'Pay-As-You-Go' Plan For Korea Crisis Is Accepted

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Senate-Economic Committee agreed unanimously today that federal taxes should be increased immediately to put the country on a pay-as-you-go basis in the Korean crisis.

Means, also has taken a stand that war costs should be on a pay-as-you-go basis as far as possible. O'Mahoney said the Economic Committee agreed that taxes should be increased on both corporations and individuals, and that controls on consumer credit should be tightened.

Members of the committee—five Republicans and four Democrats were present—looked with "great satisfaction," O'Mahoney added, on a move by the House Ways and Means Committee to take up the tax question at once.

Possible Wage, Price Control Is Discussed

Lawmakers Demand Action To Take Profits Out Of War; One Official Warns Of Action Unless Prices Stop Climbing

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The possibility of price-wage controls was discussed in administration circles in Congress today. Lawmakers demanded action to take the profits out of the Korean war.

Shackelford Is Executed Today

Condemned Man Calm Before Death In Gas Chamber

Raleigh, N. C., July 21 (AP)—Claude Shackelford went to his death in the Central prison gas chamber today for raping a 10 year old girl.

The 34-year-old Guilford county farmer was taken into the chamber and strapped to a chair at 9:59 a. m.

The Rev. William H. R. Jackson, prison chaplain, told reporters that he held a service on Death Row last night for Shackelford, and that the prisoner sang several hymns with him.

The chaplain also gave newsmen a note written by Shackelford to thank people who had written him while he was awaiting execution.

"I wish to express thanks to the people for their many kindnesses," the note read.

The prisoner's last hope of escaping death faded yesterday when Governor Scott announced he would not intervene in the case.

President Truman left the road open in his Wednesday message to Congress to call later for such curbs on the economy but they were omitted from the Administration's defense production bill.

Administration lieutenants said they have the votes lined up to get that measure approved by the Senate Banking committee late next week, although they conceded they may have to make changes in some of its provisions.

Some Republicans complained that the powers requested by the President are too broad. Some Democrats said they don't want congress to vote authority in the bill for the government to go into competition with private business.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.), a member of the Banking committee which will begin hearings on the economic control bill Monday, told a reporter he thinks the best way of avoiding price controls is to clamp increasing taxes on those who might be tempted to profiteer in war production or consumer goods.

Industries Say More Danger In Scare Buying

New York, July 21 (AP)—There's little danger of serious scarcities growing out of the Korean situation but a lot of danger from hoarding and scare buying, industry and business leaders warned today.

The warnings against needless overstocking were not only to shoppers but also to retailers, wholesalers and business in general.

Ross R. Ormsby, vice president of the Rubber Manufacturers Association, declared that "latest production and inventory figures clearly indicate that there is an adequate supply of tires and tubes for the public."

Explaining What The Government Has Done To Tighten Up Its Help To The Home-Buyers; Three Agencies Involved; What They Do, How It's Done

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Home building has been going on at a fast clip. This is fine in normal times. But now, with the country trying to build a military machine in a hurry, home-building raises a couple of problems:

1. New homes require a lot of materials which the government also needs. Steel, for instance.

2. As the government takes some of these materials, making materials and new homes soaring, the price on new and old homes rises up.

To put a brake on such price rises and still let the government get the materials it needs, President Truman this week did this:

He ordered some of the government agencies which help people buy homes to make home-buying just a little tougher.

He gave his orders to three government agencies:

"Fannie Mae"—which helps banks. Taking them one at a time, this is what the three agencies do and what Mr. Truman told them they must now do.

1. The Housing and Home Finance Agency not only insures banks against losses on loans they make to citizens to buy and repair homes; but it also helps cities to build low-rental housing for low-income families.

The President has ordered HHFA to tighten up all along the line on its insurance on loans and its help to cities.

2. The Veterans Administration has been guaranteeing lenders, like banks, on loans they make to veterans for home-buying.

In some cases, where veterans couldn't get home-loans from banks, VA could make direct loans to veterans.

But the President has directed VA to be a little less generous with its guarantees and to use up slowly the money it has for direct loans.

3. The Federal National Mortgage Association buys mortgages from banks which have made loans to people so they can buy homes. The coordinating committee for screen and radio artists sent a letter to Defense secretary Louis A. Johnson saying that the entertainment industry's talent is organized and ready for any call.

The letter, signed by committee head George Murphy, cited the World War II record of the group—formerly the Hollywood victory committee—in providing talent for 56,037 free appearances here and overseas.

Philadelphia, July 21 (AP)—Harry Gold, 39 year old former Philadelphia research chemist, is back in his prison cell today after pleading guilty to atomic spying of Soviet Russia.

U. S. district Judge James P. McGranery delayed sentence pending an investigation by the probation office. The judge indicated that the sentence may be handed down in September.

Arrested here May 23, Gold was linked by the FBI with the atomic spy ring that included Dr. Klaus Fuchs, British scientist now serving 14 years in prison for treason, and agents of the Soviet government.

Negro Troops In Korean Fighting

Drive Reds Out Of Rail And Highway City; Losses Light

By TOM LAMBERT

With a U. S. Infantry task force in South Korea, July 21 (AP)—United States Negro troops today drove North Korean Communists out of Yechon and occupied that rail and highway city. It was the first sizeable American ground victory in the Korea war.

The Negro doughboys captured Yechon after a 16-hour battle which began yesterday afternoon and ended shortly after dawn today. Our casualties were light. The extent of enemy losses was unknown.

Yechon is 60 miles northeast of Taejon and 55 miles North of Taeju.

(General MacArthur's Friday afternoon communique had said one regiment of the South Korean division counterattacked and retook Yechon from the Communists. It is not clear from this story whether the South Koreans again lost the city and it was retaken again by the U. S. Negro soldiers.)

Today at Yechon was a far different story from the past few dark days when gallant but outnumbered 24th division soldiers battled the surging Reds farther west as United Nations forces traded space for time.

In the Yechon action, the power and strength of the U. S. assault made it look as if the period of trading time for space is over.

William Douglas Again A Victim

Portland, Ore., July 21 (AP)—William O. Douglas, associate justice of the U. S. Supreme court who was seriously injured by a horse last year, is in a hospital here.

His time a horse kicked him on the shin at his Wallova mountain cabin. The injury did not respond to home treatment.

Last year the horse-loving, mountain climbing justice was in a hospital for weeks after a horse rolled on him.

Firm Revokes Its Order To Boost Product Prices

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Reynolds Metals Co. has informed the White House it has decided against putting into effect price increases contemplated for some time.

R. S. Reynolds, Jr., president of the firm, in a telegram from Phoenix, Ariz., dated last night, assured President Truman that:

"Our company pledges you its wholehearted support in your program."

Filmland Offers To Go On Duty

Hollywood, July 21 (AP)—Hollywood volunteered for active duty today.

The coordinating committee for screen and radio artists sent a letter to Defense secretary Louis A. Johnson saying that the entertainment industry's talent is organized and ready for any call.

The letter, signed by committee head George Murphy, cited the World War II record of the group—formerly the Hollywood victory committee—in providing talent for 56,037 free appearances here and overseas.

Delays Sentence

Lawmakers Move To Build Up U. S. Armed Services

Start Ball Rolling To Drop Limitations And Extension Of Enlistments

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Senate Armed Services committee voted unanimously today to take all restrictions off the size of the Armed Forces and lengthen all enlistments one year.

The House Armed Services committee also voted, 18 to 1, to keep all enlisted personnel in service for a year after their enlistments expire. It still was considering the request of President Truman to lift ceilings on size of the Armed Forces.

Rep. Towe (R-N.J.) cast the only vote against extending enlistments. In taking the action on the two bills, the Senate committee also agreed to strike out of one of them a restriction that the strength of the regular Marine Corps shall not exceed 30 per cent of the authorized size of the regular Navy.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) told his colleagues that under present World conditions he does not believe the United States can have too many Marines. The Marines are trained for amphibious landings.

The committee action would suspend indefinitely present limitations which fix the top strength of the Armed Forces at 2,805,882 men.

The quick action came after Navy, Army and Air Force officers said they probably would lose 193,000 trained fighting men during the next year through expiration of voluntary enlistments.

The Senate committee amended the legislation to make it apply also to National Guardsmen and reserves, when called to active duty.

As approved by the Senate group, President Truman could extend for one year the terms of volunteers now in the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines until next July 8.

That is when the present draft or selective service act expires, under which men from 18 through 25 can be called for 21 months duty.

The two committees acted almost simultaneously in freezing the hitch-hiker's enlistment personnel.

Before the House group voted, Towe suggested that action be delayed until the committee has received "accurate and full information" about the military situation.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said the committee was on "sound grounds" in approving the bill.

Towe replied that he wanted to "know about it" before voting.

Vinson said he plans to call up the bills to extend enlistments for a year next Tuesday.

Insurance Rate Cut Considered

Raleigh, N. C., July 21 (AP)—State insurance commissioner Waldo C. Cheek today considered proposed reduction in extended insurance coverage rates.

Following a hearing yesterday on the proposal, it appeared likely that greater reductions might be made than those proposed by the North Carolina fire insurance rating bureau. This group proposed that premiums be cut 15 per cent.

On 'Good Behavior' For Red Meetings In Berlin

Berlin, July 21 (AP)—The Russians appeared today to be putting on a "good behavior" front in Berlin for this week's Communist rally, being attended by high Communist members from far and wide.

Allied and west German officials noted:

1. Autobahn traffic at Helmstedt is being let through to Berlin and toward the west at a stepped-up pace. Slow-down tactics imposed last week have been stopped.

2. East German officials agreed today on a "basis for discussion" with west Berlin on resumption of electric power, cut off July 1.

3. The Russian notified the air safety center in advance of fighter plane flights between Dalgow and Brandenburg, over the western edges of Berlin last night. Lately some flights have been observed that were not posted in the four-power center.

Meanwhile the Socialist unity (Communist) party rally entered its second day without any clue to the purpose behind the visit of the highest-ranking Communists ever to visit Berlin.

The delegates from the Cominform countries attended the party caucus this morning only as observers. The East Berlin controlled press concentrated its attention on the German party activities without hinting at any major conclave on international questions such as the Korean war or the thorny Yugoslav Tito problem.

New-Type Tobacco Curer Is Installed

The newest thing in curing bright leaf tobacco was demonstrated to a group of Pitt farmers yesterday during a tour of several farms. Above, Brantley Speight is shown pointing to the flue of his jet curer while several farmers and county agents look on. Speight, owner of Speight's Seed Farm, installed the new type curer for the first time this summer. It is heretofore controlled from inside. The tank to the right background contains the fuel supply. Farmer Group Is Taken On Tour

Shown Features Of Farm Crop Experimentation

A small group of Pitt County farmers toured several farms in the county yesterday and were shown a pot-pourri of agricultural crop experiments in tobacco, corn and sweet potatoes.

Conducting the tour—the first such field day to be held this year—were the county farm agents, each of whom led the demonstrations and lectures at the different farms.

During the morning the group was shown better methods of sweet potato production on the farm of Mark H. Smith. Jesse Sumner, sweet potato specialist for Pitt, Martin and Edgecombe counties, led the discussion and the tour.

From sweet potatoes, the group was next taken to Perry Vandorf's farm where C. J. Goodman, county agent and 4-H Club worker, demonstrated 4-H projects of the past year.

On W. E. Fulford's farm, the group saw the results of soil fumigation for tobacco and also the control of suckers on the planets. Dairying, pastures and accompanying equipment were shown on the farm of Elbert Tyson. The demonstration was led by agent S. C. Winchester.

After dinner, the farmers were at Brantley Speight's seed farm where tobacco variety tests were pointed out by tobacco specialist Sam Weeks. Also, new resistant varieties of tobacco were demonstrated in addition to seed-corn plots. Speight also showed the group the jet curer, the newest type of curer for tobacco.

Winding up the tour, more corn varieties were seen on the farm of Fred Taylor along with newest methods in weed control and the use of organic matter in planting.

Lend-Lease Tanks?

By LEIF ERICKSON

U. S. 5th Army Headquarters in Korea, July 21 (AP)—Doughboys and air observers said today the Korean Reds used four American marked tanks to surprise two U. S. companies in the battle for Taejon yesterday.

The doughboys knocked out two of the American-starred tanks. Mustang fighters and F-50 jet fighters stopped the other two tanks on a road northeast of Taejon.

Cpl. Richard A. Johnson, 50, Sioux Falls, S.D., said men of his company thought the tanks were American.

(Johnson told Associated Press Correspondent William R. Moore at a command post in Korea: "Later we thought they were some American tanks we had given the Russians during World War II because they had stars on them.")

(Whether the tanks were American made, or any model resembling American types, could not be learned officially, Moore said.)

The first two passed right between two U. S. infantry columns without firing a shot.

Then the commander of another U. S. unit started tank fired a shot. He in turn was killed with a single shot by an American sergeant.

The last tank in line opened up with an 80 mm gun on the infantrymen, who spread out on both sides of the road in a stream.

Cpl. Alfonso Mejia (no address given) was credited with knocking out one North Korean tank with a 3.5 inch rocket. Sgt. W. E. Eberhardt got another with a .77 mm recoilless shell.

But the two other tanks continued shelling the mortar company which had been following the infantry in patrol force northeast of Taejon.

Skullduggery At Work

Eastern Europe Seething With Reports Of Provocative Incidents And Rumors Of Military Preparedness; May Be Setting For Red Session In Berlin

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Red skullduggery of some sort is at work in the always mysterious and fiery Balkans.

It is anybody's guess whether this presages armed conflict in that cockpit of southeastern Europe or is merely a war of nerves. However, it seems to be working up to a climax rapidly, and it has the United Nations and the foreign offices of the democracies anxiously burning midnight oil.

For many weeks now eastern Europe has been seething with reports of provocative incidents. These have been aimed mostly at Marshal Tito Yugoslavia—the bad lad of Communism.

Belgrade has charged that Yugoslavia was carrying out suspicious military movements along the Yugoslav border—that Hungary was forcibly removing civilians along the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier—that Russia was pursuing a warmongering campaign against Yugoslavia—that the Soviet Union actually was moving troops in neighboring Bulgaria and building military bridges across the Danube.

One of the most arresting of this grim procession of reports came out of Turkey only a few days ago. This was that there was growing Russianization of Bulgarian military forces and that there were increasing troop movements on the Macedonian frontier.

Rather naturally speculation among observers in Istanbul turned on the question of whether the Bulgarians were getting set to conquer Yugoslavia and Greek Macedonia and unite it with Bulgarian Macedonia.

This thought fits in with the current warning from the United Nations Balkans committee, reporting from Switzerland, that the Russian-led Cominform may be planning an attack on Greece. And what would be the significance of such an operation?

Well, for one thing it would create another great conflagration for the United States and the other Western allies to deal with. It would compel them to divide their military energy between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

However, that isn't the whole story. If a Bulgarian attack on Greece and Yugoslavia succeeded, it would be a serious

Polio Fighter's Daughter Victim Of That Disease

Richmond, Va., July 21—(AP)—The daughter of Basil O'Connor, president of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, is suffering from the disease her father has fought.

She is Mrs. Sidney Culver, 36, and mother of five. Mrs. Culver was brought by ambulance here yesterday afternoon from her Clarke County home in northern Virginia. A definite diagnosis of polio was made last night.

Virginia has not had an exceptional number of cases thus far this year, except in one southwest county, Wythe, lying in a mountainous, cattle raising area. There have been 41 cases in that county, including five deaths.

Mrs. Alma Kincaid, 2125 East Adelaide, St. Louis, Missouri, who was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin, has turned into a regular clock-watcher since she has been taking HADACOL. Yes, she keeps her eye on the clock all day long, just waiting for breakfast, dinner and supper time. Imagine how unbearable life can be without enjoying good, wholesome food.

Here is Mrs. Kincaid's statement: "I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before taking HADACOL, I had stomach distress for quite sometime. Imagine how awfully hard it is to live a normal life when you can't eat such delicious things as tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, etc., or drink milk without getting horrible cramps and upsetting your stomach. One day I took my husband's advice and got some HADACOL. A good friend of his told him of the fine results he had gotten from HADACOL. And now, since I have been taking HADACOL, I can eat anything I want and really enjoy it. I have a wonderful appetite, too—thanks to HADACOL. Naturally I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

Yes, HADACOL is Truly Wonderful in the way it has helped countless thousands of folks whose systems were deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. HADACOL can help you, too, if you will just give HADACOL a chance. If you suffer from stomachic distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, or a general run-down condition, caused by such deficiencies, let HADACOL help you as it has helped others all over the country. Even hundreds of doctors are now recommending HADACOL to their patients suffering from such deficiencies.

Give remarkable HADACOL a chance to benefit you. Remember you have nothing to lose. HADACOL will make you feel great after the first few bottles you take, or your money will be refunded. Only $1.25 for Trial Size. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

Rev. Russell Is Jaycee Speaker

Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, addressed the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last night at the bi-weekly meeting of the organization.

Speaking on the topic "Religion as the Foundation of Life," Rev. Russell told the Jaycees, "Wise is that man and that country who take God into account." He asserted the real issues facing the people of the world today are spiritual issues—not political or economic issues.

"In times like these," Russell declared, "we are inclined to think of manpower rather than the power of man. When we have the right attitude toward man we know there is no greater value than that in human beings. But we must first have the right attitude toward God."

Speaking of the possibilities of a global conflict between the Communist countries and the democratic countries, Rev. Russell said, "We do not have within ourselves the resources to meet what lies ahead. In a nation or in a man the moral fiber rises or falls with the knowledge of the reality of God. We are going to meet this world in which there is a loss of the reality of God. For so many He is no longer the foundation of life. I believe only the most foolish are the ones who attempt the solution of life without His help. We believe freedom is achieved only when men become the captives of God."

Rev. Russell was introduced by President Bancroft Moseley who presided at the meeting of the club.

During the brief business session two committees were appointed to work on the exhibit hall which will be one of the feature attractions of Greenville's Farmer's Day. Appointed to the electrical committee were Charles Horne and Ben Rouse, co-chairmen, Bob Ross and Luther Cowan. The decorations committee is composed of Jack Edwards and J. B. Kittrell Jr., co-chairmen, Jimmy Warren, Quinn Bostic, Jimmy Lee, Claude Taylor and Louis Gaylord.

President Moseley announced there will be a district meeting of the Jaycee organizations of the eastern section of the state at Jacksonville on July 28.

Guests of the club at the meeting were Hugh Ebert of Williams Store, Bill Watson of the law firm of Blount and Taft, and Jack Whichard of The Daily Reflector.

Unfair Practices Charged Union

Cincinnati, July 21—(AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association has charged the AFL International Typographical Union with unfair labor practices.

The charges were filed in the regional office of the National Labor Relations Board yesterday by Chastol Williams, general manager of the ANPA. Besides the ITU, its International officers, including International President Woodruff Randolph, were named.

The Publishers Association alleged the Union refused to bargain, has used restraint and coercion and had demanded certain employees not previously covered by contract be so covered, said Jack Evans, regional NLRB director. One count claimed the Union tried to force employees to accept the Union as their bargaining agent and coerced locals into carrying out the mandates of the ITU's executive council.

No reference in the ANPA charges was made to varitype operators (employees who type news to be engraved) The reference to "employees not previously covered" could include varitypers, however.

Evans said the regional office will begin an investigation of the charges at once.

The ITU has its headquarters in Indianapolis and the ANPA in New York.

Triple Execution Held In Alabama

Montgomery, Ala., July 21—(AP)—Three men died in Kilby prison's electric chair early today in Alabama's first triple execution in ten years.

The state needed only 30 minutes to take the lives of the three slayers—a white man and two Negroes.

The white slayer, 23-year old Homer Garland Odum of Birmingham, was the first to die. He confessed to shooting a 71-year old storekeeper to death near Birmingham.

When guards strapped him to the electric chair he smiled faintly and waved to warden George Garner.

"I'll be seeing you," he called out to the warden.

Four minutes later he was pronounced dead.

Claude Sims of Autauga county, the youngest of the three, was the second to die.

In February, 1949, he killed John Hardy, a Birmingham night watchman, in an attempted robbery.

When guards sought to lead him to the death chamber, Sims pulled away and said defiantly, "I can walk!" he remained silent when the guards asked him if he wanted to make a last minute statement.

Joe Keith, Jr., died for beating two other Negroes to death two years ago.

Kares filed a separate maintenance suit against her yesterday and complained that she left him Jan. 9, 1949, and took with her title to property worth more than $300,000, including an apartment house in Eastchester, N. Y. They were married in New York City in 1916.

Swiss Forestry Experts In N. C.

Asheville, N. C., July 21—(AP)—Two Swiss forestry experts are in Western North Carolina today to study logging and forestry methods.

The two—Jakob Wyssen and Dr. Alf Huber of Reichenbach—also will see how well this area is adapted to the use of a new cable logging system which they devised.

The device they developed is called the Wyssen Cable System. It is composed of a single, tight, steel cable which can carry a large number of logs down hill at one time. The device prevents the destruction of timber caused by hauling it down hill on the surface, they said.

Forestry tours have been arranged by the Southeastern forest experiment station and the Tennessee Valley authority forestry division.

The first landing operation conducted by U. S. Marines was an attack on the island of New Providence in the Bahamas during the Revolutionary War.

of rationing. But even so, hoarding and high prices now will not help the commodity situation in the future. It will only hasten the day when strict government controls may be necessary.

If you stop to give it a little thought, we believe you'll agree that hoarding is downright foolish. Jacking prices above what they should be is just as foolish. We hope the people of Pitt county will use their common sense and foresightedness, and will refrain from these practices.

The Storm Has Passed; There Should Be Unity

It was unfortunate that so much clamor and unrest in the Chicod school district flared into such proportions of ill will between particular factions in the district.

The Reflector believes the resignation of Principal Newman Lewis of the Chicod school is an unselfish action which Lewis took in the interest of bringing the factional groups of the Chicod district back together with one purpose in mind—building a better school for the children of the community.

We urge the people of the Chicod community who allowed themselves to become involved in the ignoble squabble involving a member of the school faculty and the school board to put aside any grudges they may be carrying as the result of the incident.

The principal personalities which were involved in the incident are no longer connected with the school. The matter has been settled in a fashion which should be satisfactory to both factions.

The people of the Chicod community should put forth their best efforts to pull together in the interest of making a finer school for the education of their children.

National Whirligig News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, July 21—The first and most immediate effect of the Korean "incident" and preparations for other emergencies will be felt when Congress acts on the Administration's demand for a huge increase in the statutory debt limit.

The maximum amount of the indebtedness which the government can incur legally now stands at $275 billion, but that figure will be topped within a few years.

The national mortgage is now approximately $257 billion, but 1950 and 1951 deficits, plus additional national defense costs now under study, will raise it to at least $370 billion.

President Truman would like to make $350 billion the legal limit on the public debt, for political reasons. But his advisers think it advisable to fix the figure at $400 billion, thus leaving plenty of leeway for financing the first two years of a global war, if that should eventuate.

It will be easier to persuade Congress to raise its financial sights now, in view of the Korean disclosures of our absolute unreadiness for a major world crisis.

Strange as it may seem, this boosting of the mortgage maximum may react favorably to the Administration. In view of the reasons for upping the ante, it will tend to remove from the forum of political debate the Republicans' insistent demands of "reducing the debt" and "balancing the budget."

It may take the sting out of their political pleading for a lowering of taxes. In time of war, money is no object on Capitol Hill.

PAINESS—Truman financiers' preference for a $400 billion ceiling on the debt conveys a hint as to how any World War III would be financed. It would be underwritten largely by borrowing rather than by a pay-as-you-go policy through increased taxation.

Taxes would have to be increased, of course, but the major cost would be handled through supposedly painless issues of new government securities.

In the event of a spread of the Korean warfare to other sections of the world, and if the United States must continue to do the fighting almost alone, it is quite possible that the public debt total will leap to $500 billion.

IRRITATION—The failure of United Nations allies to come to our aid in Korea with more than token naval and air forces has caused secret irritation at the White House, the State Department and on Capitol Hill. Only the fear of giving aid and comfort to Moscow prevents a public expression of this resentment.

Representatives of fifty nations met recently at Lake Success to pool their contributions to President Truman's "Point Four" program for improving the economic conditions of "backward peoples."

COOL—Some countries said plainly that they were on the receiving end, not the giving end. Others promised funds that would not be sufficient to build a rambling in the suburb of a second-rate American city. Others pledged amounts that would not pay the cost of an hour's battling in Korea.

In short, the total amount underwritten by fifty nations, whose armament bill is estimated at approximately $25 billion annually, came to less than $20 million dollars.

Mr. Truman had expected that prospective beneficiaries would raise at least as much as he asked from Congress for this purpose, which was $45 million for the first year. The cool response at Lake Success explains why Congress will probably cut this figure to about one-third of the presidential request.

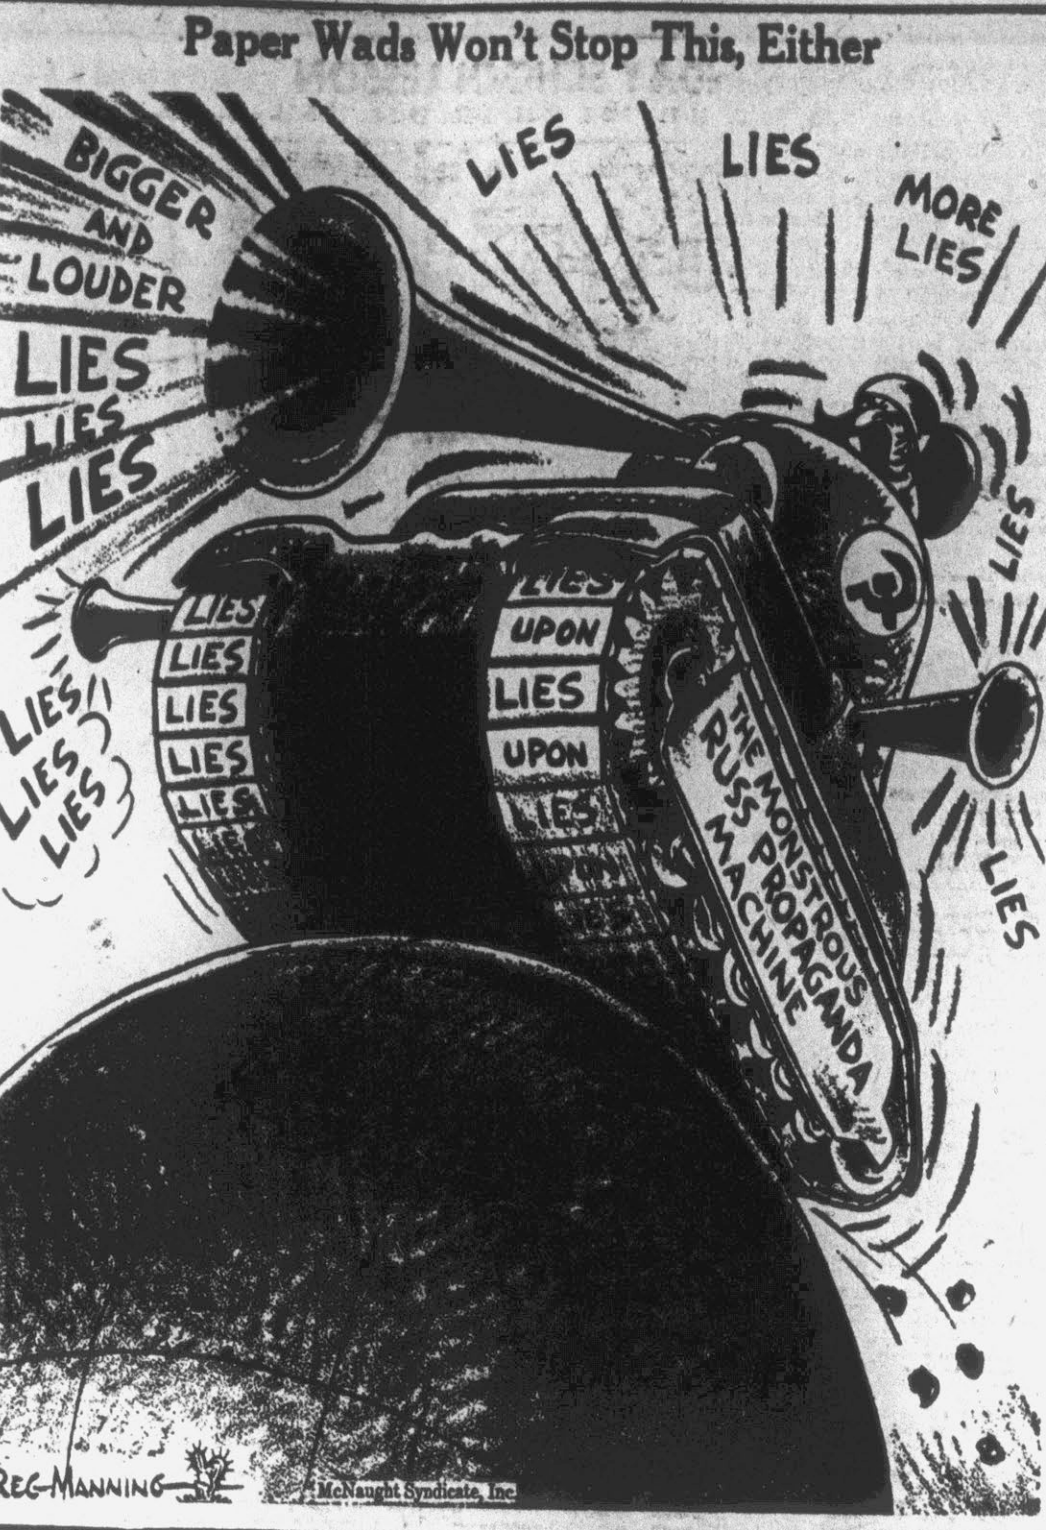

VOTING—White House political advisers and accountants have now balanced the debits and credits resulting from the Korean affair, including the battlefield repudiation of Truman-Johnson-Acheson optimism on prospects for world peace and our military readiness. They disagree entirely with GOP claims that the tragic turn will enable them to capture Congress next November, and to defeat Mr. Truman in 1952.

Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr. is as incurable an optimist as his boss in the White House. Even when talking off the record, he maintains that Korean and possible future setbacks will not damage the Democrats. "I do not think a military reverse will have any effect on the voting," he said in his only comment since the North Koreans attacked.

PROFITS—Democratic confidence is based chiefly on the economic uplift which fresh billions for domestic defense and rearmament of our allies will have at home. Here is their analysis of the prospective politico-economic scene:

Everybody who wants a job will be able to find one at good pay. Prices may increase, unless ceilings are fixed, but fat wage envelopes will balance that boost in living costs. Big business and industry will wallow in profits, as they have under Marshall Plan purchases and other Administration spending. Farmers will draw generous subsidies. The RFC will pour out money to large and small concerns on an emergency basis.

As both Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt were forced to do, President Truman will pipe down on his radical proposals. He will adopt the Roosevelt role of Commander-in-Chief instead of a reformer, thus holding the conservative-business group ADA leftists will protest at abandonment of their domestic program, but where can they go if they quit Mr. Truman?

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

All of this war talk that's circulating these days makes it hard to find something in the light vein for small talk. But, as always, there's something pleasant if you look hard enough. Examples:

In Missouri a man called up his grocer and said, "Give me 100 pounds of sugar before those hoarders get it."

In New York, jewelers said that the Korean crisis had set off the biggest increase in the engagement ring business since the end of World War II.

Greenville Justice of the Peace, Frank Brooks, stays in perfect physical shape by taking exercises daily. One of Mr. Brooks' favorite exercises is standing on his head. In Chicago there is a 49-year-old dancer, Ruth St. Denis, who doesn't look a day over 25. She also believes in standing on her head, and does it for five minutes every day. She says, "It relieves the inner organs from the continual pressure of gravity and gives the blood a chance to circulate from bottom to top, instead of top to bottom."

Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, told his students, "When I see you on the street, will you please say 'hello' because some people who don't belong to the university occasionally pass me on 118th Street and they think I'm crazy when I say hello."

My buddy Steve Canyon, the comic strip character, has been honored by the erection of a seven and one-half foot statue of limestone, located at the junction of U. S. highways 6 and 40, Colorado.

You've heard of the Pulaski Skyway, the famous elevated highway in New Jersey designed to speed up traffic. On the highway one day last week a stream of traffic a mile long was jammed up, all because of a mule by the name of Devil's Brother. The owner, Clarence Hornbeck, was tugging away at the mule with-out success.

Hornbeck made a bet with some friends in Galesburg, Ill., that he could walk the mule to New York, bum a cigarette from a radio comedian and walk the mule back. When the traffic jam came, Hornbeck was on the way home to pay off the bet. He hadn't been able to find the comedian.

While the world has its trials and tribulations, Doris Dubs has her too. She's trying to get the township of Hillsborough, N.J., to let her build a big pen, in which even a little pig can be in hog's heaven. She proposes to build a pen that will hold 2,500 pigs, provided with a high-pressure pen-flushing system, air conditioning units, and atomizers to keep the flies off each and every pig. A neighbor complained, "If she grows hogs that smell good they won't be hogs."

And I thank "Time" for a look on the light side of things.

Business Today

By ELMER BOESSNER
Collections are becoming a problem for many granters of consumer credit. While the rise in delinquencies and repossessions has been small, there is a feeling among many credit executives that a lot of consumers have over-extended themselves.

The head of a small store reported to the National Retail Dry Goods Association that there had been a substantial increase in the number of small individual bankruptcies in his community, with liabilities running from $1,500 to $2,000. This store making a routine check of a would-be installment buyer, found the man was earning $250 a month and was already committed to pay $168 a month on various installment contracts.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reports that bankers throughout the district feel that "the average wage-earner is over-extended."

It added, "The rather spotty situation in retail trade and the decline in soft goods are generally explained on the grounds that many people have committed so large a portion of their incomes to monthly installment payments on mortgages and installment loans for the purchase of durable goods that they have little left for new clothing."

E. E. Crabb, president of Investors Diversified Services, of Minneapolis, noted that while "the farrier's debt situation is remarkably healthy, the steadily rising debt incurred by urban consumers is more ominous."

While the rush to buy new homes has increased the debt of almost all buyers, this does not necessarily diminish their ability to meet other obligations. In many instances the monthly payments on mortgages is little more, or even less, than rent. It is usually only young families who have been living free with relatives who are seriously jolted by these added payments.

The N. Y. Federal Reserve cooked a critical eye at low down payments on installment purchases. But most credit authorities would say that higher down payments is not the answer to delinquencies and repossessions. Their answer is more careful screening of applicants. No down payment is too small, they say, if the buyer has the ability to meet monthly payments and a record of prompt payments.

NYLON CUTBACK HITS AIR CARGO LINES
The cutback in nylon yarn allotments to manufacturers may worry the girls, but it's worrying the international airlines more.

Tokyo (AP)—The Korean war somehow seems almost as far away from Tokyo as it does from New York or Washington.

This is odd considering that a jet plane can fly from here to the war front in about the time it takes a man to smoke a 10-cent cigar.

But an air of solid confidence has replaced the tension that prevailed in the first weeks of fighting. There is probably less nervousness here than in the Pentagon.

The turning point was the landing of a fresh American division on the eastern Korean coast above the vital port of Pusan. There is a feeling that the United Nations forces now can not only hold a bridgehead — they may even shortly undertake offensive action of at least limited nature.

And there even is a hope that the North Koreans — faced by powerful ground troops and lashed by superior air and sea forces — may figure they have lost initiative and begin a slow withdrawal back beyond the shelter of the 38th parallel.

There is complete absence of hysteria or hurry around Supreme Headquarters here. Everyone goes calmly about his duties, including women in clerical posts whose husbands are fighting in Korea.

"If you see my old man over there tell him hello for me—and that everything's all right," smiled one wife who typed out my accreditation papers.

Many headquarters echelons are still taking off Wednesday and Saturday afternoons as well as Sundays—just as they did before the emergency. But they seem to be getting done everything that can be done at their level. It is always the frontline troops that have to work a seven day week.

It is an odd and unreal war in many respects. It is quite possible for a soldier to be wounded in Korea before lunch and to eat dinner that same night in a first class Army hospital in Japan, assured of finest medical care.

Some fliers call it "a commuters' war." They can return from missions over Korea in time to join their wives and friends in a game of canasta. But of course they don't all get back to that hospital or that canasta game. It is still a war.

It has hit home particularly hard among sad eyed American evacuees from Korea, who had to flee and leave behind all personal belongings except those they could carry.

Many lost their passports and it has been a tremendous task for American State Department officials to check their identity, issue new credentials and help arrange passage home.

"Flight of some of these people is really desperate," said John Baldrige, ECA official and Iowa weekly newspaper publisher. "Some are stranded without funds. A number of ECA employees have resigned posts because they no longer want to return to Korea even after order is restored. And they have no job in the United States to go back to."

Most rueful evacuee I met was one who said he had to abandon $7,000 worth of household goods in Seoul—and that didn't include cost of his swimming pool.

"That sounds like a lot of money," he said. "But did you ever figure out what it costs to clothe a family and furnish a house—from safety pins to a refrigerator? What I want to know is how and when I am going to get that $7,000 back? It took four years to settle most of the claims from the last war."

"Unmusical, but never melancholy.

"How meager seem all other domes besides these,—it went on, winding up with these lines: "Thee now I praise in my biennial fervor, "Just as I praise Diana or Minerva.

"The pleasures pure may next November give, "And I wish, thee shall surely hope to live."

Congressman Hale said he began writing poems while a student at Bowdoin College but that it wasn't until a few years ago that he began publishing them. He writes prose too. The first prose he sold was to the New Yorker in 1944. It was a story about a 10-point buck he shot on a hunting trip. In it he complains he "knicked it so he couldn't hang the antlers in the dining room."

"But my wife, Agnes Burke Hale, is the writer in the family," he told me. "She's published a lot of fiction. She's the one with a reputation." He said he had never written any fiction in his life.

A Rhodes scholar, Mr. Hale got his law degree at Oxford University. Later he studied law at Harvard and began practicing law in Portland until the First World War when he joined the Army. He met Agnes Burke of Morris-town, N.J. She had been working overseas with the Y.W.C.A. Both were returning home in August 1919. They were married in 1922. Their daughter Patricia, 22, is on the staff of a woman's magazine. The Congressman says he thinks out his poetry like he would think out a crossword puzzle: "You keep thinking of words even while you're doing a dozen other things. And, of course, chewing on a pencil helps."

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, N. C.

VARIETY—The advisory budget commission spent the first day of its biennial inspection tour on the campuses of State College and the University at Chapel Hill, the two top institutions in the state's educational system. The second day was devoted to other institutions, ranking high in their field, and yet generally considered as operated for benefit of minority or less fortunate citizens. The day's work took the budgeteers to the new hospital-school for spastics (victims of cerebral palsy) at Durham; North Carolina College in Durham, sometimes called the Negro University; and Camp Butner hospital for mental patients and training school for feeble-minded. The following day was scheduled for visiting the state hospital at Raleigh (Dix Hill) and the school for blind and deaf. These visits indicated the variety of services performed by the state for its citizens, handicapped and otherwise.

NEGRO UNIVERSITY—North Carolina College in Durham (the name was changed by the 1947 Legislature from N. C. College for Negroes) is located on a 25-acre tract in the eastern part of the city. It is carried on the 1948 capital account at $488,874—was worth then perhaps three times that amount—and the past two general assemblies have allotted $4,212,809 for permanent improvements. When the program is completed the institution will have a value approximating six million dollars. The current building program adds twelve new buildings, seven of which are under contract, in course of construction, or completed.

ENROLLMENT—The college has a regular session enrollment of about 1300. (There are now more than a thousand in summer school.) On percentage basis that compares favorably with enrollment at Chapel Hill. Dr. Alfonso Eider, president of the college, told the budgeteers his people are proud of the college and want to maintain it on segregated but more nearly equal basis with the state university. He pointed out obvious evidences now, but proudly cited evidence of closing the gap. He urged particularly that courses in commercial scientific and education subjects be strengthened.

BUTNER—Even before end of hostilities in 1945 the state hospital board of control began negotiations for acquisition of the army hospital and surrounding lands at Camp Butner. After years of rebuffs and dis appointments, the hospital itself was sold to the state for one dollar, and some three thousand acres of land were later bought for around a million and a half dollars. The purchases included hospital facilities readily adaptable to mental patients; water and power utilities, warehouses and cold storage plants; housing and other facilities estimated to be worth in the aggregate more than ten million dollars. In addition to the hospital itself, the area now has a conditioning center for the blind, an honor camp for first offenders in the prison system—who work mostly on hospital farms and jobs—and an auxiliary training school for feeble-minded moved there from Caswell.

HOSPITAL—The main hospital proper has a population of 1388 patients, mostly seniles moved from Raleigh and Morganton. It is the only unit in the hospital system not overcrowded beyond maximum capacity. When planned changes are made, Butner can care for 2800 patients. Besides the 1388 hospital patients, the training school has 308 and the "youth center" (first offender honor prison camp) has 62. Construction at Butner, as was the case at all army camps, was either temporary or semi-permanent. Many of the purely temporary buildings have been dismantled. The hospital itself, of brick walls but thin partitions and floors designed for light weight, needs some strengthening, to make it suitable for its present purpose. Auxiliary services, such as dairy and beef cattle facilities, will require additional money. Viewed from the angle of a state budget already loaded these amounts seem large. From the viewpoint of aggregate value and utility after completion, the amounts are relatively small.

GENERAL BOOTH DIES (Wilson Daily Times)
Evangeline Booth, for five years the head of the Salvation Army, died in her Hartsdale home at the age of 84. For the last 11 years she has been in retirement because of an ailing heart. But in her active work she fought and broke many precedents which maintained that women should stick to women's duties, leaving to the men the tougher jobs of ministering to the drunks and down-and-outs. Taunted in her early days, she kept steadfast at her job, winning over many who theretofore had scoffed and heckled her.

Her father, General William Booth, founded the Salvation Army at the close of the American Civil War. He did so not because he wanted to create a new religion, but because he felt that the churches weren't reaching the right people. That it did so much for those people, the world has long since recognized. And into his shoes stepped his daughter who carried on the work in the same way. It's grown to be a world-wide organization, conducting what might be considered missionary work even in the areas which the churches should reach. For that both the father and daughter deserve commendation. For they have trained the world to believe that a "man may be down, but never out."

Samuel Was an Upright Judge

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—1 Samuel 8:26; 9:1-10, 19-21; 7:3-6, 15-16; 9-10; 12:1-5; 15:5-15.

"And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favor both with the Lord, and also with men," and he ministered to the priest Eli.

While Samuel was still a child, asleep in bed, the Lord called him, and he answered, "Speak, Lord, for Thy servant heareth, as Eli bid him.

Samuel ordered the Israelites to give up idols and return to the Lord; they obeyed, and he prayed the Lord to deliver them from the Philistines.

Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life, going in circuit to Bethel, to Gilgal and to Mizpeh, in this work.

MEMORY VERSE—1 Samuel 3:19.

Samuel Was An Upright Judge

WENT FROM TOWN TO TOWN TO COUNSEL HIS PEOPLE

Scripture—1 Samuel 8:26; 9:1-10, 19-21; 7:3-6, 15-16; 9-10; 12:1-5.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. SAMUEL WAS the last of the judges of Israel and it was he who anointed the first king of Israel, Saul.

Samuel was his mother's first child—a child she had prayed to the Lord to give her. If he heard her prayers, she promised, the child should be given to the Lord's service.

When the child was weaned she took him and gifts to the priest, Eli, and the child waited upon him thereafter, thus serving the Lord.

"And the child Samuel grew on, and was in favor both with the Lord, and also with men." Doesn't this remind you of almost the same words which were spoken of the Child Jesus?

Now when Samuel was still a child in Eli's household, he laid down to sleep, but heard someone call him. He rose and ran to Eli, who was an old man now, whose eyes were dim.

"Here am I," he said. Eli said he hadn't called him and told him to go back to sleep. Three times Samuel went to Eli, thinking he had called, and the third time Eli told him that it was the Lord calling, and he must answer, "Speak, Lord, for Thy servant heareth."

And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground. Dan eyes to Beersheba, knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord.

Our next reference tells of a time when tragedy had befallen Israel. They had been terribly defeated by the Philistines. Eli had died, and worst of all, the Ark of the Lord had been taken by their enemies.

The people themselves had forsaken their God and worshiped Baalim and Ashtaroth. Samuel called the people together and said, "If ye do return unto the Lord, with all your hearts, then put away the strange gods and Ashtaroth from among you, and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve Him only; and He will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines."

The children of Israel obeyed Samuel, put away the strange gods, and returned to the Lord. Samuel lived a long, useful life. He was a sincere, just man, devoted to God and to his people.

gods, and Samuel prayed to Jehovah for mercy.

All the years of his life Samuel served the people as judge, going on a circuit from Bethel and Gilgal and Mizpeh, judging all Israel wisely.

Samuel grew old. He had made his sons judges also. But the people were calling for a king to reign over them. Samuel tried to dissuade them, pointing out that a king would take their young men and maidens for his work and demand money from them, and they would resent these things.

Samuel took the problem to the Lord and was told to make the people a king of His choosing.

"Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish," and he had a son named Saul—who was a tall, handsome, personable young man. He and a man servant went to look for some stray donkeys.

They lost their way and the servant told Saul that there was a wife and holy man near—a seer—whom they should consult about finding the lost animals and their homeward way.

They found Samuel and the Lord informed him that Saul was the man He had chosen to be king of Israel. Samuel entertained Saul, and before parting, he poured a vial of sacred oil on his head, anointing him to be king.

Later Saul was presented to the people as the chosen king, and "all the people shouted, God save the king."

In the end of our lesson, Samuel was to rebuke Saul—the man whom God had indicated was to be king. The Philistines were again attacking Israel. Samuel was not there to make the necessary sacrifice to God which should precede the battle, and Saul took it upon himself to conduct the sacrifice, although it was contrary to law.

When Samuel appeared, he rebuked Saul severely, and told him that his rule would not last because of what he had done; that another prince would be appointed to reign in his stead—meaning, of course, David.

Samuel lived a long, useful life. He was a sincere, just man, devoted to God and to his people.

Robins Beaten By Roanoke Rapids By Margin Of 8-4

Early Lead Wiped Out By Four-Run Sixth Inning For Jays; Jones Credited With Loss; Strausser Hits Another Homer

By BERT MOYE

The Roanoke Rapids Jays defeated the Greenville Robins here last night in a listless game, 8-4, before 761 paid customers to even the series between the two clubs at six wins and six losses each.

Greenville took the lead in the first frame when Paul Strausser lined a 380-foot homer over the center-field fence.

The Jays came back in the third frame and put across two runs to take the lead at 2-1 on two singles and a double. But the Robins knotted the count at 2-2 in the fourth with a run on three singles, sacrifice and a walk. Vince Lautato's single into left field to bring in Ralph Bartolozzi ahead of him in the fifth frame sent the Robins out in front 3-2 momentarily.

Four runs in the sixth decided the issue for the Jays. Two singles, three walks, an error, and a wild pitch figured in the scoring.

The Robins ended their scoring in the bottom of the sixth by scoring a singleton on Scarpa's double followed by Johnny Tepedino's single. The Jays added two more runs in the seventh on two singles, a walk and a hit batsman.

Lefty Jack Boykin went the route for the Jays and scattered nine hits effectively. The win for Boykin was his second of the season and his first over the Robins after losing one earlier in the season.

Johnny Tepedino and Joe Guidice with two singles each led the ninth-inning attack off Boykin.

Manager Randy Hefflin used three hurlers in last night's contest with Vince Jones, the starter, being credited with the loss, his ninth of the current season. It was his third loss of the season to the Jays. He has won two.

Sparky McCaskill with a double and a single and Manager Walt McJunkin with two singles led the 10-hit attack off the three Robin hurlers.

The Robins journey over to New Bern tonight to meet the Bears in a twin bill and return home Saturday night to play another twin bill with the Bears.

Rare Rookie

Even the impressive record of 70 triumphs for Havana in three years of competition in the Florida-International League failed to impress manager Bucky Harris when Conrado Marrero reported to the Washington training camp at Orlando, Fla. In the first place, Marrero didn't look the part of a big league hurler. He was built along squat lines and didn't show too much in practice sessions. In addition, he couldn't speak a word of English. Harris had seen Cuban importations on his previous connections with Washington and none had impressed him too much.

It was in an exhibition game that Marrero uncovered a tricky knuckler that had some of the top sluggers breaking their backs. When the season got underway, Harris tossed Marrero into a few relief assignments and the results were most enlightening. When he surrendered only one run in about twenty of relief hurling, Harris decided to risk starting him. In his first start, against Cleveland, Marrero failed to last the distance but he showed enough to earn another chance. His second starting effort resulted in a fine victory over the Tigers. That sold him to Harris.

Marrero joined the Havana club in 1947 after a brilliant college career. He owns a ranch in his native Sagua Legrande, Cuba and has 250 head of cattle. And now that he appears to have made the grade with Washington, he is thinking of learning the English language.

Ormond Wholesale moved into third place when it beat Bilbro Wholesale, 9-6, and the Post Office lost its game, thereby being shoved into fourth.

The loss to Ormond continued to keep Bilbro out in the cold as regards a victory in the Industrial League.

Ormond began the game with a fast pace, tallying three runs in the first and backing that up with two in the second. Meantime, however, Bilbro bunched five runs in the second to make the score tied going into the third, and it added a singleton in that inning to go out in front 6-5.

However, Ormond added a run in their half of the frame to tie it up again and went out in front, not to be headed, on a single in the fifth and two more to top it off in the sixth.

Post Office booted the ball all over the field in committing eight errors, which provided the major excuse for the defeat.

Fleming's played for two big innings and could have cashed in their chips after the third when 11 runs had crossed, five in the first and six in the third. Two more, one in the fourth and another in the sixth, were added for good measure.

Wagner-Waldrop handcuffed Scott Motors, yesterday and all but shut the second place team out in scoring an 11-1 win.

Pitcher Dave Mosier set the Scott team down on four hits, three of those safeties by Jordan and the other by Avery—all singles. It wasn't until the bottom of the sixth that Scott's averted a whitewash with Jordan scoring the lone tally.

W-W, on the other hand, scored one run in the second, five in the fourth, three in the sixth and two in the last. Leading the victors' attack was Morgan with four hits out of four times. He also scored three of W-W's runs.

Rough Stuff In Football To End

College Athletic Commissioners

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 21—(AP)—College Athletic Commissioners declared today that changes in football rules to cut out the rough stuff will be enforced to the letter.

The commissioners, representing 12 conferences across the nation, gave enthusiastic approval to changes making it a foul for players to rough up opponents with elbows and forearms.

The changes were made last January by the National football rules committee of the NCAA.

Dick Romney of Salt Lake City, Utah, representing the Mountain States conference, said the revisions reflect wishes of "He-man football coaches to take the muckierism out of football."

The commissioners, he said, "accepted the changes enthusiastically and will see that officials administer the rules to the letter." He said the rules were written so clearly there was no doubt as to what was meant.

Romney said the rules requiring more careful use of the hands and arms would keep players from knocking teeth and bruising adam's apples. A study of motion pictures of games he said, showed that numerous injuries last season were caused by unnecessary rough stuff.

Dodgers vs. Cards

In one of the fastest and best played games of the year, the Cards of W. Greenville scored an 8 to 7 win over the Dodgers of Third St.

The Cards led 7 to 5 until the sixth when the Dodgers scored twice to tie the game. In the eighth with the bases loaded and no outs, Gene Hudson hit sharply to the mound and the ball bounced away from Sideris for a hit and the ball game.

Bobby Howell allowed the Dodgers only four hits but was liberal with the walks. Sideris allowed eight hits. Bobby Nunn hit for the circuit for the Cards. Jimmy Hendrix and Gene Hudson got two hits each for the Cards. Bobby Faulkner led the hitting for the Dodgers with three singles in four trips.

Red Sox vs. Robins
The Red Sox continued their heavy blasting in the Junior league with a 30 to 8 win over the Robins of Third St. The Sox scored at will, while holding the Robins in check for the greater part of the game. The Sox had a great time fattening their batting average. Tommy Key Norris got six hits in eight times at bat, including a homer, two triples, a double and single. Robert Carawan had six also. Larry Powell had a homer and three singles. Harris Northrup got two doubles to lead the Robins.

Indians vs. Tigers

The genial Southerner grabbed the tournament lead, lost it, regained it and held it yesterday to finish in front of 13 sightless rivals with a 220 for 36 holes.

Boswell and Art Smith of Philadelphia, both blinded in World War II, duelled through the last 1-1/2 of the two-day tourney on Aug-

Farmville Team Schedules Two Over Weekend

Farmville, July 21—After a full week's rest Farmville's Bright Belt team squares off with Walstonburg in two games played here tomorrow and Sunday.

There was no game Wednesday night, as regularly scheduled, since Owner Bonnie Allen couldn't get a team to play.

Junior Yohn is slated to start one of the games, probably the one tomorrow night. Bob Horne, who was obtained from Wilson about three weeks ago, will make his first appearance on the mound for Farmville in the other game.

In its last appearance, Farmville's game with Pinetops was rained out last Friday in Greenville. Pinetops was leading 3-1 in the fourth inning when the rains washed out the tiff. A replay will probably come off some time next week in Greenville.

IT'S DEATH, MY DARLING!

By Amelia Reynolds Long

Chapter 26

For the next minute or so we all just sat or stood there, too stunned to do anything except stare at Beau. Finally Cousin Jeff broke the silence that had begun to press down upon us so heavily that it fairly hurt.

"Beau, you don't know what you're talking about!" he exclaimed more sharply than I had ever heard him speak before. "Where did you get such a ridiculous idea?"

"Get it?" Beau repeated. "I didn't need to get it anywhere. It's been staring us in the face from the beginning. Look at the crazy directions Grandpere left for his funeral. Look at what he was—an unbalanced neurotic, ready to go to pieces at the least emotional strain. And look at Aunt Delphine!"

"Aunt Delphine, you're forgetting it's only a member of the family by marriage, and has no blood relationship to any of us."

Beau was unimpressed.

"I'll admit you're right about Aunt Delphine," he acknowledged. "But listen to this if you want proof that Grandpere was going insane—and knew that he was. About

Then he concluded with a rush. "You see, I asked Dr. Brennan to let me look at the card he'd made out for Grandpere's case history; and although he didn't want to do it at first, he finally let me have it. In spite of what he'd said about its being impossible to diagnose a patient after a single examination, he'd written one word there. Oh, he had a question mark behind it, I'll admit; but that was only professional caution. The word was—paranoia."

"Paranoia! The least curable, most dangerous form of insanity! I gasped, and suddenly Bobby put her hands up over her face with the gesture of a child that is about to burst into tears.

"I don't believe it!" she cried. "I won't believe it—it isn't fair!"

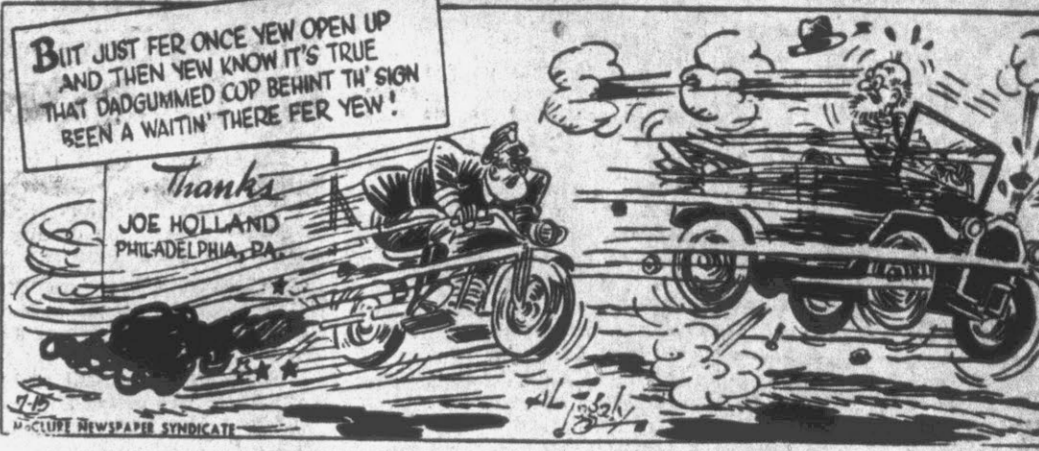

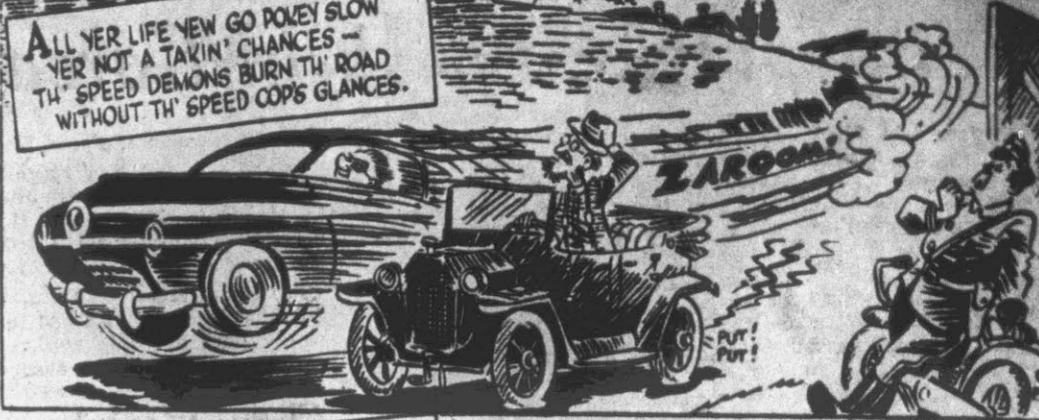

"Don't, Bobby," Henri said. He slipped an arm about her, and led her from the room.

One by one the others began to withdraw too, as though no one was very anxious for anyone else's society just then. At last only Amee and I remained. I saw him glance at me, then look quickly away again. I knew what was coming.

Military Chiefs Take Dim View Of Dropping A-Bomb In Korea

Washington, July 21—(AP)—The Armed Forces, for purely military reasons, take a dim view of suggestions that use of the atomic bomb might end the Korean war quickly.

Military officials question whether the A-bomb could produce results in Korea—where there are few good targets for a mass destruction weapon—sufficient to justify slipping into the U. S. atomic arsenal, which is necessarily limited in size.

The Korean fighting is essentially a battle between ground armies, although with air support, and, in the case of our side, with naval support.

The A-bomb could conceivably be used against ground forces.

But to make profitable such use of a weapon so expensive in terms of material, production man-hours and money would require that there be thousands or tens of thousands of troops concentrated in an area a mile or less in radius.

Such concentrations of North Korean troops do not exist. At the front, they are deployed along a straggling line. There are no ports where masses of their men and equipment might pile up. At some points there are rail or highway junctions, but North Korean troops flow through these points rather than congest in large numbers.

Even if it were decided to use atomic bombs against enemy forces deployed at the battle zone, the terrain would pose a stiff problem.

The front—like almost all of Korea—is mountainous country with ridges and valleys cutting across the landscape. The effect of an atomic bomb is drastically reduced by such terrain, as was demonstrated by the wartime attacks on Japan, because the ridges shield areas from the blast.

The use of A-bombs against strategic targets—the centers of war production—is deemed equally impractical, simply because there are almost no targets of strategic importance in Communist North Korea.

One of note is the oil refinery at Wonsan, on the east coast. But by the standards of World War II it is not very big. The same is true of the one steel plant in North Korea.

For such targets as these, conventional high explosive and incendiary bombs and ship gunfire apparently are considered adequate.

Charge Painter Hit-Run Driving And Damage Car

Police last night arrested William D. Ross, 33-year-old painter of the Reedy Branch community, on the charges of hit-and-run driving and damaging personal property.

John Smith, 521 Greene Street, told police Ross' car collided with his parked car and damaged it and that he failed to stop.

Ross provided $100 bail and was released. He will be tried in Police Court next Monday morning, Chief Herbert E. Wooten stated.

Roanoke Rapids Kiwanians Feted

By CHESTER WALSH

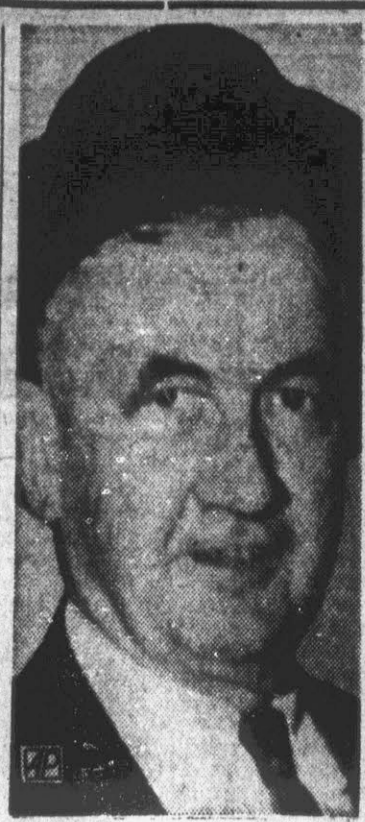

About thirty members of the Roanoke Rapids Kiwanis Club journeyed to Greenville last night to be guests of the local Kiwanians at their weekly supper meeting and to cheer on the Roanoke Rapids Jays to an 8-4 victory over the Greenville Robins at Guy Smith Stadium.

The members of both Kiwanis clubs were guests of Business Manager Russ Filley at the ball game. They occupied a special section of the grandstand.

The "get-together" of the two Kiwanis groups was sponsored by the Interclub Relations committees. They exchange visits some night during the summer when a ball game is to be played there or here.

President Tige Gardner presided over the supper meeting. Past Lieutenant Governor Ed E. Rawl was master of ceremonies and directed the program. Vice-President Dr. H. Glenn Haney welcomed the Roanoke Rapids Kiwanians. Vice-President Ed Shaw responded for the visitors, and Jimmie Tucker, visiting secretary, spoke briefly.

Lieut.-Governor B. J. Holleman, Seventh Division, of Jacksonville, congratulated the two Kiwanis clubs for their good work in inter-club relations. He had as his guest Rev. W. R. Stevens of Jacksonville, formerly of Roanoke Rapids.

Joseph Gogan (above), 63, president of a machine manufacturing corporation at Cleveland, O., has been charged with first degree murder for the poisoning of his wife, Hazel, 47. They were estranged. She died at her home in suburban Lakewood. (AP Wirephoto).

mortgage gives a bank the right to take over if the borrower doesn't pay, up on his loan.

The FNMA was created because a bank may get too much of its money tied up in such mortgage loans. If this reaches the point where the bank can't make any more such loans, home-building suffers.

If the bank could sell its mortgages to someone and get fresh money for making more home loans, home-building would stay steady. And that's what the government wanted in peace time.

So Congress set up Fannie Mae to buy up mortgages from overloaded banks and sell them to some organization which was willing to buy them.

Now the President has told "Fannie Mae" to cut down on its mortgage-buying and get rid of a lot of the mortgages which it has bought but still hasn't sold.

Hundreds Would Join U. S. Army

London, July 21—(AP)—Hundreds of Britons who would rather be a GI Joe than a Tommy Atkins have tried in vain to enlist in the U. S. Army.

Col. P. H. Draper, executive officer of the Army attaché's office at the U. S. Embassy said only American citizens can join American forces.

A buck private in the British army gets three shillings sixpence (49 cents) a day, or slightly less than fifteen dollars a month. A buck private in the U. S. Army gets $75 a month if he enlists for two years, $80 if he enlists for longer.

Woman Fined $5 For Violating City Dog Law

In Police Court today, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found Ida Mae Latham, colored, 506 Ford Street, guilty of allowing her dog to run at large on the streets of the city and failure to register the canine.

Enoch Eliska Jones, official municipal dog catcher for Greenville, testified that he had notified the woman of the city ordinance prohibiting dogs from running at large and the other ordinance requiring all dogs to be registered and wear license tags.

He further testified that she ignored his warnings. Judge Roberts fined her $5.

Fears Grow For Missing General

An American Command Post in Korea, July 21—(AP)—Fellow officers today held firm hope that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, unreported nearly 24 hours in the thick of the Taejon fighting, "will get out."

But fear for his safety grew by the hour. The front line fighting commander of the U. S. Twenty-fourth Infantry Division was last reported leading a bazooka team fighting off Red tanks.

Dean's staff tried to reassure themselves with this declaration: "The general can take care of himself. He may have to walk, but he'll get out!"

The last report of Dean came from a corporal. He said he saw the general passing ammunition to a bazooka team and directing fire in Taejon. That was several hours before the city fell at midnight Thursday before the blazing tanks of the North Korean Communists.

Said Cpl. Ralph Vargason of Newark Valley, N. Y.:

"All of our regular bazooka teams were so busy General Dean took a couple of men downtown and went after two tanks. I saw him passing ammunition to the men and directing fire."

Vargason said he last saw Dean "running" a bazooka (rocket launcher) team just before the roof fell in.

Another story of Dean's heroism under close fire came from Pvt. Alfred Vessels, 18, Stanton, Tex. Vessels told how teen-age American soldiers fought and knocked out Red tanks under Dean's personal leadership.

These young soldiers finally retreated only when the general himself gave the word, Vessels related. The Texan said he "blew one Red tank to hell" with his new 3.5 inch rocket launcher—and hit three more.
