Agriculture Is Big Theme In Fair Plan

Opening Monday, Pitt County Fair Site Is Scene Of Bustling Activity

Final plans for the 1950 Pitt County American Legion Agricultural Fair are shaping it into the most extensive and best program in the history of the annual event.

Beginning here Monday of next week and extending through the rest of the week, the fair this year is showing a panorama of "Pitt County on Parade."

All the exhibits are designed to bear out that theme, showing not only what farmers, their wives and children have done throughout the past year but what progress they have made through their farming careers as residents of Pitt county.

At the present time the scene at the Fairgrounds is a bustle of activity. Booth space in the Exhibit Hall is being enlarged this year for all exhibitors. The displays will be sponsored by the Home Demonstration and 4-H clubs of the county in addition to those by the vocational agriculture and home economics classes.

Other exhibits will show progress in horticulture, field crops, canning, clothing and flowers.

Since last year the livestock barn has been torn down to make room for a large tent which will allow more space for the livestock entries. The 200-foot tent is expected to house the largest number of entries in the swine, poultry and cattle divisions than at any other time in the history of the event.

The week-long festivities will officially open at four p. m. Monday. At that time the livestock tent and exhibit hall will be open to the public with judging of the individual entries to come later in the week.

The midway this year will consist of 20 modern rides and 15 shows in addition to the usual concessions.

Fair Manager Norman Y. Chambliss stated this week:

"We are appreciative of the great interest that has been shown by all the people in the 1950 fair, and we are going to present a fair which we believe the people will be proud of."

"Our attendance goal for the week is 60,000 and with good weather we will reach that goal."

Head Of Woman's Prison Resigns

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 27—(AP)—The director of Woman's Prison, Antoinette LaMonte, has resigned because of health.

Prisons Director John M. Gold announced yesterday that Miss LaMonte had notified him by letter from San Antonio, Texas, that she was quitting because of doctor's orders. She has been in Texas since Sept. 1.

Gold said that until a new director is named, Woman's Prison will operate under supervision of other prison officials.

President Signs Appropriation

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—President Truman today signed the $17,098,202,288 bill to strengthen the defense of the United States and its allies.

He penned his signature to the huge appropriations measure without ceremony in his oval room White House office.

The bill carries $4,000,000,000 for military aid to friendly nations and includes a mild ban on economic help to nations which send military materials to Russia or Soviet satellites.

Reiterate Our Stand

While Soviet Peace Talk Is Generally Regarded As Camouflage, It Would Do Much Good For Western Nations To Restate Their Conditions Relating To Peace

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

While Western observers generally accept the current Soviet peace talk as camouflage, the fact remains that it has created interest among public which are sick and tired of wars.

This column returns to the subject because I'm getting inquiries from folks who hope—but don't really expect—to find encouragement for peace.

That's a very natural reaction and one which can't be disregarded. It's existence means that the Red peace talk shouldn't be dismissed cavalierly on the basis that it undoubtedly is propaganda to cover real designs. This is a wide-open opportunity for the western nations to their well-known desire for peace, and to restate their conditions relating to peace. Such statements couldn't be mistaken for weakness, because the Soviet Union already has broached the subject.

I believe the publics of the Western nations would welcome such handling of the situation. It would reassure them that nothing had been left undone to encourage restoration of peace.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin did give a thumb-nail summary of

Schuman Says Peace Talks Futile Now In UN Address

New York, Sept. 27 — (AP) — French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman warned today that new East-West peace negotiations are futile as long as the Soviet Union promotes agitation and civil war in other countries.

His statement in the U.N. General Assembly was the first reference by a top Western diplomat to Russia's trial balloon of Monday which appeared aimed at getting new top-level East-West talks. Schuman declared: "The will to peace must be made manifest otherwise than in words and propaganda."

While Schuman spoke, a strong movement gained headway among assembly delegates to frame a peace and relief plan for Korea. Britain was circulating a proposal on the subject. The goal is to have the plan ready for operation when mounting U. N. military successes are complete.

Sweeping victories rolled up in the last few days by Gen. MacArthur's command have impressed delegates here with the need to speed work on a Korean peace plan. The proposal now being studied calls for a free and independent Korea under a government elected with U.N. supervision. It has United States approval.

The proposal calls for the U.N. to continue its collective military assistance to the republic of South Korea. None of the sponsors would comment on whether U.N. forces now should drive north of the 38th parallel — the line across which North Korea launched its invasion. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin has called on the U.N. to be ready to help all Korea. It appeared that the British proposal might get emergency treatment and be rushed through committees and the assembly. A number of countries probably will act with Britain to sponsor the completed resolution.

Heavy Sales On Tobacco Market

Whedbee Says Prices Keep High Average After Holiday

Greenville's tobacco market reopened this morning after taking a holiday for a week.

Sales were heavy here today as farmers took advantage of their first opportunity to sell tobacco since last Wednesday. The market was ordered closed a week ago today by the Bright Belt warehouse association in order to let the processing plants of the tobacco purchasers catch up with the quantity of leaf already bought.

Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee said prices on the market today were just as good as those paid for tobacco before the market holiday. "Tobacco is still selling just as high as it can be," he commented, "and particularly the medium, common and green grades are bringing high prices. The prices on the good tobacco are about like they were before the holiday."

Whedbee said full sales are expected on the Greenville market Thursday and Friday although the dry weather which has settled over the area recently has held back some of the tobacco which probably would have been marketed.

SLIGHTLY WARMER

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 67 degrees; lowest last night 47, and at 8 a. m. today it was 53 degrees.

The sky was overcast during the forenoon today, with indications of rain.

New Ambassador To Britain Will Be A Republican

W. S. Gifford Announced As Truman Appointee; Aids Bi-Partisan Goal

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—The White House announced today President Truman's selection of Walter S. Gifford as ambassador to London.

Gifford, former chairman of the board of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and a Republican, will succeed Lewis W. Douglas in the post.

The formal announcement was made immediately after receipt of British approval of the appointment, a step required by diplomatic custom.

Douglas resigned yesterday for "personal considerations, including those of health."

The change will be made effective November 1 after Douglas returns to London to conclude his work there.

Gifford, who did government and war production work in both world wars, is 65, almost 10 years older than Douglas. An active Republican, he may add strength to bi-partisan cooperation on foreign policy.

Douglas resigned in the course of a conference with the President. The White House announced the action by making public an exchange of letters between Douglas and Mr. Truman.

The 56-year-old diplomat who has held the London post since March 1947, said he was giving "it up because of personal considerations, including those of health." He will leave office about Nov. 1.

Douglas suffered an eye injury more than a year ago when a fishhook became lodged in his eye. He still wears a black patch over the injured eye.

Douglas told reporters that as soon as he leaves office he will go home to spend several months resting. He may then be available for more government work, he said, adding that he has nothing specific in mind.

Hope To Enforce Attendance Law

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 27—Funds to enforce the state's compulsory school attendance law were requested by the state board of education today.

Dr. Clyde A. Erwin, State superintendent of Public Instruction, told the advisory budget commission that North Carolina's draft rejection rate "clearly indicated the need of enforcing compulsory school attendance in North Carolina."

Erwin said that about 60,000 children are absent from school every day and "at least half of these are inexcusable."

The board asked for appropriations of $345,000 for each year of the next biennium to employ 110 attendance officers at an average salary of about $3,000 a year to enforce the law which requires school attendance for children between the ages of seven and 16 years.

North Carolina's draft rejection rate has been running about 50 percent, with most rejections from mental causes. Erwin has stated his belief that failure to attend school is responsible for many of these.

Uncover Plan For Communist Trouble-Making

Bonn, Germany Sept. 27—(AP)—West German officials claimed today that they have uncovered second Communist plans to stage anti-western "blitz meetings" in all the big cities of the industrial Ruhr this week-end.

They said about 30,000 young Communist trouble-makers have been pumped into the Ruhr from Soviet East Germany in the last two months to lead the demonstrations.

These young Communists are now believed poised to step up the announced Communist program of "National resistance" against the allied powers and the west German government.

Bans Leftists In Defense Program

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 27—(AP)—North Carolina's civil defense chief today directed that no Communist or Communist sympathizers be allowed to work in civil defense activities in this state.

E. Z. Jones also announced that all state civil defense workers will be required to sign a loyalty oath.

Demo Rally For Pitt October 18

County Will Play Host To Democrats Of First District; Scott And State Party Chairman Slated To Attend

A pre-election political rally for the Democratic Party in the First Congressional District will be held in Greenville October 18 and will bring to town Governor Kerr Scott and Everett Jordan, State party chairman.

As announced by county Democratic party chairman John G. Clark this morning, Pitt County will be host to all the Democrats in the 14 counties of the District.

Clark stated the get-together here will mark the first time any such rally has been held in the District. He said the plans have been in the making for a short time and announcement was withheld pending approval by chairman Jordan and Congressman Herbert Bonner.

"Pitt County's Democrats will be proud to sponsor this rally for the benefit and service of the Party in the District," Clark said. He stated the county was honored to be chosen as host to the other 13.

The rally will be held at the courthouse, probably in the afternoon. A definite program has not been outlined as yet.

He said he will talk with chairman Jordan this afternoon to set a definite time for the occasion. Jordan will preside during the festivities and Scott will speak.

All members of the party in the county are expected to pay for the rally, Clark stated. "I expected all Democrats to contribute to the party fund to make this rally the success it should be," he said.

Education Board Asks $211 Million For Budget

Combined Force An Increase Of $35 Million Over Sum Being Spent This Biennium; Ask Funds For Purchase Of School Buses

Raleigh, Sept. 27—(AP)—The State Board of Education today asked for a total of $211,003,347 to operate North Carolina's public schools during the next biennium.

This would be an increase of about $35,000,000 over the approximately $176,000,000 being spent this biennium.

President Truman already has pledged the United States to send more Divisions to the defense of Western Europe if other countries interested will make comparable contributions. The Council decisions carried the President's idea a step further and pledged the other members of the North Atlantic pact to share in the organization of the first such combination of forces in peacetime.

Only One Vet At Annual Reunion

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 27—The 60th annual reunion of the United Confederate veterans opened here today with Gen. James W. Moore, 98-year old commander, the only veteran present.

Plan Prosecute In Case Of Stolen Phone Coins

Miami, Fla., Sept. 27—(AP)—Officials said today they will prosecute members of the "Brassiere Brigade" who allegedly smuggled thousands of dollars in coins from a telephone company counting room.

Dade county solicitor Robert R. Taylor and J. M. Phillips, district manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, said the case against 13 persons questioned in the long-term thefts was not closed.

Police estimated that more than $100,000 was stolen from the Telephone Company's counting room over a period of years by girl employees who sneaked rolls of quarters into their brassieres.

"If everyone will just keep their brassieres—I mean their shirts—on for a few days," Taylor said, "we will have some cases. It is a question of assembling evidence and charges definitely will be filed."

Phillips said the company intends to prosecute "to the fullest extent of the law those persons involved directly or indirectly in the theft of Company pay station receipts."

Because the Telephone Company had not signed a complaint, all 13 persons held in the case were released yesterday after a habeas corpus hearing before Circuit Judge E. Holt. They included six telephone employees, their boy friends and members of their families.

The board submitted its proposed budget for the 1951-53 biennium to the Advisory Budget Commission. It called for spending about $164,000,000 for salaries of teachers and principals.

The board said this would provide A-certificated teachers with a salary schedule ranging from $2,200 to $3,100 a year. Teachers with other certificates would be paid in proportion.

The board also asked for funds so that the state can take over purchase of school buses. Under the present system, counties buy buses originally and the state operates and replaces them.

D. Hiden Ramsey of Asheville, a board member told the budget Commission the board felt that the state "cannot develop a complete and adequate bus system with divided responsibility."

Clearing Up A Law

Some Questions And Answers To Clarify Some Of The Confusion Over What The Anti-Communist Law Entails In The 'Round-up' Of Communists In The U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—There is probably as much confusion in the public mind over the new anti-Communist law as over any law of recent years.

Here are the answers to a few questions:

Q. The law says the government can round up Communists and throw them into detention camps. Does that mean the FBI will start such a roundup right away, or when?

American Flag Raised Over Key Buildings In Seoul; Pockets Of Red Defenders Persist In Futile Fight; Allies Sweep Forward Toward North

Seoul, Sept. 27—(AP)—American flags were raised today over the South Korean capitol building and the Russian and French consulates in Seoul. The mop-up fight for the capital city appeared to be nearing its end.

Also seized from the Red defenders was the U.S. ambassador's official residence.

Opposition remained intense from small pockets of die-hard Communists, who evidently are under orders to fight to the death. The battle will cause further damage in the already heavily battered capital. The city shuddered and rocked today under the weight of fire and steel poured out by the defenders and the attacking allied forces.

By late afternoon, only a relatively small section of the city was still held by the Reds.

United Nations forces fanned out on both sides of the long Pusan-Inchon line, liberating big areas from Red bondage.

"While mop-up fighting is still in progress," General MacArthur reported, "all of the escape routes are closed and the fate of the North Korean forces caught in this pocket is sealed."

How many were trapped was a mystery.

Two weeks ago, just before the Inchon second front landings began, 130,000 Red Korean troops were massed against the Pusan beachhead, fighting to drive the allies into the sea.

But AP Correspondent Don Whitehead reported in a dispatch from Seoul that the Red divisions in the south "seem to have evaporated—dissolved into thin air."

Whitehead said American planes had not spotted any major northward movement of troops.

Many Reds have been reported changing into white civilian clothing and scrambling cross-country toward their northern homes.

Rear guard units still fought delaying actions against the on-rushing allied troops.

The link-up of allied southern and northern forces at Chongju was sealed in the midst of a bitter fight against a fleeing Red rifle company led by two tanks.

AP Correspondent Bill Ross, who was there, reported First Cavalry tanks rumbled through Red fire at 10:25 p.m. Tuesday (8:25 a.m. EST). "The First Cavalry's smash to the north was matched by South Korean forces driving along the east coast."

The South Korean Third Division, in what MacArthur's headquarters described as "practically a march," advanced 60 miles north of the old Pohang port anchor of the old southeast beachhead perimeter.

The drive carried them to Uchin all the way to the 37th parallel, 60 miles short of Red Korea on the east coast line.

The South Korean Eighth Division occupied Chunyang on the main road northeast of Yongju after a 15-mile drive.

The American 24th Division knocked out 12 Red Korean tanks in a fast push back up the old Taegu-Seoul "heartbreak" highway" to within six miles of Taejon.

Advance units halted in late afternoon to clear Red mines and wait for gasoline.

Since Tuesday morning, the task force has punched 65 miles through Red territory. It was close to the scene of its worst defeat, Taejon, where the trail blazed 24th lost its commander, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, in early July.

When you remember that—plus the fact that the law lets the government decide what Communists can be arrested in an emergency—you can see that the government has wide latitude in deciding whom it should pick up.

Q. Can Communists grabbed by the FBI in such an emergency (explained in Nos. 1, 2 and 3 above) be held indefinitely?

A. Yes, but... The "but" means they will be given a chance to show

Art Gallery To Open For Season Thursday

The Art Gallery on second floor of Sheppard Memorial Library will open for the 1950-51 season on Thursday, September twenty-eighth at two o'clock. The opening show will be an exhibition of works done by Mary Trenwith Duffy of New Bern, composed of oil, pencil portraits and water color crayons.

Miss Duffy was born in New Bern but at the age of eleven moved to Washington, D. C. At the age of twelve she won the Felix Mahoney Scholarship and began studying art at the National School of Design. After two years there she studied at the Gallery of Modern Masters for two years and continued to study at Phillips Memorial Gallery, under C. Lewis Watkins; at the Corcoran Gallery, in Washington and at Gloucester, Mass. with Breckenbridge.

After finishing high school Miss Duffy studied commercial art during the day and continued at night her work in the fine arts. She did free-lance commercial art in Washington, Baltimore and New York for a period of thirteen years. She taught commercial art at Columbia Tech, Washington, in 1939 and 1940. She painted portraits of several famous people while in Washington. Her works have been shown in many of the galleries there. In 1941, Miss Duffy returned to New Bern and during the war she was the only woman employee of Barbour Boat Works where she was assistant to Ed Berry in the paint shops. The war over, Miss Duffy decided to remain in New Bern and devote her time to creative art work. She served as chairman of Art for the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs 1946-48. In exhibits in the state she has won several coveted prizes. She has exhibited in Greenville in the Community Arts Festival Exhibits for 4 years and regularly attends the Art Festival and often visits the gallery.

Miss Duffy will be in the Art Gallery Thursday afternoon and will make a gallery talk at 2:30. The public is cordially invited to hear her.

Hollywood Presbyterian Church Scene Of Jones-Cox Wedding

Miss Mary Jeanine Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Cox and Mr. Clarence VanDeren Jones, was married Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock in Hollywood Presbyterian church, New Bern, N. C. The Rev. and the late Mr. Jones of Ayden, N. C. were married Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock in Hollywood Presbyterian church, New Bern, N. C. The Rev. and the late Mr. Jones of Ayden, N. C. were married Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock in Hollywood Presbyterian church, New Bern, N. C.

MRS. CLARENCE VAN DEREN JONES

Presbyterian church of Greenville, performed the double ring ceremony.

Bridal greenery consisting of southern smilax, improved ferns, woodwardia, oregon, plumose ferns, large standards of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and baby mums with myriads of cathedral candles were used to decorate the church.

The wedding music was furnished by Mrs. W. C. Stokes as pianist, Mrs. Margaret James and Tommy Eilers as vocalists.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a magnificent off the shoulder gown of magnolia satin, illusion neck line, bertha of satin edged with matching lace fitted bodice with self-covered buttons down the back. The exquisite train was edged in the matching lace of the gown. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion fell from a most becoming Juliette cap with seeded pearl trimmings. She carried a formal bouquet of Fleur d'Amour, lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Miss Peggy Ann Cox was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a lovely gown of toast satin and net with satin jacket, matching gauntlets and a bandeau of Vanda orchids in her hair.

Misses Patricia Stanley and Katie Lou Williams, cousins of the bride and Misses Lucille McGowan and Alef Collins were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of blue satin and pink net, respectively, with matching gauntlets. Miss Polly Ann Brady as junior bridesmaid wore blue satin and net gown with matching gauntlets. All attendants carried formal bouquets of natural hybrid orchids, tied with matching moire ribbon and showered with Vanda orchids. They too wore a bandeau of Vanda orchids in their hair.

Just preceding the bride to the altar were little Miss Judy Evans, dressed in white satin and carrying a bouquet similar to that of the bride and Master Jerry Randall Cox, the bride's baby brother, dressed as a groom.

Mr. N. J. Jones of Oxford, N. C., uncle of the groom served as best man and the ushers were: John Karsnak, Jr., Bobby Brady, Greenville, N. C., Jimmy Jenkins, Ayden, N. C., and Albert Jones, Oxford, N. C.

The bride's mother was becomingly attired in aqua crepe dinner gown with headress of pink tulle and feathers. Mrs. Jones, the groom's mother, was dressed in royal blue crepe and matching headress. Both wore white orchid corsages.

Mrs. Jones is the attractive and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Cox. She was educated in Chlooid High School and East Carolina Teachers College and is highly esteemed for her charming personality. For the past year she has held a responsible position with Commercial Credit Corporation.

The groom received his education in Ayden High School, Sewanee Military Academy, and East Carolina Teachers College.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be at home in Whiteville, N. C., where Mr. Jones now holds a position with Everette Enterprise Theatres.

For travelling the bride wore a handsome costume suit of navy wool with bitter sweet and navy accessories and orchids from her wedding bouquet.

Immediately following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox entertained at a reception at the manse. Mrs. Dorothy Copeland and Mrs. Cassie Sawyer received at the front door and presented the guests to the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Jones, the bride and groom and their wedding party. Mrs. Jack Brady presided over the register and Mrs. Lena Tyson invited guests into the dining room for refreshments.

In the dining room from either end of a beautifully appointed table covered with a bridal green cloth and centered with pink roses and snapdragons and tall pink candles in crystal holders, Mrs. L. E. Stocks and Mrs. J. C. Evans poured punch. Assisting them in serving assorted tea sandwiches, dainty ham biscuits, decorated, bridal cakes, salted nuts and mints were Misses Janet Waters and Dot Wilson.

A three tier wedding cake graced the refreshment table which was later served to the wedding party and intimate friends by Mrs. Toland Boykin after the bride had cut the first slice.

Mrs. Whichard Gives Luncheon Complimenting Miss Ormond

The home of Mrs. D. J. Whichard, Jr., was the scene of a luncheon yesterday when Miss Dorothy Ormond, whose wedding to Mr. Tom Grier of Spartanburg, S. C., takes place in October, was complimented.

Mrs. Whichard greeted the guests at the door and invited them into the living room where small luncheon tables were spaced. Each table was covered with a cut-work linen cloth and centered with tiny urns containing dahlias.

Against a mirrored background, silver goblets were arranged and on either end of the mantel were low silver candle holders with white tapers. In the center goblet were American Beauty roses and the side goblets held philodendron plants. Maiden hair fern was used as graceful tracers between the containers. A large copper urn in front of the fireplace held green bamboo shoots, and bud vases on side tables held single dahlias. The table in the dining room was draped with a Madeira cut-work cloth. Four branched silver candelabra held white tapers and centering the table were silver goblets holding trailing philodendron and caladium.

High Tea Given As Courtesy To Miss Frances Kittrell

In compliment to Miss Frances Kittrell, Mrs. Louis Skinner delightfully entertained at High Tea from six to seven Monday evening.

The house was attractively decorated throughout with garden flowers.

Mrs. Louis Stuart Ficklen greeted the guests on arrival and introduced them to the hostess, the bride-elect, Miss Kittrell, her mother, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Miss Dot Ormond, and her mother, Mrs. H. L. Ormond.

In the lower hall Mrs. Katherine Adams, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Kittrell received.

Mrs. J. T. Cheatham invited the guests into the dining room where a beautiful buffet supper was served.

Mrs. Ralph Garrett, Mrs. J. B. James, and Miss Eleanor James assisted in serving. Mrs. Sam White poured coffee.

As the guests passed from the dining room into the living room, Mrs. James Ficklen introduced Mrs. William Blount and her daughter, Miss Madeline Blount, of New York, guests of Mrs. Ficklen.

Fifty guests were present for this delightful occasion.

Pactolus Class Elects Officers

The Senior Class of Pactolus High School got started with a bang this year. They are planning to make it the biggest and best one of their twelve years in school. Their task is a hard one, but success is their determination.

For the fourth year, they are once again under the capable leadership of Peggy Bowers as their class president. Betty Lou Tyndall, vice president, will be her assistant. Doris Gray is secretary and treasurer, and Jean Johnston is reporter. Each of these girls held this same office in their class during the 1948-50 school year.

On Friday night, September 15, the seniors; their escorts; Mrs. O. H. Forrest, class advisor; Mr. O. H. Forrest, former principal of Pactolus High School; Mr. Ralph D. Pichelsimer, principal of Pactolus School; and Mr. Horace Morris, high school English teacher, journeyed to Richard's Beach for the first class social of the year—a picnic. After the picnic they enjoyed dancing.

School hasn't been all play for this class though by any means. Already they have settled down to work and also to ways of making money which will be needed throughout the year for various activities. On Wednesday night, September 13, they prepared and served the Ruritan supper. This was the annual Ladies Night.

This is just the beginning of their senior year, but they are looking forward to every moment of study and thrills that will take place before graduation next spring.

A New Light In A World Of Darkness

The Greenville Lions have launched their annual campaign for funds with which to combat blindness in Pitt county.

The Lions' program is not new to us here in Pitt county. We have watched it grow for a number of years; and while it has not been a highly publicized program the results have been evident on every hand.

School children who have been threatened with blindness have had their sight improved through the activity of the Association for the Blind. They have been able to continue their school work. Had it not been for the work of the Lions club and the Association for the Blind, many Pitt county children in school today would be groping in a world of darkness—a liability to their families and community.

In addition to those cases in which sight corrections have been made, people whose blindness can not be helped have been taught to support themselves at least partially through the training they have received through the Association for the Blind.

Last year alone through the work of the Association of the Blind 62 people in Pitt county who had been listed as blind because they were unable to see well enough to support themselves, were removed from that list. Eye examinations were given to 368 people last year by the Association for the Blind.

The Lions club and the Association for the Blind are bringing new light into the lives of the people of our county every week. Their contribution to the welfare of the county is not temporary, but permanent. The program to restore the sight of the blind and near-blind deserves the support of all the people in the county.

The Lions with the white canes who are soliciting funds this week are not asking funds to restore their own sight. They are seeking funds with which to restore the sight of one of your fellow citizens.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Revelations of a fifteen-year oil steal that was up over on thousands of midwest and southern farmers may provoke a major Senate investigation of Agriculture's handling of the nation's petroleum resources which it acquired in farm foreclosures from 1934 to 1949.

Besides nicking the taxpayers millions of dollars, these deals have deprived former and present property owners of large sums and cast a cloud on their titles. There are also signs of collusion between certain inside parties and purchasers of land which began to produce oil immediately after the sales at bargain rates.

The details aroused considerable indignation when submitted to the Senate by Senator John J. Williams of Delaware, who had conducted a quiet, one-man inquiry for many months before he could obtain confirmatory facts from reluctant and evasive officials. However, official reports and admissions bear out his findings and charges.

REVERSAL—Indeed, the policy was reversed almost as soon as he began asking questions about the situation. But the reversal was not ordered until 1949, fifteen years after the questionable program was inaugurated during the Henry Wallace regime. The farmers who lost out have no recourse.

Senator Williams is especially interested in the fact that property sold for a song by the government immediately assumed a far higher value because of the discovery and actual production of oil. He expects to have more complete information for his astonished associates when Congress reconvenes in November.

SIMPLE—The process of siphoning petroleum profits from distressed farmers and subsequent buyers was amazingly simple, explained by spokesmen for such various Agriculture agencies as the Farm Credit Administration and the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation.

During the depression, these organizations acquired thousands of farms throughout the country, but particularly in the midwest and south. When the government subsequently disposed of these properties by resale, it reserved to itself 80 per cent of the sub-surface mineral rights.

But the Administration salesman did NOT notify the new buyers of this reservation. Even worse, it sold these rights in large and small percentages to "outside speculators" without giving the new owner a chance to buy them. In short, the underground with its possibly valuable deposits was sold from under the farmer.

RIGHTS—In several ways this withholding of a purchase right and information has serious consequences for present owners. At any time derricks and other drilling rigs may be erected in the middle of a field he has planted to his money crops. He may find himself sitting in the middle of an oil puddle owned by somebody else.

Some subsoil rights have been sold in amounts of one-sixty-fourth, one-one-hundred-and-twenty-eighth and other fractional percentages. It might cost him more than his land is worth to clear the title, if he should want to sell.

DISCHARGED—Agriculture will now give the owner a chance to buy, if he has the cash. But it did not offer him this privilege until after Senator Williams protested against the gross inequity in the summer of 1949.

Incidentally, several officials of the St. Louis office of the Farm Credit Administration have been discharged for forming an investment pool to buy up these mineral rights. But they were not ousted until Mr. Williams questioned the propriety of their engaging in such transactions.

NEGOTIATED—Senator Williams' charts and statistics on 92 of these transactions have considerable significance. They refer to deals in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Michigan. He has data indicating that they covered a far greater area.

Many of the farms' sub-surface rights were sold to individuals in such petroleum-minded centers as Houston, New Orleans, New York City, Virginia and Oklahoma. Many of the purchasers listed their business addresses as banks and insurance companies. Many original purchasers also transferred their "buys" to third parties.

Incidentally, all these sales of subsoil rights were "negotiated" rather than effected by competitive public bidding. Thus the "outside speculators," in many cases, seem to have been "insiders."

PROVED—The government's real estate men were not even smart operators.

For instance, on a 160-acre farm near Scottville, Mich., they sold one-quarter of the federal mineral rights for $800 seven days before a discovery well drilled by the Roosevelt Oil Co. had been completed.

China's "Friend"

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If you are a football fan, there's no doubt that you'll be on hand at East Carolina stadium to see the Pirates begin their at-home season against Hampden Sydney. After two victories in two starts, the Pirates will doubtless be worthy of plenty of attention this season.

It wasn't easy to leave my new daughter, Nancy, but the boss and I slipped up to Chapel Hill Saturday to see the Tar Heels defeat the N.C. State Wolfpack by a score of 13-7. Everybody is talking about the Tar Heels, minus Charlie Justice and Art Weller. The most classical analysis I have heard about the loss of those two comes from the 1950 players themselves. They were pulled by Jim Reid, Sports Director of Radio Station WPTF in Raleigh, and every one of the players who was questioned said that he thinks the team is better than last year's. This is no slam on Justice and Weller, but rather an indication that last year's freshman team moved up to bring valuable talent.

Frank Leahy, coach of the Notre Dame team that meets the Tar Heels Saturday in South Bend, says that the Tar Heels are better than they were last year. But frankly, I don't put much faith in Leahy's statements to the press. Early in the season he said, "If we can squeeze by our opener with North Carolina, we should have a fair season." Anyone who reads even the sports headlines knows that it probably won't be a squeeze.

Charlie Justice says we can take Notre Dame. At the same Saturday he was sitting in the press box with the new University president, Gordon Gray. But he wasn't sitting still. Said he, "I'm more jittery up here than I was down there on the bench. I can't wait until that Notre Dame game next week. I think Carolina'll take 'em." Everybody that agrees with Charlie stand on your head. Of course nothing would suit me better than a victory over Notre Dame, but facing the facts, we'll be great underdogs. Beginning yesterday, the Carolina quarterbacks began memorizing a list of plays for Saturday. This list will be pasted inside their helmets so that they can refer to them during timeouts.

By now Saturday's game with State is ancient history, but you can bet that Carl Snively had the boys working on pass defense this week. My opinion is that Carolina would have won by two or more touchdowns had they had a strong pass defense to cope with the artful passing of Ed Mooney. Television salesmen in the Greensboro-Charlotte-Winston-Salem area have been plugging hard the fact that a cable will be there in time for TV owners to see the Saturday game with Notre Dame over television. Should the game come over NBC, Greenville TV owners will have a chance to see it, provided the weather is right. With a cable to Charlotte, weather would be no obstacle there. It's almost a temptation to go to Charlotte to see the game over TV. And I thank you.

Raleigh, N. C.

REASON—The advisory budget commission has been for the past week hearing appeals for large appropriations for state services. After these hearings are over the budgeters will give consideration to means of raising the money. There will be a lot of suggestions, many of them foolish, a few impossible, but for most part they will have merit. The commission now will have to recommend and the general assembly later will have to levy more tax money than ever before. The one big reason, of course, is that it costs more to operate state government now. Chief part of the increased cost is in proposed expanded service.

EXAMPLE—The department of public welfare asks for 30 percent more than it is spending this year. For purpose of comparison the second year of the current biennium is matched against the second year of the next. Welfare needs go up from $5,090,471 to $6,619,500. The several tuberculosis sanatoria report need for $3,618,041 compared with this year's spending of $2,197,332, an increase of 64 percent. The library commission, mainly for state aid to local libraries, asks 70 percent more—up from $385,350 to $644,787. The commission for the blind asks $780,383, more than 25 percent above this year's allocation of $621,000. The state board of health needs $3,151,099 compared with $1,933,186, an increase of 60 percent. These agencies represent only a part of the gratuitous social service rendered by the state to its citizens, but their financial position is typical of the others. Even larger increases are asked in some small items, such as the art and symphony societies. When figures for public school, college university budgets are in, it will be found that the bill for cultural, educational and social services of the state will be just about fifty percent above current spending—which is already just about equal with current revenue.

TAXES—Existing tax schedules may yield more money under wartime inflation than even in the best years of the past decade, but none of the budget folks is optimistic enough to think they will yield enough to meet requirements. New sources of revenue must be found, or present levies raised. The increase in federal income rates makes it practically impossible for the state to increase the base of that item. The next biggest source of general fund revenue is the sales tax. Serious thought is being given to broadening the base rather than raising the rate here. When the sales tax was first injected into the taxing scheme of the state in 1933 John Sprunt Hill, then in the senate, argued for a flat one percent levy, without exemptions. He had support then and others are coming around to believe that exemptions should be eliminated or greatly reduced, both at top and bottom of the scale. Revision in certain types of the franchise tax are advocated both for purpose of equalizing the load and increasing revenue.

ADVANCEMENT—One thing seems fairly certain now. No matter how great the need or how large the prospective deficit, there will be no state tax on property. Governor Scott, members of the advisory budget commission, and most of the spokesmen appearing before the group, are emphatic in opposition to an advalem tax for state purposes.

TIGHTER—A substantial group of state financiers holds belief that sufficient revenue can be obtained from existing sources and present levies, if full collections could be made. Thousands of citizens are not paying their proper share of the income tax under the law — and there are many loopholes in the law for farmers and small individual business firms. The separate items are small making collection difficult. But it is again noted that 25 cents apiece for all North Carolinians means a million dollars in revenue.

JUSTICE — Justice is not a gamble. The supreme court of North Carolina says it isn't. Associate Justice Seawell, who seldom writes an opinion without getting in a new word or an exceptionally well turned phrase, wrote for the court in this instance. He was sending back for new a case in which the defendant had been convicted for failure to support an illegitimate child. Judge Will Pless had charged the jury apparently according to the personal liking of Justice Seawell, but not strictly according to law, so the learned justice says "there is little propriety in speculating whether the instruction given is more harmful, or on the other hand, more favorable, to the defendant than the one which ought to have been given, since justice is not a gamble."

INSTRUCTED—Almost every session of the general assembly adopts resolutions memorializing the national congress to do or not to do certain things.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

A NOTABLE AWARD MADE (Kinston Daily Free Press)

The Nobel Peace Prize for 1950 has been awarded to Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, grandson of an American slave, a United Nations mediator, who brought an end to the conflict in the Holy Land.

Dr. Bunche is the first negro to receive the award and the 10th American in the 50 years since Swedish Scientist Alfred B. Nobel, inventor of dynamite, bequeathed a fund of $9,000,000, the interest of which was to be distributed annually for those pre-eminent in physics, in chemistry, in medicine and physiology, literature and in peace.

Mr. Nobel prescribed that the physics and chemistry awards should be made by the Swedish Academy of Science; those for medicine and physiology by the Stockholm Faculty of Medicine; those for literature by the Swedish Academy of Literature and those for peace by a committee of five persons elected by the Norwegian Parliament. He expressly stipulated that "No consideration whatever shall be paid to the nationality of the candidates, that is to say, that the most deserving be awarded the prize, whether of Scandinavian origin or not."

Other Americans who have received the Peace Award were the late President Theodore Roosevelt, the late statesman and Secretary of State Elihu Root, the late President Woodrow Wilson, former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, former president of Columbia University, Dr. N. M. Butler, the great social worker and founder of Hull House in Chicago, Miss Jane Addams, former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Dr. John R. Mott, great religious leader and Miss Emily G. Balch, economist, connected with Dennison House in Boston and many missions.

The Free Press believes that the committee has done well to bestow this great honor upon the negro peace leader. Incidentally he made a speech before the United Nations Assembly on Saturday which was most noteworthy.

Business Today

By ELMER BOESSNER
Although it includes some of the biggest corporations in the world, the automotive industry is an industry of small business, according to the 30th annual edition of "Automobile Facts and Figures," by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

While many people think of the industry in terms of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, plus a few other large manufacturers, the association counts a total of 436,111 establishments in the industry. This is about one ninth of the total number of firms in the country—so many that the vast majority of them are small.

The small firms include not only several hundred thousand agencies, accessory dealers, truckers, service station and other enterprises dealing with auto owners, but thousands more on the other side of the assembly lines. These include processors of raw materials, makers of parts and accessories, and more truckers.

In relation to the entire industry, even the big companies are small. They funnel in supplies from other companies in every state of the union and many foreign countries, convert them into cars and trucks, and funnel them out again. The A.M.A. figures show 36,142 businesses in the industry in California, 288,004 in Texas and 26,187 in Pennsylvania.

The association counts 9,064,000 employees supported by the industry, including people working on federal, state and county roads, but not including tax collectors. Of this, less than a tenth, or 800,998 are engaged in manufacturing auto parts and tires. The others are: petroleum refining, 131,235; sales and servicing, 1,615,737; highway employees, 319,223; truck and other drivers, 9,066,453; bus employees, 239,453, and employees engaged in making batteries, stampings, electrical equipment in preparing raw materials, and in taxi, insurance and financing services, 800,000.

The association also calculates that automotive retail sales constitute 20 per cent of all retail sales.

The size suggests the importance of any move to restrict the manufacture of cars because of the armament program. Such action would tend to convert an enormous supply, manufacturing and manpower potential to defense needs, but at an equally great risk of curtailing an important part of retailing business.

CANNED MEAT SALES INCREASE 800 PERCENT
Americans are eating seven times as much canned meat as they did in 1926, the American Can Co. calculates. Consumption was a little over 220,000,000 pounds in 1926 and above 1,500,000,000 pounds now. That's about

On the road to Seoul—(AP)—It is so crowded at the front now you have to fight your way to get there.

It is a portable front—a front targeted by the backs of demoralized North Koreans rushing pell mell back into their section of the country.

The traffic of American and South Korean troops grinding forward to victory clogs the roads. Tanks, jeeps, ammo carriers and ration trucks dispute in snarled jams for the right of way to speed ahead on the shortening roads to Seoul.

"What we need now is a bunch of New York Irish cops to straighten this out," laughed Brig. Gen. Frank W. Allen of Washington, D. C., deputy commander of the fast-moving First Cavalry division.

Every one wants to be the first group that drives northwest and links up with American Marines, doughboys and airborne infantry in the Seoul beachhead. That includes cooks and bakers, front line infantrymen and artillery colonels.

The trouble with the battlefront now is that it is hard to catch up with. The Red Koreans were marathon attackers at their peak of power. Now they are retreating.

It takes a visiting VIP—Very Important Person—a full day of jeep riding to drive up, review the frozen hands of protest up-lifted by enemy soldiers killed the day before, and still get back in time for sundowner highballs.

This sight of the safely dead enemy and the discomfort of his own bruised bottom, unused to the rigors of a hole-pitted, rock ribbed corduroy road, tempt the distinguished visitor into thinking he has known the main hardships of the war in Korea.

He sees a Graves Registration unit pulling the shrunken corpse of an understudied North Korean soldier from a road culvert.

And it is a distinguished visitor, indeed, who can look at this pitiful human remnant in his faded bloodstained shabby uniform and keep from saying:

"Anything like that couldn't be as tough as they say the Reds were. Boy, the army really painted this campaign with a heavy brush."

It is unlikely that anyone will bother to tell him that the Red soldier dies in forlorn loyalty to a lost cause, trying to block the return road by throwing a grenade from the culvert.

It is even more unlikely that he will be told that combat troops hate the enemy so bitterly that they themselves wouldn't have arranged for the removal of that corpse except that they wanted to use the area for an artillery position.

The front has never been so popular. It wasn't that way in the long weeks of retreat when the communists were driving south and the Yanks were going north ahead of them.

Most popular items: luncheon meat, canned ham, corned beef hash, chile con carne and Vienna sausages, in that order.

IT MAY NOT LAST.
BUT IT'S SHORE HERE
Questions bothering hundreds of manufacturers: If the cowpokes here to stay? If so, for how long?

Millions of dollars depend on guessing the right answers.

Others point out that no craze has ever lasted long and that, in general, the more intense a fad has been the quicker it has died out.

The reply is that the cowboy boom is no ordinary fad. There has been a brisk sale in western toys and suits for fifty years and they say that the present phenomenon is merely an intensification of something permanent.

In any case, this will be the two-gunned-west Christmas the country has ever seen. The number of items with cowboy motifs run into the thousands; there are hundreds for adults alone.

TIPS IN STARTING A CARPET LAUNDRY
"Starting a rug and upholstery cleaning business," is the subject of a new leaflet by the Small Business division of the Department of Commerce. It is not a complete manual on the subject, but it offers some important general information for those planning to enter the business. It is free at field offices of the Department.

Small communities are seldom ideal locations, it points out. A city of 20,000 population will only have 800 rugs or carpets a year to be cleaned, and this would gross $7,500 or less. Finding work for dull seasons is also an important factor in this service, it notes.

Although the leaflet does not make the point, it is probable that rug cleaning businesses will be improved by higher carpeting prices, since many families will try to make old rugs last longer and give better care to new, expensive ones.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—Pretty Dolores Tourangeau sat at her desk painting carrot slices. She had to make 10 sets of them before she could get to work tinting plaster onions. On a nearby table some 40 plaster McIntosh apples spoked on sticks were drying. They were so realistic I nearly ate one. Miss Tourangeau had also painted some model grapefruit, oranges and nuts.

She has been doing this sort of thing for two years for the Fruit and Vegetable Branch of the Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration. Last year she painted more than 1,000 plaster models of fruits and vegetables, as well as making realistic spinach leaves and tomato slices in slices of transparent plastic and paintings of sad-looking, sick onions done in oils on artist's paper.

These works, exact as to form, color and detail, are used to guide agricultural inspectors in grading fresh products. They are used by the inspectors at shipping points in grading more than a million carlots of fresh fruits and vegetables a year.

"This are the border-line cases, not the perfect specimens," the 32-year-old artist told me, holding up models of three crooked sweet potatoes. "Inspectors recommend that anything below these models in quality is not worthy of grading and should be thrown out."

"Sometimes court cases and banking loans depend on this work—it just has to be accurate," she said. If halved unroasted peanuts are to be judged for dirt content, she must then produce exact models. Each one must contain on its surface so many painted-in dirt spots. When she makes 40 reproductions of these to guide inspectors at 40 different shipping points, not one spot on any peanut half in the whole lot must differ in size or depth of color from any other.

The carrot slices will depict the upper and lower grades of color permissible for carrots of a certain grade and all must be exactly alike.

Maillilikageyaaegyaye Is Just His First Name

AP Newsfeatures
A man in New Orleans carries the full name of Maillilikageyaaegyaye Edeyoyeyayilo Anlillyiyayo. St. Louis has a Mr. Ahrenhoersterbauer. There is a Mr. Aledasabala-diedocheda in Detroit, and Mr. James J. Pappatheodorokoummountourgeotopoulos was a Chicago confecturer.

Names, (Harper), Smith cites some of the longest and shortest names on record. Among the latter, he lists a Mr. Py of Fairmont, Minn., a Mr. Ol of Chicago, and a Mr. Ax of Indianapolis. A Chinese graduate from an American medical school in 1925 had the shortest of all, however: the single letter "I."

"Men with odd names have sometimes attained such fame that the queerness of their names has been forgotten," says Smith. "In this country alone there were Preserved Fish, the New York merchant, and Cotton and Increase Mather, the New England divines."

"A railway mail clerk of Meridan, Wis., is Darling Dear. The Apple family of Chicago had a son they named Orange. Orange Vanilla Lemon resides in Boise, Idaho."

Apt occupational names are easy to find in the United States, Smith says. He cites Dr. Donat Yelle, a dentist of Dayton, Ohio, and a Dr. Toothache, also a dentist at Burlington, Iowa. I Will Sing is a Chinese laundryman in Thomasville, Ga. And in 1948 Please Wright was a candidate for postmaster at Oceana, W. Va.

Initials sometimes make for oddities in names says Smith. "The lawyer, Daniel Ashton Martin, hired Irene Thompson to do his stenographic work. In the lower left hand corner of the letters he dictated she dutifully wrote, "Dict. DAM-IT."

Parking Ticket To Call For A Dollar At Police Station

The police department has been ordered to more strictly enforce the city ordinance about the parking meters. Some of the meters are for one hour and the fee is a nickel; others are for two hours, and the fee is a dime. Nickels, dimes or pennies may be used.

Police officers regularly check the parking meters and tag over-parked cars. Motorists who violated the city ordinance have been excused in some instances. After yesterday a parking ticket will mean that the motorist must pay $1 at police headquarters. Local residents will not be excused, the new order states.

Parking tickets printed in green ink are used to tag out-of-town motor vehicles violating the parking ordinance. The courtesy ticket tells the motorist that he or she violated the law and is excused for the first offense.

Let Freedom Ring

JUNIOR CRUSADERS . . . These young Americans are signing the Freedom Scroll before the Freedom Bell in Madison Square, New York, at the start of the Crusade for Freedom. Spearheading the crusade, aimed at restating the ideals of American democracy, General Lucius D. Clay has called on school children throughout the nation to sign the scrolls, which will be circulated in all schools. Their signatures, together with those of millions of U. S. men and women, will be taken to Berlin to become a permanent part of the shrine of the new Freedom Bell, to be dedicated there on United Nations' Day, October 24.

Skies Begin To Clear Of Smoke-Haze From Canada

Washington, Sept. 27—(AP)—This and other east coast cities hoped to see the sun really shine today.

It disappeared behind a smoke-haze Sunday morning and has stayed there ever since.

And from Scotland yesterday it was reported that telephone lines there were clogged by calls from people who demanded to know whether the "perfect pale blue sphere in the western sky" was just an obscured sun or signified the end of the world.

The weather bureau said the forest fires in northwest Canada were the reason the sun was obscured in both cases.

The fires extend over hundreds of miles in Alberta and British Columbia. The latest fire communique, the weather bureau reported, said that those in British Columbia were burning as strong as ever.

Neither weather experts nor forestry officials here can recall a blackout so far east from fires 2,000 miles away.

Today's big smoke extends south to Cape Hatteras, N. C. Much of the area between here and the fires has already been cleared of smoke.

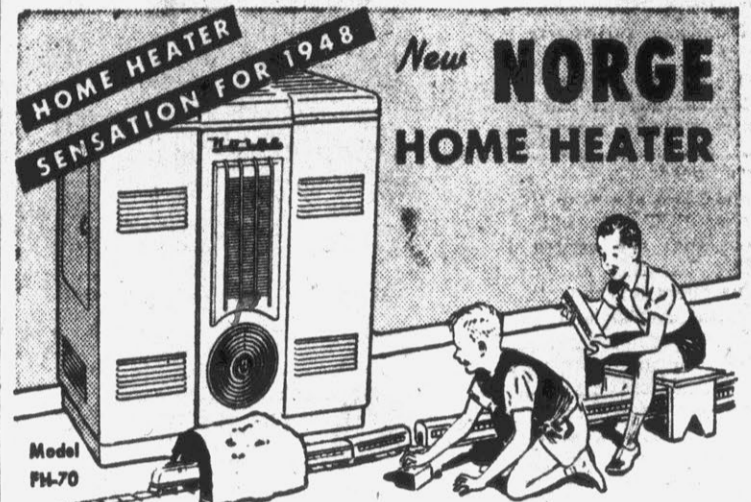

The volcano Fujiyama deposited six inches of ash on Tokyo in 1707-08.

High Price For Cotton Foreseen

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 27—(AP)—Cotton prices in North Carolina next year may reach 50 cents a pound, highest levels since the Civil War.

This forecast came yesterday from M. G. Mann, general manager of the N. C. Cotton Growers Association. Mann told the association's board of directors that the short 1950 crop, plus other factors, has caused cotton prices to react sharply.

Today, he said, spot cotton is selling at more than 40 cents a pound, highest peak in 30 years.

Begin Bringing Bodies From Pit

Creswell, England, Sept. 27—(AP)—Grimy rescue workers hauled up the bodies of 47 miners today from the fire-wracked pit of Creswell Colliery. Eighty men died there yesterday in smoke and flame 1,000 feet underground.

The bodies of three other victims were taken from the pit last night. A mine official said five other bodies had been seen in one shaft but could not be reached at present.

The other 25 bodies had not been located, he added. The 50 men whose bodies lay in improvised mortuaries in this little mining town had suffocated, their lives snuffed out by smoke and poisonous fumes.

They were hauled out by volunteer rescuers who braved the heat, smoke and fumes of the pit to seal off the burning seams.

Although 120 miners escaped from the main shaft when the fire flashed along the black alleyways of coal, it was Britain's worst mining disaster since 1947. That year 104 died in undersea workings at Whitehaven.

Induct 103 N.C. Men Into Army

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 27—(AP)—A group of 103 draftees from five eastern North Carolina counties was inducted into the Army here yesterday.

The draftees included: Nash County 26, Wilson 20, Edgecombe 25, Pasquotank 20, and Warren 13.

Old Enough?

Chapel Hill, Sept. 27—(AP)—If a man is old enough to serve in the armed forces, he is old enough to vote, according to Secretary of State Thad Eure.

In an address to the Phi Assembly, a University of North Carolina debating society, Eure declared last night that 18-year-olds who are required to defend their country should be given the right to vote.

He suggested that steps be taken to amend the constitution to allow men under 21 years of age who are serving in the armed forces to vote.

Looking for honest-to-goodness COMFORT?

Better Buy Buick!

YOU'VE probably heard a lot of talk about comfort in 1950 cars. But we'd like to offer one suggestion, which is—let a Buick speak for itself.

We'd like to have you settle yourself (your family too, if you have one) on a Buick's soft, deep, comfort-angled cushions, and see how restful they are.

More than this, we'd like you to sample that comfort in motion. Slip your fingers around that slender steering wheel, touch 'toe to treadle and take off in the smooth, unbroken surge of power that Dynaflo Drive delivers.

We'd like to have you hunt out some of the less-smooth streets or back roads that never seem to get fixed—and put Buick's soft coil springing and solid underpinning to tough and practical test.

All the while, be thinking about what such riding and driving ease can mean on long, all-day trips, and compare it with what you've been used to.

This whole experience is bound to make you want a Buick—and when you ask "how much" you'll get a second pleasant surprise in the low delivered prices your dealer is quoting—prices that start at a level that is actually lower than you'd pay for some sixes.

Your Buick dealer is the man to see and this is the best of all times to see him. Drop in, won't you, to see about getting an order signed!

Slow Stockpiling Program Seems Ready To Go Ahead

By CLARK BEACH
 Washington — The long lagging stockpiling program seems at last ready to speed into high gear. The new vigor and haste with which the Munitions Board is acting in acquiring a national store of strategic and critical materials for use in wartime is revealed in two recent developments.

1. The proposed regular and supplemental appropriations for stockpiling for the year ending June 30, 1951 total $1,189,000,000. Last year the appropriation was only $565,000,000.

2. The board has announced that hereafter domestic producers of needed materials might be paid any amount above the world market price if such payments were justified "in terms of urgent national security need."

The second item is of particular interest. The stockpiling program is subject to the terms of the "Buy American Act" of 1933. That act requires that when the government does any purchasing, it shall buy American goods unless their cost is unreasonable as compared to foreign goods. The government has defined a domestic price as unreasonable if it is more than 25 per cent above that for the same material purchased from foreign sources.

Although the board all along could have paid American producers as much as 25 per cent above the world price, actually it has awarded orders to American bidders only when their price was equal to or below that of foreign producers. The intent of Congress, according to the board's interpretation, was that it should pay more than the prevailing market price.

Now, under the new policy, the board NOT only is prepared to pay a differential on American goods, but the differential won't even be limited to 25 per cent.

The authority to pay the differential without any limit was contained in a recent letter from John R. Steelman, the assistant to the President, to Hubert H. Howard, former chairman of the board.

The reason for the new policy is the need for steamed-up stockpiling, caused by the present emergency. An official of the National Security Resources Board, which works closely with the Munitions Board on stockpiling, says certain war materials are needed quickly which would NOT be available soon enough under policies hitherto followed. Higher prices for certain materials will encourage domestic producers to supply the demand. He wouldn't say on what materials the board might pay a differential.

The Munitions Board has no intention of paying a general subsidy for all materials which can be produced domestically. It will pay the differential only in cases what the payment will enable the board to fill urgent needs.

There are two angles to that. The high prices NOT only will produce the goods that are wanted in the stockpiling, but they also will provide mine operators and other producers with capital and incentive to develop domestic sources not hitherto profitable. Some critical materials—Manganese, for instance—are purchased chiefly from abroad, because domestic ore supplies are of low quality. But if enough money is spent processing them they can be made as useful as any foreign product.

One objection that President Truman has had to such a program, however, is that it will tend to deplete national resources. As long as the ores are in the ground, he says, they can always be put to use in an emergency.

Along this time of the year, many fires are caused by faulty stoves which had not been checked before being used. No stove should be used without first being checked, firemen said.

Fire Department Warns To Check Those Heaters

A warning was issued by the Greenville Fire Department this morning cautioning the people of the city against faulty heating equipment.

With the approach of colder weather, many people will begin to use their heating equipment more and more, firemen pointed out. Care should be taken to inspect all stoves, chimneys, stoves, and pipe.

A short inspection of all heating equipment, which would reveal the presence of any worn or otherwise unusable equipment might pay off in preventing a fire later on.

Count Losses In Error Bombing

Tokyo, Sept. 26.—(P)—A British Army spokesman reported today 21 men were killed and 20 wounded in the error bombing of the British 27th brigade by American planes Saturday.

The spokesman said the number of casualties was determined personally by Air vice Marshal C. A. Bouchier on a two-day visit to the front in South Korea.

Mr. David Brunk, Route 1, Box 35, Loveland, Ohio, says that just about everything these days on the farm has changed to the modern way of doing things—a man practically has to be a mechanic to be the farmer, but says he, the only thing about farming that hasn't changed from the old days is a farmer himself—he just has to be in good condition. That's one worry Mr. Brunk says he doesn't have—because now he has HADACOL. By taking HADACOL he has overcome his deficiencies of vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

Here is Mr. Brunk's own statement: "My main trouble before I started taking HADACOL was a lack of sleep and nervousness. Seems like everything I did I felt bad. Food I ate—didn't taste good—I had no appetite. And energy—why, I didn't have enough energy to hardly pick up my feet. I tried dozens of different things—nothing did me any good. Then I heard about HADACOL and started taking it immediately—I guess it was the second bottle of HADACOL when I started feeling good. Now I feel fine. Get plenty of sleep, have a good appetite—enjoy my food, and best of all, I'm not a bit nervous. So far I've taken 11 bottles of HADACOL. I think HADACOL is wonderful—just look what it did for me."

Yes, HADACOL Is Doing Good All Over The Country

by helping thousands of distressed folks get the necessary elements they need when they lack vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. Yes, HADACOL helps to build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious vitamins and minerals to every organ, and every part of your body—to the heart, liver, kidneys and lungs, even to the eyes, hair and nails. Thousands whose systems were deficient in vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin are benefiting from HADACOL... even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients.

Give HADACOL a chance to help you. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on genuine HADACOL. You risk nothing because HADACOL is sold only on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel better with the first few bottles you take or your money will be refunded. Trial Size only $1.25. This Could Be 'Flag Day' For N. Y. Yankees, Phillies

Both Teams In A Position To Lock Up American And National League Championships Before Sundown And End Feverish Race

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
This could be "flag day" for the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Phillies.

New York's magnificent "clutch" team and Philadelphia's dashing youngsters were in a position to lock up the American and National League championships before sundown and put to rest all the feverish excitement over who will play in the 1950 World Series.

This would make a mere formality of the week-end windup that was figured to be loaded with high tension stuff.

A Yankee victory linked with a single loss for Detroit and Boston thus would return the Bronx Bombers to familiar World Series surroundings without further ado.

The Detroit Tigers, their once flaming pennant hopes chilled by a last week letdown, met the cantankerous St. Louis Browns at Detroit. Boston entertained Washington in a doubleheader. Both must keep winning to stay "alive."

The challenging Brooklyn Dodgers, five games in arrears, played the Boston Braves twice at Ebbets Field. The Phillies could clinch by winning two while the Dodgers split or by splitting while the Dodgers lost a pair.

The Tigers' pennant hopes, already ebbing, all but disappeared yesterday when they could get no better than a split with the Browns.

The Browns won the opener, 3-1, and were ahead, 3-1, in the afternoon until George Kell unloaded the bases in the eighth to help the Tigers to a 5-3 triumph.

They had a chance to pick up ground on the Yankees, who lost a weird game to the Washington Senators, 11-9, before snatching the second, 10-7.

After spotting the Senators a 10-1 lead in the opener, the champions rallied. They had the winning run on base in the ninth when one out but couldn't quite make it as Mickey Harris put down the uprising.

Phantom Jayvees To Play Kinston

Greenville High's junior varsity will clash with the Kinston JV's tomorrow afternoon in the first game for both squads.

Kickoff for the afternoon scrap is 4 p.m. on the Third Street school field.

Coach Stanley Terrill is expecting a good game in the Junior Phantoms' first test with Halback J. D. Mayo leading the junior squad's attack.

In the line, Coach Terrill will have Tackles Van Carroll, Boots Teel, Guard Tom Smoot and Centers Jody Taylor and Sam Winchester forming the nucleus in the forward wall.

No admission will be charged for the tilt, and the public is cordially invited.

Eleven Oldtimers

Cleveland—(AP)—The 32-man roster of the Cleveland Browns lists 11 players who were with the team when it was organized five seasons ago.

These 11 players, who were instrumental in bringing four straight All-America Conference championships to the Browns, are Quarterbacks Otto Graham and Cliff Lewis, Fullback Marion Motley, Ends Mac Speedie, Dante Lavelli and George Young, Tackles Lou Groza and Lou Rymkus, Guards Lin Houston and Bill Willis and Center Frank Gatski.

Patrolmen John Collins and Joseph Keenan reported last night they saw a mysterious object about six feet in diameter floating to earth in an open field.

They summoned Sgt. Joseph Cook and Patrolman James Casper. Then they approached the object and turned on their flashlights.

Collins tried to pick "the thing" up. The part touched by his hand dissolved, he said, leaving a sticky, odorless residue. Within a half hour the entire object had evaporated.

Betting Odds On Louis Drop Off To A Record Low

New York, Sept. 27—(AP)—Joe Louis, who retired two years ago, battles Ezzard Charles at the Yankee Stadium tonight in an effort to become the first heavyweight titleholder in history to regain the prized crown.

A fresh flood of Charles money has dropped the price on the title fight to 5 to 8 in favor of the Brown Bomber.

If the odds hold up until the 10 p.m. (EST) fight time, Louis may enter the ring at the shortest odds since he first won the heavyweight crown from Jimmy Braddock in Chicago on June 22, 1937.

Not since his second scrap with Max Schmeling 12 years ago has Louis been held in such low esteem by the bookmakers. That night he was the 5 to 9 choice when he annihilated the Union in one round.

A crowd of around 30,000, paying from $3 to $30, is expected to visit the big ballpark.

Another 25,000,000 fans probably will watch the 15-round bout via CBS television and millions more will hear it over a national CBS radio network.

The TV-radio rights were sold for $140,000 of which Louis is receiving 35 per cent and Charles 20 per cent.

When the Indians lost to V.M.I., 25-19, last Saturday night, it was the first time they'd lost an opener since 1948. So the season of five years ago bears a little study.

In 1946, the University of Miami (Fla.) trimmed William and Mary, 13-3, after the Indians had been favored. The defeat proved the signal for the Indians to go on a scoring rampage.

In the next four games, William and Mary scored 202 points, an average of more than 50 per contest, while allowing the opposition only 12.

History could repeat. For while McCray hasn't yet gotten an impressive performance from the 1950 Indians, the raw material is there.

The tipoff on whether William and Mary can come back after the 25-19 setback at the hands of V.M.I. may well be the game against Cincinnati University this weekend at Williamsburg.

In At Guard

One leading lineman contender for North State all-conference honors this year is hefty Reggie Byrd, 202-pound East Carolina guard. Playing his second year for Coach Bill Dole's Pirates, Byrd has been a key man in the Buc offensive line play in the two games this season, and the hard-charging guard is expected to add to his honors in the East Carolina-Hampden-Sydney clash here Saturday night.

William And Mary Might Pull Upset

Richmond, Va., Sept. 27—(AP)—Polks who are counting William and Mary's Indians out of the Southern Conference football race might do well to hark back to the 1946 season.

When the Indians lost to V.M.I., 25-19, last Saturday night, it was the first time they'd lost an opener since 1948.

In 1946, the University of Miami (Fla.) trimmed William and Mary, 13-3, after the Indians had been favored. The defeat proved the signal for the Indians to go on a scoring rampage.

In the next four games, William and Mary scored 202 points, an average of more than 50 per contest, while allowing the opposition only 12.

History could repeat. For while McCray hasn't yet gotten an impressive performance from the 1950 Indians, the raw material is there.

The tipoff on whether William and Mary can come back after the 25-19 setback at the hands of V.M.I. may well be the game against Cincinnati University this weekend at Williamsburg.

McCray rates the Bearcats as perhaps a little bit better than V.M.I. He doesn't think much of his chances—but then McCray never does.

Headquarters reported they said when the North Koreans realized Chinju, on the extreme south Korean front, was about to fall they tied the Americans together, marched them into a ravine and turned machineguns on them.

The two survivors were wounded seriously but escaped by shamming death.

Headquarters said the body of a North Korean was found among those of the murdered Americans. The dead Red was reported to have refused to help kill the Americans.

Pantomos Start Home Schedule With Hertford

Coach Bo Farley's Greenville Phantoms, not yet in the win column this season, will strive to get on the winning ways here Friday night as they open their home schedule against Hertford, in a non-conference scrap.

The winless Phantoms tied Edenton in their opening game, 0-0, and suffered a conference loss at the hands of the New Bern Bears last week, 13-0.

"We've been beating ourselves in the previous two games," stated Coach Farley, "and we're going to try to straighten that out Friday night with a possible win."

A tough game is expected with Coach Elie Fearing's Hertford squad however, as the Hertford eleven looked mighty impressive in their victory over Farmville last week, 25-0.

Fearing is reported to have a large squad down Perquimans county way this year, using the two-plateau system of play.

Correcting last Friday night's mistakes were stressed in the Phantom grid drills Monday, with much emphasis put on offensive plays.

A full scale scrimmage faced the Phants in yesterday's practice, with Fullback Leon Moore doing the most running, and Sidney Briley calling signals and heaving the passes.

John Aman, who was shifted from his center position to end this year, may wind up in his old position Friday night, as Coach Farley is trying to strengthen that position.

Walter Gore, hard running halfback, has been on the sidelines during this week's practice, favoring a severe Charley horse.

Kickoff for the Greenville-Hertford tilt here Friday night is slated for 8 p. m. in the East Carolina College Stadium.

Two other men, wounded but still alive, said 14 of them had been prisoners.

Headquarters reported they said when the North Koreans realized Chinju, on the extreme south Korean front, was about to fall they tied the Americans together, marched them into a ravine and turned machineguns on them.

Experienced Quintet In Farmville Lineup

Bucs 'Buckle Down' In Earnest For Hard Hampden-Sydney Game

By BILL LLOYD
Serious work was in order for Coach Bill Dole's E. C. T. C. gridders yesterday as the Pirates prepared for their home opener against the Hampden-Sydney Tigers here Saturday night.

The Pirates will be seeking sweet revenge in Saturday's game from a 20-7 loss suffered to the Tigers in Virginia last year.

Extensive work on pass defense took a major part of yesterday's practice, with some stress on pass patterns to be used against the Tigers. Yesterday's session was concluded with a scrimmage.

A tough foe faces the Pirates in their home clash here this week. Although beaten in their first outing against Guilford last week, 21-19, the Tigers still are a team to be reckoned with 23 lettermen returned from last season's squad.

Clancy Holland, hard-running halfback, and Bill Blair, ace passing quarterback, were the two boys that put claws in the Pirates back last year, and these two Tiger stars have returned for action again this season.

Receiving Blair's passes are big Chuck Pusnell, a crackerjack end, along with Co-Captain Howell Gruber, another bruising runner and excellent pass receiver.

In the line against the Pirates, Coach Morgan Tiller will have veterans Walter Bridges, who is a rugged guard and Co-Captain of the team, and Lee LeCompte, 190-pound tackle. Both boys play tremendous ball, both on offense and defense.

Injuries are still bothering some East Carolina stalwarts. Don McKenzie, Dennis Smith, Leon Ellis, and John Daughtry are still on the sidelines with assorted injuries, while end Ed Tanner is still a doubtful starter Saturday night because of a wrenched knee.

Defensive guard, Bobby Hodges, returned to heavy work yesterday after missing Monday's practice of lime burns.

for the Tar Heels.

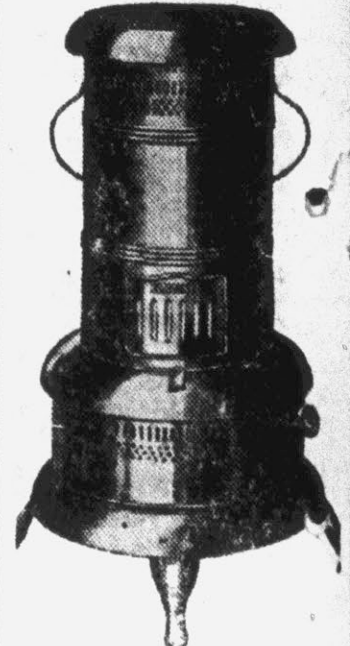

Carolina's Coach Carl Snavely asserted after the game that the turning point of the contest came with the decision to have Wallace carry the ball. Snavely declared that Wallace's play "was one of the most encouraging things of the afternoon."

What's more, the Tar Heel mentor added, the youth's fine play may prompt Carolina to run more from the new "A" formation in later games in order to take advantage of Wallace's powerful running.

Wallace was sent into the fray with instructions to run and run and run. The tall, 195-pound tailback came through like a veteran grinder. He carried the ball four times, bulging his way for 18 yards. Then he rammed through left tackle for three yards and Carolina's second touchdown, which won the game 11-2 miles.

Yonkers, N. Y.—(AP)—In its first year, Yonkers Raceway, with a fall meeting still ahead, boasts two harness racing records. The $1,078,192 wagered last May 29 is the largest one day or night handle for the sport, and Good Time's 3:08 on Aug. 17 is the world's pacing record for 1-1-2 miles.

Asks Permission To Sue Power Co. For Damages

Raleigh, N.C., Sept. 27—(AP)—A New Bern man has asked the State Supreme Court for permission to sue Tide Water Power Company for damages allegedly caused by a gas explosion in 1948.

The petition was filed yesterday by attorneys for E. C. Richardson and wife and Roy Games, who occupied an apartment in the damaged building.

Richardson claimed his store was damaged by an explosion and fire caused by gas leaking under the building. In his original complaint, he sought damages totaling $15,063.30. Games, whose furniture was damaged, asked for $893.10.

At a hearing, Judge Walter J. Bone dismissed the case.

DOUBLE WEDDING

By Adelaide Humphries

Chapter 10
As they stood in the doorway waiting to see if the headwaiter could find a vacant space for them, Sandy felt Stephanie stiffen at his side. He glanced down to see what was wrong. His glance then followed hers and without having to be told who the dark, somewhat stocky, young man was, Sandy knew it could be no other than Hale.

was very fortunate to have that one offered. After they were seated and the drummer who had been performing had subsided, Sandy said, "I suppose if I were a Hale, the management would have moved heaven and earth to find another table. So that's the Ex over there, eh? Don't ask me how I guessed; I'm psychic. Wouldn't you like to invite him to join us, Stevie?"

As if he felt their concentrated attention and focused look, or as if attracted by some stronger impelling force, Grant turned slightly and his eyes saw Stephanie. If seeing her affected him, he did not give himself away by any change of expression. His nose and smile were the same as he would have given any acquaintance. He was with a large party. If he had any intention of leaving them, there would not have been time, as the headwaiter was signaling that there was a vacancy on the opposite side of the crowded room.

The vacant table was almost on top of the orchestra. Sandy asked if there were any other, adding that although he had come prepared to enjoy the music he did not care to be deflected by it. The headwaiter assured Monsieur politely, yet as if it were of no consequence to him whether this particular customer were pleased or not, that this was the only vacancy and that Monsieur

"I have to shout, my love, to be heard," Sandy teased her a bright smile. He knew he was behaving badly. He could not help it. Stephanie's cheeks were pink, making her even lovelier in the white dress that turned her into a veritable Ice Queen. But he was burning up. A hot rage filled him whenever he thought of that "guy" she had married. Yet Sandy was glad—for reasons of his own—that he had seen him. The orchestra was playing one of Stephanie's favorite pieces, one to which she and Grant had often danced. Oh, she wished she and Sandy had not come here! It was just like Sandy to suggest that Grant join them: it would be his idea of a good joke, or a plot for a story. And no telling what he might say if Grant were to come to their table.
