Robersonville Is Third On List Of Safe Robberies

Hardware Firm Robbed During Night; Fits Pattern Of Area Crime

The robbery of the Wagner-Wallop Motor Company in Greenville Monday night, or early Tuesday morning, apparently was the second stop on the list for what seems to be an organized gang of safe crackers operating in this section of the state.

Last night, a safe in the office of the Anderson Hardware Company of Robersonville was robbed of an estimated $200. A marked resemblance was reported between the Greenville robbery and the robbery in the Martin county town last night. The safe crackers forced their way into the building through a side door, then went to work on the safe.

An attempt was made to drill the combination, then a punch was used; but the yeags failed to open the safe by this means.

Blocked in their first attempts, the robbers moved the safe from the office of the firm into the rear of the building where a blacksmith shop is located. There, using a burning torch, the robbers burned off the hinges and gained entrance to the safe. Tools in the hardware store's stock were used.

B. E. Anderson, owner of the firm, stated this morning that an estimated $200 was taken from the cash drawer of the safe. Nothing else in the safe or in the store was taken. It was reported.

Officer J. W. Griffin, of the Robersonville police department said this morning that a fingerprint expert from Raleigh was assisting local law enforcement officers.

A check with the Washington Police department today revealed that on Friday night or Saturday morning an attempt was made to enter the Cox Motor Company, on the corner of Third and Market streets.

Desk Sergeant C. G. Evans, of the Washington police said the robbers broke into the building by forcing a back door and then broke the hinges off the safe, but apparently did not have time to complete the job.

A handbill poster who arrived in the area around four o'clock that Saturday morning, reported to the police department that the back door of the building was open. On investigation officers found the evidence of the attempted break-in. SBI Agent Gibbs, of Greenville, is working on the case the officer stated.

In Greenville, local police are continuing to work on the Wagner-Wallop case, which seems to fit into the pattern of safe-cracking. The firm had been broken into twice before, with one of the safe crackers being apprehended and now serving time in prison.

Budget Bureau Rejects Bids On ECTC Building

An Associated Press dispatch from Raleigh today said bids on the proposed new home economics practice house at East Carolina College have been rejected by the state budget bureau as too high.

Assistant Budget Director D. S. Cottrane said yesterday the bureau will redesign the project and call for new bids later.

Cottrane said the low bids on the building run approximately $11,000 higher than the $50,000 appropriation which had been made for the project. He said the total including the architect's fees would reach $61,000.

The home economics practice house would be located behind the present home economics house on the college campus.

Russian Trade Offer

Postwar Hope Of Reviving Trade With Middle European Countries Partially Revived By Moscow Offer; West Suspicious; Motivation For Move Sought

By SIGRID ARNE

All the post war years the western European nations have worried over some means to recreate their old trade with middle Europe.

Russia wrote the sort of postwar treaties with its satellites in middle Europe that siphoned off large portions of their goods for Russia. There was little or nothing left for the west.

This raised important hob. Middle Europe had always supplied much food and raw materials for the factories and workers of western Europe.

Now, for no announced reason, Russia is willing to consider shipping Russian goods to western Europe again—in return for commodities as yet unnamed.

The offer scarcely raises a cheer among Washington trade experts. There are several conjectures about Russian motives.

This shift in Russian trade strategy arose after the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE) headed by Gunnar Myrdal of Sweden, put out a feeler last November on possible greater trade between the non-Communist and Communist halves of Europe. Moscow has just replied that the feel-

Begin Construction Of New ECTC Gymnasium

One Of Principal Projects In College's Current Building Program Gets Under Way; Ground Being Cleared

Work was begun yesterday at East Carolina Teachers College on a new gymnasium which is one of the principal projects in the college's current construction program. Bids for the construction and equipment for the new gymnasium were within the $722,500 appropriation for the building and the $50,000 appropriation for the equipment.

The new gymnasium will have adequate dressing room facilities, a large basketball court with a seating capacity for approximately 2,400 spectators, a tiled indoor swimming pool, and individual rooms for other sports as well as classroom space.

The building is to be on the property between the present college baseball field and 10th St. It will be approximately 179 feet long and 158 feet wide.

Workmen for the Crain and Denbo company of Durham, general contractors for the gymnasium, began yesterday clearing the ground on which the building is to be constructed, and making preparations for the use of the excavation equipment of Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, director of athletics at the college, said completion of the construction company is expected to arrive here tomorrow to begin the excavation operations.

The large basketball court on the main floor of the new gymnasium will measure 118 feet by 101 feet six inches, and will be partitioned so that sliding doors may be used to divide the large space into two smaller courts for physical education and intramural activities at the college.

Collapsible bleachers will be used on the floor level, Jorgensen said, and one side of the basketball court there will be reversible bleachers which may be turned to face either the swimming pool or the basketball court.

The tiled 25-yard swimming pool will be on a level just a few feet below the level of the main basketball court, and will range in depth from three feet to ten feet. Plans call for it to be equipped with a three meter diving board and a one meter diving board.

In the basement of the new gymnasium will be located classrooms, boxing and wrestling rooms, a corrective and dancing room, locker spaces, dressing rooms for men students, women students, men faculty members and women faculty members, a tumbling room, varsity dressing room, visiting team dressing room, first aid room, storage rooms and a coaches office. Other offices and classrooms also will be located on the main floor of the building.

Communist Youths End Sitdown Strike

Accept West German Police Demands After Two Nights Of Being Marooned Just Inside The Eastern Zone

Luebeck, Germany, June 1—(AP)—Ten thousand sleepy Communist youths marooned for two nights just inside the Soviet zone started moving toward their west German homes today after calling off their sitdown strike.

The blue-shirted boys and girls accepted west German police demands that they give their names or submit to medical examinations before crossing the border.

They had been camping in the chilly border "no man's land," refusing to heed the police orders, since Tuesday night when they reached the east-west zonal frontier after attending the Communist Whitson rally in Berlin.

The weary youths capitulated after a sleepless night during which they piled their straw bedding onto camp fires in an attempt to keep warm. This morning they shuffled past lines of police and watchful German doctors who gave them a quick lookover for any possible contagious disease contracted in their crowded Berlin quarters.

There were no incidents in the early hours. Western police said doctors found no illness among the youths.

After the border medical check-up, the young Reds wound in a long column toward Luebeck's main railway station where they were to take trains to their west German homes. They appeared too tired even to chant Communist songs as they had done yesterday.

Elsewhere along the east-west zonal frontier all was quiet. Police reported a few late-comers among the returning youths were straggling across the border in two and threes and quickly hopping into trains or buses when they reached the western side of the zone line.

Nine Burned To Death In Crash

Big Navy Bomber Enroute To Argentina Crashes, Burns

Quonset, R.I., June 1—(AP)—Nine men were killed and two injured in the crash of a Navy plane today at the Quonset naval air base.

The nine were burned to death when a patrol plane crashed and burned on a runway, the Navy said. Commander Glasgow of the Public Information Office reported the pilot and co-pilot escaped with only minor injuries. The remainder of the crew was trapped in the wreckage.

The Navy Public Information Office in Boston reported that the big Neptune bomber, bound for Argentina, took off with nine passengers, a pilot and a co-pilot and that, 23 minutes after the takeoff, it returned with one engine afire and dead.

The pilot said the plane developed engine trouble and that one engine burst into flames when nearing Quonset.

The plane was reported enroute from Jacksonville, Fla., to Newfoundland.

The pilot attempted an emergency landing in what was described as limited visibility.

The Navy reported the plane was caught in a cross wind in landing and was tipped over on its back.

The pilot and co-pilot were pulled out alive.

The passengers could not be saved. An hour after the crash, the wreckage was still too hot to probe.

The Navy said it was not immediately known whether all the passengers were Navy personnel.

Nominations To Administration Posts Approved

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Two of President Truman's latest nominations for important administration posts were approved unanimously today by the senate banking committee.

They are: Edward Lee Norton, Birmingham, Ala., Investment Banker and Radio station owner, for a 14-year term to the federal reserve board of governors at $16,000 a year.

Roy Blough, Chicago University professor and former government tax expert, for the vacant third place as one of the President's economic advisers at $16,000 annually.

Britain Sends France Its Terms For Industry Talks

London, June 1—(AP)—Britain sent France its terms today for joining in talks on the French plan to unite European coal and steel industries under a single high authority.

A foreign office spokesman said "We think our suggestions will be accepted—otherwise we would not have sent them to Paris."

Britain balked at the French invitation to join in a public declaration approving the Schuman plan of pooling coal and steel production before actual details were discussed or decided.

Today's message, delivered in Paris by British Ambassador Sir Oliver Harvey, was in answer to the French request. It was expected by British officials to at least open the way to formal discussions of the pooling plan.

The French government is expected to call a conference on the Schuman plan in mid-June.

Foreign office spokesmen here emphasized that discussion of the project was still on diplomatic level and that economic and financial experts will not attempt to thresh out its many problems until full agreement has been reached between the foreign offices of the two countries.

Discloses Support For Atlantic Union Meeting

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts today reported that 30 senators and "more than 50 representatives" are pledged to support the proposed Atlantic Union convention if the plan comes to a vote in Congress.

Roberts, who is president of the Atlantic Union Committee, Inc., told its national meeting that a favorable Senate vote "is not impossible" this session.

Census Figures For Pitt Delayed By New Re-Count

Second Enumeration In Ayden District Necessary; Already Under Way

Although census figures for most of the towns in North Carolina are being released, figures for Pitt County and its individual towns will not be available until sometime next week.

F. Webb Williams of Washington, supervisor for the census bureau in the first district, said this morning Pitt County's census figures have been delayed because one of Ayden's three enumeration districts is having to be recounted.

Williams said the district was "so poorly taken the first time" that a second enumeration in the district was necessary before the figures could be compiled. He said the district in Ayden was the only one of 333 in the 14 eastern counties in the first district which had to be recounted.

The re-enumeration in the Ayden district was started last week, and the district supervisor said he expects it to be completed either tomorrow or Saturday.

The census figures for Pitt County as a whole and for the individual towns of the county with more than 1,000 population will be released by the Washington office as soon as possible under the census regulations, he said.

Williams stated that the mayors of the county would be notified of the census figures for their respective towns as soon as the figures are released.

In the 1940 census Pitt County showed a population of 61,244, and in a special census of Greenville in 1948, the city showed a population of 15,168.

Tornado Strikes Pitt Community Houses Damaged In Calico Crossroads Area Yesterday

A short but lively tornado struck the Calico Crossroads community at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, shattering one house, blowing the porch off a second and the roof off a third.

Home owners estimated the damage at $2,000 to $4,000.

The funnel, which Mrs. O. L. James reported she saw headed for Calico, blew in from the southwest and headed northwest for Washington. It remained in the community for about 10 minutes, she reported.

The black funnel completely demolished a house belonging to Jake Venter and tore the roof off the one he was living in. The porch of the house owned by Mrs. James was blown completely off from the rest of the dwelling.

No one was hurt. Other damage resulted in mangled power lines which cut off all electricity in the community for three hours. Some corn was pulled up in the fields and laundry drying in the yard of Will Buck's house was blown into the woods about a mile away.

Mrs. James reported she first saw the funnel approaching the community and later could hear it before it struck. In addition to property damage, several trees of six inch diameter were pulled up and blown away.

ADOPTED EDUCATION BUDGET

Raleigh, June 1—(AP)—The State Board of Education adopted today a budget of $4,046,220 for vocational education during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Raleigh, N. C., June 1—(AP)—Appeals in the cases of three Negroes sentenced to die appeared today headed for the federal courts.

Attorneys for two teen-age cousins, Bennie and Lloyd Ray Daniels, said appeal for the youths will be entered as a petition for habeas corpus in the federal district court. The procedure, which permits a defendant to take his case into the federal courts after he has exhausted all remedies in the state courts, amounts to appealing from the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Daniels, convicted in Pitt Superior court more than a year ago of murdering a white taxi driver, failed in an attempt to have the U. S. Supreme Court review their case.

The third defendant is Raleigh Speller, 46, convicted nearly three years ago in Bertie county of raping a middle-aged white woman in Windsor.

Asserts Delay In Supplying Money Might Strike Fatal Blow At Efforts To Create The Peace Free World Seeks; Sum Is Less Than Last

Washington, June 1—(AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to provide $1,222,500,000 for a second year of the arms aid program.

He said delay in supplying the money might "strike a fatal blow at all our efforts to create the kind of peace which the free world seeks and would lessen our chances of continuing to live and work in freedom."

The fund would finance arms shipments to more than a dozen foreign nations, including Atlantic Pact allies, during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The $1,222,500,000 requested by Mr. Truman is slightly less than the $1,314,010,000 which Congress appropriated last year to help 13 nations rearm against communism.

Mr. Truman made the request in his first semi-annual report to Congress on the handling of the first year program, which began last fall.

Backing up his request, Mr. Truman said: "The momentum already gained must under no circumstances be lost, because, once lost, it is doubtful that it can ever be recaptured at any cost."

The President gave this breakdown as to how the new money would be spent:

North Atlantic treaty nations — $1,000,000,000. This would go for weapons, a training program and would include spending of $75,000,000 for raw materials and machinery needed to boost military production in Western Europe.

Greece — $120,000,000 to furnish "basic capital equipment," spare parts and to help moderate Greek and Turkish defenses.

Iran, the Philippines and Korea — $100,000,000. This report said this would pay for equipment and training to help the free world "present a firm stand in a sense of independence against strong Soviet pressures" and to help the Philippines and South Korean governments to maintain internal order in the face of Communist threats.

General area of China—$75,000,000. The President said this money is needed "to continue and expand upon" present programs for giving help to the non-Communist forces in this area that are now engaged in danger of being engaged in active conflict with militant Communist elements.

The President did not specify the exact number of countries which would share in the American arms aid program.

Informed officials said, however, that assistance will be given to 14 countries aside from those nations in "the general area of China."

The North Atlantic treaty nations to get arms, they said, are Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway and Portugal.

Portugal is being added to the list for the first time. Small amounts of naval and air force equipment will be sent to bolster Portugal's coastal defenses and to help maintain the strategic air bases on the Azores.

President Truman also asked "some form of limited authority" in the event of an emergency, to divert a "small portion" of money earmarked for any specific area.

"With the continuation of Soviet probers for weak spots in the security structure of the free world," he said, "emergency situations of this character may well arise and require prompt and positive action by the United States."

Atlantic Union Idea

Three-Day Meeting Opens Today In Washington To Push For Union Of Western Democracies; It's Origin; How The Supporters Would Attain Their Goal

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 1—(AP)—About 125 people from 40 states today began a three-day meeting here to push for a union of the Western democracies. An Atlantic union, they call it.

They'll go up to the Capitol to needs their representatives and senators to help them push, although a number already support them. And they'll swap ideas on how to get more people back home interested.

They've worked a number of ideas: publicity, parades, meetings, even household auctions to get people together. These 125 visitors are members of what is called the Atlantic Union Committee.

The committee claims a country-wide membership of 25,000 people. What they want is a union of the democratic nations under one central government.

Owen J. Roberts, former Supreme Court justice, is president of the committee. Its two vice presidents are Will Clayton, former Undersecretary of State, and Robert P. Patterson, former Secretary of War.

The board of directors includes Clarence Streit, who has crusaded for this idea for years.

It grew in his mind when he was a newspaperman in Geneva in 1933 and watched the League of Nations fall apart. By 1939 he quit newspapering to devote all his time to the idea and in that year brought out his book, still being reprinted, "Union Now."

He kept on banging away. Last year, as times grew tense and the Western democracies faced an aggressive Russia, Justice Roberts called a meeting which resulted in formation of the Atlantic Union Committee.

What does this committee want; its members stress they do not want a one-world government now. They say they want to start with a union of the democracies, with other nations admitted as they become democracies.

The sponsors of this idea look upon it as a necessary step in ending friction between the Western nations, bind them together, and, through their united strength, preserve not only peace but democracy itself.

How would they go about it? They want Congress to approve a resolution.

Smith Offices Still Silent On Runoff Outlook

Raleigh, N. C., June 1—(AP)—Five days after the Democratic senatorial primary, the state today still awaited an answer to the question of whether there'll be a runoff.

Willis Smith's campaign headquarters gave no hint as to when it might make an announcement.

The question is whether Smith who ran second in the primary last Saturday will demand a runoff against Senator Frank Graham. Smith gained the right to ask another primary when Graham failed to obtain a majority of votes cast for the four-man field.

Smith himself said only that he was still busy receiving phone calls from throughout the state urging him to call for a runoff.

Brother Held In Secret Slaying

San Jose, Calif., June 1—(AP)—A former mental patient was under arrest today on suspicions of secretly killing his brother—then living next door to the undiscovered body for two years.

Yesterday sheriff's deputies forced their way into the locked bedroom of a house on the edge of San Jose and found the shriveled body of Herman Boesen, 58, in bed. Brown spots, believed to be long-dried blood, were on a blanket. Investigators placed the time of death at about March, 1948.

The officers then went to a crude shack 20 feet behind the house and questioned a brother, Peter, 62. He talked ramblingly of "seeing angels" and of "hearing Herman's voice."

The deputies jailed him on a booking of investigation of murder after reporting that the jobless man had $275 and opened mail, addressed to Herman, in his possession.

The officers, Deputies Harvey Hutchins and James Cunningham, said he told them he had not seen Herman since 1948; then 1947. But the opened mail bore 1948 dates.

Herman, a carpenter, was away from home for long periods at a time working in Alaska and on such projects as Shasta Dam.

Peter was in the State Mental Hospital at Stockton from Sept. 30, 1930 to Feb. 10, 1943; then went to live with Herman. They quarreled around 1944, and Peter built the shack and moved into it.

The search was instituted yesterday at the request of a third brother, Martin, who lives with his family, in nearby Los Altos.

This is the wreckage of twin-engine C-45 Navy transport plane that crashed and killed three persons during a severe rain and wind storm near Hall Summit, La. The victims were the pilot, co-pilot and a passenger. Names were withheld by the navy. The plane was en route from Atlanta, Ga., to Barksdale Air Force base at Shreveport. (AP Photo).

DIAL SYSTEM PLANNED

Concord, June 1—(P)—The Concord Telephone Company announced today it will install a $250,000 dial system in Kannapolis. It will be in operation by the end of 1951.

Russian Trade . . .

No one in the U. S. commerce or agriculture department in Washington, or at Marshall plan headquarters, believes that the move is based on normal trade thinking as the west knows it.

Many guesses are that the Russians have had more trouble than they foresaw either in manufacturing or buying the kind of machinery they want.

U. S. trade experts say the Russians have never bid for consumer goods for the Russian people or for machines to turn them out. Rather they want the sort of heavy machinery that could be turned to war use.

This they are not likely to get, even on this new bid to reopen old trade channels. The United States has a long secret list of articles that may not be sold to the Soviets or the satellites, things that might be used to make war goods.

There is the possibility that the Russians are selling wheat stocks they had built up in case of Government experts admit the possibility exists, but they have no proof.

Atlantic Union . . .

Invite the democracies which sponsored the Atlantic Pact last year—U. S., Britain, Canada, France, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg—to send delegates to a convention. Any other democracies which wanted to send delegates could.

The delegates could do one of two things:

1. Just sit around exchanging ideas on how they felt about such a union and return home to see how their people felt toward the idea. If they found their people approved, a second convention could be called to set up the democratic union.

2. Or—these delegates at the first meeting could, if they agreed on the idea, set up the plans for this super-government. It wouldn't come into existence, of course, until it was submitted to their own people for approval. A country whose people rejected it, wouldn't join.

(In this country, for instance, the American people themselves, not just Congress, undoubtedly would have to approve before the U. S. would join such a single, over-all government.)

How would such a union government look? Perhaps like this: It would have a president, two houses of congress, a supreme court. This would be the supreme government. Each of the member nations would vote on the president and elect the congress. The citizens of all the union nations would be citizens of the one government.

But, just as in the case of the 48 states, each member nation would keep its own government and may be some troops, a sort of militia, while the union government had an army from all the member nations.

Sale By Church Was Total Loss

Johannesburg — (AP) — They're used to gold rushes in South Africa—but that's nothing to what happened at a church jumble sale here. When the doors were opened there was such a rush of customers that the attendants were pushed aside and knocked over. By the time they had recovered, the customers had departed with the entire stock—without paying.

Britain Is Stressing Overseas Publicity

London—(P)—Britain spends more than twice as much on publicity overseas as she does at home. A white paper said the government plans to lay out $41,943,300 on information services this fiscal year. Of this, 10,821,950 pounds is overseas expenditure and 4,157,800 pounds is home expenditure.

Choice Of Ewing For New Cabinet Post Is Drawback

Washington, June 1—(AP)—A potential political thorn was tossed today into the path of President Truman's proposed new government Department of Health, Education and Security.

The probability that Oscar R. Ewing would become the first secretary of such a department revived some of the Senate opposition which killed a similar reorganization plan last year.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said Republicans aren't particularly interested in helping give cabinet stature to Ewing, who is talked as a possible Democratic candidate for Governor of New York.

Mr. Truman's proposal last year for a new Department of Welfare was clubbed down in a 60 to 32 Senate vote last August 16 largely on the grounds that it would give too much power to Ewing, the Federal Security Administrator.

Ewing's support of the President's proposal for compulsory health insurance was a focal point in that fight and remains a sort of spot among critics now.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark.), who attacked last year's plan on the grounds that it seemed to open the way for what he called "socialized medicine," said the new proposal looks satisfactory to him on that point.

McClellan heads the Senate Expenditures Committee which will hold hearings if any resolution disapproving the new plan is offered. A majority of the full membership of either house can kill a reorganization plan.

If the plan survives an expected Senate challenge, Ewing may become a department head with what the President himself said are "essentially the same duties and authority as are now vested in the Federal Security Administrator."

In yesterday's message to Congress submitting the plan, the President said that the surgeon general and the commissioner of education will "retain all the statutory authority and duties now vested in them."

Along with the commissioner of social security they would report directly to the secretary, who would transmit their views to the President.

He said the Negro approached him near the bridge and asked for a job. Later he offered to accompany the game warden down to the river "to catch some unlicensed fishermen."

It was during the friendly conversa-

a dubious position, and the new deputy's work is handicapped by the watchful attitude of the righteous and the sense of power inspired in the ungodly.

In Deputy Sheriff Ralph Shelton's slambang statement of resignation, he said "too many people do not actually stand for law and order but ask special privileges and favoritism when I try to enforce the law."

This condition probably applies in all aspects of law enforcement; and we suspect there are many instances of attempted persuasion, intimidation or "gift-offerings" met by law officers throughout the state and nation. It is truly remarkable that the agencies of law and order are able to maintain their high reputation for honest enforcement.

Those who are most aware of the influences brought to bear against upholding of the laws are, to us, the best equipped to combat the idea that Justice is forever blind.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 1—Secretary of State Dean Acheson has presented the Truman Administration's basic and final defense for its Chinese policy in confidential talks with members of Congress and with the diplomatic representatives of countries allied with us in the "cold war" against Russia. He has been extraordinarily frank in his attempt to refute McCarthy charges.

Chiang Kai-shek was originally regarded as the "white hope" of a strong and unified China, according to Mr. Acheson. We supported him during World War II because he symbolized Chinese opposition to Japan's aims of conquest in the Far East.

Even though he spent more time and energy in fighting Communists than the Japs, we could not desert him without seeming to abandon his people.

WARNED—When our military and diplomatic agents learned that he and his family were using our aid to enrich themselves, we warned him privately that he was abusing our generosity. We demanded the right to place economic advisers and military leaders in charge of his government.

We also suggested that he broaden the base of his government by taking in liberals, even if they might be Communists among them. Then they were regarded by a certain State Department faction as "mere agrarian reformers."

CHARM—Chiang Kai-shek would not listen to this advice, and sent his attractive wife to this country to exert her charm on the Roosevelt family and powerful politicians on Capitol Hill. She did, although it has now worn off.

The United States, however, did not dare to publicize these warnings to the Generalissimo or to advertise our differences with him. It would have given comfort and strength to the Axis. Nor did we dare to force him to include Reds in his government lest he denounce us as trying to undermine him.

WAITING—When he proved incapable of holding China, in spite of our moral and material assistance, there was no alternative except to abandon him. To oppose the Communist regime now would require billions of dollars and millions of men, a sacrifice which Congress would never agree.

Moreover, it might be resented by the Chinese people as directed against them instead of against the Moscow conquerors. So, as Mr. Acheson says, the United States is "still waiting for the dust to settle."

FRIENDSHIP—Although President Truman's "fair deal" program and heavy taxes have arrayed the nation's financial interests against him, there seems to be a peculiar backstage friendship between the White House and the big bankers of New York. Boston and points west. He is taking over their bad debts and bailing out their sour loans.

When the Reconstruction Finance Corporation recently loaned money to a newly organized oil firm, the Texmass Petroleum Corporation, a large portion went to insurance companies, not for the development of oil.

A total of $4 million reimbursed the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, and the John Hancock Life Insurance Company of Springfield, Mass. A million found its way into the tills of banks in Boston, Dallas and Wichita, Kan.

Glen McCarthy, Houston hotel and oil man, has applied for an RFC loan of $70 million, although he recently said he might withdraw his request. But if he gets it, he will use $50 million to liquidate debts to two of the greatest insurance firms in the United States.

POKER—The supposedly non-political Export-Import Bank has also entered this game of political poker. Although regarded as independent agencies, both RFC and the E-I bank are now controlled by the White House.

In an effort to improve relations with Argentina, Export-Import recently agreed to advance a $125 million credit to Dictator Juan Peron. It was advertised as a transaction that would improve that country's economy, as it may do.

But almost every cent will be spent to pay off New York and Boston banks which underwrote previous Peron transactions here, mostly for agricultural and industrial machinery, and to pay his bills to his industrial debtors—General Motors, Ford, Westinghouse, General Electric etc.

REFUSED—For months Peron's financial agents tried to obtain new credits before they had discharged their old debts. The banks and exporting firms refused to make a settlement with the dictator, figuring him a bad risk. Now Uncle Sam has bailed both him and them out with the taxpayers' money.

No wonder that the Democrats now get larger political contributions from big industry than the Republicans do!

NOTE—Representative John E. Lyle Sr. of Corpus Christi, Tex., served as major of an anti-aircraft battery during some of the fiercest fighting on the Anzio beaches. Recently he received a note from his Chinese orderly now living in New York.

"I seek the folks at Washington," it said, "are talking of another World War. Don't they know that we haven't rest up from the last one yet?"

Selected Shorts

BEAVERTON, OREGON, ENTERPRISE: "The postoffice curtailment will bring sharply home the dire effects of government reorganization and economy. For those who rise up in arms over the lessening of mail deliveries, let them recognize fully that the wages of reorganization are economy, not more governmental services."

DEARBORN, MICHIGAN, PRESS: "Debts of state and local governments have gone up in the last year, according to the Census Bureau, which reports that they reached an all-time high of $20,875,000,000 last June 30th. This looks like a large amount but it is nothing compared with $252,000,000,000 that the Federal government owes. The total, $273,845,000,000, amounts to $1,234 for every man, woman and child in the country."

MESABI, MINN., DAILY NEWS: "In the conversion of electricity to do the chores of America, power accomplishes the work of a billion and a half men. No age has seen anything like it, a marvelous testimony to the effectiveness of the private enterprise system."

NORWICH, NEW YORK, CHENANGO UNION: "It is a basic principle of democracy that might does not make right. When that principle is disregarded by any individual or group of individuals, whether it be a labor union or an association of employers or a political party, our system of liberty and justice for all is endangered."

Seen Any Reds Pass Here?

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Every now and then I come to Wife Rachel pleading, 'Aw come on, Rachel, give me a column idea.' When I did this yesterday, she suggested murder mysteries.

"What about 'em?" I asked, as usual.

"You know very well what about 'em.' You've gone crazy over them. You keep me up all hours of the night reading them."

This touched off the discussion that I hoped it would. "But Rachel," I said, "everybody should have his fling with murder mysteries. What better way is there of ending the day than with a nice murder?" W. R. named several better ways, but it was too late, for I was off.

"Take the Ellery Queen Mystery Magazine," I said, "and you have a dozen good stories. For example, 'Bullet for One,' 'The Shadow and the Rock,' 'The Rock of Justice,' 'The Night I Died,' or 'The Problem of Cell 13.'" After hearing those titled, W. R. even less sold on murder mysteries. But I was still wound up.

"Don't get excited over this mania of mine," I said, "it's just a fling. Before you know it I'll be back with my old buddies, The Phantom, Dagwood, Steve Canyon, and the rest of the comic strip characters."

W. R. believed me, for she called me Greenville's best salesman of the funny section. You should see the demonstration that takes place when I encounter some one who doesn't read the funnies. "Oh, no!" I exclaim, "don't tell me that you don't read the funnies!" This statement is followed by a facial expression of dispondency, and an emphatic slap on the forehead.

"Let me tell you something," I go on to say, "you're missing half of your life."

Unfortunately, I can't say the same for murder mysteries. They have one characteristic that makes them worth at least one fling, and that is the surprise ending. Nothing is quite as effective in writing as a surprise ending, which makes me regret that I don't have the ability to use it in this column. On the other hand, you might often be surprised to see that I finish a column.

The Ellery Queen Mystery Magazine is a sort of a bound copy of stories by a variety of authors. The EQMM picks what they consider the best stories and publishes them monthly. They also plug the Detective Book Club, the headquarters of which is located, of all places, Park Avenue, N.Y.

In the June issue such books as "The Case of the Negligent Nymph," "The Case of the Lucky Legs," and "The Case of the Black Eyed Blond," are advertised.

Can't you just hear the literary critics taking off on such books. "Trash," they would say, "strictly trash." But I wonder how many of them lock themselves in a room and read the books. How can you know what trash is unless you read it?

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, N. C.

PLEASED—At his first press conference in more than a week Governor Scott told newsmen Wednesday he regarded results of last Saturday's primary as "very pleasing." Further questioning elicited statements the governor had fully checked returns on legislative candidates; his office had received a good many letters and telegrams saying the election was most orderly in many precincts which previously had been scenes of confusion; that more women participated than usual; that the governor does not think the race issue was a factor or will be; and, he has nothing to say about a second primary.

PRISONERS—Good part of the press conference time was devoted to round table discussion about inmates of a Buncombe county prison camp voting last Saturday. The attorney general had ruled that persons convicted of misdemeanors had not lost their inherent right to vote, although conviction of felony does deprive a person of suffrage until citizenship has been restored in open court. For many years it has been custom in Buncombe county, perhaps others, for incarcerated misdemeanors to be taken to the polls under guard and permitted to vote. This year, the state penal director issued instructions for a full work day at all prison camps. In face of that, inmates of one camp were permitted to vote.

SERIOUS—Governor Scott was patently disturbed about several phases of this practice. One was the residence qualification, since most misdemeanors are short termers and usually come from other counties. Another is the delicate balance between "denying right to vote by use of a gun" and "forcing a prisoner to vote by use of a gun." The governor's present opinion, subject to revision if there is evidence to the contrary, is that more harm will result from denying a very few prisoners the privilege. Reporters almost unanimously agreed with that conclusion.

HALF-YANKEE—Federal offices and banks throughout North Carolina observed Memorial Day Tuesday as a holiday. Most other offices ignored the occasion, because State agencies had taken out for Confederate Memorial Day on May 10. A group of men on a street corner were discussing that somewhat confusing situation, and a Raleigh lawyer said he partially met the issue by letting his secretary off for half the day Tuesday. She was born in New Jersey, he said; educated in Alabama, and now lives in North Carolina. So "I told her she was just a half-Yankee."

BUDGETEERS—Itinerary for the 1950 inspection tour of the advisory budget commission has been announced. The budgeteers will be on the ground inspection and hold at-home conferences with administrators of some three dozen state institutions. The eastern tour will run from July 17 to July 26; the western end will be covered between August 14 and 18. This will probably be as important as any such enterprise since the first budget commission tour more than twenty years ago.

ORGANIZATION—The advisory budget commission holds the key to the state's money box. It is composed of six men, incumbents being Harry B. Caldwell of Greensboro and A. C. Edwards of Hookerton, appointed by the governor; Grady Rankin of Gastonia and Edwin Pate of Laurinburg, respective chairmen of senate finance and appropriations committees; Larry I. Moore of Wilson and W. Frank Taylor of Goldsboro, chairmen of house finance and appropriations committees. The budget commission after visiting the state institutions and getting from them statements of needs, at subsequent public hearings in Raleigh, prepares the revenue and appropriations bills for the next general assembly. The next legislature will have four of the six commissioners as voting members. Grady Rankin is returning to the 1951 senate. Representatives Alonzo Edwards, Larry Moore and Frank Taylor will all be back. Senator Pate was "rotated" out of office and Harry Caldwell has never been in the legislature.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
The trend to operation of commercial ventures by tax-exempt foundations has received a setback with a decision by the U.S. Tax Court that New York University must pay a back tax bill on a well-known macaroni firm it owns.

The school received the operating profits from the C. F. Mueller Co. The court held that the Mueller firm would have to pay $136,438 in 1947 taxes on its profits despite the exempt status of the owner.

Especially significant in the court's decision was a finding that the destination of the enterprise's profits is not the final test of its tax responsibility.

Businessmen who have been competing with the growing group of enterprises operated by universities and other tax-exempt groups, will of course, welcome the decision. But another group may not. Some businessmen have come to lean heavily on the concept of university-operated ventures as a method of financing their own businesses. Instead of having operating capital tied up in real estate, a number of merchants and manufacturers have sold their plants to colleges, who in turn leased them back on a long-term basis.

Tax-exempt owners of course can afford to undersell competitors who must pay taxes, or even charge less rent if they function as landlords, as they do in a growing number of instances.

The decision of course is not final, and will probably be appealed all the way to the Supreme Court.

The income tax law written over thirty years ago never anticipated that charitable and educational foundations and trusts would be used in such ways. Raymond Rich Associates points out in the latest issue of its American Foundation News Service.

The Rich group counsels foundations on financial and public relations matters. The agency points out that attention is being focused upon three principal uses of foundations and trusts for business purposes.

1—To ultimately benefit either their founders, officers, trustees, or members of their families or corporations controlled by them.

2—To conduct active business unrelated to their primary purpose.

3—To purchase land and buildings for leaseback.

The tax-exempt foundations organized by Royal Little, president of Textron, Inc., of course are the most publicized example of those set up by private businessmen themselves.

TWO WOMEN MAKE HIT WITH UNIQUE BARBER SHOP
Two Denver women have scored success with an interesting barber shop, and the slogan "Swap Them for Wampum." The customers bring in their own white elephants gleaned from attics and cellars, trade them for "wampum" and use the wampum to exchange for other articles in the store's stock. When an exchange is made, the purchaser pays a rate of 12 cents per wampum (which is printed paper watermarked against counterfeiting). Typical prices in the barber mart: baby crib, 40 wampums; floor lamp 10; books, 1. The women now plan to open up similar barber marts in other cities.

LOAN-SOURCE GUIDE BROUGHT UP TO DATE
The U.S. Commerce Dept. has brought up to date its booklet, The Small Businessman and Sources of Loans. It discusses the various kinds of capital, how to determine the need for additional capital, what to expect to pay for loan capital, and numerous sources of private and public loans. You can get a copy for 15 cents at the nearest Commerce Department field office.

But Some Think Businessmen Need Tax Reduction, Not Loans

On the other hand, maybe you don't want a book telling you where to borrow money. Perhaps you'd rather have a cut in taxes. Washington reports indicate there's quite a squabble over this very question right now. Some members of the Administration are plugging for an insurance plan to facilitate commercial bank loans under $25,000 to small business. Others insist small business needs incentive by way of tax reduction, rather than loans. Loans are only a crutch, one RFC official commented, in arguing against the plan to encourage cash for small enterprises.

NEW AND HOT SINK STRAINER
A non-breakable plastic sink strainer that flexes to remove sticky particles, and can't spill on the way to the garbage can, has been developed (by All-Power Manufacturing Co., Montebello, Cal.)

BRASS FINISH: A new anti-corrosive clear baking finish for brass products is recommended for builders' and luggage hardware, and other uses, by the maker (Standard Varnish Works, 2600 Richmond Terrace, Staten Island, New York).

FLY BIN: A pocket-size container for fly books and flies holds them magnetically so they can be stored and removed easily. (It's made by Norloc Division Norton Laboratories, Inc., Lockport, N.Y.)

Hal Boyle's Column

New York — (AP) — This is the month which there is nothing rarer than a day in.

Good old June is back. So soon again? What are the months doing now — riding on horseback? The year turns faster than a merry-go-round.

Time is doing a jig instead of a waltz. The universe is exceeding the speed limit. Why, if a man isn't careful, he'll find he's run out of June, used up his ration, before he knows it.

Wherefore, let every man pause and remember his June. For June won't come on forever, and no season lasts, and isn't it wonderful to see the girls again in their summer dresses? They put the tulips to shame.

June is the heyday of boyhood as the poet said. Remember? School let out at last, and running whooped back in alto bravado: "No more pencils, no more books! No more teacher's sassy looks!"

And the teacher smiled from the window, comfortably happy in the knowledge that for three months she didn't have to drum the multiplication table into the squirming minds of other people's runny-nosed children.

You never realized quite why mother sighed when you came home. It was no vacation for her.

Then came the thrill of putting away your shoes for the summer, the ecstasy of going barefoot again—the sting of hot pavement on tender soles, the delirious delight of squirting the warm dust of dirt roads between your toes.

And did any boy ever go through June without getting at least four thorns in his foot? Pleading the agony as mother placidly dug out the sharp spikes with a needle, murmuring, "Oh, quit yelling. A body would think you were being murdered."

There was always the visit to your cousins in the country and the cruel jokes they played on you because you lived in the city.

They'd have you milk the cow from the wrong side, so she'd kick or butt at you. Or at night they'd take you on a snipe hunt, leaving you standing for hours alone, holding an empty gunny sack behind a lighted candle and waiting for the mythical birds to flit across the light and into the bag. Remember the lonesome walk back to the house through the scary darkness, knowing you'd been tricked again? And somehow there just weren't any city tricks you could play on them.

I suppose these timeless pranks are being played on city boys right now in a thousand rural communities across America. But they don't run June. Nothing can run June for a boy. It's his month to be free—free to swim and hike and run through the woods like a deer out of prison.

Somehow June isn't quite so wonderful when you grow up, is it? There are no summer vacations in the school of experience, and you can't play hooky just because June rolls around. It's kind of embarrassing you — like meeting an old sweetheart.

Grownups chiefly use June as a month to marry in. But there's a limit to that, too. A man can't go barefoot or go marrying each June, as no wife would put up with that kind of nonsense, year after year.

But, all in all, a middle-aged man can still get some pleasure out of the month. His case isn't exactly desperate.

He can still enjoy the sunsets, he can look at the girls in their summer dresses, he can walk through the fields and hear the crickets and watch a bee inter-view a clover — and be homesick for the June of his childhood, when his heart spilled over with the pure wonder of being alive.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Uncle Sam has readied his camping grounds for a record crowd of vacationers this season. A. E. Demaray, associate director of the National Parks Service, estimates more than 33,000,000 will visit the country's 181 national parks, monuments and historic areas during 1950.

"Since most of these millions will choose July and August for their vacations," he tells me, "the wise tripper, if he can, will plan to come before or after these two months."

If one of the more widely known parks is your destination, you would be smart to make reservations well in advance — or, says Mr. Demaray, "you might have to sleep in your car." The National Park Service operates free public campgrounds in all but four of the 28 national parks and in some of the larger national monuments. In most of the major parks hotels, lodges, house-keeping cottages, cafeterias, bus transportation, saddle horse and similar services are provided by concessionaires operating under government contract and under Park Service supervision.

Isle Royale National Park, Michigan although having no automobile campgrounds, does have campsites for those exploring the island by trail or boat. Other national parks without auto campgrounds are Mount McKinley in Alaska, Carlsbad Caverns New Mexico, and Everglades, Florida.

In connection with Lake Hotel in Yellowstone National Park, 40 to 50 new cabins with bath are available. Baths have been added to a number of cabins at Zion and Bryce Canyon National Parks in Utah and at the North Rim of the Grand Canyon. A new lodge at Yosemite, to house 80, will be ready by fall. The Buff or Blue Ridge Parkway, opened partially last September will be in full use.

"Camping is the ideal way for a family to see the parks," Mr. Demaray believes. "Tents may be put up at designated campsites, or motorists may rent house-keeping cabins. The real way to enjoy a national park is to stay long enough to see it without hurrying, to get back on the trails into the wilderness. Overnight camping brings the greatest degree of satisfaction, but in even a half-day or day's trip one can get away from gasoline fumes and the noise of the city."

What Other Papers Are Thinking

INDIA'S JUDGES UPHOLD LIBERTY

(New York Times)

India's Supreme Court has just concluded its first term as the highest body of appeal in the country with a strong defense of freedom of the press. In one case it has decided against a suspension and in another against censorship. Since one of the publications involved is pro-Communist and the other strongly rightist anti-Moslem, neither certainly has the personal sympathy of any member of the court. It is the over-all principle of a truly free press that has been upheld.

This is the sort of decision that we had a right to expect from the Indian tribunal. The firm establishment of a judiciary that was above dispute and was highly honored for its integrity was one of Britain's greatest political contributions to India. Moreover, the Indians made the personal contribution of a large number of skilled jurists who were rightly held in high esteem. Especially in its upper branches the Indian judiciary has been notably strong for many years, and many of the proceedings in the higher courts have been an honor to the country.

The value of the present court is increased because of the existing political situation. The Congress party is so overpoweringly strong that a balanced and valuable political opposition has not yet emerged. Consequently the Government has some monolithic aspects that have caused a degree of concern. Some of the powers of detention voted to the Executive, for example, have exceeded even the most drastic of British public order decrees. The Constitution provides for a really strong Government, but the existing political situation does not afford a really strong check upon it.

The Supreme Court in the cases at issue is supplying some of that checking function. It is interpreting the new Constitution on the basis of its guarantees of rights to the individual and is, in effect, protecting the new Government from an excessive exercise of its wide powers. Fortunately this is also establishing a group of judgments and precedents whose total impact will be in the direction of greater freedom.

Big Sendoff For Film On Tobacco

Raleigh, N. C., June 1—(AP)—The heart of tobacco land has given a rousing sendoff to a movie depicting the revolution the cigarette-making machine brought to the industry.

Led by Hollywood stars and state officials, a throng of 75,000 joined yesterday in the run surrounding the world premiere of "Bright Leaf," made from a novel by Foster Fitz Simmons of Chapel Hill.

In the entertainment contingent on hand for the show were Patricia Neal and Donald Crisp of the "Bright Leaf" cast, featured player James Brown, Governor Scott, Congressman Harold Cooley, and Radio stars Ted Malone and Tommy Bartlett.

Pre-showing festivities were topped off by the crowning of Miss Lu Long Ogburn of Smithfield as "Bright Leaf Queen." The winner, who celebrated her 18th birthday yesterday, is from the same town as star Ava Gardner.

She was selected from a field of 24 contestants from Eastern Carolina cities by three judges: Fitz-Simmons, Wake Forest football coach D. C. (Peahead) Walker, and Dr. J. Foster Barber of Duke University.

Inspiration By Mack Sennett

Bell, Calif., June 1—(AP)—These hoodlums may have been inspired by a Mack Sennett comedy. Market Manager J. E. Goyette told police they:

Threw his pies all over the place, smashed melons; dumped sugar and rice on the floor; mixed flour and dried peas; poured honey over pork sausage, frozen strawberries and milk cartons; drenched facial tissues with orange juice.

The coin tills were untouched.

Raps Legality Of Board's Action

Greensboro, N. C., June 1—(AP)—The dispute over the presidency of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company was no nearer settlement today.

Three days ago the board of directors of the $243,000,000 organization shifted Ralph C. Price from the presidency to chairmanship of the board and named Howard Holderness president.

Price, who challenged the legality of the action, was at his president's desk yesterday. Holderness occupied the office of the executive vice president in the company's executive suite.

Price last night issued what he said would be his final statement "at this time," declaring that the board's action was "injurious affecting the welfare of the company and the rights of stockholders."

Price stated that his brother-in-law, Joseph M. Bryan, first vice president, was removed from the chairmanship of the finance committee Monday at the same time that Price was removed from membership on the committee. He said it was an "illegal and improper" move.

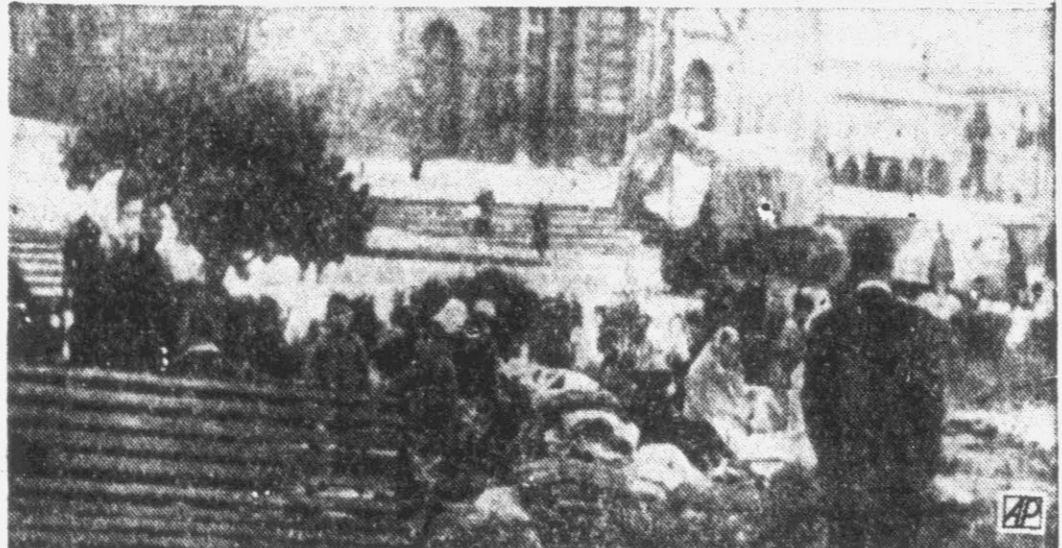

Bryan declined to comment.

Price charged that "the group which has attempted control" of the company kept him "completely in the dark as to their plans. In fact, I was lulled into a sense of security."

Fishermen Warned On Fish For Cut Bait

Tar Heel anglers are warned against the practice of using game fish of any kind for cut bait. Clyde P. Patton, executive director of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, said today.

"Officers of the Wildlife Commission's law enforcement division have been instructed to apprehend violators of the regulation prohibiting the use of game fish for cut bait,"

Citation Points To Top Winnings

Albany, Calif., May 31—(AP)—Citation can become the golden horse of all time this Saturday if 128 pounds isn't too big a load.

That's the weight the Calumet Farm champion was assigned today for the $20,000 Added Golden Gate mile at Golden Gate Fields. It's five pounds above that given second-weighted Bolero and Noor.

First money Saturday—approximately $15,000—would push "Big Cy's" lifetime winnings beyond that of any horse in racing history. Sty-mie holds the record of $918,485, just above Citation's total of $910,000.

Split Prizes At Victory Dinner

Indianapolis, May 31—(AP)—Drivers and owners of cars in yesterday's 500-mile race will get their winnings at the annual victory dinner tonight.

They will split about $185,000, but the amount won't be known until the dinner. Winner Johnny Parsons is expected to pull down about $50,000.

The speedway management guarantees $75,000 and adds to that on the basis of attendance.

Gambler Faces Grand Jury Move

New York, May 31—(AP)—A New York county judge today returned a 60-count indictment against Erickson, gambler, who recently testified before a senate investigation that he netted $100,000 a year from gambling enterprises. He was charged with conspiracy and book-making.

The action was announced by district attorney Frank S. Hogan. One count alleged conspiracy and the other 59 counts charge book-making.

TB Toll Among Children Heavily Cut In 20 Years

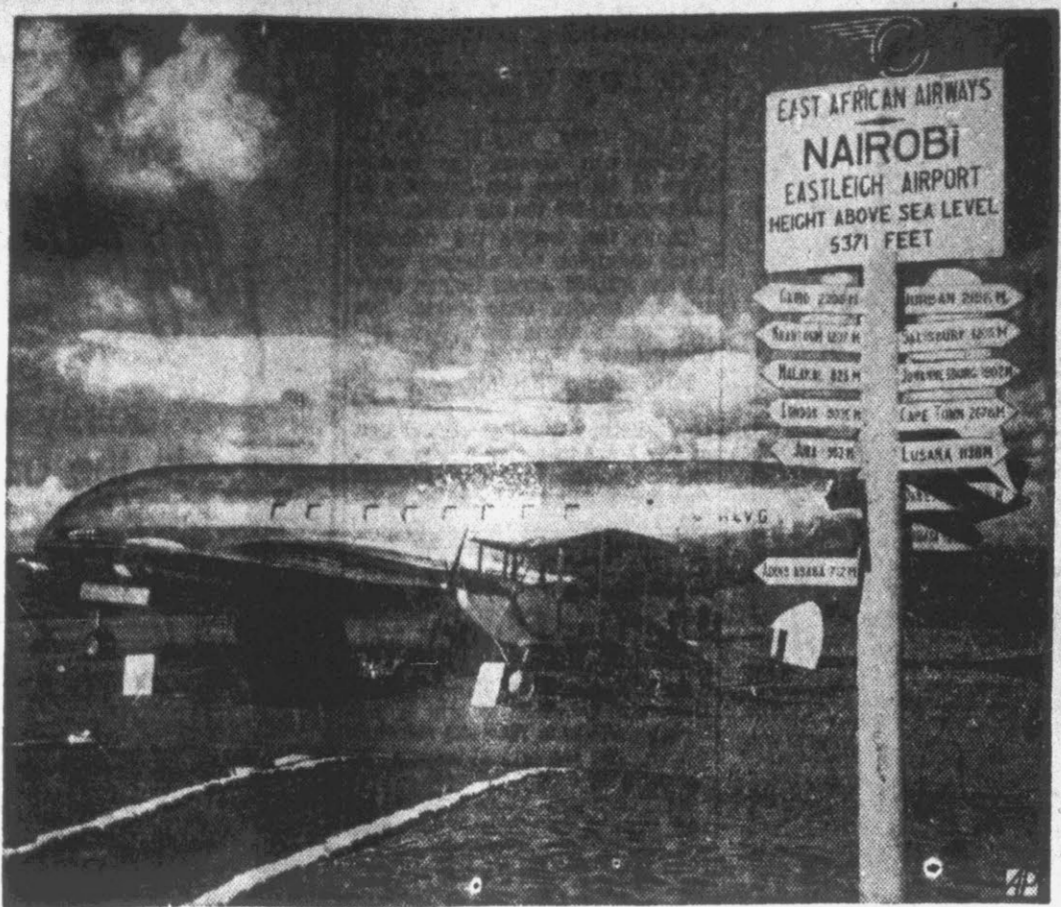

New York, N.Y. — Tuberculosis claims relatively less than one fifth as many lives among children as a few years ago, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company report. The decline in mortality is evident among children at all ages, with the greatest improvement at the school ages.

Increased hospitalization of adults who have contracted the disease is considered largely responsible for the gains which have been made. In this way children are freed from contact with active cases. Other contributing factors are the decline in the prevalence of the disease in adults, the better care and feeding of children, and the generally higher standards of living which help make children healthy and more resistant to disease.

The death rate among the company's industrial policyholders at ages 1 to 14 has dropped from 20.4 per 100,000 in 1930 to 3.7 in 1949. Further improvement is foreseen by the statisticians as a result of present case-finding efforts among adults and more likely hospitalization of cases when discovered.

"It is especially important for the protection of children that all school personnel—teachers, nurses, custodians, and food handlers—be X-rayed annually," declare the statisticians.

Because tuberculosis is so infrequent in children today, mass X-ray campaigns are not economical for detecting the disease. Teachers are in the best position for discovering potential cases through observation of youngsters who appear to be generally run-down, especially underweights, and of those with a history of the disease in the family, according to the statisticians. Annual health examination of both

Gifts To Berlin Continue Flow

Berlin—(AP)—Gift packages from the United States continue to pour into this city, an American official says.

John H. Gayer, communications advisor to the U. S. authorities here said that more than 83,000 such packages, valued at $750,000 were received by Berlin families during the first four months of this year.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

A full basement provides for a recreation room with a second fireplace. Combination living-dining room provides an unbroken sweep of more than 30 feet. This was selected as Plan AB-132 by the American Builder, trade magazine, 30 Church St., New York 7, N. Y., for its economy of space utilization. Without garage, the house covers an area of 1,140 square feet.

Cats Evicted

Providence, R. I., June 1—(AP)—Three tomcats today were without the luxury of living in a 16-room mansion they had occupied alone for more than a year.

The big house, a probate judge ruled, is better suited for human habitation. So he evicted the cats.

Mrs. Sophie H. S. Howarth, who died in April, 1949, specified in her will that the cats live in the mansion and that Miss Elizabeth Bernie be paid 10 a week to come each day and care for them.

But yesterday, with the approval of all principals involved in the Howarth estate, Miss Bernie was given the cats—and $4,000 to care for them in her own home.

Took 12 Days To Drive Bus 1,000 Miles Over Road

New Delhi, India—(AP)—To take a double-decker bus along the Delhi-Calcutta trunk road is quite a job. A local transport company dared the expedition recently but it is not likely to try again. It took 12 days to cover this 1,000-mile obstacle race. Four days alone were spent in trying to cross a river.

The West Bengal government bought the bus for use in Calcutta and preferred to take it along the trunk road. Deserts, jungles, hills, floods, loose mud, rough roads, narrow lanes, congested market squares overhanging tree branches, obstructive telephone and telegraph wires were some of the obstacles.

The double-decker was a sensation all along its route. Villagers thronged from far and near to have a glimpse of the "double-storied motor house."

More Vegetables And Fruit Eaten

New York—(AP)—Americans have more than doubled their consumption of canned fruits and vegetables in the past 25 years, says the American Can Co. At the same time they have increased their use of fresh fruits and vegetables.

In 1925, the average American ate 39 pounds of canned fruits and vegetables. Last year the figure was 83 pounds. In 1925 the figure for the fresh variety was 336 pounds. Now it is 385 pounds.

Rep. Arch Allen of Wake, who also had announced for House Speaker, later withdrew.

Uncertain Stand By Legislature Toward Scott

Raleigh, N.C., June 1—(AP)—How will the next legislature stand on the Scott Administration?

The only answers produced by last Saturday's Democratic primary are inconclusive. There just wasn't a definite trend, pro or con. Some legislators who've drawn criticism from the governor won easily. But so did some of his supporters.

Alamance County, the governor's home, had a definite answer, though. The governor's brother, Ralph Scott of Burlington, won the Democratic senatorial nomination from that county.

Rep. W. Frank Taylor of Wayne, chairman of the 1949 House Appropriations Committee and a frequent Scott target, had little trouble winning re-election. He is a candidate for House speaker next term.

Rep. Fred S. Royster of Vance, his opponent for the speakership, had no opposition in the primary.

Rep. Kerr Craig Ramsay of Rowan, 1949 speaker who also has drawn fire from Scott, was renominated, as was Senator R. Grady Rankin of Gaston.

Among leading backers of the Administration who won renomination were Senator Julian R. Allsbrook of Halifax and Rep. John W. Umstead Jr. of Orange.

Tom Sawyer of Durham defeated Senator Claude Currie, who was criticized during the campaign for opposing the governor. Rep. R. L. Harris of Person, a Scott critic, fell two votes behind Byrd Satterfield in a three-man contest. Harris, former lieutenant governor and a former House speaker, is entitled to call for a runoff.

Jesse Jones, Kinston lawyer and a Scott friend, lost out in the seventh senatorial district. Nominations went to Senator John D. Larkins Jr. of Jones and Carl T. Hicks of Walsenburg.

The liquor question could have been chiefly responsible for Jones' defeat, however. He campaigned on a platform of calling for a statewide liquor referendum. Five of the six counties in the district have ABC stores.

Mack M. Jernigan, another dry leader, lost in a three-way Senate race in Harnett County. Charles Ross, former chief counsel of the highway commission, and J. R. Young probably will meet in a runoff for the nomination.

Rivers D. Johnson, a leading supporter of Charles M. Johnson in the 1948 campaign for governor, won the Senate nomination in Duplin. In Nash, Rep. C. Settle Bunn, a Scott backer, lost to Tom A. Williams.

R. Bruce Etheridge, who went out as state conservation director after Governor Scott took office, won over Rep. Dewey L. Hayman in Dare. Another former state official, Oscar Pitts, lost in Buncombe for the senatorial nomination. Zeb Weaver Jr., son of the former congressman, was the winner over Pitts, a former state prison director.

James H. Pou Bailey, son of the late Senator Josiah W. Bailey, defeated Charles A. Poe, grandson of the late Governor Charles B. Aycock, in the Wake senatorial race. Poe ran as a Scott supporter.

Oscar Barker, veteran legislator who ran for governor two years ago, won a House nomination in Durham, along with Richard T. Sanders.

He further charged in his suit filed yesterday that she consented to wed only after he deeded her half the property he inherited from his previous wife.

Spud Shipments Now Restricted

No Irish potatoes grading below 85% U.S. No. 1 grade 1 7-8 inches in diameter can be sold to the commercial trade during the 1950 season in North Carolina and Virginia.

This recommendation was made to the Secretary of Agriculture by the Southeastern Potato Committee which administers the Marketing Agreement and Order in the two-state area, after a recent meeting of the committee in Elizabeth City.

The committee feels that such a restriction will be of mutual benefit to producers in the area in that the indicated supply will be of surplus proportions and that by limiting shipments to the better grade it will encourage growers to market a more desirable pack and stimulate demand for North Carolina and Virginia potatoes at the market place.

Under the above regulation the potatoes must meet the tolerances specified for U.S. No. 1 except that more tolerance for minor defects are permissible.

Indications are pointing to a crop of excellent quality even though digging will average about two weeks late, also more areas will be digging together than under normal conditions.

Tenth District GOP To Gather

Charlotte, June 1—(AP)—Tenth Congressional district Republicans will meet here Saturday to make plans for the campaign of Louis G. Rogers, candidate for the office now held by Rep. Hamilton C. Jones.

More than 40 leaders of the district are expected to attend the meeting at which James M. Baley, Jr., of Marshall, new state Republican chairman, will be principal speaker.

The executive committee will elect district officers.

MEDITERRANEAN POLLUTED

Tel Aviv, Israel—(P)—All bathing on the beaches of Tel Aviv—Israel's "Riviera" capital—has been banned by public authorities. They said the order is issued because of the polluted and unhygienic state of the Mediterranean's waters.

Blame Films For Youth Problems

Hong Kong, June 1—(AP)—Shanghai newspaper reports say the influence of "Hollywood gangster films" has created a teen-age problem.

Youths barge out of restaurants without paying, molest girls and indulge in small-time blackmail, the Public Security Bureau was quoted.

The Chinese Reds have their own name for the dead enders. Because of their wavy hair, they are called "foxi"—small airplanes.

Man Fought Dog To Save Children

Atlanta, June 1—(AP)—A taxicab driver, father of five children, wrestled with an apparent mad dog yesterday to save a group of 82 terrified kindergarten pupils.

"Any man with kids of his own would have done exactly what I did," said 28-year-old Rick Parker, shrugging off his act of bravery. Parker spotted the dog, running wildly and foaming at the mouth, as he drove past the school. Classes were changing and the youngsters were on the grounds.

The alert cab driver threw his car in reverse and put it between the mongrel dog and the children. He shouted at a patrolling policeman to get the children inside.

Then the dog darted around the cab and Parker flung himself upon it. As the children watched from windows, he wrestled the dog down the street. A youth in the neighborhood finally killed the dog with a rifle. Parker was bitten on one hand and was given an anti-rabies shot.

The dog's head was taken to a laboratory for a rabies test. To the school kids, the Air Forces veteran was a personal hero. "Better than in the comic books," said one.

RALEIGH POPULATION

Raleigh, N. C., June 1—(P)—The 1950 census gave Raleigh a population of 65,000. W. G. Aycock, district census supervisor, said this represents an increase of 19,338 since 1940.

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filter out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Higher Farm Price Guarantees In Making As Parity Increases

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Higher dollar-and-cents government price guarantees appeared to be in the making today for this year's major farm crops.

The Agriculture Department is required by law to support prices of wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a yardstick for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to both producers and buyers.

Parity prices for most agricultural commodities are running higher now than they did a year ago. They rise and fall with changes in the prices of goods and services used by farmers in producing crops and in family living.

The department reports yesterday that the rural retail price level has advanced three per cent since last November to offset more than one-third of the price reductions during the previous 16 months.

The present parity price of wheat, for example, is $2.19 a bushel compared with $2.17 a year ago. If present price relationships continue until this year's price support is set, the wheat guarantee will be at least one cent a bushel higher than a year ago.

The present parity price of corn is four cents above the $1.55 a bushel parity price used for setting the support for the 1949 corn crop.

Likewise, present parity prices are higher than a year ago for cotton, rice and peanuts.

Increases in price support rates may not mean a greater government outlay for farm-aid programs. Poor spring crop planting and production prospects indicate a considerably smaller harvest. Small crops would mean little or no surpluses to move into government hands under price programs.

The rather unfavorable farm production outlook is being reflected in advances in farm prices. The department reported that between mid-April and mid-May, farm prices increased 2.4 per cent to reach the highest level since September, 1949. The biggest advances were shown for hogs, cotton, corn, wool and soybeans.

This upturn in farm prices is shoving some money off the government's investment in surpluses. Farmers are withdrawing crops from government loan stocks to take advantage of the higher market prices.

Southern Bell In New Rate Appeal

Raleigh, N. C., June 1—(AP)—A new rate increase in North Carolina has been asked by the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

In an application filed yesterday, the firm asked the Utilities Commission to let it boost its exchange rates—monthly charges to subscribers—by $2,700,000 a year. It estimated its net revenue increase, after taxes, would be $1,500,000 a year.

It left to the commission the task of determining where the increases should be made. Long-distance tolls would not be affected.

The company said it asked the increase to enable it to realize a return of 7.25 per cent on its net investment. H. G. Booth, the firm's state manager, said earnings on investments in constantly expanding facilities are too low to attract capital needed for expansion.

Southern Bell last year got a rate increase of about $2,400,000, after asking for $3,400,000. That boost, the application said, gave a return of 6.1 per cent on an investment in North Carolina that then totaled $49,866,000.

But, it said, in the last four months it has earned only 5.75 per cent on an investment of $52,403,000. And this does not take into account wage increases which take effect this month, the application added.

Booth said the company's investment per telephone has risen from an average of $234 as of Sept. 30, 1948, to an average of $324 on phones installed since that date.

Divided Record Speedway Prize

Indianapolis, June 1—(AP)—Race car owners and drivers divided up a record of $201,035 in prizes today from the fastest—and the shortest—race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

"Boy, I never had it so good," crowed Johnny Parsons, pocketing the $57,458.63 top prize at the 500-mile victory dinner last night.

The handsome Van Nuys, Calif., racer won't keep it all, but drivers of his kind usually get around 35 per cent. Every driver's take is a private deal between him and his car owner.

Wildlife Group To Provide For Quail Feed Winter Months

The Wildlife Resources Commission still has about 2,000 wildlife seed packets for planting as quail cover. Clyde P. Patton, executive director of the commission, announced today.

The seed packets contain ten pounds of a mixture of annual seeds which will produce good wildlife food when placed near permanent cover, or when planted in old tobacco beds and other suitable areas.

The remaining seed packets will be distributed free of charge to farmers and sportsmen on a first-come-first-served basis. Persons wishing to obtain the seed packets should write to the Wildlife Resources Commission for an application form which gives details of procuring the seeds.

"The seed packets will be a valuable improvement for small game habitat," Patton said, "and sportsmen can improve their relationships to farmers by obtaining the seeds and helping to get them planted."

Migrant Mexicans Face Dangers In Illegal Entry

Mexico City, June 1—(AP)—It's a dark night on the Rio Grande. A man comes out of the brush on the Mexican shore. He peers furtively through the darkness up and down the river.

Satisfied, he creeps down the bank. A dozen men, their left wrists tied to a long cord, follow him in line. He wades into the water sounding with a long stick. One of the men splashes and the leader shushes him. They wade quietly to the far bank. The leader stays behind as the other men cut them-men to patrol a hundred miles. There are other types of "man smugglers." Sometimes boatmen will take the Mexicans across in small skiffs or on rafts. These are called "speters" or "duckmen." On the western frontiers, up against California and Arizona, the smugglers are men who know the habits of the border patrol and have a good chance of getting their wards across the fence. Or they may be merely guides, who take the would-be immigrant to a point where there is no fence.

The migrant—called a "wetback" along the river or a "wire-jumper" in the west—is in danger from the time he leaves Mexico. He may step into a hole in the ford, or the current may wash him downstream. If he crosses in a boat, it may overturn. So many bodies of aliens have been taken from the river that a U. S. sheriff in the lower valley complained that the free cemetery in his town was full of unidentified Mexicans.

Mexicans say that even if the migrant gets across the river safely, and finds a job with a U. S. farmer, he is still not well off. The authorities here say the illegal migrant is often paid less than the prevailing wage and that his food and sleeping quarters are sub-standard. If he complains, he is threatened with being turned over to U. S. officers.

Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom and his wife admire their second son who was born in a hospital at Montgomery May 27. Their first son, James Jr., was born in the same hospital May 14 of last year. Mrs. Folsom is the former Jamelle Moore of Berry, Ala. (AP Photo).

Another consignment of smuggled Mexican farm workers has arrived in the U. S.

The leader is an "Enganchador" (a "Hooker") so called because he pulls men out of the water. For two or three days he has been quietly talking to Mexicans camped along the shore. They want to go to the U. S. to work. Even at 25 cents an hour, they will make more in half a day than they could make in an hour at home. They do not think about the higher cost of food and cigarettes in the U. S.

The Hooker finally completes the number he is willing to smuggle across the river. They pay in advance—how much depends on how much they have. The average is probably around 10 or 15 pesos—$1.10 or $1.65—a man they start their crossing.

There is small penalty for failure. If the U. S. authorities catch them, the illegal migrants are merely sent back to Mexico. If Mexicans catch them, there is a fine of up to 10,000 pesos ($1,154) and two to five years in jail. But Pedro Garcia, chief of the Reynosa border patrol, says he has only two

Locomotive Used In Bid To Escape

Sylacauga, Ala., June 1—(AP)—A quick getaway in a locomotive while under arrest will switch engineer Jason McCullum into court here Monday.

The highballing railroader faces charges of speeding, resisting arrest, and escaping from police.

The speeding charge, said Mayor Ed Howard, was filed against McCullum because he ran a Louisville and Nashville passenger train through Sylacauga at too fast a clip.

Police rushed to the next stop and placed McCullum under arrest. When police allowed the engineer to return to the train "for just a minute," McCullum opened the throttle. The Mayor said, and highballed out of town so fast he almost got away without the conductor.

Once more the police set out after the local. At the next town down the line McCullum again was placed under arrest, and released in $300 bond.

Monday he'll have to explain all the hoopla to the judge.

Over 153,000 Of Refugees In U.S.

Washington, June 1—(AP)—More than 153,000 Displaced Persons have entered the United States thus far under the legislation permitting this immigration of war refugees.

The DP commission gave this estimate today in noting that 148,000 of these must file individual reports on their residence and employment by July 1.

Cards Gunning For Brooklyn Dodgers

Grim Memory Of May 18 Horrors Of Ebbets Field Is Spark That Has Put St. Louis On Hottest Winning Streak Of Season

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

Memo to Brooklyn—Beware the St. Louis Cards.

Checks still burn on the Cardinal bench at the memory of the May 18 horrors of Ebbets Field. That was the day St. Louis blew an 8-lead and lost to the Dodgers, 9-8.

Strong men still blanch at the thought of Tommy Glaviano's three successive errors in the ninth inning. Glaviano and Manager Eddie Dyer never will forget it.

The experts wrote the Cards' obit the next day. They said it was the end of St. Louis as a pennant threat in 1950. Brooklyn had landed a knockout blow at St. Louis morale. They never would bounce back.

Next time the Cards played a game they rallied with six in the eighth inning to knock out Warren Spahn and whip Boston. The next victim was the Phillies' Robin Roberts.

And so on, down the line. Since the black day in Flatbush they have won nine of 11, hotter than any club in the league. They left Brooklyn tied for third, three games out of first. Now they're second, one game behind Brooklyn.

Tonight is the night. The chance to get even. They open a three-game series with the Dodgers at Sportsman's Park. Don't say the Dodgers weren't warned. Old Cardinals don't forget.

This second western swing of the Brooks can be most important. By whipping St. Louis three straight at Brooklyn they turned back the Card threat for the moment.

By speeding the holiday doubleheader from the Phillies, they repelled another threat. If they can get out of St. Louis with their lead intact, they may be able to pull away and take command.

The trip is important for Leo Durocher's New York Giants, too. In a different sort of way, the Polo Ground wolves are howling for Leo's scalp although his contract runs through 1951. Going into tonight's two-night doubleheader at Cincinnati, the Giants are running a dreary seventh, nine games off the pace.

Chicago, still two games over the 500 mark, is first stop for the deflated Phillies who were knocked from first to third Tuesday. After Chicago, the Phils bump back into St. Louis for three very important games.

Fight Managers And IBC In Stalemate Over Sharing

New York, June 1—(AP)—Fight managers began a "squeeze" today on the International Boxing Club in an effort to get a half-share of the fat radio and television spoils.

The old contract between the managers Guild and the IBC, which controls bigtime boxing here, expired at midnight.

The managers now they won't sign for another fight until the IBC cuts these extra receipts down the middle with half of it going to the program's principals.

The IBC says it can't do it, without entailing a loss. It's willing to make concessions but none of that "50-50" business.

That's the stalemate presented today, threatening continuance of "ring shows in Madison Square Garden."

Whiz, said Catanzaro, is a prize retriever of lost golf balls. And he said, he has some 2,700 golf balls in his home in suburban Lombard as proof of his dog's uncanny knack of finding lost balls in the last six years. He sells some and gives away others.

Catanzaro said the first time he sent Whiz into the rough for a lost ball it was a gag.

"One by one, he brought back six balls," Catanzaro said. "None was the right one but his new career had been launched."

Since Catanzaro said Whiz averages finding 30 to 35 balls a day, about 1,500 a season. His record was 59 balls one day two years ago.

Whiz doesn't bother balls on the fairway. All his business is in the rough.

Boy's Softball League

The Dodgers knocked the Deacons out of their chance to pull into a tie for top honors in the High School Intramural League Tuesday defeating Billy Jordan's team by the score of 7 to 5. The Deacons put on a belated rally in the final inning to score three runs but fell short of a tie and another chance.

Billy Jordan, Joe Stoneham and Jimmy Chestnut led the Deacons at bat with two hits each. Walter Perry with four singles and Gene Ayers with a single and homer were tops for the Dodgers.

Joe Sawyers Winners beat the league leading Cards 9 to 8, and threw the league into a three way tie for top honors. Tuesday marked the end of the schedule and the Cards had lost only one game and needed this victory to give them undisputed rating as the top honors.

With all teams having completed their schedule the league has three teams tied for top position. Today the Winners, Cards and Red Sox will play off this tie to determine the top team.

In Tuesday's game the Winners scored seven runs in the second inning and two in the third to take a commanding lead. The Cards who had led the league all the season were unable to slave the offerings of Smith Worthington and were apparently a whipped team until they came to bat in the sixth.

In this inning they came to life and scored three runs but the Winners still had a commanding six run lead. In the bottom of the final inning, the Cards got to hitting and it looked like they were going to win. After scoring five times, and with the bases loaded and two outs, the Winners managed to retire the side and win. Eddie Farley, and Smith Worthington were the leading hitters for the Winners. Billy Brady and Bill Kittrell led for the Cards.

Sport Slants By Pap

Nomination for the 'Rookie of the Year' honors appear to be in order with the contingent from the Boston Braves. "Rising star" Sam Jethro is their candidate, and the way Sam has been going all spring is going to be hard to beat. "Joe" came up to the Braves hailed as the fleetest man in baseball. He boasted a record of 63 stolen bases with Montreal last season as evidence. On his first swing around the National League circuit, Jethro, gave ample evidence of his speed on the base paths, but not by the manner in which he stole bases. The way Swift Sam would stretch his legs into extra bases was most impressive. His quickness to take advantage of every break made fielders jittery and many a hurried throw to go wide of his mark.

Ex-Champ Has Uncertain Future After Title Gone

Johannesburg, South Africa, June 1—(AP)—Manuel Ortiz, the gritty little California Mexican, faced an uncertain future today while the ring world acclaimed a new bantamweight champion—South Africa's Vic Towel.

Towel, a 23-year-old former wood carver, wrested the crown from Ortiz with an undisputed 15-round decision last night in Johannesburg's Wembley Stadium.

The finish presented a paradoxical picture. Towel, the victor, was bleeding from over one eye and his nose. Ortiz, the vanquished, was unmarked.

But there was no question of the outcome in the minds of 27,000 fans, who stormed the ring afterwards singing, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," or rhapsodizing observers, who gave Towel from 10 to 12 of the 15 rounds.

Donkey Baseball Game In Bethel Planned Friday

Donkey baseball makes its 1950 entry into Pitt County when the firemen and Woodmen of the World square off in Bethel next Friday night.

Not since last summer has this depression-born adjunct to the great American game been played hereabouts. According to members of the teams in Bethel, the fans will be in for a night of baseball at its hilarious best.

They report the donkeys were trained at the Flying W ranch in Oklahoma and from infancy have been trained in the fine art of sudden stops, short turns, abrupt reversals and general cussedness.

Making up the firemen's nine will be Mayor John W. Rook, Wee Wil-entry into Pitt County when the firemen and Woodmen of the World square off in Bethel next Friday night.

Lucky Strikes Win Championship In Women's City Bowling League Play

Competition in the Women's City Bowling League finished last night and the Lucky Strikes walked away with the championship five games ahead of second-place Slickers.

Last night's rolling wound up a 36-game schedule which was begun in the late winter and which schedule produced no likely challenger to the championship the Lucky Strikes set their eyes for in the beginning.

In winning the crown for the first women's league, the Luckies rang up a new high total for a three-game brace, beating their old record of 1838 by four pins. Edith Nisbet led her bowling mates with a total three-game score of 435, good enough for second place score in that bracket.

Among the four teams, the Luckies beat the Slickers two games out of three on scores of 636-587, 590-556 and 616-612. The Slickers took the last game on a 24-pin spot.

On the opposite alley the Wildcats, who finished in fourth place, were beating third place Lady Luck two games. Scores were 486-519, 578-484, and 478-555. The Cats' handicap was set at 48 pins, which was enough to put them ahead on the first game which saw them behind in pins knocked down.

Final standings in the league: Lucky Strikes ..... 25 11 894
Slickers ..... 20 16 555
Lady Luck ..... 16 20 444
Wildcats ..... 12 24 333

Duke Eleven To Invade Big Ten

Durham, June 1—(AP)—Duke University's football Blue Devils will carry the Southern Conference colors into Big Ten competition in 1953 when they inaugurate a home and home series with Purdue University.

Duke's projected foray into the powerful mid-western circuit was disclosed yesterday by Athletic Director Eddie Cameron.

Baseball Crowds Continue To Dip In Major Leagues

New York, June 1—(AP)—Whether it's the weather, television or lack of ready cash, baseball attendance continues to dip.

Last year the average attendance for a major league game through April and May was 18,123. This year it's 15,714. That represents a .13 per cent decline.

At this date a year ago the two majors had drawn a total of 5,056,423 as compared to 3,928,509. This is a 22 per cent drop. However, the clubs have been able to play only 250 dates this spring compared to 279 last year.

Only club of the 16 majors to show an increase, despite all difficulties, is the Philadelphia Phillies. Buoyed by the fine early showing of Eddie Sawyer's crew, the Phils attracted 219,773 at home in their first 14 dates. Last year they had 210,785 for 19 dates. True, the increase is not startling but it is an increase.

Look at the New York Giants. They're 200,000 behind but have five more dates to play before they will be even in games with the fine 1949 record.

The Boston Braves also have suffered. On the same number of games each year, they drew 213,184 this year to 317,166 last. This, despite new facts and new spirit.

All three big money makers in the American League—New York Cleveland and Detroit—are behind their 1949 fights. Chicago trails off badly.

Citation Seeking Biggest Stake In Racing's History

Albany, Calif., June 1—(AP)—Mighty Citation goes after the biggest stake in horse racing history, Saturday at Golden Gate Fields.

The pride of Calumet Farm has a chance to become the greatest money winner of all time. Stytle now holds this exalted position. He retired with earnings of $918,485.

"Big Cy" has won $910,080 to date. The Golden Gate mile will be the fixture which may project Citation into the golden spot of the turf.

It is only a $20,000 added event. But the approximately $15,000 it will pay the winner will put the Calumet comet at the top, if he wins.

Citation will go postward as the favorite, no doubt of it. This despite the fact he was beaten in his last five starts. The weight he had to concede to most rivals had something to do with it.

Postal Bowlers Win In Tourney's Team Event

Post Office bowlers topped all other entries in the team event of the City Bowling Tournament. Their three game score, set in Tuesday night's rolling, was 2,328.

Last night Carolina Dairy and Imperial Tobacco rolled their games to finish the team rolling but neither could top the Tuesday score. The Dairy came within 20 pins of the Post Office but could go no farther. Their score was 2,308 while Imperial was rolling 2,241.

The handicaps were added to all previous scores after last night's rolling and final figures add up like this: Post Office 2,328 (plus handicap of 4); Carolina Dairy 2,308 (plus 6); White Chevrolet 2,270 (plus 6); Imperial Tobacco 2,241 (plus 13); Independents 2,212 (plus 0); Bilbro Wholesale 2,202 (plus 11); State Highway 2,126 (plus 34); Flanagan Buggy 2,046 (plus 59); and National Carbon 1,950 (plus 34).

So the Post Office won the five-man team event, the first section of the tournament which is now in progress. Their score wasn't as high as some of the former scores in the Industrial League for three games, but it was enough to win in this sudden-death competition.

In placing second, Carolina Dairy was led by Bill Harrington and Allen Stokes, two bowling members who paced the attack through the winter and spring competition in the Industrial League. Harrington set the high mark for a three-game brace in the tournament when he rolled 570.

His closest competitor in this bracket was Dave Mosler. Post Office, with 550. Stokes placed second with 217 for a single game high score. Leading the pack in that bracket was Bill Bryan, National Carbon, with 219.

None of Imperial's bowlers could crash the 500 mark last night. Highest was Spooky Morgan with 482, leading Bryan Porter by a scant three-pin margin. Other bowlers for Imperial, with scores, were Herb Proctor (439), C. Jackson (434), Gene Gurganus (407); Carolina Dairy: B. White (397), Harvey Hill (390), C. Moye (424), and Stokes (527).

Tonight marks the beginning of the second half of the tournament. All single entries will roll tonight and the man with the high total cops the trophy. Tomorrow night the doubles event will be staged to climax the week long tourney.

Two U. S. Tennis Teams In French Net Semifinals

Paris, June 1—(AP)—The United States will have two teams in both the men's and women's doubles semi-finals of the French International Tennis tournament tomorrow.

Veteran Billy Talbert of New York and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati advanced yesterday along with Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Victor Seixas of Philadelphia.

In women's competition, America's hopes will be carried by Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington, Del., on the one hand and Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O.,

SMOKY JOE

By W. F. BRAGG

He set for a long time on the edge of the bunk in frowning thought. Kate, by passing him a weapon, had invited him to make a break for his life. But she had tricked him before. Suppose he put the gun on the turnkey, opened his cell door, and tried to get out. Gunmen might be waiting to mow him down.

There was one way of proving whether Nevada Kate had set another trap. But he didn't dare go about his work until night came and he had some sort of a tool.

For the thought had come to him that if the gun had been passed to him to lure him into an attempted jail break and his own sudden death, his enemies would first make certain that his gun wouldn't kill anybody.

There were two cartridges in the derringer, but it was entirely possible that the powder charges had been removed from the shells and the leaden slugs re-inserted.

Prisoners were not permitted to retain any article that might be fashioned into a tool for escape. Before locking up Joe, they had searched him and taken away even the knife which had been dropped by the man in black.

But he decided that when they brought in his supper, he'd try to pry the lead from a cartridge. If the shell contained a powder charge, he'd gamble on a jail break. Also, he'd know that Nevada Kate was on his side.

A few hours after Kate's talk with Joe, a racket resembling a Fourth of July celebration broke out. Joe stood up on his stool and looked out the window. But he could see nothing of the excitement.

Then he cocked an ear toward the closed door leading into the sheriff's office. He jumped off his stool. Loud bellowing voices were echoing in the office. Joe heard the crash of furniture. As he reached his cell door, the portal to Hard Hat's office was kicked open and a struggling bunch of men almost fell into the corridor.

Joe's eyes popped. For he had recognized that high-pitched bawling. That was the familiar yell of an old roundup boss which had often sounded above the fury of a blizzard wind or the bellowing of a 'longhorn herd set for a stampede. That was the tone that had endowed old Johnson with a nickname.

"Goah," gasped Joe. "He came back! And fightin' drunk!"

Three men fought to thrust Whisperin' Johnson into a cell without half killing him. He had jammed Hard Hat's derby far down over the sheriff's big hairy ears. He had bloodied the nose of Shorty Dike who clung to his left arm. The paunchy turnkey scuffled in the rear, grasping the slack of Whisperin's saddle-slack overalls.

Whisperin' and his fighting escorts were surging past Joe's cell as the sheriff issued his order. The cowboy mistakenly believed that they intended to lock him up with Joe.

"No!" he bellowed frenziedly. "Not with that killer!" Maudlin tears filled his eyes and began to stream down his seamed cheeks. He sobbed bitterly. "Boys! Don't let him out!" he freed an arm and poked a thumb in Shorty Dike's sore nose. Wide-eyed, Whisperin' glared at Joe behind the bars. "Keep him in there!" he pleaded wildly. "Keep in there!"

The turnkey released the slack of Whisperin's pants and hit the old puncher a rabbit punch on the back of the neck. Whisperin' seemed to wilt. But as they bore him up the corridor with his boots dragging along the stone floor, he bawled weakly. "Keep him in there!"

After they had slammed the door on Whisperin', Joe called out. "What's he booked for? Drunk and disorderly?"

Leading his men to the office, Hard Hat paused long enough to snarl. "Worse than that. He went into the Silver Hill in broad daylight, bought himself a quart, and within a quarter-hour, put five shots into the big back mirror. Six bouncers jumped him. A free-for-all started and we just got there in time to keep him from being beat to death."

"You can't throw a man in a county jail for being drunk," said Joe. "He's got to be charged with a real fancy crime like I am."

"He's charged with plenty," Hard Hat snarled, inspecting his battered derby. "A new hat for me. And a new mirror for the Silver Hill. He'll dig up the dinero when he gets sober or lay here till he rots."

Shorty Dike, nursing his sore nose, shook his head. "I've known Whisperin' for years," he mourned, "but never saw him on such a spree. Maybe they slipped something into that quart. Or they mighta taken it outa the barrel they reserve for Injuns."

The door slammed. Joe waited a moment, then called to his old friend. All he heard in reply was another bellow of fear. "Don't let him out! Don't let him out, boys."

Joe went back and set on the edge of his bunk. Like Shorty, Whisperin' Johnson's wild spree amazed him. But Joe stopped short. Whisperin' had bellowed once—but only once—his blubbering frenzy that Joe was to "keep in there!"

Joe trusted Whisperin' to the death. It indicated but one thing to him. Kate had set a trap by passing him a gun.

So Joe wasn't amazed at supper when he palmed a cartridge from the derringer, and with his eating knife pried out the slug. The shell didn't contain a single grain of powder.

Won A Ball Game Without A Hit

Lebanon, Pa., May 31—(AP)—The North Atlantic League produced a baseball rarity on Memorial Day—a game won by a team which did not get a hit.

The winner was league leading Lebanon, the pitcher was Stroudsburg, Pa., and Pitcher Gene Stem, who hurled a no-hit game only to lose 1-0. The game—first of a double-header—was played at Lebanon.

The lone run got in the fourth inning on two errors and an infield out. Stroudsburg got only one hit off of Lebanon's Jerry Metz.

Defiant Japanese Reds Decree General Strike In Retaliation

Tokyo, June 1—(AP)—Openly defiant, Japan's Communist party today ordered a general strike Saturday in reprisal for the occupation's rush trial of eight Japanese accused of kicking and stoning American soldiers.

The strike call promised to bring to a head growing tension between General MacArthur's occupation and the Belligerent Communists.

This tension, fueled by recent international Communist charges that the Japanese Reds were too docile, erupted Memorial Day in the first physical violence of the occupation against U. S. troops.

A Captain and four enlisted men, observers at a Communist anti-American rally in downtown Imperial Plaza, were kicked and stoned. Only a few hours earlier, authorities had expelled the Communists from the Plaza to permit Americans to hold Memorial Day services for their war dead, including those who fell in the Pacific conflict against Japan.

MacArthur in a May 2 speech urged the Japanese to defend their new constitutional liberties against the "international political perfidy" of Communism. He suggested the possibility of outlawing Japan's Communist party.

The Communist party howled that the Plaza incidents were caused "by systematic and organized provocations by spies" and thundered:

"Workers and students—rise up and start a general strike . . . demanding immediate release of the eight patriots."

It timed the reprisal strike to coincide with general strikes Saturday in the automobile, metal and heavy industry. The party's purpose in the latter is to influence the elections Sunday for the upper house of Parliament.

There was no way of telling how effective the Communists could make their general strike. Occupation officials estimate the Reds control 600,000 of Japan's 6,250,000 organized workers.

Leftist Japanese college student leaders also called a nationwide strike for Saturday. About 20,000 students from 50 Universities are expected to join the protest.

Police all over Japan have been alerted for new outbreaks of Red violence.

The English language Nippon times editorialized: "If the Reds are asking for trouble they will get it."

Occupation headquarters has grim: "The Communists had better behave," one official growled.

The occupation struck back swiftly after the Plaza incident. Before the Communists had finished their parading and virulent speechmaking white-helmeted American military police moved in swinging nightsticks and arrested six Japanese. These were identified from news pictures taken at the Plaza brawl.

Two others were arrested later when a mob marched to police headquarters and demanded their release.

Truck Wrecked, Driver Arrested

A driving drunk charge has been filed against a Negro man as the result of an accident which took place Wednesday afternoon about 1:30.

The accident occurred about 3 1/2 miles south of Greenville on N. C. 43.

A pick-up truck operated by Hayward Wilson of Route 2, Greenville ran into a ditch on the side of the highway, damaging the left side.

Cpl. John Laws investigating patrolman arrested the man on a driving drunk charge following investigation of the accident.

The truck was owned by George Clapp of Greenville.

Walter C. Wakeman (black arrow) of Washington is hauled ashore with a rope by policemen who rescued him and three other from flash flood waters of the Potomac river. On the rock in midstream stands one of Wakeman's companions, waiting his turn to be pulled through the water current. Two others have already been brought to land. The men waded out to the rock to fish. The water suddenly rose eight feet and trapped them. They were stranded on the rock nearly four hours. (AP Wirephoto.)

Johnson Urges Draft Power For Emergency Use

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson pleaded with Congress today to give President Truman power to draft men into the armed services in time of emergency.

He won partial support from Senator Knowland (R-Calif) who said he is changing his views because of what he called the possibility of an atomic attack on the United States.

Johnson asked the senate armed services committee for a three year extension of the draft act without a house-approved section leaving up to Congress alone when any inductions could take place.

"If trouble comes, there should be in the Commander-in-Chief the power to act immediately without waiting to reassemble Congress," Johnson said in expanding on a prepared statement he had read to the committee.

Alleged 'Hot Rod Happy' Acquitted

A civil court defendant this week was described as a "Hot Rod Happy" by plaintiff's attorney J. W. H. Roberts, but the jury didn't seem to think so as it voted against the plaintiff's claims of the defendant.

The "Hot Rod Happy" in this case was a Lonsburg motorist who, it was claimed by the plaintiff, Miss Evelyn Hart of Greenville, had run into her car, causing injuries to herself and damage to the car in 1948.

Roberts described the defendant, Braxton Gay, as a "hot rod" specialist, much like the character in the comic strip "Smilin' Jack" who is currently being tried for manslaughter. Gay was charged with crashing into Miss Hart's car on the Raleigh road between Wilson and Zebulon as he pulled out of a service station on his way west.

Damages in the amount of $3,500 were requested. The jury voted no damages were sustained as alleged in the trial and one dollar to be paid the defendant. The one dollar was waived.

The case finished out the second week of civil court for the May term marking the end of Superior Court until August unless a special criminal term is called in July.

Other judgments rendered were: Savannah Sugar Refining Corporation and Mengel Box Company, Incorporated vs. Tip Bottling Company, order; to be heard before Superior Court in Snow Hill.

Sidney Mills vs. O. S. Green et als; action dismissed.

James H. Edwards vs. Mamie Ruth Mills, Bertha Edwards vs. Mamie Ruth Mills, administratrix of Elijah Mills, W. L. Hudson and James H. Edwards; court appointed commissioners of court E. S. Peel, Charles H. Manning and R. L. Coburn to take amount of money specified and pay to heirs of late James E. Green.

Party Line Rift In Reaction To Acheson Session

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson's question and answer with Congress pleased Democrats but left Republicans cold today.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, told reporters he thinks Acheson's appearance helped cement friendly relations between the State Department and Congress.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said, on the contrary, he doesn't think that yesterday's unusual meeting in the library of Congress auditorium "changed anything, one way or the other."

Rep. Arends (R-Ill) said Achesonson left a lot of questions unanswered.

Acheson's real test of his relations with the legislators will come with an appearance before the senate Foreign Relations and Armed services committees tomorrow on the foreign arms program, Wherry said.

Propose Parking Building Project

Durham, N. C. June 1—(AP)—The Durham city council today received a proposal to erect an off-street parking building to cost "not less than $500,000" and to be located in the heart of the downtown business section.

The proposal was made by city councilman Watts Carr, Jr., in connection with a study now being made by the council of the serious parking problem here. The plan was referred to a special joint committee of the city council and the Durham Merchants Association.

Girl Arrested On Charge Of Extortion Note

Charlotte, N. C., June 1—(AP)—A 15-year-old Asheville girl is under arrest today on a charge of sending an extortion letter to Scott Dillingham, also of Asheville. Dillingham was an unsuccessful candidate for office in Saturday's primary. She demanded $2,000 under threat of death, the federal bureau of investigation said in Charlotte.

Special agent in charge Charles Brown said he met her at a designated spot yesterday, handed her a package and then agents followed her to the Flat Iron building in Asheville. There she was arrested and, Brown said, she admitted full responsibility.

The girl was not publicly identified since publication of a juvenile's name is contrary to FBI policy.

Accused Courier For Spy Ring To Plead Guilty

Philadelphia, June 1—(AP)—A federal judge will appoint counsel, perhaps today, for Harry Gold, who said yesterday he will plead guilty to being a courier in Soviet Russia's atom spy network.

But the small, chubby research chemist, 39 years old, asked the judge to find an attorney who would back him in denying that he is guilty of intending to harm the United States. Gold said he wants a lawyer who will let him cooperate with the FBI.

Looking worried and with his head held low, Gold was brought yesterday under heavy guard to the chambers of U. S. district judge James E. McGranery. It was McGranery who placed Gold under $100,000 bond on May 23, when FBI agents arrested him as the link between the convicted British atomic spy, Klaus Fuchs, and Soviet operatives.

'Red Network' Is Declared Seen In Amerasia Probe

Washington, June 1—(AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif) said today that a "Red network" ran from the Communist party to the magazine Amerasia and on into the State Department.

Knowland made the statement in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate. He expressed his views as new charges and counter-charges highlighted the Senate inquiry into the Amerasia case of 1945.

The development included a flat denial by James M. McInerney, Chief of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, of an assertion by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that documents the government recovered from Amerasia headquarters five years ago included one which showed the wartime location of American fleet units.

More than 500,000 new consumers were connected with power lines financed by the Rural Electrification Administration in 1949.

Quiet Month For Fire Department

The Greenville Fire Department experienced a rather quiet month in May according to the regular monthly report issued by Fire Chief George Gardner today.

Only two box alarms were turned in during the month of May, the report shows. One alarm was to the College View Cleaners and Laundry and the other being to the Colony Theater. There was no damage at the College View Cleaners, and slight damage was reported to the attic of the Colony, but an exact estimate was not available.

In addition to the two box alarms the department answered seven telephone calls. The telephone calls included burning off lots, calls to faulty stoves, and automobile fires.

For the first time since it was purchased, the Fire Department's rescue truck was not called out a single time during the month. The truck has rendered service in answering calls to wrecks, drawings and other emergencies in the county over the past year, Chief Gardner stated. "This is the first month which I can remember that the truck did not go out," he said.

No Cutlery

Robbers recently broke into the main building at Camp Hardee, Greenville Girl Scouts, summer camp, on Pamlico River, below Chocowinity, and stole all of the cutlery. There was no clue as to the identity of the robber.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, commissioner of Greenville Girl Scouts, Incorporated, said the camp needs knives, forks and spoons before the camp can open on Sunday, June 12. Public spirited citizens willing to donate cash or cutlery may communicate with Mrs. Proctor, commissioner, or Mrs. E. L. Henderson, executive secretary, second floor, City Hall, Greenville.
