Work Begins On Power Expansion

Utilities' Crews Begin Staking Out Route Electric Lines Will Follow To Bring Electricity To More Than 2,500 Rural Families

Preliminary work was begun today on the Greenville Utilities rural electrification project which eventually is expected to carry electric power to more than 2,500 families in rural areas of Pitt, Beaufort and Craven counties.

Utilities Superintendent Martin Swartz said two staking crews under the direction of Engineer L. E. Wooten began early today to stake out the route the electric lines will follow. The crews began work on the north side of the Tar River and will proceed to stake out the path of the power lines to all the individuals in the local utilities commission's territory who have signed applications for electric service.

Swartz said the commission at the present time has in its files applications for between 1,600 and 1,800 individuals who want electricity. Lines will be staked out for only those buildings for which applications already have been signed and those for which applications are signed before the staking is finished, the superintendent said.

Swartz pointed out in his statement this morning that the preliminary staking in the rural areas does not mean lines will be run to go up immediately. According to the regulations of the Rural Electrification Administration at least 75 per cent of the proposed power line must be staked out before contracts can be let for the construction of the lines. Swartz said the commission expects to call for bids on the rural electrification work in this area within the next six weeks.

The lines which will carry the electricity to the 1,600 to 1,800 applicants now registered by the local commission are expected to cover approximately 300 miles. It was just last week that the Greenville Utilities Commission and the board of aldermen approved the REA loan which granted the utilities $910,000 credit for the construction of rural electric lines. Although the loan was approved for the full $910,000, the Utilities Commission has stated that it will actually need approximately $300,000 to carry out this first phase of the proposed over-all program.

Swartz said the bids for the construction of the new lines will be based on a per unit rather than total mileage of the lines to be constructed.

Three Escapees Are Experienced

Raleigh, N.C., July 18—(AP)—Three prisoners—all of whom have escaped before—were out again today, the Prison Department reported.

Acting Prison Director H. H. Honeycutt said S. L. Pipkin, 47-year-old High Point man, escaped this morning from a Watauga County camp. Pipkin has escaped twice before and attempted escape one other time.

Two other prisoners escaped yesterday from a Caldwell County camp. Honeycutt said they were Marshall Maybe, 26, of Winston-Salem, and Clarence Jones, 28, of Goldsboro.

Let Three Contracts On Schools

Total Over $97,000; Addition To Ayden Negro School Is Largest Project

Three contracts were awarded at yesterday's school board meeting totaling $97,366.90. The towns in the county concerned are Farmville, Ayden and Grimesland.

The largest contract let is for the Negro addition to the Ayden school, a total of $68,525. The other two are for general renovations at Grimesland and re-wiring and new fixtures at Farmville.

The general contract for renovation at Grimesland went to W. G. Dunn, Greenville, at $18,750. The work will entail a new roof on the back part of the building and repair work to the present elementary building room. Other renovations will include new ceilings, floors, parapet walls and plastering in addition to blackboards and bulletin boards.

Re-advised bids for electrical work in the Farmville high school went to Dick's Electric Company of Wilson. The bid was $12,061. Formerly bids for the general contract, wiring and heating were presented but were considered too high. The board ordered a re-advertisement at its July 3 meeting because the low bidder made an error in his bid. Yesterday, however, only electrical bids were presented.

A bid of $85,421.75 for construction of a six-room Negro school building at Fountain was considered too high by the board. The architect was asked to confer with the State Board of Education in an effort to make changes in type of construction to lower the cost.

The Ayden and Grimesland contracts awarded yesterday will have to be approved by the state board concerning grants-in-aid to the school buildings fund for the construction planned.

Farmville is the only town among the four which has the money on hand for its planned improvements. The money was left over from the construction of the Negro school, which opened last year. It amounts to about $25,000.

Many Requests In Truman Talk

More Men, Money And Authority Will Be Sought

Washington, July 18—(AP)—President Truman will call for more men, money and authority to deal with the Korea crisis tomorrow but, one congressional leader said, will not now seek a tax increase.

The president set aside much of today for work on final drafts of his two Wednesday messages—a report to Congress at 11 a. m. EST, and a broadcast to the people at 9:30 p. m. EST.

As placed together from a dozen sources in the capital, Mr. Truman's requests to Congress were expected to include:

An additional $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 in military spending authority.

Permission to increase by 200,000 men or more the authorized strength of the armed forces—or about 770,000 above today's actual strength.

Limited powers of priority and allocation, to channel steel and other materials into arms production, by voluntary means if possible and compulsory means if necessary.

Anti-inflation measures including curbs on consumer credit but not including the price, wage or ration powers of World War II.

Higher taxes have been predicted freely by officials as the Korean police action mushroomed into war proportions. Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic leader in the Senate, told a reporter, however, he does not expect that Mr. Truman can call for them when the new Congress convenes in January. This does not, however, necessarily rule out his pending request for a moderate increase.

There was a growing tendency in Washington to regard the costs of Korea as only a first installment on a possibly long and heavy burden of defense spending and foreign military aid.

City Employees Fired By Mobile

Mobile, Ala., July 18—(AP)—Forty-one Mobile policemen and firemen were fired today for refusal to sign statements of non-union affiliation.

Eight policemen and 33 firemen were discharged. They failed to sign the non-union statements by last midnight, the deadline prescribed by a city ordinance.

McCarthy Case Labeled As Fraud And Hoax By Report

Washington, July 18—(AP)—"A fraud and a hoax"—that's the label slapped on Republican Senator McCarthy's charges "must be set down as superficial and inconclusive." He said there remains a "tangle of loose threads" and "leads which were not followed up."

Lodge also declared the "tone of the investigation" set by the Democrats, too frequently "biased impartially" and the atmosphere "too often was one of trying to hang someone rather than to ascertain the truth."

The other Republican on the committee, Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, filed no report but said he is in general accord with Senator Lodge's ideas, "particularly the emphasis on the complete responsibility of the majority."

Lawmakers Plan To Push Mobilization

Solons Promise President Quick Action On Proposals; Talk Investigation Into Recent Food Price Increases

Washington, July 18—(AP)—Senate committees looked forward to investigations of the military effort and of sharply rising food prices today while congress awaited President Truman's mobilization blueprint for the Korean fighting.

In advance of a formal message to the lawmakers tomorrow, the President had assurances from legislative leaders of quick action on proposals he may lay down then.

These were expected to include authority to lift the military manpower ceiling, to curb credit and to parcel out scarce materials for war plants.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, predicted speedy passage of bills to put the President's program into effect, including an increase in military funds. Speaker

Red Press Raps Wallace Actions

New York, July 18—(AP)—The Communist Daily Worker today accused Henry A. Wallace of "shabby jingoism" in his declaration of support for United States and United Nations forces in Korea.

An article by Gil Green, Illinois state chairman of the Communist party, declared Wallace "has betrayed the cause of peace and the trust place in him by millions of common men and women all over the world."

In releasing his statement last Saturday, Wallace indicated he knew it would draw Communist fire but didn't care. "This is not a matter of trying to please any particular group but of expressing my views on a critical matter," he said.

The Daily Worker supported Wallace's 1948 presidential campaign on the Progressive party ticket.

Acheson Sends American Reply To Nehru Offer

Washington, July 18—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson has sent a reply to India's Prime Minister Nehru on the Korean question. In it, he is reported to have said that no peace negotiations can start until the Communist invaders withdraw.

Nehru and Stalin also have exchanged notes on Korea, and Tass, the Soviet news agency, has said they both agree that Communist China must be admitted to the United Nations before any peace settlement can be made.

The state department said today that Acheson's reply to the Indian leader's peace move was sent to Ambassador Loy Henderson in New Delhi last night.

Taejon Remains In U.S. Hands Against Overwhelming Odds; Invaders Take Battering From Air; Reluctant To Attack Without Armor

By The Associated Press
North Korean Communists, with ranks dented by "terrible" casualties, have slackened their attack in South Korea and American forces are holding all along the front, U. S. officials announced today.

Herold U. S. 24th division troops battling against overwhelming odds still hold positions above Taejon. That rail center, once considered the key to South Korea's defense, remains in American hands, a U. S. Eighth Army spokesman reported.

To the west, South Korean troops attacked on the central sector Tuesday night (Korea time) and then withdrew to defense positions after inflicting heavy casualties, the army spokesman said.

The Reds were taking a battering from the air by U. S. jet fighters, Mustangs and light bombers. Heavy bombers struck behind the lines in strategic attacks which sooner or later would show up in a slackening of Communist supplies at the front.

So terrific was the air beating that fighter pilots reported the Reds moving their armor and motor columns only by night and lying low in daylight.

U. S. Far East headquarters informed the defense department that the defenders were holding all along the line and that enemy pressure slackened. The Washington spokesman warned against considering this a decisive turning point. However, there is a definite stiffening of defenses, and there is more tactical support from artillery and air, the defense department reported.

This has kept the Americans in the battle below the Kum River at Taejon where Communist troops last were reported at the city's outskirts.

A Red force to the east posed a serious threat. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported the Reds moving reinforcements to their fifth division driving south from Taegu, 60 miles north of Taejon, striking for American supply lines.

The South Korean first corps had blunted this drive Sunday.

Blistering American air attacks slowed the Red drive in the Taejon sector and kept Communist tanks from crossing the Kum river in force. Red tanks were reported drawing up on the north bank of the river. The Communists were believed reluctant to advance far without support from the Russian-made armor which has led every Red drive down the peninsula.

A hill fell over the main battle sector and over the central sector just to the east, where South Korean troops dug in at defensive positions.

American defenses, particularly planes, were taking a heavy toll of Communists. Gen. MacArthur's headquarters estimated Red casualties to date at 11,000, but said accurate figures were impossible. The airman bagged 21 tanks and 143 trucks Monday. They struck hard again today. Light bombers strafed Communist supply lines all the way back to Seoul. B-29 superforts blasted rail yards at strategic points and hit Seoul's Kimp'o airfield.

The North Korean Pyongyang radio said more than 2,500 Americans were killed and more than 100 were captured in fighting south of the Kum river up to 6 p. m. Monday. Tokyo time. Reports from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea indicated, however, U. S. casualties were light in the last 48 hours while the enemy suffered heavily trying to crack the defenses north of Taejon.

Major Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the Eighth Army, said:

Reasons in the old manner in which the United Nations has met the emergency. Unlike its predecessor, the League of Nations, which committed hari-kari by refusing to face similar crisis, the U.N. not only sponsored the military intervention which thus far has fallen on Uncle Sam's shoulders, but is urging other nations to send ground troops to support the United States.

That's a real bid for peace. If all the democratic members of the United Nations would stand together under this leadership, the Korean war might be brought to an early halt. Certainly, such a unified stand would be a mighty deterrent to further aggression.

Naturally there are many small members of the U.N. who cannot afford to send large contingents of troops to the Orient. They have to in order to support the U.N.'s stand. Even a dozen or so fitted into a U.N. give moral support.

It would mean a stand up and against aggression. In this

No Big War For Now

Analyst Points To Signs Of Natural Anxiety, But Holds Firm To Belief That Stand In Korea Will Prevent World War III; Efforts To Discourage War

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

My wife, who is visiting in England, has wiggled me to know if she should cut her trip short in view of the war scare.

My barber, whose wife is in Italy, has received a similar query and has paid me the compliment of asking my view, thereby giving him an opening to talk.

The answer in both instances is in the negative. There is no indication that another world war is imminent. So that's what the girls have been told.

Most Americans, while naturally uneasy, seem to estimate the situation correctly. Of course there is a small fringe of the population that is doing "scare buying" of goods and food, but the vast majority are taking a very uncomfortable situation in stride.

The anxiety of European countries like England and Italy, however, is understandable. Both of them are sitting dangerously close to the heavy guns of Bolshevism, and Italy in addition has a big Communist party. Other countries of Western Europe are experiencing similar uneasiness. Still, by and large, the democratic bloc is facing the Korean crisis with determination. And one of the chief

Will Honor Clubs Next Saturday

West Jefferson.—Next Saturday, July 22, will be observed as North Carolina Federation of Women's Club Day at the Cherokee Drama, "Unto These Hills." Mrs. Ed M. Anderson, state president of the Federation, announced today.

A special section will be reserved for clubwomen for the evening performance at the Mountainside Theatre and a representative group is expected.

The decision to set aside a special day for clubwomen to attend was made at the recent meeting of the Executive Board held in Greensboro. Mrs. Anderson stated that the day would serve a two-fold purpose as it would enable clubwomen to get together and give them the opportunity to see a dramatic presentation of an important period in history.

"I hope that every clubwoman in North Carolina will make an effort to see "Unto These Hills," not only because of its historical value and dramatic presentation, which is already attracting nationwide attention," Mrs. Anderson said.

"We should be grateful to everyone who helped to make the drama possible and show our appreciation by our presence," she concluded. North Carolina Clubwomen will also observe a special day at the Los Colony Drama during August. Plans for this will be announced later, it was stated.

No Resignation Ban Considered

Raleigh, N. C., July 18—(AP)—Adj. Gen. J. Van B. Metts said today he hasn't considered the matter of an order banning resignations from the North Carolina National Guard.

He made the statement when asked for comment on an announcement by Georgia's adjutant general that in view of the Korean fighting, no further resignations from the Georgia Guard will be accepted.

'Rough And Ready' Group Brought Back Five Prizes

Five prizes were brought home by the members of the Greenville Rough and Ready volunteer fire company from the 60th annual convention of the Colored Volunteer Firemen of North Carolina.

The convention was held last week in Wilson.

In the oratorical contest, which was held Wednesday night as part of the convention, Johnny Wooten of Greenville received the second place prize of $5. In the long distance hose and reel race which was held Thursday morning, the Greenville company took first prize. The local company won second place in the 50-yard grab race and third prize in the truck race.

Joe Lee Joyner of the Greenville company won second place in the foot races.

The convention officially opened Tuesday morning with a business meeting and was highlighted Wednesday by a parade and the oratorical contest. Thursday's activities centered around the outdoor fire fighting events, and the election of officers was the principal business Friday.

Members of the state association were greeted during the opening session of the convention by Littlejohn Faulkner, mayor of Wilson.

Irregularities In VA Office Said Suspected

Washington, July 18—(AP)—The Veterans Administration said today it has suspended 10 of its Tennessee employees pending investigation of possible irregularities and maladministration.

The announcement came after a conference between Veterans Administration Administrator Carl R. Gray Jr. and Reps. Evins and Priset, Tennessee Democrats.

A Veterans Administration announcement said audits by the agency's finance representatives, investigators from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and by its own investigators "have developed evidence which indicates irregularities of major proportions, involving inefficiencies and maladministration in the Nashville and Knoxville offices of VA."

The Tennessee congressmen said Gray told them the particular cases currently under investigation are:

1. Overpayment of $49,320.90 to the Murfreesboro Practical Trade School, Murfreesboro, Tenn., run by Houston Williams and Mrs. Clyde L. Evans.
2. Overpayment of $10,785.60 to the Chattanooga Technical Trade Institute.

The VA announcement said: "The principal evidence involves the relationships between individuals in the Nashville office and the schools training veterans in that area."

"The findings are so serious in their import that it has been found necessary to prefer dismissal charges against certain employees of these offices and to suspend them, pending final action under these charges."

Continue Search For Trapped Trio

Lark, Utah, July 18—(AP)—Hope remained alive today for the safety of three men trapped in a maze of interlacing tunnels by a fire which broke out before dawn Sunday.

The bodies of two men were taken from the American Smelting, Mining and Refining Company's lead mine yesterday. The bodies were located by a rescue team of volunteer mine workers, 7,500 feet below the surface in the Mascotte Tunnel.

The dead were Horace Martin Seal, 59, a hoist operator, and Byron G. Thomas, 46, surface foreman.

The three men who remained somewhere in the mine were listed by company officials as Leland Nielsen, 38 pump operator; Robert Gordon Meyerhoffer, 36, electrician's foreman, and Clyde Auguston, 41, assistant mine superintendent. All were Lark residents.

Grimy and tired crews continued the search early today after four fans had been set up to clear the dense smoke being coughed into the tunnels by burning timbers.

Picture Reminds Him Of Appeal To Truman For Prayers For Guidance

George Garrett, Greenville colored man who lives at 1300 Ward Street, related today that a photo in yesterday's Reflector reminded him of a letter he sent to President Truman about a year ago.

Garrett referred to the photo on page ten which pictured Evangelist Billy Graham and three companions kneeling for a prayer on the White House lawn.

It was almost 12 months ago when Garrett woke up about 2 o'clock one Monday and decided to write to the President suggesting that more attention be given to prayer for guidance in helping to solve the national and international problems which the government of the United States was facing.

It wasn't long, he said, before he began to notice that newspaper accounts of high level conferences of the government mentioned that they were being opened with prayer.

"Prayer is one of the first steps to peace," Garrett commented. "Through guidance and prayer we will accomplish peace."

Garrett is a member of the A. M. E. Zion church where he serves as the Pastor's Steward and also a class leader. He is a former chairman of the board of stewards of the church and is active in local colored civic affairs.

believed there should be general agreement among the democracies not to strengthen the hand of aggressors by trading which might benefit them. A case in hand is the question of oil sales to Red China. The United States has embargoed shipment of oil from America, the purpose being to plug any leaks of this strategic fuel to the forces invading South Korea.

Washington also has been seeking the help of other countries in tightening the oil embargo. Up until now Britain had declined to go along with requests to cut shipments to China on the grounds that current shipments by British were "sufficient only for civilian consumption" in China. Britain has placed much importance on her business connections with Communist China, and has wanted to continue trade with that country.

Today, however, a British Foreign Office spokesman announced that his country had stopped all oil shipments to Red China.

This question of wartime trade always has been a troublesome and dangerous one, but also one possible of solution. So, all things considered, I've told my wife to finish her English holiday.

Hosiery Firms To Allot Production

New York, July 18—(AP)—Some major manufacturers of nylon hosiery, many of them faced with heavy orders from retailers, have announced plans to allot their production during September.

The producers' action accompanied a reduction ranging from 7 to 20 per cent in the amount of nylon yarn to be made available to them during August by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., supplier of nylon.

Several cities have reported "war scare" buying of nylon hosiery in retail stores. These stores are seeking to assure themselves a large supply for future months.

A number of major firms producing branded lines were reported to have informed customers that no abnormally large orders for hosiery would be considered.

With reduced offerings of nylon yarn for August, hosiery producers said they adopted an allotment system for September "to protect regular accounts."

The diving-bell is said to have been invented by Roger Bacon.

Picture Reminds Him Of Appeal To Truman For Prayers For Guidance

George Garrett, Greenville colored man who lives at 1300 Ward Street, related today that a photo in yesterday's Reflector reminded him of a letter he sent to President Truman about a year ago.

Garrett referred to the photo on page ten which pictured Evangelist Billy Graham and three companions kneeling for a prayer on the White House lawn.

It was almost 12 months ago when Garrett woke up about 2 o'clock one Monday and decided to write to the President suggesting that more attention be given to prayer for guidance in helping to solve the national and international problems which the government of the United States was facing.

It wasn't long, he said, before he began to notice that newspaper accounts of high level conferences of the government mentioned that they were being opened with prayer.

"Prayer is one of the first steps to peace," Garrett commented. "Through guidance and prayer we will accomplish peace."

Garrett is a member of the A. M. E. Zion church where he serves as the Pastor's Steward and also a class leader. He is a former chairman of the board of stewards of the church and is active in local colored civic affairs.

believed there should be general agreement among the democracies not to strengthen the hand of aggressors by trading which might benefit them. A case in hand is the question of oil sales to Red China. The United States has embargoed shipment of oil from America, the purpose being to plug any leaks of this strategic fuel to the forces invading South Korea.

Washington also has been seeking the help of other countries in tightening the oil embargo. Up until now Britain had declined to go along with requests to cut shipments to China on the grounds that current shipments by British were "sufficient only for civilian consumption" in China. Britain has placed much importance on her business connections with Communist China, and has wanted to continue trade with that country.

Today, however, a British Foreign Office spokesman announced that his country had stopped all oil shipments to Red China.

This question of wartime trade always has been a troublesome and dangerous one, but also one possible of solution. So, all things considered, I've told my wife to finish her English holiday.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
CABBAGE AND OAKS
The cabbage matures in one summer; the oak in a lifetime.
It is hard for us to get the Almighty's time schedule into our minds. We are always in a hurry, but the sovereign God who rules over all has been taking his time about everything through the ages. It took millions of years to make the hills and the oceans; millions more to put a deep layer of soil over the earth; and millions more to develop and nurture life thereon. In the tropics we find many plants and trees which grow to a large size in a very short time. But they do not have substance to them. The fast-growing trees are not the kind that can be cut up into long-lasting lumber. When things occur quickly in nature, it is come-easy, go-easy.
Get the divine sense of patience and leisure as you agonize over the slow development—particularly the moral development—of your growing child. Have patience with yourself. Perhaps you seem no stronger morally, no wiser, than you were ten years ago. But you probably are. It takes a long time to grow an oak, a mind, a personality, and a moral character.

"Once They Get The Facts"

Henry A. Wallace has repudiated the stand his Progressive party has taken on the Korean issue. Wallace has chosen to stand with the United States and the United Nations rather than the Red tide of Communism.

Wallace's initial stand against his other party leaders has brought back more prestige to him than any single act since his vice presidential days. He maintains that the rank and file members of the Progressive party will stand with him "once they have the facts."

One opinion is that there would have been a lot of people in the United States who would have been much less enthusiastic about a far-left movement in the United States had they sought the facts rather than gulping down so much Red propaganda.

They Still Hide Behind Coat Tails Of Obscurity

The statements released by the Greenville aldermen supposedly to clarify the police chief matter have left much to be desired by local citizens.

At the outset let us make it clear that The Reflector is not of the opinion that it is up to the entire board of aldermen or the mayor to clarify the action of the dismissal of Chief of Police Page. The mayor, and the three members of the board who supported the mayor's veto, naturally have their part in all city business; but the burden for an explanation of the action of the other six members of the board rests with those six aldermen.

The people of Greenville still want to know why Chief Page was fired. The six little men apparently have clung to their attitude that it is none of the people's business what they do with the city government.

The six little men persuaded two other aldermen to sign with them a statement which seems to us they were seeking as a whitewash for their actions. These two "other" aldermen, along with the six, signed a statement which said it was their belief that "no criminal case involving a member of a prominent family" had been an issue in the police department controversy.

Even so, one of the two "other" aldermen expressed the opinion that the "evidence" against Page presented in Saturday's closed, unofficial meeting alone was not sufficient to warrant the chief's dismissal. The other alderman said he would favor a public hearing on the matter.

The six little aldermen caused Page's dismissal in an act which so far seems to us based only on the desire to gain personal revenge against a man who did his duty in office. It was widely reported after the action of the six aldermen, that a statement would be made by them. They even went so far as to procure affidavits.

Now some members of the group say they don't know whether there will be another statement. Can't they make up their minds—or don't they have anything they can say which will stand up under the test of public scrutiny?

The Reflector believes the Aldermen who consolidated their votes to dismiss Page are obligated to give the people of Greenville well founded reasons for the drastic action. If the six aldermen who ousted Page were sincere and honest in their charges, The Reflector doesn't believe they would have been as reluctant as they have to make the alleged charges known.

If the six aldermen cannot produce good behind the coat tails of alleged charges which they refuse to make known, the people have no alternative but to assume Page's dismissal came from personal reasons of the six little men.

If the six aldermen cannot produce good reasons for their actions, each of them owes the good people of Greenville an apology.

Greenville needs upright government which operates in the open where the people can readily see what goes on. The Reflector believes Greenville does not need a government in which the majority of the elected officials are apparently so indiscreet in conducting the city's business that they choose to hide from the people the reasons for their official acts.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 18—Detailed plans for a far more punishing crackdown on civilians than occurred during the blackest period of World War II have been outlined to industrial and labor leaders since the Korean outbreak by W. Stuart Symington, head of the National Security Resources Board. They will be invoked without delay if the present struggle flares into a long and hard global conflict.

Mr. Symington warned that there will be no gradual approach to wage and price stabilization, control of manpower and materials, elimination of ordinary peacetime production, rent controls, rationing of food and gasoline, and restriction of transportation, such as there was after Pearl Harbor.

All these rules and regulations for directing every human activity into winning the war will be imposed overnight.

The machinery for shifting from eating, buying, working and living as one pleases to a war-controlled system that will almost match Russia's totalitarian regime has already been rigged.

CHALLENGE—Indeed, it would not require a world struggle to set these forces of everyday regimentation into motion.

If our weak forces in Southern Korea should suffer a minor Bataan or Dunkirk, which is quite possible, and be forced to retire to the Japanese Islands, the terrific task of invading and recovering Korea from the Communists might upset our civilian economy almost without notice.

Figuring that Stalin has at last decided to challenge the western powers in every remote region where they are vulnerable—Korea, Japan, Formosa, Indo-China, Indonesia, Malaya, Burma, Iran, Yugoslavia and possibly Western Germany—Washington believes that the United States must prepare for an all-out struggle. And the sooner we mobilize our military and civilian strength, the better.

MANPOWER—Symington spokesmen emphasized that the manpower problem will be far more difficult than it was in World War II. Whereas there were almost eight million unemployed at the time of Pearl Harbor, the total out of work now is only slightly more than three million. And most of those are utterly untrained for civilian or military service.

The fact is that the supply of both skilled and unskilled labor is strictly limited for a major crisis. Screening of men for the armed forces and for industrial production will be extremely severe.

Only those deemed entirely unfit for a uniform will be left outside the draft. And only those absolutely essential for the factories, railroads, utilities etc. will be held exempt from the call.

HARDSHIPS—Besides this tight control over manpower, the government will lay claim to supplies of materials as another means of channeling men into the services or essential work.

Many factories engaged in production of peacetime goods may be forced to close down. Stores dealing in expendable articles may also have to shut up shop. Notion stores and independent grocers serving small groups of customers may have to suspend.

In short—and this is no exaggeration—horsemeat may become a daily article of diet instead of food for pets. And patched pants may be the wear of the nation's ten best-dressed men.

These maximum hardships will be imposed, of course, only when and if the White House becomes convinced that Stalin has begun his grand march.

But major experiments with all these controls will be inaugurated if our troops are driven off the Korean Peninsula. As General Omar N. Bradley and his military associates fear may happen within the month.

SERIOUSNESS—A Symington aide from the Munitions Board, which will take the place of the World War II War Production Board in the current emergency, tried to impress an executive session of labor leaders with the seriousness of the Korean problem.

Although he made clear that the two situations are not entirely comparable, he thought it appropriate to quote the order which Halle Selassie issued to his people on the eve of Mussolini's invasion. The Symington man did not crack a smile when he read the Emperor's directive, which was as follows:

"This country is now mobilized.
"All men and boys able to carry a spear will report immediately for active duty.
"Married men will bring their wives to do the cooking, and men that are not married will bring any woman they can find.
"Women with babies, the very old and the very young need not report for active service. Anyone else found at home after the issuance of this order will be hung." (The Emperor's grammar had not been mobilized—Ed. Note.)

When a Symington aide talks like that, it is time for the American people to start thinking and preparing.

Selected Shorts

WADENA, MINN., PIONEER JOURNAL: "The cost of Socialist governments runs into big money, as the peoples of Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain have found out, and we are now finding out."

NEWBERRY, S.C., OBSERVER: "When those of us start lobbying to get ourselves relieved of some tax and have it placed on another group, we might just as well recognize the fact that we are accomplishing little. What we should do is cooperate one with the other in demanding economy in government and lower taxes for all. That's the only correct answer!"

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, DESERT NEWS: "As the National City Bank of New York points out in its monthly letter of economic conditions, 'pension plans that may appear to represent but a modest percentage of payroll in periods of high business activity like the present, may become a dangerously high percentage of a reduced payroll in a depression.'"

CARTHAGE, ILL., REPUBLICAN: "The current business boom with its large payrolls has produced a strong demand for meat of all kinds that probably will continue throughout the summer months. This demand, plus a seasonal curtailment in supplies, is expected to create moderately higher overall prices than a year ago."

Korea—War Lesson No. 1

—VICTORY STILL IS MEASURED BY THE FOOT!

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Somebody in English Literature (right now I can't recall who) has a theory about the human mind and what it can retain. He says that the mind originally is a blank tablet, and as time progresses knowledge is "written" on the tablet. Finally, the tablet fills up, and thereafter every fact that goes on the tablet pushes another off. This seems like a sound theory to me, but Sunday a group of facts that had been pushed off my "tablet" came back.

Wife Rachel and I were sitting in the Pitt Theater. The previews came on and the movie which starts today, "Stars in My Crown," was ballyhooed to the skies. Half-way through the preview a bell rang. All of a sudden a personal story came back to me about that book.

It was three years ago at Chapel Hill, when I was taking a course in book reviewing in the school of Journalism at UNC. One of W. Rachel's college buddies, Lorraine Simms, worked in the Bulls Head book shop, which is located in the basement of the UNC library.

One day I visited the Bulls Head and asked Lorraine, "Can you recommend a book to me that I won't be able to put down? You see, I'm way behind schedule in this class and I need to catch up fast."

Lorraine had the answer, "I've got one that I'll guarantee that you can't put down, and I'll give you a local story that will give you a personal touch."

Of course the book was "Stars in My Crown," and Lorraine was right. Every book of the page pushed me on to the next. It's one book that has no drag whatsoever. In fact, quite often I had to read parts out loud to W. R.

Lorraine's local flavor for my book review was this: At the time there was a student at the University who is a good friend of Joe David Brown, the author of the book. During the war this student had been wounded, and evacuated from the front to a hospital. In the hospital his bed was beside the bed of Joe David Brown. He and Joe became great friends; they kept loneliness away by chatting about old times. Joe talked about his grandfather, a preacher who railed him. The stories he told were all alike in one respect—every one was rich. The student told Joe that he should write a book about his grandfather. Joe did: "Stars in My Crown."

After hearing this story I contacted the student. When I told him that I was reviewing the book he said, "When you get through with that review, I'd like to send it to Joe. The book's new, and it's Joe's first. He'd like to know how you like the book."

Everything I said about the book was good, so it was a pleasure to send Joe the review. You never can tell what Hollywood will do to a story, but if the movie "Stars in My Crown" is anything like the book, it's well worth seeing.

At the time Joe's friend told me, "Now that Joe has finished his first book, he's writing another. Except this one won't be about a preacher. In fact, the story is quite risqué." As yet I haven't heard from that book. And I thank you.

Daily Reflector Bureau

By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, N. C.

INVESTMENT—The advisory budget commission is starting out on its biennial visitation of state institutions. Purpose of the inspection tour, made each two years before convening of the general assembly, is to give the budgeteers first hand information about what the state owns and what should be done to maintain and expand physical equipment dedicated to serving the people. The taxpayers of North Carolina have a tremendous investment in public institutions for service. Operation of these thirty-odd plants is big business, solely from the viewpoint of protecting the cash investment in property.

BILLION—North Carolina as a State will have, when currently planned expansions are completed, more than a billion dollars invested in land, buildings, roads, bridges and permanently installed machinery and equipment. The highway system accounts for something more than half the total, but investments in colleges and hospitals run into amazing figures. The budget bureau carries the investment on its books at actual cost when acquired, without taking into account depreciation or annual maintenance, which are presumed to balance each other off, and without crediting increased values. For that reason many of the institutions are carried on the capital account at less than one-third their actual value in cash today.

EDUCATIONAL—The fourteen educational institutions are valued on budget books at $33,147,754 as of 1948. Many appraisals fix actual value today at more than double that. The general assemblies of 1947 and 1949 appropriated for permanent improvements at these educational plants the aggregate sum of $70,340,550. That means when the current building program is completed the state will have around one hundred and fifty million dollars invested in lands and buildings and such machinery as must be classified as "real estate." Libraries, laboratories and other moveable equipment may add another 75 million.

HOSPITALS—The state's ten hospitals—mental, tubercular, orthopedic and spastic—have a budget book value of $19,647,229. Again the present actual value would be far greater, and the past two legislatures allotted $28,739,057 for permanent improvements. Adding investment in furniture, laboratory and other equipment, brings total cash value at end of current expansion program to around a hundred million dollars.

CORRECTIONAL—There are five correctional institutions for the rehabilitation of wayward boys and girls, listed on the capital account at $2,151,799. Permanent improvement appropriations amounted to $2,405,750. Other property, not considered real estate, and enhanced values of land and buildings over original cost, bring the state investment in these institutions to six millions or more. Then there is the state prison system with its central buildings at Raleigh and various camps throughout the state having a present day value in excess of eight million dollars.

MISCELLANEOUS—Two hundred twenty-five millions invested in educational facilities; one hundred fifty millions in hospitals; fourteen millions in correctional institutions. Then there are the state parks, the several agricultural test farms, the state forests, property of the state ports authority and other lesser items aggregating many millions of dollars. Conservative estimate on present value of the state capital, state-owned buildings at Raleigh and elsewhere used for administrative purposes places their value at twenty million dollars. Several sources contacted for information as to value of automotive equipment, including school buses and highway building machinery, declined to hazard an estimate.

Nearest approach was made by a highway engineer who said there is "upwards of a helluva lot." That has about as much meaning to the average citizen as the estimate of state property at more than a billion dollars. The average person cannot conceive a billion except in terms of a "helluva lot."

The Voice Of The People

P. O. Box 1763
Raleigh, N. C.
July 13, 1950

The Daily Reflector
Greenville, N. C.
To the Editor:

In your article on the Old Evans Graveyard in your issue of May 20, 1950 you mentioned the grave of "Frederick Alexander, infant son of L. P. and Pauline Olds" who was buried there in 1850. It was just one hundred years ago today that he was born in Brooklyn, N. Y.

This account deserves additional mention due to the fact that a little more than three years later they had another son who was given the same name. The parents of these boys were Louis Poyndexter Olds and Pauline Evans, daughter of Alexander Evans who was probably son of George Evans, one of the pioneers of Greenville.

This second "Frederick Alexander" became Col. Fred Olds who was well known as the "Father of the Hall of History" and unofficial guide to tourists and groups of school children making tours of places of interest in Raleigh, and for whom one of the grammar schools of Raleigh was named.

At the time of his death, July 2, 1853, The News and Observer stated that he was born in Greenville October 12, 1853; that he married Mrs. Katherine Devereux Primrose. They had two sons, Frederick and Douglas, both of whom died young. Mrs. Olds died in 1905.

As to the place of Col. Olds' birth there seems to be a diversity of opinions. There have been at least four places assigned: Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland or New Jersey, Greenville, and Mr. D. L. Corbett of the Department of Archives and History in Raleigh, who was closely associated with Col. Olds in his later years says that he always said he was born at sea. So it seems that we will have to remain "at sea" as to the location.

The Olds and Evans names are associated in the early history of northeastern North Carolina. In 1694 James Old married Elizabeth Evins in Berkeley (later Perquimans) county. There was an Arther Olds in Pitt County in 1775 who had three sons and one daughter at that time. So it seems that they were not newcomers to the county at the time Col. Olds was born.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Although appliance and radio dealers had better margins last year, their profits were less, it is shown by the new cost-of-doing-business survey of the National Appliance and Radio Dealers Association.

Both gross margin and net profit ratios were higher. Gross margins averaged 31.3 per cent in 1948 and 32.8 per cent in 1949. Net operating profits were 4.8 per cent in 1948 and 5.3 per cent in 1949.

But the higher ratios didn't mean more money in the bank because operating costs were up (26.7 cents of each sales dollar in 1948 and 32.8 per cent in 1949, and because total sales were lower).

One of the most significant facts disclosed by the survey is the steady rise in trade-ins since the war. In 1946, only 3 per cent of the sale of "triggers" involved trade-ins. The percentage rose to 11 in 1947, 18 in 1948 and 35 last year. Trade-ins of washing machines rose from 4 per cent of sales in 1946 to 41 per cent last year. In ranges, they rose from 2 to 26 per cent and in vacuum cleaners, 10 to 31 per cent.

The increase in trade-ins is a measure of the relative importance of the replacement market and the "new" market. The ratio of trade-ins last year might have been even higher if it were not for the large number of new housing units.

The survey showed the rising importance of television sales for the average dealer. In 1948 TV sales accounted for only 4.4 per cent of sales and in 1949 they accounted for 11.3 per cent, becoming the third most important classification. This rise is more spectacular when considered in light of the fact that a large part of the dealers don't handle television sets, being outside TV areas.

Sales dollars were produced by various products in these percentages:

Refrigerators, 27.8; washing machines, 14.1; television, 11.3; ranges, 10.0; radios, 7.2; vacuum cleaners, 1.7; freezers, 3.1; ironers, 1.6; dishwashers, 1.6; other major appliances, 12.5 and all minor appliances, 9.1.

Radios dropped from 17 per cent in 1946 and 1947. The survey was conducted by Richard E. Snyder, Chicago economist.

A new variation in coupon promotion is being used by a Texas pork-products company. It includes a half coupon in each package of sausage or bacon, thereby creating an impulse to buy a second package. Two half coupons are good for a 25 cent refund.

DIAMOND EMPLOYERS

FIGHT FOR SHORTER WEEK
Employers seem to be attaching up one of labor's banners in the international boycott of German diamond cutters. The International Diamond Manufacturers Association, representing American, Dutch, Israeli, Belgian, British and South African cutters, have refused to do business with German cutters. The association says the Germans are underselling the market, partly because they work their men up to 60 hours a week. Association employees work from 38 hours a week in America to 47 hours in Israel.

Action of employers taking the lead in reducing work weeks is rare, if not unprecedented.

NON-SECRET A-DATA

LISTED BY GOVERNMENT
The government work on nuclear fission is constantly producing a wealth of technical information useful in manufacturing and research.

Although this is generally known, at least a few patriotic firms have refrained from making inquiries, fearing they may be subjected to investigation, or at least asked, a lot of questions.

They can shake these inhibitions now. The Office of Technical Services of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., has been designated the government clearing house for all non-secret technical reports. It is publishing a semi-monthly magazine, "Nuclear Science Abstracts," which summarizes reports on things it's safe to know. The magazine is $6 a year.

Hal Boyle's Column

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
(For Hal Boyle)

New York, July 18 — (AP) — They're the kind of women that never settle down for long in one place. Except for that, each of them has a special character of her own.

At least they do for Coast Guardsman John "Frenchie" L'Hommiedieu, who for nearly 15 years has been watching the dammsels of the deep that glide in and out of New York harbor.

"Some people like to watch the girls go by on Fifth Avenue," he said. "But it'll take the ship parade any day."

The world's sea-going sorority stages a continuous show in the busy harbor, and to the regular waterfront spectator, each oceanic lady has a distinctive personality.

Some are sleek, trim and fast. Some are big and broad. Some are haughty; some massive and stately; some ugly, and some pretty as a girl in a summer dress.

"But they're all like women," said L'Hommiedieu. "It takes a man to handle them. It takes a lot of power and paint to keep them going. And they got to keep dressed up, or they look like the devil."

Some of them slide into the harbor, their bows riding high, so that "they have an expression just like they're happy and glad to get here," he said. "Others have a surly, blunt nose on them." Warrant Boatswain L'Hommiedieu is skipper of a Coast Guard cutter that hauls public health officers, customs and immigration agents and newspapermen out to meet incoming ships.

"Ships are beautiful creatures," he said. "But they're one kind of women I don't care to be with in the dark. When the fog's thick out there, those babies are liable to do you in."

European ships, particularly French and Italian liners, have more charm than most American vessels, in L'Hommiedieu's opinion. They keep "dolled up in brighter colors," he said.

Moreover, added most U.S. ships don't have the "streamlined figures or the pretty curves" of the European numbers.

If you're interested in the kind of ocean-going maiden that's neat, fresh and clean-looking, L'Hommiedieu said that Scandinavian ships are tops.

But he has a warm regard for three American sisters that ply South American waters — the Santa Rosa, Santa Paula and Santa Sofia.

"Rosa, Paula and Sofia are real cuties," he said. "They aren't too big and they aren't too small, and everything is in the right place."

When it comes to voices, L'Hommiedieu likes to listen to the big British queens—the Mary and Elizabeth. "I like to hear them talk," he said. "They got a husky deep tone."

But the first love of the man who welcomes the world's ships into New York harbor is the

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Dr. Louis B. Wright, director of the Folger Shakespeare Library, is unruffled by the stir caused when he stated that an arctic owl he found roosting on a library cornice had been driven south in search of lemmings... its usual food. In a report to fellow librarians, friends and researchers, he answered charges he erred when he implied the owl found lemmings in Washington.

"We know we are subject to error, but we are not sure that Washington has no lemmings," he said. "Many strange creatures have drifted to Washington with a hopeful eye on the government and we suppose there must be lemmings here, probably comfortably blanketed into the Civil Service."

"Webster," he continues, "defines a lemming as a little furry rodent with a short tail and small ears. We are certain that we have seen a few furtively scurrying up Capitol Hill."

Congressional leaders meeting with the President before he announced American aid to Korea unilaterally supported the move but were chagrined at one thing. They were given a briefing on the military situation and told it was top secret. When they emerged from the White House they learned the same "top secret" information had been given to news correspondents at the same time at the Pentagon—for publication.

If you are able to buy only "raw" milk while vacationing away from home, be sure to pasteurize it. That's the word from specialists of the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A bureau publication says pasteurization can be done easily in a double boiler in any home kitchen. You can get floating dairy thermometers, most convenient for this job, at hardware stores, dairy supply companies or local dairy plants, but the experts say any thermometer that can be put into hot liquid will do.

Here's what to do: Pour milk in upper part of double boiler. Put in clean thermometer. When thermometer registers 160 degrees F count 15 seconds; pour off hot water in lower part of boiler, replace with cold water until milk cools. Pour milk in sterilized bottles; cover tightly. Another method: Heat milk at 143 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool. Pour in bottles.

New Deal Seen For Patronage By N. C. Solons

By LYN NISBET
 Raleigh, July 18.—The two senators have substantial amount of job patronage to dispense in North Carolina, and they have great influence over other appointments not directly subject to senatorial recommendations.

Federal judges, district attorneys and marshals are named by the president, usually upon recommendation of the Senators from the affected state. These officials name their own assistants, but practice is to consult with the senator before making appointments.

The collector of internal revenue and collector of customs at Wilmington are presidential appointments, also subject to senatorial confirmation.

When the Republicans lost national power in 1933, and these lucrative positions were available to Democrats, Senators Josiah W. Bailey and Robert R. Reynolds came to agreement as to distribution of patronage. Under that agreement the eastern senator had full control over appointments in the eastern judicial district and had the collector of internal revenue at Greensboro. The office then was in Raleigh. The western senator had the western judicial district and the Wilmington collector of customs. The senators divided patronage in the middle court district. The agreement was continued through terms of Senators Hoey, Umstead, Broughton and Graham, although the last three named had little opportunity to dispense patronage.

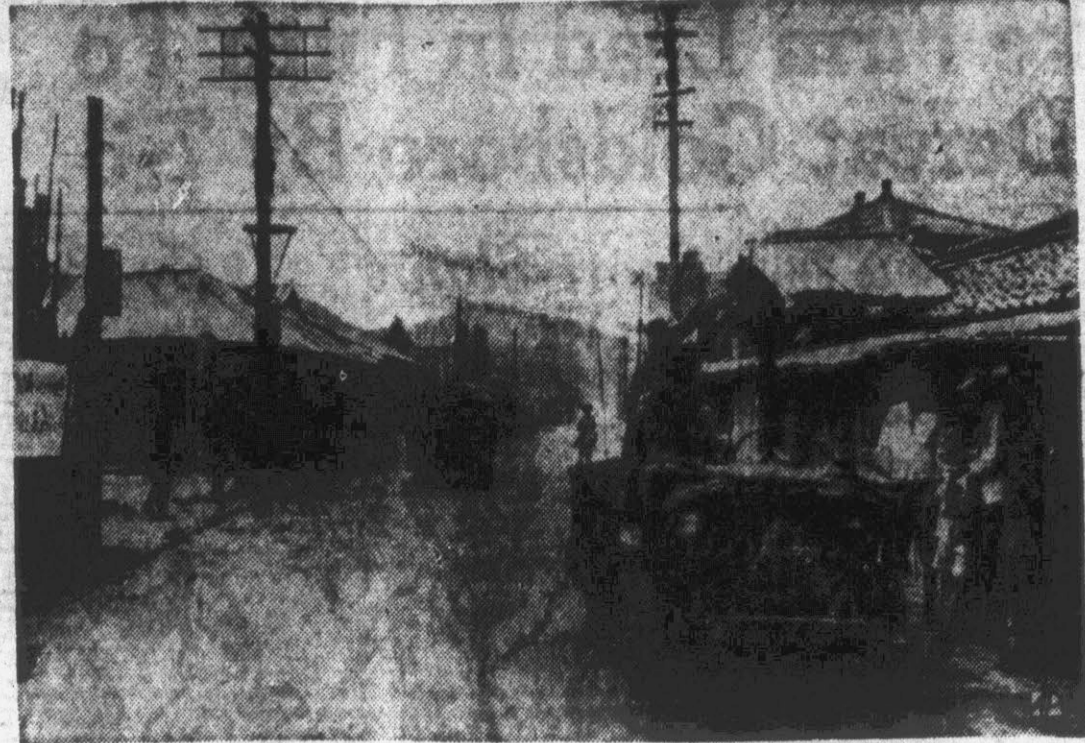

It is apparent that the agreement will have to be re-affirmed or a new arrangement made between Senators Hoey and Smith. Judges are appointed for life or good behavior, the internal revenue collector for an indefinite tenure at will of the president, the others for four year terms.

Recent changes in personnel among attorneys and marshals in the middle and western court districts and more recent confirmation of reappointments to these positions in the eastern district, render prospect of further change in the near future unlikely.

Ford Worthy, eastern marshal, was confirmed last week for his fifth term, having served continuously since early in 1934. The record has not been completely checked, but he is believed to outrank all other U. S. marshals in the country in point of service.

Among the top level federal positions in North Carolina, only the customs collector at Wilmington is "open." Col. John Bright Hill, originally appointed 15 years ago by Senator Reynolds and several times reappointed, reassumed the post upon his return from World War II, and has continued without formal reappointment or confirmation. Under terms of the patronage belongs to Senator Hoey. The Term of Charles H. Robertson, collector of internal revenue for the North Carolina district since 1933, does not expire, but there has been suggestion that he might retire within a few months. If the original Bailey-Reynolds trade is continued that spot will be filled upon recommendation of Senator Graham or Senator Smith, depending upon date of the vacancy—if any.

In addition to these top level posts there are dozens of lesser jobs with the federal government which customarily are filled in accord with senatorial wishes.

Then there is always the chance that Republicans may capture the national administration in 1952, in which event all the federal jobs except the judges and civil service employees would be claimed by members of that party. Even so, because of requirement for senatorial confirmation, the Democratic senators will probably be consulted about the appointments.

More Liberal Dependency Rule Fixed By Navy

Raleigh, July 18.—There has been a change in the dependency status of men desiring to reenlist in the regular Navy, it was announced by Lieutenant Commander Fride C. Brown Jr., U.S.N., officer in charge of the local Navy Recruiting District.

The new directive states that men from seaman on up can be reenlisted, if otherwise qualified, without regard to their dependency status. The only rates not eligible for enlistment with dependents are seamen recruits and seamen apprentices.

The directive stated also that men last discharged by reason of dependency under authority Article C-10308, Bureau of Naval Personnel Manual may be reenlisted. Men discharged under authority of ANav 117-49 can also be reenlisted.

Evangeline Booth Died Yesterday

Hartsdale, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—General Evangeline Booth, retired commander of the world wide Salvation Army, died yesterday at the age of 84.

She had been ill for more than a year and spent the last few days before her death in a coma.

She was born in London Christmas Day, 1865, the same year her father, General William Booth, founded the army. She grew up with the organization and her lifetime almost exactly paralleled its growth.

As a little child she followed her father's footsteps as he preached in the Limehouse and Whitechapel slums of London—and was preaching there herself when only in her teens.

Later she carried the army's work to Canada and the United States. As head of the army's Canadian division she led a mission to the Klondike gold rush camps in 1898. Later she became an American citizen and was leader of the army in the United States for 30 years.

In 1934 she was elected commander of the world organization and retired in 1939. She was the army's first woman general.

No Shortage Of Foodstuffs Says N. C. Lawmaker

Washington, July 18.—One thing there will be no shortage of if war breaks out is food, Rep. Harold D. Cooley of Nashville said today.

Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said "the nation is in good shape from the standpoint of basic foods; there is plenty of everything."

Without going into detail, the Nashville congressman said that the high level of farm productivity achieved during World War II had been largely maintained by American farmers, due to the necessity of feeding large portions of the world.

As a result, he said, while there may be some shortages of various items needed in a war economy, "it won't be food; we've got plenty of that, to feed both civilians and military personnel."

Robins Take Firm Lead In Fifth To Decisively Defeat Goldsboro By 7-3

Wrapped Up Tilt With Singletons In Eighth And Ninth After 4-Run Outburst In Fifth

By BERT MOYE
Vince Jones registered his third win of the season over the Goldsboro Cardinals over in Goldsboro last night as he scattered 13 hits effectively, while his teammates garnered only five hits off five pitchers together with 14 walks and eight stolen bases together with five errors, to gain a 7-3 decision. The win for the Robins was their fifth of the season over the Cardinals in their 13-game series.

The Robins went out in front in the first frame when Paul Strausser walked, stole second, then third and came home on Johnny Tepedino's single into left field.

Billy Johnson's homer over the right field wall to score Chuck Sedor ahead of him in the third frame gave the Cards a 2-1 lead at this stage of the game. The homer by Johnson was his 14th of the current season.

The Robins' big frame was the fifth when they scored four runs on four walks, a single, double and a stolen base with all the runs coming after two men were out.

Vince Jones started off with a single. Strausser flew out and then Frank Cannon was walked. Tepedino forced Cannon on second. Hallows walked to load the bases. Baktis was walked forcing in Jones from third. Then Tepedino, who had advanced around to third at this point, stole home with Hallows and Baktis moving around to third and second respectively. Vince Lautato then doubled into left field to bring home Hallows and Baktis for the third and fourth runs respectively during this frame.

The Robins scored singletons in the eighth and ninth frames, scoring in the eighth on two errors and two walks and in the ninth scored one run on one hit, two walks and two more Card errors.

The Cards scored in the ninth on three walks and a single for their final run of the game.

Vince Jones pitched the first eight and two-thirds frames and gave up all 13 hits but lost control in the ninth after walking three men and was replaced by Ray Keys who retired the side as the next w. m. faced him. The win for Jones was his ninth of the current season. He has lost eight.

The Cards used five hurlers in last night's contest and as a matter of fact they used 16 out of their 17-men roster in the contest. The Robins had a total of 12 men left on bases while the Cards had a total of 16 men left stranded on the bases. John Rimmer, the starting pitcher for the Cards, was credited with the loss, his first of the season.

The Robins will play at home tonight to the Goldsboro Cards in a single game. Game time is 7:45 o'clock.

Tiger Ted

Ted Gray came through this season for the Detroit Tigers when they were sorely pressed for dependable southpaw pitching. In the early stages of the current pennant race when Hal Newhouser was plagued with arm trouble, Gray came through in grand style to keep the Tigers in the thick of the pennant chase. Key victories against contending teams convinced Manager Red Rolfe that the little left-hander is a real competitor.

Gray is a slim 160 pounder but he can whip that ball over the plate. In many ways he resembles Lefty Gomes, the former Yankee ace, in action. He is a fierce competitor. He has all the tenacious qualities one associates with the little game-cocks who give ground to no one. On oc-

Robinson Likely To Be Suspended And Fined In Pa. Wagner-Waldrop Clings To Slender Loop Lead

Scranton, Pa., July 18.—Sugar Ray Robinson is likely to find himself suspended and fined in Pennsylvania today, but whether the National Boxing Association concurs is another question.

Robinson announced yesterday after undergoing a physical check up by a Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission doctor that he would not go through with a fight against Jose Basora here tomorrow night. The 15-round fight was for the Pennsylvania version of the middleweight crown, held by Robinson along with his world welterweight title.

The slim Harlem Negro said he had a backache. But Dr. Leonard M. Freda, commission physician, said he could find nothing wrong with Robinson after sending the boxer through an hour's workout and X-raying his back.

Chairman George Jones, Jr., of the commission stated before the examination that if Robinson did not show up he would be given the heaviest fine ever assessed a fighter in Pennsylvania, suspended and sued for damages in behalf of the promoter and Basora.

Abe J. Greene of Paterson, N. J., commissioner of the National Boxing Association, said Robinson had told him last Saturday he would box Basora any time after he defends his welterweight title against Charlie Fusari in New Jersey on Aug. 9 for the Damon Runyon cancer fund.

Robinson will not be allowed to fight "anywhere in National Boxing Association territory under any circumstances," until he fulfills his contract to fight Basora following his meeting with Fusari, Greene said.

Robinson won the Pennsylvania version of the 160-pound crown by defeating Robert Villemain recently in Philadelphia's municipal stadium.

The game was all tied up at 2-all going into the fifth. During their half of the frame Ormond romped on pitcher Dudley for five runs to go out in front.

However, Post Office came back strong during the sixth when they pushed across five runs and added another in the seventh. But Ormond saved the one-run lead when they scored a single in the sixth and two in the last.

Dudley gave up 19 hits, one of them a home-run by McGowan, pitcher for the victors. Post Office collected 15 hits for the day and capitalized on five Ormond errors. But the batting and miscues were not quite enough for the win.

Wagner-Waldrop took its ninth decision at the expense of Fleming's team when the motor team all but shut it out on an 11-1 count. The win enabled W-W to maintain a slight lead over Scott Motors for the first position with a half-game margin.

The game was cleanly played with only one error made, that by the losers.

The victors had two big innings and the first frame was enough to clinch the win with four runs to spare. They tallied five times during that half-inning stint and pushed across a like number again in the fifth. A singleton in the third wasn't needed.

Fleming's centerfielder Smith kept down the number of legitimate hits as he roamed the territory with ease and grabbed several balls that had "hit" marked on them. He also collected one of the six hits given up by W-W's pitcher Mosier.

Mosier and Garrett, the later the second baseman for the victors, hit homers. Garrett added two singles to his round-tripper to lead both teams at the plate.

Tonight's Games
Goldsboro at Greenville
New Bern at Rocky Mount
Tarboro at Wilson
Roanoke Rapids at Kinston

Field events including a 75-yard dash, walking from second, running from home around bases, infield workout for time, throwing for distance, will precede the game here tonight between the Cardinals and the Robins. The players of both clubs will participate in the events and they are slated to start at 7:30 o'clock just prior to the start of the game.

Tonight will be "George Hallow Night" at Guy Smith Stadium when fans will pay honor to its great first baseman who will be playing his final game in a Robins uniform. Hallow, who was sent to the local club from Anderson, S.C., of the Tri-State Class B league on a 72-hour recall, has been ordered to report back to the Anderson club. How about you fans coming out in great force tonight and pay homage to a great first baseman, who will be missed when he leaves following tonight's game.

Now just a word in regard to this fellow Ralph Bartolozzi, whom the Anderson club is sending to take Hallow's place at first base. Last year with the Anderson club he played in a total of 140 games, was at bat 494 times, scored 72 runs, collected 143 hits for 203 total bases which included 27 doubles, three triples and nine homers. His batting average for the season was .289. He knocked in a total of 92 runs, made 11 sacrifice hits, stole six bases, walked 84 times and struck out 45 times. He is left-handed and also hits from the left side.

In regard to his fielding record last year with the Anderson club the record shows that in 110 games he played in the outfield, made 155 putouts, 15 assists, committed 12 errors for a fielding average of .938.

He played 27 games at the first sack, handled 197 putouts, made 12 assists, committed six errors for an average of .972.

Sam Berry, who was released by the Wilson Tobs recently, has been signed to play with the Farmville club of the Bright Belt League. Dale Sanner, former third baseman with the Wilson Tobs, is doing well with Thibodaux in the Evangeline League. He is hitting at the present time above the 300 mark.

The collapse of the Class B Colonial League, made up of clubs in Connecticut and New York, will make a whole raft of players available for clubs somewhere. It is quite possible a number of these men will show up in the Coastal Plain loop, particularly limited service and rookie players. Surely there are a few of these classifications in the defunct Colonial.

One-Time 4-F Groups Scheduled For Service Or Funneled Into Vital Jobs

By VEDN HAUGLAND
Washington, July 18—(AP)—The army's forthcoming draftees must have better teeth than was required for World War II duty, but need not be quite so stable emotionally.

And in the event of a war a general reduction in standards for military service is in prospect, so that many men who once might have been rated 4-F may shoulder arms.

Furthermore, plans are under way to see that, in such an emergency, 4-Fs are funneled into suitable essential jobs in which they might be needed.

These were developments today as draft boards over the nation began filling the army's demand for 20,000 replacements by September 30. The draftees will take the place of men being sent overseas because of the Korean crisis.

There may be another draft call next month, selective service director Lewis B. Hershey said yesterday. He added:

"And if things continue to grow worse, it may be necessary to tighten the law concerning exemptions of veterans and the regulations concerning dependents."

An army spokesman said that men now being drafted must have at least 16 teeth "in proper position" in order to be accepted.

During World War II men were admitted no matter how bad their teeth. The higher qualification, the spokesman said, is due to a shortage of dentists in the army and the inability of the defense department to provide unlimited upper and lower plates.

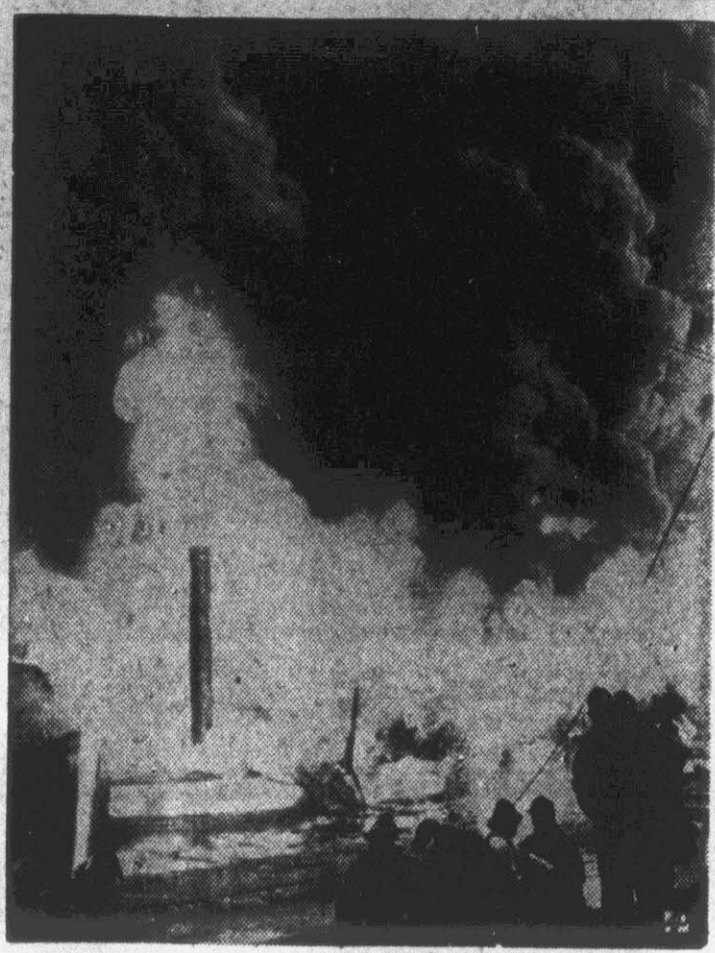

On the other hand, the army has reduced its standards to admit mild neuropsychiatric cases. During the war no known psychoneurotics were admitted.

The spokesman said men afflicted with nervousness or agitation now may be admitted for service in the zone of the interior.

"We found during the war that many men rejected for mild psychoneurosis could have been used satisfactorily," he explained.

Stuart Symington, director of the National Security Resources Board has conferred with labor leaders and others here as to the possibility of a general draft in the event of war.

Symington has made it clear that if an atomic war should develop, the government would have to assign—probably through draft boards—jobs for persons rejected for military service. In World War II there were no job controls over some 5,000,000 4-Fs.

The defense department's personnel policy board is surveying 10,000 military jobs, to classify those which can be filled by men with defects which in the past ranked them as 4-F.

The navy said it has eased certain strict post war requirements as to eyesight, color perception and the like, and has returned largely to World War II standards. It has dropped the World War II requirement that a draftee be physically capable of performing any navy duty.

The air force has not changed its requirements. "We never have resorted to the draft and we are not drafting anyone now," a spokesman said.

Reservists Join In Mock Assault

Cherry Point, N. C., July 18—(AP)—More than 1,500 Marine Corps reservists stormed Onslow Beach near Camp LeJeune today to spearhead an attack on an advanced air base.

Overhead, 30 Marine Air reserve fighter planes gave support and cover to the assault.

The mock assault was the highlight of the annual summer training program for air and ground reserves at Cherry Point and Camp LeJeune.

Twenty-one squadrons of Marine Air reserve fighter planes from west of the Mississippi, now in this area, went through their paces under simulated combat conditions.

About 90 per cent of the pilots taking part in the maneuvers are battle seasoned veterans of World War II.

The only thing missing in the full-scale war drills were paratroopers.

Preliminary plans for the attack called for planes operating as carrier-based craft. The defenders of the advanced air base, after falling back, were to simulate fortified resistance.

Review Needs Of Disaster Areas

Burgaw, N. C., July 18—(AP)—Relief needs of Southeastern North Carolina tobacco growers whose crop was wrecked by rain and floods will be considered here tomorrow night.

State Rep. J. V. Whitfield has called a meeting of farmers and representatives of farm organizations and agencies to review losses and needs.

W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist of the State Department of Agriculture, has estimated that the state's big eastern bright belt has suffered a loss of 20,000,000 pounds of leaf from heavy rains and flooding. He emphasized that this was a conservative estimate, since much of the affected area was still under water when he surveyed it last week and exact losses could not be figured.

Hedrick tomorrow will begin another survey of damaged areas in Pender, Onslow, Duplin, Jones, Pitt, Lenoir and Craven counties.

He said the most severe damage appeared to be in Pender county's Maple Hill section which extends into Onslow and Duplin counties. This area suffered about a 40 per cent overall loss, he said. Some growers were hit by a complete loss, he added.

Pitt Can Claim New 'Shellback' Citizen

Richard C. Hardee, SN, USN, of Grimesland, was one of those aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Floyd B. Parks who was personally greeted by King Neptune and his royal court on crossing the equator April 26.

Hardee has recently returned from an extended tour, of duty in Far Eastern waters, visiting many of the large Japanese cities such as Tokyo, Yokohama and Nagoya. Other ports visited included Hong Kong and Singapore.

The Pitt countian is expecting an honorable discharge from the naval service in the latter part of July.

on 200 persons with various kinds of cancer. It was 95 per cent right. An improved version was employed on the second hundred. Dr. Menkes said it was almost 100 per cent accurate.

Blood from 42 of 44 healthy persons produced no reaction on the pentose sugar, while 88 per cent of 124 persons with diseases other than cancer also showed negative reactions to the test, the Swiss expert said.

No Golden Eggs, But Had A Start

Melbourne—(AP)—A Melbourne hen might have laid a golden egg—if it hadn't been dead. This very dead gold-bearing hen showed up in a delicatessen shop.

When it was being cleaned, 50 pieces of gold-bearing quartz, each the size of half a pea, was found in its inside. Now the question is: Where did the hen come from? No-body knows. It was one of a number bought at a city fowl auction. The auctioneer sells fowl from all over Victoria.

Joseph Conrad's full name was Joseph Theodore Conrad Korzeniowski.

Volunteer Test Basis Lowered

Washington, July 17—(AP)—The Army has lowered its qualification rules for volunteers.

A spokesman said the reduction places volunteers on an equal test footing with draftees, for whom the selectives act requires a test grade of 70. Volunteers had been required to make a score of 90.

The qualifying grades was reduced, the Army said, following its call for 20,000 draftees last week.

New Blood Test Detects Cancer

Paris, July 18—(AP)—A new blood test has so far proved almost 100 per cent accurate in detecting cancer in humans, three Swiss physicians reported today.

They told the Fifth International Cancer Research Congress the test is based on a chemical that appears in the blood of persons with cancer. The chemical breaks down a certain kind of sugar, pentose sugar. The test is made by adding blood serum from the person to a solution of the sugar.

The method was described by Dr. Georges Menkes, Dr. P. Rentchick and Dr. S. Steenmf of Geneva.

The test was tried, they said

Attendance For Playgrounds Up Despite Weather

More parties of this nature will be conducted from time to time Kirtrel reported.

A pet show held at Charles Street playground last week was enjoyed by the children. The following prizes were awarded: Prettiest pet, grand prize to Ficklen Arthur's pony; largest pet to Charles Fussell's pony; oddest pet to James Earl Henderson's minnow; most original pet to Judy Barnhill's goldfish. Judy Barnhill's cat and Lewis Arthur's dog won all the prizes for those animals since they were the only ones of their kind entered.

The results of the West Greenville pet show were:

Smallest dog, Darlene Phillips' toy terrier; smallest cat, Joe Lee Smith's cat; largest dog, Billy Dunn's Doberman Pincher; prettiest dog, Charles Squires' Eskimo Spitz; Oddest animal, Catherine Winchester's white rabbit; most original pet, Billy and Susan Franklin's squirrels; prettiest cat, Mattie Lou Fleming's maltese cat; and Grand winner, Imogene Bright's collie.

Every pet entered in the pet show at Cotanche Park last Friday won a prize. Ann Churchill's kitten won Best-Dressed Cat; Bill Clapp's pony Largest pet; Judy Corbett's rabbit, prettiest pet; Bob Bilbro's Boston bull dog, most ferocious dog; Yvonne Fleming's bull dog, best behaved dog; Gail Clapp's collie, most original pet; Jimmy Churchill's collie, Gentlest dog; Joyce Sutton's turtle, oddest pet; Patricia Evans' dog; cutest dog; and Kathy Barrett's dalmation dog, Grand prize.

There was a watermelon feed Monday for the nine girls from Cotanche Park who won over West Greenville in a softball game last Thursday morning with a score of 20-8. Afterwards they were given a free swim.

The following schedule for this week is announced by Miss Norman, director of the Charles Street playground:

Tuesday afternoon—swimming, 4:00 to 5:00.

Wednesday morning—scavenger hunt.

Wednesday afternoon—Active games.

Thursday morning—games.

Thursday afternoon—hobby show.

Friday morning—games.

Friday afternoon—story telling contest (best fairy tale, myth, legend, ghost story, etc.)

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Solicitor Given SBI Report On J. B. Moore

Raleigh, N. C., July 18—(AP)—Solicitor William Y. Bickett today had the SBI report on its investigation of ex-state prison director J. R. Moore and his garage-apartment.

Moore resigned his prison post last month after he was charged with using prison labor and state materials to build a garage apartment in his back yard. Moore denied the charge.

Bickett said if the SBI file warrants, it will be turned over to the Wake county grand jury. If the facts do not so warrant, he added, the file will be set aside. Bickett got the file from the SBI yesterday.

Denmark's King Is Raising Bees

Copenhagen—(AP)—King Frederik IX of Denmark—among other hobbies likes bee-raising during his summer holiday at the royal cottage in Trend, north Jutland.

Now the king has become a member of the "Danish Bee-Keeper Association." His Majesty was very proud as he received from the association the labels for honeyglases. They read "King Frederik, Trend, member No. 14,000."

Light Filipino Plane Is Flown

Manila—(AP)—The first plane built entirely of Philippine materials made its first successful flight here recently.

Built by the Peati Institute of Technology, the small sports model is a monoplane powered with a 65-horse-power motor. It has a wingspread of 23 feet and is 14 feet long.

CALIFORNIA IS BUILDING this way—a plan that is appropriate for any part of the country. Among its many attractive features is a front door protected by outdoor and indoor vestibules. The dining room is given access to a secluded porch. If this is placed on the east side of the house it affords the adjoining master bedroom a flood of morning sun through two broad windows and a glass door. Two bath rooms have two entrances which can be controlled by electric locks. The main bath is entered from dressing room or from hall. An alcove in the two-car garage accommodates the heating plant and the laundry, which has a side door to drying yard. This is Plan 715 by J. Lloyd Conrich, architect, 593 Market St., San Francisco 5, Calif. The house covers 1,810 square feet and the garage adds 467 square feet.

Lions To Handle Youth Program

The Greenville Lions Club will supervise the activities of the youth program to be conducted on Farmers' Day, August 10, President Larry Averette reported at the regular meeting of the Lions Club last night.

The program will be directed by C. J. Goodman of the club.

The president further announced that the club would attend in a body the Monday night home baseball game of the Greenville Robins, as guests of the club.

George Wilkerson told of visits made to other Lions Clubs by himself and Lion Bill Watson recently.

The speaker for the night's program, Erskine Duff, was introduced by Program Chairman R. O. Everette.

Duff spoke on a subject which he termed as one that many people were interested in, but few had any knowledge of—that of stocks and bonds trading. Trading in these items is a mystery to many people, he said. He explained the various types of trading, bonds and securities, "over the counter" trading, and the "auction market."

The mystery which covers the stocks and bonds market may possibly be due to the security market or the schools, he said.

In reply to several questions about the fall in the stock market recently, Duff stated that the market drop was taken from an average of all the stocks and not from the whole of the stock market. He termed the drop as slight and nothing to become alarmed at.

The club will meet next Monday night at 7 o'clock for supper and then travel to the ball park for the game. There will be no program.

Two Tar Heels On Casualty List

Washington, July 18—(AP)—Casualty list No. 26 covering operations in Korea, issued by the defense department yesterday, included:

Army:

Missing in action—Master Sgt. Calvin C. Cresson, husband of Mrs. Lillian A. Cresson, 311 North Liberty Street, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Private Bobby A. Tingle, son of Mrs. Beulah M. Tingle, Arapahoe, N. C.

Long-Time Union Chief Resigns

Cleveland, July 17—(AP)—Alvanley Johnston stepped down today after 25 years as grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and the union elected James P. Shields, 60, to succeed him.

Shields, first assistant grand chief engineer since February, 1946, won the job as head of the 81,000 member BLE over Roy E. Davidson of Calumet City, Ill., an assistant grand chief engineer for the past three years.

Tug-O-War Is For Rainmaking

Rangoon—(AP)—Men and women in sultry Mandalay don't bother with new-fangled notions like embedding dry ice in clouds when they wait rain. They just stage an old-fashioned tug-of-war—and down it comes.

According to Burmese superstition, rain is produced by Nats (spirits), excited by events on earth, running about in the heavens. To the Burmese, nothing is more exciting than a tug-o-war.

Look At This Record

Detroit, Mich. (For Release in P. M.'s Tuesday, July 18, 1950).

Climaxing the first six months of 1950 with a record-breaking final ten-day period in June in the sale of Mercury cars, the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company today reported the best half-year in its history.

Total sales for the six months were 185,415 cars (including 168,247 Mercurys and 17,168 Lincolns and Lincoln Cosmopolitans), an increase of 85% over the first six months of 1949, and 46% more than the previous high six-months period, the last half-year of 1949.

So far in 1950, Lincoln-Mercury has delivered 82% as many automobiles as were sold in the entire year of 1949.

The month of June, with 36,161 Lincoln and Mercury sales, was second only to May in the history of the Division, and was 179% higher than June, 1949.

During the last ten days of June, a total of 13,653 Mercury cars were sold, 12% more than the 12,205 delivered during the previous high period of March 21-31, 1950, and 129% greater than for the same period a year ago. Average daily sales during this period were 1,517, a new record.

Corresponding production records also were chalked up during the first half of 1950, the Company reported. The Division produced 186,503 cars to set an all-time high for the plants at Dearborn; Detroit; Metuchen, N. J.; St. Louis and Los Angeles. Last year's production for the first six months was 100,506 units.

To meet the constantly increasing demand for the Division's products, a second shift was added at the Metuchen plant in May, and the other plants operated on overtime nearly every week during the six months, S. W. Ostrander, operations manager, said.

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long AP Newswriter

Chapter 23
Around noon, the sheriff returned. He was accompanied this time by several watchful-eyed, silent men.

"I don't know whether to hope they'll be successful or not," Cousin Jeff remarked soberly as we watched them go. "If they're not, it'll mean he may still be alive.
But—" He stopped as he realized that Pick had followed the rest of us out onto the gallery.

"I want him found," Pick announced to no one in particular.
"I want him brought home."
Lewis Hays went over to her and put his arm around her waist.
"Don't give up hope, dear," he said. "No news is good news, they say. And so long as we don't know for certain..."

She neither yielded to nor resisted his encircling arm.
"But I do know, Lewis!" she said emotionlessly. "I think I've known from the beginning. Father is—dead."

Bobby shuddered.
"It's all so—so horrible!" she exclaimed. "It's as if something had set out to destroy the whole family. Something—supernatural, like path where it skirted the fenced-in green expanse of paddock, and disappeared into a miniature woodland of hemlock and scrub pine beyond.

Suddenly Amadee stopped. There was an odd expression on his face.
"Peter, you'd better go back," he said in a voice that matched the expression. "I think I know where she's taking us."
"But—" I began to protest, and then I glimpsed something through the trees. It was a squarish white building, and set in the side facing us was a door of the elaborate, iron grillework for which Louisiana smiths were duly famous 75 to 100 years ago.
"Oh!" I gasped.
"Wait here," Amadee commanded, and went the rest of the distance to the mausoleum alone.
I saw him go up to the iron door, cast one glance through the open part of the grillework, then turn and come quickly back to where Aunt Delphine and I waited.
"—Is he there?" I heard myself ask, and hardly recognized my own voice.
"Yes," he answered. His voice sounded as unnatural as mine had done. "Peter, take Aunt Delphine and go back to the house. Then send Henri or Cousin Jeff to find the sheriff."

Recruiters And Draft Office In City Still Busy

Inquiries are pouring into the Army and Navy recruiting stations in Greenville about the newly enacted draft call, enlistments, and the status of reserve officers and men under the new set up, according to Sgt. James H. Raper, local recruiting officer.

"One of the main questions which many of the young men of draft age want to know," Raper said, "is whether or not a person may enlist in the services after he has received his draft notice from the selective service board. The answer to this question is a flat no," Raper said.

They can enlist up until the time they receive their notice, but cannot be accepted after then. Even if their draft boards turn them down they cannot enlist, he said. Thus the time to enlist, if a person wants to do so, is before the draft board sends out its greetings.

In addition to the questions about the draft, the many reserve officers and men in the city want to know their exact status under the new draft call. Raper said that these inquiries should be made to the Officers Reserve office located on Picklen street in Greenville, in person or by telephoning 4111.

The local recruiting offices are now staying open six days a week the office commented. Enlistments are slightly off as compared with the last weeks of last month. Six boys were sent off today for pre-induction examinations, and several have left for tests for the air

POLIO PRECAUTIONS

RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

AVOID NEW GROUPS DON'T GET OVERTIRED
DON'T GET CHILLED KEEP CLEAN

WHEN POLIO IS AROUND, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis recommends these simple precautions: Keep children with their own friends and away from people they have not been with right along. Don't become exhausted through work or hard play. Don't stay too long in cold water or sit around in wet clothes. And always wash hands before eating. Watch for feverishness, sore throat, headache, upset stomach or sore muscles. They may—or may not—mean polio. Call your doctor and then, if help is needed contact the National Foundation Chapter in your area.

Red Attacks . . .

(Continued From Page One) mander of the 24th infantry, who personally led an infantry column against a Red roadblock in Saturday's heavy fighting, returned to a command post Tuesday after four days at the front. He said the Communists had not dented new American positions north and west of Taejon. U. S. field headquarters has left Taejon, but air power kept tanks from crossing the Kum river in force. Only four were reported across.

der way on August 1. Chairman Heber B. Tripp told the commission that the city could buy the property located on Evans street in the colored section of the city, which is now used as a playground, for a reasonable sum. The matter was left up to the Board of Aldermen.

The commission in its meeting last night also agreed to go on record as favoring the building of a negro swimming pool as soon as funds are available.

Recreation Board . . .

(Continued From Page One) club by its director revealed that the attendance there has been very good with large crowds over the week ends taking advantage of the many games and recreational programs offered at the club.

The recreation commission decided to hire Miss Jane Hadley for two or three weeks to serve as a director at the Long Acres playground. The scheduled date for the closing of the playgrounds was set for August 12th, ending the eight-week program run by the city.

Among the first to witness a performance of Paul Green's symphonic drama "The Lost Colony" this year were the Freeman Gosdens of Hollywood, California, who are shown here with Director Samuel Selden as he points to a colorful scene of the dramatic spectacle. Mr. Gosden is the "Amos," and the "Kingfish" of the famous radio team of Amos and Andy. He, Mrs. Gosden and their daughter, Virginia, were visiting the Julian Seligs at their Nags Head cottage when they came over to Manteo to witness a performance of the show. Said Gosden: "This is the greatest show I have ever seen." (Photo by Aycock Brown).

force, Raper said. Young men interested in applying for air force cadet training or officers' candidate school should apply to the Wilson Post office on Monday, July 24. At that time an officer will be there to conduct tests for entrance into those branches.

At the local selective service office, business in a sense, was reported to have picked up considerably. Mrs. J. T. Williams, office worker for the selective service board reported this morning that over 30 persons filed with the local office in the past week. The average number for a weekly period up to this time has been around 10. Mrs. Williams said. The reason attributed for the increase in the number of filings was reported to be orders issued from Washington recently stating that all delinquents would be placed on the top of the draft call if they did not register.

Any boy after he reaches his 18th birthday must file with the local office in order that he may be clas-

Inflation Curb

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—In a move against inflation, the president today ordered a series of credit restrictions on housing.

One action was to tell the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency to increase down payment requirements substantially, both for new construction and for modernizing and repair loans.

He said that the Veterans' Administration, for example, should require a cash down payment of at least five per cent for all loans guaranteed, insured or made by it, wherever existing law will permit.

As yet there has been nothing further done about the setting up of a draft board in the city hall. At a meeting of the Greenville board of aldermen last week space in the city hall was given to the Board but when it will be set up is not yet known.

Kiwans Hosts To Roanoke Rapids At Supper And Game

Members of the Roanoke Rapids Kiwanis Club will be guests of the Greenville Kiwanis Club at its supper meeting Thursday at 6:30. Ed E. Rawl, chairman of the Inter-Club Relations Committee, will have charge of the program. President Tige Gardner will preside.

The Greenville Kiwanians changed their meeting from Friday to Thursday night and invited the Roanoke Rapids Kiwanians to come over and meet with them.

After supper the Roanoke Rapids and Greenville Kiwanians will go to Guy Smith Stadium and occupy special seats to see the Roanoke Rapids and Greenville baseball clubs play ball. They will be the guests of Russell Filley, business manager of the Greenville baseball club at the game. The two Kiwanis clubs frequently participate in these inter-club relations meetings.
