

Urge Promise Of U. S. Troops To Restore Morale

American Officials In Europe Say Spirits Sagging; Press For Action

Paris, Aug. 16—(AP)—American officials in France are pressing Washington for a solid promise of aid to Europe in the form of U. S. troops to build up badly sagging west European spirits.

Their proposals are double-barreled—

One—The United States should deliver at once, or promise to deliver quickly, at least five more divisions on European soil.

Two—A commander, preferably American, should be appointed to unify present undirected efforts at rearmament.

The same officials believe Britain also should agree now to send five more of its own divisions to Germany or northern France.

The crisis in Korea has brought the American position in France to a low point. The first blurb of gratification at American intervention in Korea has been succeeded by a wave of dismay at U. S. reverses.

The French long have expected the strength of American arms—especially the atom bomb—to give them time to get well from the last war, and to rearm.

Americans newly-arrived on this side of the Atlantic report that the defeats in Korea have hardened American determination to re-arm and, if necessary, to be ready for a showdown with Russia.

There has been no such reaction in France. Top French government officials are facing the problem to a degree that generally is pleasing to American observers. But a sampling of sentiment among the French population, brings no such responses.

The lack of a "will to fight," such as resulted in the French collapse of 1940, is in evidence again. Many Frenchmen solemnly weigh these alternatives:

Would another war be worse than simply to sit down and wait to be occupied by the Russians?

Or would it be better to try to take a neutral course in the hope that Russia would not march into France?

It staggers Americans to hear Frenchmen they have known for a long time seriously weigh such considerations.

It is even more staggering to hear so many Frenchmen give answers which, to Americans, sound like capitulation. The philosophy of "sit and wait" is widespread in France.

The French appear to have lost confidence in aerial bombardment—even with the atom bomb—as a means of stopping ground forces.

The Korean experience has helped bring that, and the French continue to remember how long it took the United States to get into the last two wars.

Smoking Ruins Of Store After Safe Robbery

The smoking ruins shown above are all that remain of Dupree Brothers General Merchandise store in Belvoir after a safe cracker had opened one of the safes inside and apparently set fire to the building about two o'clock this morning. The safes to the left foreground of the chimney were in a small office inside the two-story building. This morning flames were still licking the outer edges of the ruins. ## Belvoir Store Burns After Safe Is Broken By Robbers

The Dupree Brothers General Merchandise Store located in Belvoir was robbed and burned early this morning by unknown bandits with a resulting loss of over $50,000 sustained by the owners.

A dull explosion was heard in most parts of the Belvoir community this morning around 2:15, but few of the residents knew of the robbery and possible arson until flames from the burning building began to lick their way into the sky.

Elmo Dupree, who is co-owner of the business, with his brother, J. T. Dupree, lives about 75 or 100 feet from the two-story building. He stated this morning that he was awakened by his wife who had heard the blast.

"Nothing could be seen around the store, there was no lights, or anything to indicate that the trouble was at the store," Dupree stated, "but I just figured the noise had come from there. I went to the front porch and told my wife to turn on the lights around the store which are controlled from the house. When the lights were turned on, I saw smoke coming from the store. Running to the store, I told my wife that I thought one of the motors in the building was on fire and was going to investigate."

"When I reached the store, the front door was wide open, and I entered the building to find the office on fire. The office is separated from the other portion of the building by a partition, possibly the reason why I did not see the flames from the house. The fire at this time was around the left side of the small safe which was next to the larger safe. Papers in the safe were burning, but were not spilled out on the floor."

"There was a terrible odor coming from the building which I noticed during the time that I entered the building. It was so strong that it nearly 'knocked me down,'" the owner stated.

"My only thought at the time was to try to put the fire out. I got the flames partly under control but the fluid in my fire extinguisher gave out."

"We then called in for aid from the Greenville Fire Department, but it was refused because the firemen stated that they could not send fire equipment out of town without permission of the mayor. In the meantime a call was sent to the Farmville fire departments and Tarboro stations, with result that Farmville sent its truck to the scene, while Tarboro refused, stating that they were too far away to be of any assistance," Dupree said.

"At the time I noticed the building on fire, I did not see anyone or any car around the building, nor did I hear anyone," the owner stated. "When I entered the building I do not remember seeing any tools around the safes."

The fire had gained such headway that by the time the fire trucks arrived the roof of the building was falling in and only two outbuildings could be saved.

The robbery was the second attempt to enter the firm in about a year.

Elmo said that it was about this same time last year that an attempt was made to enter the building.

All told the owners estimated that the robbers got about $50 in silver and pennies. There was no paper money in the safe. However, all of the war bonds securities, and other valuables were in the safes and were believed to have been either taken by the robbers or else left to burn.

All of the firm's records for the past years were burned by the flash

Offer Accepted

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Defense Secretary Johnson said today the United States has accepted Thailand's offer of 4,000 troops for the United Nations force in Korea.

Johnson made the statement during a conference with the ambassador of Thailand. The defense secretary added that arrangements for the use of the Thailand troops are being made by the army.

Prince Wan Wathayakon, the Thai ambassador, was reported to have assured Johnson that the Thailand troops would be in Korea in the near future.

Man Convicted On His Own Court Testimony

Pitt County Recorder's Court officials yesterday encountered a situation which, so far as they know, is unparalleled in the history of the county court.

A man was convicted of driving drunk, careless and reckless driving and speeding, all on his own voluntary statement. Judge Dink James presided.

It happened this way, Solicitor

Charles Whedbee said: James Marvin Owens of Fountain, Route 1, was involved in a one-car accident when his car left the road and ran into a ditch. He was alone. There were no witnesses to the accident.

Before the highway patrolman could reach the scene, Owens had gone to a doctor, who had given him a sedative and sent him home.

Highway Patrolman Ernest Guthrie was unable to talk with Owens until the next day.

Owens voluntarily told Guthrie: 1. He was driving 70 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

2. He was under the influence of alcohol when the accident occurred.

Owens entered a plea of guilty in court yesterday.

Judge James combined the two cases against him and ordered that his driver's license be revoked for one year and that he pay $100 fine and costs. What did the court officials think of the unusual case?

As Solicitor Charles Whedbee said, "This is the first time I have ever known this to happen. He was convicted on his own voluntary statement alone."

There was no other evidence presented in the case.

Bomber Ditched In Yellow Sea

U. S. 5th Air Force Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 16—(AP)—A U. S. Navy Neptune patrol bomber ditched in the Yellow Sea today off Ongjin northwest of Seoul. The crew was reported afloat in rubber rafts. A Neptune usually carries a crew of seven.

A Grumman amphibious rescue plane with escorting Mustang fighters was dispatched on a rescue mission.

An American destroyer 40 miles away also sped to the rescue.

Hershey Sees Need For Expanding Draft Action

Dependent's Pay For Servicemen Is Given Priority

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—President Truman and Congress agreed today that speed is needed in setting up a system of family support allowances for servicemen.

They had different ideas on how to do it, on how much the payments should be, how much the G. I. should contribute, and how much the government should kick in.

Both the Senate and House Armed Services Committees have given the matter a high priority and a solution is expected soon.

A plan Mr. Truman sent both houses of Congress yesterday from the Budget Bureau embodied two of the ideas included in most proposals being considered: (1) that the serviceman should bear a good part of the cost of his family's support from his own pay, and (2) that the serviceman with many dependents shouldn't be in the armed forces anyway.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.), disclosing that a new plan has been given "tentative support" in his Senate committee, told reporters that "a man should take care of his family while he is in the service."

He added that if the serviceman could not do so with the allotments he should be discharged from service as a "hardship case," or deferred from the draft.

Mr. Truman's plan similarly recommended discharge from active duty of any serviceman whose family could not be supported on a $150-a-month support allotment, the top limit he suggested.

The President, urging speedy action, called for benefit payments to begin Sept. 1 covering this month.

Under the Administration plan: 1. A dependent wife would get $75 a month plus $25 a month for each dependent child—but not more than $150 altogether.

2. A dependent parent would get $60 a month, two dependent parents a total of $70.

Under the tentatively-approved Senate committee plan, a private's wife alone would get $60, a wife and child $81, and a wife and two children $105 a month.

Tydings told reporters there probably will be a "compromise" between what the Administration proposed and what the Senate committee has been planning. He said the basic benefit payment might wind up at about $65, instead of the $75 proposed by Mr. Truman.

Both Truman And Congress Agree Speed Necessary; Ideas Differ

New Calls Issued; Selective Service Head Says International Situation Too Unsettled For Estimated Requirements

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—In all probability the draft is going to take far more men this fiscal year than the 185,000 so far authorized.

That's the estimate of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director.

He told a reporter the 185,000 total was based on an estimate of needs made in July but now outdated by the world situation.

General Hershey said the international situation is so unsettled nobody can give an accurate estimate of just how many men may have to be called in the next few months. But he remarked that Congress now has removed limits on the size of the armed services.

The draft director said calls have gone out for 100,000 men—50,000 in September and 50,000 in October.

Testimony given Aug. 1 and released yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee disclosed that Hershey had been authorized to draft 185,000 men in the year ending next June 30.

After the September and October calls for 100,000 men were filled this would have left only 85,000 to be drafted in the next eight months.

"I don't believe we'll try to get by with anywhere near as low as 85,000 additional men," General Hershey said yesterday.

Hershey told the committee he planned to call another 85,000 men in November and he says now that this may be increased. He said he expects the call will go out in a couple of weeks.

The Defense Department estimates the manpower it needs and then authorizes Hershey to place the draft calls.

McMullan Asked For Ruling On Teacher Pay Hike

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—At the request of the North Carolina Education Association, Governor Scott today asked Attorney General Harry McMullan for a ruling on the issue of a contingent pay boost for school teachers.

The Governor agreed at a meeting yesterday with an eight-member NSEA committee to ask for the ruling.

At the meeting, Governor Scott stuck by a decision he and the Advisory Budget Commission made last week—that the question of a contingent pay boost for the teachers could not be decided until after the end of this fiscal year, next June 30, because it could not be determined until then whether or not there is a surplus in the state's general fund.

Wrangled Three Hours Over Unified Command

Strasbourg, France, Aug. 16—(AP)—The European Assembly's general affairs committee wrangled behind closed doors for three hours today over Winston Churchill's proposal to unify Europe's armies against Red aggression.

The action apparently met the same opposition as it did yesterday from British laborites and Scandinavians in the assembly's subcommittee on defense. Led by British Parliament member James Callaghan, the opposition strove to block the action on the grounds that assembly statutes forbid it.

Informed sources in the assembly, the lower house in the European council, said the plan being discussed provides for adoption of a European defense convention calling for nomination of a European defense minister, a European high command and pooling of all possible armed forces by the member nations of the European council.

The plan was introduced by British conservative Duncan Sandys, who was said to have received guidance in drafting it from his father-in-law, Churchill.

The defense subcommittee passed the plan yesterday by a vote of seven to six with one abstention after being deadlocked in a six-to-six vote for a stormy three hours. Chair-Lion MacCas of Greece finally cast the seventh affirmative vote to break the deadlock.

Why We're Fighting

A Soldier Is Entitled To A Good Reason As To Why He's Fighting In Korea; Some Of The Reasons For Sacrifice Are Idealism, Our Own Safety And Security

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

You are a United Nations soldier (Say American) on a battle line across the inhospitable terrain of Korea, half a world away from home.

Why are you there? What are you fighting for?

Those are questions you are bound to ask yourself—and probably the answers don't come quickly. If you were at home, defending your country from invasion, the answers would be easy.

But why Korea? That's a long, long way from your family hearth. Is it an ideal you are defending? We fought World War One "to make the world safe for democracy." Is that what we are doing now?

You ought to know the answer to that, as you fight through the mud of the rice fields or over the precipitous heights against a foe whose language and ways of life are wholly strange. What does he mean to you?

You are entitled to a good reason for your assignment. After all, war is concrete and it is cruel; ideals are intangible.

Well, idealism of course does enter into the sacrifice. America and other countries again are fighting "to make the world safe for democracy" — to protect a small state against aggression which it couldn't deal with alone. Furthermore we are doing it under theegis of the United Nations.

However, we must look deeper than that. There are many Americans who feel this wouldn't be sufficient cause to send our boys to such a war.

We find a far more substantial reason in the fact that the Korean war is part and parcel of the world conflict between communism and democracy. From that viewpoint we are defending our own doorstep, and in a big way.

The Korean conflict is an important part of the rapidly swelling conquest of Asia by communism. There is a tendency in the West to overlook this fact, because the dangers and the trials of the European conflict have been so much closer.

But the Red offensive in Europe has lost its steam. Having overrun a vast amount of territory which

House Approves Restoration Of Mail Services

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—The House voted today to restore city mail service to two deliveries a day.

It passed and sent to the Senate a bill ordering the Postoffice Department to cancel an April 17 order cutting city home deliveries to one daily and curtailing other services.

The roll call vote was 264 to 108.

A Senate committee has approved a companion bill. There is no assurance, though, that President Truman would not veto this bill, which would wipe out an order of one of his cabinet officers.

Little Profit In Cracking Safes

Pictured above is one of the safes that was either blown or jimmed open just before the safe cracker allegedly set fire to Dupree Brothers' store in Belvoir this morning. The other smaller safe was apparently not opened. Only cash loss from the safe was between $45 and $50 in silver. Damage to the building and merchandise was valued at more than $50,000 by Elmore Dupree. (Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee).

Mighty B-29 Smash Aimed At Breaking Back Of Offensive Build-Up Along Naktong May Have Turned Tide; Enemy Fleeing, South Koreans Pursue; U.S. Reinforcements Arrive

Tokyo, Thursday, Aug. 17—(AP)—Red Korean troops were reported retreating in panic across the Naktong river Wednesday under bombing of American B-29s.

The bomber smash was probably just shot of atomic explosive power in concentrated effect.

It was aimed at breaking the back of a 60,000 man North Korean offensive buildup along the river.

The air blow came as large-scale reinforcements arrived from the United States for Negro infantrymen at the front to bolster the allied defense of the peninsula.

First report from observer pilots indicated the B-29s may have turned the tide with decisive effect for the present.

They saturated a 26 square mile area with 3,500 quarter-ton bombs. The area is slightly larger than New York's Manhattan Island. In it was believed to have been the greatest Red force yet put together.

The B-29 strike was made on an emergency tactical basis.

American soldiers in their foxholes cheered the bombers as they attacked.

There was evidence that the Reds in expectation of followup ground attacks, were trying to blow up the Russian-style underwater tank bridges they had thrown across the Nantong.

Fifth Air Force pilot observers saw the Reds splashing across the river from the allied east side to the Communist west bank after the bomber raid.

U. S. Army scouts probing out to see how severely the enemy's striking power had been hurt found Communists digging in—apparently expecting an allied ground attack.

Field reports said the South Korean First Division were following the Reds in hot pursuit.

American Army patrol scouts also crossed the Nantong to the Red side and met little enemy opposition.

U. S. Air observers over the battlefield brought back the first reports that the Reds were fleeing in terror after the bombings.

"They fled in all directions," one observer said.

Indications were that the Reds backing across the Nantong for safety were driven out by a combination of Air bombing and South Korean ground attacks.

Pilot observers said the Reds in some areas had thrown away rifles and packs and taken to the hills. They seemed dazed and demoralized, two pilots said.

Hours after the raid observer-pilots saw Red troops retreating from the area to the North, West and South of the blazes and smoke left by the bombers. Many seemed dazed and demoralized.

A general lull in the ground fighting followed the air strike.

A U. S. 8th Army communiqué issued in Korea at 8:10 p. m. Wednesday (8:10 a. m. EST) said the battlefield was extremely quiet except for small local actions.

The bomb-lad 30,000 rounds of heavy artillery. It left an area 7 1/2 by 3 1/2 miles smoking and burning.

American foot patrols crossed the river to the Communist west bank to learn the results of the stunning raid.

They found the Reds digging into fox-holes and apparently expecting an allied ground attack to follow the air strike.

The first American patrol was fired on with rifles.

AP correspondent Hal Boyle reported one patrol prowled through the area west and south of Waegwan for two hours without encountering any sizeable force of Reds.

The patrol was led by Lt. Charles Rogers of Morrisville, Penn.

Two observation pilots, Capt. Irving S. Corryell of Atlanta and Lt. William Turner of Dallas, saw Red troops splashing back across the river from positions on the allied east side that had not been bombed.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander, flew low over the tortured hills. He reported seeing a small group of North Koreans running from the area.

Captain Corryell said the Red troops seemed to be in a state of complete confusion. Those spotted by Lieut. Turner appeared dazed and demoralized.

AP correspondent Lalf Erickson reported the enemy troops, displaying obvious fright at the sight of any plane, took cover when the two small, unarmed observation planes flew low over them after the big raid. No shot was fired at the observers.

Two explosions sent columns of water geysering into the air at the point on the Naktong where the North Koreans had constructed an underwater Russian-type bridge. The bridge also had been used to move Red artillery to the allied east bank of the allied river barrier.

The American fliers were unable to tell whether the explosions were from American shells or whether the North Koreans were exploding demolition charges, correspondent Erickson reported.

The airmen said they were unable

Policeman Quits; Another Is Hired

Policeman R. W. Corbett last night resigned his position on the Greenville police force. Acting Chief H. E. Wooten said Corbett came to him last night and asked that his resignation from the force be accepted effective immediately.

Wooten added that Corbett said nothing on the part of the chief or any other members of the police force or city officials had anything to do with his resignation. Corbett could not be contacted today for a direct statement.

In a special meeting of the police committee this morning, Henry H. McGowan was hired to fill the vacancy on the police force caused by Corbett's resignation. Mayor W. S. Stafford, Aldermen J. E. Wadrop and W. M. Pollard and Chief Wooten were present at the police committee meeting.

Wooten said McGowan has had an application in for a position on the police force for "a good while." He is 46 years old and until three years ago was a farmer. At present he is cook at the Star Cafe. Wooten said he is in hopes McGowan will begin his duties with the police force tonight.

Discuss Rising Cost In Medical Construction

Raleigh, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Executive Committee of the State Medical Care Commission met here today with rising construction costs a major topic for consideration.

James H. Clark of Elizabethtown, commission chairman, said that "we are faced with the possibility of establishing a different pattern for the cost of hospital beds."

He explained that the commission now allows $10,500 per bed for hospitals with 100 beds or more, and $12,000 for those with less than 100 beds.

However, he added, due to increased costs of construction and the possibility of further increases, the allowance per bed may have to be increased in making allocations for future hospitals.

Rail Strike Threat

Who Is Involved In The Dispute; What Is Involved; Arguments Based On Former Concessions; Union Asks 48 Hours Pay For 40 Hours Work; Reason

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—This is an ABC on the threatened rail strike. The dispute involves most of the railroads and two big unions—the conductors and trainmen—with 250,000 or more members.

Most workers are covered by the 40-hour week law—the Wage-Hour Act—passed in 1938. It says a covered worker must be paid time-and-one-half for every hour worked over 40 a week.

But this does not apply to railroad workers. The law specifically says they're not covered. They get paid by the hour, day or trip, depending on the kind of job they do.

There are 21 railroad unions, numbering 1,250,000 men, divided into two groups: five operating unions, and 16 non-operating.

The five operating unions are men who run the trains: engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, switchmen. The 16 non-operating unions are men who work around the station or yard but don't run the trains: clerks, mechanics, station men, and so on.

The non-operating men get paid on an hourly or daily basis. The operating ones get paid by trip or

40 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR August 16, 1910

The manner and method of marketing the tobacco crop in this section during the last few years has entailed the loss of thousands of dollars on the tobacco farmers. The postponement this year in opening the market from August 1 till the 18, was a good step in the direction of helping remedy this loss. If tobacco should sell, however, at a price farmers are willing to take, how many of them will go to work at once grading or half grading their tobacco and in this condition, crowd it on the market? If they do this, the market will be glutted before hot weather is over. Farmers should divide the selling period if practicable for them to do so, into the whole fall and winter months, and sell each part each month. Where they feel compelled to sell before Christmas, then they should sell by the month and if practicable, by week. In this way, there should be a steady market with comparatively no glut and the warehousemen and buyers would have the opportunity of giving the necessary attention to every pile.

City, Mo., left Wednesday morning after spending the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, at their home, Sandy Knoll.

So far three new clubs have been organized in the Greenville-Goldsboro district and eight new clubs have been organized in the Cape Fear district.

Legion Holds Off Armistice Plans

Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion, at its monthly supper meeting last night at the American Legion Home, on Evans street, disposed of routine business, announced plans for obtaining new members for 1951, and decided not to make any plans now for a special program for Armistice Day, November 11.

Commander J. Howard Moye presided.

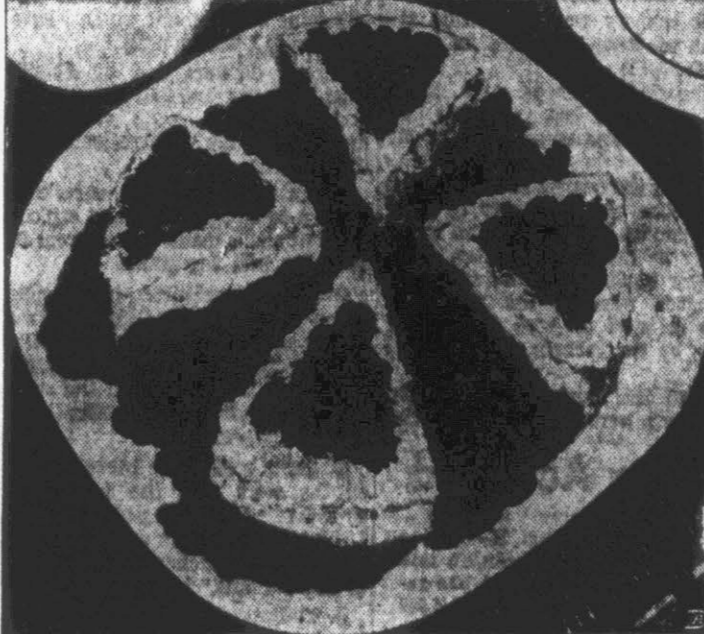

Legionnaire Sam Bridgers reminded that in view of unsettled conditions in Korea it may be best to hold off making arrangements for special Armistice Day exercises until a later date.

Suggestion was made that plans be considered for holding informal exercises Armistice Day.

The finance officer made a gratifying report. Commander Moye announced that the American Legion "Go Getters" will meet at Goldsboro Thursday night. Several Greenville legionnaires are expected to attend.

Party Shortcake

Truly a party pie is this sweet biscuit shortcake cut into wedges, then heaped high with raspberries and glorified with whipped cream cheese piping.

For gala vacation parties during the summer, solve dessert problems with a deluxe shortcake. Fluffy shortcakes made with enriched flour please both eye and palate, and score on good nutrition, too.

Who could resist taking their B-vitamins and iron in the raspberry party shortcake pictured? Allow about five minutes to mix the simple drop biscuit batter which needs only to be spread in a greased nine-inch layer cake pan. The batter looks lumpy as it goes into the hot oven, but it comes out golden brown, fluffy and even-textured in 20 to 25 minutes.

You may want to split the big biscuit in half and fill as well as top it with fresh raspberries. To decorate, whip cream cheese fluffy with a little milk and pile into pastry bag. Pipe around each wedge. Once raspberry shortcake was strictly a summertime treat, but now its refreshing flavor provides a lift all the year around, for frozen or canned raspberries make a delectable topping, too.

RASPBERRY SHORTCAKE
2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
6 tablespoons shortening
3/4 to 1 cup milk
Sweetened raspberries
Whipped cream
Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to make a thick batter, stirring only until flour is well moistened. Spread in ungreased 9-inch layer cake pan. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cut in pie-shaped wedges. Heap with sweetened raspberries. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 1 9-inch shortcake.

The engineers and firemen are not in the present dispute, but—
The other three—conductors, trainmen, switchmen—seeing what the engineers and firemen and the 21 non-operating unions are getting, made some demands of their own about a year ago.
Only the conductors and trainmen are involved in the present strike threat, so the switchmen will be treated separately here, later.
For those members of their unions which ride the trains, the conductors and trainmen demanded what the 21 non-operating unions got: Forty-eight hours' pay for 40 hours' work.
The railroads refused to agree. The government mediators tried to settle it. Finally, the President appointed an emergency board. This board didn't recommend what the conductors and trainmen asked. The board recommended:
Forty hours' pay for 40 hours' work (not 48 hours' pay for 40 hours' work) but to make up for the loss of the eight hours' pay, the board suggested the yardmen get an increase of 18 cents an hour.
(The trainmen's union rejected this on the grounds that the yardmen would need an increase of 31 cents an hour to make up for the loss of eight hours' pay if they went on a 40-hour week.)

Relates Warning Given In Her Seventh 'Vision'

Necedah, Wis., Aug. 16—(AP)—Thousands of spectators from many states, who yesterday heard a Wisconsin farmwife relay a message she said she had received from the Virgin Mary, trekked homeward today with mixed reactions.

Standing before an improvised shrine in her farmyard, Mrs. Mary Anna Van Hoof told a hushed throng that the Blessed Virgin had exhorted them all to "pray, pray, pray."

Mrs. Van Hoof claims she has seen the Mother of Christ six times before in visionary appearances here.

The spectators—estimated to number nearly 100,000—had to decide for themselves whether to discount or believe the claims that had drawn them there, for they saw nothing unusual. But unusual in itself was the huge assemblage around the shrine erected where Mrs. Van Hoof says the Blessed Mother has visited her since last November.

Mrs. Van Hoof, 41, emerged from her home shortly before noon and, as the throng stilled, knelt before the image of Mary standing in the midst of several trees some 30 feet from the house. She rose and blessed the people with a crucifix, then knelt again. Her lips moved but no sounds were heard. She rose once more after a few minutes and in a tense voice spoke to the masses.

She repeatedly urged her listeners to "pray, pray, pray."

"The enemy of God is all over America."

She told the crowd: "Pope Pius XII is in danger unless we pray. x x x I want to warn of Korea. It won't end unless we pray. Our bishop must remember my warning of Fatima. Black clouds are coming over America. Alaska is the first stepping stone. Remember the Pacific coast. Remember now, only prayer will save us."

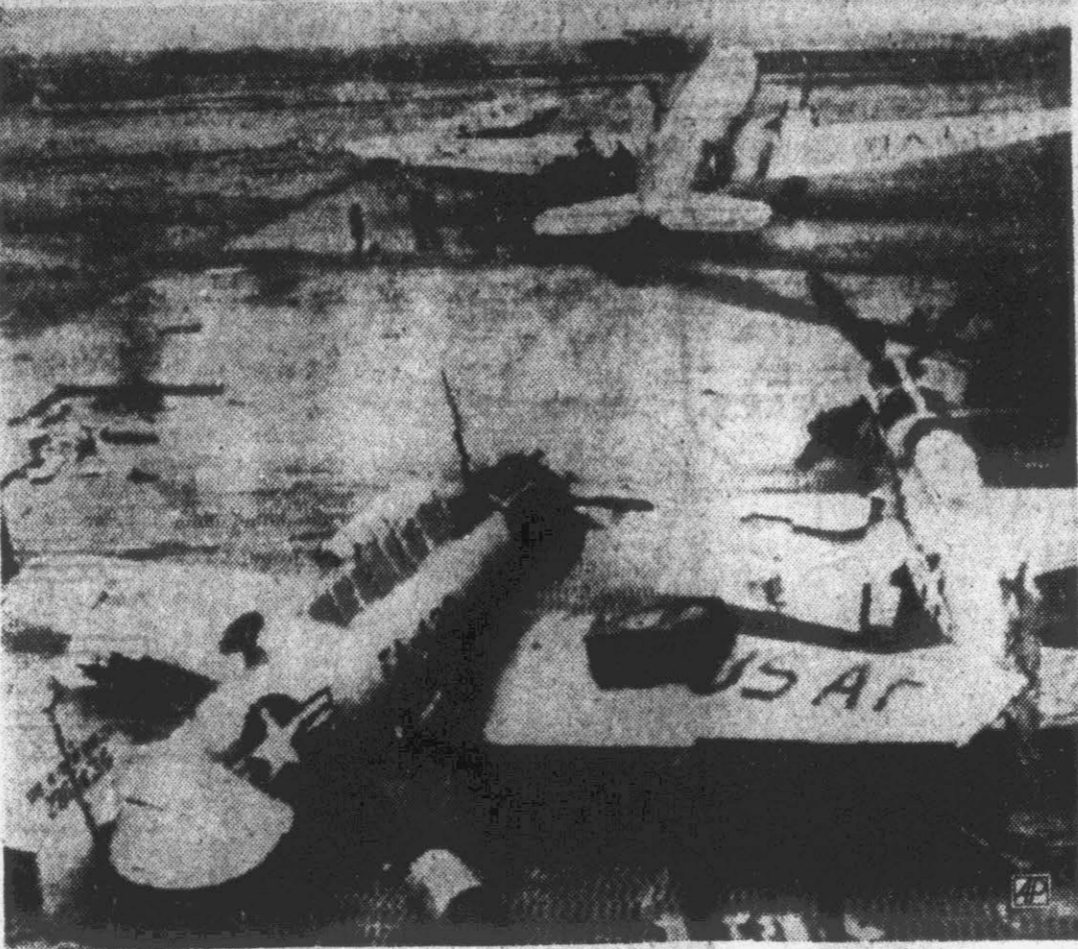

Those of Mrs. Van Hoof's Roman Catholic faith were aware their church is extremely cautious in handling matters of this nature. The last apparition of the Virgin Mother accredited by the church occurred at Fatima, Portugal, 33 years ago.

Plans Ready For Fast Evacuation

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 16—(AP)—Plans are ready for the swift evacuation of most of the 200 Americans in Yugoslavia should Moscow order the "Korea treatment" for Marshal Tito, a responsible informant said today.

It was emphasized, however, there is no imminent concern of an invasion of Yugoslavia by its Stalinist neighbors.

The evacuation plan, termed a preparedness measure, calls for quick removal by air and rail of all but a skeleton diplomatic staff. The evacuees probably would go to Rome.

Men and equipment are loaded on a transport plane at Pohang airfield which was abandoned by the air force after North Korean forces took the neighboring town of Pohang and brought the field under threat of artillery fire. ## Prices Rising On Many New Items

New York, Aug. 16—(AP)—The creeping price advance has spread to many more items in the past 24 hours.

The price boosts affect items ranging from golf balls to toothpaste, and paints to ginger ale.

The Worthington Ball Co. has upped the retail price of its golf balls a nickel apiece—to one dollar—because of higher costs of natural rubber.

A tube of toothpaste formerly selling for 23 cents was boosted to 29 by E. R. Squibb and Sons. A 43-cent tube was raised to 49, and the 59-cent size to 67 cents.

A price increase of two cents a bottle on large bottles of ginger ale was put into effect in Boston by a local distributor of Canada Dry Products.

The Glidden Co. has announced an average price increase of five

Consumption Of Cotton Is Rising

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—The Census Bureau reported today cotton consumption for the period of July 2-July 29 averaged 32,134 bales for each working day.

This compared with an average 22,721 bales for the corresponding period a year ago, and with 34,336 for the June period this year.

Report Red China Plans Tentative Korea Action

Taipei, Formosa, Aug. 16—(AP)—Chinese Nationalist reports said today that Soviet Russia and Communist China have agreed that the Chinese Reds will throw 150,000 troops into the Korean war if the North Koreans are pushed back to the 38th parallel.

This is the line that divided North and South Korea.

The unconfirmed reports also told of a Moscow-Peiping pact to resort only to infiltrative methods instead of open invasion in southeast Asia "so as to avoid the outbreak of a new World War at present."

Recent arrivals from Red China were quoted as saying the two pacts grew out of a reported visit to Peiping by Russian vice-premier, V. M. Molotov.

The Russian is reported to be in full charge of Soviet expansion in the Orient.

Molotov is said to have arrived

Shutter-Bugs

Baltimore, Aug. 16—(AP)—Two men moved slowly through the shadows of a Baltimore pier in the pre-dawn darkness.

One adjusted a small instrument he held in his hands. The pair talked excitedly in words muffled in the early morning fog rising from the water.

Unseen in the background, a security-conscious customs officer watched them, then ran to a telephone for help.

A police car pulled up a few minutes later. Its occupants crept up on the two men, then suddenly seized them.

Leslie S. Ladd, Jr., of 34 Cleveland Avenue, Nashville, Tenn., sure knows his HADACOL. He, his mother and his grandfather get precious Vitamin B1, B2, Niacin and Iron from this family product.

"Mamma, we haven't taken our HADACOL," says Leslie when his mother forgets sometimes. Mrs. Ladd explains, however, that hers will always be a HADACOL family because it has helped relieve deficiencies of Vitamin B1, B2, Niacin and Iron for herself, little Leslie and her father.

TAKES 10 BOTTLES
Read Mrs. Ladd's own statement of their experiences once they learned that they were suffering from such deficiencies and began taking HADACOL: "I have taken 10 bottles of HADACOL. I have been run down since my oldest son was born. I am 23 years old I have had very little appetite and I had weak spells every morning. I would almost faint but, after taking HADACOL they are gone and I stay hungry all the time."

"My four-year-old son had little appetite and his cheeks were pale. He now takes HADACOL and his cheeks are rosy and he has a wonderful appetite. I also had gastric disturbances, but they are gone now. My father took HADACOL for the agonizing aches and pains of neuritis. He is much better now."

WONDERFUL HADACOL FEELING
HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "rising" after meals), for normal growth in children, as well as that general run-down condition, and aches and pains of neuritis, if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

HADACOL is being recommended by many doctors. HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

TWO WORLDS AT A TIME

The true Christian lives in two worlds. He is born into the world of things; he is reborn into the spiritual realm which is characterized by heavenly treasure.

You may say that this is a lot of silly, visionary chatter. How can people live in two worlds at the same time? But many people do.

People who have learned how to live in the higher world and visit in the lower are a happy lot of folk indeed.

In this world of love, light, joy, and faith, they live; in the world in which most take their delight, they visit.

Protection Of Interests Should Be Mutual

A spokesman for the Greenville tobacco market has reiterated the stand of the market officials in having no rump sales on the Greenville market this season.

We have said before it is a measure being taken for the protection of the growers. It may cost the Greenville market a number of pounds of tobacco which could be sold here were there a sixth rump sale; but at the same time it is giving the growers the benefit of full buyer representation on all sales.

Some markets already have announced their intentions of running rump sales again this year. They claim they are doing so at the demand of the farmers. This we doubt. We doubt that any farmer wants his tobacco sold where he does not have the advantage of full buyer representation to insure the highest possible price for each pound of tobacco sold.

We stand by the Greenville tobacco market in its effort to protect the interests of the tobacco farmers of this area. We hope the farmers of this area will support the Greenville market by selling here where they are assured full buyer representation on every sale, rather than selling in other towns where rump sales will be operating.

An Unequitable Tax Shouldn't Be Enacted

The people of the United States are faced with the possibility of a new form of federal tax which will touch the pocketbook of every consumer in the country. The senate finance committee is exploring the possibilities of a wholesale or retail sales tax.

Korea or no Korea, we're against a federal sales tax.

In the first place the sales tax is the most unequitable tax a democratic government ever imposed upon its people. In the second place, it will give the federal government a new route to every pocketbook in the country; and we doubt it will be a temporary measure. Once a new form of federal tax is instituted, it is seldom done away with when the immediate emergency is over.

We in North Carolina have had a sales tax so long that we have become accustomed to it. We hardly give it a second thought this day and time. Yet back in the depression when J. C. B. Ehringhaus was governor, the sales tax was clamped on as an "emergency measure" to help the state struggle over the hump of the hard times. It hit everyone in the state, rich and poor, according to the amount of money he could spend. Those who could afford it paid it. Those who could not afford it paid it too—paid the state three cents for the privilege of spending the dollar they had earned by the sweat of their brows.

Since the sales tax was begun we have gone through prosperity, a mild recession, a war, and now the greatest peak of prosperity we have ever known. Yet the sales tax which was tagged on during the dark days of the depression is still with us.

We might trace the federal excise tax the same way from the time of its conception during the recent war years. Five years ago the war ceased, but the government up to now has not been able to give up the extra billions which come into the treasury through the emergency measure—the excise tax.

Since the cessation of hostilities of World War II, Papa Truman has had to have the extra cash for domestic doles to keep his vote blocs in line; and the members of Congress have tossed out the extra millions in useless patronage to keep their ward heelers happy for another election year.

And what else has happened during this time? The taxpayers, large and small, have gone on footing the bill for the domestic frolicking of the Wonderful Wizzards of Washington.

The Reflector is still firm in its belief that if the administration and the members of congress would cut down the domestic waste of the government, we could build a mighty big war machine with very little increase in the present taxes.

A federal sales tax is not the answer to the government's financial problems.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Confidential, top-level discussions of possible or prospective use of the A-bomb as a result of the Korean conflict has led to White House, Pentagon and Congressional belief that the only country against which it can be invoked is Russia. In that sense, it has become a strictly limited weapon.

It is generally realized, but our early Korean reverses precipitated a great demand that we drop the bomb in the northern section of the peninsula. A likely target suggested was the single-track, trans-Siberian railroad that hauls military supplies from Russia itself to Manchuria, and thence into Korea.

PRESSURE—These suggestions did not originate in official sources, for the strategists appreciate the adverse world-wide reaction that would follow such action. They came in the form of letters to President Truman, General Omar N. Bradley and members of House-Senate Armed Services Committees, mostly from relatives and friends of the fighting forces.

In view of Korean casualties resulting from shortages of conventional weapons, they urged—indeed, begged—that we use the bomb. Luckily, high officers were able to reply that, from a technical, tactical viewpoint, the cosmic missile would be relatively ineffective in this territory. In view of the nature of the terrain and the lack of great industrial, railroad and supply centers.

"It is fortunate for us," remarked an atomic expert, "that Russia picked Korea as a battleground. We were able to explain that other weapons were more useful in this kind of fighting than the A-bomb. Otherwise, we might not have had such an easy out, for the pressure on us was heavier than you realize."

CONSIDERATIONS—Even if strictly military factors negated resort to the A-bomb, diplomatic, political and psychological considerations prevented its use in Korea. For the same reasons we may not be able to drop it if Moscow continues to inspire and direct bare-knuckled wars against the United States and the United Nations in other sections of the world.

In view of the fact that the only use of this missile has been against Hiroshima and Nagasaki, dropping it over Korea would have given the Kremlin its most powerful public relations ammunition.

The Moscow propagandists would have inflamed the Orient and Asia generally by pointing out that the only peoples against which we had invoked this weapon were Orientals. They would have recalled that we did not aim it at Germany or Italy in World War II.

PURPOSE—But the same factors will be present if Russia succeeds in involving us in a war with Communist China, or if the Reds provoke another Korean struggle in Indonesia, Indo-China, Malaya, Burma, Thailand or Nehru's Asia.

Even if targets in those areas were susceptible to A-bomb treatment, and we won these wars with this weapon, the United States would be branded as the No. 1 enemy of so-called backward and uncivilized races.

That is the covert purpose of the Kremlin's conspiracy against the western world. Washington's understanding of this objective explains American forbearance.

TARGET—A Russian attack or conquest of Western Europe would aggravate our A-bomb predicament.

As former Ambassador William C. Bullitt persuaded the Germans to spare Paris from destruction, so the United States would hardly dare to devastate Berlin, Paris, Vienna, Stockholm, Rome, Madrid etc., or even smaller but equally historic cities.

Europeans would never forget or forgive blasting their continent into nothingness.

Thus the A-bomb's only target appears to be Russia—when and if.

DISCIPLINE—President Truman's refusal to recognize distress signals hoisted by key Democratic Congressmen over the retention of the Acheson-Johnson combination in the Cabinet has created a feeling akin to consternation inside his party. Even his closest friends on Capitol Hill fear it may enable the GOP to elect a Senate-House majority next November.

A Democratic bigwig demanded their ousting in addressing his constituents on the eve of a primary which he won handily. President Truman flared up when asked for comment, remarking that such an important partisan "had no business to make such a statement."

Every party leader resented the presidential outburst, for it amounted to a demand that they subordinate their convictions in a grave, foreign crisis to mere party loyalty and discipline.

SYMBOLS—Here is the general reaction of numerous Democratic members after a canvass of home sentiment:

"I don't know and don't pretend to say that Acheson or Johnson individually are responsible for our diplomatic and military defeats. It is probable that no one individual can be held blameworthy for such a disaster. It may be the fault of the White House or the Congress. I don't know."

"But, regardless of where the blame lies, the American people have lost confidence in Acheson and Johnson. They are visible and personal symbols of a losing cause. And if Truman means it when he says they will stay as long as he is in the White House, the people back home will eventually shift the responsibility from them to him. Next November they will take it out on us."

Standard Practice For Commies

Somebody Told Me

By L. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

For today's column three subjects were under consideration (1) Harry Truman (2) Gene Autry, and (3) Wife Rachel's tangle with John Law. You already know which of the three won out. The President and the cowboy will have to wait while I discuss a caper out by my favorite subject: W. R.

It all started when Rachel and I came back to Greenville after living in Chapel Hill for three years. One day we were down town together and I stopped at the jeweler's to pick up my watch which had been for repair. "Got a penny?" she asked.

"What for?" "To put in the parking meter, of course," she said.

"But I'm only going to be in here for a second," I said.

"Nevertheless," she shot back, "the law says you have to put money in the meter."

Then I went on to present my case of the argument. "You might was right. I couldn't. "I got a parking ticket."

"When you get a parking ticket you have to pay a fine, and to spend money with no value received is not my favorite past-time; in fact, it almost kills me. However, in this case I nearly fell out of my chair laughing."

"Well, I recovered enough to talk again I asked, "How did it happen?"

"Well, I parked on main street and discovered that I didn't have a cent of change for the parking meter. Naturally I rushed into a store to get change. And when I returned there was a ticket on the windshield."

"The tease was on. "Aren't you ashamed?" I said. "The law says you have to put money in the meter, even if you'll only be in a space for a few seconds. From now on, remember that."

"Would it have been worth the price of the fine to get the laugh on Rachel. No, but almost. And I thank you."

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C.

COMPREHENSIVE—Your capitol square reporter is off again with the advisory budget commission on a tour of state institutions in the western part of the state. The group started out Monday with a full week's itinerary covering educational and correctional institutions, hospitals for mental and tubercular patients, and other phases of far-flung state governmental activities. The eastern tour two weeks ago included port and commercial fisheries developments at Wilmington in the southeastern corner of the state; visit to Elizabeth City State Teachers College in the northeastern corner. The current itinerary takes in Appalachian Teachers College at Boone in the northwest, and Western North Carolina Teachers College at Cullowhee in the south western corner. The budgeteers have not gone outside the state, but their travels have taken them within a few miles of South Carolina, almost to Virginia, and before the tour is completed will have brought them near the Tennessee and Georgia lines.

DIVERSITY — They saw and heard at Wrightsville and Atlantic beaches the breakers of the turbulent Atlantic ocean—but did not have time to take a dip in the surf; the current trip will take them around Mount Mitchell, highest point in Eastern America, across the lower slopes of Grandfather Mountain and into the edge of the Great Smokies. They may not have opportunity to climb these peaks, because—believe it or not—these budget fellows are really working and cannot find time for incidental pleasure of recreational side trips.

WORTHWHILE — These biennial visits of the advisory budget commission are very much worth while. Pity is the entire general assembly membership cannot take them. Besides first hand information as to real opportunities and needs of the state institutions, the DUPLIN—Less important in the overall concept than the big shows of "Faith of Our Fathers," "Lost Colony," and "Unto These Hills," but more important to the immediate section is the second presentation of Sam Byrd's pageant, "The Duplin Story," scheduled at Kenansville for September 7-8-9-10-11-12. First presented last year in connection with the 200th anniversary of establishment of Duplin county in 1749, the play has been improved for this year's showing. Unlike some of the other and perhaps bigger shows, the Duplin drama uses only local amateur performers.

POLIO—Revised methods of reporting polio cases for publication should give a much more accurate picture of incidence of the disease. Past policy of the state board of health and most newspapers has been to carry cumulative figures, without explanation of dates of onset or present condition of patients. Consequently, when 150 or 200 or 700 cases were listed, it meant that many cases had been diagnosed since January 1. Many of them were mild and brief; hospitalization resulted in complete recovery. The health department now proposes to include in its weekly reports a breakdown showing onsets within the past week or so, and number of cases still in infectious stage. Charles Parker, state advertising director, who has often protested that cumulative reporting did the state an injustice, hopes the newspapers will co-operate. One day last week a newspaper headline fixed polio cases at 203 in North Carolina. The state board of health reported that to that date there had been eight new cases in August, with a total of 43 cases regarded as still infectious. Quite a difference.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

GOOD TIME FOR ALL (Henderson Dispatch) "On the railroad trip down to Morehead, directors, state officials and others made a real holiday of it. According to the news account, among those scheduled to make the trip were the governor and Mrs. Scott, members of the Council of State and their wives, A. and N. C. officials and guests."

"Presumably a good time was had by all. For our part, we sincerely hope they did. It may have cost no more for the wives and guests to go along than for officials. But how does this junkie for members of the board and their families fit in with the directive of the governor, issued some months ago, that no state employe should use state property for personal reasons?"

"Whether the governor's presence made any difference is not clear. The trip was, of course, the more pleasant by reason of the presence of the ladies, as is usually the case. One might observe, however, the degree of consistency that was involved as between circumstances of this trip and the governor's so-called economy commands."

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

A large number of American companies are taking advantage of legislation permitting the ECA to guarantee the convertibility of investments abroad since it became effective June 5. The ECA office of small business reports.

The ECA can't guarantee the investments against business risks or exchange fluctuations. It is limited to guaranteeing only the convertibility of the investment, and against expropriation which isn't likely in Marshall Plan countries. In short, it protects American companies from having to accept francs, pounds, lira or street car tokens resulting from investments in the Marshall Plan countries.

One of the attractive features of the legislation is that it extends this guarantee to investments in equipment, services, patents, processes and techniques as well as dollars. An American company with a profitable patent or process can turn it over to a foreign company for use abroad and when the profits result, the ECA assures the investor he can collect it in dollars.

In projecting this plan, the ECA has set up machinery to bring American and foreign companies together. It won't close contracts or underwrite deals; all it does is serve as a contact.

The first step for American firms seeking to invest techniques, patents and processes, with or without dollars, in a foreign firm is to write to the ECA office of Small Business, 800 ton, D. C., for copies of form ECA-385. When this is filled out, the ECA turns over the information to organizations in the country or countries concerned. These organizations may or may not come up with the name of a foreign company eager to tie up with the American firm. The American firm then may apply for insurance against being stuck with foreign money. The ECA warns that this should be done after making contact, but before making the final agreement. Approval of the foreign government must be obtained by ECA before it can grant the guarantee.

The ECA has authority to guarantee up to $200,000,000 in investments, of which $30,000,000 has already been committed. And it can guarantee only up to 175 per cent of the capital investment.

SLOW-CAMPAIGN TO BE STEPPED UP

The campaign for informative labeling of plastics is being stepped up by the Society of the Plastics Industry. Money has been appropriated for publicity, promotion, a speakers bureau, a handbook and visual material to encourage informative labeling.

The society launched its campaign two years ago. So far, about 50 per cent of plastic products are being labeled, but only 10 per cent are truly informatively labeled.

Elmer French, head of the labeling committee for the society, says that an effective label (1) name the product, (2) tell what it will do, (3) what it is made of, (4) how it's made, (5) its limitations and (6) if desired, any guarantee.

RETAIL CREDIT MANUAL PUBLISHED

Publication of a Retail Credit Manual by J. Gordon Dakins, assisted by 77 credit experts, has been announced by the National Retail Dry Goods Association, 100 West 31st St., New York 1. The 640-page book is priced at $4.50.

The book is intended to be a comprehensive reference work for retail executives and a guide for training store personnel.

GOOD FAITH KEY IN LABOR DISPUTES

Whether a union has the right to inspect the books of an employer depends on the good faith shown by either side, rather than on any set rule, the Commercial Clearing House says upon analysis of National Labor Relations Board decisions.

One employer was found guilty of an unfair practice when he refused a wage rise on the grounds that he couldn't afford it, but refused to open his books to prove his point. In another case an employer was cleared because while he refused to give a written copy of his payroll he furnished the same information orally.

Hal Boyle's Column

By DON WHITEHEAD (For HAL BOYLE)

With the U. S. 25th division, Korea.—(AP)—The American public got a bargain in Brig. Gen. George B. Barth of Leavenworth, Kas. He's about the nearest there is to a doughboy's general that I've found in Korea.

Officially, Barth commands the artillery in the U. S. 25th infantry division. Actually he's an old infantryman at heart who never is satisfied with just looking after the artillery. He's always poking around the front and checking up on the infantry.

Barth's main job is to see that the artillery is in position to give the maximum fire support to the foot soldiers. He does that. But he also acts as a traffic cop, a one man reconnaissance patrol, and an advisor who steadies officers with less combat experience.

Barth is a stocky, well built man who carries his 52 years with little sign that the strain of war is a heavy burden. He has the neck of a Notre Dame tackle and the strong features of a Kansas farmer.

Here's a brief sketch of a day in the general's routine:

He's up at 6:30 each morning and finished with breakfast by 7:30. After checking on the early morning battle situation, Gen. Barth sets out for the front by jeep with a weapon by his side.

His first chore is to visit his artillery batteries to see where the guns are emplaced; if there is enough ammunition; if the men are in good spirits, and if there is anything he can do to help them.

Barth knows all is well with his artillery. Barth pushes on up to visit the forward areas to see how things are going.

The other day Barth arrived at a regimental command post just as the enemy was attacking the regiment all along the line. Actually he had pushed beyond the command post. Foot soldiers gawked at the one-star general who rode through an area swept by enemy fire.

Barth commanded a regiment of the 90th division in World War II. So he was able to give a younger commander some quieting advice. Within a few minutes, Barth had ammunition on its way to the regiment and was speeding tanks forward to help the infantry.

Then he scrambled through a ravine to visit one of his batteries which was firing at the enemy at point blank range—blasting a hillside less than 200 yards away.

After a few minutes he was off again, back down the road where the enemy had been sniping at passing vehicles. Then he swung down another road and went forward on another sector to see how the Marines were doing.

The day before, Barth had pushed up so far that he had to take to a ditch when an enemy machine gunner swept the road with fire.

Late in the afternoon he was back—bringing with him to division headquarters an exact picture of the situation up front.

Each day it's the same. Out in the field all day and then more work in the office at night. If the general were paid for his overtime, he would be able to retire with a fat bonus in pay.

One of Barth's chief concerns is over his artillerymen. The enemy constantly is infiltrating the American lines in an effort to attack artillery positions. "The field artillery is committed to an infantry role in this war," Barth said. "This is the first time that American infantry ever has been in this position and the artillery has to be just as heavily armed as the infantry."

There was a time when artillery men wore only sidearms for men are arming themselves with rifles, and South Koreans are being sent into the hills to protect artillery positions.

But in the midst of a fighting war, the general took time out to take a box of home made cookies to the GIs at the front.

It was a little thing to do. But it showed the kindness and thoughtfulness that for a moment eased the strain of war.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON.—There used to be a song called "The ice man is a NICE man."

When we were kids we used to think he was particularly nice because he let us clamber over the back of his wagon on hot thirty days and pick up little pieces of ice to suck on.

Lots of folks think mechanical refrigeration has driven the ice man out of business. The National Association of Ice Industries says this is not true. Some 30,000,000 tons were sold in 1925. And of the approximately 30,000,000 mechanical refrigerator users in this country, 48 per cent still buy cubed, crushed or sized ice from the ice man. The association says this was learned in a recent survey of 41 cities by its research department. Those questioned say they do not have enough ice for special occasions such as picnics and parties for home made ice cream. Of those who now buy ice, 42 per cent buy for special occasions, 24 per cent for picnics and 19 per cent for ice cream.

The ice man is keeping right up with the times. A school for ice men was set up in Washington by the association in 1948. Dr. Thomas Douglas, a former University of Virginia professor, is superintendent. Now the school has taken to the road. During the winter months, when the ice men aren't busy delivering ice, they polish up on the business in its one-week courses offered in key cities.

They not only learn how to deliver ice. They learn salesmanship, marketing, merchandising, advertising, public relations. Now ice men wear regular uniforms, have eliminated the use of the tongs and carry ice in drip-proof canvas bags. They are salesmen as well as servicemen.

In addition to these personable fellows, the industry has set up ice vending machines in cities across the country. You can get 10 and 25 pound pieces in paper containers and sometimes cubed and crushed ice, by merely dropping a coin in the machine.

The U. S. Ice Industry was started 100 years ago by Dr. John Gorrie, who invented the first workable air conditioning system in the Marine hospital at Apalachicola, Fla., to ease feverish malaria and yellow fever patients. A statue of Dr. Gorrie stands in the U. S. capitol, a model of the ice making machine is in the Smithsonian.

Prison Director Is Given Promise Of 'Free Hand'

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 16—(P)—The new director of the State's prison system had the promise today of a free hand in trying to get it on an even keel.

At a swearing-in ceremony for John M. Gold yesterday, Governor Scott said that "for my part, I expect him to be the director."

Dr. Henry W. Jordan, Highway Commission Chairman and Gold's immediate superior, followed through by telling Gold:

"Your decisions will be your own. You will not be hampered or tied down by decisions of the commission."

Gold resigned as Winston-Salem's Chief to take the prison directorship at a salary of $9,999. He succeeds H. H. Honeycutt, assistant prison director who had been acting director since J. B. Moore left the post under fire on July 1.

At a news conference, Gold told reporters that while he didn't claim to be a prison expert, "My common sense and police experience has convinced me that when those caught for crime don't come out of prison better than when they went in, society has failed to a certain extent."

He said he planned no immediate changes in the department's personnel, and added that he expects to visit the many units in the prison system to meet the personnel.

Korean Fight Is 'Family Affair' To Dad and Boys

New York—(P)—War is a family problem. At least it is to one Marine Corps clan. S-Sgt William G. Hudson and Sgt Richard E. Hudson, brothers attached to one of the First Marine Air Wing units bound for the Orient, thought they were lucky to be going together. What's better, they are taking "Pop" along. Their step-father, 44-year old M-Sgt Harold A. Barnett of the First Marine Division, is also on his way. Barnett, one of the Corps' foremost riflemen is a veteran of 26 years in the Marines, 14 of which have been spent on overseas assignments. He has been to China three separate times.

The brothers figure that since they are probably bound for the same area they can keep an eye on "the old man," while he exercises his parental prerogative of keeping them in line.

Cellar-Dwelling Cards Hand Greenville 9-0 Whitewashing

Robins Allowed Only Five Hits But Left Twelve Stranded On The Bases; Heflin Is Charged With His Eleventh Loss Of Season

By BERT MOYE
Manager Randy Heflin's Greenville Robins received their first whitewashing job since July 28th as the cellar-dwelling Goldsboro Cards blanked them 9-0 over in Goldsboro last night. This marks the fifth time this season that the Robins have been shut out.

The Cards scored enough runs in the first frame when they shoved across three markers to go out in front on four hits, two errors and a hit batsman. A double, single accounted for a tally in the third. Two doubles and a single produced two runs in the fifth, and two walks, two wild pitches, a single and a double gave the Cards their final three runs of the contest in the sixth frame.

Bob Musenflechter allowed the Robins only five hits during the contest, but was free with walks when he passed a total of seven men. There was not a frame during the entire contest that the Robins did not have a man on base and as a matter of fact they left 12 men stranded on the bases during the game.

Dick Bland with a triple and a single and Sal Valvano with two singles and Jack Dunlavy's single accounted for the five hits given up by Musenflechter.

Manager Randy Heflin started on the mound for the Robins and was charged with his eleventh loss of the season, his fifth to the Goldsboro Cards and his third straight loss in as many recent starts. Heflin pitched the first four and one-third frames and gave up a total of eight hits and six of the Cards' runs. "Shoes" Scarpa pitched the remaining three and two-thirds frames and held the Cards to three runs and three hits.

The third baseman Jim Orlando was the Goldsboro batting star, with three singles in four trips to the plate. He batted in four of the Cards' runs.

The Robins journey over to Rocky Mount to meet the Leafs in a twin bill there tonight and return home Thursday night for another bargain bill with the Leafs.

Impressive Debut For Doak Walker In Detroit Game

Detroit, Aug. 16—Doak Walker, the former Southern Methodist star made an impressive debut with the Detroit Lions last night as he scored a touchdown and kicked four extra points in an intra-squad game before 18,000 fans at University of Detroit stadium.

Walker's "varsity" squad ranged over three touchdowns within six minutes in the opening period and coasted in with a 22-6 decision in the annual charity game played for the benefit of the Detroit Free Press Air fund.

Walker's score came on a four yard end run, but it was his brilliant broken field running that kept the "varsity" in the "freshmen" squad's territory most of the game.

Tom Brown To Show Net Wares With Australian

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 16—(AP)—San Francisco's Tom Brown will be given an opportunity to confirm the U. S. Davis Cup selection committee's judgment today when he and hometownsman Sam Match engage Australia's crack Jack Bromwich and Frank Sedgman in a third-round National doubles tennis match at Longwood.

Bromwich and Sedgman dominate the Australian Davis Cup team that meets the U. S. defenders next week at Forest Hills, N. Y. Two days ago Brown was named on the American team after Budge Perry, the Wimbledon champion, was sidelined by a sprained ankle.

Former Georgia Star At Erskine

Dus West, S. C., Aug. 16—(AP)—J. P. Miller, former University of Georgia football star, will be the new line coach at Erskine College next season.

Erskine head coach and Athletic director John D. McMillan announced yesterday that Miller had accepted the post. Miller will replace Gene Alexander, who has been called to active duty with the U. S. Navy.

Before accepting the Erskine post, Miller was head football coach at Cairo High school, Cairo, Ga.

Charles Beats Beshore But Performance Is Off

Tonight's Games
 Greenville at Rocky Mount (2)
 Wilson at Kinston (2)
 New Bern at Goldsboro
 Roanoke Rapids at Tarboro

The most frequent question asked your reporter at the present time is: Will the Robins be in the playoffs this year? This is really the $64 question to answer since at the present time no position is settled.

But about the best way to solve the problem and let the facts and figures speak for themselves is to analyze what the Robins have done up to the present time. There are 20 more playing days left in the league and the Robins have a total of 24 scheduled hits. But before going into the matter statistically it can be stated here, and stated emphatically, that they will not be in the playoffs if they continue to play the brand of ball for the next 20 days which they have been playing for the past 18 days in which they have won five games, lost 12 and tied one.

That brand of ball will find them way out of the playoffs as most other bottom place clubs have been considerably strengthened; especially do I refer to Wilson, Kinston and Tarboro. As the situation now stands (this includes the standings up to today), the Robins are in fourth place, one full game behind the third place New Bern Bears, two games ahead of the fifth place Wilson Tobs, three games ahead of the sixth place Kinston Eagles and only three and one-half games ahead of the seventh place Tarboro A's.

In the next 20 days the Robins have a total of 24 games to be played before the season ends. They start things with a bang by playing the Rocky Mount Leafs two double-headers in a row and also meet the Leafs in two more engagements. They follow this four-game series with the Leafs by meeting the Kinston Eagles and have four more games remaining with the Eagles for the season. Then they take on the Roanoke Rapids Jays in which they meet the league leaders in five more contests before the season closes. They play Wilson two more games, Tarboro two more, Goldsboro twice, and the New Bern Bears three more games before the season ends.

Now let's analyze and see what the Robins have done up to the present time with these clubs so far this season. With the Rocky Mount Leafs they have played a total of 14 games, have won six and lost eight. Three of the wins were by a three run margin, two by two runs and one by a one run margin. Losses include three by a seven run margin, one by six runs, one by five runs, one by two runs and one by a one run margin. With the Kinston Eagles they have won 11 out of 16 contests thus far. They have won five contests by three run margin, two by one run and one each by two, four, seven and 11 runs respectively. Their losses to the Eagles include two by two runs and one run losses by one run, four runs and seven runs. With the league-leading Roanoke Rapids Jays they have won six and lost nine with one game resulting in a scoreless tie. Three of the wins were by one run and one each by seven, eight and 12 run margins. The losses include four by one run, two each by four and six runs and one by a nine-run margin. With the Wilson Tobs they have won eight out of 18 games including four by one-run margin, two by three runs and one each by two and nine runs. Losses include five by one run, two by two runs and one each by four, seven and eight runs respectively. With the Tarboro A's they have won 10 out of 18 contests thus far as follows: four by one run, two by four runs, and one by two, three, five and six run margins. Losses include three by three runs, two by nine runs and one each by one, two and eight run margins. With the Goldsboro Cards they have won eight and lost 10. Five of the wins were by one run, two by four runs and one by three runs, and losses include four by one run, one each by two, five, seven, nine, 10 and 14 run margins. With New Bern they have won 10 out of 15 contests thus far. Four of the wins were by one run and one each by two, three, four, five, six and seven runs respectively. Losses include two by one run, two by four runs and one by two and one by 13 run margins.

Joe Louis' Stock Rises On Basis Of Champion's Poor Showing Against Ineffective Challenger

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 16—(AP)—Joe Louis' stock rose sharply today following Ezzard Charles one-sided but lackluster conquest of Freddie Beshore.

A "new" Charles was supposed to be unveiled in Memorial Auditorium last night but it was the same old cautious Ezzard in action. The NBA heavyweight champion, who made good in his third title defense by stopping Beshore in 2:53 of the 14th frame, certainly wasn't a "tiger."

But Charles and his managerial brain trust of Jake Mintz and Tom Tamas, expressed satisfaction with the lean Cincinnati Negro's performance, dull as it was.

"He needed the workout," said Mintz as Charles nodded agreement. "It was his first fight in ten months and he wasn't as sharp as he should be. His timing was off. But he'll be ready for the next one, whoever it is."

"Whoever it is" refers to one Joe Louis who once ruled all of the heavyweights until he went into temporary retirement. Ezzard is recognized only in 47 states of the U. S. New York doesn't list a champion at the moment.

The comebacking Brown Bomber and Charles are tentatively scheduled to have it out in Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27.

After last night, one wag remarked that "Charles hits singles. Louis hits homers."

The 29-year-old Charles hit only singles during most of last night's scheduled 15-rounder. He never was able to floor the 26-year-old Pennsylvania Dutchman from Harrisburg, who outweighed Charles 184½ to 183½.

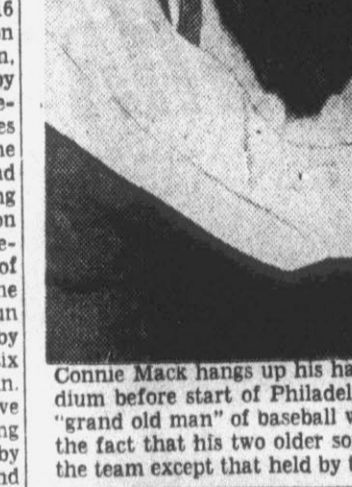

Referee Barney Felix bailed the fray when blood streamed from a nasty cut on Beshore's right ear and while the aggressive, game-challenger was taking a good shellacking from the champion. Besides the ear cut, Freddie gushed blood from a cut under his right eye and from the nose and mouth.

President Lou Perini of the Boston Braves, steps up and takes a bow every time Vern Bickford adds another mound triumph to his skin. Perini is extremely fond of all his Boston Braves, but there is a special attachment for Bickford that dates back to the spring of 1947 when Perini won the toss of a coin and picked Bickford.

When Frank McKinney, then chief owner of the Braves' Indianapolis farm team purchased the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Boston club and McKinney split up the Indianapolis players, with the expectation of some eight players. The Braves felt entitled to these players but McKinney thought otherwise and offered to toss a coin to decide who would get first pick. Perini won the toss and studied the list. Only one name registered with him—Vern Bickford. He recalled that Branch Rickey had made a futile effort to draft Bickford while Vern was in the service but was ruled out by Commissioner Happy Chandler. If Rickey was interested in the pitcher he must have something, Perini rightly figured.

Ayden Lions Came; They Saw And They Conquered

The Ayden Lions, like Caesar's legions, came to town, took a good look around, and conquered the Greenville Lions last night at Guy Smith Stadium 7-12 in the first civic club softball game between the two towns.

The drubbing was a fiasco for the local club, not only from the point of view of the score, but also from a casualty viewpoint.

Larry Averette, president of the Greenville club and outfielder for one inning, last night, slipped on the wet grass and came up with a broken arm to add to the overwhelming loss.

The locals used two pitchers and both were hit pretty much at random. Harvey started the game and was relieved in the third by McGowan after giving up 12 runs. McGowan finished the nine-inning affair and was charged with the loss. Both hurlers were nicked for 23 hits while their own players were committing 10 errors.

Leading Ayden's hitting were Smith and Patterson, each with four hits in six and five trips respectively. Both, also, scored five runs for the victors. Garris, Tripp and Stroud got three hits apiece.

Manager Durwood Harris of the Greenville team was the only local Lion to hit safely more than one. The catcher got three hits in four times and scored three runs. All the other players were able to get only one hit apiece.

Johnny Groth Almost Went To Tribe; Now They Wish He Had

 A difference of $5,000 once kept Johnny Groth from wearing a Cleveland uniform. Today the Indians would pay that sum many times over just to get him out of their hair.

Since joining the Detroit Tigers two years ago, Groth has made a career out of belting Cleveland pitching. If the first place Tigers beat the Indians to the wire it can be traced directly to Groth's batting feats against the club that once spurned him.

It wasn't Groth's fault that the Tigers got no better than an even break in their two games with the Tribe. The young outfielder slammed a home run in each game. His circuit clout yesterday came with the bases loaded. The Tigers didn't need any more to defeat Bob Lemon and the Indians, 4-1.

Since the western rivals must face each other seven more times this season, the Indians may have more reminders of their blunder of 1946. That was the year Cleveland let Groth slip away.

Bob Feller, a teammate of Groth's at Great Lakes during the war, had brought Groth back with him for a tryout. Cleveland bigwigs liked what they saw. Groth was offered a $25,000 contract.

Just as he was about to sign, Groth's father reminded the boy he had previously promised the Detroit club a chance to match any offer. The Tigers offered $30,000, so Groth signed with Detroit.

Groth's grand slammer was all Art Houtteman needed to gain his 15th victory, although he faltered in the seventh when he walked the first two batters to face him. Marlin Stuart took over, filled the bases on another pass, then fanned Larry Doby and forced Luke Easter to hit into a double play.

The New York Yankees split a doubleheader with Washington to move two percentage points in front of Cleveland in their race for second place. Washington won the opener, 10-5. The Yankees took the second, 9-0.

Boston's Red Sox moved within seven games of the top, taking two from the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-3 and 9-4.

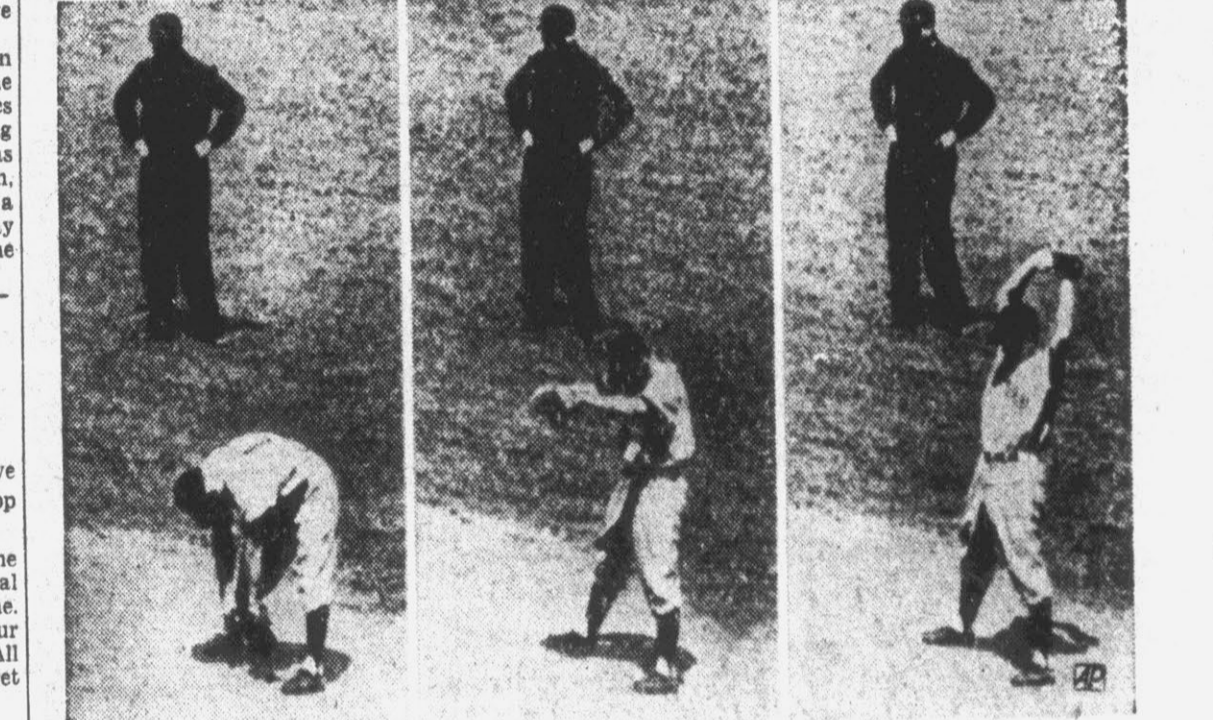

Philadelphia increased its National League lead over Boston to six games, defeating the Braves, 9-1. Brooklyn climbed to within three percentage points of Boston with a 1-0 triumph over the New York Giants. Chicago's Cubs tallied twice in the eighth inning to dump the St. Louis Cards, 3-2. Pittsburgh rallied for six runs in the ninth to match Cincinnati's total in the top of the inning and outscored the Reds, 10-9. Ralph Kiner clubbed his 33rd homer for the Cubs.

Town Rolls Out Carpet To Give Spinsters Their 'Day'

Denton, Tex., Aug. 16—(AP)—Denton rolled out the carpet for the old maids—and they giggled and joked about their spinsterhood—and loved it!

"Bless their hearts, why didn't somebody think of this before," one man remarked.

It was an old maid who thought about it. The idea took hold. The mayor proclaimed yesterday as Old Maid's Day. Merchants gave free corsages, free movies, free taxicab transportation, free shampoo and during the day. The Denton Record Chronicle gave a tea.

Unashamedly, the old maids admitted their emphasis was on presents.

"Everybody and everything has a special day except an old maid," said Miss Dorothy Babb, Latin instructor at North Texas State College in Denton. "In my adult lifetime I estimate that I have spent not less than $1,500 on bridal and baby showers and wedding gifts and never even got a birthday present—because old maids don't have birthdays."

Miss Babb, who will admit her spinsterhood but not her age, was the one who started it all. She's an attractive, tall, slender woman with graying black hair.

Backing her up was a bunch of old maid schoolteachers going to summer school at Denton's two colleges—North Texas and Texas State College for Women.

But the men changed their names—"Glamor Gals" they called the 150 self-admitted spinsters who came to the tea at the country club.

Everybody wanted to meet Miss Babb, in a ruffled green dress and big brown picture hat, and "especially shake her hand."

Presents have come to Miss Babb from all over the country. And letter have come to her and to the Denton Record Chronicle from re-awakened people who said they were sending gifts to old maid aunts and sisters of spinster friends. And why wasn't it a national day, they asked?

Youth's Body Is Found On Mount

Lone Pine, Calif., Aug. 16—(AP)—Libby Holman Reynolds, who flew 7,000 miles from France hoping to find her missing son alive, waited today for a party of Alpinists to bring his body down from the heights of the nation's tallest mountain.

The former torch singer arrived last night by chartered plane, leaning for support upon the arms of a nephew, Michael Kahn, of Media, Pa., and a friend, Harvey Poe, a British Oxford student.

Only a few hours earlier, seven members of the Sierra Club ended a six-day search when they reached the frozen body of 17-year-old Christopher Smith Reynolds, heir to tobacco millions.

It was wedged in a crack on the sheer east face of 14,496-foot Mt. Whitney, some 700 feet from the summit. Apparently he and his companion, Steven Wasserman, also 17, had almost completed their perilous ascent of the peak when tragedy struck.

The body of Wasserman, son of William Stix Wasserman, wealthy Philadelphia broker and economist, was found Sunday in a snow-choked crevasse more than 1,000 feet below.

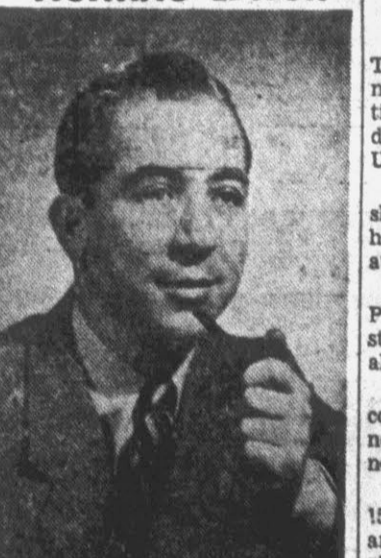

Ray Gorin, a member of the rescue party, speculated that the youths were within 300 feet of their goal when they fell roped together. "I would guess they fell maybe 400 feet before Reynolds stuck and was held by the crevice," Gorin said. "The rope couldn't take the strain of Wasserman's body. It snapped and Wasserman fell perhaps 1,500 feet more."

Parts Of Wrecks Make New Ship

Genoa—(AP)—The prow of one Liberty ship wrecked in the Red Sea and the stern of another blown in two by a mine off the Italian coast have been joined in a giant shipyard surgical operation to make a "Superliberty" ship.

The new ship, now launched, is named the "Roccadasse." It has a gross weight of 11,600 tons and a top speed of between 11 and 12 knots per hour.

FIGHTING EDITOR

CHRISTOPHER, ILL.—The campaign of Victor C. Leiker, 33-year-old editor of the weekly Christopher Progress here, against irregularities in relief administration has brought gratifying results. Four townships were notified they will lose their state grants of more than $60,000 a month unless they show evidence that the irregularities have been cleared up.

Leiker pressed his campaign against boss rule despite the loss of substantial advertising accounts.

Modes For Campus Or Career

SHIRT AND SKIRT . . . Every girl's wardrobe standby. The blouse is made of men's silk shirting with wing collar and tie, the skirt is charcoal gray flannel.

COTILLION DRESS . . . This is the dream dress every girl wants—in white net piped in narrow black velvet ribbon, with strapless bodice and filmy tiered skirt.

By DOROTHY ROE
(AP Fashion Editor)

Young America likes her clothes slim, trim and understated in the daytime, glamorous as all get-out at night.

That's the conclusion of Emily Wilkens, the youthful designer who started teen-agers on their way to fashion recognition, and now is turning her talents to dressing their elder sisters.

Miss Wilkens recommends no excess baggage on clothes for street, office or classrooms. She stresses simplicity, clean lines and youthful cut, chooses fabrics that will stand the gaff, likes double-duty styles.

For wear after five, however, she shoots the works on bouffant skirts, gauzy fabrics and frivolous touches that make any girl feel young and gay.

Although Miss Wilkens shows many straight, slim skirts, she recognizes the fact that some figures need the camouflage of a little fullness below the belt, and adds a number of full or flared skirts to her collection.

The shirt and skirt for office or campus wear is a pet idea, and she does a series of mannish little shirts in pure silk twills with wing collars and string ties that are bound to win the heart of every girl who sees them.

Her convertible jumper is another style destined to endure itself to budget-conscious young women, since it goes to class or office demurely teamed with a blouse of sweater, goes dancing minus the blouse, with low neck and bare arms.

UNIFORM SUIT . . . Pet suit of the juniors, done in red and navy tweed with lapis blue velvet collar.

Hurricane Poses No Early Threat

Miami, Fla., Aug. 16—(AP)—The season's first hurricane crept northwestward in the open Atlantic today but there was no immediate threat to any part of the U. S. mainland.

The hurricane, with winds up to slightly more than 100 miles an hour near the center, inched along at about six miles an hour.

It was about 760 miles east of Palm Beach last night and no storm warnings were up anywhere along the coast.

Forecasters said it probably would continue moving slowly toward the northwest or west northwest for the next few hours.

Gales extended outward about 150 miles northeast of the center and ships in the vicinity were advised to use caution.

Two ships were caught in fringes of the storm yesterday and reported high seas. The freighter Rebecca Boone reported she experienced winds of 75 miles per hour and very heavy seas.

An oil tanker, the Esso New Orleans, felt 60-mile an hour winds and sweeping waves east of the storm center.

Many of the radio engineers of today started out as owners of amateur radio stations.

Mother And Child Race To See Who Will Walk First

Pittsburgh—A pretty 27-year-old mother is racing with her two-month-old son to see who walks first.

The odds are that Mrs. Robert Kovach will win over chubby Tommy who was born June 7, a few months after his mother was stricken by infantile paralysis.

Mrs. Kovach was stricken in February shortly after coming to nearby McKeesport from Philadelphia with her engineer husband and two-year-old daughter, Lynn. Says she: "We weren't even unpacked and my husband has had to batch it ever since."

Mrs. Kovach went to Pittsburgh Municipal hospital where she spent long hours on a rocking bed to aid her circulation and breathing. Then Tommy was born. He weighed a hefty seven pounds, two ounces, and now tips the scale at a healthy 10½ pounds.

She has responded so well to treatment that she's in a wheelchair at the D. T. Watson home in Leetsdale. Her son keeps her company and is the delight of the staff. Officials say Mrs. Kovach will need braces for early steps but eventually is expected to walk unsupported.

Pitt Failed By Slender Margin On Bonds Quota

Pitt County bond sales in the "Independence Drive" failed by 18 percent to reach the $110,000 quota. However, the region in which Pitt is a part—Region One—passed its over-all quota, registering 103 per cent sales.

J. Herbert Waldrop, chairman of county bond sales, stated yesterday during the drive that began May 15 and ended July 17, Pitt bought $90,242.50 worth of bonds, or a percentage of 82 of the total amount.

A report just out from the state director of the "Independence Drive" shows that the 16-county Region is among the seven in the state which exceeded its quota.

Of the 16 counties in the Region, Pitt had the largest quota, by far, of any other. Next high on the list was Pasquotank with a request of $60,000 which it exceeded by $11,000.

Waldrop stated this is the first time since the bond drives during the war that Pitt has not reached its quota. "However," Waldrop said, "in view of the fact that the drive came during the housing of tobacco I think we had a very good record. During the war we exceeded our quota, but this one came during the summer."

Pitt's quota was as much as 10 of the smaller-quota counties combined. Those were Tyrrell, Hyde, Perquimans, Greene, Gates, Dare, Currituck, Chowan, Camden and Washington. Their total quotas amounted to $108,000.

Waldrop stated that although the specifically-named bond drive was over, buying bonds is one of the best investments in which a person can put his money.

"I urge everybody to continue to buy savings bonds because it is the best way to invest money, because a person can build up a regular income after 10 years," he said. Also, the chairman added, bond buying creates additional purchasing power curbs inflation and aids the defense effort.

Woman Shortage

Tel Aviv, Israel—There's a shortage of women in Israel. Males outnumber females by 34,000.

All of which means that young women immigrating to this country don't have to be alone for long. One, who came from England, for example, reported she received three proposals of marriage in three weeks.

Durham's Mayor Opposes System Allocating Fund

Chapel Hill, N.C., Aug. 16—(AP)—Durham's mayor has declared himself in favor of abolishing the state's present formula of allocating funds to cities for maintenance of highways within the cities' limits.

Mayor Dan K. Edwards told the Kiwanis Club here last night that such a move would result in increased allocations to the cities without increasing the gasoline tax, and without formally taking money from the state's general fund.

At present, allocations are made on the basis of population, highway mileage within the cities and recommendations from the State Highway and Public Works Commission's engineering staff.

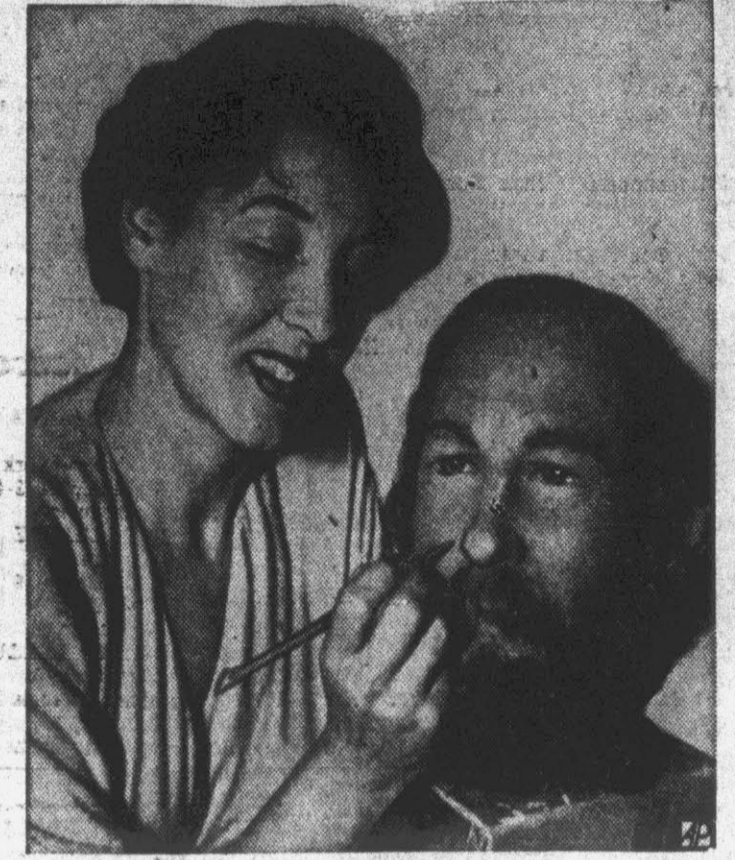

Edwards said he preferred allocations based on mileage and population factors alone.

GOOD PICKINGS

Pueblo, Colo.—(AP)—Do you get mad when you see a sign, 'Do not pick flowers'?

Officials at Colorado's state hospital recognize this is a fairly common reaction, so they've done something about it. Beside a large bed near the hospital greenhouse is a sign, "Please pick flowers here."

Discuss Guidance Of New Teachers

New York—(AP)—The beginning teacher needs as much help as the beginning pupil, says the Metropolitan School Study Council, a group of superintendents and supervisors of school systems in and around New York.

In a booklet, "The Newly Appointed Teacher," they cite a new teacher's needs to know how to deal with behavior problems. Save the council. "The new teacher should be helped to recognize symptoms of pupils' maladjustment—He may, at first, confuse youthful mischief and exuberance with the more serious problems, and in this too he needs guidance."

The council says he should be helped to find living quarters and to make social contacts. He should learn about his special assignments and special duties. Opportunities for professional advancement and tenure and pension rights should be explained.

Safe Chemical Protects Grain Against Insects

Baltimore—(AP)—An insecticide which its makers say is the first to protect grain from insects and yet be harmless to man has been developed here. U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc., which has been developing the insecticide for four years, said wheat farmers are now losing up to 45 cents a bushel on their crops because of insect damage.

The new development is intended to prevent insects from invading stored grain. It's not recommended for treatment of grain already heavily infested. The company said the insecticide is not dangerous to humans or animals even when used in quantities far exceeding those recommended. The treated grain can be used for flour and cereal or fed directly to livestock without special processing.

The process is a combination of a new chemical, piperonyl butoxide, and pyrethrins.

Seeking Co-Op In Burma War Area

Rangoon—(AP)—A labor union in the Central Burma oilfields is hoping to talk the Burmese government into financing a laborer's cooperative industrial. It plans to give employment to approximately 3,000 trained men laid off by British-owned companies. The oil industry became virtually static when British companies curtailed operations last year owing to an acute military situation.

A British oil company official said journeys on company property had to be made in armed convoy and "even then, there is danger."

Coffee Treats for Television Fans

When your favorite television programs are over, good coffee should always be on tap for family and friends to serve with something "special" as a fitting finale to a perfect evening. Any one of the coffee-flavored desserts featured will be just right for late evening refreshments. Easy to prepare and impressive for any occasion are these desserts that combine modern cooking with old-fashioned goodness.

You can serve one or many with fresh, flavorful coffee in a flash. Just measure one teaspoon of soluble coffee (more or less rounded according to strength desired) in a cup, and add freshly boiling water and stir. To make six cups of good coffee, just pour one quart of boiling water on 6 teaspoons of soluble coffee and stir to assure a brew of even strength.

Coffee and Cream Cake is a delicious accompaniment for coffee-flavored ice cream, made simply and quickly by blending 1 tablespoon of soluble coffee with one package of ice cream mix. This is a neat trick that wins compliments every time. For an extra special evening, surprise your guests with Marshmallow Supreme, a simple dessert with a sophisticated flavor of fresh coffee.

COFFEE AND CREAM CAKE

Make your favorite plain cake mix recipe and then use:

COFFEE CREAM FILLING
6 tablespoons sugar 2 teaspoons soluble coffee
3 tablespoons flour 1 cup scalded milk
1/4 teaspoon salt 1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon butter

Combine first 4 ingredients in a small pan. Stir in milk. Cook until thickened. Place over hot water. Cook about 15 minutes.

COFFEE ICING
1 tablespoon butter 2 teaspoons soluble coffee
1 egg yolk 1 tablespoon milk
1/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Mix butter and egg yolk. Add sifted confectioners' sugar which has been mixed with soluble coffee. Gradually add milk, beating all the while, until a smooth, creamy consistency is reached.

MARSHMALLOW SUPREME

1/2 lb. marshmallows 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sherry 1 1/2 cups undiluted evaporated milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatin 2 teaspoons soluble coffee
1/4 cup cold water 1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup sliced almonds

Cut marshmallows in quarters and let them stand overnight in sherry. In top of a double-boiler, dissolve gelatin in cold water. Cook for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Dissolve soluble coffee in hot water. Add to the milk mixture. Fold in marshmallows. Pour into one quart mold rinsed with cold water and chill. Unmold, garnish with whipped cream, cherries and almonds.

Yield: 6-8 servings.

Special Consideration To Veteran Teachers Taking Summer Training

James D. Walters, Officer-in-Charge of the Greenville Veterans Administration Office announced that the VA will give "special consideration" to veteran-teachers who plan to spend their summer taking graduate GI Bill training after the July 25, 1951, cut-off date.

VA's regulation on the deadline, based on the GI Bill, states that veterans discharged before July 25, 1947, must have started training by July 25, 1951, if they want to continue afterwards. Those discharged after July 25, 1947, have four years from their discharge date in which to begin.

After the deadline date for starting, veterans will be expected to remain in continuous training in order to stay on the GI Bill rolls. An exception has been made for interruptions for reasons beyond a veteran's control.

Walters stated the VA has ruled

American Firm Is Interested In Bridging Strait

Rome—(AP)—An American firm is interested in building a bridge to link Italy and Sicily across the Straits of Messina—the hazardous passage between Scylla and Charybdis of the Odyssey. The bridge would have more than a two mile span, most of it across the water.

It would cost over $33,000,000 and give jobs to some 8,000 specialized workers for two years. The firm has offered to build the bridge, exploit it for 20 years, and then hand it over to the Italian government.

The bridge would be the world's longest. The San Francisco-Oakland bridge is 9,500 feet long compared with 12,800 feet of the proposed span across the Messina Strait.

that Veteran-teachers who take graduate courses under the GI Bill during succeeding summer vacations may continue to do so after the entrance deadline, so long as their courses were started prior to the cut-off date and are resumed every year.

The teacher will have to meet certain qualifications. His study must lead toward a degree; he must be continuously employed as a school teacher, and he may not skip any GI Bill summer sessions.

Summer training by teachers for the purpose of obtaining a degree is a "long recognized practice" of the profession, Walters pointed out. Because of the veteran-teacher's "unique" position, Walters said that the VA will consider him to be in "continuous pursuit of his course—within the meaning of the governing law and regulations," so long as he takes courses each summer with the objective of getting a degree.

Volume Of Leaf Sales Picking Up

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 16—(AP)—The volume of sales is beginning to pick up and prices show indications of tapering off on the Carolinas flue-cured border tobacco belt.

For the past two weeks, since the season opened, prices hit record highs as sales fell far below volumes of previous years.

Monday, with the first noticeable increase in volume, prices leveled off and only slight nominal changes were noted.

Yesterday's sales brought the first general decline in prices, as sales continued fairly heavy. All groups except cutters, which remained firm were affected by the downward trend.

The decreases in most instances were $1 to $2 per hundred pounds. Fair to fine lugs, fair leaf and cutters, low primings and nondescript made up the bulk of yesterday's offerings, with lugs continuing to predominate.

Britons Approve Production Ideas

London—(AP)—Ten British pressed metal experts who studied U. S. methods for a year think their industry needs "a change of outlook by all concerned."

Their report, which found the American industry more "productivity conscious," said British "managements must be prepared to be more receptive to progressive methods, to modernize and reequip plants and to provide the means to utilize labor more efficiently." They added: "Trade union officials must convince their members of the absolute necessity for an immediate increase in productivity and must implement this by securing the abandonment of restrictive practices of all kinds."

FIRST OF THE FINE CARS IN VALUE

BIG MOMENT - with a Double Impact

It's a big moment when any new car rolls up to your door and you start out fresh and spanking bright.

Think, then, what it's going to mean when that new car is a ROADMASTER like this one pictured here.

You'll swing wide the door and slide into a car that's truly fine—and looks it.

You'll put foot to treadle and touch off the might of a great, 152-horsepower Fireball straight-eight that's ready to master any road—or anything it meets there.

You'll have the silken magic of Dynaflo Drive to simplify your driving, ease your way. A handsome flexible steering wheel, automatic windshield washers, soft Foamtex cushions, and many other items that are "extras" elsewhere are standard equipment here.

But even while you enjoy all that, you've a still deeper satisfaction enriching your pleasure.

For here you have not only a fine car, but a sound and frugal investment as well.

You have paid less per pound than any comparable car costs—and automotive men will tell you price per pound is the soundest measure there is of solid, thoroughgoing merit.

You've bought quality—top quality—all the fine things a fine car should provide. But you haven't spent a penny more than a fine car need cost.

And that can mean a lot. For instance—

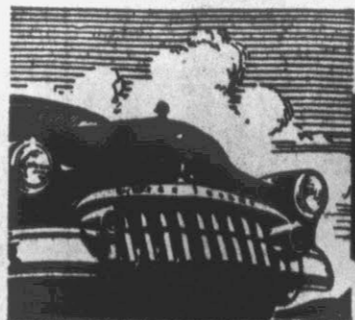

Drop in on your Buick dealer. Try out a ROADMASTER. Match it, feature by feature and point by point, with any other fine car on the road.

Then get the price.

You may well find that you can get not only a new ROADMASTER for the sum you had in mind—but maybe a new fur coat for your wife as well!

Chapter 4

Griggsby's eyes narrowed and began to gleam. Logan laid a conchoidal hand on his arm. Griggsby relaxed and glanced at his watch. "We'll go from one professional extreme to the other," he announced. "I want you to meet the county judge and his wife before it gets too late. Thad Steele is an old-time Texan. Has heart trouble and has to take things easy."

The visit with the Steeles repaid Logan for the rest of the rather nightmarish tour. He learned that there were good women, children and babies, and a better element at work in Gila City—a fact he was beginning to doubt.

It was almost eleven o'clock when they wound up in front of the Texas Tommy.

"This is the last stop," promised the editor. "There's one more man I want you to meet. I've saved him till last. He's expecting you."

"Finest dance hall in town," informed Griggsby. "It's all right to come here because Overstreet doesn't allow any rough stuff."

The rear wall of the gilded and decorated hall was draped with a heavy material that looked like crimson velvet. In this windowless expanse there was a single massive door. Griggsby led the way like a homing pigeon to this barrier.

The door opened, and an olive-skinned giant of a man in a gold-braided maroon suit towered over them.

"Hello, Pierre. This is Dr. Logan. Bob, meet Pierre d'Auberge."

The giant bowed. "How do you do, Dr. Logan? I will inform the master of your arrival."

"Pierre's a Cajun who came here with Overstreet," said Griggsby. "The strongest man I ever saw. Flies knots in horseshoes for exercise."

Logan stared around in frank amazement at this richly-carpeted chamber of lesser extent but greater elegance than the gilded dance hall. Along the right-hand wall was the most exquisite liquor counter and back bar. A single bartender in immaculate white functioned at this shrine to Bacchus while a pair of soft-footed attendants served the various players at the gaming tables scattered about the room.

A sudden bellow of rage from one of the card tables drew their attention. A bull-necked man wearing livid yellow cowboy boots had leaped to his feet, upsetting his chair.

"You dirty skunk! So that's how you've been cheating me all night. Thought I was too drunk to watch, huh? But I've caught you now with a dead hand up your sleeve!"

Instantly the huge Pierre d'Auberge reappeared in the doorway at the end of the liquor bar.

At this moment a glittering object whizzed through the air past Pierre's shoulder and shattered at the base of Bull-neck's skull. The man groaned and lurched across the table.

"Mr. Martin forgot he was in a house of gentlemen," said a cultured baritone voice.

Logan jerked his head around. Just within the casino was a hatless man, impeccably dressed. His garb was a symphony in gray, stylishly cut and fitting his slender figure excellently. His features were almost severe in their regularity. He was clean-shaven and pale. No emotion showed on his face, and his coal-black eyes were as unfathomable as jet.

The huge Cajun halted and visibly relaxed. He looked back for instructions.

"Put Martin out—for good," said the man in gray.

"Yes, sir," responded the Cajun in a matter-of-fact way. He stepped forward and grasped the slowly recovering Martin as though he were a sack of potatoes. Then he did an amazing thing.

Letting the dazed man drop back to the table, he placed a vast hand beside him and lightly vaulted over the table. Before the startled dealer could flee, the giant had his arms pinned helplessly to his sides. Holding the now pasty-faced gambler like a baby, he extended the man's left arm and shook several cards out of the cuff.

"I regret to inform you, sir, that Mr. Martin is right," the Cajun said.

The atmosphere of the room seemed to drop a few degrees, but the facial expression of the man in gray did not change as he gazed steadily at the culprit.

"So, Mr. Holcomb?" the owner of the casino murmured. "You have deliberately broken the first law of this house."

The guilty man wilted. "I made a mistake. I won't do it again, I swear."

"That I know," said his judge, unmoved. He nodded significantly at the huge Cajun.

The crooked gambler cried out in fear as the giant swiftly shifted him about and gripped only his right arm and hand. There was a rapid succession of blood plops, a shriek of agony, and blood spurted from the ends of Holcomb's useless fingers. He fainted dead away.

Pierre quickly carried him out through the doorway to his master's private quarters behind the saloon. The man in gray personally assisted the still befuddled Martin to his feet.

"My deepest apologies for this unpleasant episode, Mr. Martin," he said earnestly.

"Mr. Jenkins," the man in gray

Unable To Find Big Quake Site

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
One of the greatest earthquakes ever measured by man struck somewhere on the earth at about 9:23 a.m. (EST) yesterday.

But all the resources of science have failed so far to pinpoint its location.

Best guesses seem to be somewhere along the unsettled floor of the South Pacific ocean or in the remote North Burma area—guesses reinforced by the lack of early disaster reports.

Seismologists—the men who study quakes—said such a shock striking in any inhabited area would have caused devastating destruction.

As it is, some quakes as big as yesterday's could have started gigantic "tidal waves" rolling over the surface of the ocean to wreak destruction on island and mainland coasts.

But not all submarine quakes set off such waves—it depends on the direction of the earth shift—and so far there have been no reports of any marine disturbances, either.

After most quakes, even quite faint ones, seismologists usually are able to estimate the distance quite closely, and usually can even guess the direction. If a quake is recorded at several stations, its location usually can be pinpointed with great accuracy.

But the trouble with yesterday's quake was that it was too big.

Several types of shock waves follow each other in an earthquake. Seismologists have learned how to interpret distance and direction, and a few other things, by their relative strength and the time between the waves.

Yesterday, however, the first waves to hit the delicate seismographs were so strong that they blurred out most of the succeeding ones—smudging the record, to speak.

Probe Testimony Of Wire-Tapping

Washington, Aug. 16—(AP)—Senate investigators are checking into testimony that Washington police tapped the telephone of the late Senator J. W. Bailey (D-NC) in 1945, listening in on his conversations from a janitor's office.

Senator Pepper (D-Pla), who heads a senate subcommittee investigating wire tapping in the nation's capital, told reporters of the reported incident at a news conference last night.

He recalled an open hearing for tomorrow to explore publicly testimony that the same people also tapped the telephone lines of millionaire industrialist Howard Hughes in 1947 while Hughes was tilting with a senate war investigation committee over airplane contracts.

Bailey's phone was tapped, Pepper said, while he was chairman of the Senate Commerce committee and involved in a fight over proposals to give government subsidies to only one United States airline for overseas traffic.

Pepper said testimony about the Bailey wire tap came from William J. Nolan, former used car dealer here. He said Nolan named Police Lieut. Joseph W. Shimon, his former business partner, as the man in charge of tapping the telephones of both Bailey and Hughes.

No Changes For Sales Schedules

There will be no change in the sales card schedule of sales on the Greenville tobacco market when it opens next Monday, W. L. Whedbee, supervisor of the market, announced today.

In accordance with the announced schedule of some weeks ago, the sales in the individual warehouses will go on as announced.

However, during the first week of sale, the market will be permitted to sell 2,000 extra baskets of leaf per day for each day in the week. This is being done, Whedbee stated, to compensate for the loss of one sale day when the opening was postponed to Monday from Friday.

This extra allotment will allow a total of 13,000 baskets to be sold instead of the customary 11,000.

With the exception of a few scattered crops the tobacco crop has now been completely housed and a substantial amount of it is ready for market. Whedbee stated he expects a large opening on the Greenville market with high prices on every grade.

He added Pitt County has one of the best cigarette crops that it has had in many years.
