

UN General Assembly Is Urged To Follow Pattern

Dulles Calls On General Assembly To Make Itself Strong Enough To Stamp Out Little Wars, Prevent Big Ones, As In Korean Action

Lake Success, Oct. 9—(AP)—The United States called on the United Nations assembly today to make itself strong enough to stamp out little wars so they won't grow into big ones.

John Foster Dulles, ranking Republican member of the U. S. delegation, urged adoption of a seven-nation program of peace aims first outlined by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Forming the core of the program were proposals for quick emergency sessions of the assembly when the Security Council cannot act; peace patrols of observers to report to the assembly on acts of aggression, and member army units available for U. N. collective action.

Britain, France, Canada, the Philippines, Turkey and Uruguay joined the U. S. in sponsoring a "uniting for peace" resolution to carry out the program.

Dulles said the United States does not take the view that a general war is inevitable.

"But," he added, "we do recognize that the prevalent fear is a corroding and dangerous force. Fear of war, if not allayed, creates the conditions that make war more likely. "Nothing that we can do will make peace certain. But we can make less likely that there will be little wars and big wars. That is worth doing."

He pointed to the collective action of the U. N. in the Korean conflict as the pattern for U. N. action in the future, but acknowledged that only a series of accidents made U. N. success there possible.

These were Russia's boycott of the Security Council in June and her inability to cast a veto; the reports from the U. N. commission on Korea; and the presence of U. S. troops on armistice police duty in Japan.

"Might not the aggression in Korea have succeeded except for a series of accidents which, from the standpoint of the aggressor, amounted to extraordinarily bad luck?" Dulles asked.

"Unless the United Nations does something to assure that the accidental, which served so well in Korea, will hereafter become dependable, potential aggressors can continue to hope and potential victims must continue to read," he said.

Dulles said "now we know that the Nations of the world possess both the will to repress aggression and the capacity to do so, and that this organization can be the means of forging that will and capacity into an effective collective instrument."

Inquest Tuesday Into Death Of Accident Victim

An inquest into the highway traffic death of Billy Forbes, of Orlap, who was killed early Saturday morning will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the county courthouse. Coroner Griffin H. Rouse announced today.

Forbes was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck on the highway between Bruce and Falkland. The accident occurred on a straight stretch of highway about one o'clock Saturday morning.

Patrolman Ernest Guthrie stated today that no charges have been lodged against either of the drivers involved pending outcome of the inquest.

Egypt's Trial Balloon

The Suggestion That Egypt Provide Large Portion Of Manpower For United Nations Police Force; Goals Behind Offer; They Cannot Bear The Burden

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The Egyptian United Nations delegation is reported to have put out as a feeler the extraordinary proposition that their little nation contribute from one to two million men as part of an international police force.

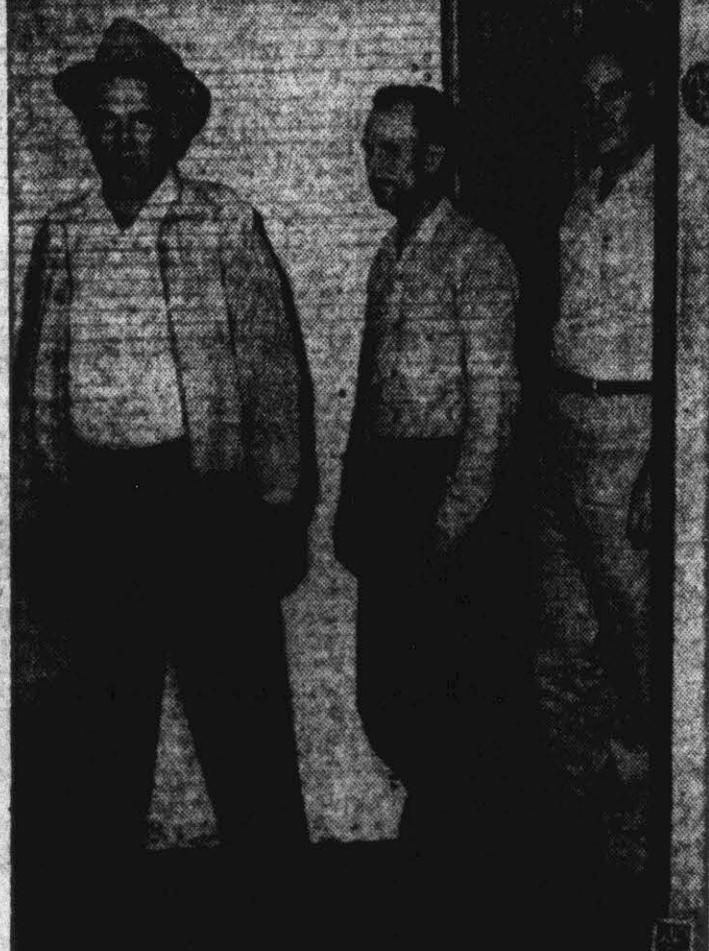

This suggestion is premised on the idea that other U. N. members supply arms and equipment for this huge force. It also carries the conditions that Britain withdraw her troops from Egyptian territory.

Egypt would guarantee to protect not only her own strategic area but the all-important Suez canal—gateway to the East. She doesn't think this defense should be left in British hands.

This isn't the first arrow of the kind Egypt has shot into the air to see where it would land. The same idea was advanced recently in Cairo and was published in the London press. All of which, of course, gives rise to speculation as to just what is behind this strange suggestion.

First of the average observer will note that it would take a magician to raise an army of 2,000,000 from a population of 20,000,000. Even if such a force could be established, its maintenance would be too great a burden especially for a country which isn't rich.

Tots Slain, Grandfather Jailed

Carthy Royals (center) is jailed at Valdosta, Ga., for the death of his two grandchildren, aged 2 and 4, who lived at nearby Lakeland, Ga. At left is Deputy Sheriff Leon Crosby of Lanier county. At right is Joe Brantley, Lowndes county jailer. Sheriff J. F. Studstill said Royals is held on a murder warrant. The bodies of the children were found in a burned auto September 28 with their skulls crushed. Royals told officers he left the children in the auto and found it in flames when he returned.

Cigarettes Are A Popular Loot

Some person or persons are having a corking good time smoking stolen cigarettes taken from several country stores during the past few weeks.

The latest weed haul occurred Friday night when thieves broke into the Silo Grill on the Ayden highway and carried off 30 cartons. The sheriff's department reported a screen on the door was broken and the inside latch removed, providing entry.

In addition, seven cartons of chewing gum were taken, a quantity of candy bars and a gallon jar of mustard. Also $1 was taken.

Investigating the robbery were deputy sheriff Jasper Lee Mills and S. B. Dorsey, fingerprint specialist.

Another robbery occurred Saturday night when 27 silver dollars were stolen from the home of Bill Pollard, one mile north on the Bethel highway.

Deputy sheriff Duke Andrews and Dorsey reported nothing else was missing.

War-Torn Island Said Hit By Huge Tidal Wave

Jakarta, Indonesia, Oct. 9—(AP)—An Ambon broadcast reported today that war-torn island was struck by a series of violent earth shocks yesterday causing a gigantic tidal wave. Reporting casualties, the broadcast appealed for Red Cross aid.

The broadcast said the quakes, starting Sunday morning, continued all day and brought a tidal wave 200 meters (656 feet) high.

Damage was extensive in coastal districts, particularly in the villages of Galala and Halong, where casualties have been reported, the broadcast said.

Reports received in Jakarta today said an earthquake with its center near Timor has been registered on seismographs, and seismologists here said it was probably this quake which struck Ambon.

Ambon is the scene of fighting between Indonesian government troops and South Moluccans. A group of five South Moluccans, who claim to represent 10,000 Ambonians living in Java, urged the United Nations commission on Indonesia to seek an immediate cease fire in the battle zone.

The group also protested "armed action against our homeland which is based on the Indonesian government's wishful thinking that the South Moluccan republic is not supported by the people."

A South Moluccan minority group in Surabaya sent a similar note to the United Nations commission this morning.

Crime Increases In Rural Areas

Washington, Oct. 9—(AP)—Crime is increasing faster in rural areas than in cities, an FBI report shows. A semi-annual report by the Bureau last night showed an increase of 7.4 per cent in rural crime over the same period in 1949. In contrast city crime was up only 1.9 per cent.

All types of offenses except negligent manslaughter and auto theft increased in rural areas, while in cities such crimes as murder, rape and robbery declined.

Like Last Year

The same kind of weather was prevailing in the Greenville area a year ago as that of yesterday. Weather Bureau records show.

Highest temperature yesterday was 74 degrees. Lowest last night, 61, and at 8 a. m. today it was 74.

Highest temperature here a year ago yesterday was 80 degrees. Lowest that night, 66 and at 8 a. m. next day it was 68 degrees.

Light showers prevailed here a year ago and there was some rain here yesterday. Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer here for the U. S. Weather Bureau, reported.

Three Left-Wing Unions Combine

New York, Oct. 9—(AP)—Three left-wing unions yesterday announced their merger into a new single unit with 60,000 members.

The new organization, called the Distributive, Processing and Officer Workers of America, is made up of the former Distributive Workers Union, the United Office and Professional Workers, and the Food Tobacco and Agricultural Workers.

The two last were expelled from the CIO on charges that they were under Communist domination.

Six Highway Accidents For County

No Fatalities, But Number Of People Sustained Minor Injuries

Pitt county's currently rising accident toll soared over the weekend with the report of six highway accidents in various sections of the county by the local office of the State Highway Patrol.

The majority of the accidents were of a minor nature, but one person was arrested on charges of driving drunk, another for driving without a driver's license. One person was slightly injured in the accidents.

The large number of accidents came close on the heels of the county's eleventh highway fatality which took the life of a Edgemore county man early Saturday morning on the Falkland highway.

Ray Rollins, negro, 51, was arrested by Patrolman Delton E. Perry Saturday night on charges of driving drunk after an accident which occurred at the intersection of the Bethel-Pactolus highway. He was also charged with careless and reckless driving.

Perry stated that the car driven by Rollins struck a car operated by Ben Griffin Smith. According to the story given the patrolman by Smith, the Rollins' car was going towards Bethel on the left side of the highway. Perry quoted Smith as saying that he tried to avoid being hit by the car but could not. His car was struck after it had pulled off the highway, he said.

The left side of the Smith car was damaged about $100 while the left front fender of the Rollins' car suffered damage estimated about $50.

Later Saturday night, about midnight, a car driven by Gerald D. Smith of 113 W. 12th Street, Greenville, got out of control and turned over near Middle Swamp. Damage to the car was reported to be about $400 by Patrolman Paul C. Gentry who investigated. None of the occupants in the car at the time of the accident were injured. No charges were brought against the driver.

Of the six highway accidents reported this weekend, three were caused by a car following behind another and the driver failing to see a left-hand signal.

Patrolman Ernest Guthrie of the Farmville Patrol Office reported that a car driven by Arthur Allen Ruffin of Wilson was attempting to make a left turn into the Belvoir road from the Falkland highway when it was struck in the rear by a car operated by Rufus Perry of Rocky Mount.

The collision occurred at the intersection of the two roads. Damage to the cars was estimated to be about $450 for both cars.

J. F. Vick of Wilson suffered cuts and bruises about the face as a result of the wreck.

Guthrie stated this morning that investigation of the accident is not complete yet.

Shortly after noon yesterday, about four miles north of Greenville on N.C. 43, a car driven by Cecil Bray of Norfolk ran off the highway and cut back on the road causing an estimated damage to the car of $150. The car did not turn over.

Still another highway accident occurred near Farmville yesterday about 12:40. A car being driven

Athletic Scholarship Drive Goes Over Top; Get $9,022

By CHESTER WALSH

The Scholarship Committee of about 45 leading Greenville business and professional men seeking $7,500 for the East Carolina Teachers College, went over the top today, Chairman E. E. Rawl announced.

He said the soliciting committees had collected $9,022.55. "What all of the committees have made complete reports we hope the fund will total $2,000 over the original goal."

Chairman Rawl said, "There is positively no doubt in my mind but what East Carolina Teachers College and the people of North Carolina can have no doubt in their minds as to hop the people of Greenville feel about the College."

"In 1948, during a five-month campaign for funds, the Stadium Committee asked the people of Greenville for $25,000 toward a fund for building a football stadium. The people generously responded and contributed $23,500. The State of North Carolina added $25,000 to this amount, thereby providing sufficient funds for the first wing of an ample and modern stadium," Chairman Rawl stated.

"In 1949 the people of Greenville were asked to contribute to the first scholarship fund for East Carolina Teachers College. In a five-week campaign they contributed $8,000."

"In 1950 this year—in less than two and a half weeks of campaigning the people of Greenville contributed $9,022.55 to the athletic scholarship fund," the chairman stated.

Chairman Rawl asked today that special prize be extended to the 21 committees composed of about 45 leading Greenville business and professional men. Also he asked that thanks be given to the Greenville people for Dr. John D. Messick, president of ECTC and the college.

"They did this job in a public spirited way and they deserve special credit," the chairman declared.

U. S. Insists Rearmament Aid Is For Materials, Equipment

Washington, Oct. 9—(AP)—The United States, turning down a British request for "free dollar" aid to hasten their rearmament, is insisting that U. S. help for the present will be granted only to buy raw materials and equipment.

The British had requested they be allowed to use American dollars for whatever purpose they desired as long as their military production was increased according to the plan they have drafted.

Rejection of the request was reported by informed officials as Hugh Gaitskell, British minister of economic affairs, arrived in this country for general financial talks with Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

These officials said the State Department has informed the British government that American dollars will be allocated, for the time being, only for purchases of raw materials and equipment specifically needed to boost military output.

British officials said Gaitskell's arrival has no connection with the rearmament talks now going on. Gaitskell's trip is his first to the United States, they said, and his main purpose is to "get acquainted" with top-ranking American financial and economic leaders.

When he arrived in New York yesterday, Gaitskell denied reports that revaluation of the pound would come up for discussion. He told newsmen "there is no intention to revalue the pound."

The British cabinet minister is reported ready to back up his government's request for $1,500,000,000 in "free aid" over the next three years.

The United States, officials said, believes that sum cannot be justified by the results that can be expected from the British rearmament program. But the American note which was sent to the British embassy over the weekend does not reject outright the British request for this amount.

Instead, the American note suggests that long-range problems be solved temporarily and an interim plan for spurring military production be adopted by Britain and the other eight Atlantic pact nations eligible for such financial help from this country.

First Drunken Driving Conviction During Term

A Pitt County jury this morning convicted a man in Superior Court for drunken driving, the first such verdict delivered after the defendant had pleaded not guilty during the special two-week term which convened last Monday.

The 12 jurors found Louis Everett, resident of the Belvoir area, guilty of the charge after he had entered a plea of not guilty. Judge Henry Grady revoked his license for one year and fined him $100 and costs.

The conviction marked the first time during this criminal term that a defendant has been convicted of the charge. Several drunk driving cases, of which there were 24 scheduled for trial, were sent to the jury last week with lesser pleas, reckless driving being in the majority.

Only one man was found guilty of the indictment and he pleaded guilty. Judge Grady, who is special judge for the term, figured in widespread notoriety in several state papers after he had made the statement that a Pitt jury would not convict a man for driving drunk. He qualified the remark in saying it looked as though "they don't want to take man's driving license away from him."

Other judgments rendered during the morning proceedings: J. Bullock, Jr., worthless check; not guilty.

Leonard Jenkins, shooting firearms in city limits; prayer for judgment on payment of costs.

Roy Lee Ross, worthless check; make restitution of $10 check and pay costs.

L. D. Whitehurst, forgery; three years, suspended on five year probation period and promise to make full restitution of $900 check.

American Regiment Meets Opposition Shortly After Crossing Parallel 38; South Koreans Heavily Engaged At Wonsan, But Expect Win City

Tokyo, Oct. 9—(AP)—Red Koreans put up fiery resistance today against the deep penetration of ROK forces fighting for the port of Wonsan and the first American troops to cross into Communist Korea north of Seoul.

On both widely separated thrusts by the allies, officers expected the local Red opposition to crumble quickly.

But the Reds gave no indication that they will heed a new "last time" surrender demand aired by General MacArthur.

The South Koreans (ROKS) may be preparing to turn at Wonsan from their 90-mile northward advance on the Sea of Japan coast and strike west across the waist of the peninsula for the Red capital, Pyongyang, 95 air miles ahead.

About equally distant from Pyongyang, troops and tanks of the U. S. First Cavalry Division crossed parallel 38 in regimental strength on the road leading northwest out of Seoul, the ROK capital, with Pyongyang as the apparent goal.

The allied ground fighting forces thus are in position to race—or plod—95 miles on the westward track, 85 on the northwest push. Such converging drives would aim to strangle the Red government of Kim Il Sung in its home base.

A fierce battle raged for the big industrial port of Wonsan.

AP Correspondent William Jordan, with the South Koreans, said they expected to crack into the city by Tuesday morning.

The heavy fighting at Wonsan and northwest of Seoul was the first since show of Red resistance since South Koreans crossed the border Oct. 1.

AP Correspondent William J. Vaughn, with U. S. First Cavalry forces who crossed Monday on their push northwest from Seoul and Kaesong, quoted a Red prisoner.

"The officers up there won't let them (the Reds) surrender or retreat. Troops who want to quit are shot."

Communist prisoners had foretold the battle for Wonsan. They said the Reds planned to make an all-out defense there.

Waugh said the First Cavalry foot troopers smashed into stiff Red resistance within 30 minutes after they had crossed 38.

The Reds held commanding positions in mountains on three sides of the Seoul-Pyongyang road. The cavalry troopers were forced to dig in under a hail of mortar, automatic weapons and small arms fire.

Lt. Col. William Walton, Newton, Kas. said the job of knocking out the Reds was doubly tough because they were using smokeless powder. "You can't spot them," he said.

"They were fighting one mile north of the border. There were some casualties. A Red land mine knocked out one American tank."

Convoys of troops and supplies rolled north from the border. Observation planes skimmed the northern ridges, spotting targets for fighter planes and American artillery.

A U. S. First Corps spokesman said the cavalry's smash into Red Korea was the real thing. He called it "a push . . . not a reconnaissance or probing action."

Origin Of Logan Act

Many Earnest People Would Like To Help Straighten Out World Troubles And Bring Peace; Law Prohibits Private Citizens From Such Negotiations

By MAX HALL

Washington, Oct. 9—(AP)—Americans just hate to stand by quietly and see things drifting from bad to worse.

If they think the country is going to hell, they do not withhold this information from their neighbors. And they write dear-sir-you-cure letters to their congressmen.

So it isn't surprising, in these uneasy times, that some Americans have an itch to take pen in hand and begin:

"Dear Joe—"

Harold E. Stassen did it last week. Henry A. Wallace did it in 1948. Since Mr. Stassen and Mr. Wallace are prominent political figures, it is possible to imagine that they had an added incentive for their letters to Joseph Stalin. But the itch is felt by obscure citizens as well.

A month ago, a woman school teacher named Icie Johnson wrote Premier Stalin from Warrensburg, Mo., asking him to help restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people.

And she is not alone. Every few days the State Department gets a letter from some citizen who asks if it's O.K. for him, or her, to es-plain to Stalin what a mess he's getting the world into.

The State Department discourages these earnest people and quotes the Logan Act to them.

The Logan Act was passed on Jan. 30, 1790, and is still on the books almost unchanged. This law prohibits any U. S. citizen, without authority of the U. S., from getting in touch with a foreign government directly or indirectly with intent to influence that government in relations to a dispute with the U. S.

No record exists that anyone was ever convicted of violating this law but the State Department implies that there could always be a first time.

The Logan Act was named after Dr. George Logan, but he was not a member of Congress. Oh, my, no. Here is the story:

In 1790, when John Adams was president, we came perilously close to war with France. Relations were broken off. George Washington, then 76 years old, was yanked out of retirement to command the army. Adams sent three men to France to smooth things over. They failed.

Pre Nuptial Courtesies Are Extended To Wedding Party

Mr. and Mrs. Little Entertain
Complimenting Miss Frances Kittrell and Mr. John C. Fritchman, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Little held "open house" at their home on the Ayden highway just prior to the pre-rehearsal dinners.

Guests were members of the wedding party, families, and out-of-town people here to attend the wedding.

Mr. Fritchman and Miss Kittrell received at the door with Mr. and Mrs. Little. On the entrance hall table was an autumn arrangement in an antique copper bowl. This was composed of wood roses, spoon cactus, cat's-tails, and broom weed.

On the coffee table of the living room was an exotic bouquet of Hawaiian flowers consisting of anthurium, torch ginger, sweet ginger, ti-leaves, and stag leaves. In the sun room a crystal epergne held a beautiful assortment of dahlias in fall colors.

Mrs. J. H. Thomas presided over a crystal punch bowl in the dining room. The table was centered with a bridal scene with daintily dressed dolls portraying the wedding party amid a setting of fern and white flowers. A crystal epergne was placed at the opposite end of the table from the punch bowl and was gracefully filled with carnations and white burning tapers.

On a side serving table was a bowl of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Assisting the hostess in serving was Mrs. Hoyt Minges.

Dr. and Mrs. K. B. Pace, Mr. and Mrs. Knott Proctor, Mr. James S. Ficklen Jr. and Mrs. John Miller of Williamston were graciously hospitable to the callers as they received informally throughout the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Entertain
Following the rehearsal for the Fritchman-Kittrell wedding at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church on Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. J. Con Lanier entertained at an after-rehearsal party at their home on Tenth Street.

Guests for the evening were the wedding party, families and out-of-town friends.

Mrs. Katharine Adams, hunt to Miss Kittrell, welcomed the guests in the entrance hall. Hanging suspended on the wall beside the door into the dining room was a cascade of white wedding bells. "Bed with showers of bridal streamers, tiny white pompons and fern. A silver bowl held an arrangement of yellow gladioli, chrysanthemums and fern, flanked by three-bered candelabra holding green lighted tapers with lace dolly collars.

In the living room, scarlet and red were the colors combined effectively with the use of gladioli and chrysanthemums. White candles in tall silver standards furnished illumination on the mantel which was banked with wax magnolia leaves.

In the den a lovely antique cut glass compote was graced with yellow shaggy mums. Here green candies in low holders were softly glowing.

The dining room was unusual in its lovely color scheme of bridal pink which complemented the appointments in the room. On an antique sideboard, banks of magnolia leaves surrounded an exquisite bride doll dressed in an original creation of pink tulle decorated with seed pearls. She was holding an old fashioned nosegay of pastel flowers, and triple candelabra filled with pink cathedral tapers were placed on either side of her.

On a serving table a five-branched candelabra tied with pink tulle graced its center.

The dining room table was lovely. An ivory all-over hand embroidered cloth was placed over pink satin. The centerpiece was fashioned of pink gladioli, asters and dahlias in a low silver bowl. A pair of three-branched candelabra were placed on either side of the flowers and tall pink tapers were lighted and tied with narrow bands of tulle.

From one end of the table Mrs. J. B. Kittrell poured punch from a silver bowl edged with a heavy carved band. From the opposite end Mrs. A. J. Fritchman served pink bridal cakes from a silver platter. Assisting in serving pink mints and assorted nuts were Miss Elizabeth Kittrell and Mrs. Susan Perry.

The Kittrells and Gaines Entertain
On Saturday morning at 9:30 Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gaines and Miss Sue Gaines entertained at a breakfast at the Hotel Proctor for the Fritchman-Kittrell wedding party. The guest list included the wedding attendants, families, and out-of-town guests.

The tables were placed in a U-shape and were decorated with tailored floral arrangements. Center tracteries of ivy and bittersweet were on each table, and in front of the honorees' places was an oblong brass container holding love apples. The side tables were charming with bronze and red daisy type pompons arranged in brass urns.

An informal breakfast was served to twenty-eight guests. The place of the bride-elect was marked with an unusual corsage made with love apples, English ivy leaves and bittersweet, tied with gold ribbon.

The Garretts Entertain
Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garrett and Mr. Ralph Garrett Jr. were hosts at a buffet luncheon at their home to honor the Fritchman-Kittrell wedding party and out-of-town guests on Saturday.

The guests were welcomed at the door by the hosts. As they gathered in the living room they were served tomato juice cocktails.

From a beautifully appointed luncheon table in the dining room, Miss J. S. Ficklen and Mrs. J. T. Little, seated at either end, served ham and turkey. Mrs. Lee Hannah assisted in serving the accompanying dishes.

The table was covered with a white cut work cloth edged with fluted lace. The centerpiece was composed of all white dahlias, gladioli and pompons interspersed with fern. These flowers were arranged in a silver tureen and were flanked on either side by silver shells holding bridal mints. On the buffet silver candelabra held white candles.

Miss Kittrell was given an orchid corsage by the hosts.

Rev. and Mrs. Ballard Return To Greenville

Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Ballard have recently moved to Greenville to reside at 1226 Washington Street. Mr. Ballard is a former pastor of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church. They come here from New Bern, where they have resided for the past four years, and where Mr. Ballard pastored the Saint Mary's Free Will Baptist Church. Mrs. Ballard was educational director for the church and was also engaged in civic activities in New Bern, serving for the past three years as a member of the Craven County Welfare Board. She also helped organize, and was the first president of the New Bern Council of Church Women.

Mr. Ballard resigned from the New Bern church some time ago to become full-time editor of youth publications of the Free Will Baptist denomination, with editorial offices in Ayden. In connection with this work he will attend youth meetings and rallies in the various states, speaking in the interest of the young people's work of his denomination. Mrs. Ballard will confine her religious activities for the time being to cooperate in local church work and in writing for her husband's publications.

Mrs. Charles White Gives U.D.C. Program

One of the most delightful meetings of the George B. Singletary Chapter of the U. D. C. was held with Mrs. J. L. Fleming Thursday afternoon, October 5 with Mrs. P. E. Wells, vice president, presiding over a short business meeting.

Mrs. Wells welcomed Mrs. J. B. White, Mrs. Richard E. Hardaway, Miss Mary Harding, Mrs. Charles White, Miss Barbara White, and Mrs. J. R. Gaylord of Winterville, as guests of the meeting. Mrs. W. R. Smith and Mrs. V. C. Fleming, Sr. were welcomed as new members.

Mrs. Ernest L. Willard read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. J. G. Lauters gave the treasurer's report, and Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth gave the historian's report.

Mrs. Fleming presented Mrs. Charles White who gave a most informative talk on "Southern Music," bringing out interesting facts concerning the songs and composers of Confederate days. Miss Barbara White sang the following old confederate songs: "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Her Bright Smile Haunts Me Still," "Annie Laurie," and "Home Sweet Home."

Members and guests were then invited into the dining room where Mrs. J. B. White poured coffee, and Mrs. J. L. Winstead served a delicious dessert course.

Mrs. R. C. Stokes Jr. Entertains Club At Summer Home

On Tuesday, October 3, the ladies of the End of the Century Club celebrated the opening of the fall season with an all day meeting at the summer home of Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr. on the Pamlico River. Mrs. J. L. Little was the assisting hostess.

Upon arrival the guests were served Coca-Colas and enjoying the delightful Indian summer weather, they visited together until noon time when a short business meeting was held. Mrs. C. A. White graciously welcomed the members back from their pleasant vacations into the new club year. Minutes of last meeting were read and the treasurer's report was given. Tickets for the North Carolina Symphony were offered to all interested and the tickets ordered by members for the concert series at the college were distributed. After this business session luncheon was announced. The dining table was bountiful with sea food served buffet style and then the guests repaired to the porch to relax and enjoy the meal. Early after lunch the programme for the day was presented by Mrs. J. L. Fleming. Her able discussion of the books presented for the club this year gave an advanced notice of the pleasure in store and made every one eager to read each and every book selected.

It was with reluctance that those present turned homeward, assuring the hostesses that the day at Summer Haven had been a pleasure to all. Guests for the day were Mrs. Lawrence Moye and Mrs. Junius Grimes and Mrs. Will Clark of Washington.

Formal Candlelight Ceremony Unites Frances Kittrell And John Fritchman

At Jarvis Memorial Methodist church on Saturday afternoon, October 7, at five o'clock, Miss Frances Kittrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bryant Kittrell of Greenville, and Mr. John Checkley Fritchman of Jackson, Mississippi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva John Fritchman of Atlanta, Georgia, pledged their troth in a formal candlelight ceremony.

The vows were spoken before the Reverend Leon Russell, pastor of the church, who officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Paul

Toll, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

She played as her first selection, "Wedding Chimes," using the chimes and the organ in a beautiful arrangement. Her other numbers included "Leibestraum" by Liszt, "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven, "At Dawn" by Gade, and "To A Wild Rose," by MacDowell. During the impressive ceremony she softly played "Still as the Night."

Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, Harper Darden sang, "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "All For You" by Bertram-Brown. As a closing prayer he sang, "O Perfect Love" by Gurney.

The traditional wedding procession from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was used as the wedding party entered the church and they departed to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March from "Midsummer Night's Dream."

The sanctuary of the church was a veritable bower of bridal greens and flowers. Improved smilax outlined all arches and windows and entwined the pillars and chancel rails. Behind the pulpit banks of woodwardia fern were placed as a background for the four seven-branched wrought iron candelabra which held cathedral tapers. In front of the pulpit and behind the chancel rail was a floral basket graced with giant white chrysanthemums and fern.

On either side of the altar rail were baskets of fern flanking standard baskets of white chrysanthemums and calla lilies.

The satin priedieu was placed between floral arrangements of calla lilies entwined with smilax and tied with white mulline ribbon. Each pew was marked with an aisle standard containing cathedral candles and decorated with white gladioli and choice mums tied with streamers of white tulle.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She chose for her wedding gown an original model of candlelight satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and long cathedral train which swept in graceful folds from the Dior shirt. The sweetheart neckline had four appliques of sequins and seed pearls which were taken from the wedding dress of her mother. The long sleeves extended over her wrists in calla points, and the gown was fastened at the back with a row of self-covered buttons.

Her three-tiered veil of illusion was attached to a becoming Juliet cap embroidered entirely with seed pearls and sequins which were used by her mother on her wedding day. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a cascade arrangement of fleur d'amour, lilies of the valley, and Stephanotis, centered with a white purple-throated orchid.

Miss Elizabeth Kittrell, only sister of the bride, attended her as maid of honor. Mrs. J. H. Barker of Atlanta, Georgia, sister of the groom, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. K. R. Davis and Mrs. Sidney Johnson of Chapel Hill, and Miss Doris Lancaster, of College Park, Georgia, and Spartanburg, South Carolina.

All the attendants wore floor length dresses of mimosas green satin and taffeta combination, fashioned with tiny satin and taffeta leaves outlining the sweetheart necklines and tunic.

They wore matching mits and head bands made of leaves and white fall flowers. Their bouquets were cascade arrangements of green and white caladium leaves and white valencia chrysanthemums with ribbon streamers of variegated ivy leaves.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Mr. J. H. Barker of Atlanta, Georgia, a brother-in-law. Groomsmen were Mr. J. B. Kittrell, Jr., brother of the bride; Mr. Frank Thrasher of Dayton, Ohio; Mr. Norman Schmitt of Atlanta, Georgia; Mr. William E. Driscoll of Raleigh, North Carolina; Mr. Kenneth R. Davis of Chapel Hill, and Mr. J. Knott Proctor, Jr.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kittrell chose a formal gown of mint green lace with matching hat and long white gloves. Her corsage was a white orchid. Mrs. Fritchman, mother of the Groom, wore a gown of mauve lace with matching accessories and white kid gloves. She wore a corsage of bronze orchids.

As the wedding party left the church, the bells in the tower were ringing.

Mrs. Fritchman was graduated from Greenville High School and the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, where she received her B. A. degree in sociology. For the past three years she has been employed by Delta Airlines as a stewardess.

Mr. Fritchman graduated from Tech High School and received his bachelor of law degree from John Marshall University, Atlanta, Georgia, where he was a member of the Sigma Delta Kappa law fraternity. He is connected with the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company in Jackson, Mississippi.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at their home.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Junior. In the front entrance hall was a console table on which was a silver urn filled with mammoth white chrysanthemums.

The callers were introduced to the receiving line by Miss Elizabeth Kittrell and Mr. J. Knott Proctor, Jr. In the receiving line were the parents of the bride and groom, the bride couple, and the bridesmaids.

The drawing room was decorated with white gladioli arranged in a silver bowl and a French pottery bowl holding calla lilies.

Rev. and Mrs. Leon Russell invited the guests into the powder room where the register was presided over by Mrs. C. C. Parker, aunt of the bride. Tiny white pompons and Starlite roses graced the registry table.

In the rear hall Mrs. R. M. Gaines directed the callers to the dining room, where Mr. Harper Darden and Miss Sue Gaines invited them to the punch table.

The punch table was covered with a Filipino cloth of white linen and centered with a crystal punch bowl from which Mrs. Katharine Adams, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Frank Thrasher served iced fruit punch.

The table in the dining room was exquisite with an imported cut-work cloth edged with lace placed over bridal green satin. A silver wine cooler arranged with white Starlite roses and swansons was flanked on either side by five-tiered silver candelabra tied with tulle and holding glowing tapers. Crystal platters contained ham and turkey biscuits, canapes, cheese whips, salted nuts, and green and white mints.

On the buffet was an unusual hor d'oeuvres platter with three-branched crystal candelabra placed on either side. The hor d'oeuvres were placed in attractive water lilies made of large white Bermuda onions.

On a tea wagon was an assortment of bridal cakes in green and white.

From the dining room guests were invited into the library by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schmitt, where the bride's table was placed. On the mantel in this room was a lovely crystal bowl holding an artistic arrangement of calla lilies. This was flanked on either side by antique prism candlesticks containing white tapers. The bride's table was oblong in shape and a white satin cloth with lace inserts fell in graceful folds to the floor. A five-tiered bridal cake, topped with a white purple-throated orchid, was encircled with lavender orchids. An iced cornucopia spilled out calla lily mints in colors of green and white. The cake server was tied with tulle and decorated with an orchid. A silver compote held a Nuremberg coupe de mariage, from which the bridal couple drank a toast before cutting the cake. This cup was unusually intricate in design, made of embossed silver in the shape of a young woman whose long skirt formed a cup. In her upstretched hand she held a smaller cup, which was hinged and capable of swinging into varying positions. For the cake-cutting both cups are filled with the bridal toast, from which the bride and groom drink simultaneously. Tradition claims that the one who finishes drinking from the cup first will be the ruler of the household.

Greeting the guests between the bride's room and sun parlor were Mrs. Paul Toll and Mr. and Mrs. Laverne G. Taylor. In this room Mrs. J. G. Fearing and Mrs. Roy T. Cox, aunts of the bride, presided over the table from which bridal ices were served. Centering this table, which was covered with an all-over embroidered cloth over green satin, a companion wine cooler held white Starlite roses and Stephanotis. White cathedral tapers were placed in five-branched silver candelabra. An iced cornucopia contained green and white bridal mints. Assisting in this room were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Kittrell, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Payne, Mrs. Robert Whelless, and Mr. Reilly Cox.

In the front hall Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Corbitt, Jr., directed the guests to the gift room upstairs. The stair rails were entwined with smilax and, at the foot of the staircase a side table held a bridal basket covered with satin ribbon and wedding rings and filled with rice which was later used to shower the bride couple.

Welcoming the guests to the rooms where the gifts were displayed were Mr. and Mrs. Dixie McGlohon and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cox.

Goodbyes were said by the callers to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bourne.

After the reception the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Sea Island, Georgia, and points in Florida. The bride chose as her traveling ensemble a brown gabardine suit with brown alligator accessories and the orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return they will make their home at 1023 Poplar Boulevard, Jackson, Mississippi.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

RELIGION AND LIFE
Voltaire, speaking for himself and his fellow philosophers, said: "We have never cared to enlighten cobbler and maid-servant. That is the work of apostles."

That indeed is the work of apostles, and for that reason philosophy is the luxury of a little cult, while religious faith is the joy and motive power of multitudes.

Voltaire and his eighteenth-century associates are generally known only to a few scholars. All their lofty talk about ideals came to nothing, and most of Europe—and their nation in particular—ended at last in dictatorship. On the other hand, wide dissemination of Biblical truth and the application of religious principles to political situations have been leading men through the centuries to democracy and freedom.

Christianity's interest has always been in cobbler and maid-servant, in humble hand-workers, in people of no distinction, in that common garden variety of folk among whom most of us find our classification. No man was too humble for Jesus to reach down and touch him during his earthly ministry. And no one today is of such insignificant consequence but that the goodness of God and the whole power of heaven is placed at his disposal.

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden," said Jesus, "and I will give you rest."

Our County Fair

Has Room For Growth

Another Pitt County Fair has become a part of the past, and already we're looking forward to the next.

The 1950 edition is generally accepted as the most successful to date, but no one should be satisfied. There's plenty of room for improvement, and those who have helped the development of the county fair are working toward that end.

A county fair project grows through the years; a slender margin of profit must be re-invested, there must be a constant effort to develop the interest of exhibitors and the public in general.

Members of the Fair Association are planning new grounds and exhibit buildings which are hoped to be ready for next year. More conveniences and an improved layout for displaying exhibits, learned from past years of experience, are in the works. We assume that the proposed construction will be so arranged as to permit further expansion when practicable.

It is to be hoped that increased space for exhibits will encourage individuals and organizations to participate in this most important role of the county fair.

Too many still regard the carnival rides and attractions as the heart of a fair; whereas, in fact, that entertainment feature has been traditionally included as an "added attraction" through the centuries of developing the county fair.

The exhibits make or break a fair. In some fields we have seen considerable advances; in others, much remains to be done. The Fair Association cannot accomplish this singlehandedly; they can provide some incentive for exhibiting, and appeal to individual and community pride. After that, it's in the hands of the others to provide the success or failure.

A Minority Holds Title To Control

An event of importance second only to the war in Korea is soon to take place in this country—the November general elections. And if precedent is any portent, about half the eligible voters will stay home on election day.

In North Carolina a Democratic victory is taken for granted if a fair sprinkling of voters go to the polls. It isn't a wholesome condition, but one which exists and is accepted.

Some of the evils of one-party rule are lessened by hard-fought primary campaigns which sometimes develop issues primarily affecting Democratic party policies and secondarily of national importance.

No matter who wins, the successful candidate is bound to support his party's overall program and sometimes lend his help to the reelection or endorsement of other party members.

The greatest beneficiaries of this system are the members of the "liberal" Democrats who compose an actual minority in congress, but who by party loyalties can look forward to continued control of administrative policies.

Sometimes this control appears more of a shadow than real, as in the several setbacks given domestic programs that smack of Socialism or a swelling of the already top-heavy functions of federal government.

Nevertheless, the "liberal" clique rules the roost and can bring up heavy propaganda machines of governmental bureaus and outside organizations to push their schemes. They wield a power and influence greater than their numbers would indicate.

Other Fields Await Gordon Gray

The formal inauguration of a new president for the University of North Carolina is now in progress. The "star" of the show is a man whose life has been filled with difficult undertakings, all marked with success.

Mr. Gordon Gray is one of a number of North Carolinians who have gained nationwide renown; now he has returned for a period of service in the interests of his native state.

No one knows how long Mr. Gray will serve in his capacity as president of North Carolina University, but we venture to suggest that in the course of time this still comparatively young man will be called upon to assume other obligations in behalf of his state and nation.

We wish him well.

News Behind The News

By ROGER WARREN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—A grim Christmas present for the American people this year will be the invoice showing what it costs to be in a war.

"Wait until after the elections," is a sentence heard all around Washington these days.

The bald fact is that the present controls and restrictions aren't sufficient for the kind of a struggle the United States has engaged in. More are necessary, and they'll roll fast once the November elections are over.

"You haven't seen anything yet," one quotable official says.

SAMPLE—Present controls are just a sample. They are just a warm-up for things to come, regardless of what happens in Korea.

If the people have been deceived, it's not the result of plotting by any one party. It's one of those things that result from a rather special set of circumstances and the way democracy works in critical times.

For a long time it has been apparent that what we call "controls" now would not be sufficient. But Congress, with the entire membership of the House and one-third of the Senate facing re-election, was reluctant to act. And President Truman did not insist upon all the controls his advisors thought were necessary.

BLAME—Neither Congress nor the President are to blame. While we elect leaders in a democracy and those leaders are expected to be a few years ahead of the people, they can't get too far ahead.

For either Mr. Truman or Congressmen to have gotten too far ahead in the matter of controls would have jeopardized their leadership.

They were on a hot spot. If the President did not ask for, and Congress act on, the mild controls under which the country operates, there would have been danger that, by November 7, the need for controls would be so great that the voters would have reacted. This might have led to a shambles among the political fortunes of the present members. Republican as well as Democratic. And those Democrats who supported Mr. Truman, whether incumbents or aspirants for jobs held by Republicans, would have been slaughtered at the polls.

COMPROMISE—On the other hand, if the Administration and Congress had plunged ahead on a program of controls, their positions would have been equally hazardous. Voters would react as violently against those who went too far as they would against those who didn't go far enough.

So the present schedule of controls was a compromise in an effort, if not to please the voters, at least not to ruffle them.

There is another factor. A large number of Congressmen wanted an opportunity to get home and talk to their constituents—and see how they vote—before committing themselves to controls.

REALISTIC—Once the elections are out of the way, controls will be made more rigid and, in the opinion of most Administration workers, more realistic in view of the situation at home and across the waters. This applies not only to controls that are still up to Congress, but to controls that Mr. Truman now has power to apply and to controls that depend on Federal Reserve Board action.

The FRB, being somewhat less sensitive to political pollen than elective officers, may not even wait until the morning after the election. The fact that consumer credit passed the twenty-billion-dollar mark in August has the Reserve experts worried. However, it is an easy possibility that the White House will suggest that a turn of the screw on credit before the elections might be interpreted as an Administration gesture of authority, with possible repercussions on November 7.

RENTS—Once the elections are out of the way, action looking toward control of prices and rents can be expected.

Yes, rents. Don't be surprised when that happens, because you read it here. A program for new rent controls is now being drafted, if it is not already completed. If the program satisfies Mr. Truman, he will present it to Congress shortly after it reconvenes, and if Congress balks, again after the lame-duck Congressmen go home and new ones come in in January.

REC-MANNING

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN MISBET Raleigh, N. C.

MADISON—One little publicized possible result of the Madison county election row will be to delay certification of Willis Smith and Woodrow Jones as duly elected senator and eleventh district congressman. There is no functioning board of elections in Madison county now, due to pending court action and restraining orders. Unless this situation is cleared up, there will be a jam in distribution of registration books next week. Already there has been delay in sending out military absentee ballots. Suppose the impasse is not broken until after election day, or the row breaks out again about sending returns into the state board of election. The law says if returns from all counties are not in by the regular meeting time of the board about three weeks after the election, the board will recess for not more than ten days to get complete returns. Delinquency in one county could hold up certification of state nominees for several weeks.

GOVERNORS—The far western tour of the Democratic caravan undoubtedly contributed to arousing interest in the forthcoming election, which was its primary object. Just as certainly it stirred up some dust that will not settle until after the 1952 nomination of the next governor. The hills were full of prospective candidates for governor next time, and the air was dense with direct and indirect William B. Umstead, former U. S. unofficial "nominations." Traveling with the regular Democratic party's heavy artillery were Senator, congressman and state chairman; Thad Eure, secretary of state; Brandon Hodges, state treasurer; L. Y. Ballentine, commissioner of agriculture; Henry W. Jordan, chairman of the state highway commission, all of whom have been frequently mentioned as potential governors—without denials from any of them that he is interested.

HOME YARD—Hodges was in his home yard, having long been a recognized political force in the twelfth and adjoining districts. Another mountain man who made no appearance with the caravan and whose name was never publicly mentioned is D. Hiden Ramsey, publisher of the Asheville daily newspapers. Evidence has been easy to find during the past few weeks that a substantial group of would-be king-makers are promoting the Ramsey candidacy. Most of the talk, whether on or off the record, was cagey and subdued, but the fellows obviously were testing out the political waters.

OPEN—William Umstead's name was openly thrown into the air by Congressman Monroe Redden during the early stages of the first rally at Sylva, and was given another boost with highly complimentary references by Senator Clyde Hoey at the second rally in Marion. Then there was enough open talk about Thad Eure's prospective candidacy around the tenth district rally in Morganton to justify the local AP correspondent sending out a story that Eure had announced his purpose to run. Umstead was somewhat embarrassed, and Eure was obviously pleased—but both insist this is not the proper time for positive pronouncements. The other potentials are saying nothing, although it requires no stretch of imagination to reach conclusion they are not displeased that some of the prospects are apt to run down before the campaign gets started.

YDC—The Young Democratic Clubs of North Carolina will participate in the final four weeks of the campaign by maintaining, as they have for several times past, a set-up in the regular party state headquarters. President Bob Williams of Asheville and Organizer Harry Gattson of Statesville will direct activities. This arrangement was decided upon after plans to open YDC offices in Asheville, and the novel suggestion of operating from mobile headquarters, has been thoroughly discussed.

EVANGELISM—YDC leaders conceived the idea that they could accomplish more by taking the gospel of Democracy to the people in their home precincts than by remote control from a central office. They suggested hiring a bus, setting up state headquarters in it, and moving about from county to county where need for evangelism seemed greatest. Considered judgment was the idea is good, but there is not time now to put it into operation before November 7.

"ENTHUSIASM"—President Bob Williams, speaking at the district rallies, reminded that young men and women provide the enthusiasm and renewed vitality for the Democratic party. So his group has coined a new word, combining the two, and he says they expect to put into the next few weeks a lot of "enthusiasm."

REPUBLICANS—Meanwhile, Republican state leaders are not letting North Carolina forget they will have some folks on the ballots, too. State Chairman J. M. Bailey, Jr., is on the job at Statesville headquarters, and has acquired a full time public relations director. He "borrowed" from the national committee the services of Glen Ireton, an experienced publicity man and campaigner.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

SOME REST ROOMS ARE BAD (Henderson Daily Dispatch)
Speaking out in the interest of motorists, the American Automobile Association says a majority of the rest rooms along the nation's highways are unfit for public use. It describes the situation as "alarming" and says it is "a near menace to the health of motorists and their families." Further comment was that oil companies are stressing sanitation in rest rooms by making periodic inspections and even threatening to withdraw franchises from dealers who refuse to comply with constructive suggestions.

The observation evidently is based upon a strict survey of conditions generally. Those who have occasion to get about a good deal can best judge the accuracy of the AAA statement. Certainly there is no disposition in this quarter to dispute it. Actually, it contains a good deal of accuracy.

A motorist who is particular as to his own health and the accommodations he accepts prefers to stop, even for servicing of his car, at stations that present an attractive appearance. Those operators who are careful about the looks of their places on the outside usually are also as to their rest rooms. Tourists as a rule will not stop at other establishments, preferring to avoid risks of all kinds, both as to their personal welfare and the maintenance of their car.

Those who present the most inviting stations may be fairly certain of getting their share of the business. Those, moreover, who are careless and indifferent about such things can hardly expect generous patronage, and in setting their sights low are rarely disappointed.

Sanitary authorities in cities and towns usually look after the condition of rest rooms. But they do not reach the wayside stations, and it is there that the greatest menace exists. Slouchy stands usually go the way common to those who operate them. Success comes to those who are particular and energetic in looking after their own business. At the same time, customers are deserving of the best that can be afforded, and, incidentally, most of them appreciate such things to the extent of continuing to come back for the type of service they like and receive.

DEMOCRATS IN ACTION (Washington Daily News)
The various congressional districts of North Carolina are creating a great deal of interest in the November elections.

And that is as it should be. It's good to read about these rallies and see opposing primary factions lined up with each other now in the common fight for victory in the general elections.

Many wounds were made a short while ago. But we believe a sincere effort is being made to heal these wounds now. Much of the bitterness is gone, and apparently victor and vanquished are joining hands in a concentrated drive to bring out the Democratic vote.

The rally in our own district, the first, will be held in Greenville on Wednesday, October 18. The state leaders will be on hand along with the various nominees. It is the sincere desire of the Daily News to see a large crowd

Business Today

By ELMER ROESNER
The annual premium exposition in New York last week found a number of exhibitors of metal housewares under instructions to take care of the old customers only. In fact, several manufacturers had to withdraw their exhibits because of inability to meet orders already on hand. In some cases, the housewares sellers took orders for such items as tinware for delivery a full year from now.

But orchids aren't scarce, and neither are snakes. As a result snakeskin wallets and similar items were in prominence at the show, (really because they're low-priced and durable premiums), and the idea of using as premiums freshly-picked orchids flown here from Hawaii was strongly touted. Rose bushes were also being offered as especially-suitable premiums for cosmetics manufacturers. The bushes cost premium advertisers 80 cents per.

Other box-top merchandise plentiful at the show were plastics, textiles, china, pottery and glass.

WHAT WORRIES BUSINESSMEN MOST?
Which way are prices going to move may seem to be the biggest concern of the average businessman these days. But if you scrutinize records of the Public Affairs Committee, a non-profit foundation that publishes pamphlets on current problems, you'll find their pamphlet on heart trouble frequently ordered by businessmen. The pamphlet, produced in collaboration with the American Heart Association, points out that three times as many men as women have coronary heart trouble—a disease that seems to strike men between 40 and 60 and even younger, just when they are doing their best work. The pamphlet tells what the various diseases of the heart are, and what can be done about them. (It's available for 20 cents from Public Affairs Committee, 22 E. 38th St., New York.)

SELL 'EM WHILE YOUNG
One of the largest manufacturers of electrical appliances Hotpoint, Inc., has just launched an interesting education sales plan. Under the plan, schools and other educational institutions can buy complete kitchens and home laundries at half the usual retail price. Moreover, the appliances will be replaced periodically at no cost so students will be able to use up-to-date models. Idea is to interest future home-makers in electric gas ranges and other electrical appliances.

INVESTORS BATLE MORTGAGE CURBS
Not only savings banks but investment syndicates are joining the battle against further restrictions on home mortgage credit. Modern mortgages are not as inflationary as the old-time term mortgages because they're regularly amortized, generally on a monthly basis, points out Earl E. Crabb, president of Investor's Diversified Services, Inc. At the investing groups quarterly meeting of its economic consultants, Crabb argued that each month homeowners repay substantial sums that would otherwise go into the spending streak. Last year, for example, reduction in mortgage debt was in excess of $7 billion.

LOWER FOOD PRICES AT HAND
Cheaper meat is headed for retail counters as the result of heavy livestock marketing, and that's of interest to sellers of non-food items too. Meat takes the largest share of the family's food dollar, and when it's expensive, families tend to retrench on other purchases. Pork particularly is getting cheaper, and heavy marketings of hogs have brought meat production to about 11 per cent above last year's output at this time. Beef hasn't come down much yet, but will as soon as colder weather drives the cattle off the grass—ranges early next month.

CHEAP PORK MEANS CHEAP LARD TOO, which will bring down the cost of food fats generally from their recent peak. What sent meat and fat prices soaring so dramatically last summer was that the Korean hostilities, with their inflationary implications broke out just at the season of low livestock marketings.

NEW AND HOT VENTILATOR: A new window ventilator lets in light and air but keeps out snow, rain and drafts, according to its distributors (Salmanson and Co., Inc., 1107 Broadway, New York, and American Furniture Mart, Chicago).

DRILL SAW: A gear-driving saw that attaches to a one-quarter inch drills can adjust for different depths of cut and has a clamp for staying aligned with the drill. It's made for one-hand use (and is marketed by Federal Engineering Co., 37 Murray St., New York.)

CLEANER: A liquid cleaner formulated especially for plastics such as Lucite and Plexiglas has been developed (by the Schwartz Chemical Co., 326 W. 70th St., New York.)

Hal Boyle's Column

With Korean Republic Troops in North Korea — (AP) — Two American planes have been out-marched in North Korea by the South Korean foot soldiers the planes were supposed to protect.

It might gail the ghosts of the Wright Brothers to know that the aircraft, two of the artillery's cub spotter planes, have been outdistanced by a column of little men in tennis shoes. And it's downright humiliating to the "slow-flying Gypsies."

They are eight Yanks whose job was to fly ahead of the Republic of Korea (ROK) Third Division along the east coast, pin-pointing enemy targets for American naval guns offshore.

But the small, wiry South Korean infantrymen, fueled on rice, have set a pace the airplanes can't match.

It looked like a perfect setup when they began their assignment early in September. They thought they were plenty mobile, with their two planes, a jeep and a 2½-ton truck.

The group had two pilots—Lt. Raymond J. Worth of Galveston, Tex., and Lt. James W. Maschmann of Ladora, Iowa. It had two trained observers to pick out enemy targets—Lt. Edward B. Ledford of Oakland, Calif., and Lt. Clayton Johnson of Portland, Me.

The slow-flying Gypsies performed admirably as long as the ROK troops were held to a creeping advance in the Pohang area. By finding the targets they helped eight-inch naval guns to crack the enemy's defensive crust.

Their troubles began as soon as the South Koreans broke through and began chasing the Reds back to North Korea.

Like other aircraft, the tiny cub planes must operate from a base. And to operate with real effect their base has to be within 30 miles of the battlefield.

But even the small flat fields the cubs can use are scarce along the mountainous shore of eastern Korea. As the durable ROK doughboys began reeling off marches of 30, 30 and 35 miles a day the slow-flying Gypsies became roadbound instead of airborne.

They began spending more time looking for bases than they did on flying missions. As soon as they found a base the South Koreans walked right on out of practical range.

walking. I had to tell them you could see the weight of discouragement sag their shoulders.

Night was coming on. Their problem now was not to find enemy targets ahead of the ROK troops but to convince themselves that they wouldn't become a target in the dark for bypassed enemy forces.

"We're just a bunch of Gypsies going down the road," Ledford said forlornly.

"Yeah," sighed Johnson, "slow and low—and damned unsure."

And then all eight Gypsies burst out laughing.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Mrs. Rilla Schroeder, editor of the Marshall Plan News, has just returned from Europe and says Madame Minister Perle Mesta is doing a "magnificent job" in Luxembourg.

"She's Perla" to the whole of Luxembourg," she told me. "I met an American airman in the capital who said he had been talking to a Luxembourg airman and asked him if he knew Mrs. Mesta."

"No, I don't believe I do," the Luxembourgier replied.

"Then he grinned: 'Oh, you mean Perla!'"

Mrs. Schroeder, former newspaper woman and legislative secretary to the late Rep. Caroline O'Day (D-NY), went to Europe principally to dig up some stories on potential dollar-earners for use in the Marshall Plan News, which is distributed to schools and organizations throughout the U. S. by the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA).

"These dollar-earners are especially important to the economic stability of the Marshall Plan countries," she said, "for although we must now consider defense we can't ignore the fact that sound military defense is built on economic stability."

She said she found incidents where non-competitive goods might be bought by Americans and "enrich, not detract, from our own economy."

One she found in the "cameo capital" Torre de Greco, a colorful little town at the foot of Mount Vesuvius in southern Italy. "All the cameos of the world are produced here," she said, "and about one fifth of the entire population is engaged in the work of carving the exquisite classic and individual patterns out of the shells. If women no longer buy cameos these people will not survive." She found that in practically every country she visited there was some item similarly unique to the area—tinly bulbs in Holland, lace in France and so on.

While in France she bought two little Normandy caps heavily beaded with gold. She said smart Parisians are wearing them this year with evening dresses and matching bags.

"Yeah, we haven't flown a mission in eight days," added Lieutenant Johnson.

They asked how far ahead the frontline troops were.

East Carolina lost its first conference game to Elon Saturday night, 21-16, despite the 48-passing effort of Quarterback Roger Thrift.

Thrift, last year's Pirate all-league star, and leading contender for Little All-American honors this season, completed 21 of 48 attempts for 324 yards, which according to unofficial data is a new state high passing record.

Most of Thrift's tosses were to Ends Frank Maennle and Dwight Shoe, with Maennle making several outstanding circus catches, with one coming in less than a minute to play for the Pirates' final score, as the rangy Buc end made a stretching shoestring catch in the end zone for the marker.

Elon, led by Fullback Fred Biangardi and Tailback R. K. Grayson, scored first in the opening stanza after Barker intercepted Thrift's pass on the 27 and returned to the 5. On the next play, Grayson went off tackle for the score. Gero kicked good, and Elon led after eight minutes of play, 7-0.

The second quarter was practically all East Carolina, with the Pirates selling back to knot the count 7-7 after nine minutes had elapsed.

After a Thrift toss to Britt was ruled good because of interference on the Elon 10, Bill Tom Swain, East Carolina's line-buster, raced around left end for the score. Buck Hardee's placement deadlocked the score.

This same Hardee put Coach Bill Dole's charges ahead at halftime, with a beautiful 17-yard field goal with less than a minute left in the first half.

The Pirates had marched down to the Elon three on Thrift's passing and Swain's running. Then, Swain lost to the 7, placing the ball at a difficult angle on the left side of the field. Hardee calmly sighted his kick, and split the uprights from 17 yards out, putting the Pirates ahead at halftime 10-7.

In the third quarter, Elon scored their second marker on a 56-yard march, with Biangardi plunging over from the one-yard stripe, putting the Christians ahead, 13-10.

Elon scored their final marker early in the fourth quarter, with Grayson going over from the 2-yard line, after a sustained 78-yard Elon march.

Maennle's daring catch in the end zone for the Pirates finished the game's scoring, with Elon winning, 21-16.

The entire game Saturday night was played in a misty rain.

Solid End

Navy's new coach, Eddie Erdelatz, wasn't exactly a stranger to Annapolis when he took over the football destinies at the Naval Academy. Erdelatz had served as end coach there in 1945 under coach Oscar Hagberg and held the same spot under Coach Tom Hamilton in 1946 and '47.

As far as the candidates for the 1950 Navy football team were concerned, Coach Erdelatz started from scratch. In his efforts to give every player an equal shot at the varsity berths, he declined to look at the motion pictures of Navy's 1949 games. Past performance held no interest for him—he is interested only in what the players can show him right now. Motion pictures of the inter-squad scrimmages will help him decide the make-up of his team.

Erdelatz has a tremendous task on his hands in trying to rebuild Navy's football fortunes, but it is not a hopeless one. A fine crop of young players moved up from last year's fine Plebe team to bolster the experienced hands who saw rated better than the Midshipmen have boasted in recent years. And the spirit is very hard to beat.

When the big guns were spiked by the brilliant Phil pitching in the series, the "little guys" came through Gene Woodling (.429) Bobby Brown (.333) and Gerry Coleman (.286) carried the ball. Only DiMaggio of the old wrecking crew held up his end. And Joe went hitless until he broke up the second game with a 10th inning homer off Robin Roberts.

This was the Yanks' 13th World Series win and their sixth in four straight.

They said the Yanks were a creaky club of fading stars when George Weiss summoned Casey Stengel from Oakland to take over the managing job in the winter of 1947. Two years later there are two pennants and two world championships to the credit of the 60 year old grizzled campaigner.

Clemson Set As Upset Target Of All Rivals

Clemson, S. C., Oct. 9.—(P)—A Clemson football team that has set itself a dizzy undefeated, unscathed, unscathed-on pace will be an upset target from here on out.

In three games coach Frank Howard's single wing wizards have racked up 116 points to zero for the opposition. Staunch Clemson supporters freely predict an undefeated season more gratifying than the one it had in 1948 when it wound up with a 24-23 victory over Missouri in the Gator Bowl.

In fact they have long hopes that Clemson may keep its goal line inviolate, its crossbar unscathed by field goals, its end zone unscathed by safeties.

Unbeaten Indians Of Catawba At Top North State

By The Associated Press

The Catawba Indians, with the only clean record left in the North State conference, are at the top of the standings this week. The other eight teams in the conference have either tied or lost at least one game within the family.

The Indians made their conference debut with a 27-6 victory over High Point Saturday night. They had previously lost two and won one in non-conference battles.

Elon knocked East Carolina off the top of the conference heap with a 21-16 triumph Saturday. Elsewhere in the conference, Appalachian edged Lenoir Rhyne in a 20-18 thriller, and Guilford downed Atlantic Christian 20-7.

In the only non-conference game last week Western Carolina defeated East Tennessee Teachers 13-6. Three conference games are scheduled this week end, Catawba and Appalachian will be at Winston-Salem, Western Carolina at East Carolina, and Lenoir Rhyne at High Point.

In non-conference clashes, Guilford will entertain Emory and Henry, Elon will be at Newberry, and Atlantic Christian will play host to Newport News Apprentice school.

All the games will be played Saturday night.

Unset Victims Clash Saturday

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9.—(P)—Duke and N. C. State—victims of stunning football defeats last week—meet here Saturday in the renewal of a series that has been so close the last four years the bookmakers have taken the worst of the licking.

If the oddsmakers lay too many points on Saturday's game, they may find themselves on the short end again. For odds count little with N. C. State's fired-up Wolfpack when it comes to meeting the bigger Blue Devils.

Babysitting Is Solved By Coach

Medford, Mass., Oct. 6.—(AP)—When Irv Schneider, veteran Tufts College tackle, explained to head coach Fred (Fish) Ellis he had absented himself from football practice to substitute for his ill wife as baby sitter for their two small daughters, the problem was solved in speedy fashion. Ellis told Schneider to bring his children to the practice field, where they would be cared for by the coach's wife.

White Sox Plan Name New Pilot

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(P)—The Chicago White Sox tomorrow are expected to unveil their fifth new manager in five years, probably naming Seattle pilot Paul Richards to succeed incumbent John (Red) Corriden.

Richards has been dicker with the Sox some time and his demand for a two-year contract reportedly is the only hitch to his signing. The White Sox prefer a one-season agreement, recalling their experience with Jack Onslow who was fired last May but had to be paid up on a two year pact.

Sox officials insist Corriden, who replaced Corriden, still is the manager and "we haven't taken any steps to replace him as yet."

However, an announcement on the subject is expected at a meeting of the board of directors tomorrow.

The Sox have had permission from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast League to negotiate with Rich-

Hustling Yanks May Be On Top For Long Time

New York, Oct. 9.—(P)—The 1950 World champion New York Yankees may be set for a long run atop the baseball world.

This is no wonder club that swept four straight from the Boston Philadelphia White Kids in the World Series. No "murderers row" humbles the opposition. But it's a band of opportunists, darting through the first chink in the enemy defense.

Maybe Tommy Henrich, a Yank of the old school, said it best Saturday night at the height of the victory dinner.

"We used to overpower them," Henrich said. "Now we have to substitute hustle."

Hustle, the indefinable quality, was more responsible for the Yankees season long success than any other factor. It carried them through when Henrich, hobbled by a bad knee, couldn't play; when Joe DiMaggio slumped and was benched in mid season; when Joe Page, the

Police Checking Three Robberies

Police are continuing their investigation of the robbery at the Hospital Savings Association and the Pilot Life Insurance Company's offices over the Old Town Inn on East Fifth Street, last Friday night. The robber plundered both offices and obtained $30 or $40 in each office.

Two other places in the same neighborhood were broken into Friday night, but they were not reported to police.

Bloom's Dress Shop stockroom was entered but no loot was obtained. The nocturnal prowler also entered the Milady Beauty Shoppe, over Key Brown's Drug Store, and plundered desks and drawers, but no loot was taken. Mrs. Pittman's Alterations Shop, on the same floor, was plundered where several dollars in small change are missing.

Legion Asked To Back A-Bomb Threat Policy

Los Angeles, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The 52nd annual National convention of the American Legion was asked by its executive committee today to recommend use of the atom bomb against Russia in the event of further aggression anywhere.

"This is the crucial moment in our lives," the committee said in asking for aid "to any and all of freedom that will join with us and the United Nations in the destruction of evil forces."

Calling for an "ever active armed force," the executive committee recommended the "sponsoring by the American delegate to the United Nations a resolution that further aggression in any part of the world by Soviet Russia will meet the full force of retaliation by the United Nations police authority, including, if necessary, the release of atomic weapons on Soviet Russia."

The committee called for the occupation of all Korea by the UN under the command of General MacArthur; non-recognition by the U. S. of Red China; continued defense of Formosa; and to the Philippine government against Communist aggressors; support of "Chinese who will vigorously and effectively fight outside aggressors in order to obtain again and preserve a free and independent China," and a treaty of peace with Japan by appropriate world powers under guidance and direction of Gtn. MacArthur.

The Executive committee said also that the American people "no longer have confidence in our state department or in the present secretary, Mr. Dean Acheson, and we believe it is the duty of the President to appoint immediately a Secretary of State who will instill confidence."

Four Men Killed By Sliding Earth

Atlanta, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Four workmen were crushed and smothered to death by an avalanche of earth and concrete that poured over them like an ocean wave in a building excavation yesterday.

Eight others were buried alive but finally were dug out before death overtook them. Several escaped, some by falling to return to the job after lunch.

The landslide occurred deep below a downtown sidewalk where workmen were digging to lay the foundation for an annex to a department store (Rich's).

A small slide first buried T. J. Culpepper in earth up to his waist. His father, T. W. Culpepper, and other workmen rushed to dig him out.

They were trapped by a wall of earth 25 feet high that came tumbling down upon them. It was hours later before the last body was recovered.

Jumps To Death When Husband Called Into Navy

Salem, Mass., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The young wife of a naval reservist recalled to active duty leaping from a third-story window yesterday, carrying her infant daughter to its death, after she had tossed out her older child.

Dead is four-month-old Lorraine daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Pelletier. Her sister, Linda, 3, is in fair condition at Salem hospital.

Their mother, Theresa, 27, was taken to the same hospital in "very poor" condition suffering head and possible internal injuries.

Police said all three hurtled 35 feet from the kitchen window of the Pelletier apartment, landing on a gravel driveway.

'Toyland' Opens Thursday Night

Saled's Dry Goods Store this week will mark another milestone in its mercantile history when it opens its toy department Thursday night.

The department will be housed in a building separate from the main store and will stock nothing but toys. Located on East 5th Street, one block off Five Points, Saled's Toyland will be the first store of its kind in eastern North Carolina.

The building will have its formal opening Thursday night beginning at five o'clock. The public is invited to attend the opening and to inspect the toy display.

Operated by Dan Saled, the Toyland will present Santa Claus Thursday night for the benefit of the children. At that time they may give him their Christmas orders on the lay away plan, the manager stated.

The building will comprise 65 feet of frontage with the main part of the store 50 feet deep. A storage room behind the salesroom will extend another 90 feet to the rear.

Saled stated the other day his toy line will include educational toys of all makes. He will deliver anywhere in the city and its suburbs. Assisting him in operating the Toyland will be Mrs. Lonnie Cahoon.

'Hams' Asked To Set Up Network

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 9.—(AP)—North Carolina's "Ham" radio operators have been asked to volunteer their services and equipment for use by the Civil Air Patrol in an emergency communications network.

The operators met with military and civil defense officials here yesterday, who outlined preliminary plans for the network.

Under the plan, the operators would be called upon in time of emergency to man their equipment and transmit on CAP frequencies.

Training Unit To Give Special Army Program

Lt. Col. Warren G. Davis, local commander of the Organized Reserve Corps, announced today that a Third Army Special Demonstration Team consisting of members of the famed 82nd Airborne Division, will present a special program for all members of the Organized Reserve Corps and National Guard personnel in the Office of the Unit Instructor, 106 Ficklen Street, Greenville at 8:00 p. m., October 13.

This team will demonstrate the latest information on "Air Transport of Troops" and "Supply by Air in Combat Operations."

This program is designed to keep Reserve Personnel up to date on the latest information in regards to Air Operations for ground troops, Col. Davis said.

WHAT'S THE LATEST WRINKLE?

The young lady who lets misplaced vanity keep her from wearing the glasses she needs, does not escape the penalty.

There is no surer way of creating "crow's feet", wrinkles and other signs of age, than the constant squinting of the person who needs glasses but doesn't wear them.

So foolish to pay this penalty, when today's colorful glasses can actually add to your appearance. Let us show you how!

Barkley Reports Break Is Healed

Shreveport, La., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Vice President Alben Barkley says the Southern break with the Democratic party "is all in the past."

"The Democratic party feels close to the south," Barkley told newsmen yesterday. "It has always been that way because the south's economy has always fared better with the party. Any recent friction is regrettable and is all in the past."

Four Southern States, including Louisiana, were carried by the States Rights Democrats in the 1948 election.

Barkley interrupted an 18 state speaking tour for the Democratic party to fly here to address a private dinner of the Shreveport Jewish federation in memory of the late Sidney Harold of Shreveport, a Zionist leader.

Three Americans Will Get Medal

New York, Oct. 9 (AP) Theodore Roosevelt medals of honor for 1950 will be presented Oct. 27 to these three Americans:

Warren R. Austin, Chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, for bringing "to the leadership of the American delegation to the U. N. x x x an impassioned order for the principle of a collective security."

Bernard Baruch, financier and Presidential adviser, for his work in National defense in urging "a framework for industrial mobilization in case of war."

Anne O'Hare McCormick, editorial board member of the New York Times, for "doing more for the enlightenment of the American public than most secretaries of State."

The Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Association announced yesterday that the annual awards will be presented at a dinner marking the 92nd anniversary of the late President's birth.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy is president of the Association.

On one side of the medal is the head of Mr. Roosevelt. On the other side are a flaming sword and the motto "If I must choose between righteousness and peace, I choose righteousness."

Forty-Six Books In Running For Mayflower Cup

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Forty-six books are tentatively in the running for this year's Mayflower Cup.

Dr. Christopher Crittenden, secretary of the State Literary and Historical Association, announced yesterday that the winner will be announced at a meeting of the Association here Dec. 1.

Books published during the year ending Aug. 31 and whose authors have maintained actual or legal residence in the state for the past three years are eligible to compete for the cup.

The award is made annually by the Society of Mayflower Descendants in North Carolina.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

New Way to Kill Pests Discovered by Scientists

ROACHES are the most difficult household pests to control, and they can be brought into any home from the market in a bag of potatoes or other groceries.

Science has just come forth with a new discovery that kills cockroaches and ants, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH coating.

It's just as simple and easy to use as it looks. You paint the coating on surfaces frequented by roaches and ants, woodwork near the sink, baseboards, garbage pails, window and door sills. When these crawling pests come in contact with this invisible, odorless, stainless coating they slowly become paralyzed, turn over on their backs with legs waving in the air, and die. Then the coating stays effective for months to kill any strays that get into the home and that walk over it.

Science has seen to it too, that this product contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorus. Johnston's NO-ROACH is not a contaminating spray, or a messy powder. It is colorless, and may be brushed just where you want it, without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans.

Prices are 8 oz. for 89c, pint for $1.69, and a quart for $2.98.

Looking for POWER?

Better Buy Buick!

THAT bold bonnet that stretches out before your eyes on a 1950 Buick isn't there just for show.

Lift it up, and you'll find that the space beneath is abundantly occupied, by one of the biggest hoodfuls of power you'll find in any motorcar.

What you're looking at is Buick's modern version of the high-compression valve-in-head engine, which gains extra wallop from the fact that it uses the exclusive Fireball combustion principle.

We could list a lot of mechanical reasons why fuel gives up extra power in a Fireball engine—how it's wrapped in a swirling, ball-shaped charge—how it burns with a smooth, clean thrust that delivers maximum action.

But the best way to find out what all this means is to touch off the eager horsepower out on the highway by a gentle nudge of your toe—and feel your shoulders press deep in the cushions behind them.

Now all this sounds thrilling, you say, but how about the feed-bills for all these horses? How about miles-per-gallon?

The practical answer to that one is found in this year's experience with the SUPER and SPECIAL—and even the ROADMASTER.

In all three, the horsepower was stepped up at the start of the year—and in all three, happy owners report the best mileage in modern Buick experience.

This is due to a little-known but authentic engineering fact—which is that an engine burns less gas when it doesn't have to labor. At any normal driving speed, therefore, extra power is extra thrifty.

So we say again—if you're looking for power—mighty power—buoyant power—silken power—thrifty power—better buy Buick.

Your Buick dealer is eager for the chance to demonstrate how sound this hint really is.

Only BUICK has Dynaflo—Drive* and with it goes HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD front-end, taper-through fenders, • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and paragon, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS, cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing. Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

DOUBLE WEDDING

By Adelaide Humphries

Chapter 20
She took another sip of her drink. She had pushed back the silly little veil; her green eyes were thoughtful. "It is absurd," she insisted. "Yet if I thought—"
"If you thought you could get away with it," Sandy broke in, "you'd agree, wouldn't you, Mayo? You are that unscrupulous, when it comes to getting whatever you want. You haven't any principles, and not much sense."
"How dare you!" Mayo flashed, her eyes almost sending out sparks of green fire. But she knew he was right—or almost right.
"The truth always carries a sting." He felt he had the right to give Mayo a few uncomfortable moments. "You haven't much sense because you ought to know that Stevie could not marry—or remarry Grant Hale—unless I were legally dead. And that is what you want, isn't it, Mayo?"
She did not make any denial. Her silence admitted that that was exactly what she wanted.
"Suppose," Mayo said coldly, "we drop the dramatics. You want the truth—whether it stings or not—I'll give it to you. Stephanie does not love you. She is only staying with you out of a sense of duty. Because she has the principles—and scruples—you claim are lacking in her mother."
"What proof have you to offer for all this?"
"Perhaps," Mayo jangled her bracelets, "you wouldn't believe her. One proof is that Stephanie still loves Grant. I know. I was with her when she met him one time, accidentally. She simply went all to pieces. I saw them together again, just a few days ago, having lunch—and holding hands."
"I wanted Stevie to be friends again with Mr. Hale," Sandy said. He had to defend his wife even to her own mother. Holding hands—he had not wanted Stevie to do that.
"And, of course," Mayo said, "Grant still loves Stephanie. I suppose you know he has kept her house, hoping she can come back later. And that is what he, not his sister, who got her her job."
"Is that all?" Sandy asked. It was enough, although he had guessed that Grant was playing all the cards he held: money, and influence, the homefires even kept burning.
"Not, not quite all," Mayo saw she must make her argument even stronger. "I had a talk with Stephanie a day or so ago. She finally broke down and admitted she was only staying on until you gave some sign of being willing to end this crazy marriage."
"Did she tell you all that?" There was a fine white line around Sandy's humorous mouth. His blue eyes were cold steel, holding Mayo's glance, demanding the truth.
"All that and much more!" Mayo's face did not waver before his. She was doing this for Stephanie that Stephanie mattered more than anyone, or any truth.
"She said, of course, she must stay with you until she was sure you no longer wanted or needed her. She said she must stay with you until she was sure you no longer wanted or needed her."

Barkley Claims Being Misquoted

Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 7.—(P)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley says his comments at Milwaukee on the Brannan Farm Plan were misunderstood and misquoted.
Barkley spoke at Democratic party rallies here and at Waterloo, Ia., yesterday and at news conferences in both cities. He said he had been misquoted at Milwaukee Thursday night.
Barkley had been reported as saying the Administration was not committed to the Brannan plan.
"I never said the Administration," Barkley asserted, "I said I was not committed to it and the Democratic party was not committed to it."
He observed that the Brannan plan "never has been adopted by any convention or platform." He said he personally was studying it, adding "there are some good features in it."

No Disorder Is Credited To Fair

Greenville again maintained its excellent record for good order when important events take place here and draw thousands of people. The Pitt County Fair here last week, said by some to be the best held here in years, drew unusual crowds. Paid attendance had passed the 30,000 mark last Saturday night, an official stated.

Highway patrolmen and police handled traffic with efficiency and only minor accidents among fair visitors were reported.

Motor vehicle accidents on the Pitt County highways are regular occurrences, according to the record. None occurring here last week could be attributed to the fair being held here.

Sheriff's officers and police said exceptionally good order prevailed at the fair grounds and in Greenville during the week. "The personnel of the show people appeared to be of a higher type than heretofore and the good nature and good order of the thousands of people who attended the fair was a source of pride to the people of Greenville," Police Chief Guy C. Langston said today.

"The American Legion, sponsor of the fair, is to be congratulated for their interest in the success of the annual event," Langston added.

First Meeting Of Student-PTA Group Scheduled

The Student-Parent Teacher Council of Greenville High School will hold its first meeting of the 1950-51 school year tomorrow night at 7:30 in the high school building.

According to Dr. E. R. Browning, president of the council, there are several things to be discussed at the meeting. Specific attention will be given to the problem of controlling the many drives for funds that the high school is called upon to make each year. All students and parents are invited to attend and to express their opinions on any matter which might come up.

A second purpose of the meeting is to give everyone a chance to get acquainted and to meet the high school faculty. Immediately after the program an "open house" will be held in which parents may confer with the teachers about their children's problems.

The officers of this organization are Dr. Browning, president; Mrs. Herbert Waldrop, vice president; Mrs. W. W. Howell, secretary, and Frank Brooks, treasurer.

Fire Prevention Week Has Fast Start; 2 Fires

Fire Prevention Week which is now being observed in Greenville got off to a bang this morning as Greenville firemen answered two calls in a period of about ten minutes.

Both calls were due to defective wiring. The first, a box alarm, came from the home of Miss Lella Higgs on Dickinson Avenue; the second, a telephone call to the 300 block of Second Street.

No damage was reported by firemen. Firemen again warned citizens to make a careful check of their residences and business places in order to find any defective wiring.

This time of the year there are more calls of this nature, according to Wire Department reports.

Club Speaker

W. E. ADAMS

The Pitt County State College Club will have as its guest speaker this week William E. Adams, director of instruction in the School of Engineering at the Raleigh school. The Club will hold its monthly meeting at Respass-James Barbecue House Wednesday night.

Adams is a native of Circleville, Ohio, and came to the college in 1939 as an instructor in the engineering drawing department. Last year he was appointed to his present position.

He will present a talk to the members in addition to showing the movie "North Carolina State College" which depicts the work of the engineering and agricultural school during a 12-month period.

dent Thomas Jefferson's party, the was a senator from Massachusetts, land in an indirect effort to persuade George Canning, the foreign secretary, to lay off America. This seems to historians to have been a clear violation of—yes, the Logan Act.

In the midst of all this, a wealthy, benevolent, well-meaning Quaker from Philadelphia, Dr. George Logan, decided to try for peace. He went to Paris at his own expense. The French hailed him as a dove of peace. He came happily back to the U.S. in November 1793, bearing verbal assurance that France would negotiate.

The Federalists were furious. They were convinced that Logan had been sent to France by the Republicans Secretary of State Timothy Pickens rebuffed Logan. General Washington was cut to him.

Pickens was so angry that he induced Congress to pass—you guessed it, the Logan Act.

Monkey Auto Racer Dashes For Freedom; Show People Hunt

"Speedy," one of the monkey racers at a midway show at the Pitt County Fair last week, took "French leave" when his chain was not fastened and made a break for the wide open spaces. The simian was one of three monkeys that raced the miniature electric-propelled automobiles.

The last seen of "Speedy" was when he was making time from tree to tree on the Falkland highway near C. L. Lupton Company's place. He had not been captured when the carnival left Greenville yesterday.

Funeral Services For J. K. Barnhill Today

Mr. J. K. Barnhill, 77, died at his home near Stokes at 2:50 o'clock Sunday morning after having been in declining health for two years and critically ill for a week. Funeral services were conducted from the home this afternoon at three by the Rev. D. W. Alexander, Free Will Baptist minister of Bethel, assisted by the Elders A. B. Ayers, Primitive Baptist minister of Beargrass, and burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Barnhill was born and reared in the Bethel community. He was married to Mary Elizabeth Taylor of near Stokes and they lived in Winterville until 1912. They moved to the Stokes community where they have lived ever since. He was a member of Hickory Grove Free Will Baptist Church and a member of Greenville Masonic Lodge No. 284, A.F. & A.M. He was a farmer.

Surviving are his wife; three sons, John Taylor Barnhill of Greenville, and Marvin T. and Richard K. Barnhill, both of near Stokes; two daughters, Mrs. W. Herman Everett of Hamilton and Mrs. Champ C. Lucas of Lucama; two brothers, William T. Barnhill of Suffolk, Va.,

National Guard Seeks 200,000 Men By June 30

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The National Guard has embarked on a campaign to recruit 200,000 men between 18 and 35 years old before next June 30.

The Army said the recruiting campaign is intended to build the strength of the Guard up to the ceilings authorized for this fiscal year—350,000 ground troops and 50,000 airmen.

Recruits will be required to drill and to undergo 15 days' summer training, for which they will be paid.

The Army announced the campaign over the weekend, and a spokesman said men of draft age who join the Guard would not be liable to induction.

Tornado Strikes Columbus County Section Today

Whiteville, N. C., Oct. 9.—(AP)—A tornado ripped through the Old Dock section of lower Columbus county early today and injured a score of persons. Damage was unofficially estimated at $100,000.

The twister dipped into the rural community shortly before 4 a. m.

Three members of a single family were treated at Columbus hospital. They were: Burris Formyduvall, a farmer, who suffered a broken arm; his wife, Ada, who has a broken shoulder, and Audrey, their 10-year-old son, who received less serious injuries.

Worst Weekend For Fatalities On N. C. Roads

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Last weekend was the bloodiest in months on North Carolina's streets and highways.

The highway patrol reported today that in the period from 4 p. m. Friday through 10 a. m. today, 22 persons were killed and 155 injured.

This compares with the toll of 233 for the July 4 weekend. That report, however, covered four and one-half days, and the report today covers two and two-thirds days.

The death toll last week-end was 17 killed.

Egypt's Trial . . .

of Egypt, Iraq, Transjordan, Saudi Arabia, Syria, the Lebanon and Yemen.

The Egyptians make the argument that their troops would make the best defense for the Suez canal area because they not only would be representing the U. N., but would be defending their homeland. I'm afraid that is specious argument which could only be true if the Egyptian army were as efficient as the British. One doubts whether Egypt can compete with England in this respect as yet.

There is another aspect of this situation which can't be overlooked. Not only is the defense of the Suez canal vital to the western nations, but peace must be maintained in the whole highly inflammable middle eastern zone. That is a task which Egypt could scarcely undertake alone.

However, it's easy to have a sympathetic understanding of Egypt's desire to be her own boss. Certainly she will be expected to make her contribution of a military unit to the projected U. N. force for maintenance of peace, although she is one of those not contributing to the U. N. army in South Korea.
