Contradictory Picture Seating Of Red China In United Nations Is Part Of Russian Goal In Cold War, Yet Britain, Siding With West, Prepares To Support Seating Of Reds

The cold war between the Western democracies and Red Russia certainly develops some extraordinary and contradictory situations.

Take for example the current fight over the Soviet demand that the Chinese Nationalist delegation to the United Nations be thrown out and replaced by the Chinese Communists.

This is, of course, part and parcel of the cold war, and the winner of the argument in the U.N. will have achieved a major victory.

However, the British government—one of those most interested in seeing the West win the cold war—is reported preparing to take an active part in the campaign to oust the Nationalist Chinese and seat the Reds. London as far back as January severed relations with the Nationalist Chinese and recognized the conquering Reds in Peiping.

These facts are not cited in the way of criticism, but as presenting a picture of fighting fire with one hand and feeding it with the other. This attitude naturally is based on the contention that the Communists are the actual rulers of the Chinese mainland and will be universally recognized in that role eventually.

That argument may be open to some dispute. It is true that the Soviet-supported Chinese Communists have conquered the mainland momentarily. Whether they also are the "rulers" is in question.

You know that old one about being able to lead a horse to water but not being able to make him drink. Its one thing to conquer half a billion Chinese, and another to make them accept dictation.

The campaign to oust Nationalist China from the U.N. and seat the Chinese Reds is headed by U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie. He holds this to be a common sense means of getting Russia to end the boycott which she has inaugurated against 30 U.N. organs because of this fight.

The Secretary-General is going to Europe shortly and among other things will attend the U.N. Economic and Social Council Conference in Geneva. The Chinese issue might be introduced there, although it is

New Rent Control Bill Present Law Unchanged Except For Few Minor Points Until End Of Year; After That, Government Controls Cease Except In Areas Where Retention Voted

Washington, June 22—(AP)—Congress has passed a new rent control bill. President Truman is expected to sign it into law.

This is an ABC on what that new bill will do as law.

It will keep the present law unchanged, except for a couple of minor points, until Dec. 31, 1950.

After that date all government rent controls will cease everywhere in the United States except—and this is the only exception—where the people or officials of a city or town vote to keep them longer.

Even though a town or city votes to retain the controls beyond Dec. 31, they can keep them only six months beyond that date for, automatically, government controls will then end June 30, 1951.

To put it another way: the new law continues controls until June 30, 1951, but only for a town or city—a state can't vote to keep them, which votes to retain them until June 30, 1951. Otherwise they end Dec. 31, 1950.

The present five main provisions of the law—for knocking off controls—remain in effect until Dec. 31, 1950. So between now and Dec. 31 controls can be knocked off this way:

1. The government's housing expeditor can remove the controls anywhere he thinks it's all right to do so.
2. Local rent control advisory boards, able to show their locality no longer needs the controls, can recommend to the housing expeditor that he removes them from that one locality.
3. State legislatures can vote to wipe out government rent controls in any individual state.
4. State legislatures can pass a law setting up their own rent controls, and this automatically wipes out government controls.
5. The local governing body—like a town or city council—can vote to end government controls. And this will be done if the governor of the state approves.
6. (This is new) an unincorporated county—such as an adjoining a large city—can wipe out the government controls if the officials of that county vote to do so.
7. The law says this: Even though government rent controls should end everywhere on Dec. 31, 1950, (Continued on page eight)

Use Of Playgrounds Increasing As Program Gets Improvements

By ROY HARDEE
 Reports received from the city playground workers today indicate that attendance at the 13 city-sponsored playgrounds has been better than average since the opening of the recreation program on Monday of this week.

Some of the playgrounds have reported daily attendance of more than 100 each, with the hot weather having no ill effect on attendance.

In addition to the regular games being played at the playgrounds daily, a table tennis contest is conducted each afternoon at the Teen Age Club. The contest involves both singles and doubles winners.

Checker games, ping pong, horse shoes, volleyball and basketball and many other games are being enjoyed daily by the playground attendees. A baseball league is under way for the boys with a good number of teams taking part.

For the first time in the history of the recreation program, an art teacher has been employed to teach painting at the local playgrounds.

The teacher, Martha Gilbert, makes regular rounds to the playgrounds and has her headquarters at the Coanache Street Park in the band house.

While the older children enjoy the more active sports the younger children play in the sand box, take turns on the see-saw and swings.

Chairman of the City Recreation Commission Hebe B. Tripp reported that the playgrounds are in good shape, with additional equipment still needed to further the program.

At the swimming pool, daily attendance has been very good, Cashier David Jones reported, with the weekly totals running above 1,500 in most cases.

A program of free swimming has been planned for the children of Greenville by the commission. The Girl Scouts took part in free swimming Wednesday while the Brownie Scouts were admitted free to the pool this morning from 11 until 12.

The schedule for free swimming for the remainder of the week is as follows:

Friday—Cub Scouts will be admitted free from 11 until 12 o'clock.

Saturday—All children from the ages of six years up to ten years will be admitted free.

Additional swimming will be offered next week, but the exact days have not been announced yet.

The swimming pool will be closed on Monday and Tuesday of next week, it was announced today. The pool will reopen for its regular hours on Wednesday. The pool will be cleaned and fresh water put in over the two-day period that the pool is closed.

Chairman Tripp said today that arrangements for the teaching of swimming lessons free of charge to youngsters in the city are being made. Announcement as to the exact time and place these will be held will be made at a future date.

the chairman said. The present hold-up is in finding instructors to teach the classes, Tripp explained.

Telescope Finds Exploding Star

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 22—(AP)—The 200-inch half telescope has discovered an exploding star farther away than any yet reported—it took 50,000,000 years for its light to reach the earth.

The explosion was reported at a meeting of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific today in a paper written by Dr. Milton Humason, of the Mt. Wilson and Palomar Observatories in California.

Had the supernova been as close as Vega, a bright star visible to the naked eye, it would have been as bright as the moon, he said. The Palomar Telescope, the world's largest, found the star in the Coma Cluster, one of several distant universes similar to the Milky Way.

Discovery of two new dwarf star systems in the Constellation of Leo also was announced by astronomer R. C. Harrington and Dr. Albert G. Wilson.

They said one of these—they were both recorded by Palomar's 48-inch Schmidt Camera—is the smallest ever found. The scientists said the discoveries are significant because further study may yield clues about how our own universe like the Milky Way, of which the Solar system is a part, are evolved.

"Last year was the biggest year in the history of production credit. North Carolina associations made 22,556 loans for approximately $25,000,000. The Greenville association made loans totaling $1,552,864 in the counties of Pitt and Greene," Secretary F. L. Little Jr. said.

Ask Probe Into Teacher-Firing

Raleigh, N. C., June 22—(AP)—An investigation has been asked into the recent discharge of 13 teachers at Mars Hill and Hickory.

The National Education Association was requested to make the probe by the executive council of the North Carolina Education Association's division of Classroom Teachers.

The council, which decried the teachers were "discharged without justifiable reasons," took its action yesterday.

The action was unanimously ratified by some 150 classroom teachers who met here for the Division's fifth annual workshop conference.

The executive council in its resolution also requested the board of directors of the NEA to support the investigation request, which was directed to the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy Through Education, an NEA group.

Ten of the 25 teachers in the Mars Hill school will not be back next fall, according to reports from Mars Hill.

Division officials asserted that six teachers in the Hickory school system also were discharged without justifiable reasons.

been free thinkers and free voters. They always have voted for the men they think will serve the best interests of all the people of the county, state and nation. They have not allowed themselves to be subdued to the aspirations of a political group.

The Reflector urges each voter to go to the polls and cast his ballot in the important second primary Saturday. We urge you to vote your convictions rather than the way someone would coerce you to vote.

We feel the people of Pitt county will continue to vote freely because of their ability to think and select the best men for office. We believe the men and women of the county who are thinking through this campaign and the two candidates, Frank Graham and Willis Smith, will find the truth which we have found after serious investigation and consideration.

Willis Smith will best serve the interests of the people of North Carolina and the nation in the United States Senate. His past record and activities point to continued efforts in the interest of all the people.

Smith is opposed to the fanatical government spending and waste program which is fast carrying this nation down the road to socialism. He is in favor of the current farm support program which, while it is not perfect, is the best obtainable and most beneficial to the farmers. He is opposed to the ill-founded Brannan plan which would make the farmers as well as the consumers of farm commodities dependent upon the federal government and virtually under government control.

Willis Smith is opposed to the FEPC and its threats of destroying the freedoms of all the people of the nation as we have known them. He is not inciting a race hatred movement as his opponents would have you believe. He is in favor of the sound, fine race relations North Carolina has enjoyed through the steady progress and evolution which have brought great benefits to both the white and the Negro citizens of our state. The North Carolina way has set our state far ahead of other southern states in race relations. It has been through the North Carolina way—not through federal compulsion.

We think the people of Pitt county who give serious consideration to the real issues involved in Saturday's second primary will vote for Willis Smith for the Senate. A vote for Willis Smith will be a vote for good, sound government; whereas a vote for Frank Graham will be a vote for questionable government and a vote for the solidification of a political oligarchy in North Carolina.

Strength for the Day

BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

OBSCURITY BROUGHT FAME

William Law lived in England the latter part of the seventeenth century and for about two-thirds of the eighteenth. He is the author of one of the most widely read devotional books ever written—"A Serious Call to a Devout and Holy Life." Thousands of copies are still sold every year in England and America.

Law prepared himself to be a minister in the Church of England, but because he felt that George I was not the legitimate successor to the throne of Great Britain, he would not take an oath of allegiance to him and therefore could not serve as a minister in the state church. Just as Sir Thomas More had bowed his neck to the block almost two hundred years before rather than acknowledge the ecclesiastical claims of Henry VIII, so Law refused to swear the oath of allegiance to a king who had been put on the throne ahead of the prince whom Law considered the legitimate heir, Bonnie Prince Charlie, son of James II.

Law went into obscurity and poverty after he made his decision. But looking back now we can see that as a minister of a large congregation of his day he would undoubtedly have been forgotten. Poverty-stricken, outcast William Law set himself to writing and among other things produced "A Serious Call."

The lesson seems to be that we obey our conscience, we can leave the future and all its events in the hands of God.

Think Through The Issues Of The Senate Race

Just as the pen is mightier than the sword, the free vote of a free thinking people is mightier than any power a self-imposed political machine can muster.

Saturday's primary will be the most important vote in more than 50 years of North Carolina history.

The people of Pitt county have trudged during a deluge of political propaganda through the past several weeks from both the Willis Smith supporters and the advocates of the powerful Graham-Scott-Daniels coalition.

What Dr. Graham has done since he has been in the Senate, what his affiliations were before he went to the Senate, and what he is likely to do if sent back to the Senate for another four years have been left beclouded by Graham supporters simply because they will not discuss openly the real issues in the campaign.

They have painted Graham to the people of the state as a besieged little man who is seeking to do the only thing which is good amid a world of villains.

The Graham supporters have left no stone of power in the state administration of Governor Scott returned to coerce the individual voters and the people as a whole to vote for Frank Graham. The $200,000,000 secondary road bond program has been held as a big club over the rural people who have been reluctant to support Graham because they honestly and rightly feel that his continued presence in the senate would be adverse to the best interest of all the people of North Carolina.

State officials have actively sought funds in North Carolina and outside of North Carolina for the support of Graham's candidacy. Reports are widespread that state employees, whether they favor Graham or not, have been coerced into active campaigning for Graham.

If Graham's record of activities in itself could stand on its own feet as upright and wholesome for the people of North Carolina and the nation (which it can not), the very activities of the people who have conducted Graham's campaign stand alone as ample proof to the people of North Carolina that his election would be to the detriment of the people of the state. The same self-seeking unethical group which is conducting his campaign will conduct the voting of Dr. Graham should he be elected to the Senate.

Here in Pitt county we heard the Scott henchmen who are struggling for Graham, boast even prior to the first primary that they had read what they termed a "riot act" to certain county candidates telling them if they did not line up as Scott wanted them to, they need not expect to be elected to office. When one clique seeks to control politics in North Carolina from the county offices to the United States Senate, it is time for the people to put a stop to the pipe dreams of power the group might have.

The people of Pitt county always have

 News Behind The News
 BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 22—Relations between President Truman and a Congress nominally controlled by his own party have degenerated to such a degree that it is doubtful if there has been more bitter feeling between the executive and legislative branches of the government in modern history.

It is the basic explanation for the strange fact that two successive sessions, one Republican and one Democratic, have failed to enact even a minor portion of his "fair deal" program.

Debates on the floor and discussions in committee furnish indisputable evidence for this conclusion. Moreover, there are several unusually significant features to these expressions of resentment.

AUTHORITY—For one thing, they involve such extremely important issues as national defense, tax revision and the post office service.

Secondly, most of the denunciations of Mr. Truman have been delivered by the recognized leaders of his party. Although many of his critics are Southern members, they supported him in 1948 against the so-called "Dixiecrats."

Last, the underlying reason for this indictment rests on the belief that ex-Senator Truman has tried to arrogate too much authority to himself and his non-elected appointees, and has shown his contempt for the body in which he once served as an humble member from Missouri.

It is not a situation to inspire rejoicing save among the Administration's most bitter and blinded political enemies. It is an extremely grave crisis in these difficult days because of the vital need for cooperation between them.

TAXES—A violent eruption occurred behind the doors of the House Ways and Means Committee when Speaker Sam Rayburn tried to force or persuade this recalcitrant group to enact a tax reduction bill that would comply with President Truman's wishes and threats.

The tentative measure is such a hodge-podge that it is likely no relief will be provided through repeal or reduction of wartime "nuisance taxes." Committee members blame their delay on the White House. Instead of asking quick overnight relief, Mr. Truman submitted a complicated and controversial program that muddled the matter.

Realizing that failure to satisfy the retail buyers and stimulate consumer trade may hurt the party next November, Mr. Truman demanded that Speaker Rayburn prod the committee into action. Sam tried, begging the Democratic majority to "give the President what he wants so that we can pass some kind of a tax bill to help the party."

EXPERT—"Since when" demanded Chairman Robert L. Doughton, a proud and stubborn North Carolinian, "has the President had the right to tell us what kind of tax bill to write? Under the Constitution, as I read it, all legislation dealing with revenue must originate with us, not at the White House!"

Other members threatened to report a measure pleasing consumers, even if it displeased the President, and "let him take the blame for vetoing it."

A former personal friend of Mr. Truman complained, "When has he become such a great expert on taxes and finances? He used to need help from an Internal Revenue expert to make out his income tax report when he was getting only $10,000 a year as a Senator."

MAIL—When Postmaster General Donaldson curtailed deliveries and pickups of mail to save $500,000,000 a year, at least a score of measures restoring the service were introduced. Passage is probable, even in face of presidential opposition.

"The Post Office has always been a particular responsibility of Congress," declared a member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee. "I'm sore," said another Democrat, "because Truman and Donaldson are trying to high-pressure us with their arrogant and unjustified action. What right have they to cut this essential service to the people, to save a paltry $500,000,000, when Truman and Acheson give at least $5 billion a year to foreign countries, and don't seem to give a damn about a

Somebody Told Me

BY I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

The Alumni Bulletin of East Carolina Teachers College, May issue finally made its way to the top of my desk the other day. All of the time it was buried I had known that there was some movement underway to change the name of the college, but it was not until I read the bulletin that I had the complete story. Ballots have been mailed to members of the Alumni Association to determine the feeling of the members about the change. The bulletin lists the reasons for considering a change as:

"1. The college has been giving the arts college degree as well as the degree for teachers since May, 1951.

"2. There is a general trend throughout the country to drop the word 'teachers' from the names of colleges.

"3. Our dual program makes it possible for people in this area of the state to come to school when they would not be able to finance their program in pre-professional and arts colleges elsewhere.

"4. The universities throughout the country look askance at teachers colleges; it is pretty difficult to impress them with the fact that we are far removed from the normal schools when little content material was covered. Right now, a committee of thirty people has been set up representing all the higher institutions of the country except the teachers colleges, and they were deliberately left out.

"5. The highest scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, will in no way consider teachers colleges for membership. We have never yet been able to get the AAUW (American Association of University Women) or the AAU to recognize us.

"6. We need to raise the tone of the teaching profession, and although we get a considerable number from the better type homes, many such people will not go to a place labeled a teachers college because they feel that it detracts from the prestige of an institution from which they want a degree. As we see it, their thinking is shallow, but is actually false and seems to be the way nine-tenths of the institutions of higher education, also, think about it.

"7. Many people feel that the letters 'E.C.T.C.' are very unfortunate, and are frequently confused with the Elizabeth City Teachers College for Negroes, and the East Carolina Training School, near Rocky Mount.

"8. The name of the college has been changed before; therefore, there would be nothing unusual about changing it again.

The final action, however, must come from the General Assembly.

The report of the Bulletin does not suggest what the new name would be, if the present one is changed. Judging from the comments, I assume that the new name would be East Carolina College.

The recent trend has been to call the college "East Carolina." The above report of the alumni bulletin calls the letters "E.C.T.C." unfortunate; my word for them is "corny." The college is progressing in every phase; in fact, in recent years it's like a different school. Why not give it a different name?

And I thank you

MILK—North Carolina dairymen are producing more milk, at least more Grade A milk, than ever before and are having less trouble with state regulations. Major credit for this happy situation is accorded the classification schedule set up last year by L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture. During the spring of last year there was constant turmoil in the milk business, farmers, distributors and processors all being dissatisfied. Occasional "gripes" are noted this year, but upon the whole the milk industry is running smoothly in this state.

INCREASE—Report just issued by the state and federal departments of agriculture, co-operating fully for the first time in history, shows that production of Grade A milk jumped from 22 million pounds in April of 1948 to 37 million pounds in April of 1959. During that same two-year period the number of farmers producing Grade A milk increased from 2,126 to 3,793. This increased production of Grade A milk within North Carolina was reflected in decreased importations from other states. For instance, in April of 1948 distributors brought in from other states 6,732,102 pounds of fluid milk. Importations for April of this year were 1,266,134 pounds. And it is noted that all importation permits expired on June 1 and none have been re-issued since that date. For first time in many years, North Carolina is producing enough milk to supply state demand.

BALANCE—In fact, the state produced during April more Grade A milk than could be used in the classification. Distributors bought from farmer-producers 37,124,723 pounds of Grade A and sold to consumers 33,922,712 pounds. That means some three and a quarter million pounds of Grade A milk had to be diverted to manufacturing of butter, ice cream, buttermilk and other classifications at lower prices.

booming public debt and deficits?"

PRINCIPLE—But it was Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who epitomized the real meaning of this growing indignation. Urging the House to pass his synthetic rubber bill, even though it scrapped the President's program on the ground that the latter did not plan properly for national defense requirements, he said:

"This involves a very important principle of government in this country. It brings us again to the question of delegation of the powers and duties of Congress to the executive branch. It is a question which goes to the root of our system of government.

"I say that Congress cannot continue along this path of abdication of its proper functions to the executive branch. Continuous delegation of Congressional authority to the Executive will ultimately deprive our people of any Congressional control at all.

"I will never believe that the 150 million people who elect us every two years expect us to capitulate to the multitude of non-elected officials in the vast government departments, and pass to them the functions and authority properly vested in the legislative branch."

The Vinson Rubber Bill passed without a single objection. It will go through the Senate in the same way, even though it is a severe reflection on narrow minded thinking at the Pentagon and the White House.

to smooth over, but upon the whole the farmer-dairy program in North Carolina is running smoothly.

TAXES—The Tennessee Valley Authority will out loose payments "in lieu of taxes" of about six million dollars on June 30, according to a new story from TVA headquarters in Knoxville. The story sets out that this is almost double the amount of taxes paid to states, counties and municipalities before TVA took over the property. The TVA story is accurate as to factual statement, but creates a wrong impression. Comparison of taxes in 1959 and 1950 involve many factors other than dollar and cent amounts paid into state and local treasuries. There are the items of franchise taxes levied against private power companies, but which TVA does not have to pay. Many of these taxes have been added since 1939, when TVA acquired most of its property; also during that period ad valorem valuations and rates have both increased.

BOOKKEEPING—It's largely a matter of bookkeeping, and a good bookkeeper can make figures say whatever he wants them to say. For example, the TVA report shows investment in North Carolina property of about $117 million dollars by TVA. Manipulation of figures takes about fifty million of this out of the tax picture, leaving $67,213,000 on what would be taxable basis, on that more than $67 million investment TVA and its operation pays aggregate taxes of about $127,000. That same investment and operation by a private corporation would pay $1,440,000 in taxes, according to computations of a privately owned utilities accountant. Besides, the private utility companies have to pay heavy federal taxes, which TVA can ignore.

Proposals to restore federal controls on consumer credit may break out again. Many government and private economists are fearful that many American families are over-loading themselves with obligations.

Tightening of credit, they admit, might tend to slow the present boom. But an over-expanded indebtedness, on the other hand, would worsen any downturn.

Federal Reserve figures showed consumer credit slightly under 19 billion dollars at the end of April. Accuracy of the FRB's consumer credit series has been challenged, but there is little doubt that the total of purely consumer credit is within a couple of billion of this estimate.

In addition, there is some 40 billion dollars outstanding on non-farm home mortgages, and the total swells daily with the home-building boom. The total indebtedness is tying up a lot of future earnings.

One of the reasons a renewal of consumer credit controls may be asked is that in some areas and some lines terms have become softer than a last year's watermelon. No-down-payment offers are common; "Make your own terms" is appearing more often in ads. Of course, these make-your-own-terms offers aren't as dangerous as they sound. Shoppers will find that there are limits to how small and how infrequent payments may be. In addition, they still have to undergo the usual credit investigation. However, in some sections credit offers have become so competitive that many of the more conservative merchants would welcome a return of credit controls.

Other brakes than rigid controls could be applied to consumer credit. Some of them may be used before demands to restore controls are taken seriously.

Federal Reserve could require banks to increase their reserves. This would give banks less money for lending and make them more cautious about financing retailers whose consumer terms were unusually soft.

Or the Treasury could increase interest rates on short-term borrowing, which would divert more money to these securities, with the same results.

In addition, the Controller of the Currency, who supervises national banks, could induce banks to tighten lending practices. The Wall St. Journal says he has already doubled the number of inspections of a number of banks, many of whose loans to finance retail sales don't meet the approval of bank examiners.

HEADS: Foamy "heads" shaken drinks are assured by a new ingredient (called White Cap, by Bar Host Products, Inc., 40 W. 4th St., New York 12). A little added direct or to the lemon juice gives a frothy topping without changing the taste of the drink.

FENCING: A decorative garden fence in aluminum is being introduced by Eclipse Mfg. Co., 1380 Hurd Ave., Cleveland, O. Fickets are 8 inches high, extending to 12 with ground pickets. Fence is flexible for fitting curves and the natural aluminum may be painted any color.

Hal Boyle's Column

New York—(AP)—Do you want to be remembered forever? You can. And you don't have to win fame by giving $98,000,000 to Goosegrease College. Or by battling 61 home runs in a year. Or by swimming the English Channel blindfolded with your legs tied behind your neck.

No, all you have to do is simply figure out a way to break up a cocktail party on time. Do this and a grateful nation will pay homage to your memory. In fact, I'll erect a statue in your honor in my own living room.

For one of the growing problems of our generation is how to get a cocktail party to end the same way you start it.

The cocktail party has a simple function in modern society. Its basic purpose is to pay off social debts.

Your wife says, "We haven't had anybody at our house for ages." So you suggest a cocktail party. That way you can have a bunch of people over and discharge all your social obligations at one time.

"All right," says the wife. "But remember—we'll have to break it up early."

Out go the little invitation notes: "Cocktails at our joint on Friday—from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m." You put the time in on purpose, hoping that some of your friends can read. But apparently none can.

You invite 15 friends and they bring along their friends who ferry in their acquaintances, too. By six o'clock a count of the house shows 40, of whom you and your wife probably know about 12.

The deadline hour of 7 passes unnoticed. At 8 p.m. six guests leave—but only because they are pampering their ulcers. By 9 o'clock everyone is on a singing mood, and the place is still packed.

By 10 o'clock they have eaten everything in your icebox and downed all your liquor stock. So you borrow all your next door neighbor's liquor—and he joins the party, too.

At 11 your wife cries out in subtle gasy:

"Why don't we all go together and have supper somewhere?" Nobody moves. But singly and pairs they begin to roll out shortly after midnight.

From then on your task is to weed out the late-staying types. These are (1) the Martini Man; (2) the Maiden Who Simply Loves Manhattan; (3) the Sissler, and (4) the Sampler.

And you are stuck with them until the kitchen runs dry.

You then can wrap the Martini Man and the Manhattan-gulping Maiden around each other and push them out the door.

This is all right—they won't remember it the next day. You simply have to outwait the Stasher, who keeps reaching under the sofa and pulling out hidden drinks. The same thing is true of the Sampler, who goes around lapping up half-finished drinks left by the other guests and murmuring, "I put my glass down somewhere. I wonder if this one is it."

When they finally leave and you crawl wearily toward the bedroom, you discover the fifth and last type—the Sleeper. He is

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—A couple of boys up at the Army quartermaster's climatic research laboratory at Lawrence, Mass., who give their superior officers no trouble at all—unless they short circuit once in a while. These chaps don't ask for weekend passes and they don't make passes at girls. They don't go AWOL. They don't talk back. And you can always get them up in the morning. They exist solely for the good of all GIs.

They're commies, as you might have guessed. The most recent to check in is a fellow they call "Lumpy." No stuffed shirt—just stuffed "longies." He's equipped with electrical heating units all over his body. Researchers can see how well GI sleeping bags function. He is used to test all kinds and shapes of bags—bags made up with different insulating material such as waterfowl down or glass wool and inflated bags.

"Lumpy" got his name because he bulges out here and there. He's only a stuff of long-handled underwear stuffed full of wadding. They dress him in a sleeping bag, lay him down on the cold, cold ground, sometimes on a hunk of ice and turn on the heat. That way they measure heat. If Lumpy presses down on hip, shoulders and heels, they can measure how much heat is lost by the pressure and where to make improvements in the bags that our boys sleep in under the most difficult climatic conditions.

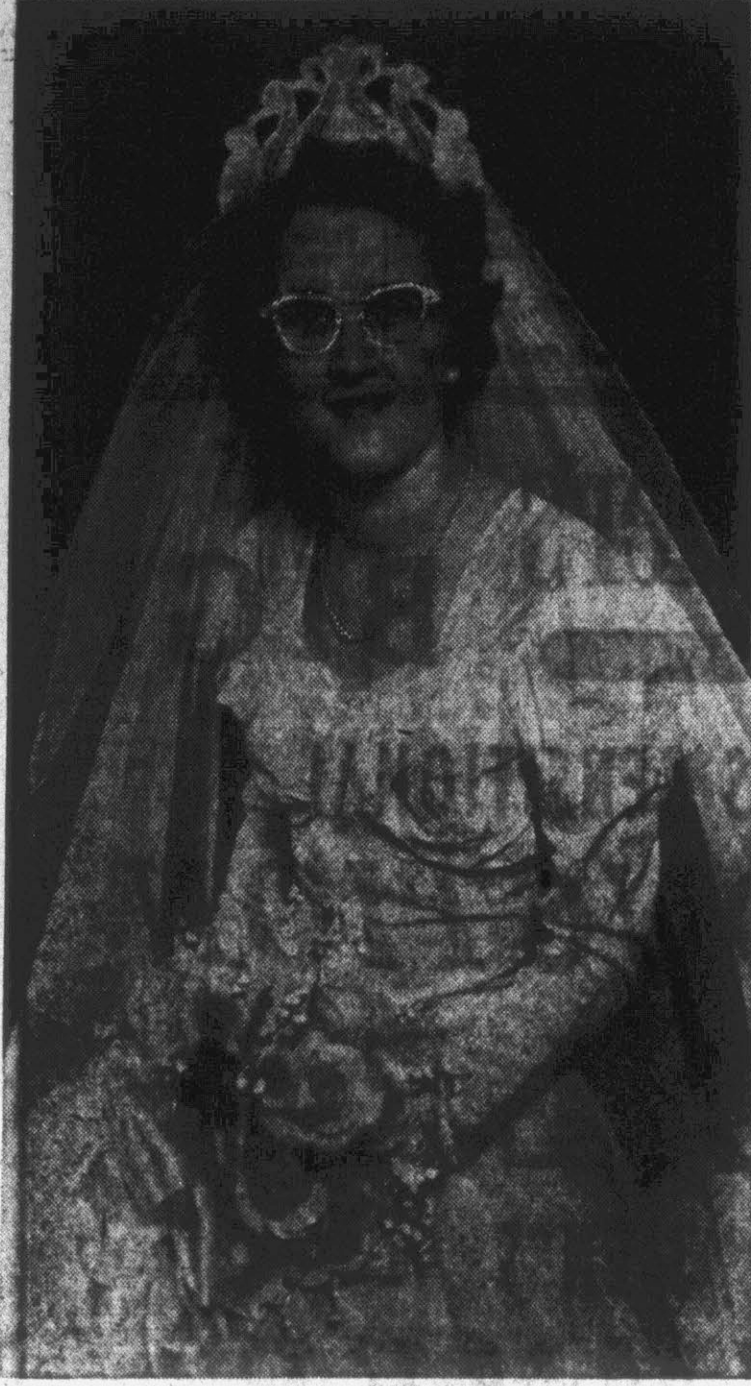

"Lumpy" is a cousin of the lab's famous "copper man," developed over a year ago. The copper man is the fourth generation of a family created by the scientists to permit measurement of the insulation provided by clothing.

The first of this family was fabricated by a tinmith from stovepipe fittings and heated by a circuit of Christmas tree bulbs distributed in his trunk and extremities. The copper "man" was electroplated from the sculptured form of an average GI drawn from some 10,000 measurements. The heating wires, similar to those in an electric blanket, are distributed closely and evenly under his copper "skin" so that his heat distribution represents those of a real man.

The copper man is so made that he can be dressed easily. His arms can be raised over his head. Gloves and mittens fit his hands. He even has a wig of human hair so that the value of head protections may be assessed.

He has faced the "world's worst weather" on top of Mount Washington in mid-winter, where effects similar to those encountered by GIs in the Arctic can be measured.

Mary Lea Abee Is Married To James Robert Russ Jr. On Sunday

MRS. JAMES ROBERT RUSS, JR.

In a candlelight ceremony on Sunday afternoon, June 18th, at four o'clock in the Memorial Baptist church, Miss Mary Lea Abee became the bride of James Robert Russ, Jr. of Greenville and Washington, N. C.

The Rev. Richard E. Hardaway, pastor of the bride officiated using the ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mr. Leon Fleming, Jr., organist, Mrs. Moye Dail of Greenville and Mr. Frank Nunnally, brother-in-law of the groom, of Washington, N. C., soloists. Mrs. Dail sang "All For You" by Brown and "At Dawning" by Cadman. Mr. Nunnally sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Roy Carl Abee, Jr., wore a gown of white brocaded faille with a net ruffled over-skirt ending in a circular train. The fitted bodice had an off shoulder ruffle of net with covered buttons down the back and long sleeves ending in a point over the hands. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white tube roses centered with a purple throated orchid. Mrs. William M. Shelton of Columbia, S. C., was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a dress of mist blue embossed organza over taffeta with a fitting neck line and a blue taffeta sash. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations tied with yellow ribbon and her head-dress was of matching flowers.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Joseph O. Glazebrook of Richmond, Virginia, sister of the groom and Miss Mary Anne Keel, of Greenville. Their dresses were of orchid embossed organza fashioned like the honor attendant with bouquets and head dress of yellow carnations and ribbon.

Mr. John Harris of Gastonia, N. C., was best man and the ushers were John Zeh, of Washington, N. C., Ralph Tucker, William Taylor and James Warren, all of Greenville.

Mrs. Abee, mother of the bride, wore a powder blue crepe dress with pink and brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mrs. Frank Nunnally, sister of the groom, of Washington, N. C., wore a dress of brown and white dotted Swiss with brown and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Russ, is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Roy Carl Abee of Greenville and the late Mr. Abee. She graduated from Greenville high school and attended East Carolina Teachers College and now holds position with the United States Post Office in Greenville.

State College and is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College. He now holds a responsible position with the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company in Greenville.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's mother entertained at an informal reception at her home on Chestnut street. Guests were greeted at the front door by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parks and introduced to the receiving line.

In the dining room the table was covered with a hand-made lace cloth, which held an arrangement of feverfew and lighted tapers. Mrs. Jimmie Warren, assisted by Mrs. Bill Taylor, served lime ice punch and individual bridal cakes.

Miss Nancy Elks presided at the register in the gift room.

For traveling the bride changed to a dress of navy blue eyelet with white accessories and wore the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Upon returning to Greenville the couple will reside in their new home at 700 Willow street.

Out of town guests were: Mr. J. R. Russ, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nunnally, Carol Nunnally, Plummer Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. Reid Mitchell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. John Zeh, Mrs. Allene Darrow, Mrs. Addie Russ, Rev. Steven A. Gardner, all of Washington, N. C. Maj. and Mrs. W. M. Shelton, and Lynn Shelton of Columbia, S. Taylor of Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. L. Best Fleming of Hassell and Mr. Jack Harris of Gastonia, N. C.

On Saturday evening following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Abee, Jr., entertained informally honoring the wedding party and out of town guests.

The dining table was covered with a Madeira cut work cloth. A centerpiece of feverfew and lighted tapers in silver holders completed the arrangement. After the bridal couple cut the first slice, Mrs. Richard Hardaway served the cake. Mrs. Carl Abee, Sr., mother of the bride, served lime punch nuts and green and white mints were passed. About thirty guests were present.

May Get Direct Airline Service To West Coast

Washington, June 22—(AP)—North and South Carolina are among six South-eastern states which may get new direct airline service with California.

That new service was recommended yesterday by an examiner's report to the Civil Aeronautics board. J. Earl Cox, the examiner, pointed out that the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Louisiana now have no single airline service to the west coast.

He proposed that Eastern Airlines be allowed to extend its routes.

His recommendations are subject to board decision.

TEEN TALK

(Dear Judge)

AP Newsfeatures

Bare minimums seem to be the order of the day in respect to bathing suits this season. Some of them are so brief that little is left to the imagination.

If it is quite a temptation for a young girl not to pass up the briefest possible swim suit, especially when she has a pretty figure. But one thing should be kept in mind: No girl of good breeding wears a G-string type suit in public.

It is fine to wear a brief bathing suit if you have a private lake or pool or sun shed where you can soak up water and sunshine to your heart's delight. But if you bathe in crowds you must observe the laws of decency.

Some girls who are so modest they wouldn't dream of parading around their homes in scanty pajamas, have absolutely no qualms about appearing public in shocking attire.

If you can get a good fit in your swim suit there are strapless suits which can be worn without causing others embarrassment. But so often these suits, one or two-piece varieties, do not hold up against sturdy waves, high dives, and beach games. Sometimes they serve merely to excite the curiosity of male companions.

You may hear whistles and wolf calls from your boy friends directed at girls who attire themselves in the briefest possible play clothes. But your own date will not appreciate wolf-calls directed at you. It is a strange paradox that men can admire in other women, what repulses them in regard to their special girls.

The best test of a new bathing suit or one about to be purchased is a brother, if you have one. Brothers are better critics of Sis' clothes than other relatives or friends. They want to be proud of their sisters and will give the most constructive criticism.

This is picnic season for country and city dwellers. Some young couples organize picnics for beach or woods—a delightful idea for real honest-to-goodness fun.

Occasionally a picnic can get out of hand, particularly when it is scheduled for "a moonlight night." Many girls worry about the pairing-off angle—twosomes that wander away for a session of necking.

Some girls have written that for fear of not being invited again, they indulge in a certain amount of spooning, rather than be dubbed "poor sports."

One girl writes: "Too often I'm convinced that these parties are just cheap dates for the boys. They get good food (put up by the girls) and a nice evening of romance—all on the cuff. Why don't girls get wise?"

There certainly shouldn't be any harm in engaging in some hand holding while sitting around a fire under a pretty moon. Young and old would agree to that. If everything is aboveboard, why should couples shun the crowd after festivities are under way? Certainly whispered sweet-nothings can be said within earshot of others without embarrassing any young swain or his date. If the chit-chat is too hot for the rest of the group, that couple is in need of a chaperone.

If you are invited to picnic alone with a boy, here are a few things to remember:

- (1) Unless you know him well, do not go on a late beach picnic.
- (2) Even if you know him well, do not pick a deserted area for your picknicking.
- (3) Always tell your parents where you are planning to picnic.
- (4) Do not wear a scanty play

Thirty Hurt As Theater's Ceiling Falls On Patrons

Redwood City, Calif., June 22—(AP)—Thirty persons were hurt in a freak accident which dumped some tons of ornamental plaster on moviegoers in the balcony of the Sequoia Theater here last night.

Fifteen were injured enough to need hospitalization, but only one was in serious condition early today. The others required only first aid.

Mrs. Vangle Case, 34, of Redwood City was still unconscious in Palo Alto Hospital several hours after the accident. She either jumped or fell from the upstairs loge seats in front of the balcony. She was not in the area where the plaster fell.

Six other persons were taken to the Palo Alto Hospital and eight to the San Mateo Community Hospital. None of the injuries, besides those of Mrs. Case, was considered serious.

The accident occurred about 15 minutes before midnight, when most of the patrons had already left.

The crash of the ornamental plaster and wire mesh reinforcing came suddenly with a roar like thunder.

Redwood City Fire Chief Joseph Lodi said the ceiling seemed to have given way in the center and just "peeled off" to the sides. He estimated that about 10 tons of plaster and reinforcing fell.

He said a man and a woman were killed or a man and a woman were injured by falling plaster. Besides inviting mosquitoes, you might give your date the wrong impression.

(5) Skip heavy romance even if you like the boy. Birds and flowers, sunshine and water have a way of casting a spell. Many things which seem right in that atmosphere would not seem so upon soberer reflection.

Robins Rally For Two In Ninth, Top Roanoke Rapids Jays By 6-5 Margin

Locals Trailing In Bottom Half Of Last Frame, Lashed Out Four Hits And With Aid Of An Error, Collected Needed Runs

By BERT MOYE

The Robins rallied for two runs in the last of the ninth to edge the Roanoke Rapids Jays, 6-5, here last night before a 671 fans who braved threatening weather to witness the contest.

Trailing by a one-run margin in the ninth, the Robins collected four hits with the aid of an error to push across two runs. Singles by Paul Strausser, John Tepedino and Joe Guidice loaded the bases. George Hallow then singled to center, and two runs scored when Centerfielder Walt McJunkin erred the ball.

The Jays went out in front with a single marker in the second frame when Yonnie Bass walked, advanced to second when Lautato erred on the throw to second, and Yonnie Bass' double into center field, and came home on Heflin's wild pitch.

The Robins came back in the second frame to put across three runs on three hits and three walks. After George Hallow had gone out, John Baktis started things going with a single into left field. Vince Lautato walked and Jim Hancock hit to short left field to lead the bases. Hall then popped out to the second baseman. Heflin was walked, Baktis in Baktis, Strausser was walked forcing in Lautato, and John Tepedino singled to bring in Hancock.

A singleton in the fourth inning gave the Robins a 4-1 lead at this stage of the game. Lautato reached first when he was hit by pitcher Jack Boykin, advanced to second on McCaskill's error at second base, and came home on Randy Heflin's double into center field.

The Jays came back to push across two markers in the sixth frame when Manager Pappy Williams homered over the right field wall to bring home Larry Quartararo who had been issued a free pass to first.

Yonnie Bass' double into deep centerfield to bring home Leo Kalkreuth, who had singled and advanced to second on a stolen base, gave the Jays a run in the eighth inning which knotted the count at 4-4.

The Jays went out in front 5-4 in the top of the ninth when Brantley Aycock singled and John Tepedino erred the ball and John Tepedino erred the ball, allowing Aycock to advance to second. Boykin's infield cut advanced Aycock to third and Sparky McCaskill's infield hit allowed Aycock to score. Manager Randy Heflin went the route on the mound for the Robins to record his tenth win of the season against three defeats. It was his first victory of the season over the Jays. He gave up nine hits, walking five and striking out four.

Sparky McCaskill with three singles in five trips to the plate and Walt McJunkin with a homer and a single paced the losers' attack.

Luffy Jack Boykin went the route for the Jays, giving up a total of 13 hits while walking five and striking out two.

John Baktis with a double and two singles and John Tepedino with three singles led the Robins' attack.

The Robins travel to New Bern tonight to meet the Bears in a twin bill with the first game getting under way at 6:45 o'clock. They return home on Friday night to play a single game with the Bears.

Yawl Edges Win In Bermuda Race By Over An Hour

Hamilton, Bermuda, June 22—(AP)—Crossing the finish line in darkness shortly before midnight, the Yawl, Argyll, snatched victory from the grasp of Bolero in the 635-mile Newport-to-Bermuda yacht race.

Owned by W. T. Moore, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., the Argyll, with an overall length of 56.61 feet, checked in at 11:47 p. m. (EST) Given a time allowance of nine hours, 41 minutes and 28 seconds she beat Bolero's time by one hour and 23 seconds, assuring her the class A prize.

The 72.84 ft. B. C. another Yawl owned and skippered by John Nicholas Brown of Providence, R. I., yesterday had been the first of the 53 craft in the race to cross the finish line. However, her time allowance was only 25 minutes, 47 seconds.

Three other yachts also finished in darkness, but their times did not affect Argyll's standing. The three: The schooner, Nina, owned by De Corsey Fales, of New York; the Yawl, Nirvana, owned by H. G. Haskell, Jr., of Wilmington, Del.; and the British entry the sloop, Gulvain, owned by J. P. Rawlings of Portsmouth, England.

The Argyll's corrected time was 74 hours, five minutes, and 59 seconds compared to Bolero's 75 hours, six minutes and 22 seconds.

The U. S. Naval Academy's Royno, second to finish, had a corrected time of 77 hours, three minutes and five seconds.

The third yacht to finish was Escapade, a 72-foot Yawl owned by Wendell W. Anderson of Detroit. Her corrected time was 77:22:31.

Chips Are Down For Two Entries

Omaha, June 22—(AP)—Texas and Rutgers, which got things started in the NCAA baseball tourney just a week ago, meet again tonight and this time the chips are down. The winner will play Washington State tomorrow night for the championship.

In the first meeting Rutgers took a close one-4 to 2. But sports writers still like Texas in tonight's game. They tab the Longhorns, defending champions, as consistently the strongest team in the tournament.

They also point out that all of Rutgers' runs were unearned, and that Herman Hering who held Texas to three hits, won't be ready for another appearance on the mound.

Hering pitched last night as Rutgers walloped Wisconsin 16 to 2. The Scarlet used a combination of 11 hits, seven Badger errors and eight walks to build up the lop-sided score against the Big Ten team. It was the second time Rutgers had beaten Wisconsin in the tourney and this, the loss sent the Badgers home.

Last night's games and tonight's have been loosely referred to as "semi-finals." However, the way the double-elimination tourney has worked out Rutgers is playing in both games while Washington, idle last night and tonight, already has a berth in the finals.

THE PINT-SIZED INFIELDER HAS BEEN HAVING THE BEST SEASON OF HIS CAREER

It is little short of amazing the way Phil Rizzuto keeps on improving with age. The pint-sized Yankee shortstop has been rated a fine ball player. The players rated him one of the best. Managers say he is one of a team-man. And the fans of the Yankees have always considered him one of their favorite performers. Last year there were plenty of baseball scribes who insisted that the most valuable player award should have been his for his efforts in bringing the pennant and world championship to the Yankees. This season, Phil has been better than ever and he, more than any other Yankee player, is responsible for keeping the club in the pennant race.

In addition to his superior fielding Rizzuto has become a dazing hitter. Long recognized as one of the ablest bunters in the league, Phil has been thumping the ball with authority. His big bat has actually been setting a merry pace for Joe Magglio and company. It was at Manager C. Stengel's suggestion that Rizzuto tried out a heavier bat in spring training. Actually it was one of Johnny Mize's big models. Phil did so well with it that he appropriated a couple of this model when Mize went off to Kansas City. With the big club, Phil thumped the ball more solidly and for greater distances than ever before.

Rizzuto is doing his best to earn the $40,000 the Yankees are paying him this season and, at the rate he has been going the first half of the pennant chase, he is more than succeeding.

Farmville Captures 3-1 Win Over Macclesfield

Farmville, June 22—Farmville could get only two hits last night but those two were enough to put the team back in first position of the Bright Belt league ahead of Macclesfield which Willie Mauney's team beat 3-1.

The two teams went down to the wire in a one-all deadlock. Then shortstop Hook for Macclesfield muffed Sam Stettin's infield fly to permit Lou Colle and Roger Thrift to score in the bottom of the last frame.

The win last night placed Farmville ahead of Macclesfield by a scant half-game margin. Before last night, Macclesfield had lead the locals by the same margin.

Colle and Bailey were the only Farmville players to hit safely. Both got singles but couldn't convert them into tallies. Colle's hit came in the sixth and Bailey's in the second.

Junior Yohn notched his eighth win of the campaign in pitching six hit ball. He has lost one this year. Both teams committed one error apiece.

Tonight's Games

Rocky Mount at New Bern (2)
Greenville at Goldsboro (2)
Kinston at Tarboro (2)
Wilson at Roanoke Rapids

The old jinx or whatever you may care to call it almost worked again in last night's game here. It just seems that Greenville cannot win a game if they get an early lead and are building up for themselves quite a reputation for coming from behind to win their contests. Ladies Night was observed last night and valuable prizes were awarded Mrs. Joe Moyer and Miss Ruth Taylor in observance of the event. The Robins got away with three fast double plays in last night's game. Ten Robins were left stranded on the bases and eight Jays were left on.

Received a nice letter from former Manager Pappy Williams this morning dated June 17th. Enclosed with the letter was a picture of Pappy which appeared in the local newspaper down here under the title "Burger's Big Bat." Pappy stated at the present time he has hit 16 homers, has 72 runs batted in, second in the league with the number of stolen bases, 14, and that he was hitting well over the 400 mark. Pappy in his letter asked to be remembered to the Greenville fans and sent his best regards and wished for the Robins a most successful season.

Around the Circuit: Tarboro has a new "Class Man" first baseman, and Marvin Donaldson has been handed his release to make room for the new veteran and Manager Joe Antolick has placed himself on the suspended list so that the new veteran first baseman could be played. Red Book has returned to the Athletics' lineup after having been out with an injury. Bill Garner, a rookie hurler, has been given his release by the A's. Bill Schneidmiller who was released recently by the Rocky Mount Leafs, has come to terms with Smithfield of the Tobacco State League. He'll be with the Smithfield-Selma team now.

By Bill McCotter, former pitching ace for the Pirates of East Carolina Teachers College, has inked a contract with the New Bern Bears. Clancy Condit veteran righthanded hurler is expected to join the Jays pitching staff within the next few days. He was with the Dunn-Erwin club of the Tobacco State League as a season and racked up a record of 20 wins and nine losses. He also set up a record for strikeouts in that league last year when he fanned 264. Paul Stegman, big righthander who started the season with the Raleigh Caps, was reported as sold to Por-smouth of the Piedmont League, returned to Raleigh and was sent to Kinston. However, the hurler has failed to come to terms with the Kinston front office and has reported to Rocky Mount. John Soak, former Wake Forest football star who was released from Wilson when Manny Fulghum was signed, stated that he will quit his post with the Rocky Mount Leafs. Solek, who has been on the injured list for the greater part of the season, said he felt he would not regain his top form this year. Milton Roat, a big righthander, with a record of six wins and two losses with the Lakeville, Fla. team this season, is expected to the Wilson Tobs today. Worliss Knowles, former star performer and manager of the New Bern Bears, has accepted a position as manager of the New River Va. team of the Class D Appalachian League, a club currently on the bottom of the league.

Grant Franchise To New Entry In Basketball Loop

Grant Rapids, Mich., June 22—(AP)—The National Professional Basketball League awarded a franchise to Grant Rapids last night, bringing its total of member cities to eight.

J. Dixie Moore, league commissioner, turned the franchise over to George Gramack, formerly a University of North Carolina All-American basketball star and later a member of the Rochester Royals of the National Basketball Association. Gramack promptly signed a contract to play 30 games in the Grand Rapids stadium next winter. The new team also will play 30 games on the road.

Moore indicated there was a strong possibility that other franchises might go to Milwaukee and Toledo teams.

Penn State's new football aids, Joe Pater, played at Brown University for four years under the new Lion coach, Rip Engle.

Talent From Cuba Helps Washington Crush Detroit Tigers By 12-4 Score

By JACK HAND (AP Sports Writer)
Bucky Harris' new Washington rumba team—Consuegra and Marrero—have mucho stuff on the ole apple. Just ask Detroit.

The Tigers saw Sandalio Consuegra yesterday and Conrad Marrero Tuesday. They haven't seen the ball yet.

Who are Consuegra and Marrero? The Red Book says they both pitched for Havana in the Florida International (Class B) last year. Consuegra had a 6-5 record in 11 games. His a slim Cuban, just under 5 feet but only 150 pounds. Marrero, a chunky fellow, had a 25-8 record for a 1.82 earned run average. Three years in a row he was the top winner in the league.

Harris wasn't too keen on his Cuban talent during spring training. Naturally he was a little dubious about a Class B pitcher in the majors. Turned out he didn't have to worry.

Consuegra got into an argument with owner Clark Griffith of the Senators about paying off an old Venezuela contract and went home. He was called back from Havana this month. First start he shut out Chicago. St. Louis knocked him out. Then he whipped Detroit yesterday, 12-4, with only five hits.

Cleveland, moving up fast in the race, saved Detroit's hide by whipping the second place New York Yankees, 5-1. No Cubans there. Early Wynn, an old Alabama boy, took charge of the Yanks with a four-hitter. Only Bobby Brown's homer in the ninth robbed him of a shutout.

Billy Pierce followed up his recent one-hitter against New York with a 3-1 victory for Chicago over the Boston Red Sox. Pierce yielded seven hits but he struck out eight, getting Ted Williams twice.

Lou Brissie came to the rescue of Bob Hooper to save the Philadelphia A's 4-2 margin over St. Louis. Although Brissie started Sunday and pitched nine innings Tuesday night he worked 1-3 hitless innings. Veteran Wally Moses drove in two of the runs off Al Widmar.

Once again the National is all snarled up with St. Louis and Brooklyn tied for the lead. Cincinnati rallied with three in the ninth to nip Brooklyn, 6-5, while St. Louis pulled up even with the Dodgers on a rousing 14-8 romp over New York.

Manager Burt Shotton lifted starter Don Newcombe when he walked the leadoff man in the ninth although Brooklyn led, 5-3. Relief pitching failed to stop Cincy with Harry Lowrey delivering a decisive bases loaded double.

St. Louis ran up the biggest score against the Giants this season to regain a piece of first place. Leo Durochers "hunch" starter, Kirby Higbe, failed to last two innings. Fine relief pitching by Bill Werle and timely hitting in the sixth inning gave Pittsburgh a 5-3 win over Philadelphia, costing the Phils a chance to close in on the lead.

A. Pollack Boyd (left) of Chattanooga, Tenn. has been playing in the Southern Amateur Golf tournament since 1917. And now he is watching 17-year-old Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., one of the youngest entries in the 1950 tournament at New Orleans. Eddie recently won the Mississippi state amateur championship. At right Press Thornton of Dothan, Ala., holds the umbrella over himself and Billy Key of Columbus, Ga., as they figure their scores in the first day's qualifying round of the tournament. London, June 22—(AP)—Britain's Labor government decided today to stake its life on a vote of confidence in its Schuman plan policy.

The cabinet told Prime Minister Attlee to go ahead on a plan to ask the House of Commons to support the government's cautious stand on the proposed pool of western Europe's coal and resources.

The confidence vote will be in the form of an amendment to a motion submitted two days ago by conservative leader Winston Churchill and Labour party leader Clement Davies. Debate on the Schuman plan opens Monday and the vote is expected Tuesday.

A government defeat would mean dissolution of Parliament and new general elections.

Ryder Cup Stalwart Of Twenty Years Ago Surprises Tourney

C. umbus, 22—(AP)—A 22-year-old Al Watrous, in his prime 20 years ago as a Ryder Cup stalwart, has become the first surprise in the $40,000 Mid-Century PGA golf championship.

The prestige meet, which enters gruelling match-play tomorrow, promises to be full of them before it's all over.

The 52-year-old Watrous, from Birmingham, Mich., carved a one-und 71 in yesterday's first qualifying round over the Tortuous 1,032 yard Scioto Country Club layout.

"His sprawling chere, born from a half dozen one-putt greens, placed the tanned, well-preserved old guard among the leaders in today's 18 hole qualifying finish.

Scioto's par was being treated with the same high respect as it was when Bobby Jones won the 1924 National Open here with 293 and wild Bill Mehlhorn set a competitive course record of 68.

The 36-hole qualifying deadline may well be a high-strung 151 or more, while 140 takes Medalist honors.

Leading the first round with 70's was a home-run hitter and a switch-hitter. Powerful Olick Harbert hammered a pair of 35's while Mr. Purgol, the cross-handed putter from Albuquerque, N. M., coupled 37-55, the back side being the finest of the day and including a birdie and an Eagle on the last two holes. Only 19 players in the field of 120 aiming for 63 berths managed to equal or break par.

Sam Snead, defending champion and favorite to peg his third PGA crown, was exempt from the trials. But he went around, any way, hoping to pick up the $250 medalist prize. Snead slammed 72 to be grouped with 12 others in that bracket, including Lloyd Mcgrum and Bob Hamilton the 1944 champion.

Rough Start For Clipper's Cousin

Bridgeport, Conn., June 22—Joe Dimaggio—the one recently released by Concord, N. C., of the North State League—didn't do too well in his debut as a pitcher here last night. Joe, a cousin of the Yankee clipper, portwasp picked up recently by the Bridgeport Bees of the Colonial league after being released by Concord.

Joe fed six Poughkeepsie chief batters and retired none. Three walked, two hit doubles and the sixth a single.

Tigers vs. Indians
Training School's league leading Tigers had to score three runs in the final inning to overcome the Indians at West Greenville yesterday morning to win in a close and hard fought battle. The final score was 6 to 4. Both Edwards for the Tigers and Hudson for the Indians pitched three hit ball, but Hudson was hurt by the miscues of his mates. Kelly Barnhill, Bullock and Cannon got the hits for the Indians. Dick Evans with a double and single and Peeve Jorgensen with a single were the hitters for the Tigers.

Giants vs. Pirates
The Giants won their first game of the season yesterday winning over the Pirates 11 to 10. The Giants ran up an impressive 10 to 0 lead after three innings and seemed to be on their way to an easy victory. In the fourth though before the Pirates could be retired they had scored nine runs to tie the game up. Virginius Haymes came in to retire the side and hold the Pirates scoreless the rest of the way. The Giants scored a singleton in the fifth which held up for the win. Doug Morgan with four singles, Bobby Watson with two

Pitchers Dread To Watch Stanky Come Up To Plate

New York, June 22—(AP)—Pitchers dread all about that stuff. I always admired and respected Leo's judgment. There is no manager I enjoyed playing for more than Leo. "This club is still in the race," said Stanky. "don't forget those who walk."

You hear pitchers talking about hitters. How they pitch high inside to one. Low and away to another. After Stan Musial and Ralph Kiner, they say Stanky is the man they hate to see up there.

Stanky doesn't hit it out of the lot often. But he's a fine hit-and-run man. A 330 hitter worth perhaps 50 points more in value to a team.

"Eddie is playing better ball than he ever did," said Manager Leo Durocher about his 32-year-old second baseman "He's as dangerous a hitter as we have on the club. You can't say too much about him. He keeps the club together."

This is high praise indeed. For Leo is the man Stanky was supposed to have said "stabbed me in the back" when Brooklyn sold him to Boston in 1948. They didn't speak until last winter. Now they're palsy.

"Soon as I heard I was traded to New York I sent Leo a wire," said Stanky. "Told him I was glad to be back with him. Next morning he called me down home at Fairhope, Ala., and we talked 45 minutes. But singles and a double and Walter Coor with two singles led the attack for the Giants. Billy Jordan and Jody Taylor with two hits each led for the Pirates. Bobby Lee made two scintillating catches in the outfield for the Pirates to bag defensive honors.

Declines Reveal Tax Bill Action

Washington, June 22—(AP)—President declined today to say whether he would sign or veto the tax bill now pending in Congress. He noted that it may be changed a lot before it ever reaches him.

Asked at a news conference what he thinks about the bill, Mr. Truman said he never expresses his attitude on such measures until Congressional action has been completed.

Seek Test Vote

London, June 22—(AP)—Britain's Labor government decided today to stake its life on a vote of confidence in its Schuman plan policy.

The cabinet told Prime Minister Attlee to go ahead on a plan to ask the House of Commons to support the government's cautious stand on the proposed pool of western Europe's coal and resources.

The confidence vote will be in the form of an amendment to a motion submitted two days ago by conservative leader Winston Churchill and Labour party leader Clement Davies. Debate on the Schuman plan opens Monday and the vote is expected Tuesday.

A government defeat would mean dissolution of Parliament and new general elections.

Election Day Beer Sale Legal

Raleigh, June 22—(AP)—Sale of beer on election day is legal.

Attorney General Harry McMullan expressed that opinion yesterday although he pointed out that laws on the subject are not clear.

The Attorney General explained that his office believes beer is exempt from a state-wide law banning the sale of intoxicating liquors on election days.

New Nationwide Strike On Railroads Seen Soon

Chicago, June 22—(AP)—A possible nationwide rail tieup was forecast today as:

1. A switchmen's union set Sunday as a strike date against five big lines, and 2) two more unions became legally free to strike July 15.

The Rock Island and the Western Pacific said they would stop running Sunday if the switchmen's union work.

The AFL Switchmen's Union of North America told the Rock Island, the Western Pacific, Great Northern, the Chicago Great Western and the Denver and Rio Grande Western Lines yesterday that they were turning down a presidential board's wage and hour recommendations. The board made its suggestion April 19. Since May 19, under the Railway Labor Act 30 day "cooling off" period provision, the switchmen have been legally free to strike. All the peace-making provisions of the law have been carried out.

The carriers were notified at the same time that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors were rejecting a wage and hour recommendation by a presidential board on June 15. They must "cool off" until July 15.

The officers of the two unions made a joint statement saying the June 15 findings an "insult" to railroads, as well as the "most unjust, unfair inequitable and injurious report" by the emergency board since enactment of the railway labor law.

Students Elect SGA Officers

Isaac G. Armstrong, of Oriental and Morganton, W. Va., will head the student government association at East Carolina Teachers College this summer. Elections held this week on the campus resulted in the choice of a full slate of officers to lead the SGA for the two terms of the summer session.

Armstrong is a junior at the college and is specializing in his work in the social studies and in science. For two years before enrolling at East Carolina, he attended law school at the University of West Virginia, where he participated in various student activities. During the last war he was in service and was enrolled for air school training at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va.

Among other recently elected officers at East Carolina are Thomas D. Davis, senior from Henderson, who was chosen as student treasurer and will be in charge of student funds and the student budget office for the summer months, and Irene Toomas, Burlington sophomore, who will serve as secretary of the SGA.

Six members-at-large elected for the summer are Curtis Nichols, senior from B. Arthur; Bernard West, senior from Greenville; Jerney Minshew, junior from Stantonsburg; Alan Berman, junior from Portsmouth, Va.; Clifford Adams, sophomore from Elizabethtown; and Ray Furelle, senior from Rich Square.

William E. Sutton of New Bern, president of the class of 1950 and until completion of this summer's elections acting president of the SGA, was manager during the recent voting.

Dulles Says Captive World Too Weak To Risk Conflict

Tokyo, June 22—(AP)—John Foster Dulles said today the "captive world" of Communism is too weak to seek war now with the free world. The Republican adviser to the state department told the American Chamber of Commerce the immediate danger to free countries is that they may be taken over from within by small, disciplined Communist minorities.

Dulles' address came amid these other rapid-fire developments involving the United States' position in troubled Asia.

(1) General MacArthur and Dulles conferred for 90 minutes. It was learned they were in virtually complete agreement on necessity for prompt American aid for Red-threatened Formosa and the need for a peace treaty for Japan.

(2) MacArthur, it also was learned, was pleased with the outcome of his conference Monday with defense Secretary Johnson and General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. MacArthur advocated sending U. S. military equipment to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa to be administered by an American military Mission. He maintained that American positions on nearby Okinawa and the Philippines would be threatened if the Chinese Reds took Formosa.

(3) Johnson and Bradley flew to Okinawa today to inspect that battle-famed island which has been converted into a key air base since it was wrested from the Japanese. The Americans, MacArthur said, are going to be on it in strategic spot between Japan and Formosa "for a long time."

(4) Dulles told a news conference his, Johnson's and Bradley's conclusions will be pooled on their return to Washington and "I think they will form the basis for some positive action but I cannot forecast what." He explained:

By "positive action" he meant that U. S. intends to "preserve international peace, security and justice in the world—and that includes this part of the world as well as the so-called western world."

Higher Humidity

Though it may have seemed to be as hot today and yesterday as the rest of the week, the weather observer says no. Mrs. Malden, local observer, reports the highest reading in Greenville was only 92 with a low of 71. In the last 24 hours, 82 inches of rain fell.

Temperature at eight o'clock this morning was 76, with the mercury going up to 81 by eleven. Mrs. Malden explains it's not the heat, but the humidity.

W. W. Lee Named Vice President

W. W. Lee of Greenville, secretary-treasurer of H. A. White and Sons and Home Building and Loan Association, this week was elected vice-president of the North Carolina Savings and Loan League during the convention at Virginia Beach.

Mr. Lee returned to Greenville last night after attending the convention. He was elected vice president of the league to succeed Jerry Jerome of Brevard who was elected president of the league for the coming year. Lee previously had been a member of the board of directors of the organization.

Other officers elected at the convention included E. D. Kaykendall Jr. of Greensboro, executive vice president, and four new directors.

Patrol To Push Highway Safety

Raleigh, June 22—If a highway patrolman stops you next week, smiles, salutes and hands you a card, don't think you're being summoned to court.

It's merely a part of an intensive highway safety campaign to be conducted by the Department of Motor Vehicles in an effort to cut down on highway accidents over the Fourth of July week-end. Beginning Sunday, June 25, patrolmen will hand out 40,000 cards to motorists urging them to drive carefully over the holidays. Thirteen persons were killed over the Fourth last year.

The cards which patrolmen will present to motorists carry a picture of a patrolman and a message stating: "I am your highway patrolman. I will be on the highways of North Carolina constantly during the Fourth of July week-end to protect you in your holiday travels. Thirteen persons were killed over the Fourth of July last year. You can help me cut down on that tragic toll if you drive safely and sanely this year!

Each patrolman is scheduled to hand out 10 cards a day. The Department hopes that use of this method will help to cut down on the traffic toll over the Fourth, which normally is the year's worst holiday from the standpoint of highway accidents.

All leave for patrolmen has been cancelled for the holiday.

Burmese Navy Captures Python

Rangoon (AP)—Communist-chasing Burma navy men returned to base here with a strange prize from the west coast. It was an eight-foot python which "infiltrated" Navy headquarters at Akyab, main port on the Arakan mainland.

Chimes To Greet Babies Arriving At N. Y. Parish

East Aurora, N. Y. (AP)—Musical birth notices are all the rage in East Aurora of late, thanks to the amplified organ chimes of the First Presbyterian church. The idea belongs to the minister, the Rev. E. Gibson Lewis, Jr. The practical end is handled by the church organist, Mrs. Fred D. Morgan. Mrs. Morgan plays a 10-minute recital for each new arrival in the parish. The chimes can be heard over most of the village. "The Westminster Chimes" usually starts it off, followed by "The Doxology," a nursery song to indicate a girl or a boy, a hymn, a lullaby and "The Westminster Chimes" again.

"The clue for girls," says Mrs. Morgan, "is usually 'Mary Had A Little Lamb' or 'Bo Peep.' For the boys, it's 'Farmer In The Dell' or 'Little Boy Blue.' If I can, I try to work in a few bars of a song that will honor the mother."

Painting roots with a one percent suspension of the gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride has been found effective against chicken lice.

Israel Tightens Curbs On Travel

Tel Aviv, Israel—(AP)—That big question—"Is this trip really necessary?"—so often used during the last war now is getting a thorough workout in Israel. It has been determined to put a stop to exit permits for Israelis who go abroad for fun and take a lot of foreign currency with them.

Dr. J. Horowitz, director-general of the ministry of finance, told a news conference that 4,836 Israelis went abroad during the first four months of this year. That represented an increase of 178 per cent over the 3,297 persons who traveled in the corresponding period of 1959.

That meant, too, that the Israeli travelers by converting pounds into dollars at banks in this country, took a lot of badly foreign currency with them. Now the ministry of finance has decided that foreign currency may be obtained only by those Israelis who are making "essential journeys" abroad.

British Respect U. S. Efficiency

London, June 22—(AP)—A British team, which studied American cotton manufacturing practices in six cities, including Greensboro, N. C. and Spartanburg, S. C., has returned to England with a high respect for American efficiency.

The team visited the U. S. last October and November to find out why American weavers make more cloth in less time than weavers in their own country, where the industrial revolution started.

The study group reassured British workers about "American efficiency," stating that it does not mean, as is widely supposed in Europe, that workers are overburdened and taxed beyond their strength.

It made numerous recommendations for improvement of plant methods in Britain, but seemed to be most impressed by what it called the cordial relations between workers and management in American industry despite the high tempo of production.

The team also visited in Boston, Providence, R. I., Birmingham, Ala., and New Orleans.

City Jobs Are More Plentiful

Chicago—(AP)—The number of men and women who work for cities in the U. S. has reached a record high.

The International City Managers Association reports the total of such employes was 1,082,000 at the start of 1960—a gain of 43,000 in one year. Payrolls have gone up, too. They totaled $219,000,000 in October, 1959, compared with $206,000,000 a month a year earlier.

15,000 Marines Taking To Air In Big Maneuvers

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—More than 15,000 Marine Corps Reservists are taking to the air this summer in connection with annual maneuvers on both coasts. This will be the largest airborne movement of reservists in any of the Armed Forces this summer.

Almost 10,000 of the airborne Marine Reservists will be members of Organized Reserve Ground Units who meet once a week in home training centers. Another 5,000 will be Aviation Reserve members including some 400 pilots who will fly fighter planes.

The Reserves will be flown in Marine transport planes based at Cherry Point, N. C. and El Toro, Calif. Nearly 8,000 Reservists were so transported last summer without accident and every safety precaution again will be taken this summer in the various air lifts.

Navy's Recruits See West Coast

Raleigh, June 22—Navy recruits from North Carolina will now take their recruit training at San Diego, Calif., rather than at Great Lakes, Ill., it was learned today from Lieutenant Commander P. C. Brown, Jr., officer in charge of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Raleigh.

This will mean that Navy applicants will have a four-day trip, first class, to southern California.

Trout Poachers Getting Richer

London—(AP)—Highly organized gangs of poachers are making fortunes raiding trout and salmon streams of England and Scotland. To get the fish which they sell in London and other cities they use explosives, poison and electrical devices to stun the fish, says a committee set up by the secretary for Scotland.

Many of the poachers are making $20 a night by raiding salmon and trout, the committee says. To break up poaching the committee suggested watchers for rivers and lakes, confiscation of equipment including cars and boats; wider powers to search, and licenses for dealers in salmon and trout.

European Payments Union Considered Important To Ultimate ECA Success

By CLARKE BEACH
Washington—An important new development in the European recovery program is the European Payments Union (EPU). The Marshall Plan countries are now drawing up its charter in Paris. Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), has said that the Marshall Plan won't succeed without it. EPU is a novel Yankee idea, first brought to the western Europeans in a speech by Hoffman Oct. 31. Congress was sold on the idea and made it a part of the law authorizing continuation of European aid for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951. It stipulated that $600,000,000 of ECA funds should be spent through EPU in the coming year.

But there's hope EPU will eventually provide European manufacturers with mass markets throughout Europe. They could develop the cheaper, more efficient production methods which have done so much to make possible the enormous productive capacity and high living standards of the United States.

When Europeans want to trade among themselves now they find a formidable array of obstacles. Some European currencies are considered sounder than others and nations with good currencies don't want to exchange their money for that of weaker currency countries. Nearly all of the countries have tight import quotas to protect local industries. Some have high tariff walls. Here's what EPU will do:

When one country sells to another it will receive EPU. Thus all currencies become equally valuable for purposes of European trade.

Part of the gold or dollars will be America's ECA contribution. The $6,000,000,000 of ECA funds will be so distributed this year instead of being allotted in direct aid. The individual manufacturer will receive his full payment in the currency of his own country. His government will get the dollars and EPU credits.

The proportion of credits and dollars received will operate on a sort of sliding scale—and this is the most ingenious feature of the plan. The more a country sells, the larger will be the proportion of EPU credits it will receive and the smaller will be the proportion of dollars. This will practically force the seller country to buy in other countries in order to use up its EPU credits.

On the other hand, the more a country buys, the larger will be the proportion of dollars it must put in payment; and the smaller will be the amount of its currency that will be accepted. When it runs short of dollars, it might be able to borrow some from ECA.

Meanwhile, its financial difficulties will become a matter for investigation by EPU and the International Monetary Fund. These agencies will send experts into the country to see why it is running such a deficit. They might find that its government budget needs tightening, that its bank credit policies should be changed, that its currency is inflated and so forth.

"A country that doesn't attempt to put its own financial house in order will stand out like a sore thumb as a member of the union," says an ECA spokesman. "Since membership in the union implies the yielding of a certain amount of sovereignty, a country will have to listen to and act on advice from the union's managers who represent the other countries."

Uncovers Demand For Sea Lions

Hermosa Beach, Calif.—(AP)—She sells sea lions by the sea shore. Her husband, who trains them, took an act on town leaving half a dozen or so behind.

"I either had to go into business with the lions or have them eat me out of house and home," Mrs. Kay I. Snow explained. "I decided to sell 'em. But when I started disposing of them I began getting more requests than I could fill." She found a fisherman who agreed to hunt them for her and now has an assured supply. Most of her orders are from Suisun.

One Chance Out Of 92 It's Twins

New York, N.Y. — The chances that a forthcoming blessed event will produce twins are one in 92. Triplets are born once in 8,400 confinements, and quadruplets once in 630,000 confinements. The likelihood of quintuplets is extremely remote and that they will live even more so. Only two authenticated cases in medical history of "quints" surviving infancy are the Dionnes of Canada and the Diligentis of Argentina.

The foregoing, from the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is the result of a study involving 36,000,000 confinements, based upon data from the National Office of Vital Statistics for the period 1934-1947.

The chances of a multiple birth are shown to increase progressively with the advance in age of the mother to a maximum at ages 35-39. The probability is about 17 in 1,000 for women in their late thirties, as contrasted with only 6 in 1,000 for teen-age mothers. At every age period, the chances that a confinement will yield plural births are greater for Negro than for white mothers.

Imagination Changes Plain Apartment To Paris Salon

AP Newsfeatures
NEW YORK—If you don't like the view you have, make your own. This was the theory of Jay and Annette Dohlin, whose tiny apartment looked out over a dreary expanse of chimney pots and fire escape. But it was the only home available at the time of their recent marriage, so they set about remodeling the view.

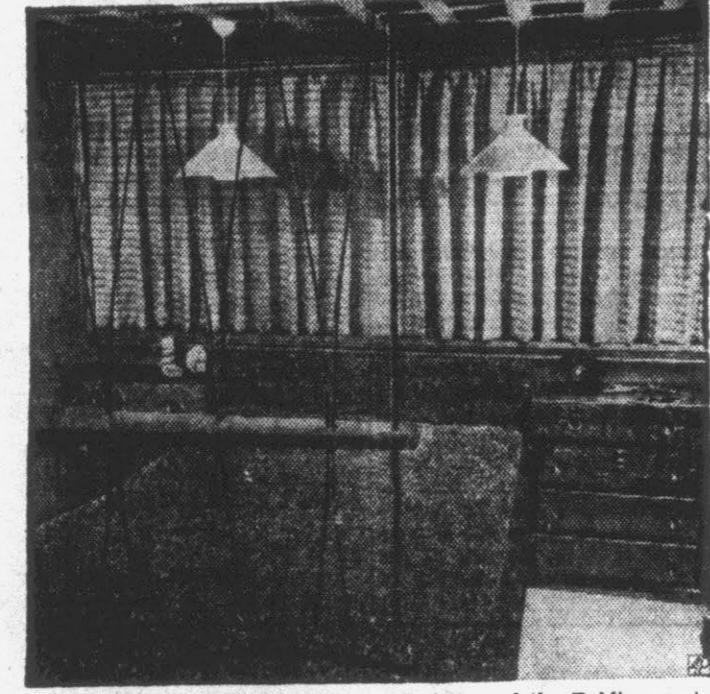

Jay, a brilliant young industrial designer, spent evenings and weekends working with hammer and saw in their small parlor-bedroom-and-bath. He began by shutting out the offensive view of Manhattan rooftops by curtaining one whole side of the living room. That blocked out the windows.

Then on the opposite solid wall he painted a Paris street scene, installed indirect lighting, built a picture window frame in front of it and even brought a tree branch in from the country. The Dohlins now look out on the romance of Paris. The rest of the decorating carried out the Paris theme. One wall was painted like an outside brick wall. Two halves of a studio couch were used to make a divan arrangement at right angles in one corner.

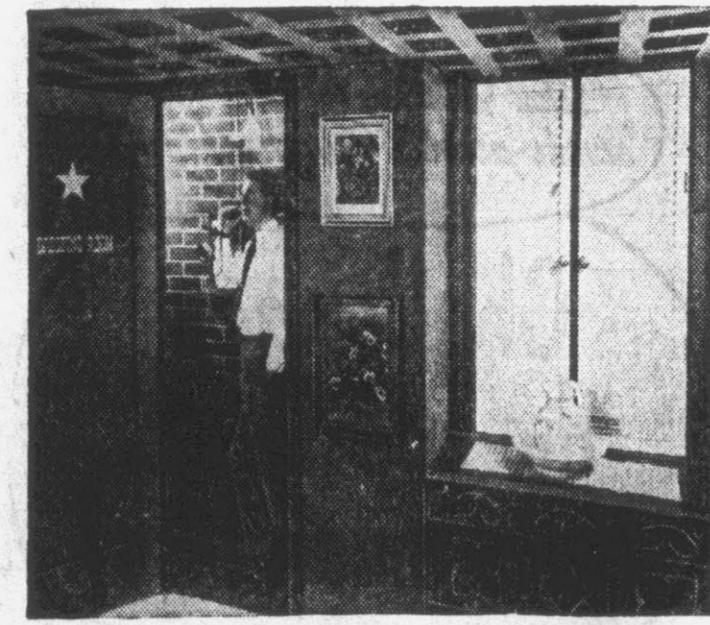

Coffee table and dining table were made of clear heavy plastic, which

Solons Denounce Court's Ruling

Montgomery Ala., June 22—(AP) The Alabama Legislature declared yesterday "we will not submit to the intermingling of white and Negro children in our public schools."

Without a dissenting vote, both houses passed two resolutions denouncing recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions against segregation as a threat to southern civilization. "The way of life of the southern people, civilization itself as we know it in the south, peace and good will between white and Negro races" depend on segregation, one resolution said.

Condemning the "continuous efforts" by the courts the President and Congress "to force intermingling of the races, the resolution demanded 'recognition of our right to our laws and our customs, and to local self-government.'"

The other resolution called on federal courts and agencies to "exercise caution" to avoid stirring up conflict between the races. It also urged Alabama members of Congress to "protect us against the continual encroachment of a powerful federal government in breaking down" states rights.

Will Elect Directors To Leaf Stabilization Board

Raleigh, June 22—Three directors will be elected to the 10-member board of the Fine-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation at the fourth annual stockholders' meeting in Pullen Hall, State College, Raleigh, at 11 a.m. Friday, June 30, it was announced today.

General Manager L. T. Weeks, Raleigh, pointed out in making the announcement that three directors' terms—which run for three years—expire annually. Directors whose tenure expires this year include: T. W. Allen, Creedmoor, N.C.; Joe Blount, Loris, S.C., and D. F. Brunson, Adel, Ga.

Nine of the directors are elected by the membership, Weeks said, while the 10th is the public director, appointed by the Governor of North Carolina. E. Y. Floyd, Raleigh, director of the Plant Food Institute of N.C. and Virginia, was re-appointed public director for three years by Governor W. Kerr Scott a year ago.

Reports on the operations of the 373,000-member organization, which guarantees farmers a floor of 90 per cent of parity for fine-cured tobacco sold at auction, will be presented at the meeting, Weeks said. He added that full reports of operations of the past year and the entire period since the corporation began its work in August 1946 will be made.

Poorer Sardine Catches Studied

NORTH CAROLINA'S NEW SENATOR

Most of North Carolina's politicians as well as the rank and file citizens of the state were bowled over last night by Governor Scott's announcement that Frank P. Graham will be the next United States Senator from North Carolina.

For a number of years, and the past few months in particular, Dr. Graham has been subjected to much criticism from within his state and from other parts of the country for his liberal views. His so-called questionable beliefs and associations have been discussed not only within the halls of Congress, but aired in the press of the country and on the radio networks.

However, in the minds of most people who are familiar with the great strides which education in North Carolina has taken in the past decades under his leadership, the ability as a leader and a coordinator he exhibited as a member of labor disputes mediation boards during the recent war years, and the abilities as a mediator, diplomat and world statesman Dr. Graham showed in his work as a member of the United Nations Good Offices commission to the Far East, he is well qualified for work in the United States Senate.

DR. GRAHAM IS A MAN OF STRONG CONVICTION, AND A CITIZEN OF NORTH CAROLINA WHO, THROUGHOUT HIS BRILLIANT CAREER HAS HAD THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE PEOPLE OF HIS STATE AND NATION IN MIND IN ALL HIS ACTIONS.

AS A UNITED STATES SENATOR HE WILL NOT BE WAX IN THE HANDS OF THE POLITICIANS OR THE LOBBY GROUPS, BUT WILL CONTINUE TO SERVE THE BEST INTERESTS OF HIS STATE AND NATION.

Thus does an "Independent" editor take a firm, fearless, unbiased stand on both sides of the fence!

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long AP Newsfeature

Chapter 1

I know it sounds contrary to reason for the funeral to come first and the murder afterwards. But in the case of Grandpere Dumont's funeral, most natural laws seemed to have been set aside, as though supernatural laws had taken their place.

My introduction to it arrived in the form of two air mail letters, both postmarked New Orleans. One, addressed absently to "Miss Peter Piper," was, of course, from my fiancé, Amedee Dumont. The other, addressed with more dignity to "Miss Katherine Piper," bore the legend, "Duval, Duval, Mollineux and Piccinnski, Attorneys-at-Law." I decided to read it first, and save Amedee's letter until later. This is what I read:

My dear Miss Piper:

In accordance with the instructions of our late client, Colonel Etienne Dumont, it is incumbent upon us to inform all his blood relatives and all persons at present affianced to any of said blood relatives, of his recent demise on the eighteenth instant. The funeral is planned, tentatively, for the twenty-second instant. Please notify us, whether it will be possible for you to attend. Please bring with you a white evening dress.

Something unique in the way of funerals! Feeling a little like the young man in the song who "went to the funeral just for the ride," I wired Mr. Simeon Duval, succeeded in obtaining passage on a plane, and arrived at the New Orleans airport on the twenty-first. There I was met enthusiastically by Amedee.

"You'll probably think this is an odd kind of funeral, Peter; but we're merely doing our best to carry out Grandpere's own wishes. 'What are they?' I asked, trying not to let too much curiosity show in my voice.

"First," he replied, "he didn't want any display of what he called funeral faces.

"Second, he directed that he be buried in his old Confederate uniform, and that all his male descendants wear the grey as well. Just before the casket is closed, his sword is to be withdrawn from its scabbard and given to his eldest grandson—my cousin Claude—as new head of the house.

"Then Grandpere used to be a breeder of blooded horses. He's left one of them to each of us. We're to ride them as a guard of honor when his body is taken to the family mausoleum.

"Finally, when the funeral is over, there's to be a formal dinner, which the men are to attend in uniform. The women are to wear white evening dresses, with a corsage of oleanders—from Oleander Plantation. Then, after the will has been read, a special case of champagne, which Grandpere had kept twenty years for the occasion, is to be opened."

He went on with an abrupt change of subject. "Practically all the Dumonts are a little wacky. First, there's Uncle Raoul, the only one of Grandpere's five sons who's living. He named all three of his children after Confederate generals: Lee, Beauregard, and Pickett."

"What if one of them had been a girl?"

"One of them was," he replied. "Who else is there?" I inquired.

"Then there's Aunt Delphine," he resumed. "She's an aunt by marriage—the widow of my father's eldest brother, for whom I was named. She's—rather peculiar."

He hesitated, as though he was finding difficulty in expressing just what he meant.

"She must be almost eighty by now, but she's got an imagination that's still in its lusty prime also. She's got a neat little trick of taking out her false teeth and

"I'm glad you told me, I said with mock seriousness.

"Then there is Aunt Minerva, the mother of Claude. She and Claude have lived in Chicago ever since I can remember."

Again he paused; and I got the impression that he was not overly fond of either his cousin Claude or Aunt Minerva.

There's Cousin Jeff Marshall, and there's Lewis Haye. Grandpere's estate manager, practically a member of the family. He'll become one in fact, if he can get Pick's consent. And there are Henri and Bobby."

Bobby was Roberta Brennon, who had been in college with me, and was now engaged to his brother, Henri, who was in the oil business.

"Another thing about Aunt Delphine, Peter," he said, and now his voice had become more serious. "Lately she's got the idea—because of my name, I suppose—that I'm the reincarnation of her son, who was killed in the first World War. I generally try to humor her in it. But I wanted you to understand, in case she says anything about it to you."

I told him that I did understand, and suddenly found myself feeling very sorry for the poor old lady, false teeth and all.

Try Experiment In Refugee Care

New Delhi, India—(AP)—Two "rural republics" where everyone has a job and no one starves have been set up in India in a new experiment in resettling refugees. It is the idea of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. His government has sanctioned 11 million rupees for experiments at Nilokheri, 90 miles north of Delhi and in the Nadia district, 60 miles north of Calcutta. Nehru has said he would like to "recreate a thousand Nilokheris all over India."

There is no middleman in the township and producer and consumer meet face to face. The community produces everything except coal, cement, steel, iron and timber. The township is knit by a network of small-scale industries, ranging from cloth-making to soap-making. The farm is jointly owned and cultivated. There are poultry farms and a dairy. Each householder grows vegetables in his garden.

S. K. Dey, manager of Nilokheri, believes that many of the present-day ills are due to "the inflated value attached to money in the modern world." On the other hand, he says, he hates "the totalitarianism which masquerades under the name of Communism."

The Nilokheri experiment is an attempt to revive the ancient Hindu system of rural republics where each unit was self-contained to the greatest extent possible and ran its own government.

Found Nothing To Back Charges By McCarthy

Washington, June 21—(AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md.) said today the FBI has found nothing to sustain charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that State Department loyalty files have been tampered with and papers removed.

McCarthy charged the files had been "raped" at the time President Truman agreed recently to let Senate investigators look over the data gathered on the loyalty of some 81 department employees.

Tydings told a news conference that McCarthy's charge was "not sustained by the facts." He said his statement was based on a report from the Justice Department and an examination of the files by the FBI.

HAIRCUT PROTOCOL
ELMIRA, N. Y.—(AP)—Barber Lee Rowley is taking no chances with irate mothers. He has this sign in his shop: "Boys under 12 years must bring note from home for a brush cut."

The 2,500,000 inhabitants of Hainan Island are mostly Chinese.

Fifteen tombstones were bowled over by this automobile which another car chased through a graveyard at Louisville, Ky. Police identified the driver of the fleeing auto as Jewell E. Bybee, a salesman, from Birmingham, Ala. He was charged with destroying private property and being drunk in a public place. Policemen said Bybee was chased by Tommy Riggs after the Birmingham salesman tried to run his car into Riggs' auto at a downtown intersection. (AP Wirephoto).

Food Production Is Big Business

Washington, June 21—An agriculture department expert said today mass production of food on a big business scale is here to stay "whether we like it or not."

R. W. Trullinger, chief of the office of experiment stations and assistant administrator of agricultural research for the department, told a convention of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers:

"Perhaps we had better start with the full recognition of the fact that the agricultural industry in the United States is gradually becoming a big food and fiber production business. American farming has long since ceased to be just a way of life."

Trullinger said in a prepared speech that there has been a decrease of nearly 1,000,000 farm units in this country since 1935—but an increase in the average size of the individual farm unit.

As a result of this change, he continued, efficiency in farm operation becomes of paramount importance and "it may be expected that future years will intensify its need."

Surpluses historically have plagued American farmers, Trullinger said, adding that "how to dispose of them with a minimum of loss will probably always constitute a problem."

Panama, according to the Book of Knowledge year book, is an Indian word meaning plenty of fish.

Hungary, ruled by Communists, has offered to swap Robert A. Vogeler, imprisoned American business man, in exchange for the crown of St. Stefan (above), now in Allied hands. The historic crown is one of Hungary's most venerated religious relics. It was taken by the Nazis during the war and was found by American troops in Germany. Last February Vogeler pleaded guilty to spying in Hungary and was sentenced to 15 years in prison. (AP Wirephoto).

Heavy Supply Of Pork Indicated

Washington, June 21—(AP)—Near record if not record peace time supplies of pork next fall and winter were indicated today by an Agriculture Department report.

The big volume should be accompanied by a downturn in pork prices from the seasonal summer-time peak.

The report of increased pig production comes on top of an earlier department forecast of larger slaughter of beef cattle next winter than last. Together, they add up to considerably larger meat supplies for consumers.

Bishop Alexander P. Shaw (above), a Negro from Baltimore, makes history at Redlands, Calif., by presiding over a white conference of the Methodist church. He is in the chair at the 100th session of the Southern California - Arizona Methodist Conference. No other Negro bishop had ever presided over a white conference in the history of Methodism. Promotion For Stormy Petrel men fighting in last year's armed service row, for promotion to the temporary grade of Rear Admiral. As a captain, Burke was the head last year of the Navy's "operations division 23." That was a group unofficially described as having the job of working up the navy's case in the stormy row with the Air Force and the Army over the role of each service in defense preparations. The new promotion has a stem that remains stiff until the crop is ready to harvest.
