Aldermen Open Bids At Meeting

Board Unable To Complete Regular Business; Adjourn Until Thursday

Opening bids for new equipment for various city departments consumed most of the time last night at the monthly meeting of the Greenville board of aldermen.

The aldermen were unable to complete the regular business for the month last night, and after being in session for over three hours adjourned the meeting until next Thursday night.

The aldermen voted to award a contract for a roller for the street department to the North Carolina Equipment company of Raleigh which was low bidder on the machine. The price was $2,581.85.

Five bids were received by the city for the purchase of a new fire truck, three bids were received on trucks to be purchased by the street department and three bids were received on cars to be purchased by the police department.

Bidding on the trucks were Scott Motor Sales, White Chevrolet company and John Flanagan Buggy company. Bidding on the police cars were Folger Buick company, White Chevrolet company and John Flanagan Buggy company.

The bids for the equipment were referred to the committees for the particular city departments for a report at the meeting Thursday night.

Superintendent J. H. Rose of the Greenville city schools appeared before the board and requested the city schools be allowed to use the Guy Smith stadium for athletic events following the completion of the baseball season.

He also asked that in the event of a baseball league playoff this fall involving Greenville arrangements be made so the baseball games will not conflict with the high school football schedule. The matter was referred to the recreation committee.

The aldermen by a unanimous vote pledged their support to the civilian defense program of which Rose was appointed chairman this week.

C. H. Bass, auditor of the George C. Scott company who has just completed the audit of the city's books for the last fiscal year, congratulated the board for the good financial standing of the city.

Bass pointed out that the city began the 1949-1950 fiscal year with a deficit of some $30,000 and during the year overcame the deficit, paid $4,000 which could have been carried over to the 1950-1951 budget, and ended the year with a cash balance of over $12,000.

The contract for auditing the city's books for the current fiscal year was awarded to the Scott company for $400.

Two requests for loading zones were referred to the traffic committee, and three requests for street lights were granted.

The board passed a motion authorizing payment of the salaries of the city employees by check rather than in cash as has been the policy in the past. The system was recently installed under the direction of Mayor Stafford.

The board also authorized, upon the recommendation of the auditor, (Continued on page eight)

Heavy Fighting Along Western Approaches To Pusan; 25th Division Bore Brunt Of Attack, Enemy Leaving 600 Dead On Field; Reds Reinforced

Tokyo, Saturday, Aug. 5—(AP)—American forces battling to hold a foothold in South Korea stopped strong Communist units in their all-out drive for the few remaining miles to Pusan today.

A U.S. counter-attack turned the battle. General MacArthur's headquarters, in a summary at 12:10 a.m. (9:10 a.m. DST Friday), said 600 enemy dead had been counted on one front alone through Thursday.

The summary, some 24 hours behind front line reports, said 45 enemy tanks reported advancing to the battlefield turned out to be the hulks of burned-out machines abandoned along the road from Taejon to Chinju.

The original report of these tanks as a threat to the south came from briefing officers at MacArthur's headquarters Friday afternoon.

The heavy fighting for the western approaches to Pusan, U.S. base on the southeastern tip of the peninsula 40 miles from the battlefield, was near the village of Wonsung, 10 miles east of Chinju.

The American 25th Division bore the brunt of attack with the probability of U.S. Marine and other units in a battle or about to enter it.

To the north, Red artillery shells arched into U.S. First Cavalry positions near Taegu, 55 miles out of Pusan along the new allied Nakdong River barrier line on the central front. A new battle was shaping up there.

Both sides punched and probed with men and tanks in the swirling battle. The Reds slipped to within 37 miles of Pusan at the village of Pong, 18 miles east of Chinju. But an American regimental combat team erased the threat quickly.

American and South Korean lines above Chinju now are east of the winding Nakdong. But the extreme southern forces are south of the delta, which is just outside of Pusan.

A Tokyo headquarters spokesman reported the North Koreans were pouring tank and infantry reinforcements to the southern battle sector.

He said Red soldiers were coming into battle as recruits from Korean settlements in Soviet-dominated Manchuria. Many are Japanese-trained and veterans of the Chinese Communist wars.

Allied planes kept a sharp watch for troop trains bearing down from the north. Some rail-borne reinforcements sneaked out of Chongjin, in North Korea, under a smoke screen covering the marshalling yard.

While the battle raged in the south against the hinterland of Pusan, South Korean troops protecting the northern flank pulled back to the village of Pian, some 18 miles from Hamchang. They took up positions along the Nakdong's near side.

Red patrols probed without let-up at the South Korean lines and kept American outposts farther south busy along the river front.

U.S. Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said all Red patrols that had managed to cross the Nakdong River in the initial probing had been wiped out or dispersed.

The first reported combat efforts of the newly arrived U.S. Marines in Korea were strafing strikes by Leatherneck carrier-borne planes in support of American ground troops in the south around Wonsung.

Shortly after taking over their new positions in the Wonsung area, the 25th hurled back a fierce Red infantry attack, killing 600 Communist.

Green Light On Changes In Traffic Regulations

Aldermen Authorize Traffic Committee To Make Necessary Changes To Facilitate Vehicular Movement In City

Greenville's traffic committee last night was authorized by the board of aldermen to make necessary changes in the city's traffic regulations to facilitate the movement of vehicles on city streets.

After hearing the proposed changes in traffic regulations and recommendations from the committee, the board gave the committee the go-ahead sign for whatever changes it deems necessary.

Mayor W. S. Stafford who presented the committee recommendations to the board asserted, "The traffic situation in Greenville is so serious, my estimation something must be done about it."

As outlined in the committee recommendations, the city will have a major change in the traffic movement at five points. The concrete pillar in the center of the intersection will be removed, and a traffic light will be placed on a steel pole at each point of the intersection.

There would be one-way traffic on Dickinson Avenue from the intersection of Washington Street to five points. The traffic lights at five points would be so adjusted that traffic entering the intersection

Truck Terminal Being Opened To Ease Traffic

One step toward getting heavy trucks and trailers off the streets of Greenville is underway now. It was learned this morning that Helms Motor Express Company will open a terminal outside of town to facilitate in-town hauling.

The transport company will handle all their business from the old cucumber receiving station at the forks of the Bethel and Pactolus highways. Helms is cooperating with the board of aldermen in clearing the congested streets by transferring their loads to small pickup trucks for delivery to places of business in town.

The company has its home office in Albemarle and will open the terminal here Monday. No agent has been designated for this area yet. The company will serve the towns of Snow Hill, Farmville, Chocowinity and Washington in addition to Greenville.

Army To Call Up 62,000 Reserves

Plan 21 Months Of Duty For Men Not Assigned To Units

Washington, Aug. 4—(AP)—The army announced today it will call out 62,000 individual reservists during September and October, "with or without their consent," for 21 months of duty.

They will come from a pool of about 185,000 enlisted male reservists who are not members of the organized reserve corps units. They will be used primarily to bring the National Guard and organized reserve units to full strength.

The first 32,000 will be in camp by September 15, the remainder by the middle of October, the army's announcement said.

Those called first will be between 19 and 25 years old. Priority will be determined by the number of dependents. Those with no dependents are to be called first, those with one dependent, second, and those with more than one dependent later on.

This was the first time the army has called up enlisted reserves who are not in units. The group to be called out consists only of enlisted men, not officers.

About 116,000 reservists who are in units, and whose units have not yet been called out, are exempt from the September-October call. Evidently it is planned to call them out as units.

Most of the enlisted reserves are veterans of World War II. The army said that those members serving reserve enlistments for three to six years under the terms of the selective service act of 1948 will be subject to call on the same basis as all other reserves.

Korean Question Still Before UN

Malik Renews Fight, But Twice Voted Down By 8-1

Lake Success, Aug. 4—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council comes to grips with the Korean war again today after beating down a three-day Russian attempt to sidetrack the issue.

The Council voted 8 to 1 yesterday to take up as the first order of business today a United States resolution condemning North Korean defiance of the United Nations and asking all countries to help localize the conflict.

Amid bitter verbal exchanges the Council twice again rejected Soviet attempts to put the question of seating Communist China in the U.N. first on the agenda.

Russia's Jakob A. Malik, who ended his seven-month boycott of the U.N. to take over presidency of the Council Aug. 1, preceded the vote with a vitriolic attack charging the United States with provoking the war in Korea.

U.S. Delegate Warren R. Austin denounced Malik's charges as a new slander, a new threat, a new provocation. It was one of the most heated exchanges ever heard in the Council chamber.

Austin said he doubted that the Soviet Union wanted the Council to go into "the question of who designs and whose command brought about the unleashing of this new wave of tragedy and bloodshed which has overtaken the international community."

"Inadvertently, he might expose the villain," the American declared.

Two requests for loading zones were referred to the traffic committee, and three requests for street lights were granted.

The board passed a motion authorizing payment of the salaries of the city employees by check rather than in cash as has been the policy in the past. The system was recently installed under the direction of Mayor Stafford.

Harriman's Trip Hints Major Policy Decisions

Washington, Aug. 4—(AP)—A flying trip to Tokyo by a member of President Truman's executive staff indicated today that major Far Eastern political decisions may be in the making.

W. Averell Harriman, Mr. Truman's special assistant on foreign affairs, is scheduled to leave at once for conferences with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The purpose of the trip, Mr. Truman said is for Harriman to discuss Far Eastern political questions with MacArthur.

It was understood that Harriman wants to get first hand information on Far Eastern conditions and problems arising out of the Korean crisis.

Diplomatic authorities said issues which appear certain to be discussed and which are moving toward the point of American policy decisions include:

- 1. The 38th parallel—From the beginning of the Korean fighting there has been a question as to whether the United Nations forces under MacArthur's command should stop at the 38th parallel once they have generated a successful drive against the North Korean Communists. That line divides Northern and Southern Korea.

- 2. A final Korean settlement.
- 3. The future status of Formosa.
- 4. A Japanese peace treaty.

Brady Made It

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 4—(AP)—By sweating off 20 pounds in 30 days, a Greenville youth succeeded in enlisting in the Marines.

James N. Brady, 18, a former football star at Greenville, was rejected for being overweight when he tried to join the Marines last month.

By dieting and practicing football in the heat, Brady brought his weight down, and was accepted for enlistment.

Seven-Foot Stalks Of Tobacco

Allen Mills, of the Reedy Branch church community, is pictured beside a portion of his tobacco crop which exceeds seven feet in most places. The stalks on the one-acre plot of tobacco have an average of 22 to 24 giant leaves to each stalk. The tobacco is the 101 Dixie variety and is located on the J. C. Lanier farm near Greenville. Yields from the crop this year have proven very successful, it was reported. (Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee.)

Britain Announces Plan For Bolstering Defense

London, Aug. 4—(AP)—Britain announced last night she is ready to boost her defense spending to $9,520,000,000 over the next three years if America will help her economy absorb the shock.

If agreed with the U.S. can be worked out—and State Department officials indicated it could be—Britain will be adding about $615,000,000 a year to her current defense expenditure.

The proposed outlay would be 43 per cent greater than military spending announced before the Korean war started. It would increase from eight to 10 per cent the portion of the national income spent on military preparations against communism.

The announcement indicated that most of the increase would go for production of new arms and equipment for Atlantic pact forces.

Britain's offer to enlarge her contributions to Western defense came in the form of a memorandum to the United States replying to an American request for such information.

The U.S. had asked all Atlantic pact countries to state by Aug. 5 what they propose to contribute to the West's overall defense program. Holland yesterday announced preparations for stand-by mobilization of three divisions and measures to speed up defense production.

President Truman told a news conference in Washington last night he was very pleased with Britain's offer. He said he hoped the other Atlantic pact nations would follow suit.

Frankfurt, (P)—The greatest contribution toward fanning the flames for a new world war is the ignorance of Russian leaders of the ways of the west.

This is the belief of many diplomats who have worked in Moscow and those who have dealt with the Soviets here and in Berlin.

Because of the big Soviet spy rings which have been exposed, and the ardent collecting of documents by Soviet diplomats all over the world, it has become popular to presume that Stalin and his politburo are well informed on the western mind.

But there is little indication of this in Soviet propaganda nor in the overt acts of Communist puppets who have lost ground steadily in western Europe for the past five years.

Instead there appears to be an attitude of blind frustration, increasing suspicion and a tendency to the use of extremes and force to overcome any obstacle.

As Soviet power has spread this ignorance has widened with it, engulfing countless more millions behind the iron curtain.

Miss Eleanor Godfrey, the newly elected director of religious education and student worker of the First Presbyterian church, began her duties the first of August. Miss Godfrey graduated from Queens College, Charlotte, N. C., in June. She is a native of Winston-Salem. During her senior year at Queens she served as vice president of the student body, was voted one of the six seniors to be included in Who's Who among the students of America, and has served on the Youth Council of the Presbyterian church in the United States. In addition to her ability as a leader on the college campus, she made an excellent standing in scholarship. The president of Queens describes her as "friendly, energetic, and cooperative, a young woman of good taste, attractive personality and fine character."

Miss Godfrey will reside at the home of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, 625 Evans Street, during her first weeks in Greenville.

Farmers' Income Shows July Gain

Washington, Aug. 4—(AP)—Farmers took in $12,900,000,000 during the first seven months of 1950—a drop of seven per cent from the same period in 1949—the Agriculture department said today.

In July, however, prices received by farmers rose slightly for the first time this year.

Due to the Korean war and other developments it is expected in some quarters that this increase in prices for farm goods will continue. The department, however, made no prediction as to the future.

Farmers' cash receipts from marketing dropped sharply in 1949 compared with the banner year of 1948. This decline has continued through this year.

Recent increased prices to consumers, however, are expected to result eventually in increased returns to the farmer.

Although the department has estimated the farm income for the nation for the first seven months, it has the actual totals by states for only the first five months of 1950.

This shows Iowa far out in front in case receipts, from farm marketing from January through May of $801,856,000. This is a sharp decline, however, from the $860,078,000 received by Iowa farmers for the same period in 1949.

Consider Role In Civilian Defense

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 4—(AP)—The State Board of Health's role in civilian defense was considered at a meeting of the board here yesterday.

Dr. Hubert B. Haywood of Raleigh, a member of the board and of the emergency medical council of the American Medical Association, reported on a recent conference at Washington on defense in an atomic war.

Dr. Haywood, pointing out that North Carolina is in a critical area for bombing in such a war, offered a resolution calling for Board of Health participation in the civil defense program.

He said the health service's chief function would be to aid in caring for casualties in event of air raids and stressed the importance of building up blood banks.

Elijah Was a Courageous Prophet

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—1 Kings 17-19; 21.

Because the prophet Elijah rebuked King Ahab for his sins and prophesied that there would be a great drought in Israel, he was forced to flee to the desert, where ravens fed him and he drank water from the brook Cherith.

God commanded Elijah to go to Zarephath, a nearby town, where a widow and her son would care for him. While he was there the son became ill—apparently died. Elijah revived him and restored him to his mother.

To show people that God was more powerful than Baal, Elijah arranged a test: Priests of Baal built an altar, laid a sacrifice thereon and prayed Baal to send fire; none came. Elijah did likewise and God sent fire from heaven.

Elijah told King Ahab of the fearful punishment in store for him because of the murder of Naboth whose field the king coveted. Ahab clothed himself in sackcloth and sat in ashes, repenting. MEMORY VERSE—Exodus 20:17.

Elijah Was a Courageous Prophet

HE FEARLESSLY TOLD KING AND PEOPLE OF THEIR SINS

Scripture—1 Kings 17-19; 21.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. COURAGE is required of every man and woman in daily living—courage to face crises of various kinds. It takes extraordinary courage, however, to take a firm stand for truth and righteousness when one's life may be endangered by such an attitude. The prophet Elijah was such a man. When he saw that his people were deserting the Lord and worshipping the idol Baal; when their lives were not being lived in accordance with God's laws, he spoke out, telling them what would be their fate if they did not repent, turn again to Jehovah and obey His laws. He constantly communed with God, and he suddenly appeared to King Ahab, King of Israel, and told him that because of the wickedness of his people there would be no rainfall on the country until he gave the word. The Lord told Elijah then to flee for his life to Gilead, and the brook Cherith, where He, the Lord, would see that he was fed. There Elijah stayed for awhile.

met Obadiah and told him to announce his coming to the king, saying, "As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, I will surely shew myself to him." Obadiah told Ahab, who said to the prophet, "Art thou he who troublest Israel?" Elijah challenged the priests of Baal to a test. Two bullocks were killed for sacrifice, one for Jehovah and one for Baal. An altar was built by the heathen priests and the sacrifice laid thereon. Then they called upon Baal to light the fire. All day they prayed to the idol and nothing happened. Then at eventide Elijah built an altar of twelve stones to represent the twelve tribes of Israel, and round it he made a trench, and laid the sacrifice upon it. He then had buckets of water poured over the sacrifice three times, and then he knelt down and prayed, and fire descended and dried up the water and burnt the sacrifice. Elijah killed the 400 prophets of Baal that sat at the table of Queen Jezebel. He then went to Carmel and prayed for rain and it

The Golden Text

Elijah denouncing the crime of Ahab in Naboth's vineyard. "Thou shalt not covet . . . anything that is thy neighbor's."—Exodus 20:17.

MEMORY VERSE

"Thou shalt not covet . . . anything that is thy neighbor's."—Exodus 20:17.

and he drank the waters of the brook and ravens brought him meat and bread each morning and night. Then Jehovah told him to go to the nearby town of Zarephath, where a widow would care for his wants. He found the widow gathering sticks to build a fire to cook a scanty meal for herself and son—the old fool she had—and then she said they probably would die. How could she trust in another mouth to feed? Elijah assured her that she should not want, and while he stayed with them, her meal barrel never was empty. However, the widow's son fell ill and apparently died. The woman bitterly told Elijah that he was to blame for her tragedy, but Elijah, taking the child to his room, prayed to God to restore him, and breathed life into him, and when he revived the prophet took him to his mother, who cried out, "Now I know that thou art a man of God." The draught in Israel was so dreadful that the king divided the land into two parts, and directed a good, faithful man—Obadiah—to go one way while the king went another to try to find enough green stuff to feed the cattle. Commanded by Jehovah, Elijah came in torrents to the thirsty land. Chapter 21 of 1 Kings tells of a piece of land which King Ahab coveted. He offered to exchange another piece for it, or to pay the owner, Naboth, for it, but the latter had inherited it from his family and refused to part with it. Ahab went home, threw himself on his bed and sulked, refusing even to eat. Jezebel found him there and asked what the matter was. When the king told her she told him not to worry; she would get it for him. She wrote letters to authorities (using the king's seal), and told them to proclaim a fast and set Naboth high among the people; then two men were to falsely swear that he had blasphemed, and he was to be taken outside the walls and stoned to death. Her dastardly plot worked and Ahab made himself master of the field, but Elijah met him, and the frightened Ahab cried, "Hast thou found me, O mine enemy?" Elijah then told him that because of this great sin the Lord had decreed that he should die a dreadful death. Ahab, however, dressed himself in sackcloth and sat in ashes to show his penitence.

Winston-Salem May Counter Bid

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 4—(AP)—Next move in the search for a state prisons department head is up to John M. Gold.

The State Highway Commission yesterday selected Gold, 40-year-old Winston-Salem police chief, for the post. But Winston-Salem doesn't want to lose him.

Winston-Salem authorities may counter the Highway Commission's offer with a proposal to boost Gold's present $8,500 a year salary.

Gold, in Asheville attending a state police convention, has not announced definitely his intentions. If Gold accepts the state offer, he will succeed H. H. Honeycutt on Aug. 15. Honeycutt, a veteran prison official in his 70's, has been serving as acting director since J. B. Moore resigned several weeks ago.

Moore had been charged with using state materials and prison labor for private work at his home. He denied the charges.

Moore's salary was $7,560. However, Gold would be paid around $9,000 if he becomes prisons director. The prison department has supervision of more than 8,000 prisoners.

In Asheville Gold said he could not definitely accept the highway commission's offer until he has spoken to the Winston-Salem City Council.

Raleigh To Pick City Manager

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 4—(AP)—Raleigh's City Council met today to select a new city manager. The post was vacated by the resignation Aug. 1 of Roy Braden, who received a salary of $13,500 yearly. It is understood that William Hudson Carper, 39, Burlington's city manager, has the inside track on the job.

draft boards, the rejects ran about 56 per cent among the Negro men called for examination and about 49 per cent among the whites.

The state draft officials are again preparing to call men for military service. They calculate it will be necessary to call approximately 10,400 men to find enough men in the higher age brackets physically and mentally fit to fill the 3,051 man quota the state has been given for the September and October draft.

If it becomes necessary to dip into the lower age brackets to fill future conscription calls, we may be able to judge to some degree the success of the first years under the better health and improved educational program. Many of the young men in the lower draft age brackets were still in the public schools when the health and educational programs were inaugurated by the state.

News Behind The News
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Any Republican hesitancy over injecting the Korean war into next fall's campaign has been dissipated by the Democratic Congressional Committee's issuance of a pamphlet blaming Communist aggression on this front to GOP tactics on Capitol Hill. In view of the background, the Democratic move may have been a tactical blunder.

The more belligerent Republicans have been advocating preparation and distribution of a white paper on Far Eastern foreign policy. But, in view of the current and prospective crises, several key members had thought it inadvisable. They did not want to place themselves in the light of playing politics with the overseas tragedy.

But now the document, reviewing the Roosevelt-Truman Administration's handling of the Far Eastern problem, is in the works, and may be made public soon.

Incidentally, the GOP platform-writers are profiting from inside history gladly given them by former key members of the State Department and diplomatic establishment under the present regime, including distinguished ex-Ambassadors and Assistant Secretaries of State.

PROGRAM—Although the proposed Republican white paper would proclaim the GOP as the originator of a strong Pacific program, dating from the acquisition of Alaska, Hawaii and the Philippines under Republican Administrations, it would naturally highlight its attitude on China and Korea. The principal Democratic charge is that their opposition to recent aid measures induced Russia to attack.

On this issue, the paper would declare that the party opposed the 1949 economic aid bill for Korea because it promised only seed, fertilizer and farm machinery instead of military weapons.

Its explanation for opposition to the Mutual Defense Act of 1949, which carried funds for Marshall Plan countries, would be that insufficient money was included for Korea and other countries in that area.

AMMUNITION—Current newspaper headlines from the Korean triangle provide the GOP authors with fresh ammunition almost every day, dealing with the utter lack of preparation to resist an invasion on this barren peninsula.

Only a few days ago, dispatches reported that the retreating Americans were handicapped severely because communications equipment rushed to the front from Okinawa warehouses was rotten.

In a terrain where mountains and valleys and rivers place a premium on an army's lines of communications, especially when that army is staging a difficult withdrawal movement, the lack of liaison can be disastrous.

WIRE—The 1949 Mutual Defense Act carried $10 million for Korea. Of that amount, only $200 had been spent up to July 25, one month after the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

The $200 was used to rehabilitate signal wire for the South Korea force that had been urgently requested by our training officers there.

So far the "rehabilitated signal wire" has not yet been sent!

ARGUMENT—Here is a brief outline of the Republicans' principal argument on China and the Far East:

(1) Franklin D. Roosevelt strengthened Russia unnecessarily in this area when he gave her Manchuria and Northern Korea at Yalta. His chief of staff, William D. Leahy, had told Roosevelt that Moscow's aid was not needed to defeat Japan. Mr. Truman confirmed these concessions at Potsdam and since.

(2) Presidents Roosevelt and Truman pursued an anti-Chiang Kai-shek and pro-Communist policy immediately after V-J Day, taking their advice from Henry A. Wallace and George C. Marshall. Owen Lattimore was Mr. Wallace's adviser on the latter's mission to China.

(3) The division of Korea at the 38th parallel broke the Cairo promise that this country would regain its freedom "in due time." Similarly, Cairo pledges to Chiang Kai-shek were violated in favor of the Russians.

WITVICISMS—Secretary Dean Acheson will suffer the brunt of the indictment insofar as it covers the Administration's more recent attitude in this area. Some of his polished and then highly praised remarks and witticisms will return to plague him.

He will be reminded that, when the Communists conquered China, his conclusion was: "Our policy will be to wait until the dust settles." It will be recalled that, when Senators Taft, Knowland and Wherry demanded reinforcement of Formosa, he said wearily: "Mr. Taft may often be in error, but he is never in doubt." Now the Seventh Fleet is protecting that island.

President Truman's remark was, as he peered over his spectacles: "I didn't know that Mr. Taft was a military strategist." Mr. Truman did not recall that General MacArthur had given him this same advice.

LIABILITY—Mr. Acheson's speech before the National Press Club last winter will be cited as an invitation to the Russians to swallow Korea. In that talk he described our Far Eastern defense frontier as extending from Alaska to Japan and Hawaii, deliberately excluding Korea.

In this policy statement, he adopted the line recommended by Prof. Lattimore in a memo to the State Department, which characterized Korea as a "liability" that should be liquidated.

Selected Shorts

NEW ALBANY, IND., TRIBUNE: "There are already indications that we are to repeat our actions of World War II when we made runs on the stores and shops for items which we were afraid would soon be in short supply—and by our own actions brought on the very things we were afraid of."

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE: "Oscar Ewing, one of the prime administration advocates of socialized medicine, says that the number of people in the United States over 65 years of age has increased from 2,000,000 in 1900 to 11,270,000 at the present time. It is hard to believe all this is possible without the benefit of Oscar's socialized planning."

WILMINGTON, CALIF., PRESS-JOURNAL: "The presidential fact-finding Board recommended a 40-hour week and an 8 per cent an hour wage boost. The railroads agreed. The switchmen, however, want pay for a 48-hour week while working 40 hours.... The switchmen, by their arbitrary action in derailing the nation's transportation industry, are creating support for Senator Donnell's bill to outlaw strikes and lockouts in the railroad industry. Should it come about, strikes like that called by the switchmen will be responsible."

Don't Take Your Job Lightly

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Sometimes it's better if you don't know the truth, because lies make a better story. The case I have in mind is Tuesday's column about Movie Star Clark Gable. In so many words, the article I used as a reference said Clark Gable was what the Yankies call "a regular fellow" during World War II. According to the story, he went in as a private, worked his way up to the commissioned grade, took his regular combat missions with the rest of the boys, and never played the role of a big shot. Since Clark is one of my favorites on the screen, it was natural for me to eat this story up.

Leslie Garner of Greenville, who works at Ormond Wholesale Company, let me know that the story was slightly inaccurate here and there.

Leslie was in the Army Air Force and was stationed at Miami Beach, Florida when Clark was there. Leslie arrived there for basic training in August, 1942, and at that time Clark was enrolled in the Air Force Administrative Officer Candidate School in Miami. Actually, Clark's first duty was in the school, so it's stretching a true statement to say that he served as a private.

From OCS Clark went to gunnery school and was one of the few officers to attend. At the end of his gunnery training he was flown to California in an Army twin engine plane by a Colonel for a 14-day leave. Leslie got the story from the radio operator who was on the flight. By way of comparison, Leslie said, "If it had been you or me, we probably wouldn't have been given a leave, and if so, we would have had to hitch-hike home." It seems that the Army was quite aware of the fact that Clark was a famous movie star.

While in gunnery school Clark was called on to demonstrate a new type of turret that the Army put in B-17 bombers. During the demonstration Clark's fire went wild and he shot the tail off another Army B-17. Within the Air Force, this tale spread like wildfire.

The article on Gable stated that he flew 17 combat missions. Within the Air Force it was generally known that Gable was flying missions but they were picked missions that the boys called "milk runs."

To me, it's perfectly understandable why the Army would protect Gable. In the first place, he was 41 when he enlisted and could have easily stayed out of service. In the second place, think of the blow it would have been to the country's morale to learn that Clark Gable was killed in action.

However, there is no excuse for the article that appeared on Gable, blowing him up the skies as a big hero of World War II.

If you want to idolize a movie star as a war hero, Leslie says James Stewart is the man. Leslie was acquainted with Stewart's radio operator, who swears by him as one of the war's greatest fliers. And I thank Leslie.

COMPLEXITIES — That little Sec. 20% of the biennial appropriations bill, enacted at close of the last legislature as a compromise on teacher salary arguments, proves to be as full of gimmicks as a novelty shop. In addition to such obvious questions as what constitutes a "surplus" and who shall determine it, the state board of education found half a dozen other perplexing questions which Attorney General Harry McMillan has been asked to answer.

The amendment to the appropriation bill was patently intended to make available for school teacher salaries up to a $2200-2100 schedule, any money left over after commitments for the fiscal year ending last June 30 were met. Hasty phrasing of the section complicated it tremendously.

WORDS—As originally written it applied to holders of A-Grade certificates. Then somebody remembered that B and C grade certificate holding teachers also needed more money, and they were added. That left open the question, which the state board has asked the attorney general to pass upon, what happens to teachers with graduate and principal certificates. Do supervisors come in for a cut in the extra distribution? And how about teachers who taught only a part of the year? On casual reading the law would seem to be clear; when the state board of education starts distributing money under Sec. 20% these and other questions arise. Words have different meanings when tax money is involved than when folks are just talking.

INTENT—Most of the trouble goes back to "intent" of the legislature. That is impossible to determine, because probably every member who voted for the amendment had a different "intent" as to what it would accomplish.

TEACHERS—There are numerous instances in which the state board of education violates the letter of the law in maintaining its spirit by assigning or transferring teachers as local needs seem to require. Several such adjustments were made at this week's meeting, and in one or two instances it was frankly admitted the action was extra-legal in some technical respects, although essential to maintenance of public school service on basis of greatest good to most pupils. Attainment of that objective compensates for the technical violation.

CONTRIBUTIONS—State officials cannot pay out public money on such uncertain basis.

COMMON SENSE—Fact is, a great many problems coming before state boards and commissions have to be resolved in light of common sense, even if technical language of the statutes seems to be violated. Take the matter of the 70-odd Virginia pupils attending Warren Training School at Wise. It would be hard to find specific statutory authority for Virginia paying salaries of North Carolina school teachers. But it is more convenient and sensible for these children to come into North Carolina, so arrangement has been worked out for Virginia to pay the salaries of three teachers in the school and everybody seems to be happy. Then there's the situation at Albemarle where a part of the East Albemarle school district is within the corporate limits of the City of Albemarle, but not in the Albemarle administrative school unit. It is in the Stanley county unit. So a bit of finagling was called for, and the children who live within city limits but outside the city school unit are technically assigned to other county schools—but permitted to attend the city school upon nominal tuition payment.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

COMPULSORY INSPECTIONS (Wilson Daily Times)

The State High way Patrol commander thinks we should restore compulsory inspections for motor vehicles. He talks as if the next legislature will pass such a law. Sensible people hope it does. But when it passes, let's not make the mistakes we made before. Why force a buy man to stand in line for long hours to have his car checked and to return to stand in line all over again if something is found wrong on the first occasion?

Men who work for wages generally have definite hours. They can't get to the inspection lanes, then, until they finish work. When they find a long line of cars, they can, if they can calculate at all, reason that they won't make it that day. Is it any wonder that they keep putting it off? And does that not in part account for the resistance that the law, as passed, ran into? In some cases, when motorists had to go twice, as many as six hours were lost.

If we're to have another law, why not do as other states do, set up many inspection stations all over the state? If those inspections are made by the regular garages, anything that doesn't conform to state standards can be corrected at the time. Most states set a regular fee for such service. The motorist leaves his car in the morning and picks it up in the afternoon. He hasn't been inconvenienced. If North Carolina will adopt that practice, it'll probably overcome much of the resistance it's been running into.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Imports of consumer goods, as well as commodities, are being boosted by the rearmament program and its consequences.

War preparations naturally create an immediate demand for industrial materials and importers are combing the markets of the world for them. They are buying steel in Germany in appreciable quantities for the first time in more than a decade, and steel and other metals and commodities where they can find them.

In addition, there's an increase in the buying of consumer goods. Some importers have advanced buying because they are not sure of shipping space later on, since a diversion of ships to war needs has already begun. Others believe that if a war economy reduces the manufacture of consumer goods in America, there will be a lot of buying power that can be directed to imports. Some large merchandisers are making sure they'll have goods to sell in any eventuality by stepping up orders abroad.

This situation is proving a bonanza for the United States Trade Fair which opens in Chicago next Monday. In the fair, as measured by the number of business men who have been sending in money in advance for admission cards, has been rising rapidly since the outbreak of fighting in Korea and far exceeds earlier expectations.

This is the first international trade fair to be held in the United States along the lines of the trade fairs in Europe. Their emphasis is not on midways nor parachute drops, but on consumer and industrial goods. It will be open to the general public to look, but not to buy. Selling will be to commercial buyers, usually on order.

Consumer products will be centered on the Navy Pier and industrial products at International Amphitheater. A limited bus service between the two points will be available to registered buyers.

Products of 47 nations will be on display, with approximately 60 per cent consumer goods, 33 per cent capital goods, and the remainder displays of services.

The sharpness of the rise in interest in imports makes it impossible to guess the number of buyers who will attend, but more than 10,000 have bought advance tickets. These include regular importers, buying office representatives, department store buyers, chain and mail-order company representatives and representatives of most of the giant industrial corporations.

IDEA WAS RIGHT, CUSTOMERS WRONG
Sometimes an idea can be too good. An ink company introduced a new shade under the name of "I'llar-Bill Green." Orders started pouring in, but so many of them came from countrymen that the company had to stop taking orders. The shade was a good one, but the name was too good. The company had to stop taking orders.

MATES: Instead of "his" and "her" lettering, design and color distinguishes between pairs of a new line of towels (by Cannon Mills, 70 Wall St., New York). Men's towels have a tailored pattern; women's, a cherry blossom design. Six colors enable buyers to choose towels in the same color or in contrasting harmonies.

STAND: A new vertical stand for copying c-meras or for filming titles with movie cameras is being introduced by DeJure-Amsco Corp., 46-61 Northern Blvd., Long Island City 1, N.Y.). Unique rigidity is claimed for it, and it includes a twin light unit for illuminating movie titles.

TWISTER: A new container for toilettes consists of a tube with a plastic sac. Twisting the bottom of the tube brings pressure on the sac to force out the contents, as out of a toothpaste tube. (By Genera Cap and Container Corp., 70 Pine St., New York.)

With U.S. Troops in Korea—(AP)—Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:
Some prisoners of war report that the Red army is beginning to use South Korean recruits to replace casualties in heavy fighting.

"These people (North Koreans) have been damn well trained," said Lt. Col. James W. Snee of Wilkes Barre, Pa. "If they now have to start using recruits from the south, that's a good sign for us."

He said the enemy artillery and mortar fire is very accurate and explained it this way:
"They have good observation. And a lot of their information comes from underground channels — from agents inside our lines."

A favorite trick of the Reds is to put a command post under fire to try to demoralize it as they infiltrate into American artillery positions that leaves the Yank infantry without support — and the Reds then come streaming through.

How can they be stopped?
"We will have a stabilized line when a soldier in a hill position can look over five yards and say 'Hi Joe' to another soldier," Snee said. "Then if we have proper reserves we can crack them back anywhere they get something through."

Staff officers along the front are convinced that most of the atrocity stories about the conduct of Red troops are true.
"The guerrillas take no prisoners at all," one said. "The regular North Korean troops will take prisoners if they are able to march. But they won't foot around with wounded prisoners. These are shot or bayoneted, he said.

One prisoner who escaped the Reds said their army seemed to be made up largely of battlemiseric noncoms and young Communist enthusiasts.

"These older noncoms aren't such bad Jews," he said. "They've been through combat before and know what it is like. They'll offer you a cigarette or give you a little first aid if you aren't too badly hurt."

"But the young soldiers—some of them look 16 or under — are nothing but sadists. They get a kick out of murder."

During the day when a U.S. division was locked with the Reds in the battle for Kochang, correspondents saw a book on the desk of the commanding general. Its title: "Tomorrow Will Be Better," a novel by Betty Smith.

"I haven't had a chance to look at it," said Maj. Gen. John Church, Frederick, Md., "but I like the sound of it."

In the division mess hall a hand-cranked phonograph blared with "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas" and then "The Missouri Waltz."

LACK OF BIDS MAY BRING U.S. CONTROLS
The National Federation of Textiles is warning members that they'd better respond to government invitations to bid. Recently the government called for bids on 175,000 yards of rayon lining twill, a comparatively small order. No bids came in.

The Federation points out that failure to get bids will stimulate demands for federal allocations.

16 MILLION YARDS OF NYLON FOR 'CHUTES
The Air Force has placed orders for parachutes that will require 16,000,000 yards of nylon, according to rep in the textile trade. The nylon isn't hosiery grade, of course, but making it will take a lot of mill facilities.

NO WORLD-WAR II ANSWERS WANTED
One of the nation's largest department stores has sent a bulletin to the sales staff warning it to be polite to customers and to avoid the old attitude of "Don't you know there's a war on?"

It also advises sellers not to promote scarce buying and to assure customers that when goods are out of stock that the store hopes to replace them at regular prices.

NEW AND HOT
WRENCH: A 14-inch Stillson-type wrench only half the weight of ordinary wrenches is being produced (by J. H. Williams and Co., 400 Vulcan St., Buffalo, N.Y.). It is of "minium, with steel and cadmium jaw inserts.

WINDSHIELD: Plexiglas windshields mounted in chrome are being made for back seats of convertibles (by Jim Robbins Co., Hazel Park, Mich.). They are easily parked to the back of the front seat.

STAND: A new vertical stand for copying c-meras or for filming titles with movie cameras is being introduced by DeJure-Amsco Corp., 46-61 Northern Blvd., Long Island City 1, N.Y.). Unique rigidity is claimed for it, and it includes a twin light unit for illuminating movie titles.

TWISTER: A new container for toilettes consists of a tube with a plastic sac. Twisting the bottom of the tube brings pressure on the sac to force out the contents, as out of a toothpaste tube. (By Genera Cap and Container Corp., 70 Pine St., New York.)

MATES: Instead of "his" and "her" lettering, design and color distinguishes between pairs of a new line of towels (by Cannon Mills, 70 Wall St., New York). Men's towels have a tailored pattern; women's, a cherry blossom design. Six colors enable buyers to choose towels in the same color or in contrasting harmonies.

Hal Boyle's Column

With U.S. Troops in Korea—(AP)—Leaves from a war reporter's notebook:
Some prisoners of war report that the Red army is beginning to use South Korean recruits to replace casualties in heavy fighting.

"These people (North Koreans) have been damn well trained," said Lt. Col. James W. Snee of Wilkes Barre, Pa. "If they now have to start using recruits from the south, that's a good sign for us."

He said the enemy artillery and mortar fire is very accurate and explained it this way:
"They have good observation. And a lot of their information comes from underground channels — from agents inside our lines."

A favorite trick of the Reds is to put a command post under fire to try to demoralize it as they infiltrate into American artillery positions that leaves the Yank infantry without support — and the Reds then come streaming through.

How can they be stopped?
"We will have a stabilized line when a soldier in a hill position can look over five yards and say 'Hi Joe' to another soldier," Snee said. "Then if we have proper reserves we can crack them back anywhere they get something through."

Staff officers along the front are convinced that most of the atrocity stories about the conduct of Red troops are true.
"The guerrillas take no prisoners at all," one said. "The regular North Korean troops will take prisoners if they are able to march. But they won't foot around with wounded prisoners. These are shot or bayoneted, he said.

One prisoner who escaped the Reds said their army seemed to be made up largely of battlemiseric noncoms and young Communist enthusiasts.

"These older noncoms aren't such bad Jews," he said. "They've been through combat before and know what it is like. They'll offer you a cigarette or give you a little first aid if you aren't too badly hurt."

"But the young soldiers—some of them look 16 or under — are nothing but sadists. They get a kick out of murder."

One thing you notice about Korea is that it is a land of silent animals. They are as stoical as the people.

In ten days of driving about the countryside I have heard no bullet, no cow low, no calf bleat, no pony whinny—and no dog bark. The dogs here are scarcely creatures that look more rather than starved. They appear completely indifferent to traffic and many have been run over because they refuse to leap out of the path of speeding army trucks or jeeps.

Occasionally one does, more ambitious than the rest, will dart out and chase a vehicle. But he does so soundlessly as if he were leaping in a vacuum. He never barks.

But there's one friendly sound—the chirping of English sparrows so familiar on American streets in the horse and buggy days. These little ruffians are everywhere here.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Civil Service Commissioner Frances Perkins says Washington is a "woman's town" although only about 20 per cent of all women federal employees are stationed here. The former secretary of labor based this opinion on the fact that the capital is "probably the easiest place to shop in the country."

"This is particularly true for the young woman," she told me. "There is a perfect plethora of sizes 14 and 16 in the shops. As for myself, I have no time for shopping." Miss Perkins does not feel the current war scare will add many more women to Uncle Sam's Washington payroll. There were 95,131 women in January this year. "There is no impact on demand for additional workers, except in the defense agencies," she says. "They may and will make only temporary indefinite appointments at that. And, first, they will recall any career-service people who were laid off in the last year. Next, they will appoint from civil service registers those who are immediately available. Thereafter they may appoint without reservation. Applicants must be qualified, but they will have no civil service status."

Miss Perkins believes that a great deal of the current jobfilling can be done by transfers.

The larger number of women on federal payrolls was reported for July 1944, during World War II, when the total reached 1,106,000. As of last January this number had decreased slowly to 408,000. Miss Perkins is the only member of President Roosevelt's first New Deal cabinet still in her government's service. She has been one of the three U.S. Civil Service Commissioners since 1948. She got a little bored with criticism that Washington is full of dangers for girls. "Washington," she says, "is just as good as any other town and not any better."

U. S. Troops Learn To Be Diplomats In North Africa

By ROBERT HEWETT
(AP) Newsfeatures

Tripoli, Libya—U. S. airmen, sailors and marines in these lonely but strategic North African area are becoming spare time diplomats in making friends with the Arabs.

"You are welcome in my house—I am honored to have you as my guest"—that's the greeting delivered in Arabic to visiting Libian dignitaries by Col Fred O. Easley, Jr., commanding officer of the big U. S. air base on the Mediterranean shore near here.

Easley, whose hometown is Fordyce, Ark., doesn't know any more Arabic than those few words. But his southern drawl and easy smile are best land which is due to become independent in 18 months.

The U. S. wants to keep Wheelus field, one of the biggest air bases in North Africa, after this former Italian colony becomes a free state. And maintaining friendly relations with the Arabs is one way to help that aim in Col Easley's view.

A Thrill For Arabs

On Armed Forces Day last May nearly 5,000 Tripolitanian Arabs swarmed over the base as guests of the airmen. They got their first look at a helicopter in action chattered excitedly as they sat in the seats of the big transport planes based here and wiped out the post exchange's supply of ice cream and soft drinks.

Wheelus Field is a transit point for MATS (Military Air Transport Service) planes enroute to the U. S. air base in Sapudi Arabia. On MATS' second anniversary last month airmen handed out bags of candy at a nearby school as birthday presents.

The friendship program has not gone off without a hitch, however. Recently a U. S. sentry fatally wounded an Arab trespassing on the base. Prompt apologies were made to local Arab leaders and U. S. officials said a fence would be erected around the base to lessen the danger of similar incidents in the future.

Marines Back at Tripoli

U. S. Marines whose marching song begins "From the Halls of Montezuma to the Shores of Tripoli" returned to a onetime battleground on July 4—but this time in peace and friendship.

At the invitation of Arab leaders, a detachment of Marines and sailors landed at Derma to unveil a plaque commemorating the capture of the old fort there by Marines in 1805. Tripolitanian pirates had been holding American prisoners at Tripoli and demanding tribute from U. S. merchant shipping companies.

Participating in the ceremony were Mohammed Sagisly, Prime minister of Cyrenhaticia; Oray Taft of Santa Barbara, Calif., U. S. consul at Tripoli; Capt. Henry P. Wright, Jr., of Santa Barbara, commanding officer of the U. S. S. Montague; and Marine Major Dorance S. Radcliffe of Sparks, Nev.

Marine Capt. H. D. Wortman of Rockford, Ill., and Pvt. Allyn Bennett, Worcester, Mass., and Walter Schmidt, Jr., of Montrose, Mich., unveiled the plaque.

Soviet Strategy Of Stockpiling Helped Invaders

Washington, Aug. 4—(AP)—A war-tested Russian policy—accumulation of a huge stockpile of arms before embarking on a campaign—seems to be paying off for the North Koreans.

That explanation is offered in some military quarters here when the question is asked:

How are the Red Koreans able to keep on pouring immense amounts of ammunition and equipment into a bitter war already five weeks old?

Since Russia generally is supposed to have mapped the plans for the attack on the Republic of South Korea and to be directing it now by remote control, it is assumed that all the vital planning of supplies was dictated by Russian army experts.

During World War II, Russia sometimes exasperated her western allies by delaying a needed offensive against the Germans for weeks and months. Not until she had built up vast supply dumps, far beyond any foreseeable requirements, would she launch the offensive.

This practice was applied to Russia's satellite army of North Koreans. The jump-off for the invasion was delayed until Red strategists estimated the North Korean army had more than enough material for an Asiatic blitzkrieg against the poorly equipped South Korean army.

The ability of the North Koreans to maintain their offensive at peak intensity now raises a question about an earlier assumption that the Red's war plan was to complete their conquest before aid could come to the South Koreans. They wouldn't have needed to stockpile mountains of ammunition and hundreds of tanks to beat down an opponent armed with only light defensive weapons intended for internal security.

It seems now they reckoned with the definite possibility the United States would step into the picture.

The North Korean armament stockpile probably had its start when the large Russian army of occupation withdrew from North Korea about two years ago in a political move to hurry the American occupation force into pulling out. The Russian force apparently left much of its ammunition, large quantities of weapons and other equipment for the North Korean army which Russia then was starting to form, train and equip.

German Communists Open New Drive To Take Over All Germany

Berlin, Aug. 4—(AP)—The German Communist "national front" have announced plans for a new and intensified drive to force the Western powers out of Berlin and West Germany.

The campaign was proclaimed in the Communist press under such headlines as "Out With the Western Occupiers."

The American High Commission in Frankfurt told West German Communist leaders Tuesday they would be held primarily responsible for any Red violence or subversive activities in West Germany.

The Communists indicated their hopes of driving out the Western powers were based at least partly on what they called "the collapse of American prestige in Korea."

They figured that West Berliners, who stood up through the Russian blockade of this city, "now have lost faith in the West and are ripe for a Communist-inspired revolt."

The party organ, Neues Deutschland, said American reverses in Korea had "opened the eyes of the people in West Berlin."

"The twilight of the gods for the American war makers and their lackeys is beginning also in West Berlin," it said.

Plans for the anti-West drive in Berlin were made at a meeting of the city committee of the National Front. The members were ordered to conduct membership drives in all factories, in the streets and homes.

"We have had successes here in Berlin and we will move on to greater successes until we achieve the goal of our national resistance—that the Western occupiers vanish from Berlin," said Heinz Marohn, National Front secretary.

Ernst Languth, another Front official, called for a similar revolt in West Germany, he urged the Communist "peace fighters" to press the campaign under this slogan:

"We don't want to see the Western occupation powers on German soil any longer. We want to establish real democracy in Germany."

The Communist press continued to drum on what it alleged were Allied war preparations in Western Germany. Neues Deutschland published a map which purported to detail rocket-launching sites, military air bases, tank depots and huge munitions caches in the Western occupied zones.

1,200 Curers To Make Trip Over Canadian Border

Raleigh, Aug. 4—(AP)—Some 1,200 Tar Heels are preparing to make their annual trip to Canada to help cure tobacco.

The State Employment Service reported today that several of the leaf curers already have left for Canada with many others expected to leave during the next 10 days.

The Employment Service said that usually about 1,200 curers go from North Carolina and smaller numbers from Virginia and Georgia and a few from South Carolina.

Hear Case After Year And A Half

Estill, S. C., Aug. 4—(AP)—A man accused of beating his wife and two children to death with a baseball bat will stand trial here after being treated for a year and a half at the South Carolina State Hospital.

John D. Bowers, 41, was charged with murder after his wife and children were found Dec. 8, 1948, in their blood-spattered home here.

In returning Bowers to the court's custody, hospital authorities said he had been suffering from "alcoholic psychosis—acute hallucinosis." He was pronounced fully recovered and sane.

Pardon Is Given To Aged Escapee

Raleigh, N.C., Aug. 4—(AP)—A man who escaped from prison 25 years ago surrendered at Central Prison yesterday, served three hours, and was pardoned.

The token sentence was served by Charlie Johnson, who looks much older than his 59 years.

Back in May, 1925, Johnson escaped from the Caledonia Prison Camp. He was sentenced from Wilkes in March, 1924, to five to eight years for accessory after the fact of murder.

The slain person was Columbus Longbottom. There were six defendants, all Johnson's relatives.

Affidavits signed by surviving co-defendants declared that Johnson had no part in the crime and no knowledge before hand that it was to be committed.

After his escape, Johnson settled in Essex, Ontario, Canada, where he became the well-to-do father of 14 children.

In explaining the leniency with Johnson, the state's paroles commissioner, Dr. T. C. Johnson, said there were three main reasons. One was his physical condition, described as "frail, feeble and the victim of a heart condition."

The paroles commissioner also declared the man committed a relatively minor part in the crime and later evidence still further minimized his participation, if any. Also, he voluntarily returned to prison.

Robins Split Twin Bill With Wilson Taking Opener 4-3, Losing Nightcap

Heflin's Five-Hit Pitching And Hall's Clutch-Hitting Highlight First Game; Errors Mar Second Contest As Tobs Score 5-1 Victory

The Greenville Robins and the Wilson Tobs split their twin bill over in Wilson last night with the Robins winning the opener by a 4-3 score and the Tobs taking the nightcap by a 5-1 margin.

First Game
The five-hit pitching of Manager Randy Heflin and the clutch hitting of Matt Hall featured the first game of the doubleheader.

Manager Heflin, registering his 15th win of the season, held the Tobs to five hits and in five straight innings he faced only five batters as he retired them in order. He struck out seven men and walked only three.

Matt Hall's two-run single in the fifth frame to bring in Strausser and Tepedino who had singled ahead of him provided the Robins with their winning margin.

The Tobs went out in front with a two-run spurge in the second frame when Luke Tucker poled one over the right field wall to bring in Joe Fulghum who had singled ahead of him. The Robins came back to knot the count at 2-2 in the third frame and then jumped into the lead in the fifth and held off the Tobs for the remainder of the game.

Matt Hall, in addition to his two-run single, also came through with another single during the contest to be the only Robins to get more than one hit off the offerings of Pitcher Heflin of the Tobs.

Score by Innings:
Greenville . . . 0 0 0 0-4 9 0
Wilson . . . 0 2 0 0-3 5 1
Heflin and Allegretti; Pittman and Tucker.

Second Game
The Tobs came back in the nightcap to take a 5-1 win against the Robins, largely as the result of misuses. The Robins, who made three errors in the second contest after playing errorless ball in the opener, had at three misuses figures in the scoring by the Tobs.

The Robins' only run of the game came in the first frame when Strausser walked, stole second and advanced to third on Dingler's error and then came home on a fielder's choice by Ralph Bartolozzi.

The Tobs knotted the count at one-all in the first frame after two men were out when Joe Moss doubled to bring home Dingler from second who had reached there via a fielder's choice and a stolen base.

They put across another run in the third frame as the result of two walks and two errors with no hits and their big inning was the fourth when they pushed across three runs on four singles, an error, a balk, walk and a sacrifice.

Vince Jones started on the mound for the Robins but was taken out in the fourth frame after giving up six hits and all five of the Tobs' runs. "Shoes" Soappa pitched the remaining frames and held the Tobs to one hit and no runs, to account for a nice piece of relief work by the little lefthander.

Cliff Barnes pitched five-hit ball for the Tobs to gain his first win over the Robins this season.

No player on either team got more than one hit during the game. The Robins and the Leafs play a twin bill out at Guy Smith stadium tonight with the first game starting at 7:30 o'clock. Although it has not been officially announced, more than likely Bobby Harrison and Ray Keys will be on the mound for the Robins in the two contests.

Farmville Game Was Called Off

Farmville, August 4 — Rain and wet grounds, which prompted a scheduled re-play of the Farmville-Fremont game, was again called off last night for the same reasons.

The game has not been rescheduled for a later date, Bonnie Allen, Farmville owner stated this morning.

The two game series with Pine-top will begin tomorrow night. That game will be played in Pine-top under the lights. Sunday's affair will be played here in the afternoon.

The St. Lawrence waterway development project has been under international investigation since 1905.

Here is Mrs. Kaufman's statement: "I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before I started taking HADACOL I was terribly nervous and upset all the time. I was underweight and just couldn't eat at all. My appetite was so lax that I ate irregularly at all hours of the day. I tried many things to try to build up my run-down condition—nothing helped me. After taking these so-called remedies I was nervous and sleepless as ever. Then I started taking HADACOL. After the third bottle I felt 100% better. I have gained weight, my appetite is tremendous and, best of all, I sleep well nights and my nerves are steady as can be. HADACOL is a very wonderful product. I just can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), for normal growth in children, as well as that general run-down condition, and aches and pains of neuritis. If your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. HADACOL is being recommended by many doctors. HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only One Genuine HADACOL. Don't go through life suffering such fiendish torture from your stomach or aches and pains of neuritis when relief is as close at hand as the nearest drugstore. For sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL.

The Robins played their sixteenth double-header of the season last night and for the sixth time gained a split in bargain bills.

It was the third twin bill of the season with the Tobs. The Tobs and the Robins have now played a total of 15 games and the series now stands at 8-7 in favor of the Tobs.

The 4-3 win in the first game of the double-header last night was the 21st win the Robins had gained by a one-run margin.

Randy Heflin finally got his 13th win of the season last night as he handed the Tobs his second defeat as against no reverses.

The loss by Pittman was his first of the season.

The tentative program for the Big Saturday night doings over in Rocky Mount Saturday night, when the Robins and the Leafs meet in a twin bill there will include a hill-billy band, the high school band, a troop of the National Guard to take part in the flag raising between games, gifts for the players gifts and souvenirs for the fans.

The night has been designated as "Appreciation Night" for the Leafs having won the pennant in 1949. The Booster's club of that city who are sponsoring the affair, hope to have 5,000 fans present at the contest. President Ray Goodman of the Coastal Plain League will be in attendance with other league officials. He will toss out the first ball.

.727 Average Is Civic Loop Tops

When the Civic Softball League closed up last week, White of the Lions Club was leading the league in batting percentage. His figure for 11 times at bat was a hefty .727—eight hits.

American Legion led the other three teams in team batting with .406. Following 51 points behind was the 1-3-5 reading Exchange Club with .355.

Ironically, Legion with the healthiest team average wound up the slate in third place after Jaycees moved into second on a forfeit from Exchange.

Lemon is quick to admit that he was very lucky in the first half of the pennant chase, pointing out that he gave up a lot of runs but had the good fortune to be pitching for a team that scored more for him.

"I've got to get that earned run average under three," says Lemon. "Then I know everything will be under control."

Furuhashi Batters Own Record And Edges Two American Freestylers

Tokyo, Aug. 4—(AP)—Japan's Hirohiko Furuhashi bettered his own world record for the 200-meter freestyle tonight by nosing out two American swimmers in 2:08.2 in the U.S.-Japan meet.

James McLane, Olympic 1500-meter champion, finished close behind and Wayne Moore was third. McLane equaled Furuhashi's recognized record of 3:08.4 established in Los Angeles last year.

Officials announced that the Japanese speedster had been scratched from the 1500-meter race where he had been scheduled to compete on an exhibition basis against John Marshall of Yale University, whose home is in Australia.

The American team took a lead in team points at the start when Robert Brawner won the 200 meter breaststroke and Owen Stanforth finished third.

Tako Hagiwara of Japan was second. Brawner's time was 2:37.6. It was better than the Olympic record of 2:39.3 and the Japanese record of 2:40.4.

Bob LEMON

BOB WAS AN OUT-FIELDER AND A FIELDER BEFORE HE BECAME A PITCHER

Bob Lemon, while establishing himself as the best hurler in the American League, is headed for his third straight season as a 20-game winner. The Cleveland ace won 20 games in 1948 and last season posted 22 triumphs. At the rate he is going, he could easily make it 25 this season.

Lemon is quick to admit that he was very lucky in the first half of the pennant chase, pointing out that he gave up a lot of runs but had the good fortune to be pitching for a team that scored more for him.

"I've got to get that earned run average under three," says Lemon. "Then I know everything will be under control."

LOCKE Happy To Be Back For Big O'Shanter Event

Chicago, Aug. 4—(AP)—Bobby Locke the amazing South African golfer, today was back for the Tam O'Shanter big links classic and he says he is "happy to be back in America."

"I'm ready to forget about any past troubles," Locke says. The South African won the Tam O'Shanter's all America pot of gold in 1947 finished second in '48 and now is back after being barred from U. S. competition by the Professional Golfers Association in 1949 for "infraction of rules."

Locke's "infractions" were that he did not keep dates to play several tournaments, principally, the Inverness round at Toledo. At the time Locke had accused the PGA of a "lot of nonsense."

But all is forgiven now.

Scott Motors Softball Team Moves Into Finals

Industrial League Playoffs
Scott Motors 16, Ormond Wholesale 4
Wagner-Waldrop 14, Post Office 7

Games Today
Wagner-Waldrop vs. Post Office, Third Street School No. 2.

Scott Motors entered the winners' circle yesterday afternoon after it had beaten Ormond Wholesale in the third game of the semi-final series, 16-4. The motor team will next meet the winner of the Wagner-Waldrop-Post Office series which is evened up as the result of a W-W win yesterday.

Ormond contributed to its own defeat in committing five errors. The extra runs scored as a result of those since Scott collected only 10 hits off pitcher Gordon.

Bill Kittrell, alternate hurler for Scott, pitched three-hit ball for the seven innings, scattering three singles among Gordon, Teel and Aman.

Scott's two innings were enough for a win. They tallied four times in the first and added three more in the second frame to lead by three runs just before Ormond had scored three in the second.

In the other playoff game, Wagner-Waldrop, with a major portion of its regular players gone to Georgia, evened the count with Post Office in taking a 14-7 decision. The third and decisive game will be played this afternoon to determine which team will meet Scott in the final series beginning Monday.

The game was never in doubt as W-W accounted for 11 runs in the first two frames to give pitcher Dave Mosier a healthy working margin. The game was sparked by four roundtrippers. Jackson, rightfielder for W-W, led both teams' hitting with two homers, plus a triple and single for four trips—pretty close to a perfect day.

Other homers were hit by John Lautares, W-W shortstop, and Heldenreich, Post Office centerfielder. In the field, both teams did their chores well. Only one error was made, that by W-W.

Score by Innings:
Scott Motors . . . 431 332 0-16 10 3
Ormond . . . 030 000 1-4 3 5
Batteries: Scott—Kittrell and J. Sawyer; Ormond—Gordon and Williams.

Post Office . . . 103 200 7-7 12 0
W-W . . . 470 300 0-14 13 1
Batteries: W-W—Mosier and Leggett; Post Office—Smith and J. Jordan.

Yankee's Boom Is All But Dead

Remember way back to Tuesday morning? They said the Tiger pitching staff was weary and overworked. The well-rested Yankee staff, never used on relief, was ready to take over. Detroit led by a half game, going into a three-game series. The Yanks were going to take care of that—but quick.

When Tommy Byrne, usually a Tiger killer, was beaten by Dizzy Trout Tuesday night, the Yankee drive was delayed. When Hal White shut out New York with two hits Wednesday, it was delayed some more. Now, after Houtteman's comeback, the Yankee boom is all but dead. Cleveland, moving into second place while idle, is the new threat.

Four runs in the first inning tucked the game away for Detroit. Ed Lopat, shooting for his 14th win, got only one man out. He gave up four runs on three hits, a walk and his own error. Fine relief work by Fred Sanford and a passing-fair job by Joe Page were too late. The final score was Detroit 5, New York 2.

LAST CHANCE

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

Chapter 6
How long "Rock" lay between consciousness and unconsciousness he couldn't say. But, suddenly, he seemed to know that he was in the hospital in Leesburg.

Feebly, he tried to raise himself from his pillow, only to fall back weak and exhausted. His head felt as if a whole tier-full of fans were pounding their fists into his skull.

How he had gotten there he didn't know. The last thing he remembered was trying to spear a high foul that was going into the stands. A gentle hand, slim and cool, began to stroke his head and he heard the voice he thought he had been dreaming about say, "You impetuous, silly, hard-headed nincompoop! You must have been born under a lucky star. No man deserves the breaks you've been getting!"

With an effort he turned to stare up into the soft, blue eyes of Betty Lee. "Hello," he started to grin. "Did we win?"

"Yes," she replied. "We won, but you lost."

"This is nothing," he managed. "I'm feeling better."

Confirms H-Bomb Negotiations Being Conducted With DuPont

Washington, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Senator MacMahon (D-Conn) confirmed today that a contract is being negotiated with the DuPont Company of Wilmington, Del., for work on the hydrogen bomb.

In a guarded statement earlier this week the atomic energy commission hinted as much but did not specifically say negotiations were under way.

MacMahon, who is chairman of the Senate-House atomic energy committee, made his statement to reporters after a closed meeting of that group with Crawford Greenwalt, president of the DuPont Co.

MacMahon said the committee approved of the contract which is being negotiated by the commission with DuPont. He said its purpose is "to further progress of the hydrogen bomb project."

He said he expected the contract to be initiated within the next two weeks and that it would provide the reimbursement of the Company for its cost plus a fee of $1.

The earlier commission statement said the DuPont Company had been selected to design build and operate new facilities of "advanced design."

It added there would be for the production of materials "which can be used either for weapons or for fuels."

MacMahon told reporters no decision has been reached on where the plants will be situated. Previously his committee announced the site may embrace as many as 200,000 acres.

He said that among the factors governing selection will be nearness to a town, large supplies of water and power and inaccessibility to attack.

Chairmen Report On Farmers Day

Chairmen of different Farmers' Day committees reported to the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at last night's meeting the plans for advertising the event and actual construction of exhibition booths are well underway.

Howard Hodges Jr., chairman of the exhibit committee, stated most of the sponsors of the booths have begun decorating for the exhibits already with most of them expected to be completed by next Wednesday.

Dave Whitchard III, chairman of advertising, reported his committee is advertising the one-day event in the newspapers and radio stations in the surrounding area. Posters are being placed in conspicuous places throughout the county and handbills are being mailed to RFD persons, he added.

No formal program was scheduled last night. Three new members were inducted. They are J. B. Smith, Bill Watson and Jim Lee. Roger Mann was a guest of Dave Whitchard.

Mann has recently joined the Tom Rivers engineering firm.

President Bancroft Moseley reported that State President Micou Brown of Raleigh was elected national vice president by an overwhelming majority. Moseley said Brown received the largest number of state votes of any other previous candidate getting 44 in all.

Lester Turnage made a report on the district Jaycee meeting held at Jacksonville last Friday night. The next district meeting will be held in Farmville in the fall.

The members voted to stage a softball game with the Farmville Jaycee club August 17.

Police Chief Herbert Wooten today warned owners of dogs to go to the City Hall and register their dogs and buy license tags for them.

A city ordinance provides a fine for failure of dog owners to procure licenses for the animals. The license fee is $2 for female dogs and $1 for males. Dogs are expected to wear the metal license tags on their collars, the chief said.

A city official estimated that the dog population of Greenville is at least 5,000, and he pointed out that less than 200 owners have bought licenses for their dogs.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) senate Republican policy leader, called it a "pretty good bill," he and Senator Hayden (D-Ariz) a ranking member of the senate appropriations committee, predicted to reporters the senate would finish work on it today.

A senate-house conference committee will have to iron out differences between the senate measure and the bill passed earlier this year by the house.

Tripp, who is 23, was charged with forging the name of Gus Forbes, one of the owners of a tobacco warehouse here, to two checks. One check was for $234.16, and was cashed by Efrid's department store.

The other check was for $189.17 and was cashed at VanDyke's furniture store in September, 1949.

Tripp was charged with forgery in the warrants, but the court permitted the defendant to plead guilty to passing worthless checks.

Authorities estimated there are about 3,000,000 helpless refugees in South Korea ranging from one to seven years old.

Funeral services for John Lewis Joyner, 79, who died at the home of his son, Carey Joyner, 106 Library Street, at 11:35 o'clock Thursday morning after having suffered a stroke of paralysis four weeks ago, will be conducted at the home at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, and burial will be in the Corey Cemetery near Ayden.

The Rev. Ernest H. Williams, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, will officiate.

Mr. Joyner was born, reared, and spent the most of his life in the Ayden community. His wife, Mrs. Minnie Cox Joyner, died in 1946. Mr. Joyner had been living in Greenville for the past seven months. He was a member of St. James Episcopal Church in Ayden.

Surviving are two sons: Lloyd L. and Carey A. Joyner, and a daughter, Mrs. W. Adrian Savage, all of Greenville, and three grandchildren.

They Left A Few

If there are any other fish in the sea they don't know about 'em.

That's the report of three Jack Waltons now vacationing at Atlantic Beach after they came in from a stint at deep-sea fishing this morning.

Phil Moore, D. J. Whichard Jr., Greenville, and Bert Swindell, Durham, reported they hauled in 116 mackerel early this morning when they went out three to five miles. Among the total catch were 26 king mackerel, averaging two to five pounds apiece.

The telephone report indicated the trio had left a few in the ocean, whereabouts unknown.

Cooler Weather After Heat Wave

A considerable drop in temperature in the Greenville area during last night and this morning brought relief to the sweltering populace. The Weather Bureau thermometer yesterday rose to 96 degrees, only 3 degrees lower than the all-summer high temperature, when the mercury ascended to 99 degrees.

Lowest temperature last night was 69 degrees, and at 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 72 degrees.

A slight drizzle of rain fell late yesterday. Rainfall during August was 1.28 inches.

Rainfall during July was more than 9 inches, a record precipitation for that month.

The sky was overcast today during the forenoon, with breezes coming in from the northwest.

baseball, football and often American games violated four-power rules against Quasi military training. The Soviet commander making the protest was invited to see a ball game. He refused.

There are thousands of more serious but unfounded Soviet charges made daily. Even for propaganda purposes they show a vast misjudging of the western mind.

A diplomat just returned from two years service in the Soviet Union said, "Russian missions abroad only send home what they know will be believed and what will keep them out of trouble."

"Ignorance in the Kremlin is echoed and fed back with more ignorance by missions and spies abroad."

"Recently this ignorance has been coupled with another more sinister development. The Soviets have been getting very cocky and very belligerent."

"When an ignorant man is cocky and does not realize his shortcomings you can expect anything."

"When he is frustrated he usually resorts to force."

Under the present draft law only men between 19 and 26 can be drafted and none with dependents can be drafted. Having a dependent is reason for deferment.

This seemed all right because until the Korean crisis the draft itself had been unnecessary. The armed forces were getting all the men they needed by voluntary enlistments.

And they weren't taking any recruits with dependents.

But now 100,000 draftees will be taken in the next couple of months, and the number may go higher. And—the armed services are calling to active duty National Guard units and members of the Reserves.

Some of these Guardsmen and Reservists will certainly have families which will suffer when the breadwinner is called to active service—unless they get a family allowance.

Anyone with the slightest contact with the west has been purged, not only in Russia but in all Communist-controlled satellites.

Under these conditions can anyone seriously believe that Soviet diplomatic reports to the Kremlin are objective, critical and informative?

Even if they were, in the light of the history of dictatorships, what chance have they of being believed?

A glance at Soviet propaganda efforts shows clearly the vast misjudgement of the western mind.

The recent Soviet official note accusing the United States of dropping potato bugs from airplanes on Eastern Germany hit a new diplomatic low in comedy.

SUNNYSIDE UP

!!--SO FINALLY WHEN HE THOUGHT WE BOTH WERE GOING TO DROWN HE PROPOSED!!

GOODNESS! YOU DRANK THE SUN TAN OIL AND RUBBED THE POP ALL OVER YOU! NO TELLING WHAT KIND OF A TAN YOU'LL GET!

GOSH, I DIDN'T THINK IT'D BE CROWDED - THERE WASN'T A SOUL HERE YESTERDAY!!
