New York Experiences Are Related By School Teachers

Mrs. D. M. Clark, sixth grade teacher, and Mrs. Ellen Carroll, seventh grade teacher of the Teaching School, had an interesting and profitable summer in combining pleasure and business in New York. They left Greenville the middle of July to enter Columbia University for six weeks courses in teaching science in the elementary schools and critic work with student teachers. But they managed to sandwich in many pleasure excursions to places in and around New York between their sessions with textbooks and library work.

They attended many plays and musicals, among which were the current favorites: "South Pacific," "Kiss Me Kate," "Member of the Wedding Party," "Where is Charley?" and "Wisteria Trees." They also attended an opera, "The Consul," which was presented this summer.

They took several reconciliation tours—tours designed to create better understanding and good will among people of different races and religions and backgrounds. These tours are conducted for people who as ordinary tourists would not be likely to find the spots which are on the itinerary. Among the places which were most interesting to Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Carroll were the Savoy Night Club, the Abyssinian Church (the largest Negro church in New York, of which Congressman Powell is one of the ministers), and to Father Divine's Mission.

Their visit to the Mission was one of the most unusual experiences they had. It is located in a large, banquet hall type building in the heart of Harlem, and on the occasion of their tour on a Sunday night, the followers of the Father were having a banquet. The tourists were told that on Sunday from early morning till late at night, the Mission is filled with attendants who combine worship services with a kind of feast-like recreation period. The hall was filled with hundreds of worshippers who were seated around tables heavily laden with all kinds and quantities of food.

At frequent intervals, the members would break out in unison, singing praises to "Father Divine and Our Democracy." The "Rosebuds," as choir members are called, were robed in uniforms and were seated together at one table. Also present was "Mother" Divine, who frequently offered up blessings for the food. Father Divine himself was not present with his "congregation" but remained secluded in an upstairs office, from which he would call out the names of individual "angels" for private interview and consultation. When Father Divine made his departure from the Mission, the people filed out en masse to bid him hail and farewell.

Another one of the interesting places they visited was New York's huge all-night food market, where food is received and distributed to the retail centers for the next day's sale. They also attended services at many of the famous churches and cathedrals of the Metropolis, and outstanding in their memory will be the service they enjoyed at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Before returning home they took off for a weekend tour of Boston, and in a short time covered all the tourist spots in and around the historic center. They went to Lexington, Concord, Salem and Cambridge, outlying suburbs of Boston proper. There they viewed the Museum of Glass Flowers, a place where the art of glass blowing is displayed at its artistic best.

They also sat in on one of the sessions of the United Nations and thoroughly enjoyed the discussions. It was interesting to observe the way the translations were handled. They also visited Hyde Park and had a river-boat trip up the Hudson before returning to North Carolina the last of August.

Service League Opens Activities

Members of the Service League of Greenville assembled at the Shepherd Memorial Library on Monday morning to begin their activities for the fall term. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. J. H. Thomas, followed by a warm greeting to new members present at a September meeting for the first time.

After the roll call the minutes of the May meeting were read and reports were heard from committee chairmen on activities during the summer months. Members were then given an opportunity to volunteer for work during the fall term on the various projects sponsored by the League.

Mrs. Tom Wilson was elected Corresponding Secretary to replace Mrs. E. D. Whitley who has been granted "war leave."

Plans were discussed for one of the outstanding events of the fall season. This will be a Fashion Show and Tea at the Country Club on September 29. Refreshments will be served by members of the League, and models will be shown from the House on Fourth. This event is being planned in an effort to raise funds for the support of the Laughinghouse Hospital Bed.

Boyd Memorial News

Resolutions of Respect
We, the members of the W. S. C. S. of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church wish to pay a tribute of love to our dearly beloved friend and co-worker—Mrs. R. M. Zahnizer.

Mrs. Zahnizer was faithful in her attendance at church and Sunday school. Her Christian manner endeared her to everyone. She was willing to work at any time or place for her church. We mourn her passing. Her life will continue to be an inspiration to those who were privileged to work with her. Her memory will be a blessing to us.

We extend to the members of her family our deepest sympathy and comfort them with words of praise for her exemplary life. While our hearts are sad over her passing, we realize our loss is heaven's gain, knowing that "our Heavenly Father doeth all things well."

Red Oak News

Sunday, September 17, will be Homecoming Day at the Red Oak Christian Church.

Sunday School will begin at ten o'clock and church services at eleven. Our pastor, Reverend Harold Tyer of Bath will deliver the morning sermon and special music will be rendered by the choir.

Dinner will be spread on the grounds at the noon hour. After the dinner hour a very informal meeting will be held in the church at which time community singing, short talks, special music and other features will be enjoyed.

A cordial invitation to all of our church membership, our neighborhood folks and friends—everywhere is extended to join with us on this joyful occasion.

Don't forget choir practice at Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson's on Friday night, Sept. 15, at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Little Jimmie Allen who was carried to Duke Hospital Sunday afternoon with polio. His address is Master Jimmie Allen, Howland Ward, Duke Hospital, Durham, N. C.

Miss Lillian Waldrop came in Wednesday evening from Bethel, Lt. D. S. Wilson left this morning for Fort McPherson, Ga., where he will be stationed for some time.

Mrs. E. M. Cheek and little daughter, of Wilmington came in this morning to visit Mrs. J. L. Starkey. The cooler weather makes the tobacco market brisker.

Little Joe have moved to Henderson where Mr. Tyson is connected with the Rose's store.

Pitt County Singing Convention
A large and appreciative audience assembled at Red Oak Christian Church last Sunday afternoon to listen to one and one-half hours of good hymn singing.

The Pleasant Hill Church, the King's Cross Roads Church and the Black Jack Church have good reason to be proud of their choirs and quartets. Their special music was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Reverend Lawrence Tyson directed the singing with Mrs. B. L. Tyson at the piano. With Mrs. Tyson and her accordion and Lawrence Tyson taking a solo part, the audience joined in "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and the meeting adjourned to meet with the King's Cross Roads Church in December.

Janice Lewis Feted At Party

Mrs. Frank Moseley was hostess at her home on Lewis street on Tuesday night at 8:00 to compliment Janice Marie Lewis, whose wedding will be solemnized Saturday night. The guests were welcomed into the attractively decorated living room by the hostess and honoree. The living and dining rooms were lovely with containers filled with mixed dahlias and a special bride scene was used on the mantel as the center of attraction. At each end of the mantel were three-tiered crystal candelabra holding burning cathedral candles. Before a miniature church chancel a doll bride and groom were standing, surrounded by bridal fern and tiny white pom-poms. A large mirror reflected this unusual arrangement and enhanced its beauty.

The guests had been invited to enjoy a television show, but as reception was poor, games were enjoyed instead. Miss Peggy Barrow won a prize playing "Bride's Suitcase," and there were many winners at the game of bingo.

At the conclusion of the games the honoree was surprised with a miscellaneous shower of gifts from the guests. Mrs. Moseley brought in a large basket decorated with white and green paper and ribbon and the guests participated in the pleasure of the many useful gifts unwrapped by the bride-elect.

The hostess, assisted by Misses Carrie Joyner and Frances Moseley, served ice cream, mints, and individual bridal cakes, each holding a tiny lighted green candle. In the bridal colors of green and white, she presented Miss Lewis with a carnation corsage upon her arrival and an electric iron as her wedding gift. About eighteen guests were present.

Fire Alarm Due Faulty Fixture

Three pieces of fire fighting equipment responded to an alarm from the West Greenville School when the building was reported to be on fire yesterday afternoon.

When the firemen arrived they found that a faulty lighting fixture was the cause for alarm. There was no damage, and the wiring was repaired soon after the incident.

Firemen voiced the opinion that the fire was found in time, before it had a chance to do any serious damage.

Training School PTA Holds First Fall Meeting Of 1950-51

The first meeting of the 1950-51 year of the P. T. A. of the Training school was held in the new gymnasium on Wednesday. More than 200 parents and teachers were present.

Mrs. Dink James, the new president, presided and introduced in turn each new committee chairman. The committees and their chairmen are as follows: Program, Mrs. J. F. Arthur; ways and means, Mrs. R. W. MacZenzie; procedure and by-laws, Mrs. I. B. Koonce; year book, Mrs. L. W. Edwards; budget and finance, Mrs. John Reynolds; publicity, Mrs. M. P. Hoot; publications, Mrs. J. O. Howard; membership, Mrs. R. B. Starling; and hospitality, Mrs. L. E. Tyler.

Parents were greeted at the door by Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Charles Wilkerson, Mrs. E. T. Stafford and Mrs. Bill Bernson and were given their new year books by Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. R. W. Shiplett, and Mrs. L. D. Bryan.

After a welcome extended by the president, the committees submitted their reports and plans for the new year. It was announced that at an executive board meeting held in August, it was suggested that dues be increased from 25c per member

Competitors Watch Milk-Drinking Champ

Laughs were a dime a dozen last night at the annual ladies night of the Pactolus Ruritan club, but nothing caused more hilarity than the milk drinking contest. Paul Edwards (center with bottle tilted) got a head start on his competitors Gullford Lewis (seated left) and O. H. Forrest (seated left) so they just stopped drinking and watched. Result: Edwards won the prize. (Reflector Photo).

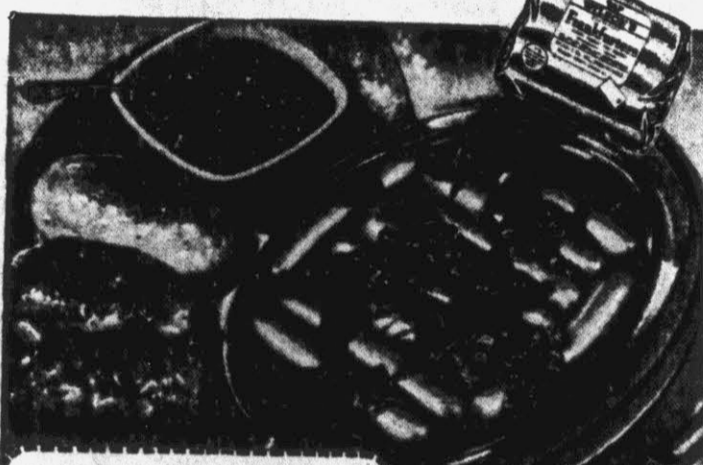

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

Wilson's Certified Frankfurters have served the summer picnic season tastily and well. Now's the time to bring them indoors for home barbecuing. You'll find they "fill the bill" for good food that's quick, economical and easy to prepare in any season.

America's Finest

Fine-flavor, easy-serving and wholesome sourishment are packed in these uniformly tender, finely-chopped, juicy beef and pork franks with the Wilson Certified label. Whether you choose those with natural casings or the skinless variety ALWAYS choose Wilson's Certified Frankfurters. Their mildness, fine flavor, and quality are beyond compare.

These juicy, delicious, ruddy links are already cooked. There's no need to boil them. Just cover and let steam until thoroughly heated (5 to 8 minutes). They are also delicious when grilled, broiled or barbecued.

BARBECUE SAUCE

(For 2 lbs. of WILSON'S CERTIFIED FRANKFURTERS)

Cook until soft but not brown:

- 1 tablespoon Clearbrook Butter and 1/4 cup chopped onion.

Then add and cook down to a sauce, stirring as needed:

- 1 teaspoon Wilson's B-V
- 1 cup tomato juice, puree or sauce
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- few drops Tabasco
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire Sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon chili pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon red pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika and 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Pour enough of the sauce on franks to moisten them. Cover tightly and gently heat (never boil) to simmering. Turn out heat and let steam through 7 or 8 minutes. Serve with buns or boiled rice.

Any extra sauce may be kept on hand in refrigerator for use on leftover meats.*

The Wilson label protects your table.

This suggestion was voted upon and passed unanimously.

Mrs. Arthur introduced Miss Christine Johnson, who gave the devotional. The theme for the year is "Toward a Mature Generation," and getting set for the school year was the subject under consideration at the first meeting.

Miss Wahl introduced the faculty to the assembly and two new teachers were presented. Mrs. Sally Klingenschmidt, who comes to Greenville from the Wilson city schools and who has replaced Miss Lucy Nulton as second grade teacher, and Mrs. Edith F. Worthington, a former county teacher, has been engaged to teach a new second grade created from the overflow in the other two.

Plans were announced for a special panel discussion program for the next meeting, and Mrs. Arthur urged all present to come prepared to take part in the forum.

Following this the members were taken on a tour of inspection of the new buildings, after which they visited with the teachers in the classroom.

The meeting was concluded with a social hour in the library, at which time refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

Semi-Centi Club Resumes Meetings

The Semi-Centi Book Club started off its new year by meeting at the home of Mrs. J. D. Aman, Mrs. Frank Strawn, hostess, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

There was no special program arranged for this first meeting as there was a great deal of business to be discussed and settled. The club's year books containing the lists of programs and hostesses were distributed. By glancing through the booklet, one could easily see that this coming year has in store a wealth of interesting programs and pleasant meetings.

Five new members were voted into the club; they are as follows: Mrs. C. E. Fleming, Mrs. James Briley, Mrs. Ralph Tucker, Mrs. Bob Russ, and Mrs. Bill Alford.

After the meeting was adjourned, a light refreshment course was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Floyd Phillips, on Tuesday, September 26.

glittering than his military accomplishments, he has shown himself capable in international affairs. With his military background, and the confidence which President Truman has in him, perhaps General Marshall will be able to influence the president to follow a military program which will to some extent rectify the shortcomings of the past few months caused by the policy insisted upon by the president.

Having Marshall in the office of secretary of defense will give the people a greater confidence in the government.

How Marshall will fare in the office in the long run, time alone will tell. The general's position on China, which is not unlike that of Secretary of State Dean Acheson, could make him a partner in sharing the attacks which have been directed toward Acheson on the Chinese situation.

The people's delight in seeing Marshall appointed as secretary of defense lies in the hope that the general will be able to influence the president in military matters rather than letting the president influence the general.

Strength for the Day

BY EARL L. DOUGLAS

HAMMER AND ANVIL

Voltaire once remarked that all men are either the hammer or the anvil. By this he meant, of course, that we either fashion the events of our lives or submit to the ordal of the anvil and allow the events to fashion us.

A firm belief in Christian doctrine would hardly lead one to give Voltaire's statement his full approval. But certainly it is true that most of the time we are either hammering circumstances or being hammered by circumstances. Sometimes it seems that we are under the hammer more often than we are above it.

What Voltaire did not see—and what many people who do not share the Christian outlook on life have failed to see—is that powerful as circumstances are they are nevertheless not all-powerful. A man's spirit comes into the picture if he really is a man, and this factor is more potent than all the circumstances of life put together. Greatest of all, what theologians call the grace of God comes in to make a difference—and what a difference it does make.

The hammer is heavy and the circumstances of life are hard to withstand, but the spirit of man is a thing of beauty and power and the grace of God rises like a majestic mountain peak above them all.

America's Most Expensive Pastime

It has become a familiar story. A man disregarded the safety of others in an effort to catch up a few minutes in this modern world's race with time.

And this time the tragic ending was in the death of 83 national guardsmen who were aboard a troop train.

The engineer of the train which plowed into the rear of the troop train testified that he disregarded the warning signal by not sufficiently reducing the speed of his streamliner. He was a few minutes behind in his schedule and wanted to catch up.

Were the engineer the only one who disregarded safety for the sake of speed, it would be bad enough. But every day we are confronted with literally thousands of people who put speed and time before safety. Some are drivers, some are pedestrians, and some are people who just rush around for the sake of saving a couple of minutes for no particular reason.

The overall result of this disregard for safety is staggering. Not only is it staggering in the cost in lives, but also in the cost of doctors bills, hospital bills, medicines, loss of days work, and destruction of property. The vast majority of the accidents are small; but when their total damages are considered, it is easy to see that carelessness is America's most expensive pastime.

The Steady Hand Called On Again

General George C. Marshall has once more been called to stand by the helm to steady our rocking ship of state. His appointment as secretary of defense is a step by President Truman which was politically advantageous and psychologically wise.

Marshall, in spite of his age and his retirement from active duty in the armed forces, has a great following among the people of the country. With the exception of perhaps Ike Eisenhower, there is no other man in whom so many people are as confident as they are in Marshall.

The resignation of Louis Johnson as secretary of defense long ago became apparent despite the boasting words of President Truman which the American people have become accustomed to hearing, and accustomed to taking with a grain of salt. Truman is stubborn and was reluctant to dismiss Johnson while under pressure. However, the Democratic party would have been much better off, and the nation also, had the president exercised a little more common sense and less of his hard-headedness and acted sooner in replacing Johnson.

Johnson's policies were not altogether his own, although he must take the brunt of the attack for the manner in which the nation's defenses have been handled. He was merely taking orders from the chief executive who hired him and now has dismissed him.

Marshall's ability as a military man is unquestioned. Although his achievements as a diplomat have been somewhat less

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—President Truman's unhappy comparison of the United States Marines' publicity proclivities to Stalin's "propaganda machine" highlights the fact that the various government agencies listed under his own executive department have a far more costly, topheavy and politically energetic establishment of publicists, propagandists and promoters than the Kremlin itself.

According to an official survey and report to the House Appropriations Committee by the Budget Bureau in 1946, the latest checkup, Mr. Truman's executive family included 45,778 full-time or part-time employees who were engaged in "educational, informational, promotional and publicity activities."

PUBLICISTS—Their efforts to popularize and glamorize Mr. Truman himself, the Administration's accomplishments, the Fair Deal's objectives and the Democratic Party generally ranged from making motion pictures to writing books, from writing speeches for their superiors to grinding out releases for the press.

Mr. Truman's own budget experts estimated that their annual up-keep amounted to $74,828,467. As against that swollen number of publicists and their cost, the Marines had about 100 in the same sort of work, mostly privates, noncoms and officers, and it is not believed that their publicity budget exceeded $500,000, if that much.

PARTISAN—But Mr. Truman's own accountants admitted that it was impossible to "isolate" employees to present an accurate picture of the size and cost of the presidential publicity organization.

Many officials listed as administrative assistants, executive advisers, regional representatives and in other capacities devote most of their time to selling the voters a partisan bill of goods.

In making their own computation, members of Appropriations figured that the annual charge for the Truman publicity machine was $250,000,000. They found that many highly paid officials were cloaked under disarming and deceptive titles, although their principal assignment was making headlines.

For instance, the publicity bill for the White House alone was placed at only $6,103. As a matter of fact, the salaries of Mr. Truman's three press secretaries—Charles C. Ross, William Hassett and Eben Ayers, not to mention their assistants, stenographers and clerks—totalled more than $70,000, and they have enjoyed increases in the meantime!

ALLOWANCES—Ironically, the politically active and influential Department of Agriculture enjoyed a far larger publicity budget than the then separate War and Navy Departments—$9,295,700 as against $6,419,690.

Three other vote-getting agencies, Federal Security, Commerce and Labor, had annual allowances for "promotion and education" of $2,043,986, $2,003,212 and $1,440,641, respectively.

But Treasury, which is charged with popularizing U.S. bonds at the same time that it justifies Secretary Snyder's "cheap dollar" policies, topped all except State. It had a yearly budget of $11,104,800.

STATE—Secretary Acheson's organization, which has not been able to sell itself to the people at home, spent $30,377,000 to "explain" its policies to the world.

Although it is five years since the end of World War II, which necessitated an increase in the number of public information specialists, the size of the force has not been reduced.

Personnel uneeded in one office shifted to another. State, for instance, took over hundreds from Elmer Davis' OWI, including many fellow-travelers who had to be "purged."

UNION—President Truman's unpublished objective in the field of organized labor is to persuade AFL President William Green and Philip Murray, head of the CIO, to combine their unions into a single, great pro-Democratic union before the 1952 presidential campaign. He has already been pledged their support, if he runs again.

Despite the fact that Mr. Truman did not talk bread-and-butter politics at the two groups' recent unprecedented "love feast" at Washington, his appearance at the dinner was a strategic move to reconcile them. He was told that it might have a decisive effect down through the ranks, when he was invited by Messrs. Green and Murray.

The fact is that there is more cordiality at the top of these groups than there is among their combined 15,000,000 membership. Locals are still raiding each other and waging bitter, jurisdictional battles. The number of complaints reaching both Washington headquarters alarms the top leaders. So, it required a dramatic stunt to "appease" the boys. Mr. Truman was glad to oblige.

BOON—A reunited labor movement, he told the dinner guests, would be a boon to the nation and to the workmen themselves. His listeners laughed heartily, and he joined in, at the implication that it would also be a boon to Harry S. Truman.

If the White House can achieve this aim, the only important unionist on the outside would be John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, and his men don't seem to take his political advice. Mr. Truman already has the railroad brotherhoods in his corner in return for many favors received.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Tell me, how much longer do you think I'll be able to hold out without writing another column about my three-day-old daughter? Your guess would be as good as mine, but both of us know that it won't be long before Nancy will hit the print again.

Meanwhile, I have a suggestion as to how you can pick up an easy $100. The Saturday Evening Post is paying that amount for authentic, unpublished anecdotes that can be classified as squelches. The Readers Digest pays $100 for anecdotes that they publish in their "Life in These United States" department. Over a period of years I have sent the Digest at least six anecdotes but have yet to hit the $100 prize. Today's column will give you an example of what the Post means when they say, "The Perfect Squelch." To me, this anecdote is sort of an everyday affair, and it seems that any one of us could write one just as well. But just try to get them to print yours. If you do, my hat is off to you. Check this one and see what you think:

"After fifty years as a general practitioner, the hard-working old country doctor died and his practice was taken over by a young outside fresh from medical school. The young doctor, for all his technical rigmarole and glittering equipment, failed to give patients the confidence inspired by the old physician's quiet bedside manner. Sensing this, the newcomer went to extremes to impress his patients.

"When grandfather visited the new doctor's office one day because he was bothered by a little pain," he was carefully questioned for nearly an hour about his habits, his forebears and even his dreams. At the end of all this, the doctor diagnosed the trouble as indigestion, handed grandfather a prescription and announced that his bill would be $35.

"Now, doc," grandfather exclaimed, "ain't that a mite high?" Flushing, the young doctor replied, "Sir, you must remember that I spent ten years studying my profession at expensive schools. I have had the advantage of working with the best equipment, and when you come to me, you must expect to pay for that learning."

"The old fellow thought for a moment, and then asked, 'All by myself?'"

"Any one of us can write a story that good, so let's all do it and win a cool $100."

And I thank the author of the story, Zoe Willhide, and the Post.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C.

APPOINTMENTS—Capitol Square has been buzzing the past few days over news coming out of Washington about appointments of Charles M. Johnson as collector of customs at Wilmington and expected appointment of Edwin Gill as collector of internal revenue for North Carolina. Governor Kerr Scott and Senator nominee Willis Smith have had nothing to say for publication about these appointments. Other denizens of Capitol Square have not been so reticent. Gist of the comment has been that Smith has been discourteously ignored, and that Scott "has been thrown a curve."

TALK—The talk going around is that neither Scott nor Smith was "in" on the Johnson negotiations. Nor was Jonathan Daniels. As recognized patronage of Senator Hoyt that deal was handled without consultation with Raleigh folks. The Gill appointment has been subject of gossip for at least two years, and has taken on more interest since Governor Scott replaced Gill as state commissioner of revenue in the summer of 1949. There is no secret about the fact the governor has said Gill would be named federal revenue collector only over his protest.

BOAST—Neither is there any secret about boasts made by some leading opponents of Willis Smith in the late primary that every federal patronage job open or likely to be open within the next two years would be "sewed up" before Smith takes the oath as senator. Whether or not Smith was consulted about these recent appointments, fact is both appointees voted for Smith in the primary. The appointments were made, according to political procedure, upon nomination and recommended by senators. Fact remains they are presidential appointees. Because senate confirmation is required the president usually names nominees of the senators from the states affected. Legally he is not bound to do so.

CROWD—The situation led one astute politician to ask, in connection with discussion of these recent appointments, "Who is the Truman 'crowd' in North Carolina?" The man remembered national conventions at Chicago in 1944 and at Philadelphia in 1948. He recalled that at Chicago it was the group now aligned with Willis Smith which supported Harry Truman for vice president, while Jonathan Daniels and others who opposed Smith were backing Henry Wallace. Political observers concede that during and after the Philadelphia convention in 1948 it was the steadfast position taken by then Governor Gregg Cherry, Senators Clyde Hoey and William Umstead and their close associates which held North Carolina in line for the regular Democratic party and prevented lapse into the State's Rights movement.

MEMORY—It has been said of President Truman that he never forgets a friend or an enemy. The same folks who most vigorously criticize him for being a practical politician, at the same time say he isn't practical because he remembers friends and enemies of other years when good politics would be to forget them. One explanation of the current presidential appointments in North Carolina may be that Harry Truman remembers 1944. If he had not been nominated for vice president then, he would not be president now, and he would not have the privilege of making any appointments.

RUSHING—At that, the president seems to be rushing things a little too fast, obviously at the instance of North Carolinians who want to make sure that all patronage is dispensed before Senator Smith comes into office. Changes have been contemplated both at Wilmington and Greensboro collector's offices for at least five years. Some folks are asking why the flurry-durry now to fill these places within a few weeks before an elected senator takes office. In this respect President Truman and Senator Graham have not pleased the Smith folks any more than they pleased Governor Scott by appointing the two men the governor would probably least like to honor.

FAIR—The North Carolina State Fair, scheduled for October 17-28, will be the biggest and best ever, according to Dr. J. S. Dorton, fair director. No improvements have been made in buildings or equipment since last year, except absolutely necessary maintenance repair jobs, because it is still hoped that the fair grounds may be enlarged and equipped in line with appropriations authorized by the last legislature. Facilities will be taxed to the utmost this year.

EXHIBITS—Dr. Dorton says requests for exhibits space for commercial and industrial displays have been far beyond capacity of the fair grounds to handle. Many exhibits have been denied permission to show, simply because there was no building or outdoor space to house them. Space for this type of exhibits is sold, and the fair authorities say they could have sold at least one-third more if it had been available.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

NOT IGNORANCE (Washington Daily News)
Twenty people in Atlanta were approached on the street recently and asked the question "Who is Jacob Malik?"

Twelve of those 20 who were asked that question missed the question. Only eight persons said that he was the Russian delegate to the United Nations. The other 12 gave such answers as football player, baseball player, or the like.

To us, the answers do not reveal as much ignorance as indifference. For can there be many people in this country today who have not heard about Malik, read about him, or in some way have come to know him as the Russian delegate?

It hardly seems possible, yet we could be wrong. But we think that indifference is more responsible than ignorance. We say this because far too few people are concerned with the progress of the Korean war or of the Russian attempts to weaken the American position.

The work of the United Nations is just another piece of political skull cracking to a lot of people. They regard it as almost a necessary evil or as a place where world politicians can blow off steam.

But the work of the United Nations is serious and vital, and the position and attitude of Jacob Malik, more than any other one man, is putting the future of the organization in jeopardy.

It is time that all of us try to learn a bit more about what is happening. If the war crisis becomes much more serious, then Malik's name will be remembered. It is sad to us to think that so many people care so little about what is happening to even remember the names of those who are shaping the destiny of the world. And that destiny today may rest partly in the hands of Malik, for Russia is a strange enigma in the world right now. Her moves in the next few weeks may determine the course of history. And it will be Malik who will give the Russian position to the world through the United Nations. Indifference may cost us plenty.

Business Today

Wider fluctuations in business and the threat of inflation is making percentage types of leases increasingly popular. Under these leases, businesses pay a percentage of receipts from sales instead of agreed-upon monthly or annual rentals.

There are disadvantages and advantages to both tenants and landlords in percentage leases. Both tenant and landlord should weigh all possibilities carefully before agreeing on the type of lease.

James I. Mills, of the Commerce Department small business division, sums up the case for and against percentage leases thusly:

Advantages:

1. The tenant is protected from a high fixed rental based on inflated property values and unusually prosperous business conditions. In return for this protection, the tenant can afford to share with the landlord any unexpected large profits.
2. If the business is more successful than could have been presumed when the lease was agreed upon, the landlord is assured higher rent. In return for the opportunity to receive a larger rental when business is good, the landlord can assume the risk of receiving less during the years when business is not so good.
3. Net income of the tenant is stabilized somewhat, because in poor years he pays less rent while in good years he pays more.

Disadvantages:

1. The tenant may pay more under a percentage lease than under one calling for a flat monthly rental, particularly if business is good during most of the life of the lease.
2. If business declines, the landlord may receive less rent than he would have under a lease calling for a fixed rental.
3. It is not easy to determine a percentage rate which will prove fair to both parties over a period of years. For this reason, the services of a competent lease broker in drawing up a percentage lease are essential.

Both the advantages and disadvantages Mr. Mills cites are sharpened by present conditions. If controls reduce the amount of goods a business may be able to offer, a high fixed rent may prove ruinous. On the other hand, the landlord may find his income cut by such shortages.

If whirlwind inflation strikes, the retailers will find his rent inflated as much as his own prices. Conversely, the landlord will find his own buying power (and tax-paying power) maintained even if prices get out of hand.

In general, during stable conditions, a fixed rental lease may be best for both tenant and landlord, but when political money management carries threats of both deflation and inflation—largely the latter—the use of percentage leases should be fully explored.

Once in a while, leases based on a percentage of profits are proposed. These should be avoided without the best realty and legal advice. Division of profits has been held to be evidence of a partnership and tenant and landlord may find themselves involved in each other's legal and taxation troubles.

STATES' INCOME TAXES RISING SHARPLY

While federal income taxes are going up, state income taxes have been going up even faster. A survey by Commerce Clearing House, Chicago, shows that state income taxes during 1950 are 49 per cent higher than in 1948 and 306 per cent higher than in 1942.

However, the take by 31 states levying income taxes is still only a fraction of the federal bite. The states' collections are estimated at $749,000,000—less than a fifth of Uncle Sam's tap.

150,000 TECHNICAL REPORTS AVAILABLE

A total of 150,000 technical reports by government experts are now available to business men and the public generally. These reports embrace the work of government and foreign scientists and technicians in almost every field of processing and manufacturing.

There are so many of them that it may be difficult to determine which of them may be of use to any one business. Two steps are recommended: (1) consult the "Bibliography of Technical Reports" at larger public libraries, or (2) write to the Office of Technical Services, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D.C., asking what is available in a particular field.

PLASTIC STARCH SALES UNEVEN

Success of new plastic starches has been very uneven, judging from a study made for the Bureau of Advertising, A. N. P. A. In New York City, plastic starches have captured 41.2 per cent of the market, while dry and liquid starches divide the remainder almost evenly. But in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia, plastic starches account for only 6.3 per cent of sales, while dry starches account for 52.3 per cent and liquid 41.4 per cent.

Hal Boyle's Column

By STAN SWINTON (For Hal Boyle)

Masan Front, Korea — (AP)— This problem isn't a correspondent's business. But so many of the soldiers fighting this war are worried about it that I'm going to put in a word to their wives and mothers.

DON'T write Joe or Bill and ask him why he isn't sending you more letters.

He wants to. He tries to. But much of the time he just can't.

Red Cross men up front like Bill Knapp of Glen Ellyn, Ill., are getting dozens of letters from you, asking why your man hasn't written. Company officers are getting them too.

Probably even Joe himself has had a letter from you beeping because he hasn't written. Not an angry letter, of course. A little hurt was the way you felt.

Here's why he doesn't write very much, and maybe it won't make much sense by civilian standards.

He thinks about you a lot more than he ever did before. He remembers the way you smiled one day, or the way the kids enjoyed going on that picnic.

But he's tired. Not the kind of tiredness that a good night's sleep fixes. Bone tired. Tired deep inside.

Maybe he's up in a foxhole, dug into the shale on a mountaintop. There are hours and hours every day when he is just sitting up there, behind the wire, eating "C" rations, talking.

More than likely, he's talking about you.

He's tired, and there is always that terrible tension—the waiting. Maybe the shells won't come over today like they did last night. Maybe these strange Asian enemies won't make another insane banzai attack and get themselves killed today.

Tension and waiting. They're always with him up there in the foxhole, with mines and wire around and pretty safe. But he doesn't want to write home that sudden death is around the corner. And if you can't write about where you are and what you're doing without worrying the little woman or mother, you just don't want to write.

Or, maybe, Joe or Bill is back in a regimental command post, or an ordnance or service outfit. He's working. Hard. There are so few guys over here actually fighting America's war. A lot less than you think, lady. But Joe is working, 16 hours a day, and then falling exhausted on his bed roll under a pup tent.

He loves you, but he'll sleep till somebody shakes him awake. Then he'll go to work again.

Actually, he's probably written more letters than you got. He gives them to a guy going back to battalion headquarters, and maybe they get to the mail orderly. Maybe they don't. A lot of letters get lost in a war, where the other fellow is trying to slip up behind you and shoot up the command post, or maybe burn it. The mail has to go through the command post.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—The maximum walking distance between any two rooms in the Pentagon building, which has 17½ miles of corridors, is only 1,800 feet. It takes six minutes. It took most folks much more than that back in the early days of World War II, when the huge structure, first opened for business, just to get into the joint.

First, there was the problem of finding the entrance nearest the place you were headed for inside. If you got in the wrong side you sometimes had to walk a half instead of a quarter mile to your destination. Workers in the building used to think they ought to get portal-to-portal pay.

Once you got in, you had to produce everything but a birth certificate... sometimes that... before a reception girl filled out a slip and gave you a badge. The badge was as necessary as a coin in a subway turnstile.

Escort messengers got turned around themselves sometimes, but you couldn't move about the inner part of the building without one. If you were a mere visitor, whether top flight industrialist or bosom friend of a general, you were yanked to the "internal security office" to answer some pertinent questions if seen wandering about alone.

Today you can walk right in. You don't have to tell your life history and plans for the future to the girl at the reception desk. Only if you look confused or glance madly about like one trapped will the venture to ask, "Can I help you, Sir?" Without further ado she will push a chart at you, all fixed up with a space to mark in the floor, corridor, "ring" and "bay" you want.

I was going to floor 2, ring C, corridor 2, bay 82. The chart said "proceed to floor by ramp or stair, take main corridor to numbered corridor, proceed on numbered corridor to specific ring, enter ring to left for numbers below 50 and to right for numbers in bay above 50."

Each floor is tinted a different color. Maps are hung at the end of every corridor and in other conspicuous spots. Red dots show you where you stand at that particular moment. You can go on from there.

Big City Fright Turns To Stroke Of Good Fortune

New York, Sept. 14—(AP)—The horror of losing her children in the strange, big city turned to joy and an unexpectedly full purse last night for a North Carolina widow.

Mrs. Ruth Stevens, a Negro, came here Sunday from Bladenboro, N.C., to find jobs for herself and her 18-year-old daughter.

On Monday, she told the Traveler's Aid Society that she couldn't remember the location of the rooming house where she had left her six children. A porter at a bus depot, she explained, had given her the address and she had rented a room there. But when she returned to the depot for luggage she found the address had slipped her mind.

And she couldn't find the porter. From what she told officials, they thought the rooming house might be either in Brooklyn or Queens—two of the city's teeming boroughs which cover a total of 199 square miles.

She told them of crossing "a bridge with trains on it" to a neighborhood with a dime store and many funeral parlors.

The grief-stricken mother spent two days in a city shelter while the search went on.

Yesterday, the porter was found, at last. He said the address was in The Bronx—818 East 166th Street.

To cap the joyous reunion of the mother with her children, Mrs. Stevens was asked to appear on the "Strike It Rich" program of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Harvey Yaffe, a lawyer from Memphis, Tenn., helped her and Mrs. Stevens left the studio $200 richer—$180 in winnings and $20 contributed by the studio audience. The mother had entered the studio with one dollar in her purse.

Ballard's X Roads News

Rev. Edwin S. Coats has resigned his pastorate at Ballard's Presbyterian Church effective Oct. 1.

On last Sunday morning Rev. Patterson of the Meadow Brook Church was guest speaker and will also preach on Sunday morning, Sept. 17, at eleven o'clock.

Since Ballard's Church has been having Sunday night services only we are announcing the Sunday morning services and are asking every body in the community and any body else who will be present for these morning services.

Mrs. Glimmer Nichols and Glimmer Nichols, Jr. received a one year perfect attendance award at Sunday School.

The Women of the Church met on Friday evening at the church with Mrs. P. J. Elks and Mattie Crawford as hostesses.

The meeting opened by the group standing for a circle of prayer led by Mrs. W. B. Crawford.

The Bible study was given by Mrs. Glimmer Nichols taken from Daniel's prayers.

Mrs. Annie Flanagan presented the program assisted by Mesdames P. J. Elks and G. T. Tyson on Religious Education and "Making the Home More Christian."

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. W.

B. Crawford. We were glad to welcome in our group three new members, Mesdames R. F. Loyd, A. L. Hudson and Preston Loyd. Coca-Colas and assorted cakes were served by the hostesses.

Friends of Mrs. Boyd will be sorry to learn that she is very ill at the home of her son, Mack Ross.

Miss Maggie Tucker of Washington, D.C. spent the past week with relatives and friends at Ballard's.

Rev. Edwin S. Coats and P. J. Elks are attending the meeting of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church at Queen's College, Charlotte this week. Mrs. Elks is spending the time with relatives in Durham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harris of Durham were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harris.

Miss Edith Tyson left last week for Pikeville, where she will teach in the school.

The following young people of the community have left to enter college: Virginia Crawford and Paul H. Rasberry are attending BCTC and Barbara Juan Moxingo and Durward Tyson have entered A.C. in Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Tapp and daughter, Shirley, of Roxboro, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Elks, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Earp, son Charles, and Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Blinson of Raleigh and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Tapp of Stantonsburg were Sunday guests.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bachlotte, Jr. are visiting Mr. Bachlotte's parents near Nashville, Tenn.

Jib Bo Cobb and daughter, Annabelle of Fairfax, Va., visited Mr. and Mrs. Preston Elks and other friends at Ballard's last week. The Cobbs lived at Ballard's several years ago.

Regimental song of the Seventh Cavalry is "Carry Owen."

Future Farmers Meeting Staged

The Pitt county Federation of Future Farmers of America held its first regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Winterville High School.

Nine schools over the county represented by 24 official delegates attended the meeting, with the main business being the election of officers for the coming year.

The officers elected to head the group's work this year are: president, Kenneth Stancil, Grifton; vice-president, Earl Mills, Chocod; secretary, Benjamin James, Stokes; treasurer, Willis Wilson, Stokes; reporter, Leroy Faulkner, Winterville.

Franklin Garris, last year's president, presided until the election of the new president, who then took over the official duties.

The Federation adopted several contests for the coming year which will be carried out as projects in each of the clubs.

The contests adopted were: Ritual and Parliamentary Procedure, Public Speaking, Livestock Judging, Tool Identification. The dates and places for the contests will be determined at a later date. The group decided that the schools holding the contest would be responsible for the prizes to be given the winners.

Mrs. C. D. Nobles Funeral Set Friday

Mrs. Ollie Gatlin Nobles, 64, wife of C. D. Nobles, died at her home near Vanceboro, Wednesday night at 7:40 o'clock after having been ill for the past few days. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Friday afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. Herbert Tripp, Free Will Baptist minister of Vanceboro, assisted by the Rev. W. R. Crowder, Methodist minister of Vanceboro, and burial will be in the Wilson family cemetery nearby. Mrs. Nobles was born and spent all her life in the Vanceboro community and was a member of Oak Grove Free Will Baptist Church.

Surviving are her husband; two sons, George A. Nobles of Vanceboro and Charles E. Nobles of New Bern; five daughters, Mrs. O. G. Brinson of Morehead City; Mrs. Levi Powers and Mrs. Josh Smith of Vanceboro; and Misses Jessie Rae and Vera Belle Nobles, of the home; 13 grandchildren; four brothers, Johnnie and Clarence Gatlin of Vanceboro; Steve Gatlin of Ermi and Charlie Gatlin of New Bern; and four sisters, Mrs. L. R. Clark and Mrs. Clyde Johnson of Vanceboro, Mrs. Sadie Nobles of New Bern and Mrs. Annie Deaton of Washington, D. C.

Rep. Redden At Side Of Mother

Hendersonville, N.C., Sept. 14—(AP)—Rep. Monroe M. Redden (D-NC) came home from Washington today to be at the bedside of his ailing mother.

Mrs. Julia Redden, 71, is reported in "fair" condition at Patton Memorial Hospital here after suffering a heart attack. Whether Redden will return to Washington before Congress adjourns will depend upon how speedily she recovers, he told a reporter before leaving the capital last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dupree, Sr., 807 Clark street, received word from their son, Alex Dupree, Jr., that he is aboard the S. S. Uruguay operated by Moore-McMormick lines, sailing August 10th from New York to the east coast of South America. He will return to New York October 2.

I am very grateful to the sisters and brothers who responded to the orphanage day program which was sponsored by the Pride of the East Chapter No. 524 with Ladies' Delight Chapter invited to work cooperatively. Last Sunday, Mr. Hamme, superintendent of the orphanage, the matron, Miss Parker, and a small group came and the children rendered an excellent program. Mt. Calvary Lodge gave a purse to pay for dinner for the group. —L. E. Latham, W. M.

Ladies' Delight chapter No. 10 will meet Friday night, Sept. 15. All members are asked to be present. Mrs. Georgia Foreman, Worthy Matron; Mrs. Christine Lewis, Secretary.

The Missionary Union held its monthly meeting with Mount Calvary church Sunday, Sept. 10, 1950. Mrs. Crandell sang for opening song "Lift Him Up." The scripture was taken from 3rd Division of Psalms by Rev. Mrs. Corey. The prayer was offered by Mrs. Hattie King. Mrs. Susie Peacock acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Kearney.

Despite the rainy weather the meeting was well attended and the reports from each church were gratifying. The topic for the meeting "Nothing Shall Separate Me From the Love of God" was discussed spiritually. All present entered in to the discussion readily. Special mention should be made of the beautiful hymns that were sung at intervals—"This Morning Let Our Songs Arise," "Come to Jesus," and "I'll Tell It Wherever I Go." The Holy Spirit was manifested as they talked of God's goodness.

We do well frequently to gather together evidence of God's care. Our next meeting will be at Phillippi Missionary Baptist Church in Simpson. Keep in mind that the bus will leave York Memorial Church at 8:30 p.m. for Phillippi. It is hoped that each member will be alert in his field work. Doing good wherever possible. Remember that the cup of water given for these still holds the freshness of His grace.

N. C. World Federalist Meeting September 30

Raleigh, Sept. 14—Recognizing that the Korean crisis has added a new note of emphasis and urgency to their work, North Carolina World Federalists will meet at the Carolina Hotel in Raleigh, September 30—October 1 for their Fourth Annual Convention. Governor Kerr Scott will welcome the delegates converging from all parts of the state.

Hon. C. B. Deane of Rockingham, Representative from the Eighth Congressional District; D. Hiden Ramsey, Publisher of the Asheville Citizen Times; and Samuel Levering, vice chairman of the National Executive Council of UWF, will be the principal speakers at the banquet, Saturday evening, with Terry Sanford, Fayetteville attorney, president of the N. C. Y. D. C., serving as toastmaster.

Labor Gov't To Take Over Steel Industry Jan. 1

London, Sept. 14—(AP)—The Labor government announced today it will take over the British steel industry about Jan. 1.

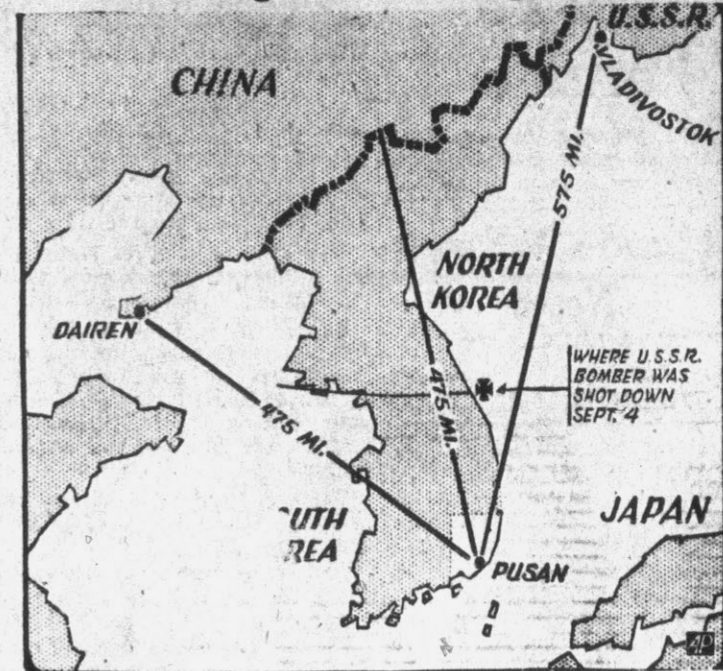

Winston Churchill, the Conservative leader, promptly declared he would ask the House of Commons to adopt a virtual motion of censure. The motion will be debated next Tuesday. If passed, it might lead Prime Minister Attlee to resign and ask for a new national election.

In view of its hairline majority in Commons—now only five votes—the Labor government had been expected until recently to let the explosive steel issue lie dormant for at least a few months.

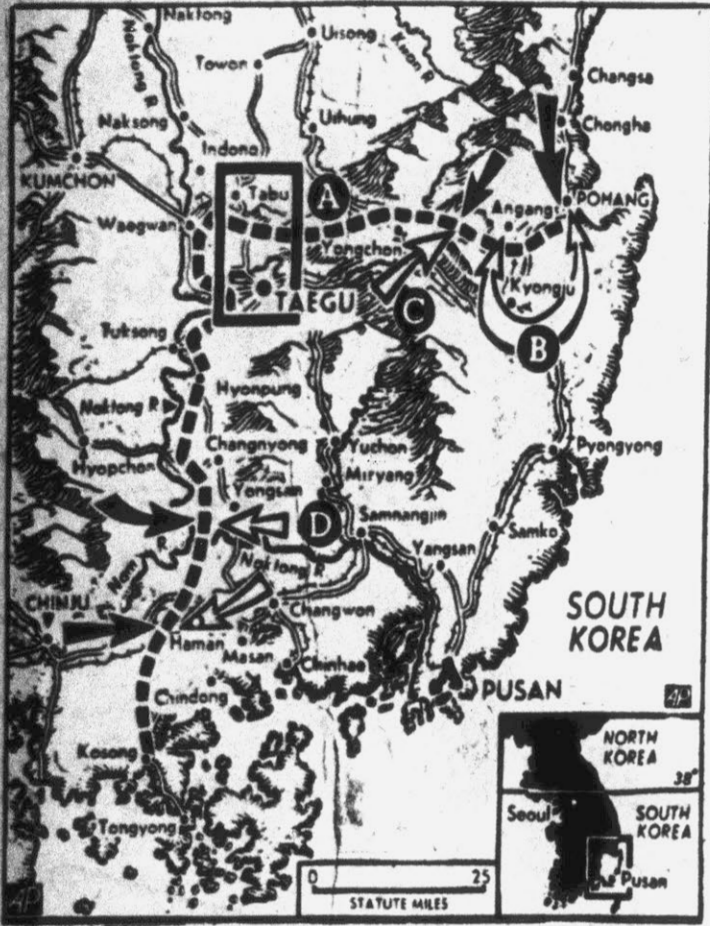

The bill placing the iron and steel industry under state ownership is effective Oct. 1. The government did not, however, have to set up the corporation to run it or to fix a date for the actual takeover at that time.

Dangerous Triangle

AP Newsfeatures THIS IS THE "DANGEROUS TRIANGLE" in the Far East—the area where U. N. forces in Korea come closest to Russia and where incidents such as the recent shooting down of a U. S. S. R. bomber are most possible. Distances shown are from the U. N. beachhead at Pusan to key Russian sectors.

The boxed area (A) saw most of the action on the Korean war front Tuesday. American First Cavalrymen stormed a hill held by the Reds eight miles north of Taegu and captured the commanding peak at dusk. Reds shelled the Taegu-Taegu road for the third successive day. In the northeast (B), a secret U. N. force was attempting to spring a trap on Red troops in the Pohang area. In the Yongchon area (C), South Korean forces drove nine miles to the east. On the southwest front (D), an American counter-attack recaptured a ridge near Masan. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Names Staff For College Annual

Editor Wilbur Jones, Raleigh senior who heads the staff of the East Carolina Teachers College yearbook the "Tecocan" for 1950-51, has announced the appointment of his staff of assistants. Jerney J. Minshew of Stantonsburg serves as business manager of the annual for the school year.

Work on the "Tecocan" began immediately with the opening of college for the fall quarter, September 4. Representatives of Waller-Smith, photographers, of Raleigh have been on the campus for the past week and have already taken approximately 500 portrait pictures of students, which will be used in the 1951 edition.

Slated for major editorial positions on the "Tecocan" are Elizabeth Pate, Black Creek, associate editor; Sam L. Guthrie, Wanchese, managing editor; Bernard West, Greenville, sports editor; and Anne Jones, Neuse, features editor. Others who will serve in various capacities on the staff are Everett H. Whitley, Kenly; Carl R. Willis, Joan Edwards, and Jennie Cannon, Wilmington; Alice Liverman, Ransomville; Gayet Batten, Selma; Jeanne Ennis, Dunn; Barbara Ann Sasser, Pikeville; Sadie Belle Deans, Nashville; Clara Mason, Swan Quarter; Cecilia Cartwright, Englehard; William Pittman, Lucama; L. Parole Granted Ex-Congressman Andrew J. May Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—Former Rep. Andrew Jackson May (D-Ky) convicted of accepting a bribe and joining in a conspiracy in connection with World War II munitions contracts, has been granted a parole.

George G. Killinger, chairman of the Federal Parole Board, told reporters the 75 year old former lawmaker will be released Monday from the Aseland, Ky., Federal Correctional Institution.

Killinger said May's age and poor health, plus "an outstanding institutional record" were major factors in the board's decision to free him.

Funeral Friday For Henry Clyde Harrell

Henry Clyde Harrell, 60, died at his home in Pinetops at 3:45 o'clock Thursday morning after having suffered a stroke a few hours earlier. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Friday afternoon at three o'clock by the Elder J. D. Flye, Primitive Baptist minister of Rocky Mount, and burial will be in the Harrell family cemetery near Crisp.

Mr. Harrell was born in Edgecombe County near Crisp. He lived most of his life in Edgecombe and Pitt counties and had been a farmer until moving to Pinetops about four years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alice Deal Harrell; three daughters, Mrs. John I. Cannon and Mrs. William A. Savage of Pinetops and Miss Jeanette Harrell of the home; a son, J. B. Harrell of Pinetops; 3 grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Henry Stallings of Macesfield.

World Series Veterans To Open Vital Race For Lead

Raschi And Newhouser Clash In Detroit-New York Scramble For Top Spot In Tight American League Pennant Race

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two World Series veterans, Hal Newhouser and Vic Raschi, went to the firing line today as the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees opened a three-game series in Detroit with the lead in the American League pennant fight at stake.

Newhouser, 29-year-old southpaw bellwether of the Tiger staff for years, was given the assignment to protect the Tigers' half-game lead over the defending world champions, Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees, figuring to get the jump in the vital series, nominated his righthand ace, winner of 19 games.

Boston, the third member in the tight stretch run, sought to prosper at the expense of the seventh-place St. Louis Browns.

The Red Sox opened a three-game series in St. Louis but discovered instead of pushovers, a team that is pushing back. The Browns have won seven straight, including four over the Cleveland Indians.

Newhouser, who has won 14 games, has beaten the Yanks only once and lost three times.

Raschi, who will be gunning for his sixth straight victory, has split four decisions with the Detroiters. The Tigers have treated the Yanks roughly so far in Briggs Stadium, winning six out of eight games.

Detroit and New York tuned up with victories yesterday. The Tigers stopped the Washington Senators, 6-1, while the Yanks beat the Cleveland Indians, 10-3. The Red Sox were not scheduled.

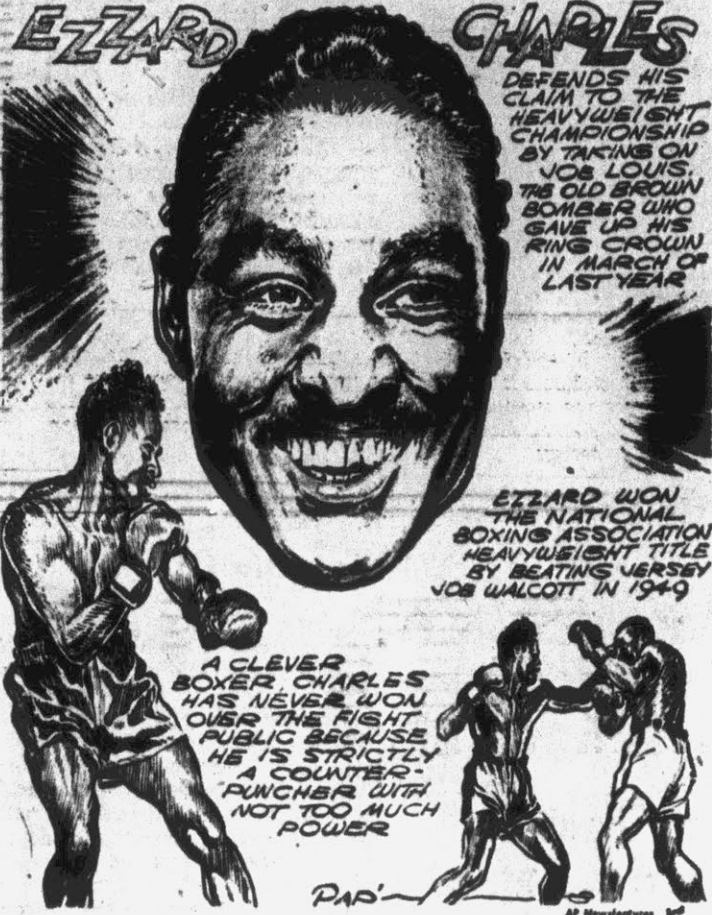

The Browns edged the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, on Ken Wood's ninth inning homer in the other American League game.

The big news in the National League was the end of New York Giant righthander Sal Maglie's consecutive scoreless inning streak at 45. The string came to an end as the Giants beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1, in a game called after seven innings because of rain. The scheduled second game also was rained out.

Maslie now has won 11 straight and has a 18-8 record for the season.

Following Joe Louis as heavyweight champion would be a difficult spot for any fighter and Ezzard Charles, the National Boxing Association's titleholder, is finding this out. Charles is a capable fighter. His record shows 67 victories, five losses and one draw. He is an excellent boxer and a fair puncher. But his style does not endear him to the boxing enthusiasts because he is almost entirely a counter-puncher. He lacks the destructive attacking style that makes a gate attraction and a popular champion.

Ayden Tornadoes Play Williamston To Open Season

Coach Stuart Tripp's Ayden Tornadoes open their 1950 football season tomorrow afternoon in Ayden against Williamston high school.

Kickoff for tomorrow afternoon's affair is slated for three o'clock.

Ayden is the defending Coastal conference champions while Williamston is a prominent contender for league honors in the Albemarle high school circuit.

A veteran lineup will be fielded by the Tornadoes with a letterman in every starting position.

Expected to lead the Ayden "T" and double wing offensive will be Quarterback Teddy Bullock, ace passer for the Tornadoes. Bullock received all-conference honors last year as a triple threat. He also paces the Ayden attack in running and kicking.

On the receiving end of Bullock's aerials will be two stalwart ends, Mac Whitehurst, last year's all-conference end, and Willis Manning, left flankman.

Coach Tripp's forward wall will be made up of such stalwarts as Greg Davis at center and Troy Jackson, a tackle. Both boys were picked on the All-Coastal conference team last year.

When asked about another successful attempt to capture the Coastal conference crown this year, Coach Tripp replied, "If we get by this first game with Williamston, we ought to have a pretty good year. But it's still too early to say how we'll come along."

Starting lineup for Ayden in tomorrow afternoon's opener will be Whitehurst and Manning at ends; Jackson and Jerry Britt at tackles; Walter Meggs and Jim Hemby at guards; Davis at center, with Bullock at quarterback, Darrel Worthington and B. L. Byrd, halfbacks, and McDonald Hardee at fullback.

A complete Ayden high school football schedule is:

Sept. 18—Williamston, here
Sept. 22—Robersonville, there
Sept. 29—Open (to be filled)
Oct. 6—Vanceboro, there
Oct. 13—Farmville, here
Oct. 20—South Edcombe, here
Oct. 27—Tarboro, there
Nov. 3—Ahpokle, there
Nov. 10—Open
Nov. 17—Central High (Elizabeth City), there
Nov. 23—Zebulon, here

The Thanksgiving game with Zebulon is only tentative.

Husky Linesmen To See Action Against Naval Apprentice

Pirates Tapering Off For Opener

Light drills were in order for East Carolina's eleven yesterday as they prepared for their season opener Friday night.

Coach Bill Dole's gridders launch their 1950 football campaign Friday night against the Naval Apprentice School at Newport News, Va., in a non-conference affair.

Brushing up of their pass patterns with some emphasis on kickoffs, kickoff returns, and punting rounded out the afternoon drill.

Roger Thrift, Pirate all-conference quarterback, took his usual role as aerial-tosser to Ends Dwight Shoe, Ed Tanner, Ott Alford, Bobby Hodges, and Frank Mannele.

Halfbacks Bill Darby and Jack Benzie shared in the punting duties with Sandy Siler, reserve quarterback.

The squad of thirty-eight players expected to make the trip to Naval Apprentice was reported in top condition for their season opener. Injuries in the Pirates' football camp has been held down to a minimum.

Bob Bradley, outstanding defensive end, has returned to full dress uniform after being out several days with a hip injury.

East Carolina leaves tomorrow morning for their tilt in Newport News Friday night.

Heavier, Deeper Line Ready For Pirates' 1950 Campaign

(Second Of A Series)
By BILL LLOYD

East Carolina's foes are going to find it rough through the middle this year.

Coach Bill Dole's Pirate forward wall is heavier and deeper than during the 1949 campaign.

Standing three deep with lettermen in every position in the middle of the line, the offensive and defensive units of Dole's two-plateau system show promise of being a potential power in the oncoming pigskin season.

Holdovers in the tackle spots for the coming season are lettermen Bill McDonald, Dennis Smith, Al Auerback, and Don McKenzie. Smith, the rugged Washington lad, has been shifted from his defensive end position of last year to an offensive tackle slot. McDonald and Auerback, both Portsmouth, Va., boys, are sophomores with a year of playing experience behind them, while McKenzie is a junior from Roanoke Rapids.

Six newcomers also add strength to the already potential tackle position.

Mickey Berman, a big 235-pound junior from Portsmouth, is slated to see much action in the defense play of the Bucs this year, together with walloping Wally Robinson, a 193-pound sophomore from Farmville and Buck Hardee, 221-pound transfer from Whiteville. All three boys took part in winter drills for the Pirates and have adapted themselves in fine style to the Dole system.

Among the freshman crop of tackles are Kingston's legendary schoolboy all-stater, Bobby Hodges who tips the scales at 223 pounds, standing 6'2". Hodges will also see action as an offensive end.

Bob Carter and Monk Congleton round out the tackle roster of the Pirates. Carter hails from Williamston and Congleton from Ahsokle.

The guard and center spots for the Pirates is just as powerful as their tackle slots. Two lettermen are returned at the guard positions and three veteran pivot men are back for the 1950 season.

Leon Ellis, 191-pound senior from Siler City, should experience his best year this season. Ellis, a rugged 5'9" up front man, will be one of Dole's top offensive leaders. Letterman Reggie Byrd, 202-pound sophomore, will be another offensive leader alongside Ellis.

Newcomers Jesse Aldridge, John Swart, and Keith Melton will give the Pirates capable reserves in the guard spots.

In the pivot position, three monogram-winners, Buck Wilson, Pete Prominski, and Frank Madigan give the Bucs definite strength there. Wilson, a senior, will be used exclusively on offense, while Prominski, the Red Bank, N.J. lad, will have yeoman duties on both offense and defense. Madigan, scrappy sophomore, is the field general as a line-backer for Coach Dole's eleven.

More power with much weight expresses the potency of East Carolina's forward wall this year.

Five Errors Help Give Macclesfield 5-1 Win

Visitors Outhit By Farmville In Pitching Duel Which Saw Fielding Errors Cost Locals Four Unearned Runs

Farmville, Sept. 14.—Macclesfield was outhit by one base knock last night but still managed to go ahead in the playoff series in winning 5-1.

The visitors' second win came about at the expense of Farmville's fielding, not the pitching. All but one of the five tallies were strictly unearned as the locals committed five errors.

An import from Triple-A ball, Bennie Flowers, pitcher for the Louisville, Ky., club, took over the mound duties for Macclesfield and twirled six-hit ball at Willie Mauprey's handout club.

Pittman, for Farmville, outdid the visiting pitcher in giving up only five safeties. The only earned run off the local regular came in the last of the eighth when Laughinghouse walked and scored on Stuart's followup double. The rest of the scoring was gratis.

In winning, Macclesfield took a one-game edge on Farmville in the series which is scheduled to go to four out of seven games. Conceivably, the series can wind up Saturday with either team winning.

Flowers appeared in the semi-pro contest by virtue of a pre-series agreement between the teams' managers. Farmville has substituted two non-regulars in the games to date since three regulars have quit the team for other gainful employment this fall. Flowers was substituted the same way.

Brownies Belong; Win 7 Straight

St. Louis, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Back in June there was grumbling to the general effect that the St. Louis Browns didn't belong in the American League.

That was just after the Boston Red Sox had finished kicking the Brownies all over Fenway park to the tune of 29-4, a modern Scoring record.

Tonight those same Red Sox come to town for a tilt with those same Brownies, and the story is different. Belong in the American League? Why, the Brownies have won seven straight and they're bidding strong to maintain Manager Zack Taylor's record of always staying out of the cellar.

It will be a clash of winning streaks and, of course, something will have to give. The Red Sox, riding high with 24 victories in 27 games, will be going for their 13th straight over the Brownies.

Dick Starr, who has won three straight for St. Louis, or Don Johnson, a New York Yankee castoff, will get the pitching call against Willard Nixon.

Saves His Title

Detroit, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson is next for middleweight champion Jake Lamotta after his dramatic 15th round knockout of challenger Laurent Dauthuille with only 13 seconds to go.

But for a savage closing rally that snatched victory from defeat last night, the well-tamed Bronx bull would be worrying about a return with Dauthuille—not Robinson.

Trailing on the cards of all three officials and just about all the working press, Jake barely saved his title. It was a game Frenchman who just missed avenging the late Marcel Cerdan.

TEN PERMITS REVOKED

Bowling Competition Resumes For Four Teams Of Women's League

Carolina Cleaners 2 1 467
Double N Restaurant 2 1 467
WGTC 1 2 333
College View Cleaners 1 2 333

Carolina took College View to the cleaners last night as it took two games out of three in the first night of resumption of bowling competition in the newly-formed Women's League.

Between the other two entries, Double N Restaurant copped a duet from WGTC, although the radio girls sea the night's high for a triple bill with a 1,679 pin score.

Edith Nisbet, captain of the Carolina Cleaners team, walked off with the night's high score for three games in rolling a record-busting 385. Her games were 116, 152 and 117 for the three. Following in that department was Frances Cassick of WGTC with 113-132-138-383.

Nell Smith of WGTC copped honors for the single game score with 153. However, she added low games of 107 and 77 for a total 337.

Local Legionaire Wins Expense Paid Trip To Hawaii; One Of 4

HERMAN McLAWHORN

Ability to sell a service in 25 American Legion National Hawaiian words or less has won for a local man an expense paid trip to Hawaii, one of four given in the United States by the American Legion.

Herman McLawhorn recently became one of the four winners in the was notified by the national adjutant he had won one of the 12-day, all expense paid trips to the Hawaiian Islands.

His selling text was: "Join the American Legion! Comradeship is our purpose, patriotism our creed, justice to all men our duty, freedom our heritage and peace our supreme task."

McLawnhorn will begin his trip abroad by attending the Legion's national convention in Los Angeles, October 9-13, as a state delegate. After the convention he will leave by boat for the islands along with the other national winners. He will leave for Los Angeles from Atlanta October 4 on a special Legion train.

Aiding in receiving the award from Commander Craig were 475 new memberships he wrote for the Pitt Post, largest number ever written. Last year he signed 450 new members. McLawnhorn has been a member of the post here for about 30 years, joining soon after it was organized after the first World War. He was president of the Go-Gutters club for 1950 and signed more members in the state last year than anyone else in the organization.

He stated yesterday, when asked how he felt about the award, "I really feel honored to be one of the four in the United States. I'll always think of it as an honor."

During World War I McLawnhorn served in the 81st (Wildcat) Division in France in the battle of the Argonne and on the Devogve Mountain front.

Concerning his ensuing prize-winning trip, he is looking forward to it, and the convention, with a great deal of enthusiasm. "I never have been out west," he said.

Initiate 5 Into Local 40 And 8.

Five new members of the Greenville Vulture of the 40 and 8 were given their insignia at last night's monthly meeting.

New Voyageurs, who have already been formally initiated, are: William E. Ennis, Lester E. Turnage, Jr., Clyde W. Cannon, H. W. Goodwing and Franklin G. Harris. They received the promenade, including the wreck and formal ceremony, in the early summer.

Presiding at the meeting was Chef de Gare W. G. Garner. The dinner meeting at the American Legion-Hall was attended by 27 members.

Speaker for the meeting was J. H. Rose, high school principal and chairman of civilian defense for Greenville. Rose's talk centered around what action his committee is taking for defense of the city in case of war and what the future possibilities are concerning defense measures.

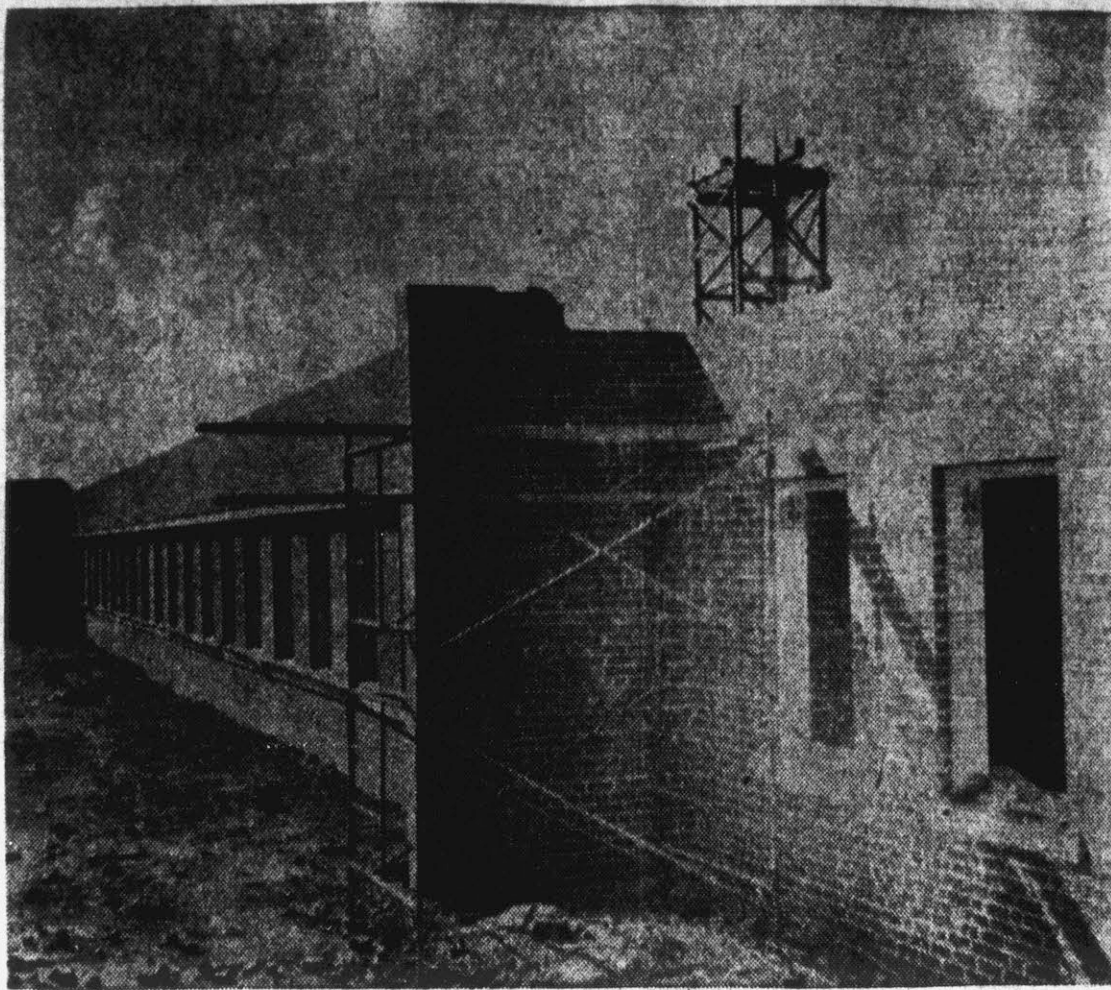

Voyager Finkle Dilda, Jacksonville spoke shortly on membership in the Vulture. He stated the local vulture could have the district promenade for new initiates either in the fall or spring. It was moved and passed that it be held either on Thanksgiving or Christmas weekends or later in April or May.

New Members Of N.C. Bar Sworn

Two new members of the North Carolina Bar were sworn in by Judge Chester Morris at civil court session yesterday afternoon and this morning.

Sworn in yesterday afternoon was Lubie M. Stocks, Snow Hill. Herbert Horton Roundtree, Farmville, was sworn this morning. Both are recent graduates of the University Law School.

Side View Of New Nurses Home At Hospital

A side angle view of the new nurses home being constructed on the Falkland highway reveals the progress which has been made on the building in the past several months. With the majority of the materials for the job now on hand, the building is expected to be finished by Thanksgiving. The unit will be complete in every way with ample room space, kitchen, laundry, and social halls. Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee.

Chandler Isn't Sure Yet Who's To Gain Series

Cincinnati, Sept. 14—(AP)—The fan in the street may already have made up his mind as to who will be playing in the World Series next month, but Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler still isn't sure.

For that reason, he had invited representatives of eight clubs—four in each of the National and American leagues—to sit down around the table with him today and work out arrangements for the Series.

League presidents Will Harridge of the American and Ford Frick of the National also were to participate in the meeting.

Philadelphia's young Phils with a 6½ game lead and only 18 games to go are heavily favored in the National, but Chandler still asked the Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and the New York Giants to be present.

Bicyclist Hurt On Hitting Car

A Greenville youth was slightly injured last night when his bicycle collided with a car as it was pulling out from the curb the Greenville police department reported today.

The injured boy, Fick Arthur, Jr., was taken to a local doctor for treatment, and was believed to be in good condition. Investigating officers said that he was only shaken up.

According to the police department's report, a car driven by Edward Lee Barber, Jr. of Greenville, was coming out from a curb when the boy struck his car. At the time of the accident the car was stopped as the driver applied brakes when he noticed the youth coming down the 14th street hill.

Counselor For Nurse Association In City

Mrs. Bryan Paul of Washington, president of district 20 of the North Carolina Nurses association, said today Miss Helen E. Peeler, counselor for the state nurses association will be in Greenville tomorrow.

Miss Peeler is to visit the Greenville Paul said Miss Peeler will be available for conferences with graduate nurses, prospective student nurses and practical nurses.

Weather Report Set New Records

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—Hot and cold temperature records fell like nine-pins this summer.

Weather Bureau experts today produced some preliminary reports on the season just ending.

For example: The highest September temperature ever recorded officially in this country, 123 degrees, occurred in Yuma, Ariz., on Sept. 1. This climaxed a six week heat wave which roared the whole area from the Rockies to the Pacific.

Scores of towns and cities suffered in record-breaking temperatures. Phoenix, Ariz., had 115 on Aug. 31, highest August reading ever. Billings, Mont., had 100 on Sept. 4, a record for the date. Helena, Mont., had 96 on Sept. 3, its highest September reading.

But while heat ruled the Far West, the Middle West had one of its coolest summers.

From the Rockies to the Appalachians, a cool wave—cooler than normal—started at the end of June and continues today.

Oklahoma had its second chilliest July, with an average temperature almost six degrees below normal. At mid-month it was down to 44 at Taloga. The highest July temperature in the state was only 102, the lowest "highest" ever recorded for the month.

Lewis And UMW Trustees Sued

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—John L. Lewis and other trustees of the United Mine Workers Welfare fund are being sued for $50,000 in attorney's fees by their former lawyer, William L. P. Burke.

The youthful attorney, who had represented the welfare fund almost from its inception in 1946 until last winter, filed papers in federal district court, alleging that he tried unsuccessfully to negotiate his fee after he was "summarily discharged" by Lewis.

Funeral Friday For Mrs. Mary Ross Boyd

Mrs. Mary Ross Boyd, 82, died at the home of her son, M. C. Ross, near Ballards Crossroads, early Wednesday night after an illness of six days. She was born and reared near Grimesland and spent all her life in Pitt County. She was a member of the Grimesland Methodist Church.

Her first husband, Josephus Ross, died in 1920. Surviving this union is one son, M. C. Ross.

In 1921 she was married to Ed Boyd, of the Black Jack community, who died in 1929.

Funeral services will be held from the home on Friday afternoon at three o'clock, conducted by Rev. Nickens, Methodist minister of Grimesland, assisted by G. S. Coates, Presbyterian minister of Farmville. Interment will follow in the Boyd cemetery, near Black Jack.

Surviving are thirteen grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren.

An estimated 400 rural people are killed and 800 to 1,000 injured each year by lightning.

Join Flight To Guerrilla Bands

Manila, Sept. 14—(AP)—Press dispatches reported today the Mayor of San Luis and 30 civilian guards joined a Philippines labor official in his flight to the Communist-led Hukbalahap guerrillas.

Alfredo B. Saulo, secretary general of the Congress of labor organizations, fled Manila yesterday after he was indicted on charges of inciting rebellion.

Eichelberger In 'Great Pain'

Asheville, N. C. Sept. 14—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger was admitted to Memorial Mission Hospital here this morning.

Dr. Charles H. Armentrout, a heart specialist, was attending the former commander of the U. S. Eighth Army in Japan. This afternoon the hospital reported his illness had not been completely diagnosed but that the noted officer is in great pain.

Of the 25 per cent of the prisoners who receive paroles only 10 per cent repeat their crimes, Johnson said. "I believe parole is not turning criminals loose on society. The percentage of failures of paroles is not high."

"We need the cooperation and support of the general public. I assure you we are doing the best and most conscientious job we know how."

Ruritan President George Cherry presided at the meeting last night and the principal speaker was introduced by Noel Lee, Jr., a member of the Pactolus club and treasurer of Ruritan National.

Following the chicken supper a program of entertainment including the Bear Grays trio and a number of other features was presented. Several prizes were presented holders of lucky tickets. Mrs. Louella Stancill was awarded the grand prize.

President Cherry who presided at the meeting welcomed the ladies to the meeting which is annually held in their honor. H. E. Hill welcomed the guests of the club and J. P. Davenport, Sr. welcomed the teachers of the Pactolus school who were Both measures provide cash for $333 new war planes and a wide variety of other military equipment. Inclusion of $4,000,000,000 for the arming of friendly nations stimulated interest in a proposal to channel all foreign aid—military and economic—through a single government agency.

Whether this will happen presumably depends on Moscow's decision. Such a development could produce another general conflict, and it is safe to assume that Russia will be chary on that account. She doesn't want another world war—not now anyway.

However, it is possible the Korean war could be greatly protracted—without precipitating a major conflict—by providing steady though limited reinforcements for the North Koreans. That would suit the Soviet strategy of keeping America and her allies engaged in as many costly adventures as possible, so to weaken their economic structures.

This is speculation which only time can answer. Meanwhile, although we can feel satisfaction in the current news from Korea, I think we shall be wise to gird ourselves for a good deal more fierce fighting.

The RANGE DOCTOR

by OSCAR J. FRIEND

Chapter 29
For the first time Overstreet started slightly. He opened his mouth to speak and then closed it silently. He relaxed and let his arms slip easily to his sides. He stared at the tense face of his accuser, a queer little smile gathering about his classical lips. Then:

"Go on," he said quietly.
"I could have forgiven you everything but that," Logan said bitterly. "You killed my best friend—and yours. You were afraid of Tom Griggsby's sharp mind. But you shot him needlessly, Overstreet. He would never have suspected you. Have you anything to say before I pass judgment on you?"

The accused man sighed in resignation.
"You are surprisingly close to the truth, Logan, and all because of a little telltale shot pattern. I guess you won't believe me, and it makes little difference now, but I didn't intend for a single person to suffer violence when I took over the Hohner outfit. That's why I planned every detail with such care. The shooting of the stage driver was the senseless panic of a vicious man. I still intend to bring Holcomb to a reckoning for that. And I'm glad now that Griggsby killed Naylor."

"I've liked you, Logan. I should have thought of the possibility of your recognizing my gun technique, but it's too late now. I'll have to kill you, of course. But I want to explain about Griggsby. You're wrong there. That was the ugliest thing I ever did in my life, but the Range Doctor was far too shrewd to leave on my trail. I could have let Naylor be the scapegoat, but after the treachery of that Sims girl the Range Doctor would have been smart enough to see beyond Pierre d'Auberg. I had to do it. Anything else?"

"Just one thing," Logan told him solemnly. "Overstreet, you're a sublime fool. I am the Range Doctor." There was a ghastly silence. For a long space the two men stared into each other's eyes. An expression of disbelief flicked across Overstreet's face and was gone.
"You're lying," he said. "You're not even armed."

"Being armed is no protection against your derringer draw, Overstreet. I have had you covered under the table ever since you sat down." The gambler looked as far into Logan's lap as the table edge permitted. All he could see was the end of the doctor's gaping satchel. He raised his eyes and met Logan's steady gaze. He read implacable purpose in those burning blue eyes, and he knew they had come to the end of the road.

"I see," he said calmly. "I understand—everything. You carry your guns in your satchel?"
"I do, but I'm giving you an even break. I know how fast you are with your trick pistols, and you can't miss at this range. If you're ready, draw and die like a man instead of a dog!"
The play was ended, and Overstreet accepted the fact. He shrugged—and this time his deadly little guns appeared magically in his hands. He fired across the table top even as the butts slapped into his palms, and twin streaks of flame darted towards the doctor's heart.

Logan did not move. There was a bitter little smile about his lips as he invited death. But, coincident with the gambler's shrug, he squeezed the trigger of the long-barreled .38 he held between his knees. The slug tore into his adversary's vitals, blasting him back in his chair just as Overstreet fired his own derringers.

"By a scant margin this deflected that deadly aim. One bullet broke Logan's collarbone. The other ploughed along a rib, and buried itself in the back of the doctor's chair."

Neither man fired again, each sure the other was mortally wounded. Like marionettes they sat there staring into each other's eyes. Wisps of gun-smoke curled fantastically up between them to caress with gentle, almost timid touch the base of the hanging lamp overhead.

Logan's gun thudded to the carpet along with his gaping satchel. Overstreet's hands dropped leadenly to his sides, the muzzles of his short guns kissing the silken nap of the rug. It was a grim scene, but somehow both men looked happier. The tragic expression was lifting from the gambler's face; the stony bitterness was melting from the bleak features of the doctor.

It was three days before Logan made a complete return to consciousness. During this period of alternate deep sleep and delirium there were occasional semi-lucid intervals when he became hazily aware of his surroundings. He spent hours adrift on a billowing sea, he was lashed to a stake in the midst of savage Indians, there was snow on the ground with a church steeple in the distance behind stately trees. He revisited patients he thought he had cured, he lived over scenes with Griggsby and Overstreet, he mingled again with people he had known and persons he had killed. And over it all there presided a strange man with white hair, wrinkled cheeks, and bright, bird-like eyes.

On the third day he became fully awake to find himself in one of Judge Steele's bedrooms on a huge feather bed with a white counterpane. The snow and church and trees resolved themselves into a large picture beyond the foot of his bed. The recurrent but not unbearable nagging pains in his chest brought to his attention that his left arm had been neatly bandaged across his breast.

The door opened softly, and the white-headed man with the bird-like eyes came in. He was a stocky little man with a brisk, professional manner.

"Ah!" he beamed at sight of the patient's open eyes. "How d'you feel, Dr. Logan?"
"As well as could be expected, I guess," Logan answered weakly. "I didn't think to wake up here."
"You're doing nicely," said the energetic little man, feeling his forehead and counting his pulse. "I'm Dr. James from Clearwater. They sent for me the day before yesterday. You've got a broken left clavicle and all the cartilage gouged off the sixth rib, but you'll be as good as new in a few weeks. You need rest as much as anything. You've been wearing yourself out. Feel strong enough to have a little company?"

"Day before yesterday?" Logan croaked hoarsely.

"Don't start fretting. I've been looking after your most urgent cases. You've had a mighty fine pair of nurses. Comely girls, too. But Judge Steele and Henry Barton want to talk to you. Feel up to it?"

Logan nodded. "Bring them in," he said in a weak voice.

Bible Discourse Planned Sunday

"True Riches—Now Obtained?" is the subject of a free public Bible discourse to be delivered this Sunday, 3:00 p. m. in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's witnesses, two miles west of Greenville, N. C., on the Falkland Highway.

The speaker will be Mr. G. D. Miller of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Miller is an ordained minister and has been working for more than 20 years in Eastern North Carolina assisting the congregations of Jehovah's witnesses in their public Bible preaching work. Each week he works with a different congregation in the state, and this week the Greenville organization is receiving the attention of this minister.

The world-wide organization of Jehovah's witnesses has shown a phenomenal growth in recent years. Their work is now carried on in 106 different lands by more than 370,000 active workers.
Mr. Miller is also chairman of arrangements for their coming circuit assembly in New Bern, Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. More than 50 delegates will be attending that convention from the Greenville congregation. Their previous semi-annual assembly was held in Greenville, December 1949, with more than 650 attending.

This week the Witnesses are inviting all residents of Greenville to come and hear the free public Bible discourse this Sunday. No collections will be taken.

Clothing Industry Says Prices On Men's Suits Will Go Higher

By RADER WINGET
New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—The men's clothing industry can't see very far into the future in these troubled times, but there is one thing they agree on—prices will be higher next year.

The price level on suits now hanging on the racks of stores across the country, those in the industry say, are about the same as a year ago or slightly higher.

Next spring, however, leaders in the industry believe the price tags will be as much as 10 per cent higher than they are now.

The blame for the increase is put on military requirements for the Korean war, on rising raw wool prices, and on the possibility of higher wages for clothing industry workers. A change in any one of those three factors could cause a change in the price.

As for a year from now—the fall of 1951—there is considerable reluctance in the industry to guess the trend. That's only natural at such a distance. But those who go out on a limb with a prediction put it this way—prices aren't going down.

In the summer suit field, things are a little different. Synthetic fibers are being used more and more. That holds down price increase tendencies caused by rising raw wool quotations.

Louis Rothschild, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, in Washington says present prices are stable, but he looks for an overall price increase on spring lines. This view he bases on higher Australian wool prices which already have forced mills to increase fabric prices and on the possibility of wage increases in the clothing industry.

Rothschild also cites some imponderables in the price picture. These include the demands of the government for military needs, the use of synthetic fibers by the industry, and the possibility that the United States and Australian governments might make an agreement on wool sales.

Samuel L. Loeb, senior member of the firm of Consolidated Clothiers of New York, which serves as resident buyer and merchandise counsel for some 200 stores throughout the country, says present fall clothing prices are unchanged from a year ago with the supply ample.

Loeb believes the best interests of the industry and the consumer are not served with talk of higher prices at this time. He agrees, however, that prices on spring of 1951 lines will be "higher, without question."

Three-Year-Old Prefers A Cigar

ARLISS SMOKING

AP Newsfeatures
Blacksville, W. Va.—Arliss Allen Rockwell is only three years old but he'll take a good cigar instead of a candy bar any time.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Arliss L. Rockwell smokes three or four cigars a day. His folks have given up trying to make him quit using tobacco.

Arliss, who was three years old last Jan. 11, is well into his second year as a smoker.

The lad smokes a pipe now and then. But he doesn't like cigarettes. When he gets a cigarette, he crumbles it into a pipe and smokes the tobacco that way.

Arliss, senior, said his son began to smoke shortly after he learned to walk and as soon as he could reach ash trays and get discarded cigar butts.

"I once tried to break him of the habit by giving him a strong Italian cigar. But he smoked it down to within a half inch with no ill effects.

"As a matter of fact, he was never ill from smoking—not even the first time he picked up a burning cigar butt and smoked it."

The child's mother recalls the morning her son got out of bed before she was up and smoked a cigar before breakfast. Not even that fazed him.

Arliss is husky, has a good appetite and lots of energy. He is about average for his age in weight and height.

His parents have two other children, Charlotte, 7, and Donna Sue. Neither has shown any desire to smoke.

Free Beer Order Is Now Official

Tokyo, Sept. 14 (AP)—U. S. doughboys will get a free can of beer every day at the front in Korea.

General MacArthur ordered it today. Front line troops had been getting a can of beer about every three days.

They set up a howl Tuesday when Washington outlawed all free beer for men at the front.

Beer for combat troops under the new plan will be paid for out of Post Exchange profits instead of taxpayers' money.

To keep the record straight, Maj. Gen. William A. Belderlinden, assistant chief of staff to General MacArthur, said the free beer will be for combat men only. Rear echelon troops may buy their own at the PX.

'Pitt County Fair' And Other Works By Neel Being Displayed

"Pitt County Fair" and other original works by Francis Lee Neel, faculty member of the department of art at East Carolina Teachers College, are now on display in the campus library. The exhibition will be open to the public for the next two weeks.

The group of Mr. Neel's works is made up of all paintings and etchings and includes a campus scene at the University of Missouri, two abstracts, a study of still life, and the etchings, one of which is reminiscent of the article's experience as a paratrooper in the Pacific area during World War II.

Neel has been working for the past year. Is a study in oils in analogous colors and presents a scene of local interest.

Mr. Neel has taught at the college for the past three years and has twice given exhibitions at the Community Art Gallery of the Shepard Memorial Library here. During the past year his works were exhibited at the Missouri State Art Exhibit at the State Fair in Sedalia and at the Student Center of the University of Missouri.

Practiced Medicine For Five Years Without Medical Education; Jailed

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Officials in a half dozen eastern hospitals today pondered with amazement the fate that had befallen that "capable young doctor" who used to work for them.

The "doctor," suave, black-mustached William R. MacLeod—who practiced medicine for five years without any medical education—was starting a one-year term in Westchester county jail.

On his plea of guilty, he was sentenced by Police Judge John T. McCormick, who once received preparation care from the prisoner at the Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Hospital.

"He seemed to be the real McCoy among doctors," the Judge remarked. "I am amazed to learn he never even worked in a drug store."

MacLeod, 37, a Canadian who never had any more than an elementary and partial high school education, had treated countless patients, delivered hundreds of babies, and been considered highly competent by his colleagues.

"He was a very good doctor and a nice person," said Miss Miriam Watnick, superintendent of Brooklyn Women's Hospital, where MacLeod delivered a total of 475 babies.

The dignified, bespectacled MacLeod picked up his medical knowledge and vocabulary of English and Latin medical terms while a private in the U. S. Army Medical Corps, Westchester county jail.

Plenty Of Oil

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 14.—(AP)—There will be no need to ration petroleum products in the near future, the president of the National Petroleum Association said yesterday.

"There is plenty of all kinds of oil for everybody," said W. S. Zehring of Oil City, Pa., in an interview.

He said enough is being produced to meet both military and civilian needs and reserves are the highest in history.

State Police said. They said records indicated he had made no medical errors and never lost a patient during his work as resident physician at various hospitals.

These include Prospect Heights Hospital in Brooklyn, Hopewell Hospital at Preakness, N. P., and others at Bayville, N. J., and Manchester and Hartford, Conn.

For the last four months, he had been senior resident physician at the Dobbs Ferry hospital. With forced diplomas from two European medical schools, MacLeod got himself registered with a recognized medical agency here five years ago, and got his first job at the Brooklyn Hospital.

State Police trooper Harry Broadbent said MacLeod's duplicity was discovered when he failed to make an installment payment on an automobile, and a Hartford finance company asked a check on him.

Suspend License For 428 Drivers

Raleigh — Revocations for the month of August reached 1,140, while 428 persons had their licenses suspended, the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles reported today.

Drunken driving accounted for 795 of the violations which ended in revocation or suspension of driver's licenses. Last year, during August, 417 were convicted of driving drunk. Fifty-five of the defendants were convicted on second offense. Seven are convicted on third offense.

Thirty-nine persons were convicted of driving after their licenses were revoked and 11 of driving after licenses were suspended. Aiding and abetting in drunken driving convicted three persons. Ten persons were found guilty of hit and run, involving property damage. Thirty persons were guilty of two offenses of reckless driving.

Other convictions were as follows: Reckless driving, involving personal injury and property damage, 15; speeding over 75 miles per hour, 52; two offenses of speeding over 55 miles per hour, 31; larceny of automobile, 15; involuntary manslaughter, one; manslaughter, two; transporting liquor, 51; improper use of operator's license, eight; unsatisfied judgment, 19; incompetency, two; habitual violator, 21; failure to maintain proof of financial responsibility, 118.

Advices Slower Leaf Marketing

Raleigh, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Flue-cured tobacco growers were urged yesterday to slow down marketing of their leaf in order to protect prices.

W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist for the N. C. Department of Agriculture, said that the heavy rate of sales on flue-cured markets had congested redrying plants of tobacco buying companies.

He said that these companies had slowed down their purchases as a result. This, he said, had caused prices of leaf grades to drop from $2 to $3 a hundred pounds on Eastern Belt markets.

"I think it's up to the growers to slow up this thing," said Hedrick. "If the growers would just slow up their deliveries to the markets, I think it will pay them in the long run."

Hedrick pointed out that a total of about 130,000,000 pounds of tobacco was sold on markets of the Carolinas border, Eastern and Middle belts last week, and that markets of the Old belt will open tomorrow.

"When the Old belt opens and this additional volume goes in, I just don't know what we can expect," Hedrick added.

Marines Experienced As Stewards Sought To Fill Vacancies

Raleigh, N. C.—The Marine Corps issued a call today for ex-Marines with experience as stewards.

This marks the first time in more than two years that vacancies have occurred in this specialty, Capt. M. D. Smith Jr., director of Marine recruiting for the state of North Carolina, reported.

Ex-Marines with steward's duty experience re-enlisting now will be exempted from taking the Armed Forces Qualification Test—which is used to establish educational qualifications by all branches of the Armed Services.

Applicants from North Carolina, with previous Marine Corps experience as stewards, will be transferred to Camp Lejeune, N. C., upon enlistment.

Broke Windows To Steal Three Imitation Hams

Chicago, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A window was smashed in Novak's meat market at 1200 North Wells Street last night and glass fell on an attractive display of hams.

A block away policemen in a squad car heard the crash of breaking glass and raced to the scene. They quickly caught up with Lester Brown, 23, rushing down the street with three ham-like bundles in his arms.

Policemen said the hams were works of art—oil paintings on a papier mache covering with a stuffing of sawdust. They held Brown on an open charge.

BUS-TER OF BOTTLENECKS: Harrisburg's plan at work. Harrisburg—(AP)—A new twist in meeting the parking problem. Pennsylvania's capital city has a big island right in the middle of the mile-wide Susquehanna river. Except for a ball park and a water filter station, the island was overrun with weeds and rubble. But only seven minutes away in downtown Harrisburg, streets were congested with parked automobiles. Why not use the island to help get some of the cars off the street, asked Mayor Claude R. Robins. He went to work with merchants on the idea. A novel parking plan was the result. The city offered free parking on the island and free bus service to and from the city from the parking lot. The merchants pick up the tab for the bus service over two bridges. How is it working out? "Just fine," Robins says, but: "The job now is to educate more people to use the place. The trouble today is that most people prefer to park directly in front of where they are going," Robins observed.

British Losing Shanghai Hotels

Singapore—(AP)—British hotel owners in Shanghai are forfeiting their hotels owned for generations by their families, rather than bring in fresh capital to keep them going, says Mrs. Jessie Ferguson, a Shanghai resident for 27 years, who is now on her way back to England. Foreign residents found it extremely difficult to live in the Red-held city, she said. Business was slack. There was only one guest in a 15-story skyscraper. Hotel owners had to pay heavy taxation to the government—a policy designed to get rid of the foreign investor so the Reds could take over, she said.

Escape Artist Is Again Captured

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 14—(AP)—Two convicts who fled from the Currituck County Prison Camp Wednesday were picked up in Petersburg, Va., yesterday, the Prison Department reported today. Assistant Prisons Director H. H.

Honeycutt said officers apprehended Harry Bryant, 35-year-old Fayetteville man, and William Gurganus, 30, of Goldsboro. Honeycutt said officers planned to bring the escapees back to this state sometime today. Bryant has turned into an escape artist since he was sentenced in Cumberland, Bladen and Chatham Counties in March, 1940, to seven to 10 years for robbery, larceny and larceny of an automobile. He has escaped five times before, once fleeing the same day for his recapture from an earlier break. The longest time he was free was from October, 1941, until September, 1944. Gurganus was sentenced in June, 1949, in Wayne County to two to three years for larceny.

Nurse Tells How Hadacol Was So Helpful To Her

She Suffered Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin

Mrs. Jennie Lee Adele, 412 N. 27 St., East St. Louis, Ill., says being a nurse really lets her know when folks are sick. That is why when she tried all sorts of remedies and didn't get relief, she knew she was in bad shape. That was, of course, before she heard about HADACOL and before she found out she had a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Here is Mrs. Adele's own statement: "I have been a nurse for over 14 years. I had to stop working and went to the hospital. I was suffering all kinds of dizzy spells, weakness and growing weaker. I had pains in my chest, and I could hardly eat. My food never seemed to agree with me. I was terribly run down and growing worse. I had tried all kinds of remedies. Don't think I wasn't plenty scared—'cause I know, being a nurse, when folks are really in bad shape. . . . I heard one day how so many folks were being helped because of HADACOL. I tried it and after 3 bottles I could tell a big improvement. Now I eat anything I want—sleep well and I don't have dizzy spells any more—I am full of energy. The only thing about HADACOL is that I didn't find out about it sooner. Now I am going back to work at last, thanks to wonderful HADACOL."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results
So what are you waiting for? Don't you see that HADACOL is the kind of product you need—the kind you should buy and the kind you should start taking immediately!
Sold On A Strict Money-Back Guarantee
HADACOL even helps build up the hemoglobin of red blood cells (when iron is needed) to course through your body, carrying these great health-building elements to every body organ—the liver, lungs, heart, kidneys—even to the nails, hair and eyes. No wonder HADACOL helps you feel wonderful.
Be fair to yourself! Give yourself a break if you have such deficiencies! Why continue to drag yourself around—a burden to yourself and your family—when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drug store? This great HADACOL is inexpensive, too—costs only a small amount a day. Trial size, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size $3.50. (C) 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation.

It Adds So Much to the Joy of Living!
You walk out of the house, and there it stands—waiting for you in the driveway.
You've seen it hundreds of times before—but it's so attractive, there in the sunlight, that you stop instinctively for a second look.
The sun lights up the gleaming chrome and frames the whole gorgeous picture. The soft finish shimmers in the shadows. A pattern of hand-tailored fabric shows through the open window. And there's the beautiful steering wheel—inviting you in.
Yes, it's a lovely day! And the next thing you know, you're out in traffic—and the powerful, soft-throated engine is gliding you along as if by automatic propulsion.
You ride so softly and quietly and easily that judging time and distance is the hardest work you do!
The lights turn red and the lights turn green—the hills and valleys flow under the wheels . . . and every stretch of highway ahead is a study in enchantment.
Though you take to the highway ten times a day, each trip is a thrill all over again. You thrill to its beauty, the way it rides, the way it behaves, the way it handles—and, being human, you like the admiring glances which other motorists toss your way.
Happiness, as everyone knows, is a state of mind—but it is aided and abetted by your satisfaction with the things about you.
And this we can promise for Cadillac: It will add to your satisfaction every mile you drive. Many say it enriches their lives to an unbelievable degree.
Why not get one for your happiness—today?

Laundry Trouble

Frets High And Low Czech Reds

Prague — (AP) — The housewife whose linen was lost in the laundry and the man whose suit was damaged at the cleaner's have found friends in high places. The Prague Communist newspaper "Rude Pravo" and the Prague district organization of the Czechoslovak Communist Party have come to their rescue with a cleanup campaign, and they have been assured that everything will come out in the wash.

The paper reported their troubles and announced corrective measures in a recent column devoted to letters to the editor.

The executive board of the Prague district committee of the Communist Party agreed the situation was bad. It decided that a new laundry must be started to handle 43 per cent more work; inefficient workers replaced, and "the political and technological level of employees" raised generally.

Jesse King Left Pitt County In 1918, But It's Still 'Home'

By JOHN SPINKS JR.

Though a prodigal for 32 years, Jesse King, grandson of Moses King, who was for a time a Negro policeman on the Greenville force during the middle 1890s, spent a few days here reminiscing over familiar sites of his childhood and with friends he had known before leaving for work in the north.

King now resides at Port Washington, Long Island, New York, and has been employed with one of the Brooklyn branches of the Post Office as a postal clerk. Having lived in New York since leaving the South in 1918, the 57-year-old Negro has established a home in New York but still considers Greenville and Pitt County his real "home."

That fact was strongly brought out when he stated yesterday he is coming back here in three years when his retirement from the postal service can begin.

As a young school boy Jesse worked in his grandfather's meat market, the first of its kind to be operated in town by a Negro. Located in the first block on Fifth Street east of Five Points, he delivered parcels of meat to his grandfather's customers during the afternoons.

After finishing his schooling here he went away, never to return for any length of time. Prior to going to work with the government, Jesse worked at odd jobs in Rocky Mount and in New York City.

Now he has a wife and two children, both of whom are married and have children. When his retirement begins in 1953, he plans to bring his family down here to live permanently.

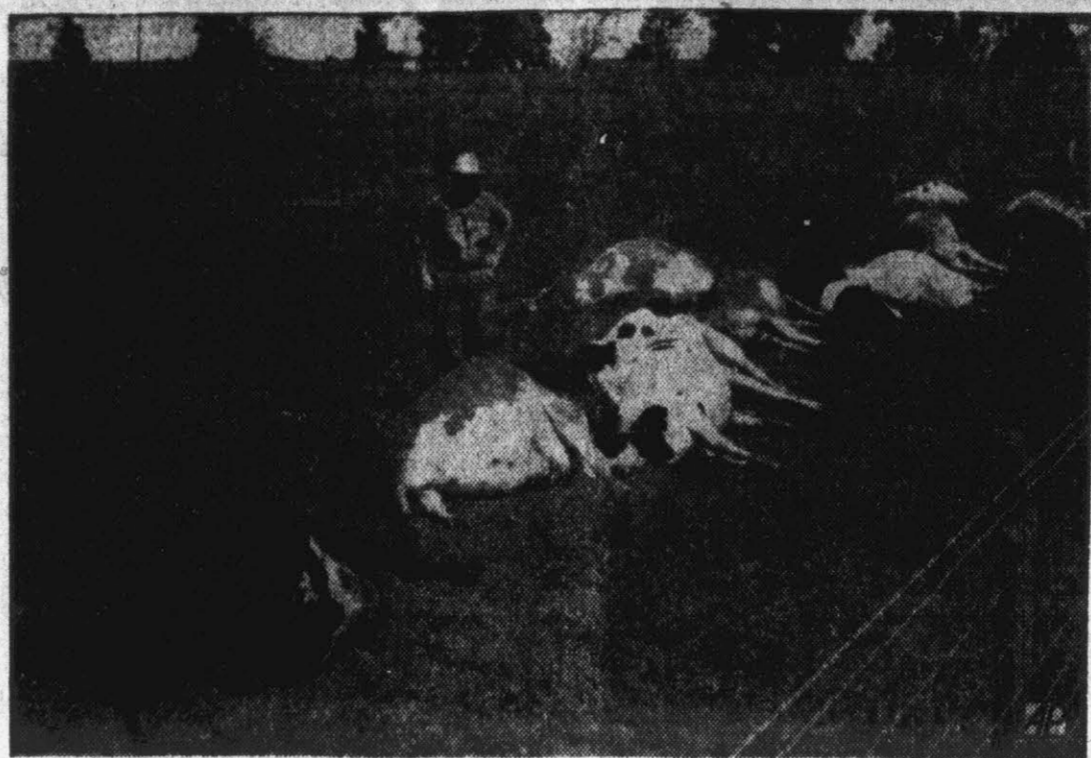

It will be hard to leave his friends and associates in the north, particularly those friendships he has formed in the church of which he is a trustee and deacon. "But, after all, a person can't forget his raising," he says.

More than 225 soldiers of the Seventh Cavalry were annihilated with General George A. Custer at the Battle of the Little Bighorn in 1876.

BD = BAD DISPOSITION

BD means Black-Draught, the friendly laxative so helpful to relieve headaches, sluggishness and tiredness when ordinary constipation disrupts you. Popular with four generations. Made of pure, imported herbs. Take as directed for gentle, natural-like action. Black-Draught is compounded by a manufacturer known since 1867 for quality. Black-Draught in powder or granulated form costs a penny or less a dose. For children, get Syrup of Black-Draught. It tastes good. Next time use Black-Draught. Ask for the form you prefer at your nearest dealer's.

THE FAMILY BLACK-DRAUGHT LAXATIVE

Nineteen cows on a dairy farm near Miami, Fla., were electrocuted by lightning that struck a power line and plummeted into a field where they were grazing. Bruce Blitting, an employe of the dairy, looks over some of the victims which were struck down in a straight row. (AP Photo).

Tract To Become Recreation Area

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 14—(AP)—A 4,000-acre tract of land in Onslow county soon will be turned into the first complete assembly and recreation area for Negroes on the North Carolina coast.

This was announced yesterday by Dr. H. L. Trigg, president of St. Augustine's College here and a member of the state board of education.

The Negro educator said the area will be developed on land to be granted by Dr. William Sharpe, noted New York Neuro-surgery specialist. The deed for the property, located just south of Swansboro near Camp Lejeune, will be presented tomorrow to the board of directors of the Hammocks Beach Corporation.

Dr. Trigg said that after the presentation plans will begin at once to prepare the area for use. He explained that the grant will conclude five years of effort by the state's 7,900 Negro teachers to qualify for the land.

Dr. Sharpe, he said, met with 25 or more leaders of both races here on Aug. 21, 1948, and outlined the purposes and conditions of his gift. One condition was that the teachers raise a reasonable sum for necessary buildings. The fund drive netted more than $90,000, said Dr. Trigg.

Campaign Plans Discussed By N.C. Republicans

Statesville, N. C., Sept. 14—(AP)—The state Republican party executive committee discussed campaign strategy for the November elections and elected several new officials at a meeting here yesterday.

Officers elected were Clyde Greene of Boone, secretary; William I. Ward of Statesville, assistant secretary; and Dr. J. W. Davis, of Statesville, treasurer.

The committee disclosed plans for three campaign rallies—one in the Asheville area, one in the Catawba-Burke area and one in the Burlington-Asheboro area. The committee said invitations would be sent to U. S. Senators William F.

Knowland (R-Calif.) and Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) to address the rallies.

Find Bread Used For Bookmarks

Johnson City, Penna.—(AP)—Do you use a piece of bread for a bookmark or a comb or a pair of scissors? Maybe you don't but some people do, because these are among the things librarians at the Mayne Williams Library here have found in books.

Other customers have used pencils, bobby pins, nail files, powder puffs, baby mittens and letters. There are lots of letters, especially those with "please remit" written on them.

Million Trained British Fighters

London—(AP)—Britain's Universal Military Service for men from 18 to 28 is being extended as of Oct. 1, 1950 from 18 months to two years. She now has more than 1,000,000 men trained for her armed services, government reports show. Seven out of every eight British soldiers are now serving overseas. Some 100,000 of them are now fighting Communists in Malaya.

Annapolis, Md., was at one time called the "Athens" of the new world.

YDC Convention Delegates Arrive

Asheville, N.C., Sept. 14—(AP)—Delegates began arriving here early today for the annual convention of the North Carolina Young Democrats Club which officially opens tonight.

Tomorrow night, Senator-nominate Willis Smith of Raleigh will address the delegates at a barbecue supper. Smith will be introduced by Gov. Kerr Scott.

The principal convention speaker is Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas. He will address a banquet Saturday night.

Hubert May, Nashville attorney and chairman of the YDC in the Fourth Congressional District, will deliver the convention keynote address at the first general business session Friday afternoon.

Saturday morning nominees for the General Assembly will attend a breakfast, with Gov. Scott, Lieutenant Gov. H. P. Taylor, and Secretary of State Thad Eure as speakers.

Mrs. Kay Owsley Glass of Washington, D.C., vice president of the national organization, will speak at the women's meeting Saturday morning.

NEW COAL FIELD

London—(AP)—A new coal field has been found in central England. It is estimated to contain 200 million tons of good quality coal. A mine is planned for the new field which is expected to turn out 1.5 million tons a year.

COME TO OUR "GOOD NEWS" OPEN HOUSE

YOU MAY WIN A FREE Youngstown Kitchens JET-TOWER DISHWASHER that completely modernizes dishwashing

As Our Guest, You Receive a FREE TICKET entitling you to a chance on a Youngstown Kitchens Jet-Tower Dishwasher.

PLUS A FREE BONUS CHANCE on a "Jet-Tower Junior" Dishwasher—a perfect 1/4-scale model of the Youngstown Kitchens Jet-Tower Dishwasher, with miniature dishes, pans and silverware. It's 10" high and it actually works. It was originated to demonstrate the Jet-Tower—but it makes a wonderful, thrilling toy for the children—when they can get it away from the grown-ups!

COME TO OUR "GOOD NEWS" OPEN HOUSE

SEE the wonderful JET-TOWER brush-flush action wash dishes, glassware, and silver spotlessly clean, shining bright—in just 9 1/2 minutes!

YOU'LL NEVER FORGET THIS SENSATIONAL DEMONSTRATION—for now, with this new-principle Automatic Dishwasher, automatic dishwashing becomes as much a matter-of-course as your use of the vacuum cleaner or the washing machine.

A CORDIAL WELCOME AWAITS YOU! See a dishwashing demonstration you'll never forget! You may win a wonderful Jet-Tower Dishwasher—FREE! Or a "Jet-Tower Junior" Dishwasher for the children.

CHILDREN LOVE THIS WORKING MODEL OF THE JET-TOWER DISHWASHER—and the full set of plastic dishes that comes with it!
