

Industrial Group Here, Plan Open Manufacturing Plant

Survey Indicates Labor Supply Available; Now Looking For Space; Firm Manufactures Women's Blouses And Sportswear

Industrial representatives were in Greenville today making arrangements for the opening of a plant which will employ 300 to 500 people in the manufacture of women's blouses and sportswear.

Whether or not the plant would actually begin operations here hinged on the problem of getting the necessary building for housing the operations.

Phillip A. Brooks and Herman Epstein this morning conferred with Manager W. T. Kizer of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce in reference to labor for their proposed operations, and available building space.

During the morning more than 70 women made applications at the Chamber of Commerce office for sewing jobs which will be available at the new manufacturing plant. Brooks, after looking over the applications, commented, "We are convinced there is plenty of help here. Now all we have to find is the space."

Brooks and Epstein would not divulge the name of the manufacturing company they represent, but said, "We represent one of the largest blouse companies in the world." Epstein said if adequate space is available here for the manufacturing operations, "we hope to be in operation within the month. We hope ultimately to employ from 300 to 500 people. If we can get the right space we are going to open up." He added that approximately 90 percent of the employees in the plant will be women. The plant would operate 32 weeks a year.

Brooks was here several months ago at the time the equipment formerly used by American Lady Inc. was being sold out in Greenville. At the time Brooks conferred with the company officials who owned the American Lady equipment, but was unable to make arrangements to secure the equipment and the plant. He also conferred with Manager Kizer at the time.

Since that time, however, Matt R. Long, president of Greenville Spinnery Inc., has announced that the plant formerly occupied by American Lady has been leased to another concern which is expected to begin operations in the near future. Neither the name of the company nor the nature of the industry has been made public.

Manager Kizer said after today's applications for jobs in the blouse plant will be taken at the office of the Employment Security Commission. Brooks and Epstein this morning informed Manager W. B. Dillingham of the local office that they intend to do all their hiring through the employment office.

Kizer commented, "They say they want to open up in two weeks if they can get a temporary location here while they are getting a permanent building. They said they will send us a blue print of a building like they want."

As for the industrial outlook in this area, Kizer said, "I feel like there will be other industries in Greenville before too many months. I am pleased with the interest being shown in industry in eastern North Carolina."

SOCIALISTS WIN EASILY
Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The Socialists today appeared easy victors in Sunday's nationwide local elections. Unofficial returns gave them almost 90 percent of the total vote and indicated a crushing defeat for the Communists.

Long Awaited Treaty

Move To Step Up Negotiations On Jap Peace Pact Is Big Relief To Western Nations And Welcomed By All Asia; Occupation Of Nippon Propagandized

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Washington's move to inaugurate preliminary negotiations for a long delayed peace treaty will be received with relief both by the west—especially powers having eastern interests—and by Asia itself.

It is five years since the Japanese surrender, and this long military occupation of Nippon has been seized on by some Oriental countries as a basis for repeating the cry of "imperialism" against the west.

That is one of the major issues in Asia, and it has been the cause of numerous political upheavals that have followed the world war. Many far eastern countries of course have a very real fear of "imperialism," and in some cases with good reason. There has been exploitation of colonial peoples. Moreover, there has been an amazing awakening of the Orient during the past few years. This has been accompanied by a surge of nationalism which has resulted in independence of many dependencies from the "mother" countries. It has been my privilege to see much of this transformation at close range, in visits to the Far East during the past generations.

College Athletic Foundation Drive To Be Re-Opened

ECTC Stadium Committee Meets Tonight; Set $7,500 Scholarship Goal

Directors and members of the East Carolina Teachers College Stadium committee will meet tonight at 7 o'clock to hear reports on the College Athletic foundation, and to begin a new drive for athletic funds for the college.

Chairman E. E. Rawl of the stadium committee will preside at the supper meeting which will be held in the north dining hall on the East Carolina campus.

The committee this year is seeking $7,500 for athletic scholarships for the college, and Rawl said when the amount is raised, it will be enough to see the college athletic program through the 1950 and 1951 seasons.

Approximately 50 Greenville businessmen who are members of the stadium committee have been invited to the meeting tonight. The members of the committee tomorrow will begin contacting local merchants who will be asked to make contributions to the East Carolina athletic fund. The directors have designed this week as "Welcome Week" for Greenville and signs welcoming the students and faculty of the college will be presented to each of the first contributing to the fund.

Those who are slated to make talks on the program tonight include President John D. Messick of the college Athletic director N. M. Jorgensen, football coach Bill Cole, basketball coach Howard Porter, baseball coach Jack Regan and boxing coach Joe Long.

Chairman Rawl this morning expressed confidence that the business firms and individuals in Greenville would raise the $7,500 quota set for the fund for this year. "I don't think we'll have a bit of trouble," he commented.

During 1948 the stadium committee and the people of Greenville raised approximately $30,000 which was used for the construction of the stadium, and last year the stadium committee raised approximately $10,000 for athletic scholarships.

Know Nothing Of Peace Feelers

Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The State Department said today there have been no known peace overtures from the North Korean communists.

Reporters were told by Press Officer Lincoln White that the Department has "absolutely nothing to confirm" a London report published in an Italian newspaper that feelers have been made.

White said the normal channel for proposals for a settlement would be the United Nations.

Another Battleship To Return To Active Fleet

Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The Navy said today that the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey is being de-mothballed for return to active fleet.

She will be the second battleship in operation. Her sister ship, the Missouri, arrived in the Far East last week to start shooting duty in the war.

The "Mighty Mo," aboard which the Japanese surrender documents were signed to end World War II, had been in the Atlantic Fleet, used merely for training purposes. Two other 45,000-ton battleships remain in the reserve fleet—the Wisconsin tied up at Norfolk, Va., and the Iowa at San Francisco.

The de-mothbaling of the New Jersey has started at the Brooklyn, N.Y., Navy Yard where she has been in storage. She was commissioned soon after the Iowa, first of the class, went to sea in May, 1943. Both the New Jersey and the Wisconsin were withdrawn from the active fleet at about the same time, December, 1947.

Plans for the pact already have been under discussion at the current meeting of the big three Foreign Ministers in New York. The United States takes the position that the treaty should be framed by the 13 World War Pacific allies, including Russia. However, Moscow has been insisting that the pact be drafted by the big four Pacific powers—America, Britain, Russia and Communist China.

The question therefore arises whether, if Russia persists in this stand, the other powers shall go ahead without her. Washington has declined to cross that bridge until it has been built. It has declined to cross that bridge until it has been built. It has declined to cross that bridge until it has been built.

Saw GIs Burned

Sgt. Lester Marcum of Vaughn's Mill, Ky., told authorities in Korea that he saw at least three of his buddies thrown into a huge roaring fire by their Red captors on the western front recently. Marcum said he witnessed the atrocities from a distance of about 300 yards. He said he heard one of them scream: "Don't do it! Don't do it!" He managed to escape to the American lines to tell his story to a board of inquiry of the U. S. Second Division. (AP Wirephoto)

Minor Accidents During Weekend

No One Injured, Property Damage Light In Two Wrecks

Two minor automobile accidents were reported in Pitt County over the weekend. However, there was very little property damage and no one was reported injured.

A car reportedly driven by a negro man, William Staton, of Winterville, got out of control on a curve near the Fire Tower Saturday afternoon, going into a ditch.

Patrolman Dick Chadwick, investigating officer, stated today that investigation of the accident is not complete. As far as could be determined there was no one injured in the accident and there was very little damage to the car. Chadwick said.

Around seven o'clock last night two cars collided as one car attempted to make a left hand turn and was struck in the side by another car passing at the same time.

A car operated by William Ernest Meeks, of Route 1, Dover, was starting to make the left hand turn when struck by a car driven by Amos Joyner, negro, of Route 1, Grifton. The accident occurred near Ayden.

Damage to both cars was confined to the left and right front fenders. No arrests were made in the case. Patrolman R. C. Holt reported.

Marines Called Scattered Men To Make Attack

Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The Marines reached as far as the Mediterranean to get manpower for the amphibious attack at Inchon.

They almost literally followed the words of their battle song to gather up men "from the halls of Konavle to the shore of Tripoli."

Marines were hustled to the far east from almost every part in the world where a large or small marine outfit was stationed. In many of these places newly called reserves took over.

So precise was the timing and so urgent the demand for men that two elements of the marine corps reached the war zone just in time to go ashore for the invasion.

Charlotte, N.C. Sept. 18 — (AP)—The shotgun slaying yesterday of a Negro man brought Charlotte's homicides for the year to 22. The city had 11 homicides in 1949.

Pre-Induction Tests For Pitt Men Wednesday

First Draft Of 165 Men Going To Raleigh For Tests, Return Same Day

Pitt County's first draft of men will leave here early Wednesday morning for pre-induction examinations in Raleigh.

Numbering 165 in all, the men will leave here at 6:15 and return the same day. Their few hours in the state capital will determine if they are eligible, mentally and physically, for active duty in the nation's armed forces.

Notifications from the local selective service board have been sent to more than the 165—the number asked for by the state board in Raleigh. The extra names have been ordered to report to make up for expected absentees due to enlistments, marriage or other types of deferments.

Clerk Selma Evans reported this morning at least nine men who have been notified to report have, in the meantime, been transferred to other local boards in the state. She stated several men have notified the board they have enlisted since receiving their call.

Still others have had their notifications returned due to incorrect addresses. Those, plus the transfers and enlistments, will be deleted from Pitt's quota. Others will have to be substituted.

A warning issued by the clerk concerns all men who have been notified to report for examination and who fail to show up. Their names will be turned over to the FBI for investigation, she said.

Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Spying

Greenville, Tenn., Sept. 18 — (AP)—Alfred Dean Slack pleaded guilty to federal court today to charges of wartime spying for Russia.

Assistant U. S. Atty. James M. Meek immediately recommended a 10-year prison sentence for the 44-year-old Syracuse, N.Y., chemist. Meek said Slack had admitted passing on to Russian agents secrets in the manufacture of RDX, a high explosive.

He told Judge Robert L. Taylor that U. S. Attorney General Howard McGrath and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were agreeable to the 10-year sentence.

"In view of the fact Slack resisted in giving information to the Russian agents when he realized it was for Russia, the government is willing to accept the ten-year sentence," Meek told the court.

Assistant HD Agent Arrives

Miss Helen Hicks assumed her duties this morning as assistant home demonstration agent for the county. The woman's college graduate came here from Wilmington to take over the work formerly handled by Miss Marjorie Shearin who recently enrolled for study at Purdue University.

Miss Hicks will work with the county 4-H clubs in addition to her demonstration work.

Senate Confirms Delegate To UN

Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The Senate confirmed today President Truman's nomination of Benjamin V. Cohen of New York to be a member of the American delegation to the United Nations.

Pincers On Seoul

American and South Korean Marines have stormed to the outskirts of Seoul, Red-held South Korean capital. The attack came from the southwest and the northwest. After landing at Inchon (wide open area), Marines fanned out to take Kimpo Airfield (center of upper row), 15 miles north of the capital. Other units took suburban Yongdungpo after street fighting led by tanks. (AP Wirephoto).

Master-Plan Of Civil Defense Is Unwrapped Today By Govm't

Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The government unwrapped today a master civil defense plan telling states and cities that home front casualties can be cut in half with trained experts and millions of volunteers.

President Truman approved the plan, which lacked any price tag or timetable. Along with a bill to create a new, separate federal civil defense administration, Mr. Truman sent it to a Congress which probably will do nothing about authority or money for the program before next year.

The program is built around:

1. Cooperation on a big scale among federal, state and local governments, with each sharing some of the responsibility and expense.

2. Providing pre-attack precautions and post-attack help mainly for some 140 "critical target areas"—cities and installations an enemy almost certainly would hit first and hardest. Yet "all communities should anticipate some form of attack" and prepare accordingly.

3. Mutual aid pacts among cities and states, even reaching a hand across the borders to Mexican and Canadian neighbors.

4. Bringing civil defense eventually down to the individual—every person should know what he must do in an emergency.

Mr. Truman suggested in a message that Congress "consider this report carefully over the next few weeks" as a basis for passing legislation "in the near future."

"I believe," he said, "this report presents a sound and workable outline of the civil defense problems we face, and what the federal, state and local governments should do to meet them."

The President urged that governors and mayors, who are being sent copies, "move ahead rapidly" with their own civil defense plans.

Enumerators About Wind Up Work On New City Directory

The enumerators for the 1950-51 city directory for Greenville expect to complete their work here by the end of this week, Cora S. Powell, executive secretary of the Merchants Association reported today.

The Southern Directory Company of Asheville, N. C., has the contract for compiling and printing and distributing the new city directory. A company representative today requested those who have changed their address since the enumeration work started to report the change to the enumerators.

CAPTURE 38 WOMEN
With U. S. second Division, Korea, Sept. 18 — (AP)—Units of the U. S. second division captured 38 North Korean nurses today.

It was the largest number of enemy service women seized in one day since the Korean war began.

Truman Signs Measure Clearing Gen. Marshall

Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—President Truman signed today the bill allowing Gen. George C. Marshall to become secretary of defense. The White House said Marshall's formal nomination to the post would be sent to the senate for confirmation at once.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Marshall has asked that he be sworn into office at the Pentagon without any special ceremony. He can't take the oath, of course, until the senate approves him or before Louis Johnson steps out as defense secretary tomorrow.

Ross said Mr. Truman also signed a bill authorizing him to appoint Gen. Omar N. Bradley to the permanent five star rank of General of the Army.

It took a special law to make Marshall eligible for the defense post because of a ban in the armed forces unification act. This act says no one who has been a commissioned officer in the military services within the past 10 years can be defense secretary. Congress made an exception in Marshall's case.

Added Reserve Officers Called
Washington, Sept. 18 — (AP)—The Army today more than doubled its call-up of reserve officers by adding 9,565 captains and lieutenants to the original summons for 7,882 company grade officers.

In addition the Army ordered up 205 chaplain captains and 240 Army aviation officers.

The ground troop officers called up today will go on active duty during November for at least 21 months.

Belt's Tobacco Markets Begin Holiday Wednesday
With the impending close of tobacco markets in the Eastern Belt, Greenville Supervisor of Sales W. L. Whedbee would make no comment concerning the meeting in Raleigh yesterday when the markets were ordered closed.

As was requested by a warehouseman at the meeting of the Warehouse Association, all floors will stop selling tobacco at the close of auctions Wednesday. They are to remain closed for an indefinite period.

Whedbee stated this morning he did not want to make any statement as to why the closings were ordered. He did not attend the meeting. He said "There has been a lot of talk on both sides and I don't want to make any comment on it."

He stated that on the floors they will clear of tobacco during tomorrow's and Wednesday's sales which will run for four and a half hours. All floors were cleared this morning. He expects to have full sales both tomorrow and Wednesday.

After Wednesday it is expected all warehouses in the blue-clothed belts will be closed until the Association holds another meeting. Probably at that meeting a reopening order will be voted upon.

However, no date has been set for the meeting. Some rumors are out to the effect it will be held next Monday although nothing official is known at this time.

Has Evidence?
Lake Success, Sept. 18 — (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur was reported today to have informed the United Nations he has positive evidence that Russia supplied munitions to North Korea in 1949 and 1950 and that Communist China supplied "trained manpower."

Informed quarters said MacArthur made his statement in his latest report to the Security Council as commander of U. N. forces in Korea. The report was received by U. N. secretary-general Trygve Lie this morning, but it has not yet been made public.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik has insisted that Russia has given the Korean Communists no military supplies since 1948, when the Soviet army was withdrawing from North Korea.

Kimpo Airfield Al- ready An Allied Base; Marines Probe For Crossings On Han River; U.S. Bat- talion Crosses Nak- tong On Old Beach- head; Reds Feel Squeeze

Tokyo, Sept. 18 — (AP)—American marines stabbed to within three miles of Seoul today at the head of 40,000 mauling allied troops ordered to make the Red Koreans surrender or die.

The Leathernecks spearheaded the 10th Corps liberation force now rolling in a crushing tide on the Red-held South Korean capital. Seoul's liberation appeared to be at hand.

The marines' vanguard was about one mile from Yongdungpo, Seoul suburb on the south bank of the Han River. The allied force must cross the Han to take Seoul itself.

Fifteen miles northwest of the city, a second marine column hurled back five pre-dawn assaults and secured Kimpo airfield. Then it drove north to the banks of the Han.

Kimpo airfield already is in operation as an allied base with an excellent paved runway.

A United Nations communique tonight said marines were probing for crossings along the Han River line on the outskirts of Seoul.

The communique said allied casualties have been light and enemy casualties were heavy.

"The enemy has not yet recovered from the initial tactical surprise" of the Inchon beachhead landing, the communique said. It added: "Piecemeal entry into action of various enemy formations has led to their complete destruction."

Official reports Sunday that marines were fighting in the outskirts of Seoul proved premature at that time.

As the big offensive mounted at both ends of South Korea, allied warplanes shivered the Reds with 3,000,000 leaflets warning them they must give up or die now.

On the old southeast Korean beachhead, an American battalion crossed the Nakdong River and set up a firm bridgehead on the west bank.

Allied forces had withdrawn to the east bank Aug. 4.

U. S. Second Division troops made the crossing west of Changan-yong. The Reds drove back three U. S. patrols which tried to cross at another point.

On the northeastern front of the old beachhead, two allied battalions crossed to the north bank of the Kyongang River. The river was just south of Pohang port on the east coast.

Allied forces mostly made steady progress all along the 135-mile southeast perimeter. But the Reds resisted fiercely at several points.

There were indications the Reds—caught in the allied nutcracker—were pulling forces from the southeast front to defend Seoul. AP Correspondent Reiman Morin, in the Inchon-Seoul beachhead, reported evidence of suicidal resistance in surprisingly weak and wild-eyed Red forces.

Allied fliers spotted a fast Red motorized column racing north from Taejon, 90 miles south of Seoul. Warplanes blasted the moving Communist troop column.

The Navy said belated reports from the Inchon-Seoul sector said 17 Russian-made tanks were destroyed by marine ground weapons and 18 others were knocked out by Navy and marine carrier planes.

Allied planes ranged all over the two fronts.

Carrier-based Navy and marine planes hit Red airfields within 150 miles of the Inchon beachhead.

U. S. Fifth Air Force fighters here and among American allies abroad.

The 81st Congress voted this country into a long-range re-arming program and other Congresses will have to carry on from there.

As an example of how Congress reacted: the armed forces were going to get about $15,000,000,000. Now they'll get about double that figure.

What did this 81st Congress do? It may be easier to mention first the things it didn't do—or, rather, the things which President Truman asked it to do but which got ignored, swamped, or stopped.

The 81st Congress did not repeal the Taft-Hartley Act; it did not provide federal aid to education; it put through none of Mr. Truman's civil rights program.

Mr. Truman wanted a national health program, but Congress brushed that aside. And although he had wanted a Universal Military Training program, he didn't get it. (Later, under pressure of the Korean crisis, Congress got ready to consider UMT. Mr. Truman said, in effect, what until next year? This is what the 81st Congress

Campus Students Enjoy Varied Periods Of Fun And Worship

Parties held at the various churches on Thursday for students attending ROTC were well attended. At the Pentecostal Holiness Church, the students were guests of the young people of the church. A short devotional period was conducted at the parsonage by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph R. Johnson. Following this the group assembled on the lawn of the church for a time of recreation. After participating in several games, a wicker roast was held, and the cooking was done outdoors. Lemonade was served and the evening was terminated with the introduction and welcome to all new students and a time of fellowship was enjoyed around the dining fire. At the Episcopal Church, the campus students were welcomed at the door of Friendly Hall, a section of the church building devoted exclusively to the use of college young people. Standing at the door were Al Liversay, student worker for the church, the rector, Mr. Ernest H. Williams and Mrs. Williams, and Mrs. O. L. Joyner, Jr., president of the Woman's Auxiliary. Mrs. C. A. White, Mrs. Earl Forbes, and Mrs. Lee Folger welcomed them to the refreshment table from which punch, sandwiches, and cakes were served buffet style. The guests enjoyed games of bridge and canasta, charades, singing and dancing. About sixty assembled for the evening of fellowship and fun. At the First Presbyterian Church, a progressive party was held. The students met at the college post office and went from there to the maine. A gathering at the church was held, during which time devotionals were conducted followed by recreation and refreshments. Visits were made to the homes of some of the church members where singing and music were enjoyed. The theme carried out at the Welcome Party for Disciple Preference students at the 8th St. Christian Church Thursday night was "Rain or Shine." The large room on the first floor of the church was very appropriately decorated with a huge multi-color rainbow with a "pot of gold" at one end of the room. In each of the six windows was a different color of the rainbow and at the opposite end from the rainbow was another display of the rainbow colors. Entertainment was greatly enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. Lee Hannah and Mrs. B. W. Dunn, Jr. Several contest games were held and winners of these were Jack Wirth, Janice Harrison, Jean Shaver, Kathy Long, and Ray Sears. A highlight in the entertainment was the participation of different couples in a "talent show." Many of these "talents" were quite original and added fun and laughs to the party. A fellowship sing was conducted by Ray Sears and several new and old folk songs were sung. The Young Matrons group of the church sponsored this party and those serving refreshments for the occasion were Mrs. L. E. Ward, Mrs. Melton Evans, Mrs. Roscoe Tripp, and Mrs. R. S. Moye. Refreshments consisted of lime ice punch, nuts, and lemon wafers. Miss Louise Morris, Student Director, extended a word of welcome to the college students and introduced several church members who were present. She also gave a brief schedule of church activities for the students. At the Free Will Baptist Church those enjoying the church-college social on Thursday evening had a great time of fellowship together. The college students were welcomed at the door by representative members of the different departments of the church. Those in the receiving line were Mr. Steve Walters, Mrs. Robert Crawford, Mr. Herman Nobles, Mrs. Floyd Nobles, and Mr. Joe Clark. Ushers then greeted the students and led them through the church building's departments. Miss Katie Lou Vincent, who was at the piano, rendered a program of beautiful hymns during this time. Suitable devotions were led by Mr. Connie Hines and Mrs. Bill Taylor at the organ. Miss Marjorie Tripp and Mrs. Connie Hines led the group in some interesting games such as "Answer This Question" and "Bible Bingo." Gifts wrapped in keeping with the college colors were presented to the winning students. All students received attractive little key chain college souvenirs. The ladies of the Woman's Auxiliary provided refreshments consisting of delicious ham and pimento sandwiches, cookies, salted nuts and ginger ale fruit punch. Those who served were Mrs. Mark Tripp, Mrs. J. R. Hawkins, Mrs. Reba Satterfield, Mrs. G. L. Tyler, Miss Katie Vincent and Mrs. James Adams. The flowers used in decorating the refreshment tables as well as the sanctuary carried out the E.C.T.C. color scheme. During the refreshment hour organ music was softly rendered by Mrs. Tom Taylor.

Russian Guided Missiles Said Tested Over Baltic

Stockholm, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Russians reportedly have been lobbing seven-ton guided missiles over the Baltic area during the past summer.

The newspaper Aftonbladet gave this report on the situation: The rockets were launched near Crans in Soviet-held East Prussia and were aimed at a small island in Soviet Karelia. It is believed the island lies in Lake Onega, some 700 miles from Crans.

The operation was labelled "Silent Maneuver" and was combined with radar practice. The paper said it had "reliable information" on which to base its story, but gave no specific attribution.

The maneuvers began in mid-July and lasted several weeks. Their aim was to test the preparedness of the so-called "first group of new radar stations and weapons bases."

Russia long has been reported to have experimental rocket sites along Last April a U.S. Navy plane disappeared on a flight in the same Baltic area. The U.S. charged the plane was shot down by the Russians.

Aftonbladet said the maneuvers were "directed and led by the so-called strategic first line naval command with headquarters near Kaliningrad, formerly the East Prussian capital of Königsberg."

Red Terrorists In Saigon Have Plot Broken Up

Saigon, Indochina, Sept. 18.—(AP)—More than 100 Terrorists were under arrest today after French and Vietnamese police smashed what they called a Communist plot to make a general attack within the city.

The outbreak was timed to start last night, authorities said. Informed of the plan, they blocked it yesterday.

Authoritative sources were quoted as saying the plot was cooked up by Ho Chi Minh, Moscow-trained leader of the rebel Vietminh.

Police said the captured Terrorists, described as "Volunteers of death," admitted the plot. They said they were hired to infiltrate the city and begin a grenade and small arms attack. Some Terrorists were still at large.

Only one grenade was thrown—by a Terrorist who was caught trying to hide 30 grenades in a water cart to smuggle them into the city.

Sixty other grenades were found in vehicles checked yesterday, a French police spokesman said.

The planned attack was not regarded as an all-out effort to seize the city, which is heavily garrisoned. Even regular Vietminh units are not strong enough to do that.

The Terrorists said they had been directed to operate in teams of five, to make their way to public places under protection of armed associates, and toss their grenades and open up with the small arms.

The police said they learned of the

Crawford-Lewis Vows Pledged In Formal Service Saturday

In a setting of white asters, gladiolas and cathedral candelabra, flanked by plumose fern, Janice Marie Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie James Lewis of Greenville, and Rev. William Arthur Crawford, Jr., son of Mr. William Arthur Crawford and the late Mrs. Crawford of Wilson, were united in holy matrimony in a formal single ring ceremony in the Greenville Pentecostal Holiness Church Saturday evening, September 16. The Rev. J. Floyd Williams, pastor of the Wilson Pentecostal Holiness Church and uncle of the bride, officiated.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. J. Noah Williams of Greenville, organist and aunt of the bride, and Miss Louise Brooks, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Miriam original gown creation of cream white satin, fashioned with a sheer yoke encircled by a bertha of gathered nylon tulle, and long tapering sleeves ending in nylon calla peaks over the hands. The snug basque bodice which buttoned up the back with tiny self covered buttons, was accented by the bouffant skirt forming into a long, sweeping cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of delicate imported illusion was arranged from a self covered half hat outlined with seed pearls. She carried a ribbon showered white orchid atop a white Bible.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. W. Jacob Lewis of Scotland Neck, wearing a filmy green gown fashioned with fitted bodice, full flowing bustle back skirt, a bead studded headpiece and carrying a nosegay of yellow roses, was matron of honor.

The bridesmaids were Misses Zelma Taylor Boyd, Peggy Lou Forrest, Mrs. Dorothy Gray Dixon, cousin of the bride, of Greenville, and Mrs. Cassie Wilhelmina Brinson, sister of the groom, of Wilson. They wore dresses of pink, blue, yellow, and aqua nylon over taffeta, identically styled with fitted bodices, picture necklines outlined with berthas of gathered nylon, and full skirts emphasized with corresponding bows of satin. They wore mitts and beaded princess tiaras matching their gowns and carried nosegays of pink and purple asters.

The Junior bridesmaids, who were Misses Emily Carolyn Rogers, of Greenville, cousin of the bride, and Barbara Ann White of Wilson, niece of the groom, wore lavender and apricot taffeta gowns, matching mitts, tiaras, and nosegays, fashioned like those of the other attendants.

The flower girl, Sylvia Marie Highsmith of Norfolk, Va., cousin of the bride, carrying a white basket of rose petals, wore a white taffeta gown patterned after the honor attendants, and a diadem of white taffeta accented with bows and beads.

Louis Mitchell Jones of Greenville, bride's cousin, was ring bearer. Attending the bridegroom as best man was William Irving Stroud of Wilson, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were W. Jacob Lewis of Scotland Neck, brother of the bride, Franklin Mayo Brown of Greenville, Lloyd Brinson, Jr. of Wilson, and Leonard Mayfield of nest, Jr. of Goldsboro, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother, wearing a corsage of yellow rosebuds, was attired in a sheer taupe dinner dress with self-embroidered bodice, and corresponding accessories.

Mrs. Luby Minshew of Snow Hill, acting mother of the groom, wore a dress of brown crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride's parents entertained for a large number of friends and out-of-town guests at their home on Raleigh Avenue. The interior of the home was very decorative with arrangements of carnations, chrysanthemums, gladiolas, and other wedding flowers throughout. The dining table was covered with a cloth of French linen cut-work tucked at each corner with bows of antique ivory satin and centered with silver candelabras, cathedral tapers, and bridal flowers interspersed with greenery. Directly above the table, hanging from the crystal chandelier, were wedding bells, mums, and bride's ribbon.

The exquisitely designed square tiered wedding cake was first cut by the bride and groom and then served by Mrs. H. A. Hudson.

Individual bride cakes, nuts, and mints were among the refreshments served by Miss Carolyn Hines and Miss Betty Jane Bunch. Punch was poured by Mrs. Mary Moore. Assisting her in serving was Mrs. Mildred Pendergrass.

Music throughout the reception was rendered by Miss Peggy Joyce Bowen.

Introducing guests to the receiving line, composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lewis, Mrs. Luby Minshew, Mr. William Arthur Crawford, the bride and groom, and the wedding attendants, was Mrs. Frank Moseley.

Presiding at the register was Miss Peggy Barrow.

Directing guests to the gift room was Mrs. J. D. Etheridge. Assisting them to the dining room was Mrs. L. H. Scott.

Saying good-bye to the numerous guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ernest.

Following the reception the bridal couple left for a wedding trip with an unannounced itinerary. For traveling the bride changed into an original taupe costume gabardine suit with a bead studded cape. She wore pink and brown accessories and the orchid that topped her Bible.

After their return, the couple will reside in Greenville, S.C., where they will attend Holmes Bible College.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

The Committee on World Friendship Among Children, sponsored by Church World Services (214 East 21st Street, New York 10) is promoting its sixth annual "World Christmas Festival." It is asking church women especially to share "friendship packages" or clothing, with some boy or girl, 6 to 18 years of age, in one of 16 European countries or in India or Japan.

Contrary to the advice of many of his ministerial associates, Protestant Episcopal Bishop Reginald H. Gooden, of the Panama Canal Zone urged mothers with crying babies to "scoot at the first hoot." "I've never been able to compete with crying babies," he confesses. "By the time mama has decided to take the bairn hence—long after everybody else has decided she should—it is too late. The sermon is ruined, the attention of the congregation is lost and never regained. So fond parents—this little rule of church etiquette: 'At the first hoot, scoot.'"

Mrs. Madeline Dennis, R. N. (Mrs. Louis R. Dennis) of Magnolia, Delaware, missionary of the Methodist Church in Nanking, Fukien Province, China, tells of the problems of the public health ministry which she initiated a year ago in the Nanking Conference. Says Mrs. Dennis: "Our public health work is like the measles—suppress it to one spot and it breaks out in another. Since our liberation our health-mobile has not gone to the country villages, but we have high hopes to resume after the territorial conquest is completed."

Home Ceremony Unites Couple In Marriage On Saturday

Miss Jean McGowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McGowan of Greenville, and Marion Louis Collier, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Collier of Wilmington were married on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on East Ninth street. Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church was the officiating minister, using the double ring ceremony.

The marriage vows were exchanged before an improvised altar. Tall white baskets of silver mums were flanked by five branched candelabra holding burning white tapers. For the benediction the couple knelt on a satin-covered prayer bench.

Miss Alison Hearn played nuptial music at the piano as the guests, close friends and relatives of the bride and groom, assembled for the ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Betty Lois McGowan. She was gowned in a dress of tomato red jersey and used brown accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of Brandywine roses tied with rainbow ribbon.

The bride chose for her ensemble a navy wool suit. The short jacket had double lapels of matching malekin. She wore a veiled hat of navy French felt with jewel trim, matching pumps and white gloves. She carried a white satin covered prayer book topped by a purple-throated orchid and showered with white satin streamers.

The groom was attended by Luby Bell, of Mount Olive, as best man. The bride descended the stairway alone and was met at the altar by the groom.

Mrs. McGowan, mother of the bride, was gowned in a dress of cocoa brown and wore a corsage of talisman roses. Mrs. Collier, mother of the groom, wore a dress of navy blue and had a corsage of Better Times roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a nuptial reception at their home. Mrs. James L. Evans invited the guests into the dining room. The table was covered with a Madeira cut work cloth and was centered by a silver bowl holding California asters, spider chrysanthemums, and Briarcliff roses. The floral arrangement was flanked on either side by three-branched silver candelabra holding white tapers entwined with southern amilax.

A three-tiered white frosted wedding cake decorated with delicate pink rose buds and topped by a miniature bride and groom was out by the bride and groom.

The punch table was covered with a pineapple linen cloth and enhanced with southern amilax, orange blossoms and wedding bells.

Mrs. Mark Stokes served bridal ices, while Mrs. Lloyd Allen poured punch. Mrs. J. W. Foley, Sr., served the wedding cake. Miss Ann Oakley presided at the register and good-byes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Stokes.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip to unannounced points. The bride attended Greensboro College and at present both of them are seniors at E. C. T. C.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were the following: Mrs. W. C. Collier, Mrs. Jennings Otis, Mrs. R. V. Edwards, Miss Maxine Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Sparkman and Mrs. Margaret E. Forbes, all of Wilmington; Mrs. Dallas W. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Collier of Richmond; and Mr. Lyman Forbes of Scotland Neck.

Funeral Rites For H.W. Edwards Today

Funeral services for W. Henry Edwards were held from the home, 108 Pitt Street, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Roy Williams officiated. Burial was in the Evans cemetery. Mr. Edwards was a lifelong resident of Pitt County and a retired farmer. He had been in declining health a number of years. He was married to the former Stella Worthington in 1907 who died in 1920. Surviving this union are one daughter, Mrs. George Stepps, Greenville; one son, Henry Edwards Jr., RFD, Bethel. In 1923 he was married to Nollie Lee Patterson who survives, with one daughter, Mrs. Loran E. Norris of Greenville; two sisters, Mrs. Suddie Barr, Washington, N.C., Mrs. Mamie Bright of Greenville, RFD; two brothers, Johnnie Edwards of Hobgood and Tom Edwards of Greenville; seven grandchildren.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

New Way to Kill Pests Discovered by Scientists
ROACHES are the most difficult household pests to control, and they can be brought into any home from the market in a bag of potatoes or other groceries.

Science has just come forth with a new discovery that kills cockroaches and ants, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH coating.

It's just as simple and easy to use as it looks. You paint the coating on surfaces frequented by roaches and ants, woodwork near the sink, baseboards, garbage pails, window and door sills. When these crawling pests come in contact with this invisible, odorless, stainless coating they slowly become paralyzed, turn over on their backs with legs waving in the air, and die. Then the coating stays effective for months to kill any strays that get into the home and that walk over it.

Science has seen to it too, that this product contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorus. Johnston's NO-ROACH is not a contaminating spray, or a messy powder. It is colorless, and may be brushed just where you want it, without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans.

Prices are 8 oz. for 89c, pint for $1.69, and a quart for $2.98.

RESERVOIRS OF POWER

What do we accomplish in prayer? Well, we can be sure of one thing—We do not change God's will. We can be pretty sure that what we do is, first, that we make it possible for God to change our will, and then that we release certain spiritual powers without which the miraculous occurrences which make the life of a Christian believer resplendent can never occur.

Some people stress only the first of these—the fact that prayer enables God to change our will. If we stop here, then prayer is little more than a helping psychological exercise. We must press on to something vastly more significant. Prayer not only makes a difference in us; it makes a difference in the whole situation in which we find ourselves. It enables us to lift up mountains and cast them into the sea. It rolls away the stone from the door of the tomb in which our despairing spirits have been confined. It literally raises us from the dead—the death of hopelessness and from the death which comes from the power of sins over which we ourselves have no sufficient control.

In prayer we do not persuade God to change his mind; we give Him the opportunity to carry out his mind in our behalf and to turn into the sluices of our lives that power which flows from the reservoir of his infinite power.

Perhaps A Solution To Our Smoke Problem

We have noted with interest that a smoke abatement expert is scheduled to visit the Kinston power plant on September 25 to look into the smoke problem which has been disturbing the Kinstonians who live near the power plant.

It seems that recently a rain of soot covered a wide area in Kinston, and as a result a "special soot committee" was formed to voice the protest of the people living in the area covered by the soot.

A news article in the Kinston Daily Free Press says the smoke expert is being sent to Kinston free of charge by a group from Cincinnati called the Coal Producers Committee for Smoke Abatement. It is an organization sponsored by coal producers and railroads in the interest of removing problems arising from the use of coal.

For a long time the people of Greenville who live in the vicinity of the local power plant have complained about the smoke and soot which comes from the plant. It quickly blackens the white houses in that area, and from time to time sends a blanket of soot over the area.

Utilities officials some months ago asserted that the Greenville utilities had done everything it could to remove the smoke problem from the power plant. A spokesman said there was new, very expensive equipment which could be purchased, but it would remove only slightly more soot and ashes from the smoke than is now being removed.

It seems to us that Greenville could obtain the services of the same expert who is going to make a study of the Kinston power plant. If Greenville could get the man free of charge as Kinston is doing, the city has nothing to lose and everything to gain by having the smoke problem of the local utilities plant looked into by an expert.

There is only a week between now and September 25. If Greenville is to secure the services of this smoke expert while he is on his trip to Kinston from Cincinnati, steps must be taken quickly by the utilities to see that he come to Greenville.

The people who live near the Greenville power plant are entitled to relief from the nuisance of smoke and soot from the power plant. The utilities commission should not overlook a single possibility which would lead to an alleviation of the smoke problem.

Two More Signs Of Agric. lural Progress

Two events took place in Pitt county last week which should greatly enhance the county's livestock production. The events were the hiring of two specialists for the artificial insemination program for dairy cattle, and the purchase of 28 baby beef cattle by members of the vocational agricultural classes.

The hiring of the artificial insemination specialists was the final step in putting into operation the organization which has been sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Greenville chamber of commerce in connection with the farm agent's office and farm leaders of the county. Work on the program has been on for approximately a year.

The program will enable the owners of dairy cattle in Pitt county to breed their cows with the best dairy stock in the nation, and it will improve the dairy stock in the county as well as increase production of milk. Dairying has become an increasingly important agricultural occupation in Pitt county during the past few years, and this program promises even greater advances in the dairying field.

The large number of baby beef cattle which have been brought into the county indicates an increased interest in beef production which is another form of agricultural diversification that is gaining headway in Pitt county. Vocational agricultural leaders in the county who were instrumental in bringing the beef cattle into the county have suggested Pitt county during the coming year have its own baby beef show similar to the shows held in Rocky Mount and other places in the state.

For several years the Pitt county owners of beef cattle have had to go elsewhere for the beef shows and sales, but the institution of such a show and sale within our own county would not only stimulate the local interest in beef cattle, but would attract the attention of farmers from surrounding counties as well.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—Members of House and Senate facing the voters next November are racking their brains to find the answer to a question which may mean their defeat or their election, depending on whether they can solve the riddle. It is:

Why have only five of several hundred House members been worsted in primaries held so far, whereas five of the relatively few number of Senators have fallen in these tests of their popularity?

Not in recent political history has there been such a disparity in the fate of the members of the two bodies. As reasonable men, the incumbents believe that there must be a basic explanation to this problem of ballot-box survival.

Moreover, three of the senatorial conquerors—Smathers in Florida, Case in South Dakota and Monroney in Oklahoma—are members of the lower chamber. And their victims were veteran and influential legislators with more experience in statewide campaigns.

REBUFS—At first glance there seems to be no central thread to this pattern of senatorial rebuffs and the victories of House members.

Two Roosevelt-Truman devotees, Claude Pepper and Frank P. Graham, were knocked off in Florida and North Carolina, respectively. Henry Wallace's 1948 running-mate, Glen H. Taylor of Idaho, was ousted. On the other hand, two ultra-conservatives, Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and Chan Gurney of South Dakota, could not hold their seats.

In the House the voters retired two so-called "liberals," two anti-Truman men and one middle-of-the-roader. Lastly, although the "ins" are supposed to enjoy an advantage when there is a small turnout, as there usually is in a primary, the size of the electorate made no difference in the outcome.

POLICY—Although admitting that their diagnosis is not infallible, the political physicians seeking to cure themselves attribute the disproportionate number of senatorial casualties to the popular belief that the upper chamber is more responsible than the House for the management and implementation of our foreign policy.

The Senate, under the Constitution, has authority for confirmation of presidential appointees, including top officials of the State Department and diplomatic envoys. It also has the power to ratify treaties.

Despite certain changes in recent years, when the House has originated money bills for such ventures as the Marshall Plan and other forms of foreign aid, the Senate takes the lead in the overseas field.

HEADLINES—The upper chamber spends twice as much time in debate on world questions than the House. Somehow or other, it also manages to obtain more newspaper space and larger headlines for its discussions of the Truman-Acheson program. Senators themselves seek this publicity, for their participation in grave affairs of state distinguishes them from what they call "the other body."

This conclusion explains why the Secretary of State has so many critics, and so few defenders, on Capitol Hill. It also explains why so many otherwise loyal Administration men, including Senate leaders Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, are backing away from any discussion of any phase of foreign policy.

STRUT—There is, however, a more grassroots and down-to-earth reason for this senatorial mortality. Indeed, it is probable that it offers a more reliable answer than Senate obsession with Acheson, Bevin, Stalin, Mao Tse-tung etc.

There is a tendency among the honorables at the eastern wing of the Capitol to regard themselves as statesmen instead of bread-and-butter politicians. They invariably dress more elegantly when they enter this exclusive club. They strut a bit more struttily.

Worst of all, they come to neglect their "constituents" by traipsing to Europe or the Far East instead of patching fences and buttering up the home folks.

Tammany opponents of the late Fiorella La Guardia always used this argument against him: "Why vote for him when he is always in Washington working on big stuff, instead of here, helping you to tear up traffic tickets?"

UNIFORM—Despite the Korean "police action" and fears of another global war, roving politicians report to Republican and Democratic headquarters here that the presidential stock of " Ike" Eisenhower has slipped in recent months. Even the big business men and industrialists once plugging for him seem to have lost their interest. The practical politicians never wanted him.

Ironically, General Eisenhower in civilian clothes and background does not seem to possess the glamour he did in the early years after V-J Day. It is ironic because his political friends advised him to "get that uniform off and keep it off, if you have any political ambitions." He did.

His backers had hoped that, once he quit the service, he would deliver a few indirect but damaging attacks on the Administration. Instead, he helped to frame the "Johnson economy budget" now held responsible for the military weakness revealed in Korea.

Should he be the candidate, and should the opposition try to make an issue of this question, the counterattack will be that Eisenhower must share responsibility along with Truman and Johnson.

Anything can and does happen in national politics in two years. But as of the moment the practical politicians in both parties believe that the Eisenhower boom has "busted" beyond hope of revival.

GET ACQUAINTED—One experiment of the Young Democratic Clubs proved highly successful. That was the legislative breakfast in connection with the state convention in Asheville. Approximately one third of the membership of the next legislative assembly accepted the invitation, and took advantage of the opportunity to get acquainted with each other before the assembly convenes in Raleigh. Short talks by Thad Eure, Secretary of State, Lieutenant Governor H. P. Taylor, Governor Scott and others gave the new members something to be thinking about.

COMMITMENT—Governor Scott took positive stand in all out support of the proposed amendment increasing pay of members of the general assembly. The convention also adopted a resolution asking for ratification of the amendment. The Governor further declared he would insist upon a minimum salary scale of $2200 to $3100 for A-Grade school teachers, and would ask the legislature to take some action on stream sanitation. Other matters he said would be proposed later as occasion arises.

SPEED UP—Secretary of State Eure urged the members to give thought now to local legislation they expect to offer, have bills drawn in advance and presented early in the session as a means of speeding up procedure. In that same connection Fred Royster, candidate for speaker, said he felt there are too many committees and they are too big. He indicated purpose to study carefully the plan of reducing them in number and in size.

POLITICS—Having not much internal organization politics to discuss the YDC folks devoted a good deal of attention to the next governor of North Carolina. Two or three facts stand out as result of these discussions. First, the YDC boys and girls are not inclined to continue recognition of east-west geographic distribution of governors and senators. Men and issues rather than place of residence are paramount. Some-what surprisingly the young folks are looking for matured and experienced leadership. There was a good bit of talk about probability of Mayne Albright or Terry Sanford or some other person far below the fifty-year age limit being on the next race for governor. A great deal more was said about men on the shady side of fifty as best suited to lead the state through what is expected to be a very trying administration from 1953 to 1957.

UMSTEAD—The name of William Umstead of Durham was heard more than all others combined as most likely winner of the governor ship next time. It would seem to your reporter, who mixed around with the YDC delegates from well over the state, that in opinion of these younger folks William Umstead is the time.

OTHERS—Other big wigs in the party organization claimed attention, with senator-nominate Willis Smith coming in for a large share. Smith was relatively unknown a few months ago, but he sold himself to the YDC folks by his attitude around the lobby and on the platform. Some of the Young Democrats had been a little bit concerned about how Governor Kerr Scott, National Committeeman John H. Daniels and Willis Smith would get along together. The worry was not justified. Daniels made a very brief statement, predicting harmonious action and full victory for the party this fall. Scott presented Smith to the barbecue audience in a few words, well chosen and without semblance of bitterness.

PRIORITY—Request of the federal bureau of public roads that North Carolina and other states utilize federal aid funds on road and bridge projects designed to contribute to the national defense effort is both reasonable and understandable. In fact, the main reason the federal government participates in highway financing is to have some control over location and priority of projects so they can be channeled to national service. Unavoidable result of the system is that sometimes the national needs do not completely harmonize with state and local services. But in order to get federal aid on any project, the state must yield considerable control to the bureau of public roads on all projects into which federal aid money is channeled. Numerous instances have been cited by state engineers where the state's share of cost on a federal aid job was more than the state would have spent to get equal or superior service for local needs of its own people.

INEVITABLE—That is a part of the inevitable price that must be paid for "free" money. County commissioners discovered years ago that state money for road building meant state control over location of roads and selection of which roads had priority. County boards of education have discovered within recent months that state aid for school buildings means state determination of where the buildings will be located. They found out years ago that state assumption of school operating costs meant loss of the school houses for community meetings, without a lot of negotiations about who would pay for fuel and lights and janitorial services. Advocates of federal aid for education cannot avoid recognition of the fact that the state and local units both will lose essential control, once federal money comes in. Some wise man years ago phrased in simple language the basic philosophy involved in all these phases of joint-participation, when he said "You can't eat your cake and still have it."

The Voice Of The People

CURSING REDS (Washington Daily News)
The United States senate has passed a bill designed to curb communism in this country. By an overwhelming vote of 70 to 7, the bill passed.

The bill provides that all communists in the country must register immediately, and it gives the government power to clamp them in concentration camps in event of war.

To many people the bill may seem drastic. But this is a time when drastic legislation is needed, and some sort of law regulating the communist activity is certainly timely.

President Truman is expected to either veto the bill formally, or to allow the well known "pocket veto" by refusing to sign it, knowing that congress will probably adjourn before the 10 day period is over.

It is interesting to note that of the seven votes against the bill, one was by Senator Frank Graham of North Carolina. Just what reasons Mr. Graham had for voting against the bill are not known. But he was one of seven Democratic senators who voted "no" on the bill.

We cannot understand his attitude. With Russia threatening us, and with the prospect of an all out war becoming more evident each day, we cannot see how any senator could be against the bill.

Of course Mr. Truman doesn't like the bill, and one way or another, he will try to prevent it from becoming law. If he formally vetoes it and sends it back to the congress for another vote, when the senate can override him if all the members vote again as they did this time.

Communism is a dangerous thing to democracy. When we find it at our very doorstep, then it is time we wake up and try to do something about it. To wait and see what develops may mean the loss of valuable time.

THE BIG PROFIT (Wilson Daily Times)
Perhaps we don't see ourselves in the ridiculous light that we should. Perhaps it's because we've grown so big that we can't keep up with everything that goes on. And perhaps it's because, unless it effects us, we don't care. An illustration appeared in an ad recently. It read:

"Mr. Farmer—Sell your corn to the government for $1.48; store it right on your farm; then buy your corn to feed for 65 cents."

The ad was inserted by an enterprising corncrib manufacturer who had checked his facts. If the government through its liberal policies would give money away, why shouldn't he equip the farmers to take it? And, doubtless, when it was all said and done, he sold it.

Who wouldn't like to raise something, sell it at a profit and still have what you had raised? That's precisely what the government has been encouraging growers to do. Uncle Sam doesn't take all the produce off our farms, but he takes enough to keep prices up when some of us think they're too high already.

WHAT ARE THEY FIGHTING? (Williamston Enterprise)
After reading political Washington casually or extensively, one can't help wonder just what we are fighting. We send men and arms to fight Communism in Korea while it appears some are using the war in Korea to fight the administration back home.

If there has been evidence of tackling our problems coolly and carefully, no one has heard about it this far away. In other words, a little muss has been whipped into a big mess, and now not only the administration is under terrific strain but also the country itself is beginning to reel and rock from the demoralizing shocks coming from the heedless such as the McCarthy's, Wherrys and Company.

NEEDS OF THE HOUR (Williamston Enterprise)
The chairman of the Massachusetts Senate pointed out some needs of the hour recently:

He would strengthen the human system and work over the political system. He would have more womanhood and less Hollywood. And he would strengthen the spinal column and team down the fifth column.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
With outstanding consumer credit at $21,000,000,000, controls go into effect today.

Reimposition of controls will have a great impact on American business.

But reducing the total amount of credit outstanding may not be the most important result.

The obvious, and intended, impact is to increase the down payments and accelerate instalments in four categories. These are autos to 33 1-3 per cent down and 20 months to pay; ten kinds of household durables, from stoves to TV sets, 15 per cent down and 18 months; household furniture, to 10 per cent and 18 months, and residential repairs and improvements, 10 per cent and 30 months.

Those limitations may produce sudden revision of sales techniques of those companies that have been specializing in "no down payments" and "as long as you want to pay." But the revision may not be as complete as the Federal Reserve Board expects. On articles selling for less than $100, the down-payment requirement does not apply although the time limit does. These stores will still be offering "no down payments" on exempt articles, which will serve as leaders to bring in traffic.

The limitations may also affect used car prices, especially as they become effective at the season of the year in which demands for used buggies falls off.

There is also likely to be heavier exploitation of goods not put under controls. Silverware, watches, jewelry, musical instruments, cameras, voice recorders, clothing, power lawn mowers and many other items can still be sold on nothing down and long payments.

In fact, as had already been pointed out, if there is a decline in credit sales of the controlled articles, there will likely be a rise in the credit sales of other articles. Instead of making a down payment on a watch and none on furniture, families may be tempted to put 10 per cent down on furniture and buy watches on soft terms.

Exemption of charge accounts will have a similar effect: instead of using cash for current bills and credit for long-term purchases, people will be tempted to put their cash on controlled items and charge more of their current purchases.

But there may be very little decline in credit sales of restricted articles. Wages are high and employment is up. Even requirements of a third down on autos or 18 months on a television set may be a small deterrent to credit purchases.

Today's credit controls are based on experience during and after World War II. But it should be noted that buying power is much higher today than it was then, and that the shortage of autos, appliances and furniture—not credit controls—was the major factor in reducing the total outstanding credit.

BBB'S RESTATING CREDIT AND STANDARDS
The Association of Better Business Bureaus is meeting in Buffalo today to draw up standards for advertising under credit controls. These standards will probably be similar to those adopted under controls in 1948.

In general, they provide that advertising of credit terms must not be misleading either in fact or implication, especially in that wording or arrangement of advertising should not imply terms are easier than the regulation permits, or easier than they actually are.

Anchorage, Alaska—Postcards bearing the new stamps of Communist China are being received here bearing requests for industrial tools to further the war effort in Red China.

Mailed from the Communist stronghold of Tientsin, a major seaport about 200 miles west of the Korean mainland, the cards are addressed to hardware stores and automotive supply firms.

Printed in English, beneath the letterhead of the North China Import Corporation, the message requests "the following reference material." Specifically it seeks "catalogs or bulletins on industrial tools and small tools" along with samples and discount charts. In addition the message asks that the corporation be put on the merchants mailing list.

On the face of the yellow-paper card is a large stamp bearing the portrait of Communist China's Leader Mao Tse-tung, surrounded by tanks and airplanes. Waving over Mao is a victorious Red flag with the golden star of Red China.

"They must be extremely short of tools," remarked one dealer who received a card.

All who have reported receiving the requests for tools or information have taken the matter lightly. A few indignantly declared, "Of course, I'll ignore it."

That the cards are apparently smuggled from Red China to Hong Kong is evidenced by a footnote to the message explaining that replies can be sent in care of the Wu Yang Trading Company at Hong Kong "whence it will reach us by the first available opportunity."

How many cards have been sent out is anybody's guess. Dealers who received them here feel it is an attempt by the Communists to obtain even small amounts of materials to rebuild their industries. Others feel it is an attempt to glean information from Alaska and regard it as out and out espionage.

"We're not at war with them," one dealer declared. "But I wouldn't trade as much as a postage stamp—no, not for all the tea in China."

BUSINESS FAVORS POOLED CHARITY DRIVES
An increasing number of charitable organizations are asking businesses for donations; it is indicated in a poll of 201 manufacturing concerns by the National Industrial Conference Board. Gifts this year, the poll showed, will total about the same as last year.

Because of the multiplicity of requests, many businesses favor pooled or federated drives once a year. It would mean a saving to businesses, because single requests consume time and often cost of checking soliciting organizations.

PEPPER EVEN SHORTER; THERE'S HOPE AHEAD
India, which now produces most of the world supply of pepper, expects a crop 25 per cent smaller than a year ago. The present price of $2 a pound wholesale—with little available even at that price—may go higher.

But if you can wait, it may get cheaper. Indonesia, whose pepper industry was ruined by the occupying Japanese, has been steadily setting out pepper plants and by 1952 may be producing enough to lower world prices. Before the war, Indonesia produced about 90 per cent of the world's pepper.

NEW AND HOT
BULB: A new 150-watt electric light bulb for kitchens that is no larger in diameter than 100-watt bulbs is being brought out (by Sylvania Electric Products Inc., 500 Fifth Ave., New York).

STARCH: A new product, used in formulation of laundry and household liquid starches, acts as a soil suspending agent. (It is called Nu-Film, by National Starch Products, Inc., 270 Madison Ave., New York.) It is also useful in warp sizing and finishing cotton and rayon fabrics.

LIGHTER: A cigarette lighter with a flint claimed to last a year is being introduced (by American Safety Razor Corp., 315 Jay St., Brooklyn, N.Y.).

SWING: A folding aluminum from which hangs a toddler's swing is being made (by A. E. Peterson Mfg. Co., Glendale, Cal.). The frame has rubber tips to prevent scratching floors when used indoors and the swing seat is detachable for use as an auto seat for babies.

TOY: Toy furniture three times as large as ordinary doll house furniture is being produced of styrene plastic (by Ideal Novelty and Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York). A blue print plan of a six-room ranch house is included with each six-room set.

PERKER-UP: An improved chemical which prevents disease and stimulates growth in chickens was unveiled at the National Chemical Exposition in Chicago (by Monsanto Chemical Co., St. Louis 8). It is choline chloride with an inhibitor to decrease corrosive action, and will be sold in tank car and drum lots.

CHORDER: You don't have to learn fingering to play a ukelele now. There's a six-button Bakelite styrene attachment that fits over the neck of the uke; pressing the button selects the cord desired. (It's by Emence Industries Inc., 200 Fifth Ave., New York 10).

RECORDER: Continuous records of actual temperatures in refrigerated trucks, cars, warehouses, ships, etc., are provided by a new "Minicorder" (by Weston Electric Instrument Corp., 614 Frelinghuysen Ave., Newark 3, N.J.) Used on frozen food cases, it can show customers that the food has been constantly below thawing. It's shock-proof and requires no power connection.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Germs used to be the biggest threat to child life in the United States—about fifty years ago. Today we have to worry more about emotional and social problems the children meet. That's what the U.S. Children's Bureau says.

Bureau child experts say emotional and social problems show up in the number of youngsters coming before juvenile courts. The Bureau estimates some 275,000 boys and girls come before these courts annually.

It is true the number has decreased since the mid-World War II peak but the average number now is still high.

Looking ahead to 1960, when we're probably going to have 50 per cent more children aged 10 through 17 than today, Richard Glendenen, Children's Bureau specialist on training schools, says a great deal more is going to have to be done if juvenile delinquency is not to reach a new peak.

"Additionally, in periods of mobilization and war, juvenile delinquency goes up," he told me. "But even disregarding entirely the possibility of all-out war, effective measures must be taken if any increase is to be prevented. Some basic reasons behind delinquency he says, grow out of emotional and social problems—rejection of children by their parents, or favoritism for one child over another or absence of a parent. Others may grow out of community conditions—a lack of recreational services or poor housing or the fact that delinquency in certain neighborhoods may be an accepted way of life.

The programs of training schools in this country have improved a great deal since the old "reform school days," he told me. "In addition, other services for children in trouble have improved." He cites better staffing in juvenile courts, extension of foster home programs, more child guidance clinics, creation of group homes for adolescents and the aid to dependent children program.

Chapter 2

Stephanie was still numb, in mind and body, as she sat waiting for Grant, listening for the first sound of his footsteps.

She still held the wire in her hands. She read it over and over. But she had not told Grant about when he added, "You're not ill."

it over the phone. She had simply said that she needed him; could he please come at once?

"Of course, darling. You know better than to ask!" Grant had responded promptly. There had been a strain of anxiety in his voice when he added, "You're not ill."

Stephanie? If so, you—"

"No," she had broken in, wondering how her own voice could sound so natural. "I'm all right. Really I am." She had said that same thing to her mother such a short time ago. "I cannot tell you over the phone, Grant. I must talk with you. Please don't worry, darling, but do come home as quickly as you can."

She heard the sound of his footsteps on the gravel driveway. She got up to cross the room to meet him, but she did not move. She was afraid to trust her feet; her knees felt as if they might refuse to hold her.

Grant crossed to her with swift strides, took both her hands in his, and drew her down again onto the striped satin love seat by the fireplace.

"I hope it didn't seem too long, darling," he said. "You are all right, aren't you? Tell me, dearest, what it is."

She tried to answer. Her voice, like her knees, failed her. Silently she handed him the little slip of yellow paper.

Grant accepted it, silently, too. He read it slowly; reread it once again. He folded it and handed it back to her. His face, as far as she could see, had not changed expression.

"I cannot believe this," Stephanie said. "How could there be such an awful mistake? They told me he was dead. I even had that letter from his friend, the one the fishermen saved. He told me all about Sandy, his plane—"

"Mistakes do happen," Grant said in his quiet, matter-of-fact way. "They are happening every day."

"Of course I'll have to leave," Grant said. He turned away from her a moment, bent to take a cigarette from the small inlaid box on the mirrored coffee table.

"Why?" she asked, lifting her head, startled. Her heart gave an unexpected throb of fear.

"Many reasons," Grant said, flipping his lighter so savagely that it leaped into flame at once. When he had lit his cigarette and put the small silver lighter back into his pocket he spoke again. "One: we are not legally married, so—"

"How can you say that?" Her eyes were too large, too dark, in her white face.

"I am afraid it is true." His voice was gentle, yet firm. "In the eyes of the law. And, probably, the church."

"I suppose I am still married, then, to Sandy," she said, as if repeating a lesson.

"That will be up to you," Grant said.

"I suppose so," she agreed.

"You won't want to go back to Mayo," Grant was saying. "And there is a housing shortage, you know. It's almost impossible to find any place at all to live. There's the cottage. It doesn't get too cold at the lake until after the first of the year and the family never use it after Labor Day. You and Sandy could—"

"No—I don't think I would want to stay at the cottage!" That would bring too many reminders of Grant, memories of this newer marriage, that had not, it appeared, been a marriage at all.

"The cottage would be a good place for Sandy," Grant said, although it was Stephanie he was thinking of; it must be the right place for her. "It is quiet, a good place for readjustment. You must remember, Stephanie, all that Sandy will have been through. Poor devil. He'll need all the help you can give him. He won't be the same as when he went away."

"If it seems best—when the time comes," Stephanie said, "I will stay at the cottage."

Grant said once more. "We'll work it all out. There should be plenty of time. Meanwhile we'll get in touch with Washington. And the papers—Father will attend to all that. We must try to fix it so Sandy won't know until he gets home. It would be best for you to be the one to tell him, Stephanie."

"I will tell him," Stephanie said. She lifted her head now so that her eyes met his. They held the look he had seen in them that first time across the noisy, crowded room. The look of someone who wondered why life could not be beautiful and right as it was meant to be. It said more than that now. It told him that she could take this too. It would not be easy, but she could do it.

"I guess you'd better get your things together," Grant said. He turned away from her again, abruptly. She looked so stricken, so small, so very dear. "I'll go with you to break this news to Mayo."

How did he know that she could not bear to tell her mother?

Grant knew so much about her—some things that Stephanie did not even know herself.

"I'll get my things," she said in that same tone of obedience. That was what she must do, follow the chart laid out. Think of others—of her mother, of Grant's family, of Sandy.

Of Sandy most of all. Before anyone or anything. He must, from this minute on, come first. He was not dead—he was not dead—he was alive—he was coming back to her. The numbness had passed. She knew now that it was true. Sandy was coming back, he would need all the help she could give him, all her strength, her pity, her love.

Demo Primary In Maryland Has Tydings Record As Major Issue

By JACK DAVIS
Baltimore, Sept. 18—(AP)—A lively list of candidates, with an assist from the weatherman, was expected to bring out a better-than-average number of voters in today's Maryland primary election.

National interest is focused on Sen. Millard E. Tydings, seeking his fifth consecutive term in Congress. The tall, firm-jawed Democrat is tied for third in seniority in the upper house.

But the top talk in the state concerns the bitter struggle between Governor William Preston Lane Jr. of Hagerstown and George F. Mahoney, Baltimore contractor, in the Democratic gubernatorial race.

Election supervisors have predicted that 30 to 35 per cent of the 867,000 registered voters would cast their ballots, but the intense pace of the campaigns coupled with a forecast of generally clear skies made some observers predict the vote may exceed that.

Tydings picked up the cue from his top opponents for the senatorial nomination, and has campaigned almost wholly on his support of the national Administration's policies and his conduct as chairman of the subcommittee investigating charges of Communist influence in the State Department.

His opponents—former Congressman John A. Meyer and Hugh J. Monaghan II, young Baltimore attorney—have accused Tydings of conducting a sloppy and biased hearing of the charges and criticized his support of the national Administration's European Recovery Program.

Trying for the Republican senatorial nomination are John Marshall Butler, Baltimore attorney, and B. John Markey, former National Guard general who lost a nip-and-tuck fight in 1946 to Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor (D-Md.).

The race for the Democratic nomination for governor has been a slashing, eye-for-an-eye campaign with few holds barred. The main issue has been over the state's finances and how they are being managed.

Mahoney argued the state has been too reckless with the people's money, that it has boosted the state's debt far beyond the pocket-book of its supporters.

Lane is running on his record as road, school and hospital builder.

Traditional End For YDC Meet

Asheville, N.C., Sept. 18—(AP)—North Carolina's Young Democrats closed their annual convention here Saturday in the manner most Democrats would approve—with a strong blast at the Republicans.

The blast was delivered by Gov. Sid McMath, of Arkansas, who told a banquet gathering that Republicans and a "few renegade Democrats" were responsible for U. S. unpreparedness for the Korean war.

The youthful governor, who has been mentioned as a possible Democratic nominee for vice president, declared it was the Republicans "who cried out at the end of World War II to bring the boys back at any cost."

The same group, he charged, clamored for tax reductions and defense expenditure curtailments during the critical post-war period.

McMath's address wound up a busy three day convention.

Robert R. Williams Jr. of Asheville is the new president of the state group. He was elected without opposition Saturday. He succeeds Terry Sanford of Fayetteville.

Other new officers: Miss Hope Marshall of Winston-Salem, vice president; Martin L. Cromartie of Tarboro and Duke University, vice president; Arthur Yorke of High Point, secretary; and Jack Kirksey of Morganton, treasurer.

Jim Chesnut of Clinton was elected national committeeman. He defeated J. W. Griffin Jr. of Forest City in the only contested race. Miss Edith Marsh of Monroe was unanimously chosen national committee-woman.

ORDER AND NOTICE OF ELECTION OF A DRAINAGE COMMISSIONER
In The Superior Court Before The Clerk

North Carolina, Edgecombe County.
In the Matter of Edgecombe County Drainage District No. 2

Having been informed by the Board of Drainage Commissioners of the Edgecombe County Drainage District No. 2 that the term of office of one of its members, viz: Commissioner John Mayo, expires on the 30th day of September, 1950, or as soon thereafter as his successor is elected and qualified, and the law providing that the Clerk provide for an election of his successor;

It is hereby ordered that an election be held in the court room of the Edgecombe County Courthouse in Tarboro, North Carolina, at 11 o'clock A. M., on Saturday the 30th day of September, 1950, to vote for a Drainage Commissioner to succeed Commissioner Mayo. Each individual land owner within said District will be qualified to vote at this election and shall be entitled to cast the number of votes equaling the number of acres of land owned by him included in the boundaries of the said District. The Court will appoint the drainage commissioner to succeed Commissioner Mayo the one receiving a majority of votes cast at said election, or, if no one receives the vote of a majority of such landowners, the court will appoint said Commissioner from those receiving the highest number of votes cast.

It is further ordered that a copy of this notice be posted at the court house door of the Edgecombe County Courthouse in Tarboro, at the Courthouse door of the Pitt County Courthouse in Greenville, and at five conspicuous public places within the said Edgecombe County Drainage District No. 2, and that it be published in the Tarboro Southerner, a newspaper of general circulation within Edgecombe County, and in the Daily Reflector, a newspaper of general circulation within Pitt County, for two publications prior to the date of said election.

This the 11th day of September, 1950.

W. S. BABCOCK, Clerk Superior Court Edgecombe County.

FARM FOR SALE

Public Auction

SEPTEMBER 22, 1950

These farms belong to the estate of James E. Green, late of Winterville, N.C., and are being sold under court order at the Greenville Courthouse at 12 o'clock noon on September 22, 1950.

The "CLAUDE TRIPP FARM"—Containing 54 1-4 acres, with 1950 tobacco allotment of 9.9 acres.

The "LITTLE FARM"—Containing 39 acres, with 1950 tobacco allotment of 8.7 acres.

The "DAIL FARM"—Containing 161-2 acres, with 1948 tobacco allotment of 4.8 acres (to be adjusted according to 1949 and 50 crop control adjustments.)

The "L.G. MILLS FARM" Containing 197 acres, with 1950 tobacco allotment of 30.7 acres.

The Mills farm will be divided by the public road and sold as two separate farms. The north side has 67.5 cleared acres and the south side (home side) has 70 cleared acres. The 30.7 acres of tobacco will be divided on a pro rata basis governed by the crop control rules and regulations.

All of these farms have excellent locations in the Winterville section. There are no nicer farms anywhere. Your inspection of these farms is invited.

E. E. Hill

If you suffer with Hernia (Rupture) we invite you to a FREE DEMONSTRATION fitting of the DOBBS TRUSS by a Factory Representative in our store Wednesday Afternoon, September 20th, 1 P. M. to 7 P. M. The Dobbs Truss is different from conventional type trusses. No Belts or Straps to bind and chafe. Lightweight, Sanitary, wear when bathing. Does not hinder circulation. It only presses the body in two places. If your rupture is larger this year than last, it may be due to your wearing the wrong truss, perhaps one with a knob that fits into the opening and spreads the muscles apart. The DOBBS TRUSS has a CONCAVE PAD that fits over the rupture like the palm of your hand and supports the muscles in a more natural position. Holds with utmost security and comfort. These trusses will be demonstrated to you without obligation and you will not be urged to buy. For Men, Women and Children.

Homicide Rate In U. S. Is Reduced

New York, N.Y.—Frequency of homicide is now less than half what it was 20 years ago among the millions of industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the United States and Canada.

The homicide rate among those insured decreased steadily from 6.8 per 100,000 in 1931 to a low of 2.6 in 1944, rose just after the war to 3.5 in 1947, and then fell again to its present rate of 2.8 per 100,000.

according to the Metropolitan's statisticians.

In the general population of the United States homicide is responsible for the loss of about 8,500 lives a year. More than half of the victims are killed by firearms, and the temporary postwar increase is probably accounted for in part by the availability of arms to the large numbers of men who had brought them home as war trophies.

Such factors as alium clearance, general rise in the level of education, and improved facilities for dealing with juvenile delinquency are credited by the statisticians as having helped bring about the reduction in the homicide rate over the 20-year period, but stricter law enforcement is considered to have been much more effective.

"Prohibiting the sale of guns as far as possible, and penalizing severely persons found carrying firearms without a permit would undoubtedly reduce further the number of murders," the statisticians say.

Advisory Budget Body's Hearings To Begin Today

Raleigh, N. C. Sept. 18.—(AP)—The advisory budget commission today began hearings on budget requests of state departments, agencies and institutions for the 1951-52 biennium.

Governor Scott, whose office budget request was the first presented before the six-man commission this morning at 9:30, will sit in on the bulk of the hearings. He is ex-officio director of the budget.

The hearings will continue, except for the weekend lapse, through Sept. 27.

Following completion of the hearings, the commission will draw up its budget recommendations for the next session of the legislature which starts in January.

On Sept. 27, closing date of the hearings, the state board of education will present its appropriation requests. A sizeable increase is anticipated in the funds to be requested for the schools.

The board of education is expected to recommend that salaries for A-certificated teachers be raised to a scale of $2,200-$3,110. If approved the salary item would add several millions to the amount set aside for the schools.

Departments and agencies scheduled to present requests this morning were: The Governor's office, division of purchase and contract, revenue department, department of tax research, state auditor, confederate pensions and specials, law enforcement officers benefit and retirement fund, state treasurer, local government commission, and teachers and state employees retirement system.

At the afternoon hearings, set to start at 2 o'clock, the commission was scheduled to hear from the board of public building and grounds, Adjutant General, department of Archives and History, Insurance department, state property fire insurance fund, state ABC board, Utilities Commission and state ports authority.

In all, some 58 departments, agencies and institutions will present their briefs before the commission during the eight days of hearings.

Israelis Rush To Leave Country

Tel Aviv, Israel.—(AP)—Israelis who want to go abroad are rushing to get out of the country before their exit permits expire—for it's going to be tough to get new ones. The Jewish National airline "Al Al" and all the foreign carriers operating from nearby Lydda airport are swamped with bookings.

The sudden rush to travel was precipitated by a government order that "only essential travel" will be permitted in the future. Thus, Israelis who already have exit permits must quickly use them.

Claims More Alcoholism Among Women Prevailing

Denver, Sept. 18—(AP)—A Women's Christian Temperance Union official said today the spread of beer and liquor sales to the corner store has increased alcoholism among women.

"The number of women addicts has skyrocketed with the opening of more and more beer and whisky retail places in residential neighborhoods," Violet T. Black of Evansville, Ill., told the national Women's Christian Temperance Union convention.

"Simultaneously, radio beer commercials and some whisky advertisements in newspapers and magazines has been pointed by their distiller sponsors to appeal to women both in pictures and in wording."

Miss Black, WCTU treasurer, placed the number of women alcoholics and chronic drinkers at 800,000 in the U.S.

Her prepared address brought a shift from emphasis at the convention on attacks on drinking in the armed forces.

Yesterday, Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, executive secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church, referred to distribution of beer to combat troops in Korea, and declared:

"If the brewers and distillers can have their way we can expect, a sufficient number of our defense forces to become so habituated to drink that they can no longer constitute an army of strength and courage."

Hooton served two years in the Army in World War I, rising from private to first lieutenant.

Andrew J. May Released Today

Ashland, Ky., Sept. 18—(AP)—Former Rep. Andrew J. May was released from the Ashland Federal Correctional Institution early today after serving nine months and 13 days for wartime conspiracy and bribery.

He left the prison as he had entered it last Dec. 5, under cover of darkness.

Warden R. O. Culver said that the former chairman of the House Military Affairs committee was met at the gate by a relative at 12:15 a. m.

May had been sentenced to eight to 24 months.

He became eligible for parole Aug. 5 after serving eight months of his sentence, imposed in 1948 on conviction for accepting $53,000 for using his influence in the granting of munitions contracts to the Garson Brothers.

The Garsons, Henry and Murray who built a $75,000,000 munitions combine, also were convicted and sentenced to eight to 24-month terms. They are serving them at Danbury, Conn.

NEW, MIRACLE ELECTRONIC EAR HIDES DEAFNESS

CHICAGO, (Special)—An amazing new electronic ear which hides deafness and transmits even whispers with startling clarity, has been revealed by a noted Chicago electronic scientist.

He disclosed that this miraculous new discovery has rendered old-style hearing aids obsolete almost overnight, and brings new hope to the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing.

He reported that this electronic ear enables the deaf to hear without any button showing in the ear and without dangling battery wires.

To acquaint the hard of hearing readers of this paper with this new miracle electronic ear which hides deafness, full details are described in a fascinating booklet, "New Discoveries to Help the Deaf Hear." It will be sent free in a plain wrapper to anyone who requests it. Address: Electronic Research Director, 1450 West 19th Street, 566E Belmont Building, Chicago 8, Ill. A penny postcard will do.—Adv.

Hadacol Helps Relieve St. Louis Man's Leg Pains

He Suffered Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin

Elmer Prater, 3619 North Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., having tended bar for a good many years, says a man has to work mighty hard these days to make himself a passable living. Gone are the days when you could buy a good lunch for 15c. But he says the good old days of healthful living are today. That is because he found out how worthwhile life really can be. Gone are his days of suffering, thanks to HADACOL. Mr. Prater had been suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and iron.

Read Mr. Prater's statement: "I had been bothered many years with neuritis pains in my legs—the pain was so bad I couldn't sleep at night. My appetite was way off, too! I just couldn't seem to get any enjoyment out of food and what I did eat didn't agree with me at all. I had just about given up hope when my brother and sister persuaded me to take HADACOL. What did HADACOL do for me? . . . Why, after taking HADACOL for only 2 weeks I was able to go back to work. You think I don't rate HADACOL First Place? . . . I recommend HADACOL every time."

Wonderful for Both Old and Young!

This new HADACOL is simply wonderful for men, women and children of all ages who are sick and ailing because their systems are lacking these important Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

The important Vitamins and Minerals in HADACOL come to you in special liquid form so that they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood stream, ready to go right to work at once. HADACOL even builds up the red blood cells (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious elements to every part of your body—to your kidneys, lungs, heart, liver—even to the hair, nails and eyes!

Relieves Cause of Your Sickness from Such Deficiencies

HADACOL now makes it possible for you to relieve the active cause of neuritis pains and a general run-down nervous condition when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. So why be satisfied with symptomatic relief when you can now relieve the cause with HADACOL.

There Should Be No Doubt
After reading Mr. Prater's wonderful experience with HADACOL—how can you doubt that this great product will help you if your system is lacking in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin?

What HADACOL did for Mr. Prater, it can do for you if you're suffering neuritis aches and pains, or other troubles due to such deficiencies.

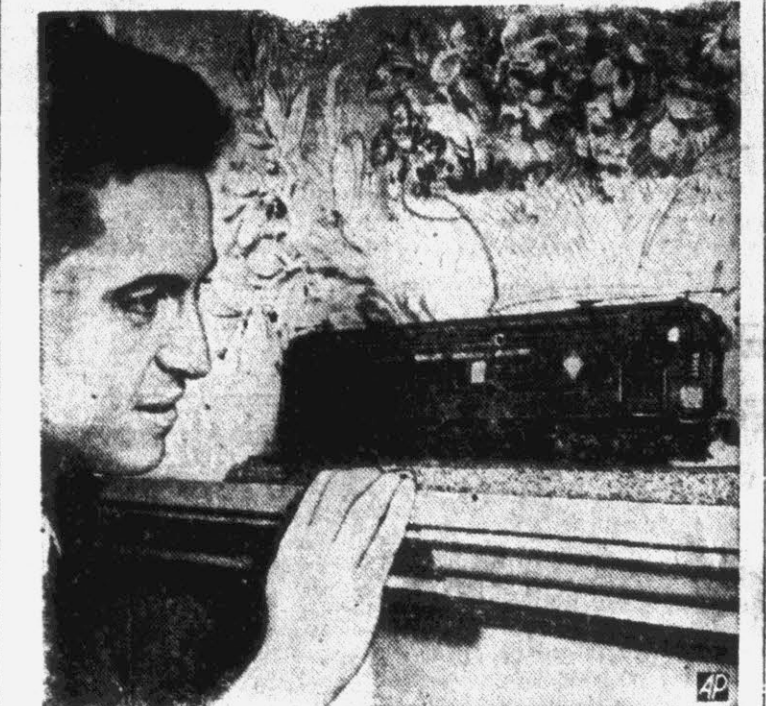

So what are you waiting for? Don't continue to suffer—don't continue to be miserable!

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief!

HADACOL is not a quick-acting pill which gives symptomatic relief—rather it relieves the real cause of your pains and aches due to such deficiencies. And continued use of HADACOL helps prevent such agonizing pains from coming back. That's the kind of product you want—that's the kind you should buy and that's the kind you should start using NOW!

HADACOL costs only $1.25 for a trial-size bottle. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. It is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. At any drugstore.

"CARGO TO CAPETOWN"

Washington, Sept. 18—(AP)—Commerce Department officials said today a department loyalty board has made an adverse finding against Michael Lee, and he has been suspended from his $10,000-a-year job in that agency.

The finding, handed down without announcement September 8, already has been challenged by Lee. His attorneys are preparing an appeal to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, officials said.

This finding reversed a clearance given Lee when the department board said a year ago: "Reasonable grounds do not exist to believe that you may be disloyal to the government of the United States."

Lee, 42, was born in Manchuria of Russian ancestry. He was head of the Far East branch of the department's Office of International Trade before his loyalty was put under question first in October, 1948.

Before the adverse loyalty board ruling, Secretary Sawyer had asked Lee to "resign or be fired" on grounds that his continued employment was detrimental to the department aside from loyalty questions.

Dealer Stocks Of New Cars At Lowest Levels

Detroit, Sept. 18—(AP)—Dealer stocks of new automobiles on Sept. 1 were at the lowest level in two years.

Reporting this today the trade paper Automotive News said the average United States dealer had a potential inventory of 9.3 new cars, of which only 5.6 were actually on hand. The remainder were in transit from the factory.

The paper said its survey showed dealers held an estimated 407,826 vehicles as of Sept. 1. Of these 247,426 were actually on hand and the remainder in transit.

FOUND GUILTY ON CHARGE OF NON-SUPPORT

In Police Court today, Judge J. W. H. Roberts found Sylvester Phillips, 32-year-old Negro, guilty of non-support and gave him six months on the roads.

The court suspended sentence on condition that Phillips pay to the County Welfare Department by Tuesday of each week $10 for the support of his wife, Gracie Phillips, who is an invalid.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY

Under and by virtue of power and authority vested in me by that certain Deed of Trust executed by Katie R. Peaden and husband, W. Frank Peaden, to J. H. Harrell, Trustee, dated December 31, 1949, and recorded in Book H-25 at page 615 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, North Carolina, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured therein, the undersigned trustee will on Sept. 25, 1950 at 12:00 M. offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash, that certain lot or parcel of land lying and being in Falkland Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, adjoining the lands of Mrs. Annie Peaden, Mrs. W. H. Moore, and others, and specifically described as follows:

Beginning at the southwest corner of Mrs. Annie A. Newton's lot, adjoining the lot of Mrs. Annie Peaden, and running westwardly with said Annie Peaden's line about 300 feet to a stake near a pond, the same being the corner of Mrs. Annie Peaden's lot; thence with said Peaden's line in a southwesterly direction about 140 feet to the corner of Mrs. Annie Peaden's lot near an old tram road; thence in a north-easterly direction about 150 feet to the old school house lot, running parallel with the old tram road about 9 feet from a tobacco barn; thence with the old school house lot northwardly about 59 feet to the Greenville-Tarboro Road; thence northwardly with said road about 240 feet to the corner of Mrs. W. H. Moore's lot; thence westwardly with Mrs. Moore's line about 300 feet to Mrs. Annie A. Newton's line; thence southwardly with Mrs. Annie Newton's line about 90 feet to the beginning, and containing one and one-half acres, more or less.

The above described property will be sold subject to all prior encumbrances.

This the 24th day of August, 1950 J. H. HARRELL, Trustee.

Father and Son In Police Court On Same Charge

"We are observing 'Father and Son Day' in Police Court today," Judge J. W. H. Roberts commented this morning when Sylvester Vick, Senior, 50, and Sylvester Vick, Junior, 28, were called for trial on charges of being drunk at the same time and same place on September 2.

The father pleaded guilty; the son pleaded not guilty.

Police officers W. D. Berg and H. F. Lawson testified that both men were drunk; that the elder Vick started home in a taxicab, but the driver asked the officer to relieve him of the passenger. They then arrested father and son and charged them with being drunk.

The court gave Sylvester Vick Sr., 30 days in jail or pay $15, and a similar sentence for Sylvester Vick, Jr. The younger man gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

Hospital Orderly Guilty Of Theft

Sam Moore, 35-year-old Negro orderly at Pitt General Hospital, who pleaded guilty in Police Court today of stealing various articles of merchandise from the hospital storeroom, was sentenced to serve six months at the Pitt County Home.

The court was about to suspend sentence and place Moore on probation when Solicitor Eli Bloom reminded that the man had been convicted of stealing chickens some years ago. Judge Roberts changed his sentence to serve six months at the County Home. "I had intended to place this man on probation, but I cannot when he comes up for a trial on a second charge of stealing," he said.

It continued the Marshall Plan for helping Europe; approved the North Atlantic treaty; voted military aid to America's European allies; started a big slum-clearance and low-cost housing program; extended the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act; changed the 1947 armed forces unification law to make it work better; increased minimum wages—from 40 cents to 75 cents an hour—for people who work for companies which do business across state lines.

The second session of this 81st Congress, beginning in January, 1950, and winding up now, did these things:

Improved and widened the social security system to increase the benefits and bring more people under its protection; authorized economic controls such as price and wage controls (which Mr. Truman asked for in 1949 but didn't get when things were quiet) because of the new defense program; and, for the same reason, gave the government power over production; removed the limit on the size of the armed forces; continued the Marshall

Plan; killed almost all federal rent control, effective Jan. 1, 1951; began an interstate crime investigation; widened the draft law, to bring doctors and dentists under it, up to the age of 50; gave veterans a number of benefits; and—

Upper income taxes of individuals and corporations (because of some dispute between House and Senate on details, this is not yet law but soon will be); and—

Both houses approved an anti-subversive bill to make it tough for communism in this country. This bill was to be sent to the White House after ironing out of differences between the two houses.
