Educator Sees Change For System

National Effort For Next 25 Years To Affect U. S. Teaching Program

By JUNIUS H. ROSE
If we can believe what our leaders are now telling us, the American way of life will be changed considerably for the next quarter of a century.

Apparently we are called upon to save the world from communism. If we are to save the world from communism we are told we must do two things. First, we must equip and maintain a large military force with all the most modern weapons.

Second, we must strain our production capacity to the limit. If we do these two things life cannot be "as usual" for the American people and we will have to alter our method of living.

Under such conditions education cannot be the same and the pattern of education should be changed somewhat to meet this long time program of Preparedness and Production.

It therefore appears that all men and some of the women of America are going to be called upon to be at least two years of their lives to military service.

If this is true, then the program of education should be changed so that these two years which one has to give to the military service can be saved out of the time requirements of the present education scheme.

There are three things that can be done in North Carolina to save time in the educational program and none of them are new. All of them have been done before and here are the three suggestions.

The first suggestion is that the North Carolina Law governing the entering age of school children be changed. At the present time a child must be six years old by October 1 of that year in order to enter school.

There are a large number of children whose birthdays miss this date by a few days or a few weeks. The result is that they are nearly seven years old when they enter school.

Therefore, these children entering school when they are nearer seven than six and remaining in elementary and high school twelve years, are nearly twenty-three years of age after remaining in college four years to receive their AB or BS degree.

Now, add two years of Military Service to this and a man is nearly twenty-five years old, and remember he has not yet started his professional training in law or medicine or ministry, etc.

This North Carolina Law could be changed so that a child would be allowed to enter school if at the time of entering school he is nearer his sixth birthday than he is his fifth. Local school authorities and local school officials should be delegated some authority in determining whether a child is ready to enter school. Other factors should also be used.

Children are ready for school earlier now than they were years ago or rather you might say they need school earlier. This change has been brought about by travel, radio, television, movies, comic books, working mother and other things.

The changing of the law as to school entrance as indicated above would serve to save six months to nearly a year out of the lives of a large number of boys and girls.

The second suggestion to save time in the educational process is that we allow the great majority of our pupils to finish elementary and high school in eleven years instead of twelve. There is nothing new about this. This was a North Carolina program for all the children for a long time.

District Demos Convene In Pitt

Fourteen Counties Of District To Be Represented In Rally Starting This Afternoon; Distinguished Guests

Democrats, with a capital D, from the 14 counties in the First District will gather here this afternoon for the seventh in a series of loud hosannas preceding the November 7 election.

The rally will convene promptly at 4:30 at Austin Auditorium on the East Carolina campus and will welcome some 300 party leaders of the District in addition to Senators Graham and Hoye, Governor Scott, Senatorial Nominee Willis Smith, former Senator William Umstead and state party chairman Everett Jordan.

All plans are ready to make this rally the best and most vociferous in party fervor of all the District rallies to date. County chairman John G. Clark stated this morning a large turnout of representatives from the other counties will attend, numbering more than 300.

From the looks of things in the county, Pitt's hosts will put on the most successful political whoop-de-do of any that has been staged since the rallies began earlier this month. Combining speaking during the rally proper with a barbecue dinner immediately afterward, the rally is designed to get the ever-growing political ball rolling hereabouts.

Senatorial nominee Willis Smith will present the main speech for the occasion and is expected to follow the party line that has been established as the usual trend by the other rallies.

Chairman Jordan will preside over the proceedings that will probably include off-the-cuff speeches by the other past-and-present Senators on the program.

Jordan and his entourage are expected to arrive around 3:30. Governor Scott and Congressman Herbert Bonner will appear later in the afternoon. Both are speaking in Williamston today.

Clark will officially welcome the guests and county representatives of the District. The rally is expected to last for the better part of two hours. After that the gathering will move to Wright Auditorium for the dinner, the same building in which Vice President Alben Barkley sounded the national party keynote in April of this year.

A host of newspapermen, who have followed the rallies in other parts of the state this month, are expected to be here. Radio stations WGTG, in Greenville, and WRRF, in Washington will broadcast the rally in its entirety.

Langston Heads 'Disaster' Unit Appointed By Red Cross Chairman For Emergency Post

Chief of Police Guy C. Langston has been appointed disaster chairman of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Red Cross. County Chairman Henry Brown announced today.

Langston stated today that he has started a disaster plan for the city of Greenville in order that the people of Greenville will be prepared in the event the city is ever confronted by an emergency. One point which the chief wanted to clear up was that this unit does not apply just to civil defense but to any type of emergency which might arise. Plans have been formulated to divide the city into emergency zones, appointing one resident of each zone as his respective zone officer who will immediately go to the scene of the emergency without delay and handle the situation until the disaster chairman can arrive on the scene. The chairman stressed emphatically in the event Greenville should have a disaster, the people in areas not affected are to remain off the streets and at their respective homes so as not to cause confusion and delay the operation of necessary traffic as fire trucks and ambulances.

In the future, the disaster chairman plans to have a map showing the location of high tension wires which might cause serious damage in any emergency and plans which could be taken to cope with them.

France May Get $6 Billion Arms Aid From U. S.

Washington, Oct. 18—(AP)—High U. S. officials said today that France is likely to get up to $6,000,000,000 in American military aid during the next three years.

An American plan to allocate up to $2,400,000,000 of existing funds to the French is just "a first installment," these officials said.

Additional billions will be needed if France is to build up an army of at least 30 Divisions by the end of 1952. This reportedly is one of the goals set by military planners to help strengthen western Europe Communism.

Winston-Salem Without Water

Winston-Salem, Oct. 18—(AP)—A broken main today left the big industrial city of Winston-Salem without its water supply shortly after noon.

City Manager C. E. Perkins said at 1 p.m. that the difficulty had been located and that workmen were on the scene.

At about 1:20 p.m. water service was restored after the city had been without water for about an hour.

Taft Charges He Is Big Target Of Labor Socialists

Says Campaign Waged By CIO-PAC; Hanley-Dewey Rharb Goes On

While charges and counter-charges over the Hanley letter episode filled the New York air, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) declared today he is the target of a move to install in Washington "a labor-socialist government on the British principle."

Taft said that "the Democratic party is almost completely inactive" in Ohio, and that the campaign against his reelection is being waged almost entirely by the CIO Political Action Committee.

"Ohio is being flooded with literature and propaganda prepared months ahead in Washington, attempting to persuade the people of Ohio that they must eliminate some congressmen who have served their interests for years, and replace them with stooges who will take orders of the labor union bosses," Taft said.

Democrats, meanwhile, sought to make capital of the letter which Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley of New York made public Monday. In it, he disclosed he was assured he would be able to pay off his "financial obligations within 90 days" if he consented to seek the Republican Senate nomination.

Hanley had previously been assured the New York governor nomination. That was before Gov. Thomas E. Dewey changed his mind and decided to seek a third term.

Hanley said last night charges

Final Inspection Of Pitt Hospital

The final inspection of the new 124-bed Pitt County Memorial Hospital on the western suburbs of Greenville yesterday was satisfactory, and, with the exception of some minor details, was completed, Chief D. Ward, administrator of the institution, stated today.

The new hospital will be turned over to the trustees within the next 30 days, Ward stated. It will be the most modern in the south.

Participating in the inspection were the architects, George Watts Carr and associates of Durham; McKay-Heigerson, contractors, Greenville, South Carolina; Thompson Electric Company, Raleigh; and C. L. Russ & Company, Greenville, plumbing and heating contractors.

Others in the inspection party were members of the Medical Care Commission, Raleigh; U. S. Public Health Service, and the Pitt County Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees and representatives of the North Carolina Department of Public Health, who were checking on sanitary and other phases of the construction work.

C. L. Russ, head of the C. L. Russ Plumbing and Heating Company, was host at a barbecue luncheon for those in the party.

Florida Storm Damage Is Estimated Near $5 Million

Miami, Fla., Oct. 18—(AP)—One person was known dead, hundreds are homeless and National Guardsmen were called out today to guard hard-hit areas in the south Florida hurricane area where damage was officially estimated at $5,000,000.

The storm, losing force as it traveled over land, moved on toward the central Florida citrus belt, leaving destruction in its wake from 125-mile winds.

Hardest hit were the communities of Davie, West Hollywood and West Hallandale. In those towns at least 40 homes were destroyed, 70 trailers wrecked, many homes damaged and an undetermined number of persons injured.

Mrs. Owen Adams was killed at West Hollywood when the winds upset and smashed her trailer. Her husband, Owen, was critically hurt and their three children injured.

Sheriff Amos Hall of Broward County made a tour of the three communities and called out the 40 men of Company C, Florida National Guard.

"Davie, a town of about 2,000, looks as though a tornado went through it," said Hall. "Substantial homes were destroyed and there isn't an undamaged house in the town."

South Korean Division Claims First To Enter Pyongyang In Swift Thrust

Fish Arrive For Ponds On County Farms

Five Pitt county men look on as a representative of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service transfers 2,000 little bream fingerlings which will be used to stock recently-built fish ponds on Pitt County farms. The fish received by the local farmers came from the Edenton fishery and are furnished by the Federal Fish Service. Fingerlings For Pitt Fish Ponds

Ponds Stocked With Bream From Hatchery In Edenton

Several Pitt county farmers yesterday received tiny bream fingerlings to stock their recently built fish ponds.

Over the course of the past two years, many fish ponds have been constructed by Pitt county farmers on their farms. After the fish ponds have been built under the direction of the County Soil Conservation Service, they are stocked with a variety of fish. The fish are furnished by the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service which operates a hatchery in Edenton.

Yesterday six farmers received bream fingerlings in varying numbers from 500 to 2,000 depending on the size and conditions of the ponds.

After a year's growth the fingerlings will develop into good size fish which will offer the county farmers many leisure hours of fishing and good eating, if lucky.

After the completion of a pond, the only actual work which must be carried on is to see that it is fertilized properly and trash and other hazards to the safety of the ponds are removed.

Pitt 4-H Youth Invited To Safety Conference

A Belvoir 4-H Club member brought honors to his club and also to the 4-H movement in Pitt County this month when he was invited to attend the National Safety Conference in Chicago this week.

He is Wesley Manning, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Manning of Belvoir, and a member of the senior club in the community. He was chosen among four other club members from the United States to attend the conference.

The conference began yesterday and closes today. It brings together each year the directors and advisors on urban and rural safety from all sections of the country.

Young Manning was chosen because of the extensive work he has done on farm safety as his main 4-H project for the year. He is the only club member selected from the South.

In addition to the invitation, he also has won a $300 college scholarship for his work in farm safety.

Truman Outlines 'Peace Offensive'

Every Reachable Listener In World Target Of President's Policy Speech; U. S. Will Not Stop Short Of War

San Francisco, Oct. 18—(AP)—President Truman set the world stage today for an unprecedented counter-offensive to Soviet peace propaganda. He offered a full "partnership of peace" to all Asia, backed up by United States military might.

The State Department's "Voice of America" bombarded every reachable listener with a constant repetition of Truman's warning to the peoples of the Far East that Russia is trying to turn them into "colonial slaves of a new imperialism."

And the President left for the Russian Politburo a bold and blunt reminder that the United States will not stop short of war to resist aggression and preserve "our free way of life."

Mr. Truman flew back to Washington shortly after delivering his major foreign policy speech last night in the War Memorial Opera House where the United Nations charter was born five years ago.

He left San Francisco's International Airport at 1:15 a.m., EST, on the last, eight-hour leg of a 14,400-mile round trip flight during which he talked with General Douglas MacArthur on Wake Island about what, he said, were the "dangers which still face us."

"What we want is a partnership for peace with all the world," Mr. Truman told a cheering audience. He said "we want peace but it must be a peace founded upon justice. That American policy is as old as our republic and it is stronger today than ever before in our history. And with God's help we intend to keep it that way."

The crowd applauded vigorously as the President declared "we are increasing our armed strength because Soviet policies leave us no other choice."

If the Soviets "really want peace," Mr. Truman continued, they can prove it "by living up to the principles of the United Nations charter," and "by joining the rest of the United Nations in calling upon the North Koreans to lay down their arms at once; and "by lifting the Iron Curtain and permitting the free exchange of information and ideas," and, finally, by joining with the UN to establish a system of collective security "which will permit the elimination of the atomic bomb and the drastic reduction and regulation of all other arms and armed forces."

Mr. Truman declared that until the Soviet Union does these things "we are determined to build up the common defense strength of the free world."

Swift Probe Of Shipments To Red China Ahead

Washington, Oct. 18—(AP)—A swift inquiry was promised by the Senate subcommittee today to find out what the government has done since the Korean war to halt the flow of strategic materials to Communist China.

Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) chairman of the group, said state and commerce department officials will be called for questioning tomorrow in a quick follow-up to testimony about delivery of steel plants and other equipment to Red China ports by an American ship.

He said he regards as "reprehensible" any shipment of strategic materials to Communist China since the fighting in Korea started last June.

Inquest Tonight In Two Deaths On Pitt Roads

An inquest into two highway deaths which occurred in Pitt county last weekend will be held in the Pitt county Court House at seven thirty tonight.

The inquest will be conducted by Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse. Two men, George Buck of Grimesland and Joe John Stancil of Greenville, negro, were killed in separate accidents over the past weekend. Buck was killed instantly when he is alleged to have walked into the path of a car on the New Bern highway on Saturday night.

Early Sunday night, Joe Stancil reportedly ran across the Farmville highway into the path of a Carolina Trailways bus.

Mr. Truman continued, they can prove it "by living up to the principles of the United Nations charter," and "by joining the rest of the United Nations in calling upon the North Koreans to lay down their arms at once; and "by lifting the Iron Curtain and permitting the free exchange of information and ideas," and, finally, by joining with the UN to establish a system of collective security "which will permit the elimination of the atomic bomb and the drastic reduction and regulation of all other arms and armed forces."

ROKs Climax Brilliant March In Swift Race With First Cavalry Troopers; Two Important Cities Fall On East Coast To South Koreans

Tokyo, Oct. 18—(AP)—South Koreans said tonight their troops have fought their way into Pyongyang, the Red capital.

The Korean information press said the report was made by the Fusan, South Korea, radio in a broadcast at 9 p.m. (7 a.m. EST).

Hard-driving Republic of Korea (ROK) First Division troops swarmed over the Pyongyang airfield and then stormed across the Taegong River into the Red capital, Fusan Radio said.

Their thrust into Pyongyang, prize goal of the massive United Nations drive, climaxed a brilliant eight day march of nearly 90 miles.

The ROKs fought hard to enter the city ahead of the U. S. First Cavalry Division.

The American foot troopers wanted to add Pyongyang to their string of historic firsts—Manila, Tokyo, the linkup between the two South Korea beachheads.

But the South Koreans, battling to win back the northern half of their country—wrested from them with the Russian occupation after World War II—were not to be stopped.

Along the winding mountain road southeast of Pyongyang and into the capital plains, the ROK troops rolled forward, hardly pausing.

For days their officers had trouble restraining the South Koreans from running on toward the city.

They surged through ROK Korean opposition.

The mountain road was littered with Communist dead. The South Koreans wheeled past huge piles of abandoned Red arms and equipment.

They passed only to sets what they needed for their onward thrust. American planes cleared a path at least part of the way for the surging ROKs.

The thrust climaxed a spectacular northward drive out of the old Pusan beachhead, about 270 miles to the southeast.

The ROK First Division made a reputation for toughness north and northeast of the old Taegu anchor of the southeast Korea beachhead.

When other ROK divisions recalled there before the fury of Communist attacks, the South Korean First Division held. It would not retreat.

The battle for Pyongyang, which may end the war, began earlier today when allied columns surged against a Red Korean defense line south and east of the city.

Pyongyang is the first capital of a Russian satellite to be entered in war by forces of the democratic nations.

On the east coast, two other important cities fell. Hamhung and Eungnam—110 miles south of the Manchuria border—were captured by ROK troops.

Communist forces made a stand before their capital.

Allied air reconnaissance said no fixed installations had been observed.

But Eighth Army headquarters reported the Reds had massed tanks around the city and were laying down artillery fire from entrenched positions.

Roads leading to the capital were reported clogged with Red infantrymen streaming back to Pyongyang. Generally they had put up only short and half-hearted skirmishes farther south and east against the allied juggernaut.

The U. S. 24th Division, first in Korea, was being sent to capture Chinnampo, the port of Pyongyang.

Hard-Hitting Report

Significance Of President's San Francisco Speech; The Asiatic Commitment; A Hint That Indochina And Formosa Included In Plans; Faith In Peace

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

President Truman's Foreign Policy speech at San Francisco, following his conference on Wake Island with General MacArthur, certainly nails Uncle Sam's flag to the mast.

The chief executive's hard-hitting report to the nation was at once a call to Russia to turn to ways of peace, and a warning that America will go to war to resist aggression and defend her liberties. And not only will the United States fight to defend herself, but she will lend aid to those struggling against aggression.

The zone of operations appears to be global, for the President pledged American support for all Asiatic nations in their defense against attacks by the Soviet Union or its satellites. Indeed, he went further and offered "full partnership" to the people of Asia "in building up their living standards."

However, America doesn't propose to play the lone wolf in this sweeping program, for Mr. Truman said:

"This is not a task for the United States alone. It is a task for the free nations to undertake together. And the free nations are undertaking it together."

The Asiatic commitment is an interesting and significant development. There have been two schools of thought regarding the relative importance of Asia and Europe in the matter of defense. MacArthur has placed emphasis on Asia, while some high quarters in Washington have maintained that Europe is the vital and have proposed that some allied troops be taken from Asia to strengthen Europe.

Thus it would appear that General MacArthur must have presented some very convincing arguments to the President regarding Asiatic needs. Moreover, observers consider to the President's pledge for Asia was broad enough to cover the defense of Indochina and the big Island of Formosa which now is the last ditch stand of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his Nationalist government.

It will be recalled that MacArthur got his knuckles rapped a couple

No Accidents In 24-Hour Period

For the first day in the past 18 days the local State Highway Patrol office reported that no highway accidents had been reported for the past twenty-four hours.

Thus far this month a grand total of 19 accidents have occurred on the county's highways with three persons losing their lives.

Patrol officials again cautioned the people of the county to use every caution in driving or walking along the highways of the county.

Free Will Baptist Church Scene Of Nelson-Griffin Wedding

Ayden.—The Free Will Baptist church was the scene of a beautiful and simple wedding on Friday night when Miss Elizabeth Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Griffin and Staff-Sergeant Carl V. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson of Chaffee, Missouri, were united in marriage by the bride's pastor, Rev. David W. Hanley. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor.

The vows were spoken before a setting of lighted candles, Oregon fern, pommoose and floor baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Roy L. Turnage, Jr., organist and Miss Joan Padley, soloist. Miss Padley sang "Because."

The bride and groom entered the church together. The bride was lovely indeed in a navy blue Hand-mechers suit with pink accessories. She carried a white pink book with a white orchid and this was shown.

The bride's mother was attired in a navy dress and wore a corsage of yellow carnations.

The bride attended Ayden High School and was a member of the 1949 graduation class. Until her marriage she was employed at Little's Dry Cleaners in Greenville as bookkeeper.

Staff-Sergeant Nelson is in the U. S. Marine stationed at Cherry Point.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Memphis, Tenn., where Sergeant Nelson will enter instructors' school.

Junior Club Tag Day Big Success

The Watson Memorial Tag Day was a great success, according to a report from the Junior Woman's club, sponsor of the annual event. The exact amount of money has not been determined as all funds have not been turned in to the tag day committee. But it is known that more was raised this year than last, which speaks well for the efforts of club members and cooperating citizens who helped to make this drive such a success.

The Junior Woman's club acknowledged with gratitude the cooperation of radio station WGTC, which gave free time for two talks, the merchants who gave them space in their newspaper ads, and the stores and places of business that permitted the erection of booths for the sale of the tags.

The club is also indebted to the Girl Scout troops which worked on the streets with the club members selling tags to the pedestrians. Particular praise is accorded the club committee, composed of Mrs. Kenneth Mercer, Mrs. Howard Gratia, Mrs. Bill Watson and Mrs. Paul Scott, Jr., who planned for and executed the Watson Memorial Fund drive.

Revival Notice
The revival at the Black Jack Free Will Holiness church is still in progress. The new pastor is bringing some wonderful gospel messages each night at 7:15. The Conway quartet will be there Thursday night to bring special messages in songs. We extend to you an invitation to come and worship with us.

Benjamin May Chapter D. A. R. To Meet
The Benjamin May chapter D. A. R. will meet in Fountain with Mrs. George Jefferson Saturday at 2:30 p. m. If anyone is interested in joining this chapter or would like a transfer call 3297 or 2052.

Circle No Two of Red Oak church met on Monday night last at the home of Mrs. Amos Evans. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Wm. May. Minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary and approved as read.

A business session was held. Mrs. Jesse Jordan announced that she had mailed our part of the church's accepted pledge of the Crusade fund and that she had received a very nice letter acknowledging it and thanking us for the money. There was much discussion concerning a project we have selected for the month of November whereby we hope to increase our treasury. Committees were appointed to make plans for this and you will be hearing about it very soon. Keep listening! A motion was made and carried unanimously that Circle No. Two buy an electric sweeper to keep the beautiful new carpet recently installed in the church. Mrs. William May and Mrs. Amos Evans were appointed as a committee to buy the sweeper.

At this time we had the pleasure of listening to "Red Oak on the Air." A group of our people and friends were at the radio station singing and playing and advertising the Harvest Sale to be held in

The Community building Friday night, October 20. While this program was on the air, Mrs. Travis Crawford showed samples of some Christmas cards that Circle No. One is selling and sold several boxes.

The group sang two numbers accompanied at the piano by Miss Betty Lane Evans and on the flute by Amos Ray Evans. Mrs. Evans then read Psalm 100 and adjourned with prayer.

We were served delicious pie a la mode by the hostess assisted by her son and daughters after which everyone said goodnight declaring this had been a most enjoyable meeting.

The November meeting will meet with Mrs. Carol Crawford.

American Home Department Hears Federation Meet Report

The American Home Department of the Woman's Club held its regular meeting on Friday, October 13, at the club house.

Mrs. Vance Perkins presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Hans Scheller read two letters; one from Mr. O. E. Dowd, principal of the high school, and another from the president of the senior class of 1950, thanking the department for the tea dance it gave the Senior class of 1950.

During the business session Mrs. C. D. Ward was unanimously elected as chairman of the department.

Following the business session, Mrs. C. E. Oakley, program chairman, introduced Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, who gave a most inspirational talk on her trip to the General Federation convention in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Moore gave an interesting account of the programs, forums and work-shops she attended.

On International Relations Night the delegates from all the foreign countries in native costume spoke. They thanked the women's clubs for their help during these trying times. These women expressed the belief that the hope of civilization is the United States.

Another interesting program was the Town Meeting of the Air, which Mr. George V. Denny broadcast from the stage of the convention as a courtesy to the General Federation of Women's clubs. Appearing on this program was Dr. James R. Kilham, Jr., president of M. I. T., who predicted a wondrous era in science if man is successful in ordering his social responsibilities and his spiritual life. He predicted a longer span of life and eventual conquest of disease. He expressed the opinion that trips between planets were a possibility.

In the "Build a Better Community" contest a club of 19 members of Luka, Mississippi, won the top prize of $10,000, which was given by the Kroger Company.

Mrs. J. Blair Buck, retiring president of the General Federation, visited Greenville three years ago. She gave a most interesting and amusing account of her flying trip around the world as a good will ambassador. She was chosen as one of the outstanding leaders in the United States to make the trip.

Mrs. Hiram G. Houghton of Red Oak, Iowa, was elected president of the General Federation for 1950-52.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Moore's talk, Mesdames Hicks Corey, C. E. Oakley and Vance Perkins served special tea and cookies.

parisons with American conditions.

"The Little Princesses," by Marion Crawford. An informal and intimate portrait of Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose by "Crawfie," their governess and friend for seventeen years.

"Understanding Your Boy," by Edward Joseph Flanagan. Father Flanagan of Boys' Town gives his philosophy of boy training in personality, behavior, habits, play and religion. Stresses normality and home training.

"The Magic Pen," by Anne Heagney. A novel based on the life of Christian Reid, well-known North Carolina writer of a generation ago. In addition to writing forty-two novels as well as dramas, short stories and poems, Christian Reid was an outstanding clubwoman and civic leader in her home town of Salisbury.

"Hunt for Heaven," by Elsie Barker. A Chicago minister leaves the city to set up a Christian Utopia on his Pennsylvania farm. By the author of "The Trembling Years."

"Rise Up and Walk," by Turnley Walker. A brief, personal account of what it means to be a polio victim, covering five months of the author's experience from the outbreak of the disease to gradual recovery.

"Song of the Cave," by Edward Francis Murphy. The Biblical story of Ruth is expanded into a novel by the author of "The Scarlet Lily."

Library Notes

The Sheppard Memorial Library announces the addition of the following books to its collection:

"Diamond Wedding," by Wilbur Daniel Steele. A new novel by a North Carolina writer about an oddly matched but devoted couple whose omission of a legal marriage is eventually remedied by a diamond wedding celebration. The tale is set in the adventurous Old West.

"Here's England," by Ruth McKenney. An informal and humorous guidebook to England by the author of "My Sister Eileen." Gives personal evaluation of English persons and places and frequent com-

Mrs. Jones Hostess To Odds and Ends Club

Ayden.—On Thursday evening Mrs. Helen L. Jones was hostess to the Odds and Ends club at her home with a dessert-bridge party.

At the conclusion of the game Mrs. Keith Brunson and Mrs. Hal Edwards were given bath powder for high score holders, and Miss Clyde Stokes was remembered with stationery for the runner-up prize.

The guests included Mesdames Brunson Edwards, T. Station Ross, Rose J. Little, James W. Everett, Alton Gardner, Jack M. Collins, Berkeley S. Rutledge, Harry Mumford and Misses Stokes, Maude Moore and Susie Dixon.

Sensitive skin. "Noxzema is a wonderful cream for my sensitive skin," says lovely Mrs. Connie McDiarmid. "I use it at least three or four times every day—and as a make-up base and night cream. It feels so refreshing while it helps protect my skin!"

"Soft, smooth and glowing" describes the complexion of Toby Robins, beautiful Toronto radio and stage actress. "I count on Noxzema to help keep it that way," she says. "This fine, greaseless cream is especially well suited to my every need!"

NEW HOME FACIAL
Developed by a doctor! Read how to look lovelier in 10 days... or money back!
No need for a lot of elaborate preparations. With one cream, you can cleanse... help protect... and help heal! The secret is a marvelous new Home Facial, using only greaseless Noxzema. Daily use of this famous medicated formula—a unique oil and moisture emulsion—can help bring you lovelier-looking skin in 10 days—or your money back.
Here's all you do
Morning—Step 1.—Apply Noxzema over face and neck. With a damp cloth, "creamwash" just as you would with soap and water. Rinse. "Creamwashing" cleanses so thoroughly. Noxzema even smells clean!
Step 2.—After drying, smooth on a light film of Noxzema for your make-up foundation. It not only holds make-up beautifully, but it also helps to protect your skin—all day!
Evening—Step 3.—At bedtime, "creamwash" again with Noxzema. How clean your skin looks! How fresh it feels! See how you've washed away make-up, the day's accumulation of dirt and grime—without harsh rubbing!
Step 4.—Now, lightly massage Noxzema into face and neck. Pat a little extra over any blemishes. While you sleep, Noxzema helps heal them—helps your skin look softer, smoother, too. And it's greaseless! No "smeary" face or messy pillow!
A skin doctor developed this new Noxzema Home Facial. In tests on 181 women, 4 out of 5 showed lovelier-looking skin!
Money-Back Offer!
Try the new Noxzema Home Facial for 10 days. If your skin doesn't show real improvement, return the jar to Noxzema, Baltimore, Md.—your money cheerfully refunded. But you will be delighted with results!
Special! For a Limited Time Only you can get the big 85¢ jar of Noxzema for only 59¢, plus tax, at any drug or cosmetic counter—half again as much for your money as in the Small size! See if Noxzema's New Home Facial doesn't help your skin look lovelier—in 10 days!

Lula Faulkner Becomes Bride Of Benjamin F. Little In Private Rites

Winterville—On Saturday afternoon, October 7, at 5:00 o'clock, Miss Lula Faulkner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Faulkner, of Winterville, became the bride of Benjamin F. Little, son of Mrs. Stella M. Little and the late Mr. B. F. Little of Winterville, in a quiet, double ring ceremony, performed at the home of the bride's pastor, Rev. David Hansley in Ayden.

MRS. BENJAMIN F. LITTLE

The couple were unattended. The bride wore a brown suit with chartruese blouse and hat. Her other accessories were brown and she wore a lavender orchid corsage.

The couple are graduates of the Winterville High School.

After a short wedding trip, they will make their home in Norfolk, Va., where Mr. Little is stationed while in the Navy.

Presbyterian churches and Grace Presbyterian Chapel and a number of adults of the community also attended.

R. B. Owens, president, presided at the meeting. Miss Ernestine Moseley gave a poem. Mr. Sidney Caraway sang a special number, "Why Did He Love?" Mr. Wyley Yelverton furnished the music on the organ. Jimmie Horton gave the purpose of the meeting. Miss Leila Mae Moseley explained the work of the organization of the P.Y.F. Miss Wilma Grace Owens told of what the P.Y.F. is trying to do for the young people and ask the adults to support them in this work. Garland Windham, Miss Ann Harris and Miss Carolyn Moore all led in prayer.

At the close of the services the Women of the Church served punch, sandwiches and cookies.

At a special request of the group, after refreshments, Sidney Caraway sang, "An Evening Prayer."

The Fountain Presbyterian Church circles number one and two met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. L. Owens. Mrs. Gertrude Owens led the devotional. Mrs. J. L. Doster gave the articles, "Mission in the Homeland."

At conclusion of the business meeting the hostess served ice cream and cake.

Boyd Memorial Presbyterian Church will hold their Annual Harvest Sale and lunch at the church Friday, October 20, at 6 p.m. The sale will follow immediately after the supper.

The church is located four miles west of Greenville on highway 43.

Mrs. Hardy Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fountain, Sr., Mrs. W. R. Harris Saturday attended a luncheon at the Country Club at Tarboro given by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smoot of Goldsboro, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Winslow of Tarboro and Mrs. Bracy Fountain of Leggett in honor of Miss Ann Goodwyn Fountain of Leggett and Mr. Tommie Forbes of Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harris and family, Mr. John N. Fountain, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Johnson and daughter, Martha Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fountain Sr., Saturday night attended the wedding and reception of Miss Ann Goodwyn Fountain and Mr. Tommie Forbes, bridal couple, at a buffet supper on Thursday evening in Fountain.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fountain Sr. and Mrs. W. R. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Johnson, honored Miss Ann Goodwyn Fountain and Mr. Tommie Forbes, bridal couple, at a buffet supper on Thursday evening in Fountain.

Mrs. W. R. Williams and daughter, Kippie of Nashville visited relatives in Fountain Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gay of Fountain, Miss Bessy Bishop of Bath, Miss Catreta Brown of Plymouth Saturday afternoon attended the football game at Chapel Hill.

Mrs. A. A. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith Jr. of Winston-Salem, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Knott and daughter, Gennie and Sue of Roanoke Rapids were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Heber Johnson and children of near Benson were Sunday guests of Mrs. Johnson's sister and brother-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Philip M. Cory.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gay, Miss Bessy Bishop, Miss Catreta Brown Saturday night attended Morehead Planetarium, Chapel Hill, "How the Planetarium Works."

Mary Agnes Phelps, J. R. Troy Marry In Baptist Church

Memorial Baptist church was the scene October 7 of the wedding of Miss Mary Agnes Phelps, daughter of Mrs. Willoughby Theophilus Phelps of Greenville and Norfolk Va., and the late Mr. Phelps, and Joseph Reamy Troy of Norfolk and Richmond, Va., son of Mrs. John Henry Troy of Foneswood, Va., and the late Rev. Mr. Troy of New York.

The Rev. Richard E. Hardaway officiated at the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. H. G. Haney. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Karl Gilbert, organist, and Mrs. Theodore Crowley Fowler, sister of the bride, soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, William Bryan Phelps of Vandemere, wore a dress of duchess satin with a fitted bodice and standing collar edged in ruching. She wore as an ornament an heirloom circular pearl pin of her mother's. Her long full skirt ended in a train, and her fingertip veil of imported illusion was fastened to a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried an old-fashioned arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums and satin ribbon.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Theodore Crowley Fowler of Drexel Hills, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Miss Mae Forbes of Washington, D. C. was a bridesmaid and Miss Judith Spruill McLawhorn of Norfolk, was junior bridesmaid.

Mrs. Fowler wore a gown of green-gold satin designed with a bouffant skirt and a fitted bodice. The neckline was trimmed with imported Chantilly lace and she wore a matching jacket of satin. She carried an old-fashioned arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums tied with green-gold ribbons.

Miss Forbes wore a gown of bronze satin while Miss McLawhorn was gowned in a dress fashioned of coralberry satin. Both carried arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums tied with matching ribbon.

Frederick William Troy of Richmond was his brother's best man, and ushers were John Henry Troy of Richmond, brother of the bridegroom; Theodore Wiley Troy of Richmond, Lt. Theodore Crowley Fowler of Drexel Hills, Pa., and William Eason Price, Jr., of Norfolk.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Claude Gaskins, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, entertained at a reception at their home.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Gaskins and introduced to the receiving line composed of the bridal couple, the bride's mother, Mrs. W. T. Phelps, Mrs. Fowler, Miss McLawhorn and Miss Forbes.

The living room was charming with floral arrangements of dahlias in shades varying from pink to deep orchid. In the dining room the table was festive with a bridal motif. The centerpiece was made of giant white chrysanthemums interspersed with fern and flanked by matching three-branched silver candelabra holding white tapers. A white out-work cloth covered the table.

At one end was a crystal punch bowl in the shape of a swan. A bow of white tulle was tied around the swan's neck. Mrs. F. W. Troy served the lime ice punch. At the other end of the table was an all white three-tiered wedding cake. Salted nuts and decorated bridal mints were placed in silver bowls and trays.

The bride and groom cut the first slice of cake after which Mrs. Martha McLawhorn served the guests.

Later the bridal couple left for a trip to Pinchurst and Southport Pines. For traveling the bride wore a suit of autumn gold wool with black velvet accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums. Upon their return they will make their home in Norfolk.

After the departure of the bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Gaskins served a buffet supper to members of the two families.

poses that arrangements be made to do away with one year of the twelve year public schools where the curricula can be arranged for the young people to complete the requirements in a shorter number of years. The third suggestion is that colleges streamline their course so students will be able to complete the necessary work of a B. S. or A. B. degree in three years instead of four.

The idea behind the proposals is to enable the boys and girls of today who are facing a life under a long range military preparedness program to make up in school time for the two-or-so years they may be expected to spend in the military service of their country.

The people of North Carolina who struggled to obtain for the state a 12-year public school program perhaps will be reluctant to see the system replaced by the return to a basic 11 grade school for youngsters. Rose, however, was a member of Governor Hoey's commission which recommended the 12 year program.

There is no getting around the fact that changes in educational systems as well as other fields must be made to fit into the new tempo of life which we are living in this country. Reluctant as we may be to relinquish a year of study for North Carolina youngsters, it may well be that by so doing we can provide them with a much better educational system than they now have.

After all the purpose of our public school system and colleges and universities is to prepare the young people of our state to make better use of their lives in the years which lie ahead of them.

The Reflector is of the opinion that the proposals made by Superintendent Rose are worthy of the attention of all the people of North Carolina, and should be studied thoroughly by an official committee which is qualified to make recommendations on the matter to the General Assembly.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
A LITTLE GARDEN ROSE
If someone were to turn a garden hose into your face, you would feel that all the water in the world was going down your throat. But of course there are still the seven seas.

Frequently we get the idea that we know practically everything there is to know on some subject. We understand our job so well that we resent suggestions from anyone. We are so satisfied with the way we order our own lives that we regard as troublesome meddlers those—including the members of our own families—who try to give us helpful advice.

We see this cocksureness, of course, in the adolescent, and particularly in the boys and girls who have gone away to school or college. They come back to tell us that the human race did not begin to think until about 1890 and that all ideas conceived previous to the First World War are a lot of bunk. They have simple, and to them sensible, solutions for the problems with which the best minds of the world have wrestled through the centuries. Some teacher turned his little garden hose of knowledge into their faces and they are quite sure that they have imbibed the entire contents of the perennial spring of knowledge.

Socrates was the wisest man of his generation—and one of the wisest in history—because he knew that he knew nothing.

Nothing New, But

A Policy Re-Affirmed

President Truman's San Francisco speech served to underscore America's foreign policy in these times of conflicting ideologies. Nothing new was added to the goals as outlined in the past by President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson, but former ideas were more fully developed and spoken in language that everyone could understand.

There was re-affirmation of military preparedness at home and an offer of military aid abroad; a fresh reminder of Russian intentions and the repeated promise that the United States had no intention of letting them get away with their program of aggression; Mr. Truman re-stated our desire for peace and once again outlined the means by which the world would know when the Soviet Union appeared willing to sincerely seek the peace all of us desire.

Most important, was the greater emphasis on American policy in the Far East: it was the same policy as has been outlined before, but more details were given so that all people, particularly in Asia, would understand.

President Truman's speech was chiefly a repetition of what has been said before . . . presented in a manner to clear up doubts and misunderstandings. It was a good speech . . . and obviously appropriate and timely. There were some questions left unanswered, though we may expect these points to be touched upon when the time is ripe.

It is interesting to note the more positive attitude displayed in the San Francisco address. There was no hedging or room for misunderstanding on the points which the President discussed. He knew precisely what he wanted to say, and the conclusions his listening audience would reach.

We will be strong; we will give all possible assistance to friends; we will not permit further communist aggressions; we want peace, but it takes an honest manifestation of that desire, by the Kremlin, to make that peace possible.

That's what the President said in behalf of the American people.

It was a good speech.

A Look To The Future

And Progress

J. H. Rose's proposal for streamlining the school system of North Carolina to meet the demands of current accelerated living is gaining state-wide recognition.

The proposal, since it comes from a successful educator who has spent the greater part of his life in public school work, is indeed a bold recommendation for adapting the lives of young people to the conditions in which they will live for the next quarter century.

Rose proposes the strict six-year-old age requirement for entrance to public schools be discarded, and local school officials be given discretion in the admittance of youngsters to the public schools. He also pro-

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Last night I talked to Les Thayer of Cocha Bamba, Bolivia, South America, and the conversation convinced me that every American should spend some time outside the USA. Life is too short for us to miss the adventures we gain by travel.

Les married Ethel Gaston of Greenville, and the Thayers (including their two children) are in Greenville visiting the Gastons. The way Les and Ethel met is a story within itself. Back in 1941 Les was in the Army and stationed at Fort Bragg. His hobby in civilian life had been amateur radio, so he carried it along to the army by setting up a ham station at Fort Bragg. While broadcasting, Les became acquainted with a ham in Kannapolis. One day he was talking to this friend, and the friend invited him to what radio hams call a "hamfest," which is simply a get-together. The event was to be in Charlotte. Les had already told his friend that the trip was too long a drive during his short weekend from Bragg, so he'd better not go. Then Ethel, also a radio ham, came on the air to ask Les if he knew a friend of hers who was stationed at Bragg. At the time, Ethel was teaching physical education in Kannapolis. Les didn't know the friend, but liked Ethel's voice. When he learned that Ethel was going to the hamfest, he immediately decided to go. From the beginning Les and Ethel hit it off famously.

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN MISSET Raleigh, N. C.

STEEL—Advantages and disadvantages of eastern North Carolina as a site for a modern steel mill will be surveyed within the next few months, if tentative plans of the department of conservation and development can be worked out. Negotiations are underway between the state department and an experienced industrial engineer, who has done similar work for the federal government with gratifying results. Paul Kelly, chief of the division of Commerce and industry, said he could not identify the engineer at this time, because of the status of negotiations. Kelly gave assurance that the man is thoroughly competent and that he has manifested enough interest in the North Carolina project, on basis of correspondence, to justify a thorough "on the grounds" study of the proposal.

COMPLEX—Proper location of a steel mill is a complex problem. Fuel is important; transportation facilities are important; accessible iron ore is perhaps most important of all. Eastern North Carolina, specifically the area around Wilmington, does not have nearby fuel or mineral ores. It does have good rail and highway trunk lines, and contemplated development of the ports at Wilmington and Morehead City-Beaufort will provide water transportation. That means the Wilmington-Beaufort area is in the middle—most equidistant so far as transportation facilities are concerned between the newly discovered iron deposits in Venezuela and the coal fields of the Ohio valley. Also the "haul" for the finished product to the concentrated population centers of the country is shorter than from the Birmingham area. With few, if any, of the essentials for successful operation of a steel mill right at hand, eastern North Carolina seems to be situated in strategic middle ground.

SURVEY—At least, that is the way promoters of the steel mill idea have reasoned out the problem. Their conclusions justify complete survey by experts, and definite announcement may be forthcoming in a few days.

FAIR—The North Carolina state fair was formally opened by Governor Kerr Scott and Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Ballentine at 10:45 Tuesday morning. Actually, the fair opened Sunday afternoon when some 20-odd thousand people milled around the grounds watching the exhibitors and showmen unload and begin setting up their stands. Significant item in the Sunday program, which was largely unofficial, was the raising of the flag of the United States and the United Nations, which were formally flying side by side as the formal opening exercises were carried out Tuesday. Between them rotated the global emblem of the United Nations. Although it is primarily a state fair, there was no North Carolina flag to keep the big banners company. Governor Scott, Commissioner Ballentine and Fair Director J. S. Dorton all pointed to significance of the flags, especially the fact that this is the first time a UN flag has been raised over state property.

EDUCATIONAL—Exhibits of vocational schools, home demonstration and 4-H clubs, various departments of state government and its tax supported service agencies, attracted interest of thousands of fair visitors. Explanatory literature provided by the industrial and commercial exhibitors was much in demand. The people wanted to know how things can be done, how ideas can be adapted to their own problems—and what the gadgets cost in money.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

TIME TO RE-OPEN EIGHTH STREET ENTRANCE (The Tech Echo)
In December of 1949 the Board of Aldermen of Greenville recommended to the Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers college that the Eighth street entrance to the campus be closed. Last March the Board of Trustees complied with this request to curb speeding and otherwise reckless driving through this area. The closing of the entrance has been a second-best measure in the absence of a check in the speed limit. The closing of the entrance has caused innumerable complaints from both students and townspeople who must go blocks out of their way to attend classes on the campus or bring their children to the training school. It seems now that the closing of the entrance for this length of time has served its purpose and should be reopened again. The Executive board of the Student Legislature has discussed the matter and will present the problem to the Legislature. It is hoped that they will act favorably and recommend to the Board of Trustees and the Board of Aldermen of the city that the entrance be opened.

It is believed that a carefully enforced speed limit would serve the purpose. In fact, there is a speed limit on the campus of 15 miles per hour, but it has not been enforced. The closing of the Eighth street entrance has not helped to reduce speeding through the campus. What is needed is a frequent check of the traffic through this area by law enforcement officers. Those who have used this entrance in the past have learned their lesson and would probably be more careful when driving through there in the future. A frequent careful check on traffic through the entrance would deter lawbreakers from their reckless practices.

Business Today

SHORTAGE OF MANPOWER MAY STIMULATE MACHINE SELLING; AND DEPARTMENT STORES USING BATTERY OF VENDORS AS "BRANCH."
Just as the war gave a tremendous boost to self service stores, the current trouble, with its shortage of manpower, may increase the use of automatic vending.

Automatic vending, which a few years ago was thought of largely in terms of stamps, gum and soft drinks, has already made great strides. Every bus, rail and plane station now has batteries of automatic machines; in many places they constitute a general store, offering hosiery, pocketbooks, candies, soft drinks, coffee, sandwiches and insurance policies.

A few department stores have experimented with automatic vending sections, where a wide variety of staple goods are offered by coin in slot machines. As the manpower pinch begins to hurt, these departments are expected to expand and more stores will add them.

Incomes from hobbies must be reported, but losses on hobbies may be difficult to deduct. However, if a hobby is carried on for profit, that's different. Then it's considered a business and insurance can be deducted as well as losses.

A large department store in Boston, Plene's, is using vending machines as a sort of branch operation. At the Logan International Airport it is this week putting into operation a battery of eight machines to sell hosiery, underwear, gloves, neckwear, glove, neckwear, toys and stationery. It plans to add other merchandise periodically, rotating offerings until the most popular items are determined. A similar battery of vendors is in operation at the Boston Greyhound bus terminal and is reported to be successful.

NEW AND HOT
RECAP: A cap for housewives' use in recapping standard-size pint and quart milk bottles is being introduced (by Central Equipment Co., 1020 W. Adams St., Chicago 7). It is durable, odorless, tasteless and easily cleaned.

Machine selling has limitations. It can be used for only small objects; prices must be payable in a limited number of coins; there can be no personal suggestion selling. But it does save labor and extends selling hours and customers like them because there is little waiting.

LETTERS: For counter and window displays, books of self-sticking, re-usable molded plastic letters and numbers are being produced (by Faulkner Laboratories, Bradenton, Fla.)

Some merchandisers predict that there will come a day when huge stores in which all kinds of meats and other food, a wide variety of apparel, hardware and other goods will be sold. It's possible to build a machine which, after 98 silver dollars are inserted will dispense a canoe.

PACKAGING: Plastics continue to gain ground in packaging as a means to lengthen shelf life of goods. A hearing aid B. battery has longer shelf life because it is sealed in moisture-and-vapor-proof polyethylene (by Olin Industries, New Haven, Conn.) and paint 1 ashes keep fresh on display because they are wrapped in transparent Vinylite (by Star Brush Co., 700 Harrison St., Boston).

UPHOLSTERY: A new material for upholstery in autos, buses, furniture and other places subjected to heavy use stretches in every direction and is said to remain permanently soft and pliable. It is produced in five colors (by U. S. Rubber Co., Rockfeller Center, New York).

FURNACE: An oil-fired floor furnace, with 88 per cent free air opening in a heel-proof grille, optional forced draft, manual or thermostat control and other features has been announced (by Wayne Home Equipment, Ft. Wayne, Ind.).

OPENER: A new key-type opener designed to open coffee, shortening and other vacuum-type cans removes the metal band with less effort than the conventional key, according to the distributor (Jiff Sales Co., Box 8946, Milwaukee, Ore.)

He has done that for more than 100 men in less than nine weeks and each time it has left him with a more sore heart. For they were no longer strangers to him but close friends.

With U. S. Second Division, Korea.—(AP)—When his boys go on patrol Father Frank picks up his rifle and goes with them. When they are wounded, he helps carry them out of danger. And when death reaches out to take them, he gives them the last rites of his church. He has done that for more than 100 men in less than nine weeks and each time it has left him with a more sore heart. For they were no longer strangers to him but close friends.

"I would rather be with them in the foxholes," he said. I think Father Frank is the best loved chaplain I have ever met. He is a unique chaplain in a unique war. He doesn't want to be thought of as a hero. But he is—by American soldiers who don't want themselves thought of as heroes either although they are.

His name is Francis Leo Woods and he is 46-year-old Catholic missionary priest who came to Korea from Ireland 15 years ago. Five years ago American occupation troops rescued him from starving at the hands of Japanese captors. He feels the Americans kept him from an even worse fate by landing here again and rolling back the communist north Koreans.

"Twice they saved my life—and I wanted to do something in return," he said. He looked up an old friend—Lt. Col. James W. Edwards of Dallas, who had been here in 1945. Colonel Edwards said he would like to accept the priest's offer to serve as chaplain with his battalion but explained in embarrassment he couldn't offer him any army rank or pay because Father Frank wasn't an American citizen.

"I want neither rank nor pay," Father Frank answered quietly. Since then the stocky, ruddy faced priest has become the most popular figure in the Second Infantry division. And his advice is as eagerly sought by his regimental commanders as by the newest recruit.

"I think my lack of rank has been a help in my work," said Father Frank. He sleeps in the battalion commander's tent, he eats with the enlisted men. Both officers and men like him for his shy kindness and the comfort he gives in their personal problems as much as for his personal bravery.

Recently the battalion gave him a captured motorcycle for his own use. He was so proud of it that they presented him with two captured Russian trucks for his mission school. When I met Father Frank the battalion was in a rest area and he sat under a tree with some of the officers. They were joking about his front line patrols and the years he spent as a boy in the Irish republican army before he studied for the priesthood.

"I noticed you clean your rifle every day," laughed Lt. James D. Currie of Linesville, Pa., a young platoon leader who had just received a battlefield promotion.

"Ah, yes, I clean it," said Father Frank in his rich brogue, "but I never shot a man in my life—I never had the wish to."

Pitt 4-H Exhibit At State Fair

For the first time in recent years, Pitt's 4-H clubs installed an exhibit at the State Fair in Raleigh. The booth displays different features of farm safety and is located in the Exhibit Hall on the fair grounds. It was prepared by Milton Spain, Belvoir senior club, under the direction of C. J. Goodman, assistant county agent. Spain is seen inside the booth placing objects to carry out the theme of the display.

Europe expects to have 350,000 American tourists in 1949 and 500,000 in 1952.

Many Cases In Recorders Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Pitt County's Recorder's Court Tuesday, Judge Dink James had four cases involving driving drunk before him. He found three of the defendants guilty and one not guilty.

W. S. McDowell, not guilty of driving while drunk, was convicted on three other counts.

Driving while drunk: Walter Moore, $100 and costs and his driver's license was ordered revoked for a year. Charles D. Smith, also not having a driver's license, four months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs and his driver's license was ordered revoked for a year. James Harris, four months on payment of $100 and costs and his license was ordered revoked for a year. W. S. McDowell was not guilty.

W. S. McDowell was found guilty of careless and reckless driving and Judge James gave him six months on the roads. The court suspended sentence on payment of $452 for damage to be paid—$11 now and $25 a month until the full amount is paid. The court ordered that McDowell's driver's license be revoked until the full amount is paid.

Alfred Harrell, colored, larceny, six months on the roads.
Worthless check: W. B. Allen, paid check and court costs. John Sherman, colored, 60 days or pay check and court costs.

In the case of Arlander Barnhill, colored, non-support of an illegitimate child, ordered to pay $96 now or go to the roads.

A capias was issued for David Lee Cobb, colored, charged with assault, who failed to answer to his name when called.

Possession of non-tax-paid whiskey: Wiley Anderson, colored, six months, suspended on payment of $200. L. B. Harper, colored, guilty, paid costs.

Non-support: David Lee Cobb, colored, called and failed to answer, capias issued Luther J. Harp, guilty, ordered to pay doctor's bill by December 1 and pay $10 a week for support of his child. Glasco Faison, colored, six months, suspended on payment of $10 a week.

Possession non-tax-paid whiskey for sale: Toney Waller Jr., colored, six months on the roads or pay $50 and be placed on probation for two years.

Assault with a deadly weapon: Toney Waller, assault with a deadly weapon, and it was ordered that he not possess any firearms and that he stay off the premises of Lena Mae Bryant, colored.

Abandonment and non-support: Jonathan Rouse, paid up; Linwood Manning, white, six months, suspended on condition that he be sober and of good behavior and pay $25 a week for support of his wife and child. Louis M. Tyson, colored, six months, suspended on payment of $50 now and $6 a week hereafter. James E. Spain, colored, ordered to pay $12 and cost of capias. Walter B. Kinion, paid court costs and paid up with $25. Albert Hayes, guilty, paid $62 and he is to pay $5 a week starting October 24. He gave notice of appeal.

Trespassing and destroying personal property: Thad Braxton Jr., 30 days, suspended on payment of costs and he is not to drink at all for two years. On a charge of threat, Braxton was assessed the costs. He also paid costs for an assault.

Asheville Man Heads Kiwanis

Spartanburg, S.C., Oct. 18—(AP)—Joseph T. Chlott of Asheville, N. C., was chosen Governor by Carolinas District Kiwanians as they ended their 30th annual convention here yesterday.

He succeeds Dr. Orin F. Crow of Columbia.

Raleigh, N. C., was selected as the 1951 convention city.

Herbert W. Hennig of Darlington was reelected secretary-treasurer.

These nine district Lieutenants were elected: E. L. Walker of Forest City, N.C., M. Craig Yoder of Hickory, C. Ed Miller of Asheville, J. O. Tally Jr. of Fayetteville, Earle H. Hostetler of Raleigh, Dr. I. Epps Ready of Roanoke Rapids, Eli Bloom of Greenville, Joseph W. Jenkins of Camden and Dr. James L. Hughes of Greer.

The convention voted for redistricting of South Carolina clubs into three divisions instead of two. North Carolina will remain divided into two divisions.

Approximately 58.5 per cent of the average Japanese family's expenditures is for food.

Fleming Street PTA Meet Held

The Fleming Street School P.T.A. held its first regular meeting last night with approximately one hundred and fifty parents and teachers in attendance. Mrs. Ann Davis, president of the organization, presided. After the meeting was opened, the secretary, Mrs. Allie Green, read the minutes of the previous meetings, including that of the officers' meeting. Then the house was opened for business.

Each member present was given a copy of the by-laws and they were read orally and adopted by the group. The president was chosen to attend the state P.T.A. to be held at Rocky Mount in November. Miss S. I. Sauter presented the funds that were brought forward from the former P.T.A. in the amount of $71.50. The organization appropriated funds for safety badges in the amount of $12.00 for junior patrols.

Space was given for expressions from the former president, Mrs. J. B. Taft, and from the president of the Epps High School P.T.A., Mrs. Herman Walters, both of whom made inspiring remarks.

The following committees were appointed by the president: Membership, J. W. Grimes, chairman; hospitality, Mrs. M. B. Godette, chairman; program, Mrs. E. H. Beddens, chairman; Budget and Finance, Dr. O. R. Stovall, chairman; Study Group, Mrs. E. P. Morris, chairman; and Publicity, Mrs. D. D. Garrett, chairman.

East Carolina's Cagers In Pre-Season Contest

Meet Grand Rapids Professionals In Rocky Mount Wednesday Night For Exhibition Game

King Football is still the major sport of the season, but East Carolina basketball takes a brief spotlight next Wednesday evening in Rocky Mount.

Coach Howard Porter's 1950-51 cagers will meet George Glumack's Grand Rapids professional hornets in an exhibition tilt next Wednesday night, October 25, in Rocky Mount high school gymnasium.

Glumack, the 6-foot-8 star who made the Helms Foundation All-Time All-America team while playing at Carolina ten years ago, is the manager and star center for the professionals.

With the hornets also are such All-Americans as 7-foot-1 Elmore Morganthaler, former star at Boston College who topped the nation in scoring one season; Coach Bobby McDermott, an all-time professional great; Mike Novak, a 10-year pro player who was All-American at Chicago Loyola; Blacky Towery, 6-foot-8 All-American at Western Kentucky; Frits Nagy, former Carolina player who later made All-American at Akron U.; and Price Brooklyn, 6-foot-4 All-American at West Texas State.

East Carolina has been working out on the hardwood for the past two weeks, and Porter has stepped up the practice tempo this week, in seeking to round his North State squad into shape.

Expected to lead the Pirate scoring hopes in the exhibition tilt is last year's all-conference forward, Sonny Russell, from New Bern.

Lettermen Lou Collie and Len Bauer, two stalwart guards for the Pirates, and Center Toddy Pennell are expected to make up four of the starters for the game, with the other fifth man taken from this year's freshman prospects.

Awaits Advice On Filling Vacancy

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 18—(AP)—Governor Scott today awaited advice from the State Supreme Court on how to fill a vacancy on the Court's Bench.

The problem arose with the death Saturday of Associate Justice A. A. F. Seawell.

With the Nov. 7 general election less than 30 days off, the procedure of filling the vacancy is not clear. The Crux of the matter is simply should the Governor have the power to name Seawell's successor, or must he be voted on by the people in the election.

If Scott is to name the successor, he or she would serve until the 1952 general election.

If the successor is to be voted into office, voters would have the choice of nominees of the Republican and Democratic parties. The candidate from each party would be chosen at meetings of party executive committees.

Coastal Conference Leaders Will Clash

The Coastal conference championship could well be determined this weekend, as its two league leaders, Ayden and South Edgecombe, clash at Ayden Friday afternoon.

Coach Stuart Tripp's defending champions went ahead in the league win column last week, as the Tornados romped over their Pitt County rivals, Farmville, 46-6, last Friday.

Ayden has a current record of three wins without a loss in circuit play, and has rolled up a total of 128 points against their conference foes, while their goal line has been crossed only one time.

The Tornados also hold a non-conference win over Williamston, 19-7, to keep up their undefeated, untied season record. Ayden will close out their Coastal conference schedule in their game Friday.

Coach Wiley Parker's South Edgecombe crew didn't fair so well outside the league last week, as they suffered their first loss of the year, after four straight wins, losing to Tarboro, 19-0. Edgecombe has a 2-0 record in the conference with two league tilts remaining on their schedule.

Elsewhere in the circuit this Friday finds the two bottom clubs, Vanceboro and Robersonville, battling it out at Vanceboro. Both teams have been defeated twice in the conference, while Robersonville holds a tie with Farmville.

Farmville's injury-riddled eleven gets a much needed rest this weekend with an open date. Coach Elbert Moyer's squad will scrimmage Snow Hill Thursday afternoon, however, in preparation for their next week's game with Williamston.

Phantoms Work Hard And Long For Kinston Contest

Greenville High's arch-rival game comes up this Friday night in the college stadium with the Kinston Red Devils, and the Phantoms worked long and hard yesterday in preparation for the tilt.

Pasting received much attention in yesterday's scrimmage session, with newly found quarterback Eddie Farley, doing most of the chinking.

Farley moved to the signal-calling spot, as regular quarterback Sidney Briley was shifted to fullback in the Elizabeth City game last week because of injury to Leon Moore.

Both Farley and Briley turned in commendable performances against the Yellow Jackets, and are expected to carry the hopes for Greenville in Friday night's clash.

On the receiving end of most of Farley's shots were Ends Johnny Aman and Wiley Gardner, with Halfbacks Kent Lee and Walter Gooz sharing in the rushing.

Greenville has yet to crash into the win column of the Northeastern conference, while losing two non-conference tilts. Kinston, on the other hand has a 2-1 record in the conference, losing only to Elizabeth City. The Red Devils are the defending Northeastern champions.

Virginia U. President Admits Violating 'Code'

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 18—(AP)—President Colgate W. Darden said today the University of Virginia violates the National Collegiate Athletic Association's "sanity code" on two counts and cited reasons for the school's non-compliance.

Darden explained the university's attitude toward the code in a written report on athletic policy to the board of visitors. Virginia is one of several colleges currently on the NCAA's "black list" for alleged violations of the code.

Virginia, Darden said, "is in violation first on the matter of 'institutional control'."

"Our athletic scholarships are awarded and paid by the alumni, rather than by the regular agency established in the recipient's institution for granting aid to all students," as provided in the code.

Army's Center Wins Honor For Defensive Play

New York, Oct. 18—(AP)—For his superb defensive play against Michigan last Saturday, defensive center Elmer Stout of Army's unbeaten and untied eleven today was named the Associated Press college football lineman of the week.

Four times the legions from Ann Arbor were thrown back in the shadow of the Army goal posts. Leading this defense was Stout, a 20-year-old junior from South River, N.J.

Thus to the 5-11, 180-pound Cadet goes a major share of the credit for helping Army retain its No. 1 ranking in the weekly AP poll.

Stout called the defensive signals. With all but one of Michigan's threats thrown back it is evident Stout was calm and alert under pressure.

Nine Lives And Black Cats Tied

The Nine Lives and the Penitents of the Carbon League this week scotched the tide of battle by taking their opponents in two games out of three, thus tying up the fight for first and third places.

The Lives won two from the Black Cats, who were in first place last week, and the Penitents took a double win over the Evereds.

The Penitents, as a result, moved into a tie with their opponents who were in third last week.

The calibre of bowling this week was below that of the fourth, fifth and sixth games and some of the averages among the 20 bowlers dropped. Bill Bryan replaced Bill Wells in first place with 160. Wells fell from 166 to 158 on one of his poorest nights since the league's inception.

Sam Brooks maintained his third position, although he dropped from 137 to 133, and Marjorie Wells clung to her fourth spot but came down from 135 to 131.

The only players who increased their average to any great extent were Francis Whelihan and Charlie Braswell. Both rolled three high games and notched four points on their last week's figures. They occupy seventh place in the standings.

Policy Review On Naval Reservists

Naval Reservists throughout the Sixth Naval District have been advised of the convening of the District Naval Reserve Policy Board during January 1951 for the consideration of matters concerning reserve policies, it was announced at last night's meeting of the local Naval Reserve Unit. All Naval Reservists in the District were invited to submit material for the agenda to be presented to the board for consideration and discussion.

Reservists attached to organized units are requested to forward their recommendations via the chain of command. All others may submit direct to the Commandant, Sixth Naval District, att: Assistant for Naval Reserve.

The meeting last night was in charge of LCDR. Jack Poley who covered the latest Sixth Naval District training regulations and instructions. A special guest of the unit was Lt. (jg) John A. Moore, MC, USNR now attached to the 7th Medical Group, Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, Texas. Lt. Moore addressed the group briefly and answered numerous questions concerning his work with the Air Force. In his talk he emphasized the critical need for more doctors in the service.

The local unit meets each Tuesday night at eight o'clock in the Education Building, ECTC. All reservists in this area are cordially invited to attend.

The Vatican estimates the number of U. S. Catholics increased from about 22,000,000 in 1939 to about 26,000,000 in 1949.

Blocking, Pass Defense Drilled By Pirate Crew

East Carolina's Pirates brushed up their blocking assignments and pass defense yesterday, and then went into a 40-minute practice session, as they began hard work for Friday's game with Guilford.

Halfback Bill Darby and Fullback Johnny Smith, the linebaster who played a good ball game against West Carolina last Saturday, were picking up the most yardage in yesterday's scrimmage.

Quarterback Roger Thrift, who missed practice Monday because of minor injuries, was back in full harness yesterday along with Guard George Graybill, who sustained a cut lip that required stitches. End Bob Bradley, sophomore end, who missed Saturday's game because of continuous irritation of minor injuries, participated lightly in yesterday's workout.

Still on the sidelined list are Guards Reggie Byrd and Mickey Berman and End Ed Tanner. Neither of these three have seen much action for the past two weeks and will not be counted on for duty against the Quakers.

East Carolina travels to Greensboro this Friday night to battle with the Guilford Quakers. This tonight North State tilt will decide which team is definitely in the conference running for the championship with Elon and Appalachian. Both clubs have identical conference records with two wins against one loss.

Neither Chandler nor secretary of baseball Walter Mulby offered any comment on how the money would be handled this year.

Chandler To Get 'Spoils' Problem

Cincinnati, Oct. 18—(AP)—Two of baseball's big headaches—distribution of the 1950 world series television and radio money and possible elimination or alteration of the player bonus rule—may be brought before commissioner A. B. Chandler Nov. 16.

That the owners of the major league clubs have been invited to a meeting here with Chandler is known. But what they are going to discuss is not known.

The problem of how to dole out the $975,000 from sale of the series radio-TV rights, has been made particularly thorny by insistence of some players that they are entitled to a whack at some of the money. Freddy Hutchinson of Detroit and Marty Marion of St. Louis, who represent the players in such matters have headed the complaint delegation. Whether they are to appear at the Nov. 16 meeting is unknown.

Ordinarily, the broadcast-television bonanza goes into the players' pension fund, to which the ball players and club owners also contribute. The major Leaguers get $50 to $100 monthly pensions when they reach 50.

Neither Chandler nor secretary of baseball Walter Mulby offered any comment on how the money would be handled this year.

Blocking, Pass Defense Drilled By Pirate Crew

East Carolina's Pirates brushed up their blocking assignments and pass defense yesterday, and then went into a 40-minute practice session, as they began hard work for Friday's game with Guilford.

Halfback Bill Darby and Fullback Johnny Smith, the linebaster who played a good ball game against West Carolina last Saturday, were picking up the most yardage in yesterday's scrimmage.

Quarterback Roger Thrift, who missed practice Monday because of minor injuries, was back in full harness yesterday along with Guard George Graybill, who sustained a cut lip that required stitches. End Bob Bradley, sophomore end, who missed Saturday's game because of continuous irritation of minor injuries, participated lightly in yesterday's workout.

Still on the sidelined list are Guards Reggie Byrd and Mickey Berman and End Ed Tanner. Neither of these three have seen much action for the past two weeks and will not be counted on for duty against the Quakers.

East Carolina travels to Greensboro this Friday night to battle with the Guilford Quakers. This tonight North State tilt will decide which team is definitely in the conference running for the championship with Elon and Appalachian. Both clubs have identical conference records with two wins against one loss.

Clemson Leads In Aggressive Play

New York, Oct. 18—(AP)—Clemson's unbeaten Tigers have rolled up more yards running and passing per game than any other major football team in the country.

Coach Frank Howard's crew—the nation's only unscored under major eleven—was idle last Saturday, but climbed into the No. 1 position as Arizona State and Army slipped.

In three games, Clemson has tried 211 offensive plays and made 1,488 yards. That's an average of 496 yards per game.

Second, Darden said, "our athletic scholarships exceeded the amount of tuition for instruction and for stated institutional fees" as restricted by the code.

"In short," the university president said, "we also allow books, room and board which are not institutional fees at the university."

But, Darden said, the university officials "are not now and never have been" in non-compliance with the basic objectives of the code or of the NCAA.

Guided Missile Test On Friday

Cocoa Fla., Oct. 18—(AP)—A third missile from the long range proving ground here will be flight-tested Friday.

The missile was scheduled to be fired today but Maj. Bradford A. Evans, public information officer, said the launching had been postponed until Friday because of a necessary revision in schedule.

Newsmen will not be permitted to attend the launching because of the security nature of this flight test, Evans added.

Christmas Cheer

Hollywood, Oct. 18—(AP)—Comedian Jack Benny will spend Christmas week entertaining troops in Korea and Japan.

He said last night he has received Defense Department permission to take a half-dozen entertainers along with him.

Pitt Blind Fund Drive Over Top

The Pitt County Blind fund drive officially went over the top with tabulation of final reports Monday night by treasurer Godfrey P. Oakley.

Oakley listed a total of $2,066 having been turned into the fund since it began. The official quota for the drive which supports the blind aid work carried on in the county each year was $2,000.

For the local club it was the best drive ever conducted. President Larry Averette reported. Averette expressed his appreciation to all persons who had worked on the drive and to those who had given to the campaign.

Thrift's Passing Statistics Bettered And Tops Record Of Attempts In Single Contest

By BILL LLOYD
Johnny Smith, East Carolina's little linebaster who moved up to a starting position last week against West Carolina, soared to the top of the rushing statistics this week.

The Pirates senior fullback from Portsmouth, Va., carried the ball eleven times against the Cata-mounts and gained a total of 60 yards for an average of 5.4 per carry.

Maennie Leads Flankmen
Randy Frank Maennie continued his lead among the Pirate pass receivers, as the rawbone flankman caught four more passes in the Homecoming tilt that was good for 70 yards and one touchdown to increase his four game average to 20 catches and an amazing total of 367 yards.

Dwight Shoe, 5'11" wingman from Salisbury, is Maennie's nearest contender in number of passes caught and total yardage. The hustling sophomore has gathered in 18 tosses for 221 yards.

All-conference Roger Thrift bettered his already remarkable passing record for the season, as the big quarterback completed 13 out of 31 attempts against West Carolina to run his average up to 69 completions out of 151 attempts for 968 yards.

Thrift Breaks Record
According to the Official Schedule and Record Book of the Football Writers Association of America Thrift broke the all-time major college football passing record of passes attempted in a single game with his 48 attempts against Elon two weeks ago. The previous record was set last year by Ed Songin of Boston College against Oklahoma with 46 attempts.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Chapter 23
 "You see," Stephanie explained, "no one knows where Sandy is. He quit his job with the advertising agency. He always hated it. He wanted to do his own kind of writing. I have a feeling that maybe he's gone off somewhere to do it. And even if anyone could find him, Grant, I don't think Sandy would come back."

"He has too," Sandy must come back, since Stephanie loved him, since her happiness depended upon that. Like Mayo, Grant loved her enough to want her happiness before anything else. "He'll turn up somewhere."

"He did not mean anything he said," Grant repeated. "I was sure of it then and I'm sure of it now. Didn't she know that no man could love her and stop? Not suddenly, not completely, maybe not ever. Grant could pretend that he would get over this, his first love, but he knew he would not. Oh, there might, as she had said, be another girl some day, a girl of whom he would become very fond. But no girl would ever erase the impression Stephanie had made on his heart, any more than he had been able to erase Sandy from hers."

"He'll come back one of these fine days," Grant said. "I'm sure of that, too."

Her eyes, smiling at him, thanked him for saying that, for believing it, for wanting it to happen. But her heart dared not believe it. She had, of course, written Sandy's uncle. She had felt she owed him an explanation. She had promised Uncle Quentin that she would not leave Sandy, that she would stick to their marriage as long as Sandy would let her. And so she had. It had been Sandy who ended it.

His uncle had written that he was sorry. He had also written then he did not blame her—or Sandy. And he knew nothing of Sandy's whereabouts.

"I wish there were something I could do," Grant said again when he took Stephanie back to Miss Phipps, the evening at the Rainbow Room over—everything between them over. "There isn't," Stephanie assured him, summoning a little smile for his benefit. He had done too much. "I shall have to learn to take this, too. Alone this time, Grant. Without anyone's help. Please don't worry about me. Please don't do anything more."

However, there was one other matter she wanted to have settled.

"I wish," she said, "that you would sell the house, or let someone live in it." She still did not like to think of that dear little house standing empty, dust and cobwebs taking over. She no longer minded the thought of someone else living in it.

"I was going to ask you about that," Grant said. "Jean and Rod are coming back, and with the housing situation they'll have to stay with one of the families. Jean wrote she wasn't too keen about that. So I thought maybe they could use our house for a while. "I'd like for Jean to live there," Stephanie said. It no longer was our house. It was just a house. Any house, big or small, beautiful or ugly, had to have love as a tenant before it could become a home. "There's one thing more," Stephanie added. "About the job — you shouldn't have done that, Grant. I felt something was wrong. Miss Phipps finally told me that you told Mr. Larner you'd pay my salary if he'd take me on. I know now what he meant when he said the clients paid it.

"But Mr. Larner told me, just the other day," she added, "that I was doing so well that he would give me a raise soon. Out of his own pocket. You see, thanks to Miss Phipps, I'm becoming quite the business woman!"

"I was only trying to help," Grant's tone was regretful, tinged with remorse. "But that isn't what you were meant for, Stephanie. You were meant to be a wife and mother, a homemaker. And you will be. And I have something to tell you. I am going away. So when Sandy comes back my ghost won't be around."

"On my account?" she asked. Yet she was relieved. She would not want to run into him even accidentally.

"Not altogether," he returned. The modern methods had not worked out for either of them. He should have gone away long ago, when Sandy Vaughn had come back from the dead. "I'm going to South America," he told her.

"Why, Grant, that's wonderful!" She need no longer feel sorry for him. She had heard the pride in his voice. He would find something much bigger to take the place of his disappointment in his first love. "Not so wonderful as fighting for your country, giving your life — more than your life sometimes." Grant caught her hands to give them a farewell clasp. He would not ask for more, since more would have had no meaning. "The sort of courage," he added, "that Sandy gave. To endure all that he did and to

NOTICE OF PUBLIC RENTING OF FARM LAND
 Pursuant to Section 33-21 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, the undersigned guardian will on Thursday, the 19th day of October, 1950, at 12 o'clock, Noon, at the courthouse door in Greenville, N. C., rent at public auction for agricultural purposes for the year 1951, the following described lands:

That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being situated in Beaver Dam Township, Pitt County and well known as the John F. Crawford and Novella Crawford tract of land, adjoining the lands of Mrs. Jennie Nichols and others, and containing 87 acres, more or less, of which tract about 38 acres are cleared land. Tobacco allotment for the year 1950 was 7.8 acres.

The residence in which Mrs. Novella Crawford resides and the yard and garden will be excepted.
 Terms: Cash.
 This the 27th day of September, 1950.

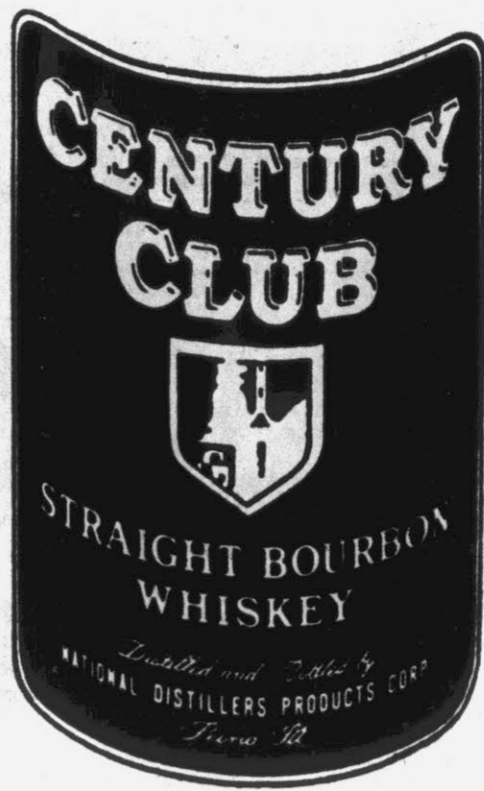

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

come through still able to laugh. "He's quite a fellow, Sandy" His kind eyes smiled down—for the last time—into her grave ones. That was his good-bye; he would not say the words. "Yes, He's quite a fellow," Stephanie agreed. Her throat felt locked.

Not just because the thought of mixed up, thinking for a while that Sandy did that to her, but because perhaps she loved both men, unable to force her mind to reach a choice was small wonder she had been all between the two. The mind had nothing to do with it, however. Nor anything that others could do. Only the heart. (To be continued)

Want a long run for your money?

Better Buy Buick!

You want a new car to be tops in things like style and room and comfort and power——and a thrill-packed fifteen minutes with the nimble number pictured here will show you it has all these things in abundant measure.

So you ask us—how about money? What does it cost to buy a Buick—and to own one?

All right—let us ask you some questions.

Take first cost. Do you know that Buick prices start down at a level below what you'd pay for some sixes—and that every Buick, on a cents-per-pound basis, is a standout buy?

Take operating cost. Do you know that the bang you'll get from Buick's Fireball power comes from a valve-in-head engine—recognized by engineers as a thrifty saver of fuel?

Do you know that owners of 1950 Buicks are writing us rave letters, saying that this year's version is the most economical Buick ever built?

Do you know that such comfort features as coil springs on all four wheels protect the car as well as the passengers—and throw in an extra saving because they need no servicing, and are practically breakproof to boot?

Do you know that Dynaflo*—in addition to keeping you fresh as a daisy on a day-long drive—caps its convenience with savings on tires, cuts down the strain on transmissions and engines—and eliminates all friction clutch repairs, because it hasn't any?

* Dynaflo Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on Super and Special models.

Take fuel cost. Do you know that when the owner of a Buick gets a yen for a later model, the prices that Buicks command on a used-car lot are the ultimate proof of their long-run value?

So if you want a real run for your money, better buy Buick. And the first step is very simple: Go see your Buick dealer—soon—and get an order signed.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Two Greenville Policemen Quit

By CHESTER WALSH
Two members of the Greenville police department tendered their resignations during the past few days, Chief Guy C. Langston announced today.

Henry F. Dawson, who has been on the force since shortly after the close of World War II, tendered his resignation, effective December 31, Chief Langston said Dawson has a good record. He owns a farm near Greenville and plans to take charge of it after this season.

Grover L. Bailey, who owns a farm in another section of the county, who went to work as a member of the Greenville police force recently resigned, effective October 15. Bailey had worked as a policeman at Fountain and at Farmville. When he took the job here in Greenville he stated that he left that job because of night work.

There are 22 members of the police force. They work in three shifts. One starts at 8 a. m. The next at 4 p. m. and the third shift at midnight. The men work eight hours a day. They work six days a week.

That's the schedule, but all of them average seven or more days a week on the job, either as witnesses in court or on special duty or for handling crowds like football or baseball games at the college or at Guy Smith Stadium.

Chief Langston today reminded that motor vehicles may make right turns coming from East Fifth street into Evan street, or turn into Dickinson avenue, going west. This means when traffic is light. When traffic is heavy a different no turn sign goes at the Five Points light and officers will be on duty to regulate and speed up traffic.

Call 3356

City subscribers who do not receive their Reflector by six p. m. are requested to report same by telephoning 3356 between six and six-thirty p. m.

After that hour the circulation department will be closed and deliveries will be made of papers missed.

Arrest Hunting Law Violators

By CHESTER WALSH
The North Carolina hunting laws have teeth in them and provide plenty of punishment for violators, a prominent member of the Pitt County Wild Life Club said today.

Incidentally, District Game and Fish Protector J. O. Teel and his deputies made two arrests for alleged hunting law violations before the squirrel season opened yesterday, Oct. 16.

The game warden arrested Mack Daugherty, colored, of the lower section of Chicod township, last Saturday for hunting squirrel out of season. The defendant had two squirrels in his possession when arrested. At a trial before Magistrate H. L. Jenkins in Greenville Saturday, Daugherty was fined $10 and costs, Total $18.75.

The game warden arrested Bobby Shoe, 30, white, who lives near Greenville, for having in his possession a migratory bird—a Coot, small size duck. District Protector Teel said the duck was shot with a rifle. This case will be tried before Magistrate Jenkins some time this week.

The federal law about migratory birds and animals provide severe penalties for violations.

The hunting season for squirrels and rabbits and deer opened October 16.

Reveals Extent Of 'Shocking' Vote Shrinkage

Detroit, Oct. 17—(AP)—The Detroit News, in an effort to help get out the vote Nov. 7, printed on its front page today the full text of a recent speech by Detroit's city clerk.

The city clerk, Thomas D. Leadbetter, pointed his remarks at Detroit voters, warning they were in danger of "losing democracy by default," and he also discussed the national picture.

He reported a "shocking shrinkage" in the total votes cast in the United States. His breakdown:

Fifty years ago—83 of every 100 eligible voters went to the polls.

Thirty years ago—72 out of every 100.

Fifteen years ago—57 out of every 100.

1948 presidential election—51 out of every 100.

Eyes Classified

London, Oct. 18—(AP)—O. D. Rasmussen, who has been gazing into women's eyes the world over for years, says women of Britain's upper middle class have the beautiful orbs in the world. Writing in vision, a magazine of the Association of Optical Practitioners, O. D. Rasmussen sizes up women's eyes this way:

French—Their eyes have a certain hardness.

German—Too staring.

American—"Too intelligent."

Russian—"Not intelligent enough."

LIGHT · MEDIUM · HEAVY MODELS
Made in widest variety of engine-body-chassis combinations to fit every trucking need

Think twice today when you buy a truck!

THAT new truck you're considering may have to last a long time. So you'll be wise to look at a GMC for these important reasons.

GMC's are built by the world's largest exclusive manufacturer of commercial vehicles—with the broadest truck engineering experience.

GMC's are real trucks. Engine, transmission and frame, as well as cab and axles, are all specially truck-built to give you longer service.

GMC truck-built engines have high horsepower with higher sustained torque—greater pulling power. They are built to give extra years of service with less maintenance.

GMC extra-value features include Synchro-Mesh transmission, Tocco-hardened crankshaft, full-pressure lubrication, recirculating ball-bearing steering gear, airplane-type bearings and Lifetime Weather-sealed cabs as standard equipment on practically all models from 1/2 ton up.

That's why more truckers are buying GMC's today than ever before—experience proves them best in the long haul!

District Scout Council Gathers

Over 35 representatives of the Eastern Carolina Council of the Boy Scouts of America met last night at the Respass-James Barbecue house at six thirty for a business session.

The meeting was the regularly scheduled meeting of the executive board of the organization. President W. C. Chadwick presided.

In addition to routine business matters, report was heard on the progress of the Fund Campaign which is currently being conducted in the Eastern Council. The report indicated that the drive was coming along good with prospects of the drive going over the top by the first of the month.

A brief discussion of the site of the next year's Camporee was held with Greenville being considered as one of the sites.

It was announced at the meeting also that the annual meeting of the Eastern Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be held in December in Wilson. The meeting was formerly scheduled for Greenville but a change in plans resulted in the meeting site being transferred to Wilson.

Plan Publishing School Annual

The class of 1950's annual staff of Greenville high school will take the first step in the direction of publishing the high school annual, "The Tau," this afternoon when they meet with representatives of the publishing company. This company published the annual last year.

Tomorrow, the second step in preparing the annual will be taken. Three photographers from Greensboro will be at the school to take all group and individual pictures.

ERRORS IN REPORTING OF RURIAN PROGRAM

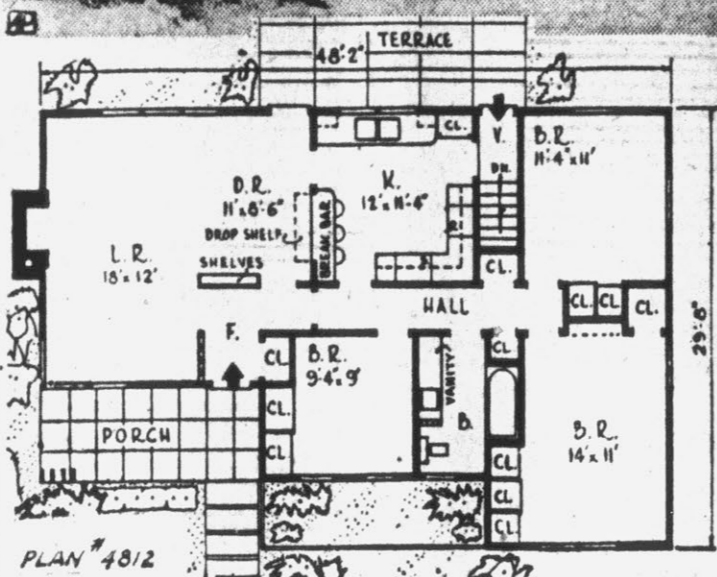

In the reporting of the annual Winterville Ruritan Club's Ladies night program in an issue of the Daily Reflector last week the name of Mrs. W. R. Williams was incorrectly listed as Mrs. W. R. May.

Also omitted was the name of Marjorie Boyd who did a solo dance number, and Boyce Cox, Tommy Oglesby, and Richard Gormond who rendered a dance number.

Indian Summer

Indian Summer weather continues to prevail in this area. The highest temperature here yesterday was 78. Lowest last night, 60, and at 8 a.m. today it was 67 degrees. A slight drizzle of rain was reported.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newfeatures MODERN AND TRADITIONAL ideas are blended in this design that combines large picture windows with flower boxes, dooryard garden and honey shutters. Although the house has three bedrooms, bath, large kitchen and front to rear living room, it covers only 1,164 square feet, exclusive of porch. This is plan 4812 by L. A. Rauscher, 144 Himrod Street, Brooklyn 21, N. Y.

Exchange Club's Speaker Named

Dr. Martha M. Pingel, assistant professor of philosophy at East Carolina, will be guest speaker Friday night when the Greenville Exchange Club holds its annual Ladies Night banquet.

Dr. Pingel will present a talk on "The Meaning of Being an American."

New Jersey Officer Back In Marines; Visiting Greenville

Patrolman James W. Dunn of the police motorcycle squad of Plainfield, N.J., who served 34 months in the Marine Corps on overseas duty during World War II, is back in the Marines. He is a corporal now.

He dropped in at police headquarters for a visit this morning and told those on duty that at the Camp Lejeune Marine base they say "Greenville is one of the quietest and best towns in the Carolinas."

Dunn was in the Marines for five years.

He was called back to the service from the enlisted men's reserve corps. He is married and has two children.

(Continued from page one) the twelve year program for North Carolina. This was a good recommendation at that time because there was a surplus of manpower and the schools were being asked to keep people out of productive employment as long as possible. We had time then for the ideal program. At this time life's tempo has stepped up and there is a shortage of manpower in the nation. Hence, we do not have time now for the type of education or the kind of life which we formerly enjoyed.

During World War II several school systems in the state carried out the eleven year program. Greenville High School did it with great success. Of course, it was worked out well. Comprehensive examinations and other safeguards were used.

At the present time our school curriculum could be changed so that the work of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades could be done in two years instead of three. This would present no particular problem to the large majority of our boys and girls. Those who ought not to take this shortened program could be allowed to take the longer one. Therefore, as far as the large majority of the students are concerned, one year could be saved here.

The third suggestion is to be found on the college level. This suggestion is that the time required to secure an AB or BS degree be reduced to possibly three years. This is already being done in some colleges.

During World War II most of the colleges of America did something along this line. Yale University, University of Michigan, and the University of Indiana, all had a program whereby the AB or BS degree was granted in two years and eight months. A number of the colleges and universities had various types of programs which enabled a student to save from one year to a fraction of a year the amount of time required for an AB or BS degree.

Most everyone is familiar with the plan of the University of Chicago which at the present time allows a student to travel at his own rate in acquiring an AB or BS degree with the result that a large number receive their degrees in two years. Of course, the amount of time that can be saved varies, depending upon the ability of the individual student and willingness of the individual student to do the work in less than the required time.

If Universal Military Training is adopted in America there are other advantages to be had in this time saving program because Universal Military Training can be worked into the program of the high school and the colleges to a limited degree. This is too big a topic to be discussed here.

Therefore, it appears that here in North Carolina the time has come to look at the time requirements of our educational program. The General Assembly, State Board of Education, the Board of Trustees and officials of our colleges, and the Board of Trustees and officials of our public schools would do well to look into this matter in planning an educational program to meet the situation which we are facing as a nation.

Relate Dealings Between Police And Gang Bosses

Chicago, Oct. 18—(AP)—Big financial dealings of two police Captains and of former Capone gangsters were told to the Senate Crime Investigating committee yesterday.

Capt. Thomas Harrison, told the committee he had received some $32,500 from a former race wire service operator "out of freidship."

Harrison, whose Captain's salary is $5,000 a year, also related other financial windfalls, including a $10,000 loan from a former gambling syndicate boss.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office and Democratic candidate for Sheriff, was questioned how he managed to amass his admitted $365,000 fortune. Gilbert, who appeared voluntarily before the committee, said he made his money in legitimate deals in stocks and grain market investments.

Report 3 Jet Fighters Crash

Washington, Oct. 18—(AP)—Andrews Field Air Force base reported today that three F-86 fighter planes crashed today almost simultaneously in the Washington area.

Lt. Joe Kent, public relations officer, said two of the planes went into the Potomac river and that the third had been located by air observers in a wooded area in Virginia.

He said the plane down in Virginia was inside a triangle formed by the towns of Leesburg and Warrenton, Va., and Brunswick, Md.

Washington, Oct. 18—(AP)—Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 18—An election must be held on Nov. 7 to fill a vacancy on the state Supreme Court left by the death last Saturday of Associate Justice A. A. F. Seawell.

The State Supreme court said this today in an advisory opinion to Governor Scott.

Taft Charges . . .

But Dewey's Democratic opponent for governor, Rep. Walter A. Lynch, called on both Hanley and Dewey to withdraw. "There is nothing else for them in their guilt to do," Lynch said. "If they don't act quickly the anger of the citizenry of the state of New York will force them out."
