Committees For YDC Rally Named

Tickets To Be Available By Wednesday; Rally Expected To Draw Dignitaries From Nation's Capital As Well As Much Of North Carolina

Local committees for the Young Democratic rally which will be held here April 28 were announced today by J. B. Spilman, Jr., president of the Pitt county chapter of the organization.

Principal speaker for the rally which is expected to draw dignitaries from the nation's capital as well as all parts of North Carolina will be Vice President Alben Barkley.

Spilman said tickets for the first annual "Young Democratic Roosevelt Dinner" will be $5 each, and will be available by Wednesday of this week. The dinner is to be held in the Wright auditorium on the East Carolina campus as a fund raising project for the Democratic party. Terry Sanford, state YDC president, said the dinner is an experiment to give the young democrats of the state a dinner similar to the senior party's Jefferson dinners; and afford the YDC a means of raising funds for participation in the activities of the party.

On the arrangements committee for the dinner are: Uran Cox of Cox's Mill, chairman; Dr. Leo Jenkins, V. C. Fleming, Allan Powell, Travis Flanagan, all of Greenville; Clyde Cannon of Ayden; Evelyn Littleton of ECTC; Charles Gaskins, J. B. Tyndall, Hugh Winslow, C. L. Burnett and Lester Turnage, all of Greenville.

The advisory committee will be composed of John G. Clark of Greenville, chairman; W. I. Bissette of Grifton, Thurman Williams of Princeton, J. H. Blount of Greenville, W. S. Stafford of Greenville, Dixie Cannon of Ayden, Clifton Everett of Bethel, Gilbert Peef of Greenville, Vernon White of Winterville, Dr. Carl Adams of Greenville, Stancil Dilda of Fountain, Walter Jones of Farmville and J. T. Cashwell of Grimsland.

The accommodations committee will be Chairman Bill Horne, Ken-eth Phillips and W. M. Scales, Jr. A distinguished guests committee will be headed by Hoover Taft. Other members of the committee have not been named.

Larry Averett will serve as chairman of the ticket committee for the rally with committee members, Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville, J. P. Sumrell of Ayden, Leon Evans of Winterville, Miss Mary Bell Eddridge of Greenville, treasurer of the rally and the ticket committee; George Gardner, Sugg of Grifton; J. B. Spilman of Greenville, and S. J. Waters, Jr. of Greenville. Spilman said other appointments to the ticket committee will be announced later.

On the publicity committee will be Chairman David Whichard, Jim Hockaday of Farmville, Dave Moger of Greenville, Emmett Patterson of Ayden, and Miss Mary Greer of ECTC.

Pre-Dawn Wild West Hold-Up

Charlotte, April 17—(AP)—A pre-dawn, wild west style holdup today netted two masked men about $75 at a Charlotte service station.

Police reported that one of the bandits leveled a nickel-plated gun at Pittman D. McGowan, the attendant, and the other swung a midget baseball bat as they ordered him to empty the cash register.

When they had obtained the cash, the bandits ordered McGowan to run down Wilkinson boulevard. He ran a block and ducked behind a building. He said he then looked back and saw the holdup men leaving. He returned to the station and called police.

Captain Lambert To Take Up New Position May 1

Captain David T. Lambert, commander of State Highway Patrol Troop A, will leave for Raleigh to take up his new duties on May 1.

CAPT. DAVID T. LAMBERT

Commander Of Highway Patrol Troop A Leaving For Post In Raleigh

Captain David T. Lambert, commander of State Highway Patrol Troop A, with headquarters in Greenville, has been appointed to the second highest office in the North Carolina State Highway Patrol by Governor Kerr Scott.

Lambert was named to the post of executive officer, with the rank of major. He will leave for Raleigh to take up his new duties on May 1. The appointment of new officers to key positions in the state patrol came as a result of the resignation of C. R. Tolar as commander of the patrol.

Lambert came to Greenville less than a year ago as the result of a reshuffling of officers and men in the highway patrol soon after Tolar became commander.

He has under his command an area consisting of 27 eastern North Carolina counties and 105 men. Recently, a project calling for construction of a troop headquarters in Greenville was approved—a project which Lambert helped to bring about.

As yet, there has been no announcement as to the new troop commander to succeed Lambert.

Bridges Loses In Appeal To Court

Washington, April 17—(AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court today refused to review the case of John Robert (Jack) Bridges, who faces execution for murder.

Bridges, 23-year-old Georgia native, was convicted in Wake Superior Court last year of first degree murder in the brutal killing of Keston Norris Privette.

Iranian Economic Crisis May Bring U. S. Survey

Washington, April 17—(AP)—A U.S. survey mission soon may be sent to strategically important Iran now in the grip of an economic crisis and rising Red pressure. The big question: What, if anything, can America do?

Hainan Toehold

Taipei, Formosa, April 17—(AP)—Communist invasion force gained a precarious toehold on the north coast of Hainan island today after suffering heavy losses at sea, official Chinese Nationalist dispatches reported tonight.

Most of the invaders were killed, but up to a late hour tonight fighting was still in progress west of the island capital of Hoihow, the dispatches stated.

The Reds were said to be under heavy attack by Nationalist warplanes and ground forces.

The Reds attempted the 16-mile overwater crossing from the mainland last night in more than 200 junks, the account said.

More than half of these were declared to have been sunk during the night by Nationalist warships, but some succeeded in landing on the island this morning.

Chide Soviet On Lack Restraint

U. S. Delaying Reply To Note Until Incident Appraised

Washington, April 17—(AP)—The United States chided Russia today for lack of "calmness and restraint" in dealing with the alleged clash of American and Soviet planes.

The criticism was in a formal announcement that the U. S. will delay its reply to Moscow's note until all possible information about the incident can be collected and "the true facts determined by calm and thorough appraisal."

The statement said: "This government believes that this careful approach is the proper one in an important and delicate matter of international relations and regrets that the Soviet government has failed to show equal calmness and restraint."

Russia protested last Tuesday that on April 3 an American plane of the B29 type flew over Soviet Latvia. It said the plane fired on a Russian plane and that the Soviet aircraft returned the fire.

The American investigation has indicated that the only possible United States plane which could have been over Latvia was a navy patrol plane, missing since April 8 on a training flight. That plane was unarmed and had instructions to stay clear of Soviet territory.

Generals Happy To Reach Home Before New War

Tokyo, April 17—(AP)—Forty Japanese generals returned home today from Siberia, "happy to be back in Japan before the war starts between the United States and the U.S.S.R."

Maj. Gen. Hanjiro Iketani, former chief of staff of the Kwangtung Third Army, said most felt "it is only a matter of time" before the shooting war starts.

Government controlled newspapers in Siberia and Russia depict Soviet Russia as a lover of peace, he said. They blame the United States for increased world tension.

The generals were among 1,600 repatriates landed at Maizuru.

Paving Of 14.25 Miles Of Road In Pitt Completed

Roads Opened To Traffic; Projects Let Last Fall; 39.6 Miles Of New Road

Paving on 14.25 miles of roads in Pitt County was completed last week and the roads have been opened to traffic, Commissioner Guy Hargett of the second-highway division announced today.

Hargett and Division Engineer R. Markham said the paving on 4.3 miles of road between Stokes and the Beaufort County line was completed the middle of last week, and paving on 9.95 miles of road from Scuffletton through Hanrahan to St. Johns was completed Saturday.

Both projects were let in the first phase of the state secondary road program last fall. The project in the Stokes community was let to the White Construction Company of Kinston at a cost of approximately $27,400, and the project in the Scuffletton and St. Johns community was let to Dickerson, Inc. of Monroe at a cost of $67,565.

The completion of paving on the two projects brings to a total of 39.6 miles the amount of paving completed in the county under the bond road program. In addition to the paving completed, projects are under construction in the Falkland and Stokestown-Chilcoid communities.

The 4.3 miles of road between Stokes and the Beaufort County line has been hard surfaced with 18-foot wide asphalt two inches thick on a prepared base. The road between Scuffletton and St. Johns has been hard surfaced with a 16-foot road.

Although highway crews are still at work on the shoulders of the newly paved roads, a spokesman at division headquarters here said the paving is completed with the exception of minor patching which is being done.

'New Avenues' In Probe For Reds

Probing Senators Close-Mouthed As To Future Plans

Washington, April 17—(AP)—Senators looking into charges of Communism in the State Department decided today to explore "new avenues of investigation." They were mysterious and close-mouthed about what that means.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) used the phrase in announcing that the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee instructed its staff at a closed door meeting today to:

- 1. "Pursue particularly an investigation of all the evidence which has been produced so far" by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis).
- 2. Carry on "other specified investigations which the committee feels will be helpful in obtaining additional facts."

Asked for information on the new line of inquiry, Tydings replied: "For obvious reasons the facts will be more easily developed without their being publicized."

In replying to a question, Tydings said the broader investigation will be confined to finding out whether there are any disloyal employees in the State Department.

AIR FORCE BUYING

Washington, April 17—(AP)—The Air Force will have bought about 1,250 new planes and aircraft equipment at a cost of approximately $1,300,000,000, during the 12-month period ending June 30.

His Idea Of A Cub Scout Meeting

The kids loved it—but the mothers screamed in fright—when eight-year-old John Whittington showed up at a meeting of Cub Scout Pack No. 7 in Atlanta, Ga., and went into his snake-charming act. The reptile is a real live King snake five feet long—a foot longer than John is tall. The snake is a pet in the Whittington household. (AP Photo).

Clearing Site For New Patrol Headquarters

Clearing of land was under way today at the site of the new State Highway troop headquarters to be located at the Tenth street intersection on the outskirts of Greenville. Patrol officers, highway officials and Greenville's mayor are shown this morning as they looked over blue prints of the proposed buildings to be erected on the site in the near future. Workmen Clear 3-Acre Site For Patrol Building

Construction Bids To Be Let Soon On Office Building And Garage

Workmen were busy clearing land today at the three-acre site of the new State Highway Patrol troop headquarters and garage which is to be constructed at the intersection of Tenth Street on the outskirts of Greenville.

A work crew using a bulldozer was rapidly clearing the land on which the two buildings will be located. Portions of the land will be leveled some four feet in order to make the entire area level, it was stated by workmen.

Troop Commander D. T. Lambert announced today that bids for the construction of the buildings will be advertised in the very near future. The present plans call for the construction of a two-story office building to be 60 feet by 46 feet in depth. As yet it is not known of what the building will be constructed.

The garage to be built in Greenville will service the 105 patrol cars operating in the 27 counties which make up Troop A. The garage, which is scheduled to be built first, will be 52 feet across the front and 92 feet deep.

Mayor W. S. Stafford stated that the project will more than likely cost around $75,000, with the state having already allotted $50,000 for the project.

Plans will be announced later as to the setting up of a Patrol radio station at the site.

Lambert in commenting on the project said, "I want to thank Mayor Stafford, the members of the Greenville Board of Aldermen and the county commissioners for making it possible by their efforts and work to have the Patrol headquarters located in Greenville."

"We would not have been able to secure the headquarters here if it was not for the work of Mayor Stafford and the others," Lambert stated in closing.

Work clearing the land will take about a week, Stafford said.

Four Per Cent Of Americans On Public Payrolls

Washington, April 17—(AP)—Of every 1,000 Americans, 40 are on a federal, state or local public payroll. And that doesn't include members of the armed forces.

The census bureau said in reporting that figure yesterday that the total number of public employees in October was at a record 6,204,000, or more than one-tenth of all U. S. workers (59,000,000). Their pay for that month was $1,406,000,000.

That amounts to about $16,970,000 a year. The Commerce Department has estimated that when the 1,500,000 service personnel are included the total annual public payroll runs to about $21,800,000,000.

Of the total government workers, the federal government accounted for 2,047,000, the states 1,037,000 and small governmental units—cities, counties, schools, and the like—3,120,000.

Watchword Is Secrecy

Atomic Energy Commission's Latest Keep-Mum Message To It's Workers; Even The Non-Secret Items Have Their Limitations; Extent Of Curbs Being Imposed

By FRANK CAREY

Washington, April 17—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission's (AEC) latest keep-mum message to its workers is somewhat vague, but it seems to boil down to this:

The AEC doesn't want its hired hands to talk publicly about even non-secret stuff on reactions involving hydrogen if they relate those reactions in any way to the so-called "super bomb."

It's okay to speak about such reactions in an academic way—presumably in the same way they might discuss the theory of relativity. But please, boys, says the commission, don't hook these reactions up with a hydrogen bomb.

"The purpose of the commission's request on this matter," the agency says, "was to avoid release of technical information which, even though itself unclassified (non-secret), might have been interpreted by virtue of the project connection of the speaker as reflecting the commission's program with respect to thermonuclear (hydrogen bomb) weapons."

When the commission announced it had made this "request," it didn't say whether any of its staff had been speaking out of line.

Later a reporter recalled that shortly before the "request" an AEC staff scientist had talked to some Washington school teachers and said:

There are no theoretical limitations on the size of an H-bomb, although there are "practical limitations."

No one knows whether the idea of an H-bomb can be worked out, but if it can it might be possible to explode tankers filled with deuterium in a harbor, using an A-bomb as a detonator.

If an H-bomb were worked out—and a person were able to dig a hole of "unimaginable size and depth in the earth" and assemble enough hydrogen material in it—it might be possible to tear a moon-sized chunk out of the earth.

The scientist later told a reporter that this example was just an "oratorical exaggeration" to press home the point that there's no theoretical limitation on the size of an H-bomb. He said the "practical limitations" are so enormous as to be "insuperable."

The scientist stated that anything he said was based on published literature and not on any information.

Room For Comment In Clergyman's Objection To Showing Ten Commandments To Children; The 'Jealous God'; Place Of Religion In The World Of Today

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Religious discussions are tricky ground for those of us not schooled in theology, but even a layman finds meat for comment in the English clergyman's claim that the ten commandments shouldn't be shown to children because the young "is might, get the wrong idea about God."

The vicar presumably meant the Commandments shouldn't be shown without adequate explanation. Anyway that matter cropped up in an E-lish town at an education committee meeting which considered a proposal to post the commandments in a school to combat a "decline in moral standards" among the children.

The clergyman objected that this would be misleading, and cited that the second commandment speaks of a "jealous God" who visits fathers' sins upon their children. He said "no decent father would do such a thing."

Well, well, how things have changed since we were young. They weren't afraid in those days that he would misunderstand the language of the commandments. However, maybe I'm being old-fashioned again. I have some young folks at home who sometimes have to remind me: "But daddy, things aren't the same now as when you were a boy." Anyway the school committee rejected the proposal, and we can applaud that decision, though not for the reason given. At this distance the idea of displaying the commandments like political posters seems very far-fetched. Surely there are better ways of dealing with such a difficulty.

However, the objection that the children would misunderstand the commandments certainly gives rise to the query of whether present day youngsters—be they in Britain or in America—are attending religious classes in connection with their places of worship, or wherever religious instruction is given. It seems shocking that children who are old enough to be involved in a "decline in moral standards" shouldn't have the fundamental portions of their bibles interpreted for them.

So far as concerns that second commandment, the first biblical quotation I ever learned, at the age of five, was "God is love." That was true of most children then. If

The situation is complicated by the fact that Iran, along with Greece and Turkey, is on the front line of the cold war in the oil-rich Middle East. It is under constant Russian propaganda pressure from the outside while a Communist political group, the Tudeh party, is gaining strength inside.

For many months, the State Department had considered that conditions in Iran were stable and the country need not be a source of major worry to American cold war strategists. That situation began to change about the first of the year, when a series of alarming reports began pouring in to Acheson from the American ambassador to Tehran John C. Wiley.

As top officials now understand the problem, Iran is suffering the results of last year's cereal crop failure, mainly wheat.

People began to go hungry and farmers' income dropped. Relief measures were taken and imports increased but in many instances the goods have piled up in the ports because would-be buyers couldn't pay for them. Some businessmen failed. At present, stocks of goods are greater than they were a year ago but business activity is down because people lack the money to buy even at lower prices.

Bethel Woman Is Named To Group Of Missionaries

MISS MARION BURTON

The Methodist Board of Missions is planning to send 50 missionaries to Latin America in September. Miss Marion Burton of Bethel is planning to be one of this group. After appearing before a regional committee in Durham in March she was recommended to the New York committee of missionary personnel. About the middle of May Miss Burton will find out the country to which she will go.

In July she will go through a training period of about six weeks at Hartford, Conn. The group will leave for Latin-America soon after the first of September. Miss Burton will be gone three years. Her expenses for the trip there and back will be paid by the Methodist Board of Missions and a place for her to live will also be provided.

Miss Burton finished high school in Bethel, then went to Emmanuel college in Franklin Springs, Ga., for one year. The next two years she worked with the British Army Staff in Washington, D. C. The following fall she entered East Carolina Teachers college and finished in 1948.

During this time she was vice president of the Wesley Foundation and worship chairman for one year. Miss Burton teaches one of the classes in the Methodist Sunday school in Bethel and is the secretary of the youth work. For the past two summers Miss Burton has been a counselor at Lousburg and it was here that she made up her mind to fulfill her childhood dream and become a missionary. For the past two years she has taught the second grade at the Bethel elementary school. Miss Burton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Burton of Bethel.

Nine Policemen Hurt In Clash

Paris, April 17—(AP)—Nine French policemen were injured today in a clash with angry-stone-throwing workers at a French aircraft plant.
The nationalized plant had dismissed 3,200 workers for economy reasons. Then, other workers tried to occupy the factory in protest Saturday, the company fired the remaining 6,500 workers, saying they would be hired back individually.
Police threw a cordon of 2,000 men around the factory area, and put 300 other police inside the factory. Thousands of workers massed in the area, shouting insults at the police, and stones began to fly.

Policeman Saved Girl And Self, Killed His Abductor

New York, April 17—(AP)—A young policeman saved his girl friend and himself from an abductor early yesterday by breaking free of his clothes-line bonds and shooting the assailant to death.

Patrolman Anton Stayduhar, 27, off-duty and dressed in plain clothes, was sitting in his car at 4:30 a. m. (EST) talking to Miss Ann Sandles, 21, in front of her home.

The car door was jerked open and a Negro gunman shoved a pistol in Stayduhar's face saying it was a stickup.

He tied the policeman's wrists with clothes line and made him get on the back seat.

Then, according to Stayduhar, he took a long look at Miss Sandles, slid into the front seat beside her and said:

"I want you, baby."

He started the car as the girl shrank away from him.

"I'm going to give you a show," Stayduhar said the man sneered over his shoulder.

The car had gone hardly four blocks, however, before Stayduhar rigged free and went for the gun in his shoulder holster.

When I got the gun out, I put it back of him," Stayduhar told his superiors.

"He spotted it and threw his hands up. I did not know whether

Tarheel Trio On Guggenheim List

New York April 17—(AP)—Three Carolinians are on this year's list of Guggenheim award winners.

The list, giving a total of $500,000 to 158 schools, scientists and creative workers, was announced yesterday.

The awards mark the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial foundation by the late U. S. Senator and Mrs. Simon Guggenheim. The foundation now has awarded 2,317 fellowships with stipends totalling more than $5,350,000.

Among those receiving awards this year are:

Dr. George Wharton, Jr., associate professor of zoology, Duke University, Durham, N. C. He will study the Chiggers of Mexico and their relationships to the North American fauna (animals).

George Edwin McMillan, a writer of Aiken, S. C. He will do a scial hist-y of the South, 1930-1948. He is the author of "The Old Breed," a history of the first Marine Division in World War II.

Peter Hillman Taylor, novelist and assistant professor of English at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Snakes On Thorns

Troy, N. C., April 17—(AP)—Woodsmen yesterday discovered 21 dead snakes hanging from thorns of a money leoust tree near here.

How they got there was a mystery. Some observers believed the snakes were fastened to the thorns by birds.

The reptiles hang tail downward, their heads impaled upon thorns in the 15-foot high tree. The snakes are of varying varieties and range from 15 to 25 inches in length. The snakes hang from the topmost branches downward to limbs four feet from the ground.

A watch is being kept to clear up the mystery.

Convict 210 Of False Claims To Obtain Benefits

Raleigh, N. C., April 17—(AP)—During the first three months of the year, according to the Employment Security Commission, 210 persons were convicted of making false employment claims.

ESC chairman Henry E. Kendall declared in a report that $17,460 was involved in the -ourt conviction cases. It was the commission's first quarterly report since it set up its new Fraud Prevention and Detection Unit.

In all, the commission inspected 567 cases during the months of January through March in which fraud was indicated, Kendall stated. Court charges were brought in 260 cases.

Open Hearing On Steel Industry

Washington, April 17—(AP)—A House judiciary subcommittee looking into monopoly and anti-trust aspects of American business opens hearings today into the steel industry.

Chairman Celler (D-NY) said in advance of the hearings that the subcommittee intends to go into that industry "from stem to stern."

A Senate-House committee just finished investigating the steel industry for alleged signs of monopoly in recent price increases.

Celler called Secretary of Interior Chapman as the lead-off witness, with James Boyd, director of the Bureau of Mines, next on the list.

The steel hearings are expected to run for about three weeks, Celler said.

After finishing with the steel industry, the subcommittee expects to take up Pan-American Airways, and the newsprint and distilling industries.

Celler said the objective of the steel inquiry is to find out whether "there really is competition in the industry, and to what degree."

How N. C. Senators Voted On Major Bills Last Week

(From the Reflector's Washington Bureau)

SENATE

North Carolina senators last week cast the following votes of record. Motion to consider conference re-finished on the basing point bill, which would define the application of federal laws to interstate pricing practices: Sens. Clyde R. Hoy and Frank P. Graham not voting. (Defeated 35 to 36.) Conference report slated to come up again this week.

Chavez motion to table (kill) O'Mahoney amendment, which would set up a basin account for the Columbia Valley development, authorizing 13 Pacific Northwest public works projects, and adopt a comprehensive plan of development: Hoy in favor, Graham not voting. (Approved 43 to 22.)

Chavez motion to table (kill) Cord-on amendment, which would authorize the 13 projects, set up an account in regard to one, and adopt a comprehensive plan of development: Hoy in favor, Graham not voting. (Approved 51 to 13.)

HOUSE

There were no votes in the House, since members of that body were taking a week-long recess.

Mystery Of Lost Plane Is Solved

Asheville, N. C., April 17—(AP)—A four-year-old mystery of a missing plane and its two occupants apparently has been cleared up.

Hikers yesterday found the wreckage of a small plane and human bones on the slopes of Gibbs mountain, a 6,224-foot Blue Ridge peak north of Mount Mitchell.

On the wing was the number NC-52752. The number corresponded with one carried in newspaper accounts of a plane missing in the area in August 1946.

Johnnie C. Jones, operator of a Lincolnton airport, said the number corresponded with one on a plane which left Lincolnton and disappeared on a flight to Morristown, Tenn. An unsuccessful search was conducted then in the Blue Ridge and Smoky Mountains. The two men in the plane were Robert Wayne Heafner and John Helton, both of Lincolnton.

Texan Observes 104th Birthday

Austin, Tex., April 17—(AP)—Thomas Evans Riddle, one of Texas' four living Confederate veterans, celebrated his 104th birthday yesterday.

Riddle said that he enjoyed the party more than when he was serving with Company I, 22nd regiment of the army of Tennessee on April 16, 1864—his 18th birthday.

Riddle, at the Texas Confederate home for men, said yesterday he is especially proud to have fought under Gen. Robert E. Lee at Gettysburg, and he thinks the atom bomb is "pretty terrible."

"Teamed for Defense" is the slogan of the nation's first Armed Forces Day, to be held May 20.

either directly or indirectly accusations designed to stir feelings between the races in this state is for him to stoop to the lowest ebb in seeking support at the polls.

The old banner of white supremacy has been waved before the voters for years by the red-neck politicians who have no other qualifications for support on election day. In almost every election year the people in many communities are again dragged through the muck and mire of the days of reconstruction in an effort of some candidate to tear open again a wound which has healed itself gradually over a period of more than half a century.

The Reflector believes the whites and the Negroes of North Carolina are working out their mutual problems satisfactorily and as rapidly as feasible. We do not believe a campaign based on the white supremacy battle cry or racial prejudice would benefit North Carolina as a whole. And we believe the people of the state will be prone to disregard a candidate for a political office who has nothing more to offer the voters.

Captain Jones' Death Is State Loss

In the death of Captain Lester Jones, of the State Highway Patrol, North Carolina has lost one of its most valuable law enforcement officers. Captain Jones was an efficient chief of police of Greenville before the highway patrol was formed. When that organization came into being he was one of its first members and since that time has had a large part in its accomplishments and activities. A large percentage of the present members of the patrol received their law enforcement training under Captain Jones who not only gave them their first instructions but who set an example for efficient service to the state for them to follow. He was a valuable officer and a credit to the organization.

News Behind The News
 By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 17—Another noble idealist and "fair deal" apostle will enjoy a profitable payoff in corporate cash if Clark Clifford, erstwhile legal counsel and ghost writer at the White House, can persuade President Truman to block a proposed merger of two competitive overseas airlines.

Mr. Clifford, who resigned on the ground that his family could not live on $20,000 a year after Truman wangled a raise for him from Capitol Hill, is the political leg heir to Thomas G. Corcoran.

After writing and lobbying through New Deal legislation aimed at the nation's corporations, "Tommy" quit to earn several millions in fees from his former victims.

Another fiery advocate of political, economic and social reform associated with Mr. Clifford in the airlines controversy is James M. Landis, former chairman of the Securities & Exchange Commission and once head of the Civil Aeronautics Board, which has original jurisdiction over the question of the proposed merger of Pan-American World Airways and American Overseas Airlines.

RIGHT—It would be presumptuous to question the right of these men to accept such profitable retainers, or to use their private personal and political influence for financial gain.

But, as with Mr. Corcoran, their willingness to accept an honest penny from the "reactionary and anti-Truman interests" they once denounced, arouses suspicion of the sincerity and disinterest of their presidential sponsors at Washington.

Opposing lawyers and politicians also argue that Messrs. Clifford and Landis are lined up against the consumers and masses they once championed. The airline merger, it is contended, would mean lower rates on trips abroad and at least an annual $7 million savings in mail subsidies.

GAINS—The Civil Aeronautics Board has already passed on the consolidation of Juan Trippe's Pan-American and C. R. Smith's Overseas Airlines, and it is understood that the vote was four to one for the merger.

But their action must be approved by State, National Defense and Commerce, with Mr. Truman having final voice. He has frequently upset CAB decisions in favor of his political friends and generous contributors to the party funds.

The gains resulting from the merger are undisputed in aviation circles. Pan-Am now flies the route to London, Brussels, Frankfurt, Prague and Vienna. American Overseas duplicates this course to a certain extent, flying to London, Amsterdam and Frankfurt, then turning north to Stockholm.

The benefits from a single line through this area led Mr. Trippe to offer $17,450,000 for his competitor's franchise.

JOBBS—Howard Hughes' Trans-World Airlines now has the route to Shannon, with exclusive rights to landings at Paris airport, the most profitable runs at the present moment. Even his lack of a London terminus is not particularly harmful, for many passengers prefer to deplane at Shannon and make a leisurely journey through picturesque Ireland and historic England to the British Capital.

However, Mr. Clifford and Mr. Hughes insist on presidential disapproval of the merger unless TWA is given entry into London, while retaining exclusive rights to both Paris and Rome. That is the proposition which Mr. Clifford put up to the President on an emergency flight to Key West while Mr. Truman vacationed there during March and April.

Mr. Landis enters the controversy as counsel for employees of the American Overseas line. They oppose the merger on the ground that it will mean the loss of their jobs.

Oddly, he never took that position, when, as head of SEC, he forced the reorganization and the collapse of numerous corporations under the mandate of "new deal" legislation.

INCIDENT—The reconversion of political lawyers like Messrs. Corcoran, Clifford and Landis, and they are only a few of the Roosevelt-Truman Galahads now cleaning up on their inside associations at Washington (they with enforcing or not enforcing them) may be explained by a not too amusing incident that has happened here recently.

A former Landis subordinate in SEC met an old friend now representing a great corporation at Washington.

"How come," asked the erstwhile New Dealer, "that you don't engage me for some of your legal work here? I understand you pay pretty fat fees."

"We would be glad to hire you," was the answer "but we understood that you were lined up against us because of your attitude when you were in the government."

UNFAIR—"Listen," chided this former associate of Clifford, Corcoran, Landis et al. "I don't know anybody in the Truman or the Roosevelt Administration whose views cannot be changed in return for a fat fee!"

He was unfair to the ablest New Deal lawyer of them all—"Ben" Cohen. It was "Ben" who wrote the legislation that the other member of the firm "Tommy" Corcoran, took credit for and wangled through Congress. But "Ben" now with the United Nations at a modest salary, practices what he preaches, alone of them all.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN
 (Wall Street Journal)

The late Douglas Fairbanks Sr., possessed an extremely poor memory for faces. Keenly aware of his failing, the actor took particular care to be cordial to everyone.

One day, returning to his palatial Pickfair estate after an extended trip on location, Fairbanks glimpsed a tall, dignified gentleman near the entrance to his grounds, and in his friendly, open-handed manner nodded to him and wished a hearty "Good morning!" The other man returned the greeting and stopped to chat with the actor. A cordial relationship being quickly established, Fairbanks eventually spent some time showing his guest over his estate.

The squire of Pickfair struggled in vain to remember the identity of his courteous companion. He knew he had seen the man moving among important people, but, for the life of him, he couldn't remember who he was.

"Who was that man?" he asked his secretary, after he had hidden his guest a cordial farewell.

"That," came the slightly acid reply "was the butler you discharged before you went on location!"

HIVES FOR DRONES
 (London, England, Recorder)

Walk about London and you will find in various places great office buildings going up.

In some of these cases the builders got permission only on the understanding that when finished the offices should be handed over to the Ministry of Works to house more bureaucrats.

Millions are being poured out for new office buildings. 3,430,000 pounds is being spent for a new

Foreign Office in Carlton House Terrace. 5,393,000 pounds is going on Government offices in Whitehall Gardens. 3,900,000 pounds for local offices in the London area. 13,446,255 pounds—note the figure—for temporary offices.

A new Colonial Office will cost 2,500,000 pounds. Sites and building of other new government offices include 10,000 pounds for the South Bank of the Thames and 4,000,000 pounds for offices in Horseferry Road.

Bureaucrats will give licenses for expensive building to house more of their kind, but try to get a licence for new offices for businesses doing the real work of the country, and see how far you get.

And houses cannot be built, you will remember, because of a supposed shortage of men and materials. Not all the foxy arguments in the world will convince us that the steel, concrete and wood going into the new palaces for bureaucrats could not just as well go into blocks of flats for families.

And the more bureaucrats we find homes for, the more they will cost us in interference with productive business.

Britain is being filled with very costly hives for drones.

Let The Cop Do His Duty

Around Capitol Square

HOME RULE—Residents of the District of Columbia are not generally as anxious for home rule and the right to vote as they were a few years ago, according to a Washington taxi cab driver whose name was not obtained. Why? Because the District population is rapidly becoming preponderantly colored. Negroes, he said, are buying into many formerly exclusive white residential areas and are also moving into apartments and rental housing areas within the District. Meantime, white people are spreading farther out and are establishing residence in neighboring Maryland and Virginia communities. One result of this change is that former strong advocates of District home rule have either moved out or have lost their zeal for local autonomy. Maybe the guy didn't know what he was talking about, but experience has taught your reporter that oft times taxi drivers and barbers and waitresses know more about what people are thinking—or at least they will tell more—than some of the more elite occupationists.

DIMMED—Harry Buchanan, Hendersonville picture show man, who devoted most of his surplus energy to developing Western Carolina Teachers College at Cullowhee until Governor Scott took him off the board of trustees has transferred his interest to the Cherokee Indian pageant. Almost singlehandedly he wangled $35,000 out of the 1949 legislature for the project, was largely responsible for voluntary contributions of thousands of dollars from western citizens, and had high hopes of getting some help from the Rockefeller Foundation (General Education Board). His hopes on that last score were dimmed when an interview in New York with Rockefeller trustees elicited information that the board is concentrating activities on improving status of graduate educational institutions. Buchanan hasn't quit—he isn't the quitting kind; but he has almost lost hope of help from that source. He says the Cherokee pageant, "Unto These Hills," will open at mountaineer theatre on the eastern slope of the Great Smoky mountains on July 1 "in spite of h - - and high water."

COMMENDATION—Two high ranking state officials took occasion to commend positions taken by North Carolina members of the Congress. That is almost headline news, for more often than not state and congressional ideas are not in accord. Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Ballentine for instance, has often been critical of actions and positions taken by Congressman Harold Cooley of the fourth district, chairman of the agriculture committee in the national house of representatives. When Cooley came out blasting some features of the Brannan plan, Ballentine called him up to congratulate and commend him upon his stand. While that was going on Attorney General Harry McMillan was writing Senator Clyde Hoye commending and thanking him for his statement about intervention of Howard McGrath, U. S. attorney general, in the race segregation cases before the supreme court.

SIGNIFICANT—These incidents have somewhat more significance than just state officials generally opposing federal encroachment of federal authority. The "opponents" were in the same general brackets. That is, State Attorney General McMillan was commending Senator Hoye's castigation of U. S. Attorney General McGrath. State Commissioner of Agriculture Ballentine was commending Representative Cooley for opposing U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan. That makes the issue clearer, because the North Carolina state officials have been elected by all the people of the state, whereas the federal officials are members appointed by and chiefly responsible to the President of the United States. Further significance attaches to the episodes because many times in the recent past state elective officials have not been able to go along with members of the Congress in their relationship with federally appointed office holders.

BEHIND—At least one high school librarian in North Carolina needs to bring her mail list and her thinking up to date. A government post card, with address and message typed and an ink signature was received at the department of agriculture. It was addressed to "Mr. Kerr Scott, State Board of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C." The signed request was for "everything you have about agriculture." As most grammar grade pupils know, Kerr Scott has been governor of North Carolina for more than fourteen months. And as high school librarians ought to know, if all the information on agriculture were sent the library would not hold it.

SPELLING—A member of the state senate, looking over the hotel lobby crowded with teachers early this month, wondered how many of them could spell simple words. He recalled that during the legislative session last year he received several letters from teachers complaining about the salary schedule, and in which such words as "appropriation," "legislature" and "policy" were misspelled. He said it was hard to get up enthusiasm for increasing pay of teachers who could not spell words like that.

Greater efforts than ever will be made this year to kidnap mother.

Time was when candy makers and florists dominated Mother's Day promotions. But over the years, an increasing number of other trades and industries have realized the possibilities of making Mother's Day their day. By last year the second Sunday in May was second only to Christmas as a day of gifts. This year even more lines will be bidding for a share of the millions of dollars to spend as a token of America's filial devotion.

There has been a realization that almost everything—except Diesel locomotives and power shovels—can be promoted as gifts for mothers. Last year, for instance, as measured by newspaper advertising volume, May promotions for dinner sets increased 21 per cent over a year earlier; washing machines increased 24 per cent; hosiery increased 21 per cent; slips increased 39 per cent, and gowns and pajamas increased 9 per cent.

In recent years, furniture merchants as well as appliance dealers have been getting into the spirit of the occasion; but next year automobile manufacturers may be urging gifts of jet runabouts for mothers.

Because sales of apparel and accessory items did not come up to expectations before Easter, retailers will step up promotion of these soft goods for Mother's Day. Considerable promotion of these items as gifts has already begun.

Frozen foods are a relatively new comer in Mother's Day promotion. The National Wholesale Frozen Food Distributors wisely set annual National Frozen Food Week for May 13 to 20 which, "by happy coincidence," as the association says, includes Mother's Day. The promotion for the week is largely geared to the sentimental Sunday and one theme actually being used is "Give Mother a tasty vacation through time-saving frozen foods. How about surprising her with a complete selection?" National Restaurant Week ends on May 14, and those who don't buy frozen food for mother can take her out to dinner.

NEW EXPRESS POOL CUTS COSTS, TIME

Twenty-four New Orleans stores today start operation of a Railway Express pool designed to cut costs and charges on shipments from New York.

The stores have set up a receiving depot in New York, to which suppliers have been directed to deliver orders of the 24 stores. From the depot, consolidated shipments will be expressed to a receiving depot in New Orleans, whence individual orders will be distributed to stores. It is expected six-day deliveries at lower costs will result.

The idea is not new—it has been used in Texas, on the Pacific Coast and other market centers distant from source of supply—but it probably will be used more and more as retailers seek ways to reduce shipping costs without delaying.

CONSUMERS TO PAY UTILITY PENSIONS

In a decision which may influence many other rulings in similar cases, the New York Public Service Commission has ruled that the costs of employee pensions are part of wages, and hence grounds for raising utility rates. This reverses an earlier ruling that pensions were gifts and chargeable to surplus, not rates.

NEW AND HOT FUNGICIDES: Four powerful new fungicides are being compounded (by Du Pont, Wilmington, Del.). One disinfects seeds and soil; another controls brown patch on lawns; a third combats fruit fungi, and the fourth controls fungi on vegetable leaves and brown rot of peaches.

PUNITY: Putty is now being packaged in plastic bags (by Gilman Paint and Varnish Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.). Putty may be kneaded in the bag and required amounts squeezed out through a corner, which may then be folded to keep air away from the remainder.

CAN OPENER: A new can opener (by Ekco Products, Chicago) opens cans with a cutting wheel, punctures tops of beer or fruit juice cans, lifts bottle caps or prices lids from jars.

Hal Boyle's Column

New York — (AP) — Many a youthful genius secretly fears that time will snuff him out like a candle at the age of 40.

No such self-doubt bothers Cy Howard, who at 34 is burning with a bright blue flame in the world of radio.

"I'll live to be 99 at least," he says, when friends warn he will wear himself out early.

Howard's forte is comedy. He originated two of the CBS network's top shows, "My Friend Irma" and "Life With Luigi." CBS thinks so highly of him as an idea man that it pays him more in straight salary than it does board chairman, William S. Paley.

In fact, Paley is reported to be the most highly paid individual in the field, except for performers, such as Jack Benny and Bob Hope.

"I suppose that's true," he said.

"I make over $250,000 a year out of radio."

There also are other trifling sources of revenue, such as a series of six movies being made around "My Friend Irma," and a Luigi picture coming up, and a third radio program he's working up.

But the cash value of his brainpower, while it pleases him, isn't the facet of his career that Howard says interests him most.

"Money? It's not important," he said in a brief hotel room interview during which he sipped his breakfast coffee before dashing out for lunch. "If you would go worry about money, you would go gold hunting in Alaska and stay there until you make a strike."

"But in a creative field, financial success can't be your chief aim."

Howard, a tall, slender man who began as an actor and radio announcer before becoming a producer-writer, still likes to play a good show himself. He is cockily cheerful and has no false modesty.

"My kind doesn't ever die or get an ulcer," he said. "That happens to the quiet kind."

"I'm a bachelor . . . no wife to drive me crazy. Frustration is what kills you. And I'm not frustrated. I say what I think. I'll live to be 99 at least. I keep in shape by playing tennis. Did you ever see anybody who looks healthier than me?"

Without waiting for an answer Howard jumped up in his bathrobe and slippers, looked at himself in a mirror, then sat down again—satisfied.

"I won't drop off or burn out at 40," he said confidently. "Only living in New York could drive me crazy."

Howard lives quietly in a West Coast penthouse with an alreidae named Clyde, and he summer European vacation every summer. Originally he wrote, directed and produced both his radio shows himself. Now he has a staff of nine.

Here's a few frank and honest Howardisms on how to be a success:

"You know how to be a great director? Have a great cast."

"How to be a great writer? Have other great writers with you. And write what you think. If you're an honest writer and catch people's fancy, they'll make you great."

"There is no one man who makes a radio show. It is a part of many people."

"The smartest thing I ever did was not to write, but to surround myself with smart people. This way you can live forever!"

Washington Letter
 By JANE EADS

Washington—Lewis E. Long likes a little vanilla in his orange juice, though he admits the first sip is "quite a surprise." He also likes pinaeola, made by boiling four parts toasted corn meal and one part chocolate in water, sweetening to taste and serving hot or cold, with or without cream. Thickness can be adjusted to taste. For a snack Mr. Long likes chicharrones—pork and fried to a crisp and salted.

Mr. Long, economic adviser of the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, U. S. Department of Agriculture, developed these and other unusual tastes in Nicaragua, where he has been stationed the past five years. He first went to Nicaragua as an agricultural extension man in 1942, to carry out this country's effort to increase Western Hemisphere war-time production of such strategic commodities as rubber, hard fibers and vegetable oils. His main job was to distribute rubber trees, produced and budded in Brazilian nurseries, to Nicaraguan farmers.

He lived in a little shack along with termites, rats and possums at Bluefields, on the east coast, and traveled eight hours by boat to the agricultural experiment station. In 1946 he became director of the station, which was managed under a cooperative agreement between the governments of Nicaragua and the United States.

The station's program was shifted from rubber and is now emphasizing the African oil palm, now being extensively planted, and forestry; Nicaragua is one of the world's largest mahogany producers. Mr. Long, now living in a somewhat cramped quarters, says he misses being able to walk "down the middle of the street" as he did in the Central American county, even in Managua, the capital.

"Of course," he explains, "I took a chance at getting run over, but I grew up in the wide open spaces of this country where I could swing my arms and feel on my own." Born in Kansas, Mr. Long was five when his father homesteaded on the Cherokee strip in Oklahoma. He was a lad of 16 when he "took to the road," but by the time he reached 22 he decided he needed a formal education. By hard work he won a degree from the University of Louisiana. He came to work for the government in 1923

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

HOW CHRISTIANITY TRIUMPHS

Someone has said that the reason why the Christian disciples 2000 years ago were able to overwhelm the might of the Roman Empire and to emerge victorious from persecution was because they outthought, outwitted, and outdid their contemporaries.

In this country at least persecution for religious belief is, we hope, gone forever. But Christians today just as Christians in the past, are required to outthink and outlive their non-Christian contemporaries.

One of the weaknesses of the modern church is the fact that Christians knew so little about their faith. Their religion is mostly a matter of inherited customs. The Church will never have vigor until every Christian will be able to give a conclusive reason for the faith that is in him.

And as for the Christians' outliving his contemporaries, certainly in the last analysis the thing that makes one a Christian is not his theology or his pious customs but the way of life which he maintains unwaveringly day by day.

Sound religion is always ethical religion, and all attempts to build religion on something other than goodness fail in the estimation of men, as we believe they must fail before the bar of heavenly justice.

Governor Scott Makes Good Appointment

Governor Scott has made a step in the right direction in his appointment of a man who is thoroughly familiar with the highway patrol as commander of that division of the state government.

Despite the claims of former Commander C. R. Tolar that he was "crucified on Easter Sunday" for the Scott administration, we believe, as we have said before, that the highway patrol will be better without Tolar's services, and we are sure the patrol will be better off without the unfavorable publicity he has brought on the organization.

The appointment of Major J. R. Smith as head of the patrol may be a precedent which will bring more efficient administration and operation not only to the highway patrol, but to other departments of the state government. Smith is a man who has come through the ranks of the highway patrol, and he is thoroughly familiar with the operation of the patrol from the greenest rookie through the administration of the department.

Politics may figure in the appointment of Smith rather than some other person to replace Tolar, we do not know, but the fact that a member of the patrol has been picked by Governor Scott to head the department is a step in the right direction.

Such offices which require a thorough knowledge of the department operations of the state government should be held by men who are qualified by experience rather than appointees who are picked because of the support they contributed to putting the administration in office. The Reflector hopes the appointment of Smith is a step away from the spoils system of appointive offices in the state government.

If more of our state officers were appointed for their ability and experiences rather than their political affiliations, it is quite possible there would be a great improvement in the operation of various departments in the state government.

The Red-Neck Doctrine Appears Again

The handful of listeners who heard Olla Ray Boyd open the Senatorial campaign in Pitt county heard the candidate for the United States Senate sound the essential factors of a race hatred campaign the like of which has plagued the South since the days of reconstruction.

In the South, and particularly in North Carolina, great strides have been made in the relations between the races who work and live side by side in our section of the country year in and year out. North Carolina is recognized as a leading state south of the Mason-Dixon line, and one of the principal reasons for this recognition is that the race relations in this state are among the best anywhere in the country.

The harsh statements which are designed to play on the imagination of persons who have a deep-seated racial prejudice will always get a candidate a few votes in almost every community in the country. For a candidate to bring into his campaign

Robins Bow To Pirates By 5-3, Whip York Nine 4-2

Singles By Woods And Strausser Provide Winning Tallies In Exhibition Contests

By BERT MOYE

Manager Randy Hefflin and his Greenies Robins split their week-end exhibition games, losing to the Pirates of ECTC on Saturday afternoon by a 5 to 3 score, and then coming back Sunday afternoon to whip the York, Pa. Class B club of the Inter-State League by the score of 4 to 2, in one of the best exhibition games ever played at the local diamond.

The Robins will journey over to Wilson tonight to meet Manager Bill Herring and his Wilson Tobs and then will wind up their exhibition series on Tuesday night when they meet the Norfolk Tars of the Virginia League at Edenton.

Saturday's Game

In a game played in freezing weather here Saturday afternoon, the Robins dropped a 5 to 3 game to Coach Jack Boone's ECTC Pirates.

After scoring two runs in the fifth frame on two consecutive singles by Sonny Russell and Bob Smith, a sacrifice by Lou Colie and two costly errors on Ehortstop Matthew Hall, to let in Russell and Smith, the Pirates came from behind in the eighth frame to put across three runs on three singles, a walk, double steal and a passed ball to cop the win.

In the eighth Fred Soles and Jack Wallace started things rolling with two sizzling singles. Sonny Russell flew out to right field with Soles taking third. Bob Smith was issued a walk and when Catcher Bruce Robbins let the ball get by him, Soles raced home for the tying run. Then Wallace and Smith executed a perfect double steal to advance on the bases. George Woods then hit a line single into right field to bring home both Wallace and Smith.

The Robins put across a singleton in the third frame without collecting a hit. Hubert Smith reached first when he was hit by a pitched ball, and after stealing second and third base, came home on McCotter's wild pitch.

They came back in the fourth frame to score two more runs and at this point of the game were leading 3 to 0. A walk to Steve Denier, Bruce Robbins' single and Frank Stephens' hit to Pitcher McCotter which he errored enabled Denier to score and then Charlie Outts came through with a single to bring home Robbins for the second run of the inning.

Lefty Bob McCotter went the entire route for the Pirates and despite the cold weather, came through in grand style as he held the Robins to seven hits, while striking out six and walking four. Bruce Robbins with two singles in four trips to the plate was the only Robin to get more than one hit off the offerings of McCotter.

Frank Stevens and George Ashe did the pitching chores for the Robins, with Ashe being charged with the loss. The two hurlers issued a total of six walks and only one man went down swinging. They gave up a total of eight hits which were scattered among as many players.

Score by innings: R H E
 York 0 10 100 0-2 8 1
 Robins 0 20 200 0-4 8 0

Longest Racing Season Closes

Miami, Fla., April 17—(AP)—Florida's longest horse racing season—122 days from Nov. 30 through April 20—comes to an end Thursday at Gulfstream Park.

By the end of this afternoon's program, pari mutuel handle at Gulfstream will have passed complete betting figures for the 1949 season at that track.

Virginia Coach Now With Wade

Durham, N. C., April 17—(AP)—William Hickman, assistant backfield coach at the University of Virginia last year, will be working this fall with Duke's Blue Devils.

Hickman will assist head coach Wallace Wade with Duke's T-formation team. The Blue Devils have used a T-team on occasion during the past two years and plan to employ one on the same basis next season.

Judge's Ruling

Federal District Judge T. M. Kennerly (above) has ruled at Houston that the U. S. government was at fault in the 1947 explosion and fire at Texas City, which took more than 500 lives. He decreed that 8,485 plaintiffs, who had sued for $200,000,000 damages in the disaster, are entitled to judgment. (AP Wirephoto).

Lakers Hold 3-1 Lead In Playoff

Minneapolis, April 17—(AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers hold a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series with Syracuse.

The Lakers, paced by their big three—George Mikan, Vern Mikkelsen and Jim Pollard—poured in 29 points to help down Syracuse, 77-69 last night.

The series now moves to Syracuse for the game Thursday night.

Third Triumph For Durham High

Durham, N. C., April 17—(AP)—The Duke Durham invitational relayes are three years old, and Durham high school now has won every time.

Durham won all seven running events and two of the six field events Saturday.

Reynolds high of Winston took two firsts, while Raleigh and Rock Hill, S. C., captured one first apiece.

Dick Gallagher, Santa Clara's new football coach, has a lot in common with Len Casanova, his predecessor. Both coached in high school, were in the navy, use the T formation and have two daughters.

Who's Mad? Not I, Says Luke

Luke Appling (left) of Sandy Springs, Ga., veteran shortstop for the Chicago White Sox, will have you believe he's not mad at anybody because of Rookie Teammate Chico Carrasquel (right). This nice little scene was posed during an exhibition game at Memphis, Tenn., on rumormongers that Luke is in a huff at the management because Chico has been doing a lot of playing at shortstop in spring training. Luke returned to the lineup against Detroit at Memphis and got a double and a single for four times at bat. (AP Wirephoto).

Major Leagues Line Up For Openers Tomorrow

New York, April 17—(AP)—Big league baseball returns tomorrow with all 16 "contenders" poised for the openers after healthy talent turnovers.

Now we'll get first hand proof on who outshined whom in the New York Giants-Boston Braves deal. We'll see if Detroit is as good as it looks. If the "experts" were right in predicting a Brooklyn Dodger - Boston Red Sox World Series.

It will be a strange opening day. No Hal Newhouse pitching for Detroit. No Bobby Feller for Cleveland. No Rip Sewell for Pittsburgh.

Newhouse is out with arm trouble. Feller has been bypassed for Bob Lemon. Sewell, winner of 10 straight openers, is managing in the minors.

Joe DiMaggio, usually a Johns Hopkins Hospital patient at this stage of the game, will be in center field for the New York Yankees. The Yankee Clipper missed nine of 14 previous openers.

Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Buddy Kerr—three boys who never played for a big league club except the Giants—came to the Polo Grounds as enemy Boston Braves. Alvin Dark, hoisted from a college campus by the Braves, will be playing on the other side for the Giants.

Two old friends are back as managers. Bucky Harris at Washington and Luke Sewell at Cincinnati. Both are consigned to last place or thereabouts.

Countless new millions will see and hear the games by television and radio. Two networks, Mutual and Liberty, will air a "game of the day" daily, the most extensive regular radio coverage ever given.

Virginian Wins Stock Car Race

Langhorne, Pa., April 17—(AP)—Curtis Turner, Roanoke, Va., driver, won the 150-mile Grand National circuit stock car race yesterday in 2:9:40.98 before a crowd of about 10,000 at the one-mile Langhorne Speedway.

The win was good for 275 points toward Turner's bid for the national championship. The race was the third in a series of 20 that will determine the title.

Jimmy Demaret Closes Georgia Tour With Win

Atlanta, April 17—(AP)—After tramping through Georgia Jimmy Demaret headed today for Virginia and another skirmish in his battle to overtake Sam Snead as the top money winner of the year.

Laughing boy Jimmy who unlike most professional golfers enjoyed living when he isn't winning, finished a minor size grand slam in Georgia yesterday with a victory in the North Fulton open.

He shot four rounds at the tough-one-day-easy-the-next North Fulton Park course in 270 strokes—14 under par. His winning total round in 66 princely strokes followed by just eight quick days a far greater victory at the Masters tournament in Augusta, Ga.

Late this week the happy Texas Irishman with the Frenchy name, gets his next shot at catching Snead in the money winning marathon during the Cavalier tournament at Virginia Beach.

Phantoms Playing PamPack Tuesday

Still looking for victory No. 3, the Green Phantoms open their home baseball stand at Guy Smith stadium tomorrow afternoon when they meet the Pam Pack from Washington at 3:30.

The tilt tomorrow will be the first meeting of the two rivals in Northeastern competition this year and the locals can well afford the atmosphere of their home diamond. Perhaps it will spur them on to hit the ball.

Coach Bo Farley is scheduled to start Julian Valnright on the mound. One of the two starting pitchers for the Phants this year, Valnright will be in his regular turn tomorrow. Holding one win for the reason thus far, that one over Roanoke Rapids, he has pitched in three games and was credited with the 11-0 loss to Rocky Mount.

The regular starting lineup will again take the field. That includes Leon Moore behind the plate, Sid Briley at first base, Billy Jordan at second, Gene Ayers at short, Billy Brady at third, and Bobby Perry, Richard Joyner and Jody Taylor in the outfield.

The game tomorrow was originally scheduled to be played here but will be the first home showing for the Phants because the grass at the stadium was not ready for play during the first games of the season.

Powerful Big Ten Bans Televising Grid Games

Chicago, April 17—(AP)—The powerful big ten, whose Athletic policies usually keynote the trend for the nation's other major conference has barred live television of all its 1950 football games.

In the first concerted move to prohibit one-the-spot video, the big ten concluded that the entire future of intercollegiate athletics is endangered by TV.

The decision of Athletic directors figures to cost the western conference and its member schools an estimated $500,000 in TV revenue rights that could have been sewed up in 1950.

Some of this, however, may be recovered by the new policy of allowing complete films of games to be televised the following day. Movies of Saturday's contests could not be released before 6 p. m. on Sundays.

Significantly, the three-man TV study committee of the NCAA sat in on the big ten parley.

Athletic director Tom Hamilton of Pittsburgh, a member of the group which is making a survey to submit to the annual NCAA convention next January at Dallas, said:

"We obtained much information to consider in our recommendation to the NCAA. We will check all sections of the country before the 1950 football season, during it and after it."

At its 1950 convention in New York, the NCAA instructed members to limit commitments to one year.

Seventy-one per cent of league seasons had games played in the Border conference during the 1949-50 season were won by the home team.

Lowly Cubs Are New Champions Grapefruit Loop

New York, April 17—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, eighth-place finishers in the National League last season, and rated 50-1 shots this year, are the 1950 champions of baseball's mythical "Grapefruit League."

Frankie Frisch's Bruins won 16 games against major league opposition this spring while losing eight for a .667 percentage.

Detroit, tabbed as a 4-1 "dark-horse" in the American League, won that circuit's title with a .652 figure on 15 victories and eight setbacks. Cleveland was second.

Chicago's hitless White Sox had the lowest percentage of the 16 major league clubs—.294.

The world champion New York Yankees placed a listless fifth in the American League. But Casey Stengel's crew had one consolation—they edged their arch rivals, Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox by one percentage point, .481 to .480.

Brooklyn's National League champions finished behind Cincinnati's Reds, who led most of the way.

The major league teams concluded their eight-week training period yesterday with a ten-game exhibition card.

Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, who will come to grips in Tuesday's opener at Boston, stole most of the afternoon's play.

Williams crashed his 11th exhibition home run with two mates aboard in the eighth inning to give the Sox a 3-1 decision over their cross-town rivals, the Braves.

At New York, DiMaggio hit No. 6 and two singles to help the Yankees down Brooklyn, 4-2, for the second straight day. Cliff Mages and Larry Berra also homered for the New Yorkers.

The Cubs swept both ends of an out-of-season doubleheader from the White Sox, 7-2 and 5-4. Del Rice's two home runs brought the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 decision over the Browns.

The Phils whipped the Athletics, 11-2, to square their Philadelphia series at a game apiece. Cincinnati took a 5-2 decision from Indianapolis. Cleveland scored in the ninth to edge New York's Giants, 2-1. Washington pulled out a 3-2, twelfth-inning victory over Pittsburgh, and Detroit was upset, 8-4, by Louisville.

Full Week Faces Buc Nine; Plan Play Six Games

By BILL LLOYD

Another full week of baseball faces Coach Jack Boone's baseballers this week.

East Carolina's diamonders, now supporting a 4-4 record in overall play and a 2-3 record in the North State conference, play six games this week.

The Bonemen play hosts to their arch-rivals, Atlantic Christian, here tomorrow afternoon in a league tilt, with Righthander Hal Whitehurst slated for the mound duties.

Tomorrow's game is the first time these two rivals have met this season, and Coach Boone is expected to start his regular lineup consisting of Bob Bailey at third, Jack Wallace at short, Billy Smith at second, and Sonny Russell at first. Fred Soles, and Lou Colie, and Stan Terrill will make up the outfield, with George Woods doing the catching.

Thursday afternoon, the Pirates will play West Carolina in the first of two doubleheaders here. The Catamounts are currently tied with Elon for the league leadership. First game on Thursday will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Appalachian's cellar-dwellers play here Friday afternoon in the fifth conference tilt for the Pirates. This will be another doubleheader.

East Carolina's left-handed ace, Bob McCotter, who pitched a masterpiece over the professional Greenville Robins here last Saturday, is expected to toe the rubber in one of the four games this week with converted getting the starting nod in another. Other pitchers who will see action this week are Martin Byrd, Carlton Fleetwood, Jim Hudson, and Dick Hobbs.

Rounding out the full week of play, East Carolina travels to Norfolk, Va. Saturday to engage the Norfolk Naval Amphibians in a non-conference contest.

East Carolina is currently tied for the fourth spot in the circuit standings with Lehigh-Rhyne. Both teams have won two and lost three.

Word comes from Rocky Mount's radio station WCEC that the station will carry all the games of the Leafs this coming season, both the home games and the out-of-town games.

A letter from the Goldsboro station received by the writer indicates that they may carry the Goldsboro games at home and away this season. A complete list of those stations will be carried in the columns of this paper at an early date.

Former Goldsboro players, who are in the Cardinal organization, are Clyde Whitener, outfielder, who is training at Albany, Ga., with Hamilton, Ontario of the Class D Pony League, Paul Eames, catcher, and Rip Ryan, shortstop, who are assigned to Albany of the Class D Georgia-Florida League. Ryan played college baseball at the University of North Carolina before joining Goldsboro and Eames came to Goldsboro last season from Smithfield-Selma of the Tobacco States League.

New Bern has not lost a game in their exhibition slate so far. Gus Goldberg, second sacker for Tarboro last year, is training in Florida with Fayetteville, newest member of the Carolina League.

Gus seems to be getting along okay, too. May get the starting assignment on opening day. Joe Antolick predicts a stronger team for the Athletics of Tarboro this season. He'll have to do it without two of his best pitchers in the Coastal Plain League last year: Lefty Vince Gohl and Tony Naples. Both have moved on up.

Lakers Hold 3-1 Lead In Playoff

Minneapolis, April 17—(AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers hold a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series with Syracuse.

The Lakers, paced by their big three—George Mikan, Vern Mikkelsen and Jim Pollard—poured in 29 points to help down Syracuse, 77-69 last night.

The series now moves to Syracuse for the game Thursday night.

Third Triumph For Durham High

Durham, N. C., April 17—(AP)—The Duke Durham invitational relayes are three years old, and Durham high school now has won every time.

Durham won all seven running events and two of the six field events Saturday.

Reynolds high of Winston took two firsts, while Raleigh and Rock Hill, S. C., captured one first apiece.

Dick Gallagher, Santa Clara's new football coach, has a lot in common with Len Casanova, his predecessor. Both coached in high school, were in the navy, use the T formation and have two daughters.

Who's Mad? Not I, Says Luke

Luke Appling (left) of Sandy Springs, Ga., veteran shortstop for the Chicago White Sox, will have you believe he's not mad at anybody because of Rookie Teammate Chico Carrasquel (right). This nice little scene was posed during an exhibition game at Memphis, Tenn., on rumormongers that Luke is in a huff at the management because Chico has been doing a lot of playing at shortstop in spring training. Luke returned to the lineup against Detroit at Memphis and got a double and a single for four times at bat. (AP Wirephoto).

Virginian Wins Stock Car Race

Langhorne, Pa., April 17—(AP)—Curtis Turner, Roanoke, Va., driver, won the 150-mile Grand National circuit stock car race yesterday in 2:9:40.98 before a crowd of about 10,000 at the one-mile Langhorne Speedway.

The win was good for 275 points toward Turner's bid for the national championship. The race was the third in a series of 20 that will determine the title.

Jimmy Demaret Closes Georgia Tour With Win

Atlanta, April 17—(AP)—After tramping through Georgia Jimmy Demaret headed today for Virginia and another skirmish in his battle to overtake Sam Snead as the top money winner of the year.

Laughing boy Jimmy who unlike most professional golfers enjoyed living when he isn't winning, finished a minor size grand slam in Georgia yesterday with a victory in the North Fulton open.

He shot four rounds at the tough-one-day-easy-the-next North Fulton Park course in 270 strokes—14 under par. His winning total round in 66 princely strokes followed by just eight quick days a far greater victory at the Masters tournament in Augusta, Ga.

Late this week the happy Texas Irishman with the Frenchy name, gets his next shot at catching Snead in the money winning marathon during the Cavalier tournament at Virginia Beach.

Phantoms Playing PamPack Tuesday

Still looking for victory No. 3, the Green Phantoms open their home baseball stand at Guy Smith stadium tomorrow afternoon when they meet the Pam Pack from Washington at 3:30.

The tilt tomorrow will be the first meeting of the two rivals in Northeastern competition this year and the locals can well afford the atmosphere of their home diamond. Perhaps it will spur them on to hit the ball.

Coach Bo Farley is scheduled to start Julian Valnright on the mound. One of the two starting pitchers for the Phants this year, Valnright will be in his regular turn tomorrow. Holding one win for the reason thus far, that one over Roanoke Rapids, he has pitched in three games and was credited with the 11-0 loss to Rocky Mount.

The regular starting lineup will again take the field. That includes Leon Moore behind the plate, Sid Briley at first base, Billy Jordan at second, Gene Ayers at short, Billy Brady at third, and Bobby Perry, Richard Joyner and Jody Taylor in the outfield.

The game tomorrow was originally scheduled to be played here but will be the first home showing for the Phants because the grass at the stadium was not ready for play during the first games of the season.

Powerful Big Ten Bans Televising Grid Games

Chicago, April 17—(AP)—The powerful big ten, whose Athletic policies usually keynote the trend for the nation's other major conference has barred live television of all its 1950 football games.

In the first concerted move to prohibit one-the-spot video, the big ten concluded that the entire future of intercollegiate athletics is endangered by TV.

The decision of Athletic directors figures to cost the western conference and its member schools an estimated $500,000 in TV revenue rights that could have been sewed up in 1950.

Some of this, however, may be recovered by the new policy of allowing complete films of games to be televised the following day. Movies of Saturday's contests could not be released before 6 p. m. on Sundays.

Significantly, the three-man TV study committee of the NCAA sat in on the big ten parley.

Athletic director Tom Hamilton of Pittsburgh, a member of the group which is making a survey to submit to the annual NCAA convention next January at Dallas, said:

"We obtained much information to consider in our recommendation to the NCAA. We will check all sections of the country before the 1950 football season, during it and after it."

At its 1950 convention in New York, the NCAA instructed members to limit commitments to one year.

Seventy-one per cent of league seasons had games played in the Border conference during the 1949-50 season were won by the home team.

Lowly Cubs Are New Champions Grapefruit Loop

New York, April 17—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, eighth-place finishers in the National League last season, and rated 50-1 shots this year, are the 1950 champions of baseball's mythical "Grapefruit League."

Frankie Frisch's Bruins won 16 games against major league opposition this spring while losing eight for a .667 percentage.

Detroit, tabbed as a 4-1 "dark-horse" in the American League, won that circuit's title with a .652 figure on 15 victories and eight setbacks. Cleveland was second.

Chicago's hitless White Sox had the lowest percentage of the 16 major league clubs—.294.

The world champion New York Yankees placed a listless fifth in the American League. But Casey Stengel's crew had one consolation—they edged their arch rivals, Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox by one percentage point, .481 to .480.

Brooklyn's National League champions finished behind Cincinnati's Reds, who led most of the way.

The major league teams concluded their eight-week training period yesterday with a ten-game exhibition card.

Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, who will come to grips in Tuesday's opener at Boston, stole most of the afternoon's play.

Williams crashed his 11th exhibition home run with two mates aboard in the eighth inning to give the Sox a 3-1 decision over their cross-town rivals, the Braves.

At New York, DiMaggio hit No. 6 and two singles to help the Yankees down Brooklyn, 4-2, for the second straight day. Cliff Mages and Larry Berra also homered for the New Yorkers.

The Cubs swept both ends of an out-of-season doubleheader from the White Sox, 7-2 and 5-4. Del Rice's two home runs brought the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 decision over the Browns.

The Phils whipped the Athletics, 11-2, to square their Philadelphia series at a game apiece. Cincinnati took a 5-2 decision from Indianapolis. Cleveland scored in the ninth to edge New York's Giants, 2-1. Washington pulled out a 3-2, twelfth-inning victory over Pittsburgh, and Detroit was upset, 8-4, by Louisville.

Major Leagues Line Up For Openers Tomorrow

New York, April 17—(AP)—Big league baseball returns tomorrow with all 16 "contenders" poised for the openers after healthy talent turnovers.

Now we'll get first hand proof on who outshined whom in the New York Giants-Boston Braves deal. We'll see if Detroit is as good as it looks. If the "experts" were right in predicting a Brooklyn Dodger - Boston Red Sox World Series.

It will be a strange opening day. No Hal Newhouse pitching for Detroit. No Bobby Feller for Cleveland. No Rip Sewell for Pittsburgh.

Newhouse is out with arm trouble. Feller has been bypassed for Bob Lemon. Sewell, winner of 10 straight openers, is managing in the minors.

Joe DiMaggio, usually a Johns Hopkins Hospital patient at this stage of the game, will be in center field for the New York Yankees. The Yankee Clipper missed nine of 14 previous openers.

Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Buddy Kerr—three boys who never played for a big league club except the Giants—came to the Polo Grounds as enemy Boston Braves. Alvin Dark, hoisted from a college campus by the Braves, will be playing on the other side for the Giants.

Two old friends are back as managers. Bucky Harris at Washington and Luke Sewell at Cincinnati. Both are consigned to last place or thereabouts.

Countless new millions will see and hear the games by television and radio. Two networks, Mutual and Liberty, will air a "game of the day" daily, the most extensive regular radio coverage ever given.

Virginian Wins Stock Car Race

DAR Convention Opens Tonight In Nation's Capital

Washington, April 17—(AP)—Delegates representing the 167,000 members of the Daughters of the American Revolution will open the DAR's 50th Continental Congress tonight.

A message from President Truman will be among the greetings; for the 4,000 delegates and alternates and some 2,000 other members expected to attend.

The high point of the week-long meeting will be the election of officers who will guide the affairs of the patriotic society for the coming three years. The main race is to elect a successor to Mrs. Roscoe O'Byrne of Brookville, Ind., as president general.

Two complete slates, one headed by Mrs. Edwin Stanton Lammers of Dallas, Tex., and the other by Mrs. James B. Patton of Columbus, O., are already in the field—and the outcome of the campaign is anybody's guess. The voting is Thursday.

Running on Mrs. Lammers' slate is Mrs. V. Eugene Holcombe of Charleston, W. Va., treasurer general.

Those on Mrs. Patton's slate include: Mrs. Hugh L. Russell of Ashland, Ky., historian general. In addition ten candidates are in the field for vice presidents general. The seven receiving the highest votes will be elected. This list includes Mrs. Everett L. Repass of Salem, Va.

Over 23,000 On Federal Payroll

Washington, April 17—(AP)—North Carolina has 23,248 federal civilian employees, according to a report by the Civil Service Commission.

Other states in the report included South Carolina, 15,486; Virginia (excluding employment within the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area) 88,958; and Tennessee 34,452.

Battling Bird

Ponca City, Okla., April (AP)—A robin red-breast came out of his nest today for the second round of a fight to the finish with an automobile hub cap.

The robin, weighing in at two and three-quarter ounces, attacked the shiny hub cap on Earl Wright's automobile yesterday.

He started in the morning and by afternoon was punch-drunk. His beak bled from his consistent pecking at his own reflection.

Finally, the Wrights drove their car away to keep the bird battler from killing himself.

The robin returned to the fight this morning.

Bird fanciers are afraid the robin will kill himself, but know of no way to stop the shadow pecking.

The Wrights could drive their car away again, but Ponca City is full of other shiny hubcaps.

Convict Soldier Of Betrayal Try

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, April 15—(AP)—A U. S. Air Force court martial convicted Cpl Gustav Mueller of St. Paul, Minn., today of trying to give secret American military information to Russia.

The 19-year-old airman was sentenced to five years imprisonment and to be dishonorably discharged from the U. S. Air Force. Mueller testified in his own defence that he was only trying to trap some Russian spies when he gave away secret documents.

The court, composed of seven Air Force officers, deliberated an hour and a half on its verdict after a two-day trial. Mueller, slim and dark-haired, took the verdict quietly, standing erect before the court.

The court rejected Mueller's claim that he was trying to catch Soviet spies. U. S. agents had testified earlier that they posed as Russian agents and that when Mueller gave them secret documents he told them he was doing so because "I believe in Communism." They said he asked no pay.

He admitted stealing secret papers from the library of the U. S. Intelligence school in nearby Oberammergau, where he was a student. He confessed giving these papers to agents "whom I believed to be Soviets."

Acute Danger

Rockingham, N. C., April 17—(AP)—The danger of forest fires is reported acute in the seven-county district three of the state forestry division.

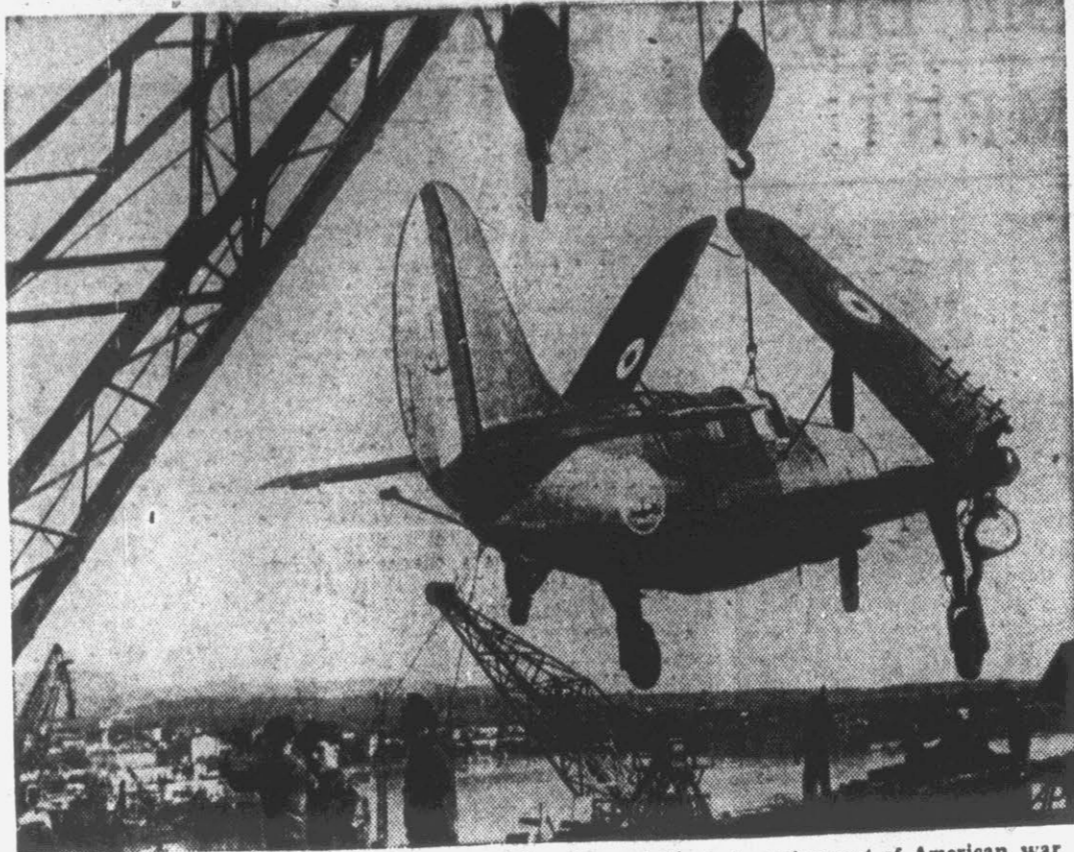

Forester J. A. Pippin said dry windy weather has posed a greater threat than at any time in the last three years.

He called on residents in the district to exercise extreme caution and to report all fires promptly. He noted the state forestry order cancelling all brush burning permits until further notice.

The district embraces Richmond, Anson, Montgomery, Moore, Scotland, Lee and Chatham counties.

Plan Interviews For Entrance In U. S. Air Force

Interviews will be given Monday, April 17, to young men and women from the Pitt county area interested in a career in aviation as an officer in the U. S. Air Force.

Headquarters have been established at the Army and Air Force Recruiting Office, Post Office building, Wilson, N. C., by Lieutenant Charles J. Markus, Aviation Cadet Procurement officer. He will explain career opportunities, assist applicants in filling out application forms and give qualifying examinations to those seeking aviation cadet training.

Three types of training are open to young men—the Aviation Cadet Pilot program, the Aviation Cadet Navigator program, and the Officer Candidate program. The latter program, which prepares officers for non-flying junior executive duties in administrative and technical fields, is open to both men and women who are qualified.

The two Aviation Cadet programs, either for pilot or for navigator training are similar in requirements and methods of instruction. Graduates receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Air Force.

Youths Killed As Car Turns Over

Mount Airy, N. C., April 15—(AP)—Two students riding to a high school banquet died last night when their automobile overturned near here.

They were identified as Alton Gray Bryant and James Howard Watson, 17-year-old youths from Ararat, Surry county, who attended Copeland high school.

A third senior at the school, Wayne Moseley, also 17, was released from a hospital after treatment.

Czechs Charged With Propaganda

Washington, April 15—(AP)—The United States has struck back sharply at Czechoslovakia's charges that the official U. S. information service in Prague has been used for spying.

Denouncing the charges as "demonstrably false," the State Department yesterday issued a statement accusing the communist-controlled nation of launching a "deliberately planned propaganda attack."

By Mary Howard

Chapter 9

William rose sharply and went to the open window. He said suddenly, "That would mean a great deal of money."

"Yes, it would mean going to the States, too. They would want you to give an option, but Sydney and I would see you got a contract, or nothing."

Morton had set in silence, grimly regarding a portrait bust of Henry Irving. He said suddenly, "If you're thinking of doing it, lad, you'd better let Andrew look after you. He's honest."

"Of course," he said cautiously. "I'll send you a letter, Mr. Nolan, and then you can handle it—if it comes off. I'm not sure that I want it, though." He turned to Morton, placating him with his bright, eager boy's smile. "What do you think, Governor?"

Morton looked at him solemnly, his heart twisting with pain. Once in a while you got this sort of material, young, quick, intelligent, once in a while you saw it blossom into something great. This boy had it, all of it; he lacked only a heart.

He grunted, not to be beguiled by William's charm.

"If you take it, you can't go back, you know." He caught the dismay in William's eyes, and said crossly. "Ah, you'd thought of that, of course. But it's no use. The stage is a much more exacting mistress than the screen; yes, it sounds pompous, and you can laugh, but it's true. A film director needs brains, but it doesn't matter so much about the actors. On the stage, everyone needs brains. You're like a student now, at a university. These are your malleable years; you'll never get them back again. Hollywood is a place for the finished artists, not the apprentice. The rewards for talent are too great; it never gets a chance to become genius."

William said slowly, "Of course, Governor, you're perfectly right. I do understand. Still, it won't do any harm for me to put myself in Nolan's hands."

"It's a step in the wrong direction!" said Morton implacably. "If I did right by you, I should refuse any offer to release you from your contract with."

"I'd forgotten that," William said anxiously.

"For the sake of your soul, I ought to keep you tied. But I shan't. If you want to go and I make you stay, you'll only seek if they want you, I'll let you go at a price, he added wryly. "I don't want anyone here who doesn't want to work with me."

William was indignant. "Governor, you know what it means to work with you. You know I'm grateful." The old gray eyes peered at him from under the bushy brows. You could never bamboozle Morton. He read you as he read a play, and the characters in a play, and he knew the very meaning of them, and of you in one quick reading. "It might be good experience, but in any case, I shouldn't dream of leaving until the season here is finished. William said.

"If they want you, they'll want you right away," said Andrew. "The part is the lead in the film 'Devil-May-Care'. If they make the offer and you accept, you'll be in Hollywood in five or six weeks."

William turned and faced him curiously. He sensed Andrew's dislike, and resented it. He was used to homage from women, and admiring recognition of his charm from men.

He said, with a quick, appealing, boyish frankness, "Mr. Nolan, how do you feel about this, honestly?"

"I think I can sell you for a lot. It's going to pay Blount, and it's going to pay me, to bring this thing off. But off the record, I'm telling you that Morton's right. That if you have any respect for yourself, your work, or your art, you'll turn it down. It will be slower getting there, but you'll make it in the end. If you take this, they'll tie you up for five years, and you won't learn a thing except how to talk toward a camera, and which is the best side of your face. If you stay with Morton," he shrugged, "you may become one of the immortals."

He went out, and William turned irritably to Morton.

"What does he know about the immortals?" he said arrogantly. "His mother was one. Sarah Nolan."

"You astonish me," said William. He went to the window again and leaned out, his mind teeming, trying to think what he should do. Behind him in the room, Morton said, "Have you seen the casting list for 'Prunella'?"

"Yes."

"And what do you think of it?"

He had forgotten all about Katherine, about their love, and his reason for coming to see Morton.

"I think you've made a mistake in casting Katherine in the name part."

"Why?" Morton glowered at him. "She's not experienced enough. I'm awfully fond of the Nightingale, Governor. If you let her play this and she's no good, it'll break her up. She's a sensitive child."

"And that's why she's playing Prunella," said Morton glaring at him. "Because she's sensitive and sweet and young and innocent." The fierce gray eyes scoured his face, and to his fury William found himself flushing. "Hmmm!" ejaculated Morton. "When you say she's not good enough, do you mean she's not good enough for my direction? Or Houseman's play? Or simply that she's not good enough to play opposite the coming genius, Mr. William Brody?"

William felt the color hot in his cheeks.

"The play is cast, and that's how it will be played. Reading tomorrow on the stage at ten o'clock, first rehearsal on Tuesday, at ten o'clock."

William did not move. "You've heard me read my part," he said coldly. "I'd like the day off tomorrow."

"What on earth for?"

"I'd like to go up to town and have some decent photographs taken."

There was a little silence. All the blustering anger seemed to die out of Morton.

"Do what you like," he said roughly.

"Thank you," said William, and went out of the room.

East Carolina Boy Scout Council Names Executive

W. C. Chadwick, president of the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced the election of Mr. Ralph Mozo for the position of Scout Executive. During the past three months, the Executive Board has been studying the records and interviewing a number of men who are eligible for the position. The final decision was made in a board meeting held in Abokise April 12th. Mozo and a number of other leading executives over the country had been recommended for this, one of the most important Scouting posts in the Southeastern region.

Mozo started his professional Scouting career in Greenville as Field Executive in 1935 under the leadership of Mr. John Sigwald, who was at the time Scout Executive. Since that time, he has served as Scout Executive of a large area at Florence, S.C., and the Tampa, Fla. Council which covers several west coast counties of Florida. In 1943, Mr. Mozo was chosen by the Chief Scout Executive to launch the Air Scout program for Senior Scouts throughout America. He has served as assistant National Director of the Explorer Service until the present time.

Upon interviewing Mozo, the East Carolina Executive Board asked him to accept the executiveship and the National Office has concurred in his taking over this great opportunity of serving Eastern North Carolina.

Mr. Mozo, a native of Florida, is married. He and his wife are graduates of Berry College of Georgia. She is active in church and welfare work and devoted to his career in Scouting. Local Scout leaders are looking with pleasure to Mr. Mozo's coming, which is expected as soon as he finishes some national assignments on the west coast.

Traffic Again Slowed Firemen Going To Scene

Greenville firemen again ran into snarls of traffic as they attempted to reach the scene of a fire in the colored section of town last night.

The men were answering a call to box 156, where an automobile owned by William Johnson, colored, was on fire.

Many firemen had to park their cars a considerable distance from the fire, going to the fire on foot because of the heavy traffic which blocked the road leading to the fire and the area around the fire.

The fire was put out after inflicting severe damage to the car.

The Greenville firemen had previously answered a box alarm to a burning building at 205 Reade Street at three o'clock in the morning. The building which was not in use, was completely engulfed in flames when firemen arrived and it could not be saved.

Large Audience Attends First Section County Music Festival

A huge crowd, estimated at more than 900 persons, filled the Grimesland high school auditorium for the first section of the county Music Festival Friday night.

With six schools participating in the vocal and instrumental music offerings, the crowd spilled over into the aisles of the 650-seat auditorium.

Arnold E. Hoffman, new supervisor of music for the state's public schools and Dr. Rudolph Willmann, music department head at East Carolina, were present to evaluate the music and both were enthusiastic about the renditions.

The second section of the annual Festival will be held April 28 at Farmville. It is being split so that participants from the county can attend the State Music Festival in Greensboro this week.

The program included singing by groups from the county high schools and grammar grades.

The program follows: Ayden primary grade Rhythm Band—"La Sorella" by Berel, arranged by Huffer; "March Militaire" by Schubert, arranged by Huffer; Ayden Grammar grades singing "Minuet" by Mozart, done as a folk dance.

Grimesland and Primary—"Circus Parade," rhythm and singing; Grimesland Grammar grades—"Norwegian Folk Song and Dance," "Highland Schottische," "Mistieu Banjo," arranged by Wehrmann; "Beautiful Blue Danube;" "Dream Bells" by Weddig; Grimesland high school glee club—"Glow Worm" by Lincke, and "Little Boy Blue" by Robertson.

Grifton Grammar grades—"Water Boy" by Pitcher, Kenneth Stancil, soloist; "You Tell Me a Dream," Daniel Stafford, soloist; "Silent Night," "Wedding of Miss Duck," a North Carolina folksong; "Banjo Sam," Earl Tucker Braxton, soloist; and "Birds' Conversation," a North Carolina folksong.

Stokes Grammar grades—"Come and Dance With Me," folk dance from Hansel and Gretel. Stokes high school—"The Holy City" by Adams, "Londonderry Air," and "Little Red Shoes," a duet with Margaret and Delma Smith.

Pactolus High school—"Song of Peace" by Sibelius, and "Gypsy Trail" by Galloway.

Chicod High school—"A Real Low Down Passo Am L," solo by Ernie L. Hardee.

After the program refreshments were served in the Grimesland home economics classrooms.

Directors of the groups are: Ayden, Rosa Jones Little; Grifton, Clarissa May; Chicod, Roy Roy Cuneo; Grimesland, Jeanette Parker, Oma Bliss Lewis, accompanist; Stokes, Mrs. Marie Williford, Jimmy Bowers, accompanist, and Pactolus, Mrs. Paul Davenport.

Denies Freedom Came On July 4

July 4th marks American Independence but a plaintiff's testimony this morning in Superior Court denied the fact of his own freedom on that date.

That was the day he was married in 1941 and his bliss was short-lived because he separated from his wife one month to the day after the ceremony.

The action was uncontested since he had not seen the woman since the separation, August 4, 1941. The divorce was granted promptly by the jury but not after a few remarks had been made about the "preludious wedding date" by the plaintiff, the Solicitor and the judge.

Solicitor Dick Bundv reminded him of his Independence Day marriage and Prizzelle followed up with a question about whether he realized what he was getting into that day. The Judge reminded him he did not have to answer—it was on off-the-cuff remark and the man left the box with his independence of marriage responsibility.

In a short session in the jury room, the Grand Jury disposed of all its business by noon, having returned true bills in the three cases presented to it.

The bills returned concerned: Clifton Johnson, three counts of breaking and entering and larceny; Hassell G. Carter, carnal knowledge; and W. E. Adams, non-support. The Jury was discharged and paid, scarcely two hours after it met.

Other judgments handed down during this morning's court were: Luby Earl Worthington, larceny of automobile; two years to began at end of present sentences.

Magnolia Hogue, illegal possession of non-tax-paid liquor for purpose of sale; plea of nolo contendere, two years suspended on payment of fine and costs and abstein from sale and possession of illegal liquor for a period of five years.

Take Profit Out Of Moonshining

By CHESTER WALSH

"Manufacturing moonshine whiskey in Pitt County is not a profitable business for the operators or those who supply the merchandise—sugar, meal, molasses and high price distilling equipment," Pitt County ABC Officer J. M. Ward stated to a Daily Reflector reporter today when he stated that his men had raided four moonshine distilleries during last week.

Ward, J. L. Taylor and Claude Manning raided and destroyed an up-to-date whiskey distillery Saturday afternoon between Venters Crossroads and Stokestown in Pitt County. Ward said it was a 100-gallon copper pot type still, complete with cap and connections, with two copper coils and two 50-gallon coolers, and one 50-gallon doubler and 700 gallons of mash contained in fourteen 50-gallon barrel fermenters.

None of the operators was present when the officers raided the still.

The distillery was heated by two army oil burners, with pressure tanks and pumps. The "moonshiners" were using 50 pounds of sugar to the barrel, raiding officers stated.

ABC Officer Ward said the still was not in operation when he and his men raided it, but it appeared to have been in operation as late as Friday afternoon.

Collected About $450 In Canvass

Greenville Junior Woman's club sponsoring the Dr. T. M. Watson Memorial fund, collected about $450 in the house-to-house canvass for funds in its "Bread Day" campaign Sunday, Mrs. Clyde Hollowell, publicity chairman, reported today. She said other funds are expected to come in the mail.

Mrs. R. C. Pierce, president of the Junior Woman's club, said today that a full report of the "Bread Day" canvass will be published Wednesday.

Funds derived from the Dr. Watson Memorial fund are used for the benefit of children.

Parking Tickets For Number Automobiles In Zoned Section

Police tagged a dozen or more automobiles today that had parked on the west side of Evans street from Five Points to Seventh street after that area of the street had been zoned for a special purpose. The parking violation will cost each of the drivers of those cars one dollar when they take their tickets to the police station.

Capt. Johnny Mobley, in charge of traffic today, pointed out to a reporter that when the brown bags are placed on parking meters it means that area is temporarily closed to parking; reserved for special loading, or zoned to be cleared of traffic for a funeral or parade.

Last Rites . . .

Full Patrol honors were presented by members of the State Highway Patrol.

Captain Jones, son of the late Wyatt and Mary Harris Jones, was born in Ayden and attended the Winterville schools. He enlisted in the U.S. Army at the age of 17 and remained a member of the Army until he was honorably discharged July 7, 1920. He was elected Chief of Police in Greenville July 1, 1920, and held this position until August, 1928. At this time he resigned to become chief of police for the city of Washington, N.C., and this position he held for a year. He then resigned to help organize the North Carolina State Highway Patrol. He was made commander of Troop A of the State Patrol and was stationed in Greenville, maintaining this position until September 1, 1949.

At that time he was transferred to Fayetteville as commander of Troop B of the State Patrol. He was a member of the Immanuel Baptist Church, the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, the Forty and Eight, Pythagoras Lodge No. 248, A.F.&A.M., Chapter No. 50, North Carolina Masons, and Bethlehem Commandery No. 29, Knights of Templar of Greenville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Sarah Piver Jones; three daughters, Mrs. Thornton A. Dodds, Mrs. Ralph H. Heidenreich and Miss Sarah Jones, all of Greenville; two grandchildren, Linda E. Dodds and T. Lester Dodds, both of Greenville; a brother, Jasper L. Jones of Greenville; and two sisters, Mrs. Jesse O. Baker and Mrs. Addie J. Neley of Brentwood, Md.

young folks aren't learning it today, it's time they started. It's time their elders see that the children do get started.

You probably are asking what religious education has to do with foreign affairs. Well, it has a mighty lot to do with foreign affairs.

The Communists themselves recognize religion (any type of religion) as one of the greatest dangers they face in their drive to Communize the world. They are fighting it tooth and nail, just as Hitler fought it before them. They recognize that Communism and religion are incompatible.

Because they do regard religion as so dangerous to their cause, the Communists have developed a special technique in dealing with it. They concentrate on the young folks, on the basis that the youth-supplied by the AEC.

When a reporter wanted to know what literature, the scientist listed a weekly news magazine (Time), a monthly magazine (Scientific American) and an article in the United Nations World.

The AEC declined to confirm or deny any of the statements made by its staff scientist.

After the commission sent out its keep-mum request to its workers, a reporter asked whether the scientist's talk had brought it about.

No, said the AEC—the request would have been sent out whether or not he had made the talk.

Was the scientist's talk the sort of thing the AEC was trying to avoid?

All the commission would say was this:

"Any statement relating unclassified (non-secret) information to weapons would not be regarded as being in an appropriate area for comment under the language of the request."
