Express Peace Confidence In Early Adjournment Date

Washington, June 28—(AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lucas, in an expression of confidence that the U.S. and Russia are not going to war, said today that the goal of a July 31 adjournment of Congress still stands.

The Illinois senator talked over the situation with reporters, following general approval in Congress of Truman's order for armed support of South Korea against invading Communists.

Most Republicans and virtually all the Democrats made it clear they will support the President's bold move to stop communism's march in the far Pacific by drawing an anti-Communist defense line—even at the calculated risk of war.

Lucas refused to predict that there will be any call on Congress for an increase in armed forces expenditures. He said:

"I don't want to say that we will need more money for the armed forces. I don't want to be in the position of saying we are going to have war—I don't think we are."

He added the remark about Congress closing on schedule, as a token of his confidence.

The backing that was given Mr. Truman's action last night by the Security Council of the United Nations tended to ease the minds of some lawmakers who have contended that the United States should act through the U.N.

Warren Austin, chief American delegate to the U.N., noted yesterday that the council in its cease-fire order of Sunday had called on all members to support the U.N. in carrying out the resolution. That resolution was cited by Mr. Truman as the basis for his new action.

Senator Lucas had made clear his opinion, however, that the U.S. was going ahead, no matter what the council's stand was. He said "the U.N. can't veto our action."

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said of the Korean situation: "This is a severe test of the United Nations. It must not fail. Its life depends on its action. A firm and courageous stand by the United Nations will demonstrate its usefulness to the world and to humanity."

Republicans who gave their approval to Mr. Truman's new course in the Pacific included such influential senators as Bridges of New Hampshire, Millikin of Colorado, Lodge of Massachusetts, Morse of Oregon, Knowland of California, Smith of New Jersey and Hickenlooper of Iowa.

Tax Cut Outlook Darkening With World Tensions

Sen. Lucas Says Fate Of Excise Tax Slash Awaits On Developments

Washington, June 28—(AP)—America's military move against communist aggression in the Far East has raised doubt that there will be any tax reduction this year.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas, of Illinois, said, however, that the fate of the bill to cut excise taxes a billion dollars, now being debated in the house, "depends upon developments."

"We must stand by and wait," he said. "There is no indication now that more money will be needed for the military."

One influential Democrat told reporters that if the development at Korea and Formosa "means war, we will have a tax increase in 30 days—not a decrease." However, he said the House is likely to pass the excise reduction bill and then "the Senate can stop it," if world developments warrant.

The tax debate opened yesterday with Rep. Doughton of North Carolina, 87-year old Democratic tax legislation manager, telling the House it had better accept a boost in levies on big corporations—or run into a presidential veto.

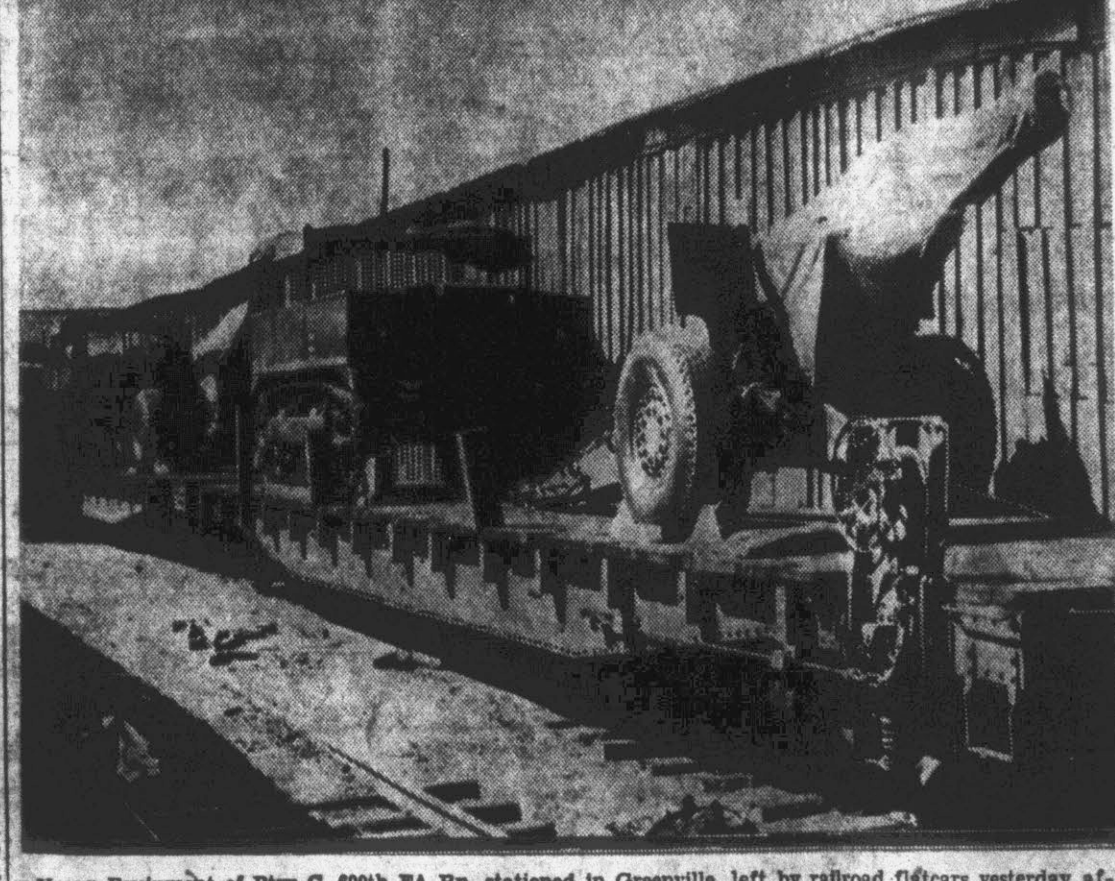

Republicans attacked the bill as a "hoax" and a "phony" tax reduction that merely proposes to take taxes out of the left pocket of the taxpayers pants instead of the right pocket.

The measure embodies a $433,000,000 a year boost in taxes on big corporations, to help offset the revenue loss from excise reductions—a stipulation that President Truman has laid down as a condition to his approving any excise measure.

The excise cuts, if the bill becomes law, probably would be effective September 1, or perhaps October 1. They would include slashes in the imposts on fur coats, hand bags, jewelry, cosmetics, movies, telephones and scores of other items.

South Koreans Struggle To Fix New Line Until U. S. Help Is Effective

National Guard Equipment Leaves For Encampment

Heavy Equipment of Btry C, 690th FA Bn, stationed in Greenville, left by railroad flatcars yesterday afternoon. The guns and tractors will await the arrival of the 70-odd Greenville National Guardsmen at Fort Jackson, S. C., on Sunday where they will undergo a planned two week summer encampment.

American Jets, Bombers Slash At Enemy; More Help On The Way; Britain Offers Naval Forces To Support American Action In Korea

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

South Korea's defenders have lost their capital, Seoul, along with other key points, to the battering Communist advance. Today the South Koreans struggled to form and hold a line farther south while waiting for American war might—backed by a fresh pledge of British warships—to change the tide of battle.

American jets and bombers already were slashing at the enemy. More power was on the way. The U. S. Far East Air Force announced American jets and light bombers effectively attacked North Korean positions northwest of Seoul. Troop concentrations, truck convoys and railroads were bombarded.

One American F-82 fighter and a B-26 light bomber were reported destroyed on the ground by strafing of Russian-made North Korean planes. Two B-26s were reported lost in crashes. During U.S. evacuation operations, jets and Mustang fighters shot down six Russian-made planes which attempted to interfere.

An American Signal Corps detachment, while not actively engaged in the fighting, is setting up a field headquarters in South Korea.

President Truman warned Americans: "We face a serious situation, and we expect to see the Korean war ultimately would bring peace to the world."

Britain offered her naval forces in Japanese waters to support American action in Korea. The action by the Lab. government was quick applause from the opposition Conservative, voiced by wartime Prime Minister Winston Churchill. In Britain, too, hope was expressed that this show of power, backed by the 7 to 1 vote of the United Nations Security Council last night, would mean eventual peace.

But in Moscow, the authoritative Communist party newspaper Pravda accused the United States of direct aggression against both Red Korea and (against China, and asked rhetorically: "Have they (the Americans) gone too far?" Pravda, supplying the only Russian comment thus far on the new American decisions, did not indicate what the Russians might do about it.

A dispatch from Suwon, airdrop 20 miles south of Seoul, said there was every indication that the war was going against the defenders. It told of a long line of refugees Koreans moving south, and relayed pessimistic reports of Americans who had been on the scene several days.

The Red sweep to the south was only eight miles from Suwon, where some Americans still are reported. U. S. Ambassador John J. Muccio and his staff were reported safe some 90 miles south of Seoul.

The first American ground detachment to take part in the Korean shooting war was a Signal Corps outfit dispatched by Gen. MacArthur to set up a field headquarters somewhere in South Korea.

The U. S. Defense Department in Washington confirmed reports that Seoul, South Korea's capital, fell to the Reds, along with Kimp'o air-

Aldermen To Be Sworn In Here Next Saturday

Four new members of the Greenville Board of Aldermen will be sworn in and take office at the City Hall next Saturday at noon.

Superior Court Clerk David T. House will administer the oath of office to C. B. Mayo, second ward; James E. Collins, fourth ward; J. Edmond Waldrop, fifth ward (all these reelected at the May primary election); Robert Elks, third ward (elected without opposition in May); and James S. Jenkins (elected for the short, or one-year term).

Mayor W. S. Stafford and Aldermen Heber Tripp, first ward; R. E. Rogers, second ward; R. E. (Yank) Howell, third ward; and W. M. Pollard, fourth ward.

Robert Elks, furniture dealer, will be the only new member of the Board of Aldermen.

The new board will meet at once and make its appointments for next year, or may defer this action until the first regular meeting of the 1950-51 fiscal year on Thursday, July 5.

The present Board of Aldermen will hold its windup meeting at the City Hall Thursday night, June 29, at 8 o'clock, Mayor Stafford stated.

Recruiters Busy In Past Few Days

Local Office Has Definite Jump In Enlistments

With the war scare in Korea, the army and air force enlistments in Pitt County have taken a definite up-swing during the past few days.

Sgt. James H. Raper, recruiting officer for Pitt and Wilson Counties, said, "There has been a definite up-swing in enlistments since last week" in Pitt County. As a matter of fact, the sergeant stated, the Greenville office "has shipped more men since Friday than it has shipped in any two-week period in several months."

He said for the past 30 days enlistments in eastern North Carolina have been on the rise, but the Pitt County enlistments have shown a definite jump since last weekend.

Four men were accepted and shipped to Fayetteville recruiting headquarters from Greenville on Friday; another four men were shipped to Fayetteville from the local recruiting office yesterday, and three more youths are scheduled to be shipped today.

Youths who enlisted through the local station and who have already been transferred to Fayetteville are: John S. Smith of Farmville, Milton R. Stallins of Greenville, Route 1, Claude Tyson Jr. of Farmville, Gray L. Hardee of Greenville, Route 1, James J. Williams and Jimmy R. Skinner of Greenville, Clarence C. Wooten of Macclesfield Route 1, and Johnnie J. Harrington of Greenville.

Stated to be transferred to Fayetteville by the local recruiting office this afternoon were Rudolph V. Jones of Greenville and Edward Coffield Jr. and James Hunter of Robersonville, all Negroes.

The Associated Press today reported that the telephone in the recruiting office in Raleigh has been working overtime with many questions being asked.

Most common question is from people wanting to know when drafting will begin. Other queries are: from reservists asking when they'll be called; from college students wanting to know if they should finish their final year; from married men wanting to know if they can enlist; will veterans be drafted; will war brides be returned to Europe and where do men register for the draft. One woman, who lost one of two sons in the last war, asked if a third youngster son would be drafted.

The Raleigh recruiting office, headed by Captain Joseph M. Pearson and responsible for 31 North Carolina counties, also reported that reserve pilots called asking for active duty. Pearson added that while there has been no rush of enlistments, the office has filled its monthly quota already and has had the busiest month of the year.

Senate Approves Draft Extension

Washington, June 28—(AP)—A heavy senate vote today gave final congressional approval to a one year extension of the draft act.

The vote was unanimous—78 to 0.

The measure puts in President Truman's hands the power to call up thousands of draftees, National Guardsmen or reserves, if necessary to keep the strength of the Army, Navy and Air Force above the 2,000,000 mark.

A 315 to 4 margin for the bill was rolled up late yesterday in the house.

Congressional action was seen as quick support for President Truman's demand that Communist forces be stopped in Korea and other parts of the world, even if it means a shooting war.

The measure not only allows the President to start actual drafting but also allows him to order army, Navy, Marine, Air Force and Coast Guard reserves to duty.

The vote, chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Armed Services committee had predicted it would be "nearly unanimous."

Plan Redecorate Store's Interior

Brody's Women's Apparel shop in Greenville will undergo a complete face lifting during July and August, Morris Brody, manager, announced yesterday afternoon.

All departments will be redecorated to include the latest in modernized equipment for the convenience of women shoppers. An entirely renovated store will be shown to patrons when the store reopens in the latter part of August, Brody said.

Renovations include a redecorated shoe department with a drapery effect, new underwear, hosiery and bag departments with glass cases for better display, and seven enlarged ultra-modern fitting rooms both downstairs and upstairs.

Everything inside will be redecorated leaving the outside store-front and show windows as they are now, Brody said.

The staircase will be remodeled to include steps-to-ceiling louvers while the staircase wall will be mirrored.

More Power For WGTC Approved

FCC Grants Increase To 5,000 Watts; Work Slated Soon

The Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C. yesterday approved a request of the Carolina Broadcasting System of Greenville, operators of Radio Station WGTC for an increase of operating power to 5,000 watts power for daytime use and 1,000 watts at night.

Manager Hartwell Campbell of WGTC said this morning that the local station received a telephone call from Washington yesterday afternoon at 3:25 telling of the approval of the power increase.

Campbell said that the Board of Directors of the Carolina Broadcasting System who were scheduled to hold a regular board meeting yesterday at 3:30, approved acceptance of the construction permit for the new units which will be required by the addition of more power.

"This construction will begin shortly and it is hoped that the change will be completed by October 1," the manager stated. Actual building of the new transmitter building and the erection of the three new towers needed by the station is supposed to be completed in several months; however some time will be required before the testing and tuning of the station will be completed and placed in top shape for operation," Campbell said.

The present radio tower which has long been a landmark to any-

Utilities Board Now Studying Contracts

Rural Electrification contracts are now in the hands of members of the utilities commission as of last night's meeting.

The members are now studying them pending a special meeting sometime next week for final action and approval.

Last night's meeting was mostly a birdseye glance at the resolutions which have to be signed by both utilities members and the board of aldermen. No action was taken last night.

Martin Swartz, superintendent of utilities, stated this morning he expected no snags in the way of final approval by members of the commission. The contracts give Greenville utilities more or less a free hand, he said, concerning how the money is to be spent.

Final approval of the request for an REA loan by the utilities commission was granted late last night. The commission was in turn notified by the loans division of REA in Washington in addition to Senators Graham and Hoey and Congressmen Barden and Bonner.

The contracts arrived in Greenville from REA headquarters last Saturday.

Swartz said he thought a special meeting would be called for next Thursday at which time final approval by commission members would be granted.

Messick Expects Large Enrollment

It looks as if the 1950-51 academic year at East Carolina Teachers College will be another record-breaking year in the school's history.

Dr. John D. Messick, president of ECTC, announced today that all the college dormitories, both for men and women, have been filled for the next year. The great demand for dormitory space at the college, the president said, "means that we shall need homes in town opened to us, and to know what particular homes will take girls."

In his appeal to the people of Greenville to provide housing space for the students who wish to attend college here next fall, Dr. Messick said:

"All of the available space in dormitories for women at East Carolina Teachers College has been filled for next year; therefore, we should like to know if there are homes in the community available for women, so that we may refer parents to these when they ask for rooms for their daughters. If anyone has available rooms please list vacancies with Miss Ruth White, dean of women at East Carolina Teachers College."

Chiang Kai-shek Orders Halt To Raids On China

Taipei, Formosa, June 28—(AP)—China's Nationalist, assumed that the U. S. 7th fleet will protect Formosa, to say ordered their planes and warships to halt attacks on the Communist mainland.

Thus, a truce prevails in the civil war. The Communists are free to violate it, but only at the risk of a clash with the warships, jet fighters and bombers of the U. S. 7th fleet.

The cease fire in no way affects the Nationalist guerrillas on the mainland. They have been reported increasingly active in the south and east. For the time being they carry the burden of the struggle.

Inquiry Results To Be A Secret

Raleigh, N.C., June 28—(AP)—An investigator for the U.S. Senate declined to comment today on whether he had uncovered evidence to confirm reports of huge spending in the recent Democratic senatorial campaign.

The investigator, V. H. Anderson of Arlington, Va., arrived here yesterday. Asked how long he expected to stay in North Carolina, he replied "I have no idea."

Anderson said he would report his findings, which he declared must remain private, to the Senate Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections.

Reports Record Summer Enrollment For E.C.T.C.

East Carolina Teachers College has record summer-school enrollment at present, according to data supplied by the office of Dr. J. K. Long, Jr., registrar.

Registration of students for the first term has now been completed and shows that 1140 men and women are taking classes offered by the college.

Women take the lead over men in numbers, with 655 women and 485 men enrolled. During the regular session of the past three years, men have slightly outnumbered women at the college.

Pitt county has the largest representation among North Carolina counties. A tally by counties shows Pitt, with 245; and next in order, Lenoir, with 65; and Beaufort with 61.

Eleven states are represented in the summer enrollment. Out-of-state students number 49. Virginians now attending the college include 33 men and women. Other states from which students are enrolled are California, Florida, West Virginia, New Jersey, New York, Texas, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Of the total number now attending college, 288 are graduate students, and 852 undergraduates. Enrollees, approximately 300, strong, lead other classes in number.

Johnson Asserts U. S. Peacetime Defense At Peak

Washington, June 28—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson said today that National Defense is stronger than ever before in our peacetime history.

"I declare the country is spending more on preparedness and at the same time getting more for its money than ever before."

Next year we will get even more by way of preparedness out of every dollar appropriated than we are getting now," he added in a speech to the Reserve Officers Association.

"With our continued help," Johnson told the Association, "we will harvest a rich crop in terms of adequate defense. We shall achieve our goal of peace through strength."

Atomic Planes Soon

They're On The Way; Construction Not Started, But Engine Is On Paper; Rocket Possibilities; Problems Involved In Project; Four Methods Considered

By JAMES J. STREIBIG

Washington — Atomic-powered airplanes may be almost literally out of this world in performance—but they're likely to operate much as those flying today.

Officials have disclosed four methods under consideration for putting nuclear fission to work. All are basically types of power plants now used in aircraft and missiles. The major difference is replacement of the combustion chamber or heat sources with a nuclear reactor.

That difference is important. It eliminates the fuel problem and thus holds the prospect of virtually unlimited range at supersonic speeds. A pound of uranium-235 will do the work of about 6,000,000 gallons of gasoline. A B-36 ought to fly about 2,000,000 miles with that much fuel in its tanks.

The government has not yet begun actual construction of an atomic engine for aircraft. Scientists working on the project have solved many of the problems in theory. In effect, they have an engine on paper. Soon they must decide which type of engine will be built first, since cost prohibits trying all types.

Three of the proposed types would operate in the atmosphere.

The fourth, a rocket design, would be independent of the air, but would be limited in range.

Here are the four general types being considered:

1. The steam turbine. This is a closed-cycle engine in which atomic energy is used to boil some liquid, perhaps a metal like mercury. The steam, or vaporized metal, would drive a turbine geared to a propeller. The steam would be cooled in a condenser and the liquid re-used. Such an airplane might run indefinitely.
2. The turbo-jet. In this engine the air drawn into a compressor would be forced through a jacket around a reactor and expanded by the heat. Then it would be directed against a turbine which would drive the compressor—just as in any jet engine—and the exhaust gases would be allowed to escape rearward.
3. The ram-jet or flying stovepipe. This type of engine depends upon forward motion to compress air in the combustor. The atomic reactor would replace the combustion chamber, heating and expanding the air.

An Oblique Approach

Communists In U. S. Find It More Dangerous To Lie Or Refuse To Talk Than To Try Overthrowing Government; Forcing Respect Of Congress' Committees

By CLARKE BEACH

Washington—Communists are learning that it's sometimes more dangerous to tell lies or to refuse to talk than it is to try to overthrow the government. Very few Communists have ever been convicted under statutes designed to curb subversive activities. A great many have been convicted of perjury, making false written statements or contempt of Congress.

This new wrinkle in the attack on American Reds recalls the similarly oblique approach which the government found effective in fighting the racketeers of the 1930s. The government knew pretty much about the crimes of the racketeers—murder, extortion, blackmail, etc.; yet it seldom had enough evidence to convict them.

But when the Treasury Department went after them for income tax evasion, Al Capone and some of his peers were lodged behind bars for long terms. It curbed their criminal activities at least for the time they were in jail, and it inspired great respect for the income tax laws. Government agents have found that big-time bookmakers and gamblers today pay their income taxes with punctilious correctness.

The Federal government has about 28 statutes intended in one way or another to make subversive activities illegal—from the Smith Act, which forbids conspiracies to overthrow the government by force, to the law which forbids mailing indecent literature. (Subversive literature is defined as indecent.)

The Communists are careful not to get caught violating these statutes. The only persons who have ever been convicted for Communist activities, as such, were the 11 Red leaders who were convicted recently in New York under the Smith Act.

Some notable characters, however, have recently been convicted of perjury (lying orally while under oath) or of making false written affidavits. Harry Bridges, president of the CIO Longshoremen's Union, was convicted in April in a West Coast federal court and sentenced to five years. He was charged with lying when he swore he never had been a Communist when he applied for citizenship papers in 1948.

Alger Hiss' conviction was for perjury in telling a grand jury that he had never given State Department documents to Whittaker Chambers.

Boards To Meet Here On Monday

The Board of County Commissioners will meet jointly with the Boards of Education and Health Monday morning in a called meeting for the purpose of electing a member to the ABC board to fill the expired term of W. H. Hall.

The meeting will be held at 9:45 prior to the regular monthly meeting of the commissioners.

As specified by law the three county boards have to meet jointly to elect a person to fill any expired term. Hall has served for three years.

Sixty Killed In Syria Explosion

Damascus, Syria, June 28—(AP)—The Syrian government announced today that 60 persons were killed and 93 badly hurt in an explosion yesterday at a fuel depot in Homs, 100 miles to the north.

This official announcement considerably reduces unofficial figures, which listed more than 200 dead and 300 injured.

Navy Organizing Second Task Force In Pacific

Pearl Harbor, June 28—(AP)—The Navy moved swiftly today to put together a second hard-hitting Pacific task force to enforce stiffening American Policy against Communist aggression in the Far East.

The existing seventh task fleet immediately prepared to carry out President Truman's orders to defend Formosa, Chinese Nationalist stronghold, from Red invasion.

The 20-ship 7th, spearheaded by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Valley Forge, was transferred to the operational command of General MacArthur, chief of all U. S. forces in the Far East. Some of its units quickly sailed from Hong Kong, presumably to Formosa waters. The

Double Holiday

With the usual Fourth of July holiday falling on Tuesday this year The Reflector will observe a double holiday next week by remaining closed both Monday and Tuesday.

In view of the fact that the continuity of operations makes it impossible for The Reflector to observe weekly half-holidays similar to those enjoyed by other business houses in the city, the management has decided on next weeks double holiday to afford The Reflector employees a sorely needed brief vacation.

Because of the extra holiday, subscribers dealing direct with the carrier boys will be billed only 15 cents for next week's papers and regular mail subscribers will be credited with the extra day when they renew their subscriptions.

Bethel Man Was Ordained Sunday

William F. Marks

Bethel—William F. Marks of Bethel, a recent graduate of Wake Forest College, Sunday night was ordained to the Gospel ministry by the Bethel Baptist church, his home church.

It is the first time in the history of the Bethel Baptist church that the church has ordained one of its young men to the ministry.

A presbytery consisting of the church pastor, Rev. W. M. Caswell, chairman, Rev. C. W. Bazemore, clerk, Rev. J. P. Harris, Rev. Ralph Ferguson, and C. E. Brown, J. R. Cullifer, deacons of the church, examined Mr. Marks and prepared a resolution recommending that he be ordained to the full ministry of the Gospel.

Rev. J. Harris, uncle of Mr. Marks, preached the ordination sermon and Rev. C. W. Bazemore, missionary to the Roanoke association, delivered the charge to the candidate and the church. Rev. Bazemore presented Rev. Marks with his certificate of ordination. A solo "I Shall Not Pass Again This Way" was sung by Mrs. Wadie Ward.

Rev. Marks graduated from Wake Forest College in May and will enter Southwestern Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas this fall. During his student years Rev. Marks supplied in various pulpits and recently delivered the messages during a youth revival in the Bethel church.

Chambers and that he had not seen Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937. Giving State Department documents to a Communist might have been grounds for an espionage charge against Hiss, but no such charge could be pressed because the legal three-year limit for prosecution had passed.

Persons convicted of lying under oath regarding Communist activity include Harold R. Christoffel, a former president of a labor union at the Allis-Chalmers plant in Milwaukee; and Carl Aldo Marzani, a former State Department employe. Dozens of witnesses before Congressional committees who refused to say whether they were Communists have been convicted in the past few years. Since 1946 there have been 34 such convictions in Washington alone.

The act making contempt of Congress a crime was passed in 1857. There have been more convictions under that act in the past two years than all its previous history.

"What effect are these convictions having on Communists?" this reporter asked George Morris Fay, U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia. "These particular defendants will have a greater respect for congressional committees," Fay replied. "And the convictions should deter others from committing perjury or exhibiting disrespect for authority."

can people desire to go through another decade making the same costly mistakes which our leaders of two decades ago made. The Reflector maintains today as it did in its editorial on June 9: "While it sounds somewhat drastic, the position of world leadership which the United States has assumed makes it mandatory that our forces be used where necessary to protect the freedom of all people; or else see our own freedoms gradually surrounded and snuffed out. "These are awful truths, but the people of the United States should face the full realization of what the future could hold in store for us." An ounce of prevention in South Korea today may be worth more than a pound of cure in the world several years from now.

Another Slaughter Is Anticipated

For the second time in a matter of hours Pitt county suffered a serious automobile accident. The highway fatality early Monday morning brought to eight the total number of people slain on the county's highways since the first of the year. For a time Pitt county was leading the state in highway deaths. The law enforcement officers and safety councils are preparing themselves for another wholesale human slaughter which they expect to come during the July 4 holiday week-end. To many people time apparently seems to be the most important factor in a holiday week-end, and they drive accordingly. But a few more minutes on the road may mean a safe arrival at your destination. Accidents do not always happen to the other person. If you drive recklessly during the week-end holiday, you may be among the statistics of highway casualties when the holiday is over.

National Whirligig News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, June 22—White House, State Department, Pentagon and Congressional thinking on such major issues as federal spending, anti-Russian jingoism and official coddling of Communists has been influenced deeply by the outcome of the recent Republican senatorial primary in South Dakota. It was a distinct shock to the Administration. Taking exactly the opposite stand from the Truman-Acheson-Johnson attitude on these questions, mild Representative Francis Case defeated Senator Chan Gurney by about 17,000 in one of the largest primary turn-outs in the state's recent history. It was such an amazing showing that Mr. Case has had to give classroom lectures to anxious colleagues on the reasons for the upset. Even Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who rarely takes notice of members from Western territory, stepped up to congratulate him on the victor's return to Capitol Hill. POOLHARDY—Congressman Case's friends thought he was foolhardy when he belatedly declared against Senator Gurney, who was chairman of the defunct Military Affairs Committee during Republican control, and is now his party's ranking member on Armed Services.

South Korea May Be Ounce Of Prevention

The United States is on the very brink of war. Even now American youths already have locked arms in mortal combat with invading communist forces in South Korea. Those are drastic statements, and war is a drastic step for any nation, large or small, to take; but sometimes it becomes necessary when other forms of international negotiation prove futile. We are not advocating a war between the United States and the Soviet Union or the North Korean communist government. Such could develop into a conflagration which might utterly destroy every nation in the world. But on the other hand, if the United States fails to support the United Nations in its supreme test of authority, the organization which holds the world's only hopes for peace will crumble as did its predecessor, the League of Nations. It has become evident that Russia and her subordinates have been whipping the Western democracies at every turn in the cold war. There is a great possibility that the action in South Korea is a test balloon sent up by the international communist movement to see exactly how far they can go before the Western democracies make a firm stand against aggression. If their armed invasion of South Korea is allowed to go unrepelled by the allied democracies under the United Nations, it will be a stepping stone to greater conflicts, greater communist victories, and a greater war for the very survival of man's freedom. In our mind the communist action in South Korea may well be compared with the Japanese action in Manchuria, the Italian action in Ethiopia and the German action in Austria of more than a decade ago. Had the military machines of the Axis powers been stopped in their formative stages, there is little likelihood that World War II would have developed into the massacre it did. Anthony Eden in the '30's warned England and the world they should either kill the snake in the road, or get out of the road and let the snake have it. In June of 1950 the belligerent snake carries a different flag, but he is spurred forth by the same desires of world domination. None have forgotten the horrors which the war so recently brought to almost every family in the world. The memories will live and burn—the screams of dying children and the muffled cries of the aged crushed under falling bombs; the stench of decaying bodies of fallen comrades and slain enemies; the bloated belly of a starving child who lives and suffers; the endless roar of explosives. The American people do not want war with any nation, but neither do the Ameri-

Somebody Told Me

Today's column is a continuation of yesterday's, which was the beginning of an interview with Charlie Howard. Charlie recently returned from a six-weeks trip in Europe, where he transacted business for the Greenville Tobacco Company. Charlie says that the feeling toward America has improved a great deal since he was in Europe last year. The Marshall Plan has played a prominent part in this improvement. Many people misunderstand the Marshall Plan. A common error is the belief that the people of Europe receive American goods as an outright gift. This is not true. The German, for example, works and earns marks like we earn dollars. Let's say he buys a tractor. The dealer has bought this tractor from his government. The U.S. government gave this tractor to the German government, and the marks that the German government receives are used for reconstruction. So when a German buys a tractor he knows that the price he pays is going toward the reconstruction of his country, thanks to the American Marshall Plan. To a surprising extent, our present prosperity can be attributed to the Marshall Plan. With the rest of the world in its present economic condition, America would have no foreign market for her goods, for the simple reason that foreign countries do not have the money to buy them. But we are creating a market, and thus upholding our economic structure. Somebody has to pay for it, and of course it's the taxpayer. The amount of Greenville tobacco that goes to Europe will be determined by the Europeans. It's just a matter of how much money the American Economic Cooperation Administration will allot for tobacco. After the Europeans have the allotment from America, they may buy the tobacco from whom they choose, so that explains Charlie's mission in Europe. He wants to encourage them to buy from Greenville Tobacco Company. Charlie says that the number of automobiles in Europe is on the increase, but there are still not nearly as many as we have here. In Germany and Italy, he says, you see plenty of cars, but most of them are commercial vehicles. Very few people in those countries can afford to drive a car. However, in Switzerland many people drive their own cars. Also, about 60 percent of the cars you see are of American manufacture. Of the countries Charlie visited, Switzerland is best off economically. The standard of living there is higher, the average man has more, and dresses better. There are still some items of interest about Charlie's trip too good to miss, so I'll have to finish it tomorrow.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C. UNCHANGED—Governor Scott told his press conference Tuesday he sees no reason to change his own plans or the course of his administration because of outcome of last week's primary. The governor said he had heard some people express opinion that defeat of Senator Frank Graham was a direct slap at his administration, and he would have to change his course. (During the primary campaign Governor Scott several times said his administration was being made an issue and he accepted the challenge. On that basis the voting result must be construed as unfavorable to the Scott regime.) DEFENSIVE — The governor was on the defensive with the reporters, not because of any specific questions they asked, but because he started explanations before the queries were fired. He said he felt some newspapers and radio newsmen had misrepresented his statements. Particularly he resented repetition of the statement that Howard McGrath, then national Democratic chairman, and President Truman had influenced his appointment of Senator Graham. He also objected to the way the story was played, up about a woman state employee being fired for having her picture taken with Candidate Smith, when in fact the discharge was another and logical reason—and he said he didn't know anything about the case until the woman's story was published. He said he hoped that relations would remain cordial enough between himself and the newsmen so he could talk frankly with them and not have his statements twisted. SUPPORT — As for Governor Scott's program now, the first item is full support of Nominee Willis Smith and all other Democratic candidates in November. Written statement to that effect was handed reporters as they entered his office. That is newsworthy only because of the fact a governor of North Carolina and titular head of the Democratic party should feel the need to make such a statement. SPECULATIVE — Governor Scott's resentment at other people putting words in his mouth and interpreting his meaning is understandable. His statement that outcome of the primary election will make no change in face value. That does not preclude speculation about what changes might have been made if the primary result had been different. Because his administration and his personality had been made an issue, and he had publicly accepted that fact, conclusion is inescapable that Governor Scott would have considered victory for his appointee as his "Go Forward" program which are somewhat more radical than North Carolina seems to be ready for. LONG RANGE — Conclusion is also inescapable that Governor Scott, like Willis Smith and many of his supporters, recognizes Saturday's voting as a temporary setback to the Scott regime—but not defeat of the long range program. Feeling prevails that Smith supporters won, Graham supporters lost, a small but high-spirited battle in a continuing war. SEGREGATION — The two most recent sessions of the general assembly appropriated a good many millions of dollars for permanent improvements at Negro institutions of higher learning.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

OMEN FOR THE FUTURE? (Kinston Daily Free Press) Using the recent experience of the United Mine Workers and their expensive strikes as an example of what the over-bearing usage of power can do even to those it is supposed to help, President James F. Lincoln of the Lincoln Electric Company asks the pertinent question in the current issue of American Magazine, "Is Labor Riding for a Fall?" Mr. Lincoln, who at 67 heads the largest firm for manufacturing arc welding equipment in the world, is an authority on labor-management relations, since his firm has never had a strike or walkout because of differences of problems arising between labor and management. The manufacturer is most concerned about the apparent slowdown in productive capacities in some industrial union groups. Wages have been advanced to a new level since the recent war, but in some of the large industries, particularly coal mining, production has not kept pace. Mr. Lincoln thinks that the type of force used by UMW Boss John L. Lewis eventually can upset the balance between labor, management and capital, which gives promise of a more abundant life for all under the American system. He scores the usage of power without responsibility and says he thinks unbridled power of labor bent only on momentary objectives can be more destructive to labor's cause than anything that has happened in the current century. Pointing to his own plant's incentive pay program, which has made his employees the highest paid in their field, Mr. Lincoln cautions against a loss of the balance of power between capital, labor and industry and points to the ultimate gains each may enjoy if they work harmoniously together. Since his article was prepared for publication the General Motors Company has reached a five-year agreement with its union representatives and a similar agreement for a pension plan for employees of the Studebaker Corporation has been negotiated, which would seem to counteract to some degree the alarm Mr. Lincoln expresses over the coal miners as a typical segment of organized labor. While it is true that the mine workers have virtually priced themselves out of a permanent market by boosting the sale of oil to all types of industry, including the railroads, some other unions have not yet gone that far. It may well be that these automobile makers have seen the handwriting on the wall and have taken cognizance of the long-range future. If they have, then the omen visualized by Mr. Lincoln may not have been cited in vain.

Business Today

By ELMER BOESSNER
The excise tax reduction measure will disrupt the pattern of retailing in affected lines. As soon as it is passed by Congress — assuming President Truman does not indicate a veto — it will tend to slow down further the sale of taxed goods. Few people will be inclined to buy furs or jewelry if they can save 10 percent. Sales of lower-priced goods may not come so near to a complete stop, but they are likely to be hit, too. Once the tax is off, there is likely to be a lively boom in the "liberated" articles, whipped up by aggressive promotions and advertising. Recent experience has shown that when sales of goods have been restricted by strikes or other causes, subsequent sales have more than made up for the loss. While plans for this lag-and-boom pattern should be made now, planning is difficult because of the uncertainty of the effective date of the measure. The bill, in its present wording, says it shall "apply only to articles sold on or after the first day of the first month which begins more than 10 days after the date of enactment." Thus, if the bill should be passed and signed by July 31, it would be effective August 1. If not signed until later, it could not be effective until September 1. This is very important to retailers, because the August and September selling patterns, especially in the lines affected, vary so much. House leaders expect to pass the bill by tonight. Then it goes to the Senate. Senate sentiment appears to favor the bill, but Senate tradition indicates considerable rewriting. After that there will be a House-Senate conference on the bill and re-passage by both houses. There is considerable doubt that all this could be done before July 21 at Congress's recent rate of speed. Although no Congressman would admit it, there has been considerable belief among Washington observers and business men that there has been stalling on the bill so that the resulting boom in business will have most effect on the November elections. If that is so, its another reason for not expecting the tax relief to come before September 1. That would make the effects much closer to election day. BODY DOESN'T MAKE WHOLE HAT AN IMPORT Some hats trimmed in America are being sold with "Made in France" labels, according to complaints to the National Better Business Bureau. It happens this way: when fur felt "shapes" are imported, customs regulations require a marking of the country of origin. Those who trim the bodies leave the marking right, creating confusion on the entire hat is an import. This is a deception and unfair competition, the NBBB warns in a bulletin. Such hats should be sold and advertised with the words "Body Imported from Italy" or "Imported French Body," as the case may be, the Bureau says. BUTTER-MARGINE WAR D-DAY ON SATURDAY The real butter-margarine war starts Saturday, when the tax on colored oleo is off. The spread is now down to 40 cents a pound, with both butter and margarine makers straining for lowest possible prices when many housewives for the first time will be testing whether colored margarine is an adequate substitute for butter. Butter interests have warned that the general sale of colored margarine will tempt dishonest sellers to pass it off as butter—a statement somewhat inconsistent with their claims that margarine is a vastly inferior product. The Food and Drug Administration will crack down on any substitution, and you can bet that butter makers will use every means to call attention to every case. If there are many incidents, there will be a strong move in Congress to restore the tax on colored oleo. STORES MAY REPLACE C.O.D.S WITH CHARGES A dramatic new approach to the C.O.D. problem is being studied by a large New York store. Delivery hauls in the area average long and sometimes two or more trips are necessary when buyers aren't home, pyramiding the costs. The store is considering suspending collections on C.O.D.s and entering all such orders as charge accounts. While this will entail some losses, they may be offset by savings on deliveries and, incidentally, establish profitable new charge accounts. NEW AND HOT MEMO: A new mechanical pencil carries its own memo paper. The barrel holds 36 inches of paper, which is fed out by turning the cap. Stamps may be carried instead of paper. (It is by A. H. Walter Co., 30 Church St., New York 7.) BOMB: Newest pressure bomb sprays a chemical which rids dogs of ticks, lice, fleas and gnats and helps keep them away. (It is by Knapp-Monarch Co., Bent and Potomac Sts., St. Louis.) RUBBER: A new process which removes all impurities produces a natural rubber that is 40 percent better resistant to cracking, cleaner, softer, more uniform than ordinary smoked sheet rubber (says U. S. Rubber Co., Rockefeller Center, New York 20).

Hal Boyle's Column

(For Hal Boyle)
New York —(AP)—Some 300 Japanese students in the United States were asked what they thought of American campus life. Fine, they said. They like the universities, they like the teachers, they like the buildings and the social freedom between professor and student. Only one thing bothers them: sex. Many were outraged by "social excesses" between American male students and coeds. One Japanese student complained that a "strong fragrance of sex filled the campus." "Too much kissing and hugging in public" said another. "Their (American students') main conversations is only love affairs." "Sex is very clear in this country," still another protested. Others were upset by "petting" and "students whose courtships are not pleasant to see." However, a small all-male minority of the Japanese students were enough impressed to be willing to give American sex standards a cautious try. Asked what characteristics of American campus life might be transplanted to Japan, one boy wrote: "Dates. I mean opportunities for young men to have free fellowship with girls and select their wives by themselves." This poll was taken at 163 different American schools and universities in 37 states by the Japan International Christian University Foundation, Inc. This is a group devoted to raising funds for a new university near Tokyo. Most phases of college life here pleased the Japanese students. "If the world could be something like an American university campus there would be no more war," one said. They were particularly impressed with our professors. One girl recalled her teachers at home who "stand up straightly in front of us with severe faces." In comparison, she said, American "professors are kind, good and even polite to us students." But, several noticed, American students are not always polite to American professors. For example: "Sometimes I think the freedom allowed students is pushed too far—such as knitting in class." "Too much free behavior in classrooms, for instance chewing gum, being noisy and making fun of the teacher." "Many students smoke and even read newspapers during lectures." The Japanese also were impressed by the easy-going atmosphere outside the classroom. "Japanese students are not used to greeting one another on the campus," wrote one. "I can find no Japanese equivalent to the words 'Hi' or 'Hello.' But I know that we need it." Several thought American students tend to over-emphasize sociability. One boy wrote, "Too many parties, footballs and basketballs." Another thought that Americans needed to slow down. "Everything," he said, "going too fast and mechanically. I can hardly find a chance to think about what I am doing."

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS WASHINGTON—Congressional quirk: A spokesman, seeking information on some bit of legislation, called Senator Hendrickson (R-N.J.) at 10:33 p.m. The senator refused to comment. He explained he wasn't sure at being called "out of bed" while in the New Jersey state legislature never to make a statement after he had been to sleep and had been awakened. He told the newsmen to call next day and he would be glad to comment. Congressman Clare Hoffman (R-Mich) has no pockets in his suit coats. The rumor has been that it was the only way he could break himself of putting his hands in his pockets while making a speech. This the Congressman denies. "I stopped having pockets in my clothes when the New Deal came in so that none of those boys could get their hands in my pockets," he says. Senator Hoyt (R-Conn) wears a tall coat with a big carnation in his lapel and an old-fashioned wing collar. Sen. Howard Smith (D-Va.) doesn't wear a tall coat but does wear a wing collar. Senator Langer (R-Ind), probably the most vociferous speaker in Congress, makes his oratorical points by pounding his desk with closed fist — shaking everything movable on the desk to the floor. Once the ink well on the desk came out, and the ink spilled. Now when they see Langer get up to make a speech, page boys rush up to clear off his desk. Rep. Forrest C. Donnell (R-Mo) favorite theme is the Constitution. Capitol newsmen desire he fancies himself the worlds leading authority on the subject and never misses an opportunity to try to prove a bill legal or illegal by applying the Constitution. A colleague once remarked: "Donnell could take the Constitution and with it write the Constitution is unconstitutional." Senator Millikan (R-Colo.) a dead ringer for film comedian Guy Kibbee, is regarded one of the saltiest wits in the Senate. Once when he was on the floor buttonholing other senators for support of a bill beneficial only to Colorado, one of his colleagues said: "Why, Gene, I'm surprised. I thought you were a statesman. Here you are playing politics just like the rest of us." The Senator drew himself up and said sternly: "A politician, sir, is a statesman who makes an office."

N. C. Legionnaires Conclude Meet; Name Officers

Charlotte, N. C., June 28—(AP)—The state's American Legionnaires retired in good order today from the four-day stronghold they had flung up here.

Their sometimes fun-making, sometimes serious convention ended yesterday with a three-hour election of officers.

Hugh Q. Alexander of Kannapolis was elected commander of the Legion's North Carolina Department. He succeeds R. C. Godwin of New Bern.

Alexander, a former Cabarrus County representative in the General Assembly, swept past two other candidates on the first balloting. They were Durham Davis of Shelby and Ed Hamrick of Hickory.

These five vice commanders were named:

J. C. Lamm Jr. of Wilson, Jack C. Wall of Fort Bragg, T. G. Stem Jr. of Oxford, W. A. Gresham of Albemarle and Beaman Pinner of Asheville.

Other new officers: The Rev. W. Quay Grigg of Sylvia, department chaplain; Edgar H. Bain of Goldsboro, re-elected department historian; James Bouce Garland of Gastonia, judge advocate; Robin S. Kirby of Charlotte, re-elected national executive committeeman; and Reece W. Scull of Valdese, national vice committeeman.

The Legionnaires ably mixed their fun and their seriousness. On the one hand they staged a mammoth parade, complete with all the trimmings for which the veterans of the two world wars are so well known.

Then, they heard men like Senator Frank P. Graham and Senator Lister Hill of Alabama endorse President Truman's order sending U.S. planes and war vessels to South Korea.

Trail Ridge Road in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado, is the highest continuous highway in the nation. Four miles are above 12,000 feet (timberline).

Highway Prices Appear Going Up

Raleigh, N. C. June 28—(AP)—Highway prices appear to be on the rise. The highway commission, opening bids on 31 new projects, noted that prices offered ran higher than in recent months.

Low bids on the 30 projects which contractors tried for totaled $2,566,098.36. Compared with commission estimates of $2,563,500.

Contractors submitted a total of 187 bids. The work includes 211 miles of roadway.

Besides higher prices, state Highway engineer W. H. Rogers, Jr., also noted there was "not much competition on certain types of work but a considerable amount on others."

He said paving and surfacing contractors seemed to be "pretty well loaded up," while competition among grading and base-course contractors continued.

The commission will open bids tomorrow on another 302 miles of work.

Fifty-One Elk Look For Homes

Fresno, Calif.—(AP)—Homes are wanted for 51 Tule Elk, but only zoos, schools and other public institutions need apply, says the California Fish and Game Division. The elk are likely to be skinny and in poor condition, warn game officials. Although there are 73 Tule Elk on the Tupman refuge near here, but the range is overgrazed. That is why 51 need new homes. They can't be transplanted to other wild refuges because this is all that is left of this species' natural habitat. The rest is farmed or in pasture for domestic livestock.

Additional Revenue Necessary

Notwithstanding major accomplishments made in the improvement and expansion of telephone service in our territory since the end of the war, our present revenue is not sufficient to give a reasonable rate of return on our plant investment.

Telephones in service have increased about 14,900 during the period December 1, 1948, through April, 1950, requiring the installation of more than 40,000 telephones. Plant investment during the same period has increased more than $4,600,000 with further increases for 1950 estimated at $3,600,000.

The new capital required to carry on this tremendous program must be secured from investors and our earnings must be maintained at a level to attract their investment.

Our pay roll costs as well as cost of items we purchase have continued to increase.

It has been necessary for the Company to petition the North Carolina Utilities Commission to authorize an increase in our exchange rates at the earliest possible date.

Robins And Rocky Mount Battle For Eleven Innings; End In 5-5 Deadlock

Rain Halted Overtime Game; Baktis Leads 13-Hit Attack With Four Singles In Six Trios To The Plate; Heflin Started, Relieved By Keys

By BERT MOYE
The Greenville Robins and the Rocky Mount Leafs battled for 11 innings and a 5-5 tie here last night before rain halted proceedings. This marked the second time this season that the Robins have played a tied-up ball game.

The Leafs rallied for one run in the 9th frame to knot the count at 5-5 on two singles, walk, error and infield out to force the contest into extra innings. Andy Anderson's infield hit, Frank Gardner's single after Mat Hall had dropped an easy out down the third base foul line, a walk to Pete King, who was pinch-hitting for Pitcher Jacobs, loaded the bases. Then Novak was out short to first with Anderson scoring on the out for the tying run.

The Leafs jumped into a 3-0 lead in the second frame when Babe Johnson walked, Anderson singled and Jim Reges hit a single into right centerfield to bring home both Johnson and Anderson.

The Robins came back in the third frame to knot the count at 3-3 on Tedpedino's single, a walk to Guidice, George Haller's double into left field to bring home Tedpedino and Guidice.

The Leafs then went out in front again in the fourth stanza when they shored across two more markers. Anderson led off with a double into right centerfield. Gardner singled to bring home Anderson. Anders beat out an infield hit and Novak walked, loading the bases. Then Wade Martin hit one through the legs of Third Baseman Mat Hall with Gardner racing home on the error.

The Robins scored a singleton in the fifth frame on singles by Haller and Baktis and a costly error by Wade Martin at short. They came back for the second time during the contest to catch the Leafs and go out in front 5-4 in the seventh inning, by scoring two runs on four singles and a sacrifice. John Baktis started things rolling with a single into left field. Bland beat out an infield hit, Hancock sacrificed the runners around. Bobby Harrison, pinch-hitting for Heflin, came through with a single into leftfield, to bring home both runners and second the Robins out front.

Manager Randy Heflin started on the mound for the Robins but was relieved by Ray Keys in the eighth frame after giving up seven hits and four runs. Keys pitched the remaining four frames, allowing four hits.

Andy Anderson, the Leafs' catcher, with a double and three singles in six trips to the plate led the 10-hit attack off the two Robin hurlers.

John Baktis with four singles in six trips to the plate led the 13-hit attack off the three Rocky Mount hurlers.

The Robins play the Kinston Eagles over in Kinston tonight and return home Thursday night to meet the Leafs in the second of the two-game series.

Scrapy Stanky

Eddie Stanky did not find fans' welcome mat at the Polo Grounds this spring when he opened up with the Giants after having been traded by the Boston Braves. Several old Giant favorites were shifted to Boston in the deal for Stanky and that didn't sit too well with many of the fans. Others simply were in a hurry to embrace Stanky just because he wore a Giant uniform when only a short time ago, he was one of the hated Brooklyn Dodgers.

Things are different today at the Polo Grounds. The jeers that previously greeted Stanky's appearances at the plate turned to cheers. The fans just couldn't hold out on a fellow who plays every minute of every game as though it was the deciding game of a World Series. Stanky never stopped trying in the field or at the plate. He battles everyone, including the umpire, for he can't take defeat gracefully. And he won't let up on teammates who give up easily.

Stanky was a real terror on the Giants' recent swing around the Western loop when he collected 21 hits in 48 times at bat for the long average of .438. He picked up 21 bases on 41 balls, making his total up to 47 upon his return to the Polo Grounds. In 46 games, Eddie failed to get on base only twice. He simply will not give up, and there is no use trying to convince him that the Giants haven't a chance in the pennant chase.

Stantonsburg And Farmville Clash Tonight
Farmville, June 28 — Farmville's Bright Belt leaders go against Stantonsburg tonight there in an effort to strengthen their half game lead over second place Macclesfield.

The locals took two games during the weekend from Saratoga but Macclesfield stuck right behind them on the strength of two wins, leaving the won-lost situation exactly where it was a week ago when Farmville wrested the lead from Macclesfield in a 3-1 game last Wednesday night.

New York — (P) — Coach Red Strader is having a hard time concealing his enthusiasm for rookie Zollie (Tugboat) Toth, LSU fullback who will join the New York football team next fall. "If he's tough enough for pro football and there's no reason to think he isn't — his 215 pounds and starting speed should make him a fullback in the Marion Motley class," says Red.

Tonight's Games

Greenville at Kinston
Roanoke Rapids at Goldboro
Wilson at Rocky Mount
New Bern at Tarboro

Sidelights:—A total of 870 paid admissions witnessed last night's game here with the Rocky Mount Leafs. . . This tie game will be played as a doubleheader here on Saturday, July 8th, which means that the Robins will face two doubleheaders in a row as they go to New Bern Sunday and play a twin-bill down there on Sunday afternoon.

Jim Hancock really pulled the fielding gem of last night's contest when he ran up against the fence in the eleventh inning to snag Wallace Novak's fly ball and save the game for the Robins. Two men were on base at the time. . . One night it's errors, the next night it's base running, but last night it was the umpiring. The way some of the ump calls decisions is enough to take the spirit out of any player and give them that "I don't care" feeling. Not only are the decisions on balls and strikes enough to give the pitchers and catchers a headache, but the calling of base runners is enough to give the infielders the jitters. . . Complaints from the fans continue to pour in to the writer regarding the T shirt kids who go out to the game, and sit in the grandstand and raise so much noise all during the game. They may go with their parents, but they never sit with them and they really do give the fans a hard time of it during the game.

Jim Dempsey, outfielder for the Robins, has been sold outright to the Anderson, S.C. club of the Tri-State League. . . Joe Alletette has returned from his home in Brooklyn, N.Y., and will be taken off the temporary inactive list, probably Thursday. . . Bill Herring has gone back to his job as manager of the Wilson Tobs. However, he will be a non-playing manager for the rest of the season and thus will be able to keep his team intact with three veterans, according to the league rule recently adopted. . . Bob McCotter, star hurler for ECTC, started his first game for the Bears Monday night and was knocked out in the second inning. . . Lefty Tom Marshall, who has pitched for the Rocky Mount Leafs since last season, will try again with the Raleigh Caps. In return the Caps sent Cole Jacobs, who has been doing much relief work up in Raleigh. . . Bill Schneidmiller and Walt Clepy have been sent by the Leafs to Rockingham of the Tobacco State League. Clepy, rookie, had been on the suspended list for the past two weeks. Schneidmiller, utility infielder, had originally planned to go to Clinton of the same league, but an agreement was reached with the Rockingham club recently.

New York — (P) — Three of pro hockey's four playoff winners last season were coached by former New York Ranger players. Ott Heller led Indianapolis to the American League crown, Bill Cook won with Minneapolis in the United States League and Abe Pratt coached the Westminister to the Pacific Coast crown. The Rangers, themselves were beaten in the finals of the National Hockey League playoffs, and they were led by ex-Ranger: Lynn Patrick.

Scott Motors Is Handed First Setback Of Season By 7 To 4

Wagner-Waldrop handed Scott Motors its first defeat of the Industrial League season yesterday in a 7-4 game which was a playoff of Monday's 10-inning tie.

The two teams are now tied for leadership of the league with four wins and one loss each.

Dave Mosier pitched seven hit ball to notch his fourth win of the campaign against one defeat. Bill Harrington, Scott pitcher, on the other hand, allowed but six hits in losing his first game.

The victors started off in the first inning as though they were headed for a no-count result. They tallied four times in that frame but settled down after that to score a singleton in the second and two more in the fifth. Scott scored twice in the first and added their other two in the top of the seventh.

Line score:
W-W 410 020 5-7 6 0
Scott Motors 200 000 2-4 7 1
Batteries: Wagner-Waldrop—Mosier and Leggett; Scott—Harrington and Sawyer.

In the Civic League the Jaycees and Exchange Club battled to strictly nighttime hours, the game being called at the end of the fifth with Exchange leading by one run, 20-19.

The game resulted in the highest scoring exhibition of batting mayhem among the Civic teams this year.

The Jaycees led off with a four-run first inning only to have that lead nullified twice over when the Exchange tallied eight in their half. The Jaycees again went in the lead in the second when nine runs crossed. But again Exchange took their cue and scored seven more to go ahead two runs.

Walter Perry hit a home run with two water aboard to account for three of that innings runs. He hit another roundtripper in the same inning.

The losers at the Exchange 18 to 13 but seven costly errors proved the game. Umpire Thrift called the contest at 7:45 after Exchange had tallied the tie-breaking run.

Line score:
Exchange 873 03-20 13-3
Jaycees 492 40-18 18-7
Batteries: Exchange — Riggs, Sumrell and Yates; Jaycees—McGowan and Saleed.

In another free-scoring game the American Legion whipped the Lions Club 15-9 in a 29th contest.

The game was a slow affair until the top of the sixth when the Legion exploded for six runs, followed by five in the Lions half of the frame. The Legion added single runs in the fourth and fifth, two in the sixth and put the nightcap on in the seventh when they tallied five.

Line score:
Legion 006 112 5-15 12 0
Lions 101 500 2-9 17 0
Batteries: Legion — Turnage and Williams; Lions — Lautares and Harris.

Second Ashenfelter

State College, Pa. — (P) — Another Ashenfelter will serve as captain of the Penn State track team next season. Bill Ashenfelter brother of distance runner Horace, is the newly-elected leader. Horace, who's a post-graduate student at his alma mater, captained the 1949 team.

Venezuelan Champion No Citation On U. S. Tracks

NEW YORK — They ran out of track records and competition for Hypocrite II in Venezuela so Federico de la Madrid y Pastor shipped his horse to America.

Madrid, who is a marquis and a Spanish count, was forced to send his 6-year-old bay horse here, says Arthur Kram, his American representative.

"Hypocrite II won 19 out of 23 races in Caracas and it got to the point where no owner would race a horse against him," says Kram. "He is one of 40 horses owned by the Conde de San Xavier who raises tobacco, coffee and sugar in Venezuela.

"The owner bought Hypocrite II in England for $18,000 when he was a yearling. The horse won $260,000 in South America. A total of $12,000 has been invested in his American campaign. Why, it cost $3,400 to charter a plane and fly him up from Caracas for the Gold Cup race at Jamaica last fall." But he broke down, "Hypocrite is in good shape now, having won his fourth start here in a mile race at Belmont." He was 18 to 1 and picked up the winner's purse of $3,250.

But the next time Hypocrite II ran he was over his head in the $23,000 Queens County Handicap at Aqueduct. Running against such standouts as Three Rings, Mount Marcy and Piet, the English-bred campaigner from South America could do no better than seventh in an eight-horse field even though he carried the light weight of 101 pounds.

Under the capable handling of Trainer orman Tallman, Hypocrite II probably will go on to win some races in this country. But against our better thoroughbreds he is no Citation.

Crippled Children's Camp For Polio Victims To Open July 17

In an effort to further polio victims progress in adapting themselves and their handicaps to a more normal way of living, the State Board of Health will sponsor a crippled children's camp on the Pamlico river near Washington beginning the week of July 17, to run for three weeks.

Together with civic clubs of eastern North Carolina, the Board of Health will send 45 children, all of whom have been victims of infantile paralysis in the epidemic of the past nine years.

From the orthopedic clinics of this section of the state the children will come by five. The youngest among them will be but six years old, the oldest 12.

Five will attend the week-long camp from Greenville's polio clinic. All have contracted the paralyzing disease within the past few years.

The children are: Charles Johnson, 12, Greenville; Donnie Allen, seven, route 1, Greenville; and Larry Anderson, 11, route 1, Greenville; and Nathan Scott, seven, Pactolus. Others will come from the clinics in Goldsboro, New Bern, Tarboro, Fayetteville, Elizabeth City, and Moore and Hoke counties.

A Washington businessman Taylor B. Attmore, at the suggestion of Miss Lillie Pentreath who heads the State Health Department's crippled children work in 36 northeastern counties, is responsible for getting the ball rolling. The Washington man sent a letter to more than 400 townsmen, explained the idea, told them a camp site nearby was already agreed upon and that all he needed was money from them. The money was to go, he wrote for playground seats, swings, a mess hall, chairs and recreation equipment. "Those of us who are responsible for projecting this Washingtonian" want you to visit this camp and see these 45 children, all with braces, crutches, casts, and what have you, who are struggling for a part of a normal life that you as I have, and that they cannot have without help. You and I will be more grateful people for our physical efficiency after seeing the unfortunate children."

The camp is located on the old Riverside Park property which two years ago the Roanoke District of the Church of Christ bought. That organization offered its property to Attmore for his crippled children program. Managed by B. F. Leggett of Washington for the churches of the district, Leggett will also be the polio camp's manager.

The organization in this area which are giving furs and other aid to the work of the camp are the Kiwanis, Exchange and Rotary clubs, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the American Legion and Elizabeth City's Rebecca Club.

For the youngsters there will be art work and handicrafts, lifesaving and ping pong, shuffleboard and horse shoes, basketball and softball. Life rafts have been bought from war surplus stocks for use on the waterfront. The Red Cross lifesaving class of Washington, headed by the State Highway Patrol, will conduct two waterfront periods each day.

Each child's treatment while at camp has been prescribed by the orthopedist at his hometown clinic. Duke Hospital will furnish medical aid free of charge while physiotherapists and nutritionists will be provided by the Board of Health.

Raleigh, N.C., June 28—(AP)—The State Board of Education's Finance Committee today continued work on the 1950-51 budget for public schools. The budget will be presented to the full board tomorrow. It is expected to authorize the expenditure of about $84,763,093.

The total includes $63,520,889 appropriated by the General Assembly for next year and $1,243,194 in unspent funds from the current year's $82,273,495 appropriation. Board members yesterday asked the State Budget Bureau for permission to include the unexpended fund in the new budget.

C. D. Douglas, controller of the board, said school spending this year will be about $80,500,000. The board's building committee was scheduled to meet this afternoon to consider new allocations from the state's $80,000,000 school construction fund.

Citizenship In Israel Is Simple

Jerusalem—(AP)—It's a simple matter to become a citizen of Israel. Every Jewish immigrant automatically acquires citizenship the moment of arrival in this country. In great simplicity—it's only five words in Hebrew—the "Law of Return" approved by parliament says: "Every Jew has the right to immigrate to Israel."

Replying Today

Raleigh, N.C., June 28—(AP)—Prison director J. D. Moore had an engagement late today to give Governor Scott his reply to charges that he used prison labor and state materials for work at his home. Moore said he had a detailed statement covering every point of a bulky "31 report on an investigation of the charge. "What I am doing is trying to clear myself of such charges," the prison director said. "I hope I can do it with the presentation of the statement."

South Korean towns of Kaesong, Chunchon and Uijongjin were in the path of the drive and Pochon, only 25 miles north of Seoul, capital of the U. S.-sponsored South Korean Republic, was reported taken by tanks and armored infantry. The Ongjin Peninsula was abandoned to the invaders. Americans in South Korea were being concentrated at Inchon for evacuation. On the east coast, South Korean guard vessels were reported to have sunk a Russian ship off Chumunjin. (AP Wirephoto Map).

OK Limited Use Of Drugs In Feed

Raleigh, N.C., June 28—(AP)—Limited use of drugs in commercial poultry feeds has been authorized by the State Board of Agriculture.

With these limited exceptions for poultry feeds, the board yesterday set up regulations banning the manufacture, registration, and sale of feeding stuffs containing drugs or drug derivatives.

The regulations were adopted after Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Baintline reported on a public hearing on the matter Monday. He said evidence presented at the hearing indicated that medicated feeds are authorized in the 47 other states, that federal authorities allow their distribution in interstate commerce, and that they are being used extensively by about 60 per cent of North Carolina's broiler growers.

The provisions are in line with recommendations of representatives of the North Carolina Experiment Station, the State Board of Health, feed manufacturers and broiler growers.

Art Secret Was Sealed By Death

Hong Kong—(AP)—The British buried 25 valuable paintings when the Japanese seized Hong Kong early in the war—and the paintings may have to stay buried. Austin Coates, assistant colonial secretary, said three men buried the paintings in the grounds of the governor's residence. Only they knew where.

All three men died. Each believed the other two would tell where the pictures were buried. A search of government files has afforded no clues.

Had An Excuse To Break Diet

LONDON—(AP)—Irene Dunne dieted for her figure, back in the United States where food is plentiful. She broke her diet when she got to England, where food is rather short.

At a luncheon in her honor, the Hollywood star happily ate lobster, rice, chicken, strawberries, cream and ices. She is over here to play Queen Victoria in a film called "The Tudor."

"The more I eat," she explained, "the easier it will be to make me look like the old lady."

Corn production for 1949 was 14 bushels per acre more than the 1935-39 average in North America.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says the farmer got about 49 cents of each dollar spent for food in September 1949 and 32 cents in 1933.

Guardsmen Gird For Encampment

Third Army Headquarters, Atlanta, June 28—Some 50,000 National Guardsmen of the seven southeastern states are packing their barracks bags and making final preparations for their annual two weeks' encampments which will be held during the months of July and August.

The Guard's field training will be in camps at Fort Jackson, near Columbia, S.C., Fort McClellan, Anniston, Ala., and Camp Stewart, near Hinesville, Ga.

Probably the biggest encampment of all will be at Fort McClellan, July 9 to 23, when the 51st Infantry Division, made up of Guardsmen from the states of Alabama and Mississippi assemble. This camp will have an estimated attendance of 8,961.

The 30th Infantry Division, made up of North Carolina and Tennessee troopers, is expected to have 8,722 attending camp July 2 to 16, at Fort Jackson.

Floridians and Georgians coming the 48th Infantry Division, are expected to take 7,292 to Fort Jackson July 23 to August 6.

The 51st Infantry Division, composed of Florida and South Carolina troops, and nondivision units of South Carolina with the exception of Antiaircraft Artillery, will take about 8,497 to Fort Jackson August 13 to 27.

Alabama and Mississippi non-division units, with the exception of AAA, will have about 2,655 at Fort McClellan July 30 to August 13, while Tennessee's nondivision units, 8,738 strong, will be at McClellan August 6 to 20.

All AAA training will be at Camp Stewart, South Carolina, with about 1,491 will be there June 28 to July 9; Florida, 899, July 2 to 16; Mississippi 328, July 2 to 16; Alabama, July 16 to 30, 1,728; Georgia, August 6 to 20, 1,342, and North Carolina, with 950, will be there at the same time as the Georgians.

Second Street In Valley Passable

Grading and top-surfacing East Second St. from Cotanche to Summit street, has facilitated the movement of vehicular traffic east and relieved some of the traffic congestion at Third and Cotanche streets, a city official stated today.

Second street in that area was practically impassable during rainy weather for a long time. Residents had difficulty getting in and out of their homes in cars. Since the grading and improving of the thoroughfare early this year the dirt has settled and the roadway is now firmly packed. Any tons of gravel were spread over the surface of Second street in the valley.

Heavy and light vehicles now are using Second street for a short cut. The street has been properly drained and water runs off readily following rains.

Short street, one block long, was opened from Second to Third streets, and this short cut is facilitating the movement of vehicular traffic, a businessman said today.

The mainline tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Smithburg, W. Va., are blocked by a two-story frame house washed thereby flood water. The building was used for a store. Eight homes near the store were washed away completely. A freight train is held up in the background. A cloudburst sent a sudden torrent of water roaring through the valley. Fourteen persons were reported missing and 200 houses were washed away in the flood area. (AP Wirephoto).

Hot Yesterday

The temperature in the Greenville area yesterday hovered near the 100-degree mark from near noon through the afternoon, when the U. S. Weather Bureau thermometers registered 99 degrees.

Lowest temperature recorded here last night was 69 degrees. At 6 a.m. today it was 74 degrees, with shifting northwest breezes.

Highest temperature here yesterday a year ago was 98 degrees and the lowest that night was 71.

Rainfall during the past week was very light, Mrs. C. E. Malden, observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported.

Found Pleasure Killing Husband

Richmond, Ind., June 28—(AP)—A dark-haired Kentucky woman confessed early today she shot her divorced husband to death last week because he "wouldn't buy anything" for their six-year-old son, Sheriff Ora Wilson said.

Wilson said Mrs. Sylvia Harris, 25, a state hospital attendant here, confessed after eight hours' questioning about the death of Minor Harris, 59, in his farm home near Elktion, Ky., last Thursday.

He said Mrs. Harris told him: "The most pleasure I ever had in my whole life was to see my husband fall to the floor."

The sheriff said she fired six shots at Harris.

Mrs. Harris said she returned to Elktion June 19 and found their son, Noval, dirty and his hair uncut.

"He said I could have him for a couple of days, and that would be the last," the woman's statement said.

The sheriff said Elktion officials found Mrs. Harris' footprints outside the farmhouse.

The sheriff said Mrs. Harris said she had bought the gun last fall at a roadhouse near Cincinnati, where she had previously worked as a Longview State Hospital attendant. She had been working at the state asylum here since last December.

After the shooting, Mrs. Harris took her son to the home of Mrs. Lonnie Watson in Elktion and returned here.

Earned Perfect Marks For Term At Chapel Hill

For the fourth time in a row a freshman from Winterville attending the University of North Carolina has been notified that he has obtained all "A's" in his subjects during the spring quarter at the University.

The student, George Elton Cox, a freshman at the University, has chalked up the academic record of making a grade of "A" in all of his subjects for the four quarters that he has attended the University.

Cox was notified of his achievement in a letter from the Dean at the University which read: "Your fine academic record during the spring quarter gives us such satisfaction, and I am sure that is a source of pride to you and your family. University work is not easy and to have again obtained all 'A's' is an achievement of the first rank." The letter was signed by C. L. Spruill, dean of the University.

Cox is the son of George Dewey Cox, box 51, Winterville, N. C. In addition to going to college, Cox worked several hours daily in order to help defray expenses while at college.

Anniversary Was Day To Remember

Chicago—(P)—It was going to be a day to remember for Policeman Al Butvill and his wife. It was their ninth wedding anniversary. They took their three children and a basket of lunch and went to Lincoln Park.

They saw a seven year old boy fall into a lagoon. Butvill stripped of his trousers, leaped into the water and rescued the youngster. When the Butvills reached their auto, he discovered the key to the car was missing.

So they rode home on public transportation lines. Butvill then ascertained he also had lost the key to his house. Butvill borrowed a ladder and climbed in through a second floor window. All in all, it was as intended, a day to remember.

Starfish Invade Harbor; Welcome Now Worn Out

Santa Monica, Calif. — (AP) — When starfish first invaded the harbor in large numbers, city officials were glad to see them. They had planned to spend $1,400 to have mussels removed from dock pilings and figured the starfish would save them the trouble and expense.

Sure enough, the stars went right to work. But they didn't stop with the pilings. After the mussels were eaten they went after the barnacles on the breakwater. Barnacles hold the big rocks together even tighter than cement.

If the starfish keep eating, city officials say, they may weaken the breakwater so much that a storm will wash the rocks out. But so far they haven't figured a way to get rid of them.

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long

Chapter 6
Sunshine was pouring into our room the next morning when Uncle Bountiful brought us early morning coffee.

"Maw'nin', Miss Peter," he grinned at me when I opened the door. "I hopes you sleep well?"

"Yes, thank you, Uncle Bountiful," I answered, helping myself from his tray. "Even the dog couldn't keep me awake."

I wasn't prepared for the reaction that I got to that. He started so violently that the coffee cups rattled like clattering teeth.

"Dawg!" The word was a frightful gasp. "Did you heah a dawg howl, Miss Peter?"

He began to tremble as though he had been seized with a sudden chill. "Oh, Lawd!" he moaned. "Fust time, de night de cunnel died; now ag'in las' night! Dat's a 'cho' sign..."

He didn't explain what it was a 'cho' sign of; but as soon as I had taken the two cups of coffee from the tray, he reeled on down the hall, still trembling and muttering.

I had finished dressing before Bobby was much more than started; so leaving her to primp at her leisure, I wandered out upon the upper gallery to enjoy the freshness of the morning. An outside staircase, its handrail covered by a trumpet vine in full bloom, beckoned me toward the garden below. I accepted its invitation.

The row of oleanders continued along the drive where it swept around the side of the garden. Admiring the large, fragrant blooms, I neared the end of the row, where it approached the old carriage house. I noticed that some of the plants appeared to be dying.

Just then I was hailed from the direction of the house, and turning, I saw Pick coming toward me across the lawn.

"Hello," she called. "Admiring the oleanders? They are lovely, aren't they?"

"They're beautiful!" I declared. "But I was taking time out to feel sorry for these four."

"Oh, what a shame!" she exclaimed. "I wonder what..."

She began to examine the earth at their roots.

"Someone has been digging at them," she announced a moment later. "Look here, Peter."

As she held back the lower branches, I could see where the earth had been disturbed. "Grandpere was always so particular about the oleanders. I'm going to ask Uncle Bountiful if he knows how it happened."

"Speaking of Uncle Bountiful," I remarked as we started back toward the house, "I'm afraid I gave him a bit of a scare a while ago, although I'm not quite sure what about." I repeated the incident involving my mention of the howling dog, and Uncle Bountiful's reaction.

Pick smiled.

"Superstition," she explained. "They believe that a dog howling portends death in the family of the dog's owner."

"I never thought of that," I admitted. "All that occurred to me at the time was how very much it sounded like a wolf howling."

"It's good you didn't say that to Uncle Bountiful," Pick observed. "He'd have been sure it was the Loup Garou."

"The what?" I asked.

"The werewolf," she elucidated. "It's a sort of vampire, you know. Lots of the colored people still believe in it."

"Oh, Heaven!" I exclaimed in-

'Recoilless Gun' Is U. S. Answer To Tank Attacks

By CLARKE BEACH
Washington—Recent progress in recoilless artillery and "shaped charges" accounts for much of the current optimistic talk of American officials on the subject of western European defense. In the past year they have become confident, they say, that enough defensive power can eventually be built up in western Europe to halt the Russians if they should attack.

The recoilless weapons vastly increase the power of defenders to stem the advance of mechanized armies spearheaded by masses of tanks. A great tank force is one of the chief Russian assets. Officials say they have 40,000 of them, compared to America's 6,000. Some observers, however, say the Russian tank force is much larger than that—perhaps 100,000 or more.

To knock out tanks from ground level, you need a lot of artillery. But artillery is costly, and peacetime armies are unlikely to have enough of it at the outbreak of war to hold a broad front against tanks. Recoilless guns are so relatively cheap that they can be manufactured in large quantities. They can be carried by infantry troops and can be fired by two men. Yet they can do as much damage as conventional artillery.

Two recoilless rifles are now in use, the 57-millimeter and the 75-millimeter. A 105-millimeter recoilless rifle is in the development stage. The 57, which weighs 44 pounds, is normally carried by two men. It can be fired from the shoulder of one man, like a bazooka, but the fire team is normally two men. The 75 weighs 105 pounds and takes four men to carry. It is fired from a machine-gun tripod. The 105 will be mounted on a light, two-wheel carriage.

You can appreciate the featherweight qualities of these weapons by comparing them with conventional artillery. One of the lightest field pieces, the 75-millimeter pack howitzer, weighs 1,850 pounds. Much of the weight is in the heavy carriage and shock-absorbing mechanisms which are needed with normal recoil. The weapon must be drawn by a tractor or a mule, and four or five men are required to serve it.

The light, recoilless weapons, which infantry troops can carry along with their small-bore rifles, can be so distributed as to be within reach of every man on the ground. When tanks attack, the soldiers can knock them off at 2,000 to 4,000 yards, instead of helplessly ping-ponging away at them with their rifles, while the heavily armored juggernauts mow them down. Military men say the new weapons will greatly stimulate the courage and fighting spirit of the footsoldiers.

The bazooka was designed for this kind of work, hurling a powerful, tank-busting projectile. But the bazooka's range is too short. The soldiers firing it have to wait for the tank to get within 75 yards before they can be sure of a knockout. The recoilless principle of the new rifles is an old one, but it was not well developed until the closing days of the last war. Instead of the projectile's being shot out of the barrel with the full force of the explosive charge, which causes recoil, about half the blast is allowed to escape to the rear of the rifle, thus counteracting the backward push.

The army ordinance research staff is now trying to improve the ammunition for the recoilless rifles. The shaped charge is being perfected. By having a hollow space of a certain design in the nose of the projectile, the full force of its explosion against the target is concentrated into a tiny stream, enabling a relatively light shell to pierce the heaviest armor.

New Design For Bicycle Comfort

AP Newfeatures
 Comfort plus power is claimed for this bike by its inventor, Judson C. Eubank of St. Augustine, Fla. He calls it the first departure from conventional design in 50 years. The rider sits comfortably in a regular seat with a back rest and gets added pedal power. "When you have to stop," Eubank says, "you do not have to get off this bike. You merely put your feet on the pavement from your sitting position." He got a patent on it.

Sumerians Knew Euclid Theorem

Baghdad—(AP)—A Babylonian scientist discovered one of Euclid's theorems some 1,700 years before the father of geometry was born, asserts Taha Bagir, curator of the Iraqi Museum in Baghdad. The "most ancient mathematical text known to date" was deciphered recently from a cuneiform inscription carved on a 4,000 year old clay tablet, Bagir said in an interview.

The tablet, along with several others, was unearthed at Tel Harmal, six miles south of Baghdad, last fall. It dates back to the beginning of the First Dynasty of Babylon, around 2,000 B.C., toward the end of the Sumerian era. "The Tel Harmal tablet, it has been found, outlines one of the basic theorems of geometry—an application of the principle of similarity of the two right-angled triangles obtained in drawing a perpendicular on the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle," said Bagir.

About half the nation has been mapped by the U. S. Geological Survey in the past 70 years but many maps are now out of date.

French Textile Group In N. C. To Study Work

Raleigh, June 28—(AP)—Twenty-three men and women from the French textile industry are here for a three-week study of the N. C. State College School of Textiles.

Their stay here is part of a tour of United States textile centers for study of American techniques which may be used for improvement of the industry in France. Members of the group were chosen by the French government for the tour, which is sponsored by the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA).

After their three-week seminar at State College, they will go to Washington for two days and embark for France from New York on July 11.

Hot Sidewalks For Skyscrapers

New York—(AP)—Home builder in northern states who have tried radiant heating coils under concrete driveways to melt snow and ice in the winter have given skyscraper builders an idea. The new office building at 100 Park Avenue, in New York has installed snow melting coils under its sidewalks.

Fellowship Goes To Reporter

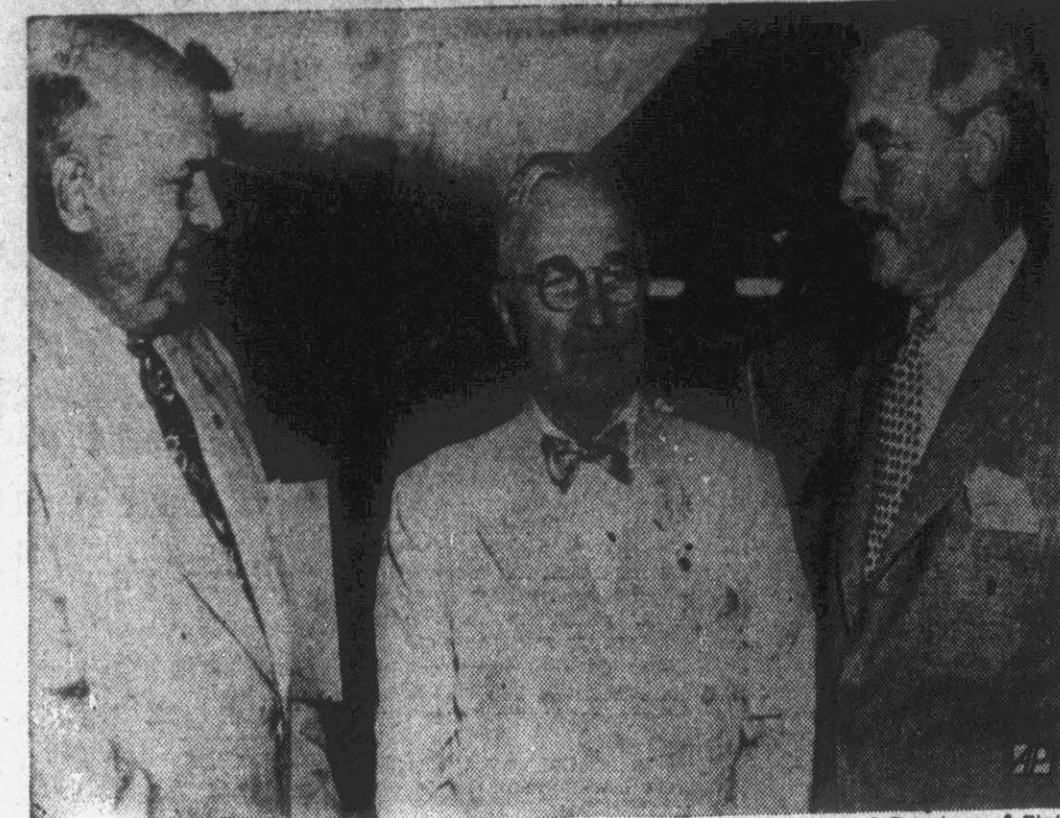

Cambridge, Mass., June 28—(AP)—A Nieman Fellowship has been awarded Hoke M. Norris, a reporter on the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Journal. He is a native of Holly Springs, N.C., and a graduate of Wake Forest College.

Harvard University awarded the fellowships to 12 newspapermen in 10 states. The fellowships were established with funds left by Agnes Wahl Nieman, widow of Lucius Nieman, founder of the Milwaukee Journal.

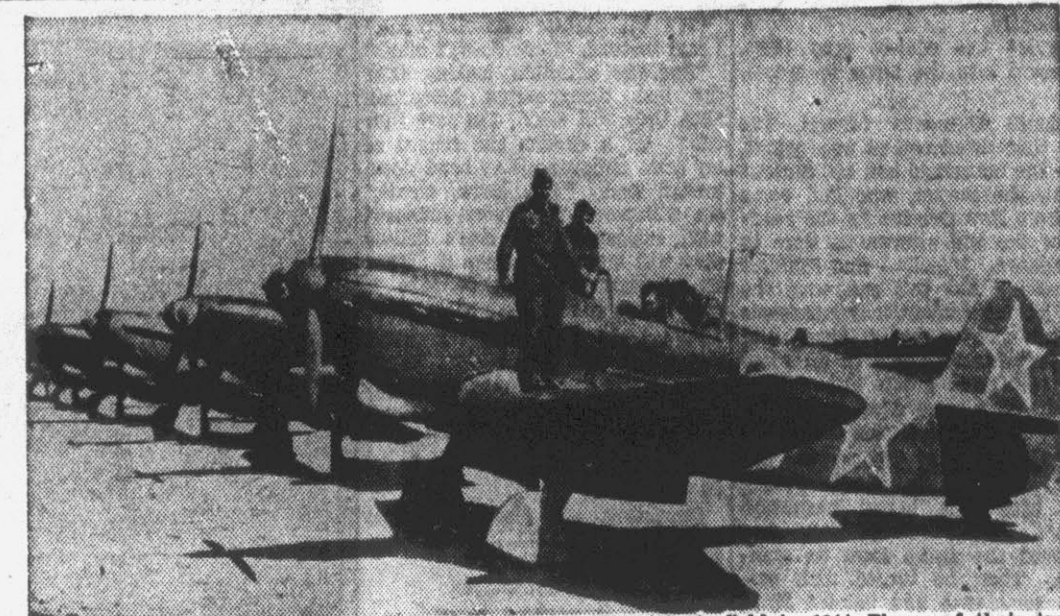

Five Foot Cross Burned In Yard

Charlotte, June 28—(AP)—A five foot cross was burned last night in the back yard of Mrs. Helen Ratcliff's home on Charlotte's North Side. Mrs. Ratcliff, former wife of a night club operator, was quoted by police as saying she knew no reason why the cross was burned in her yard.

Two boys told police they saw the cross, wrapped in oil soaked rags, burst into flame, then saw a man jump a fence surrounding the Ratcliff home and disappear into woods.

A grim President Truman stands between Defense Secretary Louis Johnson (left) and Secretary of State Dean Acheson as he leaves his plane at National Airport in Washington Sunday. The President cut short his weekend at home in Missouri to rush back to the capital for conferences on the crisis created by a communist invasion of South Korea. (AP Wirephoto).

These Russia Yak fighter planes were photographed on a Soviet air field in 1944. Planes of their type were used Sunday by North Korean Communist fliers in their bombing and strafing attack on Kimpo airport at Seoul, capital of the U. S.-sponsored South Korean Republic. The air attack came as an estimated 50,000 North Korean troops began their invasion of South Korea. (AP Wirephoto).

Seats Available At Big Pageants

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, June 28—It begins to look like the publicity men for the two outdoor symphonic-dramatic-pageants at the extreme eastern and western ends of the state might have over-extended themselves.

Carl Sink, publicist for the western show, "Unto These Hills," and Aycock Brown, functioning in the same capacity for "The Lost Colony," ballyhooed their respective shows so much and paramounted the number of people making advance reservations, the impression got out that all seats had been reserved for the first few days.

That just isn't the case. There's lots of room at both the Mountain-side Theater at Cherokee and the Waterside Theater on Roanoke Island.

Both shows open Saturday night, July 1, and will continue through Labor Day. After the first week there will be no performances on Monday nights, and none at Mountain-side on Tuesday nights. Opening schedules call for performances every night from July 1 through July 9 at both theaters.

The promoters like to have advance sales of tickets, and both outfits have a good many seats reserved. Both, however, emphasize that they will be able to take care of patrons who arrive without reservations.

Announce Change Among Personnel

Raleigh, June 28—(AP)—A series of personnel changes which will become effective July 1, has been announced by the Highway Commission.

Highway Chairman Henry W. Jordan said that D. G. Pearce, division mechanic at Wilson, will become superintendent of the Raleigh equipment depot, replacing Hal Tharrington, who will go to Greenville as division mechanic. J. L. McDonald, division mechanic at Greenville, will take Pearce's old job at Wilson.

The U. S. Geological Survey estimates it will take 50 years to complete its job of mapping the nation at the present rate.

Log Cabin Deluxe

AP Newfeatures
A HOLLOW LOG is the trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Arnold of Kelo, Wash. Arnold, a woodsman, gouged out his unique log cabin with hand tools. It took him two years. It is mounted on a truck chassis. Its seamless, varnished interior gives Arnold his living while he is on the road. He charges admission from the curious who want a peek at the inside. "I never stop in big cities," says the woodcutter. "Ties up traffic too much. Besides big city people are too sophisticated. They think it's a gag." His log is a 22-foot long spruce, 10 feet across.

One Killed When Six Fall 80 Feet With Elevator

Wilson, June 28.—(AP)—A construction elevator plunged 80 feet late yesterday taking the life of one worker and seriously injuring five others.

The accident occurred at the First Presbyterian Church which is being erected here. The six were on the elevator.

Raymond Cobb of Rocky Mount died this morning. Two men are in critical condition and the other three are listed as in serious shape. All are in local hospitals.

Cause of the accident has not been determined. The elevator shaft had been 105 feet high. The men had just completed work on the steeple. They had removed the top section of the elevator when it went out of control, crashed through a roof and slammed to the ground.

Medical Board Renews License Of Dr. Sander

Concord, N. H. June 28.—(AP)—Dr. Herman N. Sander, country physician, was sent back to minister to his patients today by the State Board of Registration in Medicine.

The board restored his license to practice, which it had suspended after he was acquitted March 9 of a murder charge in the death of a dying cancer patient, Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59.

At his trial, which failed to become a test case for euthanasia (mercy death), as expected, the prosecution contended Dr. Sander administered a deadly quantity of air into Mrs. Borroto's veins. The defense satisfied a jury the woman already was dead before the injection.

Two-Day Holiday Set For Winterville

Stores in Winterville will take two days for the mid-summer July fourth holiday.

Graham Oliver, Winterville merchant, announced today that the stores will be closed all day Tuesday, July 4, and Wednesday July 5.

Police Charge Man With Shoplifting In Greenville Store

Greenville police are holding Charles G. Bradham, 47, carpenter of Sumter, S.C., on charges of shoplifting and larceny.

Two warrants on file at headquarters charge Bradham with shoplifting a necktie at Williams Novelty Store on Dickinson Avenue, and larceny of a safety razor from J. R. Hunning, 211 West Eighth Street.

Bradham will be tried in Police Court Friday morning.

Price Supports Bill Is Signed

Washington, June 28.—(AP)—President Truman today signed a bill authorizing $2,000,000,000 for the government price support program.

The additional authorization is for use of the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corporation, which previously had been given $4,850,000,000 for the price support program. The program this year is to bolster prices of cotton, wheat, corn, rice, tobacco, peanuts and several other crops.

More Power . . .

(Continued From Page One) one entering or leaving Greenville will be torn down and replaced with the three new steel towers to be erected on a site about two miles from the present station on the Falkland highway on the property which was purchased from David W. Mosler recently. The new transmitter building will be located on the property also. The new transmitter was shipped from the factory today, Campbell said.

The increase in power for the station will cover an area of more than 75 miles in the day time, the manager said. The increased coverage will triple the area now served by the local station which celebrated its tenth anniversary last June 6.

The studio and offices of the Carolina Broadcasting system on the Falkland highway will be retained for studio purposes and will be manned by an adequate staff to operate the station under its increased power.

At the completion of the proposed improvements of the Carolina Broadcasting System will have a potential capital investment in WGTG estimated at close to $100,000.

The station has tried for a long time to obtain the increase in power but had met with little luck until yesterday when they were notified of the approval of the construction permit and increased power.

The station will continue to be affiliated with the Mutual Broadcasting System which it joined in April of this year. In addition to the programs received from Mutual, the local radio station will also receive programs from the American Broadcasting System and the Columbia network.

The change at the station will move Greenville from the 1490 kilocycles to 1590 kilocycles. A power increase from 250 watts to one kilowatt power at night and five kilowatts daytime power.

The Greenville station was one of three stations in North Carolina for which the Federal Communications Commission approved changes yesterday.

Plan Redecorate . . .

(Continued from Page 1) rored in sections of two feet square. Chandeliers at the top and bottom of the steps will be added.

Brody said the contract was let recently and work will be begun as soon as the contractor arrives here with his equipment. All the new features of the store will be brought here more-or-less intact with re-assembling being done in the store so that there will be as little inconvenience to shoppers as possible.

"A great deal of time has been spent in planning the new interior to make it the most convenient and modern type of store for women shoppers," the manager said.

Playgrounds Begin Competitive Games

This afternoon several of the city playgrounds supervised by the City Recreation Commission took part in competitive games at the Charles Street playground and Cotanche Street park.

The regular attenders at the Third Street and West Greenville playgrounds made the visits today.

Games of all types, planned according to the ages of the children, were enjoyed by the children. Buses and free transportation were furnished by the Recreation Commission.

The games opened at 2:30 and continued until 5:30 when the playgrounds closed.

END CONVENTION

Carolina Beach, N. C. June 28.—(AP)—North Carolina's United Spanish War veterans closed up their annual convention here yesterday after letting it be known they opposed government.

Hog Market

Raleigh, June 28.—(AP)—(NCDA)—Hog prices 25 cents higher today. $19.50 at Tarboro, Greenville, Wilson, Washington, Goldsboro, Robersonville, Kinston and Rocky Mount. Richmond steady at $20.

Colored News

A. B. Malone, pastor of the Church of God in Christ, on Clark street, today reported excellent attendance at the revival services now being conducted.

Evangelical Preacher Elder J. S. Spruill, of Roper, is speaking regularly at the services.

The annual event will extend through Sunday, and will be climaxed by a baptismal program. Gospel singing and visiting ministers have marked the nightly sermons.

SKILL OR CHANCE

Charlotte, June 28.—(AP)—A rifleman shot a bear in Superior Court here today.

The rifleman—Patrolman W. P. Hunter—fired 40 times; scored 26 hits. Judge Allen H. Gwyn pondered whether the "shoot the bear" device was a game of skill or a game of chance.

POPULATION GAIN

Durham, June 28.—(AP)—Census figures for the sixth congressional district show an increase of 23 per cent.

J. D. Rogers, federal census supervisor, pointed that out here yesterday. The district has upped its population from 314,659 in 1940 to 396,243 this year.
