Restrictions Of Censorship Grow In Covering News

Free, Objective News Coverage In Many Areas Hampered, Says AP Report

New York, April 7—(AP)—New restrictions, including a stiffening of censorship, are hampering free, objective news coverage in many areas of the world, the Associated Press management said today.

Executive Director Kent Cooper and General Manager Frank J. Starzel said in their annual report that erection of additional news barriers corresponded with a broadening of the areas of political conflict.

The report was distributed to members of the Associated Press, worldwide news gathering cooperative, in advance of the annual membership meeting to be held in New York April 24.

"The world made little progress toward peace and understanding among nations in 1949," the report said. "Correspondingly, the path of free, objective news coverage did not become smoother.

"As the areas of political conflict broadened, so the areas of mistrust of unhampered reporting broadened. The spread of Communist domination brought a corresponding spread in the territories which barred free journalistic endeavor.

"Censorship restrictions were stiffened, not relaxed; new barriers, notably in China and Eastern Europe, were erected to keep reporters from gaining access to news coverage. Even in the western world, there was no noticeable lightening of restrictive burdens; indeed, there were instances of additional harassment. The trend was toward official secrecy, off-the-record confidences, anonymous statements.

"All this made it more difficult for Associated Press men to get at the truth. Yet, despite all obstacles, they succeeded in telling the essentials of the news. x x x

"We expect, of course, to persist in efforts to keep open the channels of news available to us, and to reopen those now closed. We expect to persevere in the battle of freedom of news with an undiminished vigor. But it must be said that it is impossible from this point to see much light ahead; there is little prospect that our job will become easier in the months to come."

The reports said that "mounting costs and the march of communism" put a heavy strain on the AP's distribution of news abroad. The AP serves more than 120 newspapers and radio stations in 67 foreign countries.

Elections Board To Get Report On SBI Inquiry

Raleigh, N.C., April 7—(AP)—The State Board of Elections will meet next Thursday to study an SBI report of its probe into alleged election irregularities.

Elections Board Chairman Charles M. Britt, who announced the meeting, said the board would meet for the purpose of "discussing matters pertaining to election boards in different counties."

Asked if the SBI report would be discussed, Britt replied "that will be part of it."

Britt was then asked if the board would consider the possibility of taking action to remove some county election boards members, and Britt said this "very likely" would be discussed.

SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED

Pitt County school children were dismissed from their classrooms today for Easter holidays.

The county schools will begin classes again Tuesday morning.

An Unbeatable Pair

A Happy Demonstration Of True Solidarity For Old Friends, U. S. And Canada; Pledged To Stand Together; Teamwork In Defense; Resources Are Unequalled

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Salutations and welcome to the three-ship Canadian naval group which is honoring New York with a visit until April 12.

We are glad to have these grim men-of-war anchored in the Hudson, with their guns pointing at our skyscrapers, while some 1,200 officers and men take possession of the city. It's a happy demonstration of friendship which spells peace and understanding between the two nations—a rare and priceless boon these perilous days.

Canada and America can rejoice that relations between them are on such solid footing, for their security is dependent on that solidarity.

Let me emphasize that! Together they can be invincible; divided, they might be the prey of disaster.

Moreover, this Canadian-American solidarity is a matter of moment not only for them, but for the whole Western Hemisphere—North and South America alike. For Uncle Sam is pledged to defend this part of the world against assault from without, and, figure it as you will, it's difficult to conceive of any such situation in which Canada wouldn't be fighting at his side.

Aldermen Gather In Monthly Meet

Reappointments To Civic Boards And Routine Business Matters Consume Most Of Three-Hour Long Session

Greenville's aldermen in their regular monthly meeting last night reappointed Chairman J. B. James and Mrs. L. M. Buchanan for another term on the city school board; and Dr. Paul Toll, chairman of the city planning board, and Charles Blissett were reappointed to the planning board.

Routine business matters consumed most of the time at last night's meeting which lasted approximately three hours—relatively short for a regular meeting of the body.

The members of the board voted to release five churches of Greenville from claims which the city had against the churches for paving.

City Clerk J. O. Duval reported there were paving claims amounting to a total of $1,084.68 owed the city by the Christian church, the Church of God, the Free Will Baptist church, the Pentecostal Holiness church, and the Primitive Baptist church. It was stated at the meeting that it has been the practice of the city to relieve churches of indebtedness to the city for paving.

The city clerk was ordered by the board of aldermen to prepare to advertise the unpaid 1949 city taxes.

Superintendent J. H. Rose of the city schools, and Engineer Tom Rivers discussed with the aldermen the proposed curb and gutter projects and sidewalk paving which is to be done at the new South Greenville school. The board authorized the school board to go ahead with its sidewalk project. The curb and gutter work, however, was deferred.

Two applications for taxi franchises, both marked 'disapproved' by the chief of police, set off a discussion of the taxi situation in Greenville which resulted in the appointment of a committee composed of Aldermen James Jenkins, R. E. Howell and J. E. Waldrop to investigate the matter of taxis in the city and make recommendations to the board. A taxi franchise was granted by the board last night to George A. Yelverton, and an application for a taxi franchise by William Hagan was rejected by the aldermen.

The city clerk reported there are 31 taxis now operating in Greenville, and a number of franchises are in effect for which taxis are not operating at the present time. The committee is to make recommendations on the possibility of regulating the number of taxi franchises granted by the city.

Tyson Bilbro and B. D. Johnson appeared before the aldermen on behalf of the Lions Club of Greenville in the interest of a fire substation in Greenville. The repres-

Date Is Set For Bids On School Addition

April 21 Fixed For Receiving Bids On Construction For West Greenville School By Education Board

April 21 was set as the date for receiving bids on the construction of a new addition of the West Greenville school by action of the Greenville Board of Education in its monthly meeting yesterday.

Chairman J. B. James presided at the meeting.

The West Greenville school at present has 10 classrooms and the proposed addition to the building would add a combination gymnasium, cafeteria and auditorium with a large stage, teachers rest room, kitchen and dressing rooms. Superintendent of Schools J. H. Rose said the addition would be connected to the present building by a covered walkway, and would have a separate automatic heating plant so it could be heated separately from the classroom section of the school. He said also the building will have outside entrances to the toilet facilities so children using the playground may have use of the toilet facilities when the school is closed.

The school board yesterday inspected the new South Greenville school which is expected to be occupied by elementary students of the Negro schools within the next three weeks. The members of the board inspected the building and turned on the heating system of the school for a trial run.

The new building, Rose said, will be one of the nicest elementary schools in eastern North Carolina when it is completed. The building is being constructed at a cost of approximately $75,000 and will contain seven classrooms, a library, rest rooms, and a principal's office. The building is being constructed on a 14 acre plot of city property in the Cooperfield section of Greenville.

Members of the board also discussed the curbing and gutter proposals for the streets adjacent to the school property, and the proposed side walks for the school property.

Bancroft Moseley, president of the Pitt county insurance exchange discussed with the board of education a proposal under consideration by the board in deciding whether to keep insurance on the city school buildings with local agents or taking insurance on the buildings with the state school insurance program.

The final decision on the matter will have to come before December 21 if the city is to join the state program.

Korea Given Ultimatum To Set House In Order

Seoul, April 7—(AP)—The U. S. department has given Korea an ultimatum to hold national elections in May and stabilize her economy or lose American aid.

Secretary of State Acheson handed Korean Ambassador John Myung Chang Such a note of warning in Washington. A translation was given National assembly members today.

Soon after the ultimatum was made public, President Syngman Rhee took a swipe at Owen Lattimore, American authority on far Eastern affairs whom Senator McCarthy called a Communist.

Asked for comment at a news conference, Rhee snapped:

"Lattimore has no use for Korea and China as long as Korea and China are fighting Communism. Anything the Soviet Union does not like would be a liability in the view of pro or Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins University.

Rhee told the assembly "some people in Washington like Owen Lattimore" are trying to hurt Korea. The President addressed the assembly on Acheson's note. He said it must adopt a balanced budget as required by the American aid agreement and do it soon enough so that the National election can be held between May 25 and 30.

Last week Rhee postponed the elections until November. He said this was necessary to keep congressmen at work on the 1950-51 budget, instead of campaigning. Later he said it might be possible to hold the elections in May if the budget was passed speedily. The 1949-50 budget expired a week ago.

Expect Attack

Hof, Germany, April 7—(AP)—Returning German war prisoners say that people in Russia expect an attack from the United States soon, perhaps even this year.

"In Russia everyone talks of war," declared Karl Krueger, one of the hundreds of prisoners released recently from Soviet prison camps.

"They seem to expect attack by Americans to come this year. Many predicted it would come this April."

Mercy Slayer Is Declared Guilty

Allentown, Pa., April 7—(AP)—Harold Mohr was found guilty today of voluntary manslaughter in the mercy-killing of his cancer-racked brother.

The jury of eight men and four women recommended mercy. Judge James P. Henninger said yesterday such a recommendation is not mandatory on the court. The maximum term for voluntary manslaughter is 12 years in prison.

Mohr stood to hear the sentence with no visible display of emotion. He stared, dully, at the floor.

The verdict was returned at 9:55 a. m., EST, an hour and 25 minutes after the jurors resumed deliberations. Five hours of study yesterday failed to bring forth a verdict.

The jurors had a choice of four verdicts: first or second degree murder, voluntary manslaughter or acquittal.

Defense Counsel Harry C. Creveling promptly made a motion for a new trial. He must file a written petition by Monday. Judge Henninger did not sentence Mohr pending action on the motion.

Mohr's 75-year-old father, his brother Ralph, former police chief at nearby Coplay, and another brother, Raymond, were among the 100 spectators in the court room. They showed no emotion.

Soviet-Occupied Germany Begins Glider Training

Program Of Pilot Training For Reds Starts Despite Four-Power Ban

Berlin, April 7—(AP)—Soviet-occupied Germany openly embarked today on a program of training thousands of young Communists as glider pilots, despite a four-power ban.

The Soviet-licensed newspaper Neue Zeit said the state of Saxony-Anhalt has already begun "extensive measures to promote this beautiful sport." Many German air force pilots of World War II got their initial training as glider pilots in the days of official German disarmament.

The state government and all political parties have promised direct help to the Communist "Free German Youth" (FDJ) in financing glider training for its membership, Neue Zeit said.

The first squadron of 10 gliders has been given free to the FDJ by the Saxony-Anhalt Ministry of Industry, the newspaper added.

FDJ glider training is well advanced in Brandenburg, the eastern state surrounding Berlin. All money on the boundary of the city's American sector, FDJ aviation leaders have assembled six new gliders for use in connection with the Communist "march on Berlin" May 27-30.

Reports from three other East German states indicate that widespread developments are under way to establish gliding centers and make them an outstanding FDJ attraction.

Before the cold war Russia joined with the United States, Britain and France in a decree outlawing German gliding as a military security hazard. Although Soviet officials in East Germany are ignoring this decree, there has not yet been any protest from the Western allied powers.

Teachers Leave Saturday For Asheville Convention

'Voluntary Manslaughter' Verdict Brought By Jury

A total of 18 teachers and officials of the Greenville city schools, and two representatives from the Pitt county schools will leave tomorrow for Asheville where they will attend the international meeting of the Association for Child-Hood Education next week.

J. H. Rose, superintendent of Greenville schools, said this morning the week-long meeting in Asheville will consist of working in 12 groups discussing teaching methods and techniques to aid young children in their school work. The international organization is composed of teachers in elementary schools.

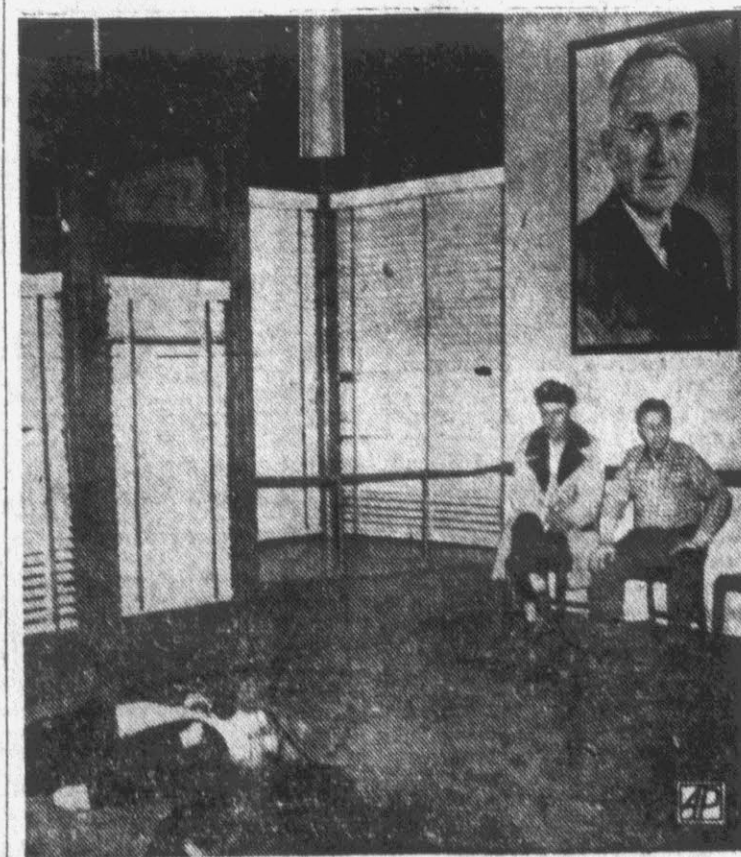

Rose termed the organization "the most professional group of teachers in America."

Students of the Greenville schools were dismissed at 12:30 today for the Easter holidays. Children of the white schools of the city will return to their classroom activities Thursday morning, and the students in the Negro schools will return to school Wednesday morning.

Rose explained that the white students are being given one day longer for Easter holidays because the Negro students were given a holiday last week while their teachers attended a state meeting.

The Greenville superintendent said members of the local Parent-Teachers association who formerly were teachers have agreed to take over Thursday and Friday classes of the teachers attending the international meeting so they stay for all the sessions of the meeting. The long Easter holidays next week will show no emotion.

Political Boss And Ex-Convict Shot

Charles Binaggio, leader of a northside Democratic faction in Kansas City, was shot to death in his political headquarters Thursday. His body was found with that of Charlie Gargotta, an ex-convict. Both had been shot in the head. Gargotta's body lies on the floor of the political club on Truman Road. On the wall is a big picture of President Harry Truman whose home is in nearby Independence. Sitting under the picture is Walter A. Gambill (left), a cab driver, who discovered the bodies. (AP Wirephotos).

Install New Officers For V.F.W. Post

The officers for the coming year of the Greenville V. F. W. Post No. 7032, were installed at a joint meeting of the Post members and the Ladies' Auxiliary last night at the club house. The new officers left to right: Ralph Sullivan, senior vice commander; Lester Turnage, chaplain; S. J. Waters, commander; Earl Alder, retiring commander; Francis Joyner, quartermaster, John Martin, trustee. Officers not present for the installation service were Aubrey Taylor, Jr., vice commander; Dr. Fred Irons, surgeon; and Henry Oglesby, advocate. (Reflector staff photo).

Treasury To Begin Borrowing Next Week; Adding To Debts

Washington, April 7—(AP)—The government, expecting to overspend its income by more than $9,000,000,000 in the next 15 months, will start borrowing new money next week to make ends meet.

That will add considerably to the government's debts, which already total nearly $256,000,000,000.

The first step in the new borrowing program, as announced by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder last night, will take this form:

The treasury owes about $900,000,000 in 91-day bills falling due April 13. It will sell $1,000,000,000 in new 91-day bills that day to pay off the due debt and leave it $100,000,000 extra cash.

Except in scale, the transactions will be the same as that of a man who has a $900 note falling due at the bank next Thursday and "takes care of it" by giving a new note for $1,000.

The treasury will have a chance to pick up an extra $100,000,000 in each of the two succeeding weeks by identical transactions, for it has $900,000,000 issues of 91-day bills also falling due April 20 and 27.

Next week will mark the first time in seven months that the treasury has sought to borrow extra funds in the public money market, made up mostly of banks.

Since last September, it has been paying off securities falling due by selling practically identical amounts of new securities.

It has not, however, been heavily (Continued on page twelve)

Given Custody

Clinton, N. C., April 7—(AP)—Bruce Cameron of Wilmington today was given custody of his two children following a lengthy and sensational hearing in Superior court here.

Judge R. Hunt Parker, in ruling on the application of beautiful Mrs. Mary Vail Cameron for custody of the children and alimony pending her trial for a divorce from bed and board, also ruled that Mrs. Cameron was not entitled to alimony.

He granted her attorneys' fees and suit money totaling $3,500.

The judge, who found that Mrs. Cameron was not a fit person to have custody of the children ordered that she be allowed to see them at least three times a week at reasonable hours.

Police Without Clues In Kansas City Murders

Kansas City, April 7—(AP)—Police lacked tangible clues today in the slaying of political leader Charles Binaggio but the crime was linked with the underworld.

Binaggio, a former worker in Boss Tom Pendergast's once-powerful Democratic organization, was shot to death yesterday.

His strong-arm aide, ex-convict Charlie Gargotta, also was killed. Binaggio, who broke with the Pendergast group after Boss Tom's death, had developed a strong following in Kansas City northside wards.

The crime brought repercussions in both the state and national capitals.

In Washington, Rep. Short (R-Mo.) declared Binaggio was killed because he was "in the way" in the Missouri senatorial primary.

The congressman said Binaggio was backing a senatorial candidate opposed by President Truman and a faction of the Pendergast political organization.

Rep. Macy (R-NY) called for a congressional investigation into the "affiliation of crime and gangsters with politics" in Kansas City.

Owen Lattimore Cleared, Claims Senator Tydings

Washington, April 7—(AP)—Senator Tydings' assertion that FBI records fully clear Owen Lattimore of "Communist spy" charges left Senator McCarthy completely disatisfied today.

Tydings, Maryland Democrat, heads the Senate committee investigating the contentions of McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, that Lattimore is Russia's top espionage agent in the United States.

Lattimore, an American authority on Far Eastern affairs, yesterday spent more than three hours in the witness chair blasting at McCarthy's accusations. His sworn testimony boiled down to saying McCarthy had uttered "base and contemptible lies."

Then Lattimore leaned back and faced Tydings across the table. And Tydings told him:

"I think as chairman of this committee I owe it to you and to the country to tell you that four of the five members of the committee, in the presence of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, had a complete summary of your files made available to them.

"Mr. Hoover himself prepared these data. It was quite lengthy and at the conclusion of the reading of that summary, in great detail, it was the universal opinion of all the members of the committee present and all others in the room, of which there were two more, that there was nothing in that file to show that you were a Communist or ever had been a Communist, or that you ever were connected with any espionage information or charges.

"So that the FBI puts you completely, up to this moment at least, in the clear."

McCarthy, out of the hearing room at the time, later fired back to newsmen:

"Either Tydings hasn't seen the files, or he is lying. There is no other alternative.

Tydings had said the committee saw a summary of the FBI record on Lattimore—not the so-called "raw" file.

McCarthy retorted he does not know what Hoover gave the committee "but I know what is in the files."

Tydings, commenting on McCarthy's remark about him, declared:

"I'll let my reputation for accuracy stand. It is significant that no member of the committee contradicted the statement when I made it in the presence of the committee."

The committee, actually a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is made up of Tydings and Senators Green (D-RI), McMahon (D-Conn.), Lodge (R-Mass.) and Hickenlooper (R-Ia.).

Pitt Chalks Up 14th Accident In Eleven Days

In the past eleven days, there have been fourteen highway accidents in Pitt County, resulting in injury to several persons and untold damage to the cars and trucks involved.

Patrolman Paul C. Whitley of the Greenville patrol office investigated an accident on the Mumford road, about a mile from Greenville, around 6 o'clock yesterday evening.

A car operated by William James Stancill, of Route 5, Greenville, ran off the road and into a tree.

The vehicle was heavily damaged and Stancill was taken to Pitt General Hospital where he was treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Whitley arrested Stancill on a careless and reckless driving charge and will be tried in city recorder's court on Monday.

Pay To The Jobless

Philosophy Behind The Unemployment Pay Idea; Its Origin; Only A Limited Number Of Workers Covered; How State And Federal Gov'ts Work It Out; Pay Range

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 7—(AP)—In 1935, as part of the broad social security system it was then creating, Congress set up a nationwide program for giving pay to jobless people.

Until then only Wisconsin did that. Now all 48 states, plus Hawaii and Alaska, take part in the system. Yesterday President Truman asked Congress to enlarge on this plan created 15 years ago.

The philosophy behind the unemployment pay idea can be stated simply: jobless people need money to tide them over till they find work; and, with money to spend, they help keep business going.

Not all workers can draw unemployment pay when they lose their jobs. It goes only to those who were in jobs covered by the law. The non-covered ones are:

Farm workers, domestic workers, like house servants; people working for non-profit organizations like the Red Cross and churches; and people employed by federal, state or city governments.

The unemployment pay system is based on a tax which employers must pay to the federal government and to their own states. Out of the tax they collect, the states can pay the "covered" unemployed. The money which the states collect goes into a federal trust fund upon which they draw as they need cash. But the states run their own unemployment pay systems, which differ from state to state.

And the federal government gives the states money to run their individual programs.

Not all employers have to pay the federal unemployment tax. The federal law covers only those employers with eight or more employees in jobs which fall within the law. An employer with less than eight employees is not under the federal law although he may have to pay a state tax.

The tax on a covered employer—under the federal law—can be no more than 3 per cent of the first $3,000 of salary each covered employee gets. Of the 3 per cent, the employer pays three-fourths of one per cent to the government.

That leaves him with no more than 2.7 per cent to pay to the states. Few have to pay that much because the states arrange to give employers a break—especially those who keep their employees working.

The president, Miss Burton, presided over a short business discussion. The club voted to contribute five dollars to the Red Cross. Plans were made for a bridge tournament to be held soon. The meeting was touched over to Mrs. S. D. Dewar, program chairman, who gave a very interesting review of Robert Ruark's article on "The Real Margaret Mitchell."

The hostess assisted by Mrs. L. G. Manning served ice cream, cookies and nuts with coca cola. The books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Bethel Students In Position To Get Scholarships

Bethel, April 7—Edgar Barnhill and W. R. Bullock, two Bethel high school seniors, recently have been in competition with other high school seniors from this part of the state for a $3,000 Angier Duke Scholarship to Duke University.

Both the Bethel students passed the preliminary examinations for the scholarship and went to the secondary tests held in Kinston. Barnhill went to the final examinations at Duke University, and has been notified that he has received the first alternate position for a scholarship. A Wilmington high school student won first place for the scholarship from this district this year, but Barnhill still has hopes of receiving the scholarship in view of the fact that last year the third alternate actually received the scholarship.

Bullock has been offered a $350 scholarship from Duke and a job at the university which will pay him $400, Bethel school officials said.

Bullock and Barnhill have ranked the first two members of their class scholastically since entering high school, and in addition, both have been active in athletics. Bullock has been a member of the Bethel basketball team for four years, and Barnhill has been a member of the basketball team for three years.

Aside from his school activities, Bullock has been the Reflector carrier in Bethel for several years and works part time in a drug store. Barnhill does part time work in a radio shop, is sports correspondent in Bethel for the Reflector, and a carrier for the News and Observer.

Last year Irene White of Bethel was offered a $350 scholarship which she did not accept.

Conducts Fifth Of Holy Week Services Here

"By our membership in the church, we have taken our stand as those who would work to bring in His Kingdom," Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, reminded his congregation last night in the fifth of his six special Holy Week night services. Mr. Russell brought out how Christ fills the peculiar need of each person by His "broken body." Too, what He gives and when He sacrifices. He does it for all, the pastor pointed out.

To each person today there comes the offer of forgiveness from Christ across 20 centuries. He offers to take back those who have denied Him, doubted or otherwise failed Him. "No matter who you are My body was broken for you. He speaks to each of you" today as he did to the disciples that first Thursday night in the Upper Room, Mr. Russell said in conclusion. Tonight Miss Ruth Lambie will sing a solo, "A Ballad of Trees and Master," by Chadwick.

Cool Easter May Hit Spring Togs

By The Associated Press
It looks like winter garb will be appropriate in the Easter Sunday Parade over much of the Eastern half of the country. And maybe in parts of the south, too.
The weather bureau isn't ready to predict the brand of weather the country may expect Sunday. But indications are there'll have to be lots of warming in the next couple of days if the spring togs are to be worn on Sunday.

Today's freezing line covered wide areas of the midwest, the north-eastern states and into some sections of the south. The chilly air breezed into southeastern Florida and sent the mercury to 45 in Miami, a record low for the date. That is shivering weather for Miami, where the top reading yesterday was only 63.

Peach Crop Killed In Spartanburg

Spartanburg, S. C., April 7—(AP)—A heavy frost last night killed the peach crop in Spartanburg county and the bulk of that in adjoining counties.

The loss in Spartanburg county was estimated off $5,000,000 and $7,000,000. Of the normal production of 9,000 cars in this belt, about 7,000 are grown in this county. There are 4,000,000 bearing trees in this county.

Arrest Doctors In Drug Inquiry

Greensboro, April 7—(AP)—Arrest of two Virginia physicians on narcotics charges was reported today by W. T. Atkinson, head of the North Carolina Narcotics Bureau for North Carolina, who is stationed here.

Atkinson and United States Marshal Stanford Finney of Roanoke, Va., made both arrests yesterday. They took into custody Dr. E. B. Nuckols, 75, of Cumberland, Va., and Dr. Marshall T. Garrett, 45, Negro, Charlottesville, Va.

Each was arrested in his home town and was bound by United States commissioners to the July 5 term of United States District Court at Lynchburg. Both posted $1,000 bond.

Atkinson said each arrest was made on the fourth purchase of morphine by undercover agents from each doctor. The "knock-off buy" from Dr. Nuckols consisted of 44 tablets of morphine, for which the agent paid him $30. Atkinson said, while the final purchase from Dr. Garrett was 100 tablets for $35.

Atkinson said all four purchases in each case had been made since January. The Narcotics Bureau he said, started investigation of the two physicians after it was noted that each made suspiciously large purchases of morphine and kept no sales records.

Plenty Of Mail To Sen. Graham

Washington, April 7—(AP)—Senator Graham (D-NC), one of the newest senators, is already getting about 1,500 letters a week. One male assistant and six stenographers are kept hustling to get the answers out, about 60 per cent of which are form letters.

Found 'Lettuce' In Vegetable Bin

Oklahoma City, April 7—(AP)—Grocer Troy Joslin reached into his vegetable bin yesterday and pulled out plenty of "lettuce."

It was the firm's weekly payroll.

ing into existence, or have not yet been developed; an example of a new industry which is now providing employment to many, and has a potential employment for still greater numbers, is television. Only a short time ago, it was still in the realm of experimentation.

There is another factor not to be overlooked in considering a safety-valve for relieving the strains of a surplus labor force; that is the shorter work week. The thirty-hour week has already come under the scrutiny of some labor leaders, and we will doubtless hear more of it later.

While the problems of an expanding population are many, there are also workable solutions . . . some of which will be the product of evolution in our economy. As we have noted before, progress is based on the overcoming of difficulties.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 7.—No recent incident has shattered the political morale of the Truman-1952 clique at Washington so violently as the willingness of Democratic legislators on Capitol Hill to boost the 1951 national defense budget over White House protests on the sole recommendation of General "Ike" Eisenhower.

Although almost every knowing politician now believes that the World War II commander is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence, with Mr. Truman as a possible opponent, even economy-minded Democrats in House and Senate prefer the Eisenhower to the Truman-Johnson estimate of military needs.

SUPPORT—Carl Vinson of Georgia chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, endorsed the Columbia president's proposal for a minimum increase of $500 million. Senator John L. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat and a penny-pincher, said that "if Eisenhower thinks we should spend more money, Congress will take his word and provide it."

It is probable that even such opponents of the Administration's spending proclivities as Senators Byrd of Virginia and George of Georgia will support the Eisenhower boost, even in the face of Truman-Johnson opposition. Both men insist that their $13 billion total is sufficient for today's needs.

SIGNIFICANCE—Truman politicians' sole consolation is that Eisenhower let them down so easily. He asked only a $500 to $600 million increase for the air forces, for Alaskan defenses, for expanding our intelligence system and further experimentation on new weapons. But he made clear that, in his opinion, a satisfactory budget should have been nearer $15 billion than the White House figure.

But the overall political significance is that, despite the political threat to Mr. Truman's reelection embodied in the General's prestige and personality, prominent Democrats built up a prospective GOP nominee instead of "tearing him down."

COALITION—The welcome which Congressional Democrats, extended to the leader of our European forces assumes greater significance for reasons still generally unknown but, to their chagrin, available to the Truman-1952 campfire buddies. Originating among leading Southern figures of prominence, there is widespread talk of a "coalition" movement for Eisenhower's nomination and election.

It would be no surprise if, when the moment is opportune, the idea were openly advanced by two former members of Roosevelt-Truman Cabinets now nursing their grievances—personal, ideological and political—against the so-called "fair deal." Another Truman enemy likely to join the movement is that eminent adviser to Presidents, Bernard M. Baruch.

In fact, General Eisenhower has told members of Congress that he has discussed with the former financier such problems as stockpiling and industrial mobilization for war. That revelation also disturbed the Trumanites, in view of the bitter break between the President and Mr. Baruch, who refused to give a nickel to the Truman election fund in 1948.

VOTES—The "coalition" scheme has been projected beyond the 1952 campaign, assuming that General Eisenhower should be the Republican-Southern Democratic nominee and emerge triumphant. It contemplates the selection of a "coalition" Cabinet for conduct of the "cold war" and progressive preparation for a shooting engagement.

Moscow would undoubtedly denounce an Eisenhower nomination as a sign that the U.S. was putting on its war pants. But GOP strategists, perhaps correctly, figure that such a Soviet attack and inevitable vituperation of the General would pile up votes for him.

INDEPENDENCE—Several serious defections among erstwhile Truman enthusiasts underwrite Republican leaders' private belief that it would be disadvantageous for their party to capture either branch of Congress in the November elections. They want to saddle President Truman with another two-year responsibility for making good on the all-things-to-all men role he assumed in 1948, and on the promises he has made since entering the White House.

The Chicago Defender, a leading Negro newspaper, recently expressed its disillusionment with the Administration's inability to wrest civil rights legislation from a Democratic legislature. Smaller organizations and organs of the colored race are also breaking away.

At their recent convention here, the Americans for Democratic Action, the Roosevelt and radical annex of the national Democratic group, hinted at its dissatisfaction with lack of accomplishment at Washington. Over the objection of presidential cronies, it reversed its 1949 endorsement, asserting its full independence of any political faction and striking out all eulogistic references to the party in power.

PLEDGES—Labor union spokesmen around the country exhibit similar restlessness over failure to repeal or modify the Taft-Hartley Act. Social welfare groups ask when their program, including national health insurance and an aid-to-education bill, will be enacted. All of these direct-action advocates are growing weary of promises and denunciations of "hostile intentions."

The Republicans realize that they would spoil this picture if they took over Congress next year, especially as they would enjoy only nominal control because of a few dissenters in their own ranks. It would be smarter, in their opinion, to let Mr. Truman or any other Democratic nominee in 1952 explain why a Democratic Congress failed to fulfill party pledges for four long years.

Note: So far the only major measures to become law at this session are repeal of colored margarine taxes and aid to Korea. Neither was a partisan proposition.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
The free enterprise system's most dramatic answer to communism is embodied in a National Industrial Conference Board report on what an hour's work brought in 1914 and in 1948.

The report never mentions communism and its conclusions run to statistics rather than to drama. Nevertheless, inescapable in these statistics is the fact that under capitalism, the average factory worker is getting twice as much in goods for each hour of work than he did in 1914.

The fact that both wages and consumer prices have shot far above their 1914 levels has led to considerable confusion. It is common to hear, "Everybody's making more money today, but prices are so much higher everybody comes out about the same."

The Conference Board figures show, indisputably, that this just isn't so. The average factory worker—and the report concerns only factory workers, whose wages are a matter of sound, statistical record—gets more goods for less work than he did in 1914.

The Conference Board has eliminated the confusion between rising prices and rising wages by translating hourly wages into terms of consumer goods.

Thus, it shows that the average factory worker in 1914 labored 51 hours and 30 minutes a week, and that some other member of his family also had to work to meet the same family budget.

In other words, an average worker in 1914 would have had to labor 96 hours a week to earn enough to buy the same amount and kind of goods the average worker got in 1948 for less than 40 hours work.

The Conference Board study shows it took 12 hours work in 1943 to purchase the typical family's weekly market basket. To buy the same foods in 1914 would have taken 30 hours work.

And there's something that doesn't show up in the figures: because of better refrigeration and packaging, the food in 1948 was fresher and tastier. It took a typical worker four hours to earn a 5-pound chicken in 1914; it took a little less than two hours in 1948.

It took less than five hours work to earn the average weekly

Predicts New Gain In Furniture Sales

The furniture industry will make considerably more sales in this second quarter of 1950 than a year ago, Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, predicts. The second quarter in 1949 was the low spot in the post war period, he pointed out, and the current rate of sales should carry the total far above it. Sales in the first quarter of 1950 were estimated to be 12 per cent above the corresponding quarter in 1949.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

Washington—The elm planted on the White House lawn by President John Quincy Adams is doing fine. So is the elm planted by President Rutherford B. Hayes in 1829. A sweet gum planted by Benjamin Harrison in 1829 and a scarlet oak planted by William McKinley in 1898 also are shipper.

And, even though it's made "slow progress" according to experts, who say it is "small and not too beautiful," the Russian-American oak planted on the East lawn in 1904 by President "Teddy" Roosevelt is still struggling skyward. However, disease and old age are taking numbers of the Capital's finest old shade trees. Local plant pathologists and tree surgeons are engaged in extensive measures to control the ravages.

The Dutch elm disease, which continues to spread over the eastern and mid-western United States, killing thousands of trees, has been wreaking increasing damage in Washington. Last year 35 cases were reported here, as compared with one in 1947. The deadly fungus, first discovered in this country in Cleveland, O. in 1940, causes foliage to wilt and turn brown and kills trees within two to three years. It is spread by the European elm bark beetle, which carries the spores of diseased trees on its body.

Horace Wester, plant pathologist of the National Capital Parks, and District of Columbia specialists are trying to control the disease by "keeping good elms in healthy condition, taking out dead and dying limbs where the bark beetle settles and by some spraying with DDT. A regular spraying crew of two men in a jeep cruise over the city looking over the elms and collecting elms and collecting big samples for culture." Mr. Wester told me. "When we find an infected tree we cut it down and burn it . . . but we're going to have to keep right on the job if we make any real headway."

Another disease giving the specialists a mounting headache is the canker stain which attacks the sycamore. Somewhat related to the Dutch elm disease, it is transmitted by people rather than insects, says Mr. Wester. "We're losing about eight sycamores a year in the parks, and the city must be losing a lot more," Mr. Wester said, explaining that sycamores are important because they grow fast and well under city conditions—smoke, auto fumes and such.

A lot of the city trees on the other hand are just dying from old age. That was what, was believed the trouble with the famed 149-year-old elm planted on Capitol Hill at George Washington's suggestion.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Now and then I get a rise out of a reader. Judging from the comments, I'd say that you like the columns about Wife Rachel best. W. R. hasn't been in print lately, but today she comes bouncing back with a current topic: "W. R. and the census taker."

When I came home for lunch Wednesday W. R. began shooting the questions to me:

1. What is your annual income? (This is asked at every fifth home.)
 2. How many hours a week do you work?
 3. What type of work do you do?
 4. How much is the water and light bill every month?
 5. How much does it cost to heat this apartment?
 6. When was this house built?
- "Rachel," I said, "my name is Jack and you married me on September 5, 1947." I was beginning to wonder if W. R. knows me. That census taker stumped her right and left. They finally decided that I am a salesman by trade. And I appreciate the compliment.

Other questions were easier:

1. Did your husband work last week? (W. R. assumes that I did.)
 2. Do you have any roomers? (They would have to sleep on the floor.)
 3. Do you have hot and cold running water? (We haven't finished paying for the hot water heater.)
 4. Does your husband have any income other than his job? (Yes, they pay me for this column, whether it's worth it or not.)
 5. How much education does your husband have? (W. R. expressed this as number of years in school, and rightly so.)
 6. What are your names and ages? (W. R. knew this.)
- Then Rachel turned on the census taker and began to quiz her. How long will the job take? (Two weeks). What's the hardest part of the job? To this, she answered that she has to explore every nook and corner to be sure she finds every citizen. This includes the stables, because you never can tell when someone sleeps in a pile of hay.

Somebody asked me one day, "Why doesn't your wife run you out of the house when you write those columns about her?" The truth is that there are two people who edit this column: the publisher, and W. R. So far the publisher hasn't censored me, and what's more amazing, W. R. never has either. Up to now she doesn't mind my kidding her in print.

The census is taken every 10th year to gather valuable information about our country. It's interesting to look back on the 1940 census for the facts. At that time Greenville's population was 12,674. In 1930 it was 9,194. My guess is 15,000 this year.

In 1940 Greenville ranked 21st in population among the state's cities. North Carolina stood 11th in the nation. In 1930 the state was 12th, and in 1790 she was third.

And I thank W. R. and the World Almanac.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C.

CONFUSED—Someone has quipped that the name for that little area just north of the Potomac which has become the heart of a disturbed world should be changed to "District of Confusion." A day and night spent mostly with middle class government workers, newspaper correspondents, congressional secretaries—with occasional brief interviews with some of the big shot operators—tends to support the idea for changing the name. Folks who stay in Washington all the time are not as cognizant of all the changes as those who pop in once or twice a year. Only a fool would base appraisal on a 30-hour stay, but it does seem to one casual visitor that confusion is less than it was a few months ago. There is division of opinion but more general unity of purpose among North Carolinians there—and it is surprising how many of the key places are filled by Tar Heels. Congressmen and government administrators are moving in different directions, but not so much running around in circles.

SENATORS—Of course the Washington contingent is deeply interested in the senatorial race in North Carolina. One of the most noticeable signs is the strong support Bob Reynolds has among the Tar Heels working in the national capitol. A well informed newspaper correspondent thought Reynolds would lead the ticket if all Washingtonians with voting rights in this state cast their ballots. Few of the folks talked with, however, think Reynolds has a chance to win. Several sources gave almost identical estimates of present standing, as they had gathered from various state contacts, of Graham 45%, Smith 42%

43 per cent, Reynolds 12-13 per cent, Boyd not scratching. One reporter suggested that a good many commitments had been made to Graham and Reynolds before Smith got into the race. The big factor in the Washington vote is that the folks will have to come home to cast their ballots, and many of them simply cannot afford to spend $30 to $50 for that purpose.

DIVIDED—The Washington folks, like most North Carolinians, have been interested in the divided votes of the Tar Heel senators. On the important D (displaced persons) bill Wednesday, Senators Hoy and Graham split—Graham voting for the substitute favored by the administration and sponsored by Senator Humphreys of Minnesota, while Hoy voted for the measure approved by the senate committee. Senator Graham left before the final vote in order to keep a speaking date in Asheville, and a Kentucky newspaper man quipped to your reporter that both North Carolina senators might as well have stayed in the state to make campaign speeches so far as result of the vote was concerned. The senators are together on many issues, but they divide again on the question of whether government or private enterprise should build the dam at Roanoke Rapids.

MAD—Senator Graham is not on record as to his attitude about intervention of Attorney General Howard McGrath in the race segregation cases before the United States Supreme Court. Senator Hoy is on record, and the extent of his ire is illustrated by the big words he used. Both senators have marvelous vocabularies, but generally Senator Hoy sticks to short words, while Senator Graham uses longer words with finer distinctions in meaning. Senator Hoy has to get pretty mad to use such words as "reprehensible, indefensible and unprecedented"—which was his designation of the McGrath appearance in person to argue the cases against Texas, Oklahoma and Virginia segregation laws.

UNPRECEDENTED—The senior senator did not elaborate on reprehensible and indefensible. He did explain what he meant by unprecedented, McGrath as attorney general is an appointed member of the President's cabinet. Supreme Court justices are appointed by the President, too, although presumably constituting the third co-ordinate branch of government and not responsible either to executive or legislative influence. For a cabinet member to intervene under such circumstances, and for the secretary of the interior to appeal a case on whether government or private enterprise shall build a power plant is unprecedented.

RACIAL—The race question is going to figure more in the current senatorial campaign than it ever has in North Carolina, according to information picked up in Washington and from various points in North Carolina. The National Association for Advancement of Colored People is making a membership drive in this state, which has resulted in institution of several new chapters. Immediate objective of these new members is to get Negroes registered on the primary election books. The situation has many people worried, and the worry is not limited to partisans of any one candidate.

Up to now, there's been a lot of work and planning done by the senatorial candidates, but the real war will not open until ten days or two weeks from now.

The Voice Of The People

Up to now, the employees of the American Lady Inc. have had to take all of the blame for the plant leaving Greenville. Being a former machine operator up to three weeks ago, I would like to give part of our side of the story. To make production one must have materials ready and on hand at all times. While we were waiting for one thing or another, time was being wasted. An operator cannot make production when she does one operation on one machine; goes to another for the next and has to oil, clean and thread it and wait for this and that. Finally, she is ready and starts on a different operation. And so on through the day. A former employee of the Detroit plant for several years said that production could not be expected under such conditions. Some of the operators had steady work but the majority did not.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
A MISNOMER?

Good Friday!
How did we ever get into such a perverted state of mind as to call this day "good"? Is not this the anniversary of the most hideous murder in history? Only once has a perfect man appeared on the earth, and on what we call "Good Friday" his contemporaries put him to death. He was tried before prejudiced judges, condemned on the testimony of bribed witnesses, and then subjected to the most cruel and agonizing form of death known to the ancients.

We call the day which memorializes these events Good Friday. Yes, and until the end of time we shall continue to do so. For out of these hideous mistakes and evils arose man's greatest blessing. On this tragic day 3000 years ago, Divinity gave its all for humanity, God in the form of human flesh went through the extremities of punishment to which sin subjects the soul of man, and by so doing won victory for the human race over sin. God on that day gave a new meaning to sacrifice, a new meaning to death, a new grandeur to righteousness purchased at the infinite cost of sacrifice.

"Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Burning Up The Woodlands

The forest fires which raged through more than a thousand acres of woodland in many parts of Pitt county Monday and Tuesday created just as realistic a loss to the farmers of the county as a disease which would destroy a portion of any crop planted in the fields.

Even though the agricultural interests of Pitt county are focused on other predominant revenue producers, timber is one of the important sources of farm income in the county.

The fires which destroyed many thousands of dollars worth of property the first days of this week either were set deliberately or they were set through carelessness by a number of individuals. In either case, the county as a whole has suffered a great loss.

If fires raged through several hundred acres of corn or tobacco during the growing season, the people of the county would be anxious to determine whether the fires were caused deliberately or through carelessness. Whichever way the fires were started, immediate steps would be taken to make sure there was no recurrence of the fires.

The Reflector feels the people of the county should make an equally determined effort to find out how the forest fires started, and take precautions to see they do not happen again.

We Can Absorb That Anticipated Labor Surplus

Add these thoughts to your contemplations of problems which will be encountered, and soon, by everyone in the United States:

(1) A rapidly growing population, bringing with it an expanding labor force;

(2) The fact that current industries and business can supply the needs of a much greater population than we now have;

(3) Through mechanization and streamlining, each individual laborer can look forward to a continued growth in productivity, thereby requiring fewer workers.

Those conditions, which do exist, point to a prospective increase in the unemployed and unemployables for whom consideration must be made.

Unless steps are taken to meet this development, it means that business positions will be more competitive with a likely lowering of wage scales; a lower number of working people will be required to provide the necessities of life for an ever-expanding population.

That's the gloomy side of the picture.

That's what President Truman had in mind when he stated that the American economy must constantly expand in order to remain healthy. To meet the needs of an expanding population there must also be an expanding market for goods so as to provide work for the growing labor force.

This expansion in marketing and production might well come in forms of business and enterprise that are only now com-

New Medical Concept: Body's Reaction To Germs 'Harmful'

Chicago, April 7—(AP)—Dr. Hans Selye, one of North America's leading researchers, yesterday described a new concept of medical science—that the body's defense reaction against germs often kills the patient instead of the germs.

Dr. Selye, a leading investigator of the mysteries of adrenal gland function, spent 14 years studying how the body's "alarm" mechanism reacts to infection, cold, heat, chemicals, fatigue, worry, burns, injury, intoxications, starvation, and other forces.

He said he found they all had one thing in common—these forces made the adrenal glands above the kidneys four chemicals into the blood stream. In his research, Dr. Selye theorized that stress causes drastic physical changes in the body by acting on the adrenal glands and nervous system.

Dr. Selye, who is director of the Institute of experimental medicine and surgery at the University of Montreal, said in an interview the causes of many diseases are not known. These include Rheumatoid Arthritis, High Blood Pressure and Hardening of the Arteries.

Under his concept, he said, the patient could be helped by making his body adapt itself to these stresses. Medical science now is based on the general concept that before a patient can be cured the cause of the disease must be eliminated.

He cited as one example of how a body's natural defense can be made to adapt itself to stress—the relief of Rheumatoid Arthritis and rheumatic fever with the adrenal hormone cortisone.

Booed Premier Is Not Rattled

Washington, April 7—(AP)—The Premier of Northern Ireland, who was booed on his arrival in this country, says the main purpose of his visit is to renew wartime acquaintances.

He met American servicemen and businessmen when they were stationed in Northern Ireland, Sir Basil Brooke said, and he wants to see them again.

Sir Basil talked to reporters at National Airport, where he was sedately welcomed last night. It was a sharp contrast to the booing and cat-calling he got in New York a little earlier—from some 200 Irish Americans who made plain they regard him as a symbol of the partition of Ireland.

Sir Basil said of the New York demonstration: "Those things just don't worry me. They're entitled to say what they like."

The pickets in New York were demonstrating for a United Ireland; Northern Ireland is still part of the United Kingdom, whereas the southern part is now a republic with no ties to England.

McMullan Backs Hoey Criticism

Raleigh, N. C., April 7—(AP)—Attorney General Harry McMullan says he thinks Senator Clyde R. Hoey is right in criticizing U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

McGrath drew fire from Hoey for appearing before the U. S. Supreme court to argue for abolishing segregation on dining cars in trains.

McGrath's department also filed briefs with the court advocating an end to segregation in state-supported colleges in Texas and Oklahoma.

"If he (McGrath) can succeed in getting the Supreme court to do what he wants," McMullan said, "the civil rights controversy will fade into insignificance."

If the court rules against segregation in these cases, McMullan said, it would mean an end to segregation in all tax-supported schools in the South, including public schools, and on public transportation facilities and publicly-owned playgrounds.

McMullan wrote Hoey a letter commending him for criticizing McGrath.

Hearing Held On Murder Charged Charlotte Wife

Charlotte, N.C., April 7—(AP)—Mrs. Edgar H. McCorkle, 33, was called to a preliminary hearing today on a charge that she shot her husband to death as he lay sleeping early yesterday.

The tall, red-haired woman, 13 years younger than the slain man, told police she shot the dry cleaning plant owner and real estate operator in their home after a quarrel. She is charged with murder.

Their marriage only five months ago was the third for both. She was his secretary.

The government had filed a $170,000 income tax suit against McCorkle. The criminal charges were dropped with his death.

Try, Try Again

Birmingham, Ala., April 7—(AP)—When an ambulance picked up Henry Bryant after he was stabbed yesterday on a downtown street, he thought his troubles were over.

But ambulance No. 1 and a truck collided a block away. A rush call was sounded for another.

No. 2 broke down before reaching the injured man. No. 3 was summoned, but the driver misunderstood the address and never showed up.

Bryant finally made the operating room in ambulance No. 4, dispatched by the same company that first gave him a lift. Doctors said the Negro was not wounded seriously.

Might Be Alive If Action Taken

Los Angeles, April 7—(AP)—The life of Lumir C. Mathauer, 50-year-old artist, might have been saved, police said, if a motorist had been more resourceful.

Officers said the motorist saw Mathauer in his car yesterday with a garden hose running from the exhaust pipe. Instead of turning the motor off, the motorist jotted down the license number and then drove to a telephone and called police.

When the police arrived, Mathauer was gasping his last breath.

Reds To Step Up Drive Against Arms Shipments

Paris, April 7—(AP)—French Communists called last night for a stepped up drive to halt American military aid to this country under the North Atlantic pact.

A resolution promising "effective action" against arms shipments was passed unanimously at the closing session of the Communist party's 12th national congress.

A shipload of the first U.S. arms for continental France is expected to arrive at Cherbourg next week. Cherbourg stevedores, even though belonging to a pro-Communist union, have decided to unload such military shipments because recent unemployment has cut down their normal take home pay.

Robins Due Here Saturday And Display Wares Sunday

Lewey, Smith, Denier And Strausser Are Back In Fold; Heflin To Pitch In Sunday's Exhibition Against Lumberton Team

Greenville's Robins, a made-over ball club from the Greenies of last year, arrive here late Saturday fresh from spring training and ready to do business Sunday afternoon with Lumberton in the first exhibition game.

With opening day still 13 days away, the Robins' president, Roy Dissinger, has already formed a tentative starting lineup which he has been using in the practice games in Melbourne, Florida, among the four teams he owns. To date the Robins have beat everything facing them, including three wins over Lumberton, the other club in the state owned by Dissinger, and one win over Anderson, South Carolina, the third club in the chain.

Dissinger, who has been overseeing the training of the three clubs in the Carolinas and also his Hammond, Louisiana, club, has picked his 1950 Robins' lineup from players reporting to his talent school and from the list of returnees to the club from last year's roster.

Only four players on the front line will be familiar to local fans—Steve Denier, Paul Strausser, Hubert Smith and Jim Lewey. The others are new. Denier will start third, Strausser in centerfield and Smith again in rightfield.

Starting on the mound for the Robins will be Lewey who saw limited service with the 1949 Greenies. He didn't set the world on fire last year but word from Dissinger has it that he is an improved ball player and will be used extensively this year.

Taking his turn on the mound during Sunday's game will be the Robins' new manager, Randy Heflin, former Boston Red Sox and New Orleans pitcher. Heflin has stated he will not be a starter this season, resorting to running the team from the bench. But he avers he will start if he has to and will definitely enter the game as a reliever when needed.

The rest of the starting lineup, as announced by Dissinger, has the infield reading like this: Tito Quintanilla, Norwich, Conn., catcher; Fleming Platt, Chicago, first base; Charles Ouzis, Macon, Ga., second base; Matthew Hall, Fredericksburg, Va., shortstop; and Denier at third. Besides Strausser and Smith in the outfield, working the leftfield spot will be George Kelly. Dissinger reports he will go along with this lineup until "something breaks."

Meanwhile, Dallas Blackiston of the Robins' business office here, stated opening-day tickets for the game April 20 will go on sale tomorrow at Hill's Incorporated. Everyone buying a ticket for that game will get a vote for the most popular baseball fan in Greenville. The person elected by the other fans will get a season ticket to all home games and will throw out the first ball for the 1950 season, Blackiston said. He urged everyone to cast a ballot for the person they think has the keenest interest in the local team, win, lose or draw.

Cleveland Needs Extra-Base Hits

Shreveport, La., April 7—(AP)—Cleveland's Indians needed an extra base hit in the worst sort of way today.

For 30 innings now, the mighty Tribe men haven't been able to pound out anything better than a single. They got nine yesterday in losing to the New York Giants, 5-1, and they got four on Wednesday when the Giants beat them 8-2.

On Tuesday, it was the same story, nine hits and all singles, but the Indians won that game, 7-6.

White Sox Take Loss On Tour

New Orleans, April 7—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox face an estimated loss of $45,000 on their spring exhibition tour.

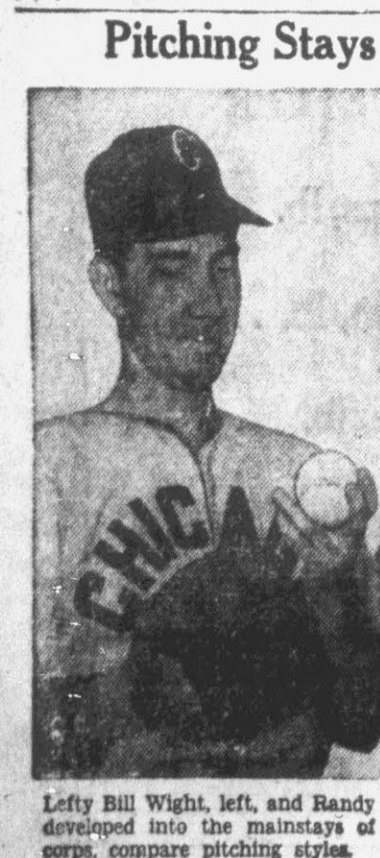

General Manager Frank Lane has estimated the total cost of the training period at $74,000, or about $1,500 a day. In 22 exhibitions thus far, the Sox have drawn 48,000 customers, which if an average is maintained, will give them about 66,000 for the schedule.

Lane figures the team will have received a little less than 50 cents per paid admission.

Pitching Stays Of White Sox

Asked if this meant Pete's early inclusion in the regular starting schedule, Sewell replied, "Yes—and what's more, he's going to start the third or fourth game of season for us. Whether he can hold that spot over Harry Perkowski remains to be seen."

Peterson, a 24-year-old southpaw, was the chief reason he ok'd sale of Johnny Vander Meer to the Chicago Cubs.

Lefty Bill Wight, left, and Randy Gumpert, two ex-Yanks who have developed into the mainstays of the Chicago White Sox pitching corps, compare pitching styles.

For a fellow who is so tied down to his advertising business that he finds time for tennis only after working hours, Don McNeill did very well to win the national indoor singles tennis championship. To make his triumph all the more impressive, it is well to recall that Don first captured that championship back in 1938. A dozen years is a long stretch for a player to maintain top flight tennis form. He captured the outdoor crown at Forest Hills in 1940.

McNeill first entered the select circle of the First Ten in 1937, when he was ranked ninth. Two years later he advanced to No. 3 and reached the top spot in 1940. He captured the National Collegiate singles title

Only Skee Riegel Shoots Sub-70 In Masters' Event

Augusta, Ga., April 7—(AP)—The stars of the 14th Masters Tournament field tried again today to break the spell of a championship course and find the way to glory on its rolling greens.

Only stocky Skee Riegel managed sub-70 shooting among the 63 golfers yesterday in the first round. Riegel celebrated his first major tournament try as a professional by firing a 69.

Just seven other golfers broke par 72 at the great Augusta National course which has seen the best and conquered most of them.

The 6,900 yards of thickly sodded, never flat fairways and the hillock greens were exceedingly rough for all but a few.

Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, Horton Smith of Detroit, Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., and Herchel Spear of Huntsville, Ala., got under par with 70's.

Little Toney Penna of Cincinnati and Defending Champion Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had 71's. Johnny Palmer, the Badin, N.C., pro who was picked to win the Masters by fellow golfers,

Sewell Believes Pitching Staff Equals The Best

Raleigh, N.C., April 7—(AP)—Cincinnati Reds Manager Luke Sewell is holding onto his trump card and grinning. He thinks the club's pitching staff will rate with the best in the National League.

And one hurler he never tires talking about is Kent Peterson. Luke says the young, slight Utah native is the most improved pitcher on the roster.

Cuban Pitcher Comes And Goes

Orlando, Fla., April 7—(AP)—Sando Consegua, young Cuban right-hand hurler, called for a trial with the Washington Nats, arrived and left without throwing a ball.

He went into a huddle yesterday with Clark Griffith, Nats' president, and asked for $3,000 to pay off a Venezuelan team with which he said he had signed a contract.

Griffith sent him back to Cuba on the next plane.

Two Costly Errors By Bucs Give Catawba A 4-2 Victory

By BILL LLOYD

Bob McCotter, East Carolina's ace moundsman, lost a heartbreaker in yesterday's chilly North State encounter here, as two costly errors in the eighth inning gave Catawba a 4-2 verdict over the local Pirates.

The chunky southpaw twirler set the Indians down with only six hits, walking two, as he hooked up in a pitcher's duel with Catawba's star hurler, Paul Grendle.

Grendle, big righthander for Coach Earl Routh's nine, was just as effective on the mound, pitching a brilliant three-hitter against the Bucs, and issuing no walks. Catawba's chunker set the Boomemen down in one-two-three order for five straight innings, as the Pirate batters went hitless from the third through the eighth inning.

Catawba tallied two runs in the second stanza when Jack Ward led off with a two-bagger into left centerfield, scoring on Hodge's single. Hodge stole second, and crossed the plate on Pitcher Grendle's single.

Coach Jack Boone's baseballers came back to score one in the same frame, as Leftfielder Fred Soles reached first on Lineberger's error, stole second, and rounded the bases on the shortstop's second error.

Both teams were held scoreless during next five innings, as McCotter and Grendle settled down to a mound duel.

Fatal inning for the Pirates came in the eighth when Taylor was safe on Smith's miscue, stole second, and took third on Lineberger's infield hit. Both runners scored when Shortstop Wallace booted Ward's hard grounder.

East Carolina's chilled fans forgot the weather momentarily in the Pirates' half of the ninth, as Bob Bailey led off with a single to left. Wallace forced Bailey at second, taking first on the fielder's choice. He scored as Sole's doubled to keep center. The uprising fell short, however, as Smith filed out to left field.

Third baseman Dave Hodge was the leader for the Indians with three singles in four trips to the plate, while Sole's and Wallace's doubles were tops for the Pirates.

Phantom Triumph In Roanoke Rapids

Visiting Greenville Team Whips Rivals, 10-5, For First Time Since The War; Capitalize On Hits And Errors

Roanoke Rapids, April 7—Greenville's baseball team whipped the local high school nine 10-5 yesterday for the first time since the war.

Playing ball in weather more akin to football than this spring pastime, the visitors took advantage of every opportunity thrown their way and went home with a neat win behind them. It was Greenville's second win of the season.

Greenville could hit on only six pitches but they scored their runs on a combination of a hit here and there with a free pass thrown in. The Jackets' starting pitcher Harris issued five bases on balls during his time on the slab and only two hits, but the free passes were enough to do the trick.

Greenville had its biggest inning in the second when they got one hit and three walks for four runs. Two errors didn't hurt matters either. Firstbaseman Sid Briley led off the inning by reaching first via a secondbase error. He walked home after Harris walked three of the next four batters. Vainright, the Greenville pitcher struck out next, but the leadoff man, Richard Joyner, promptly got a timely single to send home two of the baserunners and Moore came in when the throw in from rightfield was booted by an infielder.

The Yellow Jackets could collect but two runs in a single inning. That was the first when Vainright issued Messer a walk and he came home after stealing second when leftfielder Quinn dropped Battan's fly. Battan scored from second on a fielder's choice. The Jackets scored single runs in the fifth, sixth and ninth innings for their three other runs.

The visitors scored three runs in the top of the seventh when they put together a double by Moore and a followup single by Vainright, plus a walk to Holbert who replaced Quinn in left. Their other scoring came in the third when two came across, and in the fourth when one scored.

Vainright pitched the entire game, giving up five hits. King replaced Harris on the mound for Roanoke Rapids in the third and struck out 13 batters during the rest of the game.

The score by innings: Greenville 042 100 300-10 Roanoke Rapids .. 200 011 001-5

Embattled Sanity Code Appears Near Revision

Chicago, April 7—(AP)—The NCAA's embattled sanity code appeared geared for revision today after a successful fact-finding meeting of the nation's athletic chiefs.

Officials of 20 conferences accomplished in two days more than it would normally take two months to do by going through channels.

In brushing aside the usual red tape, six proposals for amending the code were drafted. They were kept secret. NCAA President Hugh C. Willett of Southern California said they ranged from "absolutely no change up to considerable additional aid for worthy athletes."

The proposals, he said, pointed toward these common aims: 1—That athletes getting aid must be academically worthy both in college entrance and progress towards degree requirements; 2—There must be positive and definite evidence aid recipients need assistance (no "across-the-board-grants"); 3—All such aids must be administered by regular campus agencies.

The proposals, undoubtedly including the South's suggestion for free board and room to the needy, now will be funneled to a screening committee. From there they go to the NCAA's policy-making council in August and on to the NCAA's annual convention in Dallas next January.

Mound Troubles Are Multiplying

Shreveport, La., April 7—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies' pitching problems seem to be multiplying.

Last night one of the hurlers Manager Eddie Sawyer is counting upon to help the club make a National League pennant bid was socked hard. The Phillies beat Shreveport of the Texas League 7 to 4 but Milo Candini was rapped for six hits and three runs in two innings.

However, two doubles by Eddie Walkus, a homer off the bat of Del Ennis and a three hit, seven inning hurling stint by Lefty Curt Simmons helped ease the headache a little.

Giants All Even In Spring Games

Raleigh, N.C., April 7—(AP)—The Boston Braves and the Cincinnati Reds will meet in an exhibition game here today.

The big league clubs arrived at Raleigh last night from Columbia where Boston edged out an 8-7 victory.

Vernon Bickford, who won 16 games last year, will start for the Boston club, and John Hetki, who tossed for Syracuse, will start for the Reds. Both are righthanders.

The University of Arizona swimming team will face six opponents—two of them twice—during the 1950 season.

From Ballrooms To Horse Barns

AP Newsfeatures Mrs. Mona McNaughton, who appeared as half of the ballroom dancing team of Mona and Drigo a few years ago at many of the nation's finest hotels, today is a horse trainer in charge of a stable of 10 horses. And she has saddled every horse in her barn to victory. Her husband, a New Jersey breeder and a stonemason, gave her a filly as a surprise present, and Mrs. McNaughton became intrigued by the thought of training her own horse. Now she has 10 horses to care for, as well as a seven-year-old daughter. Here, at Wolfstream Park, Mrs. McNaughton is shown inspecting the underpinnings of one of her charges, and holding the watch on a workout.

Infield Starters For Detroit

Here's Red Rolfe's "good average" infield. Left to right, Dick Kryhoski, first base, Johnny Lipon, shortstop, Gerry Priddy, second base and George Kell, third base, will open the season for Detroit.

Won't Give Up On Injured Keller

Montgomery, Ala., April 7—(AP)—Manager Red Rolfe won't give up on injured Charley Keller as a helpful guy to have around for the Detroit Tigers.

One good sock off Keller's bat was enough to re-convince Rolfe, who counts on Charley as a pinch-hitter. It was a 392-foot pinch-hit homer at Macon.

"Anybody who hits a ball that far has to have power," said Red. "Even if he were batting against Dick Bartell (Tiger coach) in batting practice, I'd think it a good sign."

Frank Pace, First Veteran To Be Civilian Boss Of The Army

Washington, April 7 — (AP) — An Arkansas boy who has done well in this big capital city, Frank Pace, Jr., is well on the way toward being the first Air Force veteran to become civilian boss of the Army.

Along with best wishes from Republicans and Democrats alike, he won the unanimous approval of the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday. Senate confirmation of President Truman's appointment of him to the secretaryship appeared certain next week.

Pace, 37, is now director of the Budget Bureau.

In quick answers to questions by Republican senators, he assured them:

1. He would deal quickly and efficiently with any subordinates regarded as "bad security risks," regardless of any pressure.
2. He was in full sympathy with the attempt to end racial segregation in the armed forces.

Senator Gurney (R-SD) suggested that Pace tell something about his career.

Pace recounted he was born and reared in Little Rock and graduated from high school there. (He didn't mention he was only 14 years old and so spent two years in prep school because his parents thought him too young for college.)

He graduated from Princeton in 1933 and went on to Harvard for a law degree in 1936. Returning to Arkansas, Pace served as a prosecuting attorney and later entered a law partnership with his father.

In World War II, he served in the Air Forces Transport Command for nearly four years, rising from lieutenant to major, and then came to Washington. The Air Force was part of the Army when he served.

Pace was a special assistant to the U. S. Attorney General in tax cases, then moved over to the Postmaster General's office as an executive assistant. Next he served a year as assistant director of the Bureau of the Budget before becoming its head more than a year ago.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), acting committee chairman, said he had worked with Pace as budget director and found him "a very able and splendid public official."

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said he is certain Pace will be a "very able Secretary of the Army."

Waring Charges 'Malicious Lie'

Charleston, S.C., April 7—(AP)— Federal District Judge J. Waties Waring said today that charges he advocated "force by a minority Negro group against the government is a malicious lie."

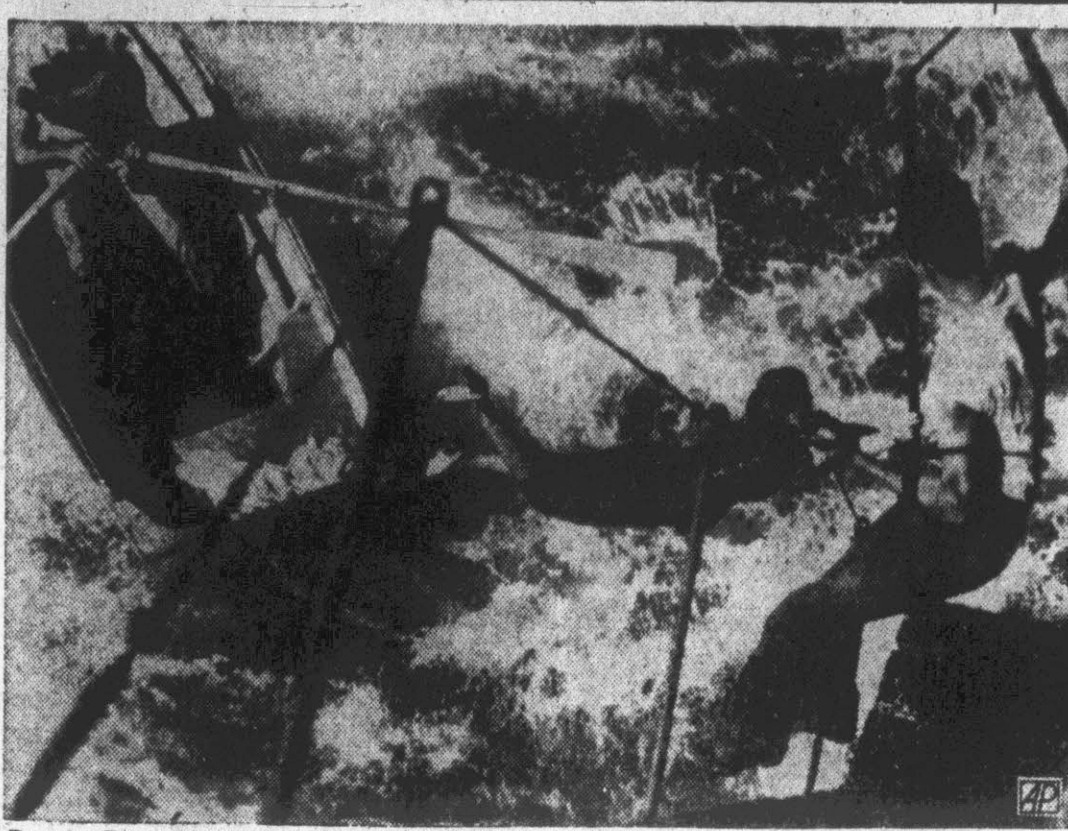

'Rep. Rivers (D-SC) told the House yesterday that Judge Waring "has publicly advocated the use of force by a minority group to obtain its objective."

There was talk in Congress yesterday of bringing impeachment proceedings against the judge, whose rulings opened Democratic primaries to Negroes in South Carolina. He is a native Charlestonian.

Judge Waring issued this statement:

"In 1948 when Congressman Rivers went through these same antics to whip the local South Carolinian white supremacists I called it 'silly, childish raving.' I repeat the same but this time it calls for more extended comment as it is a disgraceful thing that a man of Rivers' type should be permitted to place such misinterpretations in the permanent records of Congress. That he, representing the sabotaging filibustering minority group of white supremacist Dixiecrats should accuse me of advocating force by a minority group against the government is a malicious lie."

"I urged and do still urge that the United States government enact laws and use the force of laws to protect the Negro minority and save it from oppression by the Southern white supremacists who continue to deny minorities the equal protection of the laws under the constitution of the United States."

New England Is Highest Ranking For Longevity

New York, N. Y.—Life is longest in the English-speaking and Scandinavian countries, women live longer than men practically everywhere in the world except India, and Russia is at least a generation behind the United States in longevity.

These facts highlight a report upon steadily increasing longevity throughout the world by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians.

First as to longevity is New Zealand, where the most recent data—that for 1934-1938—record an expectation of life at birth of 67 years a level reached among white persons in the United States in 1945. Other leading records are: 65.3 years for Australia in 1932-1934; 66.5 for the Netherlands during the prewar decade; 66.7 for Denmark in 1941-1945, the time of war and occupation 65.6 for Sweden in 1935-1940 and 65.3 years for France in 1947.

For Germany the figure was 61.4 years in 1932-1934, which is practically the same as for the United States near that time. A somewhat lower level is shown generally for the remainder of Western and Central Europe, while Eastern Europe and most of the Latin American countries have a still poorer record.

The most recent information available for Russia in Europe is for 1926-27, when the expectation of life was 44.4 years.

Asia and most of Africa record the shortest longevity. In 1931 India had a life expectancy at birth slightly less than 27 years, which isn't much higher than that estimated for ancient Rome 2,000 years ago. For Egypt the figures was 38.6 years in 1936-1938.

Mexico, on our own southern border showed an expectation of life of only 33.3 years in 1930, the latest year available. This is about the same figure as for our country at the time of its founding.

Generally speaking, the advantage of females in average length of life is greatest in countries where standards of health are high, and least where health conditions are poor. The advantage of women over men in life expectancy ranges from less than one year in Bulgaria, and native population of the Union of South Africa, to five and one half years among white women in the United States, and to six and a half years in Finland. In India the life expectancy is higher for men—although by only one third of a year—than for women.

Sex Criminal Treatment Urged By Organization

Chicago—(AP)—The American Municipal says cities need better facilities for examining and treating persons accused of sex crimes. The organization looked over facts gathered in 30 cities, and commented:

"Recent sensational sex crimes have spurred several cities and states toward more effective means to cope with sex offenders. Surveys and studies are under way or have been completed in St. Louis, Oklahoma City and Seattle. Bills strengthening sex crime laws have been introduced in several legislatures.

"Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis reported they have clinics for diagnosis and treatment of persons arrested for sex crimes. Other cities generally, make some provision for special care of sex crime defendants, but clinical facilities for treatment are inadequate in most."

Malaya To Fight Corrupt Gov't

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya—(AP)— Freedom-bent Malaya is out to rid the country of corruption, widespread among its government officers. Its legislative council has passed a bill to achieve this. Bribery now is a non-seizable offence. Police have no special powers for investigation. The court is denied the opportunity to hear certain evidence.

The new bill removes these obstacles. It gives government the power to order inspection of bank books and provides for heavier fines and longer terms of imprisonment.

Attend District Meet Of School Board Association

Four Pitt County men Wednesday night attended the annual meeting of the first district of the State School Boards Association held at the Knotty Pine Inn in Washington.

Attending from the county were D. H. Conley, superintendent of Pitt County schools, J. H. Rose, superintendent of the Greenville city schools, Joseph S. Moye, chairman of the Pitt County board of education, and Joseph M. Taft, vice chairman of the Greenville board of education.

Thomas A. Banks, president of the State School Board Association, and Dean B. D. Bryan of the school of education at Wake Forest College were principal speakers at the meeting of more than 65 school officials from this district.

During the meeting the school officials discussed the possible actions of the 1951 General Assembly which will affect the schools of North Carolina, the present building program in the school systems of the state, the possibilities of aid from the state to counties which have a considerable amount of school consolidation to do, and whether the state will continue to aid the counties in the school building program.

Sally Ann Humphreys (top), 18, of Berkeley, Calif., was found strangled to death in an automobile, and in the same car was her sweetheart, Arthur Prindle (bottom), with his wrists slashed. The youth had also taken 12 sleeping tablets but he survived. Police said he confessed that he strangled the girl in a lovers' quarrel. (AP Wirephotos).

Birthday For Wistful-Looking Pointer

That wistful-looking pointer facing the camera is Sport II, owned by Colonel Owen Marshburn of Greenville. Sport was one year old yesterday and the Colonel thought it fitting to celebrate the event with a birthday party. Some of Sport's friends came for the event and are shown in the picture with him. The pointer pup in the foreground is Sport III, half brother of the feted dog being held by Marshburn. (Reflector staff photo).

All Of Sport's Doggy Friends Guests At His Birthday Party

old but he added to the clamor with a constant squeal.

A dog's life may be seven times that of a man's in proportion to the years lived and if that is the case, Sport II celebrated his seventh birthday yesterday.

Sport is a pointer owned by Colonel Owen Marshburn of Greenville and he celebrated either his first or his seventh birthday yesterday—Sport wasn't particular which.

And to do the affair "up right" Marshburn threw a party to end all parties—in Sport's honor. It would be a misnomer to say all the cats joined in the affair but that's about what happened.

All Sport's doggy friends were invited to the canine soiree, including such thoroughbreds as two cocker spaniels, a boxer, two other pointers and a German Weimaraner. The group formed a unique setting around a dish of dog biscuits which they managed to strew around the yard before the party could get underway.

The setting for the party was the expansive backyard of Marshburn's home "Andalusia" just off the Ayden highway on the outskirts of town and the party was well underway at 4:30. There were dogs chasing other dogs, dogs chasing the Colonel, and just plain dogs chasing.

And through it all Sport reigned supreme, standing still just long enough to have his picture snapped, and then away again.

Sport's mother was there, Sport I, and also his half brother, Sport III. The last of the Sports didn't quite know what to make of all the full since he is merely seven weeks

The doings were proceeding according to schedule until the dog biscuits ran out. So the seven dogs began gnawing on each other—in good sport, however.

And displaying manners peculiar to human beings, the invited guests began to drift away from the party when the feted member showed signs of weakening. They gathered up whatever belongings they brought with them, mostly their masters, and left for home.

It was a crackerjack party, Sport thought, and indicated he wanted to have one on his second birthday. At least he left his departing guests with a contented snort as they walked off down the road. It sounded as though Sport, after a couple of snorts, thought a dog's life isn't so bad after all.

Many Ballots In Naming 'Best Looking' Man

The contest being staged for the past several weeks to find the man voted by the majority of the people as being the "Best Looking Man in the county," was nearing the final stages this morning as an overflow of ballots, which poured in at the last minute, were being counted.

A report from the radio station revealed that over 10,000 ballots came in on the last mail.

The contest officially ended last night, but it was not known when the ballots will all be counted and the final results made public.

It was reported that the balloting in the closing days of the contest was heavy, with thousands of votes pouring into the radio station to be counted.

The winner, chosen by the votes, will be presented with a complete outfit of clothes given by Hill's Stores.

Cold Wipes Out Peach Crop For Another Year

Rock Hill, S.C., April 7—(AP)—York County's million-dollar peach crop has been wiped out for the third consecutive year by cold weather.

County Agent J. D. Miller said today that last night's freezing temperature had "virtually destroyed" the 1950 crop.

"Some peaches in some orchards probably survived the 28-degree temperature, but for all practical purposes the crop was wiped out," Miller said.

Similar late cold snaps in 1948 and 1949 killed peaches in those years.

Bethel's Negro Basketballers Banquet Guests

Bethel, April 7—Members of the basketball teams of the Bethel Negro high school were honor guests at a banquet given recently for them by members of the school faculty.

E. A. Elliott, principal of the school, was toastmaster for the occasion. The coaches, Mrs. M. A. Martin of the girls' team and Coach Burge of the boys' team, reviewed the highlights of the basketball season, and encouraged the members of the teams to continue their competitive spirit in athletics. Superintendent D. H. Conley, of the Pitt county schools, was guest speaker for the banquet, and spoke on the theme "Good Sportsmanship as a Real Character Builder" and he pointed out the ways in which good sportsmanship in athletics carries over into producing better citizenship in the community.

Baylor's 1950 basketball team had five players who answered to the first name of "Bill."

Tarheel Carl Durham In Key Nat'l Defense Post

By LYNN NISBET
Washington, April 7.—The extent to which the national government depends upon North Carolinians for leadership has been often noted. Names of Lindsay Warren, Bob Doughton, Kenneth Royal, Gordon Gray, Jim Webb and others have figured large in important news for several years. Harold Cooley's leadership in agriculture has been outstanding. Senator Hoey's handling of the "five-percent" investigation drew nationwide commendation.

Among the less publicized North Carolinians is Carl Durham, representative of the sixth district. He is one of the half dozen key men in the national defense program. Some of the newspaper folk around Washington rate him as top authority on the subject. As member of the armed services committee, vice-chairman of the joint subcommittee on atomic energy, and newly named chairman of the committee on stock piling defense materials, the modest former Chapel Hill druggist occupies position of vital importance not equaled by any other member of Congress.

Your reporter talked with Congressman Durham for nearly an hour the other day. Near the end of the interview the reporter wondered if the congressman isn't taking his responsibilities too seriously, if there is really any need for so much ado about stock piling, civil defense, and what have you. His answer was significant.

"We on our committee," he said, "see and hear so much more than we can tell. We have validated records of the destructive power of atomic bombs, and we have confidential scientific estimates of how many times the destructive power has been multiplied since Nagasaki. We have estimates of unbelievably greater force in new combinations of destructive energy. And we know that ours is not the only nation with this knowledge.

"We have had mayors of big cities, governors of states, administrators of hospitals and educational institutions, outline the critical situations in their communities and plead for help. One cannot listen to these pleas and consider the data presented and not take seriously the responsibility resting upon the United States government now."

One of the problems is how much to tell the people. No defense program for war and no development program for peace can be successful without popular support. The people cannot be expected to support a project until they understand something of its importance. And, yet, Durham says his group realizes the danger of public hysteria if too much is told. The big job is to prevent jitters without sinking into dangerous complacency.

The congressman is not pessimistic and he refuses to be stampeded. His committee has been working for more than a year on a civil defense plan which is just now getting into the newspapers. Confidential files in his office are loaded with material that can be translated into action upon short notice if necessity should arise. He hopes that occasion will not arise.

Three Adrift On Barge Off Cape

Norfolk, Va., April 7.—(AP)—Three men were adrift in a barge somewhere off Cape Hatteras today in high winds and heavy seas.

The Coast Guard buoy tender Jonquil and the cutter Marion were en route to search for the barge and give assistance to the disabled tug which had been towing it.

The tug Hercules radioed for help at 3 a. m. today, saying it had a damaged steering gear and that the tow line had parted.

The barge with three men aboard was reported as 250 feet long, 50 feet wide and painted grey. It is numbered the YF-1077.

The Hercules radioed it was drifting east of Cape Hatteras and a little south of Kill Devil Hill. The barge had presumably drifted out of sight of its tug.

The Jonquil radioed at 3:58 a. m. that it was on its way to give aid and should make contact with the Hercules about 11 a. m. The cutter Marion was dispatched from Norfolk to give assistance and aid in the search for the barge which may become dangerous to shipping.

The Coast Guard expressed concern for the three men aboard the barge. Winds and seas were reported high off Cape Hatteras.

At Least 14 Will Die Over Holiday

Raleigh, N. C.—At least 14 persons can be expected to die in highway accidents over the Easter weekend, if present trends continue, the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles estimated today.

The estimate was made for the period from 4 p. m. Friday to 10 a. m. Tuesday. The Department based its figure on the fact that 12 persons were killed in the same period last year and fatalities are up 13 per cent over last year.

As during past holiday seasons, Department officials stated that they would be only too happy to have North Carolina motorists prove their estimate incorrect.

"Too many motorists have adopted the attitude that highway accidents happen to other persons but cannot happen to them," Department officials pointed out. "The fact remains that accidents can happen to anyone who uses the streets and highways of the State either for driving or walking."

Motor vehicle registration already is 100,000 over the same date last year and continues to climb, which means that more vehicles will be on the highways of the state this week-end than during any past holiday period.

Driver discourtesy, which includes everything from speeding and drunken driving to failure to dim lights or grant right-of-way, remains the chief cause of highway accidents, the Department said.

"Over this Easter holiday," the Department urged motorists, "remember to observe the Golden Rule when you're driving and drive as you would have others drive."

Find Watchmen Tied Up, Killed In Capitol Store

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—The bound bodies of two nightwatchmen were found early today in one of Washington's biggest department stores (Lansburgh and Brothers.) Police said both had been stabbed to death.

They were identified by store officials as John C. Carpenter, 45, and Oliver R. Hess, 56. Hess' family lives at Baltimore.

Police said Carpenter's body was in a first floor washroom. Hess, bound and stabbed in the back, was lying on a blood-stained carpet on the fifth floor. Police said they found a large butcher knife believed to be the murder weapon.

The bodies were discovered by other watchmen after Carpenter failed to signal a routine 1:15 a. m. check of the first floor.

Peanut shells are regarded by most gardeners as excellent material to use in mulching both flowers and vegetables.

2 ways to make gardening more fun

Millions praise Vigoro, complete plant food, as the key to simplified plant nutrition. EndoFest offers the same simplification in garden protection. It is all the protection most gardens need against sucking and chewing insects and fungus diseases. Use them to make gardening more fun.

Wants Listed

Durham, N.C., April 7.—(AP)—North Carolina cities want the legislature to give them more taxing power and home rule.

The North Carolina League of Municipalities held a regional meeting here yesterday and outlined a program it will ask of the 1951 legislature. The three points:

1. Greater power to levy license taxes on business and occupations.
2. A suitable home rule amendment to the state constitution.
3. An equitable distribution of the state gasoline tax.

Other regional meetings are planned in 11 cities later this month.

One of the oldest Congregational church bodies in New York state is that at Orient, Long Island, organized in 1735.

Chapter I

"Katherine," her aunt, Mrs. Best, called from the foot of the stairs, "breakfast is ready. Don't keep your uncle waiting."

Katherine felt the familiar feeling of fear which she always had if anyone spoke coldly to her, and of which she was so ashamed. To want to be liked was a weakness she had acquired when her parents had been alive and she had been so well and truly loved. Her parents had made her dependent on their love, so that she felt cold and afraid without it. They had trained her to appreciate the beauty of sight and sound, particularly the beauty of the written word, and had left her at sixteen an emotionally defenseless creature who, during the two years she had lived with her father's brother and wife, had tried desperately to acquire an outer shell of hardness, like a dispossessed hermit crab.

She went down into the kitchen, striving vainly for an air of bright self-possession, and to keep the frantic appeal out of her eyes and hidden in her heart.

They always had breakfast in the kitchen, because Mrs. Best never lit a fire until the middle of the afternoon. There was a large shed full of coal, carefully saved. No one ever knew what prospective ice-age Mrs. Best was saving for, but she was always thinking of the future. Katherine's very presence in her house was a moral triumph. She had always looked censoriously on her brother-

JUST LIKE MONEY IN THE BANK!

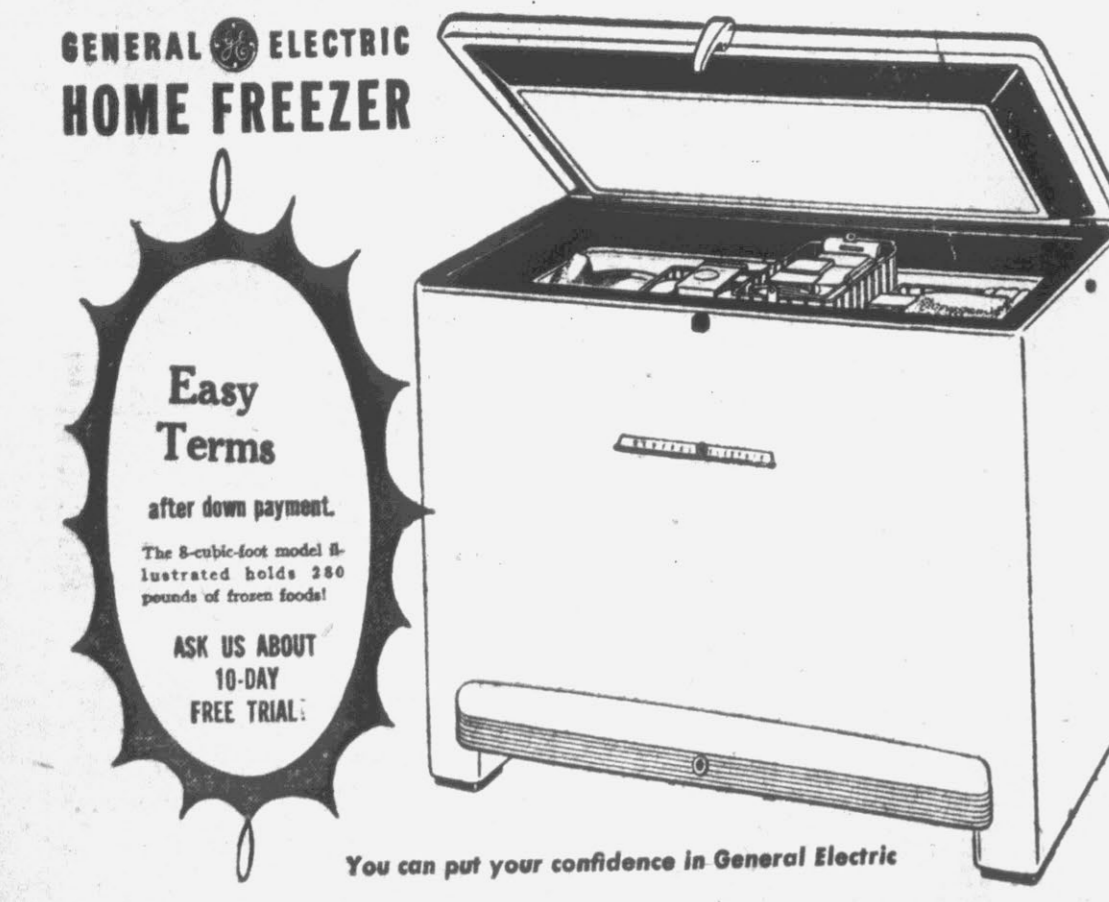

A General Electric Home Freezer is a food bank that will pay you a handsome rate of interest! This is how:

Instead of paying a high price for a silver of steak or a patty of hamburger every day — you buy only when you get a "break" on meat prices — as during a sale!

You buy your fruits and vegetables in season when prices are lowest, and quality highest.

Then you just bank your food in your General Electric Home Freezer and enjoy it day after day, when most other folks have to pay high prices for the same food.

You'll be amazed how your investment pays off for you when you own a General Electric Home Freezer! And imagine the convenience of having one right in your home! Why not stop in to see us?

"Yes?" she said, and saw the flicker of impatience in her aunt's eyes.

"We really must get down to hard facts, Katherine," said her aunt. "After all, you are eighteen. It's not that I have anything against the theater, and it's very nice for you as a hobby, but quite frankly, I don't think you're the type."

Her uncle glanced at her, not unkindly, and glanced away. He said in a voice that was milder than his wife's, "You must be sensible, Katherine. You must understand that what we do, we do for your sake."

"Oh, I do, I do," said Katherine gratefully, warming at the hint of gentleness.

"Very well then," she sensed his hurried withdrawal, was instantly miserable. "What do you suggest?" she asked.

"Well, I've been speaking to our senior partner. I think the best thing would be for you to finish your term at the ATA, and then I think we could take you into the firm — filling and general office work. I suggest you take shorthand and typing at night. You could easily pay for that yourself out of your salary, and it would help you to obtain a better position later on. It's a very pleasant office; you would have an opportunity of meeting young people."

Opportunity of meeting a young man who would marry her. A nice little job until she married. Well was what they were thinking. Well perhaps they were right. She looked up at her uncle and said quietly, "I think it's a sensible arrangement. I'll have to do something when my scholarship finishes. Of course, if I find work first..."

Her uncle, vaguely pleased at her reasonableness and her quick agreement, was magnanimous. "Of course, of course. If you should get a part between now and the end of the term, that's another matter. I should not dream of standing in your way." The very kindness in his tone told her he did not think this to be at all likely.

The term ended at Easter. Three weeks for the miracle to happen, for her to obtain what the whole school talked and dreamed about—a part. She sighed as she walked to the station.

She crossed the railway bridge and looked down at the platform. Esme, her friend, who also lived in Wardham, was already on the platform, apparently waiting for her because she waved frantically. She spoke as she usually did in wildly accentuated syllables. She did not give Katherine time to speak.

"Katherine, the most wildly fantastic thing has happened. It is beyond dreaming. It's really too mad!"

"Well, what is it?" asked Katherine soberly.

"You may well ask," said Esme darkly. "I wrote for some auditions this week, and I've got two." Katherine's heart twisted, but she managed to say without envy "But Esme, that's wonderful."

"Wonderful? My dear, they are both at the same time and at different theaters, and I don't know which one to choose. You've got to help me."

Bridges Convicted Of Perjury

Harry Bridges (left), west coast CIO longshore leader, leaves federal court in San Francisco after his conviction on charges of perjury. His wife is with him. Trailing along behind are some of Bridges' assistants carrying defense records of the trial. The labor leader plans to appeal Monday. The jury found him guilty of telling lies under oath to conceal that he had belonged to the Communist party. (AP Wirephoto).

This Man Is Just Plain Lucky

Edward Christiansen, a professional diver of Oyster Bay, N. Y., tempted Lady Luck for the second time—and won again. Wrapped in a blanket, he is in the hands of rescuers after being trapped under timbers in 14 feet of water for 25 minutes. The timbers shifted as he tried to tighten bolts under a newly-launched tug. Two years ago, Christiansen used a telephone to direct his rescue from mud and silt at the bottom of New York Harbor where he was trapped for three and a half hours. (AP Wirephoto).

Plastic Bags To Package Worms

Lanark, Ill.—(AP)—Don Buss has come up with a neat idea for packing fishing worms. He's putting them on the market in transparent plastic bags. Inside each bag are 36 to 42 angle worms in a bedding made of a cellulose mixture.

"The worms will keep nicely for six months," says Buss, who has been in the bait business for five years. He also plans to sell the bedding in boxes of five pounds or more.

"Kids can gather night crawlers in wet weather, put them in the bedding and sell them later," he says. "The average kid can pick up 200 or more an hour."

Yes, sir; 40 per cent of those very costly blossoms go to the world's most famous beer. They have certain qualities that only the soil and climate of Europe can produce. To them are added the most expensive American hops. Another reason for the distinctive, delicious taste of Budweiser.

Mail Delayed By Big Bull Moose; Bullet Ends It

West Glacier, Mont.—(AP)—A big bull moose proved he could blockade the U. S. mail for 23 hours near here recently—but got a fatal bullet for his trouble. Mail carrier Ralph Day in his jeep were halted just west of Glacier National Park when he tried to get through to Polebridge with a load of letters.

The road was one way between deep snowbanks and the moose had no trouble preventing Day's advance—as a damaged radiator grill proved.

NEW CUT in feeding costs

Full 36-inch wide cylinder. Built-in sharpener.

Look to FORAGE for savings on feed in 1950. Now you can cut and chop every type of forage crop with low-cost, two-pow power. Move each load from field to storage in minutes. Handle high-tonnage feed with a new, low investment in equipment, man-power and time.

The Allis-Chalmers 3-in-1 FORAGE HARVESTER—one base machine, plus any or all of three moderately priced attachments—gives you:

1. Direct-Cut Harvester for grass and legume silage.
2. Windrow Harvester for chopping wilted or dry hay.
3. Row-Crop Harvester for corn, sorghums and other tall row crops.

Day retreated to a telephone and called for help from park rangers. They tried shooting rifles into the air but the moose was unimpressed and darkness halted the argument. Next morning, the persistent critter still held the road. More bullets and buckshot were wasted in the air. Finally, a ranger had to put a finishing slug into the animal to get the mail through.

Woman's Body Is Found Frozen In Block Of Ice

Canton, N. Y., April 6.—(AP)—Authorities sought today to learn the identity of a woman whose nude, mutilated body was found frozen in a block of ice in a rural-road ditch. The body was found yesterday near this northern New York village. It apparently had been in the ditch for several weeks.

Authorities said that the body had been covered by snow piled up by plows and that it had melted and frozen into a block of ice.

Charles E. Bowers, district attorney of St. Lawrence county, said he believed the woman, who was about 35 years old, had been killed by a sex pervert.

Lodge Officers Installed In Exercises Last Night

Greenville Elks Lodge, No. 1645, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in impressive exercises last night, installed Jesse R. Moye II, tobaccoist, as the Imperial Tobacco Company, as exalted ruler. He succeeds Charles E. Blair, manager of Blount-Harvey's Department Store.

Judge Albion Dunn, deputy grand exalted ruler, and Chester Walsh, deputy grand chaplain, officiated. Judge Dunn, in his charge to the new officers, said:

"My brothers, the duty devolves upon me to lift the burdens of office from those who have borne them during the past year, and to transfer to their successors the responsibilities incident to the administration of the affairs of the Elks Lodge. Retiring Exalted Ruler Blair, your service is not to cease. Your interest in the destiny of the order is to broaden with the years that will follow, and your experience and counsel should ever be available.

"All retiring officers deserve the gratitude of the Greenville Elks Lodge for the time and energy devoted to its service, and it shall be their further duty and pleasure to foster by word and deed an ever increasing interest in the great work in which the Elks are engaged."

The grand secretary called the names of the new officers as follows: Erskine Duff, esteemed leading knight; Roscoe W. Shiplett, esteemed lecturing knight; J. B. Spilman, esteemed loyal knight; C. A. Bowen, tier; Guy V. Smith, trustee; C. E. Blair, representative to the Grand Lodge of Elks; J. Alvin Bunting, alternate.

Exalted Ruler Moye, after accepting the jewel of his office, named the following appointive officers: Bruce Baker, esquire; Chester Walsh, chaplain; James F. Davenport Jr., inner guard.

In a brief speech, the new exalted ruler praised his predecessor, C. E. Blair, and other officers, and pledged his best efforts for the welfare of the Greenville Elks Lodge. Following routine business, the session was adjourned and a period of congratulations and felicitations followed.

The Greenville Elks Lodge was established nearly 10 years ago, with less than 50 charter members. Curtis Perkins was its first exalted ruler and served two terms.

The membership has steadily increased until the lodge now has about 200 members. The lodge is active in benevolent and charitable work. During the recent war it donated $1,000 to city schools for the purchase of milk for undernourished children. The lodge sends a dozen of more worthy teen age boys to the Elks Summer Camp near Hendersonville, with all expenses paid.

"The principles of Elks Lodge are Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Fidelity."

Henderson Votes For Bond Issue

Hendersonville, April 7—(AP)—Henderson county parents today looked forward to improved schools for their children.

Voters—by almost a three to one margin—approved yesterday the issuance of $700,000 in bonds to be used for improving educational facilities.

Unofficial returns from 16 of 20 precincts showed 3,077 votes for the bonds, 1,090 against. About half the qualified voters took part.

Warns 'Go Slow' In Losing Weight

Chicago, April 7—(AP)—Go slow on losing weight after 40, a Washington physician advised today.

Dr. Edward J. Stieglitz says a weight loss of a pound a week or five pounds a month is as rapid as is usually advisable after that age. Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, he gave several reasons for this:

Rapid weight losses in the overweight are often quickly regained because people don't change their eating habits in a short while.

With gradual but persistent weight reduction the patient does not suffer from weakness or exhaustion.

Wrinkling of the skin is avoided by slow weight reduction.

In a report for the AMA Council on Foods and Nutrition, Dr. Stieglitz said 40 is a good age to take a health inventory. He added:

"In many respects, the two decades from 40 to 60 are the most significant. During these years of late maturity we help to determine the future health of the aged."

He said the start of such disorders as hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and degenerative arthritis occurs far earlier than their symptoms.

Meadowbrook Club In Father-Son Meeting

The Men's Club of Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church held its regular monthly meeting last night, celebrating father and son night.

Presiding over the gathering was President Jimbo Speight. Cliff Rhodus presented a transcribed lecture given recently by Rev. W. T. Thompson of the Atlanta Presbyterian Church before 7,000 lay workers convened in that city.

After the lecture, Speight appointed members to the entertainment and social committees. Ron Pittman was named to the former committee and Red Coward, James Harris and Johnny Riley to the social. The next meeting of the group will be on the first Thursday in May.

Skyscraper Fire Seen For Miles

New York, April 7—(AP)—Fire swept part of the 23rd floor of the Woolworth building early today, and flames from the windows could be seen for miles.

Firemen carried hoses in elevators to the 23rd floor and rigged them to standpipes. Two pipes burst, and heavy water damage was caused in the 60-story skyscraper.

Okay Plans For Wilmington Dock

Raleigh, April 7—(AP)—Plans presented by the State Ports Authority for the construction of a dock at Wilmington were approved by the Council of State today.

The council also voted to give the authority permission to advertise for bids immediately on the $2,000,000 project.

Alvin Bunting, alternate representative to the Grand Lodge of Elks; J. F. Davenport, Jr., inner guard; David Proctor, treasurer. Guy V. Smith, trustee, was not present when this picture was taken.

Three Boys Provide First Drowning Scare Of Year

Three young boys, who decided to put down their fishing poles and take a cruise down the river, caused a considerable amount of excitement early last night, as they touched off the first drowning scare of the year.

The lads reportedly left the Third Street School at the close of the day, went home, got their fishing gear and took off for the river.

Nothing more was heard from the lads. They did not show up for the evening meal. A search by parents of the children disclosed fishing poles, caps and other belongings of the children on the river bank where the boys were supposed to have been fishing. The adults, fearing the worst, touched off the alarm that the boys possibly had drowned in the river.

Minutes later, police cars and the Greenville Fire Department's rescue truck arrived on the scene, prepared to render any needed assistance.

As the would-be rescue workers waited and searched the river banks, a boat drifted into sight bearing the three lads, safe and sound.

Fire Chief George Gardner summed up the situation by saying, "It was simply a case in which you didn't know whether to kiss them or kill them when you found them."

The boys, Jimmy Pleasants, Cecil Riddick and Dednie Roebuck, gave an account: Two of the boys, Riddick and Pleasants, had made arrangements to go fishing after school and on they way home met Roebuck and they decided to go along with them. When the boys reached the river, a man with a boat happened to come by, and he gave them a lift up the river.

As time faded the boys said they started to return home when darkness began to fall, but the motor would not start. Being forced to paddle the boat made slower progress than before, making it nearly eight o'clock when they reached their spot where they had dumped their fishing poles and other property.

Chief Gardner urged parents to take all precautions possible during the coming months, whenever children are near the river, as the chances of a tragedy resulting while the children are playing there are more likely in this season.

Army Discloses Manpower Plans

Washington, April 7—(AP)—The Army today disclosed details of its plan to achieve by 1955 the minimum force of organized reserves deemed necessary in an emergency to round out 25 divisions and provide the nucleus for 25 more.

The units that would be rounded out immediately in an emergency are the 10 existing divisions of the regular army and 15 of the 27 existing National Guard divisions. Together with the remaining guard divisions and the contemplated skeleton divisions of reserves, they would give the army the trained framework for a total of 62 divisions.

A 35-meet schedule is planned for the eastern intercollegiate tennis association's 11th season in 1950.

Easter Holiday

The County Courthouse and other county offices and the City Hall and the banks will be closed next Monday—Easter Monday.

Business places will not observe the Easter holiday.

Sunrise Service Planned Sunday

Easter Sunrise Service will be held Sunday morning at 5:45 on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College, in front of Wilson Hall, sponsored by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. The public is cordially invited to worship in this Easter morning sunrise service which is supposedly the same day of the first Easter morning when Christ arose!

The service of worship will be opened by a violin solo. Mr. Bynum Whitehurst will lead the service of worship and Miss Ona Shindler is directing the music for the service. A program of musical selections and Easter readings will bear out the beauty and dignity of the sunrise service.

In the event of rain, the service will be held in the sanctuary of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Posters have been placed in the high school and invitations to all the young people's groups in the city have been extended. It is hoped that many people will come and worship in the Easter morning sunrise service.

Took The Court To Return Teeth

St. Louis, April 7—(AP)—Two residents of Greenville, Ill., finally got back their false teeth yesterday, but it took a federal court order.

The dentures were seized with assets of the Erikson Century Dental Laboratory when the firm went into bankruptcy Feb. 14. They had been sent to the company for repairs.

Aldermen . . .

(Continued from Page 1) entatives told the aldermen the Lions are "offering their help to educate the public to the need for the proposal for a fire sub-station, Mayor Stafford said, "I know of no other way to get a fire sub-station or a colored swimming pool or any other major project without voting a bond issue."

Donovan Phillips appeared before the board and requested steps be taken to alleviate the flooded conditions on the block Ford and Cadillac street. The board instructed the city engineer to survey the block and report to the board.

Bruce Gay appeared before the aldermen in the interest of the traffic situation in Greenville and suggested the board request a survey of the city traffic by an expert of the state highway division.

The board approved a request from J. H. Rose to sell the city schools five city maps at cost; a request from J. B. McGurkin for release from 1948 and 1949 taxes and a request from Mrs. Eubanks for release of $11.07 overcharge on paving.

Mayor Stafford reported to the board the state highway patrol plans to erect a two story building on the property near the city leased to the patrol by the city and county, and also a garage is to be built on the site. Because additional property was required for the additional building, the board voted to purchase another lot for $600 to be leased with the highway patrol in conjunction with the property already leased by the city and county.

A request for a street light on Arlington Drive in the Hillside section was approved, while no action was taken on a request for a street light on West Fifth Street.

Police Chief Page was instructed to allow only autos of public employees be parked in the lot between the city hall and the fire station, and also was authorized to begin vacations for the policemen as has been done in past years.

The city officials ordered the removal of a tree on West Fifth Street between Five Points and Washington Street, and another tree on Evans Street south of Five Points.

The board authorized $9,000 transferred to the cemetery fund as provided in the budget, and another $2,029.89 transferred to the proper city fund.

The opening of Wilson street by the city was approved by the board provided $200 for tiling purposes is given the city by Blount and Taft.

and that a lot necessary to open the street is given, by members of the Higgs family, owners of the property. They also approved the opening of Circle Drive on the Key Brown property provided Brown pays the city on a cost basis for the work done.

Fire Chief George Gardner was authorized to take some of the firemen to a fire school in Charlotte and pay their expenses from the traveling expense account allowed the fire department.

The mayor was given power to act on a request from C. P. Rogers to purchase the city mimeograph machine for $50. The board ordered the city offices closed Easter Monday and also designated 8 o'clock as the time of the regular board of aldermen meeting through the summer months.

Mayor W. S. Stafford advised the board he has been notified by the city and regional planning department of the University of North Carolina that it will not be possible for the department to undertake a project in Greenville until possibly January 1951.

Bert Moye Again Official Scorer For Local Club

Bert Moye, veteran newspaper sports writer who has been official scorer for the Greenville club in the Coastal Plain League since it was reorganized after the war, has been appointed to serve this season. Dallas (Blackie) Blackiston, business manager for the Greenville Robins, made the announcement yesterday.

Moye has written sports for the Daily Reflector the past three or four years and for the Raleigh News and Observer, Greensboro Daily News and Norfolk (Va.) Ledger Dispatch. Baseball officials and newspaper editors credit Moye with being an efficient baseball scorer, and capable sports writer.

Moye again this season also will write his "Diamond Dust" column for the Daily Reflector.

Claim American Seeking Asylum In Czech Capital

Prague, Czechoslovakia, April 7—(AP)—The controlled Czechoslovak radio today said an American teaching here had requested the Communist-led government for "asylum" as a protest against U.S. policies.

He was identified as George S. Wheeler, a former resident of Vienna, Va., now teaching economics at Prague's higher school of economic science. The U.S. embassy here said its records list Wheeler as a native of Tacoma, Wash., born May 22, 1905.

The Czech radio said Wheeler sought "asylum" for himself, his wife and their four children in "protest against the brutal and unlawful treatment by American occupation authorities in Germany" of 58 Czechs who were forced to accompany 28 anti-Communist refugees in their mass airplane escape to Germany March 24.

The U.S. government yesterday rejected Czech demands for punishment of American officials who questioned the refugee Czechs and those forced to accompany them. U.S. Army officials previously had denied the Czechs were mistreated during their interrogation. The 58 Czechs returned to Prague several days after they had been shanghaied in mid-flight.

The Czech radio said Wheeler, in addressing a news conference, "condemned the Marshall Plan, Atlantic Pact, American espionage," Voice of America broadcasts and the American counter intelligence corps.

"He said he proudly and gladly enters the camp of peace and progress," the broadcast declared.

The U.S. embassy here said its records showed Wheeler left the United States in December, 1945, worked for the American military government in Germany until November, 1947, and then came to Czechoslovakia.

He told the embassy he came to Prague for "study and newspaper work" and said he represented the National Guardian, a leftwing weekly published in New York City.

(Continued from page one) pressed for cash in that time, partly because the government has run on about $1,370,000,000 in the red since the 1950 fiscal year started last July 1.

As it turned out, income tax receipts proved disappointingly low, raising a threat that the government income may fall short of expenses by more than $5,533,000,000 total. President Truman figured for this fiscal year.

Worse still, nearly $4,200,000,000 of that deficit will be piled up between now and the fiscal year's end June 30, and the President has estimated that income will fall $5,100,000,000 in the following 12 (fiscal 1951).

Pay To . . .

About 1,400,000 employers pay the tax. At any one time about 32,000,000 workers are in covered jobs although over a year's time a total of around 46,000,000 through job changes, may have moved in or out of such jobs.

In 1949 about 7,400,000 people out of jobs received a total of $1,700,000,000 in unemployment benefits. The highest possible unemployment pay anyone can get, according to government officials, is $40 a week in Alaska. This ranges down to a minimum benefit of 50 cents a week in Missouri. Missouri pays more than that, of course, but that's the least anyone can get there. Only 11 states give a jobless worker additional pay for dependents. In 1949 the average weekly unemployment payment was $20. The average number of weeks in which the unemployed drew benefits was 12 for the nation. The average number of weeks a jobless man is entitled to unemployment pay is 20.

An Unbeatable . . .

(Continued from Page 1) been much to the fore of late. Recently Canada and the United States joined in rigorous military exercises under sub-zero winter conditions in Alaska. Not only ground troops, equipped with arctic gear, but warplanes were in action.

Why such strenuous maneuvers way up close to the North Pole? Well, if America and Canada should be attacked, the assault very likely would come by air over the top of the world. Alaska would be the first point of assault.

With this in mind Canada is continuing a full scale defense program with emphasis on air power. Among other things she is building a huge radar system which would give warning against possible attack on her big cities and other vital targets. There will be some radar stations in the far north.

And other preparations for possible fighting in the Arctic are being carried out by both countries. For instance, they are going to build their fifth joint Arctic weather station virtually at the northern tip of Canadian soil, only a few hundred miles from the North Pole.

However, enough of war talk. Maybe the fact that we are getting set defensively will prevent anyone from attacking us.

Anyway, that's the idea, and the Canadian-American brotherhood gives a fellow a mighty good feeling.
