Dixie Lawmakers Concerned Over Farm Bill Veto

Voice Worry Over Reports President May Turn Down Compromise Measure

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Southern lawmakers worried today over reports that President Truman may veto a bill easing acreage limitations on two major Dixie crops.

"I cannot believe the President would veto this bill," all rumors to the contrary," said Senator Russell (D-Ga.).

The measure, passed by both the senate and house, would loosen controls over peanuts and cotton and tighten them on potatoes.

Several senators, who asked that their names not be used, said they had learned that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan had recommended a veto on the ground that the proposed potato restraints would be ineffective and far outweighed by additional costs for supports of peanuts and cotton.

At Key West, Fla., a source close to the President said yesterday Mr. Truman had not yet decided whether to veto the bill.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) told a reporter Mr. Truman "would be exercising good political judgment if he vetoes this measure."

"He'll have some trouble if he vetoes it but he'll have a lot more later on if he signs it," Aiken said. Aiken, top-ranking GOP member on the senate agriculture committee, vigorously opposed the hard-fought compromise on the senate floor.

He estimated it would cost between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 for price supports on additional cotton and peanuts above existing surpluses.

Russell said in a separate interview: "This is an economy bill. It would save more on potatoes than the cotton and peanuts would cost. It offers a small measure of relief to growers who now are subject to acreage reductions and stiff marketing penalties."

The compromise measure was before the senate three times before it finally passed by a 38 to 31 vote, largely along party lines with Republicans opposing it. The closeness of the senate vote indicated plainly that a veto would stick, since it takes a two-thirds vote to override a veto.

Will Resist Any Further Outlays

Washington, March 31—(AP)—A move to hike next year's national defense spending plan heading into a House economy drive today.

Rep. Taber of New York, top Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, said he will resist the plans of Armed Services Committee members to try to add around $600,000,000 to the defense appropriation for the 1951 fiscal year, which starts July 1.

Says Rural Area Going Republican

Greensboro, N. C. March 31—(AP)—Gov. Scott says North Carolina rural areas are going Republican.

He added in a speech here last night that the Democratic party needs to be invigorated so its members feel a part of it.

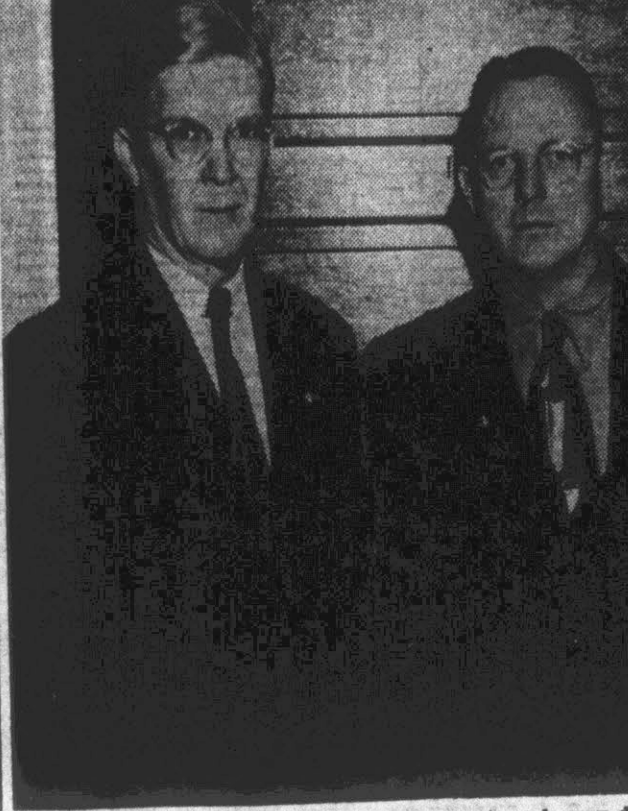

The government told the Greensboro bar association: "The rural sections are going Republican because the people there feel they are not a part of the picture."

MIAMI'S COLDEST

Miami, Fla., March 31—(AP)—The mercury dipped to 45 degrees in Miami today, the coldest March 31 since the Weather Bureau began keeping records in 1912.

It was also the coldest day this year.

Pitt Cancer Drive Chairmen

When Pitt County's cancer drive for funds gets underway during the third week in April, the two men above will direct the campaign which this year asks for more funds than any previous year.

At Key West, Fla., a source close to the President said yesterday Mr. Truman had not yet decided whether to veto the bill.

On 'Grand Scale' Cancer Society Maps Campaign

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today Russia apparently has resumed "on a grand scale" the process of detaching the north-west province of Sinkiang from Communist China.

Acheson told a news conference a Moscow announcement disclosing a set-up of joint Russian companies to exploit oil and mineral resources of the province is a "new familiar instrument of Soviet economic penetration."

The secretary said one-half of all oil and minerals produced will go to Russia—leaving only one half for the use of impoverished China.

Many Activities In Arts Festival

A gallery talk by the assistant director of the state art gallery, a travelogue movie and two plays presented by the Teachers Playhouse were the highlights of the Community Arts Festival activities yesterday.

Art Talk, Movie, Two Plays Were Thursday Highlights

During the afternoon Ben Williams, assistant director of the state art gallery, discussed the works of John Chapman Lewis which are being displayed in the local gallery this week, and Lt. Colonel Warren G. Davis presented a feature length travelogue with a recorded commentary made by the Davis family during a Mediterranean cruise in 1948.

Williams discussed the individual paintings of Lewis with the group which attended the gallery talk, and analyzed the paintings on the basis of technique, formal analysis and evaluated the paintings as works of art. He pointed out the various techniques used by Lewis in his paintings, and pointed out that the paintings dated over a period of about five years. In discussing some of Lewis' earlier work, Williams said, "Here he has not gotten in the very wonderful use of color he has gotten in his later ones."

The exhibit of Lewis' work on display here includes 22 paintings, several of which have been purchased by individuals and loaned for the exhibit. One of the paintings.

Partitioned Ireland

Action in U. S. House Of Representatives Emphasizes Again That Division Of Emerald Isle Is Quite An Issue; Some Say Union Lies Ahead, Others Say 'Never'

That vote in the U. S. House of Representatives, denying Britain further aid funds so long as Ireland remains partitioned, was a tentative affair subject to expected revoke, but it has echoed like a shout in a rocky cavern.

Dublin, Belfast, London and other capitals reacted, each according to its lights. The House action was generally interpreted as political play but the fact remains that the effect of this surprise maneuver has been to emphasize again that the partition of the Emerald Isle is one of the burning issues of our time.

It's only ten days ago that I discussed this question of partition in our column. At that time I told you a story about a conversation I had in Belfast with the late Lord Craigavon, prime minister of northern Ireland, regarding partition.

This die-hard separatist political leader slammed a fist into the palm of his hand and exclaimed: "Union with southern Ireland? Never! Never! Never! And when I'm gone there are others who will take up the leadership after me."

A sequel to that interview has been given me by Mr. Joseph D. Brennan, counselor of the Irish legation in Washington. He says: "In 1938 I was at the British Empire Exhibition in Glasgow. At the reception given at the opening of the exhibition, Lord Craigavon was present. My then chief, Mr. John W. Dulanty, who was our high commissioner in London, was also present."

"We had just concluded the 1938 agreement with Great Britain which restored to us the bases which the British held in Ireland. Lord Craigavon congratulated Mr. Dulanty on the occasion of the agreement and I remember him saying: "You did fine, Mr. Dulanty, but you didn't get the north—you will never get the north."

"At that point Lady Craigavon, who also was present, broke in to say: "Speak for yourself, James. Never is a long day."

"Apparently Lady Craigavon had a better appreciation of what was likely to occur in the future than her husband had at that particular time."

Lady Craigavon was right. I believe we have a right to expect that

Arsonist Admits Starting Blaze That Killed Nine

'Sick Feeling' In Stomach Prompted Him To Start Sanatorium Fire

Philadelphia, March 31—(AP)—A convicted arsonist told authorities a "sick feeling in the pit of the stomach" prompted him to start a sanatorium fire which killed nine other patients Wednesday night.

Nicholas Verna, 29-year-old World War Two veteran who was discharged from the Army for medical reasons, confessed yesterday that he put the torch to the Belle Vista Sanatorium in suburban Springfield township.

BULLETIN

Norristown, Pa., March 31—(AP)—Nicholas Verna, 29-year-old sanatorium inmate, will be charged with murder in connection with a fire that killed nine patients at the institution, Assistant District Attorney Bernard E. Di Joseph said today.

State Police Sgt. Charles Taylor said Verna told him he touched off the tragic blaze by lighting a towel in the basement of the institution for convalescent, senile, nervous and mental patients.

After the fire, Verna was removed to the Army's Valley Forge General Hospital at Pottsville, Pa. There he was questioned at length yesterday by Capt. Howard T. Cohen, administrative assistant to the head of the hospital's neuropsychiatric service.

Capt. Cohen said Verna told him he had experienced numerous "sick spells" after his discharge from the Army, some of which caused him to set other fires in suburban communities.

Verna was convicted of arson in Delaware County court in 1949 and was committed to Belle Vista.

Capt. Cohen said Verna told this story of events leading up to the sanatorium fire Wednesday night: Verna, recently given the run of the institution because of apparent improvement in his condition, ate a couple of hot dogs with an attendant on night duty in the office. When the attendant left to make his rounds, Verna heard a noise in the basement. He went downstairs to investigate and began experiencing a "sick feeling in the pit of the stomach."

The feeling grew worse. He spotted some dirty clothing in a laundry chute and set them afire. Then he returned to his room and later was removed from the blazing building along with other patients.

Montgomery county and state authorities will confer today on what steps will be taken against Verna.

The fire was confined to the basement of the three-story stone and frame building, but upper rooms were filled with dense smoke. The nine suffocation victims—all men—were in a wing devoted principally to "violent" cases.

Reprimand Judge For Barring Red

Philadelphia, March 31—(AP)—Judge Michael Musmanno of Pittsburgh's common law court has been reprimanded by the state supreme court for barring a woman from grand jury duty on the grounds she was a Communist.

The high tribunal, in a decision yesterday, turned down a petition by Mrs. Alice Roth of Pittsburgh—the woman barred by the Pittsburgh jurist. She had asked the court to compel the common pleas court to accept her as a member of the March grand jury panel.

New York, March 31—(AP)—Professor Albert Einstein today explains his new theory of gravitation to his fellow scientists in an article in the Scientific American.

He says he doesn't know whether it will work, but that he is expanding the mathematical laws of gravitation to include the mysterious forces which form atoms.

In doing so he has stepped completely away from the thinking of his fellow scientists. He stands alone.

He is telling them they have failed to discover the nature or laws of atomic energy, and then proposing a solution which is amazing.

Gravitation extends everywhere through the known universe. It is unbroken energy of some kind and Einstein calls it the field. In this gravitational field there is solid matter, scattered everywhere, in the form of atoms which make the stars, planets and all that is upon them.

Einstein suggests that these material particles of matter are not really what they seem. They are not separate things. They are places where for some unknown reason gravitation is particularly high in density.

This explanation goes contrary to what is now known mathematics. Einstein thinks he has found mathematics which will show this theory to be correct.

At the present time Whedbee is associated with radio station WGTC of the Carolina Broadcasting system, he is a vestryman at St. Paul's Episcopal church, and is a member of the Pitt County Bar Association.

Einstein To Explain His New Theory To Scientists

Washington, March 31—(AP)—President Truman said today the November elections "may well be one of the most crucial tests of liberalism in this country."

The President made the statement in a letter to Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) on the occasion of the national convention of Americans for Democratic Action—a political organization headed by Humphrey, which is backing most of Mr. Truman's "Fair Deal" program.

Critical Views Of Greek Gov't

U. S. Ambassador Lists Long Number Of Complaints

Athens, March 31—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Henry F. Grady, in a tough-talking letter to the premier, warned Greece today that "only a government which can secure public confidence" can expect continued American aid.

It was the strongest language yet used by an official U. S. representative in a Marshall Plan country, and it raised immediate speculation that the United States has, in effect, invited Premier Sophocles Venizelos either to resign or to broaden the base of his government.

The letter, unprecedented in Greek-American relations since Marshall aid began here, laid down a bundle of complaints against the Greek government: complaints of special privilege, inefficiency, subsidies, over-centralized power, high interest rates, superabundance of ministries, excessive spending, absence of an adequate social program and a number of others.

Venizelos, who has just formed a Liberal-National union cabinet, was not available for comment immediately. His Liberal party holds 55 seats in the 250-member Parliament just elected, but it has the backing of rightist groups. The only National Unionist in the cabinet is former Premier Panayotis Kanelopoulos, now vice premier and defense minister.

First Rounds Of Debate Contest Conducted Today

In the first rounds of the triangular debates held at East Carolina Teachers College today, the Williamson debaters won a 2-1 decision over the Washington negative team.

Greenview high school's negative team, Rodney Fulcher and Harvey Bradshaw won in Washington over the affirmative team, Ray Sears and Mitchell Saleed lost to Washington in Williamson.

The winners in today's contests will meet in East Carolina Teachers College to select teams which will represent the Eastern section of the state in the championship to be held at Chapel Hill.

Three Other Announced Candidates Officially File

Charles Whedbee, solicitor of Pitt County Recorder's Court, today announced his candidacy for reelection to the office subject to the Democratic primary May 27.

Whedbee today paid his filing fee to J. H. Harrell, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections.

Whedbee was first elected to the office of solicitor of Pitt County Recorder's Court in 1934, and has held the office since that time, being elected to the position for eight consecutive terms. He is one of the oldest office holders in the county in the number of years in the same office.

He has had opposition for the office approximately 50 per cent of the election years since 1934.

Whedbee, son of the late Judge Harry W. Whedbee, was born and reared in Greenville, and attended the Greenville schools. He attended the University of North Carolina, and was admitted to the state bar in 1932.

After being admitted to the state bar, he began his law practice. Two years after his return to Greenville, he was the successful candidate for the office of county solicitor.

At the present time Whedbee is associated with radio station WGTC of the Carolina Broadcasting system, he is a vestryman at St. Paul's Episcopal church, and is a member of the Pitt County Bar Association.

Three other candidates officially entered the county races this week. J. A. Suggs filed as a candidate for Justice of the Peace in Chicod township, J. Gus Stokes filed as a candidate for constable of Greenville township, and Representative Frank M. Kilpatrick filed for reelection to the State House of Representatives.

Enumerators To Start Pitt Census Saturday

County Solicitor Seeks Reelection

Enumerators for the 1950 federal census will begin knocking on doors and ringing door bells all over Pitt County tomorrow morning as they start their tedious task of counting noses to determine the exact population of the county.

Enumerators who will work in the 23 districts in Greenville under the direction of Crew Leader Dallas Peel completed their training at noon today, and enumerators who will work under Crew Leaders T. E. Fountain of Falkland, Curtis Flanagan of Farmville, and G. L. Tucker of Grifton completed their training this afternoon.

Pitt County has been divided into four districts for the federal census, and the four crews will cover all sections of the county.

Crew Leader Peel said this morning the census leaders of the county are "hoping the people of the county will be cooperative with the enumerators and to the people before that time. He said that a normal household it should take about 10 or 15 minutes for the enumerators to complete the questionnaire if the person has the necessary information ready. For an agricultural questionnaire, Peel said, an additional 15 minutes probably will be required.

He pointed out there will be several questionnaires which will apply to people in particular groups. One portion of the questionnaire will deal with the number of people in a household, another with income (in the case of every fifth person), another with housing, and another with agricultural families.

In the districts the enumeration begins tomorrow, Peel said, the census should be completed within two weeks, and in the smaller districts the enumeration should be finished before that time. The enumerators of the Greenville area practiced enumeration yesterday, and ironed out the final details of the technique of enumeration during the classroom session this morning.

In urging the cooperation of the people of the county with the enumerators in getting accurate information on the census, Peel

How Did It Happen?

The House Vote To Cut Off All Marshall Aid To Britain Unless Partition Of Ireland Ended Was Either Irresponsible, Reckless, Or Fun; One-Day Shock

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 31—(AP)—May be you're still bewildered by the sudden vote of the house of representatives to cut off all Marshall plan help for Britain unless it ends the partition of Ireland.

News of this must have shocked Europe a bit. You can imagine how we'd feel if our pretty broke and depending on Britain for money and help to get us over a hump.

And then suppose the British House of Commons suddenly decided to cut off all help to us unless we agreed to give Texas back to Mexico. We'd be a little surprised, maybe.

But if you watched the House of Representatives every day you might not be surprised because the House isn't always the most solemn debating society in the world.

The House from time to time has done things which the Senators, who take themselves more seriously—most of the time—have had to cancel out.

In this case the House action was just a one-day shock because no one expected the decision on Britain to stick.

NCEA Board In Closed Session

Raleigh, N. C. March 31—(AP)—With a bare majority present, the board of directors of the N. C. Education Association met in closed session today to study the organization's bitter Presidential squabble.

The hotly-disputed Presidential race is between C. M. Abernethy of Lenoir and Mrs. Margaret McDermott of Winston-Salem.

President Raps Senate Accusers Of Dean Acheson

Truman Says Republican Group Sabotaging U.S. Foreign Policy Work

Key West, Fla., March 31—(AP)—President Truman's bitter declaration that Senate Republicans are endangering world peace by trying to torpedo the bi-partisan foreign policy set the pattern today for the 1950 Democratic campaign.

The President unloosed his fury on Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.), whom he described as the Kremlin's greatest asset in this country, and on Senator Bridges (R-Neb.) and Wherry (R-Neb.), whom he named as McCarthy's associates.

At a news conference in the peaceful setting of this tropical naval submarine base, Mr. Truman, stung by GOP attacks on Secretary of State Acheson and McCarthy's charges of Communist influences in the State Department, declared with carefully-chosen words:

"The greatest asset that the Kremlin has is the partisan attempt in the Senate to sabotage the bi-partisan foreign policy of the United States."

Seated in a wicker chair on the palm-shaded lawn of the winter White House in the chill of the late afternoon yesterday, the shirt-sleeved Chief Executive did not mince words as he sailed into Acheson's accusers.

Their effort to partisan foreign is just as bad as cold war as sh in the back of Warming t dent decay es, Wherry and the Senate Republican comtee, are creating a fiasco in their attempt to find a political issue to win control of the 1950 congressional elections.

He said he will carry the issue to the people in the months ahead. In measured language, he said he thinks the greatest asset the Kremlin has is McCarthy.

The Kremlin, the President went on, its policy directed to control the world, has broken virtually every agreement it has made with this country.

The Russian government, he said, is not really Communist, but totalitarian, like Hitler's Germany and Franco's Spain.

Asserting he had driven Communist sympathizers out of government by institution of the 1947 loyalty program, he said the Republicans, like McCarthy, for political purposes, have been trying to stir up a Communist issue to seize control of Congress in 1950.

Having lost out on the "welfare state" and "realism" issues in New York last year, he went on, they are now trying to ride a dead horse

McCarthy Says He Has Witness To Prove Case

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Senator McCarthy's fresh barrage of "Soviet agent" charges against Owen Lattimore—accusations which Lattimore promptly termed lies—generated a new headache today for Senate investigators.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, told the senate in a 4 1/4-hour speech yesterday that he can produce a mystery witness who will swear that Lattimore, an American expert on Far Eastern affairs, was a member of the Communist party.

McCarthy also waved documents which he said prove that Lattimore is a Soviet agent who received instructions in Moscow as far back as 1936. He previously had called Lattimore Russia's top spy in the state department and the United States.

Raleigh, March 31—(AP)—A nine by four-foot pack of North Carolina went up today to help the governor's advisory committee on highway safety pin-point Tar Heel accidents.

Again Tackling Refugee Problem

Washington, March 31—(AP)—A sharply divided senate tackles once again today the hot issue of how to boost the number of displaced persons who may enter this country.

Before the lawmakers as they prepared for a second round of bitter debate were two measures. One was recommended by the Judiciary committee under the leadership of chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) the other a substitute proposed by 18 Democratic and Republican Senators.

"We had just concluded the 1938 agreement with Great Britain which restored to us the bases which the British held in Ireland. Lord Craigavon congratulated Mr. Dulanty on the occasion of the agreement and I remember him saying: "You did fine, Mr. Dulanty, but you didn't get the north—you will never get the north."

"At that point Lady Craigavon, who also was present, broke in to say: "Speak for yourself, James. Never is a long day."

THE DAILY REFLECTOR

March 31, 1910

On Sunday morning last, it being the regular semi-annual date for electing officers for the Methodist Baraca class, J. B. James was chosen president. In the passing of Mr. S. T. Hooker from the president's chair goes a faithful and ardent leader. He is recognized as a man of excellent ability and his go forward spirit has led the class from its beginning till the expiration of the last term. Though he refused being reelected again, his work for the advancement of the class will continue on. The class made a wise choice in making Mr. James president. He is a young man, full of vigor and a born leader.

Taking part in the program will be six students of East Carolina Teachers College: Elizabeth Glasgow, Mary Lou Hawkins, Dorothy Cain Milam Johnson, Gene Hart and Houston Williams. The program is under the direction of Miss Gloria Blanton, Baptist student secretary.

Members of the local boys class of the young people's department of the Sunday school will be ushers for the program, and a special offering for home and foreign missions will be taken.

MORE TRAFFIC DEATHS

Chicago, March 31.—(AP)—There were 4,350 persons killed in automobile accidents in the first two months of 1950, an increase of six percent over the same period last year. The National Safety Council said mild weather permitted more travel this year and resulted in more accidents.

Torchbearers Held Monthly Meeting On Monday Evening

The Torchbearers' Sunday School Class of Memorial Baptist Church held its monthly class meeting in the Church Parlor on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Meadames Henry Brown, Quinn Bostic and Jesse Ray Howard were hostesses.

The church parlor was beautifully decorated with lovely spring flowers which gave a cheerful setting for the 40 class members and guests. Mr. Daniel Todd, president, presided.

Mrs. Norman Little gave the devotional for the evening which was followed by prayer by Mrs. Reid Laney. Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson, class teacher, extended a cordial welcome to special guests for the evening and to class members. The guests were: Miss Margie Harris, Messdames Francis Joyner, O. L. Alexander, Ruffin House, A. B. Whitley, Jr., Henry Flehan, Lloyd Mills, E. N. Smith, and R. E. Hardaway. Mrs. R. E. Webb, class member, was extended best wishes for the future from the class as she moves to Wilmington to establish her new residence. The secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Bill Hathaway, read the minutes of the previous meeting and gave the treasurer's report.

The group captains gave very encouraging reports of visits and other contacts in their zones. The group captains reporting were: Mrs. George T. Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Mercer, Mrs. Aubrey Taylor, Mrs. Henry Swayne, Mrs. Fred L. Bertram, and Mrs. Kenneth Brown.

After the business session was concluded the hostesses served delicious refreshments. The class adjourned to meet again on April 24 for the regular class meeting.

Mrs. Smith Hostess To Cosmos Club

Mrs. James Smith was hostess to the Cosmos Book club on Tuesday, March 28th. A delicious dessert course was served with coffee. The president then called the meeting to order and welcomed the guests including Mrs. Gene West, Mrs. Henry Brown, Mrs. Richard Chadwick, Miss B. Chauncey, and Miss Janet Conklin. After a brief business meeting, the program was turned over to Mrs. Smith who introduced Miss Janet Conklin, an Army nurse during World War I, who gave a most interesting talk about her two and one-half years stay in India. Miss Conklin displayed hand work in ivory, brass, wood, embroidery and many other handsome articles she had purchased while in India. In conclusion, she showed a color movie taken in India. The program was very enjoyable.

THIRD STREET SCHOOL NEWS

Easter Seals
This week we have been selling Easter seals. The pupil who brings in the most money will get a prize. We are curious about what it will be. We are all hoping to win.—Doris Ann Nordan, 6th Grade.

Planting Seed
The sixth grade is planting seed. We have two large boxes sitting on a bookcase by the window. David Butts brought the seed and Bobby Howard got the dirt for us. We like to see the seed grow.—Doris Elks, 6th Grade.

Our Baseball Team
The boys of the sixth grade are getting up a team of their own to play the other grades. The boys bring gloves and balls. Huey Harrison is the manager of the team. He tells us what to do in catching the ball and hitting it. We hope to have a good team.—Bobby Howard, 6th Grade.

Bob Webb is in our room, but he is moving to Wilmington the first of April. We are very sorry he is going. Bob is a nice boy.—Frances Clark.

Prayer and special services will be held in the Eighth Street Christian Church during this Holy Week as follows: Tuesday afternoon, 3:30, with Mrs. Owen Marshburn as leader; Wednesday night, 7:30, the Guild in charge; Friday, 3:30 p. m., Mr. Bill Sermons is leader. A special sacrificial offering will be presented on Friday afternoon for world-wide missions.

At the morning service Sunday the pastor will speak on the theme "And He Came Unto His Own, But." At this time several are to be received into fellowship in the church as has been the case on the last two Sundays.

Mrs. Ficklen Arthur Gives Club Program

Mrs. Guy Smith was hostess to the End of the Century club on Tuesday afternoon, March 28th, at her home on Pitt street. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charles A. White. She welcomed several members who had been absent due to sickness, and also Miss Laura Rose, guest. After a very brief business session the program chairman turned the meeting over to Mrs. Ficklen Arthur, who presented to the club a most interesting discussion of "Transportation and Communication Fifty Years Ago and Now." Mrs. Arthur said that 1900 to 1950 was the most surprising and adventurous half century in the memory of man, and during that time the world has developed in speed more than in the 5,000 years before. She cited the miracles in communications in so short a time from the telegraph, the trans-Atlantic cable, up to the television of today. She traced the phenomenal improvements since the first automobiles and the gradual disappearance of horse and buggy to the luxurious automobiles, buses and railroad facilities of the present. She gave in detail the steps in airplane improvements since the Wright Brothers started the world in 1903 by the phenomenal airplane which flight lasted 89 seconds. It pointed out the already increasing danger of crowded airways, the trend to decentralization which will give us a new order of living. Mrs. Arthur's discussion showed much thought and was so ably presented that she proved to all who were present that her talent in presenting historical phases of life was well matched by her ability to discuss the ultra modern and the things to come. After this most interesting talk the hostess presented Miss Allison Hearne who graciously sang two beautiful selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Smith. The books were then distributed and a delicious salad course with dainty sandwiches, sweets and coffee was served and enjoyed by all.

Baptist Business Women Hold Meeting Winterville School

By MRS. CHESTER WALSH
Mrs. John Wacaster of Cherryville, field representative of the state Women's Missionary Union, told 200 members of Business Women's Circles of the Roanoke Baptist Association last night at Winterville the great needs of our southland among foreign-speaking people for the gospel. She told of the missionary work now being done and the immediate responsibilities to these groups. She challenged business women to pray, give, love and go in obedience to Christ's commands.

Mrs. Wacaster announced herself speaker "twice removed" since she was on the program due to illness of Miss Vena Aguilard of Eunice, Louisiana, who became ill in Shelby, and Miss Pearl Johnson of Apex who was prevented from attending because of illness of her sister with whom she has been living since her return from China. Mrs. Wacaster was presented a gift from the Federation by Mrs. Harry Mumford of Ayden, program chairman and second vice-president, who also introduced her.

Mrs. M. T. Speir, chairman of the Hennie Carroll Business Women's Circle of Winterville, welcomed the guests and served as chairman of arrangements. Mrs. John R. Carroll, sponsor, pronounced the invocation.

Mrs. Ralph Worthington responded for the guests. Programs were Easter cards with printed programs and each guest had miniature nest with colored eggs. The banquet was served by members of the Mary Carroll Circle and the Y.W.A.'s of the Winterville Baptist Church in the school lunchroom. Coffee was provided through courtesy of the Nescafe representative, Mr. J. D. Mitchell of Ahoskie.

Mrs. Mamie Liverman of Winterville gave a splendid report on literature and Miss Annie Perkins of Farmville spoke on mission study.

Mrs. J. A. Neilson was recognized as adviser.

Miss Esther Simmons, first vice-president, extended invitations to the meet at the Arlington Street Baptist Church in Rocky Mount in October.

Members of the nominating committee asked to serve are: Mrs. George B. Jones, Greenville Immanuel; Miss Myrtle Nichols, Farmville; and Mrs. M. T. Barnes, Wilson Five Points Baptist Church.

Report was given by the president, Mrs. Chester Walsh, of the state W.M.U. Federation and Miss Elvira Tyson of Farmville, eastern vice president, was introduced to the group.

Miss Grace Smith is secretary, and Miss Mildred Lee of Rocky Mount was parliamentarian.

Mrs. Worth Grant of Weldon sent regrets that she could not attend due to previous engagement in her home church. She and her

The Fountain Senior and the Junior Woman's clubs presented around $1,000 that night, and there have been a number of good size donations by individuals since the night of the supper.

Sixteen Chosen ECTC Marshals

Christine Strickland of Tabor City has been chosen as chief marshal for the 1950-1951 term at East Carolina Teachers College. Miss Strickland, a junior at the college, served as chief marshal during the winter quarter of the present school year.

Sixteen women students at East Carolina have been chosen as marshals for the coming school year.

They will act as ushers at college programs and entertainments of various kinds. Positions as marshals are responsible ones and are sought by large numbers of students at the college, the recently elected group having been chosen from thirty-five candidates.

The marshals who will serve during 1950-51 are, in addition to Miss Strickland, Margie Smith, Patricia Sutton, and Betty Heath, all of Kinston; Doris Brison, New Bern; Elizabeth Davis, Henderson; Olivia White, Scotland Neck; Sarah Jane Tate, Goldsboro; Laura Swain, Aurora; Barbara Cr...owan, Pinetown; Myrna Cooper, Nashville; Anita Guillard, Raeford; June Pritchard, Montclair, N. J.; Doris Stroud, Swansboro; Peggy Jean Hart, Ayden; and Mabel Lewis, Smithfield.

Lt. Gen. Hodge In Airborne Test

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commanding General of the Army's fifth corps at Fort Bragg, N. C., will command an air borne task force of 12,000 in a coming maneuver called "Swarm-er."

Hodge's designation as task force commander was announced today by Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, the maneuver commander.

The mission of his troops will be to establish an "airhead," and then to develop it against the opposition of a defending force of "aggressor" troops. The maneuver will be held in North Carolina in late April.

Hodge is a veteran of Western Pacific campaigns during World War II. After the war he commanded occupation forces in Korea.

Major General William H. Tunner of the Air Force will be both Norstad's deputy maneuver commander for operations and Hodge's deputy task force commander for operations.

The annual shrimp catch in American waters is about 180,000,000 pounds a year.

what was happening some one called for a vote and the vote came out 99 to 66 for Fogarty's idea.

Since that total vote of 165 is only a small part of the 435 House members, it was clear that most of them were bothering themselves with something else instead of being on the House floor.

You can call the vote of the House irresponsible, or reckless, or just good clean fun, since it was sure to be cancelled out by final House or Senate action.

But it must have had a strange effect in Europe, particularly Britain, where so many people depend on the Marshall plan and the plan is such an important part of the country's foreign policy.

Worth Singing About!

Folks find there's always sweet harmony on their telephone party line when they follow these simple suggestions:

1. Use the telephone sharingly.
2. Space calls fairly.
3. Hang up the receiver carefully.
4. Keep calls reasonably brief.

Try it on your party line and everyone will join in a chorus of good neighborliness—and, of course—better telephone service.

Strength FOR THE DAY

HABIT A CONTROLLING FACTOR

There is a vast difference between modern psychology and the psychology that some of us studied thirty years ago or more. Modern psychology maintains that most of the evil man does comes from suppressed desires and frustration. Evil acts are the projection of a disturbed inner life. The old psychology, on the other hand, emphasized the physical basis of habit and declared that people fell into disadvantageous ways of living by building up bad habits of thought and act. The famous chapter on habit written by William James a generation ago sets forth this latter point of view.

For many of us, worry is a habit. More often than not anger is not the projection of a frustrated life but a miserable lack of self-control which has grown by indulgence. Habit is a factor in life which many modern thinkers are disregarding. Many sick people would be well, many miserable people happy, if they could set to resolutely and get themselves a new set of habits.

There is only one way to make over one's life, and that is by putting into operation a policy of habit reform, breaking some bad habits and establishing some good ones.

It is much more simple than the modern psychologist would lead us to believe. What it requires is unselfishness and not-psychiatric treatment at $25 an office call.

THIS HIGHWAY PROBLEM OF PITT COUNTY DRIVERS

Motor vehicle operators of Pitt county seem determined not to relinquish the distinction they have gained as the most ruthless killers on the highways of North Carolina in 1950.

It would seem that the drivers in a county which already has suffered seven highway fatalities in three months would put forth an intense effort to prevent further accidents on the highways. In Pitt county, however, the number of accidents appears to be on the increase rather than the decrease in spite of the lives it has cost this year.

In Wednesday's Reflector there were accounts of four separate automobile accidents which involved seven motor vehicles. Fortunately the four accidents occurred without a fatality; but several people were injured in the collisions, and any one of the accidents could easily have been a fatal one. In yesterday's Reflector there was another account of an accident in which a Pitt county man narrowly escaped death while being trapped in his automobile for several hours.

The highway patrolmen can issue warning after warning to the people of the county to drive carefully, and the pages of the Reflector can carry column after column of reading matter describing the death and suffering which occurs as a result of accidents on the Pitt county highways, but the only people who can take positive steps to curtail the accidents are the drivers behind the steering wheels.

The next fatal accident the people read about in the Reflector may be yours.

NOTE OF HYSTERIA AMONG WITCH HUNTERS

More and more there appears to be an air of hysteria among members of Congress as to Russia and the infiltration of Communists into the government.

Irresponsible statements are thrown broadcast, and if it were not for the harm done it would all resemble a three-ring circus.

If the current fiasco were going on in the Kremlin's back yard, we would all have a great laugh at the confusion and evidence of fear that were manifest. Unfortunately, it is our own lawmakers who are providing the doubtful entertainment... for the benefit of observers in other countries.

On another occasion, a former President said "We have nothing to fear but fear itself"; and just as this was true then, it is true now.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—This is the eve of the day when all men are brothers.

That day is April first—all fool's day. Everybody is prepared to have water squirted into his eyes and to reach for the fat-stuffed wallet that is suddenly jerked away from him by an invisible string.

Fun is fun and everybody loves a joke. But tomorrow's holiday from reality comes at a grim time indeed. For what makes a thing basically funny is this—it is out of perspective. That is why the decoy pocketbook on the sidewalk is comical. Nobody really believes in his heart that he can find lost wealth on a populated pavement, but all will at least start to bend and reach for the lure.

And any honest gent has to give a good-natured laugh when the wallet is pulled from his grasp. He knows that his dreams of easy money are out of kilter with the facts of life. People don't get rich that way.

That is an enduring truth. The trouble today is that there is no sense of perspective built on the past. Practically everything is out of shape. It is very difficult to say what is so, and what isn't.

Take, for example, a thing close to the hearts of us all—the status of the United States. The land we love and live in and give our loyalty to, and hope our children will dwell in with more happiness than we have known in our own troubled lifetime.

How fares it on this historic day when March marches into April? Questions like these arise:

(1) Have our real defenses, the bulwark of our being, been stripped below the danger point, as some critics charge or has the streamlining of our armed forces made us leaner but stouter, as the appointed guardian of our safety says?

(2) Is our giving of our money and plenty abroad to less lucky lands making our world position stronger, as our elected President says, or are we merely throwing away the strength we may need later, as his foes assert?

It makes him come down to the bedrock of himself, and the average guy is too sincere to regard himself as anything but a dubious hero. He wants to project his trust into a bigger figure. Everyone has the need to like something larger than he is, something he trusts has his virtues and somehow escapes his faults.

But the common man doesn't want to be the fool on April fool's day—or any other day. It isn't a lack of good nature. It has just become too perilous.

The dope, if he is a dope, lives by hope—and grope. And he has to be right.

Somebody Told Me..

By L. J. (JACK) EDWARDS, JR.

Everybody knows that air travel will eventually become the most widely-used method for long trips. In view of that fact, many of us stop to consider just how safe air travel is. Hundreds of people are killed daily in automobile wrecks, and the press reports the accidents without any particular flare. By this stage of the game an automobile accident is just plain routine.

But when there's an air crash the radios scream and the air headlines are an inch high. There's a good reason for it. The crash of an airliner may take 20 or 30 lives, while the average automobile wreck takes two to four.

All of this talk was brought about by, of all things, an advertisement I saw in this week's "Time" magazine. The ad consists of a picture of a scene at an airport, with passengers gathered around a coin machine. The ad was sponsored by "America's Leading Airlines, Inc." in an effort to emphasize the safety of air transportation. The title of the ad is, "What other coin machine gives you 20,000 to one odds?"

"This coin machine," the ad says, "strangely enough, sells life insurance. It is a familiar sight in airports all over the country where it offers 20,000 to one odds that you will complete your trip safely."

"Machines like this, installed by one of the nation's leading life insurance companies, sell individual trip insurance at 25 cents for a $5,000 policy. Life insurance companies are known to be conservative-minded business organizations that base their policies on the law of averages. They do not gamble foolishly.

"What better evidence could you seek? The Flagships today are not only faster and finer but safer than ever before. This standing offer of 20,000 to one on every trip you take should prove that fact."

Magazine and newspaper ads continually reveal the trend of our times. The American Airlines realize the publicity that every air crash receives, and likewise they

WASHINGTON—Many American grown-ups eat too much, say nutrition experts in the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They say that overweight is the most frequent malnutrition problem among adults in this country. Some down-to-earth diet tips are given in the department's newest cookbook, "Family Fare," put out by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics. The nutritionists point out: "Modern knowledge of food at work brings a new kind of mastery over life. It can even help you keep young longer, postponing old age. An individual well-fed from babyhood has a more likely chance to enjoy a long prime of life. But at any age you are better off when you are better fed."

When families in this country are poorly fed, the specialists say the foods they neglect are most often milk and milk products and vegetables and fruits—especially the leafy, green and yellow vegetables and citrus fruits. "Up to 35, it's safer to be plump than skinny," they say. "Beyond 35 excess fat becomes a greater health liability than extreme thinness."

As for reducing... those under 20 should only do so under a physician's guidance. "This is a safe rule also for young mothers, or those with any heart or organic troubles," the cookbook suggests. If you need to reduce and are over 35, you are warned to lose poundage slowly... no more than a pound or two a week. All the diet experts in the world couldn't explain the job more simply than Uncle Sam's. If you are going to "cut calories, yet have other food essentials for good health," you might try:

1. Eating three meals a day but refusing to be tempted by between-meal snacks.
2. Avoiding high-calorie foods like the fat on meat, cooking fat, salad oil, fried foods, gravies, rich sauces, nuts, pastries, cakes, cookies, rich desserts, candies, jellies and jams.
3. Being sparingly of bread or cereals.
4. Being generous about fruits and vegetables, but taking them straight—vegetables without cream sauce or fat, fruits without sugar or cream.

"Don't skimp on fruits and vegetables. Eat a variety—yes, potatoes, too. A medium-sized potato has no more calories than a big orange, or a big apple."

Being generous about protein-rich foods for nutrition requires plenty of lean meat, milk, eggs and lean fish and "if you are underweight you need to turn the tables to put some fat on your bones," say the nutritionists.

"Family Fare" may be obtained by sending 25 cents in cash, NOT stamps, to Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C.)

Milton Berles' Second Divorce

New York, March 31—(AP)—Former showgirl Joyce Matthews has obtained a divorce—for the second time—from television comedian Milton Berles.

Attorney Samuel I. Martman said the divorce was granted yesterday in the Virgin Islands to the blonde Miss Matthews, who was given custody of the couple's daughter, Victoria, four.

The couple first was married in 1941, and divorced in 1947, remarried last June, they separated a few months later.

Czech Gov't Orders Second Newsmen Ousted

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 31 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist-led government today ordered the expulsion of John R. Higgins, lone American representative in the country of the United Press.

It was the second ouster of an American news agency correspondent in two days. Nathan Polowetzky, correspondent for the Associated Press, was ordered Wednesday to leave the country before April 1.

Refusing to renew Higgins' accreditation, the Czech foreign ministry accused him of a "constant tendency towards unobjective reporting." The same accusations had been made against Polowetzky.

Church Suffers, but Is Triumphant

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 21:1-16; 1 Peter 4:12-19; Revelation 7:9-17.

When Jesus and His apostles were near Jerusalem, Jesus sent two disciples to Bethphage, saying that they would find an ass and her colt; they were to bring the animals to Him, telling anyone who asked that the Lord had need of them.

The disciples put their clothes on the ass and seated Jesus on her, and multitudes spread their garments in the way, and many went before, crying, Hosanna to the Son of David; blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord.

The next day, in Jerusalem, Jesus went into the temple and cast out the money changers, rebuking them, saying they were making the holy place a den of thieves. And the lame and the blind came to Him and He healed them.

The chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things Jesus did, and were "sore displeased." They objected to children crying Hosannas; Jesus said, "Have ye never read out of the mouth of babes thou hast perfected praise?"

MEMORY VERSE—Matthew 21:9.

Church Suffers, but Is Triumphant

PERSECUTED, IT SURVIVES THROUGH FAITH

Scripture—Matthew 21:1-16; 1 Peter 4:12-19; Revelation 7:9-17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

PERSECUTIONS are as old as man. When a man or group of men disagree with the rulers of the state or of the established religion—any religion—they are imprisoned, tortured, put to death.

We see this today—men brought to trial, suffering for their religion, for their disagreement with tyrannical rulers. So it was in Jesus' time.

This religion, this early church of righteous men who believed so firmly in the Savior; who revered Him and His mighty works, was bitterly resented by the rulers of the land and of the established Jewish religion.

The lesson today is one we always read with pleasure—even delight. It tells of Jesus' moment of earthly triumph, which ended at the end of that same week in His tragic trials, and crucifixion.

Jesus traveled from Jericho toward Jerusalem. He reached Bethany on Friday evening. The next day was the Sabbath, which he would spend in meditation (most thronged the way, eager to see this Man—this Prophet—of Whom they had heard so much.

"And a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees, and strewed them in the way. And the multitudes that went before, and that followed, cried, saying Hosanna to the Son of David; Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

Next day Jesus visited the temple and for the second time cleansed it of the money-changers and of those that bought and sold the doves used in the service. He overthrew the tables and seats, and told them: "It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

"And the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple; and He healed them."

Of course this infuriated the chief priests and scribes, who took notice of all He did and said. They hated the children crying in the temple, "Hosanna to the Son of David."

They said to Him, "Hearst Thou what these say?" And likely at Lazarus' home—the Lazarus whom He had raised from the dead).

Next day—Sunday—came His triumphant entry into Jerusalem, acclaimed by the people as the "Son of David."

They came near to Jerusalem, near Bethpage and the Mount of Olives. Two of Jesus' disciples were chosen to go to the village where they would find an ass (donkey) with a colt. These they were to bring to Him.

If anyone questioned them, they were simply to say, "The Lord hath need of them." The two obeyed. They asked no questions, hesitated not a moment. They were not afraid they would be arrested as horse thieves. They did as their Master told them.

They found the ass and colt as He had said, and took them to the Lord. They threw their clothes on the donkey and seated Jesus on her back.

A very great multitude had collected—many pilgrims returning home to Jerusalem spread the word of His coming to believers. Many curious persons, doubtless,

Jesus answered them from the Old Testament scripture: "Yea, have ye never read, 'Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise?'"

Then He left and went again to His friends in Bethany.

Peter utters some comforting words for all martyrs in his first letter: "Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when His glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy."

In his Revelation, John adds further comfort to those persecuted for Christ's sake: He pictures Jesus' throne in the new Jerusalem, with the angels and many dressed in white robes.

"And I said unto him (one of the elders), what are these which are arrayed in white robes? . . . And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

Deny Wild Story Burlap Bags Providing Profits

Washington, March 31—(AP)—Fantastic stories are being told of huge profits being made by buying of surplus government potatoes just to get the burlap bags in which they are packed.

One story reaching the Agriculture Department—the agency which buys surplus spuds from farmers under a price support program—tells of a man who bought 2,500,000 bushels of the potatoes and cleared $150,000 on sale of the empty bags.

The story said the man paid one cent for each 100-pound bag for the potatoes, another cent to get the spuds dumped and then sold the bags for 15 cents each.

But trade sources report that used bags bring between 9 and 12 cents, not 15 cents.

Agriculture Department officials said the story is untrue. In the first place, they said, no such quantity has been sold to a single buyer. In the second place, they added, the story ignores the fact that a buyer of surplus spuds must pay transportation costs from point of purchase to point of use. Only those potatoes which are shipped considerable distances are put in bags.

Selling Blood To Purchase Liquor

Los Angeles, March 31—(AP)—The Winos from Skid Row have found an even faster way to replace the blood in their veins with alcohol, says Dr. Phoebus Berman, medical director of General hospital.

Numerous charity patients are showing up with mysteriously low blood counts. Investigation usually indicates the patients have been selling their blood to commercial blood banks for $4 a pint and using the $4 to buy liquor.

price of the surplus potatoes, plus the cost of transportation, is averaging more than the value of the salvaged bags, officials said. Thus, they declared, there is no incentive to buy the spuds for the bags alone.

Sixty-five per cent of the surplus spuds are being sold to farmers for livestock feed. The only spuds bagged are those which must be shipped distances costing 10 cents for 100 pounds or more in freight. Otherwise, they are sold in the bulk.

Sam Bundy Adds To Speech Engagements In Coming Weeks

Sam D. Bundy, principal of the Farmville High School, has accepted six new speaking engagements. In his capacity as president of the North Carolina Christian Church Laymen's League he will speak to the Laymen's League of the Bell Arthur Christian Church tonight at 6:30 and on May 4 he will speak at the Southeastern District at Southwood Memorial Church.

On April 7 Mr. Bundy will be guest speaker at the Winterville High school Junior-Senior Banquet and on April 21 will be guest speaker at the Stokes High school Junior Senior Banquet. On Saturday April 22, Mr. Bundy will speak to a class at East Carolina Teachers College on Teacher Personnel Relationship.

At the annual convention of the Home Life Insurance Company to be held on July 20 at the Ocean Forest Hotel at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, Mr. Bundy will be the featured speaker at the Fellowship Banquet.

Stokes Classes Stage Minstrel

The Junior and Sophomore classes of Stokes High School presented a minstrel in Stokes High School auditorium March 24. This minstrel was presented to raise money for the Junior and Senior class banquet to be held in the high school gymnasium on April 21.

The characters in the minstrel were as follows: Interlocutor, Willis Wilson; Pete Paddlefoot, Helen Futre; Jasper Joblot, Joyce James; Chuck Crowfoot, Robert Elks; and Mush Muddle, Earl Butler.

A quartet composed of Jennie Rae Bullock, Gaye Cobb, Marshall Whitehurst, and Benjamin James sang spirituals, and popular songs. In the popular line of music they sang "For Me and My Gal," "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," and "Ragmopp." Among spirituals, they sang "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," "Study War No More," and others.

Specials rendered were "Blues Stay Away from Me," by (Chuck) Robert Elks; "Study War No More," by (Pete) Helen Futre; "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," by (Interlocutor) Willis Wilson and Marshall Whitehurst.

There were two "trouble-makers" in the group, they were John Graham Cherry and Helen Eberidge. The minstrel was directed by Miss Phillips, high school teacher of Stokes High School. A large number attended.

Harry Bridges' Perjury Trial To Jury Today

San Francisco, March 31—(AP)—After 81 days and more than 2,000,000 words of testimony, the Harry Bridges perjury trial goes to a jury today. Eight men and four women jurors will decide, in effect, whether Bridges was a Communist when he obtained U.S. citizenship.

Bridges, 49-year-old Australian-born CIO longshore chief, is charged with lying in swearing he was not and never had been a Communist when he received his naturalization papers in 1945.

Two of his union aides, J. R. Robertson and Henry Schmidt, also are on trial. They are charged with conspiracy because they supported Bridges' statement that he was not a Communist.

Ten Clergymen Tried By Czechs

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 31—(AP)—Ten Roman Catholic abbots and monks went on trial in Prague State Court today, charged with high treason, spying for the Vatican and anti-state activities.

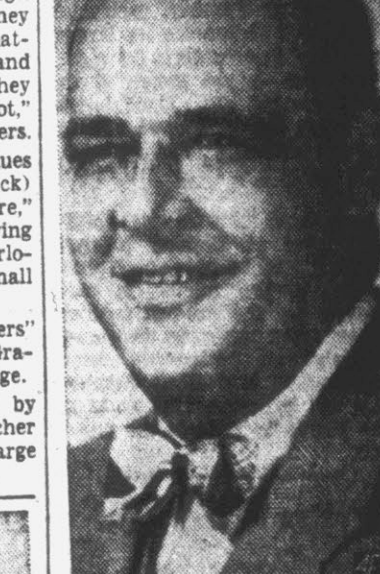

The official news agency said three of the defendants "are equivalent to the rank of bishop."

There had been no advance notice of the trial, the largest of Roman Catholic clergymen to be made known by the Communist regime thus far.

U.S., Canadian Businessmen In Asheville Meet

Asheville, N. C., March 31—(AP)—How the United States and Canada can link their defense in the cold war will be discussed by businessmen of the two countries here next month.

The plans will be laid before the spring meeting of the Canada-U. S. committee April 27-29. It is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the Canadian chamber of commerce.

The U. S. Chamber has made these recommendations:

- 1 Reciprocal defense purchasing between the two countries.
  - 2 Interchange of natural resources.
- For example, the businessmen want to make it easier for the U. S. to get uranium, used in the atomic bomb, from Canada, while Canada could get trucks, planes and big guns from this country.

Big Mistake

Toledo, O., March 31—(AP)—Ed Shea, Toledo appliance dealer, thought he was a millionaire for a few minutes yesterday afternoon.

He got a cashier's check from a Toledo bank through the mail. It was officially counterfeited and made out for $2,000,000.

He had been expecting a $300 check from a discounted bank note.

The bank cashier sheepishly explained an error had been made—but he couldn't tell how.

Unhappy Elephant Had To Be Pushed Aboard Train

Sarasota, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Minnie the elephant, unhappy over the execution of Dolly, her stablemate, refused yesterday to board a train for the trip to New York and the opening of the circus.

Minnie finally went aboard, pulled by a tractor, dragged by two elephants and pushed by another. But she required more than an hour.

Her stablemate, Dolly, was executed Wednesday because after 27 years of docile behavior, she turned killer. She wrapped her trunk around five-year-old Edgar Rogers Schooley, killed him under a rope and crushed his head with a massive foot.

The usual excitement and bustle of departure day swept the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey winter quarters. All the elephants but one tramped readily up ramps and into cars.

The one was Minnie. For 26 years she and Dolly had grown up and worked together, munched peanuts together. Minnie swung easily up to the ramp, then waited for Dolly to fall in alongside her.

But Dolly was dead and buried. Minnie refused to budge. It required the tractor, an elephant chained on each side and another pushing to get Minnie aboard.

Twenty-nine elephants made the trip, and two more will be added in New York.

Missed Sample

Pitt County ABC Officers J.M. Ward and Claude Manning seized and destroyed a small illicit whiskey distillery about two miles northwest of Grifton Thursday afternoon. The still was hot.

The officers arrested Philip Payton, Negro operator, of the same community, after a long foot-race through a swamp.

The still was a 50-gallon "drum" type. The officers found 50 gallons of mash and a 10-gallon cooler barrel. The distillery was new and in operation for the first time. Payton said it was his first run and that the officers had not given him time to make a drink for himself.

Payton was unable to provide bond for his appearance in County Recorder's Court and is in jail.

Prohibition For Indian Province

Bombay, India, March 31—(AP)—The bars closed down in Bombay province last night, with complete prohibition scheduled for the area's 30,000,000 citizens in a week.

Until April 6, when the provincial legislature's new prohibition law takes effect Indians can drink up what they have at home. Then all stocks are to be sealed and the only source will be the bootleggers.

The city of Bombay, population of 3,000,000, will become the largest legally "dry" metropolis in the world.

Prohibition—a pet project of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi—was tried before the last world war for two years in Bombay and other major Indian cities. The British repealed it.

The present ban in the 114,000 square miles of Bombay province concludes a four-year progressive reduction in the number of bars. Observers say the gradual program has been accompanied by the growth of an elaborate underworld system of speakeasies and illicit distillers. Police will be augmented by 16,000 home guards to enforce the prohibition.

Destroyer Hunts Sub Near Coast

Eureka, Calif., March 31—(AP)—The Navy destroyer Colahan prowled the Pacific today, hunting a mystery submarine sighted five miles off northern California. Planes also were searching.

The Navy, after listening with some skepticism to several recent reports of unidentified submarines in this area, took a more serious view this time—a Navy pilot made the report. The only United States submarine known to be in west coast waters was southbound from San Francisco to San Diego.

The unidentified submarine was seen in the same vicinity where Al Chisholm reported Feb. 21 he saw a submarine which he said resembled a German model known to be used by the Russians. Chisholm had flown previously for the British Royal Air Force, the Navy said then "Chisholm's report cannot be discounted."

A foreign submarine is within its rights in moving within three miles of the mainland.

The pilot of a Navy patrol plane reported yesterday afternoon that he sighted the periscope of a submarine 40 miles at sea off Cape Mendocino, 30 miles south of here.

Soloists and ensembles from the Greenville schools winning "superior" ratings at the recent contest-festival held on the ECTC campus have been invited to appear on various programs planned for the 15th annual Community Arts Festival now in progress.

Such an ensemble is the Clarinet Quartet trained by James E. Rogers, band director at the Greenville High School. The quartet will appear on the Home Demonstration Club Fashion Revue program on Saturday afternoon, April 1, at 3:30 p. m.

The ensemble will play "Fuguerest" by Frankiger. Personnel of the quartet is as follows: Billy Landing, Bobby Browning, Deanie Roebuck and Jimmy Piver.

First Shipment Of U.S. Arms To Italy Is Loaded

New York, March 31—(AP)—The first shipment of American arms to Italy under the Atlantic pact program was loaded aboard the American Export Lines freighter Exilona today.

In a ceremony at the Brooklyn Army Base just before the army ground equipment was hoisted aboard, James Bruce, American director of the billion dollar rearmament program, predicted the arms will bring prosperity and stability to the Italian people.

"As security for all is promoted," Bruce said, "the people of Italy, like those of the United States and other treaty nations, will reap visible rewards in the creation of an atmosphere more favorable to prosperity and stability."

Announces Hadacol Rationing

SENATOR DUDLEY J. LeBLANC

The continued increasing demand for HADACOL, one of the truly great medical discoveries given to the world by Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc, has made it necessary to decrease the ration allowance on HADACOL from six to two bottles.

"We placed the limit at two bottles to a customer only after trying every other alternative," said Senator LeBlanc in Lafayette, La. "The demand for HADACOL has increased 1000 per cent in the past year."

"When I created HADACOL I read every available authoritative medical and drug book in order to use the very finest ingredients regardless of cost. I read on page 234, U. S. Dispensary, 23rd edition, that 'Toretically Calcium Glycerophosphate should for many purposes be superior to most other calcium salts because it represents both calcium and phosphoric acid in a soluble combination.'

"Little did I realize when I made Calcium Glycerophosphate a part of the now famous HADACOL formula that in time the demand for this great medical discovery—HADACOL—would be so great that we would use up the entire available supply in the United States of this product."

Yes, in HADACOL, Senator LeBlanc envisioned the medicine that would bring blessings to folks of all ages. Perhaps others could have placed the same ingredients in a medicine, but it remained for him to develop a formula which contains the most expensive ingredients of their kind. For instance, he uses Vitamin B-6 which costs at the factory $550 a kilogram, which is less than half a gallon.

At the present time it is difficult to predict how long the shortage of HADACOL will continue. It is still being merchandised in less than a third of the nation and is being denied to all foreign countries because of the production bottlenecks.

Senator LeBlanc was the first candidate for Governor in Louisiana to advocate the Old Age Pension. In fact, it is said by some that he was the first public official to talk about specific Old Age Assistance in the United States.

His heart has always beaten in sympathy with the cause of the down-trodden, and with that very thought in mind he developed a medical formula known as HADACOL that is now sweeping the Southland. People are singing the praises of HADACOL everywhere it is sold.

Senator LeBlanc has served his people in public life faithfully and well. In private life he brings to you a service which is appreciated by suffering humanity—HADACOL.

And, as he has so often said to his enemies and to those who opposed his Old Age Pension: "Let me quote you an ancient mandate of God Himself:

"Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."
So it is that there is a man who has worked untiringly for the cause of the common man, the infirm and the sickly, and by his past activities in behalf of these people you have the assurance that what he has produced in HADACOL he believes to be the best for you that money can buy.

So, if you have been sickly for a long time and you can't find the cause, then you owe it to yourself to try HADACOL. Why not be wise? Don't be satisfied with temporary relief. Get after the cause of your trouble. And, as so often, it's because you need this amazing health-building, nerve and tissue repairing HADACOL formula. Millions of people have been benefited by it. So don't you think that you owe it to yourself to give this great medicine a chance to help you? Remember the name HADACOL! Remember the man who discovered this remedy! Remember his activities in behalf of the poor, the humble and the needy! Don't delay. Start using HADACOL—you and your family—today!

We are asking our customers to have patience, and accept no substitute. Insist on the genuine HADACOL! Remember there is nothing that was ever made but what it could be made worse and sold for less, and that is what you call imitation.

Trial size only $1.25. But if you are so fortunate as to obtain the large family or hospital size, we urge you to save money—only $3.50.

Modified N. C. Election Laws Fail To Cure Recognized Evils

By LYNN NISBET
 Raleigh, March 31—There are some queer provisions in North Carolina's election laws, most of which have come about through partial amendments which failed to completely cure evils recognized in former statutes.

absentee ballots can be used in the general election held in November, but not in the primary which is actually the election in North Carolina. Exception to this rule is that members of the armed forces may vote absentee in the primary. Civilian government workers living in the District of Columbia cannot vote at all unless they travel home for the purpose. A Washington worker who lives in Maryland or Virginia may, if he or she desires, register and vote there under laws prevailing in those states. If the worker lives in the District—no vote. Very few people will contend this is fair—but it's the law.

Then there are the quirks about candidates filing for office. The primary system is supposed to be democratic, in that it ostensibly permits every citizen to vote for the candidate of his choice. It doesn't do any such thing. The voting is limited to choice among the men or women who decide they want to run for office and put up enough money to get their names printed on the ballots.

If just one person decides to run for an office, there is no vote. That person is certified as the party nominee—not because the party members wanted him, but because he wanted the job and nobody else chose to challenge him. If just two persons file for an office and one of them decides to quit before election, the people have no choice. The remaining candidate becomes the nominee. But—here's where lots of folks got wrong lately—if just two candidates file and one of them dies before the primary, the board of elections can reopen the books, let as many candidates as desire get in the race, and fix a date for a special primary.

Your reporter sent out a story the other day in good faith and based on conversations with several people who ought to have known better, to the effect that if one of the candidates filed for the United States senate full term seat should die before the primary, the other would become the nominee. That was not correct. The statutes set out that in such event the board of elections shall reopen the books for filing and fix the date for a special primary.

This question became apropos when Marshall Kurfess withdrew from the contest for the full senate term. His voluntary withdrawal leaves Senator Clyde Hoey as the party nominee. But, if Kurfess had died Senator Hoey would not have become automatically the nominee of his party. A special primary election would have been required.

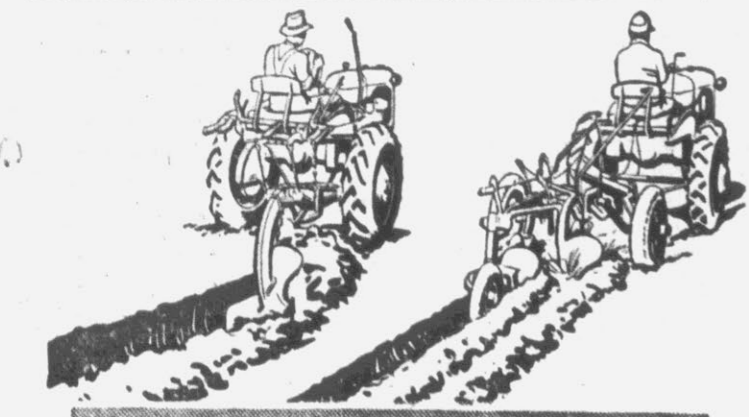

It is almost unanimously conceded that Senator Hoey will be and that he would have been under any circumstances, re-elected to the United States senate. It is believed a vast majority of North Carolinians would have voted for

Predicts House To Reverse Vote
 Washington, March 30—(AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn predicted today the house will reverse its "terribly unfortunate" vote to withhold foreign aid from Britain until Ireland is united.

Rayburn, Texas Democrat (told a news conference he does not think the house, on a roll-call vote, will stick to yesterday's teller vote decision. There may be a roll call on the question late today, but perhaps not until tomorrow.

Pleads Guilty To Aiding Abortion

Sanford, N.C., arch 31—(AP)—An unmarried woman has pleaded guilty to a charge of aiding Dr. R. O. Humphrey in an attempt to perform an abortion on her. Meanwhile a jury continued to hear evidence today in the case of the Sanford chiropractor and civic leader accused of attempted abortion.

Miss Delma Pullin, about 40, of Staunton, Va., pleaded guilty last night to a charge of aiding and assisting Dr. Humphrey.

She collapsed in the bus station here last March. Police said she told hospital attendants she had been treated by Dr. Humphrey that morning.

The middle-aged chiropractor, married and the father of two children, is a member of the Lee County Board of Education. He is chairman of the Sanford zoning board, and headed civilian defense activities in the city during World War II.

A Lee County Superior Court jury of 12 men is hearing the case. Conviction of the charges would make possible imprisonment from one to five years.

State Department officials disclosed the radio operated by the American consulate general at Peking was sealed last Sunday on orders from Chinese authorities. At Shanghai, Consul General Walter P. McConeaughey reported his radio transmitter was sealed on March 21.

Since that time, official communications to and from Washington have been sent over commercial radio facilities and in clear text.

No attempt has been made to send messages in code, officials said. The messages have gone through without apparent interruption thus far.

Graham Suggests President Sign Farm Price Bill

Raleigh, N. C., March 31—(AP)—Senator Graham (D-NC) has wired President Truman suggesting that he sign the Senate-House compromise farm bill.

"Following up and in line with my other telegram, suggest you sign amendment to agricultural act affecting cotton and other commodities and ask agricultural committees of two houses for overall review of program," the wire read.

The bill, sent to the White House last week, is aimed at tightening price supports under surplus Irish potatoes and permitting increased acreage for cotton and peanuts this year.

Guilford Spoils Baseball Opener For East Carolina, Taking 11-4 Victory

Wildness On The Mound Proves Locals' Downfall; Pirates Broke Into Scoring Column In Ninth Inning Outburst

By BILL LLOYD
Guilford College's baseball team spoiled East Carolina's diamond opener yesterday, defeating the Pirates, 11 to 4.

Wildness of three Pirate pitchers proved to be the downfall for the locals, as the three hurlers issued eleven bases on balls to the Quakers batters.

Guilford's ace twirler, Dewey Wolfe, scattered eleven Pirate hits, and was effective in the pinches, as he went the route for the Quakers, and had the Bucs shutout until the ninth inning.

The Quakers scored one in the first frame, as McCotter walked Ringler with the bases loaded, scoring Ralls.

Two more runs were added in the second inning when Coward led off with a single, took second on a passed ball, and came home on Wolfe's single and an error by the leftfielder. Wolfe scored later on an error by the second baseman.

After the two hectic opening innings, Pirates' pitching ace, Bob McCotter, settled down to shut out the Quakers in the next four innings, with the visitors going hitless.

With two out, and two on base in the top half of the seventh, the Quakers' centerfielder, Wally Maultsby, connected with one of McCotter's pitches, sending it over the head of outfielder Jim Corbin for an inside-the-park home run, giving Guilford a 6-0 lead.

Big frame for the Greensboro nine came in the final stanza, as they combined four walks with one hit batsman, and a single by Wolfe to score five runs.

East Carolina broke their scoring ice in their half of the ninth when Ray Smith led off with a single, reached second on a fielder's choice, and scored with Leon Jones, on a two-base error by the third baseman.

Sauls, pinch-hitting for Hobbs, walked, and came home on the deep single by Stan Terrill, for the Pirates' third run of the inning.

East Carolina rounded out their scoring when Terrill came across the plate on a single by Vernon Jones.

Batting stars for the Quakers were Pitcher Wolfe who had two singles in five trips to the plate, and Outfielder Maultsby who knocked in three runs with his homer.

For the Pirates, freshman Sonny Russell was the leader with three singles in five trips to the plate, while Vernon Jones had a double and single in five trips.

East Carolina plays again today against the Lenoir-Rhyne Bears. Game time is set for 2:30 p.m.

GHS Baseball Team Opens Its Slate In Kinston

Greenville high school's baseball team opens its 1950 Northeastern Conference season this afternoon when it plays Kinston's 1949 champions at Kinston. Game time is slated for 3:30.

As announced by Bo Farley this morning, the starting lineup for Greenville will be practically a 50-50 affair—four graduating seniors and the rest juniors. All the seniors are returning lettermen from last year's squad.

Starting on the mound for the locals will be Bobby Flye, one of two who will see the majority of the pitching duties this season. Behind the plate is another letterman and a junior this year, Leon Moore. Moore did most of the catching last year.

The rest of the infield for today's game consists of Sid Briley, the team's power hitter to date, at first, veteran Billy Jordan at second, Gene Ayers at third and Larry Flye at short. Jordan and Ayers are the other seniors in the infield.

Farley has three good hitters in the outfield, which positions he definitely has filled. In left is Bobby Ferris, a newcomer to the starting lineup, but Farley thinks he'll go a long way toward bringing up the hitting of the team.

The same goes for the other two fielders. In center is Hilton Quinn and in left is Jody Taylor, both first-year men on the team. Both are good hitters.

Kinston has the jump on Greenville in that they have two games under their belts already. They split the two, winning over Snow Hill and losing the other to Goldsboro.

Farley will take 22 players on the trip today in an effort to find the best combination of players for future games.

Handicapped by bad practice weather during the past two weeks, the team hasn't had much chance to work out. Cold weather during the past three days has kept the pitchers indoors, making it almost impossible to determine just what they can do.

However, Farley expressed optimism for today's game. He said the other teams in the conference had had to practice under the same weather conditions. He thought the team, although inexperienced as a working unit, has a pretty good chance this year, provided actual playing can bring out the best combination of talents among the players.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 31—(AP)—Tommy Fenick, the New York Yankees' No. 1 casualty, frank-corn doesn't know whether he'll be in shape to play when the season opens in three weeks.

The personable first baseman, one of the most valuable cogs in the Yankee machine, has been hobbled by an injury to his left knee that has kept him out of all but the first three exhibition games.

"I won't know for a day or two whether to be concerned or not," he said today following a lengthy session with Trainer Gus Mauch.

"The knee has improved somewhat since I hurt it again on March 13," he continued. "But it still gives me some pain. I'm going to test it in a day or two with some straight running. If it will hurt me to run, then I guess I'll have something to worry about."

Henrich said he made the mistake of trying to work the knee back into condition after twisting it in a game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I first decided to work it out figuring it would improve," Henrich said. "But instead of strengthening the knee, the exercise only weakened it. About a week ago I decided to give the knee a thorough rest and I think it is coming around. I'll know for sure when I try to run."

Rocky's Rough..... by Pap

Rocky Graziano grew up on the sidewalks of New York, did his early fighting there and is simply unhappy when he is away from his familiar sights and old haunts. The former middleweight champion was barred from New York rings for almost three years and when he was reinstated last fall, he knocked out Charlie Fusari in the tenth and final round of their bout in the Polo Grounds.

Graziano dropped from the picture for a while after he was knocked out by Tony Zale in their third title meeting in Jersey City. Chagrined over his failure to retain the championship he won from Zale in Chicago, Rocky could not face his old friends. He felt that he had let them down. He even wanted to make up their losses in betting on the outcome of the bout. His reinstatement in New York restored "face" to a degree and it wasn't long before Rocky resumed strutting again.

Once again, Rocky is eyeing the middleweight crown. Jake LaMotta and Rocky were neighborhood pals and, as such, often fought. Rocky insists that he was master of LaMotta in their kid days and could win decisively should the champion give him a shot at the title. For all his varied experiences, Graziano is only 28 years old. And as long as he packs the mule's kick in either fist, Rocky must be given a chance of stopping any middleweight he faces.

Graziano Fights Janiro At Garden; Plans Kayo

New York, March 31—(AP)—Rocky Graziano returns to the Madison Square Garden ring tonight for the first time in four years. And the former middleweight champion aims to celebrate the occasion by knocking out Tony Janiro.

"I look to lay him out," said The Rock without even cracking a smile. The rough, tough New Yorker and the handsome, 22-year-old Janiro are scheduled to go ten rounds. It's even money that Rocky stops Tony and 1 to 3 that he wins.

Despite the big odds favoring the 28-year-old Graziano, a large crowd of around 16,000 is anticipated for the Rock's homecoming in the palace of sock.

The touse-haired ex-champ last appeared in the Garden on March 29, 1946, when he knocked out Marty Servo in two rounds.

Rocky has shown only once in his home state since his suspension troubles started some three years ago. He stopped Charlie Fusari in the tenth and last round at the Polo Grounds last September.

It was an upset over the same Fusari which enabled Janiro to move back into a Garden main bout. The playboy-fighter, who says he's forsaken the bright lights for good, outpointed Fusari in Detroit last January.

Way-haired Tony was rated one of the fastest punchers in the trade a few years back. He says he's ripping off the left-right-left combination punches as of old and declares "I'm going to lick him. I also knew I could."

East Carolina Golfers Defeat Visitors, 21-6

East Carolina's undefeated golfers from last year continued their rampage yesterday as they defeated the Guilford College linksters, 21 to 6.

Playing their first match, minus their No. 1 man, Bill Stalls, the Pirate golfers were led by letterman Moulton Massey of Greenville who fired a 76 for the afternoon's lowest score.

Newcomer Walter Wells was also a leader in East Carolina's triumph, shooting only one stroke behind Massey for a 77.

Low scorer for the Quakers was Dick Smithdeal who fired an 81.

The two teams meet again this afternoon at the Greenville Country Club.

Match results:

Bill Stalls Paced All Amateurs At Azalea Open Tournament Yesterday

Bill Stalls, East Carolina's No. 1 golfer, paced all amateur entries during the first round of the Azalea Open golf tournament at Wilmington yesterday.

Stalls, shooting a 73, turned in the top score of the opening round among the Simon-Pures.

The East Carolina ace linkster was bracketed with pros Otto Greiner, Bob Gray, Ontario, Canada; Buck White, Ormond Beach, Fla.; Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa.; Gene Webb, St. Louis, Mo.; Doug Ford, Briarcliff, N.Y.; Roberto Devicenzo, Buenos Aires, Argentina; Glen Teal, Memphis; and Dick Borthwick Lancaster, Ont.

Stalls has been a continuous leader for East Carolina's golf team during the past two years and was runner-up in the North State conference tournament at Greensboro last spring, losing out to Elen's Dave Mondy by only one stroke.

St. Moye, also from Greenville, shot a 76 yesterday, to rank third among the amateurs of the three-day tournament.

George Pazio, firing a five-under-par 67, leads the professional field.

Big Weakness Is Their Pitching

Orlando, Fla., March 31—(AP)—At last it's official: The Washington Senators have a good ball club except for the pitching.

Manager Bucky Harris said so yesterday after Rookies Dick Weik and Earl Davis gave up 12 hits and 10 to 3 victory to the Philadelphia Phils.

It's a shame, said Harris, that an otherwise good ball club suffers from that kind of pitching.

Weightlifters Compete April 15

Chapel Hill, N.C., March 31—(AP)—A Carolinas' AAU invitational weightlifting meet will be held in Woolen gym at Chapel Hill on April 15.

It is sponsored by the University of North Carolina.

A novice lifters class, for those who have never won a first- or second-place award in AAU weightlifting competition, will be included this year for the first time since 1944.

It is usually the rider and not the horse who makes mistakes on jumps. Experts point out that a horse which loses its rider and then takes a jump down falls.

Both major baseball leagues continue to schedule increasing numbers of night games.

Cincinnati Reds Are Big Hitters In Early Tests

Tampa, Fla., March 31—(AP)—The New York Yankees threw the blocks in yesterday but the Cincinnati Reds still are providing the spring training "murderers' row."

No one figured the Reds to be more than a mild zephyr in the National League pennant race. They still may be only that but as of now they're the big wind of the Florida Grapefruit League.

Even with yesterday's 14 to 2 trouncing by the Yankees they still have won 12 of 17 spring training games.

That's only half of the story. The hitting has been terrific. The average through those 17 games has been .384 for the team as a whole. The boys have banded out 31 doubles, nine triples and 22 home runs.

All of that is a bit amazing to Cincinnati fans who have become accustomed in recent years to a weak hitting ball club.

One of the biggest surprises has been Ted Kluszewski, the huge first baseman who moves around like a washer woman most of the time. Kluszewski was a holdout and showed up late. The dope was he might lose his job to Joe Adcock, up from Tulsa, but big Ted, a former Indiana University football star, took over in a hurry. As of yesterday he was hitting .412 with four doubles, a triple and four home runs. It's a bit hard to keep a guy out of the lineup with that kind of hitting.

He's doped to back at first base when the season opens.

Johnny Wyrostek, another player who looked like he was on his way out last year, has had a spring training session that is almost as good. He's hitting .300 and his 17 hits have included two doubles, three triples and four home runs.

Pirate Netters Bow To Guilford

Coach Howard Porter's tennis team lost their opening match to the Guilford College Quakers yesterday, 4 to 3.

Guilford edged the Pirate netters as they gained four out of five single matches in yesterday's matches.

Newcomer Dick Palmer won the only singles match for East Carolina, defeating Guilford's Rives in two straight sets, 6-1, 6-4.

East Carolina's doubles teams, made up of Art Holland and Gorrill Bass, and Dave Jones and Dick Palmer, shut out the Quakers in winning both their matches.

Yesterday's results:
Singles:
Palmer (EC) defeated Rives 6-1, 6-4.
Ayusara (G) defeated Holland, 6-2, 6-2.
Bissett (G) defeated Bass, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1.
Watson (G) defeated Jones, 9-7, 6-4.
Fine (G) defeated Garrell, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1.
Doubles:
Holland and Bass (EC) defeated Rives and Ayusara, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3.
Jones and Palmer (EC) defeated Watson and Bissett, 6-4, 6-3.

Two Platoons In Tribe Outfield

Tucson, Ariz., March 31—(AP)—Cleveland's Indians will use a two-platoon system in the outfield this season, alternating against right and left-handed pitching, Manager Lou Boudreau said today.

DISLIKES BULL PEN

Sarasota, Fla., March 31—(AP)—White emphasizing "the club has treated me swell," Catcher Matt Batts would rather have his name go up on waivers than become bull pen catcher for the Boston Red Sox.

Big George Mikan continues to burn up the National Basketball Association circuit. This year only one of the many writers who picked the association all star squad failed to name him for the first team spot.

Basketball's 2-Minute Rule Is Discarded By Nat'l Group

New York, March 31 (AP) Basketball's controversial two-minute rule, cause of much fuss throughout the past season, won't come around for an encore next season.

The National Basketball committee, the Amateur Sport's top rules body, yesterday threw out the two-minute experiment after a try-out of one year.

Teams in the United States and Canada now will play under the same code for the full 40 minutes.

The committee followed the recommendation of the National Association of Basketball coaches, whose convention preceded the rules meeting.

The rules committee reemphasized the present regulation on intentional fouls, recommending that referees enforce it by giving an additional free throw.

Because of laxity in enforcing the international foul rule, the two-minute experiment was voted last year. Under it, a team fouled in the last two minutes got its free throw and possession of the ball.

But operation of the two-minute regulation brought protests from a majority who contended it virtually wiped out the chance for a team to come from behind in the final 120 seconds.

Now a fouled team either can take the shot or waive it to keep possession.

The committee also passed the following rules:
1 Clock to be stopped on all jump balls.
2 Substitutions to be made only when the clock is stopped for a foul, a jump ball, a time out or for an unusual delay. If subs are sent in at any other time a time out is charged.
3 The Molded ball will be the only official ball.
4 A player charged with a foul must raise his hand over his head, otherwise a technical foul will be charged.

Trade Rumors By Giants Persist

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31—(AP)—Trade talks involving the New York Giants continue to cause speculation as to where or when they'll get a left-handed pinch-hitter.

Giants and Chicago Cub officials huddled yesterday, after which Manager Leo Durocher of the New Yorkers said, "We are no closer to a deal now than we were before we met. Yes, we discussed players, but no one in particular. There may be something popping in the next two or three days, but not necessarily with the Cubs."

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Black Ian Walks Again

By Florence Kerrigan

Chapter 11
"Is he still here?" I asked. "Where did he come from?"
"Oh—I dunno. From Lunnion or some place yonder. But he left one night last week. He was just a holiday tripper, I expect."
I talked a little longer with the old man, and then approached the man at the inn desk. He remembered the man I sought. "Oh, yes," he said at once. "Mr. Lansing from Manchester. Are you asking in regard to his luggage, sir?"
"His luggage?"
"Yes, sir. He went out three days ago and did not return. He left his luggage, and of course we are holding his room for him."
"Oh, I said, "No. I learned he was interested in the castle and thought I'd look him up. You have no idea where he went or when he'll be back, I suppose?"
"No sir, I haven't," replied the clerk. "But he probably took one of the personally conducted tours up into the lake country, and will return shortly. Shall I let you know?"
I gave him my name and told him I was staying at the castle, and left.
"Now," I said to Steve, "will you believe I saw the body?"
Steve grinned. "We'll certainly report it to the police now," he said. "But what about the missing body? What can we say?"
"We can tell them the circumstances, and at least we know the man is missing. Let them work on that for a while."
Steve called the Yard and a few minutes of conversation followed. Then he told me what he had learned. "Lansing was a Scotland Yard man," he explained to me afterwards. "He was sent here to investigate the death of a man several weeks ago. The body was washed ashore a distance down the coast. It was a clear case of murder, and the tracing of currents and tides and so on brought the investigator to the village of Quayle. There he discovered there was considerable talk about the present lord of the castle and the so-called walking of a legendary character who died centuries ago. Smelling something rotten in Denmark, Lansing was following the lead according to his last report."

"I sat by while they examined Malcolm," he added.
"What will they do to him?"
"Nothing. In fact he's home now."
"But after all," I protested, "if he did it once he might do it again! Did he confess?"
"Oh, no." Steve looked at me thoughtfully. "Did you really think Malcolm had killed him—or were you only hoping?"
"Ever since he attacked me," I said. "Before that—"
"No. He just saw it done, and like a child he's been acting out the scene when he thinks no one is around. One morning when he replaced the boat after taking Lansing out, Malcolm said, a voice called him very softly, and he followed it along the passage. He followed the sound of the voice, and suddenly there was a light and he saw Black Ian himself. He described the dress faithfully and insisted that he had never before seen clothes like it—a man wearing velvet and silk and lace ruffles and a sword and with his hair in a pigtail behind."
"Malcolm said he turned and ran out of the cavern and heard Black Ian laugh. Lansing was as the top of the cliff by that time, but when Malcolm told him of his experience he hurried down and joined him in another exploration of the passage. They did not go far, Malcolm says, before Black Ian appeared and knocked Lansing down. In falling Lansing struck his head and was stunned. Black Ian stabbed him. Malcolm watched, afraid to move, and when Black Ian had gone, Malcolm ran away."
"Now you see," Steve added whimsically, "why they can't make an immediate arrest. Malcolm is telling the truth, and you can't arrest a man who's been dead for several centuries!"

Judges Award Ribbons To Children's Art Exhibits

BY CHESTER WALSH

The public school art exhibits in connection with the 15th annual Greenville Art Festival, at the National Guard Armory, on Evans street, is one of the distinctive features of the annual springtime event.

Hundreds of school children—white and Negro—with their teachers, visited the art exhibits.

James A. Walker, art counselor for the ECTC training school and the city schools, who directed the placement of the hundreds of pictures and sculpture, said the exhibits were exceptionally creditable.

A special feature of the display is the menagerie, including animals from the polar regions to the equator. The statuary exhibits attracted much interest.

Mrs. M. B. Allen, art instructor and counselor for the Negro schools of Greenville, is in charge of exhibits from these schools.

Separate, nearly identical, judgments were made by Miss Dora Childs, Mrs. Georgia Pearsall Hearne and Francis Neel. The three judges expressed the opinion that this year's public school art show is the best ever held in Greenville.

The four main prizes, given by supervision of James A. Walker, were awarded to Jerry Howell, Mary Will Lork, Joe Stiel and Cabell Powell. Red ribbons awarded to the High School art class were received by Joyce Anderson, Sarah Francis Gray, Lena Rose, Margaret McCrary and Jim Pleasant.

Ribbon awards were made to each grade in the schools. First grade, Emily Stancill; second, Goldis Starling, third, Alice Hutchins and Paul Sutton; fourth, Mildred Bowden; fifth, J. C. Cannon; sixth, Charles Hollingsworth; seventh, Ann Williams, Faye Jackson and Dewey Griffith.

Honorable (red) ribbons were awarded to the following: first grade, Sonny Hodges; second, Loyd Horton; third, Sammy Pollard; fourth, Mildred Cherry; fifth, Margaret Phelps, Barbara Mize; seventh, F. Mitchell Johnson.

The children from the Negro schools, under the supervision of Mrs. Madge Allen, who were awarded similar first awards were: James Forbes, Bobby Lilley, John Outterbridge and Ann Garrett. Ribbons were awarded to one person in each grade as follows:

First grade, David Short; second, Calvin DeLoach; fourth, Curtis Evans; fifth, Glennie Burnett; sixth, Lorraine Ebron; seventh, Warren Outterbridge.

The children's art exhibit will be open to the public until 9 o'clock tonight and tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 2 p. m. The public is invited.

Pactolus Children Visit Reflector; Tour Art Exhibit

Thirty-two members of the fifth grade of Pactolus school yesterday afternoon were taken on a tour of inspection of the plant at The Daily Reflector to familiarize themselves with the operations in publishing a newspaper.

The class, under the direction of Mrs. Thelma B. Cherry, has been studying newspapers in their classroom work recently, and earlier this week were invited to visit the Reflector plant.

The group saw in operation the direction of Miss Beatrice Chauncey.

Virginia Moomaw is a teacher of the modern dance which is a division of special emphasis in the physical education department at Woman's College. According to Miss Nell Stallings of the physical education department at ECTC, "the modern dance is an art form of the dance which uses movement as the principal means of expression. It has acquired more depth of meaning and a wider range of creative expression in its development from the early scarf waving interpretative dancing.

"Contemporary exponents of the modern dance are Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey, Charles Weidman, Jose Limon, Ted Shawn and Ruth St. Denis. The Graham technique is probably the most widely used by students of the modern dance today. One principal of modern dance technique is the use of the trunk of the body as the origin of movements rather than the limbs. For accompaniment, modern dancers use piano, rhythm, the spoken word, poems, rhythm established by the sound of the dancers feet or full symphony orchestra. A modern dance might set a mood, tell a story, satirize, depict current happenings or simply express basic emotions."

The public is cordially invited to attend this program. There is no admission charge.

recently installed photo-electric engraver, the Associated Press teletype machines in the Reflector newsroom, the linotype machines, the composing and stereotype departments and the press room. The members of the class asked questions of their guide during the tour of the newspaper plant, and the questions were answered along with an explanation of the various operations the members of the class witnessed.

People of the Pactolus community who furnished transportation to Greenville yesterday for the members of the fifth grade were Mrs. B. T. Eastwood, Charlie Dixon, W. H. Morgan and Wilbur Thomas Singleton.

After visiting the Reflector, members of the class visited the exhibit of art work by school children of Pitt County which is on display at the Greenville armory in conjunction with the Community Arts Festival.

Members of the Pactolus school class who visited the Reflector were:

Mary E. Harris, Jeannette Meeks, Jeanne Meeks, Barbara Buck, Patricia Morgan, Dorothy Eastwood, Cora Roach, Joy Furguson, Jewel Carter, Peggy Griffin, Kay Gurganus, Alva Chauncey, Bettie Lou Eastwood, Glenda Evans, Trevlyn Ward, Shirley Dixon, Roy Briley, Ben Lee, Jimmie Hudson, Johnnie Harris, Frankie Singleton, Bill Tripp, Wayne Harris, John Johnston, Kenneth Beacham, Kenneth Speight, Bobby Harris, Donald Jones, Harvey Campbell, Terry Weatherington, Linwood Davis and Robert Gizzard.

Kiwanis Show

The Kiwanis minstrel show, an annual theatrical event produced under direction of Eli Bloom, will be held at Austin auditorium at East Carolina Teachers College, Wednesday and Thursday, April 12 and 13, at 8:15 p. m. President Tigardner announced today.

Proceeds of the Kiwanis minstrel are for the benefit of the Kiwanis Club's Underprivileged Child Committee fund.

Miss Marjorie Shearin, assistant Home Demonstration agent, said tomorrow's showing of homemade garments by the women of the county will mark the third year the Home Demonstration dress review has been held in conjunction with the Community Arts Festival. "Sewing is one of our fine arts," Miss Shearin commented, "and tomorrow's review is to be a showing of spring garments." She added that in addition to the 4-H girls and Home Demonstration Club members taking part in the review, some of the children of Home Demonstration women will participate in the showing.

Close Balloting For King, Queen Coronation Ball

Balloting was fast and furious yesterday as high school students strove to beat the afternoon deadline in the voting for the king, queen prince and princess who will be crowned tonight at the height of the annual coronation ball, sponsored by the sophomore class.

When polls closed yesterday, the balloting indicated a neck-and-neck race between John House and Julian Vainwright for "king". The voting for queen was nearly as close, with Nancy Proctor and Barbara Russel being the two top vote selections.

For prince, Johnny Russell and Bobby Perry are leading; Barbara Cozart and Carolyn Barnhill were leading the race for princess.

All of the balloting which was done yesterday, and it was heavy will go into the final tabulations to be revealed tonight.

Rev. Leon Russell Speaker Jaycees

The feature of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's supper meeting at the Olde Towne Inn last night was the eloquent after-dinner speech of Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Methodist Memorial Church. Bancroft Moseley, Jaycee president, presented the minister.

"Brotherhood is the spirit of cooperative advancement for progress in the things which make life worth while," Mr. Russell said. His message to the Jaycees was more of a heart-to-heart talk than a formal speech. He stressed the importance of learning to live together and how to get along with people—the races, creeds, colors and temperaments.

The Jaycees gave Mr. Russell a warm reception at the conclusion of his speech and after the meeting.

The matter of having a "Farmers' Day" celebration in Greenville during the late summer was discussed at length. President Moseley appointed John Lautes, Jr., a member of the Farmers' Day Steering Committee to represent the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Many Activities . . .

The one and one-half hour

Enumerators . . .

(Continued from page one) stressed the importance of the census to the people of the county. He said in addition to determining the number of people in the county, the census information will help determine what sort of housing facilities are available, what sort of income the people of the county receive, what crops are raised, and other matters. All of these, he pointed out, are of importance to the people of the county as well as to industries and manufacturers who produce goods for markets.

President Raps . . .

The President, in one of his rare vacation press conferences, came sharply to the defense of Dean Acheson, whom he described as one of the country's greatest secretaries of state. Just as sharply he defended Philip C. Jessup, newly appointed special assistant and advisor to Acheson.

Close Balloting For King, Queen Coronation Ball

Balloting was fast and furious yesterday as high school students strove to beat the afternoon deadline in the voting for the king, queen prince and princess who will be crowned tonight at the height of the annual coronation ball, sponsored by the sophomore class.

When polls closed yesterday, the balloting indicated a neck-and-neck race between John House and Julian Vainwright for "king". The voting for queen was nearly as close, with Nancy Proctor and Barbara Russel being the two top vote selections.

For prince, Johnny Russell and Bobby Perry are leading; Barbara Cozart and Carolyn Barnhill were leading the race for princess.

All of the balloting which was done yesterday, and it was heavy will go into the final tabulations to be revealed tonight.

Rev. Leon Russell Speaker Jaycees

The feature of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's supper meeting at the Olde Towne Inn last night was the eloquent after-dinner speech of Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Methodist Memorial Church. Bancroft Moseley, Jaycee president, presented the minister.

"Brotherhood is the spirit of cooperative advancement for progress in the things which make life worth while," Mr. Russell said. His message to the Jaycees was more of a heart-to-heart talk than a formal speech. He stressed the importance of learning to live together and how to get along with people—the races, creeds, colors and temperaments.

The Jaycees gave Mr. Russell a warm reception at the conclusion of his speech and after the meeting.

The matter of having a "Farmers' Day" celebration in Greenville during the late summer was discussed at length. President Moseley appointed John Lautes, Jr., a member of the Farmers' Day Steering Committee to represent the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"This was one dollar Ed took from me... quick!"

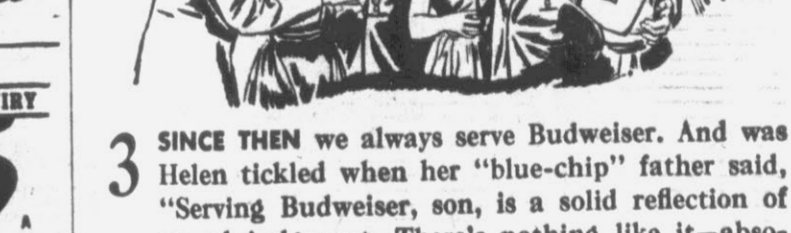

1 WE'D FINISHED bowling and ordered Budweiser. Pointing to the words on the label . . . brewed from choicest hops, rice and best barley malt . . . Ed says, "A dollar if you can find that statement on any other beer label." "Taken," I said!

2 I LOST. "Well," says Ed, "It was a sucker bet. Budweiser proudly prints the ingredients on the label, but try and find them on the label of any other beer."

3 SINCE THEN we always serve Budweiser. And was Helen tickled when her "blue-chip" father said, "Serving Budweiser, son, is a solid reflection of sound judgment. There's nothing like it—absolutely nothing!"

Six Students Go To Drama Event At Chapel Hill

Six members of the Greenville High School dramatics class left this morning to attend the annual Dramatics Festival being held at Chapel Hill today and Saturday.

The group this year will not take part in any productions as they have done in the past. Last year the group produced a skit which was well received at the festival. Two Greenville students were noted for their outstanding dramatic ability while at the festival last year.

The six students who made the trip accompanied by Miss Kay Van Nortwick, student teacher from East Carolina Teachers College, were: Virginius Haynes, Mollie Hester, Barbara Tilley, Janet Waters, Joel Bunch and Ann McCrary.

Mrs. Howard Mims, faculty director of the Dramatics class, will leave later today to be with the group at the festival.

The group will return to Greenville Sunday.

Student Group In Visit To Raleigh

A group of students, who are taking courses in library science at East Carolina Teachers College, spent Thursday, March 30, in Raleigh visiting school libraries, and making a tour of various places of interest in the capital city.

During the day they visited the office of the state School Library Advisor; the book depository of the North Carolina Education Association, from which school libraries buy books at a reasonable discount; and the offices of the State Library Commission. Mrs. Mary P. Douglas, supervisor of Raleigh Public School Libraries, conducted the tour for the visitors from East Carolina.

Those making the trip to Raleigh were Velma Collins of Jacksonville, Frances Gray of Trenton, Lena Evelyn Kite of Vanceboro, and Ernest Connelly of Hopewell, Va. Elizabeth S. Walker, faculty member of the department of library science at the college, accompanied the students to Raleigh.
