Using Atomic Weapons On Aggressors Favored

Australian UN Delegate Says Use Justified Against Crime Of Aggression; Replies To Soviet Resolution

Lake Success, Oct. 25—(AP)—Australian Foreign Minister Percy C. Spender declared today the use of atomic weapons to repel aggression is justified because aggression itself constitutes the most heinous crime against humanity.

"The way of the aggressor has got to be made hard," Spender told the U. N. Assembly's political committee. He spoke for the non-Communist world in the committee's debate on a Soviet resolution. Spender described this as based on the Stockholm appeal, "a piece of international fraud." The Soviet resolution would classify use of atomic bombs as the greatest crime against humanity and would brand as a war criminal a government first using

Tobacco Market Passes '50 Goal

Tuesday's Local Sales
Top 60 Million
Pound Mark

Greenville's tobacco market yesterday passed the 60,000,000 pound mark which had been set by local warehousemen as the goal for the 1950 sales.

Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee, however, emphasized the fact that local warehousemen will continue to push sales in their effort to sell as many pounds of tobacco as possible during the current season.

Yesterday's sales brought the season total for the local market to 60,116,558 pounds. During the entire 1949 season the Greenville market sold only 53,000,000 pounds and last year the market sold approximately 55,000,000 pounds of tobacco. The market during this season has paid out a total of $34,111,743.83 and has had an average of $58.74 for its entire sales.

Whedbee stated he could not say officially when the market would close, but he said emphatically, "It will remain open as long as necessary to take care of the sales needs of the farmer."

Two Shot Selves Here Yesterday

Two Greenville residents shot themselves yesterday. Both are in Pitt General Hospital and are improving in their conditions today.

Mrs. Alice J. Teel, wife of Myron P. Teel, was painfully but not seriously wounded about nine yesterday morning when she shot herself with a 22 rifle at her home. The bullet made a slight flesh wound on the upper chest.

She will remain in the hospital for several days for a rest treatment. Recently she has been the operator of Teel's Dry Cleaners, on Evans Street.

Blanco Hardee, operator of Blanco's Service Station on the New Bern highway, is considerably improved today after shooting himself in the chest yesterday afternoon about three o'clock.

The bullet entered his left chest and emerged through the back below the shoulder. Physicians reported he was not seriously hurt.

Observance Of United Nations' Birthday Emphasizes Aggression Still Stalks World; Preparedness Highlights Most Of The Speeches Celebrating Occasion

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Celebration of the United Nations' fifth birthday was notable for the emphasis which had to be placed not on the existence of peace, but on the fact that aggression still stalks the world.

President Truman in his address called for a "fool proof" disarmament program which would outlaw not only atomic and hydrogen bombs but conventional weapons as well.

The chief executive declared that so long as "there are some who will resort to war," America and other free nations have no choice but to use their collective strength to curb assault.

And meantime in Washington—bearing out the thought of a troubled world—the chiefs of staff of the 12 North Atlantic treaty powers were meeting to plan common defenses.

General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, gave the key to this meeting when he declared that mutual defense forces must be created now "or we may be forced to improvise them in face of enemy attack" later. In short, we don't propose to get caught napping. Secretary of State Acheson also emphasized preparedness in a statement broadcast to American Armed Forces, saying he was glad to report that the United Nations is now working urgently to insure that if there is a next time, the free world as a whole will be prepared.

The Secretary also declared that the U. N. victory over Communist attack in Korea offered the free world an opportunity to devise an international rule of law which would stop war.

Any plan for stoppage of war will fall on rejecting ears. There is no doubt that the peoples of the world as a whole are anxious for peace, no matter what the complexities of their governments may be.

Over in Berlin yesterday, half a million folk jammed the city hall square in their eagerness to hear the tones of peace pealed out by the new freedom bell in the tower of the city hall. The radio carried the bell's voice around the world.

Another indication of how deep is the desire for peace comes from France. Premier Pleven yesterday proposed to the French National As-

No Resistance Except For Small Arms Fire In Few Spots; Spear- heads Continue Cap- turing Vast Quantities Red Supplies

Seoul, Oct. 25—(AP)—Five allied columns thrust closer to Red China's Manchurian border today in a drive to end the Korean war. Beaten North Korean Communist fled before them in ox carts and afoot.

Nearest to the uneasy border, at latest reports, was the South Korean Sixth Division. It drove northward from Huihchon in the west-central area and expected to reach a point 35 miles from the boundary shortly.

The British Commonwealth 27th Brigade and three other South Korean divisions were pushing northward on both sides and in the middle of the mountainous peninsula.

Intelligence officers at General MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo said reports that a South Korean force already had reached the Korean-Manchurian border "are in error."

There was no resistance, except for small arms fire in a few spots. Nor was there any evidence of a big convoy moving southward to oppose the United Nations cleanup campaign.

The Far East Air Forces reported a cluster of miscellaneous vehicles was strafed and rocketed by fighter planes Tuesday. Fifty-five vehicles were destroyed, 40 damaged.

That was at Mupyeong, 30 miles southwest of Kanggye, near the Manchurian border about midway across the Korean peninsula. Kanggye has been reported the mountain retreat of the refugee Red regime.

The Red Korean communiqué, as broadcast by Moscow Radio, spoke of "heavy defensive battles" north of the captured Communist capital of Pyongyang.

The Philippines combat team, one of the United Nations forces arriving belatedly in Korea, was mentioned officially in Tokyo for the first time. A headquarters spokesman said it is active in mopping up die-hard Red guerrillas southwest of Waegwan, in South Korea, near the old Pusan beachhead perimeter.

Guerrillas were active in several areas. The main railway line between Taegu and Taejon was cut for several hours by raiders who ambushed a patrol.

A by-passed pocket of an estimated 2,000 Reds 14 miles south of the east coast port of Wonsan threatened, for a while, to cut a rail line. MacArthur's headquarters said.

The allied spearheads driving north continued to pick up big stores of abandoned Communist equipment.

In captured Huihchon, the South Korean Sixth Division captured 50 boxcar loads of ammunition and 20 Russian built tanks—damaged, but needing only minor repairs.

Acheson Rejects Soviet Proposal Uniting Germany

Bitter Statement
Blames Germany's Plight On Russian Activities

Washington, Oct. 25—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson turned down today a Soviet bloc proposal for a new big power effort to establish a single German government.

The proposal was made Saturday following a two-day conference at Prague of Russian Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov and foreign ministers of seven satellite nations.

Acheson in a statement blamed Germany's plight on Russia's post-war actions. The proposal made at Prague, he said, "should be directed to the government of the Soviet Union."

Russia, he declared, could make the postwar Potsdam agreement "one hundred per cent complete in Germany by taking the required steps in the Soviet zone."

"The time has long since passed when the world can be stirred to hope by general phrases from the Soviet Union about disarmament and peace and German unity," Acheson said.

"We who have striven so hard to win actions—we want the threatening East German army disbanded, the capricious restraints on internal German trade removed, and free democratic elections held in all Germany."

"We want an end to threats such as that uttered by the Communist Ulbricht, deputy head of the East German regime, on August 3, when he declared that the government of the federal republic would share what he hoped was going to be the fate of the Republic of Korea."

Acheson gave reporters at a news conference a 900-word statement which took up and dismissed one by one the proposals advanced at Prague. The statement concluded:

"We will always hope for and welcome tangible proof that Soviet intentions have changed. The Prague statement gives us no such proof. Instead it abuses by its perversion of language the world's hope for peace and understanding, for an end to fear and threats. Against that abuse I raise a solemn protest."

Will Stop Short

Tokyo, Thursday, Oct. 25—(AP)—Informed sources today said U. S. and British troops in Korea will stop at least 20 miles short of the Manchurian border.

They said the purpose was to minimize the dangers of a border clash. Korea borders on Russian Siberia as well as on Red China's Manchuria.

South Korean forces will go on to the border in pursuit of Korean Communist remnants, these sources said.

One Of Cars Involved In Collision On Tuesday

The above car was one of two automobiles involved in an accident at the intersection of Raleigh Avenue and Chestnut Street yesterday afternoon which seriously injured a Greenville woman. The car above belonged to David L. Jones of Farmville, who has been charged by Greenville police with careless and reckless driving and speeding. His car collided with an automobile driven by Mrs. R. S. Broughton of Greenville. (Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee).

Woman Injured In Auto Collision

Mrs. R. S. Broughton
Hospitalized After Wreck Tuesday

A Greenville woman was seriously injured early yesterday afternoon when the automobile which she was driving was in collision with another car at the intersection of Raleigh Avenue and Chestnut Street.

Mrs. R. S. Broughton of Greenville was taken to Pitt General Hospital in an unconscious condition shortly after the accident and she did not regain consciousness until later in the evening. The nature of her injuries has not yet been determined.

Shortly before noon today the woman's condition was listed as somewhat improved but x-rays are scheduled to be taken this afternoon. Attending doctors stated that she has a serious head injury.

David L. Jones of Farmville, driver of the other car, was arrested by Greenville police and charged with speeding and careless and reckless driving. He posted bond and was released this morning police reported.

State Dept. Policies Endorsed By Bonner

Congressman Covers Domestic And Foreign Affairs In Address At College. Answers
Critics Of Socialistic Trend

Congressman Herbert Bonner of the First Congressional District of North Carolina expressed confidence in the State Department of the government Tuesday evening, October 24, in a talk made before members of the International Relations club of East Carolina Teachers College.

He spoke on United Nations Day, describing the occasion as a "glorious birthday for the UN, for us, and for all peace-loving nations in the world."

Approximately 150 students and faculty members of the organization were present to hear Mr. Bonner. Dr. A. D. Frank, director of the East Carolina social studies department, introduced the speaker as one who went from "the original Washington" to Washington, D. C., to become known as "one of the hardest-working and most efficient committee members in Congress."

Both domestic and foreign policies of the United States received the attention of the Congressman in his talk at East Carolina. Replying to those who have Utopian ideas of perfection in government, he stated that there is no "cure all" for abuses, some of which are bound to arise. Some people, he said, are critical of a socialistic trend in government. Yet, he stated, the nation, and especially the South, has been benefited by policies of recent years, such as those providing for federal expenditures for better roads and rural electrification.

"We have the freedom we hold dear," he maintained. "The world is a testing ground, a proving ground. Adversity helps strength," he said, and added that, whatever our faults may be, we have the resources and the strength to keep our liberties.

Notwithstanding "malicious attacks in the press," he stated, the policies of our State Department are based on the "principles of justice and freedom which we live by and on which our Constitution is founded."

The policies of the United Nations have the same foundation in principles, he said.

He praised President Truman for his stand on the Korean situation. American strength, as well as dollars, are behind the UN, he declared.

Speaking of Russia, he said, "We must not be found wanting if one of the world's greatest countries in natural resources chooses a belligerent role in the world." He referred to President Truman's statement Tuesday that this country will disarm if assurances of peaceful intent and of good faith are given by other nations.

Otherwise, he said, "We will be strong help others be strong, put our arms around them, and fight." It is necessary, he stated, that Americans should shoulder the cost of rearming themselves and other friendly nations. "What is your dollar to you?" he asked, "if you have lost your freedom?"

Signs Of Winter

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 62 degrees. Incidentally, it was 62 at 8 a. m. yesterday morning. Lowest last night, 58 degrees, and at 8 a. m. today the mercury stood at 59.

Lowering temperatures have been recorded here regularly during the past week.

A light shower fell here yesterday.

Invasion Of Tibet Said Under Way

Peiping Radio Announces 'Liberation' Move By Red Chinese Forces

Tokyo Oct. 25—(AP)—Radio Peiping broadcast today that Chinese Reds are moving on Tibet mid-Asian country seldom seen by white men.

The Red radio said the purpose of the Chinese Communist advance was "to free 3,000,000 Tibetans from Imperialist oppression."

It did not mention the size of the Chinese force its destination or whereabouts.

Nomadic Tibet is ruled by yellow robed Lamaist priests. It covers 470,000 square miles in the lofty Himalaya mountains and often is called "the top of the world." In winter it is almost inaccessible by land approaches.

The grave news of a possible new Communist inspired war in Asia this time on the opposite side of China from Korea, swept Asian capitals.

At New Delhi, the Indian Foreign Minister said it had reports of "certain troop movements and incursions" by Chinese Reds along the China-Tibet border.

But it had no direct word of a Chinese invasion of Tibet, where already winter snows and icy mountain passes would make travel by foot soldiers difficult if not impossible.

Neither Washington nor Hong Kong, a good Oriental listening post had any report of a Sino-Red move against the Priestly government of Tibet.

The Peiping broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said the Red army's "liberation" move was disclosed in a dispatch from Chungking, China, Tuesday.

The dispatch said: "A political mobilization directive to people's (Communist) army units, which have been ordered to advance into Tibet to free 3,000,000 Tibetans from Imperialist oppression and to consolidate the National defense of the western border of China, has been issued jointly by the southwest China bureau of the Communist party of China, the southwest military area, and the headquarters of the second field army."

After the Red broadcast a Tibetan delegation left New Delhi for Peiping to try to talk with the Chinese Communist regime on Tibet's future.

The seven-man delegation is expected to reach Peiping in mid-November. It left Tibet in April.

Tibet maintains it is autonomous. The Reds insist it is part of China. The mountainous country declared its independence centuries ago. China recognized its autonomy in 1914.

Openly Threaten Austria May Be Cut In Two Zones

Vienna, Oct. 25—(AP)—Communist newspapers openly threatened today that Austria might be split in two—just like Germany—before long.

The threat came as the Russians countermanded an Austrian government order suspending five pro-Communist district police chiefs in Soviet sectors of Vienna.

It was a Russian action just like this that was partially responsible in 1948 for the East-West split of Berlin.

The suspended police chiefs still were at their desks this morning. They refused to obey orders from the Vienna police president and the Austrian government to leave.

The Communist newspaper "Volksstimme" asserted today that the western allies were "creating on American orders, a police force against the Austrian people."

Mobilization Steps

An Attempt To Clarify The Picture Of What Has Been Done In The Little More Than A Month The Defense
Program Has Been Underway; Truman's Policies

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 25—(AP)—The defense program here at home—called the mobilization program—has been under way a little more than a month.

But the odds are that by now you're pretty foggy on a lot of it. And no wonder. A lot of stuff has been pouring out of here every day. A new step here, a new agency there, a new agency head. After a while it gets too piled up for any newspaper reader to keep the whole picture clear.

So, just as a refresher, here's a quick run-down on the way the program has been put in motion so far.

On Sept. 1 Congress passed the Defense Production Act to give the government power to set up rules for avoiding inflation while at the same time getting arms produced without weakening the civilian economy.

On Sept. 8 President Truman signed the act into law. Since then he has followed two major lines:

1. In most cases he has depended on the regular government departments or agencies, already in existence, to handle the different parts of the problem.

2. He created one important new agency—the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA)—to handle price and wage controls, if they become necessary.

And over all this as a kind of combination soothsayer-trouble-shooter-and-Mr.-Fixit he has appointed W. Stuart Symington.

Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, was asked by Mr. Truman to try and iron out conflicts among the various departments and agencies handling defense problems.

Take ESA first. To head this Mr. Truman named Dr. Alan Valentine, educator and member of the board of directors of several corporations.

ESA has two main parts:

1. A wage stabilization board of nine men. It will be the job of this board to advise Valentine on how the government should hold down wages if wage and price controls become necessary. It will also have

American Legion Auxiliary Hears Talk On Girls State

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. W. R. Jones on Monday afternoon. The hostesses were Mesdames W. D. Barre, J. L. Evans, A. D. Frank, E. L. Baker, Jack Moyer, Dr. L. L. Rives and G. H. Winters.

Mrs. J. R. Worsley, president, presided. The meeting was opened by a salute to the flag, reading of the preamble in unison, followed by prayer.

The secretary read the minutes and the treasurer gave her report. The Auxiliary voted to send 50 cartons of cigarettes to our patients in our veterans hospitals for Thanksgiving.

Several Christmas gifts were brought in for our gift shops. Other gifts will be brought in and all sent off by the last of this month.

It was voted that we have "auxiliary stationery" ordered for our official use.

Mrs. W. C. Harris accepted the position as chairman of the legislative committee.

Mrs. Worsley announced that our area conference meeting will be held in Rocky Mount on October 31st. Nine members said they expected to attend.

For our program, Miss Molly Jean Hester gave us a most interesting talk on "Girl State," which she attended as one of our delegates in Raleigh in June. She told us the purpose of this patriotic project is to train young people for future leadership. In them the girls set up and operate a state government of their own for a week, holding election campaigns, electing local and state officials and carrying out all the functions of democratic government. She said this was the first time that our governor had spoken to Girl State and attended the banquet. The girls visited State College.

Funeral Today For Mrs. Dave R. Perkins

Funeral services for Mrs. Della Coltrane Perkins, 73, widow of Dave R. Perkins of near Stokes, who died at New Forest Convalescent Home near New Bern at nine o'clock Tuesday morning after several months of illness, were conducted at the home near Stokes this afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. A. B. Ayers, Primitive Baptist minister of near Williamson, and burial was in the Perkins family cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Perkins was born and reared in Martin County and had lived in Pitt County for forty years. In 1892 she was married to Dave R. Perkins, who died in 1924. She was a member of the Robersonville Baptist Church.

Surviving are a son, Church L. Perkins of Greenville; a daughter, Mrs. J. R. James of Stokes; a grandson; two brothers, Ira Coltrane of Jarramsville and James H. Coltrane of Williamson; and two sisters, Mrs. Walter Mobley and Mrs. A. F. Lilly of Williamson.

Wesley Philathea Class Meets With Mrs. R. R. Taylor The Wesley Philathea Class of Jarvis Memorial Church held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night at the home of Mrs. R. R. Taylor on Harding Street. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. J. R. Barker, Mrs. W. D. Bailey, Mrs. J. L. Russell, Mrs. J. B. Mallison and Mrs. Wiley Brown.

The president, Mrs. J. B. Smith, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. J. R. Barker gave a beautiful devotional on "Goodness" and suggested many qualities of goodness that can be developed for richer personal living.

A brief business session was conducted by the president. Roll was called, with 28 members responding, and minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given and dues were collected.

It was voted to send the sum of $50 to the Methodist Orphanage to provide clothes for the newly adopted six-year-old "daughter," who will be a special interest of the class as long as she remains at the orphanage.

A report was given by Miss Lill Wilson, after which the hostesses served tasty refreshments before the meeting was adjourned.

Dr. Pingel Gives Club Program The Literature Department met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Aman on Tuesday, October 24. Mrs. H. R. Phillips and Mrs. W. S. Krausnick were assisting hostesses. A large bowl of white chrysanthemums was the center of interest on the dining room table. After a delicious dessert course was served, Mrs. Phillips, vice-chairman, presided.

Mrs. W. C. Harris, program chairman, presented Dr. Martha Pingel of the English Department of the College. Dr. Pingel spoke on "Contemporary Poetry, Escape and Reality." She helped her very interested audience to understand better the aims of our contemporary poets and why they sometimes seem obscure. She illustrated her points with examples from a variety of modern poets and then delighted her audience with selections from her own book of verse soon to be published. Her frank explanations as to how her own poems came to be written, how they grew out of daily experience, sometimes humorous, sometimes sad, sometimes peculiar, sometimes commonplace, made writing verse seem a very natural and fascinating thing to try to do.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. George Renfro from Spartanburg, South Carolina and Mrs. R. Markham.

The next meeting of the Literature Department will be held on November 14 at the home of Mrs. J. O. Wooten.

Faculty Wives Club Meets In Parlors Of Flanagan Building The Faculty Wives Club of East Carolina Teachers College met on Tuesday night in the parlors of the Flanagan Building.

The speaker for the evening was Mr. Robert Holt, the new director of religious activities on the campus. He spoke on "Religion in the Home," emphasizing the necessity for home instruction in the spiritual and character training of the children. He suggested a daily devotional period in which all members of the family participate. Worship material used in the home should be simple and brief so that the children can understand it. Parents should show a respect for the church, the Bible and religion, because their attitude is reflected in the children's expression.

Mrs. Meredith N. Posey entertained the members with the rendition of several folk songs, accompanying herself on the guitar.

A brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. F. D. Duncan, after which a social hour followed.

The parlors were decorated with fruit and autumn leaves arrangements, and the refreshments were suggestive of Halloween. Hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Paul Toll, chairman, Carl Adams, Austin Bond, J. N. McDill, Paul Murray, W. E. Marshall, M. N. Posey and

Attend Opening Of New Exhibit Of Paintings

Exhibit Of Wood Cuttings Opens Second Showing At Community Art Center

At the Community Art Center at Sheppard Memorial Library on Tuesday afternoon, the second art exhibit of the year was formally opened with a showing of oils painted by Mrs. Georgia Pearsall Hearne and a collection of woodcuts by Albrecht Durer.

At 3:00 p.m. Dr. Clemens Sommer, professor of art history at the University of North Carolina, made a gallery talk on the master painter Durer and the particular selection of woodcuts, known as the "Revelation Series," which were on display.

An enthusiastic and interested audience of college art students, under the supervision of their art teacher, Francis Neel, a few high school students, and art lovers in general heard the stimulating and inspired discussion presented by Dr. Sommer.

Albrecht Durer (1471-1528), one of the truly great German artists of all time, lived and worked during the period when Europe was emerging from the darkness of the Middle Ages to the dawn of the Renaissance. A man of amazing intellect, keen perception and deep feeling, he was a great interpreter of events through his artistic work. He was famous as an engraver on copper and on wood, as well as gaining immortality as a painter, and his memory is sacred to Germany today.

Dr. Sommer brought out in his discussion of Durer and his work the fact that woodcutting is an extremely intricate process, requiring intensity of concentration, tranquility of mind, and perfect coordination between eye and hand. Durer was known as a perfectionist and every stroke of his brush and cut of his pen had a special significance.

The "Revelation Series," as the woodcuts now on display at the gallery are called, were given by Mrs. Forbes Hawkes of New York City, to Mrs. Howard Manning of Raleigh, with the request that they be presented to an Art Gallery or an Art Museum of Mrs. Manning's personal selection. In 1949 Mrs. Manning gave the prints to the North Carolina State Art Gallery collection. They have been recently framed and are now being shown in art galleries throughout the state for the first time.

The series was originally cut as illustrations for a printed edition of the Book of Revelations and were bound in a folio with the passages of Scripture for which they were designed. Each print is a combination of action, the whole forming a complete continuity of the artist's interpretation of the destruction of the present world and the creation of the new world to come. In every print the significance of the number seven is emphasized and the whole group is a symbolic interpretation of Durer's time.

Mrs. Hearne's oils, seventeen in number, included twelve portraits, two coats of arms, two still life studies, and a study in nudes. They evoked much interest and comment and were fine examples of the artist's industry and talent of the local artist. Mr. Roby Spar, a graduate stu-

Speaker Views Doubtful Outlook For Philippines

A pessimistic outlook for the future of the Philippines was expressed last night by Naval Lieutenant Walter French as he spoke to members of the Greenville unit of the Naval Reserve.

French stated the government is so overrun with corruption and graft that the future of the new republic is very insecure.

French was speaking from a first hand viewpoint. Recently he moved to Greenville as an insurance salesman after spending three years in the Philippines in the mahogany business. He opened his lumber mill soon after he was discharged from the Navy.

Infiltration of Communists from China is one of the reasons for the poorly-run government, French stated. And, too, many of the natives are members of the Communist party through their affiliation with the Huk, a wartime guerrilla army used to fight the Japanese, and lately converted to pillaging and fighting by the Communists.

French left his lumbering enterprise when he saw the handwriting on the wall concerning the decline of native enterprises and came back to the States.

He was introduced last night by Program Chairman Lt. George Shoe. Shoe gave a brief summary on the position of the Philippines in the north Pacific chain of defense.

Also speaking on the program was Lt. (jg) John Jones who recently was on active duty for a two-week period with the Navy in Charleston, headquarters of the Sixth Naval District.

Red Oak News

The "Harvest Sale and Supper" held at the Red Oak Community building last Friday night by the members of Red Oak Church was an outstanding success. The wonderful cooperation of the church members, the neighborhood folks and friends from Greenville and Winterville was responsible for the best sale ever held. Total receipts were $540.00 and after all expenses had been taken care of, we had $465.00 clear. This gave us enough to finish paying for our church carpet and tile for the vestibule and left a balance of $110 which we have set aside as a start for new pews and altar furniture which is needed very badly. We sincerely thank all who in any way contributed to the success of this auction.

Our regular fifth Sunday Hymn Festival will be held at the Red Oak Branch Church next Sunday, Oct. 29, beginning at two-thirty o'clock. We invite choirs from other churches to participate in the singing and all who enjoy hearing the old-fashioned hymns sung in the old-fashioned way are invited to attend. Let's fill the church!

Report Red Plot To Seize Islands

Manila, Oct. 25—(P)—The National Defense department says it has discovered a secret Communist master plan to overthrow the Philippines government. It said the Reds planned an army of 116,000 men to begin the revolution next year.

Discovery of the asserted plan at Communist headquarters resulted in suspension of the writ of habeas corpus for all suspected subversives by President Quirino.

Many foreign diplomats today unofficially requested—and were given—copies of Quirino's proclamation.

The defense department today said the secret Red plan called for 35 divisions totalling 116,000 men trained to overthrow the government in November of next year.

Experts said the plan was well suited to conditions in the Island. Military intelligence agents attributed the language of the plan to Luis Taruc, Red leader of the Hukbalahap Guerrillas.

The government is holding without charge and without bail 99 of 105 persons arrested in raids on Communist headquarters.

Strength for the Day
BY EARL L. DOUGLAS
ROOT GROWTH AND TOP GROWTH
"What can we do about this tree? It looks as if it isn't going to live very much longer."
The tree expert examined the ground around the tree for a few minutes and then gave this judgment: "Dig around the tree and work peat moss into the soil. Then cover the soil with two inches of peat moss. By doing that you will hold in the moisture and force root growth. And as you force root growth you will get top growth."
Added root growth results in added top growth—that is the formula. And it is the formula not only for trees but for everything else in life. There are a lot of business failures every year largely because business fundamentals are in some way violated. Firms that pay attention to the fundamentals usually pay dividends.
There is a lot of stuff labeled education which is being handed out today, and a lot of it is not education at all, for the simple reason that it never gets down to the fundamentals of life. It isn't practical, it isn't intellectually sound, and it doesn't take into account such eternal verities as moral character and religious faith.
Force root growth and you will get top growth. That is the formula.

Voting Is A Duty And Privilege
There'll probably be a lot of disappointed people who go to the polls in Greenville township when election day rolls around on November 7. If things don't change drastically, there are going to be a lot of people who have voted in previous years who will not be registered for the coming election.
Admittedly there is only a luke-warm interest in the coming election as far as Pitt counties are concerned, and "luke-warm" may be placing the interest a couple of degrees higher than it really is. Nevertheless the election is as important to the people of Greenville township and North Carolina as any held in a number of years. Actually there will be two senators elected, the congressman from the first congressional district, and other important officials. Then too, there are five amendments to the constitution of North Carolina which must be voted by the people of the state on November 7. These amendments alone are of great import to the people.
The election deserves attention and interest.

Yet in Greenville township at present the number of registered voters is approximately 1,800—or about one-fifth of the number which were on the books until the new registration was ordered by the county board of elections. Since the books have opened for the new registration, there have been alarmingly few names placed on the list of eligible voters. And there remain only three more days in which people may register for the November 7 election. The books will close on Saturday, October 28. Those who have not registered in Greenville township in the new registration will not be allowed to cast their ballots on election day.
There is little likelihood that the Republican candidates will be winners in the elections in North Carolina, but regardless of the party affiliations, eligible people should register and vote.

There are three more days of registration for Greenville township. The Reflector urges the eligible people to register now and vote on election day November 7.

That Gang Is At It Again
It sometimes makes our face redden with anger to hear the statements of the admitted communists in the United States who advocate the forceful overthrow of our government in one breath, and in the next cry out they are being deprived of their constitutional rights by having to register as communists.
In a sense it hardly seems logical that the communists who are seeking to destroy the American constitution itself and all that the great document stands for, should be accorded protection under the document.
Junius Scales, chairman of the Carolina district of the communist party in the United States, has announced he has no intentions of registering under the internal security act of this year. He says his group will "fight to have this law declared unconstitutional in the courts, including the highest court—that of public opinion."

The Reflector has little doubt that the land's highest judicial court will uphold the disputed law. And as for Scales carrying the matter to "the highest court—that of the people," we are inclined to advise him he will fare better if he confines his fight against the law to the legal courts. We have an idea the official courts will listen more patiently (if at all) to his yelpings than the general public would.

The Finale Of The Jolson Story
In the death of Al Jolson the American public has lost a great friend and an even greater entertainer.
Not since the days of Will Rogers has a man so endeared himself to the hearts of the American people through his ability as an entertainer. Jolson won the friendship and the admiration of today's adult generation back in the days of vaudeville and the first talking movies. His great come-back in the entertainment world during the past few years has won for him a place in the hearts of the young generation of Americans. So, for yet another generation American parents will tell their offspring, "That song may sound good to you, but if you had heard Jolson..."
Another of the all-time greats of show business has passed from the American scene, and with him, we are afraid, died the era of jazz-singer entertainers which he created.

National Whirligig
News Behind The News
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—President Truman's deliberate decision to shift all emphasis from domestic to foreign problems during the remaining years of his present term represents an extremely shrewd political stroke. Once again, he and his advisers are imitating the strategy that Franklin D. Roosevelt found so successful from 1940 until his death.

The Truman changeover is based, in part at least, on nationwide reports that Democratic candidates for both Senate and House are repudiating his "fair deal" program to win reelection.
Instead of asking for a vote of confidence in the Administration at Washington, they are running on their own personal platforms. Not in years has there been a campaign in which it was such a case of "every man for himself."
Thus, even if the Democrats retain control on Capitol Hill by a narrow or even an increased margin, there is no possibility that Mr. Truman's five-year-old pledges of creating a tight welfare state akin to Britain's socialistic regime will be redeemed.

EXAMPLE—The sub rosa explanation for this severing of party ties, the breakup of party solidarity and desertion of President Truman is that many prominent Democrats realize that they can win only through the aid of Republican votes. In their opinion, there are many conservatives who support the Administration's general foreign program, but detest proposed reforms at home.

Connecticut affords a spectacular and significant example of political topsy-turveness because it involves Senator Brien McMahon, the able chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. Seeking reelection along with him are Senator William Benton and Governor Chester Bowles, erstwhile partners of the well-known advertising firm of that name.
The two neopositives are staging a whoopla, razzle-dazzle show worthy of a whole family of Barnums and Baileys. Doubtless, they feel the need to spellbind the Nutmeg Yankees because Mr. Bowles was elected by only a few thousand votes, and Mr. Benton is Senator only by a Bowles appointment.

BUSINESSLIKE—Mr. McMahon, however, thinks he knows his New Englanders better than his carpet-bagging associates. He is conducting a quiet, businesslike campaign on his own.
Another reason for his aloofness may be that he figures the firm of Benton & Bowles too heavy a load to carry. Current betting is that Mr. McMahon has the best chance of winning, although Connecticut usually votes Republican in off-years.

Although advertised as a "great liberal," Mike Monroney of Oklahoma has thrown overboard the Brannan farm plan and compulsory health insurance. Even so, there is no assurance that he will defeat his senatorial opponent, the Reverend William Alexander. It's hard to beat a platform based on the Bible and the Ten Commandments.

"WPA"—In Illinois, Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas is soft-pedalling domestic questions, especially the two-price farm subsidy plan advocated by Messrs. Truman and Brannan.
In view of the state's vast foreign-born population and the numbers with friends and relatives abroad, Mr. Lucas describes the Marshall Plan as virtually another WPA for his constituents. He points out that the more money Uncle Sam contributes overseas, the less his voters have to send to the old country.

SOLO—The Republicans have their own difficulties on this score. Although GOP candidates have no national Administration or program to forget or repudiate, they are singing solo tunes on the stump.
Friends of Representative Richard Nixon of California, for instance, complain because Governor Earl Warren has not teamed up with the Nixon campaign for the U. S. Senate.
Mr. Warren is making the same quiet, friendly and non-partisan battle he waged when he ran for V.P. in 1948. He relies on Democratic votes to enable him to defeat James Roosevelt, realizing that a smashing victory over the "crown prince" will restore him to the presidential limelight.
The other member of the GOP's 1948 national ticket—Governor Thomas E. Dewey—also irritates Republican candidates for the House. In general, he supports the Administration's foreign policy, although almost every man in the GOP House delegation voted for Taft-Tabor proposals to reduce overseas appropriations, and criticized details of the Marshall Plan operations.
In short, it is a crazy political year.
"FIELD"—Friends of General Douglas A. MacArthur are skeptical of statements by "anonymous" Administration spokesmen that he and President Truman saw eye to eye on all phases of our Far Eastern policy. They doubt whether the General is reconciled to abandoning Formosa and negotiating a peace treaty with Japan that would deprive us of air and naval bases there.
The skeptics base their suspicion on their realization that MacArthur is a precisionist in speech and writing. He is extremely proud of his command of language. He spends hours in preparing an address or communique, in the Napoleonic tradition.
They note that his main comment after the meeting with Truman was that "No commander in the field ever had finer support than I did," or words to that effect. The key phrase, according to this theory, is "in the field." That is, he was given all the men and munitions he needed, but that there was something lacking in the field of world politics and diplomacy.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.
After writing the third of three columns about Charlie Justice, the famous All-America football player of the University of North Carolina, I promised myself that I had said enough about Charlie. Everything had been covered about him, including an interview with his wife, and a comment about the time Wife Rachel bumped into him in a drug store in Chapel Hill without even realizing who he was. As a bystander, I was glad W.R. wasn't hurt by the collision, and almost as glad Charlie wasn't. Carolina was to play Duke that weekend, and an injury to Charlie would have been almost as tragic as one to Rachel.
In spite of my promise to quit writing about Charlie, it seems impossible, because his decision to play professional football has brought his name back on the lips of every football fan in the state. In September Charlie was the spark plug in the College All Stars' upset victory over the pros, and since then the managers have been even hotter on Choo Choo's trail than ever before. An offer reported to be between $40,000 and $60,000 for three years' play lured Charlie to the Washington Redskins camp. His first game was, of course, last Sunday, when the Redskins met the Chicago Cardinals. Of the 27,000 fans at the National Capital for the game, over two thousand were drawn from North Carolina, and you know they made the trip for the sole purpose of watching Choo Choo. Another factor: this was the largest crowd the Redskins have drawn all year. Even at that, it seems meager compared to the forty-odd thousand that fill Kenan Stadium Saturday after Saturday to watch the Carolina team, minus Justice.
The night Charlie starred for the College All Stars was not desirable for television reception in Greenville. Despite that fact, I saw some of that game, and the screen was clear when Charlie flipped a pass to Art Wetner, also a Carolina All American and a teammate of Charlie's during his four years at UNC.
Sunday the Washington Redskins will play away from home, in Philadelphia, I believe. According to Harry Wismer, sports director of the American Broadcasting Company, WTAR in Norfolk will carry the Redskins game on television. That means that if television reception is good that day in Greenville, local fans with TV sets will have a chance to see Charlie in action. If you aren't a TV owner, this notice should give you ample time to invite yourself into a TV home. Incidentally, I have no TV set.
And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN MISSET Raleigh, N. C.
RECREATION — Planned recreation has become a twenty-five billion dollar business in the United States, and is becoming increasingly important as a problem for municipal governments. Mayors and members of city and town governing boards devoted the greater part of their group conference at the N. C. League of Municipalities meeting in Asheville to this topic. In spite of the large sums of public tax money, supplemented by substantial private donations, spent on playgrounds and parks, guided recreational activities for both children and adults, there remains a high degree of "recreational illiteracy," the city officials were told.
RACIAL—Added to the traditional problems of financing such supervision of play-time facilities, the city fathers are confronted now with the bugaboo of racial segregation. This issue is rapidly becoming as acute at municipal golf courses and swimming pools as it is in the public schools. The recreational angle gives the city folks more concern, because it is their direct responsibility, whereas municipal government as such has very little to do with administering the public school system. The idea of "separate but equal" facilities is more difficult of application to playgrounds and parks, because of the relatively smaller demand on part of non-white people. It was conceded that the same threat of forced compliance with this idea or complete abolition of the segregation principle hangs over the recreational field in same degree as over the educational set-up. Administrators are faced with the supreme court mandate in this state.
NECESSITY — Publicly financed and supervised recreation is a growing necessity as working hours are shortened and people have more time for play. Expanding population and industrial development have rendered unavailable many of the privately owned areas formerly open for general use—such as the old creek swimming hole, the corn field baseball grounds, and the little used streets in city residential sections. Unreasonable demands for too rapid development result in loss of some of the contemplated public facilities. One mayor plaintively commented that they might give up the golf courses and swimming pools, but the problem would remain.
TRAFFIC — The municipal executives had numerous special problems involving fiscal and legal matters, but traffic regulation and playgrounds occupied more general attention because they directly affect so many more people. Considerable time was devoted to traffic control, particularly the problem of parking. The discussion was led by Prof. W. F. Babcock of State College engineering school, and a specialist in traffic. He said the problem had become acute, largely because of default on part of municipalities in studying needs of their communities. There are three distinct, and almost equally important facets of the question—engineering, administration and policing. Any solution is bound to be a compromise, because economic and human needs cannot always be made to fit into exact engineering specifications.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

POOR JUDGMENT (Washington Daily News)
It is becoming increasingly evident that more and more college and high school graduates are deliberately failing the army educational test so that they will not have to enter the armed services, we are told.
We are told further that the situation is so bad in places that many people are becoming alarmed.
Many people who have not had advantages and who are poorly educated are seeing through the scheme. And while these people go to these educational examinations—determined to do their best, it is cruel to realize that a Bachelor of Arts in the next chair has failed to meet the standards required.
Perhaps these intellectual fools think they are being smarter that way. Perhaps they think that they are just too smart to fight. Perhaps they are afraid of the services. Many of us have been afraid many times, but that fear was borne out of desire to live rather than a dislike of our country.
To us, when a man deliberately sets out to fail an army educational examination, he is making a mockery out of it. He is not worthy to call himself an American. He is not only shirking his own duty, but he is making it more difficult on the poor fellow who does his best and barely passes.
What should be done with these fellows? We mentioned before that we think they should be put on the front lines and told to fight, or else. But those boys on the front lines who have been placed there as defenders of democracy would not appreciate such irresponsible buddies. Then the next best solution, or possibly the best, is to treat them just as the criminals they are.
The courts of our country should indict such ingrates, and they should make a few examples. The very idea of a man who has sense enough to get a college degree and then has too little sense to pass an army educational test is the very essence of stupidity. It's ridiculous and assinine to believe that a college graduate has no more sense than an idiot. Yet some of the I. Q. grades in the army would make morons out of many graduates. If we are to believe recent stories.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
The probability that manpower will become scarcer and more expensive to employ has caused many companies to launch studies to determine what employees they can do without.
Many have inaugurated time-study surveys and some of the findings would be jarring to management even if workers were abundant and wages were low, neither of which is true.
Some recent researches for the Controllers' Institute have been surprising. In some operations studied employers were getting as little as 25 per cent of the employee time for which they paid. The other 75 per cent vanished in sick leaves, time out for coffee, discussion of dates the night before, getting glasses of water, and old-fashioned back scratching.
Another study showed a surprising increase in the ratio between office and factory workers in the same plants. The ratio of office workers to factory workers appears to have doubled over the years recorded.
While these studies did not go into underlying causes, their findings did not put the blame entirely on employees.
It is true that shorter hours, union agreements for "breather" time, and union definitions of jobs that prohibit a worker from doing anything not within specification, have depressed the ratio between paid-for minutes and worked minutes. But the greater loss, it would appear from these various studies, is a result of employer to gauge the volume of work correctly, to allocate it properly, and to regulate the flow of detail efficiently.
That's why employers are now re-examining their operations for themselves. Some will find that they have lost efficiency and money by hiring too many in lower-paid categories and too few at higher-paid skills. They have saved pennies and lost dollars.
Others will find that they have staffed offices to meet peak work loads, instead of organizing the work loads to the most efficient use of available manpower.
In acting at this time, employers are escaping reprimands. Dropping excess personnel is less painful today when a labor shortage is developing than it would be in times of high unemployment. In fact, employers can comfort themselves with the theory that they are releasing workers to the defense program.
HERE'S A SHOP WITH TALK, TALK, TALK
"Retailing Daily" reports that a New York barber, finding barbering slow, took on a line of television sets to retail.
The barber, Vincent Morelli, says, "Now both my businesses are slow."
COMPANY PAYS A DIME FOR DATA ON SLOW-PAYS
The Federal Trade Commission has brought a complaint against the Federal Deposit System.
It says the company writes to certain people saying that if they answer questions about their job, home address and work, they will get a small sum of money.
Sure enough, they do. A dime. But the FTC says this is an unfair business practice for a collection agency.
NO TV TAX ON FLOOR STOCKS
When the new federal taxes on television sets and home freezers go into effect, retailers get one little break. Since the levies are made at the manufacturing level, there will be no floor tax on dealers' stocks, such as there has been when liquor taxes have been increased.
This may benefit consumers, too, since the tax should not be reflected in retail prices until replacements come in.
DRUGGISTS DON'T SELL HALF OF COSMETICS
Of 38 major cosmetic products, only 16 are purchased predominantly in drug stores, it is indicated in a survey by Mademoiselle magazine. Another 16 are predominantly sold in department stores, and 6 in five-n-dime stores. The other product, deodorants, is sold equally by drug and department stores.
NEW AND HOT
RAY-PROOF: Lead stops X-rays and so a spun lead glass has been developed (by Ray-Ray Products, Inc., 309 25th St., New York), as a material to be woven into gowns for nurses and doctors handling X-ray equipment.
HANGER: A knock-down closet of kiln-dried wood in maple finish is being marketed (by E-Z-DO, 261 Fifth Ave., New York 16), as a storing place for 30 to 40 garments, pegs for four hats and space for overshoes. Assembled, it occupies 38 inches of floor space.
ROCKER: Spring replacements for casters convert almost any baby's crib into a gently rocking cradle. A baby's squirming in the night actually rocks the youngster back to sleep, say the makers (The Engineering Co., 128 Eleventh Ave., New York 11).
CUTTING PRODUCE HANDLING COSTS
Ways by which fresh fruit and vegetable distributors can reduce costs of handling produce through better use of equipment are explained in a new illustrated booklet issued by the Production and Market Administration. The booklet reports reductions of 20 to 80 per cent in certain handling costs are possible with the improved methods described. The report — "How Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Distributors Can Get More Out Of Their Materials Handling Equipment" — is available from the Information Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.
REMEDY: A new compound for the control of screwworm, which costs huge livestock losses, has been developed by government scientists. Full details are available from the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Division of Insects Affecting Man and Animals, Kerrville, Tex.

Hal Boyle's Column

By TOM LAMBERT (For Hal Boyle)
Pyeongyang, Korea.—(AP)—The U. S. advance on Pyongyang once came to a halt for 15 minutes—to help one lone American in distress.
Tanks, guns and troops had been rolling up the road toward the Red North Korean capital through an autumn countryside vivid with color.
Now and then the tanks fired in angry roars. Machineguns chattered their annoyance at targets nearer the road.
Ahead U. S. warplanes bored through the air. Towers of smoke rose from towns and villages where their bombs and jelled gasoline fell.
Dotted trails of smoke puffed from their strafing guns. And then the stutter of the explosions from the 50-caliber cartridges came down the wind.
The riflemen in the advancing column paid little attention to the warplanes.
Then four F-51s came thundering over the column from a swift run on a nearby target.
The men in the column saw one plane waver and jerk up. The Plexiglas canopy fell off and flashed end over end in the sunlight.
The fighter plane tipped up on its left wing. It faltered and began its straight and seemingly certain dive to destruction.
At about 300 feet the pilot bailed out. His body hurtled for a moment like a bomb.
Jeeps, tanks and trucks squealed and groaned to a halt. There was furious profanity aimed either at the enemy gun that may have got him or at the mechanical failure. They knew not which.
"Well, goddamnit, let's go," a medical sergeant shouted. Medics carrying a litter ran into the field.
The three other F-51s flew over their fallen comrade in tight, whining circles. They wagged their wings, guiding the medics through the rice field.
The advance on Pyongyang was forgotten. Swearing infantrymen jumped from the trucks and started into the field. A tank lurched down from the road after them.
There was a village out there and the enemy could be lurking. And infantrymen love pilots for battering and softening the enemy—if men can be said to love those they never see face to face.
The medics found the pilot beneath the great white blossom of the opened parachute.
There was a blue bruise on his forehead. A thin streak of blood, like a red pencil mark, ran from his mouth.
A medic felt his pulse. "He's still alive," he said.
The medics picked up the pilot carefully. They carried the litter

Washington Letter

By WILBUR JENNINGS (For Jane Eads)
Washington—A group of visitors to Capitol Hill was startled when someone yelled "Everything is made for love!" From around the corner of a corridor appeared Alabama Congressman Frank Boykin. Waving his big green velvet hat, Boykin was extending his usual greeting to one and all.
It's a rare treat to hear him make a speech on the floor. He talks so fast that House reporters have a time keeping up with him.
He is a newspaperman's delight. "Quotes" flow from his lips as fast as one can jot them down.
When Miss Yolande Betheze of Boykin's home city of Mobile, Ala., was chosen Miss America, she came to Washington with Boykin as her host. For three days Boykin squirmed her about Washington. For the press, he immediately dubbed her an "angel from heaven."
Boykin is 65. He has been in Congress 15 years. His three-room suite in the old House office building is the best museum on the hill. His collections come from all over the world.
There are cases of guns, some once owned by desperado Jesse James, and a pair of spurs James once wore. Boykin's walls are covered with pictures of people and places. Amid all this collection hangs a big sign reading "Everything Is Made For Love."
The slogan has been with Boykin a long time. "I've used it for over 40 years," he says. "I don't remember when I said it the first time. But God made everything for love. And if every body loved it we would have a better world. We can't live without love. It's in everything that we do."

Big Welcome For Star Farmer

Tallahassee, Fla.—Forrest Davis, Jr., 21, Quincy, named Star Farmer of America at Kansas City convention of the Future Farmers of America, came home to a rousing welcome when he was met by Governor Fuller Warren, Gadsden County Tobacco Festival Queen Inez Sheffield and a host of fellow townsmen. An old fashioned barbecue was held at the Quincy baseball park and the town declared a holiday to honor the young shade grown tobacco farmer. Davis has been farming for eight years and has netted more than $45,000 from his efforts.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 25—(AP)—Mrs. Curtis B. Johnson was left controlling interest in the Charlotte Observer under her husband's will probated here yesterday.

Johnson, publisher of The Observer, died Oct. 6. The will was not discovered until yesterday when it was found among papers in an old suitcase at his home.

The will was written in 1947 and listed Johnson's interest in the paper as 57 1-2 per cent of the stock. The rest of the stock is held by heirs of the late Walter B. Sullivan, Johnson's former partner.

The will also provided $5,000 each for various department heads of the newspaper, $1,000 each for employees of more than 20 years, and $500 each for those of more than 10 years service.

Two Men Struck, Killed By Train

Gastonia, N. C., Oct. 25—(AP) A Southern Railway passenger train struck and killed two men here yesterday.

The men were identified by papers on their bodies as Francis K. Smith of Hickory and Clarence J. Rollins of Kershaw, S. C.

Police officer L. C. Baxley said a witness told him that the two men were sitting on the tracks when they were struck by the train.

Pitt Representative Outlines Basis Of Amendments To N. C. Constitution

Sam O. Worthington, Pitt County representative in the lower House of the General Assembly, in a recent speech at a meeting of Pitt County No. 38, American Legion explained the five amendments to the State Constitution to be voted on at the November general election.

His talk made such an impression on the legionnaires that many of them suggested that he outline in more detail the purpose of the proposed constitutional amendments for a newspaper story.

Neither one of the amendments represent any radical or fanatical change in any part of the state constitution, Worthington declared.

The legislator gives the following reasons for studying the amendments:

First, there is the amendment which has for its purpose to permit a person, when represented by counsel, to waive a bill of indictment in all cases except capital cases. This means simply that a person indicted for a crime, when represented by counsel, can waive the sending of a bill to the grand jury and the passing on that bill by the grand jury and proceed to trial, in any case except a capital case. Under our present system, a person might be indicted during a term of court in many of the counties of the state when the grand jury had already disbanded and being unable to give bond possibly have to remain in jail for many days before the next term of court. The passage of this amendment would enable that person to waive the bill of indictment when represented by counsel and have his case disposed of.

The second amendment has for its purpose to safeguard the funds of the Teachers and State Employees' Retirement System. It simply adds a new provision in the Constitution which provides that funds of the Teachers and State Employees Retirement System shall not be used for any purpose at any time other than for the purpose of the Retirement System and the administration thereof.

The third amendment has to do with the pay of the members of the General Assembly. Similar amendments have been voted on by the people and refused on at least two occasions. Attention has been called to the fact that the present pay of members of the General Assembly is $10.00 a day not to exceed 60 days, from which the members of the General Assembly have to pay their expense during a term of the Legislature even though the session might last for 90 or 100 days. The amendment offered at this time provides that the pay of the members of the General Assembly shall be $15.00 a day, not to exceed 90 days for a regular session and for a special session it shall be the same amount not to exceed 25 days. Under this amendment the most a member of the General Assembly could draw would be $1,350 and if a session lasted less than 90 days the members would draw only $15.00 per day for such time as served.

The fourth amendment provides for more than one Superior Court Judge in judicial districts. At the present time neither of the judicial districts in the State can have but one Superior Court judge. In at least two of the judicial districts there are regularly scheduled more than 100 weeks of court a year. There are only 52 weeks in a year. This means of course, that the other courts are held by special and emergency judges assigned to those courts. In many instances the regular judge in those districts uses all his time in hearings and matters outside of court. There is an urgent need for more regular judges in some of the districts. The growing population and the increase in business, particularly in the great industrial sections of the state, makes this almost mandatory.

The fifth amendment has for its purpose to give the chief justice of the Supreme Court the authority to assign judges and to call special terms of court which authority is now exercised by the Governor.

There is no thought or purpose in this amendment to take anything away from the governor. As a matter of fact, the Governors have been very strongly in favor of being relieved of the duties of having to assign judges and call special terms of court. The assigning of judges and the calling of special terms of court is a judicial problem and should be exercised by the Judiciary. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is in position to be better advised about the judges to hold certain courts and also the necessity for special terms of court and it seems to be logical that he should have this duty, it is believed.

Each of the above amendments were passed by the General Assembly of 1949 to be submitted to the voters in this general election. They were passed after mature consideration and are worthy of the favorable consideration of the people of the state. They are matters that are necessary, practical and should be adopted, it is hoped of them.

Representative Worthington said: "attention of all the voters in Green-

Report Farmers Born, Not Made

Ames, Ia. (AP)—A survey made by Iowa State College in a typical central Iowa county showed that in Iowa farmers are born, not made. More than half of those queried reported they relied on members of their family to provide them with their first farm.

On the other hand, only six percent of those surveyed started farming purely by investing their savings. Robert A. Rohrer, sociology professor, observed:

"When people argue that it's possible to start on a hired man's savings, they may be right. But our results show that very few have done it."

At the same time, he said, it does not mean that because a young farmer got his place through family help that he was given his start. Some were gifts, the survey showed, but most of the family help was in the form of loans, some at very low interest, use of land and equipment under very favorable conditions, and sale of land and equipment, often at low prices.

Native Korean Poverty Is Shock To Farmville Sailor

Farmville — Willie G. Joyner, United States Navy, who is on duty with United Nations forces in Korea, wrote his mother a letter of unusual dramatic and tragic interest from Inchon, where he was then stationed. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"Everything is pretty good, however, but I don't like it as much here as I did at Pusan. I work in the office and don't have anything to do with communications. I might later on. I am at Inchon, where they made the invasion. I am only a few miles from Seoul. I went to Kim-Po airport yesterday and I was within two miles of Seoul. I hope that I'll be able to go there before I leave here.

"We (the navy) are living with the army and they are really nice to us.

"Mother, I'll never complain again after seeing how these people have to live. It's a life that a dog in the States doesn't have. The Koreans don't have much to eat and hardly anything to wear. I'm glad the women and children back home don't have to fare like other people in the world. It's a hard life. If some of the people would come over here and see for themselves how common these people fare, they would be more thankful.

"Mother, the boys in service should never be forgotten. So often they are given a cold shoulder and criticized. Nothing is more deserving than a person who has given a good part of his life to make a better world or to give us freedom in the world.

"Mother, the life these people have to live and the things they have to do is something I'll never forget."

Dollar-Source In Gorilla Hunting

Brazzaville (French Equatorial Africa)—(AP)—France's African colonies' latest dollar earning device is a monopoly in capturing and selling high priced animals in the territories. Gorillas are especially sought after. Hunting licenses to private individuals are rarely given.

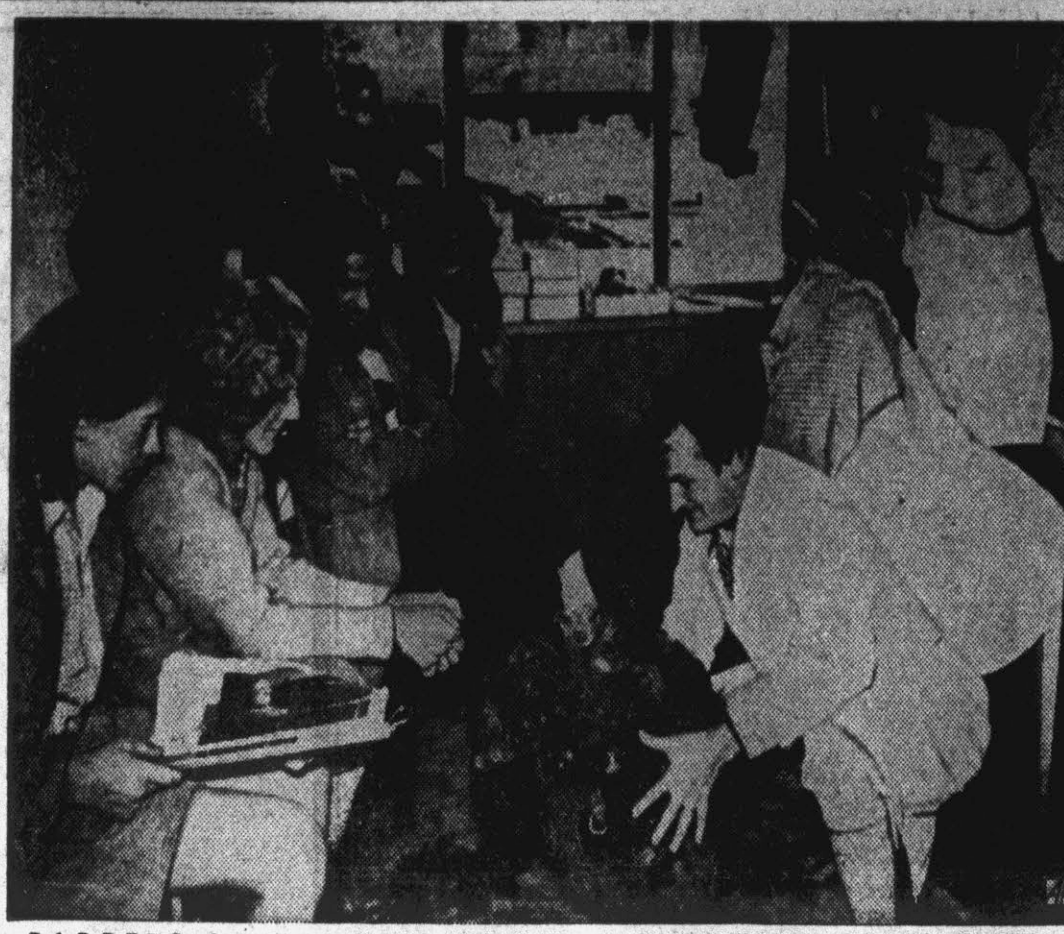

In keeping with this policy the administration last month started its first gorilla expedition. One hundred twenty five men and 75 women were mobilized. The women encouraged the hunters with chants. The European staff consisted of six experienced ape hunters.

Isaac Newton's experiments in 1666 determined that all the colors of the rainbow are present in pure white light, such as sunlight.

Austrians Proud Of Short Pants

Vienna (AP)—The pride and joy of most Austrian males is a pair of short, thigh-length leather pants which, through daily use and years of wear, are so stiff they will stand upright if you set them on the floor. These are "Lederhosen." For hundreds of years, they were a national peasant costume. 7-recent years they have made their way to the cities as a summer outfit. Even the Austrian Chancellor wears them.

Much to the shock of Austrian men, a woman editorial writer in a Vienna socialist newspaper now has bitterly denounced them as a national evil.

"With a people in Lederhosen anything can be done, provided it is primitive and lacks spirit and culture. Austrians in Lederhosen supported Hitler in 1938," she said. "One day, perhaps, Austrians in Lederhosen will do their national dance in front of the Kremlin."

A Viennese in a particularly black pair of Lederhosen replied bitterly: "She doesn't know what she is talking about."

Fire That Fights Fire

PORT ARTHUR, TEX.—A fitting symbol of fire prevention, this 200 ft. refinery flare burns up fire hazards before they start. Far from wasting gas—as often wrongly supposed—it actually is a safety valve. During emergencies it consumes excess gases before they can build up into explosive concentrations; stands 24-hour guard to burn off possibly dangerous fumes. This unusual view of night light at the Gulf Oil refinery here was taken in a 10-second exposure at F.11 with fast panchromatic film.

Set Record Paving Of Secondary Roads In N.C.

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 25—(AP)—A record-breaking total of 2,282.7 miles of secondary roads were paved in North Carolina during the past three months.

In addition, Highway Commission Chairman Henry W. Jordan said in a quarterly report yesterday, the commission now has completed 38.8 per cent of Governor Scott's 12,000 mile paving goal.

Through the July-September period, Jordan said the commission has finished roughly 20 per cent of its 35,000-mile stabilization goal. During a 30-month period the commission has added 4,658.5 miles of new hard-surfacing to the state's secondary road system.

The commission's statistics engineer, James B. Burch, declared that never before has a roadbuilding organization paved as much as 2,282 miles in an area the size of North Carolina in a three-month period.

Chairman Jordan said that having the unexpected state's $200,000,000 rural road bond program would be completed within the next 18 to 24 months. He declared that unexpected economies will make it possible for some highway divisions to exceed their original mileage quotas.

Over 150 People At Kiwanis Event

More than 150 persons were on hand Monday night to attend the first "District Governor and Ladies Night" program sponsored by the Greenville Lion's Club.

The even honored District Governor O. E. Dowd as well as the wives and guests of the clubs. Several district officials from other Lion's clubs were present for the meeting.

President Larry Averette presided over the meeting.

Invocation was given by Hartwell Campbell and the welcome by Bruce Sugg Jr. Response was given by Mrs. Tyson Bilbro.

A musical program under the direction of Dan Vornholt of the East Carolina Teachers College music faculty, was presented prior to the introduction of the guest speaker for the night.

Withers Harvey introduced Jesse Jones, lawyer from Kingston, who talked briefly to the assembled guests.

Harvey presented District Governor Dowd with a gift from the local club as a token of the fine work which he has rendered in the past months.

The regular "Ladies Night" will be held the first of next year.

The club had as its special guest, Eli Bloom, newly elected District Governor of Kiwanis in this region. It was pointed out that as far as it can be found out, Greenville is the only town which has the honor of having three district governors from the Lions, Kiwanis, and Rotary clubs at the same time.

Howard McGinnis, of the Rotary club, could not attend the meeting because of a previous engagement.

Soprano Here Thursday Evening

Eleanor Steber, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, (shown above in the role of Madame Butterfly in the Puccini opera) will sing at East Carolina Teachers College Thursday evening of this week at 8:00 o'clock in the Wright auditorium. The concert promises to be one of the most popular to be presented on the campus in recent years. Very few seats are now available, according to Ellen Rion Caldwell, chairman of the College Entertainment committee, sponsor of the program. Miss Steber, described as "lovely to look at, enchanting to hear" is an American singer who has become nationally famous and beloved through work in opera, on the concert stage, and over the radio.

Piney Grove News

Halloween is drawing near again and it's time for our annual Halloween Festival. It is to be held Halloween night, Tuesday, October 31, at the Red Oak Community building. We have a big night planned with all kinds of Halloween games, popularity and baby contests as well as a prize for the best costume. There will also be a door prize for some lucky man and woman.

This year the Senior Auxiliary has decided to help out and have a baked chicken supper from 5:30 to 7:45. They have a grand menu: Baked chicken, and all the trimmings. Tickets are very reasonable and may be obtained from any member of the auxiliaries or by calling 5256.

And that's not all: we plan to have cake walks and home-made cakes and candy will be on sale at our Harvest Sale. We hope that all of you will plan to fellowship with us at the Red Oak Community building on October 31. Come for supper and stay for the festival and harvest sale. The proceeds will go to the building fund at Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church.

Lt. and Mrs. Gene Brister and daughter Thelma Gene of Norfolk, Va. were home over the weekend visiting Mrs. Brister's mother, Mrs. Bernice Causey, and to attend the Tyson-Roberts wedding on Saturday. Mrs. Causey returned to Norfolk with them for a week's visit with the Bristers and her son, Mr. and Mrs. J. Graham Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tyson and little Joe of Henderson were also down for the weekend visiting Mr. Tyson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson. They also attended the Tyson-Roberts wedding.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Willie Pate had to leave yesterday for induction in the U. S. Marine Corps at Cherry Point. Our best wishes are extended him. Mr. Pate was formerly Pitt County Sanitation Officer.

Sincerest sympathy is extended to the family of the late Tom Heath in their bereavement.

A speedy recovery is wished for one of our church members, Mrs. Mamie Meeks who is ill at her home in Meadowbrook.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Little who have a new baby girl.

We have been missing Mr. Joe Pollard at Sunday School for the past month. He was a very active member of the Sunday School and all are wishing him a speedy recovery and hoping he will soon be back with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Cratch of Chocowinity were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Tyson last week. Mrs. Cratch is Mrs. Tyson's niece.

French Troops Again Fall Back From Red Threat

Saigon, Oct. 25—(AP)—A military spokesman said today French troops have been withdrawn from outlying positions around isolated Laokay, last French bastion on Indochina's northwest frontier.

From Laokay itself civilians were being evacuated by air to Hanoi, 150 miles to the southeast. The spokesman said the civilian evacuation was begun on the recommendation of military authorities.

French troops pulled in from Laokay's outposts were reported digging defense lines in anticipation of an assault by menacing guerrilla forces of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's Vietnam.

Laokay's principal outlying defense position at Muong Khuong, 18 miles to the northeast, was abandoned, the spokesman said. The troops moved back closer to Laokay.

Big Roundup For New York Gangs

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Memory of a four-year old election day murder sent police swooping down on dives and gang hangouts last night and today under orders to arrest every known hoodlum in New York City.

Scores of gamblers, vagrants and petty criminals flowed into police stations—mostly in Manhattan—clogging cells and threatening a worse jam later in the day. By early morning 160 had been booked on various charges.

The orders came from acting mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, who said he had "alarming reports" that strong-arm methods were being planned to intimidate voters in the red-hot city campaign.

"There must not be another Scott-torgio case while I am mayor," he told his new police commissioner Thomas F. Murphy.

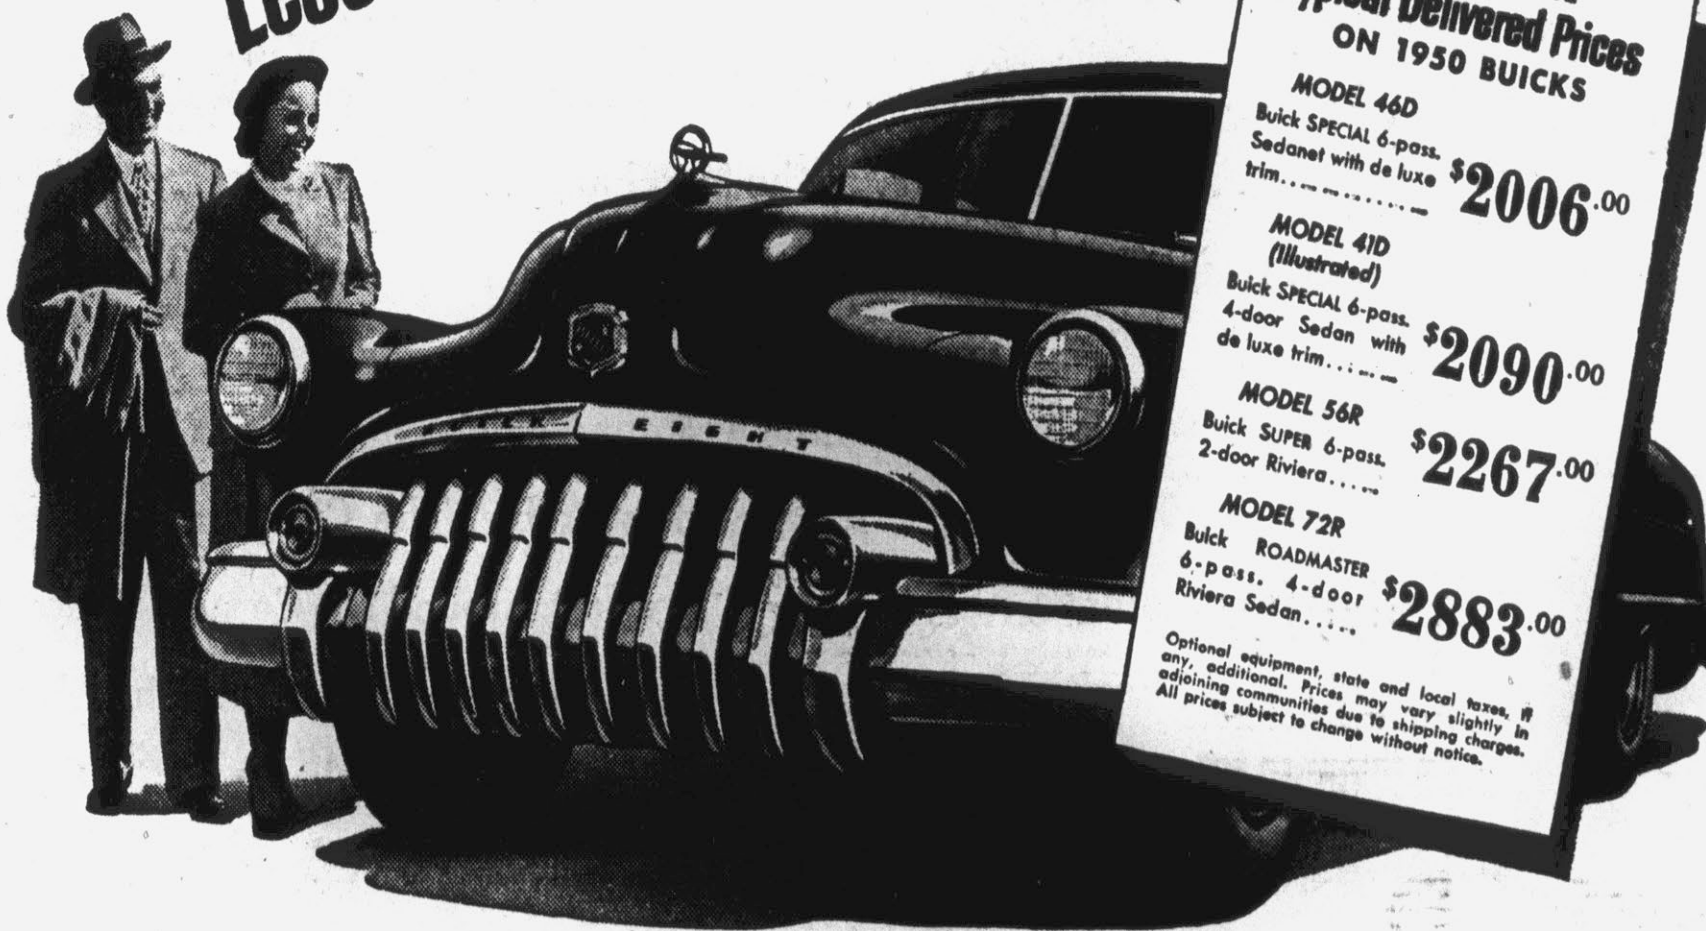

Impellitteri referred to the unsolved murder of Joseph Scott-torgio, a Republican campaign worker who was beaten to death in East Harlem on election day in 1946.

Murphy issued his own orders immediately last night to the 19,000-man police force. His officers said thousands might be caught in the dragnet.

Murphy said the hunt would be a round-the-clock business, with the city's 700 detectives participating as well as the much larger uniformed force.

Washington And Lee To Pit 'All' Against Vols

Hope To Silence Criticism As Mere 'Paper' Leaders Of Southern Circuit; Tennessee Rated Generals' Big Opportunity

By ED YOUNG
Richmond, Va., Oct. 25—(AP)—Washington and Lee's Generals will be out to silence their critics when they go against Tennessee's powerful football team at Knoxville on Saturday.

Worse than anything, Coach George Barclay and his players want to show Southern Conference coaches that they cannot be brushed off as merely "on paper" leaders of the circuit.

Today, the Generals—with victories over Furman, West Virginia, The Citadel, and Davidson—are in a tie with Wake Forest for first place in the conference. And whether or not they beat Tennessee, the Generals can coast right into a perfect conference record, and a claim to the championship, if they can defeat impotent Virginia Tech and University of Richmond in November.

Barclay doesn't deny that the conference teams Washington and Lee has beaten aren't precisely the cream of the 17-club league.

That's why the Tennessee game is so important. Barclay and the blue-clad Generals want to prove their excellence to the critics who are crying: "Show me."

Washington and Lee is going into Saturday's fray with the nation's eighth-ranked team with its eyes wide open. Barclay is under no delusions. The Generals have not beaten a Southeastern Conference football team since the 1938 outfit trimmed Kentucky, 8-0. That was 12 long years ago.

Maybe, Barclay says, "we are overmatched this Saturday." "But this W&L team is one of great character. They're the finest young men I have ever coached. I certainly don't think they'll discredit the Southern Conference when they go to Knoxville."

Gussie 'Sick' Of That Cheesecake

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Gertrude Monan, the tennis player, is getting pretty fed up with gorgeous Gussie Moran, of Lacey Pantis fame. So says Gertrude.

"Cheesecake, Cheesecake, Cheesecake—all day long it's Cheesecake," she complained today. "I'm sick of it and I've put my foot down."

This miniature rebellion is causing mild friction between the shapely Santa Monica, Calif., Lob artist and Robert Riggs, promoter of the professional tennis troupe opening in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

"Bobby wants to make this a spectacle. I want to keep it a tennis match," she added. "We argue about it but I intend to have my way."

"Bobby is putting out publicity that I'll wear dazzling costumes a bit on the Rique side. I promise you they'll be very modest, functional things—like you'd wear at a Sunday match on the Park court."

"Oh, I'll have some lace, I suppose and maybe a sun-backed blouse here and there. But it's going to be far from burlesque."

Referee Took It

Toledo, O., Oct. 25—(AP)—Two boxers traded punches here for seven rounds last night but it was Referee Lavern Keller who was dealt the sharpest blow.

Keller attempted to separate Johnny Williams of New York and Chuck Taylor of Coalport, Pa. after the bell sounded the end of the fifth round.

But in wading in between the fighters, Keller was hit by both of them and knocked to the canvas.

He was the only one knocked down during the fight.

Carbon Bowlers Still Deadlocked

Carbon Bowling League

Nine Lives		7	5	583
Black Cats		7	5	583
Penites		5	7	417
Evereadys		5	7	417

The Penites and Evereadys, both of which are tied for second place, handed the Nine Lives and Black Cats two losses each to continue for a second week the tie for first place in the Carbon League.

By winning the two games, both the Penites and Evereadys remained in a tie for second. The situation was the same last week with the one-two teams having six wins, three losses and the three-four teams sporting the reverse of that.

Bill Wells, the league's second place bowler, set the pace for the four teams as he led the Evereadys in their two-game conquest. His 446 was high for the night as was his single game score of 161. Although he bowled better games this week than last, his average sank three points to 155.

Francis Whelihan rolled the best score for the Penites as they beat the Lives in two. His scores were 121, 122, 157-400. As a consequence his average was better by two points, from 124 to 126.

All the previously set scores in single and three games for both men and women remained intact. Wells still leads with 230 for a single, and 500 for three games. In the women's bracket, Marjorie Wells has top score in the single with 174 and also for three games with 467.

Here are the league's ten best averages: Bill Bryan, Lives, 160; Wells, Evereadys, 155; Sam Brooks, Cats, 131; Gordon Berry, Evereadys, 130; Marjorie Wells, Lives, 127; Whelihan, Penites, 126; Charlie Braswell, Penites, 125; Ronnie Mallison, Lives, 119; Ken Whiteley, Cats, 118; and Forlines, Penites, 117.

Art Mascarella On Visit Greenville

Arthur Mascarella of Brooklyn, N. Y., a pitcher on the Greenville baseball club last season, is spending several days in the city visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances. His mother, Mrs. L. M. Mascarella, accompanied the popular ball player here. Their home in Brooklyn is 136 East Fourth street.

While Mascarella was playing here last summer he was frequently quoted as saying in Kares' restaurant that the people of Greenville and this part of North Carolina are among the "best in the world."

When asked where he expected to play ball next summer, Mascarella said, "it now looks like the army."

Busy Battler

Back in his dressing room after having trounced Joey Scarlato in the St. Nick's ring, Paddy DeMarco was pleading with Al Well, the International Boxing Club matchmaker, to get him a title fight with Champion Ike Williams. Well promised to ask Williams to defend his lightweight crown against DeMarco in Madison Square Garden this winter.

DeMarco is dead certain he can beat Williams. In the first place Williams appears definitely over the hill as a fighter. And then, too, Ike is a standup type of boxer with just the style against which Paddy has his greatest success. Paddy's style is strictly upon billy-goat lines with most of his damage being accomplished in close. DeMarco takes a punch well and his boring tactics can be very annoying.

In 59 bouts, Paddy boasts a record of 52 victories, one draw and six defeats. He has been going great guns of late and has won 10 of 11 starts this year. Manager Jimmy Dixon has been working with DeMarco to shake off his old boxing style in favor of cleaner punching. He has developed a fine left jab and in recent bouts has showed a fine left hook which he doubles up to head and body. His newest offensive weapon is an effective right-hand uppercut with which he scored repeatedly with damaging effect against Scarlato.

Wolfpack Soph Is Star Of Week

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 25—(AP)—A sophomore who played a decisive part in saving North Carolina State College's stunning 16-13 upset of Maryland last Saturday is this week's Associated Press Southern Conference soph of the week.

He is Alex Webster, a six-foot, 190-pound tailback from Kearney, N.J. Webster, however, just barely nosed out Soph Halfback Billy Hair of Clemson, who played an important role in enabling the undefeated Tigers to salvage a 14-14 tie out of their game with South Carolina.

Webster has played well for State all season, but the part he took in the last five minutes of the Maryland-N.C. State fracas was the highlight of his career to date.

Coach Jim Tatum's Maryland eleven was making a mighty effort to stage a comeback after spotting the Wolfpack 16 points. It scored two touchdowns and was reaching for a third score against the tiring N.C. State team. With a minute and 55 seconds left to play, Webster intercepted a pass in the end zone to end the final Maryland thrust.

Earlier, Webster had stopped a Maryland drive by intercepting another pass.

Drake Offensive Star Has 1,516 Yards To Credit

New York, Oct. 25—(AP)—Defending champion John Bright of Drake is so far ahead in college football's individual offense race that the question now is: will he break the season record?

The agile 200-pounder has run and passed for 1,516 yards in six games this season, nearly 500 ahead of Bill Cox of Duke in second place. Bright needs 672 yards in his remaining three games to better the all-time mark of 2,187 set by Frank Sinkwich of Georgia in 1942. At this current pace, the Fort Wayne, Ind., junior may pass the record in the next two games against Detroit and Bradley—if not, then in the finale against Iowa State.

His average of 252.7 yards a game also is well ahead of the 221.3 mark held by Stan Heath of Nevada since 1948, the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau said today.

Cox had a good day in Duke's rout of Richmond last week. He gained 262 yards to move up in the standings ahead of Bill Wade of Vanderbilt and Francis (Reds) Eganell of Penn. The Duke ace has gained 1,068 yards in five games. Wade has 1,026 in five and Bagnell 986 yards in four games.

In the rushing race, Wilford (Whizzer) White of Arizona State at Tempe has a good lead with 861 yards in 100 carries. Bill Weeks of Iowa State took the lead in passing with 63 completions of 117 attempts for 918 yards.

Bright's 722 yards in 112 carries is second in the rushing race. Nebraska's breakaway Bob Reynolds has 679 in 77 for third. The cornhusker sophomore has played one less game than White, two less than Bright.

Another Hurler Said Subject To Possible Draft

Bangor, Me., Oct. 25—(AP)—Selective Service has a covetous eye on a fourth young major league hurler—Maurice McDermott.

The 22-year-old southpaw, who won seven and lost three for the Boston Red Sox this year, was told here yesterday he must report for a physical Thursday in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., his home town.

McDermott, who had been barnstorming with Burdette Tebbetts' All Stars, left immediately for Boston and Poughkeepsie.

He got the word only a few hours after the Army accepted Ed (Whitney) Ford of the World's Champion New York Yankees. Ford, also 22 and a lefty, came up from the Kansas City Blues in mid-season and has been generally credited with adding the steam the Yanks needed to win the American League pennant. He also won the fourth and deciding World Series game.

Gridders Lack Hardening Of Past Asserts Crisler

Detroit, Oct. 25—(AP)—University of Michigan Athletic Director H. O. Fritz Crisler believes today's college football players are not as well conditioned as those of a few years ago.

The former Michigan head coach aired his views at a football writers luncheon yesterday.

"Coaches today," he said, "have only about two hours for squad practice daily and in that time have to work on three or four defenses, plus various forms of the two-platoon system. That leaves very little time to devote to conditioning work."

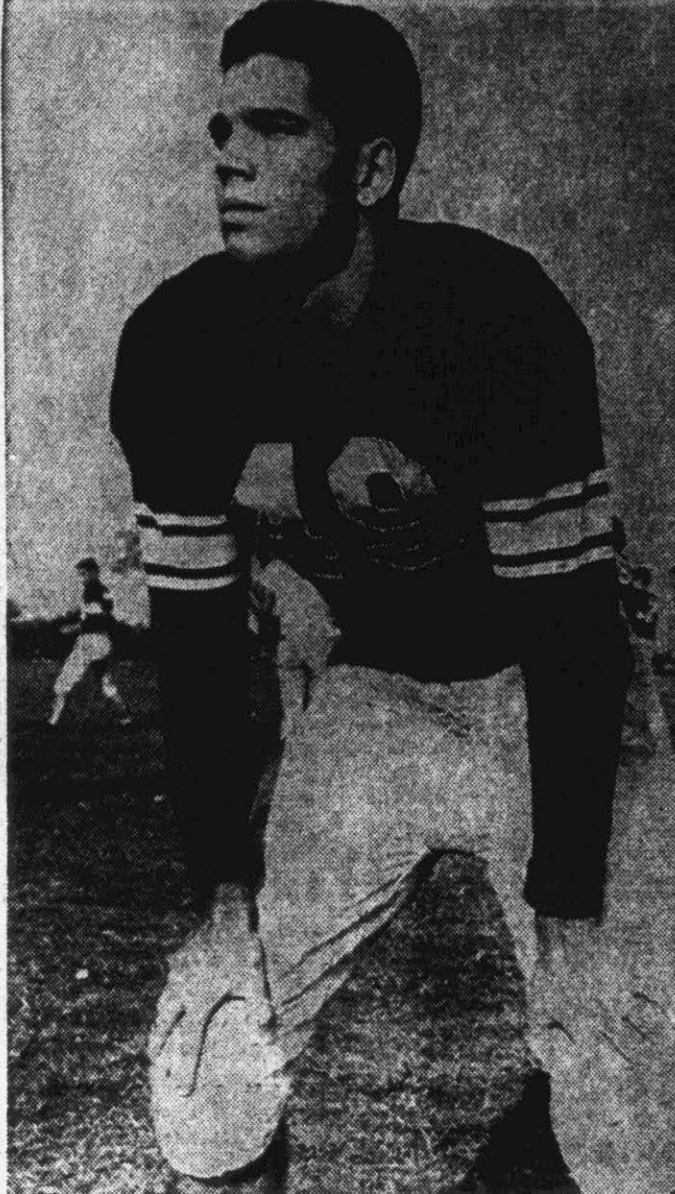

"When we used to play only one defensive setup a few years ago, we had a lot more time for hardening and conditioning the boys."

"Some coaches think the old type of conditioning is not necessary since under the two-platoon and multi-substitution style of play the boys will not be in action 60 minutes. I disagree with that theory."

Crisler conceded that the two-platoon system has eliminated some injuries since the players are fresher and not so apt to get hurt as they are when tired.

He said he believed there had been an increase, however, in football injuries this fall but had no figures to back it up.

Regular Starter In Guard Slot

John Mervin, 170-pound guard, has been a starter for Bo Farley's Phantoms in every game this year. Mervin recently moved to Greenville from Georgia where he played prep school ball. His hard driving tactics from the guard position have made him a standout in the Phantoms' defense this season. (Staff photo by Roy Hardee)

Sugar Ray Set To Defend Title At Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Oct. 25—(AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson comes to town today from his Greenwood Lake, N.Y. training camp to make last minute preparations for defense of his Pennsylvania-version middleweight crown against Bobo Olson.

Robinson, the Harlem boxing master and Olson, Hawaiian middleweight contender, clash tomorrow night at Philadelphia's Convention Hall over the 15-round distance.

Sugar Ray, whose 160-pound title is recognized only in the Keystone State, hopes to use a victory over Olson to move closer to a crack at Jake LaMotta, the middleweight titleholder outside of Pennsylvania.

Drizzling rain failed to halt East Carolina's serious preparations for Saturday night's game with Cherry Point here.

Because of the Korean war and the draft status, the Marines have strengthened their gridiron forces this season and have rolled undefeated this year, except for last Sunday's 6-0 tie with Camp Lejeune.

Coach Bill Dole and his Pirates aren't taking the flyer team lightly as they worked diligently yesterday brushing up on their pass patterns and blocking assignments with cold, misty skies overhead.

Quarterback Roger Thrift, unofficially the state and nation's leading passer, was in the pitching position yesterday along with his understudy, Sophomore Sandy Siler.

Ends Frank Maemle and Dwight Shoe were the targets for the aerials, along with reserve flankmen Ott Alford and Bobby Hodges. Halfbacks Jack Britt, Jack Benzie, Bill Darby and Im Stanley also took their turns as the pass receivers.

Bright word came from the Pirates' long injury list yesterday as two regulars and three reserves donned heavy gear for the afternoon workout.

Guards Reggie Byrd and Mickey Berman were taking their turn on the sled, while End Bob Bradley worked with the defensive forces, and wingman Ed Tanner, who has been out since the opening game, took his turn at the pass-snagging chores.

Pre-Season View Offered Tonight Of Cage Talent

By BILL LLOYD
Eastern Carolina basketball fans get a pre-season glimpse at some of the hardwood best tonight at East Carolina's Pirates play the Grand Rapids professional club in an exhibition tilt in Rocky Mount.

Tip-off is slated for 8:00 p.m. in the Rocky Mount high school gymnasium.

George Giamack, former All-American cager at Carolina ten years ago, heads the National League pros, who are currently on an exhibition tour throughout the state.

Playing alongside the Hornets' 6' 8" star center and president are such All-Americans as Elmore Morganthaler, 7' 1" ex-Boston College standout, who topped the nation in scoring one season, and Mike Novak, a 10-year pro player who made All-American while at Chicago Loyola.

Listed also among the star-studded Grand Rapids team are Coach Bobby McDermott, an all-time professional great; Fritz Nagy, former Carolina cager who later made All-American at Akron University; and Blacky Towery, 6' 6" All-American at Western Kentucky.

East Carolina 1950-51 quintet will be led in tonight's contest by All-Conference Forward Sonny Russell, who is starting his second year for the Pirates.

Coach Howard Porter is expected to round out his starting quint with four other lettermen holdovers from last year's team. They are Lou Collier at forward, Toddy Fennell at center, and Len Bauer and John Postas at guards.

Three outstanding freshmen imports are also slated to see much action tonight. Rupert Flanerty, an Eastern All-Star forward at Raleigh, leads the threesome, along with towering Charlie Huffman and set-shot artist Paul Jones, two All-Piedmont cagers from Thomsville.

Rounding out the reserve squad for the Pirates will be Jim Blake, a letterman center, and Richard Blake, a forward up from last season's frosh squad.

The Grand Rapids five have already played two tilts on their exhibition tour, defeating the University of North Carolina last Saturday, 55-52, and overwhelming the North State Conference All-Stars Monday night, 105-50.

Pros Wallop Hanes

Winston-Salem, N.C., Oct. 25—(AP)—The Grand Rapids Hornets of the National Professional Basketball League defeated Hanes Hosiery 96-73 here last night. Hugh Hampton, center for Hanes, was high scorer with 23 points. George Giamack, former All-American at the University of North Carolina, paced the winners with 20 points.

New Advice For Cowboys: 'Go East, Young Man!'

Washington — (AP) — That white hot interest in cowboys that eastern young fry have whipped up may not be wasted. The cow punching business may have a great future in the east. That's the judgment of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Here's how a report by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics (BAE) reasons:

The west once was the great beef and mutton source for the rest of the nation. Western sheep and cattle were shipped in great numbers to eastern fattening centers or markets.

Some went back to the west, of course, in the form of corn fed steaks and chops. But population has gone up about two-thirds in 25 years in the West while eastern population has increased about one-fifth.

The number of slaughter houses

MAPS show why the cattle and sheep business may have to move eastward. North-South lines show the eastern boundaries of areas required in the western rangelands to raise all the beef and sheep needed to fill the slaughter requirements of packing houses in the 11 western states and Texas. These lines have moved several hundred miles eastward in 23 years. The trend is continuing, and Department of Agriculture experts say it may mean the east will have to raise more beef cattle and sheep to fill its own requirements.

in the west increased along with the rise in population. The number of animals these slaughter houses require about equals the animals in the 11 western states, plus Texas, market.

That doesn't mean cattle no longer are shipped from West to East. But the BAE report says each year fewer cattle are shipped East; more are consumed in the West. It adds that this trend probably will continue, and the East will have to find other sources for meat.

The report points to these figures:

Slaughter by western packing plants about doubled in the past 25 years, if measured in weight of slaughtered animals. But production of meat animals increased only one-third. So surplus animals available for shipping eastward decreased.

The BAE has produced some maps to illustrate what is happening. They show a line dividing the country. On the western side is the area that markets enough cattle and sheep to fill requirements of packing plants in 11 western states and Texas. This line is gradually moving eastward. It now runs almost through the middle of Texas and is nearing the eastern boundaries of the other states.

For sheep and lambs, the line ran through the middle of Oregon and Washington and along the eastern boundary of California about 23 years ago. Now it's several hundred miles east, adding several states to the total of those required to produce sufficient animals to meet the needs of western packers.

Western states never have produced enough pork for their own needs. As population has increased, westerners have drawn more heavily on states to the east, or the mid-western corn belt. These states also produce pork for the eastern states. So western competition for this meat has increased.

In the future, the department says, the West probably will gain population faster than the East and expansion of its cattle business will merely take care of the increased population.

So if the East is to be supported in the beef and mutton eating manner to which it has been accustomed, easterners probably will have to raise more cattle and sheep.

Shootin', Not Shavin', Interests This Barber

Gibson, Fla. — (AP) — If the whisker crop gets out of bound in Gibson, you can blame it on Jim Easton, the backslid barber.

He's too busy with his collection of war relics to shave his customers. A sign spells it out clearly: "Positively no shaving."

The weapons get more room than the customers in the 12 by 15 foot shop.

Walls are lined with bayonets, tomahawks, swords, and all manner of firearms. There are Revolutionary War muskets, Civil War rifles, long barreled Kentucky squirrel rifles as well as modern types.

One cabinet is given over to pistols of the western frontiersmen. One an old Colt "Peacemaker," was a gift from "Buffalo Bill" Cody. Easton has no idea of the value of the collection.

"Things just seem to come to you if you let people know you are interested," Easton said.

For instance his Kentucky rifles come from a friend who brings his findings down here on his annual winter visit.

Among his rarer pieces is a German anti-tank rifle from the

Superior Rating For Nat'l Guard

The local unit of the National Guard was inspected recently by a team from the office of the Third Army Inspector General and received a rating of "superior."

As a result of receiving this rating Battery C received letters of commendation from Major General William C. Chase, Deputy Commanding General of the Third Army and also one from Major General J. Van V. Metts, Adjutant General of North Carolina.

Captain James B. Tyndall, commanding officer of the local Guard unit, stated, "We are very proud to have attained such a high rating on our federal inspection. It takes a lot of hard work to prepare for this inspection and the entire battery worked together to do their part in getting ready for the inspection. I highly commend all of the officers and men for their cooperation and promise that all possible will be done to maintain the high rating given this battery."

Corn Drying Demonstration Set Thursday

A five county corn drying demonstration will be sponsored by the Commodity Credit Corporation at Hunters Bridge below Washington next Thursday.

It is designed to demonstrate the best methods of drying freshly-shucked corn for safe storage and will be held for the benefit of farmers in Pitt, Craven, Greene, Jones and Lenoir counties.

In planning this demonstration, the CCC has purchased equipment which can be economically used by North Carolina corn farmers. The Corporation states it believes the savings obtained from properly conditioning and storing of grain will more than offset the cost of the equipment to the farmer.

The demonstration will start at 10:30.

THE RAILROAD MURDER CASE

By R. M. Laurensen

Chapter 4
"Blood!" exclaimed Marc, his body stiffening with interest.
"Blood!" said O'Conner. Morris, you kiddin'?"
"No, I ain't kiddin'." muttered Marc thoughtfully. "Oh—it couldn't be! Zola—that crossing about thirty miles from here?"
"Yeah."
"Quite a run on a motorcar at night. Tell Morrison to take the axe with him. Someone may ask for it."
"Morris, take that axe with you.
Bring it along next time you come in. Go easy, now."
"How do you suppose that axe got there?" Nora asked.
"Oh, lots of people walk the tracks, and this is hunting season," drawled Marc. "Probably some hunter dropped it. . . . Number 61—that's the Chicago Flyer, isn't it, Johnny?"
"Yeah. He's draggin' Mr. Richards' car."

"Let's see, he's about due," Marc glanced at the clock.
"Yeah—11:45. There, he's on the approach now. Right on the button."
"Guess I'll walk over and watch him come in," said Marc, starting for the door.
"Me too," cried Nora, tripping
along behind him.
They scrambled across the tracks as the big engine panted to a halt opposite the station.
Marc and Nora stepped onto the platform at the rear of the train.
Passengers were disembarking from several points, and others waited their turn to board. A man in a conductor's cap and blue coat leaped from the forward step of the last car and started for the station at a run. He reached the door of the station as Marc rounded the end of the train.

"Hello, Holland!" called Marc.
The man turned and trotted back.
"Good, good, Mr. Jordan! Am I glad to see you! We got trouble."
"What's the matter, Holland?"
"Look," he replied, leading the way to the steps between the last two cars. Nora, starting up after Marc, found him rooted to the step, staring at the platform.
"What's the matter, Marc? What is it?"

Livestock On Roads Causes 2 Accidents

Stray livestock roaming at large on the highways of Pitt County has been listed as the cause of two automobile accidents in the past two days. Highway patrolmen reported today.

In addition, two auto accidents were listed by the Patrol.

About 6:30 Monday evening, a car driven by Wilbur Bowen of Route 1, Ayden, was traveling in direction of Willow Green when two mules ran onto the road into the path of the car.

One of the mules was killed and the other injured. Considerable damage to the Bowen car was reported by the patrolmen who investigated the accident. The driver was not injured.

Patrolmen Paul Whitley and R. C. Holt said that the livestock was owned by Mrs. Fannie Bowen of Greenville who has a farm nearby.

Investigation revealed also that the livestock broke out of a pen which patrolmen termed a "very poor type of pen for animals."

The second accident occurred last night about three miles north of Falkland.

A car driven by Eldred Heyward, of Ayden, traveling at a reported speed of 50 miles per hour came upon two mules on the highway and the driver applied brakes and swerved to the right of the highway to avoid them.

He missed one mule but the other was struck with the left front and side of his car. The mule was killed.

The owner of the mule was not known, Patrolman R. C. Holt, investigating officer, reported. Neither the driver nor occupants of the car were injured.

Late yesterday afternoon, a pickup truck driven by James Foust of Route 2, Richlands, struck a car driven by Mildred Tripp Smith of Grifton, as the Smith car was making a left hand turn into a drive.

Foust told Patrolman Dick Chadwick that the driver of the Smith car did not give a hand signal. He was arrested on charges of careless and reckless driving. His car went 75 feet from the point of impact.

An estimated $300 damage was suffered by the Foust car with about $50 to the Smith car.

A late report from the Patrol office reveals an accident which took place on highway 258 about one-half mile from Fountain on Monday afternoon.

A car driven by Roy Bailey, Jr., of the Marine Corps, was crowded off the highway and turned over. Considerable damage resulted to the side and top of the car. Patrolman Ernest Guthrie listed total damages at $600.

Bailey stated that he was traveling at a speed of 50 miles per hour at the time another car passed him and forced him from the road. The car did not stop.

Car Went Across Yard, Into Fence After Accident

After being struck by another car yesterday afternoon, the car shown above traveled 90 feet down the curbing and across a yard into the fence shown above. The driver, Mrs. R. S. Broughton of Greenville, suffered injuries, the exact nature of which have not yet been determined. The two cars suffered damages estimated at $1500. (Reflector Staff Photo).

ment, the car driven by Mrs. Broughton was traveling east on Chestnut Street and the Jones car was going north on Raleigh avenue.

The Jones car went a total of 31 feet from the point of impact, landing with the nose of the car against a fire hydrant, and the back portion of the car across Raleigh Avenue. The Broughton car, after being hit, went across the curbing and into a yard 90 feet before coming to a halt as it went through a fence.

Both of the cars were heavily damaged, with estimates for the two cars running up to $1500. Witnesses reported that Mrs. Broughton was thrown from the car by the force of the crash.

Jones told police officers that he was going about 30 miles per hour at the time of the accident and that he did not see the other car until he had struck it. He could give no account of how the accident occurred. Officers have not been able to talk with Mrs. Broughton as yet.

2. The Interior Department's regular job anyway is in the fields of oil, gas, minerals, mining, electric power. Secretary of the Interior Chapman has set up two agencies in his department:

(A) The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) and (B) the Minerals and Energy Division (MED). They're to handle defense problems connected with oil, gas, minerals, electric power.

3. The Agriculture Department's regular field is farmers, farming, and food. In the defense program it will have control over food, farm equipment and fertilizer. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has set up two agencies within his department for this work in defense:

(A) The Office of Requirements and Allocations (ORA) to channel foods and (B) Office of Materials and Facilities (OMF) to help farmers get materials and fertilizer.

4. Interstate Commerce Commission. Its regular job is transportation, such as railroads. To handle the defense needs in the transportation field, the ICC has created sembly that a European army be established with German soldiers and officers included. This represents a great concession in view of French fears of a revival of German military strength.

The principal Moscow newspapers, including Pravda and Izvestia, printed articles on the U. N. anniversary. All of them praised the concept of the United Nations. They also declared that Russia had been faithful to the original concept of the organization—an assertion which is a matter of much argument.

District Jaycee Meet In Farmville

The district meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in Farmville tonight with over 100 members attending. The meeting will begin with supper at the high school at 7:30.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Sam Bundy, principal of the school. He will speak on an unannounced topic.

Jim Roe, district vice president from Goldsboro, will preside over the gathering. Bob Rouse, president of the Farmville club, will introduce Bundy.

There will be a business meeting after the program.

Farmville Pastor Addresses HD Club Tuesday

Rev. Z. B. T. Cox, pastor of the First Christian church of Farmville, last night was the principal speaker at the Seven Pines community building where the Home Demonstration club held a United Nations day program.

The Seven Pines United Nations day program was the only one held among the several home demonstration clubs of the county.

Rev. Cox in his talk on the United Nations compared the table of or-

Authority On Children's Literature Talks Here

Mrs. Ruth Tooze, authority on children's literature and editor of the nationally circulated "Book News from Ruth Tooze," spoke last night at East Carolina Teachers College before an audience of approximately 200 people gathered in the auditorium of the Training School. The occasion was a joint meeting of the college and the Greenville branches of the association of Childhood Education.

Speaking on the topic "This Is Their World," Mrs. Tooze told how books may be used to give the child a sense of security in the world of today. The audience also enjoyed during the evening a period of browsing in the collection of almost 1,000 books for young people which Mrs. Tooze is displaying in the gymnasium of the Training School.

Miss Elisabeth Hyman, president of the Greenville ACE, presided at the meeting. Miss Doris Pleasant of Angier, president of the college by a grand jury and a bond of $1,000 was fixed. He posted bond and was released until the next term of Superior Court.

Forbes was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck between Bruce and Falkland. The entire left side of the car was ripped away by the impact, demolishing the car.

The case against George C. Dunn, indicted for the manslaughter death of Louis Edward Driver in January of this year, is scheduled for trial Wednesday. Driver's death occurred as a consequence of a poolroom fight with Dunn. He died one day later.

Another case of violent death is on the calendar. It concerns the indictment of murder brought against William Gardner, Grimsland Negro. He was indicted for the murder of Lester T. Peyton in June of this year.

J. R. Garriss Is Ordered Held For Grand Jury

A Pitt County coroner's jury last night ruled that Billy Forbes, 24-year-old Edgecombe County man who was killed in an automobile accident on the Falkland highway on October 7, died as the result of careless and reckless driving on the part of James R. Garriss.

Garriss was ordered held for trial
