Mayor Voted New Traffic Authority

Aldermen Order Writing Of Amendment To Permit Freer Action; Reiterate Stand City Fire Equipment To Remain In Limits

Members of the Greenville board of aldermen last night instructed the city attorney to draw up the necessary amendment to the city code to permit the mayor to take action in the case of emergency traffic regulations and order other necessary measures without previous consent of the board of aldermen.

A similar proposal made last year when the city code was being compiled was rejected by the board of aldermen after being recommended by a committee of the board.

Mayor W. S. Stafford presented the aldermen a request from the student legislature of East Carolina Teachers College asking that the city officials take steps to curtail the speeding of automobiles on East Fifth Street in front of the college.

After hearing a report from Mayor Stafford and Fire Chief George Gardner, the board reiterated its stand that the city fire equipment should not be allowed to answer calls to parts of the county outside the city limits.

Police Chief Lester Page reported by the board that a number of complaints have been received about shoeshine boys operating on the streets in the business section of the city, and the board authorized the ordinance committee to draft an ordinance to "limit and control" the activities of shoeshine boys on the city streets.

Stafford read a copy of a letter to J. Nat Harrison, chairman of the Tar River port commission, from H. G. Hogsline, president of the Norfolk, Baltimore and Carolina Lines in which Hogsline said his company would not be interested in renewing the lease on the facilities of the Tar River port commission when the present lease expires November 1.

A petition was presented to the board from 13 property owners along East 14th Street east of the ECTC spur track requesting the city to have curb and gutter installed along the street and let the property owners pay the expense.

The board referred to the street committee a petition from residents on Wade Street between Dickinson Ave. and Broad Street asking that parking be allowed on only one side of the street.

The aldermen approved the recommendations of the board of trustees of Sheppard Memorial library for Mrs. Ficklen Arthur and Miss Jean Steele to be reappointed to the library board for six year terms. The library committee presented to the aldermen a proposed

Cancer Drive In Pitt Reportedly Requires $2,000

Officials Paint Gloomy Picture For Success Of 1950 Drive For Funds

W. H. Woolard, treasurer of Pitt County Cancer Society, reported today the campaign for funds was lagging throughout the county on the basis of money turned over to him through yesterday.

At that time Woolard said he had received only $2,500 of the $4,500 requested of Pitt citizens for fighting the spread of cancer.

With the campaign still $2,000 behind its requested quota, county chapter officials painted a gloomy picture for the success of the 1950 campaign. They were of the opinion that towns in the county were far ahead of Greenville in their efforts to raise the necessary funds.

To date they reported the towns of Winterville, Belvoir, Griffon and Bethel had reached their respective quotas. And reports from chairmen of the drives in Farmville and Ayden state they will reach their quotas very shortly.

However, in Greenville the picture was different. E. R. Conway, chairman for the city, stated that no more than $1,400 had been donated by townspeople to date. He said some of the canvassers had not reported but those who were canvassing the larger donations groups were turning in funds which were far below their expectations.

He reported the following breakdown of districts in Greenville and their solicitations:

Special Gifts Committee (Dr. Dan Wright, canvasser)—$183; Business Firms (V. P. W.)—$440; Tobacco Firms (Ralph Garrett Jr.)—$164.25; White School (Miss Laura Foley)—$84; District No. 1—no report; No. 2 (Mrs. J. R. Jackson)—$57.65; No. 3 (Mrs. John Aman)—$36.45; No. 4 (Mrs. Charles Wilkerson)—$54.15; No. 5 (Mrs. Bill Sermons)—$76.61; No. 6 (Mrs. A. C. Ruffin)—$5.09; No. 7 (Mrs. Dink James)—$21.67; No. 8 (Mrs. Charles Horne)—$43.80; No. 9—no report; No. 10 (Miss Lillian Forest)—$50.51; No. 11 (Mrs. Charles Hudson)—$14.00; No. 12 (Jack Foley)—$36.00; Hillsdale (Godfrey Oakley)—$20.68.

There have been no reports as yet from the women's and men's civic clubs, organizations, East Carolina, or from the Negro canvassers.

Conway stated he thought Greenville would not raise more than $1,700 at the rate the money is coming in at the present time.

He said he had not collected the money donated through cancer donation boxes placed in stores and other business establishments throughout the town.

However, he said that at one of the polls on Monday there was a box with only 12 cents in it. When the voting was over, though, the box had collected $29.25, he said.

Vote Reduction

Washington, May 5—(AP)—The Senate voted today to cut $250,000,000 from European recovery funds for the year beginning July 1.

The vote was 47 to 33. The slash would authorize the same amount as the House previously voted—$2,850,000,000 for the third year operation of the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA).

The actual money for ECA must be provided in later appropriation bills to follow the authorization measure.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) proposed the $250,000,000 cut. A cut of $500,000,000 was averted by a whisker on a 40-40 tie vote.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) proposed the cut. Under Senate rules, an amendment to a bill loses on a tie vote.

C. B. Mayo Asks Second Primary Against Horne

Officially Requests New Vote To Determine Second Ward's Alderman

C. B. Mayo, incumbent alderman in Greenville's second ward, today officially asked for a second primary in the city election.

In the city election which was held Monday, Mayo ran second in his bid for reelection, and has called for a second primary between himself and Charles O'H. Horne, Jr., who was high man in the three-way race for the position of alderman from the second ward.

In Monday's balloting Horne lacked only one vote of receiving a clear majority over Mayo and W. L. Patrick, the third candidate in the race. Horne received 156 votes, Mayo received 128 votes and Patrick received 28 votes.

City Clerk J. O. Duval said he was notified in writing this morning by Mayo that he would like a second primary run to determine who will represent the second ward on the city board during the two-year term which begins July 1. R. E. Rogers, also an alderman from the second ward, will not have to run for office until next year since there is still one year to go on his two-year term.

The second primary between Horne and Mayo will be held Monday, May 15 Duval said. The voting in the second ward will be held at the court house where the polls will open at 8:30 a.m. and remain open until 6:30 p.m.

Tax Appeal Date Set For May 15

All persons of Pitt desiring a review of the assessment on their taxable property are asked to meet the Equalization and Review Board Monday, May 15, in the County Commissioners room in the court house. The commissioners will sit at the board at 10 a. m.

County tax supervisor Allen T. Powell said this morning he had mailed letters to all persons who own new property or who have improved old property in an effort to give them the opportunity of appealing their assessment.

During the past year the county property appraiser has evaluated both new and discovered property. The evaluation set on both is $391,000. Valuation on new property amounts to approximately $383,000, Powell said.

Under state law any aggrieved property owner may appear before the board to show cause why his property should not have been evaluated as it was. If the county board shows cause as to the evaluation placed on the property, the owner may appeal to the State Board of Assessments. That body will then notify him when he may appear before a hearing, either in Raleigh or at another designated place.

CHASHERS IN PARADE Camp Mackall, N. C., May 5—(AP)—An F-80 jet crashed in the windup parade of exercise swifter today. The pilot, believed to be from Shaw field, Sumter, S. C. was killed.

Under the new administration which took office in 1949 he was made lieutenant in August and was transferred to Greensboro. It was at this time that Captain Lambert was stationed in Greenville.

Following the resignation of former Patrol Commander C. R. Tony Tolar, and the death of Captain Lester Jones, Lambert was appointed to the state's number two top post in the patrol and Mitchell was elevated to a captain, to fill the spot left by Lambert.

Mitchell is a native of Camden County, located in the northeastern part of the state.

He is married and has one son, who is 17 years of age. Mitchell commented that he plans to move his family here after the school term in Greensboro is completed.

Mitchell was stationed in the Greenville region some 21 years ago and while he says some things have changed a lot, there are still many places which have stayed the same. "Although I have only been in Greenville for a few days my first impression of the city is good," the new commander stated.

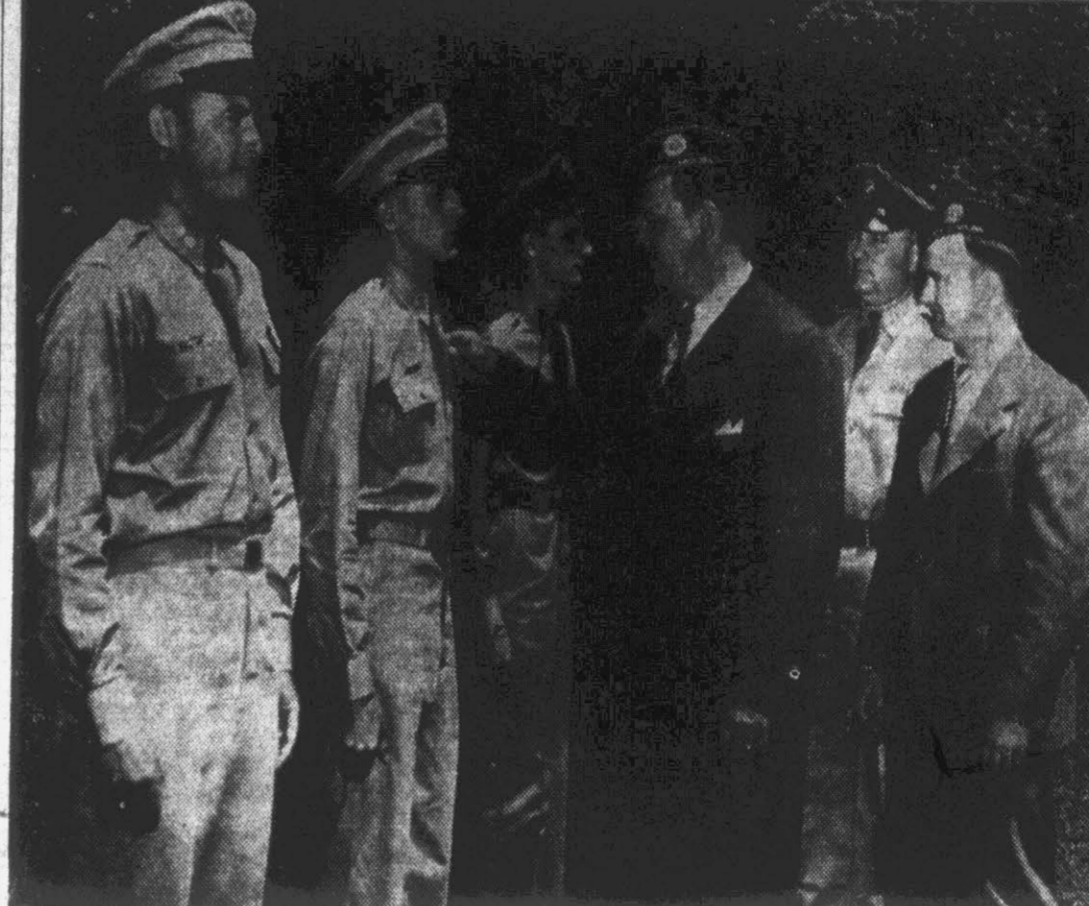

Board Approved School Outlays

An allotment for $55,000 for the construction of an addition of a utility building to the West Greenville school of Greenville was approved yesterday by the state board of education.

The appropriation for the Greenville school was approved along with a total of $3,328,752.45 of new allocations for construction of schools throughout North Carolina from the state's $50,000,000 school building fund.

A few weeks ago the city school board opened bids on the construction work for the West Greenville school, but bids were considerably above the cost anticipated by the school board, and the local officials are still seeking to work out alternatives to bring the bids on the building within reach of the local system.

Medals Awarded Outstanding Trio

Recognition For Achievements In Air ROTC Studies

In a ceremony conducted yesterday at noon, three cadets of the Air Force ROTC unit at East Carolina Teachers College were awarded medals in recognition of excellent work. They were Cadet Arthur G. Lockard of Milton, Pa.; Cadet James Edward Salter of New Bern; and Cadet Hilton G. Styron of Davis.

Commanded by Cadet Lt. Col. Plummer A. Daniel of Washington, the unit marched along the campus driveway and drew up in formation on the lawn facing Fleming Hall. Cadet Captain Virgil Clark of Greenville led the orders of the day authorizing the awarding of the medals.

Tyrus I. Wagner, commander of the local American Legion Post, presented American Legion Medals to Cadets Lockard and Salter. Cadet Lockard, a veteran of World War II and a member of the 1950 graduating advanced class, has shown the greatest scholastic achievement in the Air Force Science and Tactics advanced course. Cadet Salter has shown the greatest scholastic achievement as the non-veteran graduate of the Basic Air Force ROTC Course of 1949-50. Both cadets were congratulated by Mr. Wagner and by Lester Turnage, adjutant of the local American Legion Post.

Cadet Hilton G. Styron received from Major Lomax L. May, professor of Air Science and Tactics at East Carolina Teachers College, the Air Force association medal for outstanding achievement in Air Force ROTC subjects, college general subjects, and individual characteristics contributing to leadership.

Two months ago, when the Russians said virtually all captured German soldiers except war criminals had been freed, West German authorities claimed the Soviets still held about 400,000. The United States and France on April 25 accused the Russians of trying to hide the fate of hundreds of thousands of German prisoners still not accounted for.

The West Berlin City Council charged last Dec. 22 that Russia still held more than 1,000,000 German prisoners of war.

Officials of the West German government made, no immediate comment on the Russian announcement but Kurt Schumacher, leader of the opposition Socialist party, asserted there were "hundreds of thousands of German prisoners still in Russia."

"The Tass report, said Schumacher, 'is monstrous news.'"

"This message is so unbelievable that one must doubt it is genuine," the Socialist chief declared, adding that it would have a strong effect on German politics by strengthening opposition to Russia and communism.

Tass said that since Germany's surrender in 1945 the Soviet Union had repatriated 1,939,163 prisoners.

Shepherdstown, W. Va., May 5—(AP)—The town clock here ran fine for 100 years. Sure it needed a few adjustments now and then to keep it ticking, but essentially it kept good time through the years.

Then the town council got into the annual wrangle over Daylight Saving Time and the ancient time-piece gave up. The council decided in favor of daylight time but the clock decided on no time. It stopped dead as the council was debating the issue and it hasn't run since.

McCarthy Claims Loyalty Files Are Not Enough

Justice Dept. Says OSS Never Gave Evidence Of Leak Through Amerasia

Washington, May 5—(AP)—President Truman's decision to hand over some government loyalty files to Senate Communist investigators put Senator McCarthy to work today on a "not enough" protest.

In another development, the Justice Department said it never received any evidence from the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) to support charges that Amerasia magazine officials, and State Department employees were shipping atomic secrets to Russia in 1945.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican has said a former OSS agent would testify that A-bomb data did find its way to the Soviet Union in the Amerasia case. The agent, Frank Bielski, said yesterday there is some substance to what McCarthy asserted, but he did not entirely back up McCarthy.

Reversing his earlier refusal to release government loyalty files, Mr. Truman agreed late yesterday to let a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee examine secret State Department files on 81 persons depicted by McCarthy in his charges on Communism in the government.

Senator Tydings (D-Md.), the committee chairman, said in announcing the President's decision that the approval does not apply to the FBI's so-called "raw" files. Tydings added, however, that "there will be FBI material" in some of the State Department files the committee gets.

McCarthy has charged that the department is infested with Communists and red sympathizers. He has contended all along that to obtain proof of his accusations, the committee must have access to the FBI files as well as State Department records.

McCarthy told a reporter "I'm going to hold my fire" until tomorrow night when he is scheduled to address a convention of Young Republicans in Chicago. He said the speech will be aired on a nationwide radio network.

It was learned that he intends to blast the administration for not making the FBI files available, too, and for confining access to State Department records to the 81 cases he outlined in a senate speech February 20.

Mr. Truman refused in March to turn over any loyalty files on the ground it would cripple the FBI smear innocent people and wreck the federal loyalty program. He took that position on advice of FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

Tydings said the President changed his mind about the 81 State Department files after learning that those records were examined 2-1-2 years ago by four other congressional committees.

Local Gambling Laws

No Federal Laws Against Gambling; Many States Which Apparently Require Federal Action For Success

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 5—(AP)—There is no federal law against gambling. The closest thing to it is a federal law forbidding the use of the mails for a lottery or other games of chance.

Many states do have anti-gambling laws. For instance, they have laws against slot machines, betting on the race horses in handbooks, and the numbers racket.

So, the problem of stopping gambling has been a problem for the states and the cities. Now a number of state and city officials have begun to complain that they need federal help in fighting gambling.

The Senate acted with surprising promptness on slot machines. It passed a bill making it a federal offense to ship slot machines into a state which has laws against them. The house hasn't begun to act on this yet.

As to betting on race horses: the conference asked Congress to pass a law to break up nationwide "illegal" gambling on the races. "Illegal" is a nice distinction and an important word because put into this: Betting on the horses is legal in a state if it's done at a track which

Trygve Lie's Visit

Grave Danger If Moscow Should Mistake Peace Mission As Appeasement Move; The Status of Trygve Lie; Dim Chance For Success; Moscow Trip Four Years Ago

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Whatever one may believe about the prospects of success growing out of U. N. secretary General Trygve Lie's visit to Moscow in search of peace, it is an adventure which is attracting much attention and it will be followed with many good wishes.

Of course there would be grave danger if the search for peace were mistaken in Moscow for appeasement. That might happen if a peace mission were sponsored by an individual nation, or even by a group of the Democracies.

But Mr. Lie's quest is an entirely different affair. His position as head of the United Nations makes him in effect a citizen of the world. He is equally the representative of all nations. His job is to make the U. N. work, and apparently it is on that universal basis that he expects to proceed to Moscow next week.

Naturally the big point of interest is whether Trygve Lie will get to see Stalin. The Secretary General hopes to meet the Soviet dictator, but on this point Moscow thus far has been silent. However, Mr. Lie has had a standing invitation from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky since

Plans Push Civil Rights Senate Test Next Week

Washington, May 5—(AP)—Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois said today that despite scheduled interruptions he will press an effort to get a civil rights test vote in the Senate next week.

At the same time, Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee, told a reporter all Republican senators have been alerted by telegram to be on hand Friday, when the test may come on grounds of race, creed or religion.

Lucas planned a move to make this compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission bill the Senate's unfinished business for debate next week. However, administration senators may upset this schedule at least temporarily Monday with an expected fresh assault on the communism-in-government charges made by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis). Lieutenants promised "something new" in the line of attacks, but wouldn't disclose their plans.

Taft is sponsoring the second proposed interruption in what Dixie senators have said will be an all-out filibuster against Lucas's motion to take up the FEPC bill.

Nat'l Demo Group Regain Party Control In Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., May 5—(AP)—Alabama Democrats loyal to the National party emerged victorious today in their battle against rebellious states righters.

The states righters, who bolted the party in 1948 and started this state's 11 electoral votes to the Thurmond-Wright ticket, lost control of the state Democratic executive committee.

The victory for party loyalists virtually squashed any chance of a similar revolt in 1952.

The party regulars won a majority of the 72 seats on the politically powerful committee, which led the 1948 Republican over President Truman's civil rights program.

Then, the Homemaker degree, the first a member can attain, was presented by the president to 20 of the members who had fulfilled the necessary qualifications. The president and the secretary, Marilyn McArthur, also received their degrees. These were presented by Marjorie Little, club historian.

Next, an amusing skit was presented by some of the girls, who showed several examples of incorrect posture and then as a contrast, an example of correct posture.

The following officers were installed in a candlelight ceremony: President, Betsy Castellio; vice president, Denyse McLawhorn; secretary, Peggy Dall; treasurer, Jean Anne Liverman; reporter, Marjorie Boyd; historian, Syble Jones; parliamentarian, Ruth Hazelton; song leader, Ruth Little.

Each of the officers elect lighted a white candle and repeated one of the eight purposes of the organization. Then each retiring officer outlined her duties for her successor.

In turning over her office to the new president, Barbara Worthington expressed her appreciation to the members for their cooperation during her term of office. Also, she stressed the importance of every high school girl being a member of F. H. A.

In her speech of acceptance, Betsy Castellio pledged her best efforts to serve in the office for which she had been elected.

Immediately following the program, a reception was held in the Home Economics cottage which was artistically decorated for the occasion. Receiving the guests at the front door were the new officers. Punch and cookies were served in the dining room to the large number of guests. The retiring officers formed a second receiving line and said the goodbyes.

Included among the guests were representatives from the Grimesland and Ayden chapters, with their advisors, Mrs. Dorothy Hendrix and Mrs. Elsie Edwards. Miss Mabel Lacey, district advisor, the eighth grade girls, and the parents of the members.

Service League Plans Luncheon

Mrs. James T. Little presided over the May meeting of the Service League which was held Monday morning at Sheppard Memorial library.

Mrs. Tyson Bilbro, chairman of the membership committee, welcomed into the service League the following new members:
Mesdames Alton Barrett, W. S. Bonner, Bill Davenport, Clifton H. Edwards, Harry Forbes, Dale Gidley, Wesley Harvey, W. C. James, Hoyt Minges, Ed Parkinson, I. W. Strawn, Louis Tebeau, Harold Thomas and Miss Ione Bradsher.

Two former members, Mrs. Carl L. Adams and Mrs. Roland Farley, were re-instated. Mrs. Dale Gidley graciously responded for the new members.

Following the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report various standing committees were called upon for their monthly reports.

A letter of resignation from Mrs. Trisey Brown was read and with deep regret accepted. Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., paid glowing tribute to Mrs. Brown as the founder and organizer of the Service League, explaining to the new members just how much Mrs. Brown has meant to the League throughout her long period of faithful service, and that to all the old members, the Service League was "Trisey."

In accepting this resignation the League made Mrs. Brown an honorary member. Such an honor has never before been bestowed upon a member.

Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, member of the advisory board, was present and recognized at this meeting.

The nominating committee of which Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr. was chairman, submitted the following slate of new officers:
which Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Esq., Mrs. J. H. Thomas, president; Mrs. Ed Williford, first vice president; Mrs. David Hardee, secretary.

They were unanimously elected. Plans for the annual luncheon which will be held at the Episcopal church on May 24th, at 11 o'clock were announced. This event highlights the year's work and is anticipated by all members with great pleasure.

Twister Sweeps Parts 3 States

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornado winds cut a destructive path across three states last night, killing at least one person and injuring approximately 50.

Twisters whirled across West Texas and Oklahoma, then moved into Kansas.

Dust storms also plagued the Southwest.

The death occurred in Texas. Bill Kling, 32, was fatally injured at Perryton as he attempted to rush his family to safety. Thirteen persons were injured there, four seriously.

Kansas counted 37 injured. A twister dipped into a housing project near Great Bend in Central Kansas, demolishing several of the barrack-type buildings.

In Perryton, winds whipped across the northwest edge of the town, leveling the high school stadium, tearing up a trailer park and smashing houses.

Perryton has a population of approximately 2,500.

In Oklahoma, tornadoes struck in at least four spots. Several homes and business houses were wrecked in Fort Supply, a town of about 500.

The Oklahoma highway patrol also reported twisters hit the southern edge of Cordell, the eastern section of Elk City and in rural Washita County.

About one-third of the 30 frame buildings in the Great Bend housing project were demolished. The project formerly was an Army air base. Sixty families lived in the buildings.

Dust at El Paso was reported the worst since the mid-thirties. In Lubbock, Texas, blinding clouds swirled over the city like heavy choking smoke.

High winds in New Mexico tore the roofs off farm buildings, broke plate glass windows and damaged trees and power lines.

Workmates had to be sent in relays with Gaftan Fox to make the great horse extend himself in trials.

Contest Won By Griffton Group

At the second annual farm tool identification contest, sponsored by the Pitt County Future Farmers of America Federation, Griffton High School boys won first prize yesterday afternoon. The farm mechanics contest was held at the Globe Hardware Store and the firm gave the prizes.

Griffton boys making the best score in identifying a group of 99 farm tools were Vance Abbott Jr., Gilbert Ray Whaley and Charles Wethington.

Future Farmers of America winners in county contests are entitled to participate in the state tool and farm mechanics judging contest to be held at State College in Raleigh in August, during the North Carolina Convention of the Future Farmers of America.

The Allison-Erwin Hardware Company, Charlotte, donated $1,000 for prizes to be offered to FFA boys at the state convention.

Nine Pitt County high schools where vocational agriculture is taught had students in the contest. The schools are: Ayden, Winterville, Chocod, Belvoir, Bethel, Griffton, Grimesland, Stokes and Farmville.

Agriculture instructors at the county schools are: S. F. Peterson, Ayden; J. H. Mobley, Winterville; Y. E. Williams, Chocod; S. D. Dewar, Bethel; Paul Bradley, Griffton; W. E. Little, Grimesland; D. M. Nobles, Stokes; F. W. Taylor, Belvoir; E. P. Bass, Farmville.

P. W. Taylor of the Belvoir High School is the Pitt County Future Farmers of America Federation adviser.

Again Honored

LOUISE McLAWHORN

Blackstone, Va., May 5—In recent student body balloting at Blackstone College for Girls, Blackstone, Va., Miss Louise McLawhorn, of Ayden, was elected treasurer of the 1950-51 session. She will be installed, with the other newly elected council members, in traditional ceremonies later this month.

Louise, who is the daughter of Mrs. Josie McLawhorn, of Ayden, has been president of her class during the present session. Consistently on the academic dean's list with no grade below a "B" level, she has been a member of both the varsity field hockey and basketball teams and was recently elected to membership in Pi Alpha, national honorary athletic fraternity for junior colleges.

Local Gambling

But anywhere else in that state, outside the track, betting on the horses is illegal, whether the betting is on the races run at the licensed track in that state or at a track operating in some other state under license. This is the so-called "off-the-track" or hand-book betting.

A number of states permit betting at a state-licensed track but forbid any hand-book betting outside the track. Yet, it has been estimated there are as many as 150,000 hand-books doing business in this country, in violation of the law.

But how do they get the up-to-the-minute race news which makes it possible for them to do business? By a nationwide system of information sent to them by telegraph or telephone from the tracks. Of course, the whole problem could be solved by the states if they outlawed all race tracks. This seems unworkable.

Robot Family Is In Jet Fighters

Washington, May 5 — (AP) — The Air Force is equipping late model jet fighters with new automatic devices which will track enemy bombers through night skies or bad weather, shoot them down, then bring the pilot home for a landing.

Officials said this whole family of robots is being installed in its new interceptors to meet problems posed by the development of high-speed bombers and atomic weapons. The growing speed of the bombers gives defending fighters less time to climb to meet them, and the enormous destructive power of the A-bomb makes it more important than ever to destroy the bombers before they reach the target.

Radar to help fighter pilots find attacking planes at night was incorporated in piston-engine interceptors used during World War II. But the Air Force says these planes do not have the performance needed today, while faster turbo-jet fighters do not yet possess the radar essential to all-weather operations.

Into the new models, it says, are going provisions for automatic flight, automatic tracking of the enemy, automatic firing, and automatic approach to a landing after the battle.

After taking off the pilot will be guided by a ground radar network to the area where his plane's radar can pick up the enemy. There the automatic devices will take over, putting the interceptor on the correct course to close with the bomber and firing its weapons at the right moment.

Judge James Is Guest Speaker Stokes Ruritan

Members of the Stokes Ruritan club heard Judge Dink James, of the Pitt county recorder's court who was principal speaker at the meeting of the club Wednesday night.

Judge James talked to the club on the phases of the American constitution.

During the business session of the monthly meeting of the organization, David M. Nobles, local agriculture teacher, was appointed by the club members to make plans for the Ruritan club chain pigs with boys in the Stokes vocational agriculture class.

New members brought into the Stokes club at Wednesday night's meeting were Johnnie R. Crandall and Slade Conleton.

Painting By Young Artist

Martha Gilbert's Work Given Public Exhibition

One of Greenville's youngest artists is being honored this month by a one-man show in Gallery One of the Community Arts Center. Martha Gilbert, who is 17 years old and a senior in Greenville High School, is having the first public exhibit of her works, both paintings and ceramic pieces.

Martha began her study of art when she lived in Rochester, N. Y. She won a scholarship to the Rochester Memorial Art Gallery school at the age of ten. Since moving to Greenville in 1944, her teacher has been Georgia Pearsall Hearne, Greenville portrait artist. Martha is planning to attend the School of Fine Arts at Syracuse University next September.

James A. Walker, city art supervisor, in previewing her exhibit commented that Martha Gilbert's oil paintings have a nice style, interesting color and a solid technique. She seems to know considerable about the medium of oil. Mr. Walker seems to think that her exhibit will elicit interest and excellent comment.

Among the pictures in the exhibit are watercolors done several years ago and more recent paintings in oil including some portraits. The pieces in the ceramic exhibit have been done without any instruction. The exhibit opened Thursday, May 4 and the gallery will be open from 2 until 5 each day during the month of May. Martha is the daughter of Mr.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

LET US USE OUR HEADS
The human race has known certain things long before it has acted upon its knowledge. For instance, the Romans for centuries used a single letter of type to stamp initials on pieces of clothing, but it never occurred to them to put the type together into a line and print a book. There has always been about the same amount of water in the world that there is now, yet it has only been in recent decades that the idea has occurred to people that water might well be used for bathing the whole body.

We can be sure that today we are making just as stupid mistakes as did our forebears. We are thinking with our heads, the false type of widespread patriotism which leads to war would disappear. If we used our heads, we would not govern ourselves so poorly as we do. If we let thoughts control us instead of emotion, we would not endanger our safety, or the safety of others, or our own ultimate happiness, by doctoring up a dose of alcohol with something to make it potable and then smacking our lips over it after it is down.

If any considerable number of people decided for just thirty days to live their lives on the basis of reason instead of on the basis of emotion, prejudice, and custom, the results would be revolutionary.

Charles Street And The College Campus

Just a few meetings ago the Greenville board of aldermen rejected a proposal by one of its members to extend Charles Street northward for another two blocks through the East Carolina campus to intersect with Fifth Street at the college gate nearest five points.

In the past few days the matter has been brought up again unofficially by at least one member of the board, and might come to the board for reconsideration.

We think it would be a mistake to extend Charles Street through the college campus. There are several reasons.

- (1) Although college officials will acquiesce to a request from the city for extension of the street through the college property, they prefer Charles Street not be extended through the heart of the college campus.
- (2) Charles Street could not be a through street because it would have two off-sets which would create terrible traffic hazards. One of the off-sets is at Ninth Street, and the other would be at Fifth Street.
- (3) Continuing Charles Street through to Fifth Street would bring the traffic from the New Bern highway straight through the E. C. T. C. campus and into Fifth Street which already is one of the most congested streets in the city. It also would bring some of the traffic from the Washington highway through the college campus and into a more congested section of the city.

The whole idea of extending the street through the college campus seems to be to make a route through the campus so automobiles may travel through, rather than around, the college grounds. As the city is now laid out, there are no streets connecting Tenth and Fifth Streets between Cotanche and Maple Streets.

We maintain, however, (although a street through the college campus might be a convenience to a few people going from one side of town to another) that an extension of Charles Street through the E. C. T. C. campus would be more detrimental to the safety of the people of Greenville than the lack of a street through the college is an inconvenience to the people of Greenville.

Senator Pepper Was Salted Away

Florida's Senator Pepper has been salted away for at least six years as far as the United States Senate is concerned. The people of Florida have chosen a 36-year-old man who calls himself a "middle of the road liberal" to replace the Trumanite Pepper who has adhered to nearly every New Deal and Fair Deal proposal for the past 14 years.

Although the administration never openly took any active part in promoting Pepper's campaign, the President's presence in Key West during the hot part of the campaign lends support to the rumors that the administration was helping direct the operations. There can be little doubt that the President would not watch such a staunch supporter on the Senate floor go down in defeat without pulling what strings he could to help the cause.

Another singularly interesting thing about the Florida primary is the fact that soon after the President left Florida, the administration assumed an aloof attitude toward the activities in the Sunshine State, and said should Pepper be defeated it would not be any indication that the people of the country were veering away from the Truman policies. Perhaps they saw the handwriting on Florida's political walls even before the final days of the campaign.

We believe the election swing in Florida to Smathers is indicative of actions to be taken in other Democratic states later this year. Even though the A. F. of L. and the CIO threw all their strength behind Pepper, they could not muster enough support to send the ultra-liberal senator back to Washington. Now that the primary in Florida is over we would not be surprised to see the political forces of the CIO and the A. F. of L. turn their attention to helping Truman in his effort to elect his favorite candidates in other Southern States. North Carolina may be one of these selected for a big drive.

We think the people of Florida have taken a step in the right direction which should serve as a good example for the citizens of other states to follow.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 5—John L. Lewis has withstood the public flattery and the private appeals of Philip Murray and William Green so stoutly that the CIO-AFL program of "one big union" is rapidly disappearing from the politico-economic scene. It has also met opposition at the White House.

The individualistic boss of the United Mine Workers has characteristically definite reasons for his anti-merger attitude. In the first place, inasmuch as he has obtained more benefits for his men than Messrs. Murray and Green, he figures that they want him—need him—to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. And if there are any more nuts to pull, he will pull them for himself.

OATH—He remembers that his erstwhile colleagues ran out on him several times, and naturally fears that they might repeat the performance if it were to their advantage. Last year they were willing to accept the Sims substitute for the Taft-Hartley Act, although it was fully as bad, in Mr. Lewis' opinion. The CIO and AFL officials eventually agreed to sign the anti-Communist affidavits required under the T-H law, although at first they lined up with John L. against this requirement. He has not taken this oath, and he never will, although he purged his organization of Reds long before Mr. Murray dared to challenge the left-wingers.

TEST—Nor does Mr. Lewis, an economic conservative strange as that may seem—he was originally an Iowa Republican—go along with the Green-Murray group in their endorsement of most of the "Fair Deal" program.

In his examination of Congressional candidates whom he will support next November, he makes their attitude on the Taft-Hartley Act and measures of special concern to organized workers his only test of their right to reelection. They could be as black as sin otherwise, but they will have his lionine nod.

The pro-Truman labor leaders, however, ring in many other criteria. They will not endorse a Congressman unless he has declared for FEPC, Federal aid to education, national health insurance etc.—in short, the Truman "fair deal."

Mr. Lewis prefers to be a labor politician, not a democratic ward leader, if only for selfish reasons.

PENSIONS—The admittedly worth-while cause of private-public pensions for older people is beginning to boom again as a result of the unstable and sometimes inequitable methods under which they were established in many industries during the past year. It is the unfortunate and tragic reaction that often befalls many needed reforms installed with more emotion than thought behind them.

The pension costs that must be borne by corporations, especially the smaller units, have become such a burden that men and women over 45 or 50 find it difficult to get jobs. Employers figure that their usefulness will dwindle after five or ten years, and shortly after that, they become payroll chasers. Therefore, industries are averse to taking on folks in that age bracket.

HARDSHIPS—The requirement that pensioners must remain with a single organization also operates against prospective beneficiaries. Sometimes economic or health conditions may force them to move to another part of the country, where they get a new job. Here again, although not true in all cases they do not benefit from the original setup.

The files of federal agencies testify to these hardships traceable to unforeseen conditions, as do pathetic letters to members of Congress. As with Social Security, labor and farm legislation, there will probably be a general legislative review and revision of the pension problem within a few years. It seems the only solution to these developing difficulties.

PRAYER—The Right Reverend Francis A. Burke of Jamaica Plain, chaplain of the Massachusetts Senate, need never seek elevation to a similar post in the U.S. Senate or House under a spending Administration. In opening a recent session for consideration of a heavy budget he delivered this strange prayer:

"You cannot without undermining public confidence pyramid taxes; talk brotherhood and practice prejudices; have so many on pay rolls as to create too great a burden on the taxpayers; or contend that in differences between the worker and the employer, one is always right and the other wrong.

"You cannot reduce the work hours per week beyond the ability of those who pay to absorb that additional economic responsibility. You cannot have too much social security without begetting too much national insecurity. Seeing one cannot spend what one doesn't possess, it follows that an unbalanced budget eventually leads to the inflation you destroy his independence. In all things there must be a happy medium—a sensible balance if the principal aims of popular government are realized. The Latins had a word for it: Est modus in rebus—There is a medium in all things."

GREETED—No great or small nation, not even the United States of America, was ever greeted so effusively by the U.S. Congress as was Israel on the second anniversary of its independence, April 20, 1950. At least a hundred House-Senate members, as well as several governors seeking the 1952 presidential nomination had their testimonials inserted in the Congressional Record.

Let us reiterate the position taken in the editorial of April 26, to which so much exception is taken by these letter-writers:

- (1) Every consideration should be shown to veterans whose disabilities grow out of their service in the armed forces. The country owes them a lasting obligation which must be met.
- (2) There is no obligation on the country to give free hospitalization to hale and hearty veterans who are run over by taxicabs long after war has ended, or who are scarred up in post-war barroom brawls.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Yesterday was one of those afternoons that made you want to be retired, or did it effect you like that? The warm, spring sun beaming down was enough to drive any ambitious man out of the working notion.

The other night I was listening to Groucho Marx on the radio, and yesterday afternoon I was thinking that with his gift of gab I could retire and get out in that sun.

Many years ago Groucho was called from an audience by a magician who needed help from someone in the audience. The magician was doing a needle-swallowing trick and wanted a witness to the fact that there was nothing in his mouth. "What do you see in my mouth?" the magician asked Groucho. "Shabby teeth," Groucho replied.

The audience howled, and from then on Groucho knew he was a natural joker. A year ago Groucho went to work on the ABC network for a quiz show entitled "You Bet Your Life." The idea was to brighten up the almost dead routine with his ad lib. Within a year he won the Peabody Award and his seventh place in the national Hooper ratings. Then he moved over to CBS.

Groucho does not tell jokes or present guest stars. All he does is talk with his contestants, but take a look at typical conversation:

Groucho: Does your husband still remember your birthday?
Housewife: He certainly does.
G: How?
H: Oh, he sends flowers.
G: To whom?
H: To me.
G: Well, that's a relief. Do you have any children?
H: No.
G: Well, until you do, talk a little louder. (Turning to the second contestant) Are you married?
Man: Well, yes and no.

G: What do you mean, yes and no?
M: I mean I'm going to marry the same woman I was once married to.
G: Didn't it take the first time?
M: Well, I guess not.
G: No guessing on this quiz show, please. Tell me, how did you meet your wife?
M: We were kids together.
G: Well, that's possible—but how did you meet her?
M: You see, I drive a truck.
G: You ran over her?
M: No; you see, she was a farmer's daughter, and I drove up one night to get some turkeys just as a skunk started for the chicken house, and she yelled, "Get that skunk!"
G: A fine way for her to talk about her future husband.
This goes on and on, and Groucho makes more than enough money to retire. And on warm, sunny afternoons I envy him. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISEBT Raleigh, N. C.

PRECEDENTS—Two important state boards approached questions involving long range policy and setting precedent at their sessions Thursday rather cogly. It was "meeting day" in the capital city with the highway commission, the state board of education, the state-municipal roads commission and other groups holding simultaneous sessions. To greater degree than usual the boards had presented to them issues which on the surface appeared simple and innocent, but which had significant implications.

SCHOOLS—The precedent-making action of the board of education was approval of plans submitted by the Salisbury schools to use some of the regular term funds for a campaign trip on which some 80 pupils and five teachers would devote a week or so to study of natural history on the grounds, relating to animal, vegetable and mineral elements. There was unanimous approval of the idea but several questions were raised before approval was given—and then it was slightly qualified.

OUT-OF-STATE—The Salisbury program is for the studies to be carried on in Kings Mountain National Park, which is in South Carolina. It was pointed out that frequent out-of-state trips to Washington, Gettysburg and other points have been made by classes or groups of school children under teacher supervision. So far as anybody present could recall, the state board of education had not before been called upon to approve such ventures, nor had definite request been made to transfer regular school funds to finance them.

LIABILITY—What bothered the board members was the matter of liability in case of accident to teachers or pupils on the out of state trip, if it were officially approved by the state agency. So, the authorization was hedged with requirement that every pupil making the trip should have consent of parent or guardian. There is still some question of responsibility, but that qualification was believed to cover the main issue. It was also made clear that the State of North Carolina could not provide transportation for the party.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

WASTE IN VETERANS' CARE THREATENS FISCAL CHAOS (Richmond Times Dispatch)
Three letters, none of them signed for publications, all seemingly written on the same typewriter, and, strangely enough, all written in capital letters and bearing exactly the same Richmond postmark, take us to task for our April 26 editorial protesting the gigantic waste in the operation of veterans' hospitals. We are publishing one of the letters.

Let us reiterate the position taken in the editorial of April 26, to which so much exception is taken by these letter-writers:

- (1) Every consideration should be shown to veterans whose disabilities grow out of their service in the armed forces. The country owes them a lasting obligation which must be met.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Soft goods generally look a little lacking this Spring, what with extended cool weather in many areas, and the greater consumer interest in new homes, cars and TV sets. But one economist who follows the apparel business closely—A. W. Zelomek, president of International Statistical Bureau—reports early sales indicate at least a moderate improvement for the summer, and suggests a concentrated merchandising effort might extend the pickup into fall.

One trouble with the fashion business right now, says Mr. Zelomek, is that there is not enough difference in garments in different price lines. A woman who buys a $14.95 dress nowadays gets much the same styling as the woman who goes to the $29.95 rack. Buyers need to arrange with sources for merchandise that will be exclusive with them, and schedule their buying in different price lines so there are more differences in the garments. Some of the smaller specialty stores in a few cities have been able to do this, and so bettered the average showing during the generally poor spring season, Zelomek says.

He thinks retailers will have to rely on such fashion stimulus rather than hope they will be helped by changes in the general economy. There won't be much help—nor harm—from that direction the rest of the year, he says.

USING MORE STEEL IN LOW-COST HOMES
Developers of housing in the under-$15,000 bracket are using more structural steel, reports Roy A. Kropp, president of Kropp Forge Co., Chicago. The use of structural steel for lolly columns, "T" beams and window frames in particular is spurring, he says. Reasons: steel supporting columns and beamwork are faster to erect and of course highly durable. Despite the sad experience of the Lustron home, Kropp still predicts we'll see more all-steel prefabricated houses in the next decade.

HELP IN SELLING TO THE GOVERNMENT
Businessmen seeking information on Government wants can get consolidated synopses of Department of Defense and Federal Supply Service invitations-to-bid, from the local Department of Commerce field office. More detailed descriptions and specifications of items listed in the synopses can then be obtained by writing to the particular purchasing office listed in the bulletin, or can be inspected in person at the Commerce field office.

If you want to get on the mailing list of specific procurement agencies to receive invitations-to-bid, you write to them directly. You can find out where they're located in a book called Government Procurement Manual, which also can be consulted at the Department of Commerce Field Office.

RAILS NOW STRUGGLE AGAINST TRUCKERS
The hard-pressed railroads are now battling the rapid encroachment of trucks from a new direction—the coast-to-coast haulage. The rail lines have appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a general investigation of how longer truck hauls and more of them are going to affect the nation's transportation facilities. The railroads complain there are now 19 applications pending before the Commission for authority to establish long-haul highway truck routes, many of them extending from ocean to ocean, and from the Gulf to the Pacific. The railroads want the Commission to hold off the trucks at least until a general investigation has been made. Chief railroad gripe: the long-haul truckers want to limit their facilities to high-rated commodities and leave the less-profitable raw materials and bulk commodities, like grain, coal and lumber, to the rails. And what about the effect on the highways of the added heavy traffic, the railroads ask? That's what a lot of tourists may want to know too.

FUTURE BRIGHT FOR PAINT BUSINESS
Outlook for the paint and varnish industry is excellent, says the Bureau of Economic and Business Research of the University of Illinois. Booming construction is of course the key factor, but constant striving by manufacturers to improve their products is helping too, say the Illinois researchers. They cite increased popularity for water emulsion paints, now available in semi-gloss and gloss-type; one-coat outside paints with long-wearing properties, durable interior paints with a synthetic rubber base, and self-priming paints. The paint industry already has a billion-dollar volume, but the research bureau says that's only about one fourth the business waiting for it in the home building and improvement market.

Hal Boyle's Column

Spokane, Wash. — It was the time between the planes going and the planes coming and the old man wanted to talk. And there I was, the nearest target on the next stop, sipping what probably was dream coffee the day before. That's been my trouble in life with girls and coffee, I get them when all they have left is grounds for complaint.

Well, anyway, as I was saying, I was sitting there and this gray-haired old-timer turned to me and said that in this day and world it was much easier to be a son than a father.

How many fathers have you been? I asked him, being slightly smart aleck, which is the only attitude I can face life with until noon.

"I have seven children, five of them still alive," he said soberly. "All sons, too. All my life I kept wanting a daughter and when I finally had one you know how long she lived—three days. Then she left us, and I still don't know why."

The old man munched his coffee a while, the way old people have a habit of doing, chewing everything fluid as if it had bones in it.

"Of course, Jim is my problem now," he said. "I could retire if it wasn't for him."
"He was in the Army and got hurt in Europe. Something hit him in front in the middle and his glands and his nerves. He's been paralyzed ever since from the waist down."

"I got four grandchildren from my other five boys, but none from Jim. I guess there won't be none from him now though he's happy married, I guess."

"You know, before the war, mama and I would be lying in bed at night, and Jim would come home from his date and snuggle between us as if he was still a little boy and tell us the fun he had. You know, a dad and a mom and a kid can't be closer than that, can they?"

And the old man stirred his coffee and looked at me as if I could help him and now could I? "You know, we was buddies, real buddies," he said. "But since he's been home it's like living with a stranger. Jim won't talk about where he was hurt or how it happened to him. He lives all inside himself. He's cynical. He just doesn't believe in things anymore."

The old man took a fresher in his coffee, an old-fashioned cup with "Thank you, ma'am" to the young waitress.

"You know, I didn't just take the word of the government doctors. I sent Jim to the Mayo Brothers. But there isn't anything in the world that anybody can do, for love of God, sin or money, that will make him well again, and he knows it and I know it."

Just then the voice box blared out the announcement that the old man's plane was loading.

"You know, I never had a daughter that lived and I always wanted one," he said, getting up. "But Jim was the closest to us of all our boys. You know, he never drank or smoked or turned over our automobile, or caused us the

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—When the Library of Congress invited some 5,000 big-shot to view its special 150th birthday exhibits, staff members from scrub-women on up pitched in to provide refreshments. Members of the Welfare and Recreation Association—and especially its offspring, the Cooking Club—collected small contributions to buy food and drink and pastel paper plates and cups. From their own homes they brought flowers, candies and other items such as punch bowls, real lace table cloths and vases.

It wasn't right to invite official Washington, library heads from all over this country and Europe; college presidents and such. Just to look and not eat, they look. People get hungry when they look. They knew the guests were coming so they "baked a cake." The result was something which would have made the richest embassy, on the most lavish of expense accounts sit up and envy. It was all done voluntarily by staff members who cooked for days in advance, after hours, at home. No hired catering job, this.

"We had no appropriations for entertainment," Mrs. Mildred Fortner, secretary of the Library, told me. "We figured only about 3,800 of those invited would come, but everybody seemed to be accepting. We worked even harder as time went on." Mrs. Fortner was chairman of the refreshments committee. Miss Elsie Fetter, secretary to Dr. Ernest Griffith, director of the legislative branch, was put in charge of meat balls; another special assistant to the librarian, Dr. Luther Evans.

Mrs. Fortner says she was able to buy most of the stuff at wholesale prices. She ordered 600,000 little cocktail rolls, two hams and two turkeys. Miss Helen Bullock of the Library research staff prepared the turkey for baking. Staffers made 8,000 cookies at home. One male member made a thousand little rum buns. The Sunday before the event a group got together for a "meat ball-rolling party."

Sixty-five pounds of ham, veal and beef went into meat loaves and 40 pounds of different kinds and many spices were spread out to tempt the guests on buffet tables in the Whitall Pavilion at the Library. Special bread, stuffed with Armenian cheese, dill pickled ham were cut into little rounds. Carlos Garcia, husband of a staff member, made tidbits of Puerto Rican bananas, sliced and fried, like potato chips.

Hosea Brings His Message

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Hosea 4:1-9; 6:1-3; 10:12, 13.

Hosea, the prophet, was a man with a family. He had a wife and three children. The wife deserted the family and left them lonely.

Hosea heard that his wife was being sold as a slave; he bought her and took her home to her house and to her children.

Hosea pleaded with his people to return to the Lord, whom they had forgotten and to stop lying, swearing, stealing and all their sins.

He rebuked the priests for immoral living and oppressing His people, and told them God would surely punish them. MEMORY VERSE—Hosea 14:9.

HOSEA BRINGS HIS MESSAGE

REBUKES PEOPLE AND PRIESTS FOR WICKEDNESS

Scripture—Hosea.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE HAVE HAD three consecutive lessons on the prophet Amos and his message. Now we are to have two on Hosea. Both men are known as among the "minor prophets."

Unlike Amos, Hosea was a family man. He had a wife and three children. He was a sweet, domestic type of man who emphasized the love of God even while he denounced the people for their sins and told of punishment in store for them if they did not mend their ways.

Hosea's wife was dissatisfied with her family, however, and left them to shift for themselves. Some time later, Hosea heard that she was to be sold in the slave market, and he hastened there, bought her and took her home to her family. We hear no more of her, and can but hope that after a bitter experience she found her best happiness in her home.

Hosea appeared to the Israelites about 10 years after Amos. His message was similar to Amos', but milder. He pleaded with the people instead of denouncing them, emphasizing God's love for them.

All the prophets made use of symbolism in their writings and speech. Hosea carried this much further than the others. His speech is picturesque and poetic. In his word pictures he referred to agricultural scenes—things his listeners could easily understand.

"Hear the words of Jehovah, ye children of Israel," he entreated, "for Jehovah hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor goodness, nor knowledge of God in the land."

"There is naught but swearing and breaking faith, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery; they break out, and blood toucheth blood."

Alas, these accusations are applicable to our own time. Taking the name of God in vain in ordinary conversation is all too frequent. Stealing is a crime committed so often that every newspaper has a number of stories of thefts and robberies in every

As to murder—quarreling in families or among friends all too often ends in killing. It seems that the horrible mass murders of war have carried over into civilian life, bringing misery to countless numbers.

"Therefore shall the land mourn," said Hosea, "and everyone that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field and the birds of the heavens, yea, the fishes of the sea shall also be taken away."

Hosea saw the priests who were learned in the law and were intended to set an example to the ordinary citizens, also "stumbling."

The worship of the golden calf was prevalent in Israel at this time, and the priests of Jehovah were poor, so it was a temptation to them to snatch what they could in order to live, and to shut their eyes to the follies of their congregations.

They also refrained from telling them what would surely happen if they persisted in their sins.

MEMORY VERSE

"The ways of Jehovah are right, and the just shall walk in them."—Hosea 14:9.

Little Danger In Tobacco Imports

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, May 5—(AP)—Glenn Brannon, entomologist for the state department of agriculture thinks there is little danger of bringing new plant diseases into this state by tobacco farmers getting plants from Georgia or elsewhere.

There are no quarantine or inspection regulations on tobacco plants, such as apply to many other field crops, shrubbery and livestock imported from beyond state lines. Brannon says there is small likelihood of infection. Furthermore, regulations of that kind would be almost impossible of enforcement. From time when memory of man runneth not to the contrary farmers have "swapped" or sold and bought tobacco plants with relative immunity.

The critical shortage of tobacco plants in this state, due mainly to unprecedented dry weather, makes it necessary for farmers to get plants where they can. More favorable conditions in Georgia, plus earlier seasons and the fact field transplanting is over in that state, provides a source of supply for North Carolina growers whose plant beds have dried up.

For the past ten days Tar Heel farmers have been importing tobacco plants. Those who may still be in distress can obtain names and addresses of Georgia plant bed owners from Phil Hedrick, tobacco specialist with the department of agriculture, or from their county farm agent.

Thomas Newton, colored, driving drunk, $100 and costs, and his license was ordered revoked for a year.

Earl Dennis was given 60 days on the roads or pay $25 for possessing non-tax paid whiskey.

C. B. Cutler pleaded guilty to entering a highway without stopping and was taxed with the costs and property damage.

Baby-Sitters To Fall Under Law

Durham, N.C., May 5—(AP)—A Durham health official says baby sitters are domestic servants and therefore under North Carolina law must have health certificates.

Health Superintendent J. E. Epperson came up with that interpretation yesterday. The certificates may be obtained from a doctor or public health officer.

Hail Stones Are Tennis-Ball Size In Some Sections

Asheville, N.C., May 5—(AP)—You could have played tennis with the hail stones which fell in some western North Carolina sections last night.

In the North Fork area, in the Asheville watershed, 0.97 inches of rain fell within 30 minutes, Thad Burnett, superintendent of watersheds, reported. In the freak storm, Burnett said three and one-half inch hail stones pelted the roof of the Bee Tree water sterilization plant, splintering the roof in about a dozen places.

Negro Farm News

The Agricultural Workers Council held its annual picnic in the new Calico Community Center.

This annual day was well attended by farmers from all sections of the county. Many happy reminiscences discussed and old friendships were renewed.

Mr. A. W. Solomon, Farm Bureau agent, was the guest speaker. A barbecue dinner was served on the grounds.

This council (which was organized approximately 12 years ago) has done much to help further the extension program to all parts of the county. It is made up of faithful leaders, some of them who came when transportation was poor, and they had to come by bus, pool rides and others would thumb rides. They are still coming and bringing other new leaders.

This meeting was very educational and inspirational to all. During the meeting a movie showing the production of swine was shown by Mr. L. Lassiter, from the Purina Feed stores. One thing that was very noticeable, a number of the farmers who attended this meeting were tenants. It was a busy season of the year and the middle of the week, and yet they spent the day with ease, poised in their profession dignified farmers. This portrayed the friendly relationship of landlord and tenant.

The farmers have followed the slogan "More Pastures for Pitt." The agent began hammering on more pastures in the fall of 1949 by organizing pasture clubs, meetings, letters and personal contact and the farmers put quite a number of waste acres to work by planting pastures. It was interesting to receive reports on so many pastures.

Despite the handicaps and setbacks by blue mold and insects tobacco plants will be greatly helped by the rain.

If there are any farmers who find that it will be impossible to get plants for this year's crop, don't despair, plant a good crop of legumes.

Raise more hogs and chickens and have a good garden and a milk cow.

The county agent spoke to a very fine group of farmers, after a

Monday To See Strikers Return

Detroit, May 5—(AP)—The 88,000 Chrysler strikers who went without paychecks for 100 days will start the March, back to the job by Monday.

Many of the 88,000 supplier plant workers idled almost as long already have started back to their plants.

Automobile industry experts believe the strike settlement, reached yesterday by Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers, may well bring on a period of unprecedented production.

With Chrysler back in action, monthly production could reach 700,000 cars. This would be about 50,000 over record figures.

But the pull cast by the walkout still will need a lot of lifting. Also, some sore feelings remained.

For countless families the strike meant hardship. The wage loss was put at nearly $85,000,000.

The UAW's Chrysler conference of more than 100 delegates voted last night—with six dissents—to recommend acceptance of the pact.

Voting in the union locals will take place tomorrow. After that a back-to-work schedule will be announced.

Then, predicts Chrysler President K. T. Keller, "we should be in volume production within a few weeks."

The strikers, who walked out Jan. 25, finished their long holdout with a three-year contract that UAW President Walter Reuther called "the best in the industry."

WCTC President To Be Installed

Cullowhee, May 5—(AP)—Paul Apperson Reid will be inaugurated as fourth president of Western Carolina Teachers College tomorrow.

He will succeed Dean W. E. Byrd, who was acting president from the death of Dr. H. T. Hunter in 1947 until last fall.

The main speakers at the inauguration ceremonies will be Gov. W. Kerr Scott and Sen. Frank P. Graham.

A QUARTER LUNCH Redlands, Calif.—(AP)—Marsha Gumpert, 6, had a quarter for lunch—literally. Given a 25-cent piece to buy her noon meal at school, she amused herself by tossing it in the air and catching it in her mouth. It was fun until the time the quarter kept right on going, down her throat.

Elizabeth Taylor Is Altar-Bound

Hollywood, May 5—(AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, generally considered the most beautiful girl in the movies, wed Conrad Nicholson Hilton, Jr., an heir to one of the world's biggest hotel fortunes, at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

It's Hollywood's wedding of the year.

The brunette beauty with the heart-shaped face, flawless features and violet-blue eyes, is 18.

It's the first marriage both for Elizabeth and for her 23-year-old husky, dark-haired bridegroom. His father's 13 hotels, including the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City and the world's largest, the 3,000-room Stevens in Chicago, have been estimated to be worth $125,000,000.

The ceremony is scheduled for the Catholic church of the Good Shepherd, a Gothic structure in Beverly Hills. Its pastor, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick J. Congannon, will officiate.

Fifteen wardrobe—department seamstresses at her studio, M-G-M, have worked intermittently for two months on her trousseau. It was fashioned by studio designer Helen Rose, who has costumed Elizabeth for four pictures, including two movie weddings.

Dinner Provides Belated Tribute For Bethel Quint

Bethel's basketball Indians received a belated honorary dinner last night for winning the Pitt County basketball championship for the second year in a row.

On the basis of their 31-27 upset victory over Farmville's Red Devils during the final game of the tourney held March 6-11, the Indians were treated to a barbecue dinner at Rappess' last night. All members of the team were present, along with Coach Walter Latham and guests, Coach Howard Porter, basketball head at East Carolina; Clifton Everett, member of Bethel school board; and Dr. Cecil Garrington of Bethel.

After the guests spoke informally regarding the 1950 basketball season and its ultimate championship for Bethel, playing members during the final game were presented jackets for their work.

The Indians entered the March tournament losers in three games to the Farmville quint. As many persons expected the final game saw the one-two county clubs facing each other for the championship. And the Indians won after leading the majority of the game.

Latham said last night, in toasting the team, that he had had no idea his boys would come through in the fourth game between the two arch rivals. He said, though, the boys had told him prior to the game that they would "win this one for you."

Although the victory dinner was a bit late in coming, the attending players and guests enjoyed it to the hilt. By JACK HAND (AP Sports Writer)

So the Chicago White Sox 'raised Cain' with the New York Yankees.

Bob Cain, a skinny lefthander making his first big league start, yesterday made the world champs look like the prize chumps in a 15-0 rout.

Nobody ever treated the Yankees like that. And right at home in their triple-decked stadium, too. Good thing for the front office, only $764 were on hand.

Last time anybody blanked the Yanks at home was April 23, 1948, more than two years ago. Mickey Harris, then with the Boston Red Sox, did the job.

While Cain muzzled New York with five hits, three of them by Phil Rizzuto, the Sox dug into Eddie Lopat and Don Johnson for a jackpot total of 23. The Yanks contributed four juicy errors.

While there was slaughter in the Bronx, Cleveland broke Boston's six-game Fenway Park win streak.

5-4. The Red Sox got to Bob Lemon for three in first but Mel Parnell couldn't hold it. Jim Hegan's double, followed by a sacrifice and an outfield fly broke a 4-4 tie for the Tribe in the ninth.

Detroit rolled out the heavy power to riddle Connie Mack's altered pitching staff. The Tigers collected 15 hits to trim Philadelphia, 8-5, on Art Houtteman's five-hitter.

Joe Ostrowski of the St. Louis Browns tossed a five-hitter against Washington to cop his second straight, 5-1. Rookie Ken Wood led the Browns with two singles and a double.

Revenge was sweet for Dick Sisler, a former St. Louis Card, who came home to haunt his old mates with five hits. Dick drove in five runs in the Phillies' 9-6 night game victory. One of Sisler's blows was his third homer off Loser Gerry Staley Jr. the second.

Brooklyn came up with another sore arm case — Dan Bankhead — smothering the Chicago Cubs, 10-2.

Heart Condition May Put Ezzard Charles On Shelf

Chicago, May 5—(AP)—The specter of Joe Louis haunted the heavyweight boxing scene today with NBA Champion Ezzard Charles K.O.'d for at least 90 days by an ailing heart.

Louis, currently on an exhibition tour in Brazil, says Charles' possible retirement from the ring because of his health "is going to change my plans."

The Brown Bomber's partner in the International Boxing Club, Jim Norris, says he believes Louis "would like to be the first heavyweight champion to win back the title."

The time appears ripe for the 35-year-old but still potent Louis to make a comeback—if he wants to.

Louis popped back into the already complex heavyweight picture yesterday when Charles flunked a rigorous, three-hour physical examination by the Illinois Athletic Commission and was declared "not fit to fight at the present."

Charles was adjudged to have "a vascular condition of the heart."

"It is our suggestion that Charles be re-examined in three months to determine whether he is fit for fighting," the report of two commission physicians said.

The examination had been ordered by the National Boxing Association.

The commission's findings came as a surprise to most observers. Charles was speechless.

Charles refused to comment on the doctors' report. Previous to the examination he told reporters he was in "perfect shape" and ready to take on Freddie Beshore June 7 in a twice-postponed title scrap in Buffalo.

Game Postponed

The Greenville-Kinston midgeet baseball game, originally scheduled for tonight at Guy Smith Stadium, has been called off, Coach Bill Kittrell said this morning.

Kittrell said he had received a telephone call from the Kinston coach requesting the postponement because members of the team have to participate in May Day activities in Kinston tonight. Rain had previously halted the May Day program and today is the first day it could be held, Kittrell reported.

Previously the Greenville team had taken a 4-3 decision over Kinston and if they were to win tonight's game they would be in a tie for first place in the Northeastern Boys Conference. The game is tentatively scheduled for the stadium next Thursday night.

Sidelights.—The Robins became the third team in the league to defeat the Jay Rocky Mount defeated them twice and Wilson has a win over them. . . . Roanoke Rapids had 10 men stranded on the bases while Greenville had seven. . . . Running catch by Fleming Plott in top of the third frame of Jim Mooney's liner into left field that saved a run. . . . The superb pitching of Jones who really had his curve ball working last night. . . . The beautiful double play made by the Robins in the seventh frame. . . . And last but by no means least was the ejection of four Roanoke Rapids players from the contest last night.

Going back to the ejection of the Jay players last night your columnist, although he has been asked by President Goodmon not to low-rate his umpires, must say that the officiating at last night's contest was some of the worst he has seen in many a day. Not only were the various decisions of the umpires for the Robins but decisions also were against them. Three top Jay players were thrown out of the game by Umpire Metro in the first inning for vigorously protesting. But the three Jay players were not ejected from the game until they had thrashed the matter out thoroughly with Umpires Metro and Whitt, which halted the game for fifteen minutes or more. Then in the sixth frame Walt McJunkin, who had taken over as acting manager with the ejection of Manager Glenn Lockamy, was given his walking papers by Umpire Whitt for protesting a base decision at second base.

Charlie Blair, manager of Blount-Harvey Company, in cooperation with the Greenville Baseball Club will soon put on sale some T-shirts for all boys up to 12 years of age. The purchase of these T-shirts and wearing one of them to a home game of the Robins will admit that youngster in free to all home games. Watch this column as to the day these shirts will be put on sale.

Gate Crashers Killed In Rush

Tokyo, May 5—(AP)—Three Japanese gate crashers were trampled to death and 25 others were injured today in a rush on a baseball park at Sendai, northern Japan, the newspaper Asahi reported.

The newspaper said 70,000 fans were waiting for the gates to open for a Pacific league game.

About 50 decided to follow several small boys who had climbed the fence. The fence collapsed.

Thousands of fans then surged through the break, trampling those who fell.

Tropical Park Has New Owners

New York, May 5—(AP)—Tropical Park today had new owners who hoped to guide the Coral Gables, Fla., race track to popularity on a plane with that of Hialeah Park.

Hialeah, with the choice middle dates, offers Florida's biggest stakes program. Tropical Park opens the season and it winds up at Gulfstream Park.

Robins Break Losing String In Wild 16-4 Victory Against Roanoke Rapids

By BERT MOYE
 Manager Randy Heflin and his Greenville Robins put an end to their losing streak last night by walting the Roanoke Rapids Jays, 16-4, in a wild ball game at Guy Smith Stadium. The Robins, who had been defeated in their last five games, came through to stop the seven-game winning streak of the Jays.

After spotting the Jays a run in the first inning, the Robins came back in the second frame to put across three runs on one hit, three walks, a stolen base and two errors, and go out in front, after which they were never halted.

What proved their winning margin came in the fourth frame when they tallied two runs. Fleming Plott led off with a single, Al Lakind sacrificed him to second, Vince Jones was safe on an error, Charlie Ouzts walked, loading the bases. Scarpa grounded out short to first with Plott scoring on the out and Jones rapped home on an error by Kiltrell at first base.

The Robins came back in the sixth inning to ice the game on a five-run spurge which featured three singles, a triple by Strausser, two stolen bases, a walk, wild pitch and one error. Six more runs were added by the Robins in the seventh frame on five singles, a walk and three errors.

Vincent Jones started on the mound for the Robins and pitched the first six frames, giving up eight hits, while striking out nine and walking two. He was credited with the win to give him a record of two wins and one loss for the current season. Jim Lewey pitched the final three frames and held the Jays to one hit.

Yonnie Bass, with two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate, and John Price, with two singles in four trips to the plate, led the nine-hit attack off the two Robins hurlers.

First Baseman George Hallow with a triple and two singles and Charlie Ouzts, "Moose" Musumeci and Fleming Plott with two singles each led the 13-hit attack off the two Jay hurlers.

Bethel Defeats Oak City Nine By 6-0 Score

Bethel, May 5—Bethel's Indians took a 6-0 decision over Oak City yesterday afternoon on the strength of Earl Johnson's three-hit pitching.

Coach Luke Renshaw's Indians went scoreless for the first three frames. But in the last three of the seven-inning tilt they found the range, collecting two in each as a result of an eight-hit attack.

Edward Brown led the hitting for Bethel, getting two singles in three times at bat. He walked once.

The summary:

Bethel	000	222	x-6	8	1
Oak City	000	000	0-0	3	3

The batteries: Bethel—Johnson and Ray; Oak City—Worsley and McGlohon.

Farmville Bows To Robersonville

Robersonville, May 5—Robersonville beat Farmville's Red Devils yesterday, 1-0, the only score coming in the fourth inning unearned.

The locals could connect for only two hits but three errors by the visitors enabled Robersonville to score the winning tally.

The game would have gone into extra innings had Farmville capitalized on two hits in the third. Randolph Allen hit for two bases and came flying home on George Strowd's single. But the throw in to home cut him down and ended the rally.

Luther Keel for the locals pitched four-hit ball to shut the visitors out. His teammates backed him up afield, committing no error while the Devils were guilty of seven.

Harvey Lee Webb went the route for Farmville.

Farmville, May 5—Farmville's Bright Belt team swept the series with Pinetops that began last Saturday by beating them last night 7-1 in a playoff that was scheduled for last Sunday.

Junior Yohn went the route for the Farmville club, giving up eight hits. The only Pinetops batter to get over one hit was Skeeter Webb, the manager, who knocked two singles for four trips.

Charlie Regan, the locals' third-sacker, was the big gun for the evening. He drove in five runs during his stint at the plate, getting a double and two singles in five times up.

Williams started on the slab for Pinetops, giving way to Hardy in the sixth. Cullen Webb worked the game behind the plate.

The win last night gave Farmville its third win of the season against the locals, 4-3. Tomorrow and Sunday Saratoga meets Farmville in a home and home twin-bill beginning here at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Louisville Keyed Up On Eve Of 76th Kentucky Derby Saturday

Louisville, Ky., May 5—(AP)—Old Louisville, already getting into the swing of things for the 76th Kentucky Derby, really started to jive today as Churchill Downs prepared to close the entry box on a field of around 14 horses for the $100,000 turf classic.

Opinions were a dime a dozen on who will win the tough mile and one-quarter gallop, as the star-studded field headed by California's Your Host prepared for the three-year-old battle charge at 4:30 p.m. (EST) tomorrow. Most everyone qualifies his guessbook on the condition of the track, and whether more rain falls before post-time.

The entry box—opened yesterday long enough for the names of six challengers to slip through—will close at 10 a.m. (EST) this morning. Your Host, who has been figured the speedball to step out the pace and try to roll all the way for the big pot and garland of roses, already has been entered.

The cardinal fish lives in Australian waters.

Modern European and North American cities owe their checkers-plan to the layout of Roman military camps.

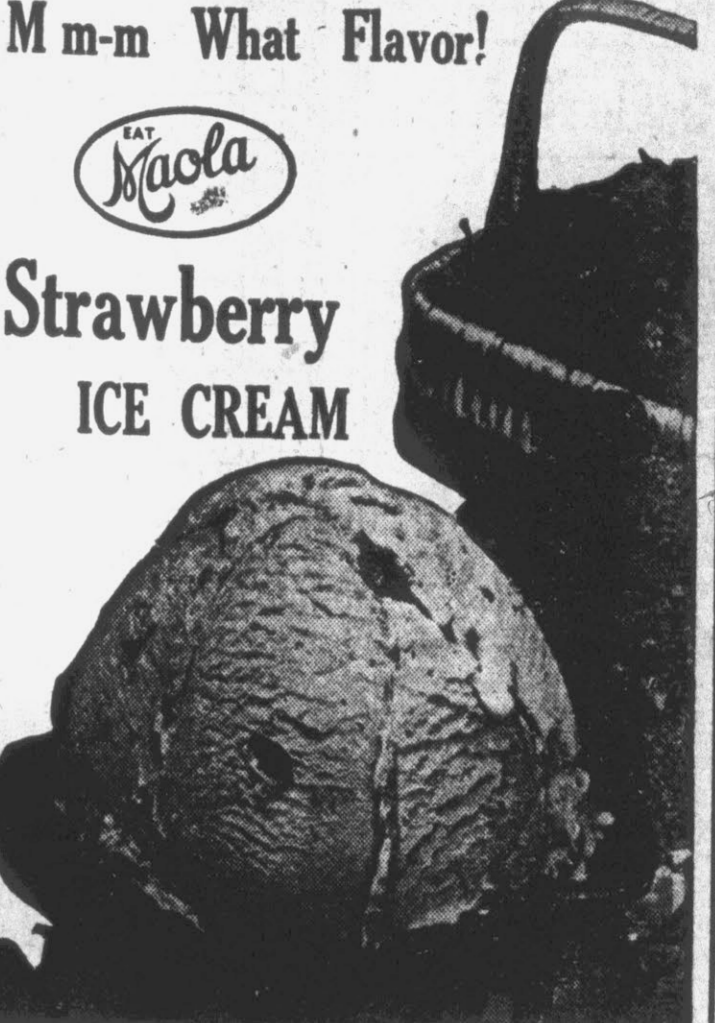

America's ice plants freeze a total of 103,000,000 gallons of water daily.

He was the second name through the box yesterday. Trainer Ray Barnett submitted the name of Black George, winner of Tuesday's Derby Trial, as the No. 1 entry in the Derby.

In fact, several other of the big name babies got in on yesterday's entry affair. The biggest name aside from Your Host is the Virginia dandy—Hill Prince.

Others already named were Hal Frijne Headley's Lotowhite, surprise winner over Hill Prince in the second Experimental Handicap; the tough little Flamingo winner, Tom Gray's Oil Capitol; and the long shot Stranded, owned by R. H. Abercrombie and W. H. Smith, Houston oilmen.

Chapter 25

Andrew had put off his sailing for a month. To Hamlyn's annoyance and Sydney Blount's delight. He did not go to see Katherine, although he sent her flowers and books and candy, and he telephoned Heather and occasionally took her out to dinner so they could discuss Katherine and report progress. The Murrys would not accept any payment for their hospitality or nursing, though Andrew, appealing to Dr. Murray's Scots sense of what was and was not correct, insisted on her accepting professional fees. Then one day he had a letter from Mr. Hamlyn. This was an unusual occurrence. Mr. Hamlyn was much more likely to ring one up on the Trans-Atlantic telephone in the middle of the night than to find time to dictate a letter, much less to write one himself, from his club in New York.

It started by saying he would be glad to see Andrew and was disappointed that he had had to postpone his sailing. There was an undercurrent of worry that he did not put into words, beyond a vague hint that all was not going well with "Devil-May-Care." William Brody was not, apparently, popular in Hollywood, particularly with the technicians and camera crew. Andrew smiled. There was a lot of money sunk in the picture and in William, Mr. Hamlyn went on nervously, and they couldn't risk a failure. It would almost be better to cut their loss, put in a well-known star with a reputation for reliability.

Katherine herself came to the door to let him in, and he felt a queer little sense of triumph at seeing her looking so much better. "Heather's out," she said. "Mr. Blount rang her up and asked her to go along and see him. I believe he has a part for her."

"I believe he has, too," admitted Andrew, smiling. "I'll want to know why if he hasn't. Surprising, the influence you have over people when you're leaving them. I hope I'm going to have some influence over you."

She looked at him with a little guarded sense of awareness as though she suspected some kind of trap. He again had the little feeling of triumph; this sensitivity to every inflection was so much a part of the normal Katherine. He went up to her and took her by the shoulders, turning her round, admiring her as he might have some work of art he had created himself.

"You look wonderful! Dr. Murray and Heather have done a wonderful job."

"They're nice," she said quickly. "And you are, too. I can't begin to say how grateful I am. I thought it was just natural unhappiness. I didn't think I was ill."

"And now you're quite well. Even a little brown."

"That's from being out in the air."

"Well, let's go out now; then I can talk as we're walking. Let's go over the river into the park."

Dreamers Jungle Was Banquet, Dance Theme

"A Dreamers Jungle" was the theme of the Junior-Senior banquet and dance which was presented last Friday night by members of the junior class of Greenville high school in honor of the graduating seniors.

Approximately 300 students and their guests attended the banquet and the dance which highlighted the social activities of the school year.

The banquet was held in the north dining hall on the East Carolina campus where guests were greeted with wild screams and unusual noises by natives who ushered the students, faculty and board members to their seats in the dining hall. Even the menu for the evening carried out the jungle theme with the dinner courses written in "authentic" Zulu language.

Principal O. E. Dowd of the high school gave the invocation and the juniors welcomed their guests to the banquet with their welcome song. Lyman Ormond gave the welcome address, and the toast to the seniors was given by Margaret Fleming, vice president of the junior class, to which Louis Clark, senior class president responded.

Janet Waters, junior secretary, gave a toast to the faculty, and Joel Bunch gave a toast to the school. Gaither C. Frye and Superintendent J. H. Rose gave responses to the respective toasts.

Miniature diplomas were presented to members of the senior class at the banquet in a "tribal ceremonial" in which Jake Higgs, Joe Rowland, Billy Wooten, Leon Moore and Bynum Whitehurst took part.

For the dance which began at 9 o'clock, the high school gym was elaborately decorated in a jungle setting. Moss hung from the ceiling, bamboo huts were placed on the sides of the gym, and a water hole in the center of the dance floor was occupied by a realistic paper-mache alligator. Several other animals and tropical birds placed in and around the pool added authenticity to the setting.

Music for the dance was furnished by Bob Lee and his orchestra with Bernard Ham as featured vocalist.

The floorshow added to the occasion with the singing of "Some Enchanted Evening" and "Ball Ha!" by a group of nine high school girls. Billie Jean Simpson, Barbara White, Mary Ann Waldrop, Peggy Martin, Margaret Fleming, Joan Allen, Peggy Nichols and Molly Hester. Milton Foley was a featured vocalist as he sang "Bamboo" with the girls humming in the background.

Sixteen sophomore dancers entertained the juniors and seniors, and Al Smith, accomplished dancer, performed an interpretative dance in a darkened auditorium. The only lights in the auditorium were two colored flashlights which he held in his hands. Claude West, a student at East Carolina, read a narrative jungle poem "The Congo" during Smith's dance.

The floorshow was climaxed by the figure and the grand march in which the officers of the junior and senior classes and the committee chairmen and their dates participated.

The committee chairmen for the banquet and dance were: the dance, Lyman Ormond; the banquet, Margaret Fleming; decorations, Lewis Howe; tags, Barbara White; ceiling, Johnny Aman; outside, Bynum Whitehurst; program planning, Margaret Fleming; table decorations, Suggie Sugg; floorshow, Carolyn Clapp; programs and favors, Jackie Sears; courtesy, Janet Waters; sides and pool, Milton Foley; bids, Mary Ann Waldrop; lighting, Floyd Hendrix; animals and birds, Sue Lassiter; trees, bamboo, reeds, Kent Lee; foyer, Zack Taft; fences, Joel Bunch; stage, Virginius Haymes, and clean-up, Lyman Ormond.

Miss Deanie Boone Hasket is faculty advisor for the junior class.

Pianist Presented In Graduating Recital

Rupert Browning of Logan, W. Va., was presented by the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College in a recital of compositions for the piano last night at 8:00 o'clock in the Austin auditorium on the campus here. The occasion was Mr. Browning's graduating recital.

For the past four years this young pianist has been a student in the department of music at the College. During this time he has played frequently in programs on the campus. Last spring, with Marilyn Maxwell of Greenville, he appeared in one of the major recitals presented by campus musicians during the school year. He is a pupil of Elizabeth Drake of the faculty.

Mr. Browning's program Thursday evening opened with Grieg's "Sonata in E minor" opus 7, and included a varied group of compositions by Beethoven, Debussy, Gershwin, Liszt and Brahms.

Lightning Hits Street Car; 23 Passengers Hurt

Pittsburgh, May 5—(AP)—Lightning struck a street car here early today, injuring 23 passengers. Three of the injured are in serious condition.

Twenty passengers were treated at hospitals and released after lightning hit a Knoxville-bound car at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street in downtown Pittsburgh.

Witnesses said the lightning struck in the middle of the car, near the fuse box. Fire, sparks and fumes filled the car, occupied by about 40 passengers.

While occupants lined up at the front and side doors, one man kicked out a window. Several men left the car through the window.

Foreign Mission Film Is Shown

A film devoted to foreign missions was shown members of the Meadowbrook Presbyterian church Men's Club at its monthly supper meeting last night.

The film, entitled "The Road we Walk," depicted life in other lands which were torn by war compared with life in the United States. It was presented by Cliff Rhodus, president of the club.

Thirty persons attended the barbecue dinner at 7:30. Bread and cake was donated by bakeries of Greenville and the leftovers were bought by members of the club with the profit going into the club treasury.
