Messick Speaks To PTA Session Monday Evening

Group Meetings, Speeches And Discussions Throughout Day Planned

With approximately 400 delegates in attendance, the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers held the first general session of their 23rd Annual Summer Institute in the Austin building at East Carolina Teachers College last night.

Russell M. Grumman, state PTA president, presided. President John D. Messick of East Carolina made the principal address of the evening on the subject "The Child Today—The Citizen Tomorrow."

Addressing his audience of representatives from all sections of the state, Dr. Messick emphasized the challenge which must be met by all interested in the education of children as future citizens. Describing the hopes of peace which followed both World Wars during this century, Dr. Messick told how, after the sacrifices made in the great conflicts, the world is still beset with the gravest problems. "Force," he stated, "is everywhere rampant, and we live, he maintained, in the midst of both national and international dissension."

"We have a great heritage," he said. "But," he continued, "we can lose that heritage." We shall continue to be condemned before a great portion of the world, declared the East Carolina president, "unless capital and labor become compatible, race privileges are equalized, church bigotry is eliminated, sectionalism is forgotten, and national smugness gives way to international concern and sane aggressive helpfulness."

Appealing for an improved educational program, to be realized through coordinated effort of all agencies interested in the training of children, he said that "we must realize that history proves that neither pious resolutions, pacts and treaties, nor legislation can assure peace. There must, he said, be a broad educational program which must be concerned with the education of the heart as well as the head and hand."

If the world is to realize its hopes of peace, he maintained, we must "work as never before to build up in our children a philosophy of life that recognizes and practices the laws of God, the laws of the country, and the international code of ethics which would exemplify the tenets of the Golden Rule in all associations."

Mrs. Marguerite Scheid of Chicago, field consultant for the National Congress of the PTA, was introduced to the audience during the session. Dan E. Vornholt, tenor, of the East Carolina faculty, gave a program of songs, with Robert Carter of the college as accompanist.

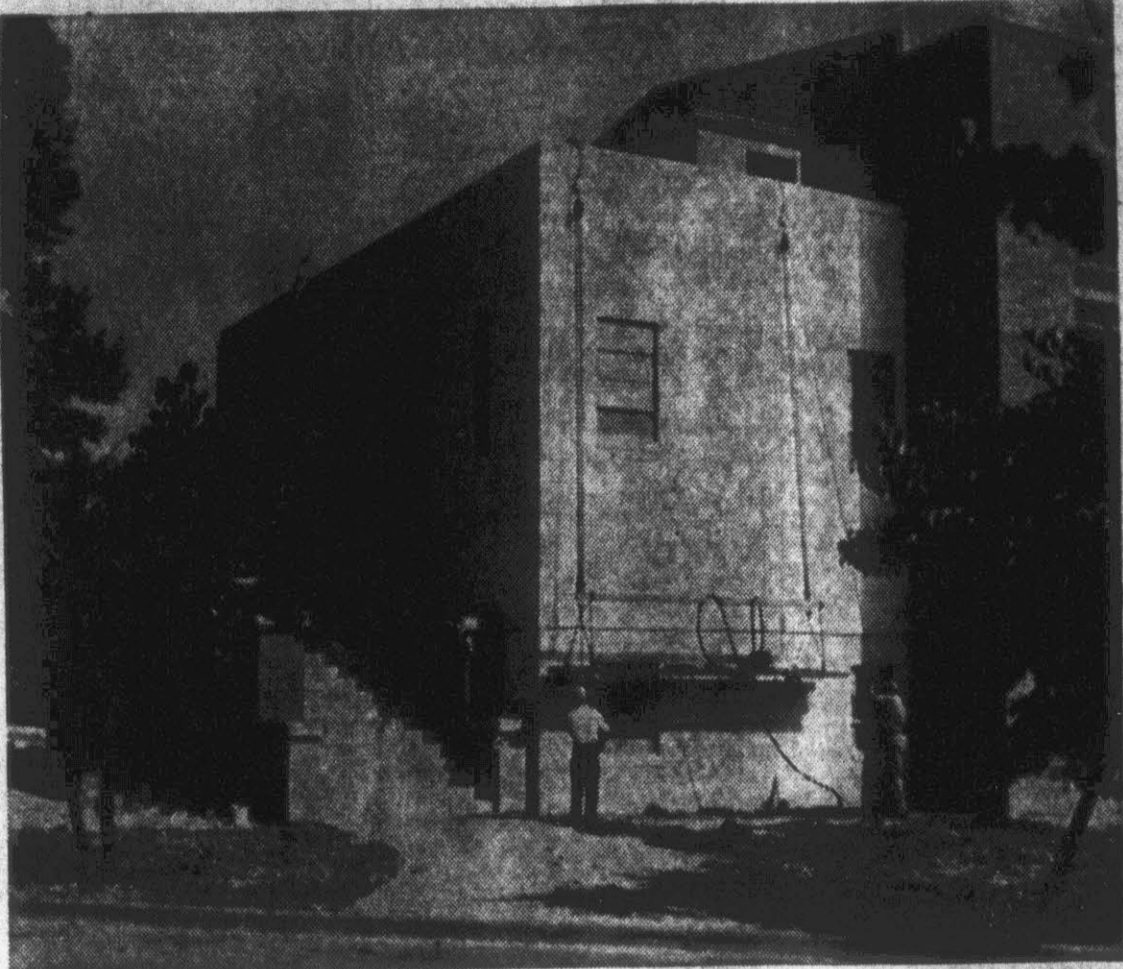

Delegates were entertained at an informal reception after last night's general session and enjoyed the hospitality of President and Mrs. Messick, who received them in their home on East Fifth Street. Sponsors of the social hour were the Greenville and the Pitt County organizations of the PTA.

Today's meetings began with a general session at 8:30 this morning, with President Grumman presiding; and included a series of group meetings, a conference on family life education, a demonstration of a hearing test, and a series of conferences among county and local unit presidents and district directors. This evening delegates from ten districts will hold meetings at various places on the campus.

Mrs. Marguerite Scheid of Chicago, Genevieve Burton spoke this morning at a conference of delegates on the topic "Local, State, and National Relationships." Mrs. Scheid praised the North Carolina Congress, which with a membership of

Six Nations Open Historic Talks On Schuman Plan

Britain Remains On Sidelines; Said Weighing Advantages Of Joining

Paris, June 20—(AP)—Six Western European nations opened a historic conference today aimed at pooling their coal and steel production. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, father of the plan, told the delegates the ultimate aim was to abolish war on the continent of Europe.

Britain remained on the sidelines, although she will be kept informed of what goes on in the elaborate salon de l'horloge (clock room) of the French Foreign Ministry. There was some talk that the British were coming around to the view that the advantages of joining the plan might outweigh the disadvantages. Schuman said he hoped Britain eventually would join.

Schuman told delegates of France, Western Germany, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg that there would be great political benefits in a plan which stems from a French-German understanding.

"It is our desire to associate in a common and permanent work of peace two nations which for centuries have fought one another in bloody conflicts," the French foreign minister said.

By welding Germany and France together in this common effort, Schuman said the nations would provide the certainty thus to banish from our European community a latent cause of trouble, suspicion and enmity. On this basis, then, the nations could erect "a solid European edifice accessible to all nations of good will."

The French minister reminded the delegates that their governments would have agreed in an unprecedented objective—to decide on the best manner of applying the principle of a supranational authority over the coal-steel plan. This authority would mean the surrender of some sovereignty by the nations.

"We feel we are not permitted to falter or to quit without finishing the job," he added. "No one has ever tried such a step as we have outlined. Never have the states conferred nor even thought of delegating sovereignty to an independent supranational organization."

The French minister said modern times and modern conditions require a delegation of power by the European nations to a higher authority whose decisions would be binding.

"Without losing sight of the special interests of our countries, we must be aware that national interest in our day consists exactly in finding beyond national limits the means of building a more rational economic structure, a more intense and more economic production and a greater and more accessible market," Schuman said.

"We want to substitute an intelligent cooperation for the old practices of dumping and discrimination—that is essential. But what is not less important, and what from its origin was written into the margin of the plan, is our desire to associate in a common and permanent work of peace two nations (Germany and France) which for centuries have fought one another in bloody conflicts."

Hottest Day

Brother, it WAS hot yesterday. Hottest day of the year. Mrs. Carl Malden, local weather seer, reported this afternoon the temperature hit 99 degrees between 2:30 and 3 p. m.

Today's high 96 reading was at 1 p. m. hitting 96 degrees just before the heavy rain of mid-afternoon. Last night's lowest temperature was 71 degrees.

Malden reported there was just a trace of rain during the night—not enough to measure.

Acheson Backs Up State Department

Has No Worries About His Associates, Secretary Of State Aserts In Talk To Governors; Discusses Asiatic Policies

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 20—(A.)—Secretary of State Acheson told the nation's governors today that the State Department is "a good, clean loyal outfit."

Answering questions put to him by governors at a round table discussion, the Secretary answered without mentioning the source—charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the Department is infested with Communists.

Contrary to this, Acheson said that he has "no worries about my associates."

Describing what he said had been the Department's quiet efforts to weed out possible subversives he said might have found their way on to the rolls when the Department took over war time agencies, the cabinet member said:

"They just have to take my own security for granted."

"We are satisfied, so far as anybody can be satisfied in this uncertain world, that we have a good, clean loyal department."

Acheson launched his defense of his coworkers after he had urged the governors in an opening statement to help recruit "apostles of democracy" to send to backward nations to help them improve their way of life.

He said that President Truman's "Point Four" program for assistance of such nations is a "isolationist" attack in Congress.

Discussing the Far East in particular, Acheson said that Asia does not want a Marshall Plan of economic aid such as that which this country is offering in Europe.

The countries of Asia are so different in makeup that such a plan would not work, he said. Instead, he said help must be given to them individually to work out their own problems.

Lawmakers Okay FBI Expansion

Washington, June 20—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover's campaign for 300 additional FBI agents to hunt down Communist spies appeared today to be tabled for success.

The house appropriations committee and a senate appropriations subcommittee were reported to have agreed to approve the FBI director's request.

The senate subcommittee's recommendation is expected to be accepted in turn by the full appropriations group and the senate.

Hoover told Senators two months ago in a secret session that there are 54,000 known Communists and some 500,000 Red sympathizers in the United States who form a potential fifth column of traitors.

Hoover's testimony, released on June 8 left a deep impression on lawmakers. One senator, who asked that his name be withheld, said both the house and senate groups felt Hoover should get the full number of agents he requested plus about 400 additional other employees to help carry the federal bureau of investigation's heavy work load.

This would give Hoover the largest force of undercover agents the federal bureau of investigation ever had and allow for greatly increased activity in seeking out subversives and foreign spies.

Maine Woman Is Winner In Demo House Primary

Portland, Me., June 20—(AP)—To her own pleasant surprise Miss Lucia Cormier is a Democratic congressional nominee today.

The Democratic National committeewoman, who is 38, beat Dr. Adrian H. Scollen of Portland in the third district. Her margin was better than two to one.

A ewcomer to politics, she said happily:

"Five years ago if anyone had told me I would ever run for congress I'd have quickly told them they were crazy x x x."

Dr. Scollen commented that "perhaps Miss Cormier is the second Margaret Chase Smith she aspires to be and perhaps Maine does prefer women as their representatives in Washington x x x."

McCloy Confirms Allies Plan To Defend Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, June 20—(AP)—High Commissioner John J. McCloy confirmed today that the Western Allies had made plans for demolitions in event of a Soviet invasion, but he ridiculed Communist claims that the Allies planned to dam the Rhine or flood great areas.

The high commissioner's office issued a statement heaping scorn on the Communist report the Allies were preparing to blow Lorelei mountain into the Rhine, closing the river to navigation and flooding huge areas.

The Communists have been making propaganda capital of the report that the Allies are mining key roads and bridges in West Germany and other parts of western Europe to forestall a possible attack from the east. A German magazine published pictures of a Sunday of a highway winding around famed Lorelei in the French zone. The pictures showed holes being drilled in the road and covered with concrete caps.

The high commissioner said that while he doubt there were certain demolition plans in connection with defense of West Germany, he could assure all that the Communist reports about damming the Rhine and causing floods were sheer nonsense.

Wrong Name On Graham Listing; Man Protests

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, spokesman for the Graham organization in Pitt county, said the name of Marvin McLawhorn on the Graham committee of the county appeared in Saturday's Reflector through error.

Mrs. Spilman said the name should have been Martin McLawhorn, but the error was made in taking the names over the telephone from manager Jeff Johnson at the Graham headquarters in Raleigh.

In a note to the Reflector received late yesterday, Marvin McLawhorn of the Chocod community stated: "My name appeared in Saturday's paper as a Graham supporter. Please print this retraction. I am not and have never been a supporter of his, and have not authorized anyone to use my name as such. In fact no one has asked my permission to use my name. I am 100 per cent with Willis Smith."

Other names which today were added to the Graham committee of the county from the Belvoir section are W. R. Tyson, W. C. Cobb, and Dempsey Parker.

Red Oak News

Circle No. 1 of Red Oak met Sunday night at the home of Mrs. Fred Worthington, Sr., with 21 members and one visitor present. Several matters of business were discussed after a devotional conducted by Mr. H. H. May. A committee composed of Mesdames James Allen, Leon Tyson, Ola Kittrell, Heber Allen of Circle 1, and Mesdames Bill Jenkins, Leroy James and Bill Deal of Circle 2 was appointed to see about carpeting the church. They will meet in Greenville Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Plans for the Daily Vacation Bible school were outlined and hostesses for each day volunteered to serve refreshments to the children. It was noted that Red Oak had been invited to have some special music at the union meeting to be held in LaGrange on Wednesday afternoon, July 24. A gift of $10 was sent to be used to help furnish a room in the new dormitory at A. C. College. The circle voted to contribute $6 on the heater for the community building. Sixty dollars was added to the treasury as a result of an indoor "lawn party" held at the club house recently. One hundred dollars from the treasury was earmarked for new carpet for the church. Mr. and Mrs. Ola Kittrell will be hosts to the circle in July. Mrs. Ethel Crawford will entertain the minister in July. One of our members, Mrs. James Allen, is going to represent the church at Catawba College at Salisbury during conference week. The hostess assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Deal served a salad plate with nuts and a drink. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Aldridge of Hamlet, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aldridge and children of Wilson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Allen Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaney Sumrell of Ayden visited Mr. and Mrs. Doc Smith Sunday.

Master Tommie Jordan of Greenville, was a week-end guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Allen.

Rev. Harold Tyer of Bath was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Paige Sunday. They will have as their guest this week Mrs. Page's mother and his niece, little Miss Ella Frances Hart of Greenville.

Mrs. J. R. Miller and daughter, Grace, and Miss Ernestine Shackelford of Farmville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson last Wednesday night.

Friends of Robert Allen will be glad to know that he has recovered from a recent illness.

Mr. Robert Franckle of Minneapolis and Fort Bragg and Miss Annie Maes of Raleigh were week-end guests of Miss May's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. May of Winterville.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mansfield and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Corey and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bright, Jr., of Richmond were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bright last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William May and daughter, and Mrs. Billy May were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. May last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. King-Mays of Falkland and Mrs. Fred Worthington, Sr., of Winterville left Monday for a trip to Asheville.

Rotarians Study Service Goals In Detroit Session

Detroit, June 20—(P)—Rotary International's 6,500 convention delegates today dug into tasks aimed at the purpose for which the organization was founded 45 years ago—service.

They broke up into small work-shop groups. Some concentrated on service to the community, some on service to youth and some on other phases.

The only featured speech on today's program was one by W. Walter Williams of Seattle, Wash., chairman of the committee for economic development.

The election of incoming Rotary president Arthur Lagueux of Quebec Canada, was formalized yesterday. Richard Vernon of Chicago was re-elected treasurer.

Asked whether he still maintained his innocence, Slack replied "I'm not saying anything at this time. It will all come out in the wash."

After his arrest, Slack had said he was innocent of the charge against him.

FBI agents said Slack had admitted giving samples of a secret U. S. high explosive, RDX to Harry Gold for transmission to Russia.

Hunt 15 Aboard Missing Airplane

Miami, Fla., June 20—(AP)—An expanding search was under way today for 15 Americans missing since June 9 when their DC-3 twin-engine plane disappeared as it neared the coast of Venezuela.

Coast Guard Air-Sea rescue headquarters here launched a communications search and requested the attaché in the U. S. Embassy in Caracas to do everything possible in Venezuela.

The plane left Miami June 9, refueled at Kingston, Jamaica, and reported it was 26 miles from Maracaibo, Venezuela, about 7 p. m. (EST) the same day. That was the last heard from the craft, owned by the New Tribes Mission of Chico, Calif.

Mrs. Donna Wetherald, wife of the plane's missionary-pilot Capt. Ben Wetherald, said the U. S. State department would ask the Venezuelan government to launch an air-ground search in the vicinity of Maracaibo. The New Tribes Mission is an interdenominational organization which trains missionaries for out-of-the-way posts.

Three missionaries, their five children and members of the missionary staff were aboard the plane in addition to its crew of three.

Gov't Official Assails T-H Law

New York, June 20—(AP)—AFL textile workers, meeting in convention here, heard the Taft-Hartley Act denounced yesterday by a high government labor official.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Ralph Wright called the law "anti-labor and union-busting," and he predicted its ultimate repeal.

"I am sure that the Taft-Hartley law will be repealed," he said. "I would not want to pose as a seer, far from it—it is only that I am an American and I have seen what I have seen."

Wright spoke before 400 delegates to the 15th biennial convention of the United Textile Workers of America.

"The Taft-Hartley law is slanted against labor throughout," he said. "It was carefully planned that way by the National Association of Manufacturers. The Taft-Hartley law was conceived in hatred against labor and born in prejudice against labor."

"When a law is so foul that even its co-sponsor publicly admits it has dozens and dozens of bad provisions, then the whole evil thing must be erased," Wright said.

Red-Sponsored Appeal To Ban A-Bomb Launched

New York, June 20—(AP)—A Communist-sponsored petition to outlaw the atomic bomb has been launched in the United States with a goal of 5,000,000 signatures by mid-September.

Known as the Stockholm Petition it calls for outlawing the bomb, creating "strict international control," and branding as war criminals the first national leaders to use the bomb in war.

It takes its name from the Communist-led meeting of the world peace partisans congress in Stockholm, Sweden, which started the appeal last March.

Since then it has been circulated widely in the Soviet satellite countries and western Europe. Yesterday it was unanimously adopted by the Supreme Soviet (parliament) in Moscow.

Reject Request For Pay Increase

Asheville, N. C., June 20—(AP)—City Manager J. Weldon Weir has turned down a request for a $30 a month pay increase for Asheville's policemen and firemen.

Weir said the increase would be impossible without a boost in taxes, and he also expressed the view that the law officers and firefighters should not get any increase unless other city employees do also. And a general pay hike now is out of the question, he told a delegation from the police and fire department yesterday.

Scott To Attend Truman Luncheon

Raleigh, N. C., June 20—(AP)—Governor Scott is planning to attend a luncheon President Truman is giving Thursday for Democratic Governors, it was learned here today.

Scott is at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., attending a meeting of the National Governors' conference which will last through Wednesday.

If he attends the luncheon, he will go to Washington from White Sulphur Springs and return to North Carolina Friday.

Tons of bricks from a three-story wall showered into this Chicago parking lot Saturday crushing seven cars and damaging four others. Army Sgt. Ike Thornton of Athens, Ga., had just driven his new 1950 car three miles from the salesroom to the lot when the wall fell. Fire department officials attributed the wall's collapse to a 23-degree drop in temperature in 35 minutes. Damage was estimated at $16,000. No one was injured. (AP Wirephoto).

Not always, because sometimes a grand jury can get more information out of more people than the FBI.

If the FBI asked you questions, you could refuse to answer. Nobody could put you in jail for contempt of the FBI. And even if you did answer but lied, you couldn't be jailed for lying to the FBI.

It's different with a grand jury, special or otherwise. When you're called before a grand jury, you're put under oath that what you say is the truth.

If you lie, and are found out, the jury can charge you with perjury. Then you have to go to trial. If convicted, you're jailed.

answer, just as you refused to answer the jury's questions? Yes and no.

If you simply say "I refuse to answer," you can be cited for contempt and jailed. The only time you can refuse to answer is when your answer might land you in jail.

The constitution says "no person in any criminal case shall be compelled to be a witness against himself."

On those grounds alone—that your answer might incriminate you—you can refuse to answer a grand jury's questions.

Which means: Great as a grand jury's powers are, it can't force a man to testify against himself.

Second Reported Putting In Crop

Moye Boyd, tenant on the farm of E. B. Thomas of the Galloway Crossroads section of the county, today began putting in tobacco.

The first reports of tobacco being housed in Pitt County came yesterday from the Bell Arthur section.

E. B. Thomas, owner of the farm on which Boyd is raising tobacco, said the field which is being harvested today is planted with Oxford one variety tobacco. The crop was planted on May 1, and is being harvested at least 30 days earlier than priming was begun on the farm last year.

slung to reprint on circulars what a Negro newspaper had to say about Dr. Graham. Yet when the newspaper itself actually devoted its front page to the support of Dr. Graham's candidacy, the Graham camp did not utter one word of disfavor.

It seems to us the issues at stake in this campaign should be thrashed out thoroughly. The Graham people have refused to do so, but insist that every unfavorable comment about Graham, no matter how true it may be, is uttered by a Republican puppet who is striving to bring about racial violence in North Carolina. They would include in that category the 250,000 people who voted for Smith.

You know and we know that nothing is farther from the truth.

Candidate Smith represents the farmers, the laborers, the housewives and the small and large businessmen who think North Carolina needs a senator who will look after the interests of the people of the state rather than spending his time stamping a "me too" on the desires of the state and national Democratic party big wigs. North Carolina needs a man in the senate who will watch the purse strings of the national treasury and will see that government waste is curbed and the government is put on a sound business basis. We need a man who will have a stabilizing influence in the halls of congress to keep our federal government from continuing its headlong flight down the road which may shortly bring us to the throes of economic chaos which England is now experiencing.

The man whose ideas and principles as well as past record point to this kind of thinking is Candidate Willis Smith.

News Behind The News
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 20—Both public and private developments now disclose that Secretary Dean Acheson's recent mission to London was not so successful in strengthening our "cold war" forces as he has reported to President Truman, to the American Congress and to the people.

His polished phrases and legal analyses cannot conceal that it was actually a failure, in the opinion of Capitol Hill.

The Secretary of State maintains publicly and privately, that he achieved his goal of persuading Western Europe to forget ancient differences, and organize its social, political and military resources so that, together with our reinforcement, the "free world" could present such a formidable front that Russia would never dare attack.

CONFIDENCE—Relying on these Achesonian assurances, in a speech written by State Department experts, President Truman journeyed to the Middle West to express a new confidence in the western powers' ability to combat Russia without resort to arms.

National Defense Secretary Louis Johnson chimed in obligingly by instructing his military aides—Generals Bradley, Collins and Vandenberg—to talk vaguely of "new weapons," which would obviate the need of mass armies, meaning millions of American boys.

ALLIES—The purpose of these revelations was to assure our European allies that we could stop the Russians at the Elbe or Rhine Rivers, so that they would not be conquered overnight and forced to await—again—five years before "liberation."

They warned Mr. Acheson, as well as his diplomatic and military aides, that they had no stomach for that kind of American aid or relief.

That is the story of the overseas drama as it has been told by President Truman and Secretary Acheson. It contrasts violently with what is actually happening across the water.

REJECTED—The British Labor Party, in a formal proclamation, has rejected French Foreign Minister Schuman's plan for merging the steel-and-coal resources of France, Germany and other Marshall Plan countries.

Besides ending the economic rivalries which have precipitated three wars, two of which involved almost the whole world, the scheme is designed to strengthen Western Europe against Russia.

Mr. Acheson characterizes it as a "hopeful and imaginative move." But Britain will not join because the pooling may mean more severe competition for her products, and because this private enterprise project would endanger the success of her socialistic system.

For the same reason London does not favor the so-called European Payments Union which would try to break down the tariff and monetary barriers that choke intra-European trade, and force Europeans to depend upon Marshall Plan billions for bare recovery.

VALUELESS—Both of these plans were eulogized by Secretary Acheson in his three reports. Without Britain's participation, they are valueless.

Oddly, even in his Dallas speech, which was delivered on the day the Labor Party spurned the Schuman proposal, Mr. Acheson failed to mention the British rejection.

It was as if a lawyer demanded acquittal of a murder defendant in court, even after he learned of new evidence that showed him to be guilty.

Prime Minister Attlee has said that England will "cooperate" in any attempt at "European integration." But he spoke only after angry outbreaks about Britain's attitude on Capitol Hill, and he did not elaborate.

DANGER—Mr. Acheson reports that the twelve North Atlantic Pact nations have agreed to organize a system of "balanced collective security." To prevent duplications, he says, each member will contribute the arms and forces it is best equipped to provide. The Western European countries, he says, will furnish men in the early stages at least.

Now Paris informs us that she does not want to supply even twenty or thirty divisions, the minimum needed for a defensive ground force. The same is true of England, Holland and Belgium.

They cannot afford to maintain large armies and, even if they could, the people are so set against another "bath of blood" that they want to pull out of the "cold war," leaving support of the anti-Russian cause to the United States.

That is the spirit now sweeping Western Europe because of the fears of actual conflict engendered by recent jingoistic statements at Washington and Moscow.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

The other day I was in the Reflector office and commented, "I think I'll write a column about Hadaacol." (In case you've been asleep for the past six months, Hadaacol is a patent medicine that's good for what ails you.)

John Spinks, Reflector newsman, said, "You can tell the story about the 98-year-old woman who was about to die from liver trouble. Hadaacol made her well again; in fact, when she died some years later, they had to beat her liver to death so it could be buried with her."

There's no end to the jokes, some unprintable, that have been told about the magic effects of Hadaacol. The jokes have served as the greatest means of advertisement known to man. Seriously, Hadaacol is liquid vitamins, and vitamins are good for what ails you.

Dudley J. LeBlanc, 86-year-old State Senator from Lafayette, La., is the man who's cashing in on the success of Hadaacol. LeBlanc had a bad case of rheumatism, and when doctors gave him vitamin B-complex, he was impressed. He read up on the subject of vitamins at home, and decided that there was money to be made, and health to be gained, in vitamins. Finally, he got a barrel and a batch of supplies and stirred up a mixture with a paddle. LeBlanc took the first 14 bottles himself and says, "I was first-rate."

Then came the advertising program, which included such items as a song called "Hadaacol Boogie," and a specially written hill-billy song. Each bottle of Hadaacol includes a form to be filled out by customers who care to. It provides a space for comments, and another space for the mention of friends who might be interested in Hadaacol.

Customers have used the space provided. An 80-year-old man from Mississippi wrote in: "I was disabled to get over a fence, disabled to get up out of chair without help, but after I took eight bottles of Hadaacol I can tie up my own shoes and feel like I can jump over a six-foot fence, and I'm getting very sassy."

A 66-year-old "bachelor" in Georgia wrote in: "Hadaacol has done so much for me and I am looking so much better, I think I will put a fence around my house to keep the ladies out."

When the sale of Hadaacol really picked up it created a shortage. This brought about black market selling. A $1.25 bottle brought at least $2. Last month about two million bottles were sold, and LeBlanc is now turning out over 100,000 a day. He expects the sale of Hadaacol to run over $20 million this year.

LeBlanc describes Hadaacol as a "Dietary Supplement... formulated as an Aid to Nature in rebuilding the Pep, Strength and Energy of Buoyant Health when the System is deficient in the Vitamins and Minerals found in this Tonic."

Then, too, they say Hadaacol has almost one ounce of ethyl alcohol in each bottle (about as much as comes in a double martini), which gives the customer a cozy feeling.

And I thank you.

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C.

BUDGET—It is budget time for counties and municipalities in North Carolina. Fiscal year for most of these local government units begins on July 1. The state operates on a biennial budget, the general assembly levying taxes and making appropriations for two years at a time. Local government is on an annual basis, and the month of June and July are devoted largely to adopting a budget for the ensuing year. It is a bigger job this time than ever, and many county and town commissioners are wondering why they ever thought they would like to have the offices they hold.

INCREASE—Budgets will be bigger this year, too. More money is required to keep government going. This is due to several factors, two of which are dominant. Rising costs require more dollars to continue existing services. More important is the ever increasing demand for expanded government services. The people have been encouraged to expect more service from government, and from national down to village level the tax-levying, tax-spending authorities are caught between demands for larger service and protest at high taxes. Past legislatures have been faced with the same problem and the upcoming 1951 general assembly will face aggravated problems due to this cross fire of demands at state level. Within a few weeks the advisory budget commission will visit state institutions for on-the-ground inspection and later will hear heads of departments, institutions and agencies present their needs. Out of the information obtained the commission will prepare finance and appropriations bills for the legislature. Right now the counties and municipalities are going through the state process. In some respects the local job is more difficult, because limitations are stricter. The towns and cities are especially hamstrung by restrictions imposed through legislative act and county valuation placed upon property.

CLOSER—Municipal government is closest to the people. When taxes are high or service poor, the town officers are first to hear complaints, whether or not the complaint is properly in their field. If some merchant is violating state law, or a public street needs repair, or person with contagious disease violates quarantine, or a bootlegger gets too active—the law-abiding citizens call the town hall. That's so much easier than calling the appropriate state office, even if the citizen knew where to call. In addition to these services toward enforcing state law, the municipalities have numerous local ordinances about garbage disposal, parking regulations and other items enforcement of which must be financed by local taxes. Furthermore, under prevailing policy—which may be changed by the next legislature—the towns and cities must maintain most of the street mileage out of locally imposed ad valorem taxes, although the citizens pay the same gasoline tax for roads that rural people pay.

LIMITATIONS—Faced on one side with these excess demands for service, the municipalities are blocked on the other side by state laws limiting the amount of taxes they may levy for many purposes, and by valuations placed upon real estate for ad valorem taxes by county commissioners. Combination of state and public demand requires the municipality to provide service; and at the same time the law says it cannot collect taxes to pay for these services. While the state and the counties are having some financial worries, the real headaches are among members of town and city governing boards. There is statutory limit upon the rate of tax for general fund purposes; and the county determines the value of the property upon which that levy can be made. The towns and cities are in the middle—except when it comes to demand for service; then they are trying to meet the demands without too much imposition on the pocket books of their citizens.

SOURCES—Limitations on ad valorem yields necessitates looking to other sources for municipal taxes. Change of Schedule B license taxes to gross sales basis; additional sewer and water tap fees; special legislation for extended use of parking meter receipts; and other devices are being studied. Municipalities which operate electric systems and those who get returns from ABC stores are not as hard-pressed as some others, but the problem is universal. The entire staff of the League of Municipalities is devoting most of its time to aiding local boards in balancing their budgets between insufficient money and increasing demands for service.

POTPOURRI—One of the Venus-type stenographers in a major state department suggested that during this hot weather she could do better work in a bathing suit. The boss objected. He said maybe she could turn out more work, but nobody else in the office would... When there's the fellow who wears a coat all the time when out of the office. He says he does it for comfort, on account of it feels so good to take his coat off and roll up his sleeves when he gets back to his desk... Capitol square dope is there will be a lot more challenging of voters Saturday than occurred in the first primary.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

THEME WITH NO VARIATIONS (New York Times) Still another Soviet composer has felt impelled to resort publicly to the crying towel. The secretary general of the Soviet Composers' Union, no less, has found himself guilty of insufficient musical enthusiasm for the contemporary socialist scene. He had mistakenly gone so far as actually to use the Russian historical past as material for an opera. For this horrendous lapse a female ex-sharpshooter went back to sharpshooting, with the wayward composer as her target. He was obliged ruefully to agree with her.

Personally, our sympathy goes out to the poor composer. After all, it must get a bit tiresome to use the same libretto every time, and Russia's historical past must have offered quite a temptation. Furthermore, Mussorgsky and Tchaikovsky got a few little musical ideas from his contemplation, and they were better than fair composers by any standards except the ones now current. But Khrennikov's short revolt against the theme with no variations had to come to a bad end. We can imagine his anguish under his awful conviction of sin before he finally threw himself on the mourners' bench.

Now, at least, the harassed artist has the satisfaction and peace of knowing that he is once more a faithful conformist. And of such is the Russians' artistic kingdom of heaven.

An increasing number of the country's department stores are expected to establish suburban branches as a consequence of three important factors. These are:

- 1. The remarkable continuance of the building boom (a new monthly high of 140,000 units were started in May) means more people living farther away from downtown stores.
2. The increasing congestion of downtown streets.
3. The fact that cold statistics show branches have been doing better than parent stores.

F. L. Foster, Jr., of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, recently reported to the National Retail Dry Goods Association on an analysis of department store operations in 1949. Although the data is preliminary in nature, he said, "There were clear indications that branches turned in a better sales performance than their parent stores."

Department store sales generally fell off a bit in 1949, while sales in branch stores actually rose. "It should be noted," Mr. Foster says, "that although main store sales of stores with branches fell off more than sales of stores without branches, the performance of the branches seems to have more than counteracted the difference. As a result, the overall sales performance of stores with branches was superior to that of stores operating without branches."

It's a safe bet that a lot of department store executives are pondering the professor's conclusions, studying their own performance figures and charting population trends in their own communities.

However, some department store organizations appear firm in their determination to remain "one big store." Such a store has advantages and deeper lines than a branch and it does not have to duplicate administrative staffs for each branch.

These one big stores are exceptions. Forty years ago the urban grocery business was dominated by the large downtown grocery stores, with vast and varied stocks and a leisurely atmosphere. Some survive, a few as charming relics of the past. But the grocery business is dominated by the chain and community stores. It may be that the same thing is beginning to happen in the department store field.

ACRYLIC PLASTIC SIGNS CHALLENGE NEONS
After 22 years of giving strawberry, persimmon, and squaw-rine hues to store fronts, neon lights now face a serious challenge from illuminated acrylic plastic signs. The world's largest maker of illuminated signs (Neon Products, Inc., of Lima, Ohio), has shifted 90 per cent of its production to acrylic plastic signs.

The signs, which are illuminated by slimline tubes enclosed in plexiglas, are claimed to have greater durability and complete weather protection, resulting in fewer breakdowns than in neon signs. More accurate reproductions of trade-marks are possible and the costs are claimed to be about half of comparable neon signs.

NEITHER CORDUROY NOR CHENILLE
"CORDUROY CHENILLE" is a double masoner, the National Better Business Bureau asserts in a bulletin. Fabrics so described are neither corduroy nor chenille.

Corduroy, says the NBBB, is a woven filling, cut-pile fabric with furrows in the direction of the warp, thus producing a ribbed or corded effect. Chenille (French for caterpillar) is a fabric made by weaving warp threads about soft filling threads which are afterwards cut. Both corduroy and chenille are produced by weaving but, says the NBBB, so-called corduroy chenille is made by attaching separately made tufting to the fabric.

NEW FUNGICIDE MAY BOOST CROP PRODUCTION
A new fungicide may bring about large increases in fruit and vegetable crops at very little cost. It may also become a fast-moving item for retailers.

The fungicide was discovered by chance. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Rutgers University were cooperating in a search for a new spore killer. A total of 406 chemicals were tested in vain. Then one of the researchers picked a bottle of a chemical of no known value in an adjoining laboratory and put it through the same process as the other 405 pounds. He sent a half-ounce to Rutgers and tests were surprisingly effective. It was called SR 406.

S (for Standard) R (for Rutgers) 406 has since been tested for a year and found effective against apple scab, peach brown rot, early tomato blight, late potato blight and leaf spot and brown rot of cherry. It will not be in commercial production until next year. California Spray Chemical Co., Los Angeles, has been licensed to manufacture it.

Hal Boyle's Column

New York—(AP)—Tips by the Poor Man's Philosopher to a young June bridegroom:

Well, my boy, if you hope for a quick success in marriage today you're going to have to make a sharp break with the past.

Don't try to be the king in your kitchenette. Man has tried through the ages to rule his roost by force—and ended up just a mouse around the house. This is because he has never been able to make his muscular match woman's indomitable will, her soft insistence on having her own way.

The thing to do is to confuse her, worry her into a position where she'll spend the rest of her life trying to make you happy. You must remember that you are going into marriage completely unprepared. But she has been warned by her mother: "He'll try to boss you, dear. So you put the beast in his place right at the start."

The best thing you can do is to do the unexpected. Crush her with loving kindness. Bring her flowers every day from work and greet her with a kiss.

Don't let her lift her finger around the house. You do all the chores. You wash the windows, scrub the bathroom floor, run the cleaner, gallop to the grocery store. Do as much of the cooking as you can. And, above all, insist on washing the dishes and drying them all by yourself.

No dishes for hands for my little dang," you can tell her. Naturally she'll be comparing you critically to her own father. She'll be lonesome for her mother, too. So don't bring your own noisy friends home. Invite her parents over for dinner at least five nights a week.

Then beat her old man with Martinis until he starts spilling ashes all over the rug and telling the same bragging stories your wife has heard since she was in kindergarten. When your mother-in-law comes into the kitchen and saffis that the place is a mess, just answer humbly: "I'm sorry. I do the very best I can, mother-in-law dear."

It won't take your wife long to decide that her old man had better do his drinking in his own home. And she isn't going to let any other woman—ever—her mother—boss you around. She'll get rid of them.

By now she knows she is practically useless, and she wails over her. And she is weary of your perpetual, cloying affection. "Don't you have a hobby like other men?" she demands.

"I used to like to go bowling or play poker," you say. "But you are my hobby now, my love. I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I went out without you."

You have her on the ropes now, and it is time for the clincher. Let her come into the living room a few times and discover you lying on the sofa, weeping silently. When she asks you what's the matter, just mumble bravely: "Oh, nothing, nothing. Just my silly old nerves, I guess."

That does it. She is completely frustrated. Before long she will be courting you—trying her best to please you. She will insist on doing all the housework herself. She will buy you pretty clothes. She will fork over money and force you to go out and spend evenings with the boys.

You'll be the boss in your marriage.

Washington Letter

By JANE BARNES
WASHINGTON—E. S. Boerner started fooling around with plants and flowers in his uncle's nursery in Cedarburg, Wis., when he was "knee-high to a grasshopper."

Now head of research and hybridizing for one of the world's largest rose growers at Newark, N.Y., he is known as the "grandfather of the floribunda" type of rose that grows well and blooms all summer long.

Many of the roses featured in a rose garden of more than 600 plants shown at flower shows recently in New York and Washington were developed by Mr. Boerner.

These included "Fashion," called one of the most outstanding roses of the last half century, "Fashion," which by the way is a "floribunda," won five top rose awards, both here and abroad. It's a rich, luminous coral overlaid with gold. Another Boerner "baby" is a brand new beautifully formed golden yellow Hybrid Tea rose named "Golden Scepter."

In the famous rose grower's laboratory at Newark, Mr. Boerner makes as many as 10,000 hybridizations each spring, but it takes about two years of testing, careful observation and growing under all conditions before a rose is produced that "is definitely different or a marked improvement on an existing variety, and has shown the ability to bloom, stand cold winters, resist disease, etc."

Every spring, Mr. Boerner, a witty, fun-loving, middle-aged bachelor, leaves his 40-acre farm near the Newark laboratories, and goes to look over rose gardens in Europe.

Beginning in the South of France, the Mediterranean at San Remo, he goes up through France, thence to Holland, Belgium, England, Ireland and Germany, where he says "they're again doing some very nice hybridizing."

On his travels he collects recipes of good things his European hosts give him to eat. But he describes himself as a "belly creak" and takes only the basic recipes, fixing them up to taste the way he himself likes them. At present he is occupied with dishes made from capon, which he raises on his farm.

Big handsome John Lemon, of Richmond, Ind., an equally successful grower in the greenhouse cut rose field, justly boasts of his firm's "Happiness Rose," which is a beautiful, vibrant red color and has a five-and-a-half foot stem. Having girl's respect for the American Beauty, I was embarrassed to learn that the precious bloom "went out with the Model T Ford!"

"There's the same difference between the American Beauty and the 'Happiness' and other recent cut roses, as there is between the Model T and the 1951 model automobile," Mr. Lemon says, adding that no American Beauties have been available since 1935, and few up until then, from 1918.

BETTER POLITICS
Have you ever stopped to ponder the statement that the people of a nation always get the government they deserve?

Well, if you have not, the statement is worth considering. William Penn declared that governments like clocks go from the motion men give them, "and as governments are made and moved by men, so by them they are ruined, too. Wherefore, governments rather depend upon men than men upon governments."

Let us be very sure that if there is anything the matter with our local, state, or national government, it is nobody's fault but the people's. We have the kind of government we choose in this country, and if we do not like the men who are running our affairs, just remember that they were chosen by a majority of the people who went to the polls. If a number of people played golf that day or went to the movies or were too busy in office, home, or mill to get to the polls, let them not protest now over what they consider a bad choice. If we let other people run the politics in our communities and states and then complain about the corruption or inefficiency of political machines, we are simply rendering ourselves ridiculous. Governments rather depend upon men than men upon governments.

We will have better politics in the United States when more and better people interest themselves in politics.

We Welcome The PTA Delegates Here

The Parent-Teachers Association of North Carolina is an organization which does a great deal for the schools of our state. It is an organization which has potentialities far beyond what has actually been done through its activities.

Greenville and Pitt county welcome the 400 delegates from all parts of North Carolina who have come here for their summer institute.

Their being here not only gives Greenville and Pitt county an opportunity to show off its fine East Carolina Teachers College to the important educational leaders from all parts of the state, but it affords Pitt county a small part in helping North Carolina to a better public school system.

The people of Greenville as well as the people of other parts of Pitt county long have been interested in the education of the youth of our own community and the youth of the state. To the 400 educational leaders who are attending the PTA session, the people of Greenville say this "Our Greenville, Yours If You Come."

If There's Mud, There's A Reason

Campaigns in previous years in North Carolina many times have veered away from the real issues which are at stake at the polls. In this year's senatorial campaign, however, charges and counter charges of mud-slinging have taken the place in the fore where the vital campaign issues should have been.

The people in the Graham camp have been particularly vehement in their charges of mud-slinging by Smith's group. It has been so much that way, as a matter of fact, that practically every time Senator Graham's record of government activities and personal alliances have been cited, they have been dubbed "mud-slinging" by his camp.

If a man's record of activities can not be discussed without his supporters accusing opponents of mud-slinging, there must be some mud on the record somewhere. Ask about Dr. Graham's former affiliations with reputedly left-wing groups. "Mud-slinging," his supporters cry. Discuss the stand Dr. Graham has taken on matters of national legislation which directly affect our section of the country. "Mud-slinging," the Grahamites shout. If the records are spotless, there should be no harm in having them discussed openly and fully.

Can it be called mud-slinging when the records of Dr. Graham speak for themselves—even though they say many things which the Graham supporters would have the people of North Carolina put out of their minds when they go to the polls Saturday? Graham supporters of late have yelled

Pitt Sanitarian Discusses Work At Rotary Meeting

By WYATT BROWN
 The Rotarians heard Pitt County Sanitarian Charles V. Morgan explain last night the work of his department in the case of restaurants and meat markets. He explained that the work was so varied it would be necessary to limit the talk to the two items.

Four requirements for restaurants were listed by Morgan and then he expanded those four ideas. The four were: reasonably good housing, adequate and convenient toilets, and handwashing facilities, good non-home-made equipment, and last a good housekeeping job.

The speaker warned not to judge the parts of the restaurant seen by the customer but the cooking and storing parts of the caterer. Housing is emphasized since more light and ventilation than ordinary is needed. A restaurant is more than a shining, modernistic front.

At this point the sanitarian answered his critics who accuse him of changing regulations all the time. He declared that no changes have been made since 1941 when it was made mandatory that separate toilets for race and sex be provided.

Again and again Mr. Morgan reiterated that Pitt County has some fine restaurants but that others should improve.

Commenting on the grade B restaurants he said that those with quarters built for the purpose get grade B rating because of the poor housekeeping practices.

For the 'ayman Mr. Morgan suggested to judge a restaurant by the tidiness of the waitresses. A tidy waitress, he suggested, would not put up with a dirty kitchen. He was not that a waitress with a dirty, wet side towel should be watched because she would spread filth right into close proximity to food. He said he would rather see a bare restaurant with limited fixtures but good housekeeping practices than one with fancy equipment and poor housekeeping.

The power of the customer over the caterer should be used by the public to secure improvements for they can get a lot more done than professional inspectors. He urged the Rotarians to be more observant and call bad things to attention of operator.

For the next few moments he talked about the relation of environmental sanitation to eating establishments. He brought out how that now rural people come into town each day for work—some working in restaurants perhaps—meant that any lack of sanitation in a rural community which made that rural person susceptible to illness would affect the people in the urban places they work. He brought this idea into focus with the illustration that everyone wanted clean restaurants but would feel that a good toilet on a farm would be wasted forgetting its absence would inflict un-

'Ugly' Gunman Is Disguised Youth

Dayton, Ohio, June 20—(AP)—An ugly-looking character with a gun was standing on her porch, a west side housewife excitedly telephoned police yesterday.

The radio dispatcher sped three cars to the scene. They found: One 14-year-old boy wearing a false moustache, false protruding teeth, a large artificial nose and spectacle set.

His weapon? A water pistol.

Reasons Behind Kidnapping Of 2 Youths Unsolved

Steuenville, O., June 20—(AP)—The kidnaping of two Pennsylvania boys and their imprisonment in an auto trunk during a 1,600 mile, two-day ride was a closed case today—their captor dead with a policeman's bullet in his heart.

But the reasons for the strange and violent crime spree of Joe Pacific, 32-year-old Canonsburg, Pa., electrician, probably were known to him alone and then he died emptying his pistol at police pursuers in nearby Mingo Junction yesterday afternoon.

The two boys, Pacific kidnaped—Nick Cursi, 18, and Joseph Zolmerchik, 19, both of Cokesburg, Pa.—came out of the harrowing experience weak from thirst and hunger, bleeding from head wounds, and terror-stricken. But they were not harmed seriously.

Their long ride started near Canonsburg Saturday night when they picked up the hitchhiking Pacific on their way to a dance in Cursi's car. Pacific robbed them of $15. Zolmerchik said, returned it saying he was joking, then took it back again, slugged them with his pistol butt, and locked them in the car trunk.

Yesterday morning Pacific drove the car to the home of his estranged wife's parents, beat her with his gun and forced her to go away with him in the car.

It was the wife, Matilda, 30, who called Mingo Junction police when Pacific left the car there to go into a store to buy her a dress to replace the blood-stained one she wore.

The kidnaper fled afoot and eluded a police posse for more than an hour. Sgt. Sam Baker said Pacific shot at him three times and missed before Baker fired a bullet into his chest. The fugitive ran a few yards, slumped down, fired another shot at his pursuers and collapsed dying.

Coroner John P. Smarrella of Jefferson County closed official investigation of the case last night by ruling the slaying "justifiable homicide."

One Still That The Revenoers Don't Object To

Hickory Valley, Tenn.—(AP)—There's a still in this little farming community that goes full blast off and on and the "revenoers" don't mind at all. It is used to make oil-of-sassafras, not corn-squeezin's or moonshine.

It's easy to tell when the still is working. If you're anywhere in the valley your nose will pick up the sassafras smell. And it doesn't take long for the tellers in banks in surrounding towns to tell when the still has been at work. The money paid out to farmers and to helpers winds up in the banks and always has that sassafras smell.

Eldon Roark, feature columnist for the Memphis Press-Scimitar, says one person who did complain was a Negro helper at the still, who asked for his pay in some money that didn't smell. "This here money's too easy for my wife to find," he said.

Police Baffled By Beach Slaying

Eureka, Calif., June 20—(AP)—The disappearance of a pretty 17 year old dress, apparently without her clothes, baffled officers today in attempts to solve the "Lovers' Beach" slaying of a nude bakery driver.

The driver and waitress had a Saturday night date.

Sunday morning, the body of the driver, Henry (Red) Baird, 26, was found on the beach below table bluff, a cliff 75 yards from the surf. There was a bullet hole in the back of his head. He wore only socks and shoes.

His clothes were piled neatly nearby—on top of the clothing of the waitress, Barbara Kelly. Only her shoes and stockings were missing. Baird and Miss Kelly had been dating two months.

Close by was Baird's car. Missing from it was a .22 caliber pistol he always carried. Sheriff Charles W. Raab said Baird apparently had been shot by a 22.

Investigators found $32 in Baird's wallet and $8 in a pocket.

Syria Doubtful Over Gifts Sent From Americans

Damascus—(AP)—Gifts from American children to Syrian children were recently distributed by the Red Cross at Homs.

"Duty requires that the director of public instruction reject these gifts from persons who want to establish friendship by force. We do not want the friendship of a person who shakes hands with his right hand and stabs us from the back with his left."

Senatorial Race Nears End At High Tempo; Switch In Tactics

By LYNN NISBET
 Raleigh, June 20—The second primary campaign for nomination of a United States senator has been in progress eleven days. It has three more to go if tempo increases for the next few hours as much as for the two past work days, the race will end at high speed.

Most observers are wary about hazarding guess on size of the vote, having been fooled so badly in the first primary turnout. Those brave souls who do stick their necks out usually figure from 450,000 to 475,000. In other words, they expect now the total vote Saturday will be about what they thought the vote would be on May 27 when it seemed more than 618,000.

Hopes, based on what headquarters staff members said about their plans, that the run-off would be conducted on higher plane than the first heat proved to be groundless. There has been little essential difference, although there has been a surprising switch in some phases. Not much has been heard about Senator Frank Graham's Communist leanings. On the other hand, the Graham folks have made bitter attack upon Willis Smith, dubbing him a Republican and a labor-baiter.

Governor Scott has spent most of his time for the past ten days traveling the state making stump speeches for Graham, and seldom falls to bracket Smith as a Republican backed by big corporations and opposed to welfare of the people. Official literature from Graham headquarters has played up Smith as willing to sacrifice human welfare for a dollar.

Meanwhile the Smith camp has emphasized the record of solid block voting in controlled precincts for Graham in the first primary, and also point out that perhaps as many big corporation officials are listed among Graham supporters as are backing Smith.

A brisk newspaper war has developed on the Raleigh front. The News and Observer, edited by National Committeeman Jonathan Daniels, has been all along plugging for Graham in both editorial and news columns. The day after Smith called for a run-off the Raleigh Times, afternoon paper published by John A. Park, came out with a front page editorial endorsement of Smith, and has followed up with a leading editorial every day since. This is the first time either Raleigh paper has taken open stand for or against an individual candidate in a Democratic primary. The development has added zest to the campaign in Wake County at least.

Both candidates have been traveling a lot, but with different technique. Senator Graham has traveled alone, with Mrs. Graham driving. Smith has been accompanied by motorcades on trips that have taken him through about one fourth the counties. Saturday both candidates concentrated on Wake County, the Graham car leaving toward the north for a circle of the county, at almost the same time a Smith motorcade of some forty cars headed southward to reverse the circle. The Graham folks originally planned a motorcade for Wake County but called it off on the grounds it was too unwieldy.

The headquarters in the Sir Walter Hotel have been jammed for the past several days, with numerous volunteer typists, package wrappers and other workers striving frantically to get out literature in time for county managers to use it. Most of Friday it was difficult to get through the halls on the first and fifth floors of the hotel for the jam of packages and workers. While that was going on, the head men were closeted in conferences with county managers and regional leaders putting final touches on strategy for the last week.

where, relatively speaking, he made a weak showing last month. Smith has selected the west, Graham the east. Both will have numerous rallies in their behalf led by prominent persons

Compromise Rent Control Bill Has Joint Approval

Washington, June 19—(AP)—Senate and House conferences agreed today on a compromise bill extending federal rent controls for six months beyond June 30.

The compromise, subject to approval by both chambers of congress, give municipalities power to keep the federal controls for an additional six months, or until June 30, 1951. In communities where no such action is taken, controls would end automatically on December 31. The house had voted for an automatic seven-month extension, with an additional five months optional. The senate wanted a six-month automatic extension, with six months optional.

Hawn, president of the Winston-Salem Council of the PTA, will be hostess chairman.

The appointment of a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for the organization for next year has also been announced. Election of new officers will take place at the convention in Winston-Salem.

Serving on the nominating committee are the following: Mrs. E. N. Howell, Swannanoa; Mrs. Melvin Taylor, Bryson City; Mrs. E. W. Walters, Greensboro; Mrs. Scott Topping, Pantego; and Mrs. Willis Kirkpatrick, Canton.

Hen Adopts Litter Of Contented Puppies

The pointer pups above seem content enough to let the setting hen mother them between feeding times. The hen, owned by C. A. Crandell of Stokes, has been sitting on the 11-pup litter ever since the eggs she was sitting on were removed to make room for the pups. The mother dog, Pat, which has mostly pointer blood, gave birth three weeks ago to the litter. The hen since then has literally taken them under her wing. (Reflector staff photo).

Report Blockade Runners Sunk

Hong Kong, June 20—(AP)—Two blockade runners were reported to have struck mines and sunk at the mouth of the Yangtze off Shanghai yesterday. Fifteen persons were said to have been killed.

The British Royal Navy said it had heard the report, but was unable to confirm it.

Hong Kong shipping companies thought enough of the report, however, to cancel all future ship sailings to Shanghai.

Grounds For . . .

(Continued from Page One) Times view that "there is no doubt that the present temper of the German people as a whole is pacific." That is an idea which this column has advanced more than once. As a matter of fact the two world wars were precipitated by Prussian aggression which took advantage of the unquestioning loyalty of the average citizen to his government and his adaptability to regimentation.

An interesting corollary to the West German action in joining the Schuman Plan is seen in the smashing defeat given the Communists in a Ruhr election Sunday to choose a new legislature for the state of North-Westphalia. The Reds got only 5.5 per cent of the vote, and dropped from third to fifth place in party standings. Splinter parties trying to revive Nazism also received only tiny supports.

Representatives of the governments which have subscribed to the Schuman Plan are meeting in Paris today to devise ways and means of making this far-reaching project work. Those participating are France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, West Germany and Italy. One of Europe's chief coal and steel nations is missing—Britain.

Acheson To Face Questions From U. S. Governors

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 20—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson faced questioning today about what some of the nation's Governors called the forgotten area of American Foreign Policy—the Soviet-dominated Far East.

Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania told a reporter he wants to know what the Truman administration plans to do about halting the advance of Communism in Asia. Duff is the Republican candidate for the senate in Pennsylvania against Senator Myers, the assistant Democratic leader.

Acheson was scheduled at a round table discussion at the annual conference of Governors, to discuss President Truman's "point four" program of giving technical aid and supporting American private investments in the backward areas of the world.

This left the Secretary of State open to questioning about what he and the President plan to do about stemming the tide of Russian conquest which has swept over China and now threatens the southeastern Asia republics which grew out of the war. Previously, Acheson told Congress he wanted to let the dust settle before deciding on a policy toward China.

Duff, who supports the European recovery plan despite what he called the British labor party's disappointing rejection of the French German steel and coal resource pooling plan, said he wants to know if there is a Truman doctrine for Asia similar to that for Greece and Turkey.

Paul G. Hoffman, the economic cooperation administrator, hinted in a speech at the annual state dinner of the Governors last night that there may be such a plan in the making. He said:

"If we wage the peace race only in Europe but in other areas where the Kremlin is threatening to destroy freedom, I for one am completely confident that the free world will win out against the Kremlin."

Hoffman, a Republican, thus supplied what may be one answer to a question that many members of his party have been posing in Congress—will there be an economic cooperation administration (ECA) for Asia?

Hoffman told the Governors that it would take just as much effort to win the peace as it would to win World War III.

"The issue is survival of western civilization itself—no more, no less," Hoffman declared, as Acheson sat nearby at the banquet table and nodded assent. The Secretary of State was flown here earlier in the day from Washington.

Fort To Become California Park

Lebec, Calif.—(AP)—California is making a state park of historic Ft. Tejon, the only fort erected to protect and rehabilitate Indians. High in Tejon Pass, which winds through the Tehachapi mountains linking the Los Angeles plain with the San Joaquin valley, workers are restoring barracks almost a century old.

Gen. E. F. Beale, then superintendent of Indian affairs, ordered the fort built in 1854. His idea was to make the Indian self sufficient by teaching him agriculture.

British Vessel Explodes, Sinks

Suez, Egypt, June 20—(AP)—The British freighter Indian Enterprise exploded and sank in the Red Sea yesterday, and 72 crewmen are missing, agents for the vessel announced today.

Only one member of the crew of 73, an injured man, was rescued after a blast tore the ship apart about 300 miles south of Suez.

Spokesmen for the agents said the 7,100-ton ship, en route from London to Indian ports, was carrying 580 tons of explosives consigned to the Indian government.

The vessel, which carried no passengers, was offloaded by Briton. The crew members were mostly Indians.

The sole survivor is said to have been an Indian seaman picked up by the Norwegian tanker H. Westfall-Larsen while en route to Suez.

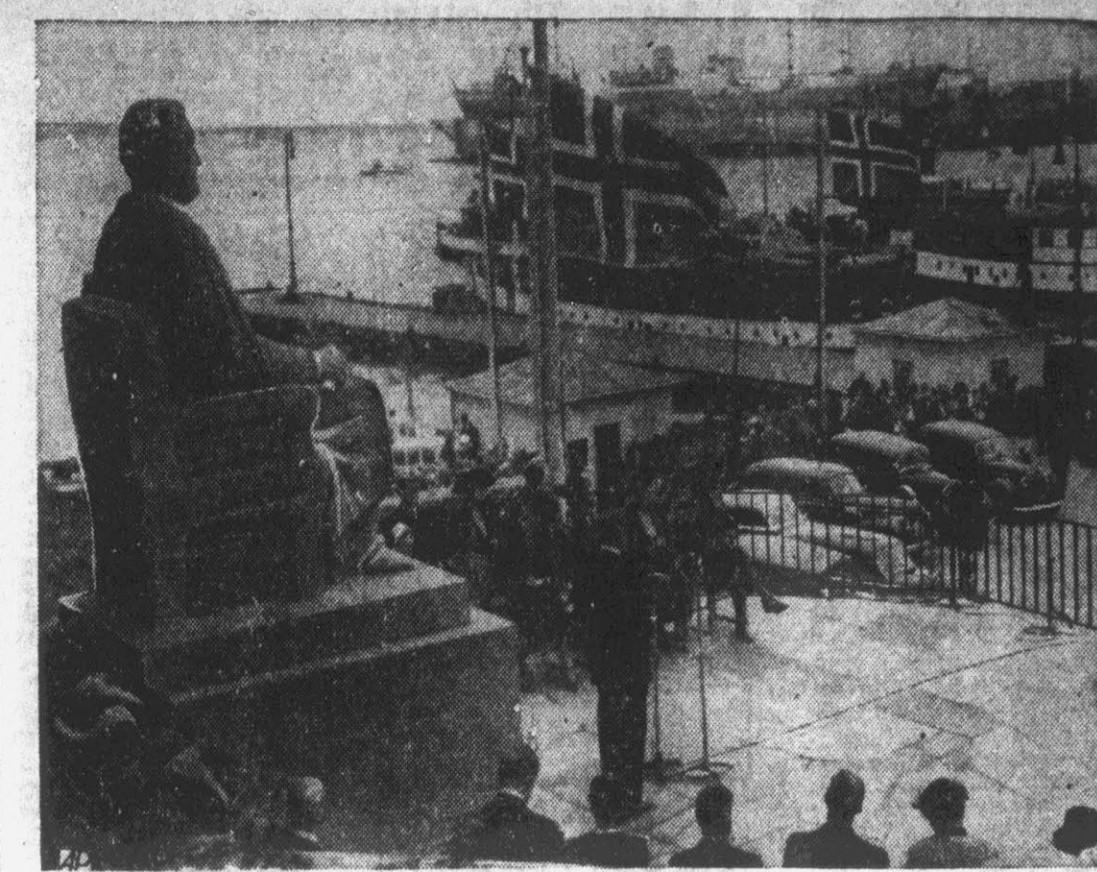

The Indian Exporter a sister ship of the Indian Enterprise searched the blast area throughout the night in search of survivors and found none, a spokesman reported.

Boll Weevils And Thrips Abundant

Raleigh, N.C., June 20—(AP)—A state entomologist says 65 per cent of the boll weevils which slept through the winter are out of hibernation.

That's the latest report from the N.C. State College Extension Service by Entomologist George D. Jones. The weekly reports based on inspections through the coastal plain and piedmont counties, shows an average infestation of 1,770 weevils per acre on unpoisoned cotton. Jones advises farmers to begin immediately their poison fight against the weevil if they haven't already started.

He also reported that thrips also are abundant in the state's cotton fields. These insects cause cotton plant leaves to curl and die.

The entomologist said that in some fields where both the weevil and thrip have caused serious damage, a single application of toxaphene or benzene hexachloride has given new life to plants.

Peak Named For Mao Tze-tung

Moscow, June 20—(AP)—A peak in central Asia has been named for Mao Tze-tung, leader of the Chinese Communists, the newspaper Soviet Sport announced today.

The paper said a group of mountaineers scaled a peak of the Ala Tau range in Soviet Turkistan for the first time and named it for the Chinese leader. Two other newly scaled central Asian peaks have been named recently for Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, and Paul Robeson, the American Negro singer.

Barkley Doubts Propriety New Senate Inquiry

Washington, June 19—(AP)—Vice President Barkley today tartly reminded the Senate that it is not a grand jury and said he doubted the propriety of any senate investigation of public officials that might result in an impeachment.

Barkley made his comments in referring to the Judiciary committee resolution signed by 21 Republican senators demanding a separate investigation of the Justice Department's handling of the 1945 American secret documents case.

Barkley sent the resolution, introduced by Senator Capehart (R-Ind) for himself and 20 others, to the Judiciary committee which would be authorized to conduct the inquiry.

WILLIS SMITH IS OPPOSED TO F.E.P.C. IN ANY FORM

Q. What is FEPC?

A. FEPC is a proposed super bureau in Washington with police power in every city, town, and community of North Carolina and all other states to control the employment of all our citizens.

Q. What is the purpose of FEPC?

A. The expressed purpose of FEPC is to bring about the intermingling of the races by force and to make employers in the South employ negroes in the place of white workers.

Q. Who recommended and authored the present FEPC bill before the Congress?

A. A special commission was appointed by the President to make an investigation of racial problems — particularly in the South.

Q. Was there any Southern representative on the Presidential Commission which laid the plans and recommended their adoption to Congress?

A. Yes, Frank P. Graham of North Carolina.

Q. To what extent did Graham's support of FEPC influence the primary election May 27th?

A. Negroes in North Carolina voted as a solid block for Frank Graham in the first primary. For example, in one Negro precinct in Durham, Graham received 1,514 votes to only 7 votes for Smith. In another Negro precinct in Durham, 1,187 votes went to Graham and only 8 to Smith. In Greensboro, in one Negro precinct, Graham received 1,231 votes to only 12 for Smith. In one such precinct in Raleigh, the vote stood 518 for Graham to 18 for Smith. Another Negro precinct in Raleigh gave Graham 453, and Smith 9.

Q. How can we account for the solid-block voting for Graham in Negro precincts?

A. The negroes know that Graham will continue to support FEPC legislation. He has indicated in all his speeches that he will vote for an FEPC bill without compulsory features.

Q. If such a bill passed could the compulsory features be thereafter added?

A. The next day, or the next hour if Congress desired.

Q. Was the voting of Negroes in the primary organized?

A. It was, with considerable help and the encouragement from the Political Action Committee of the C. I. O., and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, with headquarters in New York.

Q. Did the Negro press of North Carolina support Graham?

A. Yes. The Carolina Times, Durham Negro paper in big black type under Graham's picture, said in its May 27th issue: "This is your Hour of Decision. Your Date with Destiny must be Kept!"

Q. Are Negro organizations making an effort to capture and control the Democratic Party in North Carolina?

A. Yes. The president of the North Carolina Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the same issue of above Negro paper, announced: "We have just begun to register Negroes in North Carolina... The goal is 250,000 and we will not cease our efforts until it is realized." They claim to have already registered 100,000.

Q. Just how would FEPC function?

A. Here is a practical example: If any employer has a vacancy or a new job, he must give it to a Negro applicant or be subject to costly and embarrassing legal prosecution. He must be able to prove to the satisfaction of a Washington police bureau that his decision to hire a white worker was not based on race or color.

Q. Does FEPC apply to employment alone?

A. By no means. It would affect also such things as promotion within an organization, executive positions, and other terms and conditions of employment, including eating facilities and even washrooms.

Q. Has this FEPC idea ever been tried before?

A. Yes, during the war. Although there was no legislative authority for it, an FEPC was established by Presidential order and kept in operation as a war measure.

Q. What was the result?

A. Legal battles, strikes and widespread dissatisfaction among the white workers everywhere.

Q. How would the decisions of the FEPC in Washington be enforced here in North Carolina?

A. The proposed law includes heavy fines and jail sentences. Furthermore, it would empower FEPC to use the FBI against any employer in this state.

Q. Would an employer receive a fair trial before the FEPC?

A. The FEPC Bureau would be both judge and prosecutor. An employer hauled before the bureau would be presumed guilty before he had a chance to utter one word of testimony in his behalf.

Q. Does FEPC apply only to day laborers or factory employees?

A. No. Those would be first ones hurt, but FEPC applies to all employment, white collar workers, stenographers, clerks, secretaries, executive positions, everything.

Q. Who ran the FEPC when there was one?

A. The negroes. Over 80% of FEPC employees were Negroes, another 10% were drawn from other minority groups and approximately 10% were white Americans.

Q. Who planned the fight against FEPC in the United States Senate?

A. A council of Senators from the Southern States.

Q. Did all of the Senators from the South participate?

A. No. Two members did not. These were Senators Claude Pepper and Frank Graham.

Q. Has there been any recent effort to enlist Graham in the struggle of the Southern States against FEPC?

A. Yes. About ninety days ago Southern Senators requested Frank Graham to announce that he would vote against the Lucas gag rule which was designed to keep the Senate from fully discussing the merits of FEPC. The adoption of the Lucas gag rule would have meant immediate passage of the FEPC Bill, with full compulsory police powers. Graham refused to indicate his opposition, whereupon Senate Leader Lucas announced that he would bring up the Bill again in the near future.

Q. If either Graham or Pepper had indicated their opposition to the gag rule orally or by letter, would such an announcement have killed the FEPC?

A. Yes, for this session of Congress at least.

Q. Will Frank Graham, if returned to the Senate, fight to defeat FEPC, and vote against gag rule?

A. Read "What 'Everybody Knows'" on this page. Let that and Frank Graham's record, be your answer.

Wilson Defeats Robins By 4-2 Score In Two-Run Eighth Inning Onslaught

Locals Come From Behind In Seventh But Edged Out; Harrison Credited With Loss

By HERT MOYE
The Wilson Tobs whipped the Greenville Robins, 4-2, here last night before 618 fans who braved threatening weather to view the proceedings.
The Tobs pushed across singletons in the first and second frame to take a 2-0 margin, a lead which they held until the seventh stanza when the Robins scored their only two runs of the game.
In the first frame, Bobby Dingler singled into left field, stole second and came home on Joe Fulghum's single. In the second, Red Gay reached first on an infield hit, Sexton singled into left field and then Irv Dickens came through with a single into right field to score Gay.
The Robins bunched four of their tota, six hits in the seventh frame to push across two runs and knot the count at 2-2 at this stage of the game. Joe Guidice started things with a double into left field. Hallow was out second to first with Guidice taking third. John Baktis singled into left field to bring home Guidice. Vince Lautato followed with a single into centerfield and when Centerfielder Berry booted the ball, Baktis advanced to third and Lautato advanced to second. Jim Hancock, new outfielder for the Robins, then hit sharply into centerfield to bring in Baktis.

The Tobs pushed over the winning runs in the top of the eighth inning. Irv Dickens and Bobby Dingler were issued free passes to first. Pete Williams forced Dickens at third on an attempted sacrifice. Joe Fulghum hit through shortstop Tepeдино to bring home Bobby Dingler, and Pete Williams crossed the plate on Jim Smith's single.
Irv Dickens had two singles in three trips to the plate to lead the 16-out attack off Bobby Harrison when Vince Jones, Harrison was charged with the loss to bring his record for the season to two wins

Wakefield's New Bosses Have No Complaints Yet

Oakland, Calif., June 20—(AP)—Dick Wakefield, the highest paid baseballer on the west coast, is batting only .216, after 11 games for Oakland of the Coast League.
But his new bosses aren't complaining. They predict he will be worth every penny of his $17,500 yearly pay. Wakefield, sold to Oakland after a prolonged row with the New York Yankees, may be back in the majors before the season is over, they say.
"We're definitely satisfied," Charles Dressen, Oakland manager said yesterday. "Wakefield takes the beautiful full swing you don't see very often."
"He's hitting lots of balls, but so far, directly at fielders. One of these days, he's going to start knocking them the right place."

FANCY HOOKING—Golf pro Jack Summers has his hands full displaying the 46-pound striped bass he caught near Strous Island, Chatham, Mass. The fish was 48½ inches long.

Tonight's Games
Greenville at Roanoke Rapids
Rocky Mount at Tarboro
Goldboro at Kinston
New Bern at Wilson

Ladies' Night will be observed by the Robins on Wednesday night when they meet the Roanoke Rapids Jays here in a single game. All ladies, whether accompanied by escorts or not, will be admitted to the game for the price of 30c, which is half price.

Business Manager Russ Filley has gone to his home in Hartford, Conn., to spend a few days with his mother and father. He will return to Greenville Saturday.

Here and There:—James Hancock is the new rightfielder for the Robins. He is a rookie outfielder and was purchased by the Robins from Hammond, La. of the Evangeline League. He has had one year in American Legion baseball. His home is in Anderson, S.C. He certainly made a beautiful catch of Pete Williams ball in the first frame last night. His single in the seventh also drove in one of the two Robins runs.
Kinston has added one player and released one. Added to the roster is Ray McCourt, rookie outfielder, who is a recent graduate of Manhattan College. Given his release was Doug Payne, the only veteran in the Eagles' lineup. A pitcher, Payne had a record of 2-5. He was returned to his Red Sox owners. It was also announced by the Eagles' management that they have a new veteran pitcher. He is Paul Stegman who has been optioned to the Eagles from the Class D Portsmouth Club of the Piedmont League. He played for Raleigh Caps last year and won nine and lost eight during the season. . . . Goldsboro fans have begun jumping on the manager of their club according to a story carried in yesterday's Goldsboro paper. They have jumped on Manager Jim Herbinson and are really giving him a fit.

With three class men on his team, Bill Herring, manager of the Wilson club, must be taking advantage of the non-playing manager mixup that has developed in the Coastal Plain loop over the past few days. Skipper Herring has Irv Dickens and Pete Williams as veterans with Irv Dickens being the manager. Herring has placed himself on the disabled list for 10 days in order to make room for Pete Williams. Not all managers and officials of the league seem to understand just what it is all about. Some appear to think that if a manager does not play his club is entitled to three veterans if the manager is a veteran. Others do not agree. Officials jumping at the opportunity to take advantage of this technicality may find themselves in the position of having a few hard-won games forfeited.

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—While other leaders hit the skids, third-sacker George Kell of Detroit, defending champion, upped his American League batting mark three points during the week to 384 to take an 18 point lead over Boston's Walt Dropo.
Dropo retained second place although slumping from 379 to 366. Detroit's Hoot Evers remained in third with 359, a drop of four. Larry Doby of Cleveland continued fourth with a seven point cut to 355.

'Golf Is Easy'

Detroit, June 20—(AP)—Teddy Jagod, a fifth grade pupil here, went golfing yesterday for the first time in his life and shot a hole-in-one. And it wasn't just an ordinary ace.
Teddy played with his buddy, Paul, and Paul's father, Mike Sawast, at Sunnybrook Course.
On the 149-yard over-the-creek ninth hole, Teddy borrowed Mike's "ping" iron. He hit a wild tee shot that bounced off a bridge, hit a tree near the green, caromed to the right and rolled into the cup.
"Golf is easy, if you're lucky," said Terry.

Boys League Baseball

The Phillies scored eleven runs in the first four innings yesterday to take an easy 11 to 5 win over the Giants.
The winners had little trouble solving the slants of Bobby Watson who pitched for the Giants.
Ken Lee, Joe Sawyer, Doug Morgan had a triple and single in four trips to the plate. Eddie Farley, with a triple and Dallas Evans with a double led the Giants.

The Braves and Dodgers had a very good game yesterday afternoon at Third Street until two were out in the final inning. At this juncture of the game, the Braves were leading the Dodgers only 6 to 0 in a fast and well-played game and then every player that came to bat got a hit and before the final out could be made the score was 18 to 0.
Husky Lee Folger on the hill for the Braves held the Dodgers to three hits, while his teammates were battering George Sideris for fourteen, half of which were for extra bases. Speight with a triple and three singles and Joe Taft with two triples and a double did most of the damage for the Braves. Had-dock homered in the final inning for the Braves for his only hit of the game. Sautler, Roebuck and Starkey got the Dodgers three hits.

West Greenville's Indians had a bad day in the field yesterday and took a 18 to 4 drubbing from the Cubs of Third Street. The Cubs managed to run up their big score with only seven hits but the Indians chipped in with nine errors.
Kely Barnhill and Hudson with two hits each led the Indians at bat. Bray with a triple and single, his triple came with the bases full and Oscar Stoneham with a double and single led the attack for the Cubs.

West Greenville's Red Sox continued their winning streak and increased their lead in the Junior Division with an easy 10 to 1 win over the Wildcats from the Training School. The Sox unlimbered their heavy artillery to score in each inning and the issue was never in doubt. Barnhill with a homer and two singles and Tommy Key Norris with a triple and single were the top hitters for the Sox. Charles Rummy and Averette both with a double and single were the only players for the Wildcats to hit safely.

Williams Moves Up In Popularity Voting By Fans

Chicago, June 20—(AP)—Boston's Ted Williams has moved into second place behind Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals in the popularity poll of the nation's fans in selecting starting lineups for the all-star baseball game at Comiskey Park July 11.

If Glen Laswell misses the precious five-pound apprentice allowance he lost when he lost his "bug" in May it hasn't been reflected in the box score if winners he has been booting home on New York tracks. The 18-year-old Californian has been given the veteran riders a run for top honors while keeping the turf fans happy with his consistent trips to the winner's circle.
Laswell comes by his riding talents naturally. His dad, Eli Laswell was a jockey and as late as 1939 rode for Tom Smith, trainer of Mrs. Elizabeth (Arden) Graham's stable. Today, Glenn rides for the same stable Mrs. Graham having purchased his contract for something like $10,000. Veteran jockeys insist that Laswell is one of the brightest prospects in the younger crop of riders. They say he has that indefinable something that enables him to get the most out of his mounts. Horses like to run for Glen.
Standing an even five feet, Laswell tips the scales at 106 pounds. He wears in shape by frequenting a roller skating rink near Belmont Park and the report is that he is as expert on the rollers as he is in the saddle. Bigs days on the track are no novelty to Glen. He won his first race at Tia Juana on May 22 1949 and had three other winners the same afternoon. In his year as an apprentice, Laswell posted 257 winners, 201 seconds and 180 thirds in a total of 1,431. He had four winners one afternoon at Belmont this season and on several other occasions came through with triple winners.

Scott Motors Keeps Top Spot In Industrial League

Bill Harrington pitched and hit Scott Motors to its third straight win in the Industrial softball league to keep the team in first position which it hasn't relinquished since the league play began. Harrington hit three homers to help beat Ormond Wholesale 11-5 yesterday afternoon.
The league's homerun king set the Ormond team down with eight hits. He offered only one extra base pitch, a homerun by Lewis in the first inning.
Both teams played errorless ball.
Line score:
Scott Motors . . . 302 300 3-11 11 11
Ormond Wholesale 120 000 2-5 8 0
Batteries: Scott—Harrington and Sawyer; Ormond—Ormond and Gaylor.

Wagner-Waldrop teed off on National Carbon pitching yesterday for 16 runs on 15 hits for a 16-5 win.
The Carbon team collected 13 hits during their times but couldn't capitalize on them for tallies. There was only one extra base hit in the 28-hit attack by both teams. That was a triple by Leggett, Wagner-Waldrop catcher.
The victors tallied eight runs in the bottom of the sixth to put the clincher on the game. The win enabled the motor team to remain in second place in the league with a record of two wins against one loss.
Line score:
Wagner-Waldrop 012 238 x-16 15 0
Nat'l Carbon . . . 101 110 0-5 13 0
Batteries: Wagner-Waldrop—Mossier and Leggett; National Carbon—Garrison and Nichols.

Rumored Sale Of Senators' Stock

Jamestown, N.Y., June 20—(AP)—A report that John Jachym is about to sell a 40 per cent interest in the Washington Senators awaited confirmation or denial today. The Jamestown Post-Journal says the 31-year-old former Marine Corps captain is pulling out of the Senators because of differences with Clark Griffith, head of the American League club for 30 years.
According to the newspaper, H. Gabriel Murphy, a Washington insurance man, either is handling the deal or is buying the interest himself.
Jachym could not be located at his home here or in Washington. Murphy's office in Washington said he was not available.
Griffith said in Washington he had "heard somebody was trying to buy the stock, but I don't know who it is."
Frank Hyde, sports editor of the Post-Journal, said "developments to date indicated the deal may be completed and announced" at a quarterly meeting of the Senators' board of directors today.

Tackling Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack on the first play of the 1946 game was the greatest football thrill for Earl Banks, guard with the football Yanks, who then was with Iowa.

Winterville Takes Lead In Tobacco County Loop

League-Leading Belvoir Knocked Into Third Place After Weekend Of Twin Bills; Robersonville Moves Up

Tobacco County League teams had a weekend full of doubleheaders and the overtime work resulted in league-leading Belvoir being knocked into third place behind Winterville and Robersonville.
Belvoir lost three straight games to Robersonville, two on Saturday afternoon and one on Sunday. Saturdays games had identical scores—8-4—and Sunday's game was a slugfest ending 14-8.
Bill James hit a homerun in Saturday's first game with two men aboard for Robersonville and Griffin and Tripp each got a four bagger in the second.
Batteries: Robersonville—first game: Leggett, Bryant and Keel; second game: J. Davis and Keel; third game: Barnhill, E. Bryant and Keel. Belvoir—first game: Coggins, Nichols and Hughes, Bell; second game: M. Oakley and B. Oakley; third game: M. Oakley and B. Oakley.

Sunday's line score:
Robersonville . . . 303 002 0-14 18 3
Belvoir 211 400 0-8 10 4

Winterville took over first position by beating Ayden two games out of three. Both teams split Sunday's doubleheader after Winterville took the lone Saturday tilt, 7-2. Sunday's scores were 4-2 in favor of Ayden, and 5-3 in favor of Winterville.
Batteries: Winterville—first game: Kirtrell and Odum; second game: Flye and Odum; third game: Kirtrell, McCullen, Moyer and Flye. Ayden—first game: Sunrell and Cox; second game: Baldree and Holland.
Darden's Store got an even break in four games with Lofton, thus remaining on the bottom of the heap. Darden's won both Saturday games, 7-2 and 5-2. Lofton came back on Sunday to win two, 7-6 and 5-2.
Batteries: Darden's—first game: Harrington, Pollard and Shivers; second game: Stoffel, Harrington and Nobles. Lofton: first game: Hardy and Sawyer; second game: Warren and Sawyer.

Tobacco County standings:
Winterville 9 5
Robersonville 8 4
Belvoir 8 6
Ayden 5 7

Three-Man Fight In Batting Race

New York, June 20—(AP)—The National League batting race is turning out to be a replica of last year's three-man battle among Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson and St. Louis's Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter.

The only difference is that the Dodgers' Duke Snider has horned in. Stan dropped 20 points during the week as his average shrank to .364. That was 12 point better than Robinson's .352. Last year's batting king owns a six-point bulge over Snider for the runnerup spot with Slaughter a close fourth via a .343 mark.
Fifth spot belongs to the surprising Eddie Stanky. The New York City Giants scrappy infielder is tied with Chicago's Andy Parko at .333. Johnny Hopp, a hot hitter early in the campaign, dropped to seventh with .331. He was followed by New York's Wilie Lockman, .329; Philadelphia's Dick Sisler, .328; and Cincinnati's Johnny Wyrostek, .322.

Consistent Stealer

Cincinnati—(AP)—Johnny Wyrostek's stolen base totals during the last four years undoubtedly are the most consistent in baseball. The Cincinnati outfielder swiped exactly seven bases during each of the last four seasons, in 1946 and 1947 with the Phillies and the last two campaigns with the Reds.

SMOKY JOE

By W. F. BRAGG

Chapter 31
Long John standing at the meeting, heard Connie gasp and whirled around. He saw Smoky Joe walking out from the wings with an unwilling Pack Rogan ahead of him and under Joe's gun. He saw Hard Hat Bultvane spin around and reach for his gun. And he heard a hoarse shout from the rear of the hall.

"Hold it, Bultvane!"
That was the harsh voice of Pap McDevitt. Hard Hat held it.
Joe stepped away from Rogan and said to the crowd:
"The boom's over! The McDevitts control the water rights! Monty McDevitt owns a first right on Lost Creek! The Munros are in the same boat with you. That was what started all the shooting! Those Lost Creek water rights. And some on another creek owned by Jane Morgan's father. I'm glad," Joe went on, "that the boom is busted. Once the Munros had a few friends in this town. But cold cash does strange things to friendship. When we were up against it, the bitterest enemies of the Munros gave us help."

Honesty Bonds

There oughta be a law!

Alaigh, N. C. June 30—(P)—The State board of education wants to take out an honesty insurance policy for some $7,000 employees.

Clyde Douglas, controller of the education board, yesterday announced he is asking indemnity companies for bids on a blanket honesty bond.

The group to be covered includes members of the board of education and trustee groups, as teachers and other education workers who receive all or part of their pay from the state.

Bids on the policy probably will be discussed at the next meeting of the board's finance committee said Douglas. The finance committee meets before the next state board meeting, scheduled for June 29.

Claim Highways Basis Of Threat

Raleigh, June 20—(AP)—Headquarters for Senatorial Candidate Willis Smith charged today that a member of the State Highway Commission had told voters in Sampson county that if they did not vote for Senator Frank Graham "they would not get any roads in Sampson county."

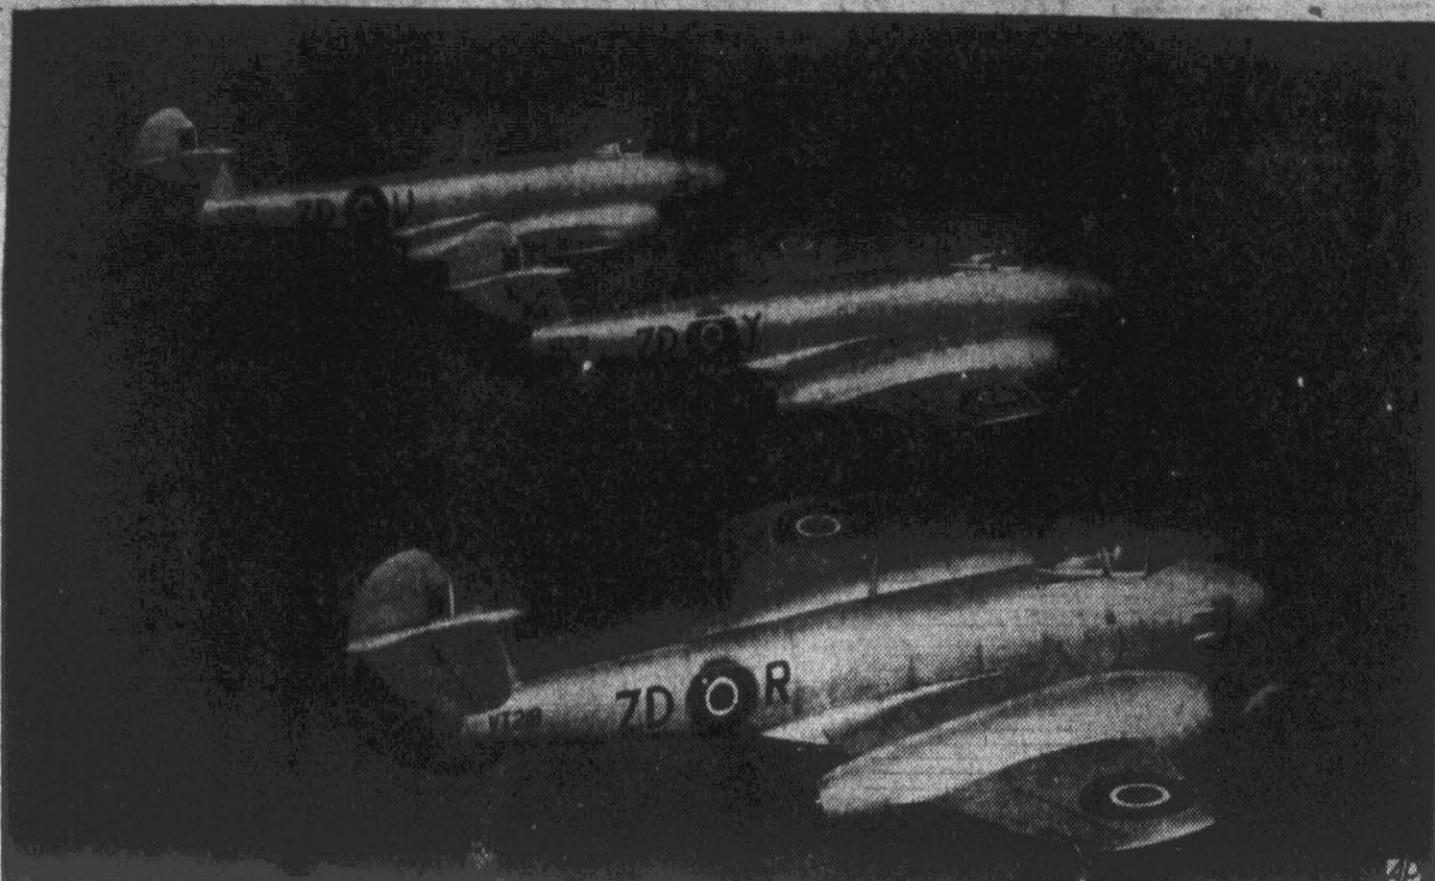

The incident was alleged to have occurred in the first primary campaign.

Charles P. Green, Smith's state campaign manager, said he had received an affidavit from R. D. Baggett, Sampson county farmer, which said that Highway Commissioner Wilbur Clark of Fayetteville had "stated to him and others that if they did not go to the polls on Saturday, May 27 and vote for Dr. Frank P. Graham for the United States Senate that they would not get any roads in Sampson county and that the roads that were already started in Sampson would not be completed unless he and others supported Dr. Frank P. Graham."

Green also charged that Clark had Republicans register as Democrats "under similar threats."

Clark could not be reached immediately for comment.

Demo Governor Uncertain Over Opposing Taft

Columbus, O., June 20—(AP) National and state Democratic leaders were flabbergasted today by Gov. Frank J. Lausche's statement that he had not decided whether to support his party's candidate against U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican.

The leaders, here to help organize the senatorial campaign of their candidate, Joseph T. Ferguson, side-stepped specific comment on Lausche's remarks.

The Democratic Governor at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., yesterday said he would vote for the Senatorial candidate he thought would "serve the nation best" Lausche is seeking a third term.
