Big Army Census Takers Begin Task

Even Before Returns Are In On The Biggest Nose-Count In Nation's History, Officials Have Idea Of Results

Washington, April 1—(AP)—An army of census takers starts the vast job today of counting the people of the United States. Even before the returns are in from the 17th—the biggest—nose-count in the nation's history, officials have a pretty good idea what it will show for the total population: about 151,000,000, plus another 4,000,000 or so in the territories and possessions. But the 145,000 census takers are seeking other information as well, in their once-every-ten-years door-to-door quiz: your name, address, age, sex, race, marital status, occupation, income, whether you own your own home... about 60 basic questions in all. The question about income—which will be put to one out of every five persons—has stirred considerable Republican wrath. But Census Bureau officials say similar questions have been included in the census for 100 years. President Truman, in a census proclamation issued two weeks ago, declared that "no person can be harmed in any way by furnishing the information required," adding that it won't be used for such things as taxation, investigation, or law enforcement. By law, the answers to the questions can be used only for statistical purposes, and must be kept strictly confidential otherwise. Officially, the reason for the census is to determine anew how many House members will be allotted to each state. The number is based on a population count. California is expected to be the big gainer this year, picking up about seven seats. Census takers figure to finish their big house-to-house job in about two weeks in the cities, and in about two more in rural areas. It will take until around Dec. 1 to add up the population figures, and months more to tabulate the other statistics. Officials estimate the whole job will cost about $80,000,000—twice as much as it did ten years ago. The enumerators are expected to count about 1,100 persons apiece, taking about 10 minutes for each call, and traveling a total of more than 25,000,000 miles to do the job.

Stresses Import Of Full Census Returns

C-of-C Manager Willard Kyzer Lists Reasons For Fullest Cooperation In Greenville And Pitt Census-Taking

There are many reasons why complete census returns are of prime importance to residents of Greenville. It was pointed out today by Willard T. Kyzer, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, in discussing the 17th decennial census of the United States which got under way today. Kyzer listed some of the reasons for local cooperation in the 1950 census as follows: "1 The population count for each city combined with that of all other places in the state will determine the state's number of representatives in the state legislature. "3 Our city Greenville for the next 10 years will be ranked in all official population reports according to the 1950 count. This becomes important, aside from more pride of numbers and size, when businessmen consider new locations for stores and factories which mean local employment; when government authorities plan the development of public utilities and services; and when legislative bodies consider action on the distribution of school aid and other benefits that are proportional to the population of each area. "4 The Housing census will determine the number of dwelling units here, how many are occupied by owners and how many by tenants, what facilities they have, and the indicated need for more housing and extension of public utilities such as streets, water and sewer lines, and electricity, gas, and other facilities. "5 The inquiries on income are important to determine the relative purchasing power of individuals and families in our community. "6 The inquiries on age measure potential for facilities, services, and goods used primarily by certain age groups, such as schools for children and equipment for these schools, hospital facilities for older individuals, and the like. "7 The questions on marital status

Lambert States Rules 'Ignored'

Patrol Officer Says If Laws Obeyed, Fewer Road Wrecks

Captain David T. Lambert, head of Troop "A" of the State Highway Patrol, told members of Greenville's Exchange Club last night if motorists of North Carolina would obey all the traffic regulations, husbands would never need worry when their wives are traveling the highways. Lambert qualified his statement by saying the Patrol was equipped to handle all motorists' problems but that the majority of its time was taken up by arresting speeding drivers and having to appear in courts. In speaking to the club on the functions and operations of the Patrol, Lambert reiterated the fact that Pitt County leads all other North Carolina counties in number of highway fatalities. He said in 1947 the county had only six deaths on the highways; in 1948, only four deaths. But last year the number mounted to 14 and half that number have already been killed in Pitt this year, he said. He stated if the present rate of highway killing continues, in the near future one of every three children born this year will either be killed or injured on the roads. There have been more deaths on the highways of the nation since 1941 than were killed during the war years in combat, Lambert said.

Drama In World War 1

Concerning A Rigid Regulation That Was Violated; Disgrace And Personal Tragedy In The Making; The Loophole That Was Found By Sympathetic Man

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
It was none less than the Adjutant General at British general headquarters in France who unfolded this drama of World War I to me. The story grew out of the rigid military regulation that no member of the fighting forces could be visited by his wife during the war. This decree was absolute, and disobedience meant court martial. The need of such a law is obvious. Of course it was tough, and especially so for the wife. It was her fate to stay at home and worry about the safety of her man, whereas he knew that his woman was relatively safe. Still it would have been insane to load a fighting front up with the wives of combat troops. The regulations, however, left an opening for a strange deviation. While a man couldn't have his own wife with him in the war theater, there wasn't anything to stop him from having a girl friend when he was off duty in a quiet area. Our story hinges on this conflict of ideas. It involves a young English officer, whom we shall designate merely as Captain Bob (the nickname by which he was affectionately known to his host of friends and his lovely wife. The couple oc-

Sharp Division

Washington, April 1—(AP)—President Truman was confronted by a sharp division among Democrats today as he considered whether to sign or veto a natural gas bill which squeaked through the house by a two-third margin. Brushing aside opposition cries of "a grab" by big interests, the house last night sent the bill to Mr. Truman by a 176 to 174 vote, the measure would prohibit the federal commission (FPC) from fixing the price of gas delivered to pipelines by independent producers. The bill was approved only after speaker Rayburn D-Tex) made a personal appeal for its passage. "In my opinion," he said, "this bill will not raise the price of natural gas to any consumer by one red cent."

Lattimore Home; Lashes Senator

McCarthy A 'Base And Miserable Creature,' He Says

New York, April 1—(AP)—Owen Lattimore arrived back in the United States today and in his first words called Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) a "base and miserable creature." McCarthy has accused Lattimore of being the top Communist agent in the United States. Lattimore landed at Idlewild Airport on his flight home from a United Nations mission to Afghanistan to face the senator's charges. He told reporters who swarmed about him at the airport that he felt "unutterable contempt" for McCarthy. "I am glad to be back in America where I can get a fair hearing," Lattimore said. He declined a formal interview at the airport, however, and said "I will not submit to any questions." "There are just two things I want to say," he added. "First, I have a press conference scheduled for 3 p.m., and I want time to catch up on the details. "Of course I am not a Communist, nor a fellow traveler, nor have I ever been."

Reluctant To Believe Alarm

High Point, N.C., April 1—(AP)—When a call came into the central fire department switchboard, there was some reluctance on the part of the operator to believe one of High Point's fire stations was on fire. But that was what happened at 3:55 a.m. today. A flash explosion ripped through the downstairs portion of a two-story fire house in North High Point. Four firemen were asleep on the ground floor.

Rough Handling For Foreign Aid Deal By House

Administration Leaders Hope They Can Save Measure From Serious Damage

Washington, April 1—(AP)—A $3,102,450,000 Administration foreign aid bill, passed by the House after a week of rough handling, faced fresh attacks today from both sides of Capitol Hill. As the measure headed for the Senate in what Administration leaders called "good shape," House opponents laid plans to launch a new onslaught when debate starts on a bill providing money for the various world recovery programs involved. Administration leaders expressed the belief they could save the measure from serious damage in either chamber of Congress. It sailed through the House last night on a 287 to 86 vote, after a week of battering by Republicans and Southern Democrats. While its total was $270,000,000 less than the State Department wanted, the bill was stripped of the last moment of two Administration proposed amendments. One would have tied up $1,000,000,000 of the total for the purchase of farm commodities in this country; the other would have halted aid to Britain while Ireland remained partitioned. In addition, the measure contained the controversial "point four" program intended to help backward friendly nations get on their feet through technical assistance from the United States. However, the program was cut almost in half. The overall purpose of the bill, which continues the Marshall Plan, is to provide economic aid to nations resisting communism and to hike their standards of living so their citizens won't succumb to Communist propaganda. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved a companion measure without the point four provision but otherwise almost the same as the House version. The Senate committee has called on the Administration for more information on point four, but House leaders said they are sure the Senate will include the project in the bill. Regardless of what the Senate does, the House will get another crack at the entire measure after its Easter recess starting next Friday. It will have a chance then to reduce the appropriations needed for the programs authorized by yesterday's bill. Actual cash to breathe life into those programs is to be provided in an omnibus appropriation bill on which the House will start debate next week.

Couple Take Off On Global Flight

Begin Long-Delayed Attempt At World-Girdling Record

San Francisco, April 1—(AP)—The Bixbys—27-year-old Dianna and 36-year-old Bob—took off today at 6:03 a.m. (9:03 a.m. EST) for Newark, N.J., on their long-delayed attempt to smash the round-the-world flight record. With a good tailwind and fair weather ahead, they expected to arrive in Newark about 4 p.m. (EST). They planned to average about 350 miles per hour plus whatever help they get from the wind. The husband and wife team flew a twin-engine British Mosquito bomber, Hurricane II, which she bought in Miami in 1949 for $4,500. They took off here because the National Aeronautical Association requires a San Francisco take-off for a record world-girdling attempt. The Bixbys are aiming at the record of 73 hours, five minutes and 11 seconds set in August, 1947, by the late Bill Odom over the 21,076 mile course. The plan calls for stops at Newark, Paris, Cairo, Karachi, Calcutta, Tokyo and Midway Island with San Francisco as the terminus. The longest hop, according to Mrs. Bixby, will be 3,647 between Newark and Paris. The Bixbys were ready to take off last year but the stork forced a postponement. Seven-month-old Lillian Bixby, the cause of the delay, was left with a nurse.

Babson, On The Over-Age Worker

New York City, March 31—(AP)—With a downward trend in the business cycle in the not too distant future, I am concerned about what will happen in the employment market to workers over forty—to say nothing of those sixty-five years and older. Assuming our present attitude and policy toward men over forty continues, we will have a real social problem. Population Trends One hundred years ago, we were a nation of youngsters in short pants. Our population is, however, gradually growing older. Mortality tables show that the average life expectancy has increased from about forty-eight years in 1900 to around sixty-five years in 1946. For example, the U. S. Bureau of census reports indicate that at the turn of the century, only one in twenty-five persons was sixty-five or older, or about 4 per cent of the population. By 1940 the sixty-five and over group composed almost 7 per cent of our population. The 1960 census will probably reveal a good 9 per cent of our population in this older age bracket. Assuming normal fertility and mortality and with immigration laws remaining constant, this has serious possibilities. Add to this, those between the forty-five and sixty-five bracket, project to the year 2000, and you will find 40 per cent of the population over forty-five! This maturing of our population is the result of advances in medical science, a declining birth rate, a markedly reduced number of young immigrants coming into our country, higher living standards resulting in a less hazardous physical life, etc. Economic Problems of Over-Age Workers There are already today a number of men over forty who are jobless and tramping the streets. The Forty Plus Club can give you some soulshaking stories. In 1900, 65 per cent of the men sixty-five or over were employed. In 1949, there were

Eisenhower Lists Needs In Defense

Spells Out Changes He Would Make In Defense Budget

Washington, April 1—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower today proposed a three-point program for stiffening the nation's defenses. Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.), who received the written recommendations of the wartime allied commander in Europe, told a reporter they call for: 1. Strengthening Alaska and its major airfields against surprise airborne attack, by a permanent force of well-trained and equipped ground troops and a radar screen to detect and warn against air forays. 2. Assurance that the 43-group first-line Air Force is equipped with the most modern aircraft and backed up by a powerful reserve of 12 well-equipped air national guard groups. 3. Sufficient funds for the Navy to start a special anti-submarine force, including destroyers, small aircraft carriers, aircraft and other special equipment. Thomas said the letter fulfilled Eisenhower's promise to senators to spell out changes he would make in President Truman's $14,000,000,000 defense budget for the 1951 fiscal year starting July 1. Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University, appeared at a public session of the Senate Armed Services Committee on Wednesday and mentioned these programs without putting a priority upon them.

Of the 43 cases originally set for trial during the week of criminal court, ten convictions were brought. The others were adjudged not guilty by the jury or were non-suited or nol prossed. The Grand Jury found true bills in all cases presented to it with three of the cases being tried during the week. The others were continued for trial at a later court term. Of the ten convictions, four were brought by jury, the other six pleading guilty. Five persons were judged not guilty on the indictments. Compared with convictions brought in the January term of criminal court, the March figures are lower. During January's court, 21 convictions were returned, 15 pleading guilty and six by jury. Seven were adjudged not guilty. Two cases this week were non-suited on grounds of insufficient evidence. One was nol-prossed, one was continued and one ended in a mistrial. In January nine cases were nol-prossed, four were non-suited and none ended in mistrial. The next term of court will be mixed beginning April 17. The criminal term will follow the week of civil cases, beginning April 24. Thursday's calendar with judgments brought: Sam Sneed, attack with deadly weapon; judgment absolute on bond to be discharged on payment of $100. Cleo Smith, drunken driving; judgment delivered March 28 changed to read $125 and costs. Ella Ruth Blount, attack with deadly weapon; nol pross. Thad G. Briley, failure to stop at stop sign; called and failed, capias issued. James Brown, drunken driving; called and failed, capias issued.

New Assault On Hainan Is Tried By Chinese Reds

Nationalists Claim Invasion Try Failed; Comparative Few Got Ashore

Taipei, Formosa, April 1—(AP)—Chinese Communist invasion forces today began a new assault on Hainan island but the Nationalists claimed they had the situation in hand. (A Nationalist news agency broadcast heard in San Francisco said the invasion attempt "failed." It asserted more than 30 Communist junks were sunk and some 3,000 Reds killed. Remnants of the invasion flotilla fled northward, it said, and was "under hot pursuit of Nationalist gunboats.") There were only fragmentary reports of the operation directed at the big Nationalist island 10 miles off Luichow peninsula, which juts out from the South China coast. These reported: Nineteen of 40 craft making up the Reds' first wave were sunk by Nationalist warships. At one point 1,000 Reds got ashore but the Nationalists said these "were contained." At another point, 200 Reds were reported to have surrendered. The landings were made on Hainan's north coast near Hothow, the capital. Air force headquarters said its planes sank eight of 20 Communist junks spotted off northern Hainan. (Presumably these were part of the Red invasion force) but there was no indication whether they were among the 40 craft of the first wave or follow-up forces.) Reports said Civil Air Transport, which has a terminal at Hothow, was pulling out from there. Three airlines is operated by retired U.S. Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault. "There was nothing to indicate how the Red strength at this invasion compared with the strongest previous attack—a 4,000-man force which hit last Monday." Air headquarters said a large part of 400 Reds, remnants of the force which attacked Monday, had been wiped out by planes. (Independent Chinese press reports to Hong Kong newspapers said Nationalist planes sank more than 100 Red junks at Weichow Island yesterday. Weichow, north of Hainan in the Gulf of Tonkin and west of the Luichow peninsula, might have been a staging base for the Hainan invasion.)

Gaston Veterans Open Campaign For State Bonus

Gastonia, N.C., April 1—(AP)—Gaston County war veterans have started the ball rolling for a bonus from the State of North Carolina. They have appointed a special committee to work out a bonus plan patterned after that of the State of Pennsylvania. This bonus was paid to the veteran at the rate of $10 a month for domestic service and $11 a month for foreign service. The bill stipulated that the maximum amount any veteran could receive would be $500. This action was taken at a meeting of veterans at the Gaston County courthouse last night. George Hooker, of Belmont, chairman of special committee, revealed that veterans in Alexander County have already requested his committee to present the bonus plan at a meeting in their courthouse.

'Point Four' Program

President Truman's Plan Now At Halfway Mark Toward Becoming Reality; Its Final Form Still Undetermined; What It Is Supposed To Do; Help For Backward Areas

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, April 1—(AP)—President Truman's "point four" program has now reached the halfway mark toward becoming a reality. The house approved it yesterday. Now it's up to the Senate. Mr. Truman considers "point four" a cornerstone in his plans for international peace and freedom. Critics of the program call it the start of a "worldwide WPA." The program reached the halfway mark in more ways than one. The President's advisors wanted to approve $45,000,000 for it. The house cut the figure almost in half. Since the senate hasn't tackled it yet, no one can say how much congress in the end will vote for the program. The final decision is still some time away. In his inaugural address in January, 1949, President Truman laid down four major points in an international program he said this country should follow. He described point four this way: "We must embark on a bold new program for making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of underdeveloped areas." "More than half the people of the world are living in conditions appraising misery. Their food is inadequate. They are victims of disease. Their economic life is primitive and stagnant. Their poverty is a handicap and a threat both to them and to more prosperous areas. For some years this country has had a program under which it could send into Latin America experts on public health, education and farming. Under point four this would be widened to world-scale. The idea is that that American experts, particularly government experts, going into the backward areas, could help the people there learn how better to raise food, fight disease, get some education. And, the President suggested, if American business firms want to invest money in the backward place, providing jobs for the natives and helping industrialize the area, so much the better. About 43 government agencies are to work to draw up the program in detail. The plan, or parts of it, were sent to American Embassies around the world for suggestions.

In the count of parents present, Mrs. Forrest's room won the high school picture for having the highest percentage of parents attending, and Mrs. Cherry's room won the elementary picture. In the business session, Mrs. Cherry was appointed chairman of a committee formed to plan a home-coming show to be given very soon for the purpose of raising funds for the P. T. A.

Mr. O. H. Forrest, principal, made a short talk, pointing out the improvement in school attendance, and the progress being made in the remedial reading program. He then introduced Mrs. Griffith, the school nurse from the county health department. In her talk, Mrs. Griffith pointed out the importance of a child's diet and especially how important it is for a child to have an adequate breakfast before he leaves for school. She called for the cooperation of the parents in helping to carry out the work of the pre-school clinic.

Flower Arrangements And Music Features In Art Festival

The Friday afternoon program in the Arts Festival was arranged by the Greenville Garden club and featured flower arrangements and music. Members of the club, Mesdames S. T. White, T. E. Hooker, Owen Marshburn, Alton Barrett, J. C. Clifford, J. B. James, Henry Rivers, W. I. Wooten, Herman Nobles, M. L. Wright, John Winstead and Miss Lella Higgs exhibited arrangements suggestive of those used by the Dutch, Chinese, Mexicans, Japanese, Bahama Islands and the Victorian Period.

High school students who won "superior ratings" in a recent music contest held on the ECTC campus gave the following musical program: "Night Magic" sung by Mary Ann Waldrop, Carolyn Clapp, and Barbara White; a soprano solo by Barbara White—"The Wind's in the South"; "Fantasy for Flute" played by David Gilbert; piano solo, "Gavotte in G," played by Rachel Lang, Mrs. K. V. Gilbert was accompanist.

Mrs. W. J. Stell introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mr. William M. Simpson, artist and sculptor, of Norfolk, Va. Mr. Simpson congratulated Greenville upon its Fine Arts Festival and stated he had seen nothing as good elsewhere. He stressed the need of applying the principles learned in the fine arts in making plans for the growth and development of our towns and cities. He suggested that young plans should be taught to young people through the art program and prizes be offered for the best plans developed. Mrs. J. D. Messick served as chairman of the hostess committee at a beautiful tea given in honor of all who had participated in the program.

Modern Dance Recital Is Seen By Large Audience

An event of unusual cultural significance was the brief Modern dance recital which formed the second part of the song and dance program last evening at Wright auditorium. A large Greenville audience was privileged to see the Modern Dance group from Woman's College, UNC, under the direction of Virginia Moomow. With Miss Moomow were Carol Byrd, Dorothy Copeland and Jean Hoghead, students of the Modern Dance at Woman's College. Elizabeth Drake, of the music faculty of ECTC was accompanist for the group.

Three solos were danced by Miss Moomow; "Folk Tune," a robust and earthy interpretation danced to music by the American composer, Darius Milhaud; "Ritual for Planting," illustrating the mysticism and superstition involved in sowing seed for harvest and danced to a simple, rhythmic accompaniment on percussion; and "Lament," danced to music by the French impressionist, Claude Debussy.

East Carolina Orchestra Will Be On Program

The final program for the Fifteenth Annual Community Fine Arts Festival will be held Sunday afternoon, April 2, at 3:30 in the Woman's Club building. The East Carolina Orchestra under the direction of Rudolph R. Willmann will present the first half of the program which will be followed by an address by the eminent author, Dr. Alfred Leland Crabb of Nashville, Tennessee. Music by composers who studied and composed in lands other than their native countries will be played by the group. Included on the program will be the Minuet from "Berenice" by Handel; Cosi Fan Tutte Overture; Mozart; Prelude, Jarnefelt; Traumerer by MacDowell and Triumphal March from "Sigurd Jorsalfar" by Grieg.

"Royalty" Of Coronation Ball Are Crowned

The highlight of the annual Coronation ball held last night at Greenville High School, was the selection of the King, Queen, Prince and Princess who reigned over the gala affair. Reading left to right as they are being crowned by their runners-up are: Carolyn Barnhill, Princess, having the crown placed on her by Barbara Cozart; Queen Peggy Joyce Barrow, crowned by runner-up Nancy Proctor; King Johnnie Vainwright, with runner-up John Houe presenting him the crown; and Prince Johnny Russell, crowned by Bobby Perry. The two attendants in the foreground led the procession. (Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee).

Folk Dance Program Is Presented By Children

One of the most colorful, well executed and interesting programs of the year was presented by the children of the Greenville Elementary schools under the direction of Miss Beatrice Chauncey last night in the Wright auditorium. Planned as a part of the fifteenth annual Community Arts Festival, the program illustrated the theme of the festival, "Toward World Understanding through the Fine Arts" by use of folk dances and songs from many lands.

Among the dances used were "Lady Round-the-Lady," early American Quadrille, by Miss Purvis' fifth grade and Miss Corbett's fourth grade; "La Raspe," Mexican dance, Mrs. Fennell's fifth grade; "The Pearl," Puerto Rican folk song by the West Greenville Glee Club; "The Sailor," Brazilian folk song by the Training School Glee Club; "Arsyenne," French folk dance by ECTC students, Nell Stallings, director; "Weggis Dance," Swiss walking song, by Mrs. Foley's fourth grade; "Walking at Night," Czech folk dance by Mrs. Eagan's fifth grade and Miss Galphin's fourth grade; "The Wonderful Inn," Polish song by Third Street and West Greenville Glee Clubs; "Chebogar, Hungarian dance, Mrs. West's fourth grade and Mrs. Sessler's fourth grade; "Troika," Russian folk dance, Mrs. King's fifth grade; "Street Vendors," Chinese folk song by the Training School Glee Club; "Aloha Ce," Hawaiian farewell, by West Greenville Glee Club; and "Come Boys and Girls," finale, all participants.

Patsy Baker was narrator for the program, giving a description of each number before its performance. Carl Anderson, ECTC music student, was accompanist. Dancers in each musical of the country illustrated. Particularly effective was the use of the combined glee clubs of the West Greenville, Third Street and Training schools to sing folk song accompaniments for each dance. In securing true intonation, spirited interpretation and rhythmic precision from the groups, Miss Chauncey proved herself to be a skilled conductor and a musician of taste and discrimination.

State Sponsored Traveling Museum Of French Gifts

The "gratitude train" was France's way of saying "thank you" for the gifts sent by the American people on the "friendship train," an idea originated by Columbus Drew Pearson of Washington, D.C. The traveling motor trailer museum, in charge of Charles L. Jones, curator of the Department of Archives and History, Raleigh, was here all day last Wednesday. The next day the trailer was at Farmville and Falkland and Friday it was at Stokes and Bethel. It was erroneously stated in an article that the trailer museum now visiting all of the 100 North Carolina counties was sponsored by the Burlington Mills, Inc. That paragraph should have read, "Material for lining the 36 display cases in the trailer was donated by the Burlington Mills, Inc. and staff members of the Hall of History, State Department of Archives and History, arranged the exhibits and for driving the trailer and explaining the exhibits."

Coach Bill Dole Kiwanis Speaker

Football Coach Bill Dole of East Carolina Teachers College provided the program for the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night. R. W. Shiplest had charge of the program. President Tige Gardner presided.

The ECTC coach showed a picture of the High Point College-East Carolina Teachers College football game last season. Dole's comments about the game as the picture was shown were interesting and entertaining. After showing the movie Coach Dole invited questions and he answered them in an encouraging way. He does not bragging about his ECTC Pirates, but he said with emphasis "We are building—building up a good team."

El Bloom, producer of the Kiwanis minstrel, announced the dates for this year's show as April 13 and 14 at Austin auditorium. J. Hicks Corey, minstrel ticket chairman, announced that tickets for both performances were available at his office, 521 Dickinson avenue. Bob Mays, president-elect of the ECTC Circle K Club, and Curtis Nichols were special guests of the Kiwanians. Other guests were Henry Selby, Ed Conway, Kervin Conway and Charles L. Hardee. Don H. Conley, member of the board of directors, will be host at supper at the Olive Towne Inn next Thursday night at 6:30 to the officers and directors at the monthly business meeting.

West Greenville School News

Potato Party Our School Safety Patrol had a party on Friday night, March 24, in the West Greenville School auditorium. Serving on the various committees were: Decorations—Lee Tilley, Tommy Smith, Joan Vincent and Betty Ann Jones.

Refreshments—Corrine Williams, Alton Papendick, Anita Jones and Billy Nichols. Program—Jane Winchester, Peggy Mills and Jimmy Hendrix. The highlight of the evening came when we expressed our appreciation to the patrols for helping the school to be a better and safe one. We were proud to recognize the efforts of the following patrols: Irene Heath, who had a perfect record for being on duty and wearing her belt and badge. Following closely with good records were Janet Powell, Ann Johnson, Ann Williams, Betty Ann Jones and Lee Tilley. Boys who earned recognition were Larry Powell and Billy Nichols, who had practically perfect records. In the next best group were Jimmy Hendrix, Tommy Norris and Donald Turner, who also had good records.

The party was over at 9:30. We all had a good time.—Janet Powell and Jane Winchester, 7th Grade.

Our Playground

This year our playground is beginning to look better day by day. For one thing we have saw two new waste cans, one on each side of the school. The boys and girls won't have to walk so far to put their waste paper in the cans now. In the past our school ground has been a mess, but this year the boys and girls are cooperating more each day. We hope that they will improve even more in the future.—Bob Ewell, 7th Grade.

We went to the Art festival. We saw some things we have never seen before. We saw some play cats and dogs. We saw some play dolls. We saw a clay man.—Linda Morton, 2nd grade.

Our Spelling Matches

Mrs. Gates' class and Mrs. Batchelor's class have been having spelling matches every Tuesday. Mrs. Gates' room hasn't been defeated. We play two different games. One game we play is: The teacher gives us a word if we miss it we go to the foot of the line. Players who do not miss a word are usually near the head of the line. Another game is: The teacher gives a word, if we miss it we sit down. The side with the most players standing wins. The classes take turns being hosts and hostesses. The best speller on our side is Betty Jane McDaniel. Other good ones are Larry Powell and Faye Harrington. The teachers think this is educational.—Dale Brooks, 6th Grade.

Spring is here. The trees and flowers are blooming. Birds are singing their songs. People have started planting their gardens. They have also started wearing their spring clothes. Soon butterflies will come out of cocoons. I like spring, don't you? It makes me want to run, jump and play.—Margie Daniels, 6th Grade.

Future Homemakers Of America Plan For Tomorrow

Winterville Club Activities Typical Of Tasks Performed

By ROY HARDEE

"Towards New Horizons," that is the motto of the Future Homemakers of America; expressing the purpose of the organization . . . learning to live better today in order that their lives will be enriched tomorrow.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of pupils studying homemaking in junior and senior high schools all over the United States. It offers opportunity for the further development of pupils' initiative in planning and carrying on activities related to homemaking.

New Organization

The FHA is a newly-organized group, having been in operation for only five years. Before that time, a great many groups were operating independently of each other in their separate sections, with no bonds carrying strength over states and the nation. It was in 1945 that the name Future Homemakers of America was accepted by members of the various clubs which dealt with homemaking, thus forming a network from coast to coast.

Since that time, chapters have sprung up all over Pitt county, and this week we look into the activities of a typical chapter, the Future Homemakers of Winterville High School.

That chapter was organized in March, 1946, with 27 members. Barbara Dail was the first president of the club.

Leads County

Each year since that time, the club has grown in numbers and at the present time has a total membership of 74 members. Only two girls in Winterville High School at the present time are not members . . . which is quite a record in itself.

There are 372 chapters in North Carolina with a total membership of 14,266. The Winterville club with their enrollment of 74 members leads Pitt County.

The Winterville chapter is one part of the Pitt county Council of Future Homemakers.

Projects

The activities of the Winterville club runs along these lines.

On November 9, they sponsored a dance in the High School gymnasium in an effort to make money to help defray expenses of the annual Mother and Daughter banquet which members put on each year. From this project, the club cleared eighty dollars.

A mat has been purchased by the club to go under the stove in the club's classroom; a pair of pinkish shears for the sewing class, and the club has also helped in paying for the cost of painting the classroom floor.

When the drive was started for packages to be sent overseas, the Winterville chapter rose to the call, and sent two complete packages to the drive.

In addition to these activities, there are others too numerous to mention, but those described above are the highlights.

Not only has the club been busy at home, they have also taken part in all the activities of the Pitt County Homemakers when they held meetings.

Mothers Honored

Each year it has been the policy of the Winterville Homemakers to honor their mothers at a Mother-Daughter Banquet, with the most recent event being held in December, '49.

The club used a Christmas theme, with the club colors of red and white blending well with the Yuletide season.

Point System
A point system has been worked out on a scale by which a member may gain credit for her work in club activities.

A few of the ways in which a member of the club can gain points; by attending, she gets five; reading FHA material, attending county meetings, being on programs, ten points each; helping with club projects, cooking, and attending other club meetings at different schools, are also rated at ten points each.

FHA Camp
From the Winterville chapter each year go several members who attend the FHA camp at White Lake.

Last year, four members of the local group attended the camp. The girls were: Anne Spier, Marilyn McArthur, Betsy Castelloe and Denyse McLawhorn.

Club Officers
The club's officers are selected by the vote of the students after a lengthy discussion and speech-making. Each student who is running for office has a manager who conducts her campaigns.

Following the speech-making and "pollticking," the girls vote by a secret ballot, after being checked by an election committee to make sure they are eligible.

This year's officers are: Barbara Worthington, president; Emma Lou Mills, vice-president; Marilyn McArthur, secretary; June Haddock, treasurer; Wilma Wiggins, reporter; Marjorie Little, historian; Amy Cayton, song leader; Denyse McLawhorn, parliamentarian.

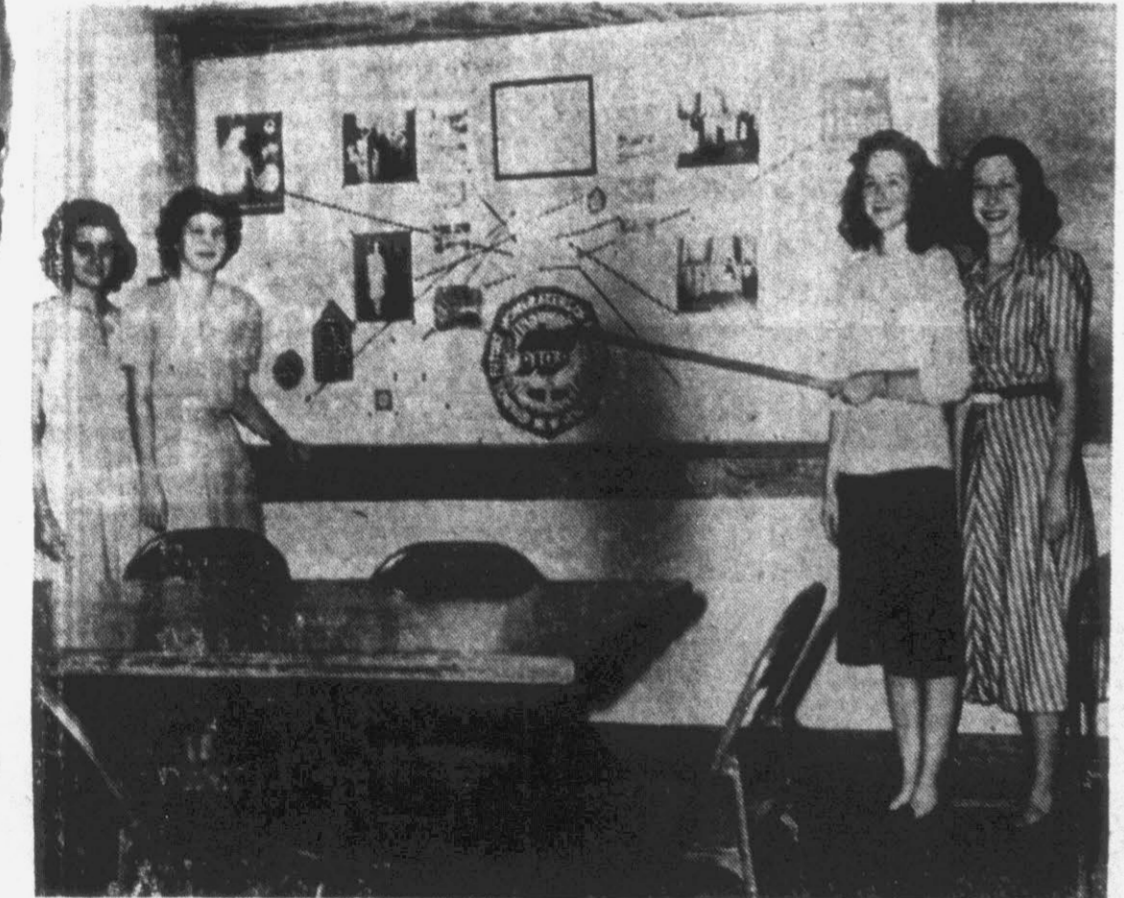

The coming year's officers have already been elected and are as follows: Betsy Castelloe, president; Denyse McLawhorn, vice-president; Peggy Dail, secretary; Jean Anne Liverman, treasurer; Marjorie Boys, reporter; Sybil Jones, historian; Ruth Little, song leader; Ruth Hazelton, parliamentarian.

Weekly club meetings are held, at which time planned programs by various members are presented. The programs are planned along lines which will aid the students in their school work. The meetings close with group singing.

FHA Creed
"We are the Future Homemakers of America. We face the future with warm courage and high hope for we have the clear consciousness of seeking old and precious values; for we are the builders of homes, homes for America's future, homes where living will be the expression of everything that is good and fair . . . homes where truth and love, security and faith will be realities, not dreams."
"We are the Future Homemakers of America. We face the future with warm courage and high hope."

Eight members of the Winterville F. H. A. club were caught by the photographer as they presented a club program to the Winterville chapter recently, in the High School auditorium.

Vast Amounts Of Water Drained By Tiles; Rich, Fertile Land Reclaimed

By ROY HARDEE

One hundred and forty-four thousand gallons of water is a lot to be coming out of a farm tile drain outlet in a day, each day for the past ten days, but that has been happening on the farm of J. T. and Elmo Dupree who live in the Belvoir section.

It was just ten days ago that the Dupree brothers, with the help of the Pitt county conservation office, started the job of reclaiming some seven acres of land which for the life of the farm in the past had been too wet to be tilled.

Before the land was drained by means of long lines of tile pipes leading to a large ditch built around the edge of the land, "it was knee deep in water, with wide open muddy ditches, that always needed to be cleaned out," said one of the Dupree brothers. "As I stand on the freshly plowed soil which is now ready to be planted, I think of the land which was lost in turn-rows as we came nearer the open ditches, used previously without success." Each spring the ditch banks grew up with briars and weeds, making it necessary to clean them regularly. With the land chopped up in sections with ditches here and there, farming the soil with modern machinery now used on the farm was hindered.

7, New Acres
"What has actually happened," said Elmo Dupree, "is that we have gained seven acres of lost land, seven other acres of poorly drained, and heretofore unusable land into land that we can plant with assurance that the yield will be good. We could not depend on the land before for it was always too wet and when the rains came the fields would become flooded."

"In addition to the newly-claimed land, we now have two more acres of farming area to be added to our tobacco rotation, which in our way of thinking is well worth the cost of the entire project," J. T. Dupree said as he surveyed his finished project.

4,000 Feet Tile
Some four thousand feet of 6-inch drain tile running through a 27-acre plot of land sends the water from the fields to an outlet set up on the main ditch bank, at the rate of 144,000 gallons of water each and every 24 hours.

144,000 Gallons
No one had any idea that the amount of water was flowing out the six-inch drain each day, until one of the brothers decided to find out about how much water was being drained. Using a ten quart measuring unit until they filled a large tub, calculating the amount of water in the tub for a certain period of time and came out with the unbelievable figures of 144,000 gallons of water each and every day. The figures were then checked by the Pitt county department of conservation officials who found them to be correct.

The four thousand feet of tile which winds its way through the 27-acre field, goes through little valleys and basins made up of rich black soil—in fact, the most fertile and productive on the farm—now that the land has been changed from a useless waste to No. 1 farm land.

No Ditches
Since the tile has been installed, those old ditches that were knee deep in water all the time, have dried up. Bull dozers have filled them in, and now the Dupree brothers' tractors are discing and plowing on the reclaimed land just a week later as though the old muck and mire has never been there. Instead of land broken all over with unsightly ditches, growing up with bushes and briars, filled with water, harboring a variety of insects, the land now stretches as far as the eye can see in an unbroken line, the result of scientific farming.

Long Time
However all of this modern miracle was not brought about in a day, but started in 1943. The progressive and conservation-minded Belvoir farmers came to the Coastal Plain soil conservation district office for help with their farm problems. A farm plan embodying rotations, pastures, winter cover crops and other soil conserving measures pertinent to their farm was worked out. As these practices were carried out, the need for drainage became more glaring than ever.

Time rolled on, and the Dupree brothers and the soil conservation service gained experience in managing the farm and how the farm could best be improved. Only this spring did they attempt to tackle the basic conservation problem on the farm, that of draining the 14 acre which were always wet and flooded in wet weather.

Soil Trouble
From the start they encountered trouble with high sand ridges and quicksand in the subsoil. After re-routing the tile ditches, the quicksand problem was overcome. Conservation men who supervised the project stated that the drainage job was one of the most difficult they had ever undertaken in the county but they were well pleased with the final results.

The ditches which wind their way under the 27 acres were cut by a ditching machine, followed by laborers who laid the tile at an average rate of some 2,500 feet per day.

As the two Dupree brothers looked over their newly-developed land at the end of the project, one of them commented, "There is land, rich land, the best we have, ready for planting, and we have been unable to use it for the past years.

because of its conditions; I can hardly believe it."

"I know that the water should flow out of the land for actually it has never been drained in the entire life of the farm. Even now the water is still flowing out at the rate of 144,000 gallons a day, and it is expected to do so for many weeks yet," J. T. Dupree commented.

Soil conservation officials voiced an opinion, that it may ease off some in the coming months, but the flow of water will still be steady and powerful; just one example of the magic of soil conservation which each year is reclaiming land and putting profits in the pockets of many farmers in the eastern part of North Carolina, instead of being washed away.

This is how the once swampy farm land of the Dupree brothers appears now, that the land has been drained. The land will soon be plowed up and be ready for planting. Before the water was drained from the field the land was usually too wet to cultivate.

J. T. Dupree holds his hand under the flow of water which is draining from part of his farm, recently drained with aid from the soil conservation department in Pitt county. The water is flowing out of the land at an average of 144,000 gallons daily, and has been doing so for the past ten days. Before the land was ditched and drained it was hardly useable and could not be worked regularly. (Reflector Staff photos by Roy Hardee).

Elmo Dupree stands in the middle of the large ditch which was dug to take care of water flowing from the 27-acre farm of the Dupree brothers near Belvoir. A soil conservation program has been under way on the Dupree farm for several years with the reclaiming of some seven acres of farm land being the climax. By means of tiles leading into the big canal shown above, land which was not useable before has now been plowed and made into the best land on the farm.

Rapid Growth By West Greenville Sunday School

West Greenville Sunday school, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, had its beginnings when the session of the church decided to have a survey made of West Greenville area. Miss Eleanor Fleming of the Synod Committee of Religious Education, Charlotte, was engaged to make the survey, and began her work in December, 1949. In January, when the session heard the report of Miss Fleming, it was decided to promote a new Sunday school in the Curb Market.

Permission to use the Curb Market was granted by county and city councils. Literature for the first quarter was given by the church's Board of Education, fifty hymn books were donated by the Men's Bible Class, fifty chairs were provided by the Presbytery's Home Mission Committee and interested friends; a piano was given and placed in the building for the first Sunday; wood and coal was provided by the Horne Coal and Wood Yard; officers and teachers were secured by Miss Fleming.

On Sunday morning, February 19, the first Sunday school session was conducted with 59 persons present. On March 26 the highest attendance was reached, with 87 present. There is an enrollment of 102 persons.

The following officers and teachers are serving the new Sunday school: Mrs. G. R. Huffstetler, superintendent; Mr. John R. Vaughan, assistant superintendent; Mr. William Horne, secretary-treasurer; Miss Mary Louise Elks and Mrs. Selby Strickland, Beginner Department; Mrs. J. Lindsay Savage, Miss Jean Huffstetler, Miss Alice Rowe, Miss Joan Sawyer, Primary Department; Mrs. Charles Horne, Junior Department; Mr. Selby J. Strickland, Young People's Department; Mrs. Hazel Corey, Adult Department; Mrs. W. E. Stokes, attendance chairman; Mrs. John R. Vaughan, social activities; Mrs. Johnnie Lee Brown, service chairman; Mr. N. Godwin, building chairman; Mr. Hunter Keck, representative of the Mother Church; Extension Committee: Mr. H. B. Keck, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stokes and Mrs. Charles Horne.

The Rev. Leonard Topping voiced special appreciation to the Synod Committee of Religious Education and to Miss Eleanor Fleming for her leadership in the establishment of this new Sunday school. Miss Fleming departed Greenville on March 24 to continue her work with the Synod's Committee in another part of the state.

Strength FOR THE DAY

DON'T STAY IN REVERSE
How is your imagination working? In an orderly fashion or after a neurotic pattern? The great genius in all fields have been people of imagination. In fact it is imagination which makes one a genius. Consider Michelangelo. In art, Shakespeare in literature, Wagner in music. Their genius grew out of their lush and wholesome imaginations.

But a neurotic is a person whose imagination has for some reason, got into reverse gear. Try as he will he cannot even get it into neutral, let alone get it into first gear and thus start moving ahead. The neurotic has plenty of imagination, but not after the mold of genius. He suffers from all the communicable diseases, goes through all the accidents which never happen, and worries about calamities overtaking his loved ones which fortunately do not have a thousand to one chance of ever taking place. The final state of such a person is that at last he worries about worrying. Then the physician begins to talk about sending him to a psychiatrist.

"Be not anxious," said Jesus, "your Heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. Be not anxious for the morrow; for the morrow will be anxious for itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

This is the Biblical advice on how to shift gears from reverse into neutral and then into first.

A POOR EXAMPLE FOR SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS

For about three weeks now the people of North Carolina have been listening to the wrangling of the members of the North Carolina Educational Association as they have echoed and re-echoed through the state charges of corrupt politics in their own organization.

The Reflector is not too much concerned about who is to be the president of the NCEA, because frankly we are of the opinion that it makes very little difference which well qualified leader is chosen as the figurehead of the organization. We are concerned, however, with the disparaging example the people of the educational field in this state are setting for the children whom they contact every day in the classrooms.

The Reflector is old fashioned enough to think that the examples the school teachers set for their pupils not only in the classrooms, but in extra curricula activities have an effect on the future conduct of the school children. The school teachers, according to a seemingly outmoded line of thought, supposedly were the educated people who kept the communities from which they came on an even keel, and who helped overcome the prejudices and bickering which were bred in the selfishness and guile of placing personal gain before principles.

The tribulations of the NCEA which have been shouted forth from the housetops all over the state surely have lowered the esteem which the people of North Carolina had for the NCEA until several weeks ago. Through all its squabbling and picayunish politics, PARKWAY—Charles Parker, director of state advertising, reports that by August—possibly earlier—new links in the Blue Ridge Parkway will be opened, making it possible to travel 340 miles along this finest scenic highway in America, from the James River north of Roanoke to Oteen near Asheville. There will still be a few miles not completed around Blowing Rock, but regular highways there provide continuous travel over as comfortable and beautiful roadway. Other unfinished portions include 57 miles north of the James river and 81 miles west of Asheville.

OPENING—Parker had just returned from Galax, Virginia, where he attended a meeting of the Blue Ridge Parkway chambers of commerce association, a group of civic organizations in communities adjacent to the parkway. This association is cooperating with the national park service in plans for a big opening ceremony when the new construction has been finished, probably around August 1.

CO-OPERATION—Communities all along the route are working together, but more important is the fact that the park service is also cooperating with the communities to much greater degree than formerly. Instead of going ahead with plans proposed a few years ago for construction of tourist accommodations on the park right of way, the park service is joining with adjacent communities in developing business for them. After a long fight, in which Charles Wray of Waynesville and Hugh Morton of the Linville Company took leading parts, the park folks have agreed to placement of signs indicating distance and time of accommodations to be found just off the right of way. This policy will make the parkway much more valuable to the area traversed.

SLOW—The park service is co-operating, too, in getting work started on additional links in the route south and west of Asheville. Money is in bank for two sizeable projects, but the park service cannot let contracts because the state highway and public works commission has not completed legal work on right of way deeds.

SPASTICS—Thursday was a big day for Tom O'Berry and for a lot of unfortunate children in North Carolina. That day for treatment of cerebral palsy, commonly known as the spastic hospital, was dedicated. Located adjacent to Duke University, near Durham, this institution represents the first tangible step on part of the state to make useful citizens out of children who lack capacity to coordinate muscular activity.

REALIZATION—As a member of the state hospital board of control and as long time member of the general assembly, Tom O'Berry had opportunity to see the real need for such an institution. It hurt him to see children otherwise mentally normal placed in Caswell Training School with morns and idiots—just because they couldn't walk or talk. It hurt him worse to see them denied any kind of hospital treatment or appropriate

Somebody Told Me..

"Battleground," the movie that played at the Pitt for three days this week, has been the talk of the town, if you listen to movie fans. To add to the talk, the movie has a local story behind it.

Master Sergeant G. T. Johnson, who is stationed in Greenville at the Ficklen Street Officer's Reserve Corps office, played a part in the movie, was one of the technical advisers, and was in charge of 20 GI's who spent 14 weeks in Hollywood working on the movie.

Sgt. Johnson was a member of the 101st Airborne Division and participated in the battles described in the picture. Soldiers making the trip to Hollywood were chosen on the basis of decorations, length of service, and efficiency.

The 20 GI's spent four weeks giving the actors "basic training," so to speak. The close order drill, known as "Jodie" drill, was taught, as well as other phases of military training. "At the end of the first day," Sgt. Johnson says, "Van Johnson knew the drill—and he's not a veteran." All of the other actors under George Murphy were veterans.

"Did you get to know the actors very well?" I asked.

"Yes," he replied, "and they were really tops. They learned what we taught fast, and were very cooperative." Sgt. Johnson went on to say that Robert Taylor was originally picked to play the part John Hodiak took. But Taylor's advisors said he should drop it, because there was no romance in it. Taylor trained for two weeks before the decision was made.

After two weeks of shooting, Marshall Thompson (the new recruit who came into the platoon) had an attack of appendicitis and was forced to drop out. After searching for a double all over the studio of 20 GI's, the GI, Sgt. Charles, walks like Thompson and is about his size, so whenever there was a back view or distant shot, Charles filled in. Of course the close-up shots were filled in later, when Thompson recovered.

"Kip" was one of Sgt. Johnson's favorite personalities. He was chosen for the role because of his false teeth, and he certainly put them to use in the movie. When it comes to regular fellows, Johnson says, "Kip" is unbeatable.

MGM considered shooting the movie in Belgium, but discovered that it could be done with less expense in Hollywood. Photographs were taken of the battle-grounds, and four weeks were spent building the set. It was identical in every detail, even the trees. MGM spent $20,000 importing trees from Belgium. Sgt. Johnson says he was chilled by the set—it was so realistic.

training. Opening of the spastics hospital this week is realization of a dream and years of hard work on part of Tom O'Berry. Of course, he didn't do it all and equally of course he modestly disclaims any major contribution; but the hospital is mainly his child.

HOPE—Another thing Senator O'Berry is vitally concerned about is an institution for the care of Negro children who are feeble-minded. Presently they are all mixed up with "crazy" folks and mentally ill adults at the Goldsboro state hospital. The permanent improvement bill of 1949 carries a special appropriation for a special building, but as yet nothing has been done about it. O'Berry and his associates hope that before many months that building can be dedicated for use. Urgency of need for utilities buildings at Goldsboro necessitated sidetracking some other contemplated additions there. One state officials with long record of interest in improving facilities for victims of mental disease said this week he is, for the first time in his life, not ashamed—in fact almost proud—of what North Carolina is doing in this field.

dropped his drab workday garb and was wearing a snazzy garb and dine coat.

"I quit moving pianos five years ago. I tried to lift one and tore my guts out. Spent months in a hospital."

The suspicion remains, however, that he has maintained his contacts with other movers, as he still had a roped bundle of books for sale.

When Leo doesn't sell his books, he goes home and reads those he has left. This has given him an assorted education.

"I went to work at 8 and spent 20 years earning a living for other children in the family," he said. "The trouble with this world is that by the time you understand what is wrong with it, it is too late to do anything about it."

Leo basically loves authors and thinks they are underpaid—all except poets.

The churlishness of poets is beyond belief," he said. "It began with this guy Horace. He used to get drunk and criticize his patrons so much that they had to carry him outside and beat sense into his head."

They've been like that ever since - churls, that's what poets are, no gratitude in them, and society owes them nothing. Not a thing."

Leo, who loves Shakespeare and can hum Verdi, might be prejudiced. He has a book written by a village poet and could peddle it for a buck, instead of a quarter, if it

Some adults crashed the gates by playing foster parents to passing children at 25 cents a head. More than 1,000 children usually participated in the fun.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE
New York.-(P)—Now you can believe about Greenville Village what you want to, but I will always love it—if for nothing else—because Leo, the intelligent piano mover, still lives there.

This fellow Leo is one of the gentle characters you bump into in the village, which is not a nest of international boreman sin, as people might think. It is a place people are born into or move into and live work-a-day existences, pretty much like Chicago, Hubub, Ala., or Peculiar, Mo.

One of the most neighborly characters in neighborly Greenville village is this fellow, Leo. He was a great guy if you had to move from one apartment to another, but you really did have to count your books first.

I would be the last man to say that Leo would take another fellow's reading material. But by day Leo was a mover by trade, and at night he used to go around the village bars peddling books. Where he got them was his secret.

The books were bound up in a rope that tied a miscellaneous market. For half a buck you could buy the third volume of "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," or pay a dollar for "Gone With The Wind." Leo's big problem with his regular clientele was in delivering sets. If you depended upon him for your study of history, he might carry you through the lives of three Caesars—and then you would have to skip fifteen or more centuries to the "sinful cities of the western world," priced 75 cents. I never did find out what happened to the Caesars.

The other night I bumped into Leo at a village refreshment stand for the first time in years. Leo had

OSZARK IKE

Says Laws Must Meet Conditions

Spantburg, S. C. April 1—(P)—Justice Felix Frankfurter of the U. S. Supreme court says law must change with the times, but not so fast as to become "revolutionary."

A large part of his address to members of the state bar and their guests here last night dealt with his concepts of fitting law to changing conditions.

He said "Law must be enduring—but it must not remain the same." The justice added that courts should "hold fast to what is true while realizing the new."

He touched on the states' rights controversy in these words: "Now more than 30 per cent of the cases (handled by the Supreme court) concern constitutional questions between the states and the federal government. The rest concern regulatory statutes which started in 1887 with the interstate commerce act." The court is "troubled now more than ever before with regulatory matters between states and the federal government because there is more regulation now."

The potato reached North America from Europe.

The story of the PALMS

There were hundreds of trees along the Bethany Road. But no one noticed them. People were hastening over those last few miles, bound for Jerusalem to celebrate the feast.

Then the King passed by! A gentle Galilean with kind sorrowful eyes—riding to His coronation.

People cheered and shouted Hosanna. Some laid their cloaks on the dusty roadway. And then, someone discovered the trees . . . beautiful palms that had stood unnoticed. Their graceful branches became the carpet of the King!

And when men sought a name for that triumphal Sunday, they named it for the palms. It is a day for discovering the spiritual beauty God has planted along the road of life—a day to worship Our King.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Old Dynamite Missing In Graziano; Gets Draw

Former Middleweight Champion Unable To Bring Down Tony Janiro; Return Bout Likely; Big Drawing Card

New York, April 1—(AP)—Rocky Graziano still is the magic box-office name in boxing even though some of the dynamite may have gone out of Golden Boy's right hand bombs. The former middleweight champion unlimited his mighty right time and again at handsome Tony Janiro last night but not once could he bring down the game, comeback kid from Youngstown, O. At the end of ten rounds of brawling in Madison Square Garden, Rocky, a 5 to 12 favorite, had to settle for a draw with his 22-year-old rival Janiro took the first half of the fight and Rocky captured most of the rounds in the final half. "I couldn't get off," said the Crestfallen New Yorker. "The kid takes a good punch but I never nailed him right. What I need is a couple of more fights to loosen me up." "I thought I beat him," said Janiro, the reformed playboy who is back in the money again. "I'd like to fight him again. I'll take him for sure then. I hurt my right hand in the third round and it pained me when I used it." A return bout is just what Harry Markson, director of the promoting international boxing club, would like to put on when the circus pulls out of the Garden in May. Rocky, making his first fighting appearance in the Garden in four years, pulled in the biggest boxing crowd (16,883 cash customers) and richest gate ($81,049 at $10 top) of the winter season here. Although he didn't score a knock-down, Rocky gave his hugh following plenty to yell about. He was almost floored in the first frame himself by a neat left-right combination to the head. Once he fell to the deck after missing a right hand swing and another time he slipped through the ropes after missing another roundhouse right. Rocky outwitted Janiro seven pounds—159 3-4 to 152 3-4—and the extra beat proved telling in the second half of the fight as he wore Tony down with thumping rights to the head and body. Several of the rights shook up Tony but the wavy-haired Oklahoman never stopped in 85 previous clashes, had enough left for a flashy spurt in the final stanza.

Sport Slants By Pap Coast Choice by Pap

Your Host, California's standard bearer in this year's Kentucky Derby, is a mighty class race horse and one that travels in real Hollywood style. When Your Host and his trainer, Harry Daniels, boarded a special railroad car for Louisville, Kentucky, they took aboard several hundred gallons of California water for the colt to drink while he's making his bid for the Blue Grass classic. To further add to the Hollywood touch, Your Host has his own publicity agent, Eddie Reed, who handled turf publicity for Your Host's breeder, Louis B. Mayer, sees to it that the sports writers are well informed on the doings of Your Host. After retirement to stud, many horses have had press agents and one California-bred colt, Morvich, winner of the 1822 Kentucky Derby, once had a ghost-written autobiography published. But it is quite likely that Your Host is the first thoroughbred in training to boast a private public relations counsel. Your Host raised the hopes of California turf fans by winning two $50,000 stakes and the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby during the meeting at Santa Anita Park. The chestnut son of Alibhai-Boudoir II cost his owner Bill Goet $20,000 and to date has returned $223,700 in winnings.

Pirates May Well Scrap Famous Synthetic Fence

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS Unless Ralph Kiner's severely sprained wrist heals properly, the Pittsburgh Pirates may well scrap their synthetic left field fence, known as "Kiner's Korner." The fence, erected several years ago, is a screen-like construction built several feet in front of the regular left field wall. It makes the home run at Forbes Field come easier. At first, Hank Greenberg, the transplanted Detroit slugger, utilized it effectively with his long-range bombs. It was then known as "Greenberg Gardens." When Greenberg retired, the Pittsburgh management debated whether to take down the ersatz boundary. But when Kiner began dropping him missiles into it, they changed their mind and left it up. Now Ralph, National League home run king (he hit 54 last season), has come up with a sprained right wrist that may keep him out of the opening day game. Kiner injured his wrist in a collision at first base during an exhibition game March 14. He returned to action Thursday but was forced to leave the game after fouling off a pitch. The injury prevents the 27-year-old slugger from taking a full swing. The Pirates didn't miss Ralph's big bat yesterday, however, as they rallied for five runs in the ninth inning to nip the New York Giants, 11-8.

Three-Stroke Lead For Fazio In Azalea Event

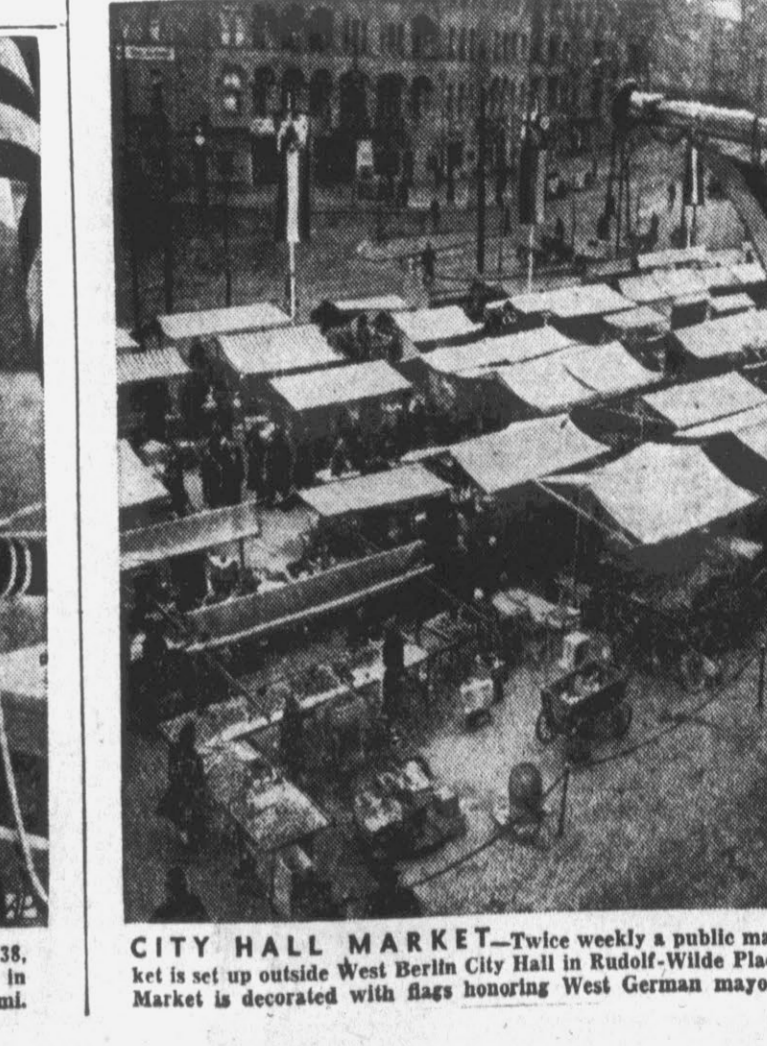

Wilmington, N.C., April 1—(AP)—on this winter tour, has had one Galleryites at the Wilmington Azalea Open golf tournament are wondering why George Fazio hasn't won a tournament this year. The little man in the cap playing out of Washington has been the big man on the scoreboard through the first two rounds of the $10,000 scramble over the Cape Fear Country Club's 6,552 yards. Fazio followed a first day 67 with a 68 yesterday for a 135 total. Nobody bettered his score through each of the first two days. Fazio, although never a winner

Redlegs Seeking Second-Sacker

Tampa, Fla., April 1—(AP)—The second base situation has become the No. 1 problem for the Cincinnati Reds. The Redlegs had grey-haired Jimmy Bloodworth at the keystone spot yesterday as they returned to winning ways by beating the Boston Red Sox, 2 to 0, but there were reports a deal may be in the fire with the Boston Braves. Cincinnati figured Lou Klein, obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals in a winter deal, would be the regular second sacker but his throwing and slowness at foot has been disappointing.

'Forgotten Man' On Tribe Roster

Tucson, Ariz., April 1—(AP)—Outfielder Allie Clark feels he's the forgotten man on the Cleveland Indians roster this spring. So Allie has been using his bat to remind Manager Lou Boudreau he's around. Clark is hitting .473 in 19 times up—more than a hundred points ahead of seven other Tribesmen who exceeded the 300 mark. Yesterday, when the Chicago Cubs whipped the Indians 14-9, Clark socked his second homer of the exhibition season. Big Luke Easter, Clark's right field rival, continued to make things tough for Allie, however, by slammung triple—his 20th safe hit in 62 times at bat, an average of .323.

Bowling Cappers Take 2 Against League-Leaders

The league-leading Torchers of P. Taylor's 122. Both have been running neck and neck during the 30 games to date and they are determined to make a race of it in the latter games of the fourth and final round. The double-loss was the first time in over a month the leaders had suffered more than one defeat. And it was even more surprising that the Cappers were able to hand it to them. With the exception of the Torchers' new single-game high mark, no new records were established. Eastwood still leads the pack with a high single of 196 while his nearest competitor Taylor leads with 488 for three games. The Torchers lead the league with a high team total for three lines with 1,484, set during the third week of team play.

Dale Ransom, director, said the 230 athletes were the finest field in the young five-year history of the event at the University of North Carolina. Entered were Maryland, North Carolina State, Clemson, and Virginia Tech of the Southern Conference; Princeton, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania of the Ivy League; Tennessee of the Southeastern Conference and the unattached Virginia. Bill Albans of North Carolina defended three titles: 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles and broad jump.

China Navy Still Conducting Raid

Taipei, Formosa, March 31—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his military strategists today mapped new blows against the Chinese Reds. Meanwhile, a strong Nationalist task force prowled Hangchow Bay, warring on concentrations of Communist junks. Latest reports said many Red junks had been sunk and nine were captured. The operation was continuing. Nationalists have reported sinking some 100 Communist junks the past few days. The first ice plant in the U. S. was at New Orleans.

East Carolina Baseballers Take 3-2 Win Against Visiting Lenoir Rhyne

Bailey's Single In Third Frame Provides Locals With Needed Two Runs; Vernon Jones Pitches Entire Route For Bucs

By BILL LLOYD Two runs in the bottom of the third inning on Bob Bailey's timely single to center field provided the East Carolina Pirates' baseball team with a 3-2 victory over Lenoir-Rhyne's visiting Bears yesterday at College stadium. After being humiliated before an opening day crowd of 800 Thursday when Guilford made the Pirates suffer, 11-4, the determined Jack Boone coached men struck hard in the first three innings to give pitcher Vernon Jones a lead that he never relinquished. A big husky right-hander, Vernon Jones, from Grifton, went the entire route for the locals and twirled effectively, seven hit ball, completely baffling the opposition with a fast-breaking curve ball. It seemed that a pitchers' duel would develop between Jones and Frye until there were two down in the bottom of the second when Billy Smith was issued a free ticket to first. Smith stole second and raced all the way home on catcher George Wood's slashing drive to rightfield. The Bears caught fire in the third after there was two away when Moose drew a walk, stole second and came home on Smith's error to knot the score, 1-1. The Pirates scored what proved to be the winning markers in their half of the third when Stan Terrill led off the frame with a single to center field. After Fred Soles and Jack Wallace had flied out, Sonny Russell walked, and advanced to second on a wild pitch. With Terrill and Russell on second and third, Bob Bailey came through in the clutch with a sharp base knock to center scoring both runners. The visitors tried in vain to get back in the ball game, but were able to score only one run in the eighth inning on two singles and an error. Jones, who was hampered by cold weather with his pitching arm, had his curve ball breaking perfectly on several occasions and looked pretty good on the mound for it to be so early in the season. Neighbors of Lenoir-Rhyne took top batting honors for the evening with two singles in three trips to the plate. The Pirates' six hits were evenly distributed among Terrill, Soles, Wallace, Russell, Bailey, and Woods. Shortstops Jack Wallace and first baseman Sonny Russell looked like pros as they brought down sure base hits for outs time after time. The box: Lenoir-Rhyne (2) A B R H P O A E

Phantoms Lose

Kinston, April 1—Kinston's Red Devils won their third game of the young season yesterday on a cold baseball diamond when they beat Greenville in a seven-inning game, 4-1. The game was the opener for the Greenville nine and was called at the end of the seventh frame because of cold weather. Kinston collected only two hits while Greenville was getting only one off Doug Bruion, local pitcher. Scoring for Kinston were Dixon, Abbott, Tyndall, and Morton, the latter by virtue of four walks delivered by Bobby Flye, on the mound for Greenville.

Coaches Prepare All-Star Lineup

Chicago, April 1—(AP)—Coaches of the College All-Star basketball team today announced a high scoring starting lineup for the opening game against the Harlem Globetrotters at Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. The lineup, based on 1949-50 collegiate averages, represents a total average of 92 points a game. Clair Bee of Long Island University, Henry Iba of Oklahoma A. and M. and Ray Meyer of De Paul named these starters in the stadium battle that will launch an 18-game coast-to-coast series ending April 19: Don Rehfeldt of Wisconsin, center; Paul Arizin of Villanova and Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, forwards; Kevin O'Shea of Notre Dame and Gerry Calabrese of St. John's (Brooklyn), guards. Arizin led the nation's major college players in scoring with an average of 25.1 points a game. Rehfeldt, Big Ten individual scoring champion and most valuable player, averaged 18.9. Cousy made 18.4. O'Shea 14.8 and Calabrese 13.9. Promoters of the 'World Series of Basketball' expect the contests to draw some 200,000 playing customers. The Globetrotters have a record of 148 triumphs and two defeats — both by the Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Association. The Globetrotters' starting lineup is expected to be Elmer Robinson and Johnny Wilson, forwards; Sweetwater Clifton, center; Babe Pressley and Marques Haynes, guards.

Linksmen Again Swamp Guilford

A rampaging East Carolina golf team coached by Howard G. Porter, rolled to its second victory of the current campaign and its second win of North State competition yesterday over the Greenville Country Club links by registering a 20 1/2-6 1/2 victory over Guilford College. Minus the services of No. 1 man Bill Stalls, the Pirate linksters were paced by Joe Exum, Walter Wells and Milton Zellin. Exum took first place in the individual scoring by carding a 39-38 for a 77. Wells and Zellin were knotted for second place with a 78 each. Cold weather and stiff winds skyrocketed scores and the scores were much higher than the Buccaneers posted a 21-6 win over the Quakers. The summary: Front Back Total Ben Harrison, EC 40 40 80 Charlie Moye, EC 47 43 90 Ed Alexander, G 46 43 89 Carl Fharin, G 42 38 80 Mote Massey, EC 40 39 79 Joe Exum, EC 39 38 77 Al Johns, G 45 40 85 Clayborne Hall, G 40 41 81 Walter Wells, EC 38 40 78 Mill Zellin, EC 40 38 78 Dick Smithdeal, G 38 45 83 Ben Baker, G 42 42 84

Marshall Needs One More Record For His Triumph

New Haven, Conn., April 1—(AP)—John Marshall, the sensational Yale freshman from Australia, needs one more record breaking victory in the history of the national AAU swimming championships. The 20-year-old lad from "down under" shoots his greatest triumph tonight for the 440-yard free-style race and his third title in as many days. The Marshall Plan is to rip it off under Ohio State Bill Smith's world record time of 4:38.5. If he does, he'll equal the feat of the famed Johnny Weissmuller who won three titles while breaking three records back in 1927.

Red Sox Drag In Exhibitions

Sarasota, Fla., April 1—(AP)—Boston's Red Sox, who now have lost one more than they have won in spring exhibitions, took to St. Petersburg today for their fifth contest against New York's Yankees. Spectacled Walter Masterson will start as the Sox try for the rubber victory between the two clubs. Each has won two and this is their last set-to before the world champions open the American League season in Boston against the Sox April 18.

Guilford Netters Take Second Win

Guilford College's hard-swattng tennis squad scored their second triumph in as many days over East Carolina's netters by posting a 4-3 victory on the Pirate courts yesterday. Dick Palmer, a sensational newcomer on the local squad, made it two in a row over the Quakers' No. 1 man, Paul Rives, in three sets, 6-0, 5-7, 6-4. The Pirates' only other win in the singles division came when a hard-swattng court-man from Greenville, David Jones, scored a 6-4, 6-4 revenge victory over Watson. In the doubles, East Carolina's Art Holland and Gorrell Bass turned in an impressive 6-2, 5-7, 6-3 win over the visiting Quakers. Perhaps the most thrilling match of the evening was the double contest of Greenville's Dick Palmer and David Jones versus Bissette and Watson. After battling around for approximately one hour and thirty minutes, the Quaker team scored a 9-7 win in the last set to give Guilford a hard-earned 4-3 victory. The summary: Singles: Palmer (EC) defeated Rives, 6-0, 5-7, 6-4. Ayusara (G) defeated Holland, 6-4, 6-2. Bissette (G) defeated Bass, 6-4, 6-4. Jones (EC) defeated Watson, 6-4, 6-4. Fine (G) defeated Garrell, 6-4, 6-2. Doubles: Holland and Bass (EC) defeated Rives and Ayusara, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3. Bissette and Watson (G) defeated Jones and Palmer, 5-7, 6-4, 9-7.

Royal Mission Favored To Win Hunt Cup Event

Richmond, Va., April 1—(AP)—Royal Mission, owned by Lee L. Chandal, III, is favored today to win the annual running of the Deep Run Hunt Cup, feature event of the six-hurdle race card to be run at Strawberry Hill. Royal Mission is the seven-year-old gelded son of Double Scotch and Royal Marriage. The champion timber horse of 1948, Royal Mission finished second last year to Valinda Scamp. Seven other horses will go post-ward in the three mile scramble over post and rails. The purse is $500. Identitron, owned by Sempel R. Fry of Wyomissing, Pa., may give Royal Mission plenty of competition. Identitron won in 1948.

Larry Jansen Is Looking Better

Phoenix, Ariz., April 1—(AP)—Larry Jansen, mainstay of the New York Giants' pitching staff, is looking better each day, but the strong right-hander still is off his 1949 form. Jansen was sent to the mound for the fifth time yesterday, against the Pittsburgh Pirates. He looked a little freer with his delivery and was more effective. The Pirates, however, banged him for seven hits and five runs in seven innings. Pittsburgh scored five runs in the ninth to win, 11-8.

Shotton Thinks Club Improved

Miami, Fla., April 1—(AP)—Burt Shotton, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, believes this season's team is better than the one which captured the National League pennant last year. "This club," Shotton says, "is better than last year's club. It is a year older, the boys know me better and I know them better. We've got rid of a half-dozen players who didn't help us last year and that makes room for some new kids. Any one of them might make the big difference."

DiMaggio Again Healthy Player

St. Petersburg Fla., April 1—(AP)—Boston Red Sox, please note: Joe DiMaggio, outfielder with the New York Yankees, is a healthy ball-player once again. And Joe's bat is healthy, too. During the first month of spring training the Yankee Clipper clipped at a 483 pace, netting 17 hits in 37 trips to plate. Joe really is beginning to roll of late, having slapped out seven blows in his last 12 trips. He got three-for-three, all singles, as the Yankees dropped a 7-6 decision to the Boston Braves yesterday.

Black Jan Walks Again By Florence Kerrigan

Chapter 12 "But that's preposterous," I said, my mouth suddenly dry. "There's another thing that puzzles me," Steve said, thoughtfully. "Black Jan, like Greg, seems to have been small in stature, and slight in build, and Malcolm swears that this man was unusually tall. Besides, if the murderer put the body into the boat and disposed of it unaided he must have been exceptionally strong. He must have been—er—well about your build."

A chill ran down my back and I looked searchingly at him. His face was inscrutable. "You're not suspecting me," I gasped. "But—but you know me!" "Do I?" I had to admit that he actually didn't at that. "But I knew I hadn't done it, of course. Therefore, who did it? Malcolm's description was to be so accurate it did not fit Greg. If not Greg, then who could it be? The gardener was a bent, twisted little old man. The chauffeur was short. Charles the butler was six foot and husky. "What do you know about Greg's

Held For Death

Mrs. Dartha Louise Fulton (above), 42, former taxicab driver, was arrested and charged with murder at Bedford, Va., after pretty Alice Marie Taylor was found dead on a mountain road. control. Steve came back right then and I told him: "We're both leaving here tomorrow. Steve. Iris thinks it's better, and perhaps she's right. Anyway, that's the way she wants it." He looked at Iris thoughtfully. "If you don't mind very much," he said, slowly, "I'm afraid we'll both have to stay here. Anyway Hugh will for a while because—he's technically under arrest."

"Malcolm Feir, the halfwitted boy from the village, was found dead in the cavern—murdered. He had been dead about an hour." "But an hour ago," I protested. "I was on the cliff road." "So you say," said Steve. "You don't believe it?" I gasped. "Why should I?" he shrugged. "For all I know you might have called me in on this case to cover up for you. I don't know you."

"But I do!" cried Iris. "I've known him for years and years and I know he couldn't do a thing like that!" "You'll have a chance to tell the proper authorities about it, no doubt," said Steve coldly. "And as for you," he said to me, "I think we'll go to your room for the rest of this night, where I can keep an eye on you."

Soviet Airmen Flying Patrols Over China Seas

Hong Kong, March —(AP)—Soviet Air Force have been flying patrols over North China sea routes the past four days, American shipping representatives radioed today. The reports from North China said the Russian aircraft were patrol planes or bombers, possibly Ilyushins. Jane's Aircraft lists the Ilyushin as a four-jet bomber armed with 20 MM. Cannon and heavy machine-guns.

The reports were received by a Hong Kong shipping agency from American shipping representatives in North China cities and a former American merchant ship left Tientsin in the past 48 hours. The reports said Russian airmen, aircraft crews and garrison troops are swarming into the North China ports of Tsingtao, Tientsin and Dairen.

Top School Social Event, Coronation Ball, A Success

One of the top social events of the High School year was given by the sophomore class of Greenville High School last night in the school auditorium.

The main attraction of the night was the crowning of the four royal persons who reigned over the ball as King, Queen, Prince, and Princess.

Following several weeks of close balloting, these students finally came out with top honors: King, Julian Vainwright; Queen, Peggy Joyce Barrow; Prince, Johnny Russell; and Princess, Carolyn Barnhill.

Runners-up in the divisions were John House, Nancy Proctor, Bobby Perry and Barbara Cozart.

After the crowning of the royal court, the group was entertained to a variety of skits and musical productions.

Music for the annual affair was furnished by Bob Lee and his band.

A crowd of over 200 persons attended the annual affair with a large number of spectators in attendance.

Sixteen employees of the National Carbon Division's battery plant in Greenville were laid off yesterday.

The layoffs were caused, Bryan said, by an over-supply of the product, both in warehouses and dealers' stores throughout the country.

The employees who were laid off yesterday were notified last Friday they would no longer be needed and they took it with "no grumbling," Bryan said.

He stated he had "every reason to believe the layoff is temporary" and was optimistic in the belief that the 16 would be re-employed in the future.

The company, which makes the batteries to go into "penlights," increased its production to such an extent during the past three months that it was able to supply its regular outlets with more than enough batteries than could be sold.

Since it is a perishable commodity, the over-production had to be curtailed and dropping 16 employees was the only feasible way to balance supply with demand, he stated.

On Sunday night, April 2, at 8 p. m., we invite you to come to Saint Mary's Missionary Baptist church, located five miles northeast of this city.

The senior choir of the church is presenting the Crucifixion and Resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The drama will be drafted from the four Gospel books of the New Testament of the Holy Bible.—Rev J. E. James, pastor.

The Star of Zion Usher Board No. 2 of York Memorial A. M. E. Zion church will meet Sunday afternoon, April 2, at the home of Miss Lula Maxwell, 609 Wyatt street at 5 p. m.

They will be entertained by Fred Carr. All members are asked to be present.

The City Union Usher Board will meet Monday night, April 3, at Selva Chapel at 8 p. m. All members are asked to be present.—Lemuel Clemons, president.

Woman Burned As Stove Flares

Mrs. Dorothy Harris, 21-year-old white woman, was painfully burned yesterday afternoon at her home near Bell's Fork, when kerosene which she poured into a hot stove flared up in her face.

The woman stated she was trying to relight a fire in the stove with the oil and that as she stood over the stove and poured the oil it flared up into her face. Her eyelashes and some hair were burned. The flash of the flames blinded the woman for a time.

The woman and her infant child were the only persons home at the time of the accident.

James Ray Pittman, local grocer, arrived at the home with an order of groceries, received no answer as he knocked on the door, went inside and found the woman.

A telephone call was put in to the Greenville Fire Department and the department's rescue truck was sent to the scene and carried the woman to the hospital where she was treated by Dr. Winstead. The doctor said the woman's injuries were not serious and she would gain full sight from eyes in a short while.

Mrs. Harris was returned to her home by the rescue truck.

Navy Protecting Electric Gadgets

Washington—(AP)—A Navy scientist says private industry can profitably borrow a page from the Navy's book on how to protect electrical equipment from fungi and moisture.

Dr. Walter N. Ezekiel, chief mycologist of the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance, writing in "Electrical Manufacturing" magazine, the scientist says an important factor in preventing such deterioration is the use of materials naturally resistant to moisture and fungus in electrical equipment of all kinds.

He lists as "fungus-encouraging" such products as starch sizing, cotton, paper and cardboard, and plastics utilizing these materials as fillers. Ceramics, nylon and mica that are filled with either mica or glass are "inherently better materials" that do not support growth, says Ezekiel.

Boast Record In Blood Donations

Boiling Springs, April 1—(AP)—This small college town of 1,500 souls was counting its pulse rate with pride today.

The town's citizens boasted a new southeastern record for contributing blood to the American Red Cross. They set the new record for a single day by donating 203 pints yesterday.

Red Cross officials announced that the old record for the southeast was about 190 pints, while the highest collected figure for the Charlotte district was 181.

Hog Price Props Come To An End

Washington, April 1—(AP)—The economic law of supply and demand was free today to set prices in the nation's hog markets.

An Agriculture Department commitment to keep prices from dropping below levels declared to be "fair" to both farmers and consumers expired last night because of lack of funds to finance possible support operations.

Postoffice Site

Farmville property owners recently have made available to the United States Government sale of property believed to be suitable for a site for a new postoffice building.

One lot being considered is owned by Dr. C. E. Fitzgerald and Noah Williams. Another site offered is owned by J. Loyd Horton Jr. and his sister, Mrs. Gene H. Oglesby. Dr. Paul E. Jones has offered another site as a location for the new postoffice building in Farmville.

Stresses Import . . .

(Continued from Page 1) are important to establish national state, and local totals on the number of married persons, the number widowed, the number divorced and separated and the number of single individuals. Economists use the information in studying family formation and dissolution for business purposes.

"The question asked of farmers in this country, and the other counties in our local trade territory bring out valuable information on the production of food and other agricultural products and on the purchasing power of the farm families.

Drama In . . .

(Continued from page one) The Captain was court martialed, found guilty and sentenced to be cashiered—a terrible stigma to be attached to a proud name. The records of the trial were sent to the Adjutant General at headquarters for review, and here is what he told me about subsequent events:

"It was an absolute tragedy. Here was a grand officer, and one of the finest chaps in the whole army, cashiered—condemned to be thrown out of the service with blackened name. "And all this, damn it, because it was his own wife who was with him in Amiens. If it had any other woman in the world he would have been in the clear. It just didn't make sense.

"I studied for hours trying to find a loophole in that conviction, but it seemed air tight. Finally the time arrived when I could no longer evade the issue. The papers were lying on my desk and I was standing by one of my office windows, drumming on the pane, when I got my answer. I rushed over to my desk grabbed a pen and wrote across the verdict:

"No evidence produced to show that the lady in question was Captain Bob's wife. Case quashed."

'Point Four' . . .

(Continued from Page 1) gestions. Finally, a bill to set up the program was laid before Congress. It called for spending $45,000,000 the first year. The House chopped $20,000,000 off yesterday.

This week Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, went before the Senate Foreign Relations committee which is considering the bill. He urged approval and emphasized again that point four is an inseparable part of Mr. Truman's four-point program.

The other three are: U. S. support of the United Nations; U. S. economic help for Europe through the Marshall plan; and the Atlantic pact military alliance between this country and western Europe.

"Today," Acheson said, "Democracy is on trial for its life. The free way of life is under attack in every part of the world, including those areas which we call 'underdeveloped.'"

"Those areas include parts of Latin America, Africa, the Middle East, and the Far East, where two-thirds of the World's people live, many of them in the shadow of hunger, poverty and disease."

"Increasing numbers of these people no longer accept poverty as an inevitable fact of life... they are looking for a way out of their misery. They are not concerned with abstract ideas of Democracy or Communism. They are interested in practical solutions to their problems in terms of food, shelter and a decent livelihood."

"When the Communists offer quick and easy remedies for all their ills, they make a strong appeal to these people."
