Settlement Near In Phone Dispute As Talks Go On

Confident Federal Mediators Report Progress After Strike Postponed

New York, April 26—(AP)—Telephone workers and the huge Bell System appeared to be heading toward a general wage settlement today after indefinite postponement of the national phone strike set for this morning.

New talks that lasted all night and into this morning in New York City were adjourned to a later hour today without any final agreement. But confident federal mediators reported continued progress.

Two major moves toward peace came quickly last night after the strike was postponed by the CIO Communications Workers of America (CWA), and talks resumed with the Bell parent corporation, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and its subsidiaries.

First, union long distance operators announced the essentials of a wage agreement granting pay raises up to more than $5 a week.

Second, union equipment installers—already striking against a Bell subsidiary, Western Electric Co.—called off plans to picket and start jamming long distance telephones today.

The break in the seven-month fight that threatened to paralyze the nation's phone system came in a message late yesterday from Joseph A. Bieme, president of the CWA, from Washington to his leaders in New York.

"Recent developments indicate the possibility of agreement in the present Bell System dispute," he told them.

"There will be no strike Wednesday. There will be no picket lines until and unless ordered by the executive board."

The sudden change in front came without explanation, but it was believed that the possibility of direct federal intervention may have inclined the company toward new negotiations.

It was understood that Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation Service, had indicated that the government's next step might be to call a presidential fact-finding board to weigh the merits of the dispute.

The company is believed to have viewed this possibility with distaste. In any event, a new and hopeful air came almost at once from the new talks last night.

Romanians Begin News Clampdown; Claim Espionage

London, April 26—(AP)—Leonard Kirshen, a Romanian national who served as Bucharest correspondent for the Associated Press, was arrested yesterday in the Romanian capital, Bucharest, on charges of espionage.

The arrest of Marcel Pohné, of the Jewish telegraphic agency, also was announced. Both he and Kirshen were accused of delivering espionage information to the U.S. and British information services.

Last week AP facilities in Bulgaria were cut off. Two weeks ago Czechoslovakia's communist government expelled the last American correspondent of the AP remaining in Prague.

The arrest of Kirshen and Pohné, the Bucharest dispatches said, was announced at the trial of five Romanians charged with espionage.

Flash Flood Spreads Over Minnesota Town

Missing Witness In Lattimore Case Is Found After 'Blackout'

Washington, April 26—(AP)—A mysteriously missing witness in the Owen Lattimore case turned up safe but nervous today 20 hours after he had vanished from a Washington hotel.

John J. Huber, described as a one-time FBI informer, telephoned his wife at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., at 7:30 a. m. that he had "blacked out" yesterday shortly before he had been due to appear at the senate inquiry into charges of Communism in the government.

Although there had been hints that he might have met with foul play, Mrs. Huber said he seemed to be well. She added he had sounded nervous, tired and upset in telling her: "I had a blackout . . . I am in New York . . . I'll be home this evening . . . I can't talk now."

The disappearance and hunt for Huber came amidst these other fast-breaking and tumultuous developments in the inquiry.

In an assertion by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that Louis Budenz had identified as a Communist a man in a "very, very important job" in the state department, McCarthy told the senate late yesterday that Budenz, a former Communist, "put the finger" on the individual in secret testimony to the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee investigation McCarthy's charges that Reds and fellow travelers have infested the state department.

Dr. Bella V. Dodd, a member of the Communist party's National committee until she was expelled from the party last year, testified she never knew Lattimore as a Communist, a fellow traveler, "or even a friend of the party."

Budenz has testified party leaders told him that Lattimore, a far eastern affairs specialist, was a member of a Communist cell, Dr. Dodd, before an overflow crowd in the big hearing room, accused Budenz of "dishonest testimony."

The inquiry committee issued subpoenas for Earl Browder, former head of the Communist party and for Jack Stachel, Stachel is one of the 11 top Communist leaders recently convicted of conspiring to overthrow the government by force.

Maragon Found Guilty On Two Perjury Counts

Federal District Court Took One Hour, 36 Minutes To Convict Him

Washington, April 26—(AP)—John Maragon, who used to have friends at the White House, was convicted today of perjury in a Senate investigation.

A federal district court jury took one hour and 36 minutes to convict him of charges that he lied in testifying last July that:

- 1. He had only one bank account. In Washington, in 1945-46. The evidence showed he had another there in Texas.
2. He had severed connections with Albert Verley and Co., a Chicago importing co., when he took a temporary job with the State Department overseas in 1945.

But Maragon was cleared on one of the main counts the government brought against him—that he perjured himself in saving he negotiated no business with the government and received no money for negotiations from 1945 to until the middle of last year.

On each of the two counts on which he was found guilty, Maragon could be sent to jail for as long as eight months to two years or for as long as 40 months to 10 years.

The courts rarely impose the maximum sentence. Maragon, dressed in a dark blue suit, heard the verdict with little show of emotion.

Carrier Boy Is Struck By Auto

A Daily Reflector carrier boy was painfully injured yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a passing automobile at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Center Street.

Jerry Phillips was making his rounds when the accident occurred. According to the carrier boy, he was thrown from his bicycle at the time of the crash. The driver is reported to have stopped and asked the boy if he was hurt. Phillips, who at the time was too shocked and scared to really know what had happened, told the man that he was not.

Upon hearing this, the man is alleged to have returned to his car and left the scene of the accident. The driver did not leave his name or address when he left, a witness at the scene stated.

Several persons living nearby rushed to the assistance of the boy and carried him into a house to bathe his wounds. One of the neighbors was able to take down the license number of the car which struck the boy. It was further stated.

After a quick examination it was found that Phillips had suffered a broken nose and minor cuts on his arms and legs.

His bicycle was a total loss. The boy's parents, notified of the accident, arrived on the scene and carried the lad to the hospital.

After being patched up, the boy returned to the Daily Reflector office, told his boss that he would be late delivering his papers. He then went on to deliver his papers, with his mother driving the car and his little sister carrying the papers for him.

British Cotton Leaders Arrive

New York, April 26—(AP)—A delegation of leaders of the British cotton industry arrived here last night on the liner Mauretania.

They were en route to Washington for the International Cotton Standards committee meeting, at which they will discuss the importation of American cotton into Britain.

"The difficulty as to exchange," he said, "is that we buy too much from you people and sell too much to others. We are very fond of United States made goods. We dress the same way you do, like the Serious Forest Fires Continue In Eastern N. C.

Forester Says Conditions Are About As Bad As They Can Possibly Get

Raleigh, N.C., April 26—(AP)—Serious forest fires continued to blaze today in eastern North Carolina.

The State Forestry Division reported that light showers had helped the fire situation in the west, but that rains had not been heavy enough to remove the fire threat.

In the east, where little or no rain had been reported, Assistant State Forester W. J. Clark said "conditions are about as bad as they can possibly get."

Scattered showers were expected in the eastern section late in the day, he said.

Clark said one of the most serious fires was still burning out of control near Comfort in Onslow County after destroying between 12,000 and 15,000 acres of woodland.

Other large fires in Onslow County, one near Piney Green and one near Richlands, have been brought under control after burning over several thousand acres, Clark reported.

Clark said that a blaze in Jones and Onslow Counties between Maysville and Pollockville which threatened the Croatan National Forest broke out again last night on the edge of the forest and burned an additional 1,500 acres before being brought under control. Clark said it was believed the fire was set deliberately. It already had burned over 2,500 acres.

A new fire in Carteret County near Atlantic has burned between 2,000 and 3,000 acres, and one near Pungo in Hyde County has covered about 600 acres. Clark described the Pungo fire as dangerous because it is burning down in the peat-like swamp land. Two other smaller fires in Hyde also were reported.

Four other fires of between 300 and 500 acres each—one in Bertie, Gates and Tyrrell and two in Martin—were reported under control.

Graham To Be At Woman's Club

Senator Frank P. Graham will be at the Woman's Club in Greenville Friday afternoon from 4 o'clock to 5:30 to shake hands and talk with people of Pitt County who visit the club during those hours, one of the Graham supporters in the county announced.

Graham is seeking reelection to the Senate, and will be here Friday for the first annual Roosevelt dinner which will be held in the Wright auditorium on the East Carolina campus Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Attlee Government Staves Off Defeat On Gas Tax

London, April 26—(AP)—The Labor government staved off by only five votes today a Parliamentary defeat which would have forced it to resign.

It was Prime Minister Attlee's narrowest escape so far in the new House of Commons elected Feb. 23.

The vote came on a government proposal to double the gasoline tax from nine pence (10.5 cents) to a shilling and a half (21 cents).

Although handicapped by illness in the ranks, government forces won through, 304 to 299, over the combined opposition of Winston Churchill's conservatives and the liberal party.

The government triumphed again by the same vote in the day's second and final test of strength involving proposals in its 1950-51 budget for a 33 1-3 per cent purchase tax on trucks and other commercial motor vehicles.

The victory in the house coincided with another close win for labor. The government upped its overall margin in the house to eight votes with the election of a Laborite in Scotland. The victory, however, did not come in time for today's crucial test.

Big Fire Loss

Fayetteville, N. C., April 26—(AP)—District forester L. E. Hicks said today that 50,000 acres of timberland in eighth South-central counties of North Carolina had been burned in the last week.

He named the counties as Cumberland, Harnett, Sampson, Hoke, Roberson, Wayne, Johnston and Bladen. The largest fire, he reported, was a 15,000-acre outbreak in lower Bladen county. He said a 2,000-acre fire in Sampson county, which had been thought extinguished, had broken out anew.

A slight drizzle fell in this area today. It was insufficient to put out the fires.

Washington Sources Convinced YDC Talk Here Will Attempt To Help Sen. Graham

(From The Reflector's Washington Bureau) Washington, April 26—(AP)—Vice-President Barkley can be expected to put his weight behind the candidacy of Senator Frank P. Graham when Barkley speaks in Greenville before the Young Democratic Clubs Friday night.

Washington sources who have talked with Barkley this week and who have an eye on the North Carolina political situation are fully convinced the Veep will attempt to aid Graham's campaign for senator.

It is administration policy not to take sides openly in Democratic primaries, and Barkley will call no names. However, through the general theme of his speech, he hopes to outline the administration philosophy—thus supporting the views of Senator Graham as they have been expounded, these sources said.

As usual, Barkley is expected to give an "off the cuff" speech before Young Democrats. His near sightedness makes delivery of written addresses too difficult for routine speeches. He resorts to written addresses only for radio speeches, or for very brief personal appearances.

He has not fully made up his mind about the different points to be covered by his Greenville speech, but it is thought he will harp on the grandeur of the Democratic Party—as it is now, and as he hopes it will be after the fall elections.

It will be remembered that last summer Barkley told a group of Rowan county men in Washington that while the administration took no part in primaries "we do hope you will send Frank Graham back to the Senate."

Mrs. Barkley last night said she would not be able to accompany the vice president on his trip to Greenville because of previous commitments in Washington. According to present plans, Barkley will fly to Greenville in a private plane owned by Rep. Thurman Chatham of Elkin. He will arrive here early Friday evening, and plans to catch a train back to Washington the same night.

A spokesman for the Pitt county Young Democratic club said today approximately 300 tickets for the banquet already have been obtained by people in various parts of the county, and that another 100 tickets are expected to be secured by Pitt counties before Friday. The tickets are $5 each.

Tickets may be obtained from members of the YDC ticket committee throughout the county, and also from Miss Mary Bell Eldridge, treasurer for the rally, at Tadlock Insurance agency.

House Group Approves Boost In Defense Funds

Slow Progress In Superior Court

Superior Court was slow during the afternoon yesterday and this morning with only one judgment handed out by Judge Walter J. Bone.

William Earl Phillips, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 18 months, sentence suspended on three years probation. He is to pay $30 for medical expenses to Willie Green at the rate of $10 per month beginning May 6.

The jury returned a not guilty verdict in the trial of Freddie Lee Coward, charged with incest and rape. He was tried on only the incest charge with the state taking a nol pro on the rape charge.

A mis-trial was ordered by Bone in the trial of Cash L. Bradshaw, indicted for assault on a female.

During this morning's court the jury heard the beginning of the manslaughter case against Kenneth L. Jackson, indicted for the death last February 23 of J. H. Worthington on the Ayden highway.

Bone is still deliberating the judgment on David Foreman, found guilty of a criminal attack on a female between the ages of 12 and 16 years.

Appropriations Committee Recommends Increase Asked By Defense Secretary Johnson In Closed Door Talk

Washington, April 26—(AP)—The House Appropriations committee today recommended the 1951 military budget be increased by $350,000,000 asked by secretary of defense Johnson, to tighten the nation's bulwarks against Russia.

Urging the additional funds, Johnson told Congress the Russian atomic explosion had come "somewhat in advance of the date we had anticipated." He said that caused a complete reevaluation of defense plans by both the United States and the North Atlantic pact nations.

The secretary and members of the joint chiefs of staff appeared before both senate and house appropriations committees to review events leading to the plea for more money.

Besides the Soviet atomic explosion, Johnson spoke of the increased strain in international relations and said:

"None of this presents a happy prospect; but the cold war is not a happy circumstance. Johnson testified behind closed doors but later handed out a statement covering the gist of his testimony.

The Stubborn Exile

More About Ivan Mestrovic, Yugoslav Sculptor, Who Resolves Tito's Plea To Return Home Until Archbishop Stepanic Is Released From Prison; Firm Man

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Ivan Mestrovic, world famous Yugoslav sculptor who is a voluntary exile in America, dropped in on me in New York yesterday and I extracted from him an interesting development in his differences with Generalissimo Tito—a further request from Tito that Mestrovic return home.

I use the word "extracted" advisedly, because the good doctor doesn't give up information about himself readily. However, that's understandable in view of his delicate position in relation to the Yugoslav chief of state.

As reported in previous columns, Tito has sent numerous messages to Mestrovic by envoys, urging the sculptor to return home and promise him personal security. The Generalissimo's ostensible interest in getting the doctor back home is that Mestrovic not only is an international figure in the art world but is regarded by his countrymen as a great patriot.

While Mestrovic's personal security has been guaranteed, he always has replied that he wouldn't return to Yugoslavia until his great friend, Archbishop Alojzije Stepanic, of Zagreb, is released from prison. The prelate was sentenced in October,

1946, to 16 years in prison for "crimes against the state."

The Generalissimo finally offered the archbishop his liberty if he would go to Rome and stay there. Tito didn't want him in Yugoslavia. The archbishop refused to accept his liberty unless he could remain with his own people.

The latest is a further invitation to Mestrovic, offering him a special passport, ok'd by the Generalissimo himself, permitting the doctor to go in and out of Yugoslavia as he sees fit. The sculptor tells me his answer now is that he won't return until Stepanic not only is released but is permitted to remain in his own country.

Maybe I am over sentimental, but it strikes me that there is something heroic in such a friendship. It's akin to that of Dumas' three guardsmen—one for all and all for one. Whether the Generalissimo will change his mind regarding the archbishop remains to be seen. I don't believe Tito will get Mestrovic back until Stepanic is freed and allowed to stay in Yugoslavia to work among his own people.

There is a firmness about Mestrovic's position. (Continued on page ten)

Committee Votes Cut In Movie, Sports Excise Tax

Washington, April 26—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee voted today to cut in half—from 20 per cent to 10—the federal excise tax on tickets to movies and sports events.

The committee took the action in approving another $240,000,000 slash in the excise tax list. This brought the total of tentatively approved cuts to $875,000,000.

This is far in excess of the $190,000,000 reduction President Truman had proposed for that part of the bill which the committee has considered. Mr. Truman has threatened a veto of tax-cutting legislation if his recommendations are ignored.

The committee yet may approve other slashes or around $500,000,000 in transportation and communications excises to bring the total well over $1,000,000,000, far beyond the total $655,000,000 excise cut Mr. Truman set.

The committee's cuts on admission excises would total about $180,000,000.

In addition to slashing the general admission levy in half, the committee decided to exempt completely from any tax the tickets to non-profit, educational, and charitable shows, to county fairs and carnivals and such.

However, a 10 per cent levy would be collected on the tickets to college sports events, as well as professional sports. Sports events of schools other than colleges would be exempt completely.

Aside from acting on new parts of the excise list, the committee reconsidered some reductions already made and boosted them by new millions.

However, chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) insisted that all action thus far is tentative, and may be revised later.

Canadian Gov't Official In City

Director Of Mint Voices Optimism Over Prosperity

One of the top ranking officials of the Canadian government spent yesterday and today in Greenville visiting friends here on his way back to Canada after a vacation in Florida.

Walter C. Ronson, master, Royal Canadian Mint, and Mrs. Ronson arrived in Greenville yesterday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Stroud.

Ronson, who directs the minting of money for the Dominion of Canada, said in a sidewalk interview this morning business in Canada is good, and the people there are optimistic about the prospects for continued prosperity.

"We have a little unemployment but nothing that worries us at all," he commented.

As for the effect of the devaluation of the British pound is having on the commerce and business of Canada, Ronson said his country probably is buying a little more from the British under the devaluation, but not a great deal. He added, however, that Canadians always have traded extensively with England and other parts of the British Commonwealth. He said Canada is "most anxious" to build up its trade.

"The difficulty as to exchange," he said, "is that we buy too much from you people and sell too much to others. We are very fond of United States made goods. We dress the same way you do, like the

Woods Fires At Alarming State In Pitt County

Scattered woods fires in Pitt county have approached alarming proportions, County Forester N. S. (Kid) Tyson said today. The woods are as dry as tinder and burn like lightning whenever a fire gets started.

"Fires are breaking out at so many places the forest fire wardens are unable to keep up with them and we simply cannot put out the fires. We need a heavy rain and we need it now," the forest warden said.

Richard (Dick) Rankin, a forester, who was with Tyson here today said he had not had rest in two nights while assisting the fire wardens in fighting fires.

Suit the Bread to the Filling

SANDWICH TIME is almost any time at all. But they're never more popular than in spring and summer when you'll rely on them for auto trips, picnics, beach parties and outdoor teas. Shown above is an appetizing set-up from Good Housekeeping magazine which presents a complete 32-page "Sandwich Manual" in its May issue. From dainty mouthfuls for the ladies to hefty triple-deckers for the h-men, there's an ideal sandwich for every occasion. Suit the bread to the fillings as shown in the picture—meatbread for cream cheese, enriched white for chicken, wheat or rye for ham or beef. Make your mixed fillings in generous portions, but don't forget the Bakers of America reminder that "bread is two-thirds of the sandwich." So the right bread is just as important as the filling.

Army And Navy Plan Production Of Amazing New War Weapons

Washington, April 26—The Army expects soon to have weapons that will knock down 12-mile-high warplanes. The navy is ready to build an atomic-powered submarine.

And a huge-wiking rocket will be launched next month from a ship on the equator in mid-Pacific to carry aloft instruments for recording information on the cosmic ray.

These striking new developments in the country's campaign of military preparedness were disclosed one after the other, in quick succession yesterday.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, revealed that scientists were ready to use atomic power in undersea craft when he asked Congress for authority to build a "U-235-boat."

This announcement followed the disclosure last week of a sudden switch in atomic development, to push the design and building of a ship propulsion unit powered by nuclear energy. Two big industrial contractors, Western House Electric and General Electric, are working on the project for the atomic energy commission.

Sherman gave no hint as to the design of the atomic-sub, estimated to cost $40,000,000.

In asking for money to push a $335,000,000 stepped-up construction program, however, he referred to the craft, along with others on which the navy is working, as being of "radical design."

The J-235 boat was given fourth priority among the projects he listed. These included:

An undersea vessel that would use hydrogen peroxide as a source of oxygen, a 250-ton pig-a-back radar-picket submarine, a larger sub-mersible with a "closed circuit" plant, a cruiser converted into a guided missile combat vessel, ten additional submarines with the German-developed snorkel breathing tube, and a fleet of new-type shallow-draft mine sweepers.

Although, the navy chief listed 112 vessels.

Sherman was the first witness as the committee began hearings on a measure by chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) to authorize a $500,000,000 outlay to build 50,000 tons of new shipping and modernize 200,000 tons of ships now operating.

The disclosure about the high-altitude anti-aircraft weapons was made by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff. He said in a radio broadcast that the Army has in advance stages of development new rockets "we are confident" will destroy planes above 60,000 feet and a guided missile which "gives promise" of even greater range and accuracy.

Kills Self Over School Worries

New York, April 26 —(AP)—A traffic patrolman's son, worried about his high school report card, killed himself yesterday with his father's service revolver.

Police said 15-year-old Donald Finn shot himself in the temple.

His mother, wife of Patrolman Timothy Finn, found the boy sprawled across his bed at home when she returned from work.

Police said the boy was worried that his report card, due yesterday, would not show passing grades.

Believes Plane Downed At Sea

Stockholm, Sweden, April 26 —(AP)—A Swedish naval staff expert expressed the opinion today that the Russians shot down the missing U.S. Navy Privateer plane 28 miles outside the 12-mile limit claimed by the Soviets in the Baltic.

The officer, Cmdr. Stellan Hermelin, head of the shipping section of the Swedish naval staff, said in an interview he believed the wrecked undercarriage of a plane found in the Baltic yesterday was from the missing Navy patrol plane.

He said he based his estimate of the crash spot on prevailing water currents and winds in the Baltic at this time of year. He estimated that the plane was shot down almost 40 miles straight west of Potalangen on the coast of Soviet-occupied Lithuania.

The United States has charged that the unarmed patrol plane, with 10 men aboard, was shot down on April 8 over the Baltic. Russia contended a B-29 trying to photograph Soviet military installations exchanged fire with Soviet fighters which chased it away from Latvian territory near Libau.

DAY OF RECKONING

A certain insurance company issued a folder on which appeared the caption, "After the wreck—comes the reckoning." There was a lurid picture drawn of what may happen to a person if he does not make provision to protect himself against the day of mishap. The truth is emphasized that if there is a wreck, there is always a reckoning.

There are people who believe they can beat this system. But if these people are not in the insane asylums they ought to be, for the system which operates in God's universe is infallible. Men make mistakes, but God does not. "There is a wideness in God's mercy like the wideness of the sea," but God's mercy is in perfect balance with his wisdom.

For every one of us there comes a day of reckoning. Rather it should be said that every day is a day of reckoning, although there are certain great periods of reckoning, and a final reckoning when we shall all stand before the final judgment seat of Christ. But when there is a wreck, then one may indeed be anxious and afraid. Everything is in God's hands, and therefore in the hands of mercy and love. But this does not abrogate the law that in God's universe a wreck must always be followed by a reckoning.

Combating The Killer-Cancer

What is cancer? Why should we be interested in doing something to stamp out the raging disease which is destroying so many people of our community and state every year?

Well there are several reasons, but it suffices to say that a concerted effort against cancer is necessary if our families, friends and neighbors are to be spared the ravages of the dreaded killer.

Maybe you think cancer is something which always strikes in another family, or something that will by-pass Greenville and Pitt county in its plague of the country. If you think that, you're wrong, and the best way for you to do something to protect the people of our community from the painful death of cancer is to contribute to the current cancer drive.

Statistics show that one out of every eight people now living will die of cancer. That means in Pitt county alone over 8,000 people will die the slow death of cancer if a cure for the disease is not found. The disease can be cured if it is discovered in the early stages; but after it has progressed so far, the physicians are unable to help the victim.

The American Cancer Society has found that over the years cancer enters one home out of every two.

The cancer society needs money to carry on its research program, its educational and preventative work, and just as important it needs funds to aid the people who are suffering with the disease. There have been a number of drives in Pitt county this year, and in most cases they have fallen short of their quota.

The cancer drive is meeting with cool response during this month, but the use for which the money goes is to combat a killer which will touch almost every family in the county if some method of stemming the tide of cancer is not found.

If you have not given to the cancer drive, give for your own protection and the protection of your family.

The U. S. Does Not Need Continued Rent Control

Under pressure from many sides, Congress is faced with the problem of keeping rent controls over the country for another year after June 30, or letting the governmental regulations go the way of other emergency measures which have more than served their purposes.

It has been five years since the end of the war, and yet we still have the federal government saying what residential property may rent for. During the five years since the end of hostilities, we have either come to the point where the economy is sufficiently stable to cope with its own price problems, or we have come to know that we must have governmental price controls for the rest of our existence as a nation.

controls should be lifted on a nation-wide basis. It is true that there may be slight increases in rent immediately following the removal of the controls, but the people who are striving to keep the rent controls are the same ones who said prices would reach unscalable heights when controls were removed from food. We know what happened when controls were removed from food. The prices showed a slight increase, but leveled off and many foods which before were unobtainable were once again plentiful on the store shelves and the home pantry shelves. The American people have suffered less without the government control of food prices than they did when the controls were in effect.

When rent controls were removed in Pitt county in December there were a few complaints of increased rents during the first week of the adjustment, but since that time there has been no indication of skyrocketing rentals in Greenville or the other towns in the county. Both the tenants and the property owners seem better satisfied to once more get back to the status of minding their business rather than having the government do it for them.

The United States does not need permanent government control on rents, and we believe Congress should reject the President's demand that these controls be continued for another 12 months. In the areas where controls have been removed, the results have been satisfactory. We believe this is ample reason to assume the same results will be nation-wide if the federal regulations are abolished June 30.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 26—Democratic National Chairman William Boyle makes fewer speeches than his rival up the Avenue here, Guy Gabrielson, but the former Kansas City policeman has virtually insured Harry S. Truman's 1952 renomination through the recent alliances he has negotiated with the leaders of the big state-city machines.

It is estimated that he already has approximately 400 delegates in the White House bag, with absolute certainty that he can pick up the additional 150 odd necessary for renomination. As further insurance, the federalized political organization plans to prevent the emergence of any possible "pretender" to the crown. The Truman-Boyle strategy makes it more likely that the National Chairman can carry out his plan to "renominate Harry Truman without the aid of a single southern state."

BASIS—With only a few exceptions, these bosses consist of men who have fought or connived their way to the top almost simultaneously with the Missouri dynasty, and have therefore been beholden to it for patronage and other favors.

The dominant figures suffer from no hangover allegiances to the Roosevelt faction as represented by the Americans for Democratic Action. Indeed, like Mr. Truman's own friends, they look down their noses at the Humphrey-La Follette-Roosevelt coalition as "amateurs." In a convention brawl the newcomers would have scant success against the old-timers.

Messrs. Truman and Boyle operate on almost the same basis that existed between Franklin D. Roosevelt and James A. Farley, although the Missouriian takes a more active part in earthy politics than his Hyde Park predecessor did.

In general, however, the system seems to be for Mr. Truman to formulate a popular and appealing program, such as the "fair deal," while Mr. Boyle digs down deep for the votes. Like Mr. Farley, Mr. Boyle has no keen interest in issues or ideals.

SUPPORT—The presidential pardon of former Mayor Curley of Boston at the request of House Majority Leader McCormack was the action which has prompted pro and anti-Truman politicians to reexamine the current scene as it bears on 1952 possibilities. Despite his imprisonment, Mr. Curley is a powerful and popular figure in the Bay State. The White House kindness should assure his support, and the backing of the Dever-Tobin faction is unquestioned. Although New York Democrats are badly split, Mr. Truman remains on good terms with the O'Dwyer, the Tammany and the up-state rulers.

Pennsylvania Democrats count on him to wrest the Governorship from the Republicans next fall, and to reelect Senate Assistant Leader Francis J. Myers With Jay Cooke and Joseph H. Grundy involved on the GOP side, the stage is set for a typical Truman attack on "the interests" when, as expected, he campaigns in the state.

BOOST—The President gave many an unpublished assist to the John V. Kenny revolt against former Boss Frank Hague in New Jersey. The Kenny-Hart victory in the recent primary seems to have destroyed any chance of a comeback by ancient "I am the law" Hague, who guessed so wrong in 1948 that he backed Eisenhower instead of Truman.

Mr. Truman has shown his solicitude for Illinois Democrats by arranging for his biggest political rally at Chicago on his return from next month's western trip. Jake Arvey, who has shown himself to be a better type of leader than most of his predecessors in the Windy City, will appreciate this boost in the campaign to reelect Senate Majority Leader Lucas.

The Binagogy murder in the White House. Mr. Truman's personally ordered Grand Jury investigation may weaken the slain gangster's North Side political machine, thus permitting James Pendergast, a presidential crony, to return to power. He is a good pal of Mr. Truman and Mr. Boyle.

PRACTICAL—The California Democrats should cause no trouble to the Truman-in-1952 movement, even if James Roosevelt wins the Governorship. In that primary fight, as well as in the Boddy-Gahagan contest, it is expected that the winners will have to string along with the man in the White House.

In fact, it is understood that Mr. Roosevelt has given promises that he will not seek the nomination two years hence, even if his election should make him a legitimate rival. From a practical political standpoint, his best strategy would be to keep friends with everybody, and maneuver himself into a tactical position for 1956.

Mr. Truman is not hurting himself with the remnants of the Ed Crump machine in Memphis by his general hostility to Senator Estes Kefauver's demand for an investigation of national crime. The young legislator gave the veteran politician his worst defeat in many years, and the Tennessee boss is not a forgiving individual.

The fewer he lines Mr. Kefauver enjoys at Washington, the more pleased Mr. Crump will be, and his influential sidekick on Capitol Hill, Senator Kenneth McKellar, chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

PHONES—A Washington official high up in the atom-bomb setup has the phones at his home. The phone connecting him with Capitol Hill, White House State and National Defense personnel working on this problem is painted white, and is used only in an emergency. It is an ultra-secret affair.

Recently, he tried to call his home on the two regular phones, but got no answer. In desperation he tried the white phone. Again, no answer. When he asked his wife why he couldn't get through on the atomic wire, she replied:

"The carpenter we had here today used it to phone his office. The maids were on the other two lines!"

The Atom Isn't All That's Been Split

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

How many times have you heard somebody say, "Oh, for the good old days?" Last night Wife Rachel and I were discussing present-day conditions, and we recalled hearing that expression quite often.

Admittedly, I wasn't living in those "Good Old Days," but from what I've read and heard about them, they really aren't very different from present times.

Take night clubs in the big cities. Twenty-five years ago, back in the speak-easy days, people used to go to a little address and sit elbow-to-elbow in a crowded room, smoking, breathing stale air and drinking gin. And what do they do today? Go to the same little address, sit elbow-to-elbow in the same crowded room, smoke (different cigarettes), breathe the same air and drink gin.

But, they tell me life was so much simpler in the g. o. days. The world was not so hectic as it is today. People didn't worry about taxes, and business recession, and the high cost of living.

To prove or disprove this point, let's drop in on a typical couple in Greenville in the Nineties. We find them discussing the state of things in the g. o. days:

Mr. Couple: I tell you, Lulu Bell, I don't know what this country is coming to. Look at the headlines nowadays. Nothing but taxes, and business recession, and the high cost of living!

Mrs. C.: I know, Zeb. It's getting harder to make both ends meet. Sometimes it's all I can do to make just one end meet.

Mr. C.: It's That Man in the White House!

Mrs. C.: Zeb, dear, watch your blood pressure.

Mr. C.: Just look at this newspaper! Political ring exposed! Panic in Wall Street! War with Spain! Murder, Arson!

Mrs. C.: Things were so much simpler when we were young, Zeb.

Mr. C.: That was the time to be alive.

Mrs. C.: Oh, for the good old days!

And I thank Corey Ford, in Esquire.

REGIONAL—Eastern North Carolina communities are interested in development programs which contemplate participation of several cities and towns for regional progress, instead of the one time idea of each community scrapping every other on a basis of petty rivalry. This fact was emphasized at the meeting of the state board of conservation and development at Goldsboro. One instance of records and made a part of the official minutes was consideration of a long range comprehensive plan for the Neuse River Basin, extending all the way from Person County to Pamlico Sound. The plan is still too new and not complete enough to permit accurate analysis or appraisal. Important fact is there is upcoming an over-all plan for utilization of natural resources within the area. This program contemplates official recognition by state and national governments, and when finally adopted the plan will be enforceable by law.

VOLUNTARY—Another and in some respects more potentially valuable idea calls for wholly voluntary cooperation among the citizens of the southeastern quarter of the state. This voluntary scheme hasn't advanced as far as the Neuse River Basin development proposal, but several enthusiastic sponsors are working on it. The proposal originated with Aubrey Cavanaugh, Warsaw business man and member of the conservation-development board. His idea is to make the people of his section regional conscious. He said he had heard so much about progress in the mountains, and industrial development in the Piedmont, he wants to get his neighbors in which a dozen mountain counties combine efforts to get new business greatly increased but small industries are springing up all through the mountain in communities which just a few years ago were so isolated as to have little contact with the outside world. There are peculiar problems arising out of different climatic and geologic conditions, but thought is not contemplated that any local pride or effort will be discounted. Burgaw and Whiteville will still display rivalry, just as Bryson City and Franklin do. Difference is that under the new plan primary concern will be to sell the region first, the individual community second.

PARALLEL—Sponsors of this regional concept offer a further parallel. They say it is much like a merchants' association promotional sale. Every store in Raleigh, for example, joins in effort to bring customers to town. Then Belk's, Eild's, Boylan-Pearce, Ivey-Taylor Briggs and all the other establishments make individual effort to get the business across their own counters. Further comparison may be found in the fact that the state commerce and industry division is primarily concerned with bringing new business to North Carolina, with specific location of secondary importance. State agencies, as well as power companies and railroads, work hand in glove with any section or community to get new business, but their primary concern is to have it located on their own systems. What Cavanaugh has in mind is for a regional group to take that same attitude with respect to southeastern North Carolina.

PATTERN—There is a pattern for the proposed effort in the Western North Carolina Associated Communities. That is a sort of regional chamber of commerce

They are not in business primarily for the purpose of enticing the young boy in there to shoot pool. Whether the young boys goes in there or not, the pool room will still operate.

It is very unfair to say that the manager of a pool hall is to blame for something that the parents do so little about. A man is not a scoundrel just because he makes his living operating a billiard hall. Some fine people right here in Washington work there, and to place the blame there is like saying that the driver of an automobile is a scoundrel just because he happens to have a wreck.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY (Washington Daily News)
We hear a lot of talk about juvenile delinquency. We hear a lot more than we should. In so many cases the real trouble can be traced to the parents. Then it becomes parental delinquency as well as juvenile delinquency.

We hear right here at home a lot of talk about the teen agers frequenting the pool rooms. Parents in many cases have a tendency to blame the operators of the businesses for the fact that the young boys go into the parlors to participate in a game of billiards.

The operators of the pool parlors are legitimate business men.

We do not think the environment in a pool room is wholesome for a young boy. But for a parent to tell the operator not to admit the boy is another matter. The responsibility should be with the parent and not with the operator.

We know very little about billiards. We know enough to know that the game itself is not what is bad. If the environment happens to be bad at times, then it is because the persons who go there make it so.

To us then, the first responsibility lies with the parents. If they can't control the boy, how do they expect the operator of a pool room to do so.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Retailers say that "backdoor" sales are increasing, especially in furniture and appliances. It's a painful problem; sales lost by established retailers run into millions of dollars a month.

By backdoor sales, they mean sales by individuals and sometimes by firms, who do not maintain regularly established stores or salesrooms. They operate in several ways.

Most wrath is directed against small building contractors who dabble in retail selling. That's because this type of backdoor selling is increasing and because retailers feel that it has been made possible by the complacency or carelessness of their own suppliers.

This is how it works: While building a few houses, a contractor establishes relations with a supplier of stoves, refrigerators and other appliances that are now standard equipment. He gets a price which is sometimes even lower than the price retailers pay. In addition to buying the appliances for houses under construction, he accepts orders from relatives, friends and others at 10 or 20 per cent above the wholesale price. This margin is clear profit because the contractor has none of the expenses of the ordinary retailer.

Another kind of backdoor selling is conducted by "vest-pocket" operators. This is flourishing in both appliance and furniture fields. After making appropriate connections with a supplier, these operators seek orders, among friends, among club members, or door-to-door.

What makes retailers see red is that these sellers frequently send people to regular furniture and appliance stores to decide what they want and then to get the model number. The vest-pocket promises to get the same item at a lower price.

Even more shady practices are found in this kind of business. Some operators send prospects to wholesale, or so-called wholesale, showrooms. There, by pre-arrangement, the wholesale price is boosted, sometimes above the retail price.

One operator gave prospects cards of introduction. Each card was numbered and the number was a code showing how much prices should be boosted for that particular victim.

Established retailers have difficulty in combating these practices. Where they are made possible by suppliers, retailers can refuse to buy from them. When the vest-pocket operators fail to pay business and franchise taxes, they can sometimes get city and state officials to crack down. More often, they can get Better Business Bureaus to act. And, as many retailers have done individually or through associations, they can conduct advertising campaigns to educate the public

Hal Boyle's Column
(For Hal Boyle)
New York —(AP)—Not everybody could write "Salaga Doola Menchika Boola Bubbidi Bubbidi Boo."

It takes an intuitive sense, a feel, a touch, or something. You got it or you haven't got it.

This is the secret of such creation, say Mack David and Jerry Livingston, two rational young men who wrote the current song hit, "Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo" (Copyright Walt Disney Music Corp.).

If you're wondering what "Salaga Doola," etc., means, don't. It means nothing except about $50,000 to David and Livingston, who wrote the music for the movie, "Cinderella." These boys are experts. They have a case history of irrational hits, having turned out "Mairzy Doats" and "Chi Baw, Chi Baw."

Over a cup of coffee, the composer tried to explain how "Bibbidi Bubbidi Boo" came about.

"It's really harder to explain than you think," David began.

"Actually, you go into a room and bang it out," said Livingston. David, being the man who writes the words, did most of the talking. He explained the specific problem that led to the song. They needed a tune and lyrics which would help depict the scene where the fairy godmother turns the pumpkin into a splendid coach and the mice into horses.

"We needed words to suggest the mumbo-jumbo of magic," said Livingston, "but not the usual abracadabra stuff. We needed nonsense words with a good rhythm, to go with the rolling of the coach."

So, putting on their loafers and their sports jackets, they went to work in a studio where they could draw inspiration from the San Fernando Valley and the surrounding Purple Hills.

David was the pacer, Livingston was the sifter. David, the nervous branch of the partnership, wore out the rug and three to four packs of cigarettes a day.

While David was walking up and down, occasionally surrendering to chairs which stretched out to beds, Livingston sat at the piano smoking what he calls his "dreaming cigar." He smoked and "moodied," which means he casually stroked the piano keys, hitting an experimental chord now and then.

"We tried many, many different combinations of sounds, of meaningless words," said David. "We rolled them on our tongue and ran them through our ears. We must have discarded 30 or 40 combinations, and it's funny, isn't it, I can't remember one of them now. Maybe it's because I don't want to."

"It's just an intuitive sense. It either feels right or it doesn't. No other way to explain it."

After two weeks of intensive effort, in the studio, in restaurants and in their homes, David finally came up with the first two lines.

From then on, the lyrics and the melody just rolled out. It took only one more day to finish the job.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—This grand-mother had always "lap-bathed" her own babies and had a "pretty good way" to diaper them too "but with five grandchildren—and about to be a great-grandmother—she was touchy about being called "old-fashioned" when she tried to help care for the new generations of babies that came along.

With 28 other expectant grandmothers and great-grandmothers, she enrolled in a three-day course in modern baby care methods cooked up by the enterprising Miss Lillian Adams, director of the District of Columbia Red Cross nursing service. "There was nothing wrong with the dear little old lady's method of bathing babies—it was just easier to do it the new way," Miss Adams told me. "The class was formed simply to give grandmothers a chance to learn more recent information and newer attitudes on baby care."

The course for grandmothers is in addition to the courses the chapter sponsors for expectant mothers—and fathers Miss Adams said she had been thinking about it for some time. "I've long believed that everyone in the family should have a part in making things easier for the mother," she said. "And it would strengthen the family unit if all had the same interpretation and understanding of the problems."

"It's more like a refresher course," Miss Mary De Laskey, registered nurse with 30 years of Red Cross experience, who is conducting the classes, told me. "We try to point out that the grand-mother has a very rich background, that she isn't out of the picture and is a very fine thing to have around. We caution her however to use diplomacy in taking care of the grandchildren, and we are bringing her up to date on such things, as proper dressing of infants, immunizations, feeding and behavior attitudes." Miss Adams told me, "The response to the first two classes we held was so great that we are thinking now of holding grandmother classes every month. We may even add a course for grandfathers." The grey-haired women, she says, are eager to prove to their daughters and sons they're perfectly capable of taking care of grandchildren. "They ask so many questions, and they want to talk about their experiences with their own babies," she said.

Offer Only One Motive In Two Murders And Suicide

Peru, Neb., April 26—(AP)—Associates today could offer only one motive—distress over the impending loss of his job—for the tragic behavior yesterday of an otherwise mild-mannered psychology professor who shot and killed two fellow college officials, then himself.

For 24 years Dr. Barney K. Baker, 54, had taught on the beautiful "Campus of the Thousand Oaks" at Peru State Teachers College.

Yesterday morning the new college catalog came out. It revealed publicly for the first time what Dr. Baker had known since last fall—that he was being dropped in a reorganization of the school's department of education.

The catalog, said County Attorney Fred C. Kiechel, may have been the trigger that sent the professor walking worldlessly into the offices of the college president and the head of the education department to kill them at their desks.

Slain were Dr. William L. Nicholas, 48, president of the college since 1946, and Dr. Paul A. Maxwell, 56, education department head and Dr. Baker's immediate superior.

Less than an hour later, Baker's body was found in the living room of his home at the edge of the campus. Neatly laid out were his keys, with pieces of paper to identify them, and a typewritten note with instructions for disposal of the body tacked to the front doorbell was another note: "Tell Prof. (C. A.)

Huck (mathematics teacher at the college) to take charge."

Scrawled at the bottom of the typewritten note was the apparent tipoff to the motive:

"Willie (the college president) tried to fire the wrong person."

Kiechel called it "obviously a double murder and suicide" and said there would be no inquest.

Classes halted abruptly at the school, a state owned institution, with about 400 students in a town of about 1,000 persons. They were resumed today.

Center Of Phone Strike Dispute

The boggy pasture surrounding this almost completed television tower near South Bend, Ind., indirectly started the strife of 10,000 telephone equipment workers in 43 states. The dispute that led to the walk-out began with the refusal of six workers to walk through the pasture around the tower. They claimed the field was deep in mud. (AP Wirephoto).

Spring Has Wintry Look Over Parts Of Midwest

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS Spring was cloaked in a dreary, wintry look of snow and ice over parts of the Midwest today.

Sub-freezing temperatures added a further touch of winter. Flood waters in a half dozen midwestern states appeared the only evidence of the spring season.

More snow fell over parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin, today, as northern sections struggled to restore traffic after yesterday's paralyzing blizzard.

The cold air pushed over much of the country from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard. Temperatures dropped below freezing in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. A low of 16 was reported at Minot, N.D.

The snow and cold hampered relief operations in the flood areas of Minnesota and North Dakota where some 6,000 persons already have been made homeless. Flood waters also spread over thousands of acres of lands in South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois.

Rain fell in parts of Michigan and further east in the Appalachians, the middle Atlantic states and the New England region. Elsewhere, generally fair weather was reported.

Pupils Of Third Street School At Williamsburg

Williamsburg, Va.—A group of 32 students from Third Street school in Greenville was here recently touring this one-time colonial capital city which has been restored to its appearance of the 18th century by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The students were accompanied by Mrs. Lois Marshall. They were given a special escorted tour through several of the buildings that have been restored or reconstructed to the way they looked two centuries ago and saw the setting in which many significant acts in the struggle for independence took place. Referred to by educators as a "living laboratory" of early American history, Williamsburg is annually visited by more than a half million persons.

Males arrested in the U.S. during 1949 numbered 713,444 or an increase of 4.5 per cent over 1948. Female arrest prints increased only 2.1 per cent over 1948. Fingerprint cards showing the arrests of women made up 9.9 per cent of all the fingerprint cards received during the year.

Chatham Flies To Numerous Events

Washington, April 25—It's been a long time since North Carolina has sported a congressman who gets around as does Rep. Thurmond Chatham—but Chatham's unprecedented mobility may derive from the fact he is the first Tar Heel congressman to own his own airplane.

The current week is a case in point. In mid-morning yesterday, Chatham flew into Washington, accompanied by Rep. Herbert C. Bonner of Little Washington, and Bonner's secretary, Henry Oglesby of Grifton, who had been fishing guests at the Chatham Currituck Sound camp.

By mid-afternoon, Chatham was off again by plane, this time to Pittsburgh, where he addressed a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner. This morning, he flew back into Washington, but will take off again tomorrow afternoon or the following day, en route to the Currituck camp with a distinguished entourage.

Chatham expects to be accompanied on that trip by Vice President Alben Barkley, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Rep. James P. Richards of South Carolina, ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, of which Chatham is a member, and Reps. Bonner and F. Eitel Carlyle of Lumberton.

If Barkley is unable to leave Washington for that trip, the Chatham plane will fly back here to pick up the Vice President and his wife to fly them to Greenville in time for Barkley to speak to the Young Democratic Club's eastern rally in Greenville Friday. Members of the Currituck party also are expected to fly to the Pitt capital for that event.

Strike Water At 79-Foot Level At Five Points

The Grimesland well diggers boring for water in the rear of the Five Points Food Market, Fifth and Evans streets, struck a good supply of water at the 79-foot level today. They struck a four-foot layer of rock at the 76-foot level and another layer at the 79-foot level. Bill Swindell, manager of the store stated. The diggers plan to go several additional feet for a possible larger supply of water.

Water from the well is to be used for air conditioning when improvements and alterations are made at the store.

Benny Arnold and Josh Manning, owners of the well digging firm, are being assisted by R. E. Manning.

Carbon Plant Recognized For Accident Prevention

The National Carbon plant in Greenville Monday was honored by the North Carolina Department of Labor for having done an outstanding job of accident prevention during 1949.

The firm was awarded the Labor Department's Certificate of Safety Achievement, which was presented to Mr. A. W. Bryan, manager of the company, by Mr. E. D. Whitley, Jr., safety inspector representing the Department of Labor in the Greenville District.

The Certificate cites the plant for having rolled up a conspicuous safety record last year and for work which resulted in a substantial reduction of accidents and the production of safer working conditions, thereby contributing to the prevention of human suffering and curtailing economic waste.

The safety award bears the signatures of State Labor Commissioner Forrest H. Shuford and Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin and was presented jointly in the name of both the State and Federal Labor Departments.

Mr. Whitley explained that the Certificate of Safety Achievement is presented to establishments which qualify in any one of the following three ways: (1) by reducing their accident frequency rates 40 per cent or more compared with the previous year; (2) by having an accident rate 75 per cent or more below the State average for the industry; (3) by having a perfect record of no lost-time accidents during the year. The National Carbon plant qualified last year under the third method, Whitley said.

Promoting industrial safety through the safety awards plan is one phase of the Labor Department's Industrial Manpower Conservation Program. Whitley pointed out. Other features of the program are safety education work and periodic industry-wide inspection drives, he said.

"Making a perfect record, having a very low accident rate, or reducing the rate by 40 per cent or more during a single year show that both the management and employees of a plant mean business about the practice of safety on the job," Whitley said. The Department of Labor is proud to recognize such an achievement.

W. T. Kyzer, manager of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, was on hand for the awarding of the certificate.

Heavy Explosion Wrecks Building

Seattle, April 26—(AP)—A mysterious explosion wrecked a four story apartment building just out of downtown Seattle today.

There were no known fatalities. At least 11 persons were hospitalized for injuries but only two were believed serious.

The sharp jolt rocked the 334 unit Linnea court about 2:25 a. m. jarring neighbors from their sleep for several blocks around.

The building did not burn. "It looked like a 500-pound bomb had dropped through the roof and exploded," one witness said.

The first two floors of the apartment dropped into the basement when the blast destroyed the supports. Windows were blown into adjacent streets.

Several persons were trapped on the upper floors when the rear of the two-year-old building collapsed. All were believed rescued. However, firemen and police searched the demolished building for possible victims.

Cause of the blast was not known. Police Capt. R. F. Maoney said several firemen reported a strong smell of illuminating gas throughout the structure.

Plan Exploring Vast Canyon In Northern Mexico

Los Angeles, April 26—(AP)—Only 500 miles below the U.S.-Mexico border is a great crack in the earth known as Barranca De Cobre (Copper Canyon).

Although never explored, it is believed to be deeper and wider than the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Vague reports from the area, one of the wildest and most isolated of the North American continent, says that here live real "cliff dwellers," last remnants of an ancient race of men.

An expedition prepared to leave Los Angeles today to explore this canyon of mystery. The Los Angeles County Museum and William J. Sheffer, ornithologist, are sponsoring the trip.

Sheffer has made many trips into the region but has never descended into the canyon. He hopes to find new species of tropical and semi-tropical birds.

The great canyon, formed by the Urique River, has been reported to be 20 miles wide and some 7,000 feet deep.

Sheffer has been trying for years to get to the canyon. Each time, disease, accidents or other misfortunes have kept him from reaching the goal. Nine years ago he had an expedition organized and ready to set out. The day he was to start was Dec. 7, 1941. The trip was canceled.

in the war, she wasn't making things she could sell then in turn. So, since she couldn't sell them anything with which to get paid in money—she could have used that to pay them for what they sent her—she asked them to let her owe them for what they sent.

As the war went on, Britain's debt to them piled up. She's been paying off some of it, but she still owes them around $6,000,000,000.

She's paying off in goods she makes or in dollars (they particularly want dollars so they can buy goods here.) Meanwhile, she's getting money help from us in the form of dollars.

She needs those dollars so she can buy things here. Yet, if she could sell here some of the goods she's sending to the sterling area, she'd earn more dollar, to buy more goods here.

And, if she didn't have to pay off some of her debt with dollars the American taxpayers might not have to give her so many dollars for free, since Britain still needs dollars to buy goods here.

So the thinking goes on to the next step:

Suppose we made a gift of dollars to India and Pakistan—as part of our plan for Asia—and, for every dollar we gave them, we asked them to cancel off an equal amount of the money Britain owes them.

That would still give them dollars to buy here. And, since Britain could then send them less goods, she could try to sell those goods here to get more dollars to buy more goods here. And, the more dollars she earned here herself, the fewer dollars America would have to give her.

First Baseman George Hallow, a veteran, who made his initial appearance in a Robin uniform last night, thrilled the 488 paid spectators to no end last night with his spectacular work at first. Not only was he outstanding in his brilliant fielding and his wonderful "stretching" for the ball on numerous occasions, but he also seems to have added the necessary punch needed at the plate. After showing how it should be done with a home run over the right field wall in the fifth with two on, George Banas followed by getting an inside-the-park homer. Perhaps one of the most brilliant catches seen in the local park in many a day was the one in which Hallow made the ninth inning when he brought down Christof's high foul fly with one hand. The lefthanded first sacker who also hits them the same way, played with the Anderson, S.C., club last season. Last year with the Class B team of the Tri-State League he played in a total of 133 games, was at bat 490 times, scored 63 runs, collected 125 hits for an average of .285 for the 1949 season. His hits were for a total of 190 bases, including 27 two-baggers, seven triples and eight home runs. He made a total of six sacrifice hits, stole six bases, was walked 40 times, hit by the pitcher once and knocked in a total of 73 runs and struck out 84 times. As to his ability to handle first sack he handled a total of 1475 chances, including 1,086 putouts, 73 assists, and committed only 16 errors for the season to wind up with a fielding average of .986. He participated in a total of 99 double plays last season.

Catcher Brue Robbins received a split finger down in New Bern Monday night and will probably be out of the lineup for several days. The catching duties until his return will be carried on by Tito Quint, a rookie.

Thomas E. Minyard, rookie outfielder has been given his release. It was announced yesterday by Business Manager Dallas Blackiston.

Jobe Griffin, who has been placed on the disabled list, is confined to the bed at his home in Wilson as a result of food poisoning. The former Atlantic Christian College right-hander was having trouble with his control on the mound last season. Now he has worse troubles. He is expected to report back to the Robins soon.

Shoer Singles Home Winning Run In Ninth As Robins Edge Bears By 11-10

Timely Hit, With Two Away, Scores Strausser; Locals Trained Going Into Final Inning; Banas Has Perfect Night At Plate With Homer, Three Singles

By BERT MOYER
Louis Shoer's line single into right field to bring home Paul Strausser in the ninth inning after two men were out provided the Robins with their winning run last night as they defeated the New Bern Bears for the second straight time, 11-10, here last night.

The Robins started things humming in the very first frame when they put across three runs on four hits and an error. Ouzts got an infield hit, George Hallow making his first appearance for the Robins, singled into right field to advance Ouzts to third and Hallow taking second on the relay to third. Banas singled to bring in Ouzts and Hallow and Hall singled into left field to bring in Banas, who had advanced to second on a relay to home plate.

The Bears began to growl in the third frame when they shoved across two runs in the third frame on two singles and two errors. Britt reached first on a catcher's error, advanced to second on T. Jones' infield out. Bevil beat out an infield out, another error by Catcher Quint advanced Britt to third and Bevil to second. Then Bob Halkard singled into rightfield to bring home Britt and Bevil.

The Robins came back in the fifth frame to score four more runs and take a 7-2 advantage at this phase of the game on singles by Kelly and Strausser, followed by Hallow's terrific smash over the right field wall to clear the bases and George Banas inside-the-park homer into deep centerfield.

In the seventh frame the Bears pushed across two more markers in this frame on three singles, a double and a walk.

The Robins matched these two runs in the seventh and had a 9-4 advantage at this point. With two men out, Hallow walked, Banas singled with Hallow taking third. Then on a double steal by Hallow and Banas, Hallow scored and when Carter Harry Land threw wild to third in an effort to catch Banas, Banas raced home for the second run of the inning.

The Bears came back in the eighth inning to make a new ball game out of it when they put across five runs on an error, single, double, a walk and Joe Wheeler's three-run circuit drive over the centerfield fence.

Pirates Again Held To Tie Against Navy Baseball Nine

Norfolk, April 26—(Special to the Reflector)—If two tie ball games account for a win, East Carolina's nine gained an even split on their extended weekend jaunt into Navy territory.

Yesterday, Jack Boone's collegians tied the Receiving Station 6-6 in the second game which had to be called because of darkness. Last Saturday they did the same thing against the Air Station. On Monday they lost to the same nine.

East Carolina started the tilt with a bang, getting five runs in the first go-round on five solid hits. They scored another in the fourth and held the Navy behind until the ninth when they romped on pitcher V-mun Jones for three runs and the tying score.

Snow In Europe's Freakish Spring

London, April 26—(AP)—Snow and freezing temperatures gave western Europe another day of freakish spring winter today.

Texas Site For Big Boxing Gate

Dallas, April 26—(AP)—Texas says Jack Kearns who managed Jack Dempsey in boxing's richest era, is just the place for the next million dollar gate.

The ageless handler of champions—he has had seven under his wing—adds that you can expect a world's heavyweight or light heavyweight title fight in this state in the near future.

Cartier Risking Nine-Win String

New York, April 26—(AP)—Walter Cartier, sharp-hitting New York middleweight, risks a nine-fight winning streak and a possible Madison Square Garden shot tonight when he tangles with Odis Graham of Philadelphia in the top ten at St. Nicholas Arena.

Gets 7-10 Range

Cincinnati, O.—(AP)—Bowlers who rate the tough 7-10 split an impossible shot are in awe of Ray Ellerman these days. Bowling in the Police League here, he recently knocked off the 7-10 twice in three frames.

Kinston Scores 21-5 Whitewash

Kinston's Red Devils climaxed their athletic mastery over Greenville's Phantoms during this school year as they wound up the home-and-home baseball series with a screaming 21-5 victory yesterday on East Carolina's diamond.

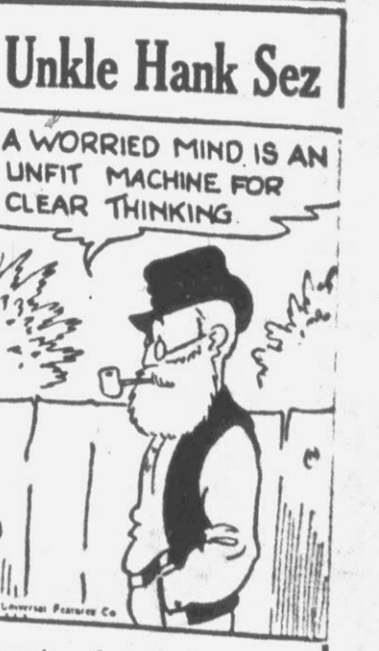

The beating was the worst the Phants have suffered to date, the last bad one coming at Rocky Mount when they were shut out 11-0. And the fiasco yesterday show how badly the locals can come apart at the seams.

Final Derby Prep For Oil Capitol

Lexington, Ky., April 26—(AP)—Oil Capitol, Oklahoma's hope for the Kentucky Derby May 6, is going out tomorrow to try and regain some lost prestige in the $20,000 Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland.

he said, "Chicago and New York and the rest of the east have seen everything. This is virgin territory. I think Jack Solomon, the London promoter, is just the man to put it on here."

Kearns added that he expected Maxin to be one of the participants. "He will be the heavyweight champion," Kearns said. "He already is the logical contender. He fought Ezzard Charles, who is the NBA champion but isn't recognized in New York and several other states, three times and got the referee's nod each time. The judges, however, gave the fights to Charles."

President Asserts Communists Pose No Great Threat At Home

Washington, April 25—(AP)—President Truman's assertion that Communists at home aren't a great threat to this country offered general reassurance but Republican critics didn't seem to be impressed.

In a speech to present and former government lawyers, broadcast to the nation, Mr. Truman said Monday night:

"There is no area of American life in which the Communist party is making headway—except in the deluded minds of some people."

Senators Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP leader, Brewster (R-Me.) Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Hurd (R-SD) went ahead with their demands for a broadened investigation of state department workers and former employees, whereas Mr. Truman stated, "not a single person who had been adjudged to be a Communist or otherwise disloyal remains on the government payroll today."

Senator McCrory commented that this apparent indifference to the greatest threat ever faced by this nation is impossible to understand. "McCarthy has been charging that the state department is a haven for Communists."

The President told the federal bar association in his speech:

"We know the greatest threat to us does not come from Communists in this country, where they are a noisy but small and universally despised group. The greater threat comes from Communism abroad."

where the center of its military and economic strength lies.

"The real danger is that Communism might overrun other free nations and thus strengthen itself for an ultimate attack on us."

Economy Forces Look For Votes

Washington, April 25—(AP)—Routed house economy forces beat the bushes for votes today in an attempt to defeat a move to add $75,000,000 for public hospital funds to a $29,000,000,000 appropriation bill.

They were up against a strong coalition of Republicans and Democrats who have announced that they will try to double the $75,000,000 recommended by the House Appropriations committee for the hospital program.

REPORT EARTHQUAKE

Tokyo, April 26—(AP)—A short, sharp earthquake was felt in the Kobe-Osaka-Nagoya area today. There was no report of damage or casualties.

Balanced Budget Campaign Topic

By The Associated Press
Two major candidates for the Democratic Senatorial nomination talked last night about the question of balancing the federal budget.

Senator Frank Graham declared "the United States must be strong in fiscal policy, and must balance the budget at the first opportunity but not at the expense of the balance of the world."

Willis Smith asserted that the national government should reduce its debt while in a period of prosperity.

Both candidates will be on platforms again tonight. Graham will speak at a rally, and Smith will speak in Raleigh at a joint meeting of the American Legion and Legion auxiliary.

In his address last night, Graham declared "the United States must take and maintain leadership among the nations of the world."

Smith, addressing a rally in the Columbus County courthouse at Whiteville, said:

"The time has come to balance the budget so that the farms, homes and businesses of the country will not be further burdened with an enormous debt which will take generations to discharge."

He added: "Efforts should be made to eliminate every bit of waste and extravagance in government to the end that those services necessary to protect and defend our country should be taken care of."

Black Bear Has Cub Threesome

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 26—(AP)—The Sherman Park Zoo here is astonished.

One of its guests, a black bear, has given birth to triplets.

Triplet births in the black bear family, says Conservation Officer Alex McLane, are "most unusual." The mother bear hasn't permitted the newcomers outside her cave yet. The zoo says the cubs probably weighed only about nine ounces at birth—infant bears are very small—but ought to be up around 70 pounds come fall.

New Contracts In Atomic Research

Washington, April 26—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission reported today it has awarded 12 new contracts in physical research totaling $1,345,660 during the first three months of 1950.

The largest was for $1,259,000 for a billion-volt electron synchrotron at the California Institute of Technology.

Other institutions getting contracts, and the supervisors at each included: University of North Carolina, Dr. S. Y. Tyree, Jr.

'Going To Work'

Penn Yan, N.Y., April 26—(AP)—Patrolman Thomas Queenan was getting ready for work when his wife told him the motor of his automobile was running.

He locked out, saw the car moving slowly across a field and chased after it. The driver was their three-year-old daughter, Sheila.

Sheila explained: "I'm going to work."

Prime Minister Of Ireland On N.C. Farm Tour

Southern Pines, N. C., April 25—(AP)—Sir Basil Brooke, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, plodded over fields and through barnyards today in a close-up study of North Carolina agriculture.

He was guided on the tour by Moore county appliers, orchards and turkey farms by Miss Flora McDonald, county home agent. Sir Basil is visiting at Paint Hill farms as guest of Ernest Ives, former United States Consul-General in Belfast. Sir Basil was Ulster's agriculture minister when Ives served in Northern Ireland.

The Prime Minister's schedule calls for another farm tour tomorrow and attendance at a Southern barbecue Thursday night at Paint Hill Farms arranged by the Moore County Historical Association.

Warns Against Over-Enthusiasm

Baltimore, April 26—(AP)—Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, suggests that schools keep from going overboard in trying to keep communists off their faculties.

"To my mind," he told 2,000 educators and Harvard Club members last night, "the harm done by a few crypto-communists on a faculty would be far less than the harm done by instituting a policy of relentless inquiry into the private life of every teacher."

Maryland has a law requiring all public employes, including school teachers, to sign loyalty oaths.

In 1947 Americans ate an average of 79.9 pounds of beef and 70 pounds of pork, the first time in 25 years beef exceeded pork.

17 MILLION DOLLARS PAID FOR TAR HEELS
Hospital Saving has paid over 17 million dollars in hospital and surgical claims over the past 14 years. It is currently paying over 4 million dollars a year in claims for its members. Payments are made direct to the hospitals and surgeons as another service feature of Hospital Saving to relieve unnecessary red tape. The Association, as a truly nonprofit service organization, pays out almost all of its income for benefits to subscribers. This takes profit out of health service.

3-WAY PARTNERSHIP COMMUNITY HEALTH
The health-service question is of vital concern today to all North Carolina business, as well as the public. Hospital Saving at Chapel Hill presents the three-way partnership of hospitals, doctors and business leaders throughout the State, joined together through a democratic Board of Trustees, representing each of the three groups equally. This is the American way—in line with North Carolina procedure of providing community service for the people. Four trustees are elected by and represent the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina; four represent the North Carolina Hospital Association, and these eight elect four prominent business executives to represent the lay public.

FIRST STAR

Chapter 17
Heather was making up for her part when she went into the dressing room. She was playing Doll, and with her face a few inches from the mirror, she was drawing subtle little lines, adding a blousy sensuality to her crisp, modern and quite charming face. Katherine came in with a rush and began to change. There were flowers on her dressing table. Andrew Nolan's card on the crimson roses. There was no message with the sweetpeas, fragrant and beautiful as butterflies, nor any of the cluster of little red ramblers in a jar. One must be from William.

"The Governor brought in the sweetpeas," said Heather, her eyes still intently on her make-up, "and I gathered the ramblers with my own fair hands. I really do wish you a tremendous success, Nightingale."

Her heart contracted. She was behaving absurdly. It was not two hours since she had been with him. What had they done with notes and flowers and messages when their love was so sure?

"Thank you, Heather; it was sweet of you."
Katherine made up. Grease, plenty of color, plenty of eyes-blue. She wondered, and sleeked her hair up into a bunch of curls atop her head, trying them with a blue ribbon. A sachel of books over one arm, a book in her hand to study. She was ready.

"You look like a Kate Greenaway child," said Heather.
"I'll fly down and see the Governor now."

"I should. Best wishes, darling."
"Thank you."
She ran down the stone steps, halted, and knocked at William's door. He was dressed and ready, a queer, wonderful, exotic creature in his floppy white suit. His face was painted in the white mask of Pierrot, the eyes accentuated, long and sly, the mouth scarlet, his hair concealed in the tight black cap, a great white ruff framing his face. She stood back, curiously repelled. At the dress rehearsal he had not made up. There was something sinister about his good looks now, like a bird of ill omen. But at the sound of his warm, eager voice, the reality of his personality returned again.

"I'm glad you came, dearest. He said, 'I didn't send you any flowers.'"
"Morton isn't the only producer in the world. Have you thought about theater life, Kate? I mean, practically. You have a part that suits you, and it's a little world of your own here. But have you thought about London this autumn, when this is over, and the competition you will have to face then? Do you think you're tough enough?"

"She listened incredulously. 'Don't you think I can act?' she asked slowly. 'You think I'm not good enough?'"
"It's not that," he said impetuously. "It's just that I can't be without you. I can't go over there. More than ever. It's a great strange country. I'll be lost without you." She turned into his arms then, the flame lighting warm and safe within her. If that was true, nothing else mattered very much.

"I'll send for you; will you come?"
"Yes," she said at once.
"And we'll be married!"
She laughed, and he looked surprised and hurt. "Oh, my darling, I'm not teasing. I just thought such practical thing would never occur to you."

"Idiot. Are you happy now?"
"I'm unbelievably happy."

Canadian . . .

The economic situation in Canada, he said, is good. "We're pretty well satisfied (with business) and we think the prospects are excellent. We are balancing our budget, having a surplus every year, and reducing our debt."

The Strouds and the Ronsons met in Florida several years ago, and have become close friends. The Strouds returned to Greenville the first of April after a 10-week stay in Florida this winter, and the Ronsons are on their way back home after being in Florida for two months. Mr. Stroud said this morning he and Mrs. Stroud are planning to visit the Ronsons in Canada in June. The Ronsons make their home in Ottawa.

House Group . . .

(Continued from Page One) Among the developments which he said brought a tightening of armaments and defenses, Johnson also mentioned:

"The fall of China, the serious situation in Southeast Asia, the break in diplomatic relations with Bulgaria and deteriorating relations with other satellite countries, the over the armed forces of Poland, Soviet naval expansion, the increased Soviet pressures in Germany, the recent attack on a naval aircraft in the Baltic, and the recent Soviet demands relative to Trieste."

The Secretary said the present record peacetime defense costs probably will grow larger after the next year.

The Stubborn . . .

(Continued from Page One) trovic which is very convincing. He is a great artist—but he could be tough if he had to.

Dr. Mestrovic is a mighty interesting personality, and I like him. The 67-year-old sculptor has climbed the ladder from the bottom rung. He comes from a Croat peasant family. His father was a stone mason and it was from him that young Ivan got his first lessons in "sculpture." He started his education at home, with the encouragement of his father and mother.

Mestrovic is a nationalist and is against all dictatorships.
