Jonah Learns God's Purpose

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Susscher

Scripture—Jonah.

The word of the Lord came to Jonah, telling him to go to the great city of Nineveh and warn the people that the city would be destroyed if they failed to mend their ways.

Jonah didn't want to go to Nineveh, so he boarded a boat going to Tarshish to flee from the Lord. A great storm arose, and all on board were afraid, and they threw Jonah into the sea.

A great fish swallowed Jonah, and he remained in its belly for three days and nights, praying constantly to the Lord to save him, and he would do what Jehovah wished.

The Lord caused the great fish to vomit Jonah onto the beach, and he went to Nineveh and called the people to repentance.

MEMORY VERSE—Ephesians 4:32.

JONAH LEARNS GOD'S PURPOSE

PROPHET SENT TO WARN WICKED NINEVEH

Scripture—Jonah

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
WE HEAR and read much about crime and wickedness in the great cities of the world today. Rackets of all kinds, thievery, murder, all sorts of evil, exist in our own country. Nevertheless, very much good work is also being done, and there are many more good, law-abiding citizens in every city than there are robbers, racketeers and murderers.

We cannot think of any of our cities as being so wicked that they should be totally destroyed. So must the Lord have felt about the city of Nineveh, which was noted both because of the many wars it had waged, and for the cruelty which was practiced by its citizens.

So the Lord called upon Jonah, "the son of Amittai," telling him to go to Nineveh and warn its inhabitants that if they did not cease their evil ways, He would utterly destroy it.

Nineveh was a Gentile city, and the Jewish people hated the Assyrians and feared them, and the Prophet Jonah evidently could not understand why he, a loyal Jew, them, and he told them, suggesting that they cast him overboard to see if the storm would still.

The sailors did not want to do it, and tried hard to row the ship to land, but it was no use, so, praying that God would forgive them if they were taking the life of an innocent man, they threw him into the sea, which quieted at once.

"Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights."

Jonah prayed unceasingly to the Lord to save him, and on the third day the great fish vomited him onto the beach. Jonah's prayer is a beautiful one, and should be read aloud. Exhausted by his trial, Jonah knew that he could no longer ignore the Lord's command, so he made the long, hard journey to this Gentile city and cried aloud: "Yet forty days and Nineveh shall be overthrown!"

Probably Jonah had no idea that the people of Nineveh would take him seriously, but they did.

MEMORY VERSE

"Be ye kind one to another."—Ephesians 4:32.

should be asked to go to warn the enemies of his people of danger.

Instead of obeying the Lord's command, therefore, Jonah went to Joppa where he found a ship going to Tarshish, which is understood to have been the city of Tartessus, in southern Spain, near Gibraltar; paid his passage and boarded the ship. He must have thought he was safe and that the Lord would not be able to find him in that distant place.

However, he did not succeed. A terrible storm arose that so tossed the ship about that all aboard feared they were going to be lost in a wreck. The sailors threw the cargo overboard to lighten the ship, hoping it could ride out the storm, but it was no use. Then the shipmaster went below, and found Jonah peacefully sleeping, and the shipmaster said "What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call upon thy God, if it be so thy God will think upon us, that we perish not."

The seamen, meanwhile, decided to cast lots to try to find the person who had called this terror upon them. The lot fell on Jonah. They asked him then what he had done to bring the storm upon

They proclaimed a fast, and all put on sackcloth, "from the greatest of them even to the least of them."

The king heard of the warning, and he took off his royal robes and wore sackcloth and sat in ashes. He issued a decree that everyone should fast and wear sackcloth, even the beasts, and all the people should pray to God unceasingly.

Seeing that the people of Nineveh repented of their wickedness and tried to make amends, the Lord relented and spared the city.

This did not please Jonah, however. In fact, he was very angry with the Lord, and told Him that that was what he had feared all along, that the Lord was too good and kind-hearted to destroy the city if the inhabitants showed signs of repenting. So angry was the prophet that he wanted to die.

We haven't room here for the argument the Lord and Jonah had—the Lord striving to show His love to the Gentiles, not only of the Jews, and must show the same goodness and forgiving spirit to them as He did to the Jewish race.

Jaycees To Help In Farmers Day

Greenville Jaycees last night complied with the request to the steering committee of Farmers Day and agreed to undertake the exhibits portion of the Farmers Day activities.

President Bancroft Moseley and Secretary Allan Powell of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were designated co-chairmen of the project.

F. Badger Johnson, Jr., chairman of the steering committee for Farmers Day and Van C. Fleming, Jr., chairman of the finance committee, gave the Jaycees a brief summary of the proposed Farmers Day activities.

The educational exhibits, which are to make up one of the feature attractions of the day, are to be displayed in McGowan's warehouse where most of the Farmers Day activities will take place. Local business firms as well as out of town firms are to be invited to erect educational exhibits in the warehouse. Booth space will be made available for the exhibits, and the individual firms will be responsible for making up their own displays. Several local firms already have indicated they will have exhibits for Farmers Day, Johnson said.

Following the brief business session at the meeting last night, Program Chairman Dan Saleed presented a movie on the 1949 World Series.

New members of the club recognized at last night's meeting were Claude Taylor of the Guaranty Bank and Trust company, and Don Calloway of the Carolina Sales corporation. Guests of the club were Floyd Hendrix, Jimmy Lee, Howard Moye and Badger Johnson.

The members of the board have given considerable attention to this for some time and at their last meeting received a report of a special committee on the question and unanimously adopted the report of that committee. It is that recommended report which will be before the congregation Sunday morning. Mr. Milo H. Smith, chairman, will preside.

Three young people of the Christian church will be attending the United Christian Youth conference held at King's Mountain this next week. Hundreds of young people from many denominations will be there and it will be an inspiring conference for Christian youth. The following young people from the Christian church here will be in attendance: Peggy Nichols, Peggy Martin, and Billy Tucker.

Next Wednesday afternoon the Sunday school of the Christian church will have its annual family picnic on one of the school grounds of the city. Mr. Robert S. Moye is general superintendent of the school.

Ballad Singer Called For Many Encores At Thursday Program

Susan Reed, ballad singer, entertained an appreciative audience of approximately 600 students and faculty members of East Carolina Teachers College and townspeople of Greenville when she appeared Thursday evening in the Austin auditorium on the campus under the sponsorship of the college Entertainment Committee. The attractive young singer presented a program of folk music of the United States, England, Scotland and Ireland and was recalled to the stage for encores many times by the enthusiastic group who heard her.

Accompanying herself on the Irish harp, the zither and an unusual stringed instrument which she called the "ever-lovin'." Miss Reed sang a number of traditional songs from the North Carolina mountains and from the well-known literature of balladry and folk song. Of special interest to the audience was her second group of selections, all American in origin, which record in such songs as "Sweet Betsy from Pike," "Waltzing Matilda" and "Drill, Ye Artillery" the westward march of American civilization.

News Behind The News
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, June 23—A revolutionary change in the strained relations involving management, labor and the government has been reflected in recent extremely hush-hush talks on the part of the nation's top industrialists and union leaders.

Although the various proposals are still in the discussion stage, a successful conclusion to the several schemes now being tossed about at New York, Washington and elsewhere might lead to an unexampled era of labor peace and cooperation with capital.

Politically, it might imperil the system under which Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman virtually transformed the American Federation of Labor, the Railroad Brotherhoods and the Congress of Industrial Organizations into an annex of the Democratic Party.

There could be ballot-box profit for the Truman Administration, however. The President could argue that any arrangement guaranteeing a high level of employment and wages stemmed partially from New Deal-Fair Deal policies of the last fifteen years.

BLUEPRINT—Nevertheless, consummation of these plans would amount to an alliance of labor management against the politicians, albeit not offensively so. It would tend to end organized labor's dependence on White House favoritism and Congressional action, and thus release them from fear of political influences at Washington.

It is not strictly accurate to say that the leaders on both sides are working together in this effort. Rather, each group seems to have begun to toy with ideas of a workable and productive peace separately and independently. However, as they begin to elaborate and blueprint their program, the need for a more cooperative movement becomes clear. It tends to draw them together.

PEACE—The basic and common aim is full production at wages high enough to support mass consumption of the national product. In a certain sense the extremely generous pensions contract between General Motors and Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers, as well as similar agreements in key industries, furnishes partial inspiration for the present effort.

Among the figures playing important roles are Mr. Reuther, William Green, president of the AFL, and John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, on the labor side. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U.S. Steel, and Harry M. Moses, head of H. C. Frick Coal Company, a U.S. Steel subsidiary, express industry views.

Philip Murray, CIO boss prefers to abstain from actual negotiations, but Mr. Reuther, his possible successor, is active. As indicating his attitude, Mr. Green recently declared that he could foresee the day when "it will not be necessary to strike."

It can be said that his optimism is based on the prospect of peace offered by the developments noted here.

COOPERATIVE—Although labor welcomes management's more friendly attitude, as expressed in recent settlements, a chastening and contributing influence to union leaders more cooperative mood consists of setbacks on the political front.

President Truman has been unable to redeem from Congress any of his extreme pro-labor pledges. The campaign to raise a huge fund for November's Congressional contests has been an utter failure. It does not look now as if the next Congress will be any more responsive to the White House than the 80th or 81st sessions.

Moreover, with few exceptions the workmen and their wives seem satisfied with the pay and pension gains they have won recently. They have begun to realize that, in a practical way, the much-derided Taft-Hartley Act has not really damaged them. It has not prevented them from getting social security and welfare benefits they never dreamed of attaining only a few years ago.

There is also the bread-and-butter consideration that they have obtained almost as much help and as many favors from the politicians as they want or need.

RELATIONSHIP—Management is organizing along new lines, not only for its own protection and strengthening, but also to be able to deal with labor on a mass and long-term basis. But they indicate that they want a more friendly and understanding relationship, if only for their own selfish sake.

Bituminous coal producers of the northern area plan to set up their own association under the paid leadership of Mr. Moses, who gets along fairly well with Mr. Lewis.

It is the Southern Coal Producers Association which usually raises barriers to successful dealings with John L. With the auto makers having made their peace with Mr. Reuther's UAW seemingly insuring several years of peak production, U.S. Steel and other auto suppliers cannot afford protracted strikes in their "captive" and other mines.

VOTES—So many estimators of total vote in the first primary had to eat crow when the total showed so much more than expected, the forecasters have been very shy about sticking out their necks for the run-off. Application of simple arithmetic to experience record of second primaries in four major contests during the past twenty years would indicate a vote this Saturday of around 575,000.

RECORD—The only comparable senatorial race was that of 1932. The run-off between Cameron Morrison and Robert R. Reynolds attracted five and a half percent fewer votes than were cast in the first primary which had five candidates. The same year the second primary for governor between J.C.B. Ehringhaus and R. T. Fountain brought a vote seven and one-third percent less than the first primary total for three candidates and in which A. J. Maxwell was eliminated.

The next run-off came in 1936, when seven percent fewer people voted for Clyde Hoey and Ralph McDonald in the second than had voted for four candidates for governor in the first primary. Two years ago the drop in votes for Charles M. Johnson and Kerr Scott in the run-off for governor was five and a half percent below the totals for seven candidates in the first primary.

MATHEMATICS—The average loss in these four contests between first and second primary totals was six and one-third percent. On May 27 the total vote for United States senator was 618,347. In the average loss of previous occasions is sustained there will be 38,041 votes less, or a total of 580,306 cast Saturday. If the loss should be comparable to the highest previously recorded, or 7-1-3 percent, it would mean a drop of 45,345 votes and bring the total down to 534,961. If the drop is no more than it was two years ago the vote would come out at 584,338.

PECULIAR—There are factors peculiar to this election which have not prevailed in any of the others. To offset that, there were phases in each of the previous contests to attract voters which are not present now. Apparently there is more interest in the senatorial race now than prevailed during the first primary campaign. That was the case in 1932, when Cameron Morrison and Max Gardner ran-off the gubernatorial race—and brought out 3,000 more votes than were cast the first time. No prophet has been heard to suggest there will be more than 618,000 votes cast this week, but numerous forecasters have upped their earlier figures during the past few days. Two new factors showed up in the May 27 voting. The western counties showed more than usual interest in the primary, and for first time in history the state had more instances of controlled class voting. For many years the west had complained that the east nominated candidates, that the west had to elect them. This time the west is taking a much more appropriate interest in the party nominating processes.

HAZARDOUS—Weather conditions will have a lot of influence upon the rural vote. Availability of sufficient money to operate cars on election day will have effect in both urban and rural precincts. Numerous other "imponderables" make guessing at size of the vote hazardous. Those who put faith in statistics can justify forecast of heavy voting by the records established in other contests. Predictions of very light voting do not have statistical basis, but are based entirely on personal opinion as to influence of peculiar circumstances on minds of the qualified voters.

QUIET—Whether Saturday's vote turns out to be heavy or light, not much can be done to change it now. The radio speeches and intensive personal contact trips will continue up to voting time; and throughout the day all workers will be busy. So far as the top strategists and headquarters staffs are concerned, they have finished their jobs. Material continued to flow out of the Sir Walter Hotel by carload lots until late Thursday. Friday was set aside as clean-up day. The folks could really clean up this time. Day before the first primary they couldn't, because practically everybody expected there would be a second round.

THANK YOU—Both headquarters will have to remain open for a few days getting out thank you notes to supporters. That is just as important for the loser as for the winner, although naturally there will not be as much enthusiasm in the losing camp. Some correspondence will go into permanent files, but the accumulated mass of old newspapers kept until election day, hundreds of pages of notebook copy, some printed material that did not get mailed in time, and similar stuff that unavoidably clutter campaign offices, will be sent to the trash cans. It would not be hard to find opinions that a good deal of it belonged in trash cans all the time.

What Other Papers Are Thinking
WHITHER MCCARTHY?
(Kinston Daily Free Press)

Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin has made a lot of noise. He has made so much noise that a few people are crying that "where there's a smoke, there must be fire." Admittedly, those who take that view have high hopes that there will be some fire somewhere, that McCarthy will finally draw out a Communist spy in the State Department to be used as a campaign issue next fall.

But what has happened? Failing to turn up any evidence against Lattimore, he has apparently dropped his case against the so-called Red agent, and is now building away at the Amerasia case where he scents greener pastures.

Business Today
By ELMER ROESSNER

There's likely to be a summer slump in even the booming lines and, in those fields where it is practical, many merchants are again considering the addition of door-to-door salesmen.

Adding an outside operation is a major step in retailing. It involves a lot more than picking up a few men from an employment agency, giving them territories and watching profits roll in. It takes time, money and merchandising skill to make it successful.

Some of the problems are these: 1. Good salesmen are hard to find. The top men already have a pick of jobs. 2. Outside selling requires a large slice of management time. Even with a salaried manager, an outside department will add hours to the boss's work.

3. Outside salesmen require training and retaining. If there's not the ability to impart effective training, the entire project may be a fiasco. 4. Turnover is high. Poor salesmen get discouraged and quit; good ones often switch to lines with larger commissions and more sales.

5. It's expensive. Even untrained salesmen will expect drawing accounts. Commissions cut deeply into margins. Some otherwise successful retailers found outside selling represented a loss after overhead was charged to it. 6. Competition is severe. Newcomers will find themselves bucking organizations that have had decades of experience.

7. Close supervision is essential. Salesmen who misrepresent goods and terms can create ill-will. A large organization can pull out of a field in which it gets a bad name; a local store can't move away. There are other difficulties, but those are the most common.

On the other hand, there are considerable advantages. Outside selling can increase profits; even at lower net margins. It can compete with the large door-to-door organizations which cut into the sales of local stores. A properly trained crew can advertise a store. A New York furniture firm added outside salesmen with the primary purpose of acquiring people with the store, the door-step sales being secondary.

B. E. Zients, New York merchandising authority, in addressing the home furnishings clinic of the National Retail Dry Goods Association in Chicago this week put "an adequately staffed, experienced" carefully supervised.

WASHINGTON LETTER By JANE EADS WASHINGTON Play do not eat, sleep, work or travel without relying on the products of the paint industry. This was brought home to me in an interview with Lonore Kent, specialist in color and decoration of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

"Paint products safeguard your food and your health," she explained. "They protect your home, add color to your life and make possible miracles of modern day industry and transportation. The pleasure to be derived from color is more subtle and lasts longer than that to be gained by the finest foods or the most magnificent music," said Miss Kent, who in private life is Mrs. Laurence Kiefer and the mother of eight-year-old Lauren.

Miss Kent was a movie script writer before she got into paint. She has written millions of words about the subject for newspapers, magazines and radio, not to mention scores of booklets such as "How to Do Tricks with Color," "How to Beautify and Protect with Paint" and "New Rooms for Old," all giving practical suggestions to the home owner. These may be had free by writing Department K, care of the association at 1500 Rhode Island Ave., N.W., Washington 5, D.C. Bible of the industry, however, is a big 352-page book called "Paint Power," which took Miss Kent 5,000 hours to write. It has been translated into several languages and is used today by some 5,000 graduates of college courses based on it.

Miss Kent does most of her writing in a small cabin in the garden of the Kiefer property, which is a part of the Mount Vernon estate in nearby Alexandria, Va. There's a pool outside and a "secret garden" where she and Lauren watch the chipmunks, squirrels and birds and admire the weepink cherry tree and the azaleas.

"Paints are as carefully formulated these days as doctor's prescriptions, and top qualities now on the market far superior to pre-war materials," Miss Kent says. Among new and improved materials she lists: Interior finishes containing rubber latex, self-cleaning house paints, vapor barrier paints for moisture control and old and new houses, primer-man is going to make a fuss? Not with your steel buddy.

When you go out for an evening with the boys, Euphoria goes along with your side. He settles all sports arguments at the bar, explains why Stalin wants Yugoslavia, and carries you home at midnight. # Hoffman Says Halting Imports Is No Cure For Unemployment

New York, June 23—(AP)—Paul G. Hoffman says the unemployment problem in the U. S. textile industry can't be solved by halting exports from Western Europe.

Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, spoke yesterday at the 11th biennial convention of the AFL United Textile Workers.

He said that an added billion dollars in earnings for Western Europe is expected by 1953. This amount, he said, would mean about $400,000,000 in increased imports to the United States.

Comparing the $400,000,000 figure with America's $140,000,000 value of wholesale goods producer, he said:

"Frankly, I cannot see it in the Frankenstein proportions it has attained in some minds."

In the textile field, Hoffman said, Europe may increase its textile imports to the U. S. from the present $110,000,000 a year to $160,000,000 in 1953.

Compared to American textile production worth $12,000,000,000 the European import boost is a small figure, he said, and added:

"I do not think we can meet the problem of unemployment in the textile industry of the U. S. by stopping this comparatively modest volume of exports from Western Europe."

The ECA head said the Marshall Plan has raised industrial production in Western Europe 24 per cent above prewar levels and that farm harvests this year should be almost on the level of 1938.

He said, however, that Western Europe must earn a billion dollars more and spend a billion dollars less to be on a pay-as-you-go basis by 1953.

"If the relationship of the free peoples is to be on a sound basis, it must be on a business basis," he said.

"As long as we are giving aid and others are receiving aid, there will be annoyances and tension," he added. "These annoyances and tensions will automatically evaporate if we can put our relationship on a cash-on-the-barrelhead basis with Europe paying us for what she needs."

"The people (of Western Europe) are full of hope and confidence," he said. "They get angry instead of frightened when the Communists try to smash their efforts to rebuild. They are fighting back."

The convention adopted resolutions supporting the Truman administration's reciprocal trade agreements programs and attacking high protective tariffs.

J. Stalin Reaps Benefits From Furniture Show

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Joseph Stalin is reaping some benefits from the current summer home furnishings show.

A few days ago a mattress company announced it had sent the Russian Marshal one of its products "to ease his tensions."

Today a Chicago firm advertised it was worried about the Russian chief's daylight hours.

So they're sending him a lounge chair and Ottoman. The ad carried a reproduction of the accompanying cablegram which said in part: The two are "priced at only $89. We don't know what that comes to in rubles, Marshal, but forget it. Like America, your x x x chair is free."

Western Craze Reflected In Kids' Furniture

Chicago, June 22 — (AP) — It's strictly a boots and saddles trend, podner, in the kid furniture line at the 10 day summer home furnishings market.

To satisfy the western craze that has swept the small fry of the nation, exhibitors at the big show are putting out Hop-a-long Cassidy, Lone Ranger, and Roy Rogers imitated juvenile beds, desks, chairs, tables, wagons and bikes.

How's this: genuine cowhide headboard with ivory colored horns set in bas relief against the fur hide.

Or, how about a chuck wagon, or a bike equipped with a rifle, scabbard, saddle, bags, dispatch case, and western nail head trimmings?

Honorable Frank P. Graham
United States Senate
Washington, D. C.
Dear Senator Graham:
I know that you are just as happy as I am over the news that the President has approved our farm bill for which we had worked so hard.
I wish to particularly thank you for calling the President over the phone for I feel that this call had much to do in preventing the veto which was then impending. You and I know that the bill is thoroughly justified, and I am glad that our combined efforts finally persuaded the President to approve it.
Again thanking you, I am
Cordially,
(s) DICK RUSSELL,

Washington 25, D. C.
My Dear Frank:
I know that the signing by the President of our cotton and peanut farm bill made you as happy as it does me.
There is no doubt that the bill was in great danger of a veto, and I know that your contact with the White House was most persuasive, and, coming as it did at a critical moment, perhaps saved the bill.
I want to express to you my deep appreciation for all that you did for the bill.
With warmest personal regards and all good wishes, I am
Very sincerely,

Busy Backstop

At 33, Mickey Owen is making a valiant effort to salvage something for his catching career which was interrupted by an ill-advised jump to the Mexican league and the subsequent disbarment from baseball in this country which followed. He was sent to the Chicago Cubs last summer after returning to the Brooklyn Dodgers upon being "forgiven" by Commissioner Happy Chandler. Owen's days as a first string backstop are behind him, but the scrappy little veteran has proven a big help to the Cubs' mound staff, particularly to the young hurlers.

Owen was rated one of the smartest catchers in the business when he was working for the Dodgers before going off to war. He wasn't much of a hitter but he was selected on the National League's all-star team of 1941 through 1944 because of his defensive talents. Ironically, it was a field error that earned him the title of "goat" in the 1941 World Series with the Yankees.

In the winter of 1944, Mickey was classified as 1-A by his draft board so he decided to remain on his farm until his spring was called. After missing spring training, he changed his mind and rejoined the Brooklyn club, taking part in 24 games before he went into the Navy in June. When he was released from the service early in 1946, Owen went his lot with the Mexican League instead of returning to Brooklyn.

Fourth Straight Win For Scott Motors Ball Club

In the tightest Industrial League game yesterday afternoon, Hill's Clothiers took a close decision from Bilbro Wholesale, setting them down narrowly 11-10. It was Hill's first win of the campaign and Bilbro's fourth loss without a victory.

The hitting was about as even as the final team score. Hill's tallied 11 times on that number of hits while Bilbro was getting 13 and going under on five errors.

The victors had their biggest frame in the bottom of the fifth when they crossed the plate six times. Bilbro went them one run better, however, when they tallied seven times in their half of the sixth.

Line score:
Hill's ..... 020 063 x-11 11 0
Bilbro ..... 000 017 2-10 13 5

Scott Motors won its fourth straight game without a loss over National Carbon by a score of 6-4 in another close one yesterday.

Scott led all the way but had the pants scored off them when the Carbon team tallied three times in the last half of the seventh for what looked as though would be more runs before the side was retired.

Bill Harrington again pitched for the leaders, setting the Carbon nine down on four hits. Harrington, in his times at bat, was pretty well checked in the home run department, which he has led through four games in the league. He collected two singles in two official times at bat, though.

Line score:
Scott ..... 203 010 0-6 12 0
Nat'l Carbon ..... 001 000 3-4 4 0

Batteries: Scott—Harrington and Sawyer; Carbon—Garrison and Brown.

Wagner-Waldrop scored the widest margin of any of the other teams yesterday when it took Fleming's Station into camp on an 18-4 slugfest.

The Motors team romped on Hooks for 14 hits in the 14-run attack. Fleming's could collect only six hits off Dave Mosier, W-W pitcher.

The game was full of home runs for W-W. Hudson got two four baggers and a double in five times and Garrett got a homer and a single in three times.

The win gave W-W three victories against a single defeat—good enough for second place.

Line score:
W-Waldrop ..... 714 501 x-18 14 2
Fleming's ..... 000 103 0-4 6 3

Batteries: W-W—Mosier and Hedgett; Fleming's—Hooks and Lodge.

Ormond Wholesale won its second game of the campaign as it beat the third place Post Office 3-1. The entire game was marked by only 10 hits—six for Ormond and four for the malmen.

Ormond scored one run in the third, fifth and seventh, while Post Office was tallying their singleton in the sixth.

The winners committed the game's only error.

Line score:
Ormond ..... 001 010 1-3 6 1
Post Office ..... 000 001 0-1 4 0

Batteries: Ormond—McGowan and Gaylor; Post Office—Smith and Jordan.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 23—(AP)—Joe McCarthy, ailing manager of the ailing Boston Red Sox, rested comfortably today in his suburban farm home after attacks of pleurisy and temper.

The pleurisy together with a touch of influenza, came in Chicago earlier this week. It prompted doctors to send him home for a rest.

The attack of temper came as he strode through the gates at Buffalo airport yesterday and made a half-nepet pass at a photographer who snapped his picture. It prompted his wife, who met him at the airport, to remark "No no, Joe; don't do that."

Denials came from all hands on reports that McCarthy was quitting the Red Sox, who have lost 11 of their last 13 games.

There has been no thought of Joe's resignation, said Sox officials.

Albany, Calif., June 23—(AP)—Calumet Farms Citation and Irish-bred Noor, arch rivals of the western turf, meet again tomorrow and for the first time Citation has a weight advantage.

The two mighty racers and three other leading western thoroughbreds are expected to make up the field in the $50,000 added Golden Gate Handicap at Golden Gate Fields here.

For Calumet's ace it is a chance to bring a little nearer the dream of his backers of becoming the first horse in history to win a million dollars. It also is Citation's first shot at his three-time conqueror, Noor, without having to pack extra weight.

Noor will pack 127 pounds and Citation 126. It is the first time since Citation was a three-year-old that he has not been high weighted horse.

Snead Walks Off With Medalist Prize At Scioto

Columbus, Ohio, June 23—(AP)—Sam Snead, noted among his colleagues as the most thrifty non-sport in history, began defense of his National PGA crown today jangling $250 as the meet's medalist.

Never since his birth of the PGA tourney in 1919 has a defending champion, automatically exempt from the 36-hole qualifying round, condensed to compete anyway for the sake of picking up extra cash. That is, until Snead, who tops the money winners with more than $21,000 and, according to the pro pack, still has every cent of it came back.

But you can't take anything away from the West Virginia Hillbilly, either, a penny or a golf shot. He's got both.

Yesterday over the tough 7,032 yard Scioto course his lethal chip shot which left him with only 25 putts for the round, supported a dazzling 68.

This four-under par effort, matching the competitive course record set by Wild Bill Mehlhorn and the late Mac Smith in the 1926 National open, gave him a 36-hole total of 140 and medalist honors.

When Snead returned to the club house and ducked out without even taking a shower, Lawson Little of the PGA tourney committee managed to tell him: "You won't even let one of us guys try for the medalist prize—you've got to go whole hog."

Most of the pros are either a little irked, or a little jealous, of Snead's ability to save shots and cash at the same time. Little was merely expressing a sentiment which may have been facetious originally but which has grown into a legend finally climaxed on the Scioto course.

Boys League Baseball

West Greenville's red hot Red Sox kept their winning streak going by lambasting the Wildcats 18-3 yesterday. The Sox have been averaging about 15 runs per game. Norris, Carawan, Strickland, Nobles and Bernhill all got two hits apiece for the Sox. Duff, Martin and Smith got the three Wildcat hits.

Third Street's Dodgers won a well played game over the Braves from the Training School yesterday, 3-1. Evans held the Braves to three safeties.

The Dodgers scored single tallies in the first, third and sixth. No better on either team got over one hit.

In a play-off of a rained-out game, the Braves of the Training school lost their second game of the day to the Cards of West Greenville.

The Cards led 3-0 going into the final two innings, only to have the Braves score all of the runs to tie the game. After two extra innings the Cards put across three markers to win, 6-3. Gene Hudson was the only play to get more than one hit.

Heafner Beaten By Glob Of Mud

Columbus, O., June 23—(AP)—Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N.C., is one of the biggest men in tournament golf—but a one-inch glob of mud forced him out of the National PGA championship.

Heafner picked up the guilty glob with his tee shot on the 152-yard No. 9 hole yesterday, three-quarters through the 36-hole qualifying test. The mud stuck to his ball.

The North Carolinian chipped the ball within 12 inches, but the mud still stuck. He picked the ball up to mark it, but under tournament rules couldn't take off the mud. When he put it down, he placed the mud on the right side of the ball.

"I should have known that mud would pull the ball to the right," Heafner said in the locker room afterwards. "But, I put it at the cup and, wham, the ball took off to the right, farther way from the hole than when I putted it."

"I looked at the ball. The mud now was on top and I didn't have a chance to put it."

Heafner slapped the ball into a sand trap and withdrew from the tournament.

Union On Record Favoring FEPC

New York, June 22—(AP)—The United Textile Workers of America (AFL) is on record favoring broad Fair Employment Practices legislation.

The union's eleventh biennial convention, which has been devoting a great deal of attention to the problem of organizing workers in the South took the stand on FEPC at an abbreviated meeting yesterday.

State looked like the team most apt to put a crimp in the Texans' plans.

Texas faltered in the first game of the tournament and Rutgers edged the Westerners 4 to 2. It was a tight game and Rutgers' runs were all unearned.

After that, Texas won four straight and one of the teams they beat in the double elimination play was Washington State.

Texans Defend NCAA Baseball Crown Against Washington State Tonight

Omaha, June 23—(AP)—Texas, a team of slugging collegians with plenty of talent on the mound, defends its NCAA baseball title here tonight against Washington State.

The Texans won a decisive 15 to 9 victory from Rutgers last night to earn its finals berth.

Right from the start, Texas has been a favorite to take the title back to the Lone Star state. And from the beginning, Washington

Feller Whips Yanks Twice In A Row; Indians' Stock Up

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Does Booby Feller still have it? The answer seems to be "yes."

Even in his balmy days, the Cleveland Indian ace had trouble beating New York. Now he's whipped the Yankees twice in a row.

Not-so-rapid Robert rode home yesterday on five Triple homers off the Yanks' Lefty Joe Ostrowski, late of the St. Louis Browns. The 6-2 victory was No. 199 for Feller. One more and he'll be the only active major leaguer in the 200 club.

With Feller's help, the surging Indians' pennant stock is booming. Only 5½ games back they figure to gain where Detroit and New York play an important four-game series opening today.

Cleveland, winning eight of nine, is the hottest club in the league. The way they slugged Ostrowski yesterday proves it. Jim Hegan and Luke Easter each hit two homers and Ray Boone hit another. For the Yankees Joe DiMaggio nicked Feller for his 13th and Big John Mize, just back from Kansas City, hit his first.

Washington continued to embarrass the Tigers as Bob Kuzava threw a six-hitter for a 5-2 decision. Backing up the success of Conrad Marrero and Sandolfo Consuegra, the two Cubans, Kuzava gave Bucky Harris' Senators a clean sweep of the series. All three went the route. Despite the defeat, Detroit clung to a one-game lead because the Yankees lost.

With Manager Joe McCarthy back in Buffalo, N.Y., for a rest and physical check-up, the Boston Red Sox dropped another game to Chicago, 4-2. Steve O'Neill, a coach under McCarthy, took over as acting manager, perhaps for some time to come.

Ray Scarborough and Eddie Robinson, two former Washington Senators, took care of the Red Sox. Scarborough gained his seventh win with a four-hitter and Robinson drove in all the runs with a homer and a single.

The Philadelphia A's equalled their longest win streak of the season—two—with an 8-4 victory over St. Louis. Bobby Shantz needed relief help from Lou Brissie in the ninth. It was the fourth game in a row in which Brissie pitched, two as a starter.

Larry Jansen and Dave Koslo, two New York Giant shutout pitchers juggled the National League standings. Jansen and Koslo blanked St. Louis, 3-0 and 5-0, dropping the Cardinals from a first place tie to third.

A Brooklyn ace also lost to Cincinnati. The Philadelphia Phillies sneaked into second place, a half game out of first, by dumping Pittsburgh, 7-4.

Olympic Quality Athletes Sought

College Park, Md., June 23—(AP)—There are more than 600 athletes in the nation's AAU track and field championships today and tomorrow, and 99 per cent of them are "Joe" to the average sports fan.

Among such overwhelming numbers, seeking 44 championships there necessarily must be a plethora of also-rans.

Today's events (1 p.m. EST) are for juniors athletes who haven't won a major national track event. The seniors will be in the spotlight tomorrow. There will be 22 events for each group and a team champion will be crowned on the basis of points for the first six places in all of them.

The eyes of the crowd and the AAU committee searching for Olympic stars will be on such stars as Bob Boyd and Bill Parker of Los Angeles A.C. and Charley Thomas of Georgetown, Texas, in the sprints; Reggie Pearman of NYU, Bill Brown of Morgan, Md. Whitfield of the Grand Street Boys Club of New York, and John Barnes of Occidental in the 300. Bill Parker of Occidental, Pearman, Herb McKenley George Rhoden and Sam LaBeach in the 400. Craig Dixon and Dick Atlesley in the hurdles and Jim Newcomb and Bob McMillen in the 1,500.

Wants Fence Back

CHICAGO—(AP)—Floyd Baker, fancy-fielding but light-hitting third baseman for the Chicago White Sox, would like to see club officials reins-all the fence they set up in the outfield at Comiskey Park in 1949 to encourage home runs. Baker collected a homer over the shortened barrier just a few days before it was removed. It was his only round-tripper in seven seasons in the American League.

The U.S. Agriculture Department says frozen orange juice marketed in the 1949-49 season would make a block 60 feet wide, five feet deep and a mile long.

The Robins failed to wipe their only doubt-bearer from the slate last night as rain halted the contest, at New Bern in a scheduled double-header. This means that the next two times the Robins play in New Bern both games will be played as double-headers, which will be on Sunday, July 9th and on Friday, July 21. . . . When the Bears and the Robins meet here tonight in a single game at 7:45 o'clock, Lefty Bob McCotter former ace hurler at East Carolina Teachers College, will be the starting hurler for the Bears according to an announcement made by Manager Harry Land of the Bears. McCotter was the boy who beat the Robins in an exhibition contest played between the Pirates and the Robins prior to the opening of the CPFL season. . . . Congratulations to Johnny Tepedino on becoming an uncle. Brother Frank Tepedino, now playing shortstop with the Roanoke Rapids Jays, is the papa of a bouncing baby boy.

Facts and Figures—Here is the way the Robins stack up in many departments so far this season: The Robins in the win column have eight wins over Kinston, five each over Tarboro and New Bern, four each over Rocky Mount Wilson and Roanoke Rapids, and three wins over Goldsboro. In the lost column they have lost six each to Goldsboro, Wilson and Roanoke Rapids, four to Rocky Mount, three each to Tarboro and Kinston and two to New Bern. Greenville has been shut out twice this season both times by Kinston, and they have registered two shutouts, both of which have been against Kinston. Their wins include 10 by one run, 4 by two runs, 8 by three runs, 3 by four runs, one by five runs, 2 by six runs, 2 by seven runs, 1 by nine runs, 1 by 11 runs and 1 by 12 runs. Their losses include 11 by 1 run, 5 by 2 runs, one by three runs, 2 by 4 runs, 2 by 5 runs, 1 by 6 runs, 3 by 7 runs, 1 by 8 runs, 1 by 9 runs, 1 by 10 runs, 1 by 12 runs, and 1 by 14 runs. Pitchers' records up to the present time are as follows: Hefflin 10-3, Lewy 6-7, Jones 7-6, Keys 4-5, White 3-4, Harrison 3-2, Scarpa 1-0. The Robins have won 19 contests at home and 14 away from home; they have lost 14 contests at home and 16 contests away from home. They have played six extra-inning contests and have been winners in four out of the six contests. They have played seven double-headers this season and in four of the twin bills they won both games, lost both contests once and split on two other occasions. Since June 1st they have won 13 games while losing 9 and have tied one. They are three and one-half games from the Rocky Mount Leafs out of first place.

Plan Inquiry Of S. C. Dixiecrat Campaign Costs

Washington, June 23—(AP)—A plan to send investigators into South Carolina within a few days to check on reported expenditures of the States Rights party in a senatorial campaign were disclosed here yesterday.

The plan was disclosed by Senator Gillette (D-Ia.) chairman of the subcommittee on elections. A short time earlier, his committee announced plans to inquire into senatorial campaign expenditures in North Carolina, Florida, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Airplane Is Fast Assuming Big Role In U. S. Farming

By JOHN A. MARTIN
Washington June 23—(AP)—The airplane is fast becoming one of American agriculture's major production tools. Its use in seeding, fertilizing and weeding crops and in spreading pesticides for killing insects and plant diseases is spreading rapidly. The Agriculture department thinks so much of the possibilities that it has joined several other agencies in developing an airplane especially designed for agricultural uses. The other agencies are the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA), the Personal Aircraft Center of Texas A. and M. College and the National Flying Farmers, an organization of farmers who fly their own planes in carrying on their work.

Gabrielson Says McCarthy Goals Getting Support

Atlantic City N.J., June 23—(AP)—Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson launched the party's 1950 vote-getting campaign today with the assertion that Americans "wholeheartedly agree with the objectives" of Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Gabrielson opened a two-day meeting of Republican leaders from Maine to Florida. The gathering, most of it behind closed doors, is the first of three "shirley" organizational meetings aimed at getting out the Republican vote this fall.

McCarthy, who has charged the State Department is Communist-infiltrated, has "received great support in the country generally," Gabrielson told newsmen before the meeting convened.

"From my survey," he said, "the trend of opinion is that the people wholeheartedly agree with the objectives McCarthy is after, and he has cast doubt on whether the government has come clean with trying to rid itself of disloyalty."

It was the first time Gabrielson had voiced his opinion on the nation's reaction to McCarthy's charges.

"I don't think," the GOP chair-

Hoey Stands By Voting Record

Washington, June 23—(AP)—Senator Hoey (D-NC) yesterday told the American Federation of Labor his voting responsibility is "to the people of North Carolina x x x and to them alone."

Hoey said Arthur G. McDowell, administrative director of the AFL's Political Education Committee, advised him that the committee rating showed Hoey voted "wrong more often than right" on measures before the Senate.

In answer, Hoey wrote McDowell in part:

"I have not dodged a single vote during my entire six years in the Senate. The only votes I have missed were when I was necessarily absent on official business when the vote was held."

"I stand by my record, and I am responsible to the people of North Carolina for that record, and to them alone. x x x"

Hoey was unopposed for renomination in the North Carolina Democratic primary May 27.

Find Victim Of Crashed Fighter

Cherry Point N.C. June 23—(AP)—A search party late last night found the bodies of the pilot and passenger of a marine fighter plane that crashed Wednesday night near Hampstead in Pender County.

The Marine Public Information Office here listed the dead as Technical Sergeant John L. Sidwa of Cherry Point, pilot of the plane, and Corporal T. E. Sims Jr., of Trussville, Ala., the passenger.

The search party, dispatched from here yesterday afternoon, cut a 500-yard path through wooded swampland to reach the wreckage. Members of the search party reported that parts of the plane were scattered over a wide area. The bodies were removed from the plane and have been returned to the base here.

The plane, an F7F Grumman Tigercat, was on a training flight

AIROVAC DOES AWAY WITH Off-Color TOBACCO

"KEEPS BARN from SWEATING and SPONGING!"

"AMAZED AT RESULTS RECEIVED," SAYS GEORGIA FARMER

Air Control, Inc. Valdosta, Ga.
Atlanta, Georgia
Gentlemen:

I was amazed and astonished at the exceptional good price I received for my tobacco cured with the AIROVAC (15.31 cents more per pound than county average, during 1949).

(signed) T. J. Webb

From all over the fine cured tobacco belt comes actual proof of the satisfactory results obtained with the AIROVAC System. Farmers like this new method of curing tobacco because it eliminates the danger of sweating and sponging and by so doing assures from 10 to 28 cents per pound higher price. By definite control of the air which circulates up through the tobacco leaves, curing can be scientifically conducted without any of the old hit or miss methods of the past. NOTE cut-away section of barn showing how air is taken in, circulated and expelled. Let us show you how AIROVAC will help to get a higher price for your tobacco. # Earth Has Layers, Like An Onion, Scientist Says

Me... City, June 23—(AP)—The earth becomes more plastic here earth is built like an onion, in layers, the American Physical Society was told today. It's also getting hotter.

Dr. Benno Gutenberg, of California Institute of Technology, said studies of earthquake waves indicate the earth is built up in layers of softer and harder material.

There are layers in the earth, ocean and atmosphere which conduct waves at a relatively low velocity, he said. Quake waves move more rapidly as they go to a depth of 50 miles in the earth. Then the velocity decreases.

This is interpreted to mean the because of heat. At about 90 miles the waves increase their speed again, indicating that increased pressure has hardened the rock of the earth's interior.

Again at a depth of 1,800 miles the velocity decreases.

"This we interpret to mean the outer part of the earth's core is fluid," Dr. Gutenberg said. Increased pressure—about 15,000,000 pounds to the square inch, may have turned the rock or iron of the earth's core into a liquid.

The various layers mean that earthquake waves are bent as they go through the ground, and they come to the surface at different places.

A quake is surrounded by a zone some 6,000 miles wide where direct shock waves are recorded. Outside this is a "shadow zone" of 3,800 miles where the waves will be small. Outside this shadow zone again, the quake waves will come to the surface and be recorded strongly.

Dr. Gutenberg also explained that geophysicists now believe the planets are getting hotter, not colder. He said this is due to radio-activity in the earth's interior, but that the heat from the great depth has not yet reached the surface of the earth.

The Can't Cover Up ALL THE FACTS!

Circulars and ads try to paint a picture of Dr. Graham as a poor man, wearing half-soled shoes and barely able to eke out an existence. The truth is that since 1930, as President of the University, he has been receiving over $1,000 a month plus a luxurious home furnished free—all of this at taxpayers expense. Dr. Graham has always been a $1,000 a month man, and always the taxpayer, that's you, has footed the bill. A conservative estimate would be that Dr. Graham has over the last 30 years, personally received around $400,000 from the taxpayers.

Willis Smith made his the hard way. NONE of it came from the tax on YOU.

Accused Bandit Fails In Attempt To Make Escape

Raleigh, N. C. June 23—(AP)—A man charged with a toy-pistol bank holdup met failure yesterday in a break for freedom.

Harry Hamilton, 37, was recaptured within a short time after getting away from an officer in a Doctor's office in a downtown building.

U. S. Chief Marshal Henry A. Turlington said he had taken Hamilton to a fifth-floor office for an X-ray examination of his left elbow. The prisoner complained that it was sore after he was arrested Wednesday and charged with bank robbery in a $4,500 holdup at Angier.

Turlington said he removed Hamilton's handcuffs for the examination, and after it was finished, the prisoner broke away and began running in and out of other offices on the same floor.

Finally, Turlington said, Hamilton locked himself in a consultation room. He was found hiding under a bed when Turlington opened the door with a pass-key, and he offered no resistance, the officer reported.

U. S. District Attorney John Hall Manning ordered that the prisoner's bond, which had been fixed at $5,000, be doubled. He was returned to the Wake county jail.

FBI agents brought Hamilton here Wednesday night for a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner H. A. Brand.

The prisoner, father of three children, was caught by Angier citizens while fleeing from the First Citizen Bank and Trust Company at Angier with $32,500 in a gunny sack. Bank employees said he came in the bank wearing a mask and wielding a cap pistol, and that he forced them to help him put the money in the sack.

Senatorial Candidates In Final Vote Appeals Today

Raleigh, June 23 (AP)—North Carolina's two Democratic senatorial candidates today pitched into their final appeals to the voters who will choose between them.

For 12 hours tomorrow—8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.—voters in 1,990 precincts will have their say on whether Senator Frank Graham or Willis Smith, Raleigh attorney, will get the nomination. In North Carolina, the Democratic nomination assures election.

Graham, who yesterday completed four days of personal campaigning in eastern North Carolina, is turning to populous Guilford County for his campaign windup. His schedule today calls for 1 1/2 hours of handshaking and speechmaking at 18 stops.

The tour will close out with a rally tonight in the Guilford county courthouse at Greensboro. The senator also will be heard tonight in a transcribed "victory roundup" broadcast from Raleigh.

Smith planned to make his closing speech at a rally tonight in the Wake county courthouse in Raleigh—his home.

In a radio speech last night, Smith said the race issue was brought into politics by President Truman.

"My most bitter and alarmed critics say that I am injecting the

STATE

Plus "BATMAN" No. 11 Comedy

race issue into the campaign," he declared. "Nothing could be further from the truth."

He continued:

"Race feeling was stirred by the 1947 report of the President's committee (on civil rights) of which Dr. Graham was a member. x x x

"The race issue was tossed into the political field when President Truman sponsored a bill in Congress providing for FEPC. The race issue was fanned by the Negroes themselves when in the last primary they cast a practically solid—a bloc Negro vote—for my opponent. x x x

Graham's eastern swing yesterday included stops at Wilson, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Snow Hill, La-Grange, Goldsboro, Tarboro, Macclesfield, and Nashville.

Macclesfield supporters referred to statements by some of his opponents in an effort to link him with Socialism.

"Anybody who stands up for the people is going to be called some kind of name," Graham said. "I'm not an important person, but the most important people have gone through the same thing."

Among these, he said, was Franklin D. Roosevelt. He, Graham declared, was called a Socialist and a Communist.

"If I'm a Socialist," the senator remarked, "I'm just one of the little ones." He added: "Of course I'm not for Socialism."

Local Scouts To Return Saturday

Two've Greenville Boy Scouts who went to the Boy Scout Camp at Camp Charles are due to return to Greenville Saturday a Scout official said today.

The Scouts left Greenville Sunday for the one week stay.

The Scouts making the trip are: Cleith Oadey, Mike Riddick, Ike Riddick, Bil Simmons, Ronnie Morton, Eddie Lee, Gene Duffin, Jerry Drim Ray Evans and Charles Godfrey from Troop 30. Two Scouts, Steve Wilkerson and Billy Foster, members of Troop 33 also attended.

Other Scouts from the Greenville Troops will attend the camp at future dates.

The Record Is Clear!

On the FEPC question there are three things that clinch Dr. Graham's true position.

1. He wasn't invited by the other Southern Senators to attend their strategy meeting against FEPC. Senator Pepper of Florida was the only other Southern Senator not invited.
2. As late as May 19 Dr. Graham refused to take a public stand on the cloture vote against FEPC. The only other Southern Senator who was secret about his stand on cloture was Senator Pepper.
3. The recent Negro newspaper columnist who said that "Everybody knows how Dr. Graham really stands on FEPC," but that he had to make a "strategic retreat" for the time being.

WILLIS SMITH will be welcomed in the Senate by the other Southern Senators.

Big Still Blown Up By ABC Men

Pitt County ABC Officers J. M. Ward, J. L. Taylor and Claude Manning seized and destroyed a large illicit distillery yesterday afternoon in the Pactolus township about seven miles east of Greenville near Tar River.

The still was a 200-gallon submarine type with 12 50-gallon barrels, fermenters containing 600 gallons sugar mash. Oil burners furnished the heat for the still. Ward said. The burners were homemade, he said. At the time of the raid 30 gallons of kerosene was found near the river.

A path led from the still to the river where 12 fave gallon demijohns were found. Ward said that evidence showed that most of the materials for the operation of the stills were being transported to the still by water.

At the time of the raid no one was near the still, the ABC officers stated. Ward said the still and all other equipment were destroyed with dynamite because the suspected operators of the still were aware of the officers presence.

All indications pointed that the still was a Beaufort county operation, Ward said. The operators possibly traveled up the river, operated the still and then transported the bootleg liquor away by water.

New Officers Of Legion Installed

Installation of newly-elected officers of the American Legion was held Tuesday night with J. Howard Moye moving into the new Commander's post.

Elected during last month's regular meeting, officers installed this week, besides Moye, are: Lester Turnage, Jr., first Vice Commander; J. W. Brock, of Bethel, second Vice Commander; B. E. Nelson, of Grifton, third Vice Commander; and Louis Gaylord, Jr., Adjutant.

In his inaugural talk, Moye stated he would try to lead the post during his tenure to the best year in its history. The goal of the post, Moye said, is to build the membership up to 1,000 persons this year and next.

In the absence of outgoing commander Ty Wagner, Gilbert Winders presided. The members discussed the progress of softball team which has lost its first two games. The members moved to continue sponsoring the team.

It was announced that hereafter the Legion dining room will be closed to the public on Tuesday nights at which time the weekly meeting is held.

Elect President . . .

He started in the tobacco business in the employment of the old American Tobacco Company, and then worked for Liggett-Myers Company.

In 1914 he began work with the G. H. Garrett Company of Rocky Mount and the following year came to Greenville where with the late T. A. Person, he organized the Person-Garrett Tobacco Company. He became secretary of the company when it was organized, and when President Person retired in 1924, Garrett was made president of the company. He has served as president of the company since that time.

Garrett is a member of the executive committee of the United States Tobacco Association and a member of the board of governors of the organization. For the past 10 years he has been chairman of the sales committee of the group. He is a member of the Exporters Association, a director of Tobacco Associates, Inc. and a director of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Company of Richmond, Va.

The Person-Garrett company has its main offices in Greenville, but also operates branches in Fairmont and Lumberton. The company has a capacity for approximately one-half million pounds of tobacco a day in its regrading plants.

The company purchases and processes leaf tobacco for both foreign and domestic concerns, and Garrett has made approximately 20 trips to Europe in the interest of the company's foreign business.

He has been president of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade several times, on the executive committee of the group, and chairman of its advertising committee a number of times.

Garrett was a charter member of the Greenville Rotary Club, is a trustee of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, a member of the board of trustees of East Carolina Teachers College and chairman of the college building committee.

In addition to Post John R. Hodges, the company's other vice president, is in charge of the Person-Garrett branches in Fairmont and Lumberton and is in charge of the factory of the Southwestern Tobacco Company in Hopkinsville, Ky.

Getting The . . .

(Continued From Page One) committee asked you if you had violated a state law. Suppose a congressional committee asked you if you had violated a state law just a week ago. You must answer.

If you answer "yes," it will be a tip-off to your state police and, when you get back home, they can charge you with a state crime.

(The New York gambler, Frank Erickson, is a good recent example of that. He was called before a congressional committee investigating interstate gambling. He was asked about his activities.

(E. admitted he was a gambler in New York. He couldn't be prosecuted in federal court for that, since there's no federal law against gambling, but...)

(Immediately, New York police raided his offices, arrested him, charged him with gambling, and forced him to...)

Maybe at this point you say: "Ah, so all in all the picture is very incomplete. The essential point is that Chiang still holds Formosa, and it will take a lot of force to move him."

It is on the strength of this that the "Gimo" claims he ultimately can bring about the downfall of the Communists through guerrilla supporters in many parts of the continent.

Ocean perch are caught only in the daytime when they lie on the bottom.

Reversal On . . .

One of Chiang's greatest weaknesses is lack of anything like an adequate airforce. However, such warplanes as he possesses are reported to have scored numerous successes against Communist positions on the mainland coast and on Red shipping.

And why haven't the Chinese Communists attacked Formosa before this? Chiang Kai-shek would give a lot for the answer to that.

Nationalist sources say one reason is that the Reds lack sufficient shipping to move their troops. There also is speculation whether they have enough air power to support a landing on Formosa, which lies 100 miles off the coast of China. Russia is reported to have supplied some warplanes but the number is an unknown quantity.

So all in all the picture is very incomplete. The essential point is that Chiang still holds Formosa, and it will take a lot of force to move him.

It is on the strength of this that the "Gimo" claims he ultimately can bring about the downfall of the Communists through guerrilla supporters in many parts of the continent.

but isn't there something in the law somewhere which says that if I admit a crime in testifying before a congressional committee it can't be used against me? Sure there is. It's in a law passed by Congress in 1857.

It says: "No testimony given by a witness before a congressional committee shall be used as evidence in any criminal proceedings against him in any court." Sounds foolproof, doesn't it? Far from it. Suppose you admitted before a congressional committee that you had violated a federal law within the past three years. The FBI thereafter couldn't use your exact words in a trial before a jury. But—immediately it could use your admission as a lead in running down your crime, finding witnesses, building up a case, and charging you.
