Miss Geraldine Weathers, president of the Teachers Playhouse, then explained the various media and techniques used to compensate the loss of Austin auditorium while it is being renovated, and introduced Miss Susan Smith, James Congleton, Claude D. West, Mark Moore and Carl Smith, who gave a delightful, laugh-provoking skit, bringing the evening to a pleasant close.

Cub Pack No. 19 Cub Pack No. 19 will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the basement of the First Presbyterian church. Each den is asked to have part on the program. There will be an important meeting of the den mothers and den dads after the program.

Man Convicted Man Cenvinced

Winston-Salem, March 29—(AP)—A grief-stricken husband has been convinced that his wife and three-year-old daughter drowned here Monday.

The bodies of Mrs. Mattie L. Trivette and her daughter, Nancy, were found in a pond. The coroner ruled the deaths were suicide and homicide. Another daughter, eight-year-old Sarah Elizabeth, found the bodies.

Sheriff Eddie Shore said the 28-year-old woman left a long letter to her husband. She stated "this is the only way."

Sheriff Shore read the letter to Trivette yesterday, convincing him his wife and polio-stricken daughter were dead.

The letter was dated March 24, the day after Mrs. D. P. Debusk of Winston-Salem is charged with drowning two of her children. Their bodies were found in a creek near where Mrs. Trivette and Nancy drowned.

Workmen Repair Yacht Damaged By Heavy Seas

Charleston, S. C., March 29—(AP)—Workmen repaired the disabled yacht Ingrid today after her 80-hour battle with high winds and heavy seas.

The Ingrid was towed into the Coast Guard base here yesterday by the cutter Travis.

Herbert Hansen, of Somers Point N. J., said clutches of both engines of the 80-foot ship went out Saturday when she was about 140 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla.

Hansen, his wife and a friend, William Lawson of Long Island, N. Y., were enroute from Miami to Morehead City, N. C.

Birthday Party For Big Gorilla

Chicago, March 29—(AP)—A birthday party will be held at the Lincoln Park Zoo tomorrow for Bushman, the giant gorilla and Chicago's biggest single drawing card.

The 6 foot, 3-inch, 550-pound Bushman was born 22 years ago and has been at the zoo for 20 years. He cost the zoo $3,500 and now is regarded by zoo officials as "priceless." He has been described as the most outstanding single animal of any zoo in the world and the most valuable. Some 3,000,000 persons visited the zoo last year—primarily to see Bushman.

Second Robbery Charlotte Hotels Within 25 Days

Charlotte, N. C., March 29—(AP)—The second hotel robbery within 25 days was chalked up here yesterday when $21,000 in cash was stolen.

Police Chief Frank N. Littlejohn said the money was taken from a briefcase while the owner, a New York textile broker, was away from his (Charlotte) hotel room.

Abner Golding said $16,000 of his money was in $100 bills; the remainder in $50's and $20's. Golding buys mill remnants and other textile stocks.

On March 3, $15,000 worth of sample rings was taken from another hotel (Selwyn) room. The jewels were in the room of George K. Ware of Collingwood, N. J.

Planning Operation Of Hospital Coffee Shop

The coffee shop which will be operated at the Pitt County Memorial hospital by the Greenville Service League will be staffed by one full time paid worker and volunteer workers of the Service League, according to an announcement by Mrs. James T. Little, president of the organization.

Mrs. Little said the coffee shop at the hospital will serve coffee, soft drinks, sandwiches, light lunches, and will have radios for rent to patients and will sell small gift items. All the profit from the shop, she said, will be turned back to the hospital through making tray favors for the patients, decorating the hospital for special occasions, room furnishings, parties for members of the hospital staff or through the Laughinghouse Bed Fund which provides hospitalization for charity patients.

C. Stuart Carr, chairman of the board of trustees of the hospital, said, "We feel it is a very generous offer by the Greenville Service League to take over the operation of the shop. We feel the shop will be an asset to the hospital itself."

In 1938 the Laughinghouse hospital bed fund was established by the Service League in memory of Dr. Charles O'Hagan Laughinghouse, and is used for charity patients only. Since the fund was established, Mrs. Little said, more than $7,000 has been spent from the Laughinghouse bed fund.

During the years of the recent war members of the Service League rolled bandages for the hospital, and are continuing to roll bandages for the Pitt General hospital each week. Also during the past year the league has been making tray favors for hospital patients on special occasions.

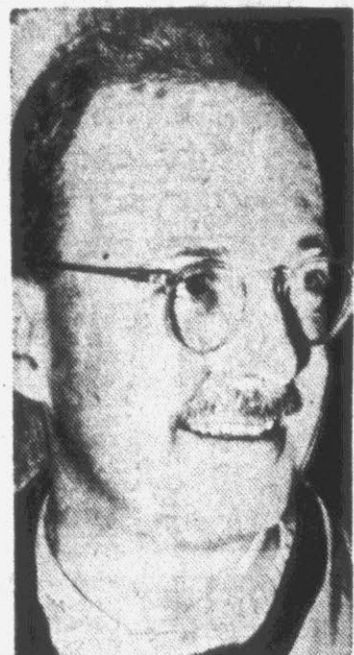

University Women Sponsor Scholarship

The American Association of University Women met at the home of Mrs. J. E. Winslow on Monday, March 27. The president, Miss Nell Stallings, presided over a brief business session, after which Miss Frances Wahl gave a very beautiful tribute to Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton, a former member of the organization.

Mrs. Howard Mims gave the report of the nominating committee and it was accepted by the branch. Mrs. W. E. Marshall is to be the new president and Miss Alice Wooten will be the new secretary next year.

The group voted to make its main project, the building of a scholarship fund for sending an ECTO student abroad to study. Miss Marguerite Austin reported that the amount of $176.95 was raised in the games tournament held in February. This scholarship fund for a local student is the special project of the Greenville Branch, which also contributes to the A. A. U. W. International Fellowship grants every year. Several contributions to this special fund have been made by other local organizations.

The speaker for the evening was Mr. Robert Lee Humber. He gave a splendid picture of the functioning of the Marshall Plan in Western Europe, and explained the political significance of the Council of Western Europe which had its first meeting last summer. The hostesses, Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. D. S. Spain, Jr., Mrs. Bill Dole, Miss Nell Stallings and Miss Christine Johnston, served a sweet course with coffee and a social hour followed.

Owen J. Lattimore (above) has been named by Republican Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin as Russia's top spy in the United States. Lattimore denied the accusation as "pure moonshine." An expert on Far Eastern affairs, he is now in Afghanistan on a mission for the United Nations. (AP Wirephoto).

Czech Govn't Will Expel Last AP Newsmen

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 29—(AP)—The Czechoslovak government today ordered the expulsion of the last American correspondent of the Associated Press remaining in this country.

It refused to renew the press credentials of Nathan Polowetzky, which expire on March 31. Polowetzky, who has been the lone American Associated Press correspondent here since Chief of Bureau Richard Kasischke was expelled last January, was given until April 8 to leave Czechoslovakia.

Bedrich Runge, deputy press chief of the foreign ministry, gave "unobjective reporting" as the reason for the expulsion.

Strength FOR THE DAY

EMOTIONAL INSTABILITY
Max has learned how to dominate his universe; now he has to learn how to dominate his emotions.

There is a school of thought today which holds that our present emotional instability arises from the fact that people in this age are frustrated. One feels like asking why are people frustrated. Certainly they have more liberty and more things to occupy their attention than ever before.

The truth of the matter is that we are not frustrated but emotionally depleted by too much speed, too much work, too constant excitement, sedentary occupations, too many cocktails, and too little rest.

Accordingly we have come to a state where we are going so fast emotionally—almost at supersonic speed—that we have no time to reflect upon the issues of life, to catch up the loose ends. Perhaps modern life has only revealed our emotional instability, but emotionally unstable we certainly are.

The individual who learns how to control his emotions learns how to control his life. That nation in which the emotions of its people are kept in balance is headed for world service. Keep your eyes on China.

SNARLED TRAFFIC ON GREENVILLE'S STREETS

It was some months ago that the Greenville Board of Aldermen discussed the matter of traffic on the streets of the city, and decided something should be done about the congested condition.

Actual steps to alleviate the condition, however, were postponed until this spring after a survey is to be made by traffic experts and their recommendations are submitted to the board.

In the meantime, however, there continues an almost perpetual snarl of traffic in the business section of Greenville, which in many instances could be unsnarled were there a policeman at the right place at the proper time to keep the traffic moving.

For the most part, it seems the principal difficulty of the motorist in the Greenville's business section arises because large trucks and vans are allowed to double park along the street at any time, and usually take their time about tending to their business before they move. These road blocks which are daily evident in Greenville are traffic hazards both to the motorists and to the pedestrians, and steps should be taken to remove these hazards.

Another traffic problem in the city seems to arise, especially on Saturday, when lines of automobiles more than a block long are formed waiting for stop lights. On many occasions these long lines of cars have blocked the cross streets as well as Evans Street, and have brought traffic to a virtual standstill for minutes at a time.

It seems to the Reflector that the problem of long lines of autos could be overcome by having policemen direct traffic at strategic points when traffic is heavy instead of relying on the stop lights at these points. A good traffic policeman could keep the traffic moving at a steadier pace and thereby help avoid some of the undue congestion.

The Reflector agrees with the board of aldermen that the traffic situation in Greenville should be studied by experts. But also the Reflector feels that some temporary steps should be taken immediately to alleviate the traffic congestion. Greenville has at the present time.

190 DOGWOODS IS A GOOD START

If you look at it one way, 190 dogwood trees won't go a great way toward beautifying a town; but when you consider the work and effort of a few young men, the planting of 190 trees is a very respectable accomplishment.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce project was a good one. The Reflector hopes it will be continued next fall as some of the spokesmen have indicated is being considered.

Nice homes, buildings and paved streets help to make a town "serviceable," but flowers and blossoming trees make it a place in which you want to live.

EISENHOWER'S OPINION IS TRUSTED

A good indication of the high esteem in which General Dwight Eisenhower is held came to light with yesterday's admission of congressional economy advocates that if Eisenhower thought the Defense Department should have more money, the Defense Department would get it.

It is highly doubtful if there is another man in America who would gain such a response from the hard-bitten foes of governmental over-spending.

NEWS—Not much real news developed at the governor's latest press conference, but some interesting history and views were brought to light. Practically the entire time was devoted to the current senatorial campaign. One statement by Governor Scott might be classed as news; at least, it has not been published before although it happened more than a year ago. That was his explanation that one reason for his appointing Frank Graham to the senate was that the "battle among friends of Fred Royster. William Umstead and Capus Wayne became so vicious he was forced to go on the 'outside' to find an ac-

Ready-Made Family

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—The Korean sense of humor ranks with the world's keenest. Laughter is one of the country's most prevalent sounds. The Korean humor crops out spontaneously in conversation and subtly in jokes.

Dr. Robert T. Oliver, head of the speech department of Pennsylvania State College, and unofficial consultant to the Korean government, cites some examples gleaned from visits to the country and close friendship with the people.

It was Kim Eul-Han, president of the Korean Cultural Association, who told him the best mother-in-law story he has ever heard. "A husband and wife," he said, "who were always quarreling about one another's relatives were sitting quietly in their home one evening when the husband took his long pipe from his mouth and said thoughtfully: 'Wife, I have decided to say something good about your relatives.'"

"Yes?" his wife asked expectantly. "Yes indeed," he replied soberly, "I have decided that I like your mother-in-law better than my mother-in-law."

Dr. Oliver, who heads the Washington Bureau of the Korean Pacific Press, has made two visits to Korea. The first was in the summer of 1946, when he went over as guest lecturer at the University of Korea. The most recent was last spring, when he made a survey of conditions in the country.

One day last spring he was jeep-jolting over a rough mountain road, approaching the Hamhang Coal Mine, just south of the Iron Curtain that separates Soviet-controlled from free Korea. "Clinging to the seat beside me was Tai Won San, 35-year-old superintendent of the mine," Dr. Oliver relates. "Between jolts, my eye was caught by a slash across the hillside high above us. It looked as if someone had tried to cut a road on a gradient so steep it simply didn't make sense. I put the bee on Tai.

"Oh, that!" he replied with disarming gravity. "We had a foreign road adviser sent in to help us when we first opened the mine. One day we let him take the bulldozer and do just as he pleased with it. He started to put the road up there." "Then," says Dr. Oliver, "with imperturbable seriousness, denied by a gleam in his eyes, Tai added, 'but my men learned from how to build roads, and we cut the grade down here, where the trucks could go.'"

Resuming Quest For Noah's Ark

Greensboro, March 28—(AP)—A 62-year-old globe-trotter bible teacher said yesterday he will return to Turkey to comb Mt. Ararat for petrified remains of Noah's Ark.

Dr. A. J. Smith, again ex-dean of Greensboro's People's Bible school announced that a new expedition to the near east would leave this spring—at least by June.

Resumed will be a quest started in 1949 abandoned when approaching snows and lack of water drove Smith and his band of Americans from the 16,916-foot peak.

The elderly explorer believes the vessel which saved Noah and his family from the deluge rests partially preserved high on a rocky crag in Eastern Turkey.

Requests for a government permit to enter Turkey's cautiously guarded inner military zones have already been forwarded to Ankara, Dr. Smith said. Papers issued last year have expired.

A 12-man party of Americans will beat the Turkish bush for traces of the ark this time, said Dr. Smith. Five went in 1949. The Greensboro religious educator will be the only 1950 repeated.

Zanzibar Cloves In Second Place

ZANZIBAR—(AP)—Cloves and clove oil took a secondary spot in Zanzibar's trade last year for the first time in the island's history. The island off the east African coast has been the world center for cloves for centuries.

Cocunut products took the number one position in 1949 in a total export trade of nearly $6,000,000.

U.S. Attorney Of Eastern N.C.

Key West, Fla., March 28—(AP)—Nomination of John H. Manning of Raleigh, N.C., as U.S. attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina was signed yesterday by President Truman.

It will be sent to the Senate for confirmation. The nomination is for a second four-year term for Manning.

Somebody Told Me..

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

By no means do I think the Pitt County ABC stores will have to go out of business, but I do know of 23 steady customers that they have lost. These 23 people weren't average customers—they bought their whiskey in bigger quantities and more regularly than the average.

By now you should know that I'm talking about the members of the Pitt County chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous, the organization that is most successful in curing chronic drinkers.

Last night was family night for the local group, which meets every Tuesday at eight o'clock. But more important, last night's meeting was the first in the Pitt County Club room. For the past two weeks members of the group have spent every spare minute renovating the room over Drum's Hatching on West Fifth Street. The results are amazing: bright green walls, a streamlined speaker's rostrum, a bulletin board, framed inscriptions of AA literature, and a coffee bar. There are four circles painted on the bar in colors: white, blue, brown and ceptable appointee." (A few weeks ago the governor said Mrs. Scott was largely responsible for the Graham appointment). It was known that the three men mentioned had numerous endorsements for the post, along with some two dozen others, but observers on the scene at the time failed to discover any evidence of a "vicious battle."

ISSUES—The governor by implication admitted he is an important issue in the senatorial campaign. When the friendly News and Observer reporter asked what he considered the issues of the campaign, Governor Scott replied he thought the main issue was not to let the governor get away with any more than he had to. Asked by another reporter if that did not imply that the governor was trying to get away with something, Governor Scott said he didn't think so, that it was the Lord who removed the elected senator and made it necessary for the governor to make an appointment. Other issues, which apparently Governor Scott regarded as less significant, include stands on international relations and humanitarianism as contrasted with demands of vested interests.

HUMANITARIAN—He said Senator Graham's record, not just for the past year, but for many years, had proved him to be an outstanding humanitarian. He added that the senator's program fit right in with the farm program. Asked to amplify that he said the senator helped to get through congress the bill providing a loan fund for telephone expansion.

OPONENTS—The governor added that Senator Graham's opponents did not help with these projects, in fact he thought they were "on the other side," and did not want the people to have representation. Asked again if the opponents and their friends weren't people, too, the governor said "just a segment." He added that every United States senator from North Carolina in many years had been a corporation lawyer. (That might be news to Bob Reynolds.)

ELECTIONS—Then came up discussion of the state board of elections action and reversal, and possible effect upon the primary vote. The governor said he thought it would all blow over in a few days. Asked if that meant the SBI investigation would be called off or its results not made public, the governor said Attorney General Harry McMullan had advised him SBI reports cannot be made public—but that he (the governor) would hold nothing back for political reasons. Further questioning brought out the information that brought to the governor before the elections board met and asked that nothing be done, but if any action were taken that it be according to law. (Incidentally, latest reports from the western counties affected

Real Estate Is Raining Down On Carolina City

Greensboro, March 29—(AP)—It isn't raining just rain, it's raining real estate too.

That's right, real estate—from the drought areas of Kansas, Missouri, or Texas.

A lot of folks who parked their cars on the street overnight found muddy windshields this morning. One man swore it had rained mud.

At the weather station, observers had the explanation. Topsoil dust from the Midwest covered an area from Louisiana to Florida and northward along the eastern coast. In Georgia, the dust was especially heavy.

By the time the dust clouds reached this section they had thinned somewhat. But late yesterday afternoon and early yesterday evening a lot of people saw that the skies were hazy. Some of the dust—none could tell how much—remained today.

Whether the dust settled on wind-

Traveling 'Ver' Turns Up Again

Cleveland, March 29—(AP)—A bearded traveler, who made a brief appearance at hospitals in the Carolinas, apparently has turned up in Cleveland.

The circumstances are similar to those which occurred at Charlotte and Winston-Salem in North Carolina and Charleston, S. C.

"Samuel Bennett" was found lying on a bus station platform here. He was taken to a hospital where he said he was a 102-year-old Civil War veteran.

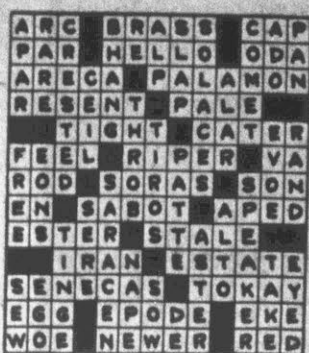

He told of owning a vast ranch in Montana and serving with the Union troops in the Civil War. Police said he's more likely in his 70's and has a strong liking for hospital beds and food.

A man answering the description had similar collapsing spells in the Carolinas cities, obtaining free hospital accommodations in each place.

Take No Chances

Vienna, Austria, March 29—(AP)—Two armed secret police now ride in all Czech airliners to prevent further escape flights to the west, it was reliably reported here today.

The new order was put into effect immediately after three planes left their regular courses and landed near Munich last week. It applies to local as well as international flights.

It was also reported that all passengers are closely searched for arms before being allowed to enter the planes.

Josephus Parker Seeking Release In Federal Court

Richmond, Va., March 29—(AP)—An Eagle Springs, N.C., wine manufacturer is seeking his release from the federal reformatory in Petersburg.

Joseph D. Parker filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in federal district court here yesterday. He said his five year sentence on charges of attempting to evade income taxes is void because he was not present throughout his trial.

Parker said he was injured in an auto accident the morning of his trial in Greensboro, N.C. He was taken to a hospital and several witnesses testified during his absence, he asserted.

Parker asks that the jury verdict and sentence be declared null and that he be discharged from further prosecution.

Top Priority Is Revealed Given H-Bomb Project

South Hadley, Mass., March 29—(AP)—Development of the hydrogen bomb has been given top priority by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Sumner T. Pike, acting chairman of the commission, made the disclosure in a Mount Holyoke College address last night.

Although he did not specifically mention the hydrogen bomb, Pike said: "We are doing some reshuffling of the projects and the personnel in the whole atomic energy program in order to bring the utmost weight to bear on the specific weapons development work which the President has recently directed us to pursue."

His reference to the specific work which the President directed, the commission to pursue made it clear Pike meant the H-bomb. The President announced some time ago that he told the commission to go to work on the bomb.

Pike also said that work is being speeded on development of an atomic engine for naval vessels.

Before the year ends, he said, an atomic reactor "looking forward eventually to a power plant for naval vessel propulsion" may be under construction in Idaho.

A reactor was described by Pike as an "experimental machine whose operation will give the scientific and engineering people experience from which they can devise improvements eventually leading the way to useful power."

Circus Elephant Executed Today

Sarasota, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Dolly, the circus elephant, was executed at dawn today.

The animal was put to death with cyanide for killing five-year-old Edward Schooley while he was feeding her peanuts last Sunday.

Why the old weary-looking animal suddenly grabbed the child with her trunk and stepped on his head is a mystery.

The decision to execute her was made at the last minute. John Ringling North, circus vice president, had said a few hours earlier that a deluge of protests by telephone, telegram and letter had been received at winter quarters here, which left officials undecided about carrying out the execution originally scheduled for 10 a.m.

Only a bare announcement was made by North after the death. He said the elephant had been taken to a pit, given the cyanide at 5 a.m. and buried after she had crumpled in death.

Dolly was not a performing elephant; she was a work animal.

Raise Fare For Traveling Camel

New York—(AP)—Transportation costs have gone up for everybody—including camels and elephants commuting on the Weehawken Ferry. This ruling was announced by the interstate commerce commission recently.

Officials of the West Shore Ferry Line which traverses the Hudson River between Weehawken, N. J. and New York City could remember only one time in recent years when an uncrated animal crossed in one of their boats. That was about a dozen years ago when a man was exhibiting an elephant in New York. He commuted every morning with the animal and returned every evening. This continued for two weeks but neither the man nor the elephant has been seen on the Weehawken Ferry since.

The I. C. C. decided to prepare against a return, however. It increased the cost of ferrying elephants, camels and other "uncrated wild animals" to 42nd street from $1.40 to $2.80 per animal.

Talk On Paintings Now Exhibited On Mar. 30

Ben F. Williams, Assistant Director, State Art Gallery, will give a gallery talk at the Sheppard Memorial Gallery on Thursday afternoon, March 30, at 3:30 p.m. Mr. Williams will discuss the current exhibit of paintings by John Chapman Lewis, Washington, D.C. artist who was recently referred to as "The Washington artist who has made the most spectacular rise in achievement and recognition within the year." Mr. Lewis has won a number of awards and recognitions and has been included in each exhibition of the Pepsi Cola Paintings of the Year, the Corcoran 1949 Biennial, the N.C. Artists' Annual, and a group show of American painters in Rome, Italy.

A native of North Carolina, Ben F. Williams is an artist in his own right. He has had one-man shows at the Mint Museum of Arts in Charlotte, Person Hall Gallery, the State Art Gallery, Weatherspoon Gallery at Woman's College in Greensboro and at Durham in North Carolina. He has been included in group shows at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, the Corcoran and the National Museum of Art in Atlanta and at the Jacques Seligman Galleries in New York City. Among his awards have been a first prize in the 1944 Washington Art Fair, the Corcoran Memorial Award in 1945, a purchase award in the 1947 N.C. Artists' Exhibition at the State Art Gallery, the $500.00 purchase award in the 1948 Southeastern Art Competition at the High Museum in Atlanta, the first prize in the 1949 N.C. Federation of Women's Clubs exhibition in Goldsboro. He is represented in the collections of the N.C. State Art Society, the High Museum of Art, Atlanta and private collections.

Also included in the current exhibit is a painting of Flora MacDonald by the historical and portrait painter, Joseph Highmore, prominent artist of the 18th century. Another painting "The Carpenter" by Kenneth Ewert, prominent artist who recently had a one man show in the Kraushaar Galleries, New York City will be of interest to local art lovers. A painting by William M. Chase shown in the Chase centennial exhibition in Indianapolis, Indiana in 1949 will also be on exhibit. William M. Chase has been ranked as one of the most distinguished American painters and the one having the greatest influence on our younger artists at the turn of the century. He was typically American and through his work and other activities did a great deal to create a sound appreciation of American native arts.

Following Mr. Williams' gallery talk, a showing of "Mediterranean Cruise," a feature length color travelogue with recorded commentary and transcribed musical background will be shown by Lt. Colonel Warren G. Davis of Greenville. "Mediterranean Cruise" was photographed by the Warren G. Davis family during an extensive cruise on the Mediterranean in 1948. Beginning at Genoa, Italy, the cruise visits Naples, Pompeii, Sicily, Malta and Egypt. Narration and recording is by Col. Davis.

Mrs. J. H. B. Moore of Greenville will introduce the afternoon's program.

Driver Escapes Unharmed When Truck Overturns

Highway Patrolman D. E. Perry of Bethel reported a truck driver escaped injury early yesterday when the truck he was operating skidded on a wet road and overturned.

Patrolman Perry identified the driver of the vehicle as Lytle Coldwell Mason, 42, of New Bern. The patrolman said the accident occurred on highway 11 about one-half mile north of Bethel about 8:15 yesterday morning. He said the truck skidded on the wet highway, went into a ditch and turned over. No charges will be brought in the accident, Perry said.

The patrolman said the truck was owned by Gay Distributing Company of New Bern, and an estimated damage to the vehicle at $150.

Passenger Hurt In Auto Crash Outside Bethel

State Highway Patrolman R. C. Holt reported today one person suffered minor injuries and two cars were considerably damaged in an accident yesterday afternoon about one-half mile from Bethel on N.C. 11.

A car operated by Oia Nell Edmondson, of Bethel, was taking a curve when the right front wheel ran off the highway causing the car to skid. The driver said she applied her brakes slightly and the car swerved into an oncoming car driven by Harvey Davenport of Washington.

Betty Sue Eason, a passenger in the Edmondson car, received minor head injuries and bruises. "Bad weather conditions were described by Holt as being a factor in the accident."

Hog Market

Raleigh, March 29 — (AP) — (NCDA)—Hog prices weaker. $14.75 at Rocky Mount. $14.25 at Tarboro, Wilson, Goldsboro, Robersonville, Greenville, Washington, and Kinston. Richmond slightly weaker at $14.75.

Fourth Graders Practicing For Festival

Pupils of the West Greenville school fourth grades are pictured as they practiced for the Folk Dance Festival, which the Greenville elementary schools are presenting Friday night, March 31, at Wright auditorium. The students shown in the above photo will do a number entitled "Cahobogor," a Hungarian Folk Dance. All fourth grades in the elementary school system will take part with the combined glee clubs of the schools accompanying them. (Reflector staff photo by Roy Hardee).

Air Patrol Meet

An important meeting of the senior members of the Civilian Air Force group will be held at the Greenville airport tonight at 7:15. The meeting will be instructional in various ways. The Greenville wing now has about 20 members.

Persons eligible to become Civilian Air Force cadets are boys and girls from 15 to 17 years old. The public is invited to attend the meeting at the airport tonight.

Some important information will be given the cadets and others who attend tonight's meeting.

Rev. Russell To Address Jaycees

Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, will speak tomorrow night to members of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce on "Brotherhood."

Bancroft Moseley, president of the club, said the regular meeting of the organization will be held at 6:30 at the Olde Towne Inn. There are several routine business matters which will be presented to the club during the business session of the meeting, he said.

Housing Units For Goldsboro

Washington, March 29 — (AP) — The Public Housing Administration today assigned 275 units of low-rent housing to Goldsboro, N.C.

The units are to be built in one year.

Local housing authorities have asked for a $92,500 loan to pay for planning.

The loan has yet to be approved by President Truman. Under this program, the federal agency also will help finance construction if private financing is unavailable.

Wisconsin Boy, costing only $6,200 in the yearling auction ring, won $98,575 in 1949, his two-year-old season.

Children's Art Being Exhibited

By CHESTER WALSH
A distinctive feature of Greenville's 15th annual art festival which opened today is the art displays at the National Guard Armory here today and through Saturday until 2 p.m. Art exhibits of children of the city schools and several county schools are on display. The pictures represent the talent and work of children from the below-teen age and the teen age period. In addition, there is on display at the armory a lot of sculpture.

The display of the handicraft of school children at the National Guard Armory in Greenville is wonderful. It merits the inspection of art lovers and others.

James A. Walker, art counselor for the Training School of East Carolina Teachers College and the Greenville city schools, is a graduate of Columbia University, New York City. He is a native of Michigan.

Walker, in the hurry of hanging the various art pieces, manifested a profound interest in his work.

The judges of the school children's art work will be Dora Ciolot and Frances Neel, of the East Carolina Teachers College art department.

Another feature of the school children's exhibits of art work at the Greenville Woman's Club's annual art festival is the display of pictures and drawings by children of the Negro public schools. The schools are Eppes High School, Eppes Elementary School, Fleming Street Elementary School, Miss S. I. Sautter, principal, and Meadowbrook Elementary School, Mrs. F. P. Jackson, principal. Prof. W. H. Davenport is supervising principal of the schools.

The art work displayed by the Negro children at the armory is a cross section of the work done in connection and under direction with Mrs. M. B. Allen (nee Madge Barnes of Camden, N.J.). The talented art instructor describes the work of "my children" as "work just for fun" for child interest as well as correlation of talents with class programs.

The display at the armory will be open Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Churchill's Talk Said Premature

Washington, March 29 — (AP) — American officials today labeled as "entirely premature" Winston Churchill's suggestion that German soldiers be permitted to serve with allied armies.

Churchill, wartime British Prime Minister, proposed this in a speech to the House of Commons yesterday. He suggested it is a means of allowing western Germany to contribute to the defence of western Europe.

"One well informed American official said the United States believes west Germany must make considerable more progress politically before any thought is given to using German manpower in allied defense plans.

"To do otherwise," he said, "would be to put the cart before the horse.

Ideas similar to those advanced by Churchill have been heard before, but officials said that at this time they are betting absolutely no consideration by the United States government.

The possibility of using German manpower in allied military units appeals to some western military officers who think strictly in terms of how best to defend west Europe against possible aggression.

American officials believe this attitude to be only natural but pointed out the Generals themselves acknowledged that political factors make this impossible now.

The most recent statement of American policy toward German rearmament was made by high commissioner John J. McCloy in a speech at Stuttgart, Germany, February 6, he said:

"Germany cannot be allowed to develop political conditions or a military status which would threaten other nations or the peace of the world. That means there will be no German army or air force.

"German security will best be protected by German participation in a closely-knit western European community.

Of the 134 horses eligible for the Ke. city Derby this year, 61 are still rickety in the ownership of the people who bred and raised them.

Mr. Robert (Bob) Daniels died Saturday, March 26, in Johns Hopkins hospital after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held from Sycamore Chapel Thursday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. Leroy Perkins will officiate.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Maggie Daniels; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Streeter and Mrs. Lizzie Lanier; two brothers, Mack Daniels and James Daniels.

Burial will be in Jones cemetery.

work 240 hours to procure enough to purchase one pair of shoes. "You cannot help the poor by trying to make the rich poorer," he declared. "Every individual should have an opportunity to help himself or herself, but neither the government nor any individual should do for another individual those things that he can do for himself," he concluded.

Following Dr. Greer's address Judson H. Blount introduced Mr. Greenwood who explained the proposed Chair of Retailing in detail. He pointed out the need for greater training for those who expect to enter the retail business either as operators or employees and declared that businessmen, through contributions to the foundation, would in the future be able to procure better trained employees more cheaply than they could train them in the individual stores. "There are already 38 such courses being given in schools and universities of other states and from all reports they are proving of great benefit," he said. He pointed out that at present many young people from this state that go to outside institutions for such training are accepting positions in other states and in the end North Carolina is the loser.

The $200,000 that the state association is attempting to raise will be turned over to the Business Foundation for investment, he said, and the income therefrom will insure the permanency of the plan. He said that under this arrangement a board of 15 persons representing the state Merchants' Association would work with the University in planning the courses that would result to the best interests of the trainees and the businesses that put their money into the pro-

Warm Yesterday

Summer weather continued to prevail in the Greenville area. The highest temperature recorded yesterday was 72 degrees. Lowest last night was 55. The temperature at 8 a.m. today was 57 degrees.

Less than one-half an inch of rain fell here during the past 24 hours. Rainfall in the area was less than 5/8 inches during the first three months of this year.

Cars Collided, Driver Arrested

Greenville Highway Patrolmen were kept on the go in the Greenville area last night as they answered their fourth highway accident call about 11:30 on the Belvoir highway some six miles from Greenville.

A car operated by William H. Staton, colored, on Winterville Rt. 1, collided with a car being driven by William Alex Dunn, of Rt. 4 Greenville.

Both of the cars were heavily damaged. Investigating officers Dick Chadwick and Cpl. John Laws reported.

Dunn was arrested on a careless and reckless driving charge.

Auto Wreck On Pactolus Road

Two cars were involved in an accident on the Pactolus highway about 6:30 last night when a car operated by George T. Brooks, Route 5, Greenville, attempted to make a left turn and was rammed by another car.

Brooks' car was struck by a car going in the same direction driven by Francis Leo Edens, of South Hill, Va., who attempted to pass Brooks as he made the turn.

Patrolman Dick Chadwick and Cpl. John Laws estimated damages to the two cars as being around $400. The officers stated that the investigation of the accident is not complete.

Germany As . . .

time advocate of a united Europe—told Commons that Britain and France could combine and bring Germany to equal rank and "lasting association with them." He added:

"These three countries, forgetting present feuds and horrible deeds and tragedies of the past, can make the core or nucleus upon which all the other civilized democracies of Europe can one day rally and combine."

Of course the fruition of this idea is being retarded by the present separation of Germany into two parts—one controlled by Red Russia and the other by the three western allies. How long that division will last is on the knees of the gods.

While the three western areas have consolidated, Russia is straining every nerve to communize Eastern Germany and also is reaching into the Western zones.

However, some day—perhaps in the distant future—the two parts of Germany will come together again—or at least I so believe. The Germans are a clannish folk. You can't keep them apart indefinitely.

Meantime Western Germany can be groomed for that "lasting association" with Britain and France of which Churchill speaks and for a place in a united Europe.

Pitt County's quota of the state fund has been set at $3,300 and Mr. Greenwood urged that local businessmen get behind the movement at once in order that the plan might be put into effect this coming fall.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Greenwood answered questions from persons present.

Following his talk many of those present expressed approval of the plan and declared they would give it their financial support and would aid in presenting the matter to others who were unable to attend the meeting.

Persons from outside Greenville in attendance included representatives from Grifton, Ayden, Farmville and other parts of the county.

Immunity In . . .

McCarthy answered: "I will not say anything on the senate floor which I will not say off the senate floor. On the day when I take advantage of the security we have on the senate floor, on that day I will resign from the senate."

McCarthy has made no charges—with one notable exception to be explained in a moment—where he was not clearly protected by congressional immunity.

And yesterday Haldore Hanson of the state department—McCarthy said Hanson wants to "communize the world"—challenged McCarthy to make the same accusation in some place where he can't protect himself from a damage suit by congressional immunity.

Now it remains to be seen whether McCarthy will accept Hanson's challenge. The one notable exception mentioned above—that is one instance where there's a question whether McCarthy was protected by congressional immunity—came about this way:

In his office—not on the floor of the senate and not before a committee—he told newsmen that one individual connected with the state department was the "top Soviet espionage agent in the United States."

And—he told the newsmen the man's name.

Subsequently, this man's name was released in the public press. Then a law firm, consulted by the accused man's wife, made public a letter which it sent to McCarthy. The letter said:

The firm was giving McCarthy a chance to retract his charges but it added that, as a matter of law, retraction wouldn't save him from a court suit if the accused man wishes to take action against him.

It might seem from what's been said here that a member of congress has no immunity if he speaks off the floor of congress or outside a committee. That's not necessarily so.

A court might rule that anything a member of congress says while inside the walls of congress—and a congressman's office is inside the walls—carries immunity with it.

700 Employees Of Enka Plant Go Out On Strike

Morristown, Tenn., March 29—(AP)—About 700 employees of the Lowland plant of the American Enka Corporation stayed away from their jobs today. They struck yesterday following breakdown of negotiations for a new contract. The workers are members of CIO Textile Workers local 1730. Administrative and Chemical division employees were not affected. The Corporation, which produces Rayon, including fiber for automobile tires, has a plant in Asheville, N. C., which is organized by the A. F. L. Suggests Crops On Airports To Provide Profit

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Delbert A. Fuhrman, Utah aeronautics director, says low-growing crops like grain, alfalfa, legumes and grass might be profitable on many airfields. "Some farmed fields might be better to land on than they are in their natural state," he says.

"We can take a lesson from the Flying Farmers in the United States. Many have strips at their landing fields in growing crops. Their safety record is excellent." Besides the cash income from the crops, Fuhrman says, the airports would benefit in weed and mosquito control. He adds that if the land isn't fertile enough to support crops, grass could be grown and erosion reduced.

Springs, some of them grown in most of them suitable only for instrument bearings, are mined in Montana.

Much Time And Money Required On Civil Defense

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Ten years and $300,000,000 probably would be needed to make the United States as nearly safe as possible from atomic attack.

The government's director of civilian mobilization, Dr. Paul J. Larsen, says that's what it would take to provide "absolute security." And in the end, he adds, we'd wind up with a "garrison state."

Even if we were willing to give up democracy for security, we don't have the money. And we don't know whether we have the time.

Yes something must be done—because a military machine requires an industrial machine to keep it going, and an industrial machine requires civilians to man it.

A start on civilian defense has been made, although the program isn't anywhere near as big or active as a lot of people would like.

The Defense Department is recruiting 150,000 volunteer airplane spotters. They will be trained, then put on call in case of war.

The Department also is working on a radar screen, putting more jet fighters in the northwestern states and strengthening anti-aircraft defenses around the Hanford, Wash., atomic plant. It plans to build three long-range radio listening posts capable of listening in on enemy battle orders at a distance of perhaps 2,000 miles.

Just this week courses were begun for training doctors in treating radiation injuries to civilians. Medical teachers also are taking the one-week courses set up by the Atomic Energy Commission at seven laboratories and universities.

They are expected to train other doctors and teachers, who will then pass the training on.

The AEC has set up similar five-week courses to instruct key men in detecting and measuring radiation in an area that has been atom bombed.

More training courses are planned, as in how to deal with chemical or germ warfare.

To give cities and states some definite tips on civil defense in the atomic age, the government has published several booklets and pamphlets. More are in the works. Anybody can buy them from the Government Printing Office in Washington for 10 or 15 cents.

One of them goes into that same question of radiation and other medical aspects of atomic weapons.

Another tackles damage to buildings and utilities and supplies ideas on the best kind of shelters.

Then there is one on scattering industrial plants. Dispersion is recommended, particularly for new plants or branches.

For your city fathers, there is a publication that tells what might happen to Washington in an atomic attack and what should be done to get ready. Problems in many other cities would be comparable.

Civil defense experts have recommended that states and cities work out arrangements for mutual aid in case of attack.

Some of them have started studies. Some have adopted laws. A lot remains to be done.

A sheriff's patrol car, red lights glaring, halts automobiles overtaken by a blinding dust storm on U. S. highway 54 near Wichita, Kas. Cars dimly visible in left background collided at this particularly bad spot. Motorists could not see more than a car's length ahead. Whipped by gale-like wind, the dust swirled over wide areas of the Plains states. About 50 persons were injured in automobile accidents in Kansas and Texas. (AP Wirephoto).

Discuss Drastic Liquor Controls

Atlanta, March 29—(AP)—Liquor law enforcement chiefs from southern states raised a threat today of banning sales of legal brands flowing into bootleg channels.

Chairman R. W. Winston of the North Carolina board of alcohol control said this drastic step will be discussed at a southern meeting today.

More than a score of officials from 11 southern states, and Illinois and Missouri, met behind closed doors to plan a joint crack-down on bootleg operations.

He added that the conference would consider a joint compact banning in states affected all sales by distillers failing to stop the illicit traffic at the source.

Winston said distillers who manufacture the liquor could stop it from getting in the hands of smugglers allegedly flooding the south with millions of dollars of liquor without paying state taxes.

He and Georgia's revenue commissioner Charles Redwine said the contraband liquor bears federal tax stamps, but evades state taxes by clandestine movement through illegal channels, mostly into dry areas of the south.

Winston said "as much liquor is sold illegally by these smugglers in North Carolina as is sold legally in state stores."

Victory Bonds Used For A Club

HONG KONG—(AP)—Arrivals from Peking say the Chinese Communists use their Victory bonds to club "uncooperative" citizens. They give this case as typical:

A Chinese educator was asked to write an anti-American article for the Communist press. The eduator had lived in the United States. The educator asked to be excused. He didn't feel qualified. Two days later he was informed the quota of Victory bonds he was required to buy had been set. The quota was about twice what he was worth. He had to sell his house and most of his personal property to meet the quota.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Black Ian Walks Again

By Florence Kerrigan

Chapter 9

While doing the research on my book I had come across the name of an American detective whose specialty was cases just like this. In fact he refused to consider a straight murder case unless it had an element of the weird, fantastic, or supernatural. I knew that either Iris or I would willingly pay any fee he might ask if he could clear Greg of the suspicions of murder and of terrorizing the countryside, and of the unbelievable idea of being dominated by a long dead ancestor.

I had met this detective, Steve McCarty, and had liked him. He had spent a most interesting evening talking over some of his more sensational cases. I knew him to be sane and sensible, and, above all, not glib.

"Your cases have all been proven of human agency," I had asked him. He nodded. "That is true. But I am interested in the supernatural. I believe there are forces we do not fully understand, and I hope every time I take a case that this time I shall find the real thing I haven't so far."

This time perhaps he would. So I wrote him at his London hotel, outlining the facts.

His response was immediate and enthusiastic. My letter had caught him just as he was packing to return to America, he told me, and he had changed his mind, cancelled his passage, and was leaving for Castle Quayle at once.

"He will stay here of course," said Iris when I told her.

"Unless he prefers to stay in the village," I assented. "It is kind of you to offer, Iris."

"Kind!" Her eyes filled with tears. "Hugh, my heart is broken about Greg! No expense, no inconvenience could be too great for me if he could be rescued from Black Ian—or from his own delusions—and restored to me as he was."

"I know that, Iris," I said, gently. "And I think Steve can put us on the right track."

"You don't know how much you mean to me, Hugh," she whispered.

"I could never have gone through this by myself. I know more than you think I do. I was afraid, maybe it was I who was imagining things. Or maybe—maybe there really was something to those old folk stories!"

"If so," I laughed reassuringly. "Steve will find it."

Steve arrived the next day. He was introduced to Greg as an old friend, and because of that and because Steve is such an attractive personality, Greg took to him at once. Iris told me afterwards that she had expected to meet an elderly, professorial type of man, and was entirely unprepared for Steve's rangy, six-foot length, topped with the red thatch for the clear, greenish gray eyes under the red arches of eyebrows, for his wide mouth that smiled easily and winningly for the deep voice with its immediate assurance of practicality and commonsense. Greg liked him because he very evidently ate up the stories about the castle, with the avidity of a child, without the incredulity which most adults show when they are told a ghost story. He and Greg, as unlike as day and night, were kindred spirits in the field of folklore. We listened in, fascinated.

The night of his arrival Steve and I had a long talk about Greg and his actions.

"Frankly," I said, "I'm not sure what he is up to. I don't know whether that scene down in the laboratory was an act or the real thing. If an act, why? If the real thing, is there such a thing as demon possession, or let us say possession of one person by another such as he seems to believe? Is he kidding himself, or us—or both?"

Steve smiled his slow smile. "I don't know him well enough to say. It may be that he believes himself under the domination of the ancestor he admires so much. He seems to really believe the stories he tells. As to his being capable of murder—I don't know. But I'd say in just talking to him the short time I did, that he has allowed his study of the family records, especially his love for the traditions of Black Ian, to unbalance him slightly."

"To the point of insanity?"

"Well—to eccentricity, certainly. Right off, I have a theory about him and the things that have happened here, but I'd rather not tell you what it is."

I had to be satisfied with that. As soon as I had a chance I took him down the Smugglers' Stairway, showed him the cave and the cove, the alchemist's laboratory, and let him read the diary of Black Ian in the library. I took him out and showed him the bridge down the cliff road where Black Ian had resided until he died. He listened thoughtfully, and his green eyes glowed as he took in the scene.

"Is there a passage which has an outlet near the bridge?" he asked. I had to admit that such a thing hadn't occurred to me. "Then we'll look for it," he said.

"But, look," I pointed out. "The necessity for a passageway would presuppose that the figure of Black Ian is human."

"I always start with the premise," he smiled. "The apparition of Black Ian is human—Greg or someone else—until proven otherwise."

"But that's my own experience with him," I said. "In the passageway Greg might change his clothes and make up as Black Ian, but there was no such preparation when he appeared to me. He was Black Ian when he sat down, and Greg when he got up. How do you explain that? Iris saw the same thing happen."

"There's a possible explanation," Steve smiled, "but let's not go into that right now. The first thing is to find that passage to the bridge."

TEEN TALK

Dear Judy,

AP Newsfeatures

An Easter breakfast party can be one of the nicest get-togethers of the year. Girls can show off their new bonnets and boys can sparkle in their new suits.

A group of not more than twelve at your brunch party should prove easy to handle if you don't try a too-elaborate menu.

Seat your guests at bridge tables. A chocolate bunny or bowl of colored eggs will make a pretty centerpiece for each table.

A good hurry-up menu of orange juice, hard-boiled eggs and hot biscuits or rolls and a beverage requires little fuss or bother and should please everybody.

Heat-and-serve, frozen or canned biscuits eliminate fussing with dough. They can be popped in the oven and baked in a jiffy and timed so they will be piping hot when you sit down. Frozen orange juice and colored eggs can be prepared the night before.

If you want to play a game, how about an Easter quiz? Here are some questions. Test yourself first. After all you should know the answers if you expect your guests to.

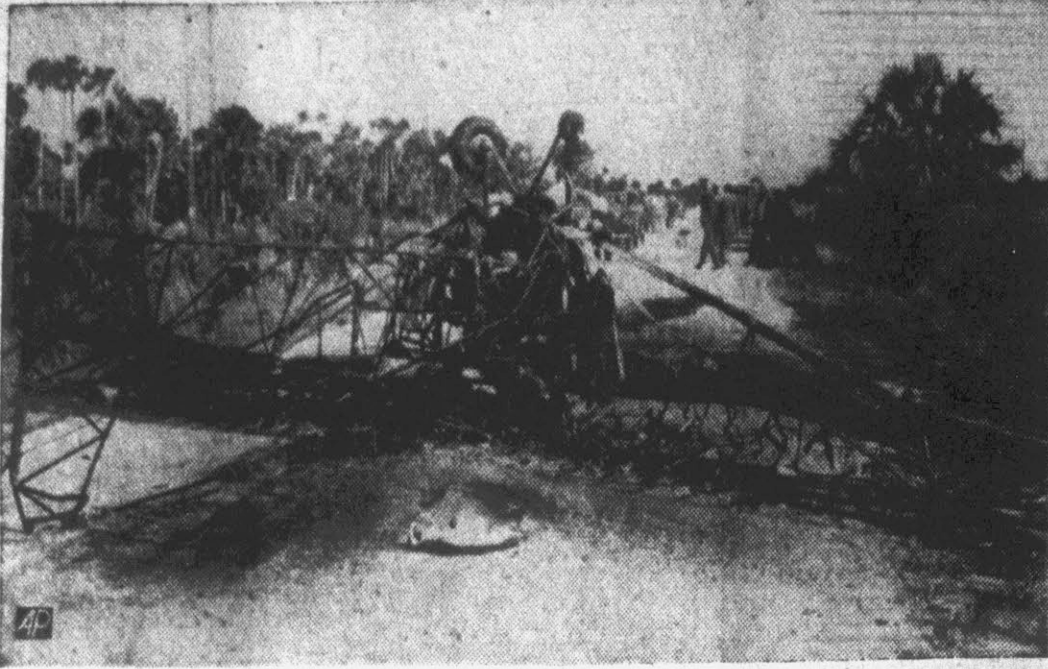

(A) How did the custom of wearing new clothes originate at Easter time? (B) Why is the rooster associated with Easter? (C) Why are flowers used around the cross at Easter time? (D) How did egg-hunting originate? (E) When did the custom of coloring eggs originate? (F) Why are tulips and daffodils connected with Easter? (G) How did the bunny become an Easter symbol?

Sometimes there are several answers that could be acceptable to a particular question. If your guest insists he is right in a certain instance, perhaps you can give him the benefit of the doubt.

Answers: (A) All nature blooms with new life at Easter time and in the 4th century Constantine, who loved display, found in Easter the excuse to dress up in richly made attire. "Gentlemen's Magazine" of 1783 (England) stated: "Every person must have some part of his dress new on Easter Day or he will have no good fortune that year."

(B) In ancient times the rooster's crowing symbolized reawakening.

(C) Early Christians who practiced their faith in the catacombs, inscribed on the walls the figure of the Cross surmounted by a floral halo. The flowers as a design were said to lighten the memory of the cross as an instrument of death.

(D) Egg-hunting is said to have originated in Alsace, where the boys went from house to house, hunting for eggs in the henhouses.

(E) The custom of staining and decorating eggs is said to have originated in Persia to imitate the new colors of the earth at Spring time. When Christians took over the custom, the eggs were decorated principally in red, to denote the blood of Christ.

(F) The bulb of the tulip, bursting into blossom, was thought to have symbolized the Resurrection during medieval times. The daffodil is said to have been connected with Easter because its bell-like blossom was thought to resemble a trumpet announcing the victory of life over death. Many outdoor services on Easter morning begin with the sound of trumpets.

(G) Originally in southern Germany a rabbit was thought to be a bird which Eostre, (pagan goddess from whom it is said we get Easter) transformed into an animal. The rabbit, in recollection of its birdlike qualities was able to lay eggs on her festival. Another legend is that the rabbit, being the only animal little children didn't fear, was selected by the fairies to inform the children that spring had come to the forest. He did this by leaving a basket of colored eggs and flowers on the doorstep of each sleeping child.

The Pennsylvania Dutch believed that the Ostern Hase, or Easter rabbit, laid colored eggs. The children would set caps and hats around the room for the rabbit to lay eggs in.

James H. Brinkley (center), race driver of Hapeville, Ga., is dying as track attendants pull him from his wrecked stock car on the Lakewood Park track at Atlanta. The 24-year-old youth was making the third start of his racing career. His car hit a bank on the first turn, turned over several times and pinned him beneath it. Brinkley died in a hospital a few minutes later. (AP Photo).

Marines were to transport several lions from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Roosevelt from the sea coast. The lions were to be presented to President Theodore Roosevelt from Ethiopia.
