Second Primary Possible; Smith Studies Future Plans

Graham Office Assumes Bitter Battle Will Be Resumed; Record Vote Cast On Saturday

Raleigh, N.C., May 29—(AP)—Another bitter battle between Liberal Senator Frank P. Graham and Lawyer Willis Smith may face North Carolina Democrats.

stronger challenger. Smith, 62, and well-to-do, finally announced. He traveled the state from one end to the other, denouncing the Graham philosophies.

The answer lies with Smith, runner-up to Sen. Graham in Saturday's record-breaking primary balloting. Smith mullied over the question but wouldn't tell his plans. He has until June 12 to decide whether he wants a runoff.

Jeff D. Johnson Jr., Graham's campaign manager, said he was proceeding on the assumption a second primary will be called. He urged Graham campaign managers throughout the state to keep their organizations intact.

Two other senatorial candidates were eliminated and five U.S. representatives returned to office. Former Senator Robert E. Reynolds, wartime isolationist, failed in his comeback effort and Olla Ray Boyd, pig breeder who constantly runs for office, never was in the running.

The winner of the Democratic primary is assured of victory in the November general election. Graham, 63, former president of the University of North Carolina, had a 50,000 lead over Smith with most of the votes counted. But he was about 12,000 votes shy of a majority.

Unofficial returns from 1,924 of the state's 1,900 precincts gave Graham 295,342; Smith 245,080; Reynolds 56,018 and Boyd 5,665.

That was the answer to the hottest senatorial campaigns in North Carolina history. And this state has had some fiery ones.

Opposition to Graham began 14 months ago when Gov. W. Kerr Scott, himself a Liberal, appointed him a senator. Sen. J. M. Broughton, who had just taken office, had died unexpectedly. The present race is for the four years remaining of Broughton's unexpired term.

Gov. Scott's announcement, made on the university campus at nearby Chapel Hill, rocked the state and echoed throughout the nation. Graham's opponents recalled that he had been a member of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. That was one of the organizations listed by the Dies Un-American Activities Committee as being subversive. Graham earlier had described his connection with that organization in these words:

"During the period of my active participation, the overwhelming number of members of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare were to my knowledge anti-Communists. There were several isolationist stands of the conference with which I disagreed."

And so Reynolds announced against Graham. Some newspapers cried for a

Nearly 500 Pitt Farms Measured By PMA Office

Allotment Acreages Measured For A Little Less Than Fifth Of Total

Close to 500 Pitt farms had their allotment acreage measured last week in conformance with county Production and Marketing Administration rules to determine over-planting by farmers.

The measurement began last Monday throughout the county and was done by more than 100 reporters under supervision of the four county spot checkers. All allotment crops—tobacco, cotton, peanuts—were measured on the 500 farms while other crops not on an allotment basis had their acreages estimated. Irish potatoes, an allotment crop, was measured prior to last week's wholesale job.

Supervisor Frank Parker, of Falkland, said this morning, in reporting on the work of the first week, the job was being done a little slower than in former years.

The main reason, he said, was that this year the allotment acreages must be measured rather than estimated as was the case last year. He said that a check of the reporters (measurers employed by the county PMA office) would be more extensive this year than last because of the actual measuring required.

All crops are doing well, Parker said. The tobacco he had seen last week was about 10-15 days behind, he pointed out, but was "coming along nicely" at the present time. On a few farms, however, Parker reported the farmers had plowed under their cotton in favor of planting corn because of a bad stand.

"No excess acreages may be destroyed after harvesting this year," Parker said. "They must be plowed under rather than waiting until the crop is in the pack house." He said the rule would be strictly enforced and any destroying of crops must be done under the supervision of the PMA office.

The 500 farms measured last week is a little less than one-fifth of the total farms in the county. There are 2,850 farms and of that number 2,750 are growing tobacco. At the present rate of progress the job will be finished by June 30, the deadline, Parker stated.

250 Accidental Deaths Tallied In Long Holiday

The nation's accidental death toll for the four day memorial day week-ended mounted to 250 today.

The total included 164 lives lost in traffic mishaps, with highway traffic increased by fair and mild weather over much of the country. Drownings accounted for 47 lives and 39 persons died from miscellaneous causes.

The national safety council has predicted that at least 290 persons will have been killed in traffic accidents alone during the holiday period. It expected 80,000,000 automobiles to be on the highways.

Tongue In Light Socket; Killed

Philadelphia, May 29—(AP)—A three-year-old boy put his tongue into an electric light socket and was electrocuted last night, Detective Anthony Galen reported.

The child, Francis Ritch, was found in the cellar of his home with his tongue in the outlet of a plugged-in extension cord.

Berlin Scene Of Demonstration, But No Fighting

Deadlock Remains; Marchers Resemble Nazi Hordes Of Bygone Days

By WES GALLAGHER Berlin, May 29—(AP)—The much-publicized "Battle for Berlin" turned out yesterday to be just another big Communist parade—not the threatened putsch the West had girded itself to meet.

The demonstration, which recalled days of Hitlerite goose-stepping, had its significant undertones, however. The West proved itself ready to meet any Red putsch and not be moved out of the city by Soviet threats.

The East proved it had laid the groundwork for an automaton state in East Germany, firmly in the Communist grip, by pouring out a half million youths to pay homage to Soviet Russia.

Speakers for both sides were claiming victories. But there was none—only a deadlock until the next Berlin crisis.

There was no Communist storming of the West sectors, as first threatened last February. Neither was the Red outpouring in the East sector any flabby affair.

Up the Wilhelmstrasse, past the rubble that marks the end of Hitler's Reich, into Unter den Linden where the Kaiser's legions and later the Nazi hordes used to march, came the blue-shirted youths by the tens of thousands.

Hour after hour they marched, through rain and sun, chanting hymns of hate against the West and praise for Communist Russia.

Sandwiched in with the marching youngsters were 10,000 members of the East Zone police force, which Western officials claim is the nucleus of an East German army.

Tanned, rugged, and obviously army-disciplined in their dark blue uniforms and black jack-boots, they looked much like the Wehrmacht forces of a few years ago.

The marchers would burst into a frenzy of cheering as they passed the reviewing stand, where German and Russian Communist leaders stood.

Their fathers and older brothers broke into similar frenzies 10 years ago near the same place. Most of them are dead now—following Hitler's ill-fated star.

Such memories seemed to occupy the thoughts of the few thousands of older people lining the Unter den Linden to watch the march. The horror of war and the bitterness of defeat was still fresh in their minds. They looked chilled and apathetic as they watched the machine-like performance.

New Information On Bookmaker

Washington, May 29—(AP)—Senator Keafauer (D-Tenn.) said today senate investigators have uncovered "some new information" about bookmaker Frank Erickson which will be turned over to Frank S. Hogan, New York district attorney.

A New York grand jury is now investigating the activities of Erickson who admitted to a senate committee a few weeks ago that he breaks the law and said his bookmaking business nets $100,000 a year.

Korea Prepares For Nat'l Vote

Seoul, May 29—(AP)—The little republic of Korea, born of the turmoil of World War II and a hot spot in the Asian cold war since today wound up a quiet (for Korea) campaign for tomorrow's national elections.

Six deaths, three kidnappings, four cases of arson and about 500 arrests have been reported. Among those clamped in jail were 42 candidates and 178 electioneers. The main charge was violation of election laws in sympathy with communism.

More Than 10,000 Pitt Voters Turn Out For Primary Election Saturday

Crowd Gathered To Get First-Hand Election News

Crowds ranging from 300 to 600 people jammed Evans street in front of the Daily Reflector office Saturday night to follow the county and state-wide election returns as they came in from the Democratic primary. The photo above, taken about 10:30 shows a portion of the crowd which was estimated to number about 500 at the time. The people began to gather in front of the Reflector office shortly before the polls closed at 8:30 Saturday night, and a few people still remained to study the county scoreboard after 3 a. m. Sunday morning. (Reflector photo by Roy Hardee).

Five Hospitalized Over Weekend In Accidents

Four Negroes Treated At Hospital When Car Burns After Being Struck In Rear; Ayden Driver Is Arrested

Investigation of the accident was made by Patrolman R. C. Holt of Ayden, who arrested the driver of the car which rammed into the other. The driver, Charlie Lee Stocks of Ayden, was arrested by Holt on charges of careless and reckless driving.

The accident occurred on highway 102 out from Ayden in the direction of Venter's Crossroads.

The car operated by Wesley Phillips, colored, of 512 W. 12th Street, Greenville, was traveling in the direction of Venter's Crossroads when the accident took place. The force of the impact caused an explosion of the gas tank which set the car afire.

The Phillips car traveled along the highway for 180 feet before going off the road and into a nearby swamp.

The second car went about 80 feet from the scene of the accident and also went into the swamp.

Holt stated that evidence at the scene of the wreck seemed to indicate that speed was a leading factor in the accident.

The four Negroes were unable to get out of the car until it came to rest in the swamp land. All four of the persons in the car suffered burns and minor cuts and bruises. The car was a total loss.

The injured were: Charlie Lee Stocks, painful injuries to head and cuts about the knees; Wesley Phillips, severe burns on the arms; William Grimes, burns on face, head and

America To Pay Tribute To Dead

Ceremonies Over The Land On Memorial Day Tomorrow

American citizens are urged to observe the day with a solemnity that will dedicate themselves to the task of keeping the peace achieved by the sacrifices of the dead.

A grateful nation will pay floral and vocal tribute on Memorial Day at cemeteries at home and abroad where American servicemen lie.

Ceremonies will range from the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington to modest graves in tiny hamlets of the nation and in foreign lands where Americans fell.

Marching millions and the massing of battle flags will exemplify the theme that, once again on Memorial Day, Americans are "united for peace."

A five hour observance at the Arlington (Va) National cemetery will feature an address by General George C. Marshall.

A White House Army aide, Capt. Adam Eisenhauer, will place wreaths from President Truman on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I and at the monuments to the Union and Confederate dead of the civil war.

Under auspices of the Armed forces, an American flag will be placed on each grave in the National cemeteries in the United States, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii and on graves of American war dead overseas.

Graduates Hear

Rev. J. A. Neilson Addresses Class In Exercises

The young people are marching into tomorrow to face the testing time of your young lives and to show how well your parents and school teachers have succeeded in training you to be useful citizens."

Rev. J. A. Neilson, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, said to the graduating class at the Greenville High School Sunday night.

The eloquent minister told the legend of the man and boy, with a suitcase, climbing a hill until they arrived at a gate with a sign on it, "Tomorrow."

"Thus is as far as I can go with you, and when you go into tomorrow, you must defend what you have in that suitcase—character, training, faith, hope and a desire to be a useful citizen."

The speaker addressed his message particularly to the boys and girls of the graduating class. He illustrated his timely discourse with appropriate anecdotes to stress values.

Modernizing Justice

How The Congress Passed A Bill, Signed By The President, To Give Accused Members Of The Armed Forces More Protection; Comparisons With Old Code

Washington, May 29—(AP)—The armed forces have undergone some modernizing in the field of justice. From the beginning the Army and Navy, and later the Air Force, have had rules for handling crimes and misconduct by service people.

Being drunk would be a minor offense. Desertion, disobedience, murder, theft, rape would be major crimes.

As the years passed the rules piled up. So did the general foginess of the legal language which got written into the rules.

And—the three services had different ways of handling their problems. Further, their idea of justice was not the same as the American civilians' idea of justice.

Smith Given Small Plurality; Tyson Retained; Kilpatrick Lacks But Votes Of Majority For Assembly Seat; Two New Members On Pitt Board

More than ten thousand Pitt county voters in Saturday's Democratic primary gave Willis Smith a small plurality over Frank P. Graham for the U. S. Senate, and retained Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson in office by nearly 1,500 majority over former sheriff Sam A. Whitehurst.

Sam O. Worthington was returned to the North Carolina General Assembly and Frank M. Kilpatrick lacked but 146 votes of a clear majority for the other seat in the assembly. The other two candidates in the four-way race for the two seats were W. Jasper Smith and Frank M. Wooten, Jr., who finished in third and fourth places, respectively.

Griffin H. House, county coroner, retained his position by a big margin in a three-way race with Marshall F. Clark and Otis Haddock who finished in third and fourth places, respectively.

In the race for county commissioners two new members were named to the board, two old members were renamed and the fifth member was without opposition. In the first district F. F. Hendrix was victorious over J. Vance Perkins, incumbent. In the second district J. T. Dupree (incumbent) was without opposition.

In the fourth district Marvin W. Smith (incumbent) gained a large plurality over R. L. Worthington and J. Elbert Mills with a possible call for a second primary should Worthington so desire. M. Brown Hodges, present chairman of the board and member from the fifth district, was victorious over E. Guy Jackson by more than 700 votes.

In the other state races the Pitt countians gave the incumbent, Emory B. Dumas a majority over Gen. O. Eldred for associate justice of the Supreme Court and gave Waldo Cheek (incumbent) a majority over Hoke R. Boston for insurance commissioner.

As a result of one of the most heated contests in many years about 25 per cent more voters turned out than in the 1948 primary, but the number was still short, the two record years of 1936 and 1940 when 11,000 Pitt countians went to the polls.

The voting was extremely heavy throughout Saturday morning indicating that a new record would be set, but during the afternoon the crowds about the polling places decreased considerably.

In the sheriff's race, former sheriff Whitehurst carried eight of the county's 20 precincts with the following majorities: Belvoir 12, Carolina 59, Chiloc No. 1 (Grimesland) 117, Chiloc No. 3 (Venter's Store) 29, Falkland 106, Greenville No. 3 (West Greenville School) 8, Pactivia 15 and Swift Creek 88. Sheriff Tyson carried the other 12 precincts

A Key 'Holding Point'

The Indochina Fighting Similar To Troubles In Greece; U. S. Again Involved As Aid Promised; Guerrilla Warfare; An Unpopular War; Problem Facing U. S.

Promise of American aid to Indochina—just made by the State department—could move the U. S. into another political tangle as aggravated as the Greek troubles which this country tackled in 1947. Chinese Red troops are perched on the mountainous north border of Indochina. And world statesmen fear that if Indochina falls under the shadow of Moscow, India and Indonesia will come under the pressure next. So little Indochina seems to have been chosen as the holding point, much as Greece was chosen in the Mediterranean.

Until recently Indochina was a French dependency. Now it has semi-independence, and has been broken into three small nations: Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. Vietnam is the most important, and it is there that the guerrilla warfare between native Reds and a combination of French troops and native Vietnamese is being fought the most violently.

There are about 23,000,000 Vietnamese who live in an area about the size of Texas. Together the three nations form the sort of fat peninsula which hangs down from China toward Indonesia.

Both political and military troubles will plague the American advisers who are, now, flying to Saigon to see what can be done. Politically, the Vietnamese resent the French apron string to which they are still tied. France has reserved for itself direction of foreign affairs and defense. It has set up special advantages for French business men.

So the provisional ruler, Bao Dai, whom the French have recognized, enjoys much less than popular support. The three year old war has laid waste much of his land, besides acting as a serious drain on the French home budget.

Bao Dai has an army of some 80,000, many of them drawn from somewhat uncertain factions, and he is supported by French troops of 130,000. All are paid by France.

Mrs. M. P. Hoot Guest Speaker

Mrs. Wendell W. Smiley was hostess to the Arles Book Club at her home on East Eighth Street on Thursday evening May 25. This was the final meeting of this season.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. Smiley who were Mesdames Pitt D. Duncan and Agnes W. Barrett.

Mrs. Leo W. Jenkins, vice president, presided during the business meeting. Year books for the 50-51 season were distributed by the program chairman, Mrs. John Reynolds.

Following the business session, Mrs. T. J. Ashworth presented Mrs. M. P. Hoot, guest speaker for the evening.

Will Rogers was Mrs. Hoot's topic which was presented in a most charming and entertaining manner. A resume of the life of Will Rogers was given Mrs. Hoot who told the club members and guests of his birth in 1879 on an Indian reservation in Oklahoma.

The highlights of this lecture were description of Will Rogers' influence on political life. It was he who had said, "Each party looks worse than the other." He was the most sought after dinner speaker of his day, radio entertainer, columnist and writer, philanthropist and world traveler. Will Rogers was known as the cowboy who became a philosopher on horse back.

Although Will Rogers was sent to Willie Hassel School in Neasha, M. and Kemper Military Academy at Boonville, Mo., his most valuable education was obtained from experience through travel. In South Africa Will Rogers joined the Worth Bros. Circus. He later was employed by the Great Ziegfeld in 1914. In 1925 the world lost an unofficial ambassador of good will from the U.S. Will Rogers was killed with his companion Wiley Post as their plane crashed in Alaska while circling the globe.

The statue of Will Rogers stands in the rotunda of the congressional building in Washington, D.C. and in Will Rogers' own words "to keep an eye on Congress." It has been said of Will Rogers "He called a spade a spade and made the spade like it." He won immortality with his humor, and with a piece of rope brought a troubled world a little peace of mind. How desperately we need another Will Rogers today!

Mrs. Hoot delightfully awakened many pleasant memories of a great American.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. W. W. Smiley and enjoyed by all.

Miss Grace Outland, librarian, distributed books.

Golden Text: Romans 8:31. "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

Among the citations comprising the lesson sermon were the following from the Bible: "Grant not, O Lord, the desires of the wicked; further not his wicked device; lest they exalt themselves." (Ps. 140:8). And from the Christian Science Textbook by Mary Baker Eddy: "Evil is not power. It is a mockery of strength, which ere long betrays its weakness and falls, never to rise." (Page 192).

James William Martin

James William Martin, of route 4, Lewisburg, Tenn., has been a familiar and popular figure at thousands of old-fashioned entertainments throughout Tennessee since he was just a boy. The old-timers claim that young Bill can really make a bull fiddle talk "sweet music."

These fans really missed Martin's music when he did not appear in his regular program on the great 50,000 watt WLAC radio station in Nashville, Tenn., recently. In fact, they missed him for the two weeks that he suffered the horrors of nervous indigestion and kindred ills.

They will be happy to know now that Bill is back with the bull fiddle. It seems to some that the music is just a little sweeter because Bill feels better now than he ever did before, because he has learned the blessings of HADACOL. His deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron are now being overcome by taking HADACOL.

Here is Martin's own statement about the blessings that HADACOL brought to him:

"I am only 24 years old but have suffered with the horrors of nervous indigestion. No food I ate digested well. I suffered severe headaches. I had difficulty sleeping. I have played with radio bands and nervous indigestion affected my work. I was run down and nervous and for a time thought I would have to give up my work. After the second bottle of HADACOL, I felt better and now after five bottles of HADACOL I feel like I am a new man. I am going to continue to take HADACOL to help keep well."

Red Oak News

Plans have been completed for the annual "Lawn Party" by the Ladies of the Red Oak Christian Church each year at "Woodside" home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson. The party is scheduled for Wednesday evening, May 31, from eight to ten o'clock. In case of rain, it will be held in the club house.

The entertainment committee has invited several guests from different sections of the county to appear on the musical program.

Among those who have been invited to entertain are Mesdames Walter Glenn Scott and Vance Arnold, the "Twin Pianists" heard over station WGTC each week.

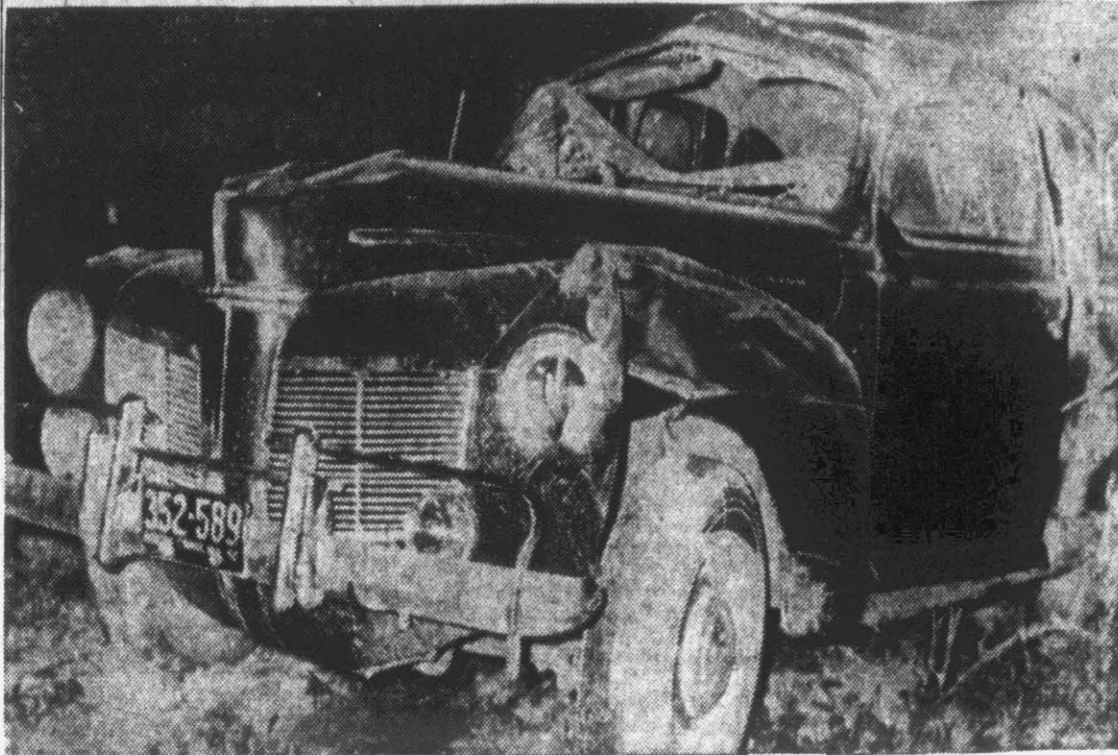

Billy Arnold and his drum, and Billy Landing and his electric guitar will also be featured.

Ralph Sullivan from Greenville, Miss. Pattie Jenkins of Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Clarissa Edwards May of Winterville, Miss. Pauline Moore and friends from Ayden, Mrs. Mimi Tripp Denton and Carl Denton, Bob Yokum and his accordion of Greenville, Mrs. Ned Kinsaul of Arthur and others will also entertain.

A group of young people from the neighborhood will sing some of Stephen Foster's songs.

An invitation is extended to all of our friends in Greenville and Pitt County to attend this lawn party. It is being given by the church and a silver offering will be taken to help purchase carpet for our recently remodeled church.

Driver And Passenger Escaped Unhurt

The driver and a passenger of the car shown in the above picture escaped without injury when their car overturned on the Belvoir-Penny Hill road Sunday morning around 3:30. The car was driven by John Eddie Mack, Negro, of Winterville. Damage to the car was estimated by investigating Patrolman D. E. Perry at $700. (Photo by D. E. Perry, S. H. P.)

Women In The Church

Speaking to the women of the Methodist Church—1,500,000 of whom are organized as the Woman's Society of Christian Service under her presidency—Mrs. Frank G. Brooks, of Mount Vernon, Iowa, says: "Women, especially Christian women, believe there are still frontiers to be crossed. American women have been pioneers in the past and the sense of trail-blazing is still strong in most of them. Crossing a frontier, whether it is the boundary line of a nation or whether it leads to new and uncharted areas of experience and of thinking, involves one in many adjustments."

The purpose of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the significant frontier-crossing role which it must play in this hour of history can be realized only if it has leaders—hundreds of leaders—with a positive and a growing faith in God and in the values of personal worth and social justice—leaders who believe in the significance of their tasks; leaders who are willing to do whatever is needed to add to their understanding and increase their abilities and skills.

Driving Course For Teachers Is Now Under Way

A 40-hour intense course in driver education and training for high school teachers desiring to qualify as high school instructors in this field opened at East Carolina Teachers College this morning. Successful completion of the five-day course qualifies teachers to conduct student courses in classroom and in the car driver education and training.

The course is being presented by the State Department of Public Instruction and East Carolina Teachers College for teachers from 27 eastern North Carolina counties.

The course is conducted under the direction of John C. Poe, advisor in Safety Education, State Department of Public Instruction, who is developing the state-wide program.

Cooperating in presenting the course are the State Division of Highway Safety and the Carolina Motor Club.

Serving as instructor for the course is Harold O. Carlton, Education Consultant of the American Automobile Association. Mr. Carlton is nationally-recognized in the field of driver education and teacher training.

Certificates will be awarded the teachers completing the course, which is offered by the State Department of Public Instruction as a public service in response to a demand on the part of teachers for initial training in driver education.

A complete set of textbooks, teacher's manuals, tests, pamphlets, posters, and other material is furnished each teacher taking the course without charge.

Over 200 North Carolina teachers have already completed previous teacher training courses and are at present qualified to instruct high school courses.

A total of 112 high schools in North Carolina conducted complete courses in driver education and training during the current school year. Classroom instruction and actual behind-the-wheel driver training is included in each of these courses.

The local institute includes the history, scope, objectives, contents, and problems of driver education and training programs; standards of administration, problems, and practices; available materials for the teacher and use of supplementary teaching aids; driver qualifications, psycho-physical testing, demonstration, administration and scoring; practice teaching periods and demonstrations; overview of traffic safety programs at national, state, and local levels; the automobile—construction, operation and maintenance; organization of the classroom program; techniques of behind-the-wheel training, instruction, demonstration, practice and scheduling; principles and methods of road training, road testing and skill testing; visual aids and their effective use; driver attitudes and their improvement; pedestrian protection and education, bicycle safety; traffic engineering, signs, signals, and markings in North Carolina; principles of skillful driving, city and open road; traffic rules and regulations of North Carolina; and enforcement and safety, driver licensing and examination.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
ONE IDOL STILL CHERISHED
Chromatius, a heathen, many centuries ago wanted very much to be healed of a malady and sent for a certain Christian teacher who, he was told, could heal his disease. This teacher explained to Chromatius that the first thing necessary, if he would benefit by the true religion of Christ, would be that he must destroy all the idols in his house. Chromatius gave ready consent and brought many idols out into the courtyard and destroyed them. But there was no difference in his malady, and it seemed as if the healing power of the Christian religion had failed on that occasion.

But the Christian teacher suspected that Chromatius was keeping something back; and so he was an idol of beaten gold which he greatly cherished. And the story goes on to say that no healing was effected until he brought that idol out and destroyed it also.
All of which, whether it be truth or fiction, illustrates this truth—that spiritual power is definitely withheld so long as we refuse to cast the last idol out of our hearts. The price of salvation and of the peace which follows it, is surrender. Like Chromatius, people are so often willing to sacrifice every idol except one which they cherish in their hearts.
Only when this last debasing idol is cast out does the power of God rush down over our lives like the waters of a mighty stream.

More Voters Mean Better Gov't Officials

In the Democratic primary Saturday, the people of Pitt county took a greater interest in their right and privilege of voting than they did two years ago.

Saturday there were approximately 10,000 votes cast in the 20 precincts throughout the county. That is about 2,000 more than were cast in the primary of 1948.

It is gratifying to see that more and more people in Pitt county are making an effort to get to the polls on election day. It means that more people of the county are expressing their opinions and are taking an active part in the county, state and national governments. They are helping the American governmental system to be a government by the people as well as of and for the people.

The higher percentage of active voters that is in Pitt county, the more assurance the people of the county have that good officials will be elected.

Pitt county did not set a voting record Saturday as some people thought it would; but when the people flock to the polls, it is a healthy sign. We hope the number of active voters in the county will continue to increase.

We Saw Last Year's Suggestion In Action

Last year at just about this time, the Reflector brought word to Pitt county of an effective anti-fly measure being put to use by some Norfolk, Virginia, housewives. It was so simple that most folks didn't take it seriously; all there was to it was the tying of a small wad of absorbent cotton to the screen door.

Well, this being spring, and the flies are again on the loose, we idly wondered if anyone had had sufficient success with the idea last summer to put it to use this year.

Happily we were not disappointed. Further, we saw this "fly-repellant" in action, apparently fooling the flies this year as well as last. They just won't learn.

No one has explained to us how or why it works . . . nor have we read anywhere of its origin.

Anyhow, the Reflector is happy in the knowledge that it hasn't passed on a bum steer.

Despite Their Success Can't Recommend Crime

Somewhere there is a gang of happy hoodlums with $1,750,000 dishonestly acquired at the point of a gun in the famous "Brinks" robbery of a few months ago.

The police, FBI and "private eyes" are apparently baffled.

Our sense of proportion is outraged. If a thief or maladjusted youth makes off with any sum from twenty-five cents to a paltry few thousand dollars, the odds are about 100 to 1 that he'll be caught.

But when it comes to the grandest grand larceny we've ever heard of, our law enforcers seemingly run into a blank wall.

Needless to add, someday the truth will out, although the bandits may have spent all that money and be beyond caring about their immediate future. For despite their temporary success, no one can yet point to crime and say "it pays."

"A-Hunting We Will Go" May Be Their New Theme

Congress is off on another hunt. And from the course of events lately, it seems that the members of Congress are about the most avid hunters in the country. They know no closed season.

Senator McCarthy's red witch hunt has quieted down during the past two weeks, so for variety the members of Congress have set off on a treasurer hunt. Their quest supposedly will lead them to a chest full of priceless jewels to which General Douglas MacArthur has the key.

It probably would be in order to check and see if such a chest exists; but after MacArthur's headquarters has denied any knowledge of the treasure, it hardly seems worthy of a full congressional investigation.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 29—Legislation extending rent controls has now become the most controversial issue before Congress, with no assurance that it will pass because of southern Democrats' desire to punish northern colleagues for their attempt to force enactment of a permanent FEPC bill on Dixie communities.

The Spence measure, which has been reported favorably by the House Banking and Currency Committee but still faces a floor fight, is the key issue. It does not meet White House demands for semi-permanent controls. It retains rent ceilings until June, 1951, for cities and states which ask for them, but it lets them die next December 31 for the rest of the country. In any event, they cannot be continued beyond June 30, 1951.

Even this limited extension may not get through the House, if the southern Democrats and Republicans line up against it, as they did against a compulsory FEPC. It will face even more difficult going in the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and on the Senate floor.

Aside from their willingness to torment and rebuff the White House again, many members on both sides of the aisle do not believe that the restrictions are needed. In view of record construction of homes in 1949-1950 and the government's own building projects.

EASIER—Ironically, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York has made it easier for foes of rent control extension, albeit indirectly. Ordinarily, the greatest pressure for legislation to keep rents down stems from the large and influential New York delegation in the House. Even Republicans from crowded cities vote in favor.

But New York has its own law as a result of Mr. Dewey's foresight. He obtained passage for protection of renters against the day when the federal government would quit this field. Therefore, the New Yorkers are somewhat indifferent in the current controversy.

The Democrats the southerners are hitting at in their present opposition are Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois and Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, a Democrat whip. Their pro-FEPC activities return to plague them.

BATTLES—Both Senators Lucas and Myers face hard battles for reelection next November. Both represent states in which there are many large cities that demand extension of rent control. Both led the White House struggle to obtain cloture for consideration of the FEPC proposal.

Although the Illinoisan and Pennsylvanian are well liked by their colleagues, the southern Democrats feel that they should rise above friendship in this matter. It is doubtful if they would like to insure the two Senators' defeat, but they would like to throw a good scare into them.

HARASSED—Even enactment of the provisional Spence program might not help Messrs. Lucas and Myers. It will require either a popular referendum or legislative action by a city or state to prolong rent controls after December 31 under the Kentuckian's plan.

It is possible that the Springfield and Harrisburg legislatures may not vote for extension. If they don't, many large cities may fail to take action in time to save this safeguard for renters.

As a result, these two prominent Democrats may lose votes because their loyalty to Mr. Truman in the Civil Rights scrap led them to neglect the bread-and-butter interests of their constituents. Anyway, they are two of the most worried and harassed politicians on Capitol Hill.

MANEUVER—Democratic National Chairman William Boyle Jr. may understand parochial Kansas City politics. But his latest Manhattan maneuver suggests that the former policeman has swum too far from shore in his plunge into national affairs.

Mr. Boyle has tried to organize a coalition movement to defeat Representative Vito Marcantonio, the lone American Labor member in the House. He would like to destroy the incipient Wallace revolt by knocking off the former Cabinet member's 1948 manager in the Empire State. He has already roped in Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, Henry's running mate.

Naturally, Mr. Marcantonio is resentful and confident. He predicts that he can win over any coalition candidate. Moreover, he does not expect his Republican friends to agree to the Boyle scheme.

"Why should we try to defeat Marc?" asked a prominent House Republican. "We might get a Truman rubber stamp in his place. I'd rather have Marc, who needles both of us."

DEFEAT—Chairman Boyle's anti-Marcantonio moves may mean the defeat of the Democratic candidates for Governor and U.S. Senator in New York next November. Here is why:

The scrappy A. L. politician is now so infuriated that he will enter his own men in both contests. Their minimum state-wide vote should be at least 250,000, possibly 300,000, and most of them would be drawn from the Democrats. In a tight race, the Marcantonio ticket could easily mean the defeat of the Administration slate.

Since President Truman's pet obsession is the defeat of Governor Dewey, assuming that he runs again, the Boyle heckling of Mr. Marcantonio can be classed as another "Missouri bull."

Sparks Of Hope

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, N. C.

CITIZENS—They do it. The men and women of North Carolina proved they are better citizens than most state officials, newspaper folks, radio commentators and other "experts" thought.

The way the people flocked to the polls Saturday made monkeys out of the prophets who had forecast a vote of less than 450,000. Final returns will put the total much nearer 600,000—the all time record for a Democratic primary vote. The folks who had been trying to shame North Carolinians by citing the big Florida vote three weeks ago either find their own faces red or take pride in arousing the Tar Heels to do their duty.

TENSE—At time this is written no formal statement has been made about a second primary in the senatorial contest between Frank Graham and Willis Smith. Consensus among Raleigh people who have voiced opinion is the campaign will be carried to conclusion in a run-off. The Graham lead is substantial in votes, some 40,000 or more, but less substantial in percentage than leads which have been overcome in former run-off primaries. The campaign has been hard fought. Perhaps for the next few hours it will be more tense than ever, mainly behind the public stage. Supporters of Willis Smith are insisting by personal visits, telephone calls and mail that he continue the fight. Supporters of Senator Graham are equally insistent, that he yield nomination on plurality vote.

PARALLEL—Oldtimers recall a similar situation in the gubernatorial primary of 1940. At that time the lead of J. M. Broughton over Wilkins P. Horton was comparable to the Graham lead now, and Horton did not request a run-off. He did not make that decision until after the other two major contenders — A. M. Maxwell and L. L. Gravelly—had announced their support of Broughton. As result of Horton's decision Broughton got the nomination for governor with less than one-third the total vote, and holds record as the only major office holder to succeed with less than majority of all the votes cast.

QUESTIONS—Can Willis Smith in a second primary overcome a lead approximately seven percent of the total vote cast in the first? How many second primaries will be necessary for nomination of sheriffs, members of the legislature and other local offices? Will these run-off elections be in areas where Graham was strongest or where Smith was strongest? What will Bob Reynolds do with respect to influencing the 50-odd thousand who voted for him? These are some of the questions that must be answered before decision is made. The answers may be obtained and decision announced before this item is published.

MONEY—There is the ever present problem of money. Despite legal limitations all practical and experienced operators know it will take a lot of money to run a second campaign. Information is that both camps ended the first round with absolutely empty cash boxes.

BAND-WAGON—Then there is the band-wagon psychology to deal with. It is known that in 1940 one of the controlling factors in the Horton decision to withdraw was belief the band-wagon riders were joining Broughton — especially after the Maxwell and Gravelly endorsements. Two years ago that was a controlling factor in decision of Kerr Scott to enter a run-off against Charles M. Johnson for governor. Johnson folks had insisted all along they would win handsomely in the first round. They didn't, and that took a lot of pep out of supporters all over the state. This year the Graham people confidently predicted victory in the first primary. It didn't come out that way. How much will the wagon passengers be influenced by that failure, and what will be effect upon them of the difference between a lead of less than 9,000 chalked up by Johnson and the leads of 40,000 scored by Broughton in 1940 and Graham in 1950. All these elements were being carefully studied by campaign strategists over the weekend.

OWN MAN — One fact stands out in study of election returns. Senator Frank Graham won his commanding lead in popular voting on his own. It was an expression of esteem for him as a political organization. That is proven by the fact he led in Wake county, where all other candidates running more or less openly on a pro-administration platform were defeated. Wake county gave Senator Graham a 64-vote lead over its own Willis Smith, but gave James H. Pou Bailey a three-to-two margin for the state senate over Charles Aycock Poe. The state senate race in Wake was mainly on the issue of the Scott administration. In the seventh senatorial district Jesse Jones, prominent Kinston attorney, was running as a full-out Scott administration man. He was not nominated. In Rowan county, Kerr Craig Ramsay—speaker of the 1949 house of representatives — was a candidate for the legislature largely because of Governor Scott's personal attack upon him last year. Ramsay led the legislative ticket. The governor also had singled out for special criticism Frank Taylor of Wayne county, chairman of the appropriations committee last time and avowed candidate for speaker of 1951, for special criticism. Taylor came through in fine style for renomination against two opponents, one of whom made his campaign on outright Scott administration program.

SALUTARY—Results of voting in Rowan, Wake and Wayne counties and in the seventh state senatorial district indicate that the 1951 general assembly will be able to carry on its business on merit of bills proposed rather than because of influence from the executive department. And ever he may be, will also be untrammelled by controlling influence from outside sources.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

It's not too early to make plans for getting a share of the children's clothing market that's going to get larger every year this decade.

The first contingent of the big postwar baby crop is going to kindergarten this September. As James G. Kendrick, Senior Buyer of Children's Wear for the W. T. Grant Co., points out, the peak of the population bulge right now is in the 3-6x range and retailers ought to be ready to supply its needs. In some cases retailers can begin to de-emphasize infants' needs, and put their stress on this older group.

Another big switch in children's wear emphasis will come in about six or seven years, Kendrick thinks. There will be a great new grade-school market, and he thinks retailers and manufacturers should start planning for it now. The trouble with clothes now produced for grade-school girls, says this market veteran, is that manufacturers for the 7-14 group "are content to copy the women's market or make a feeble attempt to grade up in size the garments produced by the children's 3x6x market."

The need is for a thorough study of the grade school girl's needs stylewise and from the utility or practical standpoint. Such study should be made in the schools, with the girls and their teachers, as well as the mothers supplying the guidance, Kendrick advises.

Also, he warns, don't expect mothers to willingly pay as much for garments for their grade-school daughters as they do for their own. "It just doesn't make sense for the daughter's blouse to cost as much as her mother's," he argues.

REPORT THE WORK WEEK IS LONGER RAISES QUESTIONS

A significant feature of the current employment situation is the increase in the length of the work week in manufacturing establishments. Compared to a year ago, average number of hours worked per week has risen almost two hours in hard good industries, and nearly one in soft goods.

That indicates the production increase is being achieved to a large extent by overtime rather than by hiring additional workers, since the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports manufacturing employment is virtually unchanged from a year ago. If the work week this Spring had been about the same as a year ago, about 400,000 more workers would be currently employed, the Bureau points out.

Question for employers: could you reduce costs by hiring additional workers instead of paying overtime rates? Or don't you consider the bulge in your particular business permanent enough to make it worthwhile?

THE NEW HOME ORGAN WILL RETAIL FOR $880

The new home electric organ recently announced by the Hammond Instrument Co. as the most radically new instrument it's ever produced, will carry a list price of $880, according to present plans. The new organ is supposed to be almost automatic in its ease of playing, since the left hand sounds an entire chord when you hold down a button, while the right hand picks out the melody. The bass chords, of course, are always the most difficult maneuver in piano or organ playing.

THE UNION THAT PLUGS ITS EMPLOYERS' PRODUCTS

Employers that have contracts with the International Association of Machinists (I.A.M.), can't complain the union doesn't plug their products. Almost weekly, the Machinist, the union's newspaper, tells the million families who read it, how the products of a particular manufacturer are turned out by fellow I.A.M. members, and why they're good. At Christmas and other gift-giving times, the union paper runs a list of suitable gift items produced by shops where it has contracts. Thus I.A.M. aircraft workers on the coast are pro-sold electric shavers made by I.A.M. members in Connecticut, etc.

Hal Boyle's Column

New York (AP)—Big worries rarely make you happy. It's the little day-to-day worries that really make life a pleasure.

And one of the things I fret about most often is just what I'll do if my fellow employees give me a gold watch when I retire from work—26 years from now.

This problem usually comes into my mind every morning when the alarm clock goes off. Here is my dream:

I have reached the age of 65, and the boys at the office are throwing me a farewell party. Everybody has said a lot of nice things, and over the corner one of the younger fellows is remarking, "Look how gray he is—how long do you think he'll last?" And another is saying, "Well, I never thought they'd be able to pry old Boyle off the payroll."

It is time now for the big speech by "the old man"—the head of the firm. Actually he is a brisk young man of 19, as by then teen-agers will be running the world.

"Boyle, the place won't be the same without you—but we'll do our best to carry on, and I have a feeling we'll be able to. In token of your 41 years of hard work"—the sound of hollow laughter echoes around the room—the executive department. And ever he may be, will also be untrammelled by controlling influence from outside sources.

He then opens a box and hands me—a gold watch.
Now right here is where my worry comes in. What do I do? Do I accept the watch, tears running down my aged cheeks, and murmur brokenly, "Gee, boys, it's too much. You shouldn't have done it."

I do know what I'd secretly like to do — take the watch, hurl it out the window, give a magnificent Bronx cheer, and stalk out?

I certainly hope I'd have the moral courage to do the latter. Perhaps that would start a trend toward giving men at retirement something more useful.

Presenting them with a gold watch is like retiring a brewery horse to green pastures with a quart of oats and a set of new silver-plated horseshoes. They will have time enough on their hands without being further reminded of their age by a ticking watch. You might as well give them a hand-painted perpetual calendar.

This whole custom of "bon voyage" gifts at 65 needs to be adjusted to the facts of the individual case. If a man doesn't own a watch by then, why give him one at a time when he may not want to fritter away his strength winding it?

Perhaps he'd rather have a bus ticket to Florida. Or a lifetime pass to Yankee Stadium. Or a new hearing aid so he'll be better able to hear his wife's interesting observations on the mistakes he made during his career.

As for myself, all I want is a motor-propelled wheel chair and a subscription to the Police Gazette. A friend of mine downtown has an even more interesting wish.

"If they'll just give me a race-horse when I retire, I'll be satisfied," he said. "That'll give me a chance to win enough to come back and buy out the firm—and run at the way I'd like to."

But — please omit the gold watch. Or, better still, give it to me now.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—The widow of the late M. Climon Diamantopoulos, former Greek ambassador to the United States, long has admired and envied American career-women. Now she has become a career woman herself.

As hostess of the Greek embassy from 1940 until her husband's death in 1946, she served food at embassy parties that was the talk of the town. She's capitalizing on this reputation in opening a catering shop on swank Connecticut Avenue, where Washingtonians can order party fare, prepared by the same chef who boasted in her diplomatic days.

"My Paul knows his job," she told me in discussing the catering service and the chef whom she brought to this country with her from Athens. "Everybody loves his fine French pastries, chocolate . . . and don't forget wedding cakes. He was a chef at the famed Grande Bretagne hotel in Athens. He's 35. Quite beautiful. We use no synthetic stuff . . . all fresh eggs, fresh real butter . . . very good. Everybody wants these things."

Petite, with silver-touched brown hair, smartly coiffed, lovely blue-gray eyes and pearly teeth, Mme. Diamantopoulos spoke with enthusiastic admiration of the American woman. "I've always wanted to be like her . . . the American woman is absolutely a woman up-to-date," she told me, talking as much with her hands and eyes as her lips. "All the world admires the United States. The United States first, its women second."

Now that she's alone, she says she can't live any place else in the world but in this country. She prefers Washington to any other city. "I think she can make a success here, already has many orders for big parties and receptions."

A native of Greece, Mme. Diamantopoulos is fond of swimming, an accomplished horsewoman, loves music. She attended both Greek and French schools in Istanbul, Turkey, and has a famous collection of icons and fine paintings and other objects d'art. During the war she formed a Red Cross Greek unit which met three times a week to knit, roll bandages, make clothing. "But," she says, "no matter what I ever did, or how hard I worked, I can never repay, even in part, all that the kind people of the United States have done to help Greece."

THE NEW GERMANY—Arising from the rubble of bomb-battered Hamburg, Germany, these modern 15-story apartment houses were built in 1949 to ease the city's housing shortage.

Gun-Wielding Passenger Terrorized Big Airliner

Fresno, Calif., May 28—(AP)—John O'Reilly, 28, a meek gear grinder from Los Angeles, terrorized 25 persons with a cocked automatic high over California yesterday.

The Air Force veteran ranged the length of the Oakland bound airliner for half an hour waving his weapon.

Terrified passengers cringed. One woman fainted and fell to the floor. He let her lie there.

His reign of terror ended when the plane made an emergency landing here. Deputy sheriffs carted him off to the county psychopathic ward.

His German war bride, Magdeline, 22, waited around and apologized to the passengers and plane crew after the incident.

The dramatic incident occurred on a flight from Southern California to Oakland, when an Air Force veteran began acting strangely.

Stewardess Joan Herron and a passenger, Mrs. Dorothy McKenzie of San Francisco, pieced together the story after the harrowing half hour.

They said O'Reilly first complained that music on the plane's loud speaker was too loud.

He refused coffee and sandwiches, saying they were drugged.

Then he complained of gas odors and accused Miss Herron of trying to shut off the air when she put up a blanket to block off a draft between the pilot's compartment and the passengers.

After locking himself in the lavatory for half an hour, O'Reilly came out, again complained of gas fumes, then smashed two windows with a fire extinguisher.

Miss Herron summoned the pilot, Joseph N. Nuccitelli. As Nuccitelli turned the controls over to Co-Pilot Don Lieto and stepped into the passenger compartment, O'Reilly pulled the automatic from his pocket.

Nuccitelli jumped back into the pilot's compartment, locked the door, and radioed here asking police to be on hand when he made his emergency landing.

Meanwhile, O'Reilly waved the pistol at the passengers, shouting, "Nobody's going to get me. I'll kill you all."

Mrs. Cecil Lyons, 72, a passenger from Los Angeles, fainted but no one dared touch her.

Said the stewardess: "He ordered us not to."

As the plane stopped, O'Reilly jumped out into the waiting arms of officers. He was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

District Attorney Richard Shepard said O'Reilly would be arraigned today unless his family prefers to have him given a psychiatric examination.

O'Reilly's mother, in Oakland, described her son as "a good boy" who "goes to church. If he had a gun he was worried about something."

Explained his wife after the incident: "He believed that somebody was trying to steal a jet motor plan that his company had devised. He had been off his rocker for two or three days."

Gala Tribute To Past At 'Bright Leaf' Premiere

Raleigh, N.C., May 28—(AP)—With a gala tribute to the past, the nation's largest tobacco-growing state on Wednesday will paste a new leaf in the history book of the "golden weed."

This capital city of North Carolina will be host to the world premiere of "Bright Leaf." The picture relates the story of the cigarette machine and its effect on the tobacco industry.

Cigarette-rolling contests, a four-way peace pipe party, a mammoth float parade and a "bright leaf queen" competition will add color and excitement to the celebration.

Thousands of citizens from surrounding tobacco-growing towns are expected to converge on this Tar Heel capital, named in honor of foxy Sir Walter Raleigh, who introduced tobacco to much of the old world.

The Warner Brothers film, which stars Gary Cooper, Patricia Neal, Lauren Bacall and Donald Crisp, is laid in the colorful 1890's in the mythical Tar Heel town of "Kingmont."

Host Governor W. Kerr Scott of North Carolina, who will be in the thick of the proceedings, has invited two neighboring governors to join in the fun.

Thurmond of South Carolina and John Battle of Virginia.

"Bright Leaf" stars Patricia Neal and Donald Crisp, Broadcasters Ted Malone and Tommy Bartlett, many Tar Heel city mayors, have promised to be present. Also on hand will be Foster Fitz-Simons, youthful author of the best-selling novel, "Bright Leaf," from which the motion picture was made. Fitz-Simons a faculty member of the Drama Department at nearby University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, will be an honor guest at all the proceedings.

'Gave Out'

Clinton, May 28—(AP)—A Fort Bragg paratrooper "just gave out" here yesterday after making 54 parachute jumps in an attempt to set a new world's record.

Pfc. Neal Stewart, 22 of Birmingham, Ala., blamed his unsuccessful attempt on the "drop zone"—a small grassy area—at the airport here. He said he missed the "drop zone" eight times, landing once in a ditch and five times on the runway.

However, he escaped without serious injury.

Stewart had set his sights on making 76 jumps, one more than the number claimed May 18 by a Yugoslavian airman in London.

Robins Lose To Jays, 11-7; Edge Out Goldsboro By 3-2

Baktis And Hallow Hit Homers Against Roanoke Rapids; Ninth Inning Drive Defeats Goldsboro As Baktis Again Big Gun In Hitting Attack

By BERT MOYE

The Greenville Robins split their weekend series with the Roanoke Rapids and the Goldsboro Cardinals, losing to the Jays on Saturday night by a 11-7 score, and then taking a 3-2 win over the Goldsboro club over in Goldsboro Sunday afternoon.

The Roanoke Rapids Jays outslugged the Greenville Robins over in Roanoke Rapids Saturday night to win an 11-7 victory for their fifth win of the season over the Robins.

Yonnie Bass led the Jays' attack. He got a homer and two singles in four trips, drove home five runs and stole three bases. Altogether the Jays collected 14 safeties off three Robins hurriers.

Greenville got 10 hits off three Roanoke Rapids pitchers, John Baktis and George Hallow each got a homer for the Robins. In addition to his homer, Baktis also got a double and a single to lead the Robins' attack.

Ray Keys started on the mound for the Robins but worked only four innings after giving up nine hits. Frank Stephens pitched the next three frames and gave up four hits and "Shoes" Scarpa pitched the remaining two frames, giving up two hits. Keys was charged with the loss, his fourth of the season and his first to the Jays. He has won three contests this season.

Otho Mickey started on the mound for the Jays but worked only three innings. A line drive off the hand of Ray Keys hit him on the hand at the top of the third, but he finished out the inning. Lenny Amorosa worked the next five frames and received credit for the win, his first against the Robins. Alton Brown relieved Amorosa in the ninth.

In the second frame, Johnny Baktis doubled into left centerfield and then Joe Guidice singled over the second base sack and when Centerfielder Chuck Sedor let the ball get away from him, Baktis scored from second base.

In the ninth frame, Strausser reached first on an error by Third Baseman Reiter. Then on some nice base stealing he stole second and third successfully. Vince Lautato struck out and Tepedino popped out to Second Baseman Heribson. George Hallow, who had not had a hit during the afternoon, was given an intentional pass to first, after which he successfully stole second. Then John Baktis came through with his game-winning double down the third base line to bring home both the tying and winning runs.

Bob Mangum, recently acquired by the Cardinals from Wilson, was charged with the loss after giving up all three runs and all five of the hits.

Johnny Baktis was the big gun in the five-hit attack off Mangum, collecting two doubles in three trips to the plate and driving in the two important runs in the ninth frame.

The Robins will meet the Goldsboro Cardinals in a return game here tonight at 7:45 o'clock and then on Tuesday, Memorial Day, they will play the Tarboro Athletics in an afternoon contest in Tarboro, starting at 3 o'clock, and return home tomorrow night to meet the Athletics at Guy Smith Stadium at 7:45.

Jim Fuchs has been throwing his weight around all over the world and today the Yale muscle-man claims every shot-put record, the 16-pound shot 58 feet, 5 1/2 inches in a collegiate triangular meet in Los Angeles to top by some five inches his own world record which he set in Oslo, Norway, last summer. He has a trifolite of collegiate and National A. A. U. championship medals and is aiming at the dream mark of 60 feet before he calls it a career.

Fuchs is an amazing combination of strength and speed. A solid 215-pounder standing two inches over the six-foot mark, Jim is a capable sprinter with 10-second to his credit. As a schoolboy he was state sprint champion and later scored several notable sprint victories at Yale. A series of injuries hampered him in football and kept him from developing into an all-America fullback.

It was Fuchs' good fortune to have the benefit of Francis Ryan's coaching in the art of tossing the shot at Yale. Ryan, a 52-foot putter at Columbia, is a real student of form and he was able to bring all of Big Jim's potentialities. He is going to be disappointed unless his charge comes through with a 60-foot toss before he completes his varsity career at Yale.

Well-Balanced, Fast Lineup For Speedway Race Tuesday

Indianapolis, May 29—(AP)—Nobody is likely to run away from the field—as Jules Goux did in 1913—in tomorrow's 500-mile automobile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. The cars are too much alike.

Time trials that ended yesterday produced the best-balanced, fastest lineup of the 34 Memorial Day sweepstakes. The 33 cars averaged 131.045 miles an hour, compared with last year's previous record of 128.361.

The field matches 17 veteran speedway drivers against 10 first-time starters and six who were initiated to the grid last year.

The dean of the lineup is Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., starting for the 14th time and hoping to become the first four-time winner.

The youngest is Jerry Hoyt, of Indianapolis, 21 years old, and dreaming of becoming another beardless sensation like Louie Meyer in 1928, a Jimmy Murphy in 1922 or Frank Lockhart in 1926.

Mechanically, the contest will send 32 four-cylinder cars against a lone six-cylinder diesel to be driven by Jimmy Jackson of Desert Hot Springs, Calif. All will be conventional rear-drive racers except Rose's Howard Keck Special and the Blue Crown Specials to be driven by Bill Holland of Reading, Pa., the 1949 winner, and Tony Bettenhausen of Tully Park, Ill.

The outnumbered newcomers yielded nothing to the old timers in three weekends of time trials, Walt Faulkner of North Long Beach, Calif., set a 10-mile qualification record of 134.343 miles an hour in the Grint's Piston Ring Special.

Apart from Faulkner's phenomenal 10-mile qualifying run, the spread of the field ranged only from Green's 132.910 to Jackson's 129.208.

Jackson's Cummins Diesel Special is the first diesel in the field since 1934, when the top speed for that type of engine was 105 miles an hour. The big green car was rated a distinct threat to win on durability, proved in more than 860 miles of test runs on the Speedway.

Two Straight Shutouts Collected By Farmville

Farmville, May 29—Farmville's Bright Belt loop leaders shut out Stantonburg in two weekend games to cop their 10th and 11th wins of the season. Saturday's score, in the game played here, was 8-0 and yesterday's, 9-0, played in Stantonburg.

Farmville collected a total of 32 hits in both games while allowing Stantonburg only nine. Junior Yohn tossed his fifth win without a loss at the losers yesterday while Pollard was setting them down in Saturday's tiff.

Backing Yohn mightily in their turns at bat were Catcher Hardee with four singles and two runs batted in in five trips; Tepedino with three singles in six times; and Regans with three singles in five times. There were no homeruns in either game. Tepedino got the longest extra base knock in Saturday's game, a triple with no one aboard, in addition to a double.

The dual win over the weekend placed Farmville even farther ahead of second place Macclesfield. The locals have lost only two contests this season against Macclesfield's 9 and 5 record. The two teams meet this Wednesday night in a game to be played here.

Nine Bowling Teams In First City Tournament

There will be nine teams in the team bowling event which begins tonight to run through tomorrow night in the first City Bowling Tournament.

The ninth addition to the crop of bowlers in Greenville is a team made up of former bowlers for the National Carbon Company league. All have established averages prior to this time and represent three of the four teams bowling when that league was in action.

Members of the five-man team are Bill Bryan, formerly of the Nine Lives; Rommie Mallison, Black Cats; Charles Braswell, Nine Lives; Fred Edwards, Black Cats; and Ernie Beaman, Penlites. Averages for the five are: Bryan, 155; Mallison, 132; Braswell, 128; Edwards, 125; and Beaman, 119.

The eight other teams which have entered the two-day team rolling event are from the Industrial League which finished its spring competition three weeks ago. The teams which will bowl either tonight or tomorrow night, are: Imperial Tobacco, Herb Proctor, Bryan Porter, Gene Gurganus, W. E. Morgan, Bill Sumrell; Planagan Buggy Company—Eimen Tavasso, Herman Hardee, Robert Jones, James Pittman, Dale Gidley; Bilbro Wholesale—Cecil Bilbro, Tyson Bil-

SEC Trackmen Repeated Upset

Atlanta, May 29—(AP)—Southeastern conference trackmen are again the rulers of the Southland after twice pulling an upset victory over the cinder burners of the Southern conference.

Rated the underdogs in 1949, the SEC track came through with an upset victory and they repeated the same performance Saturday with an upset 81-79 victory over the Southern in a meet that saw nine records fall.

Bill Albans of North Carolina was responsible for three of the new meet records. He set new marks in the high hurdles, low hurdles and broad jump. Albans marks were: high hurdles 14.3; low hurdle 22.9; broad jump 24 feet 5 1/2 inches.

Albans was a high point man for the meet with 18.

The other meet records were broken in the 440, 880, pole vault, high jump, shot put, and javelin.

On the 440 Charlie Chambers of N. C. State nosed out Georgia Tech's Johnny Stowers at the finish to clock the distance in 0:48.3 Bill Geary of Tulane captured the 880 in 1:54.9.

Leroy Poucher of Florida bettered his own meet record of last year in the pole vault when he cleared the bar at 13 feet 2 inches.

Herb "Te" of Tennessee cleared the bar at 6 feet 5 1/4 inches in the high jump to set a new meet record.

SMOKY JOE

By W. F. BRAGG

Chapter 13

When next he opened his eyes, a shaft of gray dawn light came through the small barred window set high in the wall of his cell. He sat up on the bunk, dizzily rubbing his battered head. Then he looked up and became aware that several men were standing in the corridor, looking at him through the grill-work of steel as though he were some sort of caged wild animal.

"Time you woke up!" snarled Hard Pat Buiwane. "I been yellin' at you for 15 minutes!"

With the sheriff were Pack Rogan and Rance Hale. Joe arose and staggered over to the door, gripping the bars to hold himself upright.

"Shay," he choked out. "Did you get Pecos Shay?"

Pack Rogan, unsmiling, answered coldly, "Why should we want my foreman?"

"He's a spy for a rustler combine. After the Hale cattle! I tried to get him. He knows the man in black, too. The killer—"

Buiwane cut in angrily. "Killer? Just what do you think you are?"

"No killer!"

"Wrong. You killed a man when you got jealous of Shay and went after him in a drunken rage."

"I never fired a shot."

"You just think you didn't. You began shooting wild. You creased the right shoulder of Nevada Kate. And when big Turk, the bouncer, crawled under the rising curtain to stop you, one of your bullets knocked him down." The sheriff paused, grimly regarding Joe. "Turk died before daybreak came. I'm holdin' you, Munro, on charges of first degree murder."

Joe stumbled away from the barred door.

"Shay!" he stammered, dumbfounded. "Get Shay! He killed Turk. He wounded Kate!" Then he recalled that they had stripped him of his gun. He said eagerly, "Look in the cylinder of my gun. Not an empty shell in it."

But Pack Rogan shook his head. "No, Munro. I turned your gun over to the sheriff. Picked it off the shelf while they were putting the cuffs on you. The sheriff broke the gun open while Rance and I were watching. At least four empty shells in the cylinder."

"Pack—that's a lie. I never fired a shot. You picked up the wrong gun. It was Shay's gun you found. Get Shay. Make him identify it." He turned his anxious eyes on Rance.

"Rance, don't let them frame me. I ran into a plot to locate you on rustler's range and get away with your dad's cattle. Shay's in on it. That's why I went for him on the stage. He was in the wing, watchin' Nevada Kate dance. Once he had his arm around her..." Rance stood silent, his bright blue eyes blazing.

Then the young Texan burst out in flaming anger. "You were drunk! You were jealous of Shay. You fell for Nevada Kate. Hard!"

Pack nodded shortly. "And the fool jumped to the stage and started a riot with his gun."

The inquest and hearing proved a farce. Joe's gun with four empty shells.

Tabulating The Ballots At Voting Precinct

Counting the ballots was a familiar sight in all of Pitt county's voting precincts Saturday night after the polls closed. These people at Greenville precinct No. Two, are shown tabulating the ballots in the largest vote in the precinct's history. Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson (in hat and striped tie) watches the counting with interest as do the other on-lookers. (Reflector photo by Roy Hardee.)

'Long Study' Of Schuman's Offer

London, May 29—(AP)—Britain wants to take a long, hard look at the Schuman plan for pooling west Europe's coal and steel industries before committing herself to formal approval of the far-reaching project.

Informed sources said today Britain has rejected a French request that the labor government go on record now as favoring the industrial pool in principle and examine the details later.

The sources emphasized that Britain's refusal does not mean she disapproves of the plan, which already has been hailed by west German leaders as a great step toward European unity.

But Britain first wants to examine the proposal in detail to see what sacrifices might be demanded of her if she joined British coal and steel output with that of France, Germany and other European countries.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, who proposed the industrial pool early this month, has suggested that talks on the project be started in June by France, Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Pending these discussions, the French asked that the countries go on record as favoring the project in principle.

Britain has urged France and Germany to get the ball rolling with negotiations on pooling flatly turned down the French request for formal approval in principle now.

Brass Knuckle Used In Attack On Negro Roomer

Greenville police arrested Isaac Stafford, logwoods Negro, early today on a charge of assaulting with a deadly weapon James Taylor, Negro, at Stafford's home, 1108 North Taylor Street, across Tar River.

Stafford is a native of Waterloo, Iowa. The case will be tried in Police Court when Taylor has recovered from his wounds sufficiently to testify.

Taylor told police he and his wife rented a room at the house where Stafford was staying, that there was considerable noise and argument and that he asked the crowd to be quiet, and that when he did Stafford assaulted him with a "home-made brass knuckle," seriously wounding him about the mouth and face. Stafford is in jail awaiting trial.

Third Week Of Civil Court Opens; Single Case Receives Action

Opening the third week of civil court during the month of May, only one case received an action and that was an order. Two others were continued for the term.

The order concerned the only jail case awaiting trial, that of James Earl Forrest, charged with larceny of an automobile. Forrest was ordered sent to the State Hospital in Raleigh for 30 days to undergo observation by a psychiatrist to test alleged insanity.

Those cases continued were: Acra Nelson vs. Elmer Nelson, divorce action; and David Cherry vs. Town of Greenville, suit for damages to person.

Dance Review Is Termed Success

Marie's Annual Spring Dance Review closed Saturday night following a successful two night showing of the review entitled "Past, Present and Future."

Capacity crowds were on hand both nights for the review which featured more than 45 different dance numbers and special costumes.

The review was sponsored by the local V.F.W. Post and was presented for the benefit of the Greenville high school band. The proceeds received from the sale of tickets and the solicitation program carried on recently will be used to set up a band fund from which new uniforms and equipment will be purchased.

A total of 150 boy and girl students of the dance school took part in the review.

Marie Wallace, director of the dance school, reported that she was well pleased with the entire show and the way in which the children carried out the show. "I think that it was one of the best which we have had," she said.

No report on the total taken in from the show will be made until the expenses of the production are paid and a final report can be made, it was stated this morning by Larry Averette, member of the V.F.W.

Even in France the war is unpopular. It is taking about an eighth of the French budget to support it. In 1949 that was more than the equivalent of $300,000,000. War damage to French property is estimated at $140,000,000.

Vietnamese have lost much more. Whole villages have been leveled. communications have been destroyed and crops rot in the fields.

The American job will be to rally the Vietnamese around Bao Bai, and to avoid the serious pitfall of appearing to support colonialism in Asia, where so many millions have a lawyer.

(Under the old code, Jones could get a military officer to act as his counsel but this officer didn't have to be a lawyer.)

If Jones is convicted, his case automatically goes to his commanding officer on appeal. (Same under the old code.)

If the C. O. upholds Jones' conviction, the case automatically goes on appeal to a review board of three colonels—in the Navy it would be three captains—all of whom must be lawyers. (Same under old code.)

These are only some of the highlights of the new code. And so far this story has discussed only cases of serious crimes. There are two other courts:

1. A special court—for offense not punishable by more than six months in jail. No judge. A jury of no less than three men. They do not have to be lawyers. An enlisted man, coming before this court, can demand that at least one enlisted man sit on the jury. (Much of the same under the old code, except that an enlisted man couldn't demand the presence of an enlisted man among the jurors.)

2. Summary court. This is for offenses carrying penalties not over two months. This is a one-man court. He acts as judge and jury and will be an officer, although not necessarily a lawyer. (Pretty much the same under the old code.)
