

Pitt Swine Show Rated Among Best

Judge Says Display Second To None In County Fairs Of North Carolina

The hogs of Pitt County had a field day at the fair yesterday when they were judged for looks, breeding and showmanship.

Sixty-six hogs entered the judging ring yesterday morning and the professional hog judge from State College told the fair management and county farm agents Pitt has the best swine show of any county fair in North Carolina.

Champion of the whole show was a Duroc sow owned by John R. Lewis of the Griffon Farm, Farmers of America club. Lewis walked off with the honors in the Duroc division and thereby entered the champion-of-show bracket.

Lewis also won the showmanship prize, which is offered to the boy for his handling the hog in the ring. Besides the blue ribbons and prizes for champion of his class and of the show, Lewis won the pure bred gilt offered by Drum's Hatchery for the champion.

Placing second in the entire show was Kenneth Branch, also a member of the Griffon FFA, with a Poland China pig. His hog was judged grand champion in his division.

Junior champion in the Berkshire breed was Mack James, Stokes 4-H Club. His hog was also grand champion in the Berkshire division.

Judging the show was Professor Lemuel Goode, of the Animal Husbandry Department at State College. Goode is a native of Indiana with long experience in hog judging. He stated to those boys and farmers presenting their swine for show that they had the best hogs of any other fair he had seen in the state.

In the adult swine show, only Du ocs and Poland Chinas were entered for judging. C. G. Dickerson won two blue ribbons with a junior Duroc sow and also a blue ribbon for a junior Duroc boar. Linda Edwards won two ribbons, one for a Duroc sow and the other for a boar.

Among the Poland Chinas, K. E. Price Jr. won two blue ribbons for a senior and junior yearling sow and boar. Elbert Mills won two blue and two red ribbons for junior sows and boars.

The judging in the ring was based on three points accepted as criteria for blue ribbons. They are handling, in ring, fitting for the show, and the feeding and management of the hog at home prior to the show.

Winning second prize for showmanship in the junior division was Rex Lewis, Griffon FFA, and third was Roger Mills, Grimsland 4-H.

The ribbons and prize money were presented to the boys at a banquet last night given by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. The showmanship awards were given by the Chamber of Commerce and the other premiums, amounting to more than $500, were given by the fair management.

Home Building In Greenville Has September Spurt

Building permits totaling $153,800 were issued by building inspector George Gardner in the month of September for 21 dwellings.

Commercial buildings, of which there were three for the month, amounted to a total of $48,000. Two repair permits amounting to $6,000 also were issued by the inspector.

So far this year, a total of 122 permits for dwellings valued at $1,237,400 have been issued since the first of the year. The total value of the 17 commercial buildings constructed in the city this year has amounted to $260,500.

(This does not include building which is being done outside of the city limits.)

No Common Grounds

Indian Effort To Reconcile Divergent Peace Plans Foredoomed To Failure; West And Communists Diametrically Opposed; Nehru's Difficult, Dangerous Task

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Efforts of middle-of-the-road UN members, headed by India, to reconcile the divergent Korean peace plans of Russia and the Western powers, were foredoomed to failure.

There is no common ground upon which the Communist and the democratic blocs can meet where ideological matters are involved. They are so diametrically opposed that any attempt to bridge the differences is like trying to carry water on both shoulders.

The Western program, supported by a majority of UN members, called for the complete defeat of the North Koreans, who have been condemned as aggressors by the peace organization. The Soviet demand for immediate cessation of hostilities and complete withdrawal of U. N. troops—a plan which would save the North Koreans from complete disaster. The Indian bloc would offer cease-fire but wouldn't withdraw U. N. troops immediately—a gesture to both sides.

The position was impossible. Mr. Vishinsky himself told newspaper men that there was no chance of compromise between the Soviet and the majority plans.

United Nations Move Ahead On Korean Planning

Steps For Unifying Divided People Win Sweeping Approval In Test

Lake Success, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The United Nations moved full steam ahead today to put into effect an American-backed plan for the future of war-torn Korea.

The plan, which grants tacit permission for U. N. forces to cross the 38th parallel, won 47 to 5 approval in the 60-nation political committee last night. There were seven abstentions. Only the Soviet bloc—which supported a rival resolution—voted against the proposal.

Supporters of the proposal shrugged off fears that the Chinese Communists may intervene in the Korean war because U. N. military occupation of North Korea will be necessary to enforce its decisions.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson told a news conference that any group looking to the world for recognition and for admission to the U. N. would hesitate to challenge U. N. principles. Communist China is fighting for the U. N. seat now held by Nationalist China.

The peace plan—sponsored by Britain, Australia, Brazil, Cuba, the Netherlands, Norway, Pakistan, and the Philippines—has four main aims. They are:

1. Action—Including holding of elections under auspices of the U. N.—for establishing a unified, independent and democratic Korea.

2. U. N. forces should not remain in any part of Korea longer than necessary to achieve this united government. This was taken to mean that those forces could pursue North Korean aggressors anywhere in the country north or south of the 38th parallel.

3. Economic rehabilitation of Korea. Supporting delegations hope Korea will be a "pilot project" to show what the U. N. can do in this line.

4. A new U. N. commission of seven members to see that the plan's provisions are carried out.

Six members of this watch-dog committee already have been named. The seventh place has been left open to the hope that India will accept it.

India, considered here to be the most influential of the Asian states, had maintained a middle course on the rival plans for Korea. Her representative, Sir Bengal N. Rau, introduced a proposal yesterday to set up a sub-committee to compromise the eight-nation and Soviet Korean plans.

This was defeated, but many delegations hoped that India would accept the majority will and consent to end her prestige to the commission.

Crosby's Father Dies Of Ailment

North Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Happy Lowe Crosby, 70, affectionately called "Pop" by Bing and the boys, is dead.

The crooner's father died at his home of a heart ailment yesterday. Bing reached him shortly before the end came, speeding to the bedside from his home at Pebble Beach, Calif.

First Ripple Of Wage Demands On Railroads

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Exploratory talks between the railroads and firemen's and engineers' unions were looked upon today as the first ripple of a new wave of wage demands for 1,250,000 rail workers.

Minesweeper Is Sunk Off Korea

Victim Of Illegal Floating Mine; 21 Men Are Missing

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Navy announced today that the minesweeper Magpie has been sunk by a floating mine near North Korea. Twenty-one men are missing.

It was the third ship to hit a mine in Korean waters. Two destroyers—the Brush and the Mansfield—were damaged by earlier collisions with mines and 11 men on the Brush were lost.

The Magpie hit a mine Sunday near the city of Ch'uan-Dong. Twelve survivors were picked up by a sister ship, the Minesweeper Merganser, and carried to Pusan, Korea.

The 136-foot wooden Magpie struck the mine on her starboard side and sank about two miles off shore.

The commanding officer of the Magpie, Lt. J. G. Warren R. Person, is among the missing.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Navy chief of operations, told a Congressional committee last Monday that a "great many" Russian-made floating mines have been found in Korean waters. He said they had been "recently laid and not long out of the storehouse."

Sherman called the mines illegal. He explained that the Hague Convention—an international arrangement signed at the Hague—outlawed floating mines because they might drift into the ships of neutral nations.

Town Captured

With the South Korean Division in North Korea, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Elements of this force, which has covered some 250 miles on foot in the last 17 days, took the town of Changun today.

Forward troops of the Third Division advanced through the town, 60 air miles North of the 38th parallel and about 10 miles Northwest of liberated Kowang, after a daylong exchange of small arms and artillery fire with Red defenders.

Call Chicagoans In Crime Probe

Kefauver Seeks Testimony From Both Sides Of The Law

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Chicago figures on both sides of the law today were summoned before U. S. Senate crime investigators.

The list of witnesses called to secret sessions of the committee ranged from Chicago's mayor, a state's attorney elected as "the man gangsters fear," to remnants of the old "Scarface Al" Capone gang.

Prime meat for the committee's sessions in Chicago are the gangster slaying of a former Chicago police lieutenant and a lawyer, both of whom were investigating crime. They were slain Sept. 25 in separate ambushes.

Most of gangland's big shots in the Chicago area have gone into hiding to evade committee subpoenas. At least three are known to have gone to Mexico to await the committee's departure from Chicago.

But the committee chairman, Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said that hiding would avail them nothing. He warned that they will face contempt charges "even if it takes 10 years to find them."

George Robinson, the committee's associate counsel who has been gathering information in Chicago for several weeks, said that police in Mexico, Cuba, Canada and other countries have been asked to search for fugitive gangster witnesses.

Robinson disclosed that committee agents seeking to serve subpoenas on gambling overlords in Gary and Indiana Harbor, Ind. Tuesday found the gambling spots padlocked. The gamblers had departed for parts unknown.

Ex-Waitress Awarded $1,575,000

The Colorado Supreme Court has ruled that Mrs. Ruby Dickey (left), 44, a former waitress, is entitled to receive $1,575,000 from the estate of her former husband, George P. Dickey (right), Mrs. Dickey worked for a time as a waitress in Tucson, Ariz. Dickey, a multi-millionaire of a time, died in 1945. Attorneys for his estate say they may appeal the court's ruling in favor of Mrs. Dickey who was divorced from the capitalist in 1944. (AP Wirephoto).

Path Of Retreat Is Strewn With Atrocity Victims

Reds Hid Some Evidence Of Brutalities; At Least 25,000 Murdered

Tokyo, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Red retreat trail back to North Korea is strewn with buried and unburied bodies of an officially estimated 25,000 murdered men, women and children in South Korea.

Where they could, the Reds covered the evidence of horrible brutalities with earthen entrenchments. In haste of retreat, they left many bodies in exposed mounds at some places.

Some of the victims were American soldiers taken prisoner by the Communist army but the total is not known.

American officers said the overall 25,000 figure is only a minimum estimate . . . the tragic total may run much higher.

South Koreans said most of the victims were bludgeoned, speared, burned or hacked with hatchets for opposing communism.

Mass graves, large and small, are being turned up in city, town, village and hamlet along the bloody retreat route.

Many graves have not yet been opened by American officers probing the mass murders.

U. S. officers fear that "several hundred" Americans whom the Reds took into North Korea may be massacred before the onrushing United Nations forces can reach them.

Partial figures compiled to date from official sources showed the following murder toll:

Seoul area Sept. 15-Sept. 25: 10,000 and possibly more. The U. S. Army Tenth Corps is investigating.

Taejon, Sept. 27: between 8,000 and 6,000, including some Americans. The U. S. Army First Corps is investigating.

Wonju, Oct. 1: between 1,000 and 2,000, including some Americans. The U. S. Army 24th Division is investigating.

Chinju, Sept. 22: twelve American soldiers. The U. S. 24th Division is investigating.

Yosu, Sept. 27: 200. The U. S. 24th Division is investigating.

Chonju, no date: 2,400. U. S. Army Ninth Corps investigating.

Suchon, Sept. 29: 200. U. S. Second Division investigating.

Yanggyong, Sept. 23 to Sept. 29: 700. U. S. 10th Corps investigating.

Mokpo, Sept. 28: 500. U. S. 25th Division investigating.

These are the large scale slaughters already known. How many more will be uncovered as the inquiry proceeds can only be estimated, officers said.

No Fire Loss In Monthly Report For Greenville

The City of Greenville suffered no fire loss for the month of September, the monthly fire report issued by Chief George Gardner revealed today.

The local department answered four box alarms, one which was false, and five telephone alarms. One out of town call to Falkland at which time two trucks were sent, was the only county fire call received by the Greenville firemen during last month.

The rescue truck made six emergency runs in the month.

For Greenville, it was the first time in many months that the city has had no reported fire loss. Fire losses for the year up to the first of October amounted to $20,961.

During the past month a new 500-gallon pumper was added to the equipment operated by the local department.

UN Army Ready To Drive Over Korea's Parallel 38

South Koreans Deep In Red Korea

This map locates South Korean army gains (A) on the east coast of North Korea above the 38th Parallel. The drive is aimed to carry all the way across to the Manchurian border of Communist China. Some South Korean units were reported 50 miles north of the 38th Parallel, putting them in the vicinity of Kowang. Another prong was moving westward from Yangyang. U. S. forces (B) were on the outskirts of Uijongbu and some troops had by-passed the city. Pyongyang (C), North Korean capital, was bombed. There was no indication of what Chinese Red forces (question mark) would do along the Yalu river border of Manchuria. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Grover Lee Smith Gets Three-Year Road Term

Judge Suspends Two 2-Year Sentences Conditionally; Manslaughter Defendant Waives Parole Eligibility

Grover Lee Smith, 22-year-old Greenville resident, was sentenced to three years on the roads yesterday for the highway deaths of four persons last December.

Sentence was passed in the afternoon by Judge Henry Grady in Pitt Superior Court after Smith's attorneys had entered a plea of nolo contendere yesterday morning.

Grady also suspended two two-year sentences to run concurrently on condition that Smith remain on probation for five years.

The defendant waived parole eligibility on the sentence.

Attorneys for Smith, Sam O. Worthington and Jesse Jones, of Winston, entered the surprise plea at the beginning of the trial yesterday morning. Reason for the plea, Jones said, was he thought the evidence presented by the State would be as strong as it was at the inquest held after the December accident.

However, some of the witnesses could not remember exactly what happened at the time of the two car collision as they described it at the inquest, Jones said. He said the evidence for or against Smith was not as strong yesterday as it had been at the previous hearing.

Smith was indicted for manslaughter last December for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Skinner, Greenville, whose car was involved in the accident, and also the deaths of two persons riding in his car. They were Ray Dunn and

Hunt Mystery Witness In Trial Of J. B. Moore

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Trial of former prisoners director J. B. Moore continued in recess today as the state hunted—so far in vain—for a carpenter Moore said worked on his now famous garage-apartment.

Solicitor William Y. Bickett said that so far had been unable to find any trace of the carpenter who Moore identified yesterday as a John McLean.

Bickett said that building contractors and officers from the Enfield area are being subpoenaed in the effort to find the carpenter. They are expected to testify when the trial is resumed, probably this afternoon.

Bickett also revealed that officers of the State Highway and Public Works Commission have been summoned to furnish estimates on the cost of labor and materials required for a job such as Moore's garage-apartment.

Moore and A. W. Livengood are accused of using state-owned materials, prisoner labor and state-owned trucks for the work at Moore's home.

Moore and A. W. Livengood, former prison maintenance foreman, have pleaded nolo contendere to charges of misfeasance while in public office. As far as passing judgment on the two, the plea has the same effect as a guilty plea.

Wake Superior Court Judge R. Hunt Parker recessed the court after stating he wanted "to know the truth" about who did some carpentry work at Moore's home.

Deep Into The Earth

How Far Can Man Burrow Into The Earth? One Hole Was Bored Nearly Four Miles Deep; Mines Sometimes Come Close To 10,000 Feet Deep; Hot Down There

By MAX HALL

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—How far under ground can mankind dig? There you have a question to suit these troublous times.

H. G. Wells once wrote a book, "The Time Machine," in which a man traveled 802,000 years into the future. The traveler finds that man has evolved into two species. The Morlocks, one of the species, live underground. They can see in the dark only. They come to the surface on moonless nights to carry away members of the other species, the Eloi, and take them along to eat them.

But whether or not man ever progresses to this cheerful situation, he has already attained considerable skill at burrowing into the earth, and he is burrowing deeper all the time.

In Africa and India, he is down around 9,000 or 10,000 feet in his age-old search for gold.

In Wyoming he has bored a hole 20,521 feet deep in his century-old search for the black gold that is oil.

This puncture of nearly four miles into the earth's crust, made in Sublette County by the Superior Oil Co., is probably the closest to the earth's center—4,000 miles from the surface—that mankind ever pushed a finger. It is certainly the closest unless Russia has drilled a deeper well, and neither the U. S. Bureau of Mines nor the American Petroleum Institute think this is likely.

But even more dramatic are the shafts that are large enough for man to pass through.

I couldn't find out here with any certainty what is the deepest mine in the world.

It may be the Crown Gold Mine at Johannesburg, South Africa.

It may be a mine in the Kolar Gold Fields, Mysore, India.

The National Geographic Society says the Crown Mine is close to 8,000 feet and is presumed to be the deepest anywhere. The U. S. Bureau of Mines believes that the deepest of the Johannesburg shafts have been dug deeper recently, and are more than 8,000 and possibly near 10,000.

But the latest definite figure available in Washington for the Crown Mine is 8,000 feet, as of 1948. This figure was supplied by the South African embassy.

Mrs. Moore Entertains For October Brides Elect

On Tuesday at 11:00 Miss Frances Kittrell and Dot Suggs Ormond were honored when Mrs. Luther Moore was at home for an informal coffee hour.

The guests were greeted at the door by Miss Ann Moore, young daughter of the hostess. Mrs. Moore and the honorees welcomed them and invited them into the dining room for coffee.

Behind a silver service, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell was seated facing the living room. The table was draped with a white linen cloth with lovely hand-embroidered designs in soft pastel colors. On one corner of the table was a low silver bowl filled with crimson Sweetheart roses and white dwarf chrysanthemums. On the opposite corner was an heirloom silver basket holding cheese biscuits. Silver and crystal platters held accompanying canapés, sandwiches, hot ham biscuits, and pastries.

On the chest in the dining room was an outstanding floral arrangement of red and white dahlias placed in an oblong silver bowl. On the living room mantel was a shallow milk glass bowl containing pink dahlias and purple asters.

The honorees were given corsages of red Sweetheart rose buds and were remembered with gifts from the hostess before they departed. Miss Kittrell received a silver covered butter dish and Miss Ormond was given silver also.

Assisting Mrs. Moore in serving were her daughter, Ann, and Miss Betsy Nobles.

Nephew Of ECTC Faculty Member Killed In Korea

Friends of Miss Lois Grigsby, faculty member of the department of English at East Carolina Teachers College, will regret to learn of the death of her nephew, W. Julian Grigsby Jr., second lieutenant in the First Marine Division, who was killed in action in Korea in September.

Entering the Marine Corps in 1940 at the age of 17, he served in the South Pacific during World War II, ending his wartime service as a technical sergeant. After the war he remained in the service.

Last September he was commissioned second lieutenant, and in June was one of 24 men from the ranks to be graduated at Officers Candidate School out of some 2600 eligibles who originally applied for OCS.

Soon after his commissioning, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with six oak leaf clusters at a full-dress review in his honor. The ceremony was held in recognition of his record of 35 aerial combat missions in the South Pacific as tail gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber.

When the Korean war began, Lt. Grigsby asked to be transferred to the alerted First Marine Division and arrived in Korea just in time to take part in the offensive campaign there.

Miss Ormond Is Entertained At Morning Coffee Hour

The lovely home of Mrs. John Clark, Sr., on East Fifth street was the scene of a morning coffee hour when Mrs. Clark and her daughter, Miss Carolyn Clark, entertained in honor of Miss Dot Ormond.

When the guests arrived they were welcomed by the hostesses and Miss Ormond, who was wearing a white glabella shoulder spray.

The home throughout was attractive with artistic arrangements of autumn flowers and fruits. In the entrance hall small yellow shaggy mums were placed with ageratum in a pottery dish. In the living room large red dahlias in a cut glass bowl on the piano were flanked on either side by ruby glass hurricane lamps. On the porch and in the den, mixed combinations of flowers in shades of yellow, orange and crimson were used.

The dining room table was unusually lovely in its appointments. The table was uncovered and was centered with a beautiful arrangement of fruit encircled with magnolia leaves. On a banquet end table against the wall a cornucopia spilling out fruit was the center of interest. On the buffet a silver service was placed between two crystal hurricane lamps holding green candles.

From an antique soapstone coffee set, Mrs. H. L. Ormond poured coffee. Canapés, chicken salad biscuits, cheese roulettes, bridal cakes and mints were served from antique china platters. Assisting the hostesses in passing the delicacies was Mrs. Ed Williford.

About twenty guests were present for the delightful coffee hour.

Accord Reached Over Advertising

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Complaints of false and misleading advertising against three drug firms, including the Manufacturer of Bromo-Seltzer, has been dismissed by the Federal Trade Commission.

The commission said yesterday the complaints were dismissed when the firms agreed to include in their future advertising a statement to "follow the label" and "avoid excessive use" of certain of their preparations.

The companies are The Capudine Chemical Co., Raleigh, N. C., Emerson Drug Co., Baltimore, and Miles Laboratories, Inc., Elkhart, Ind.

Emerson Drug also stipulated it would not use the word "Alkalize" to mean that its product Bromo-Seltzer "has any effect of reducing acidity" except that of the contents of the stomach, or representing that Bromo-Seltzer will relieve fatigue caused by lack of sleep.

Capudine Chemical Co., promised not to represent Hick's Liquid Capudine as a pepper-upper for hang-over, or that it acts quicker than other compounds because it is in liquid form.

The preparations of the Miles Laboratories involved were Dr. Miles Liquid Nerve, Dr. Miles Nerve Tablets and Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills.

North Wind Lowers Temperature Here; Mercury Falling

A stiff breeze from the north-east today and an overcast sky during the forenoon reminded that winter is on the way. The highest temperature here yesterday was 85 degrees. Lowest last night, 54, and at 8 a. m. the mercury stood at 57. A slight misty rain was reported.

The temperature here yesterday afternoon was 1 degree above what it was a year ago. Temperature last night was 7 degrees lower than the same time a year ago. At 8 a. m. today the temperature was 57 degrees 12 degrees lower than at the same time last year, Mrs. Carl E. Malden, local weather observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported.

Altrusa Club Has Charter Dinner

The Altrusa club held its charter dinner at the home of Mrs. J. B. Spilman Tuesday, October 3. The dinner was very graciously served by the club members to other service club representatives. The charter and program were presented by Mrs. John Nelson of Richmond, Va., district governor of Altrusa International. After a very interesting and delightfully presented program by the honor guest, other guests responded with toasts to Altrusa.

Those present representing the other service clubs in Greenville were: Mr. F. F. Hendrix, Rotary president; Judge Dink James, of the Kiwanis club; Mr. Larry Averette, Lions president; Mr. Bancroft Moseley, Junior Chamber of Commerce president; Mr. John Clark, Exchange club president; Mrs. Bryan Brown, representing the Service League; Mrs. Ruell Tyson, Business and Professional Women's club president; Mrs. Dorothy Copeland, president of the Credit Women's Breakfast club; Miss Marion Perry, president of the Junior Women's club and Mrs. J. B. Spilman represented the Woman's club in the absence of the president.

Mrs. Nelson commended the Greenville club on the fine work they had done, even though small in number and young in the international organization. The Greenville club has adopted as its chief project for this year, a scholarship fund for a local girl. The student is now attending East Carolina Teachers College as a freshman. It is the plan of the club to see her through her college career, not only financially, but with vocational guidance and counseling whenever it seems advisable.

Not Vengeance, But Conversion

Los Angeles, Oct. 3—(AP)—Louis Zamperini, former University of Southern California track star, once swore vengeance against the Japanese who mistreated him during his two and a half years in a prisoner of war camp.

Today he is flying by Pan American clipper back to Tokyo with a list of the names of his persecutors, supplied by the war crimes commission.

But it is not vengeance he seeks. Zamperini carries, he says, a message of peace and brotherly love. Tracing his one-time captors and converting them to Christianity will be part of his duties, Zamperini says, during a two-month tour of Japan the auspices of the International Youth for Christ movement.

Zamperini was interned by the Japanese after his air force plane crashed in the sea. He survived 47 days on a life raft.

Wedding Planned For December

Bronze Plaque Is Placed At Gate

A bronze marker honoring the late Mrs. Kate R. Beckwith, dean of women at East Carolina Teachers College from 1909 to 1925, was placed this week on the campus gateway named for her. The plaque is the gift of the Alumni Association of the college, which appropriated funds in 1934 for the erection of the Beckwith Gateway, a granite structure fronting Fifth Street at the entrance to the campus between the Library and the Administration building.

Mrs. Beckwith was East Carolina's first "lady principal" and dean of women. After leaving East Carolina in 1925, she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Hansford D. Tyler in Miami, Florida. She died there in March, 1948, and is buried in Oakdale Cemetery, Washington, N.C. Mrs. Beckwith's husband was Sidney T. Beckwith, Washington, N.C. attorney, who died in 1897 on the eve of announcing his candidacy for Congress.

No Common . . .

The prime minister was a close observer of the world's greatest experiment in trying to mix Communism with any other ideology. He saw disastrous failure of the attempt to force a coalition of Communism with the Nationalist regime in neighboring China.

The result in China was what it has been in numerous other cases. The Communists ultimately moved in and took over altogether.

Prime Minister Nehru's position as head of a nation of 300,000,000 in the heart of the Asiatic theatre is both difficult and dangerous. It will become doubly difficult if he is adviser to sister nations.

He probably will find that a middle-of-the-road program—if that is what he tried to follow—will no more serve his purpose than it did that of Nationalist China.

Deep Into . . .

The Mysore, India, shaft was reported to be 8,859 feet in 1942. Neither the Indian embassy nor our government could supply later figures.

The South African embassy says that in the Johannesburg area there are 47 large gold mines which employ 350,000 people and have thousands of miles of tunnels, laid with electric railroads, leading off the vertical shafts.

The deepest mine in North America is also a gold mine, according to the Bureau of Mines. It's the Number 4 Shaft of the Lake Shore Mines at Kirkland Lake, Canada, 7,500 feet.

Man have gone far deeper by his own delving than he has gone in natural caves. The deepest natural cave ever discovered, according to the National Geographic Society, is in the French Alps whose lowest point is 2,200 feet deeper than the entrance. There are 32 miles of the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico but the greatest vertical depth is only 1,320 feet.

One of the most interesting trips ever made toward the earth's center was not in a mine or a cave but in the Pacific Ocean. The world record for deep sea diving, 4,500 feet, was made by Otis Barton in 1949. He made the trip inside a steel ball.

What is it like, 10,000 or 20,000 feet in the ground? It's hot, the scientists say. Hot and humid. The farther you go, the hotter it gets.

Derailed Tank Car Struck By Speeding Train

Erie, Pa., Oct. 3—(AP)—A New York Central Railroad flyer clipping along at better than a mile a minute smashed into a derailed freight oil tank car early today, setting off an explosion which rocked midtown Erie.

Miraculously, no one was killed. Between 40 and 50 were injured but none was burned although flames from the burning tanker leaped high into the air and lapped at some of the cars on the palatial westbound New England States express.

The engineer of the Boston to Chicago Express had no chance to keep his train from hitting the tank car. It was hurled into the express path from a freight train traveling eastward on a parallel track.

Only one of the 14 cars on the streamliner caught fire. It was the dormitory car for dining employees. More than 10 occupants scrambled to safety through a long exit which remained open.

Arrest Local Man For Violation Of Recent Probation

Greenville police yesterday arrested Myron H. Teel for violating his two-year J. Wayland Sledge of New Bern, state probation officer, ordered Teel's arrest for violating a parole order issued by Judge J.W.H. Roberts in Police Court last June 26.

Teel was tried and convicted at that time for assaulting a neighbor and for being drunk. The court placed him on probation for two years on the assault charge and fined him $15 for being drunk.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
HEADED-UP RUINS
Are you disturbed over the present-day educational situation? If you are not, you should be. The thing that should disturb us is not a Federal aid bill but the fact that millions of children for the first time in the history of our nation are growing up without religion playing any part whatsoever in their education.
They get little religious education in the home, inadequate religious instruction in the Sunday-school, and then in the higher educational brackets find religion eliminated and very often attacked or ridiculed.
A situation of this sort will eventually come to a head in the life of a nation, and it will be a sore situation indeed. President Lord of Dartmouth writing many years ago and seeing the current which was setting in even in his day said: "The influence of our educated men will gradually undermine the fair fabric of our national freedom, and the ruins of our country will be headed up for an everlasting memorial, that neither liberty, nor learning, nor wealth, nor arts, nor arms, can stay the decline of that people among whom the redeeming spirit of Christianity has no permanent abode."
There are words to ponder in the midst of widespread materialism.

This Bad Condition Hasn't Shown Improvement

Pitt superior court this week in the first half of its special criminal term is clearing the cases from the docket, but we doubt that the means by which it is being done justifies the end.
It looks now like slightly over one week's work will be necessary to dispose of the cases docketed for the special two week term of court; and the backlog of cases waiting for trial remains appallingly high.
Solicitor W. J. Bundy docketed 67 cases from the large backlog of cases for trial in this special term of court. From the indications now, all the cases scheduled for this week will be disposed of by Thursday, and it will take only a few days of next week to dispose of the cases slated for the second week of the term. The special two week term of court is designed to dispose of as many cases as possible, and the Solicitor should have been aware of the manner in which the cases are being handled, and should have planned the docket accordingly.
The docket is being cleared all right, but it is being done through a method which seems to us unwise for the welfare of the people. Through Wednesday's session of court, five people charged with drunken driving had been allowed to plead guilty to lesser charges, and got off with fines much lighter than those which would have been imposed had they been found guilty of the original charge. Solicitor Bundy has allowed the free substitution of the guilty pleas to the lesser charges much to the disgust of the law enforcement officers who are trying to enforce the law.
There is little future in having law enforcement officers make arrests and attempt to enforce the laws if, when the cases come to court, the original charges are thrown out and much lighter charges are allowed to be substituted in their places.
Judge Grady this week stated, "You can't convict a man in this court for driving drunk. They don't want to take a man's license away." Well, the judge may be right in his statement, but The Reflector feels that it nevertheless is no excuse for a gross reduction of charges against people merely to secure guilty pleas on lesser charges.
If the condition exists as the judge has stated it, we believe it has come about because of the long delays in cases being called for trial. The undue delay in bringing a case to trial causes the prosecuting witnesses to be less specific in their testimony, and thereby makes it easier for the defense to inject an element of doubt in the case.
The docket of Pitt Superior Court is in bad shape. And the docket is the responsibility of Solicitor W. J. Bundy.
It Is Not Yet Too Late To Turn Back
What is the "point of no return" in deficit financing by government?
A little more than a decade ago a forty or fifty billion-dollar federal debt was considered to be ruinous. Now some people are unconcerned because that debt has soared to astronomical heights. . . . They no longer are concerned because the sum is so vast it is beyond comprehension, and still we go right along without showing any natural effects such as debt would show.

The government has lived on deficit financing for many years, giving the people the illusion of expanding security through programs costing billions of dollars; now that dollar is worth half the value of a few years ago. The "security" is an illusion.
And the value of our dollars is still shrinking . . . will continue to shrink as long as government encourages policies which are economically ruinous.
The strain and stress upon the American financial system has been multiplied by the necessity of military preparedness. Yet, inflationary programs of a domestic nature have not been curtailed; nor have responsible lawmakers insisted upon taxing the excess profits of industries most affected by the armament program. Shortages of consumer goods do not exist, but prices are going up. Items which were supposed to be stockpiled, were not . . . and the defense program will cost the public more than it should. The public is really being taken through a wringer.
We can and must do without the luxuries of expensive government with its false economies and incompetent management.
There is a limit to how far we can go down our road to disaster, and only the considered actions of individual citizens can brake the headlong pace or turn back. It is not yet too late.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News
Ray Tucker is on a short vacation and tour of the grass roots. The National Whirligig is being written by his associate Roger Warren.

By ROGER WARREN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Partial reason for President Truman's delay in applying the price, wage and material controls which Congress gave him is his failure so far to persuade anybody to accept this unpopular task. He has offered the post to three men, but they have turned it down with a polite but firm "No, thank you."
The fact is that the President is having difficulty in talking the big men of business and industry into accepting top war jobs. He does not seem to possess the salesmanship of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who despite his campaign attacks on "economic royalists," was unusually lucky or fortunate in drafting them for the World War II emergency.
THANKLESS—Working for the government, and especially in the field of bread-and-butter controls, in the opinion of the industrialists Mr. Truman has approached with requests and offers, is a thankless job.
It gets them in the bad graces of their associates, who do not like Mr. Truman's "fair deal." They note that not a man who served at Washington during the last war emerged with an enhanced reputation.
Thus, with a few exceptions such as Messrs. Harrison and Gifford, Mr. Truman will be forced to rely on incumbent members of his official family—Secretaries Snyder, Chapman, Sawyer and Brannan—or on "political relatives," who will serve out of loyalty to the head of the party.
"Big men" just will not work for the government even in this time of crisis. In fact, Mr. Truman has told friends, only semi-humorously, that the draft act may have to be extended to include corporate executives.
"CONTAMINATED"—Senator Styles Bridges' recent charge that the Farmers' Union had both a Communist birth and background did not receive the attention it deserves, in view of subsequent political repercussions.
The New Hampshire legislator says that no speech in his Senate career provoked so much editorial comment in agricultural areas, or so much mail from farmers.
His address was not a haphazard effort. It was well prepared and documented, and it has convinced many farm people that this organization, which wrote the Brannan Plan, is slightly leftist, to put it mildly.
Mr. Bridges did not charge that James G. Patton, president of the Union, or other national officers were fellow-travelers. But he did maintain, and many agricultural experts agree with him, that various state units are so "contaminated" and controlled, and that they really run the Union.
SIGNIFICANT—The political background of the Bridges indictment is significant, for this farm group has been the favorite of the Roosevelt-Truman Administration since the days when Henry Wallace headed Agriculture.
In appointing a farm advisory committee for the current and prospective emergency, President Truman passed over Allan Kline, head of the conservative Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Kline was a Dewey adviser in the 1948 campaign, and had been mentioned as a possible Secretary of Agriculture, if Governor Dewey had been elected.
Mr. Truman named Mr. Patton as one of the three members. As representative of the Federation, he chose Murray Lincoln, head of the Ohio branch, and the man the White House tried to get to run against Senator Robert A. Taft.
So, the Bridges attack was a party rather than a personal effort. It was designed to aid Republican Congressional candidates in such states as Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and California, where the Farmers' Union is already under fire for its alleged radicalism.
NEGLECTED—Railroad men have warned the White House that they cannot guarantee prompt and efficient delivery of civilian war goods unless President Truman instructs Secretary Charles Sawyer or some other proper authority to release steel to them for construction of freight cars.
Although this is one of the most serious problems confronting the country, as explained in this column some weeks ago, it has been neglected by the Administration.
Should a global war rather than a Korean side-show be staged by Stalin, the lack of rolling stock could be a fatal handicap to any military effort.
PRECARIOUS—Steel for building the 100,000 freight cars now on order is so short that car-making factories may have to close down in a few weeks, as their spokesmen have told the President.
But, as of today, steel is being allocated in sizable supply only for actual defense weapons—tanks, trucks, bazookas etc. There seems to be no thought of how those devices, once manufactured, can be shipped to the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard.
This really precarious situation seems to knock on the head periodical chirps from Washington that "our productive capacity is so high that we can continue to produce both butter and guns." The fact is that in certain lines we cannot have both cake and conquest.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.
In the business world you soon learn that a salesman's product isn't important as long as it's of top quality. When it's a question of two top products, it's human nature to buy from the salesman you like best.
Buck was honest about his marriage. He thinks his relationship with his wife is tops, but there is one particular issue between them that causes disagreement.
About midnight Buck's wife wakes him up. "Buck, dear, you're keeping me awake. Please stop snoring."
With a grunt and a groan, Buck says, "OK, honey."
At twelve-thirty Buck gets another nudge. "Buck, you're still snoring." This time Buck notices that the "pleases" are missing. "OK," he says, and goes back to snoring.
At one o'clock Buck is practically kicked out of bed. "Will you stop snoring?" his wife asks.
This is the last straw. Buck sits up with a jerk and starts in. "Listen, I've been out in the territory all week making up a living. We have a house to live in. Snoring happens to be part of my life. If I want to, I'll snore all the time. I'm tired. Let me alone!"
Every time this happens, Buck regrets blowing his top. His wife takes off in a huff, and he's glad that he bought a two-bedroom house.
No matter how smooth a marriage is, there'll always be times for a ruff. The moral of this story is that Buck is a lucky man to have nothing more important to argue about than a little snoring. And I thank you.

JEOPARDY—There is reason for Democratic fear that two congressional districts may be too close for comfort, and that several counties are in real jeopardy. Records of past elections show that the vote in contested congressional districts is much closer in off-years. In the eighth district, for example, switch of 2308 votes in 1948 or 3140 in 1942 would have carried the district Republican. In presidential years of 1944 and 1948 it would have required the changing of eight to ten thousand votes. If the Republicans could have switched 3,212 votes in the ninth district in 1948, the state's veteran congressman, Robert L. Doughton, would have been defeated. In each of these instances a switch of five to seven percent of the voters would have changed results of the election. For various reasons, many Democratic leaders believe even a smaller percentage switch this year would turn the trick.
UNIFIED—On the surface, at least, the Democratic party goes into the campaign with full coordination under unified command. Willis Smith, who by reason of his hard-fought primary campaigns rarely more attention than does his senior colleagues, Senator Clyde Hoey, is plunging for all Democratic nominees—even those who vigorously opposed him in May and June.
Nobility—Nobility in the service of his country any man who does not know something about why he is being asked to become a part of the nation's first line of defense. On the other hand, there should be no attempt to find out what the draftee knows or thinks of the theories of some of the latter-day psychologists, psychiatrists or what-have-you.
Fighting for one's country is a rather simple thing, and it is the less complex citizenship which furnishes the bulk of the cannon fodder.
Our own notion of the item that should be first on the list of those who examine draftees is the matter of seeing to it that none of the smart boys evade service.
A malingering is a malingering—just that, and while it may not be possible to secure service from him, he can be utilized for some of the dirty work which otherwise might devolve upon those who accept the obligations of citizenship cheerfully.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

NEWSPAPER DIFFICULTIES (New Bern Sun-Journal)
The number of daily newspapers, increasing since 1945, is sliding downhill in 1950. Mergers, suspensions and changes to weekly or semi-weekly publication have out-numbered the dailies that have started publication this year.
One hundred and forty-five dailies began operation in the five years of 1945 to 1949. One hundred and thirty-two have suspended, merged with another paper, or changed from daily to weekly publication. This year has noted the start of a trend in publication mergers.
"Production costs since V-J Day have mounted to a point that have created conditions overly hazardous now and for the future of newspaper property," says the Dayton (O) Morning Journal. "Annual wages to the mechanical production workers, a major cost to newspapers, ranged between $2,400 and $2,800 before Pearl Harbor. Now they have reached a level between $5,000 and $6,000, and certain

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
This time small independent businessmen are out to see they get a fair share of materials if it becomes necessary to allocate them to any great degree to insure supplies for the armed forces.
If you were in business during or immediately after World War II you'll remember how suppliers set up their own allocations systems. In some cases these privately operated quota systems were poorly administered, the National Federation of Small Business, Inc., recalls. Some independents were forced to shut down completely for lack of materials to sell or manufacture.
Now the federation is seeking an amendment to the Defense Production Act which would require the President to assure smaller firms of a fair share of civilian goods left over after military needs are met. As far as possible, this share would be based on the amount firms received during a representative period before Korea.
Here's the way it would work: say you're in the appliance business and had been receiving 24 refrigerators a month during the base period before Korea. If civilian production of refrigerators is cut 25 per cent you would continue to get 18 refrigerators. That might look like a tough cut to swallow but you'd still be able to stay in business. Nor would you have to rely too heavily on the favor or good will of jobbers, manufacturers or their salesmen.
Not that most jobbers and sales representatives didn't do their best to play fair and keep the regular customers operating. But the small-business federation feels that bigger fellows are in superior position to jockey for supplies if goods should get really scarce in the future. During the last war, the federation complains, the independents, small users of steel and several other trades found it particularly hard to get supplies without fighting and or pleading every inch of the way.
PLANT EXPANSION HASTENED
Manufacturing and business concerns are hastening completion of long-considered plant expansion projects, and some comparatively new blueprints, to beat possible restrictions on materials, and to provide capacity for extra new business, both defense and civilian.
In September, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reports, industrial building reached a value of $101 million, highest monthly total since early in 1949 and a jump of 46 per cent over the same month last year. In addition, the large volume of contracts let recently foreshadows increased activity in this field for several months. Warehouse and office-building construction were also stepped up in September.
1/4 OF 1 PER CENT SWEETENS PROFITS
A bank employee, negotiating for a house in a new development, was told that a $10,000 mortgage at 4 1/4 per cent was already arranged through a finance company. The bank employee said he could get the money for 4 per cent.
The developer was so insistent that the mortgage be placed with the finance company that the bank employee suspected the developer was getting a kick-back. He did a little figuring. If the finance company was splitting the 1/4 per cent on a self-amortizing mortgage, the developer would get an average of $12.50 a year for 25 years, or extra profit of $312.50. On the 100 houses in the development, that would total $31,250.
COSTLY ANTI-FREEZES FOUND LITTLE NEEDED
For 80 per cent of the cars on the road, standard-price anti-freeze compounds are satisfactory, Du Pont research laboratories report. It finds that premium-priced compounds are needed only in cars with high-opening thermostats to get more heat out of heaters; in cars driven in temperatures below 30 degrees below zero, and in cars operated at high altitudes. Research covered anti-freezes of all types.
NEW AND HOT WINTER-PROOF: Children can keep hands warm this winter with mittens coated with snow and water resistant plastic resins. The plastic won't crack or peel and adds durability to the mittens. (They are treated with Vinylite by Plasticote Glove Co., 1226 N. Fourth St., Milwaukee 12.)
DEVILED: Some city ordinances prohibit the sale of deviled crab in crab shells. So one company (Fidels Fisheries, 417 E. 81st St., New York 17) is producing frozen deviled crab in pastry shells which may be eaten

Hal Boyle's Column

North Korea —(AP)— Here is what it is like above the 38th parallel in North Korea.
An exhausted South Korean soldier sleeps in a muddy ditch, his unheeding head pillowed in the yellow dust of the roadway.
Two lines of bone-weary South Korean doughboys limp past over the stones and ruts of the road he has trudged along for more than a fortnight from deep in South Korea.
The stones have worn to tatters the rubber-soled shoes of some soldiers and they have replaced them with peasant slippers of rice straw.
But they manage a sweat-stained grin as they pass. A battered truck wheezes by—so decrepit it could be held together only by the morale of the men in it. It looks like a sardine can on wheels. But troops jammed in it are singing, shouting and waving small black, red and white flags of the Korean republic.
The marching troops look at the riders enviously, then turn their heads to the yellow road and break into the shuffling trot typical of their infantry.
Marching with them and shouldering part of their equipment are 20 or more boys under 10 years old. They are camp followers attracted by the joy of going with the winning army—and getting a bowl of free rice. A soldier pointed to a smiling eight year old carrying a load of mortar shells and said: "He's my house boy."
Behind the column slowly stumbles a line of civilian laborers. Each is burdened with a wooden pack to which is tied a fresh cut log almost as wide as the road and more than six inches thick. The logs are used to bridge streams. They look heavy enough to break the back of a longshoreman but the Korean workers apparently can tote them for miles.
And behind them for hours come soldier stragglers—men too worn out to keep the killing pace, middle-aged men limping painfully, young wounded men with blood-stained bandages on cheeks, arms and legs.
But they want to catch up with the column, for there are no kitchen trucks in this army to wheel back the rice ration. Several trucks roll by within inches of the head of the soldier at the edge of the roadway. He sleeps on unheeding, then awakens, paws at his drowsy eyes, yawns and shuffles on.
He looks indifferently down at the wreckage of a heavily loaded truck that has just plunged off the road and overturned in a paddy field.
The driver is crawling out holding a dangling, bleeding hand which looks so shattered one knows it must be amputated. But this is an oriental army. The soldier, with troubles of his own, lowers his eyes to the dust and keeps on shuffling.
Some distance back he also passed with equal indifference a large sign lettered in a language he doesn't understand. The language is English and the sign says:
"You are crossing the 38th parallel. Courtesy of the Third ROK (Republic of Korea) Division. We were first."
This is the arbitrary line that since 1945 has divided Korea's industrial north from its agricultural south. It is the line that separated the Russian and American occupation zones after the Japanese were thrown out of the country at the end of the last war.
It is the line from which an army representing 10,000,000 Communist-dominated North Koreans began a civil war June 25. They crossed the line to invade the territory where 20,000,000 Koreans lived under the U.N.-sponsored Republic of Korea.
On the map the 38th parallel is a special neat straight black line. But as the ROK doughboy plods on north beyond the frontier he sees no painted demarcation or chalkmark across the winding road. To his right is the peaceful blue Sea of Japan where an American destroyer swims lazily. To his left are valleys of rippling rice and rugged, yellow eroded hills with stunted, wind-tortured pine trees and cut by dry tortuous ravines.
Washington Letter
By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Martin C. Bolle, international trade union leader from Great Britain, is a bit bewildered.
The big, genial general secretary of the International Federation of Employees in Civil Service was invited to the U. S. to address the American Federation of Labor by its president, William Green. "The American Embassy in London issued a grati-visa," he told me, "but when I stepped from the plane airport officials socked what I learned was a 'head tax' on me. Eight dollars it was."
That incident didn't confuse him as much however as what greeted him on his arrival at his New York hotel. "There were big red flags hanging everywhere saying 'Cinimatul Reds,'" he explained. "I grabbed a bell hop. 'What's this red convention?' I asked."
"Don't you know, sir?" he replied and laughs till he's about to bust. "A ball team's staying here." He finally managed to say, "I still don't quite catch on."
Mr. Bolle's federation is affiliated with similar organizations in all parts of the world boasting a total membership of about 2,250,000.
He says labor unions in the rest of the world can benefit from the contributions the American trade union movement can make to the international movement. But, on the other hand, while they are virile and have new ideas, he believes American trade unions can still learn something in the field of industrial relations and productivity.
This is Mr. Bolle's second visit to the United States. His first was in 1948. On that occasion he collected autographs for his son Donald, now 17, a grammar school student at Leighton Buzzard, a small town just outside London. Donald, an avid autograph collector had asked especially for fighter Joe Louis' signature.
"That I got for him, but through some influential friends close to Harry Truman I also got the President's autograph," Mr. Bolle said. "I was most proud to give it to Donald, but he was so taken with Joe Louis he didn't give Mr. Truman's a second look."
Mr. Bolle says despite the "head tax" and the "red convention" his personal impression of Americans and the United States is "very favorable." "I have found it always easy to make friends," he said.

Mixed Reaction Greets Stassen Peace Talk Bid

By Oliver W. DeWolf
Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Republican Harold E. Stassen's bid for a sort of citizens' peace conference with Communist Russia's Premier Josef Stalin was greeted today with mixed reaction at home and silence from Moscow.

Stassen, an unsuccessful seeker after the 1948 GOP Presidential nomination, disclosed the move yesterday. He made public a letter suggesting further correspondence or a face-to-face meeting—publicly reported—with Stalin in an effort "to stop the drift toward war."

The state department promptly announced that Stassen's proposal had "no official inspiration." But it said if Stalin agreed to meet with the University of Pennsylvania President, Stassen undoubtedly will get a passport to Moscow.

Stassen, questioned closely by newsmen about the political implications of his action, said it was "non-political," but was "definitely a move from an individual in the Republican party."

Diplomatic experts saw little chance that Stalin would accept. But the state department reportedly welcomed the letter for its propaganda effect. The "voice of America," featured it on foreign language broadcasts.

Stassen's letter did not explicitly ask for a meeting with Stalin. But the former Minnesota Governor told a news conference that was its "primary objective."

There were signs that Stalin might be less cordial toward the idea of talking with Stassen than when the two first met in Moscow in 1947.

For one thing, Stassen's letter "strongly denounced Russian aggression and her 'refusal to cooperate in stopping' the Korean war."

Then, too, the Moscow Literary Gazette had already proposed Stassen for eventual trial as a war criminal. Just a month ago that Communist organ, which often reflects official Soviet policy, blasted at Stassen for suggesting that the U. S. warn Russia that further aggression would "mean that war will come to Moscow." The Literary Gazette said Stassen was advocating atomic war.

What Stassen's proposal envisages is a conference between Stalin and leading Politburo members on one hand and himself and four or five other prominent American citizens on the other. Stassen declined to say whom he had in mind for such a mission.

The Truman administration has looked coldly on recent suggestions for high level U. S.-Soviet talks, although the President has said he would welcome Stalin to Washington. The official position has been that tension between East and West can best be eased in the United Nations.

Stassen said the proposal had a "better than even chance" of resulting in a conference if (a) the Russians were honestly interested in world peace and (b) no official meeting between representatives of the two governments were arranged in the meantime.

FBI In Probe Of Pistol Slaying

Summerville, S. C., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The FBI has entered the investigation of the pistol-slaying of a Summerville Negro here last Friday. FBI special agent M. W. McFarlin last night confirmed reports that the FBI had begun a probe into the death of Mose Winn. McFarlin said the FBI is trying to determine if there is any connection between the fatal shooting and Winn's previous trouble with the Summerville police.

Winn, a garage mechanic, was slain at his home last Friday night. Lt. James Adams of the Summerville police department, is free under $2,000 bond on a murder charge in connection with the shooting.

Winn's "previous trouble with the police," that McFarlin referred to was an incident last year when Winn was wounded by another Summerville policeman who was trying to serve him with a warrant.

Following that shooting, Winn had filed a civil rights violation complaint that was to have been heard in Federal Court at Charleston.

An inquest into the fatal shooting has been scheduled for next week.

Says Wife Was Mistaken For Night Prowler

Morganton, N.C., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Lynn Cowan told police he entered a dark room in his house last night, saw what was apparently the figure of a person peering into the window, and fired at it with his shotgun. The figure turned out to be his 24-year-old wife. The shot killed her.

Cowan's wife's father, who was also in the house at the time, told officers the shooting was an accident.

Deputy Sheriff Fons Duckworth said Cowan told him that he and his wife heard a noise outside the house and thought it was a prowler. They searched outside and then came back in the house. His wife was standing at the window looking out, when Cowan mistook her for someone else looking in.

Demo Caravan In Morganton Today

Morganton, N.C., Oct. 5.—(AP)—North Carolina's Democratic caravan, whooping it up for the November general elections, came to Morganton today.

A rally at Marion yesterday was highlighted by a speech by Senator Clyde R. Hoey, who is a candidate for re-election.

Hoey pictured Republicans as "frustrated" and described the Democratic party as one "of opportunity for young people, people of middle age, and mature people."

Jesus Calls the Fishermen

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 16:24-25; Mark 1:16-20; Philipians 1:19-26

Passing along by the sea of Galilee, Jesus saw Simon and Andrew, his brother, casting a net into the sea, and He said to them, "Come ye after Me."

When Jesus called them, Simon and Andrew left the net they were casting into the sea and followed Christ, who said He would make them "fishers of men."

Going a little further along the coast of the sea of Galilee, Jesus saw James and his brother John, and he called them, also to follow Him.

Called by Jesus, James and John left their father, Zebedee, and the hired servants in a boat and followed the Master. MEMORY VERSE—John 14:15.

JESUS CALLS THE FISHERMEN

MEN LEAVE THEIR NETS AND FOLLOW HIM

Scripture—Matthew 16:24-25; Mark 1:16-20; Philipians 1:19-26.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
HOW MANY MEN and women who are doing the world's work, would say they were "called" to their jobs? Teachers and student advisors strive to discover what work is preferred by the young people; or, if the student has no special preference, they try to find the type of work that he is best suited to do, and suggest that he try it.

There are those who are confident from early childhood that certain lines of work will be theirs—painters, writers, poets, scientists—specialists in these fields.

Most of us, however, have no special talents or inclinations, and drift into jobs that are open at the time we need to go to work, or that some friend suggests to us. We may find we are "square pegs in round holes," and never be quite happy in our work. Again, we may find just the type of labor that suits us best and go happily through life following it.

Jesus knew from early childhood just what His work would be. He bided His time until, at were in the boat mending the nets.

"And straightway He called them; and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after Him."

We have mentioned before in these lessons that Jesus did not choose rich, highly educated, prominent men for His work, but mostly unlettered and humble folk. They were not puffed up with their own importance; neither were they opinionated men, sure of themselves and hardened in their own beliefs.

They would understand the message, and through Him would become the true missionaries—the founders and leaders of this new religion. How wise was the Master's choice is shown after nearly 2,000 years, when the religion taught by these simple fishermen has spread to the whole world.

St. Paul, disciple of a later day, who had seen the Lord only in a vision while on his way to Damascus to persecute these Christians, was an educated man and a Pharisee before he saw Jesus and answered His question, "Paul, why persecutest thou me?"

MEMORY VERSE

"If ye love Me, ye will keep My commandments."—John 14:15.

the age of 30, He began the work to which God had called Him. Gradually He gathered about Him the men He wished to carry on after what He knew would be a short life was finished on earth.

These men must be prepared for martyrdom. It was no easy task to which He called them. In fact, as He told them, "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me."

They must give up self and all selfish desires. They must dedicate their lives to Christ and His holy work.

In April A.D., 30, came the time for Jesus to call the men to whom He wished to leave His work on earth when He could no longer be with them. He was to train them henceforth for this labor.

As Jesus walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw two of His disciples, Simon and Andrew, Simon's brother, casting a net into the sea, as fishermen must. "Jesus said unto them, Come ye after Me, and I will make you fishers of men." And straightway they left the nets, and followed Him.

"And going a little further, He saw James, the son of Zebedee, and John, his brother, who also Writing to the Philipians when he was a prisoner of the Romans awaiting trial and martyrdom, he tells of those who preach but do so to add to his afflictions.

There was contention in the church at the time, but Paul wrote confidently: "For I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ. According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death."

"For to me," wrote this heroic man, "to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

"Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful to you. And having the confidence, I know that I shall abide and continue with you all for your furtherance and joy of faith."

Doubtless Paul was weary of his imprisonment, of the quarrels that frequently rent the early church, and felt he would rather go and "be with Christ," but he was willing to continue to live if his presence in the world would help the cause of Christ.

Uncover Hidden Pagoda Fortune

Bangkok (AP)—Workers dismantling a ruined pagoda found an urn containing diamonds, emeralds, rubies, pearls and three gold necklaces worth a fortune. The pearls were described as "round as one's little finger."

The jewels, believed to have been placed there by ancient kings, were removed to the government Fine Arts Department.

Communists Of Austria Waging Disruptive War

Vienna, Austria, Oct. 5—(AP)—Angry Communists waged a war of building seizures and traffic disruption in the Russian zone of Austria today following failure of their "general" strike yesterday.

The Reds occupied two federal postoffice and telephone exchange buildings and were driven off by police in an attempt on a third. Other bands roamed Vienna streets, stopping streetcar traffic and fighting with car operators.

The Communists early today seized the postoffice at Baden, the Soviet military headquarters. Last night they occupied the communications center in Wiener Neustadt, also in the Russian zone.

The Austrian news agency reported that Red squads also tried to seize the federal postoffice in St. Pölten, 30 miles west of Vienna, but the "demonstrators were driven away and dispersed" by police.

The Ministry of Interior reported that the Communists also had blocked three secondary railway lines in the Russian zone—a local line from Vienna to Baden, a commuter's line along the Danube, and a northbound line from Vienna toward the Czech frontier.

A sabotage attempt was reported at the huge Danawitz steel works in Graz, in the British zone, where Communist workers doused the fires in all the blast furnaces. The fires were immediately rekindled by other workers. Their action, plant officials said, saved six months production. Three Communists were arrested.

End Of Walkout At Carbon Plant

Morganton, N.C., Oct. 5—(AP)—Workers at the Great Lakes carbon plant here went back to work this morning following a two-day strike that was called off at midnight last night.

Union and company representatives both issued statements last night declaring the end of the strike, but failed to disclose why the strike had been called.

Reckless Mower

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 5—(AP) Police charged Lehman Barnes with being a hit and run lawn mower.

Inspector Hal Allen said Barnes, driving a powered mower, slipped off a curb yesterday and struck an automobile halted by a red light.

Barnes was charged with reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident and having no drivers license.

Reserve Officer Addresses Meet Of Local Unit

Capt. F. Badger Johnson of the army reserve was the principal speaker Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Greenville naval reserve unit.

The topic of the meeting was Iran, and Johnson, who was stationed in Iran for a number of months during World War II, discussed the country, its people, customs, history, and its strategic position in the world today. Johnson also discussed the threat of Communism.

Despite Shifts In Population, Family Doctors Well-Dispersed

Raleigh, October 5—Family doctors in private practice, who provide the bulk of medical care for the nation, were more evenly distributed in 1949 in relation to the state populations than in 1938, according to a study recently published by the Bureau of Medical Economics Research of the American Medical Association.

"Despite the tremendous population shifts during the 1940's and the high level of national prosperity, which would tend to draw physicians to the heavily populated industrial states, general practitioners have redistributed themselves into a more even pattern than was found before World War II," said Frank G. Dickinson, Ph.D., of Chicago, director of the bureau.

"The figure in our study on physician-population relationships by states that is important to most people is the distribution of family doctors who actually have their offices open for private practice. It is not the distribution of the total number of doctors. Therefore, in our computation we eliminated doctors in the government services and armed forces, on hospital duty on a full-time basis, retired physicians and those in administrative and other such positions which take them out of private practice.

"A separate study was made to show the distribution of full-time specialists—those who do no general practice—in private practice because these physicians draw their patients from wider areas and, on the whole, are located in the cities.

"However, we found that full-time specialists, like family doctors, were more evenly distributed in relation to state populations in 1949 than in 1938.

"These conclusions are based upon statistical measures of relative variations in the state physician-population ratios."

As we get older, stiffer and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions, to more serious conditions are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 18 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—helps the 15 million of kidney tubes and glans flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Garbo Loses In Billboard Battle To Communists

Vienna—(AP)—Greta Garbo has lost to the Russians an East-West war of billboard in Vienna. Garbo's anti Communist film "Ninotchka" recently was announced as coming to Vienna for the first time to show the Viennese what Communism is like.

A Soviet officer marched into Vienna's only billboard firm. He demanded 38 huge advertising spaces. The firm, threatened with reprisals, agreed. Two days later, the spaces displayed Russian announcements of the anti-West film, "The Fall of Berlin."

"Ninotchka's" Western promoters relied on newspaper announcements. Tickets for Garbo, an old favorite of the Viennese, already are sold out for weeks in advance.

BATTLE MOUNTAIN with shell cases telling the story.

By STAN SWINTON
With the U. S. 25th Division in Korea —(AP)— There are many bloody hills in Korea and Battle Mountain looks like the others—but there is a difference.
Even though the U. N. big push has surged well beyond it, Battle Mountain remains the most expensive piece of real estate in Korea.
It's expensive in the heroism a man buys once with his life. It's expensive in dollars—America spent probably $5,000,000 to try to buy it. It's expensive in weariness and in glory for America — Negro and White—and South Korea.
It's expensive for the North Korean Communist rulers who purchased Battle Mountain with blood—with up to 5,000 crumpled bodies of their men—but all in vain.

You probably won't find Battle Mountain on the map. Officially, it is hill 665, a 2,000-foot high prolongation of Pilbong Mountain two miles southwest of what was Hamman.
But you can see it from here. Look over on the right. See the green nob with the tan supply trail winding up? Look left of the sad, die and then up the steep slope with torn scrub pines on it. See the jutting cliff halfway up? Then the bushy ridge line sweeping up to a bald nipple? That's Battle Mountain.
American troops moved up there Aug. 16 in a planned withdrawal back when there were so many of those humiliating planned withdrawals.
The Reds wanted it desperately. From Battle Mountain you could see the whole U. S. 25th Division front, the men in foxholes on lesser hills, the camouflaged long-nosed tanks and the vehicles moving along the washboard roads.
Attacked 26 Times
Twenty-six times the Communists attacked it. And in battle an attack is the war for many a man. Sometimes it is life.
Thirteen times Battle Mountain changed hands. Then the U. N. power pushed the battle lines far beyond it and made its strategic value almost negligible.
When the enemy held it, you could see them up there through your field glasses.
What you could not see was the remembered heroism of the Americans who fought there.
Capt. Lawrence Corcoran of Buffalo, N. Y., stayed up there with 26 comrades, surrounded, for a full day. The North Koreans hurled grenades, charged with bayonets, attacked again and again. The little band held out.
Maj. Dean Hess of Marietta, Ohio, the fabulous fighting pilot whose name is a by-word among the infantry, roared down to 25 feet and strafed around the cut-off Americans. That night they fought their way down.
Lt. Col. George R. Cole of Cape Elizabeth, Me., headed a task force which held the hill against six banzai attacks in one day.
His command post was a fissure in the bare rock top of the hill. His men were dug into shale. The peak was littered with shiny shrapnel fragments, empty ration tins,

DOUBLE WEDDING

Chapter 17

Stephanie did not, as her mother had said, find her new job exciting—she had not expected that—but at least it kept her occupied.

Mr. Lerner proved to be a most considerate employer. He was an absent-minded young man, thirty-ish, and thin. He wore gold-rimmed spectacles and neat gray pin-striped suits. He was married and had two small children. And he had inherited enough money to set himself up in his chosen business with prospects of making more, since he knew everybody who was anybody.

These slender facts were about all that his new receptionist knew about him.

Her surroundings were decidedly pleasant. The offices were located on the top floor of the town's highest building and afforded an inspiring view not only of the primly patterned streets below, but of the countryside spreading beyond. The front office over which Stephanie presided was like a large, comfortable living room.

She was a little dismayed to find that there was not a great deal for her to do besides greet prospective clients and make appointments over the telephone and look ornamental.

"Grant—I mean Jean—did not tell me you were so very lovely to look at!" her employer had remarked when she had reported for duty that first morning. They had not met before, as Jean had insisted that there was no need for an interview. Of course Bob Lerner would be simply delighted to engage anyone Jean recommended.

To Mr. Lerner's elaborate compliment Stephanie had replied that she hoped she would prove satisfactory in her work.

"There really is nothing for you to do," her new boss had replied in what she came to think of as his vague manner. "That is, nothing except look lovely and make people comfortable so they will want to keep coming back. Which I'm sure they will, Mrs. Vaughn, after they've seen you, Miss Phipps," he had added, "will take care of all the rest."

Miss Phipps proved to be an efficient, individual who would have been capable of running several offices. She apparently did not want any assistance from anyone.

Miss Phipps' desk—on which there was no room for freshly cut flowers—was piled high with papers and folders. Her fingers had been flying swiftly over the typewriter keys most of the morning; her feet had carried her a dozen times back and forth from her small cubicle to the impressive office in which Mr. Lerner was enthroned. Certainly Miss Phipps managed to convey the impression of a harassed, driven, overworked woman. So that Stephanie had felt not only justified, but called upon, to offer her services.

"I'll admit," she said, recollecting from that sharp-nosed glance, "that I don't know much about office routine. But I am more than willing to learn. I would be grateful for anything you could teach me, Miss Phipps."

"Now see here," Miss Phipps did not look down her nose this time but gave the younger girl a direct, baleful glance out of hard, angry eyes. "If you think for one minute I'm going to waste my time trying to teach you, you've got another thing coming. I haven't that much time to waste."

"I didn't mean—" Stephanie began, as the other woman broke in curtly and pointedly again.

"Your job is in the front office. Suppose you stay there, Mrs. Vaughn. This is my territory back here and I don't intend to have any young society matron infringing upon it."

The only consolation Stephanie had was the realization that some one with good manners and an attractive appearance was almost essential for the good of the company as its efficient secretary.

She did not, however, believe it important enough to command the sum of thirty-five dollars, which was the amount of her first pay check. But when she mentioned this matter to Mr. Lerner he just replied, in his absent-minded way, that it did not come out of his pocket.

"What do you mean?" Stephanie asked.

"Nothing, nothing at all!" Bob Lerner hastened to reassure her. "I only meant it's the clients, actually, who pay your wages. Now isn't that so?"

Stephanie supposed, in a way, that it was. Still, she did not feel quite right about accepting so much. She said, "I would be willing, Mr. Lerner, to start at less. I really find there's very little for me to do."

"Why, you're doing beautifully, just beautifully, Mrs. Vaughn!" her employer answered. "Maybe a little later on, when business gets into full swing, we can see if a raise is in order."

She was beginning, as early as her second week, to find that putting in time was one of the hardest jobs there is. She had read all of the magazines in the office, thumbed through most of the books. By now she knew every minute detail of the magnificent view from the top-floor windows. She might have put in some time—and got some real enjoyment—from straightening and dusting the office, but her domain was always spotlessly clean, thanks to the woman who did all the offices each night.

Or she could have said that another reason things were not just as they seemed on the shining surface was the intense dislike and resentment that exhumed from the rear, where Miss Phipps reigned supreme. For since that first attempt, Stephanie had not ventured to "infringe" again.

She could even have gone further and said that she had an uneasy feeling that something was definitely wrong.

But she did not.

HADACOL Helpful To Three Generations Of Hot Springs Folks

They Suffered a Deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Miss Frances Price is an attractive young lady with such beautiful complexion and sparkling personality that even at the mature age of three she attracts more than her share of admirers among the junior folks of Hot Springs National Park, Ark. She wasn't always the vibrant person she is today because, like her mother and her grandmother, she suffered a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Miss Price is a member of a HADACOL family because her mother, her grandmother, Mrs. Kenneth Price, and Mrs. Myrtle Dyer, who operates a progressive store in Hot Springs, also take HADACOL.

Here is what Mrs. Price, who had suffered deficiencies, said: "Our family sells and takes HADACOL. My mother, Mrs. Dyer, started taking HADACOL some time ago for indigestion. She had aches and pains of neuritis, but after the first three bottles of HADACOL she felt better. I was so enthused about my mother's results that I started taking HADACOL as a dietary supplement. I was weak and run down and now feel fine. We were then worried about my three year old daughter. She was weak, and run down and her food did not agree with her. After taking HADACOL she is now brimful of energy. Her cheeks are rosy. Ours is a neighborhood store and many of our customers are just as enthusiastic as we are."

Wonderful for Both Old and Young!

This new HADACOL is simply wonderful for men, women and children of all ages who are sick and ailing because their systems are lacking these important Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

The important Vitamins and Minerals in HADACOL come to you in special liquid form so that they are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood stream, ready to go right to work at once. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days. HADACOL even builds up the red blood cells (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious elements to every part of your body—to your kidneys, lungs, heart, liver.

Relieves Cause of Your Sickness from Such Deficiencies

HADACOL now makes it possible for you to relieve the cause of neuritis pains and a general run-down nervous condition when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin.

There Should Be No Doubt

After reading Mrs. Price's wonderful experience with HADACOL—how can you doubt that this great product will help you if your system is lacking in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin?

What HADACOL did for Mrs. Price, it can do for you if you're suffering neuritis aches and pains, or other troubles due to such deficiencies.

So what are you waiting for? Don't continue to suffer—don't continue to be miserable!

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief!

HADACOL is not a quick-acting pill which gives symptomatic relief—rather it acts to relieve the real cause of your pains and aches or a weak, nervous run-down condition due to such deficiencies. And continued use of HADACOL helps prevent such agonizing pains and such troubles from coming back. That's the kind of product you want—that's the kind you should buy and that's the kind you should start taking NOW!

HADACOL costs only $1.25 for a trial-size bottle. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. It is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. At any drug-store.

Red Korean Invaders May Have Lost In Big Gamble

Washington, Oct. 8 — (AP) — The Red invaders may have lost a last desperate gamble to retain a foothold in the upper edge of South Korea.

Speculating on the reported mysterious southward move of a column from the northern border of North Korea, some Pentagon officials advanced this as one possible theory: The column, if it really is a substantial military force, may have headed southward to try to reinforce a communist remnant which held desperately to a point only 12 miles north of Seoul. If so, it appeared to be too late. U. S. Marines have occupied Dujongbu, a town straddling the route over which the Red army began its invasion of South Korea. Fierce resistance there was believed to be an effort to cover other North Korean troops retreating northward.

The reports Tuesday of the discovery of convoys traveling southward on a highway from Antung, northern border town on the bank of the Yalu River which divides Manchuria from Korea, seemed more definite than a similar report about two weeks ago. At that time there were indefinite reports that Allied airmen had seen evidence of a column bound southward. But later close air reconnaissance failed to show any trace of it.

This time, however, the evidence seemed more specific. American planes knocked out 50 trucks and other vehicles in convoys which were spotted for the first time late Monday, then located in hiding again on Tuesday.

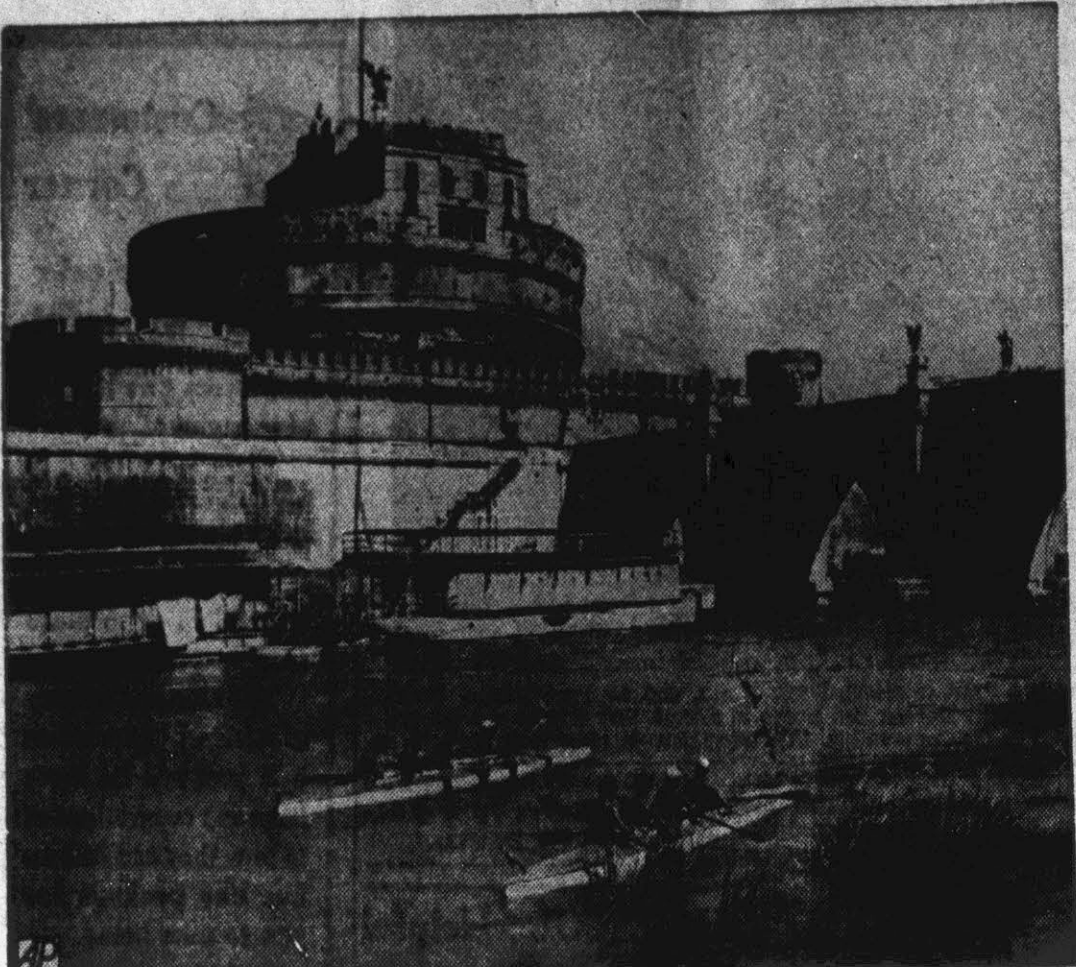

However, beyond the fact that there appeared to be a number of vehicles in the column, there was little information reaching the Pentagon to indicate its nature. First reports made no mention of tanks. Absence of armor might be significant, indicating lack of striking power.

Regina, Sask.—(AP)—Miss Allison Andrews with equal ease can preach a sermon, give a snappy naval salute or draw up a neat legal document. She has come to Regina to serve as assistant to Rev. Ray Ford, United Church minister in the growing Lakeview community.

Miss Andrews, born in Pictou, N. S., started as secretary in a law office in Halifax, she later joined the Navy and was overseas for 18 months.

She was graduated from the United Church training school for women workers in Toronto and for a year served as acting minister at Porcupine Plain, Sask., and also at Smeaton, Sask.

It simply never occurs to him that any other car could take the place of his beloved Cadillac.

And this deep respect for Cadillac goes far beyond its owners. In fact, it overflows the whole of America.

A survey just completed indicates that almost half of all the motor car owners in the United States would buy a Cadillac if they felt it suited to their economic situation.

Surely, there has been no finer example of quality's ability to hold the respect and regard of the American people.

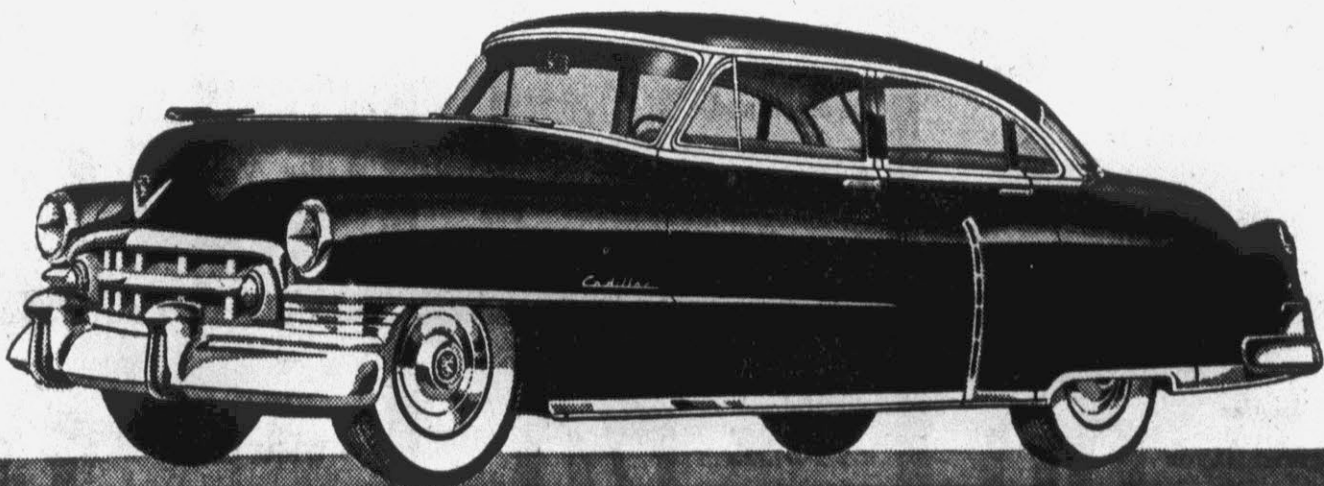

We wish that all who want a Cadillac could own one. And we know that more would purchase Cadillacs if only they would properly evaluate these basic facts:

—the lower-priced cars in the Cadillac line cost less to buy than certain models of numerous other makes.

—you can drive a Cadillac all day long, under normal conditions, on a single tankful of gasoline.

—a Cadillac car is designed so well, and is so soundly built, that its lifespan has never been fully measured.

Why not pay us a visit soon—and see for yourself? We are sure you're closer to "The Standard of the World" than you ever thought you were!

Better East Carolina Team To Face Elon's Powerhouse

By BILL LLOYD
A more improved, more polished East Carolina eleven will face Elon's powerhouse at Burlington Saturday night, as compared with last year's team that suffered a humiliating 33-7 defeat at the hands of the Christians.

Practically the same Pirate crew will lineup for the kickoff, but these same players have had a year of seasoning under the watchful eyes of Coach Bill Dole, and have become accustomed to the football master's terrific offensive system.

This year, plus possessing a sparkling air attack, the Pirates have added a threatening running

Pirate Passing Attack Sharpened In Practice

Defensive Stalwart Wally Robinson Added To Casualty List; Morale High For Conference Contest

Coach Bill Dole ran East Carolina's gridders through an extensive practice session on pass defense yesterday in preparation for Saturday night's game with Elon at Burlington.

Sharpening of the Pirate passing attack also was accentuated in yesterday's drills, with all-conference player Thrift doing the tossing.

On the receiving end of Thrift's passes were Ends Dwight Shoe and Frank Maennle, with flankmen Ed Tanner and Ott Alford alternating.

The mounting injury list of the Pirates added another defensive stalwart yesterday, as Tackle Wally Robinson came up with a bad leg. Already on the casualty list are Quarterback Sandy Siler, Guards Reggie Byrd and Mickey Berman, and Halfback Mike Kovack. All, except Siler, worked out in light taps yesterday, but are expected to sound into shape before this week's all-important conference game.

Siler, understudy for Thrift, suffered a wrenched knee in the Hampden-Sydney game, and will most likely be sidelined for this week's clash.

Morale still ran high in the East Carolina camp, as a chant, "Beat Elon," could be heard during yesterday's spirited practice.

At present, East Carolina ranks at the top of the North State standings without a defeat, and the Bucs will be striving to strengthen their stronghold in Saturday's tilt.

Enthusiasm also ran high among the student followers as chartered buses are expected to carry a large group to the game, along with the college band and cheering squad.

Jayvees Invade Kinston Tonight

Greenville High's junior varsity travels to Kinston tonight for their second game with the Red Imps. Kickoff time is set for 8:00 p. m. in the Kinston Stadium.

Coach Stanley Terrill's eleven will be seeking revenge. For last week's close defeat, 13-12, at the hands of the Kinston charges, who had to come from behind in the final quarter to win.

Halfback J. D. Mayo, who scored the Jayvees two TD's last week, is again expected to lead the little Phantoms scoring attack, aided by left-handed passer Johnny Russell and ends Frank Brown, Vernon Wingate, and Billy Bost.

Terrill will have linemen such as Vann Carroll and Boots Teel, at tackles, Tom Smoot at guard, and Jody Taylor and San Winchester, forming the anchor of the Phantom forward wall.

Columbus Wins 'Little Series'

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 5—(AP)—The Columbus Red Birds racked up a second major conquest for Manager Rollo Hemley last night in beating the Baltimore Orioles 6 to 3 in the final and winning game of the Little World Series.

Hemley, who piloted the American Association Red Birds to four wins in five games with the International League champions, managed the Nashville Vols when they won the Southern Association pennant last year.

Yankees, Phillies Still Spent From Pennant Dashes

By TED SMITS
Philadelphia, Oct. 5—(AP)—The dressing rooms of the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Phillies, after their first World Series game, reflected four things clearly:

1—Both teams were still emotionally spent from the hot pennant races.

2—Both teams realized they were over the hump in winning the big cash prize.

3—Neither team is yet fully fired up with eagerness to become world champions—that comes in a day or two.

4—Above all, the Yankees, old professional campaigners, take victory as a matter of course.

Both dressing rooms were placid after the brilliant pitching duel in which Vic Raschi of the Yankees bested Jim Konstanty of the Phillies 1-0. The Yankees sat on two long benches against the wall of a narrow room, looking at each other in silence. The Phillies moved around a little but accepted defeat more calmly than might be expected from such a young team.

The reason for this is fairly simple. Ball players first of all set out to win the league championship. That means a cut in the World Series prize. For each player on a winning team in a series such as the present one it means about $5,500 in cash; for a player on the losing team about $4,250.

But if the Yankees or the Phillies had finished second in their league races—and both came close to it—the prize would have been only $1,000. Third place players get about $750, fourth place $350.

So when the Yankees and the Phillies clinched the pennants it meant they had a chance to win $5,500 in the Series, but could not get less than about $4,250—quite different from $1,000. That's why the final games of the pennant race were charged with so much dressing room excitement.

The series excitement comes as the climax is approached.

Clear Skies

Philadelphia, Oct. 5—(AP)—The sun was shining brightly in Philadelphia today and the weatherman predicted the skies would remain fair for the second game of the 1950 World Series.

The temperature at game time—1 p. m. EST would be about 65, the weatherman said.

Henrich Learns Fame Fades Fast

Philadelphia, Oct. 5—(AP)—Tommy Henrich discovered that fame fades fast.

It was only a year ago that the veteran New York Yankee outfielder was a World Series hero. His ninth-inning home run defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 1-0 in the first game of the 1949 World Series.

Special police guarding the Yankee clubhouse yesterday required considerable convincing before they permitted the unrecognized Yankee outfielder to enter the dressing room.

"Who are you?" was the gruff inquiry.

"I'm a ball player," came Henrich's simple reply.

Finally, a teammate came along and told the guard that Tommy was a ball player.

The teammate failed to add that "old reliable" was quite a ball player even though sidelined by injuries for the current series.

Sweet Potatoes Rich In Vitamins

Raleigh, Oct. 5—The smart housewife who serves her family sweet potatoes gives them two-thirds of the adult daily allowance of both vitamin A and C in one average serving, according to Walter J. Peterson, head of the Department of Chemistry at N.C. State College.

Furthermore, the scientist points out, the sweet potato can boast of a vitamin A value of from one to two times as great as that of the best summer butter, while its vitamin C content is just as much as that of tomato juice and half as much as fresh orange or lemon juice.

These facts have been gleaned from two years of study and experimentation with nine varieties of sweet potatoes in an effort to learn their content of vitamins A and C. Varieties included in the two-year study were Little Stem Jersey, Maryland Golden, Nancy Gold, Ranger, Unit 1 Porto Rico, L-13, B-2934, B-703, and L-37.

Highest content of vitamin A was noted in the Ranger, Maryland Golden, L-37, and Nancy Gold varieties, while Little Stem Jersey and B-2934 showed low vitamin A value. Maryland Golden and Nancy Gold proved to have the highest vitamin C content at harvest, with the other varieties containing lower and fairly equal amounts. No significant loss of vitamin C was noted during the potato curing process, which required seven days at 85 degrees F. and at a relative humidity of 75 to 85 per cent.

Greenville Phantom Passer And Receiver

Phantom Workouts Lightened On Eve Of Scotland Neck Game

Coach Bo Farley kept the heavy work down to a minimum in yesterday's Phantom drills, as the locals prepared for their second game this week.

Greenville meets Scotland Neck here Friday night in another non-conference tilt, after defeating Hartford here Monday night, 7-3.

Work on pass defense and offense was accentuated in yesterday's workouts, with Sidney Briley and sub-

Quarterback Eddie Farley doing the tossing.

Several minor injuries turned up in yesterday's practice. Leon Moore, the bustling fullback for the Greenville, reported with a back injury suffered in the Hartford game, along with Guard Johnny Mervin, who worked out in light taps because of a bad leg. Tackle Wallace Conway missed practice with an irritated sore throat.

Gamecocks Rate High On Defense

Richmond, Va., Oct. 5—(AP)—The University of South Carolina has become the principal of the most surprising "turnabout" in the Southern Conference.

Before the season started, the Gamecocks were considered a top-notch offensive club with a questionable defense. The prospect of having to use sophomores in the starting line gave Coach Rex Enright a pronounced headache.

Now, with two games under their belts against major opposition, the Gamecocks quite obviously are one of the top defensive clubs in the 17-team circuit. On the other hand, except for the inspired running of Steve Wadiak, the offense hasn't lived up to expectations.

South Carolina has allowed only two touchdowns in outings against Duke and Georgia Tech. Both were scored by Duke, to whom the Gamecocks lost, 14-7, before trouncing Georgia Tech, 7-0.

Enright's line, moreover, seems to be getting better as time goes by. Whereas Duke made 182 yards by rushing, Tech could get only 47 yards on the ground, and nary a touchdown. Even against Duke, the Gamecock forwards made two great goal-line stands, one on their own one-yard stripe.

Classic Bowling League Scores Slump For Week

Carolina Dairy	9	6	500
Wagner-Waldrop	8	7	533
Hodges Hardware	7	8	466
Bilbro Wholesale	6	9	400

Moran tied also with Bill Bryan, a teammate, for 400 and the night's high three game score. Still, there is a vast difference between that and the 578 posted by Bill Harrington, Carolina Dairy, last week for the brace.

Only one game separates the four teams at present. The situation was only a little better last week when Bilbro and the Dairy were tied for second.

Here's a rundown of individual averages to date among the top ten in the league:

- Gene Ward, W-W, 157
- Bill Harrington, Dairy, 157
- Bob Matthews, Hodges, 153
- Bruce Bilbro, Bilbro, 150
- L. Moye, Dairy, 150
- Bill Bryan, W-W, 147
- Spooky Morgan, W-W, 146
- Bill Wells, W-W, 146
- Joe Smith, Hodges, 145
- Amos Leggett, W-W, 141

Tuesday night Carolina Dairy and Wagner-Waldrop each took three games from their respective opponents. The triple win moved the Dairy out in front of W-W by one game and shoved Hodges Hardware and Bilbro Wholesale into third and fourth places from last week's first and second positions.

Highest game score was set by Spooky Morgan, W-W, with 189, which is far short of the 220 high game last week.

Receive No Bid On Bond Offer

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 5—(AP)—The local government commission did not receive a bid for an offering of $1,315,000 in bonds for building an Outer Banks toll road.

The road would run between Kitty Hawk and Virginia Beach, Va., by a private corporation.

Director W. E. Easterling of the local government commission declared that under state law the Tar Heel bonds now can be sold privately.

Coach Stuart Tripp's Tornadoes, the team has been working out in earnest all this week, even though Vanceboro has probably the weakest team in the Coastal Conference. Tripp put his charges through intensive drills on offense and defense, stressing the passing attack. The reserves have come in for a major portion of the drills, particularly in the air game, since it is doubtful that the team's ace passer Teedy Bullock will play tomorrow. Bullock injured his ankle earlier in the week's drills and is a doubtful starter. The co-captain will be sorely missed since he contributed a great deal to the two wins of the current season.

The injury list is growing and several are not expected to play tomorrow. Included is B. L. Byrd, 1949 all-conference halfback, who has been pained by a recent tonsillotomy. He returned to practice yesterday but is not counted on for the Vanceboro tilt. During the two games previous, Byrd has alternated at halfback and tackle on offense and defense. Tripp showed his boys how to run the ball himself when he got into uniform during yesterday's practice and ran from the quarterback position. The majority of the personal drill consisted of faking and cutting-in with ball.

Squalls Sweeping Florida's Tip And Caribbean

Miami, Fla., Oct. 5 — (AP) — Small craft warnings flapped in heavy rain squalls sweeping Miami and the Florida Keys today with gusty winds reaching 45 miles an hour velocity.

The squalls were moving out of a broad "area of suspicion" in the Caribbean Sea. The Weather Bureau kept the entire area reaching from the Bahamas, southern Florida and Cuba to the Swan Island region in the Caribbean under close watch for possible storm development. "We've got all the elements of a hurricane except wind," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau. "The pressure is low and the rainsqualls are plenty juicy. But the peak wind so far is 45 miles an hour. We're keeping the closest kind of watch on the disturbance."

Robin Roberts Bears Heavy Burden As Underdog Phils Try Again Today

Philadelphia, Oct. 5 — (AP) — Robin Roberts must stop the New York Yankees today—or else. That is the opinion at World Series headquarters as the Phils' 20-game winner prepares to meet Allie Reynolds (16-12) in the second game.

Manager Eddie Sawyer lost his daring gamble on Jim Konstanty in yesterday's 1-0 opener. But not before his relief ace turned in a pitching job that long will be remembered. Vic Raschi simply threw too hard for the dazed National League champs despite Konstanty's heart-tugging effort.

Now it's up to Roberts, wonder boy of Sunday's pennant clincher. Well rested after his strenuous chore against Brooklyn, Roberts must win or the 1950 Series may not come back to Philadelphia.

After today's game at 1:00 p.m. (EST), the clubs move to New York's Yankee Stadium for the next three—if five are needed. Only if a sixth or seventh is played will they return to Shibe Park next week.

The Phils face an uphill job, reflected by the odds makers who rate the youthful Quis Kids 5 to 1 underdogs in man-to-man betting. Reynolds is a 7½ to 5 choice over Roberts in the second game, to be played before more than 30,000 fans in fair, cool weather. Few want to wager that the Phils will even win two games after watching Raschi handout them with two singles in the opener.

Raschi's brilliant job couldn't dim the near-miracle of Konstanty. The 33-year-old bullpen veteran, who hadn't started a game since 1948, deserved a better fate. He allowed only four hits in eight innings before giving way to a pinch hitter. It took two fly balls to convert one of the hits into the only run of the game.

"I don't mind losing on base hits," Konstanty said. "But when a couple of fly balls beat you, it's pretty tough."

The base hit—a double down the left field line by Bobby Brown in the fourth inning—was the only extra-base off Konstanty. According to Jim it was a "slider at least a half foot inside." But that was the ball game when it was backed up by two fly balls that permitted Brown to score.

B-V Gravy makes the meal!

Praises are being sung everywhere for Wilson's B-V, the true meat-flavor that insures rich brown gravy every time, without meat drippings. Even the novice cook gets restaurant gravy with B-V every time!

Wilson's B-V is today a must, along with salt and pepper, in every kitchen. Not only for making wonderful gravy, but to add a special flavor-lift to soups, gravies, meat dishes, casseroles, hot sandwiches, molded salads, snacks and sauces.

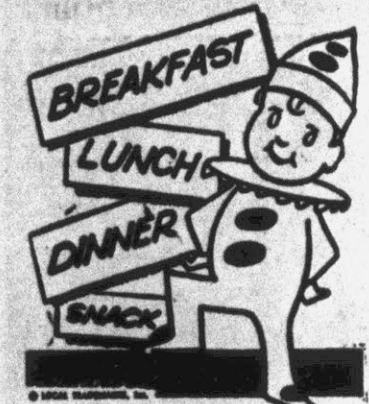

Quick 'n' easy

For a quick, economical dish the family will love, we recommend Minute Rice and B-V Gravy. You'll prepare this fluffy, whole-grain rice in 10 minutes. Then sauce it with "de-licious" rich brown B-V Gravy. "My, how good!" The Minute Rice suits while you make the gravy.

RICE 'N' GRAVY

Four: 1 (5-oz.) package of Minute Rice, General Foods' pre-cooked discovery, into a sauce pan.
Add: 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 1/2 cups water.
Heat to boiling. Cover tightly, remove from heat, and set aside to fluff 10 minutes. Meanwhile prepare the magic B-V Gravy.

No More Prison Labor Permitted State Officials

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 5—(AP)—No more free prison labor at the homes of state prison officials. That's the word from State Prisons Director John Gold.

The only exception, Gold said yesterday, is the governor's mansion. Gold was asked the department's policy after a statement at the trial of former Prison Director J. B. Moore, who is accused of misfeasance while in office.

Moore testified that almost daily prisoners went as servants to the quarters of the prison director, the warden, deputy warden, chaplain, disciplinarian, physician, and the governor.

Gold said that except for the governor's mansion, "other folks will have to rough it like any other citizens or pay for their help. They can't hire prison labor under any circumstances. It's not for sale."

Meanwhile, Gold met with his 10 division supervisors, his first such staff meeting since assuming office this summer.

At the meeting a new and higher pay scale was announced for prison guards. And higher pay and higher qualifications were set for prison camp superintendents.

Guards will now start at $1,728 a year running up to $2,232 after seven or more years experience, instead of previous pay scales running from $1,512 to $2,000.

Prison camp superintendents got their base pay raised from $210 monthly to $250.

Because they would keep for a long time, beans were a welcome addition to ships' menus in the days when salted meat was their staple.

Turkey Accepts

Washington, Oct. 4—(AP)—Turkey has accepted an invitation to be associated with the Atlantic pact defense planning in the Mediterranean area.

Under the arrangement, Turkey does not, however, become a full-fledged member of the 12-nation defense alliance.

The State Department today disclosed Turkey's acceptance of the invitation by making public an exchange of notes between Secretary Acheson and the Turkish ambassador, Feridun C. Erkin.

Acheson acted on behalf of the foreign ministers of the 12 treaty nations who met in New York last week to plan increased defense preparations.

Marines Report War Casualties

Washington, Oct. 5—(AP)—The Marine Corps reports that its casualties in the Korean war through September 25 totaled 2,357 in dead, wounded, missing and non-battle casualties.

On that day the Marines were deep into the bitter fighting that brought about the capture of Seoul. This was three months after the invasion of South Korea.

Count 46 Million Dwelling Units

Washington, Oct. 5—(AP)—The Census Bureau reported today the number of family dwelling units in the United States was 46,151,170 last April 1. This figure was reached after the greatest numerical increase for any decade in American history.

The 1950 total averaged out to one for each 3.3 persons in the 150,000,000 population.

The manatee, or sea cow, is essentially a vegetarian.

One child tells another why Syrup of Black-Draught is good to take. Mothers know, too, that when given as directed it relieves ordinary constipation. It is made of pure imported herbs. Adults take Black-Draught in powder or granulated form. Next time, use this popular laxative. At all dealers.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT

Romance in the Air... For the young lady who is merry, friendly, good fun. Because she can see right. Before she had her vision corrected, she was timid, awkward, retiring; now she has poise, self-confidence, and is a good mixer. It's surprising what a difference good vision can make. Smart girls know this, and have their vision corrected with lovely, streamlined glasses that add to their appearance by giving full, fresh beauty to their eyes and full freedom to their attractive personality.

Marines To Call Up Air Reserves Before January 1

Washington, Oct. 4 — (AP) — Marines reported today they will call 13 additional reserve fighter squadrons to duty before Jan. 1 in building up to a planned strength of 18 squadrons.

Maj. Gen. Merwin H. Silverthorn, assistant Marine commandant, also told the House Armed Services Committee the Marines plan to expand beyond their June, 1951, target strength of 166,155 men.

Silverthorn said he could not discuss details at the committee's open session.

The Air Force at a hearing yesterday also indicated it intends to expand beyond its present goal of 69 squadrons.

ers, and known as the Pennie White farm, containing approximately 27 acres of cleared land, tobacco allotment on this farm in 1950 was 6.1 acres.

The terms of rental shall be cash. This the 27th day of September, 1950.

Marker Honors Former Dean Of Women

Reading the inscription on the bronze plaque just placed on the Beckwith Gateway at East Carolina are (left to right) Alumni Secretary Ruth Garner, Dean of Women Ruth White, and Dean Leo W. Jenkins. The marker, as well as the gateway erected in 1934, honors the late Mrs. Kate R. Beckwith, "lady principal" and dean of women at the college from 1909 to 1923. The handsome granite gateway and the bronze plaque are gifts to the college from the East Carolina Alumni Association. Miss White is third dean of women at the college, having succeeded Annie L. Morton, who retired at the end of the spring quarter, 1950.

Three More Terms Superior Court To Be Held This Year

After the conclusion of the present two-week criminal term of Pitt County Superior Court, there will be only three more terms of the highest court this year. Clerk David T. House said today.

The next term will be civil and it is scheduled for the week of Oct. 23. Judge Chester Morris will preside.

A one-week mixed term of civil and criminal court will be held the week of Oct. 30. Judge Chester Morris will preside.

The last court to be held here this year is civil term, scheduled for the week of November 20. The governor is to appoint a judge to preside over this term.

Lions Club To Sponsor Dance Next Month

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Lions club was held last night at which time several important business matters were discussed.

The board decided to bring Gene Krupa and his nationally famous dance band to Greenville in November for a big warehouse dance; the exact date will be settled and announced later.

Plans were laid for the holding of a combination ladies and district governors night in honor of Lion O. E. Dowd on October 23. The program will feature a musical program and a brief talk by Jess Jones, of Kingston.

The regular club meeting will be held on Monday night at the Woman's Club at which time a program on the physically handicapped will be presented. The program will be directed by H. B. Williams.

Women's Club To Meet October 12

President Still On Holiday Trip

Aboard Yacht Commander, Oct. 5—(P)—President Truman, sporting an autumn tan, scheduled a 40-mile leisurely cruise today across Chesapeake Bay.

The vacationing President had the Yacht Williamsburg pointed for Tangier Sound off the eastern shore after docking overnight at Yorktown, Va., where he went ashore briefly for the first time since leaving Washington last Saturday.

Fatally Hurt In Fair Accident

Shelby, N. C., Oct. 5—(P)—A 17-year-old Negro girl was fatally hurt in a fall yesterday from a riding device at the Cleveland county Negro fair. She was Mary Lois Bridges.

Sheriff Hugh Logan, Jr., said she fell from a flying swing. An investigation showed, he added, that the safety chain was intact and that the girl apparently slid under it.

She died early today in a hospital.

Fugitive Must Re-Enter Prison

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 5—(P)—A fugitive who made good in Tennessee since escaping from a North Carolina prison camp six years ago will have to return to a Tar Heel prison before he can be considered for parole.

That was the word today from Dr. T. C. Johnson, State paroles commissioner when he was questioned regarding the case of James Peter Carr.

New York, Oct. 5—(P)—Thirty hours before tomorrow's opening of the first world series game at Yankee Stadium two baseball fans took up positions at the bleacher entrance today.

Police asked them to leave because of the long wait ahead of them and told them that if they returned at 5 p. m. they would get their places at the head of the line.

Grover Lee Smith ...

Wilbur Charles Smith, who was scheduled for the April term of court and continued, there was some doubt as to which of the Smith car occupants was driving at the time of the collision.

Smith stated several hours afterward, while in the hospital suffering head injuries, that he was driving. Several days later he denied he was driving, saying he could not remember.

The doubt as to who was driving did not enter yesterday's trial since no one contended was pleaded. That particular plea does not admit the defendant's guilt or non-guilt, leaving the known facts to stand as they are for the judge to hear.

The sentence came as a surprise to many persons in the courtroom who thought the sentence would have been more severe.

Judge Grady, after he was asked by a Reflector reporter why he imposed the unexpectedly light sentence, stated "It was agreed to." He implied both the State and defense counsel agreed to it.

Other cases heard and judgments rendered in yesterday's last day of court for this week:

James Brown, drunk driving, plead guilty to reckless driving; $25 and costs.

James Forrest, drunk driving, plead guilty to public drunkenness; $10 and costs.

Larry James Pierce, drunken and reckless driving, plead guilty to reckless driving; $50 and costs, $25 paid for restitution to injured.

John C. Williams, drunken and reckless driving, plead guilty; $100 and costs, license revoked for one year.

Freddie Coward, manslaughter, plead guilty to involuntary manslaughter six months, suspended on condition he remain on probation for three years.

Louis Everett, drunk driving, continued for term.

Clinton Dail, drunk driving, plead guilty to careless and reckless driving; $50 and costs.

Samuel Reed Grantam, larceny, continued.

Alberta F. Jordan, assault; 12 months in county jail.

Willie June Clark, assault with deadly weapon; co' inued.

Rufus Garland Stancil, reckless driving; prayer for judgment on payment of costs.

Robert Moore, liquor; capias ordered and continued for term.

George Coward, larceny; nol pros.

Earl A. Rogers, drunk driving; nol pros.

had been a hot potato, it evidently had cooled enough for handling by American military sources. They said:

"General MacArthur had as much authority over the South Korean forces as he does over an American division."

Moving forward with allied ground forces, seven squadrons of jet and other fighter planes were on new bases. From these points closer to 38, the Air Force said, any target in North Korea is within easy range.
