Two Kansas City 'Bosses' Found Shot To Death

Political And Underworld Chiefs Slain In Twin Killing; Motive Is Sought

Kansas City, April 6 (AP)—Charles Binaggio and Charles Gargotta, recognized political and underworld chiefs respectively of Kansas City's Northside, were shot to death early today in their political club here.

Police immediately began a minute investigation of gangland and political activities here in search for a clue to the double murder.

Binaggio, 41, whose political power as a Democratic factional leader here has grown rapidly in the last few years, was found slumped in a chair at a desk at the rear of the club room.

One shoulder was sprinkled with cigarette ashes. There was a pool of blood on the floor. On the wall above Binaggio's body was a portrait of President Harry S. Truman.

Gargotta's body was found near the front door where he had been brought down with a bullet in the head. He had claved desperately at a venetian blind as he fell. Lt. Harry Nesbitt of the police homicide squad said Gargotta obviously was trying to flee for his life.

Police Chief Henry W. Johnson said Binaggio must have known his killer quite well. The Northside political leader apparently had been reclining in his office chair just before the double slaying.

Both Binaggio and Gargotta had been shot four times in the head. No weapon was found at the scene.

Robbery was dismissed immediately as a motive. Gargotta's clothing contained twenty $100 bills, four 10's and in his billfold, a large old-style one-dollar bill.

Binaggio still wore his diamond-studded wrist watch and had $24 in his pockets.

Police detectives expressed the belief the men probably were slain by out-of-town gangsters because no one in Kansas City is tough enough to brave enough to pull such a job.

Frank Collins, chief of detectives, said he had notified the FBI of the double slaying. He said he thought it likely the FBI would enter the investigation because both the slain men were under subpoena from a federal grand jury investigating crime conditions in this area.

End Of Boycott Ahead

Democracies Apparently Ready To Call Off Stern Policy Toward Spain; Reversal Noted In Atlantic Pact Defense Parley; Reasons For Opposition To Franco

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

It begins to look as though the democracies finally may call off the boycott against Spain—bad lad of western Europe ever since General Franco became dictator in '39 as the result of his revolt against the Communist supported Republic.

The trend was first indicated some weeks ago when U. S. Secretary of State Acheson announced a change in American policy towards Spain. He favored resumption of Madrid somatic representation in the United Nations repeats his 1946 recommendation that all members withdraw their ambassadors—a recommendation which was followed.

This reversal of policy seems to have paved the way for a striking development at the recent meetings of the Atlantic Pact defense ministers in The Hague. Spain being of vast strategic importance militarily, the question naturally arose of her relation to the 12-nation Atlantic Pact.

The conference military advisers favored the lesson of air bases from Spain, rather than giving her direct membership in the pact.

It is said this proposal will be placed before the meeting of the pact nations' foreign ministers in Senate Passes Bill Allowing More Refugees Enter U. S.

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Legislation to let additional thousands of European refugees come to this country to make their homes passed the senate just before last midnight.

The bill, liberalizing the 1948 displaced persons law by raising the number than can be admitted to 350,000, caps a long and bitter struggle in the senate. Republicans and Democrats in almost equal numbers joined to put it over, by a final vote of 58 to 15.

As passed, after stormy session that lasted nearly 12 hours and set a new record on the number of roll call votes (30) it conforms in its essentials to a measure passed by the house last June.

The argument was largely over terms on which various members felt strongly—there was general agreement all along on the basic idea of admitting more refugees.

The senate bill eliminates provisions of the 1948 act which President Truman assailed in his election campaign as discriminatory against Catholics and Jews. He repeatedly has prodded Congress for changes in the existing law.

Differences still remain to be ironed out with the house, but Senator Kilgore (D-W.Va.) a leader in the fight for the legislation in the form that was approved, said he expected no difficulty in this.

On the final vote, 27 Democrats and 31 Republicans voting for Passage. Opposed were 8 Democrats and 7 Republicans.

The bill would extend the present program for a year beyond June 30 and increase the number of refugees eligible for admission to this country from 205,000 to 350,000, including orphans and adopted children.

It also would wipe out requirements that 49 per cent of the DP's admitted be from the Baltic States and 30 per cent be farmers. It would advance the "cut-off" date from Dec. 22, 1945 to Jan. 1, 1949.

Together, these three changes erase the principal provisions that gave rise to the charges of religious and racial discrimination in the present law.

The cut-off date is the time by which refugees must have entered Germany, Austria or Italy to be eligible for consideration as displaced persons.

Ugo Carusi, chairman of the displaced persons commission which administers the program, told reporters that the bill is "fair and workable" and eliminates the major objections that were raised against the present law.

The legislation as passed retains the present definition embracing only those war refugees who are the concern of the International Refugee Organization (IRO), a United Nations agency.

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The State Department said today John Foster Dulles, New York lawyer and foreign policy expert, had agreed to serve as consultant to Secretary of State Acheson.

A formal announcement said the Republican was asked to take the position by both President Truman and Acheson.

Only last night, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross denied reports that Mr. Truman proposed to name Dulles to a top policy post with the rank of ambassador at large.

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The State Department said today the union yesterday proposed: (1) That an actuary determine the cost of pensions for workers retiring within the next five years. The size of Chrysler payments to a pension fund would be sufficient to keep the fund sound. Payments could be on an hourly, weekly, monthly, or annual basis.

(2) The fund would provide pensions of $100 a month, including federal social security, to all employees at 65 with 25 years service.

(3) The company would set aside money at a rate which would pay off all back and future service credits if the plan were continued 30 years. Back service means all time worked before the plan would go in effect. Future service refers to time worked from the date the plan started.

(4) If Congress boosts social security benefits, the company would continue paying into the fund at the same rate. The money saved by the company in paying a smaller portion of the $100 a month pensions would be used to amortize the plan in less than 30 years.

Bargaining talks were recessed to give the company time to analyze the union plan. Conciliators were expected to call both sides back together later this week—possibly today if the negotiators indicated they were ready.

A previous Chrysler offer to put $30,000,000 into a pension fund has failed to bring a settlement.

Possible Merger Of Major Unions Seriously Talked

William Green Says Chances Better Than Ever; Leaders Plan Meeting

Washington, April 6 (AP)—A possible merger of the AFL and CIO has suddenly become a serious topic of conversation in labor circles.

The reason: AFL President William Green's observation that the chances for such a move are "better today than they have been in the past six years."

Green was commenting on a proposal put forward by Philip Murray, president of the CIO.

Murray invited the AFL, John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, the International Association of Machinists, and the railroad Brotherhoods to join in a grand program of co-operation on legislation, politics, and economic problems.

Once that is done, Murray said, the groups could work toward unification into a single organization of some 16,000,000 members. The AFL claims 8,000,000 on its rolls, the CIO 6,000,000 and the other organizations about 2,000,000 together.

Green and Murray have split in the past over how unification should be accomplished, and their differences still seemed to exist.

The AFL chief favors immediate consolidation—as contrasted with the step-by-step procedure suggested by Murray. Green made clear in an interview in New Orleans that he hasn't changed his mind.

"The interests of labor could best be served by the establishment of one strong, united organization," he said. "Anything less would be temporary."

But the 76-year-old labor leader said he will be ready to meet with Murray upon his return to Washington. Green was in Louisiana to attend a meeting of the State Federation of labor.

Murray told a reporter in Washington he was planning to go to Pittsburgh today and would return to the capital April 18. But he said he would be available at any time to discuss the unity question with Green.

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The Veterans Administration today closed off, at least temporarily, its plans to dismiss 4,700 hospital and clinic employees next Monday.

The VA also abandoned for the time being plans to close a number of medical clinics, but said it will go ahead with the scheduled dismissal by next Monday of 3,000 non-medical personnel.

The agency said veterans administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr. has asked the budget bureau for a supplemental fund of $2,190,000 to keep its medical personnel employed through the end of the fiscal year next June 30.

Gray had ordered 30-day dismissal notices sent March 10 to about 7,800 employees, including the 4,700 doctors, nurses and other medical personnel.

He said then that the dismissals, which were set for April 10, were necessary to stay within budget appropriations.

Gray sent telegrams today to managers of all hospitals and to regional offices having out-patient clinics. He ordered them to let him know by tomorrow the actual number of employees affected by temporary deferment of the proposed medical personnel cuts.

Gray notified the budget bureau he needs $1,110,000 for the salaries of 3,070 medical personnel in VA hospitals for the remainder of the current fiscal year, and $1,080,000 for 1,700 positions in out-patient medical clinics in the regional offices.

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today said its division of powers with the board's general counsel, Robert Denham, has been a "failure." It said Denham's separate authority should be abolished.

Paul Herzog, NLRB chairman, told the Senate Select Committee on the Board supports President Truman's plan for reorganizing the agency.

The plan calls for removing Denham's present independent authority and making him subordinate to the board.

Herzog said in his prepared testimony that the present division of power fixed by the Taft-Hartley Act has caused friction within the agency, "confusion among management and labor unions," and has provoked "uncertainty and litigation."

Witnesses representing the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce told the committee yesterday the President's plan, if allowed to go into effect, would undermine public confidence in the board.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who supported a transfer of Denham's powers to the board last summer, now opposes the idea. Taft said Tuesday the President's plan to wipe out Denham's authority would make Herzog "the most powerful labor czar" in the country.

Without referring directly to Taft's contention, Herzog said the President's plan would place "all investigatory and regulatory functions, not in him as chairman, but in the five men who comprise the entire NLRB."

Other functions of the general counsel as well, Herzog said, would go not to him, but to the board.

Lattimore Takes Stand To Answer McCarthy Charges

Five Manslaughter Cases To Be Heard

Four Of Cases Resulted From Highway Deaths; Fifth Due To Poolroom Fight; Twelve Drunken Driving Cases

Pitt County jurors will hear five manslaughter cases this month when Superior Court convenes April 17 for a two-week mixed term of criminal court.

Heading the calendar are three cases resulting from highway deaths during the past four months and one occurring last July. The fifth is manslaughter resulting from a death in a poolroom scuffle during January.

The five cases involve Grover Lee Smith, Kenneth L. Jackson, Jasper Woodrow Crawford and Charles L. Whitfield Jr., all indicted for highway deaths, and George Dunn, indicted for the death of Leslie Ed. Driver in a poolroom dispute in the Scuffleton community.

The grand jury, meeting during the August term of court, returned a true bill against Crawford for the death of 16-month-old Irvin M. Barber Jr. on the streets of Greenville. True bills were returned against Smith in January's court, and Jackson and Whitfield in the March term.

Smith was indicted for the deaths, December 10, of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Skinner, Ray Dunn and William Claude Drake. The Skinner couple were riding in their car headed toward Falkland, their car colliding with the Smith car of which Drake and Dunn were occupants. The accident occurred three miles outside Greenville on the so-called "dead-man's curve."

Jackson was indicted for the death of J. H. Wetherington near Ayden on the night of February 23. Jackson's car struck Wetherington as he stood on the highway beside his own parked car.

Whitfield was indicted in the deaths of three persons the night of February 20 near Thom's Fork. The dead were Mrs. Bell's Earl Venters and daughter Rose Marie Venters and Mrs. Venters' mother, Mrs. Rosa Sutton, all of Grimesland.

Besides the manslaughter cases, the trial of Walter Wade Carson, of Bethel, accused of raping a 17-year-old Bethel girl, Daphne Janet Bowser January 7 in Greenville, is slated for hearing. There are no grand jury cases scheduled for hearing at this date.

Judge Walter J. Bone, riding the Fifth Judicial District's circuit for the first six months, is scheduled to hear 52 other cases in addition to the manslaughter and rape cases. Scheduled for trial are 12 drunken driving cases, two less than were on the March calendar, finished last week. Running next in numbers to drunk driving are larceny and illegal liquor possession with six cases each. Three assault cases are scheduled, two for gambling and operation of a gambling house. One incest and rape case, continued from the March calendar, will appear on this calendar.

Third Race For A County Office

J. E. Mills, Of Chicod, Files For County Commissioner

The third race for county office developed yesterday with the filing of J. Elbert Mills of Chicod township for County Commissioner.

Mills will oppose incumbent Marvin Smith for representative of the 4th district.

The other two races for office include a three-way race for constable of Winterville township. The candidates are Charlie T. Wells, Jr., who filed yesterday, Rick Jackson, also filing yesterday, and Linwood E. Tripp, incumbent.

In the other county election, G. H. Pittman, incumbent, will oppose C. C. Harris for county commissioner from district three. Harris filed a few days ago.

Mills, who makes his home on a 100-acre farm in the Chicod community, is now president of the Simpson-Grimesland Ruritan club. He has worked during the past years in the AAA office and served in the capacity of community committeeman for several years. Married and has four children, he has been a resident of the Chicod community all his life.

Jackson, the latest to file for the office of Winterville constable, lives two miles outside town on the Ayden highway. Married, and with four children, he has never held public office.

Power Division Termed Failure

NLRB Urges Denham's Authority Be Abolished

Washington, April 6 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today said its division of powers with the board's general counsel, Robert Denham, has been a "failure." It said Denham's separate authority should be abolished.

Paul Herzog, NLRB chairman, told the Senate Select Committee on the Board supports President Truman's plan for reorganizing the agency.

The plan calls for removing Denham's present independent authority and making him subordinate to the board.

Herzog said in his prepared testimony that the present division of power fixed by the Taft-Hartley Act has caused friction within the agency, "confusion among management and labor unions," and has provoked "uncertainty and litigation."

Without referring directly to Taft's contention, Herzog said the President's plan would place "all investigatory and regulatory functions, not in him as chairman, but in the five men who comprise the entire NLRB."

Terms Them 'Contemptible Lies'; Says Senator Has Violated His Responsibilities, And Strongly Suggests He Resign From Office

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Owen Lattimore, accused by Senator McCarthy of being Russia's top spy in the United States, swore today that the charges are "base and contemptible lies."

He said McCarthy has "flagrantly violated his responsibility as a senator" and has made unauthorized use of secret government documents.

Lattimore, an authority on Far Eastern affairs, took notes of McCarthy's contention that he can prove Lattimore is or was a Communist and declared:

"I was not and have not been a Communist x x x; and I am not a Communist now."

Lattimore made his denial in testimony prepared for a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigating McCarthy's charges that Communists and Red sympathizers have infested the State Department.

Hitting back hard in a 10-000-word statement, Lattimore said McCarthy has violated his responsibility "by making the government of the United States an object of suspicion in the eyes of the anti-Communist world, and undoubtedly the laughing stock of the Communist governments."

Lattimore also declared that McCarthy has impaired the effectiveness of this government "in its relations with its friends and allies."

He accused the Wisconsin senator of "instilling a reign of terror among officials and employees in the United States government, none of whom can be sure of safety from attack by the machine gun of irresponsible publicity in Joseph McCarthy's hands."

Lattimore is director of a school of international relations at Johns Hopkins University. He flew back to this country from a United Nations mission in Afghanistan after McCarthy made his accusations.

Lattimore told the inquiry committee that McCarthy has:

1. "Without authorization used secret documents obtained from official government files."

2. "Vilified critics of the United States and accused them of high crime, without giving them an opportunity to defend themselves."

3. "Refused to submit alleged documentary evidence to a duly constituted committee of the Senate."

The officers then made a few remarks of acceptance.

The newly installed matron and patron gave their speeches and asked for the loyalty and support of all members.

Members of the Greenville and Ayden chapter present for the ceremony were recognized, as were the number of friends gathered for the occasion. After the reading of the minutes by Richard A. Nelson, the guests were invited into the dining room where the tables were centered with a beautiful star in the chapter colors of yellow, green, blue, red and white tall candles in the colors were used in effective arrangement also. Punch was served from either end of the table, also lavish and colorful trays of assorted canapes, sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres and individual cakes decorated with the colors of the chapter.

Hoey Raps McGrath For Segregation Case Work

Washington, April 5—(AP)—Senator Hoey (D-NC) lashed out yesterday against Attorney General McGrath for participating in a segregation case.

McGrath personally appeared in the Supreme Court this week for the government in the case of Elmer Henderson, Washington, D. C., Negro, against the Southern Railway.

Hoey also criticized McGrath's department of justice for its arguments in favor of ending segregation in state colleges in Texas and Oklahoma.

North Carolina is directly interested in the school cases as an Asheville Negro, has filed suit against the University of North Carolina to obtain entry to the law school there. The Negro, Harold Epps, is a student at the law school at North Carolina College in Durham.

McGrath opposed action taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission after Henderson complained to it that he could not get a meal on a Southern diner.

The Southern, informed of the complaint, notified the ICC it would curtail off a section of dining room cars for Negroes. The ICC then dismissed the complaint, but Henderson went to court.

Said Hoey: "We have had the amazing spec-

Laborites Gain By-Election Win

Sheffield, England, April 6—(AP)—A labor victory in a by-election in this steel city has increased the British labor government's overall majority in the House of Commons to a still precarious four seats.

Voters in the Neepsend division yesterday gave labor candidates Sir Frank Soskice, Britain's solicitor general, 22,080 votes. His major opponent, James P. Hunt, running on a combined conservative-liberal ticket got only 8,363 and Communist candidate E. L. Moore got 729.

Stokes School's Lawn Is Set Out

Stokes, April 6—The ground in front of the Stokes school, which for a long time has lain bare, soon will be covered with a carpet of permanent grass planted through the efforts of the Stokes Ruritan club and the school agricultural class.

The project of beautifying the grounds of the school started some weeks ago at a meeting of the Stokes Ruritan Club when it was proposed that the club do something to help make the school grounds more beautiful. Soon after the meeting, tractors left the fields and began cutting up the school ground. John Gray, president of the club, Sam Gray, Curtis Taylor and John Cherry sent three tractors and a truck to the school grounds to prepare the land for planting grass.

William Crandall, H. L. Congleton and Sam Gray donated enough manure to fertilize the lawn.

When the ground was conditioned, members of the Ruritan Club donated posts which were painted white and put in the ground at intervals of several feet around the school ground.

The members of the agricultural class of the school under the direction of their instructor, Mr. Nobles, began the task of planting the grass which was completed yesterday.

Dr. Crabbe Speaks To Inter Se Club

The Inter Se Club was indeed fortunate to have Dr. Alfred Leland Crabbe as guest speaker at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jack Edinger.

The noted author, lecturer and teacher was introduced by Mrs. Platt Evans. In his informal and interesting style, Dr. Crabbe pointed out many difficulties and disappointments to be overcome before attainment of success in the field of writing.

In his review of the highlights of his well-known novel, "Home to the Hermitage," Dr. Crabbe stated that the book was written with a definite purpose in mind—that of clarifying to the public certain historical facts in the life of Rachel and Andrew Jackson and to picture their great love of home—The Hermitage.

Many places of historical interest to visitors in Tennessee were designated by Dr. Crabbe in concluding his talk.

A delicious dessert course was served by the hostesses.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Alfred L. Crabbe of Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. H. M. Parker of Virginia Beach, Va., and Mrs. Carl Adams.

Robinson Crusoe Bore The Boys

London—(AP)—Teen-age London boys are bored by Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe" but are avid readers of Victor Kravcenket's "I Chose Freedom." Martin Barr told the Lord Council of Social Service he had established this in a study of reading habits of 150 boys between 14 and 18 who use a club in Shoreditch in the east end.

Toronto, Ontario, April 6—(AP)—Six children perished early today in flames that swept swiftly through their family home here.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harding, saved two children but were unable to help the six, who burned to death in their beds.

A neighbor said the frame dwelling "went up like a torch" shortly after midnight.

Harding said he awoke to find the rear of the house in flames. He and his wife escaped, carrying three-year-old Howard, Paul, 14, jumped through an upper window and crawled to safety over an adjoining roof.

The thirteenth, or alternate juror, was selected shortly after the trial was resumed today. During the first day of the trial yesterday, twelve jurors were selected. In all, 110 persons were examined before the 13 jurors were seated in the box.

Eidson-Morris Vows Spoken Saturday At Gumswamp Church

MRS. HENRY E. EIDSON, JR.

On Saturday, April 1, at five o'clock in the afternoon, the Gum Swamp Free Will Baptist church was the scene of an impressive wedding when Miss Ruth Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morris, became the bride of Mr. Henry E. Eidson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Eidson of Laurinburg, N. C.

The Reverend W. L. Moretz officiated at the double ring ceremony. The vows were spoken before an altar banked with ferns, baskets of gladiolus and seven branch candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Miss Doris Buffalo of Raleigh, pianist and Miss Frances Morris, vocalist, of Raleigh, presented a program of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected traditional candle light satin for her gown, fashioned with a portrait neckline of sheer illusion yolk. A shoulder framing ruffle caught in quaint sheerings, gave the off-the-shoulder effect. A fitted bodice topped a very full skirt that correspondingly was caught with sherrings to drape softly about its hemline. Her finger tip veil of imported French illusion fell from a tiara of seeded pearls, the brides only ornament was a string of pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible, gift of the minister, topped with an orchid and showered with lovers knots.

Mrs. Lester Duncan of Spring Hope, was the brides' matron of honor. She wore a pastel blue marquisette dress with matching mittens. She carried a nosegay of mixed flowers, with matching head dress.

The brides maids were Miss Lucille Morris, of Greenville, sister of the bride. She wore a Nile green marquisette dress with matching mittens, and Miss Nadine Morris, of Greenville, cousin of the bride. She wore a lavender marquisette dress with matching mittens. They carried nose gays of mixed flowers with matching head dress.

The bride groom was attended by his father as best man; ushers were Mr. David Harrell of Burgaw, N. C., and Mr. Milton Fairly, Jr., of Laurinburg, N. C.

For traveling, the bride wore a white wool dress with white topper, and navy blue accessories. At her shoulder was pinned the orchid lifted from her Bible.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception immediately following the ceremony.

Worship commission, will lead the worship service.

All of the youth of the city are invited to attend the service which will get under way in the sanctuary at 12:30.

reports asserted every saucer which has been reported was seen within 25 miles of a whiskey store. We haven't checked his statistics.

At any rate, there are plenty of theories floating around about the objects. Stick to your theory. It may be just as right as the next one if and when the real mystery of the saucers is unveiled.

Silence Is Golden

There was news on Capitol Hill Tuesday which went almost unnoticed among the hundreds of dispatches which came from Washington, but we think it is worthy of note.

The Senate on that day adjourned two hours early because none of the members of that august body had anything to say.

It may be a practice which will give the senators much more free time if they allow Tuesday's action to become a precedent. The Reflector is not surprised at Senators not having anything to say, because we have felt many times that the members of that body have been talking without having anything to say.

The peculiarity which makes the incident worthy of note is that the Senators themselves admitted for a change they had nothing to say.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 6—The closed politico-legal corporation which has conducted the three most important Senate investigations in recent years—Pearl Harbor, Lillenthal and atomic security, and the McCarthy charges of Communist influence within the State Department—points toward eventual exoneration of every high Administration official and adviser on postwar foreign policy from Harry S. Truman to Owen Lattimore.

The merry-go-round manner in which almost the same clique of senators, lawyers and investigators have handled these three inquiries into alleged neglect of national security problems resembles the plot of a carefully written and organized piece of fiction, or of a well-staged Hollywood movie.

But Republican members begin to suspect that it was "planned that way" by the White House and Capitol Hill aides under both Roosevelt and Truman Administrations.

RESPONSIBILITY—The plot begins with the senatorial autopsy of the Pearl Harbor disaster, when the Republicans set out to prove from internal evidence and documents that the responsibility for our worst naval defeat rested at Washington rather than on General Short and Admiral Kimmel.

Committee counsel was Seth Richardson, who was an Assistant Attorney General under Herbert Hoover. In view of his background, it was expected that he would make a penetrating and far-reaching investigation of all the causes which enabled the Japs to surprise our Pacific fleet.

But, for one reason or another, his performance was utterly ineffectual insofar as illuminating hidden recesses was concerned. Unimportant military men "took the rap."

PARTNER—Although this interjection destroys the chronological sequence of this column, it should be noted here that, as chairman of the Federal Loyalty Board, Mr. Richardson now refuses to turn over any personnel files to aid the Senate committee in sifting McCarthy's charges.

It should also be noted that the North Dakota Republican is a law partner of Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia and once an acknowledged admirer of Stalin and the Russian government, as revealed in his book and movie, "Mission to Moscow."

APPOINTMENT—The chief investigator of the Pearl Harbor Committee was a Washington lawyer named Edward P. Morgan. His name will appear again in this summary of these inquiries. But it may be interesting to note that his law firm handles many natural gas and radio questions which require their frequent appearances before the Federal Power and Federal Communications Commissions.

Principal lawyer for the committee was Samuel Kaufman, whose reward for his many political services was appointment to the federal bench in New York City.

He presided over the first Hiss trial, but his apparent bias in favor of the defendant, as evidenced by his effusive welcome of Hiss character witnesses, Justices Frankfurter and Reed, and his barring of government evidence and witnesses, led to his replacement at the second trial by the eminent jurist, Judge Goddard.

TE-UP—Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Commission, ran the hearing into charges that David E. Lillenthal was an inappropriate person to head up the program for development of atomic resources.

The chief investigator in this effort was another Washington lawyer named Lyon Tyler. Curiously enough, he is an attorney with Edward P. Morgan's firm.

Besides acquitting Mr. Lillenthal of improper conduct, this committee also cleared Gordon Dean as a member of AEC. Mr. Dean is a former law partner of Chairman McMahon.

There is no intention here of criticizing the committee's findings, particularly as to Mr. Dean. But the legal tieup is interesting, especially as it continues into the current study of Senator McCarthy's allegation that for some time our major policies toward Russia and China have been underwritten by men allegedly ultraliberal in their world views.

IN-LAW—The chairman of the committee assaying the McCarthy indictment is Senator Millard L. Tydings of Maryland, who happens to be the son-in-law of Joseph E. Davies, and reportedly a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket in 1952.

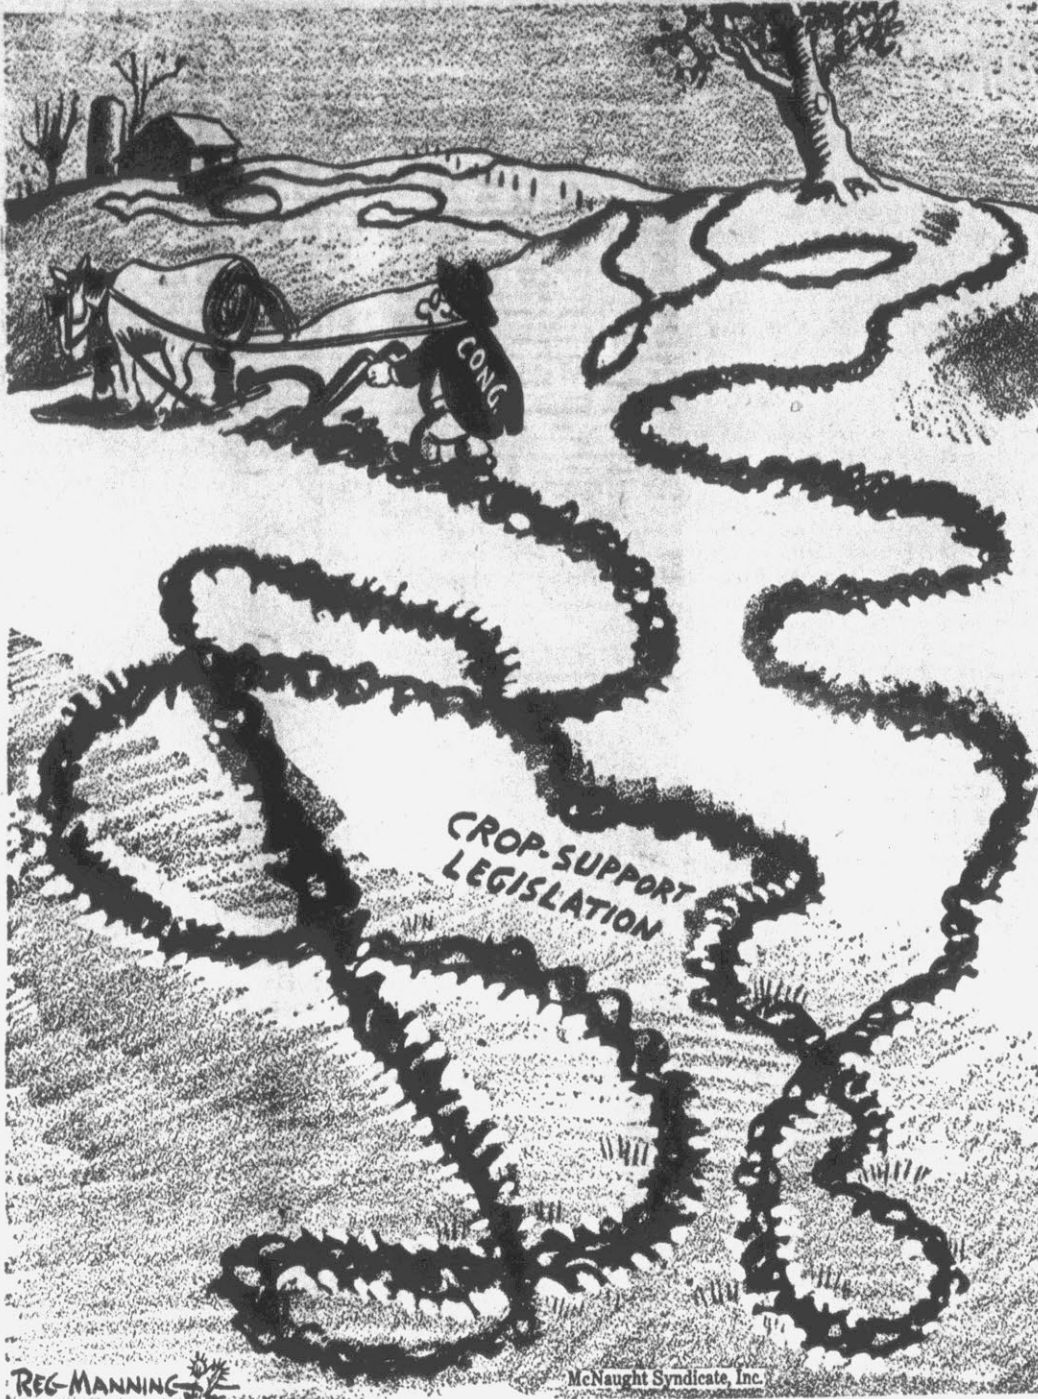

The chief counsel is—again—Edward P. Morgan, who served in the same capacity in the Pearl Harbor survey. The chief investigator is Lyon Tyler, member of the Morgan firm and the top sleuth in the Lillenthal inquiry. It is understood that he got this job on Senator McMahon's recommendation, for the Connecticut member is one of Mr. McCarthy's leading hecklers on the committee.

Mr. Richardson, as already noted, obedient to President Truman, refuses to permit the senatorial investigators to make a secret check of his data on the various people accused by McCarthy of influencing major policies in behalf of the Kremlin. At the same time Mr. Truman and his aides insist that the Wisconsin senator let White House appointees peruse the papers which form the basis of his charges.

ATTITUDE—When the Democrats were gunning for Peapod Dome conspirators in and outside the Harding-Coolidge Cabinet, and for Harry Daugherty, in the mid-twenties, the Republican bigwigs took the same high-and-mighty attitude that the Trumanites do today. But the GOP-ers were never clever enough to father an official family of friendly lawyers and investigators.

Incidentally, it should be noted that the only paid-inquiry so far was that conducted into the Hiss-Chambers incident by the much-damned House Committee on Un-American Activities. Even success was due solely to the persistence and ability of Representative Richard Nixon, who will probably be the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate in California next fall.

Contour Plowing?

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Today's column is a continuation of yesterday's, which consisted of a letter from Tom Forman, one of the elevator operators at the State Bank building. I asked Tom to write down some of the trials and tribulations of his job, which he did, masterfully:

"I feel sorry for the poor babies that ride the elevator. Usually the baby is crying and yelling with pain, and someone will ask the parent why the baby is crying. 'Just had a little shot,' they answer, and then they say to the baby, 'Stop crying, darling. It doesn't hurt, does it? Well, I don't dare to write what the baby might say if he could talk."

"One baby refused to ride the elevator with me one day, and the mother told him, 'The elevator isn't going to hurt you.' The youngster replied, 'It's not the elevator I'm afraid of, it's that man running it.' And that baby wouldn't ride, either."

"And there's the one-foot-in-the-elevator type. He's the one that comes in, meets someone he hasn't seen in a long time and stands there with one foot in the door talking over old times. And if I closed the door when he has one foot in and one foot out, it would split him in two, which would never do.

"All of these things actually happen on the elevator every day. How many miles do you ride up and down? Do you have swimming in the head? Of course I know I'm a water head, but it doesn't come from the elevator."

"One lady told me that I look dizzy. 'Is it from riding up and down so much?' she asked. But Mr. Edwards, in spite of it all, we enjoy it and are glad that there are so many people with a sense of humor."

"Remember the day you went upstairs and passed your wife, and didn't even see her? Aren't people funny!"

Going up
Tom and Jim"

There's always some tale in circulation about preachers. The latest one I've heard has been told on the Rev. Glenn Haney, minister at the Eighth Street Christian Church.

So the story goes, Dr. Haney was away from Greenville vacationing. The game of golf is one of Dr. Haney's loves, so he took off for the golf course immediately upon arrival in the town.

He then dressed in his golf togs and engaged a caddy. It so happened that three golfers approached the first tee when Dr. Haney was standing there. They noticed that he was alone and asked if he would join them. He said that he appreciated the invitation, and accepted.

The first golfer to tee off slammed his ball into the woods, and expounded with considerable profanity. For three holes this kind of language continued.

On the fourth hole this same person who cursed so much asked Dr. Haney, "What's your business?"

"I'm a Christian minister," he replied.

"Oh," the man said, "I'm so sorry that my tongue has been so loose."

"Oh that's all right," Dr. Haney said, "if I played golf as poorly as you do I might curse too."

Upon checking this story, I discovered that it did happen to a preacher, but not to Dr. Haney. It just goes to show how tales about preachers can get out of control, just like a golf ball and a loose tongue.

And I thank you.

INTERESTED—Advent of spring has stirred interest in vacations and among many people that interest centers on North Carolina. Monday the state advertising division received one thousand and two inquiries about Variety Vacationland and industrial locations. For some weeks the advertising division mail has been running between four hundred and five hundred letters a day, and the big jump this week was attributed to spring weather. Another pleasing factor, according to advertising Director Charles Parker, is that these inquiries were volunteered without stimulus of coupons in advertisements. The seasonal advertising is just beginning, and only a very few of the letters or cards received so far have mentioned current advertising programs.

CONTINUING—This further emphasizes the continuing nature of promotional work. Much of the interest manifested in Tar Heelia now was inspired by publicity last year, and next year the state will still be reaping harvests from seed sown in the 1950 campaign.

ALL OVER—The advertising office has set up a postoffice box type of file in which inquiries from various states are kept separate. The file doesn't have an empty pocket, indicating that inquiries have come from every state and the "foreign" slot is almost half full. As has been the case in the past more interest in manifested throughout the near west with Ohio, Indiana and Illinois

THE INDIVIDUAL FIRST (Kinston Daily Free Press)
The important matter of shifting some 18 residents of the Lenoir County Home for the Aged to private and public boarding homes which have been approved by the State Board of Welfare is now getting concerted attention by the welfare authorities here. At the suggestion of State Board of Welfare representatives the local caseworkers will endeavor to find homes for three or four of the residents each, with the paramount concern being what best suits the individual or couple involved.

As we see it, the problem could not satisfactorily be handled any other way. Mass movement from the Home to another boarding home of comparable size no doubt would be the ideal way to eliminate the problem once and for all time. But no two residents of the home have identical needs. Some are virtually bed-ridden, while still others are able and willing to do some light chores about the Home. None is able to fend entirely for himself or herself.

Lenoir County has long been too derelict in its duty to its aged wards to permit this delicate problem to be botched or further complicated by the wrong approach. Enlightened care of the aged is based on the needs, comforts and companionship desires of the individual involved. If this individual approach is followed to the letter and the spirit of the recommendations now before the authorities, residents of Lenoir County may eventually hold high their heads in the knowledge that this humanitarian responsibility has been successfully discharged.

MATERIAL—Every inquiry is answered with appropriate publicity material about the state. A new series of folders and booklets is just coming from the press. Director Parker is not too happy about appearance of some of this material, because colors are not vivid enough to adequately portray Carolina's scenic beauty. The factual information is accurate and the illustrations give a fair idea of what the visiting stranger may expect to find.

BUGGS ISLAND—A relief map of the Buggs Island project is on display in the lobby of the education building. This is the same exhibit that stood in the Raleigh postoffice for several days. Those responsible for showing it decided that only local people visited the postoffice, while folks from all over the state trekked through the education building lobby on their way to the department of public instruction, conservation and development, welfare department, ABC board and industrial commission. After remaining at its present site for a few days the exhibit will be started on a tour of eastern Carolina, with first stop scheduled for Rocky Mount.

DOWN-CURRENT issue of Farm Report, semi-monthly publication of the state-federal crop reporting service, shows a drop of 15 per cent in farm income for 1949 as compared with 1948. Net income solely from farm operations was down 17 per cent under 1948 and 22 per cent under 1947, the report showed. An encouraging feature of the report was that prices received by North Carolina in March of 1950 were slightly above the February levels, and for some of the major crops just a little bit higher than national averages. That is offset by the fact that prices paid for feed by North Carolinians is practically the same as last month, and just a bit above national average.

DISTURBED—Governor Scott and Commissioner Ballentine are somewhat worried about the continuing downward trend in farm income. The decline is not enough to be serious if it were temporary, but when the downward course has been consistent for three years it is disturbing.

INCIDENT—Two well known lawyers met on the street in Raleigh the other day and one said to the other: "I hope you can vote my ticket this year." "What is your ticket?" inquired the second. "Graham for senate and Buffaloe for constable." "Can't go all the way with you, but—" and before the second man could finish his statement the first said, "Well, vote for Buffaloe, anyhow." It is quite likely that Senator Graham and Constable Buffaloe do not know each other; certainly there is no common interest in respective candidacies of a United States senator and a township constable. The incident just goes to show how entirely unrelated factors are brought into political campaigns—and the broken reeds upon which some voting support is based.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
There's scarcely a national trade association that isn't looking pretty deeply into a new insurance plan evolved by the National Retail Furniture Association. The plan provides insurance for independent business men at low, group rates.

Local, state and regional trade associations have obtained group insurance for members in the past. But this is the first time, as far as N.R.F.A. officials know, that such service has been arranged on a national basis.

The furniture association plan is not, strictly speaking, a small business proposition, since the N.R.F.A. includes a number of giant retailers. But the plan points to a way in which smaller operators can obtain protection for themselves and employees at group rates.

Larger corporations have generally held an advantage in obtaining insurance for executives and employees, since group rates are generally available to them. Low-cost insurance for employees has enabled large companies to recruit and keep the most desirable workers. Small stores rarely qualify for group insurance.

The N.R.F.A. plan, which is underwritten by Prudential, goes into effect July 1. Benefits are payable on death, dismemberment and illness. Death benefits range from $1,000 for employees earning less than $35 a week to $4,000 for those earning more than $4,000 a year, and sick benefits range from $14 to $42 a week. The plan may be contributory or non-contributory, as a store elects. However, partial coverage, including only accidental death and dismemberment benefits, is available only on a non-contributory basis.

Other trade associations considering providing group insurance to member stores and plants are finding life insurance companies specializing in group insurance fully eager to supply plans and rates. What the N.R.F.A. has started may result in group insurance benefits made available to proprietors and employees of every store and plant eligible to join some trade association.

Medicine Chest

Campaign May 1

"For safety's sake, refill your medicine chest now!" is the theme of a national campaign starting

May 1. While the campaign is being sponsored by Johnson and Johnson and will emphasize heavily that firm's surgical dressings, it should stimulate the sale of all medical manufacturers, including competitors.

"Clear Out Chest" Suggested As Drive

This suggests that there is an opportunity for a proprietary house or trade association in a national campaign to "clear the nixies out of your medicine chest."

Almost every medicine chest contains bottles from which labels have fallen; bottles on which labels have become illegible; preparations which have lost their potency, and prescriptions for which the purpose has been forgotten.

Each of these "nixies" represents a source of danger to children and to persons who reach for something in the dark when stricken suddenly.

Such a campaign would be in the public service. It would also help drug sales, since clearing out a chest would also remind householders to replenish supplies of well-identified stand-bys.

Trade Provision Quoted In Reverse

The National Retail Dry Goods Association spent years of time and thousands of dollars working out an industry-wide understanding, only to have some one come along and mess the whole thing up.

The understanding is the Basic Trade Provisions, which cover the relations between dry goods retailers and suppliers. One provision is that orders may not be cancelled before date of delivery and that cancellation then not be effective until three days after.

Now suppliers report that they are receiving cancellations from non-member stores asking for cancellation three days "prior" to delivery date. "In accordance with the Basic Trade Provisions of the National Retail Dry Goods Association and the Apparel Industries Inter-Association Committee."

Because the wording of these diametrically wrong notices is identical, the N.R.D.G.A. suspects a plot. It is asking suppliers to let it know when such "cancellations" are received and is writing retailers who misquote the B.T.P. to get their facts straight.

Hal Boyle's Column

New York—(AP)—Oh, for the life of an oyster!

It sounds pretty good to a care-tired man doesn't it—a serene career there on the quiet ocean floor, lulled by the waves, fretted by no mean ambitions, hurt-nobody, and free of all troubles?

That's the kind of life the oyster would like to enjoy, too.

He just wants to be nature's pacifist—a real isolationist, a true self-contained individualist. The oyster does everything possible to avoid responsibility. He never has to go to a psychiatrist to find out why he hates his parents, because he never even knows who his parents were. And he doesn't want to.

At birth he is an invisible tadpole. He swims about for a few days, seeing about as much of the world as the crew of the average submarine on patrol. That gives him enough memories for "one lifetime, and he settles down to the sea bottom and fastens himself to the shell of an ancestor, his only tie with the past.

He is neither an employer nor a laborer. He owns nothing but a calcium hut, and he builds it alone out of himself and the sea.

He lives in a big bed with thousands of other oysters. He is the perfect neighbor. He doesn't eat crackers in bed, he doesn't gossip, criticize, brag, or argue about religion. If another oyster builds a house on his roof he doesn't even complain about his property rights.

The woes of matrimony?—Not for him. He solves the problem of sex by being a lady oyster one year, a male the next. What difference does it make? The other oysters don't care.

He doesn't drown his body with bad habits like staying up nights or hanging out at bars. He even drinks 45 to 50 gallons of water a day, enough to satisfy any doctor.

All he wants to do is sit there and dream—and produce other little oysters. He siffs his food from the sea, and it brings him all he needs.

Wouldn't you think a simple fellow like that, warring on nobody, asking nothing of anybody, would live forever in happiness, safety, peace and good health?

Well, kiddies, he doesn't. The oyster may yearn to be his own world. But he is too good to last. The oyster becomes everybody else's world.

Safecrackers of the sea floor—little animal oyster drills—bore through his shell to get at his flesh. Starfish ambush him. Mudworms waylay him. Even sponges tunnel into his bedroom. And as for health? Did you know that tiny sea parasites are always trying to swim through his doorway and give him kidney trouble? Yes, kidney trouble.

And if he escaped all these neighborhood thugs, there is still his greatest enemy—will guard him from other foes only to fatten the poor trusting bivalve for market in a world he never knew.

This fascinating picture of the oyster's dilemma was given me by Royal Toner, who owns about 700,000 bushels of oysters on a 6,000-acre sub-sea ranch off Long Island.

Toner has been interrupting oyster dreams for four decades. And he feels it hasn't been profitable—it is too necessary. He says the oyster is too dangerous a fellow to let alone.

"They could cause more trouble than the atom bomb," he said. "Each female oyster has about 25,000,000 eggs at spawning time. Statisticians figure that if all the progeny of two oysters lived and multiplied for only five generations they'd make a mass as big as the earth itself. And where would we be?"

But the real reason of the oyster is: You have to face life—nobody can live safely alone in an ivory tower anywhere in a hungry world.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Peoples in European countries are getting to know what the Marshall Plan means to them as individuals through very simple messages put out by their governments.

Posters, booklets, films and scores of other measures are being used to tell the American dollars given to their country are not charity but are to be used to help the countries help themselves.

This is graphically shown in a booklet distributed by the Netherlands government among Dutch employers and employees, professional groups, teachers, students and others. The booklet consists of a series of clever color drawings interspersed with terse explanations. To begin with, it shows typical citizens from Marshall Plan countries.

Myneer Jansen from Amsterdam, Monsieur Lebrun from Paris, Herr Erikson from Copenhagen, Mister Brown from London, Mister O'Connor (with red hair) from Ireland, red-fuzzed Ahmad Bay from Istanbul, Signor Gatti from Trieste, Kyrios Pappasopoulos from Athens and so on. These men look healthy and hopeful.

On the following page, the same men, pictured haggard, cheeked, haggard and dejected, "would look like this without the Marshall Plan," the caption reads. Then, as simply as a child's elementary reader, between a slice of bread and three tattered totes, the lines "without the Marshall Plan your bread would be bare . . . and so would your children!"

A desolated factory, a frayed sock and "without the Marshall Plan your machines and shops would be shot . . . and so would your socks!" Idle smokestacks and a man groping for a cigarette butt on the ground "without the Marshall Plan your factory chimneys wouldn't smoke . . . and neither would you." "But of course there is a Marshall Plan," reads the caption on the next page with illustrations of Americans—a cowboy on a horse, a steno-grapher, a doctor, a truck-driver, a farmer—and it costs every American 32 dollars a year.

(So far Congress has appropriated nearly $10,000,000,000 for its European Aid program. The American taxpayer contributes the dollars that foot the bill for Marshall Plan goods and services going to the European governments. The people pay for the goods and services in their own currencies.)

"Anybody," the booklet tells its Dutch readers, "can reach for help, but we must reach for tools! If you think this job is a light one, then the outcome is sure to be a dark one. We must get on this job so that the Netherlands will be up and about . . . not down and out!"

What Other Papers Are Thinking

THE INDIVIDUAL FIRST

(Kinston Daily Free Press)
The important matter of shifting some 18 residents of the Lenoir County Home for the Aged to private and public boarding homes which have been approved by the State Board of Welfare is now getting concerted attention by the welfare authorities here. At the suggestion of State Board of Welfare representatives the local caseworkers will endeavor to find homes for three or four of the residents each, with the paramount concern being what best suits the individual or couple involved.

As we see it, the problem could not satisfactorily be handled any other way. Mass movement from the Home to another boarding home of comparable size no doubt would be the ideal way to eliminate the problem once and for all time. But no two residents of the home have identical needs. Some are virtually bed-ridden, while still others are able and willing to do some light chores about the Home. None is able to fend entirely for himself or herself.

CONCERNING ANGELS

What does the Bible teach about angels? Modern man has almost ceased to think about them, and yet the Bible has a great deal to say about them. The word "angel" both in Hebrew and Greek means messenger. The angels are God's messengers. Jacob saw them ascending and descending on a ladder, taking the petitions of men up to God and bringing the blessings of God down to men. Jesus spoke of the angels which guard little children. Angels came to Jesus and ministered to him after his temptation. Jesus spoke of the angels as the reapers of the wheat and tares on the last great day.

The teaching of the Bible is that angels are celestial beings, higher than man, who appear to be engaged in continuous activity in man's behalf. We are justified in believing that we have guardian angels and that every day they exert considerably more influence on our lives than we are accustomed to think.

Modern man may disregard angels or indeed scoff at them, but this in no way makes any difference so far as the reality of their existence is concerned. Unless the testimony of the whole Bible, and the testimony of the New Testament in particular, is fallacious, angels are very real, very active, and very near to us; and whether we recognize the fact or not, they play a very important part in our daily lives.

Our Building Boom Isn't Spectacular, Just Steady

It isn't a spectacular building boom that has been going on in Greenville during the past four or five years. No great records set, no building projects that would draw special attention; just a steady process of home-construction, the like of which Greenville hasn't seen since its beginnings.

The amount of housing that has gone up is something to marvel at. Vacant lots are disappearing, and scores of acres once covered with underbrush . . . or even one-time farmlands, now boast orderly row after row of new homes.

Some of the new homes are small, others medium-size, and no inconsiderable number could be classified as mansions. Few, very few, show evidence of cheap construction.

You'd wonder where all the money came from. How could a small community like Greenville afford such an outlay for home construction? It is not a cheap pastime.

There must have been a terrific demand built up during the years when building was brought to a virtual standstill. And at the same time, an unguessed-at amount of money was probably building up behind the dike awaiting an opportunity for investment in the home-ownership field. All of us are aware of the housing shortage felt during the war years and for some time thereafter. It is something more than remarkable that, when the bars were down, investors didn't go hog-wild in their rush to build.

Atomic Defense Seen For State

Washington, April 6—(AP)—It appears likely that North Carolina will set up a civilian defense program against atomic attack.

Federal officials advised North Carolina's attorney general yesterday to plan the program.

Harry McMullan said he will report to Gov. Kerr Scott who may name state officials under existing laws to set up a voluntary defense group.

He said such a voluntary plan could be in effect until the state legislature meets next year. Then, the General Assembly could organize an anti-atomic program.

McMullan said other states are being advised of the necessity for starting similar programs.

Rape Charged To Five Marines

Kinston, N.C., April 6—(AP)—Charges of rape have been filed here against five Camp Lejeune marines. They are accused of attacking Mrs. Geraldine Jones of Rt. 4, Kinston, early yesterday morning in an automobile.

Paid Up Loan

Logan, W. Va., April 6—(AP) Census-taker Amy Carper was about to leave a housewife she interviewed yesterday when the lady pressed $5 into her hand.

"I can't accept that," said the surprised Mrs. Carper. "The government pays us, you know."

"You don't remember me, then," the woman said. "I lived next to you 12 years ago at Omar, borrowed $5 one day to buy milk and butter and forgot to pay you. Then we moved away. Well, here's your $5."

California Laws Called Illegal

Los Angeles—(P)—Most if not all California statutes passed in the past 40 years are against the law, says Dr. J. A. C. Grant of the University of California. The state constitution lays down intricate rules for passing laws which the legislature has not followed, he says.

The courts have ruled that bills signed by the proper officials are laws. But the fact remains that most of them have not been passed by the legislature in the manner the constitution provides, the professor insists.

In 1949, for the sixth time in the 13 years he has been a member of the Washington Redskins, Sammy Baugh won the National Football League passing championship.

Wife Confesses Killing Husband

Charlotte, N.C., April 6—(AP)—A prominent Charlotte businessman was shot to death in his bed here early today. Police jailed his wife on a murder charge.

Police Capt. Sam Dewese said Mrs. Charlotte Lanier McCorkle, 33, telephoned police headquarters, reporting that she had shot her husband, Edgar H. McCorkle, 46.

The woman told officers that she and her husband had a family quarrel last night, but that she had not spoken to him for several hours before the shooting.

Captain Dewese said Mrs. McCorkle told him that after she shot her husband he sat up crying:

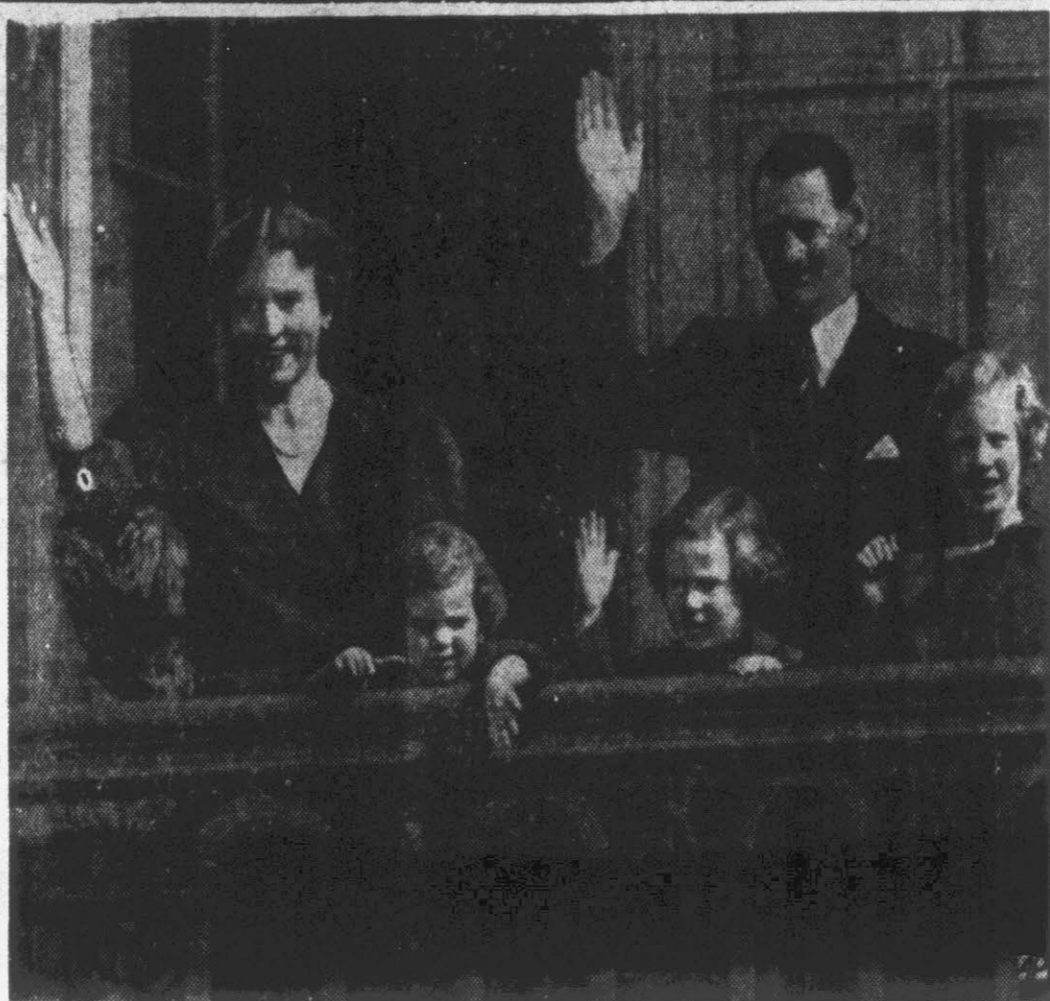

"Honey, why did you do it?"

Then, Dewese quoted the woman as saying, McCorkle grabbed the .38 caliber pistol and it discharged a second time, the bullet entering the wall.

McCorkle, owner of McCorkle Cleaners and a real estate dealer, was shot in the chest. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Mrs. McCorkle was his second wife.

Two More Auto Accidents Hike County's Total

Two reports of motor accidents in the county received yesterday boosted Pitt county grand total of highway accidents for the last ten days to thirteen.

Patrolman Ernest Guthrie of Farmville stated that an accident early Sunday morning resulted in one driver being charged with driving drunk and operating a car without an operator's license.

The accident occurred about two miles north of Ballard's Cross Roads, on a rural road. A car driven by Eugene Bethea, colored, age 24, of route 2, Greenville, collided with a car operated by Fenner Barrett, colored, 26 years old, of route 1, Farmville. The cars hit head on.

Damage to the two cars was estimated at $300.

The second accident was on the Falkland highway about 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A new model car, operated by Gordon V. Owens, of Route 2, Farmville, collided with a pickup truck driven by James Wesley Langley, Route 1, Greenville.

According to Patrolman Guthrie, the car was passing an intersection at the same time the pickup truck was making a turn into a service station, resulting in the two colliding.

Damages to the car and to the truck were reported to be about $350.

Both drivers were charged with careless and reckless driving.

Soloists And Choir Presented Easter Cantata

Sunday afternoon and again in the evening the augmented choir of the Sycamore Hill Baptist Church sang Ira B. Wilson Easter cantata "Our Living Lord." Arthur L. Norcott directed the choir and served as accompanist. Soloists were Herman Walters, Doris Lynch, Sulette Jones, and Charles Taylor.

Between the "Crucifixion" and the "Burial" sections of the cantata a quartet sang the spiritual "Were You There?" The quartet was composed of Hubert Walters, Ralph Dages, Carlton McGlone and Charles Taylor. The signing of the spiritual was accompanied with appropriate pantomime.

The soloists and choir sang resolutely with full respect for the feeling embodied in the words. There was most evident a full measure of joy in the doing of the cantata. Herman Walters is president of the Sycamore Hill choir.

Youth Confesses Strangling Girl, Suicide Attempt

Oakland, Calif., April 6—(AP)—Arthur Prindle, 19, shaking off the effects of 12 sleeping pills, mumbled a dramatic bedside confession to his policeman-father last night. He strangled his pretty 18-year-old sweetheart in a jealous rage.

"What did you do, son?" asked Officer Leslie Prindle when the youth opened his eyes.

"I killed Sally . . . I choked her . . . We quarrelled . . . She was going out with other boys," he said haltingly.

The youth and his former fiancée, Sally Ann Humphreys, were found yesterday in a car parked in a lover's lane in nearby Contra Costa County.

The girl's body was slumped in the front seat, a man's belt tightened about her neck.

In the back seat, minus his belt, was young Prindle, his wrist bleeding from the jagged glass of the girl's compact. He was unconscious from the effect of the sleeping pills.

The confession to the father was witnessed by his mother and a sheriff's officer. Afterward Deputy District Attorney Wakefield Taylor announced he had taken a stenographic statement which repeated and extended the admission. The youth will be charged with murder Taylor added.

"I had planned it for months," Taylor quoted young Prindle.

"I found out she went around with another guy. I wish I had taken my father's police pistol to do the job."

"It was 10 after six (Tuesday night)."

"She looked at her watch and said she wanted to go home."

"I began hitting her. I kept hitting her, trying to knock her out. . . . Then I strangled her. . . . I strangled her."

"I took off my belt and wrapped it around her neck. . . . I must have strangled her 45 minutes."

Officers said the girl had shattered the car windshield during the ferocious struggle. She had a tooth knocked out.

New Process

"Swift's Blenn,"

say tobacco men "makes brighter leaf!"

Cigarette manufacturers prefer, and bid higher, for bright, smooth leaf. That is the quality tobacco that BLENN, Swift's specialized crop maker, helps you produce. This statement is backed up by the experience of successful growers of profitable tobacco.

For instance, J. L. Parker, Colerain, N. C., has used Swift's Plant Foods on his tobacco for 18 years. He has used BLENN exclusively since it was introduced by Swift. He says: "BLENN has always made a good crop for me. It not only raises quantity, but produces the quality that cigarette manufacturers prefer."

And BLENN is now made even better. A new process which combines complete mechanical mixing with complete chemical processing has been developed by Swift's plant food research scientists.

This makes New Process BLENN especially valuable for tobacco growers because it is so uniform in four important ways: 1) uniform blending, mixing, curing; 2) uniform freedom from caking, lumping, bridging; 3) uniform distribution through your machines; 4) uniform feeding of your tobacco plants.

To give your tobacco the growth elements needed for higher-yielding, higher-grading leaf, use BLENN, Swift's specialized crop maker. Order early this year from your Authorized Swift Agent.

Russ Meyer Still Is Question Mark

Shreveport, La., April 6—(AP)—Pitcher Russ Meyer still is a big question mark in the 1950 plans of the Philadelphia Phillies. Meyer was decidedly off form yesterday in what was supposed to be a nine-inning test of his fragile elbow. He lasted only three innings, giving up six runs and seven hits and walked nine as Shreveport of the Texas League beat the Phils, 8-2. Meyer was the Phils' leading pitcher last season, winning 17 while losing eight.

Will Try Pair Of Carnival Workers

Greenville police are continuing their investigation of Paul H. Waycaster of Pochontas, Va., and Robert Harrall of Lincoln, Nebr., carnival workers.

One of them is charged with larceny of a paint brush from the Globe Hardware Store last Monday; the other with receiving stolen goods.

Both men are in jail. They will be tried in Police Court Friday morning.

Police said one of the men was in the Globe Hardware Store Monday, looking over paint brushes, but he did not make a purchase. A clerk remembered the man's identity.

Next day the other man went back and asked Jimmy Harris, one of the owners, to take back the brush, that "his mother didn't need it." The brush had the store's secret price mark on it and Harris "refunded" $9.95.

The man left. Harris became suspicious. Louis Jones, a clerk, followed the man. Harris phoned police. A police radio car picked up Waycaster and Harrall at Fourth and Evans and locked them up for investigation.

Aged Man Held For Bad Checks

Greenville police yesterday arrested J. M. Garrett, 69-year-old Virginian, on charges of passing worthless checks on Greenville merchants during the last Christmas holidays. Garrett, whose full name is Jefferson Montgomery Garrett, a native of Middlesex, Va., was released last year from the Virginia State Penitentiary at Richmond, Chief Lester D. Page said today.

Garrett is being held in the city jail on two warrants.

One was by Howard Sumrell, manager of Hill's Clothing Store, charging that he gave them a bogus check for $35.60 for clothing last December 17.

The other warrant was signed by Luther Morton, manager of Mrs. Morton's Bakery, charging that Garrett gave him a bogus check for $5.20 last December 17.

The Garrett case will be tried in Police Court Friday morning. Police expect to receive Garrett's FBI report by that time.

Chief Page said Garrett also is wanted by authorities at Morehead City for allegedly passing a worthless check at the Jefferson Hotel there. He also is wanted by Hampton, Va., authorities.

French Reds And Police In Fight

Paris, April 6—(AP)—Communists and police battled for an hour in the Champs Elysees last night in the most bitter street clash Paris has seen since the end of the war.

Police arrested 120 of the 1,500 demonstrators. Twenty of the 1,000 police who quelled the rioting were injured.

Fighting broke out when a police Cordon prevented a Communist demonstration called to protest publication of the diary of former S. C. Col. Otto E. Lorenz in the conservative newspaper de Figaro.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 80 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Extra Power In New Development Marine Engines

Schenectady, N.Y., April 6—(AP)—A relatively small power plant being developed by the Navy will

"revolutionize warship propulsion," the chief of the Bureau of Ships predicts.

Rear Adm. David H. Clark says greater speed will be possible with the new unit, which will be installed in an experimental destroyer. The destroyer, the USS Timmerman, is under construction at Bath, Me.

Clark announced the development yesterday when talking to newsmen after he had inspected Navy projects at the General Electric Company plant.

The new power unit, being built by GE, will be smaller than those now used on destroyers, Clark reported. This will leave more room for fuel and weapons, he said.

Babies Under 3 Months Will Have Special Listing

All babies born during the first three months of 1950 will be enumerated on two different forms when the Census of Population is conducted this month. They will be counted only once in the population however.

The special listing of all infants under three months of age as of the April 1 Census date is explained by Supervisor F. Webb Williams, in charge of the Washington district office of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

In the first instance, Williams said, information about the infant will be included in the regular Population Census questionnaire for the conventional population count. Secondly, information about the infant and its parents will be recorded on a special "infant card" for use in checking birth registration records with the object of determining the accuracy of birth registration totals. As a by-product, the double listing will assure the accuracy to a greater degree of accuracy of new-born babies in the Census.

"It is astonishing how often the new-born member of the family is overlooked in both Census and birth registration records," the Census supervisor observed. "Lapses of this kind by parents affect the accuracy of population counts and failure to register the infant's birth deprives it of an important record that may be needed in later life to establish age and citizenship. While birth registration records are maintained by the States, the record kept by the Census Bureau can be used by individuals as evidence in lieu of birth certificates when the latter are available.

"Prior to the development of comprehensive birth registration systems by all states in the last three decades, many millions of Americans began life without being officially registered. Consequently, it was estimated in recent years, about 50 million Americans do not have birth certificates. With the inauguration of the Social Security system in 1935, the need of older people for proof that they had attained the age of 65 years and were qualified for old-age assistance benefits was underscored. Lacking birth certificates, it was necessary for them to produce other evidence. Census records were recognized as auxiliary evidence, as were church baptismal certificates, family Bible entries, early school records, and similar items. World War II legislation limited employment in many wartime projects to American citizens. Again, census records were Curiously enough one of the main charges against the Franco government is that it is a dictatorship. The regime is accused of the suppression of civil freedoms.

Of course believers in democracy abhor dictatorships. But it is an interesting note that the western world should turn thumbs-down on the Madrid government, because it is a dictatorship, while playing ball with other totalitarian regimes which are tougher, for example, Soviet Russia.

The answer to this naturally is that the western powers have been making a virtue of expediency.

Now under the leadership of Washington this anomalous position may be clarified. It isn't entirely altruism; Spain might be a mighty big asset militarily to the west in event of another conflict.

Windows Nailed To Keep 'em Safe

Stuebenville, O., April 6—(AP)—Frank Jelski has the lower half of the windows in his twin daughters' bedroom down today—and with a good reason.

Yesterday the 21-month-old girls—Jennifer and Jeannette—dropped 15 feet to the ground from one of the second-story windows. Although they are little the worse for it, their parents don't want it to happen again.

Previously the twins tore things up so much in their room that papa Jelski had to bolt their beds to the floor and remove all the other furniture.

Mrs. Jelski said she went to wake the twins yesterday and found their room door closed. She is sure they couldn't have opened it. But they did raise a window she left open half an inch.

Her daughters were gone, but on the window sill were hand prints where the two had hung before dropping to the soggy ground below. The ground was marked where they landed.

Mrs. Jelski found the twins in the yard. Jeannette was on a swing and Jennifer grimaced over a red pepper which had blown loose from where it hung on the back porch.

The owner of the store explained that some of the papers belonged to other people for whom he was keeping them and notes are not any good to the people who took them," Perkins commented, "and they would be some good to me." In addition to the notes and checks, Perkins explained that it will be a good deal of red tape and expense to get new titles to replace those which were stolen, and to replace the stocks, bonds and insurance policies which were taken.

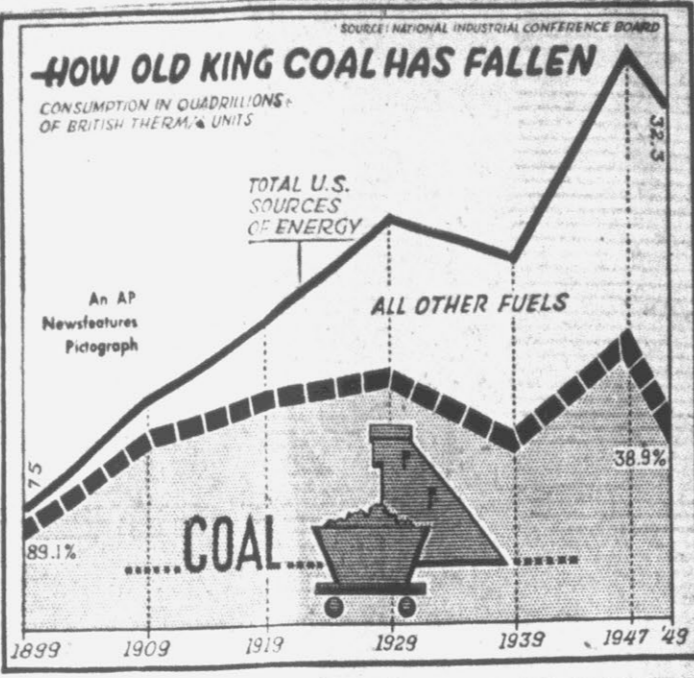

In addition to the money from his store, Perkins said the persons who blew his safe on that Saturday night three weeks ago took approximately 150 silver dollars he was saving as a hobby, some Indian head pennies, and a number of old pieces of money which he had accumulated in his collection. The safe crackers also took from the safe a watch which had been given to Perkins by his father, and two pistols.

Further Delay For Housing Bill

Washington, April 6—(AP)—A bill to channel fresh billions into federal housing activities bumped into a possible delay today after senators and House members had spent nearly 12 straight hours writing it.

The House had laid plans to quit today for an Easter recess until April 18. The question was whether enough members would remain on hand to act on the bill—which is a compromise reached last night between House and Senate measures. It affects a number of government home financing programs.

Reading Program Conferences End

Conferences on the reading program in both the white and Negro schools of the Pitt county school system have been completed, Superintendent D. H. Conley said today.

The conference with the teachers in the white schools were completed early in February, and the conferences with the Negro teachers were completed during the last week in March.

Five conferences were held with the Negro teachers of the county. Superintendent Conley, L. V. Godwin, supervisor of high schools, Miss Annie Lee Jones, supervisor of elementary schools, and Negro supervisors Miss Hazel Jordan of Farmville and Mrs. Madeline Blount of Farmville discussed the reading program with the teachers at conferences held in Farmville, Bethel, Ayden, Winterville and Grimesland.

During the meetings the teachers discussed all the latest techniques which have been found helpful in reading programs in schools, discussed the classification of children and the selection of proper reading material for children.

Supt. Conley said a great deal of interest in the reading program was shown by the 155 Negro teachers in the county school system.

Miss Jordan and Mrs. Blount spent two days in Raleigh last week at a meeting in which white and Negro teachers and school officials from all over the state discussed the procedures and techniques of school supervision.

Rev. Russell Conducts Third Special Services

By WYATT BROWN

Those who follow Christ "afar off" find themselves standing with His enemies, exposing one's self to temptation, destroying one's usefulness and happiness, Reverend Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, told his congregation last night at Jarvis Memorial in the third of the Holy Week messages. People get "afar off" due to lack of a vigorous faith, failure to love Him, or unwillingness to face peril of being identified with Christ. It was further brought out. The "afar off" group is composed of those who have drifted away or those outside the church, Mr. Russell explained. Further commenting on those who have "drifted away" Mr. Russell said, "People are often afraid of the severe demands of the Christian life."

Tonight there will be a communion service with a brief communion meditation "Broken for You" by the pastor preceding the sacrament. Special music will be provided by the Junior and Intermediate choirs.

Resume Reading Of Letters In Cameron Case

Clinton, April 6—(AP)—Attorneys were scheduled to resume in court today the reading of letters purporting to show indiscretion on the part of Mary Vail Cameron.

Reading of the letters was begun yesterday in Sampson Superior Court at a hearing on Mrs. Cameron's motion for alimony pending trial of her divorce suit against Bruce B. Cameron of Wilmington.

Earlier, attorneys for Mrs. Cameron had offered a long series of affidavits denying allegations of infidelity on her part with a number of men, including a horse show judge known as "Nick."

The state statements were countered by Cameron's attorneys with affidavits claiming those from the opposing side were false. Over the protests of Mrs. Cameron's attorneys, Judge R. Hunt Parker permitted the reading of the letters, which Cameron's lawyers described as love letters from other men to Mrs. Cameron.

Phantoms Meet Roanoke Rapids; Lineup Changed

Fresh from their first win of the baseball campaign, Greenville's high school varsity team met Roanoke Rapids this afternoon for their fourth engagement of the season and their third this week.

Tasting victory for the first time Tuesday at the expense of Edenton which they beat, 6-2, Bo Farley's squad now has become fairly well seasoned for the rest of the campaign.

A change in the initial-game lineup resulted at Edenton Tuesday when Farley switched Gene Ayers to shortstop and substituted Richard Joyner in centerfield. Ayers had originally held down the third base spot while Larry Flye was working the hot spot. The former third-sacker handled all but one chance at his new position and served notice he will be hard to beat. Billy Brady took over Ayers' third base chores.

Joyner cracked the lineup for the first time at Edenton, replacing Hilton Quinn, who for three games worked centerfield. He was the leadoff batter Tuesday and, although he didn't hit, Farley thinks he can handle that batting spot in games to come.

Although the locals came through for the win against Edenton, Farley is still concerned about their hitting ability, which has left much to be desired in the four games to date. Tuesday the team was out-hit, six to five, yet they won on some timely bases on balls. They didn't hit for extra bases, nor have they done so in the other games.

Farley thinks today's game will be the crux of the whole season. If they can win this afternoon, they can be counted on to display some winning form in other Northeastern games.

Their 2-1 loss in the opener at Kinston last Friday, although they didn't get but one hit, proves somewhat they are capable of putting up a fair display of hustle during coming games. The 11-0 loss to Rocky Mount Monday was a stunning blow to the team but did not place the damper on their hustle and drive as displayed in the Edenton game.

Farley will probably start Julian Vainright, one of two pitchers expected to work the front line assignments during conference games this year. Vainright pitched Monday against Rocky Mount and was tagged pretty badly but is expected to deliver the goods in Class A competition.

The starting lineup for Greenville, in addition to Vainright, will be: Leon Moore, catcher; Sid Briley, first base; Billy Jordan, second base; Gene Ayers, shortstop; Billy Brady, third base; Jody Taylor, rightfield; Richard Joyner, centerfield; and Bobby Perry, leftfield.

Athletics Down To 2 Players

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 6—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics were down to 27 players today, the number they plan to take north with them on Friday.

Pitcher Phil Marchildon once regarded as one of the most valuable hurlers in baseball, was sold outright and Pitchers Charley Harris and Ed Hrabcsak were optioned to Buffalo of the International League yesterday to get the squad down to the traveling number.

Retained by the A's are 10 pitchers, three catchers, seven infielders and seven outfielders.

LITTLE DRIBBLE—Stephen Winfrey, 3, son of coach Shelby Winfrey of Kinston, Ky., was an unscheduled performer at State high school basketball tournament in Louisville.

Busy Brave

Experts and players alike agree that the Boston Braves have in Roy Hartsfield one of the finest looking young second basemen to come along in years. Manager Billy Southworth must have shared their high rating of Hartsfield when he agreed to let Eddie Stanky go to the Giants.

Roy not only inherited Stanky's berth at second, but also wears Eddie's old number and bats in the lead-off spot for the Braves.

Hartsfield lacks only experience to be an outstanding player. Last season, with Milwaukee, he was outstanding freshman in the American Association. It was easily his greatest season in organized baseball. Originally a shortstop, Harts-

PGA Ruckus Sidelined By Big Masters' Event

Augusta, Ga., Apr. 6—(AP)—The ruckus of Ruckus' in the PGA were merely murmurs today as the 14th playing of the Masters golf tournament began over the hills and greens of the Augusta National.

The scrambling within the PGA to get more power for touring golfers in running tournaments nearly overshadowed preparations for the Masters tournament earlier this week. But the scrapping died down and verbal weapons were put in mothballs until a showdown meeting here Monday.

And in the place of that unpleasantness is the playing of the Masters—the top stop on goldfom's winter circuit. On Monday, maybe sooner, arguments are due between the unhappy stars and PGA officials, but until then the Masters is the thing to try and win.

Sam Snead is short man in the odds. It's three-to-one that the field had the good fortune to play on the same Navy team with Billy Herman, the former big league second base ace. Herman suggested that Roy shift over to second and then gave the youngster some valuable pointers on playing that position.

In 1943, Roy stepped from high school into the line-up of the Atlanta Crackers. He played one season before going into the service and returned to baseball in 1946. He spent the 1947 season with Dallas and was drafted by Milwaukee. With the Brewers he showed himself to be a real peeper-pot, batted .317 and sparked the Milwaukee club with 411 putouts, the greatest number in the American Association since 1927.

mountaineer from White S'phur Springs, W. Va., won't successfully defend his crown. "I'm right nervous," Sammy says.

The field is 65, largest but probably not the strongest, in the history of the tournament.

Next to Snead in the odds at four-to-one are National open champion Cary Middlecoff and Little Ben Hogan. Hogan hasn't won a Masters in seven tries. He played the best golf in practice rounds but good practice rounds mean little.

Johnny Palmer is given a five-to-one chance and Jimmy Demaret and Jack Burke, Jr., are chalked up at six-to-one.

All former Masters winners are here except Craig Wood and Ralph Guldahl. Besides Snead the past champions are Claude Harmon, Herman Kelsor, Byron Nelson, Demaret, Henry Picard, Gene Sarazen and Horton Smith.

Cincinnati Reds Figure To Sink Or Swim With Blackwell In Comeback Bid

Columbia, S.C., April 6—(AP)—Once again the Cincinnati Reds figure to sink or swim with lean Ewell Blackwell in his comeback try.

Despite a rosy record in the Grapefruit League, Manager Luke Sewell knows he does not have a solid ball club. Outside few outfield changes, it's the same team that finished seventh, only one game out of eighth, last fall.

With a sound Blackwell, taking a regular turn, there is hope of bettering the Reds' sad 1949 record. With out Blacky, the Chicago Cubs may have company in their cellar apartment.

Akron, O., April 6—(AP)—Joe Blackwood of Paterson, N. J., may have earned himself a non-title bout against Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the welterweight champ.

After Blackwood, an underdog, took an unanimous 10-round decision here last night from Artie Towne of New York, the champ's manager, George Gainford, promised he fight for June if an agreement can be reached about weights and money.

Cuban Hurler Is Awaited By Nats

Orlando, Fla., April 6—(AP)—The pitching-poor Washington Nats have the welcome mat out for Sandalo Consuegra, a virtually unknown right-hander from Cuba.

He is expected in the Nat camp any day now.

"They tell me that Consuegra is the best pitcher in the Cuban winter league," said Washington Manager Bucky Harris. "It's almost triple A. If he can do that well in that sort of company, I want a look at him."

Farmville Club Picking Up Top Players; Have Pennant Visions

By GENE PINER
Farmville, April 5—With the announcement of business manager Bonnie Allen that two more former Greenville stars will play with the Farmville Red Sox of the Bright Belt League this year, the semi-pro nine may be tabbed as definite pennant contenders by fans in this part of North Carolina.

Junior Yohn, one of Greenville's leading hurlers last season, and Willie Mauney, hard-hitting backstop, will be with the Farmville aggregation when the season opens April 22.

Mauney has played several years of pro ball and his booming bat is expected to raise havoc with opposing pitchers this year. The catcher has never batted under the 300 mark. Yohn has formerly played with the Detroit Tigers organization, hurled for Greenville, and should win many games for Farmville this season.

Piloting the Red Sox will be Norman Clark, former member of the Greenville team, who will also patrol center field and be used as a utility pitcher. In high school the peppy manager was a teammate of Army's grid-great Glenn Davis and also Ewell Blackwell, pitching sensation of the Cincinnati Reds.

Rated All-Southern California, Clark received a scholarship to the University of Southern Cal but his ball playing days there were interrupted when he entered service. Sought by major league teams, Clark had his venture in pro ball playing with the Dayton Indians, Burlington Indians, Meridian, Mississippi, and the Greenville Greenies. Injury to his shoulder in the service has prevented Clark, who was considered by sports writers as a potentially great ball player, from advancing into the higher ranks of the major leagues. Last year he managed Farmville at the end of the season, batted over 400 and had one no-hit, no-run game to his credit.

The Farmville club has added support this year from East Carolina Teachers College in Abernethy, Jack Wallace, Roger Thrift, Louis Colie, Charles Regan and Belzoni Corbett.

Williams will assist Mauney behind the plate and will also probably see action as an outfielder. Playing with the club last year, Williams hit near the 300 mark. Corbett, a tall right-handed pitcher, has seen action in pro ball and holds two victories over the Glenn Lockamy All-Star team.

An all-conference back in football at East Carolina, Roger Thrift, who is equally adept on the ball diamond, will hold won first base for the Red Sox. He batted out a .350 average last year for Farmville.

All-Conference basketball at East Carolina in 1949, Louis Colie will be at second base for his second year with Farmville. His brilliant fielding is being depended upon to help the team defensively.

On the other side of second base will be shortstop Jack Wallace who hits a long ball. At the hot corner will be fiery Charles Regan who also possibly had a future in pro ball until Uncle Sam called him. Regan played a lot of ball in the service and at East Carolina. He hit over 300 for Farmville last year.

Big Sam Stell could probably have made a living playing pro ball when he signed with the St. Louis Browns, but he wanted to finish school and remain nearer home; so he gave up the big leagues. At 220 pounds Stell is a powerful hitter, yet is fast in left field.

Jim Pollard, another former player of the Greenies, will assist with the mound chores at Farmville.

The Red Sox began spring training March 25. The opening practice session was witnessed by a large crowd which was well pleased with performances of the well-rounded team. During workouts, Clark belted three balls over the fence.

Practice will get into full swing this week, club officials stated.

Greenville Golfers Topped By Kinston, 46-36 Score

The sun shone down on the Kinston Country Club course yesterday afternoon but not on Greenville's championship golf team.

The local team lost its first match of the Coastal Association season 46-36, having to play again on a wet course even though yesterday morning's torrents had ceased.

Simon Moye of Greenville was medalist along with Cecil Wooten of Kinston, both carding two-over-par 74's. The scores roared yesterday with the most of the usual field carding four to five point higher scores than usual.

Runnerup for the locals were Ercell Webb with 78, three shots lower than his card against Smithfield last Wednesday over the local course.

The rain fell until two o'clock in the afternoon and play did not begin until it stopped. Even though the fairways were soggy, the greens held up well and were fast.

Dave Mosier, captain of the Greenville team, offered no excuses for his group's showing yesterday. He stated he had no kick against the elements—"We were just off."

Believes Ty Cobb Greatest Player

Dallas, Texas, April 6—(AP)—Baseball people are still taking sides in the recent Associated Press poll to decide the greatest player of the past 50 years.

The latest to disregard with the nation's sportswriters who gave the honor to Babe Ruth is Manager Burt Shotton of the Brooklyn Dodgers. He names Ty Cobb as the greatest player during the first half of the century.

"Why don't they ask those who saw both Ruth and Cobb in their prime which is the better player?" Shotton wanted to know. "Why don't they ask me?"

"I played against both," he went on, "and to me there was none that ever came close to Cobb. Anybody who played against him would tell you there never was a player like Cobb."

During the stretch from 1909 to 1916 while Burt was playing in the outfield for the St. Louis Browns, Cobb won the batting title every year except one, in 1916, when Tris Speaker beat him out.

"I bet Cobb could beat you more times than Ruth, and in more ways," he said. "There wasn't a thing that fiery Georgian couldn't do. He hit over 400 three times. He once stole 96 bases in a season. He collected over 4,000 hits and scored more than 3,000 runs."

"Sure, Ruth was a great home run hitter," Shotton conceded, "but they had to change the game for him. They made over the ball. They even built a ball park to suit him."

Golf Honors Go To Rocky Mount

Two Rocky Mount women walked off with winning and runnerup scores in the first meeting of the Eastern Carolina Women's Golf Association match played at Kinston Tuesday afternoon.

The two low cards belonged to Mrs. Frances Stephens and the second was Mrs. Cherry Watson. Mrs. Larry James of Greenville carded third score. None of the scores were announced.

In all, 65 women participated in the initial event, representing the five towns in the Association—New Bern, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Goldsboro and Greenville.

Doris Whitfield of the Kinston group copped low putting honors for the 18 holes with Mrs. Stephens following in second spot.

The women golfers participating from Greenville were: Mrs. James, Mrs. Lee Hannah, Mrs. Graham Flanagan, Mrs. Matt Long, Mrs. Bill Bryan, Mrs. Fred Saue, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. Harold Thomas.

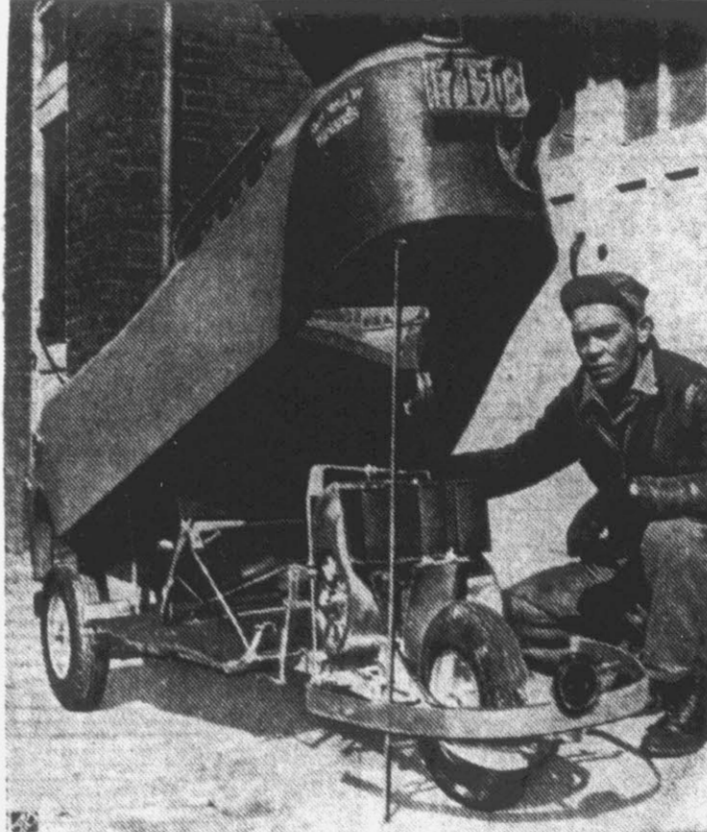

The next match for the Association is scheduled for the local Country Club course on April 18. Playing every other Tuesday, the schedule has the May 2nd meeting at Goldsboro, May 16 at Rocky Mount and May 23 at New Bern.

GI Builds His Own Three-Wheeled Auto

AP Newsfeatures
FIFTY MILES ON A GALLON is the first claim of Air Force veteran Glen R. Forwalt, 33, of Lancaster, Pa., for the three-wheel automobile he built for $210. He fashioned the small two-passenger car in his bicycle shop. Powered with a six-and-a-half horse power engine, the car goes 40 miles an hour without any difficulty, Forwalt says. "Built right out of my own head without any blueprints," the maker explains. He hopes to duplicate it for sale with a price tag of about $495.

The car has two forward speeds, but no reverse. It is light enough to be pushed backward when a reverse is needed. It is started with a kick pedal behind the front seat.

Overall length is seven feet; height 32 inches; width in front four feet, tapering to 23 inches in the rear.

Pirates Tangle With Catawba Nine Here Today

East Carolina's rampaging baseball club, winner of two straight conference tilts, play their fourth encounter this afternoon against the always powerful Catawba Indians.

Game time is 2:30 p.m. at the Pirates' baseball field.

Starting pitcher for Coach Jack Boone's nine this afternoon will be Bob "Lefty" McCotter, one of the ace moundsmen for East Carolina this year. McCotter lost in his first start this year against Guilford, and will be striving for his first season-win in the contest this afternoon.

After losing their season opener to Guilford, 11-4, the local Pirates have been on the winning ways, defeating Lenoir-Rhyne last week, 3-2, and scoring over High Point College here Tuesday, 10-9, with a four-run rally in the ninth inning.

The Pirates' usual lineup will start this afternoon's game, led by newcomer Bob Bailey and letterman Fred Soles.

Both Bailey and Soles have led the Boonemen's hitting attack thus far this year, along with veteran Vernon Jones and Jack Wallace.

East Carolina's starters this afternoon will be Bailey at third, Wallace at short, Billy Smith at second, and Sonny Russell at first. The outfield will consist of Soles in left, Lou Colie in center, and Stan Terrill in right. George Woods will do the catching.

Catawba, always a strong conference contender, has a current season record of four wins out of five games, losing only to the state's leading college team, Wake Forest, by a 3-2 count.

This afternoon's game will be the last for East Carolina before the spring holidays.

Chicod Wins Its Second Contest

Chicod, April 5—Chicod high school's baseball team won its second game yesterday afternoon as they routed Pactolus in a five-inning affair, 12-4. The locals now sport a .667 percentage, having won two out of the three games played to date. They lost the second contest to Grifton last Wednesday in the first game of the home and home series, 9-7.

In yesterday's game Don Warren pitched for the locals with Bobby Arnold doing the backstopping. The officials called the game at the end of the fifth.

As announced by Coach Hayward Kelly, Chicod will play, tentatively, a 29-game schedule with 11 games already carded. Tomorrow afternoon, the locals will journey to Grifton for the return game.

The rest of the schedule, with others to be announced later, is: April 11—Stokes there; April 12—Morehead City there; April 14—Pactolus here; April 18—Bath; there; 21—Grimesland there; 25—Belvoir here; 28—Stokes here; May 3—Morehead City here; 9—Belvoir there; 2—Bath here.

Kelly said today any school that wants to play Chicod between May 2 and May 5 to contact Newman Lewis at Chicod school.

efforts to land Mickey Vernon from Cleveland. But he is going to Orlando, Fla., to try again to buy Eddie Robinson of Washington.

Most Valuable

Chapel Hill, April 6—(AP)—Art Weiner, the University of North Carolina's great past catching end, has been chosen by his teammates as the 1949 squad's most valuable player.

His selection was announced at a banquet here last night. The team also elected its captain for 1950. He is Irvin (Huck) Holdash.

Two Shaping Up For Derby Event

New York, April 6—(AP)—The Kentucky Derby will be run a month from today and as of now Oil Capitol and Hill Prince stack up as the "big two."

Oil Capitol, Tom Gray's flamingo stakes winner, recently arrived on the Der'y scene at Louisville from Hialeah, Fla., and began training in the role of a 7 to 2 favorite for the May 6 classic. Meanwhile, most lines had C. T. Chenery's Virginia, Hill Prince, at 6 to 1.

But the odd-makers were busy today shuffling their quotations for the blue grass extravaganza and it wouldn't be surprising if they move Hill Prince right up there with Oil Capitol because of the way the Chenery charger won yesterday's experimental handicap No. 1 at Jamaica. It was the tail bay's first 1950 start and verified his excellent form as a juvenile. He answered the only question that needed to be answered—that he is as good as he was last year.

Ace Jockey Eddie Arcaro said just that after guiding the Prince to a length and a quarter triumph in the six furlong test, supplementing his remark with, "and that is something."

Dulles Believed Eliminated As Prospect For State Dept. Job

Washington, April 6.—John Foster Dulles' bitter campaign attacks on President Truman's domestic policies may have cost him a high state department job, some Presidential aides indicated last night.

They reported in Key West, Fla., where Mr. Truman is vacationing, that Dulles hasn't been considered as a possible member of the bipartisan foreign policy team since he described the Truman "fair deal" program as "statism."

Dulles raised the issue of statism (which Republicans at that time were using synonymously with encroachment of government power on citizens) during his fight for the senate seat now held by Herbert Lehman (D-Lib-NY).

Another Presidential aide, press secretary Charles G. Ross, denied reports that the President had decided along word that he had decided to make Dulles a top policy adviser to secretary of state Acheson. Ross was asked if it were true that Mr. Truman had told Acheson and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) of such a decision. "It is not so," replied Ross.

The New York Times had carried a story to that effect. The Associated Press also was told that the President would name Dulles to the state department position. Its informant was an authoritative diplomatic official who declined to be quoted by name.

A Republican, Dulles was fighting in the New York election for the senate seat to which he had been named by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Dulles was a foreign policy adviser to Dewey. He was one of the drafters of the United Nations charter, as well as a U. S. delegate to the general assembly.

Student Awards Day Set April 27

Student Awards Day at East Carolina Teachers College will be observed Tuesday, April 25, at a special assembly in the Wright building, according to an announcement by Keith Kilpatrick of Kinston, chairman of the committee in charge of the event. The occasion will be sponsored by the Student Government Association of the college.

The day set aside for recognition of the work of students outstanding in scholastic work and in student activities was observed for the first time last spring. The Student Government Association is sponsoring the occasion for the second time and is arranging details of the choice of recipients and of the program for the day through a student committee made up of Mr. Kilpatrick, Carl G. Conner of Windsor, and Jack Hedgepeth of Rocky Mount.

President John D. Messick of East Carolina will present the awards. A student majoring or minoring in each department of instruction will be honored for high scholastic record and participation in departmental activities. Recognition will be given to approximately sixty other students for various types of service.

He Is Risen—Easter Lesson

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—I Corinthians 15; Luke 24:1-12.

On the first day of the week, very early in the morning, women came to the sepulchre bringing spices which they had prepared, and they found the stone rolled away from the opening.

The women found the body of Jesus gone, and as they stood, much perplexed, two men in shining garments stood near them. The women prostrated themselves and heard the men say, "He is risen."

The women ran to tell the apostles, but they refused to believe them, their story seeming "as idle tales." Peter ran quickly to the tomb, however, found Jesus gone, and went away wondering.

Writing to the Corinthians, Paul reveals that he was not one who saw Christ in person after His resurrection, but he, too, saw Him—on the road to Damascus. MEMORY VERSE—I Corinthians 15:57.

HE IS RISEN—EASTER LESSON

THE POWER OF CHRIST'S RESURRECTION

Scripture—I Corinthians 15; Luke 24:1-12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THIS SPRING when we celebrate the Risen Lord, the birds will be singing, the flowers will be nearing bloom and the whole earth will be renewed after the long winter. We take these natural events for granted, but nevertheless we are glad and our hearts sing at the coming of the fruitful season. All over the world people will feel the same lift to their spirits, and they will give thanks, and hail the Risen Saviour in their churches and homes, and in the great out-of-doors.

"Christ has risen," they will say, "we too will rise." In some countries it is the custom to greet each other with the phrase, "He is risen," to which the friend responds, "He is risen indeed!"

Now we retell the great, sweet story of the first Easter Day: To the garden of Joseph of Arimathea, where the tomb of Christ was located, the women who had been friends of Jesus and His apostles, and to all the rest. But these people—who had heard Christ's words and lived so close to Him still did not believe this thing they were being told. "Idle tales," they thought them.

However, Peter rose up and ran to the sepulchre. He stopped down, saw the linen clothes laid by themselves, and he went away, "wondering in himself at that which was come to pass."

Christ is risen from the dead! In spite of the terror that holds so many in its grip in these days of discords, wars and rumors of wars, we can pause and rest on this: that Christ rose from the dead, and so may we too—if we believe in Him.

In chapter 15 of Paul's longest letter—written to the Corinthians, he affirms Christ's resurrection:

"For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; And that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day accord-

Black Ian Walks Again

Chapter 16 "When I felt myself going," said Steve, "I instinctively clutched with both hands, and there is a ledge wide enough for me to pull myself onto while I caught my breath. It was my flash you heard going down. Fortunately I still had my revolver, but I had a few mad moments when I found I was lying on it. I was afraid he would throw you both over before I could get to my knees and pull myself up. And when your light flashed on me, it was a fortunate thing that he was not looking that way and that you had presence of mind enough to turn it off immediately. By the way, Hugh, you'd better dim it down now or put it out altogether. We don't want the battery to fail while we're still here in the passageway with a wounded man. The cliff is a regular anti-hill of passages and we could wander for days."

Darkness descended upon us as I obediently turned off the light. Greg's voice came to us softly. "Iris—beloved—I don't believe you ever cared much for me. But I have always loved you. You know that, don't you?" "That held me here, Greg. Nothing else could have—but that." "Hugh, be good to her and make her happy. There was a time when I would have given anything to make Iris happy. And sometimes still in my decent moments, I love her in the same way. But those moments are getting fewer and fewer and now—"

Iris' voice had a yearning throb in it. "Greg, don't try to move! We'll try to get you out of this—take you away to recover—and forget—"

"You almost tempt me," he said sadly. "No. Do not stop me. This is one of my decent moments, and I love you so much I'm going to do the only thing I can. Iris darling—Hugh, loyal friend—God bless you both!" We didn't realize that there in the dark he had squirmed so close to the edge, until he went over it with an involuntary cry. Careless of the flash battery now, I turned the light on the chasm and the waters below. I could see nothing below us but the rock walls and the glistening thread of water. There was a wet line slightly above it on the cliffside. The tide was going out.

"It is better that way," said Steve as Iris wept heartbrokenly in my arms. "We'd better get her to her room as soon as we can and send for a doctor. Then—I'd suggest going away for a time."

"I've got to know," said Iris. "I can't stand it if I don't. Was Greg actually Ian at the end?"

"No," said Steve. "At first he was just overly interested in the traditions and family background of the castle. Ian had always appealed to him because of his romantic life and because there was, as you both noticed, a slight resemblance. That interest became too concentrated, and that, together with other reading he had been doing, played on his high-strung nature and unbalanced his mentality."

"But both Hugh and I saw Ian!" "You thought you did," said Steve. "In both cases you woke out of a sound sleep and Greg must have been an expert hypnotist. He not only hypnotized you so that you saw what he wanted you to see, but he also hypnotized himself into the belief that he was actually dominated by the spirit of Black Ian!"

We had brought Iris back to her room, and the doctor had given her a sedative and departed.

Steve and I were talking it over in the library.

"I'm afraid I gave you a rough time of it," Steve apologized. "As I said, I didn't know you, and Greg handed me pretty much the same line about you that you handed me about him. You know—old school friends, hating to suspect you, but for Iris' sake, and so on. Then when he showed me the broken cufflink in Malcolm's hand, and the revolver was found in your room—"

"It wasn't my revolver, incidentally," I broke in.

"And he pointed out that there had been no murders until you came—"

"Except the first man that Lansing was investigating," I said.

"Yes, except that one who after all hadn't been proved killed here and washed out to sea."

"So it was only hypnotism after all," I said after a silence. "Something of a disappointment for you, isn't it?" "I don't know," smiled Steve. "I have still to find a case which is really supernatural! When I do find one—if I do—my search will be over, and then what will I do for a hobby? Of course, Hugh, after a decent interval you'll marry Iris. How about bringing her over to America for a honeymoon? I'd be glad to put my summer place in the Adirondacks at your disposal for as long as you like."

"I'll probably take you up on that. Right now—well—Greg was my friend. Later on, perhaps—and don't forget there's a little matter of a police investigation to be faced in the morning. I should say, later this morning!"

"There'll be nothing to that," he smiled. "Don't worry about it."

"I am worrying about it," I smiled back, "and I hope you're a good prophet—on both counts!"

As it turned out, he was a good prophet, and on both counts! THE END

No Prospect Of Perjury Case Against Whittaker Chambers

Washington, April 6—(AP)—Any over who told the truth before the government may have had for prosecuting Whittaker Chambers for perjury has been dropped. It was reported today.

The Justice Department, which indicated that such a prosecution was possible, has made no further public statement. However, high officials say the matter is now closed, that no action against Chambers is contemplated.

Chambers' dispute with Alger Hiss congressional committees and a federal grand jury about the alleged operations of a prewar Soviet spy ring in Washington made legal history during the last two years.

The dispute was climaxed by Hiss' conviction on perjury charges three months ago. The case was based on his denial before a New York grand jury that he had ever passed State Department documents to Chambers for the benefit of the ring.

Hiss, a former high-ranking State Department official, was sentenced to five years, and has appealed.

Chambers, who said he once acted as a courier for the ring, asserted he got the papers from Hiss. However, in appearing as a chief prosecution witness, Chambers admitted that he had himself lied seven times before the same grand jury which indicted Hiss. He explained he did not want "to injure Mr. Hiss any more than necessary."

Justice officials say: Chambers was promised no immunity in appearing for the government. However, his evidence was regarded as having top value in bringing about the Hiss conviction. Hence the decision against prosecution.

Chambers resigned last year from a $30,000 job as a senior editor of Time magazine. He is now living on his farm near Westminster, Md.

A $75,000 damage action suit which Hiss filed against Chambers two years ago is still pending in the Baltimore courts.

Mercury Drops To Wintry Level

By The Associated Press

The mercury took another drop near wintry levels in areas from the western plains to the Atlantic coast today. Some of the chilly air dipped into parts of the south and in Grand Marais, Mich., on Lake Superior, it was 11 degrees below zero.

The cold Canadian air headed for the New England states and was expected to lessen the flood threat in some parts of that region. The frosty blasts ended a brief spell of mild weather over much of the eastern states. New York's low today was a freezing 32.

But the coldest areas were in northern upper Michigan, the northern part of lower Michigan and northern Wisconsin. The mercury ranged from the -11 at Grand Marais to 5 to 10 above over the cold Michigan belt and a little higher in Wisconsin. The freezing line extended into parts of Tennessee and Kentucky and the mercury fell to 28 at Asheville.

Near freezing temperatures were reported from various Carolina points. It was 33 at Greensboro, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, and Anderson. Raleigh, Spartanburg, and Greenville, S. C., each had a low of 34. Continued cold was the forecast. Snow flurries occurred in the western North Carolina mountains. Light snow fell also in some parts of Michigan, Ohio, western Pennsylvania and western New York.

Some Big Game Near Extinction

species of big game are near extinction, says the National Geographic Society. In North America the moose, caribou and grizzly bear are rare. The bison and sea otter grow in number, but there are few of them. The trumpeter swan, the whooping crane and the California Condor are rare birds.

The Alaskan brown bear is being killed off rapidly. Whales, making their last stand in the Arctic, are declining in numbers.

The orang-utang of Borneo and Sumatra, India's one-horned rhinoceros, the Asiatic lion, the Arabian ostrich and the bush elephant also show declining.

Arming Beduins Against Bandits

Tel Aviv, Israel—(AP)—The Israeli government is issuing arms to Beduin tribes in the Negev wilderness area to strengthen their defense against attacks by marauders. A government census of the Beduin tribes in southern Israel showed a population of 15,000. Identity cards are being given to them.

Day and night attacks against Beduin and other settlements in the Negev area by bands of bandits and marauders occur frequently.

Wholesale Food Price Index Off

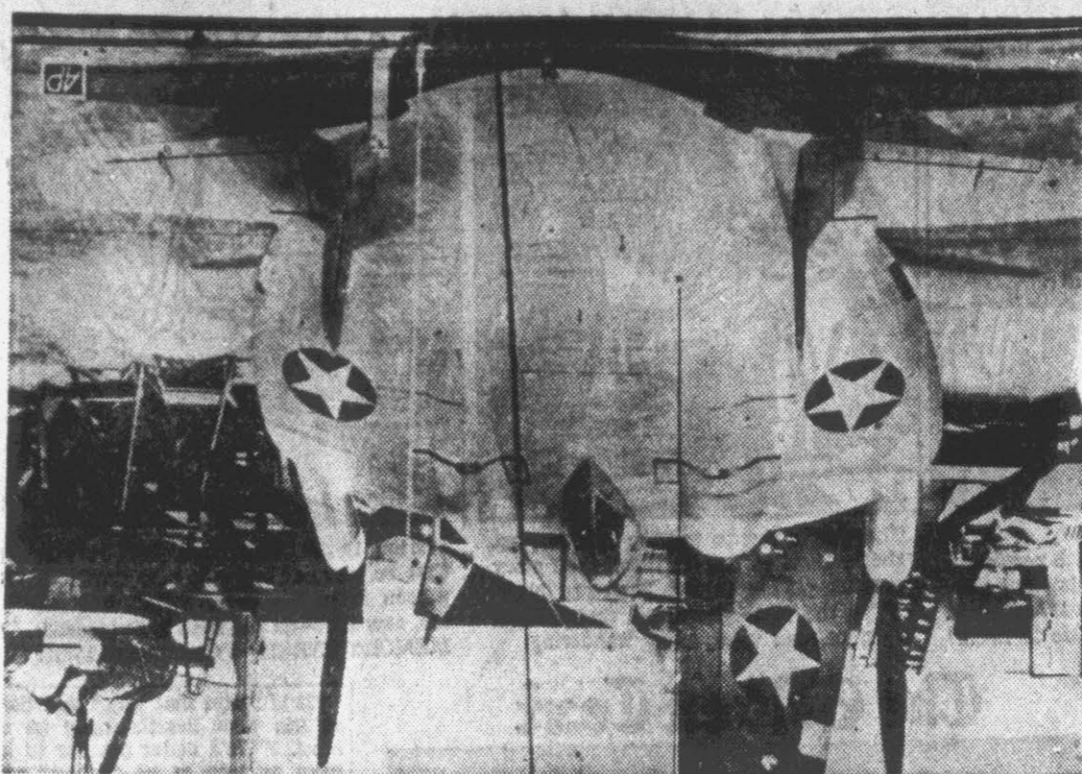

New York, April 6—(AP)—The Dun & Bradstreet Wholesale Food Price Index dropped four cents this week to $5.74.

This was the sharpest drop of the year and brought the index to the lowest level since Jan. 3 when it was $5.73.

The index, representing the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use was 7 per cent below the year-ago level of $5.78.

One Of Nation's Worst Criminals Is Beaten To The Draw, Killed In Chase

Los Angeles, April 6—(AP)—Fred Walter Lennon, 39, one of the nation's worst criminals is dead, beaten to the draw by a rookie officer and an FBI agent.

And today, police and federal men throughout Southern California are trying to track down his "most-wanted" partner, believed traveling in a house trailer with his wife, listed as "a dangerous gun moll."

Lennon was cut down yesterday by FBI Agent Jerome J. Dount and state highway patrolman Sam H. McDaniel after a 70-mile an hour chase on a desert road near Mojave, Calif.

He was spotted by Dount near Lancaster after the trio had been reported seen in that area, towing a house trailer. The car pulling the trailer was reported to contain Lennon, Lee Emory Downs, 44, listed by the FBI as one of the 10 most wanted criminals and Downs' wife, Patricia. Lennon apparently drove on along to draw pursuers from Downs and his wife.

Dount set out in pursuit. At Mojave he stopped and enlisted the aid of McDaniel. They overtook Lennon's car about 10 miles west of Mojave after a 70-mile-an-hour chase.

"We finally got close enough and I blew the siren," said McDaniel. "He pulled over and Dount got out, went over to his car and said: 'are you Downs?'"

"The fellow knew this was no ordinary pinch so he reached inside his shirt and pulled out a German-made pistol. While he was trying to snap the safety, Dount yelled, 'he's going to shoot,' so Dount and I both opened and fired 12 rounds. Seven bullets hit him. He went down still trying to unhook the safety and rolled into a ditch."

The FBI said Lennon was "badly wanted" because of his association with Downs, but was not on the "top 10" list with Downs. The two men have worked together for years as burglars and robbers, the FBI said.

Downs was placed on the list in 1948 after the $10,800 robbery of a San Jose, Calif., telephone office. He was described as "a safecracker, one of the elite among those who follow the burglary trade."

Found in Lennon's car was $9,000 in currency.

FBI director J. Edgar Hoover congratulated McDaniel for "devotion to duty in the face of great danger" in a wire from Washington.

Face-Lifting Is Given To Roads

Brussels—(AP)—Belgian roads are undergoing a million dollar face lift. Medieval highways, left behind by rail and canal in the transport race, are getting ready to help bolster Belgium's boast as the "Turntable of Europe."

However, the 46 million dollars is only a fraction of what the Ministry of Public Works estimates is necessary. The director general of roads at the Ministry says it will take ten years and 400 million dollars to give the country a modern road network. Belgium's roads are about 100 years behind the times. Even main highways are still paved with stone cut blocks heaved by hand in southern Belgium.

Less Beer For The Britishers

London—(AP)—Beer-drinking Britons are drinking less beer nowadays. Latest figures show the country's production of the stuff dropped to 1,831,769 bulk barrels a month. Analysts say the slump is due probably both to high beer prices—resulting from high taxes—and the growing popularity of entertainment found outside saloons. They guess the onset of home television may aggravate it.

Plan Construct Cellophane Plant

Asheville, April 6—(AP)—A new $18,000,000 cellophane plant will be constructed at Pisgah Forest. E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company of Wilmington, Del., will build the plant for the Ecusta Paper Corporation. It will be constructed adjacent to the cigarette paper plant of Ecusta. The Ecusta plant is situated near Brevard, about 30 miles southwest of Asheville.

New Fabric Has Debut In Exhibit

New York, April 6—(AP)—A new fabric—named orlon and possessing many of the characteristics of nylon—has made its bow.

The latest addition to the textile trade, created by the du Pont interests, was shown yesterday at the annual trades exhibition of the American Institute of Decorators.

The orlon was made into a soft, silky caseament curtain fabric in jacquard weave, manufactured by Cheney Brothers.

The sponsors claim it is easy to wash, dries quickly, needs no ironing, resists mildew and moths and is virtually impossible to wear out. Although its first use is in curtain fabric, it will be utilized in such things as women's lingerie, men's sports jackets, slacks and shirts, rainwear and umbrella fabrics and automobile tops.

When used to make men's slacks and suits, orlon will make possible permanently creased trousers, the crease being heat set during tailoring.

Longshore Union To Finance Case

San Pedro, Calif., April 6—(AP)—Pull financial and moral support of Harry Bridges' fight against his recent perjury conviction was voted late yesterday by delegates representing 10,000 CIO Longshoremen.

A resolution unanimously approved by 90 union leaders hurled charges of "frame-up" and "gross miscarriage of justice." It said the San Francisco verdict was "based upon the testimony of paid informers and self-admitted perjurers."

Bridges earlier had told newsmen that Dave Beck, executive vice-president of the AFL teamsters, and John Foyd, assistant immigration director, "are behind this move to run me out of the country."

He stated "I am not now, nor have I ever been, a Communist."

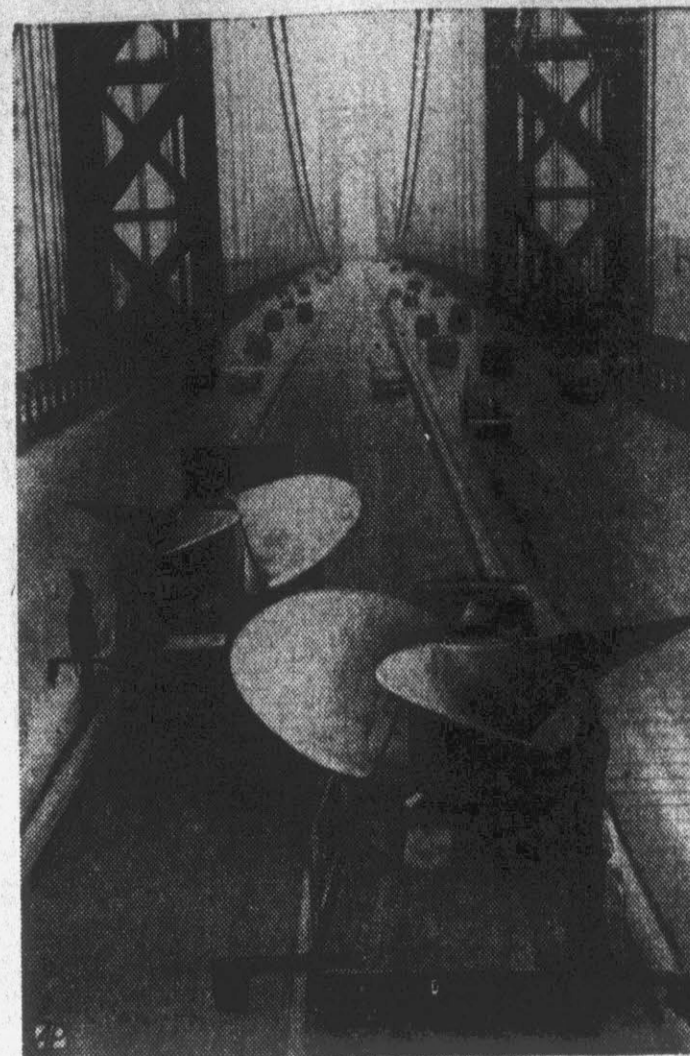

The union policy meeting will continue through Friday. Bridges is due to return to San Francisco Monday for sentencing.

Acid Soil Locks Up Phosphate

Berkeley, Calif.—(AP)—Acid soil locks up phosphate chemically and therefore makes the soil infertile, says John M. Heesep, University of California graduate student. His studies also disproved two old theories as to why acid soil is infertile. First, manganese toxicity, although present in acid soils, does not slow plant growth. Second, there is no lack of calcium. Lime applications will neutralize acid and improve plant growth, but they will not improve plant growth by making more calcium available.

Israel Training Arab Teachers

YDC President Will Speak Here

Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, president of the Young Democrats Club of North Carolina, will speak at East Carolina Teachers College Thursday evening, April 13, in the Flanagan auditorium, according to an announcement by officers of the YDC organization on the campus.

Mr. Sanford is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, where he received both liberal arts and law degrees and was a leader in student activities. A native of Laurinburg, he is now practicing law in Fayetteville. After being in the armed forces in World War II, he resumed active membership in the YDC, in the work of which he had participated for several years.

An outstanding feature of Sanford's election to the presidency of the YDC is that he is the first state president in the history of the organization in North Carolina to be unanimously elected.

The Young Democrats Club at East Carolina has extended an invitation to all students and faculty members at the college to hear Mr. Sanford's talk before the local organization.
